A FARMER AND HIS FORTUNE.

Experiences of an Ardentist Who Would Not Trust the Banks.

OLEAN, N. Y., April 10.—Isaac Steele, a farmer living near Petrolia, Pa., made a large fortune some years ago from petroleum found on his property. He is an old man and lives with his wife and daughter. Having no faith in banks, he has his money in different places about his house. Five or six years ago he had the latter sum locked up in a number of boxes. One day he was examining his treasure and found it missing. He took the bills from their boxes and spread them out in a field to dry. This singular proceeding became noised about the neighborhood and people flocked from all directions to witness the novel spectacle of a fortune scattered about.

William Bolton, the man who was in company with Miller when he was arrested, and the robbers fled. James and MacDonald were arrested the next day, and were sentenced to five years in the state prison. Every one supposed that Steele would put his wealth in a place of safety after the second warning. Still Steele stubbornly refused to bank his money. Only a few days ago an acquaintance of his found the old farmer sitting in his kitchen with the floor, table and chairs were covered with bank bills, which he was trying to count. There was $46,000 in the lot. On Saturday the news arrived that market burglars had once more visited Steele's home on Thursday night, and after binding and gagging the family succeeded in finding $3000 before being frightened away. Their identity is not known. It is said that Steele has at last decided to entrust his wealth to a bank.

SAN FRANCISCO, April 10.—In the Sharon divorce case yesterday, Mrs. Shawan, a witness for the defence, was accused by plaintiff's lawyer with being a disreputable person. She put her hand into her pocket as though to draw a revolver, but she was checked by defendant's lawyer. The witness also attempted to approach the plaintiff's lawyer, but was stopped by the judge's son, who threatened to shoot him if he attempted to draw his pistol. The court ordered the witness and her son to be removed from the room and the trial to recess. In the afternoon the court refused to hear further testimony unless assured that no one in the court room was armed and would require a certificate from the policeman at the door to that effect.

What Saved the Burglar.

Once upon a time a village editor awoke to find a burglar searching in his chamber for his gold and bonds, and drawing his trusty pistol from beneath his pillow he took steady aim at the nocturnal intruder's head. Looking around and becoming painfully aware of his peril the burglar pleadingly said: "Spare me, for I have made a mistake in the house. I have found nothing but an old out-of-date railroad pass. Let me depart in peace."

"Not so," answered the editor, holding his aim like a skilful marksman, "for this is a very bad week for locals."

"But pause a moment and reflect," returned the burglar, "your paper is not issued till Friday. Your hated rival, the Weekly Danglerstar, will go to press to-morrow evening, and would have at least two columns of my death and the coroner's inquest. It would be better to drop a day ahead of you."

"True enough," said the editor with a sigh as he lowered his pistol and replaced it under his pillow, "you are too early in the week for an item for me, and I therefore spare you. You will find the plumber's house for which you evidently mistook this humble home, next door but one."

Belgium's Educational Franchise. The examination for admitting Belgian citizens not possessed of the regular property qualification to vote at the municipal and provincial elections is not to be made too easy. The list of subjects includes geography, Belgian history, constitutional law, and questions as to the various questions local sufficiently formidable. Thus the aspirant to the franchise is asked, among other things, to describe a sea voyage from Antwerp to Yokohama, mentioning the seas and oceans traversed and indicating the general direction of the ship. A TRAGEDY THAT WAS ENACTED AT NIAGARA FALLS.

A Man Murders His Brother-in-Law and then Commits Suicide—Both Parties Known as Respectable Citizens.

PROFESSOR VEDDER, Niagara Falls, Ont., April 10.—Thos. Vedder and N. K. Pierson drove on Goat Island about 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon. As they had not returned at a late hour last night search was made for them, and about 2 o'clock this morning Pierson's body was found on Luna Island. His head and part of his body were in the water, and ten feet from him Vedder's clothes were found lying on the ice. An examination of Pierson's body showed that he had been shot through the head, the ball entering behind the right ear and coming out on the forehead just over the left eye. The horse and buggy were found tied to a tree on Goat Island, but no trace of Vedder could be discovered. It is supposed that the two men were on the island, and in a passion Vedder shot Pierson, and to escape justice committed suicide by jumping into the water. As his body has no doubt gone over the American falls there is no possibility of finding it until the ice breaks away. Pierson and Vedder were respectable citizens of Suspension Bridge, N. Y., and well known all through the country, the latter being a wholesale grocer.

The balance of the City and District Savings bank on deposit at the Bank of Montreal is in the neighborhood of $600,000, which has been earning at the rate of three per cent per annum. The directors of the leading financial institution having satisfied the savings bank that in view of the present condition of the money market it cannot continue paying this rate of interest upon the entire deposit of $600,000, have decided to discontinue the arrangement there and transfer a portion of its deposit to other banks.

