Lady Wyverne's Daughter.

CHAPTER I.

My uncle is ill—dying," said the young man. "I must go at once. How can I get from here to Lynneville?"

"Drive to the station and take the train to Bathurst—that's the quickest way," said Lord Wyverne. "How sudden! He has not been ill long, has he?"

"I have not heard from him for some months," replied Mr. Lynne, who had grown pale, and looked half-bewildered. "The telegram is from my cousin Inez Lynne. It says, 'Lord Lynne is ill—dying. We fear. He wishes to see you. Come at once.'"

"How did they know where to find you?" asked Lord Wyverne.

"I wrote to my uncle three days ago," replied Philip, and Lord Wyverne noted the warm color that flushed his face.

"What a solemn council! I never saw the owls in committee, but even they could not look wiser," said Florence, whose bright face smiled in at them from the window. "Pray do be like ordinary mortals," she continued. "How can I make tea or coffee for gentlemen who look as though the world depended on their next word?"

"Hush, Flor!" said Lord Wyverne. "Mr. Lynne has had news. Lord Lynne is ill."

"I am so sorry," said Florence, as her face changed. "Pray forgive me, Mr. Lynne. I never dreamed there was anything serious. What can we do?"

"Nothing at present," said Lord Wyverne. "Give Mr. Lynne a cup of tea, while I order the carriage. I will go down to the station with you myself," he added, turning to Philip, and then he left them alone.

"I am so grieved, Mr. Lynne," said Florence; "bad news always seems to me doubly sorrowful coming on such a bright, beautiful day as this. Half an hour ago, while we were so careless and happy out in the garden there, how little we thought what was coming for you!"

She held out the cup of tea, and Philip drank it hastily; he could not eat, and she watched him wistfully as he pushed the plate away.

"Are you very grieved?" she asked, suddenly.

"Yes," he replied. "I esteem Lord Lynne very much. I should grieve to lose him; and if he dies, all my life will be so terribly changed! The first trouble is, that I have to leave Severnook and you."

"But you will come again!" she said eagerly.

"Yes, I shall come again," he replied; "that is, if I can do so."

Philip finished his tea in silence, and Florence watched him with a wistful look on her beautiful girlish face.

"You will be ill before you reach Lynneville," she said. "Unless you try to eat something. Let me persuade you to try."

"I would do anything at your request," he replied, "but to eat just now is impossible. You do not know—you cannot understand what the shock is to me. My thoughts were full of something so very different. I feel lost and bewildered, and unlike myself."

He drew near her as he spoke, and held out his hand to say adieu.

"I shall never forget this pleasant visit, Lady Florence," he continued. "I have been happier than I ever was in my life before. I only regret that it ends so abruptly."

There was no mistaking the young girl's face; the warm color that mounted to her white brow, the trembling lips, the shy-drooping eye. If ever a face told a love story it was Florence Wyverne's in that moment when she turned away lest Philip should read too clearly what she could not help showing. He looked at her with a half-mourning smile. The bright, dainty, wistful beauty, whom no one had ever yet tamed, shrank timidly from him.

"Florence," he resumed, "if I—"

The sentence was never finished; for at that moment Lord Wyverne entered the room hastily, saying that the carriage was waiting.

"Good-bye," said Philip to the young girl; "my regret of leaving you is lessened by the hope of being allowed to see you soon again."

If Philip Lynne could, but have foreseen where and how he would see that beautiful young girl next—if she had known how many years would pass before her hand touched his again—before she would see his face or hear his voice, she would not have parted with him so cheerfully.

Twice that morning Philip Lynne had been on the point of proposing for Lady Florence—once to her father, and once to herself; but each time a sudden and accidental interruption prevented the words from being spoken that would have bound him to her for life. In after years he wondered much what his life would have been had he quitted Severnook Castle as the betrothed husband of Florence Wyverne.

There was not much time for thought. In two minutes after Philip Lynne had said good-bye to Lord Wyverne's daughter, he was on his way to the station.

It was not until Philip was seated in the train that he had time to review at leisure the events that had happened, and to speculate upon the future that lay before him.

CHAPTER II.

It was not a very eventful life that Philip reviewed on that summer morning as he traveled from Severnook to Bathurst—a calm, happy life of twenty-five years' duration, neither brightened by vivid sunshine nor darkened by violent storms. His home had been a peaceful one—no dark care brooded over it; but he remembered how his parents had struggled to keep up appearances, and to maintain the dignity of their name and race. His father was the youngest and only surviving brother of Lord Lynne. He was not a wealthy man. He had but a younger brother's portion, and that was not a large one. He married a lady who, though well-born and beautiful, had no fortune; and their union proved a happy one, although they had been obliged to economize, and deny themselves sometimes even the comforts of life, in order that they might live as became the Lynnes of Lynneville.

No expense had been spared on Philip's education; for, although his parents had much ado to keep their footing in society, he had bright prospects. He was the heir of his uncle, the wealthy Lord Lynne of Lynneville.

There are not many older families in England than the Lynnes. In the earliest history of the kingdom they figured largely in nearly every reign.

Corns Go

Blue-jay

One of the bravest knights who served that brave king, Edward the First, was Hubert Lynne of the Wolde, as their house was then called. Stephen Lynne fought with the Black Prince, and added fresh laurels to his name. Henry the Fifth had no braver or better soldier than Bertrand the Strong, Lord of Lynne. In the Wars of the Roses they fought and distinguished themselves. A Lynne helped to win the battle of Bosworth Field. At the Field of the Cloth of Gold a Lynne was among the handsomest and most brilliant knights. The great maid Queen herself visited Lynneville, where she received the homage of the then Lord Lynne. When Charles the First came from his prison cell to the scaffold, a Lynne stood near his royal master, and would gladly have died in his place. When the "Merrie Monarch" was welcomed to his throne, none received him more joyously than the Lord of Lynne, who had expended nearly all his wealth in the service of his debonnaire sovereign.

But from that time the glory of the Lynnes faded. Whether they were really impoverished through the immense sums raised by Richard Lord Lynne, for the benefit of his royal master, or whether their real diet from the reign of Charles the Second there is no more mention of them—at least, in public history. In the private annals of the family there is a record of each Lord Lynne who lived and died at Lynneville.

The present Lord Lynne had succeeded to the title when very young. His father had been a wild, reckless man; and the once great wealth of the family had nearly all vanished when Stephen Lynne took possession of the estate. Nothing, in fact, remained of their once large possessions, except Lynneville. He married twice. His first wife was a beautiful Spanish lady, who was never seen in his stately English home. Her portrait was in the picture-gallery; but she had not lived to shine as she would have done, farthest among the peeresses of England. She died in Spain, one year after her marriage, leaving one little girl, an infant a few days old.

Stephen Lord Lynne married again—not a beauty this time, but a gentle English girl, one of the wealthiest heiresses of the day. She also had one daughter; but a son, the wish of Lord Lynne's heart, was not given to him. Lady Lynne loved her husband; she was very happy; and at her death she left the whole of her large fortune to him, giving him the power to do what he would with it.

Lynneville had been restored to more than its ancient grandeur, and Lord Lynne was known to be a wealthy nobleman; still, many people wondered how it would be with the heir of the Lynnes.

Facial Blemishes

Sallow, mottled, roughened or blotched complexions are usually due to constipation. When you are constipated, not enough of Nature's lubricating liquid is produced in the bowel to keep the food waste soft and moving. Doctors prescribe Nujol because it acts like this natural lubricant and thus secures regular bowel movements by Nature's own method—lubrication.

Nujol is a lubricant—not a medicine or laxative—so cannot gripe. Try it today.

TOE.

It isn't the money you're making. It isn't the clothes you wear. And it isn't the skill of your good right hand which make folks really care. It's the smile on your face and the light of your eye and the burdens that you bear.

Most any old man can tell you, most any old man at all. Who has lived through all sorts of weather, winter and summer and fall. That riches and fame are shadows that dance on the garden wall.

It's how do you live and neighbor, how do you work and play. It's how do you say "good morning" to the people along the way. And it's how do you face your troubles whenever your skies are gray.

It's you, from the dawn to night-time—you when the day is fair—You when the storm is raining—how do you face despair? It is you that the world discovers, whatever the clothes you wear.

You to the end of the journey, kindly and brave and true. The best and the worst of you gleaming in all that you say and do. And the thing that counts isn't money, or glory or power, but you.

King Khama Died at Sea.

The London Missionary Society has received a cablegram announcing the death at sea recently, at the age of 85 years of King Khama, chief of the Damangwato in Bechuanaland.

Khama was described by Sir Frederick Lugard as the greatest living African. He ruled over 35,000 subjects and his life was one of the romances of Christian Mission work.

He was the oldest sovereign in the world.

"He worked as a small boy of 12 with his father, who was a witch doctor, and then the chief met David Livingstone," Mr. Matthews, of the London Missionary Society, said to King Khama. "This was on Livingstone's first exploring journey in Central Africa. In his early twenties Khama became a Christian and was baptized with his wife. He infuriated his father by refusing to be a polygamist or be associated with witchcraft."

"Khama was a great prohibitionist. He fought the manufacture of Kafir beer by his tribe because he saw its demoralizing influence, and was so furious with the white settlers who, after repeated warnings, refused to stop selling spirits, that he expelled them from his territory."

Early in his reign Khama proclaimed religious freedom for his own and Christian subjects and introduced many reforms, abolishing witchcraft, and the practice of selling women as cattle and burying live babies with dead mothers.

While Khama was still a young man, the Matabeli tribe, under the notorious Lobengula, conquered him and enslaved his people. Later, however, the Damangwato, under Khama's leadership, regained their independence and since that time have waxed strong and prosperous until they now total 35,000.

GETTING INSULIN FROM FISH.

HALIFAX, N.S., May 3. — The National Fish Company of Halifax announced to-night that the Biological Board at Toronto had advised that the extraction of insulin, recently discovered for diabetes treatment, from deep sea fish, had been highly satisfactory. Arthur Boultiller, President of the Company, said that Captain Righty, of the Dominion Biological Station at St. Andrew's, N.B., made a trip on one of their trawlers and selected suitable fish from the ship's catch and those were forwarded to Toronto. Insulin was taken from two kinds of fish, he said, the monk and skate. Comparatively a tiny part of these fish was saved for the purpose.

Square Inch

HOLDS SIX MILLION DUST PARTICLES.

CHICAGO, May 2—(A.P.)—It requires more than 6,000,000 tiny dust particles to cover a glass plate one inch square, according to investigators at the Structural Materials Research Laboratory of the Lewis Institute here.

