ST. JOHN STAR.

ST. JOHN, N. B., JUNE 23, 1901.

THEY DON'T AGREE.

The Hon. Mr. Fisher has assured the people of the old country that under liberal rule the exodus has been stopped and that there is now a movement of population from the United States into Canada. When Mr. Fisher returns it will be necessary for him to renege with the publishers of the Labor Gazette, which is a creation of the government in a measure responsible. The June issue of the Labor Gazette gives some reasons for the exodus of farm labor. The reason given in the case of Prince Edward Island is the movement of young men towards the eastern United States. In Nova Scotia, a general movement of young men and women from the farms to the United States, particularly Boston; New Brunswick, quite a marked migration to Boston and other United States cities, both in the case of men and women; Quebec, in the case of both young men and women the disposition to move to the United States is commented upon.

Mr. Fisher, if he is thoroughly familiar with the work of his own department of the government, must be aware of these conditions if they exist. If they do exist, he should not make such a statement as has been attributed to him; if they do not exist, such statements as those in the Labor Gazette should be suppressed.

AS IT IS IN CENTRAL PARK.

The officials at Central Park, New York, have hit upon a solution of an interesting problem. We all know what it is like to walk out to Rockwood Park, and arriving there hot and weary begin a hunt for a vacant seat, only to be disappointed. In New York the park seats are rented. For a nickel one may sit at one of the plain seats available. There are plenty of rocks and mounds in our park which afford fairly good resting places, but light organies, muslin and tannels are placed upon them with considerable effect. What a delightful sensation it would be to make the exchange of a few cents for a feeling of perfect comfort. We might even become proof against the disappointed and sometimes indignant looks of less fortunate fellow-seekers after pleasure.

ISLAND FARMERS ORGANIZE.

Steps are being taken in Prince Edward Island to organize agricultural societies and a number have already been formed under the new arrangement made by the legislature of the province at its last session. The island has been divided into thirty-three agricultural districts, in each of which a society may be formed. If it has fifty members, who subscribe in fees a sum not less than $40, a grant of $50 will be given out of the provincial funds. The dominion department of agriculture will contribute by sending speakers to address educational meetings of the societies. It is believed that a good society will be organized in every one of the thirty-three districts, and that as a result the farming interest of the island province will be much benefited. The people recognize that the farm is the chief source of prosperity of the province, and that the more highly productive those farms can be made, and the more live stock they can produce, the better it will be for the interests not only of the farmers themselves but of all industries and all classes of the people.

RECORD WHEAT CROPS.

Kansas, as well as the Canadian west is rejoicing in a great wheat crop. A larger crop of winter wheat than that of last year is now being harvested, and a New York merchant, who has just returned from a trip to the coast, says the outlook is good for the greatest crops on record all over the western country. This may mean low prices, but it will mean prosperity for the farmers and a great business for the railways. A letter received from Kansas by a New York banker, says: "Kansas is all right this year, and Oklahoma is going to produce the most phenomenal wheat crop in her history. You must tell all the pessimists in your city they are wrong this year as to Kansas. Kansas loaned New York money last year. The state will have a good deal more to loan you next year."

Mr. B. Schofield contributes a long letter to the morning papers urging that the whole question of wheat accommodation and harbor management should be fully investigated. As one interested in the movements of steamers he states emphatically that the present wheat and warehouse accommodation in both sides of the harbor is quite insufficient for the trade of the port, and that there should be a radical change in the present system of harbor management.

THE POPE IS NOT ILL.

ROME, June 2.—The report published in Paris that the pope is seriously ill and that Dr. Lepoint, his attending physician, does not leave the pontiff's bedside, is entirely unfounded. His holiness is in good health, and yesterday received in audience the Austrian ambassador to the Vatican and a number of other persons.

THE CORN KING.

Geo. H. Phillips, Who Made a Fortune on One Deal.

Says Time Is Coming When No Crude Corn Will Be Exported—Farmer Must Be Considered—Opposed to Trusts and Combines.

(Mail and Express.)

George H. Phillips, the young Chicago "corn king," possessor of a fortune made recently by one bold move in the grain market, declared today at the Holland House that corn, trusts and combines are the greatest stumbling blocks to individual integrity and commercial progress, when they are conceived with the one object in view of oppressing the weak.

"I am the happiest man in the world today," said Mr. Phillips, "for I believe have cleared myself of a gigantic transaction without serious injury to others, and because I see through the great grain industries of this country the brightest day in its history. With a proper recognition of what is due to individual integrity and supply of the world means and a common-sense and business-like view of how it should be distributed, there is no reason why, within ten years, every city, town and hamlet this broad country over should not be a hive of industry."

