Chamberlain Gives the Names of Two of the Liberal Candidates' Supporters Who Furnished Him With a List of the People He Was to Persuade—His Testimony Causes a Revolution.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 28.—The criminal libel instituted by A. W. Ross, M.P., against R. L. Richardson, editor of the Winnipeg Tribune, for connecting him with the alleged persecution of Charles Chamberlain of Toronto, came up in the Police Court to-day.

The most sensational part of the trial was the statement of Chamberlain, admitting that he had persecuted, and saying that he had been induced to do so by supporters of Mr. Martin, the Liberal candidate.

Being pressed to say who those supporters of Mr. Martin were, he mentioned the names of Pat O'Connor, a hotelkeeper, and ex-Ald. Joshua Calaway. These parties, Chamberlain said, had furnished him a list of names to persuade.

As Chamberlain's arrest for persecution was made at the instance of Mr. Martin's secretary, this statement naturally created a sensation.

Mr. Ross's Evidence. Mr. Ross, in his evidence, swore that he had never received a letter of introduction from Chamberlain, signed by Small of Toronto, and further said that such a letter would have been unnecessary, because he had known Chamberlain several years ago as a real estate speculator in Vancouver. He had met Chamberlain when he arrived in Winnipeg and shook hands with him, but had never discussed election matters with him, and had no idea what he had come to Winnipeg for. This was the principal part of the evidence, the case only occupying a few hours and both sides closing.

The Magistrate reserved his decision until Thursday.

Another sensational case is expected to arise out of the recent election. Information was laid this afternoon against Jack Holleran, deputy returning officer, who, it is alleged, opened one of the polling booths several minutes ahead of time and allowed a number of persons voted to be recorded.

A warrant was issued on the strength of this information.

KILLED BY IRISH DYNAMITERS.

Patrick Reid Had Knowledge That It Was Feared He Would Divulge—Silenced With a Bullet.

DUBLIN, Nov. 28.—Three men fought last evening in a lonely street near Carlisle, the city. One of them drew a revolver and fired. His companion, afterwards identified as Patrick Reid, a bricklayer, fell dead with a bullet in his heart.

The other man ran and escaped. Reid was arrested yesterday with Sheridan on suspicion of being connected with the recent dynamite explosion here, but he was released owing to lack of positive evidence.

The general belief is that the gang responsible for the explosion feared that Reid might divulge their secrets.

The police guards have been doubled throughout the city. Orders have been issued to the police of Irish and English ports to watch for suspects.

The police hope to shortly clear up the affair of the dynamite explosion. The man arrested yesterday, an unemployed grocer's assistant, on suspicion that he shot and killed Reid.

Mearns was seen in Reid's company prior to the tragedy.

A man was arrested immediately after the shooting near the place. One of the two was the actual murderer and the other his accomplice.

The police have ascertained that Mearns left Dublin the day after the explosion occurred near the detective office in Exchange-court, and that he returned but recently from America. The police believe they are on the scent of the conspiracy to which all the recent explosions in Dublin are due.

Several persons believed to possess knowledge of the conspiracy were examined secretly to-day.

the Coroner's Inquest. DUBLIN, Nov. 28.—A coroner's inquest was held to-day on the body of Reid. A brother of the dead man testified that he knew of no one who entertained enmity against his brother, and he could not account for his murder. The wife of the deceased also testified, but she knew nothing that would throw any light on the case. The surgeons who made the post-mortem examination testified that the weapons had been used at a distance of six inches from Reid's body. The wound could not have been self-inflicted.

The inquest resulted in an open verdict. Reid was killed because he was doctored. The police have obtained evidence connecting the dynamite with the murder of Reid. The dynamite was found in a distance of six inches from Reid's body. The wound could not have been self-inflicted.

Reid, who was killed in Dublin, is said to have been steady and industrious. He was a bricklayer, was 35 years old and married. The police guards have been doubled throughout the city. Orders have been issued to the police of all Irish and English ports to watch for suspects.

A WITNESS MISSING. The trial of the Montreal Dynamiters Postponed.

MONTREAL, Nov. 28.—The three young French-Canadians, Mercier, Demontigny and Pelletier, charged with the blowing up of Nelson monument in this city with dynamite, came up in the Police Court this afternoon.

The accused were accompanied by Hon. Mr. Mercier and other of the counsel. The prisoners entered a formal plea of guilty, and on the application of Mr. Mercier, who appeared for his son. A postponement was granted until Saturday next at 11 o'clock.