Although it would seem a hopeless task to count these millions of dust particles and measure their exact size, these Lewis Institute investigators have carried out a series of tests in which these operations were performed.

The tests were conducted to determine the fineness of portland cement, and it was discovered that if average sized cement particles were laid in closely fitting rows it would require 6,000,000 to cover the same area.

In making the tests, samples of cement were blown up a series of brass tubes by compressed air. This operation separated the tiny particles and the sizes were then obtained by microscopic measurement. The cement particles had already passed through the standard testing sieve specified by government requirements. Such a sieve contains 40,000 holes to the square inch and is woven of bronze wire, finer than a human hair. The sieve is finer than silk and will hold water. Government standards require that 75 per cent. of a given quantity of cement be fine enough to pass through this sieve.

Seeing to Taste.

What we know as taste is a somewhat more complicated sense than is commonly supposed. As a matter of fact with the sense of taste alone it is only possible to detect our flavors, which are sweet, bitter, sour and salt. All the more delicate flavors are discerned with the aid of the sense of smell. This is easily proved by holding the nostrils when eating any kind of jam, for instance. In such conditions it is quite impossible to detect the special flavor of the fruit. A yet more curious point is to be found in the fact that the ability to taste is to an extent, at any rate, dependent upon sight. Few people can detect the difference between beer and stout if they drink with their eyes closed. There is also a certain number of persons about who cannot tell tea from coffee if they shut their eyes when drinking. Most of the men blinded during the war lost all pleasure in smoking; they said the tobacco had no flavor to them. In many cases by using a stronger tobacco the lost pleasure in smoking has been regained. An interesting test for ordinary people is to close the eyes while smoking a pipe or cigarette. It is amazing the differ-

Mechanical contraptions that are as grotesque as the ridiculous dreams one sometimes has may be found in the new Max Linder feature comedy, "Be My Wife," a Goldwyn release, now being shown at the Nickel Theatre. For this photoplay, Mr. Linder has had a trick room constructed which, to the casual observer, is a fashionable modeste shop. But the customers are not the ones usually to be found in such stores. When the "gang" is "all there," some one presses a button, and all the millinery turns into some useful instrument for the dispensation of cooling and satisfying drinks. The hero is quite at sea upon finding himself in such a place; but his reactions are quite normal and decidedly humorous.

Try this economical way to make your cooking richer

When you want to make food especially rich and fine flavoured, you use plenty of cream or butter, don't you? An expensive way, but they contain much butter fat which is the great enriching substance.

But here is an economical way to get this quality of richness and fine flavour—the way thousands of splendid home cooks do it. They use Libby's Milk; a richer milk, very high in butter fat. Each 16 oz. can contains 7½ teaspoons of this precious substance!

Try Libby's Milk in one of your special recipes: when you find the delightful richness it gives you will use it in all your cooking. Get a can with your groceries to-day.

Write for free recipe folder. Write us to-day for new recipe folder telling how good cooks everywhere are getting fine cooking results—and saving money—by using Libby's Milk.

REPORT OF THE CHIEF AGENT FOR WEEK ENDING, MAY 3RD, 1923.
Attended to the landing of forty-seven head of cattle and twelve horses from the S.S. Canadian Sapper. Had them all landed and carefully taken away; had one moved on a sloop as the animal had its hip hurt. Another had a large abscess, but this did not hinder it from going with the others. Also called to W. Tessier's Farm, on Waterford Bridge Road, to humanely put to death a colt which had its leg broken in some unaccountable manner. Spoke to several teamsters and told them to be more careful driving. Visited the Southside and saw the improvement made in Morey & Co's gateway; this is a great benefit to horses hauling coal. All horses on this job hauling coal to the gas house are in good condition and well cared for. Mr. Lester is keeping 2 or 3 extra horses on the job to make it lighter for the other horses. Attended a sale at Campbell & Mackay's premises, and found everything satisfactory. Attended to the landing of forty-seven head of cattle and one horse from S.S. Sable I. One cow was very sick and I had it moved on a sloop. I would like to have this arranged so that sick cattle could be taken away immediately after being landed. This cow was on the wharf four hours before it could be taken away. Several minor matters were attended to. We understand that many horses in the lumber woods have been badly treated the past season. Lumber Companies usually loan the horses to contractors who overload and overwork them. I am watching all trains for evidence of cruelty in order to continue investigations as to these lumber companies' animals. I have one case already in hand to be prosecuted. All complaints may be phoned to 653.

Reception to Opposition Leader.

DEMONSTRATION BY PARTY SUP-PORTEERS.

Upwards of 2,000 supporters of the Opposition party gathered at the Railway Station last night at 11 o'clock to meet Mr. J. R. Bennett, the leader of the Opposition, Mr. A. E. Hickman and Sir J. C. Croble, who were returning to the city after their strenuous campaign in Harbour Grace and Bay de Verde districts. When the train moved into the station, the thousands that had congregated along the platform gave the candidates a tremendous reception, and the scene will not soon be forgotten.
When the candidates appeared on the platform of the car, ringing cheers were given for upwards of five minutes. After short addresses had been made by Mr. Bennett, Mr. Hickman and Sir J. C. Croble, each of the candidates were lifted shoulder high by their many admirers and carried through the station to the front entrance where their conveyances were waiting and hauled through the streets to their homes. Amidst tremendous cheering and unbounded enthusiasm, the procession wended its way via Hutchings' Street, New Government Street and Duckworth Street to the C.C.C. Hall, while upwards of 50 motor cars took part in the grand demonstration en route, tooting their horns furiously. A very enthusiastic meeting was held in the East End Committee Rooms, the leader of the Opposition and other candidates, made enthusiastic addresses. Mr.
W. J. Higgins also spoke, thanking the gathering for their remarkable outburst of feeling, and he was sure that when the ballots were counted, the results would demonstrate that the city with the rest of the country and done its duty. The meeting did not terminate until after midnight,
and the vast crowd of supporters,
upon leaving the hall, joined in the procession and accompanied the leaders of the Opposition, Mr. Hickman, Sir
J. C. Croble, and Messrs. Higgins and Fox to their homes. The wildest enthusiasm was manifested along the line of route and the enthusiastic supporters cheered the candidates to the echo. Last night's demonstration has been seldom equalled in the city and if appearances count for anything there is no doubt of the election of six Opposition men for St.
John's.

Superstitions.

STUPID TALK ABOUT THE LUXUR-TOMB.

A great deal has been said as tocurses, which some people have supposed, would, in accordance with popular superstition, light on whom soever should disturb the last sleep of Tut-ankh Amen in his tomb.

Although such forebodings have been current among the superstitious, no Egyptians are affected by such fears, nor do they express any feeling of such archaeological exploration as Lord Carnarvon carried out could be regarded in any sense as a desecration which would bring down a curse
on his head.

Actual written curses of this nature
very rarely occur in Egyptian inscriptions or on mummies. Certainly nothing of the kind has been found, so far,
in Tut-ankh Amen's tomb.

In general it may be said that harm has never come to those who have dug up these ancient tombs with due reverence and with a pure zeal for knowledge as their motive.

Stories about mummies casting a curse on their disturbers very probably arise from Western superstitions connected with the graves of the dead.
However that may be, they have no place at all in the native Egyptian mind.

Ever-increasing population demands that every acre of land useful for growing crops should be cleared and devoted to farming, says the American Tree Association. Settlers should reserve sufficient woodlands for their home needs, carefully distinguishing between the land that is best for agricultural purposes and the land that is best for forestry purposes, and thus doubling their resources.

South Africans' Long Sight.

Spectacles are unknown in South Africa, except in the case of persons of European birth, who have taken them with them into the country.

A South African, writing to a London paper says that ninety-nine percent of European city dwellers visiting Africa for the first time are amazed at the remarkable eyesight of the natives.

I have seen, he says, a good pair
of native eyes recognize a person, once seen, at a distance of over a mile away. Acquaintances are frequently recognized at a distance of and three-quarter miles away, and intimate friends or relatives at two miles distant.

In Zululand the contrast is even more striking. Here the air is so clear that the natives are able to pick out objects over seven miles away. And this by starlight—not daylight.

Did Robin Hood Exist?

There is practically undeniable evidence that the Robin Hood of fanciful literature was anything but a creature of popular fancy, although most authorities believe that the Robin Hood legends were probably originally based on some grain of truth. Robin Hood legends were probably originally based on some grain of truth. Robin Hood is represented in legend and ballad as a noted possibly titled outlaw who lived in the time of Richard I. of England.

With his followers, all of whom were expert archers, he rode about the country robbing the wealthy to give to the poor. Though he killed the king's deer he was loyal in other respects. He is painted as a dashing and gallant knight who offered protection to women and always championed the cause of the weak.

Eyesight and Color.

That it is the way in which we see which forms the color of our hair, is a theory given out from the Vivarium laboratories of Vienna, where some of the group of Viennese scientists who conducted the now widely known gland experiments.

The author of this theory is Professor Pinkler, who says that he has performed curious experiments on fishes, causing a number of them to live for some months in a tank lit only from below. The result was that the fish which swam on their bellies became dark on their bellies.
Usually such fish are dark on their backs, and Professor Pinkler's inference is that it is the direction and incidence of the light which forms the color. The old theory was that the coloring was protective, as to their enemies the white bellies and black backs of the fish were invisible respectively against the sea-bottom and the sky.

As a result of his experiments, Professor Pinkler is sure that the way light enters the human body through the eye is one of the chief factors in racial pigmentation. Town-dwellers see dark and grow dark;
mountain and field dwellers see fair
and grow fair.

Tired, Nervous Mothers.

are the direct cause of much unhappiness in our homes; their condition irritates and wears upon the husband and often ruins a child's disposition.
This condition of the mother is often due to some weakness which makes her entirely unfit to perform her household duties and bear the strain upon her nerves that governing children involves. Every woman who finds herself in this condition should 98 out of every 100 women who suffer remember that statistics prove that from female ill is helped by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and lose no time in giving it a fair trial.

A Super-Cat Who Thinks

This is the story of Mephistopheles, a super-cat, as told by a writer in an English paper:

One day the world will begin to realize that there is a big untapped source of intelligence and usefulness in the quiet, unassuming species which man long condemned to the unemphatic name of cat. I have a Tom who has convinced me in a hundred little ways that he is a super-cat and not only understands what is passing around him, but he thinks for himself, and never acts without reason.

Black, he was emerging from the nether regions of a coal cellar when I met him first.

He was only a kitten then, but he thrust one paw against the cellar door, forced it open, and walked towards me with a sedateness inherited from ancestry which had its beginnings before time was.