A Boy's Love for His Mother.

Next to the love of her husband, nothing so crowns a woman's life with honor as the devotion of a son to her. We never knew a boy to turn out badly who began by falling in love with his mother. Any man may be in love with a fresh faced girl, and the man who is gallant to the girl may neglect the poor, weary wife in after years. But the big boy who is in love with his mother at middle age, is a true knight who will love his wife in sea level autumn as he did in the daisiest spring. There is nothing so beautiful and chivalrous as the love of a big boy for his mother.

A CRANKY COMMISSIONER.

What the Wholesale Dry Goods Men Think of Mr. Johnston.

The deputation of wholesale dry goods men who had been sent to Ottawa to interview the government in regard to the new appraisal of dyed and stained cotton goods, reported to the board of trade at a special meeting yesterday afternoon. The deputation, which consisted of the following gentlemen: B. B. Hughes (Hughes Bros.), Alexander Boyd (Boyd Bros. & Co.), Chas. Cockhutt (Cockhutt & Co.), Jas. Simpson (Simpson, Robertson & Co.) and W. R. Brock (Wylde, Brock & Co.), reported that they had seen Sir Leonard Tilley in the absence of Hon. Mr. Bowell (who is at present in California). It was not Mr. Frazer, the secretary of the board of appraisers, who was to be blamed for this imbrolio, but rather Mr. Johnston, commissioner of customs, who had deliberately laid himself out to force upon the government this most distasteful measure. The deputation said that they were considerably provoked by the measures on the increased tariff. Sir Leonard said it was not the intention of the government to place a duty on the goods in question, but that the deputation had furnished a list of the goods wrongfully classified under the new act, and the government would take the matter into consideration. The report of the deputation was received and unanimously adopted, and on motion of Capt. McMaster the deputation was tendered a vote of thanks.

Thursday of next week appears to be the day fixed for the prorogation of parliament. The council council won't sit again until June. Give us a rest. But Quebec is still in the throes of provincial legislation.

It appears to have got into the public mind that as Easter Monday has by the banking act of last session been made a public holiday as far as bills of exchange and promissory notes are concerned.

The Price of Bread. From the Montreal Gazette. A week ago we asked if "the bread summers of Montreal have had the full benefit of the depreciation which has been steadily going on in the price of wheat in the world?" We also remarked: "We are aware that we shall be met with the answer that the Canadian wheat crop was a short one last year, and that prices here have not declined in proportion to those of American wheat. Granted; but what about the thousands upon thousands of sacks of flour that have been imported from the United States, and which continue to find their way into Canada?"

Temperance Reform.—From Bywater in the Week. The senate has rejected the amendment requiring a majority of three-fifths for the application of the Scott act, and at the same time that exempting from its operation the sale of beer and light wine. Yet both amendments in the eyes of those who are not filled with the new wine of platform oratory are reasonable, and ought to have been adopted. It is notorious that summary laws depend for their effective operation on the public feeling in their favor, and that unless the arm of those who are charged with their execution is upheld by the sentiment of a great majority they become a dead letter, and worse than a dead letter, inasmuch as compliance with their violation breeds in the public a disrespect for laws. In Toronto at this moment, if an extreme measure of prohibition were passed, it could not be executed, even the Crooks act has resulted in the multiplication of illicit stills.

The other amendment is conducive to the real object of the temperance movement, if, as may be presumed, that object is not ascetic but sanitary and moral. People deceive themselves if they think that because they are virtuous the law will in general will consent that there will be no more cakes and ale. A glass of wine or beer with this meal is an indulgence on which, as on the meal itself, an anesthetic may frown; but it does no more harm to him who drinks it, or to his neighbor, than a cup of tea or coffee, which are also stimulants, and even intoxicants in their way. That it is compatible with perfect sobriety the example of our wine-growing countries affords conclusive proof. If it is true that a man cannot venture on his glass of wine without "toppling over" into the abyss of intemperance, how comes it to pass that drunkennes is so rare and has always been held so disgraceful in Spain? Why, because it is the real poison, and the higher the poison for selling it is made the worse poison it becomes, because the greater is the inducement to adulteration. The adulteration of a lighter and more wholesome beverage is as much as can be reasonably hoped for desired; it is as much as is compatible with liberty. Let extreme prohibitionists note that one of the concomitants of their legislation in the United States has been a fourfold increase in the importation of opium.

A TRAGIC EVENT.

A Father's Despair and Self-Inflicted Death—His Son's Final Rescue—Too Late to Save His Parent.

The graphic occurrence that is described below is one of the most remarkable episodes in the domestic history of America. It is absolute truth which can readily be verified.