It is now rumored that one of the principal witnesses against the accused has left the city and an effort will probably be made to drag the case on until public interest in it has disappeared.

Infernal Machine Found Near a Depot. DUBLIN, Nov. 28.—An infernal machine was found this morning at the Broadstone Railway terminus here. It contained four cylinders of dynamite and was connected to a canister loaded with some kind of explosive.

It was found under a bridge near the railway terminus, and the suspicion is that it was the intention to blow up the structure. The machine was taken to the police station.

MCKINLEY ATTACKS THE BILL.

REGARDED AS A VERY SWEEPING MEASURE.

Opposed to Ad Valorem Duties, They Open Wide the Doors to Permit Gross Frauds Upon the Government by Taxpayers, Who the Coming President of the United States.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Nov. 28.—Governor William McKinley arrived in the city to-night. Governor McKinley was asked his views on the new Wilson tariff bill. He said he had not had an opportunity to give the bill careful study. He was not, therefore, prepared to go into a discussion of the measure.

He considered the bill as a whole, however, a very sweeping one, including as it did in the free list such important articles as coal, wool, iron ore, lumber and salt. The average rate of duty was also largely reduced, the new measure making it between 30 and 40 per cent.

Opposes Ad Valorem Duties. The most radical change the Governor had noted was the doing away entirely with specific duties and changing the plan of collection to ad valorem duties. The plan of ad valorem duties was one that had been condemned by all administrations under the tariff since it was based on valuation of goods made by the foreign seller, and this opportunity opened wide the door to the rackets kind of fraud against this Government.

Henry Clay once said that if he could fix the valuation of goods that duty could be made to pay for the means.

The Secretary of the Treasury under Mr. Cleveland's first Administration, had made a careful review of the whole subject of collection of duties, which on paper would make very interesting reading just now. In that review the system of ad valorem duties was thoroughly condemned.

The entire bill, Mr. McKinley said, was in the general direction of the Democrats, and he believed that the measure would do no good but would be paid to the pleasure and necessities of domestic industries.

He said it was not necessary to discuss the probability of its passing Congress in its present shape, Governor McKinley had no idea, but he sincerely hoped that it would not.

In effect on business he could not foresee, other than to say that manufacturers would be able to begin preparations to meet it if it should become a law.

He had no idea it would meet the approval of the Senate, or even of the great majority of the Democratic party.

The World spent an interesting hour last night at the rehearsal of "Dakota." It is a satire on the tariff bill, and is being produced in the state which gives the name to the piece. It is a sort of comedy-drama, and the most serious part of the production will be played on Friday evening, when Mr. Ben Trent arrived from New York to represent the producers.

As soon there were 21 disabled Torontonians will enjoy three hours of relief amusement when Mr. Reed's troupe of comedians will be presented to-night at the Lyceum.

Outer Garments for Gentlemen as Advertised by Dinesen. The citizen who wishes to sustain his reputation as a well-dressed man is now thinking about a fur or fur-lined coat. We would say that Dinesen's stock company has an assortment that cannot be surpassed in the Dominion.

The man who appears in one of Dinesen's fur coats, whether Persian lamb, beaver, or any other fur, is always presentable.

Many of the most prominent men in the city, however, seem to prefer a fur-lined coat, as being more durable. These made by Dinesen are equalled by none. The finest selected skins are used in the lining, the fur is of the best quality, and the outer nutria beaver, although other and more expensive furs are preferred by some. Fur-lined coats are made in Persian lamb, nutria beaver and other favorite furs.

The cloth used in the manufacture of Dinesen's fur-lined coats is the most durable beaver and melton, and the best tailors and cutters in the city are employed.

A few days special prices will be attached to all gentlemen's fur and fur-lined coats and caps and gaiters at Dinesen's. The purchaser who is first will have the choice of bargains.

Living What-to-night at Pavilion. WILLIAM'S INFANT MACHINE. Was Filled With Nitro-Glycerine—Socialists Suspected of Sending It.

BERLIN, Nov. 28.—It has been learned that the infernal machine which was sent to London last night by a socialist, was a box which is used for dominoes, at one end of which near the bottom was fixed a brass cylinder containing a charge of nitro-glycerine arranged so as to be fired by ordinary percussion cap when the box should be opened. The remaining space in the box was filled with a quantity of dynamite. An anarchist has recently been posted in Orleans, the authors of which are believed to include a number of German socialists who are regarded as the probable senders of the boxes received by the Emperor and the Chancellor. The police of Orleans are busy engaged in searching for anarchists who may have been guilty of the outrage.