For more than six months, and all my friends agree that he is a remarkable cat. When he first heard the telephone bell ringing he pricked up his ears, rose and walked to the instrument, and cocked one ear against it for all the world as though he knew something would be spoken through it at a time an exasperated caller at the other end said things which even Mephistopheles should not have heard.

FASCINATED BY TELEPHONE.

That telephone has exercised an erie fascination for him ever since.
At intervals, he will take up a position with his head close to the receiver, and although he has never taken it down yet, he gives the impression that he might do so at any time.

Of course, cameras and photographic apparatus occupy a lot of space in my studio, and Mephisto finds them full of immense possibilities. He has put in a lot of time with cameras, and frequently takes up a position—always at the photographer's end—that is at least suggestive of a wish to take pictures for himself.

He tries to grasp the bulb of the instantaneous shutter, sprawls across the rear of the camera, and even has gone to the length of mounting the tripod to take up a position in mim-cry of a photographer.

Perhaps he is waiting for the right subject to come along, and then one will have an exclusive picture of an unique character! It really does seem that Mephisto has a mechanical turn of mind, because one of the other things which commands his attention and respect is a typewriter. I have caught him unawares with his paw tentatively suspended over the keys, and, once or twice, I have entered quietly to find him sitting in front of the machine with one paw on a key and gazing meditatively at the board.
But if he has typed any love letters to a lady friend, he has done so in my absence.

More door opening and closing is playgame Mephisto does almost hourly. And he has a strange power of divining the identity of visitors.
From behind three closed doors he will ascertain that someone is coming, prick up his ears, and stiffen his back if it is a stranger, or rush frantically to meet a friend, on whose shoulder he will perch, caressingly.
And he knows that the visitor is approaching long before I do in the ordinary way.

Friday, May 4, 1923.

WAITING!

The day of decision has passed. The 3rd of May, the fateful day of 1923, has gone, but what it has carried with it still remains to be seen. Whether the day is marked by the decision of the people to regain their independence, or whether the day has decided that the people of Newfoundland are satisfied with the terrible maladministration of the past three and a half years, is to be proven by the results not yet made known. Everybody in St. John's and the accessible districts was alive to the facts and we have no doubt all decided to exercise their franchise and cast their votes for the party led by Mr. J. R. Bennett. The next few days will be a time of eager expectancy, as everybody is vitally interested in the result. Too late, now, however, to talk of political expediency and hypocrisy in so far as winning the election is concerned. The actual campaigning is now over, and the outcome alone remains to be revealed, as soon as the ballots have been counted. While the period of waiting is on, let us all hope that the people have seen the issues clearly and have acted in the only way possible, viz., the election of the Bennett Party.

THE COUNT.

The Count! What is the Count? is the question on everybody's lips to-day, and that is the question that will be troubling us for the next two or three days. The question of the count is a momentous one, as the answer to that question spells progress under Bennett or disaster under Coaker.

So far, the count has revealed that Port-de-Grave's choice has been that of Coakerism. Despite the fact that the Government had conceded the seat to the Opposition, the result was a shock to both parties.

The Harbor Main Count was a surprise in many ways. Dr. Jones who headed the poll in the bye-election, and who this year stood as an Independent was left at the bottom of the poll. The Opposition candidates Messrs. Woodford and Kennedy were late in entering the field, which fact probably accounts for Mr. Kennedy's defeat.

As we go to press the news from Carbonear is that Mr. James Moore, the Opposition candidate has been elected. In the 1919 election Mr. W. F. Penney polled 609 votes to Mr. Moore's 317. It can thus be seen that Mr. Moore's victory is one he may feel proud of, and we congratulate him on his success.

Great Excitement.

Great excitement prevails in the city as the count is coming in. As we go to press the Harbor Grace count has started, and shows the Government candidates leading by a small majority. The Bay-de-Verde count is expected to come in at any moment.

HERRING PLENTIFUL.—Herring of large size are reported fairly plentiful at Broad Cove and other places along the shore. Fishermen during the past few days have been disposing of their catches in the city at fairly good prices.

Election Returns.

PORT DE GRAVE.
The Government candidate for Port de Grave, Mr. H. A. Winter, has been returned with a majority of 297 votes over his opponent, Mr. W. A. McKay. In 1919 election St. John Crosbie won the district by a majority of 163 votes. Counting began at 2.45 a.m. and in the first bulletin Mr. Winter had a lead of 40 out of the 160 votes counted. On every subsequent bulletin Mr. Winter maintained his lead.

The returns are:
Winter (Govt.) . . . . . 886
MacKay (Opp.) . . . . . 589
The poll declared in 1919 was:
Sir J. C. Crosbie . . . . . 837
Geo. Grimes . . . . . 668

HARBOR MAIN.
As a result of the Harbor Main poll Mr. Hawco for the Government and Mr. Wm. Woodford for the Bennett Party have been returned. The Independent candidate, Dr. Jones, who headed the poll in 1919 with 1101 votes received 304 votes yesterday.

The final count is as follows:
Hawco (Govt.) . . . . . 814
Woodford (Opp.) . . . . . 807
Kennedy (Opp.) . . . . . 771
St. John (Govt.) . . . . . 746
Jones (Indep.) . . . . . 304
The poll declared in 1919 was as follows:
Dr. W. E. Jones . . . . . 1101
W. W. Woodford . . . . . 1089
J. T. Meaney . . . . . 866
W. Kennedy . . . . . 818

CARBONEAR.
Moore (Opp.) . . . . . 476
Maddock (Govt.) . . . . . 440
Poll declared.

Harbor Grace Count.

Below is the first count from Harbor Grace:
Piccott . . . . . 100
Simmons . . . . . 94
Calpin . . . . . 87
Bennett . . . . . 75
Hickman . . . . . 72
Archibald . . . . . 72

At the Institute Polling Station.

The polling stations at the Grenfell Institute were kept busy and in all, some 533 votes were recorded. At 9.30 p.m. the boxes for Conception Bay were despatched by special train. The votes taken for the various districts are as follows:
Fogo . . . . . 14
Bay-de-Verde . . . . . 35
Carbonear . . . . . 48
Port de Grave . . . . . 43
Hr. Main . . . . . 40
Ferryland . . . . . 42
The Bonavists . . . . . 95
Twillingate . . . . . 34
Burin . . . . . 24
Trinity . . . . . 58
St. George's . . . . . 7
St. Barbe . . . . . 1
Burgoo . . . . . 1
Total . . . . . 533

Hon. Tasker Cook

APPOINTED DISTRICT GRAND MASTER.

The Masonic fraternity will rejoice to know that the Hon. Tasker Cook has received his commission as District Grand Master, A.P. and A.M., under the Scottish Constitution, in succession to the late District Grand Master, Charles R. Duder.

It was the late Mr. Duder who appointed Mr. Cook as D.D.G.M. and on his appointment to D.G.M. every Mason will join in extending congratulations. That he will maintain the dignity and efficiency of the high office with which he has been honoured by the Scottish Masonic Grand Lodge is assured. The mantle of one of the best and most worthy Freemasons falls upon him, and he now assumes great responsibilities, but he will wear his honours worthily, and enjoy the cordial co-operation of his officers and the fealty of the Craft.

Sable I. Passengers.

Robinson, F. Meadus, E. Everly, P. Barnable, J. and Mrs. Beuley, Mrs. D. M. Weymouth, Miss G. Weymouth, Miss T. Collins, Miss H. Hicks, E. Crocker, C. Swan, F. Butt, H. Knight, A. Walsh, G. Butt, A. Crumney, Wm. Butt, S. Glads, J. C. Butt. The Sable I. sailed again at 5 p.m., taking these passengers:—J. Clouston, E. George and F. Barry.

Signs of Spring.

There are signs of spring in the fields out in the suburbs during the past week many farmers are engaged in ploughing or putting out manure whilst the fields are beginning to look green. In fact people have been out already picking dandelion.

Supreme Court.

In the Matter of the petition of Bernard E. Lilly of Carling, Merchant, Alleging that he is insolvent and praying that he be so declared.
Mr. L. E. Emerson recalled Bernard Lilly who is examined and cross examined by Howley, K.C. Mr. L. E. Emerson moves that B. D. Lilly be declared insolvent. The interim trustee to be confirmed and that petitioners costs be paid out of estate. Howley, K.C. consents. It is ordered accordingly.

At the Casino.

At to-night's performance of "A Woman's Way" his Excellency the Governor and Suite will occupy the Box.

As previously stated, the Casino Stock Co. through Mr. Wilmer Bentley, has promised 20 per cent. of the performance to-night and to-morrow night, to help out the Child Welfare funds. This kind offer on the part of the Management is greatly appreciated by the C.W.A. and it is hoped that all the people of St. John's will make every effort to specially attend these two performances.

At the Dock.

SHIPS AWAITING REPAIRS.
A new stern post for S.S. Caylo is expected to arrive from New York by next Rosalia. The Caylo's repairs have been held up for some time owing to delay in receiving necessary parts.
The Prospero, Daisy and several other ships are awaiting to go on dock to have repairs effected so that a busy time is in sight for the laborers and dock hands for some time to come.

Gaelic League.

FORMS ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION.
The regular meeting of the Gaelic League was held last night and much business of interest to the League was gone through, amongst other things in connection with the future activities of the League an Athletic Association was formed, and suitable plans for the guidance of the Association were adopted.
A physical culture class was arranged for and a class for the study of the Gaelic language, was also formed. Matters in connection with a card party, supper and dance on next Wednesday night were finalized.

A most interesting paper on Charles Stewart Parnell was read by Mr. James O'Neill Conroy. Mr. Conroy dealt very fully with the parliamentary career of this eminent Irish statesman making plain that he was the precursor of a movement, the constructive measures of which were so potential in formulating that national spirit which ultimately led to the conception and growth of the Sinn Fein.

At the conclusion of the paper a vote of thanks to the lecturer was proposed by Mr. James A. Gibbs, who, in an informative address, reviewed many incidents in that period of Irish history with which Mr. Parnell was identified. The vote of thanks was seconded by Mr. M. J. James and carried by acclamation.

TO-DAY'S MESSAGES.

STORM IN ST. JOHN'S.
ST. JOHN, N.B., May 4.
St. John was cut off last night by railway connection with Upper Canada and United States, as the result of serious washouts on the Canadian National Railway at Riverside and Rothesay. The officials hoped that services would be again restored to-day.