The inhabitants of the pleasant town of Cortland, N. Y., were shocked one morning by the announcement that Mr. Clinton Rindge, one of their most prominent citizens, had committed suicide. The news spread rapidly and aroused the entire neighborhood where Mr. Rindge was so well and favorably known. At first, it seemed impossible that any one so quiet and domestic could do such a deed, and the inquiry was heard on every side as to his case. The facts as developed on investigation proved to be as follows:

Mr. Rindge was domestic in his tastes and took the greatest enjoyment in the society of his children and pride in their development. And indeed he had good reason to be proud for they gave promise of long lives of success and usefulness. But on a day called by his youngest son, William, he went to show signs of an early decay. He felt unusually tired each day, and would not sleep the night before. After he was permitted to do so, his head ached, but not acutely, but with a dull, heavy feeling. Thereafter he was ailing somewhat, and his stomach. He lost all relish for food and much of his interest for things about him. He tried manfully to overcome these feelings, but they seemed stronger than his will. He began to lose flesh rapidly. The father became alarmed and consulted a physician as to the cause of his illness, but they were unable to explain. Finally severe sore broke out on his arms and he was unable to sleep the night before. After an exhaustive examination they declared there was no hope of final recovery. His mind failed to grasp the full meaning of this, and he was seized by a knife and took his own life, preferring death rather than to survive his agonizing pain. At that time William Rindge was too weak to know what was transpiring. His face had turned gray, his hands were clenched entirely at times, and his friends waited for his death believing that the "Bright's" disease of the kidneys, from which he was suffering, could not be removed. In this supreme moment William's sister came forward and declared she would make a final attempt to save her brother. The doctors interposed, assuring her it was useless and that she would only hasten the end by the means she proposed. But she was firm, and putting all back, approached her brother's side and administered a remedy which she fortunately had on hand. People who have seen her so easy, and before the day was over she showed signs of decided improvement. These favorable signs continuing, and to-day William B. Rindge is well, having been virtually raised from the dead through the marvelous power of Warner's Safe Cure, a remedy verified by any citizen of Cortland.

Any one who reflects upon the facts above described must have a feeling of amazement. The father, who was suffering, supposing his son's recovery to be impossible, the son restored to health to mourn the loss of his father, and the brother, after a memory of sadness to forever darken their lives. Had Clinton Rindge known that his son could recover he would not have died by his own hand, which turned his brain and caused him to commit suicide such as any one would account as a tragedy.

However sad this case may be the truth remains that thousands of people are at this moment in as great actual peril as William Rindge and his family, and suffering misery if not death to their friends. Liver and kidney diseases are become the most common and most dangerous of any or all modern complaints, and are all most deceptive in their beginnings and horrible in their final stages. They are far more deceptive than any other ailment can rarely be detected, even by skillful physicians unless a microscopic analysis be resorted to, and few doctors understand how to do this, the slightest strike terror to the one who is threatened as well as to all his or her friends. There are no diseases have no distinct symptoms, but come in the form of lassitude, loss of appetite, aching muscles and joints, dizziness, pains in the back, aching chest, sour stomach, recurring signs of cold, irregular pulsations of the heart and frequent dizziness. If neglected, these symptoms are certain to run into chronic kidney and liver or Bright's disease, from which there is sure to be a great amount of agony and only one means of escape, which is by the use of Warner's Safe Cure. The importance of taking this remedy upon the slightest appearance of any of the above symptoms cannot be too strongly impressed upon the minds of all readers who desire to escape death and pain and prolong life with all its pleasures and blessings.

By lack of open air exercise, and the want of sufficient care in the matter of diet, the whole physical mechanism often becomes impaired during the winter. Ayer's Sarsaparilla is the proper remedy to take in the spring of the year to purify the blood, invigorate the system, excite the liver to action, and restore the healthy tone and vigor.

"I'm Now," said the dude as he stepped out of the chair after having his upper lip shaved, "now my mustache is like the Canadian moose." "Why not?" asked the barber. "Because it's quieted down."

AYER'S Sarsaparilla

Is a highly concentrated extract of Sarsaparilla and other blood-purifying roots, combined with Iodide of Potassium and Iron, and is the safest, most reliable, and most economical blood-purifier that can be used. It invariably expels all blood poisons from the system, cures and restores the blood, and restores to its normal condition of health, as also for Scrofula, Erysipelas, Eczema, Ringworm, Itchiness, Sores, Boils, Tumors, and Eruptions of the skin, as well as all skin diseases caused by a thin and impure blood, or corrupted condition of the blood, such as Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Eumatic Gout, General Debility, and Scrofulous Catarrh.

Inflammatory Rheumatism Cured. "AYER'S SARSAPARILLA has cured me of Inflammatory Rheumatism, which I had suffered for many years." Durham, Ia., March 2, 1892.

Dr. J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass. Sold by all Druggists; $1.50 per bottle for 55.