Miss Edith Leelan, K.O.T.M. Concert Dec. 1. At Amherst, Ont. The Recorder says: "The bill is a vicious one. The abandonment of the reciprocity feature of the McKinley Act strikes down a young and growing trade in the republic to the south of us—a trade which has a great expense and labor. The bill is a mediated crime against labor. If it shall pass, wages must come down to the European standard."

It is "Democratic Tariff Reform." The Times says: "The bill is, in its essence, the formation of the Democratic party of tariff reform, under the responsibility of the possession of power, in the face of the difficulties by which the situation is surrounded."

Those Protested Can Thank Their Lucky Stars. CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The Herald (Dem.) will say to-morrow: "The new measure may be described as a bill to reduce prohibitory duties and to provide some easiness less protection with considerable opportunity in certain cases to work the working of free trade. The tariff proposed is the coming President of the United States. The beneficiaries of the tariff have prospered far less than the tariff has prospered, and they can prepare with far less noise. After making loud who they will gladly accept the Wilson tariff bill. The tariff has prospered and the silver panic of 1893 that they have been let down so easy."

ABERDEEN WIRES THE HOME OFFICE OF THE NELSON OUTRAGE.

Questioned Concerning the Matter the Colonial Secretary Quotes the Government's Opinion—No Information of the Dublin Dynamiters' Local Relief Only for the Unemployed.

LONDON, Nov. 28.—In the House of Commons to-day Mr. James Keir Hardie, Socialist member for the south division of Westham, asked whether the Government would appoint a select committee of members of the House of Commons to consider the condition of the unemployed throughout the country.

Mr. Gladstone, in reply, said that the practice established in 1874, where extra distress prevailed in particular districts for the local authorities to deal with the matter. He added that it was decidedly the opinion of the Government that this course ought to be continued.

Mr. Sydney Buxton, Parliamentary Secretary of the Colonial Office, responded to questions in the House of Commons, said the House would be glad to learn the views of the Earl of Aberdeen, Governor-General of Canada, on the recent attempt to blow up the Nelson monument in Montreal. The Governor-General had telegraphed that the affair was a freak on the part of three exceptable lads. It had been a subject of regret to the Government that the French as well as the English papers of Canada.

The Dublin Dynamiters. Mr. Edward Carson, Conservative, asked if the Government would furnish information regarding dynamiters in Dublin.

Mr. Herbert Asquith, the Home Secretary, said that the Government had not attempted to cause a dynamite explosion at the Aldborough barracks. It remained to be seen what, if any, connection there was between this affair and the murder of Patrick Reid. The Irish Government preferred to say nothing in the meantime.

Brutality of the States. Upon the close of the debate on the Pariah Councils bill, Mr. Buxton announced the receipt by the Colonial Office of information from the British South Africa Chartered Company which enabled him to give Mr. Henry Labouchere the promised answer to his recent inquiries. The Chartered Company's despatches of the horrible mutilations practised by the Matabele upon the Mashonas. The latter, though struck since yesterday, were killed and a few freight trains are running, but with little or no irregularity. TWO STORIES FROM THE LEHIGH.

Officials Claim the Strike is Over—Wilkes-Barre says the Tie-Up is Complete.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 28.—Officials of the Lehigh Valley Railroad said last night, as far as the company is concerned the strike is a thing of the past. Traffic is moving regularly and they have all the men they want.

The strikers insist that the company is still crippled, and that the striking employees are as firm in their position as ever.

No Attention Paid to the Strike. AUBURN, Nov. 28.—The strike has ceased to attract much attention in this latitude. Freight and passenger trains are running on the Lehigh not always on schedule time and not the full quota, but things are kept moving and it cannot be said that traffic is seriously impeded. All is quiet in the yards, but the many shunters still remain on guard. A force of 25 non-union men, engineers and firemen arrived from the west last evening to take the strikers' place.

Fifteen Coal Pits Being Worked. FORTYVILLE, Pa., Nov. 28.—Fifteen out of 22 Lehigh Valley collieries in the Schuylkill region were worked to-day. Most of them have been idle since the strike began. Cars are far from plentiful, and at some of the places were there more than a third of a regular full supply. The Reading has many shunters still remain on guard. Shipments and its collieries are all working on full time.

BRITAIN'S POSITION INSECURE.