ST. JOHN RIVER IN FLOOD.
ST. JOHN, N.B., May 4.
The river continued to rise at the North end of St. John yesterday and last night it was eighteen inches higher than on Wednesday. The whole river front was deeply submerged and motor and row boats were in the street, and the ferry waiting room appeared to have sunk during the day. Water completely covered the lower end of Main and Bridge streets and was up around the sides of Indian Town Square. One man was using a motor boat to reach his house and mooring it in an alleyway. Hydrants more than a hundred feet from usual water level were buried out of sight.

FRANCE FIRM ON REPARATIONS.
PARIS, May 4th.
The French reply to the German reparations offer is a short and terse document, and is an unequivocal refusal of Chancellor Cuno's proposal, and the French note in no way takes the form of a counter proposal. The German Government was agreed that by setting forth a reparations plan, France would only fall into a time worn German trap, whereby Germany the belief was seeking to induce her opponents to make concessions. The note leaves no doubt regarding France's determination not to break mediation, but to recover her due.

FIRST ARRIVAL AT MONTREAL.
MONTREAL, May 4.
Docking yesterday afternoon, the freighter Bolingbroke of the Canadian Pacific fleet was the first trans-Atlantic arrival for this season, and won for Captain Edmund Alkman, a gold headed cane annually presented by Montreal Harbor Commissioners. The Carnival arrived three hours later and would have been first, if it had not been for the fact of having to discharge some cargo at Quebec.

FIRMER RULE FOR RUHR.
DUSSELDORF, May 4.
That the Ruhr will be ruled with a firmer hand than heretofore was the gist of an announcement made by French headquarters.

FLOOD DANGER PASSED.
FREDERICTON, May 4.
Except in St. John city the peak of the worst freshet in New Brunswick in forty years seems to have passed, unless there are further rains.

FRANCE TO PROTEST.
PARIS, May 4.
Premier Poincare has given instructions that a strong protest is to be made to Washington against the ruling of the United States forbidding the entry of foreign ships into the United States ports with honor on board, says the Matin today. Naval papers say Premier Poincare holds that the ruling is quite contrary to international law, and adds that Supreme Court decision creates a precedent which it would be extremely easy to turn against United States vessels.

THE RUSSIAN WAY.
MOSCOW, May 4.
Eleven members of Moscow's Housing Committee were executed by shooting, according to an official announcement yesterday. They were convicted on April 14th of bribery and corruption and were put to death by a firing squad on Wednesday night.

L.W.W. MEETS DEATH.
ABERDEEN, Washington, May 4.
The first fatality of the general strike of the Industrial Workers of the World occurred yesterday, when William McKay identified by a membership card as an I.W.W. was shot and killed by a watchman of the Bay City Lumber Company here.

Ships Upside Down.
AN AMAZING MIRAGE WITNESSED OFF SOUTH AUSTRALIA.
An extraordinary sea mirage witnessed recently in Spencer's Cove, South Australia, by officers of the steamship Trevithick, is reported in a Reuter message from Sydney.
The display began (says the cable) with the appearance of a mysterious ship ahead, the smoke and funnels of which were plainly discernible. A little later there appeared on the horizon the distorted form of a vessel like the creation of a mad ship-builder, possessing neither lines nor any distinct type of construction, and standing upside down with propellers madly beating the vacant sky.
At one time the unusual phenomenon took the form of an inverted picture of dozens of vessels of all sizes moving in different directions. Then suddenly all the ships merged into one. The officers of the steamship Trevithick declare that the sight was the most wonderful they have ever seen.

Menu for Gourmet.
A banquet in Slam is no light matter, as Mr. Herman Norden, the author of "From Golden Gate to Golden Sun," found out. While in Bangkok he was present at one in which the menu was as follows: Chicken kidneys, manabroche, shrimps, cheese, shark's ears, soup, fish, onions, macaroni, Chinese bird's-nest soup, duck, barley soup, made of the milk of a cocoon. It was served in the order given, and no wonder that "the dinner committee had sat up until all hours combining this menu for gourmets."

New Pastor to Begin Duties Easter Sunday.

Rev. Charles W. Squires of Leighton, Pa., who recently accepted a call to the pastorate of the First Presbyterian Church on Franklin Street, succeeded Rev. Dwight Tingley, will begin his duties on Easter Sunday. The new pastor will preach his initial sermon on Easter Sunday morning. Rev. Mr. Squires spent four years in Leighton as Presbyterian minister and was formerly active in the Canadian military. He also served pastorates in Newcastle, N.B., Campbellton N.B., and in the city of St. John, N.B., where he spent four years.

He prepared in a Canadian academy and then entered Mount Allison college at Sackville, N.B., where he was honor man in philosophy. In 1900 he received his B. A. degree and in 1902 Master of Arts. Later he received his B. D. degree at Sackville. This, however, was merely the beginning of his work in divinity and philosophy, for he afterwards received a bachelor of divinity degree from Montreal and also from Princeton. In his quest for knowledge Dr. Squires visited Harvard university where he spent four years in post graduate work in philosophy, studying under James Royce and Professor Munsterberg. At this institution he took the master of arts degree for the second time, gaining the honor of receiving his degree in person and in addition successfully passed the preliminaries for the doctor of philosophy degree. Since completing his studies at Harvard he has received the doctor of sacred theology degree from Montreal. Dr. Squires has been secretary of Sunday school associations and secretary for missions in districts in the Canadian ministry. He has also written a number of books, among which are "Munsterberg and Milliarism Checked" and "Travels in Labrador," which was founded on knowledge furnished by his father, who for a quarter of a century did missionary work in Newfoundland and Labrador, and who is now living in Wellesley, Mass. Dr. Squires is a native of Newfoundland.

Dr. Smith Tells How to Train Bad Boys.

Says to Give Worst Youth Greatest Responsibility.
"Give your worst boy the greatest responsibility," said Dr. Eugene Randolph Smith, head of the Beaver Country School, Brookline, speaking before the Federation of Women's Clubs at Perkins hall recently. To prove his point he told of a boy brought to his school who soon was found in the middle of a newly-planted lawn. When Dr. Smith was able to get his attention he proposed to the young marauder that he should be appointed guardian of the lawn. This responsibility he responded to at once and by this method soon became one of the most useful boys in the school.

"Nothing is changing so rapidly to-day," said Mr. Smith, "as methods of education, and they are changing in order to give the child real life at school instead of simply trying to pack information into his head." A test which Mr. Smith proposed by which to judge a teacher's success is this: "Does the child feel himself to be in the middle of things or merely looking on as an outsider? Does the history or literature or mathematics seem part of the things he is doing or something far away?"

KILBANE IS NOW IN GOOD STANDING IN NEW YORK STATE.
NEW YORK, April 24.—All obstacles in the path of the world's featherweight boxing championship match between Johnny Kilbane, United States holder of the title, and Eugene Criqui, of France, European champion, at the Polo Grounds on June 2, have been eliminated. Matchmaker Tom O'Rourke announced to-night after the New York State Athletic Commission had granted a license to Kilbane.

Italy Looks After the Children.
All public and private schools, as well as children's asylums in Italy are now subject to regulations for the control of communicable diseases.
At the beginning of each year every school receives medical inspection, continued monthly. Any pupil suspected of having a communicable disease is excluded from the school until a definite diagnosis has been made.
Teachers are required to report any case of suspected eye or skin trouble. Children in danger of becoming tubercular receive special attention. Classes for such children are formed whenever a large enough number of "pre-tubercular" children are found in a community. Vaccination is compulsory.

With the Boxers.

KILBANE IS NOW IN GOOD STANDING IN NEW YORK STATE.
NEW YORK, April 24.—All obstacles in the path of the world's featherweight boxing championship match between Johnny Kilbane, United States holder of the title, and Eugene Criqui, of France, European champion, at the Polo Grounds on June 2, have been eliminated. Matchmaker Tom O'Rourke announced to-night after the New York State Athletic Commission had granted a license to Kilbane.

Kilbane and Criqui, O'Rourke added, both have signed an agreement calling for the winner of the bout to fight Johnny Dundee, of New York, within three months. This, he said, was accepted by the Commission as an alternative to its stipulation that Kilbane accept Dundee's long standing challenge before boxing the Frenchman. Dundee was declared to have agreed to this arrangement.

FRENCH BANTAMWEIGHT BEATS ENGLISHMAN.
PARIS, April 25.—The French bantamweight Mascart last night technically knocked out Billy Matthews in the sixteenth round of what was to have been a twenty round bout.

The French boy, who during the past six months has been conceded a "comer" by reason of his good work in the ring which won almost all the way to-night.
He badly punished the Englishman and the referee stepped between them in the sixteenth round when Matthews was helpless. Matthews, last December was knocked out by Eugene Criqui in the seventeenth round.

Italy Looks After the Children.
All public and private schools, as well as children's asylums in Italy are now subject to regulations for the control of communicable diseases.
At the beginning of each year every school receives medical inspection, continued monthly. Any pupil suspected of having a communicable disease is excluded from the school until a definite diagnosis has been made.
Teachers are required to report any case of suspected eye or skin trouble. Children in danger of becoming tubercular receive special attention. Classes for such children are formed whenever a large enough number of "pre-tubercular" children are found in a community. Vaccination is compulsory.

home on Sunday evening by the train passing Richard at 6.55 o'clock. Oselle, with his daughter, drove the visitor to the station, on their way having to pass over a flooded portion of the road. They missed the train. The friend decided to stay in Richard overnight and to catch an early morning train for Montreal. After leaving the visitor father and daughter started for home. By this time the water over the road had risen and night had fallen. Apparently, when about half-way to East Berks, shire, owing to the depth of the water and the darkness, Oselle missed a culvert over what is usually a stagnant ditch, but was now a raging torrent. His buggy tipped over and he and his daughter were thrown out. The horse managed to free itself from the harness and made its way home. A Longe, an employee of Oselle's, found the horse at the stable door when he came to work at 8 o'clock on Monday morning. A search was immediately instituted, but it was not until noon that the bodies were found. A watch, carried by each of the victims had stopped at 8 o'clock.

Everything is in readiness for the opening of navigation, but winter weather still prevails. The ice all around is solid with no sign of a move. From present indications the season will not open for some weeks. The elevators and rolling stock around the harbor have been put in first class condition. The officials Canadian Vickers dry dock expect a busy season, and may have to use dynamite to loosen the ice in the basin outside, and hasten the transfer of ships from the dock to the basin for the finishing touches. At present there are four ships in the drydock, and four more in the basin waiting to be repaired. The dry dock is 600 feet long, 140 feet wide outside and 100 feet inside with a total lifting capacity of 25,000 tons.

A boy of seven and half was killed by an auto, as he attempted to run across the street when playing with four companions. His companions escaped injury. He was trying to catch them when the accident happened. The doctor, who was driving the automobile at the time, did everything he could for the injured lad, and then rushed him to the hospital, where he died a few hours afterwards. A woman crossing the street on Park Avenue was knocked down by a street car and fatally injured.

We have lots of beggars in Montreal and many of them have a bank account. One was arrested here recently, and in his pockets he had $90 in cash, a bank book showing $371, and a bundle of free meal tickets acceptable at the Municipal Assistance. He has been depositing money regularly ranging from $5 to $15, not having once in fourteen months withdrawn a cent. The judge gave him 6 months, fined him $50 or another 6 months.

The unfortunate "dope" fiends are still being rounded up, fined, sent to jail and some of them deported. In cases where bail is allowed, $10,000 is the sum named. There seems to be no let up in trying to rid the city of the evil. The police and detectives have their dragnet all over the city. In conversation with an official of the Dominion Immigration Bureau who has lately returned from Halifax where he was taking two dope fiends, an Italian and an Englishman to be deported to their own countries and where they are wanted to answer certain charges against them, he said that he had an awful time with one of them, as he shouted and roared on the train for the drug. As both were handcuffed, he was obliged to bring them in the baggage car in order not to disturb the other passengers. "I would prefer to handle an insane man any day than a 'dope' fiend," he said. "For you can subdue in some way the insane person, but the drug addict is beyond any hope whatever." Speaking of the sick artist, "the pickpocket" for he has handled quite a bunch of them also, he cited a very funny incident that took place in the Board Room of the Immigration Building, situated on St. Antoine Street. A short distance from Winter Street a short time ago. The officials were holding a meeting in order to decide what was to be done with an artist, an American Jew. "The pickpocket" was seated near the chairman, and he asked leave to be allowed to speak after the meeting had been in progress only a short time. "The knights of the root of all evils," said "Gentlemen, I am a first class pickpocket, one of the slickest that ever worked in New York City, and I don't care whether you send me back to New York or leave me in Montreal for I have friends in both places, and to show you, gentlemen, that I am an artist at my work, I'll give you the proof." Then turning to the chairman he said, "Allow me, Mr. Chairman to present you with your watch and chain." The chairman nearly took a fit when the artist handed him his property and said that he was mainly lived up to his reputation. While the other members smiled at the incident, they were non-plussed at the shift, tact and manner of the "pickpocket" of doing his work so well, without being in the least discovered during the act.

CHICAGO, April 29.—There were 4,918,194 Methodist Episcopal Sunday School members enrolled in 36,131 Sunday Schools of that denomination during 1922, according to a report of the Methodist Episcopal Sunday School Board just made public here. More than 400,000 officers and teachers were engaged in the work among the army of pupils.

Last year these Sunday Schools contributed $1,772,121 to the missionary work of the church, the report states. This was 88 per cent. of the total of $2,000,000 asked of them.

The Board, however, considers the record in evangelism the really remarkable part of the report, inasmuch as 187,254 Sunday School pupils joined the church during the year. This number is 68,247 greater than the entire net increase in church membership reported in the Methodist Year Book, the report says. "Without these accessions," it continues, "the church would have suffered a considerable loss in membership."

Last year 1,577 new teacher training classes were established with a membership of 18,422 in correspondence courses and 6,613 examinations were given, the report continues. During the year 226 institutes or group meetings were held, carrying training to 12,965 attendants. The department of teacher training reports that during last year 36,963 students were receiving training of some sort.

The report concludes: "Believing that the Sunday session of the church school alone does not avail to provide adequate religious education for the American youth, the Board of Sunday Schools is aggressively entering the field of week-day religious education. Last year 138 daily vacation schools with an enrollment of 41,490 and 46 week-end schools of religion with an enrollment of 7,551 were established."

Asleep for Thirty-Two Years.

To sleep steadily through thirty-two years—such is the record stated to have been set up by a woman in a little Swedish village.

Many years ago Karoline Karlsson fell asleep over her books in school. She was thirteen years old then, and her forty-fifth birthday had passed before she woke up again!

To pass suddenly from childhood to middle-age is an experience few of us would wish to sample, but this woman seems little worried about it. She says she feels as bright and as refreshed as if she had had nothing more than a good night's rest. Her chief desire is to resume her education at the point where it was so strangely interrupted.

All efforts to wake the sleeper failed. Why she woke up at all is as inexplicable as why she went to sleep in the first place.

CONTENTED.

Grocer Griggs.

Grocer Griggs is never bitter, Grocer Griggs is never sore, and I hear him chirp and twitter as he labors in his store. Sometimes when the boys assemble in the grocer's store by night, they with indignation tremble, each one telling of his plight. This one fortune made a tinker when he should have held renown as a great and leading thinker, in his college cap and gown. That one fate has made a spinner, knowing in his inmost heart that he would have been a winner in the higher realms of Art. Each one finds himself pursuing tasks that make him tired and sad; each would swap the chore he's doing for the job of 't'other lad. But the grocer sings and whistles, and he warbles cherry tunes, as he wraps up figs and thistles, as he sells his boneless prunes. "All my life I've fed the masses," he remarks, with chuckles, "selling codfish and molasses that the people may survive. I have fed at least a million, adding to their souls' content, fed the soldier and civilian, fed the lady and the gent. Is there any job that's finer, is there any nobler task? I would be a piking whiner if I grumbled at my task." Ah, we feel like 'thorn varmints when the grocer's spiel is o'er, and we gather up our garments and go sneaking from the store.

ate in that they are alive. To keep healthy—to make the very best use of the vitality we possess—does not necessitate a constant devotion to the observance of strict rules and regulations. Common sense goes a long way, and the study of hygiene and diet and a determination to obtain that amount of exercise the body requires complete a health-providing plan.

It is in the last named respect that most of us fail; we do not give our muscles a chance. It has been proven so many times that the most simple exercise, properly partaken of, works wonders with the health. Such ailments as headaches, indigestion, and physical lethargy can be banished with absolute certainty by giving up a few moments every day to "physical jerks" in the home.

Five minutes in the morning and a similar spell devoted at night to the following little exercise will be found to produce a great benefit. Having taken care that all tight clothing is removed, stand in an erect position, well balanced on the feet, and with the hands placed firmly on the hips, elbows well back. Take a deep breath, then slowly turn the trunk only to the left, without moving the hips. Now resume the former position very gradually, afterwards repeating the exercise to the right. It is essential that the hips should never be moved or else no advantage will be derived from a slight physical effort which, after being employed for a few days, will have been found to tone up the whole system.

This exercise can be alternated with another which needs to be carried out in the seclusion of a private garden. It is one that "cleans" the whole respiratory system, and seems to bring new life into a jaded, tired body. It consists, first, of the old-fashioned game of skipping, which should be carried on till a state is arrived at popularly known as being "out of breath," yet not continued long enough to produce fatigue. Usually two minutes is sufficient. The second part of the "cure" consists of standing in an erect position and slowly inhaling a succession of deep breaths through the nose and expelling them through the mouth. Directly heart, which was beating quickly, assumes its normal speed, the exercise is finished. Although so simple, this little plan is a wonderful health-bringer, and its effect will be demonstrated by a rosy, ruddy, countenance acquired in a few days. Better than rouge or cosmetics as a beautifier!

"I Had Bilious Attacks and Stomach Weakness"

Mrs. Wm. Robinson, Yorker, Sask., writes: "I suffered from stomach and liver trouble, and used to have bilious attacks so bad that I could do nothing for weeks at a time. My stomach would be so weak that not even a drink of water would stay on it. On my sister's advice, I began to use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, and must say that they have made me feel like a new woman."

Sounds That Mock.

ECHOES RIVAL MIGHTY CHOIR.

Standing in the famous Whispering Gallery of St. Paul's Cathedral you can make every sound you utter plainly audible to a friend on the far side, even though you speak in tones so low that he would find it difficult to catch what you were saying a couple of yards away in the open.

At Girsenti, in Sicily, is an even more wonderful echo. There a whisper at the western end of the cathedral can be heard 100 yards away in the choir stalls.

At Pisa there is an echo that takes no notice of two song notes, but if three are uttered they are sung from one stone to another with ever-increasing strength, until after a few seconds it seems as if some mighty choir were singing.

Breaking the Waves.

In Bavaria there is an echo which may terrify those who hear it for the first time. If a shout is sent up it is heard echoing from crag to crag until it dies away in the distance. For some seconds all is still; then, faint and far away, a sound is heard which grows rapidly louder until it bursts overhead with a crash like the firing of a great gun.

Sounds like light, can be reflected by surfaces which they strike at an angle. But it is curious to notice how often unwanted echoes occur in great buildings that have been erected for special purposes. In the Albert Hall concerts were at first impossible, for sounds rebounded from the walls and met those that were leaving the platform. It was not until wire netting was used to break the sound waves that things improved.

In London's new County Hall the echoes are so bad that it is difficult to hear words spoken only a few yards away.

Washing Stained Glass 700 Years Old.

The work of cleaning and re-leading the mediaeval stained glass windows of York Minster was described by Dr. Foxley Norris, the Dean of York, as being like the building up of a gigantic jigsaw puzzle. Dr. Foxley Norris stated recently that the windows were worth £275,000,000. They comprise the bulk of the genuine mediaeval glass to be found in the country. Much of the glass is 700 years old, and it has been found to be in a dangerous condition owing partly to the perishing of the lead and partly to the effects of the atmosphere on the glass itself. After being removed from the stonework, Dr. Foxley Norris said, the windows are placed in a bath of warm water, in which they remain for several hours. Then they are cleaned with a soft brush, the old lead is stripped off, and the impression of the window is made on paper, just as "rubblings" are taken of coins.

Every piece of glass, and the corresponding pattern of the paper, is numbered, and the glass is then re-built in the new lead, a task requiring very many thousands of joints, each of which has to be soldered separately. It takes from two to three months to complete the work on one of the big windows.

Beauty Adorned.

It is said that beauty unadorned is adorned the most, but few of us believe it! Jewellery in moderation appeals to all women, and just now it's joy to know that it is not necessary to wear the most costly gems to be fashionable!

Rings set with extraordinary large stones seem to be in great demand to-day. Fancy-colored stones—not fitted glass—such as green, orange and lemon, if distinctly colored, are fashionable.

Jewellery set with these semi-precious stones is selling most rapidly now—diamonds, to be had in almost any color for a low price a carat; blue sapphire, having almost the brilliancy of the diamond owing to its hardness; aquamarines, peridots, topaz, and turquoise.