LORD SALISBURY SAYS THE NAVY IS BELOW THE STANDARD.

Meeting of the National Conservative Union At Cardiff—Lord Salisbury in Address Reviews the Present Situation—He Calls on the Lords to Reject the Pariah Councils Bill.

CARDIFF, Nov. 28.—The meeting of the National Conservative Union was held to-day. Lord Salisbury was elected to the presidency for the ensuing year.

Resolutions were adopted thanking the House of Lords for rejecting the Home Rule bill and declaring that industrial disputes ought to be settled by boards of arbitration.

The Marquis of Salisbury delivered an address before the union this evening. Referring to the coal strike, he rejoiced over the maintenance of the doctrine of the conflict was digging a chasm between classes, without whose agreement the prosperity of the nation was impossible.

England's Position Not Secure. News from foreign countries, he continued, was such as must make England reflect upon her position, duties and dangers. France and Italy were without governments and Greece was bankrupt. It was a matter of the first importance to England not to depend for her safety upon the good government and good-will of other nations. She must be in such a condition that whatever happened she should always be able to depend upon her own fleet and her own strong arms. [Cheers.] It ought not to be imagined that England's position was absolutely secure. As a matter of fact her navy was far below the point ensuring absolute confidence.

His Object Not to Cause Alarm. He pictured the effect of an unforeseen combination securing possession of St. George's Channel. The calamity resulting to English commerce would not be restricted to her possessions. He drew this picture without any purpose to alarm the people. In view of such facts it was with a feeling of deep dismay that he saw the Government passing all its measures which nobody hears of 10 years ago, and the importance of which was only a fiction of the imagination.

French cannot Franchise. The political situation was, he did not doubt, one of great complexity, but regarding the Pariah Councils franchise he had never heard of any movement of the rural population showing that they desired it. The only construction he could place on the action of the Government was that they desired to obtain the opinion of the electors, not upon Home Rule, but upon half a dozen measures of a different kind at the same time. That being the case, he hoped the House of Lords would consider them all in the same light.

The House of Lords had already virtually said: "We believe the English people are against Home Rule, and until you obtain the approval of the country you will not overcome the resistance of the House of Lords."

In Danger of Being Surprised. In concluding the speaker said that the country was in as much danger of being surprised as in being openly overthrown. The cause of the Government was not as yet well won. It behooved them, therefore, to be constantly on the alert lest Gladstone should succeed in his mission, succeeded in wresting from Parliament his will.

But He Got the Money Back—$300,000. LONDON, Nov. 28.—The Queen's Bench Division was filled with a large and expectant crowd today, eager to hear the evidence in the case which grew out of a cheque given by the late "Squire Abingdon" to Mrs. Lily Langtry for £240,000.

The latter gave Sealon a check for £10,000, but when it was presented for payment Sealon found that payment had been stopped. He learned that Baird had become reconciled with Mrs. Langtry, and this enlightened him as to why he could not obtain the money his cheque called for.

Efforts to get Baird to pay the debt failed, and after his death Sealon brought suit against the executors of Baird's estate to recover the commission claimed.

Counsel for Mr. Sealon had hardly begun his cross-examination of the witnesses when the withdrawal of the case. The request for a continuance and the case will be settled out of court.

Mutilated Bank Bills Found in the Streets in Kingston, Nov. 28.—William Jonyer, a journeyman barber employed by William Johnston in Wellington-street, while on his way to work this morning picked up a handful of mutilated bank bills in the street, where they had evidently been thrown by some person. The bills were those of the Bank of Montreal, Ontario Bank and Dominion, and were of denominations of five dollars.

The greater number of them lay at the postoffice gate and the remainder were strewn along the street far as Earl-street. They had been torn into very small pieces and it had been impossible so far to determine their aggregate value. It may be that these bills were part of the package recently lost by an express messenger, but this is not as yet known to be the fact.

HARBOR, Pa., Nov. 28.—When Dr. High Hamilton and several other physicians some time ago performed the Cesarean operation on Mrs. Antonio Dorcas to relieve her of a child, which had been dead for some time, her recovery was slow and her health was such that she was unable to get up for some time.

Mail collection by Street Cars. The street railway may soon be used for transferring the mails from the Union Station to the General Postoffice and to branch offices in the city.

President McKinley while in Ottawa had the matter suggested to him and witnessed the efficient working of the Ottawa Street Railway mail system.

The company are eligible for tendering and they believe they could improve the mail system by their greater speed in carrying the mails.