Moonstones from Ceylon, with their milky-blue coloring, are in favor. The brilliant green olivine, with its orange flash, is also much sought after. Rings containing honey-colored Oriental cat's-eye are worn, too, and when these stones are cut "en cabochon"—or dome shape—the "silk" in them causes a pretty star to appear in the centre. Jet set in carved ivory is popular in Paris just now with mappie frocks.

Through With Govt. Insurance in Italy.

Premier Mussolini of Italy recently made the following pronouncement: "We are done with government railways, government employment offices, government insurance. We leave to the State its police powers to protect honest citizens from robbers and criminals; we leave it to the army to protect the territories of the fatherland inviolate and we leave it to the control of foreign policy."

20,000 PEOPLE HEADS FOR DOB GOLD

Thirty thousand people are expected to be waiting for the gold on the coast of Labrador. At the office in London, the Commissioner for the Geological Survey was stated recently that the discoveries at St. John's Bay geological survey has given rise to this remote area. The communities living there are the Hudson Bay workers, the posts, and the Moravian missionaries.

Thirty years ago Mr. A. Canadian geologist, discovered gold. It has been since then that there has been in mineral deposits. Recently a further discovery has been made on behalf of the Geological Survey. It is a field much higher than the dyke goldfields. Gold was dredged from the Big River, Liverpool Post, March 24.

Body Mutilated.

TRACE OF HIS ACTIVITIES.

Toronto, April 30.—(Canadian Press.)—The mutilated body of James J. Cronin, who was killed in the sinking of the ship John Cronin, which sank off the Massachusetts coast, April 6, was found yesterday by Vineyard police as that of a brother of C. Craven, of New York, who was recently charged with the murder of a bootlegger.

The body was buried on the light thrown on the mys- the schooner's sinking raised that the craft, said to be owned by the New York bootleggers, was the victim of pirates and mutin- ers. It was disclosed that some of the bodies of the eight victims recovered contained water, and some did not. It was also stated that one of the victims had died from a blow on the skull. The inquiry is being conducted by the Massachusetts State police.

When the body of Craven was recovered, it was noted that the eyes were brown. It was not then muti- cated. Later his brother, Martin R. Craven, identified the body as that of "John Cronin," of Cambridge, Mass. The body was shipped there, and buried under the false name. But before burial it was horribly mutilated. The eyes had been removed and the fingers charred, so that no finger prints could be taken. The face also was charred beyond recognition. The police believe someone had taken these precautions against the discovery of the proper identity of the victim.

Discovery that Craven had been a victim of the disaster that overtook the schooner came when his wife forced his brother to have the name he supplied changed in the records to the proper one. He said he had given the wrong name to shield the family from publicity.

Thomas Craven is president of the Midland Trading Corporation. He was arrested on bootlegging charges March 20. Alcohol and whiskey val- ued at $850,000 was seized in a ware- house a week later. Police say the warehouse was leased by Thomas

The John Dwight was known to have had $90,000 in cash when she left Newport on her last trip. She car- ried a crew of 14 men. No trace of any except the eight whose bodies were recovered, has ever been found.

Radio Beacons.

LATEST DEVICE OF BRITISH EX- PERTS.

LONDON, March 24.—(By A. P.)—"Wireless lighthouses" are the latest products of the British electrical ex- perts. By using these innovations it is possible for navigating officers to pick their way through the most intricate and dangerous channels.

Marconi engineers have just com- pleted one of these beacons on Inch- keith Island in the Firth of Forth. This station is able to send signals by wireless to vessels equipped with Marconi apparatus, and is able to guide them as effectively as if the sender himself were at the ship's helm.

The wireless lighthouse sends out a directional wireless beam which gives a distant signal as it passes through each point of the compass. Wireless waves are projected so as to sweep the surrounding sea in just such a way as would the rays from a light- house. Thus, instead of fixing a point by visual means the result is obtained aurally and is in no way interfered with, whatever the weather conditions are.

A steamer in the Leth service has just made a round trip from London with this apparatus, and reports that the signal were received perfectly during the whole time the vessel was within range. Part of the voyage was through a dense fog and in the dark. The pilot said he was able to guide the boat with as much ease as if the instructions had come from the bridge.

Faithful Four Guard Flag

AT TIP OF WORLD.

OTTAWA, Ont., April 30.—(A.P.)—Four lonely Canadians, marooned on Wrangel Island at the top of the map, have been waiting since 1921 to have that bleak Arctic region proclaimed Canadian soil. The four are the mem- bers of a landing party left by Vilhj- elm Stefansson, the explorer, on his visit to the island several years ago. While the former members of his ex- pedition possess their souls in pa- tience and hunt muskox and seal for a living, Stefansson is negotiating with the Canadian Government to re- imburse him for the expense of his polar voyage, and accept sovereignty over Wrangel Island in payment.

When members of the Stefansson party raised the Canadian flag on Wrangel Island in 1921, there was some discussion as to the propriety of the action. The flag has remained, with three men and a boy to guard it, but no step has been taken here to assert formal sovereignty over the northern area. Stefansson, who fitted out his own expedition at a cost of $25,000, when he failed to interest the Canadian Government in his plans, now urges that his addition to the Canadian domain should be worth at least that much money.

The main value of the island at present, according to Stefansson, is strategic. He says that it is directly in the path of an ideal trans-polar air route across the world.

Beware of Pure Water!

French scientists have made this startling declaration as a result of ex- periments they have been conducting. Chemically pure water, they say, has to be distilled, which frees it of all germs. But distilled water, if taken regularly, weakens the human body because it contains nothing but oxygen and hydrogen.

The process of distillation removes all mineral salts, which are of the ut- most value to the body; in fact, they are indispensable. The working of the human machine is continually de- stroying the mineral salts found in it, and therefore we must take fresh sup- plies into our bodies, the most effec- tive way being by means of water.

Consequently, if chemically pure water is taken regularly we are using up our salts without obtaining others. This tends to tuberculosis, among other things.

Youngest Sport Club in Canada Gives Banquet.

MSGR. DONNELLY, ONCE MORE HALE AND HEARTY, GUEST OF HONOR.

The smallest and youngest—in matter of age and size only—Athletic club in Canada gave a party.

It was a wonderful party, gotten up and managed by that wonderfully enthusiastic guide, philosopher and friend of the small youth of St. Anthony's Parish, Louis R. J. Cuddihy, managing director of the Variety Musical and Athletic Club.

And it was a party given in honor of the return to Montreal after a sojourn in the West Indies for serious reasons of health of the boys' beloved pastor and friend, once an enthusiastic athlete himself, and a firm believer in athletic training for boys, no matter how small, the Right Rev. Monsgr. John E. Donnelly.

Improved From That Day.

The pleasant-voiced, witty, gentlemanly prelate enjoyed the occasion thoroughly, anyone could see that. His heart appeared as young as that of the youngest there, and one realized how deeply he felt what he said when he told the boys, in the course of his remarks about his adventure of travel, that while still being very ill on board of the boat that sped him towards Cuba, and hardly able to walk, he began to mend from that day, his birthday, when he received a marconigram from these very boys who were the life of the party last night, congratulating him, sending him their earnest wishes for his recovery and showing that though far away, for to him who had done very little travelling away from home, it seemed as if he was at the end of the earth, they thought of him and were with him in spirit.

Each Felt He Helped.

And when he said it, the eager faces of the boys who literally hung on his words, showed that each of them felt he had done a little to help on Monsgr.'s recovery.

But Monsgr. was not the only one who enjoyed the occasion. All present did, from the oldest school-commissioner there to the youngest member of the athletic club, who shook his long, fair curls as he stood on a chair, and on behalf of the juvenile members seconded the official address read in sonorous voice by one of the seniors, and declared that he for one wasn't going home to swig his lessons that night, because he was tired enough to go to sleep at once.

With Mr. Cuddihy's aid, the boys had provided a fine banquet, of which they themselves so much approved that they wondered if Monsgr. had eaten any half as good while he was convalescing in Havana, where the dark complexioned boys were not allowed to run around free as they did here in Montreal, but were always accompanied by some of their elders, which the Variety Athletic club members, judging from their conversation by no means considered the thing.

Some Entertainment.

And then in addition to that banquet, there was preceding it such a musical and dramatic entertainment, as many would pay much to hear. The beauty of it was that all the performers thoroughly enjoyed their work, even the fine Irish Setter, J.E., that took a star part in one of the scenes, where four boys and the dog sat under the most ragged and disreputable umbrella ever known, and recited a humorous piece, throwing themselves so earnestly into their parts that they themselves, as much as their audience, became violently affected by the mirth of it, especially when the dog-actor spoke out of his turn.

There were songs of all sorts, echo songs and animal songs, and cat choruses, and solos, and a wedding, in which the two little boys dressed as man and wife in the cutest of costumes brought the house down with laughter in which they could not help but join.

Fine Performance.

Amongst the youthful performers who stood out were Francis Doyle, Gordon Patterson, Richard Fitzgerald, William Finnigan, Charles Finnigan, P. Bennett, James Barry, Lawrence McGrath, and the fifteen year old elocutionist, M. G. O'Neill. The accompaniments were played by William Doyle and J. Leslie Kelly. The latter can play anything he is asked to play by ear, and is also a promising singer.

Then there were two young gentlemen who danced an Irish jig to perfection, two who imitated Mr. Gallagher and Mr. Shean, another who provided some fine violin solos, and a host of other smaller virtuosi, too numerous to mention.

Love for Lacrosse.

After Monsgr. had received the presents offered him by his small admirers and had given his charming talk, the first public utterance, by the way, he has made for some ten months, Dr. E. J. Kennedy, of the Western District School Board, addressed Monsgr. in terms of friendship and affection on behalf of his many grown-up friends, and was followed by the Rev. Father Flood, who held the fort so successfully while Monsgr. was away that the church coffers were full of "pesos," as they say in Havana, and everything else in apple-pie order when he returned. He took advantage of having so many school commissioners there to show them in a pleasant, but none the less effective, manner how really necessary it is to look into the matter of more accommodation for the school children of St. Anthony's parish and eulogized Mr. Cuddihy for his grand work amongst small boys and continued efforts to revive lacrosse, a game Monsgr. loves, a eulogy in which he but voiced the sentiments of all those present.

Among those present were the Rev. Fathers James J. Flood, Martin P. Reid, J. L. O'Rourke, chancellor of the archdiocese of Montreal, and Robert Moore, O.P.M.; the Rev. Brother Prudence, Andrew and Joseph; Dr. E. J. Kennedy, J. V. Desautels, J. P. Labarre, E. Pilon, T. Cuddihy, A. C. Miller, W. O'Donoghue, J. T. McCarty, J. Scullion, J. Scullion, J. H. Levalle, E. Farnay, G. Smyth, E. Collier, J. Brennan, M. Day, E. Morrison, P. Cartier, W. Doyle, H. Thistlewaite and L. Bradley.—Montreal, Daily Star, April 12th.

PAIN

Minard's penetrates to the root of the trouble and gives quick relief. Splendid for sore muscles, sprains, bruises. A good thing—rube it in.

Two Home Hints.

When replacing pieces which have been "jagged" out of the wall-paper, do not cut the patch to be added—tear the paper. The irregular edges when the patch is pasted down will be scarcely noticeable, whereas clean, even edges can be detected at a glance.

Paints in new wood which is to be painted can be filled in with putty. Care must be taken to press the putty well down, and to scrape it so that it is even with the surface of the wood.

For the Kidneys

Kidney troubles are frequently caused by badly digested food which overtaxes these organs to eliminate their acids. Help your stomach to properly digest the food by taking 15 to 30 drops of Extract of Roots, sold as Nether Seig's Carative Syrup, and your kidney disorder will promptly disappear. Get the genuine. 50c and $1.00 bottles.

Canada's Far North.

The land of the midnight sun and all its kindred glories has now come within easy reach of the summer tripper and each year sees an increasing number of tourists journeying to the remotest part of the great Canadian empire, Aklavik, on the shores of the Mackenzie river, the Arctic's remotest trading centre can be reached by a river journey of 1,700 miles by steamer, and 300 miles by rail, from Edmonton, Alberta.

Steamers have plied on northern waters since 1832, and the railway was built to the edge of the great northern water system in 1916, but the season of 1922 just-closed is the first one in which tourists could "travel with certainty of making connections from Edmonton to Aklavik and return."

In this distant land Eskimo trappers are prospering. They are now buying modern schooners for next year's trading. These are built at Edmonton, during the winter months, shipped on flat cars to waterways, at the end of steel, and there launched on the Athabasca River, floated down north to the portage between Forts Fitzgerald and Smith, hauled by caterpillar tractor across the portage, then launched once more on the river, across Great Slave Lake into the Mackenzie, and so north to the Arctic coast, a distance of nearly two thousand miles.

One Eskimo, Innitok, has ordered his fourth schooner this winter. He insists upon white man's names for them—the first being "White Fox," then "Going East," next "White Wings," and number four will be "Bluenose." This last addition to the Innitok fleet will be 40ft. long, with 12ft. beam, schooner rigged, and carrying an auxiliary engine.

A dozen stout boats of the whale-boat type are being built in Edmonton this winter for the Indians who traffic on Great Bear Lake and into Fort Norman. These boats will supersede the canoes hitherto used, and will in a measure safeguard the native from the fierce and sudden storms which have made Great Bear Lake a terror to even the most experienced Indian navigators.

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

THE TACTFUL PERSON.

I heard an excellent definition of tact the other day. Too good to myself. Therefore: "What we call tact is the ability to find, before it is too late, what it is that our friends do not desire to learn from us. It is the art of withholding on proper occasions information which we are quite sure would be good for them."
Very good, don't you think?
And capable of infinite expansion and application.

What Tact Teaches.

For instance, tact teaches its possessor not only to withhold instructive information which is boring to those who don't desire to hear it at that moment, but also to select carefully the personal details which we shall communicate and the people to whom we shall communicate them.

Who has not met the man or woman who tells little personal and family details, not only to his or her friends who know the people involved and may be interested, but to casual acquaintances who don't know them and cannot be interested.

Who does not know the person who, without the dramatic ability to make it interesting, persists in telling people the plot of the book he has just read or the play he has just seen?

Who has not had to listen to the person who tells long tales with himself as the hero, which are not in themselves interesting and take their only reason for being from the fact that he shines in them.

Use as a Warning.

The possession of tact would warn these people against these social offenses.

Tact is a spiritual sense of touch, a mental deftness.

The tactful person possesses a sixth sense, a sort of mental or spiritual antennae that gets the other wave of other people's feelings.

The tactful person knows instantly when he isn't getting a response to what he is saying, even if his listener is smiling and saying: "Did you ever?" or "How interesting?" or any of the polite catchwords.

The tactful person knows when his listener is bursting with something he wants to say, and gives him a chance.

The tactful person instantly senses, when some person is under discussion, whether the person with whom the discussion is held likes or dislikes the person discussed, though no direct statement has been made.

The tactful person knows on the spot when he is talking too much and beginning to bore people, instead of realizing it in the middle of the night after and burning with an unavailing sense of shame.

Born and Cultivated Tact.

Some people are born tactful, others cultivate tact, others have it thrust upon them by economic necessity.

But the best kind of tact is the tact that comes straight from the heart and wishes to please others, not only because it wants the rewards of pleasing others, but because it wants others to be happy.

In any event, it is a gift, and one that in the end will reap outside its good results many more brilliant gifts.

As Colton has said: "Men may have the gifts both of talent and wit, but unless they have also prudence and judgment to dictate when, where and how these gifts are to be exerted, the possessors of them will conquer only where nothing is to be gained, and be defeated where nothing is to be lost, and will be outdone by men of less brilliant but more convertible qualifications."

The Lighter Side.

A TOAST.

The man who provides for a rainy day,
I a truly intelligent guy;
But here's to the man, wisest of all
Who provides for the days that are dry.

Be a live wire and you won't get stepped on; it is the dead ones that are used for dormants.

Just as an experiment would suggest when you get on a crowded street car that you sing "God Save the King" and when everyone stands help yourself to a coat.

One of the Pullman porters says portering is much harder than it used to be. In the old days it never was necessary to gather up empty stinks in the wash rooms.

Who says the modern girl doesn't know how to use the needle. Mr. Ebenezer says she changes it after every record.

THE NEWEST EXCUSE.

"Honest, Madge, I was standing out in front of the delicatessen store half the night listening to the radio program."

There was a time when you could judge whether or not a girl was enjoying life by her dance programs; now it's by her discarded hair-nets.

Joe Smart says that S.O.S. from European hotels doubtless means Send Over Suckers.

Prosperity will come when men watch their work instead of watching the clock work, according to a statement recently declared by a well known citizen.

MIND VS. MATTER.

I know a giddy girlie,
Who dresses like a whiz;
And though her mind's not out made up,
The rest of her sure is.

ATA BOY.

I kissed her in the moonlight,
My heart was in a whirl;
My mouth and eyes were full of hair,
My arms were full of girl.

How does my invisible hair net look, dearie?

He who laughs last is usually last to get the joke.

There was an old woman from Tremont,
She bit on her teeth till she bent 'em;
She said I don't care, I'll get another pair,
For these aren't mine, I just rent 'em.

A sponge-like apron gives many a frock a demure air. It lies around the waist with a smart bow at the back.

Accident Prevention

Taught in 276 Schools.

WASHINGTON, April 23—(A.P.)—The reason 76,000 persons are killed and 2,000,000 injured in accident each year in the United States is "largely psychological," according to Mary Noel Arrowsmith, assistant secretary of the education section of the National Safety Council, who declares in the Bureau of Education's publication, School Life, that the American people as a nation have "not learned to think in terms of conservation as applied to human life."

Miss Arrowsmith points out that, since 1919, when the council began working toward development of education in accident prevention in the schools, the number of automobile accidents to boys of school age has decreased, and says that in a number of cities there the plan worked out by Dr. E. George Payne, of New York University while principal of the Harris Teachers' College at St. Louis, "remarkable results in the reduction of the death rate of school children have been achieved."

Dr. Payne's plan involves no extra study periods, but incorporates various phases of safety efforts as applied to the home, school, play and the streets in other parts of the curriculum. A questionnaire sent to school superintendents by the council brought 276 replies, 142 stating that some form of safety teaching had been introduced as part of the curriculum, 37 as a special subject, 40 both as a special subject and as part of the curriculum, and 37 as incidental instruction, while three replies did not bring information on this point and 17 reported on safety teaching. It was also found that 82 cities had children's safety organizations, in at least some of the schools and 136 of the replies declared school work had been stimulated by the addition of the safety efforts to the curriculum.

Municipal Council
WEEKLY MEETING.

The weekly meeting of the Municipal Council was held yesterday afternoon. Mayor Cook presided and Councillors Martin, Collier, Ryan and Dowden were present.

The Minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed, and the pay-rolls and bills presented.

H. F. Willet, Bowring Row, Merry-mounting Road, wrote re the need of attention being given the sidewalk at this place, also to road conditions generally, in this section of the city. A similar communication was read from G. W. Brown, Circular Road. Both matters were referred to the City Engineer for immediate attention.

An application was received from Mr. P. Blyde for position as assistant on the Sprinkler Trucks. The necessity of employing a man for this work will be inquired into by the Sanitary Committee.

Rev. E. T. Nichols, Rector of St. Michael's & All Angel's Church, applied for water and sewerage for the new Rectory, at present in course of erection, LeMarchant Road. The requests were acceded to.

Lawrence Hickey applied for re-appointment of the position of caretaker and swimming instructor at the Pool, Long Pond, for the coming year. As Mr. Hickey's services last year were most satisfactory, the Council decided that when the season opens, he is to be employed.

A petition was read from the residents of Forest Road, protesting against the Church Hill Marine Engineering Works of a garage and machine-shop on the Fort William grounds, northwest of the Curling Rink, and immediately to the rear of their respective dwellings. They pointed out that such an erection would detract from the value of their properties and would probably increase the insurance rates in this locality. Before granting permit to build, it was decided the location plan, showing erections, is to be forwarded to the petitioners.

Tenders are to be called for the usual uniforms for the Municipal Inspectors.

Messrs. Walter Gosse, Plymouth Road, and G. Pearce, Cavell Avenue, asked permission to build extensions to their dwellings. Plans must be first submitted for the approval of the Council.

Mr. W. Mercer asked that he be allowed to erect a sign-board at premises, 26 Water Street, West. This was referred to the City Engineer.

In the matter of the application of Mr. F. Fitzgerald, to erect stable, Blackmarsh Road, the Health Officer recommends that permission be given him, subject to the usual sanitary requirements.

The Health Report for the week showed eleven new cases of Scarlet Fever.

Several tenders were received for the supply of lead pipe. Same were ordered deferred to another meeting.

Councillor C. W. Ryan gave notice that he would at the next regular meeting introduce a resolution for the naming of the road between Government House grounds and St. Thomas's Church as "St. Thomas's Boulevard."

The cleaning of city streets and several other routine matters in connection with the Departments were discussed. After granting requisitions etc., the meeting adjourned.