Costly Furniture by Auction To-day. Messrs. Charles M. Henderson & Co. will sell this morning at 11 o'clock at their rooms, Nos. 219 and 221 Yonge-street, corner of Shuter-street, a very large quantity of valuable second-hand and new household furniture, pianos, etc.

Spanish Ministers Differ on Tariff Questions. PARIS, Nov. 28.—A despatch to the Temps from Madrid says that a new difference has arisen in the Spanish Cabinet, between the ministers of Finance and other ministers oppose Senor Moret, Foreign Minister, and Senor Puigcerver, Minister of Interior, on asking the Cortes to approve the treaty of commerce modified by the protective tariff.

More Chicken Thieves. Hugh Cook, a laborer living at Bay and Richmond-streets, and Thomas Burleigh, Lippincott-street, were arrested by P.C. British last night on a charge of stealing chickens from John Dixon, 146 Centre-avenue.

Another Attempt to Take Up the Time of the Council with the Canal Vote. The great canal promoter, or to be more correct, the promoter of the great canal, bobbed up again at the City Hall yesterday.

He has a new proposition, which is as cheeky and bombastic as the first, and is worthy of just as much consideration as the other should have received. The promoter also handed City Clerk Davies a list of the capitalists, bearing their own signatures, who propose building the $60,000,000 canal.

There are in favor of Sunday Closures Call Liberty-Loving Citizens "The Banquet Element." A meeting of the ministers and other citizens of Wards Nos. 6 and 6 have undertaken the task of awakening the sleeping officers of the Anti-Sunday Car Association.

Revs. Samuel Carruthers, Smith, Starr, Messrs. B. Westwood, F. Buchanan, J. M. Redmond, William Hyde, S. Stewart, F. Price, G. R. Chapman, W. G. Morley, John Hewson and George Smith were the delegates present at the meeting last night in Western Y.M.C.A. The meeting was once again to speak of a civic centre and that described by W. T. Stead. They admired the scheme and thought that they would like to be as that council of advisers which picked out the worthy officers.

Some one said, "Sunday street cars. Then the civic centre and all the big schemes were no more considered, but the car question was.

"I feel deeply on this point. I don't think that we can get the legislation we wish at the coming session of the Assembly. We want legislation which will postpone the time for another vote for five years, and also to surround that vote with safeguards against perjury. We can't get that this year. But the better people, I believe, can destroy the influence of the hummer element and crush every man who opposes us."

Not Dead, But Sleeping. Mr. G. R. Chapman said: "The Anti-Sunday Car Association is not dead, but it slumbers. It sleeps as the Sunday buses pass by and desecrate the face of the Lord. These Sunday buses are converting the people and they are beginning to regard Sunday as an ordinary day."

J. M. Redmond then told what he thought of Sunday street car advocates: "This system is inspired by the devil and the devil that sent that imperator to Winnipeg despoiled him to vote here at the last street car election."

"I feel deeply on this point. I believe that we are all on the right side. We, the phibias supporters, the prohibitionists. The Anti-Sunday Car Association is right, and we must work and organize our forces and we will beat those scoundrels."

So said Mr. George Smith. William Banks was called on to speak and he also addressed the meeting. "The aldermen of the present year are the worst I met in my six years' experience, ever saw. The majority of them are scoundrels. They have disregarded, more than any of their predecessors, the principles of right and duty. Ald. Crawford is all right."

Rev. Mr. Starr then moved that a deputation wait upon the Anti-Sunday Car Central Committee to consider the advisability of working on the lines they had laid down and only support candidates who are opposed to the running of Sunday cars.

It was pointed out, however, that as it was a deputation, and not a meeting, the dates who were to be looked after the various ward committees were the ones to be watched, and the motion was carried accordingly after Mr. Starr had withdrawn his name as mover on the ground that the aldermen might think that the meeting was run by ministers.

Toronto Junction. At the meeting of the council Charles L. Gibson handed in his resignation. The deputy returning officers for the coming elections were appointed. Nomination Friday, Dec. 22, 1894, polling Jan. 1, 1895. The bylaw to change the names of streets was read the second time. New tenders for coal are wanted, as the two old settlements took place. These shocks are not uncommon in Canada, but take place more frequently and are more destructive in the autumn than in other seasons.

Local Notings. A winding-up order has been applied for for the Erie Glass Company. No evidence was taken in the Andrews case as Magistrate Denison was required at Osgoode Hall.