The J. B. Orr Co.
Secure a New Agency.

The My Own Co. of Indianapolis, Indiana, have appointed John B. Orr their representative for Newfoundland.

The My Own Food Products are known throughout the United States for their high standard of quality.

My Own Evaporated Milk,
My Own Pork & Beans,
My Own Catsup,
My Own Soups,
My Own Peanut Butter,
My Own Mustard,
My Own Spaghetti,
My Own Salt Dressing, are some of the delicious articles put up by the My Own Co., which will shortly be on sale at leading Grocers of St. John's, and throughout Newfoundland.

Mr. Orr, who recently visited the My Own Plant, speaks particularly of the Government Inspection of My Own Food Products.

The Creator of the Lifeboat.

Great Britain's most powerful lifeboat, the Brothers, which has just been completed, draws attention to the remarkable progress which has been made in the lifeboat since its invention over a century ago.

The Brothers, which cost $40,000 to build, is driven by a ninety h.p. engine and can carry ninety-eight passengers.

It was in 1787 that a committee of South Shields shipowners offered a prize for the best model of a boat adapted for saving life amid the storms and perils at the mouth of the Tyne. Two models were submitted to the committee, one by William Wouldhave, a painter, and the other by Henry Greathead, a local ship-builder.

Neither was considered suitable, but details of both were adopted in the type finally approved. Wouldhave was awarded a guinea (about $5) this being half of the prize originally offered—a striking commentary on the rewards of genius!—and Greathead was given the order for the building of the actual boat.

An interesting story is told as to the source of Wouldhave's inspiration. One afternoon he went to help a woman to lift a tub of water on to her head, and as he did so his attention was directed to the float used to keep the water from splashing over. He saw that it was half of a circular wooden dish, and that it always remained hollow-side up. This set him thinking and when he got home he started to experiment. He persevered with the idea and at last produced his model.

Another Claimant to Fame.

There is, however, another claimant to fame in connection with the lifeboat. James Beeching, of Great Yarmouth, was awarded a prize at the Great Exhibition of 1851, with his plans for a twelve-oared boat. While this was the first self-righting boat ever constructed, it was not quite satisfactory, and eventually the Government furnished the money for the building of a new boat which embodied the good qualities of the best plans that had been submitted.

This boat was built at Woolwich Dockyard. Many alterations and modifications were afterwards made in the vessel, and since then the design has been improved at various times. The self-righting lifeboat, therefore, cannot be looked upon as any one man's design or invention.

The history of the lifeboat service has been marked from the beginning by deeds of the greatest heroism. Finest of all, perhaps, is the story of the Ramsgate lifeboat, the Bradford. This boat went to the rescue of the crew of the Indian Chief, which came to grief in 1881 on the treacherous Goodwin Sands.

It was the worst gale within living memory, and the crew of the Bradford were lashed to their seats, the while they endured the savage thrashing of the breakers and the piercing cold, which froze the hair and beards. The wreck was eighteen miles away and it took seven hours to reach her. Eleven of the crew were lashed to the mast, which was all that was visible of the wreck, and most of them were rescued. The second mate was raving mad when he was got into the boat. He died as the Bradford reached Ramsgate. The lifeboat was covered with ice, for it had been out for twenty-six hours in the mightiest storm experienced on the Goodwin.

Voyage of a Bottle Dropped into the Ocean

Experience has proven that a bottle dropped into the Atlantic Ocean off the Grand Banks of Newfoundland is likely to be carried eastward nearly across the Atlantic. Then, turning southward and skirting the shore of Africa, it follows the great circulating ocean current, which sweeps it westward and back across the Atlantic again, perhaps throwing it upon one of the Bahamas.

There is, to the south of the Azores, a region of waters where there are no currents worth mentioning. Vast drowned meadows of living and growing seaweeds cover the surface, and wreckage of all sorts accumulates. It is the famous Sargasso Sea, a graveyard of lost ships, and the home of many strange species of marine animals not found elsewhere in the world.

Reading for Speed.

Most persons, in reading printed matter, glance only at the top half of the letters before them on the page. The truth of this statement is easily proved by covering first the bottom and then the top half of a line of letters. When the bottom half is covered the average reader has little difficulty in following the sense. When the top is concealed, however, he finds himself immediately at a loss. The speed at which a person can read and take in the sense of what he is reading, varies enormously in individuals. The ordinary reader can get through about 20,000 words in an hour. Fast readers can easily double this speed. A unique case was that of a famous man of learning who could read and remember more than fifty words a second. He is said to have read six novels a day.

Stone Weighing 1200 Tons.

What is believed to be the biggest single stone, or monolith, ever quarried, has been unearthed at Assouan, in Egypt.

It is an obelisk of red granite, 113 feet long, and careful measurements and calculations have fixed its approximate weight at 1,200 tons.

For purposes of comparison it may be recalled that Cleopatra's Needle, a similar, though much smaller obelisk on the Thames Embankment, London, Eng., is 68 1/2 feet long, and weighs 180 tons.

Some of the biggest single uprights in Stonehenge, Britain's oldest and most mysterious ruin, would turn the scale at 30 and 40 tons apiece. But in Brittany, is a similar prehistoric ruin, with a central stone—now broken and prostrate—which stood 62 feet high and weighed 260 tons.

The biggest stones ever used in building construction are found in some of the ruined temples and palaces erected centuries ago by the Incas, at Cuzco, in Peru.

Many of these are 20 feet high and 10 feet square on the bottom; yet each is fitted so accurately that nowhere is there a spot where a knife-blade can be inserted between the joints.

The Red Army as the Red Lion Sees It.

Outlines Russia's Views on Disarmament, as Laid Down At the Genoa Conference, and Tells Why They Were Not Adopted—How the Red Army Differs from Other Armies in the World.

Trasky, the Russian Minister, also known as the "Red Lion," is not so difficult to interview as is generally supposed, and when he is in the mood, he is willing to explain matters to the best of his ability. The interviewer, Savel Zimand, after obtaining valuable information from the Russian leader, after explaining to him that he was anxious to obtain accurate descriptions from him of the Red Army, the "War of the East," and the "War of the West," Zimand put a number of questions to him. These, with answers, follow:

"What is the present strength of the Russian Army as compared with the armies of other countries?"
 "At the time of the Ninth Congress of the Soviets, when we had one million and a half men under arms, we compared our army with the French Army, and we found that, considering the respective populations and territories, our army was several times smaller than the French Army. Taking into account the territory, the boundary lines and the population, our army is at the present time the smallest in Europe with the exception of Germany."

"Please tell me if there are any differences between the Red Army and the armies of other countries; where are the differences, what are the differences with regard to the purpose it serves? With regard to its social composition and with regard to its spirit?"
 "In capitalist countries the armies serve to defend the bourgeois interests and institutions; our army defends the interests of labor. That is the purpose of the Red Army. With regard to its social composition and chiefly with regard to the officers, the difference is that we do not admit bourgeois and exploiting elements into the Red Army."

"Officers Also Workmen and Peasants."
 "The Red Army officers are educated and selected from among the foremost workmen and peasants imbued with the idea of the international brotherhood and the liberation of labor. With regard to its spirit, the Red Army differs from other armies by not deceiving and saying that it stands outside of politics. It tells just the opposite. It conceives itself as the instrument for the liberation of the working class."

"What is the term of service in the Red Army at present and what was it during the time of your war?"
 "The exact term is not yet established. As it is at present it does not surpass in any case one year and a half. In time of war all the country participated in the defense of the republic and no limitations of term existed."

"Who is exempted from the military service?"
 "The bourgeois and exploiting elements."
 "What was the attitude of the Soviet Government with regard to those who opposed war on account of religious and conscientious objections?"
 "In case they had belonged already before the war to sects and groups prohibiting the use of arms, the Soviet Government did not force them to serve in the army."

"Is there a special military criminal code applied in peace time?"
 "There are fifteen articles (Articles 200, 214) in our general criminal code relating to military crimes."
 "In what does the Russian military criminal code differ from the military codes of other countries?"
 "The fundamental point of distinction lies in the respect paid to the personality and to the right of a Red Army soldier. Apart from this our code is saturated with the idea that the Red soldiers and commanders are, alike, the sons of labor."

"Difference to Other Armies."
 "What is the difference in what you call Red Army discipline and the discipline of other armies?"
 "The discipline in the armies of all other countries is based on the suppression of the soldier's will. The discipline in the Red Army is based on the development of the soldier's consciousness."

"How is the discipline in the Red Army harmonized with creative work?"
 "The creative work in the Red Army as well as the discipline which we uphold is the result of the political-educational work which we carry on honestly and seriously in the army."
 "What is the attitude of the peasant with regard to supporting the Red Army?"
 "At the beginning of the civil war the peasants often played the role of an uncertain force. But the White Guards helped them to become the supporters of the Red Army."
 "What measures have you taken to end illiteracy in the Red Army?"
 "At the fourth anniversary of the Red Army we launched the slogan of learning. Of course, our first problem was to liquidate illiteracy. Thanks to the energy of our political workers who are playing an important role in the Red Army, and thanks to the active cooperation of the commanding staff, the illiteracy problem was solved, May 1, 1922, the day of the international celebration of labor, was declared to be the first day of universal literacy in the Red Army. And it really was such."

The Tablets Cured Her!
Does Your Case Resemble Hers?

For twenty years I suffered from heart trouble and nervous prostration. I had constant pain in my left side, shoulder, left arm, and could not get my hand up to my head. Often times I was confined to my bed, and not able to do the least work. I had palpitation, faint spells, cold hands and feet, shortness of breath, (often at night had to be propped up in bed to get my breath) and could not sleep on my left side. I could hardly eat anything without it causing great pain and gas in my stomach. There was a great feeling of oppression about my heart which made it impossible to do even the lightest work, and I did not know what it was to get a good night's sleep. I can hardly describe my serious condition when beginning to take your Tablets. I had consulted several of our best physicians and taken many kinds of patent medicines without success. I sent for your Tablets and took four boxes. I can truthfully say I now have no symptoms of my former troubles, can eat anything I want, sleep well, do any kind of work and have gained fifteen pounds in weight in three months. It is needless to say that your remedy is the best in the world.

52 Houses

situate in the city are listed on our books for sale; prices ranging from $4000.00 to $8,000.00. Included in the above are some of the most modern construction of the day, and some are below the cost of replacement owing to the owners, in some cases, being hard strapped. Every house on our list is away below the prices prevailing the last few years. Our list is being augmented every day. We call for CASH or for the best terms obtainable in the market to-day, thereby you have the opportunity of putting your monthly rent towards the purchase.