Mr. Phillips, thirty-five years old, smooth shaven and fair, is the type of the young American who sees the horizon of the future painted with rosy hues, not because his rise to fame has been of the meteoric sort, but because he believes that there are no insurmountable objects in the way of young men who have success as the predominant purpose of their every act, and are willing to toil along joyfully to reach it, to secure it. His prophecies, however, are backed by figures and facts. His statements are not made at random, but are accompanied by much deliberation.

"The increase of corn consumption in this country in the last eight years," said he, "is alarming. In 1894 we had a short crop. But even then we carried over from that year a surplus of 2,355,000,000 bushels of corn to 1895. We did not have to draw on the new crop at all. But in 1899 the consumption had increased to such proportions that we not only used the 2,355,000,000 bushels of 1898 corn, but began to use that year's crop six weeks earlier than usual. I believe that in five years the consumption in this country will be so great that not a single bushel will carry to foreign ports in the raw state, but that every bushel will be in the shape of corn products, pork, beef, glucose and starch."

"A friend of mine said to me the other day: 'The production of corn must increase 50 per cent. in the next five years to keep pace with the consumption of corn. When it is known that hogs are the greatest consumers of corn, this is a truly startling condition of affairs. The part of the corn that is great that not a single bushel will carry to foreign ports in the raw state, but that every bushel will be in the shape of corn products, pork, beef, glucose and starch.'

"If corn is quoted at 41 or 42, persons with money to invest should buy it. The wheat crop is not so good as it is controlled, when the market was short in Chicago, was quoted at the beginning at 25. I wrote personal letters to my friends urging them to buy. I saw the commodity on the counter and the country elevators and grain companies with me for corn which they could not deliver. A little foresight had revealed to me a possible shortage when the contracts were made. I controlled the entire supply and could have squeezed the market to death if the greatest possible gain had been my motive. Seven million is all they could deliver when the market was at 42."

"During the rice crop of 25 to 26 I never refused to sell to a fellow who paid the market price. The $200,000 I sold on top of the market in this way spoiled my hand and I knew it. But my theory of a legitimate transaction is that it is better to sell fifty times with an advance of one cent a bushel each time and squeeze no one, rather than to sell once with an advance of 50 and probably send many to their ruin."

This principle will be my guide in all future transactions. I am not as rich today as I might have been, but I am better satisfied. One year ago last November I did not have $3,000, while today I am comfortable, but I do not feel that it has been at the expense of some one else's ruin."

IN BEULAH CAMP.

The Brethren, Having Withdrawn from the World, do Not Require a Live Paper.

Meetings are now in progress at Beulah camp. The Star has devoted some space—rather more in fact than other papers—to paragraphs about the beauty of the place, the arrangements for the comfort of visitors, and the meetings to be held. Up to this point there was perfect harmony between the Star's religious editor and the promoters of the Beulah camp meetings. But on Wednesday the brethren met and elected officers and transacted some other business. Among other things they decided to provide the papers with notes of the meetings. In this they were not wrong, as the meetings are for the children of this world. The press is a powerful agency in the dissemination of truth, of any particular brand, or all brands, religious, secular or otherwise. But the brethren erred gravely when they overlooked the Star. They sent reports yesterday via Globe and Gasette, and left out the paper that the people read. The report sent to the Gasette says that "it was resolved that the Gasette, Telegraph, Globe and Sun be supplied with short notes of the alliance and camp meetings." When the Star's religious editor read these lines and realized that this ambitious young journal had not been included, he was grieved in his heart and sore troubled in his mind, and it was not until the sporting editor and the fish liar pointed out that anywhere the Star preferred not to be classed with those other sheets that he was enabled to recover a measure of composure.

The Star extends to the good brethren at Beulah camp the cordial assurance of its continued favor. The whole staff will go up some day and take dinner. They will in the meantime take steps to get the news from that delightful neighborhood. And when the brethren want a live paper the Star is theirs at one cent per copy.

BROWN'S FLATS, June 27.—The meetings at Beulah are daily increasing in interest and attendance. Yesterday the committee raised the big tent to accommodate the over-flow of camp meeting attendants.

At the session of the alliance in the afternoon the following officers were elected for the present year:—President, Rev. J. H. Cory; vice-president, Rev. M. S. Trafton; recording secretary, Rev. A. L. Bubar; assistant secretary, Rev. G. B. McDonald; corresponding secretary, Rev. W. H. Sherwood; treasurer, E. Cosman; auditor, C. E. Short.

Rev. A. L. Bubar was on motion received as an ordained minister of the alliance.

It was resolved that Rev. T. W. Moses be dismissed from this alliance at his own request.

It was resolved that newspaper reports of alliance and camp meetings be sent the Sun, Telegraph, Globe and Gasette.

This morning's session of the alliance was given to the reports of committees. The training school committee recommended that papers be prepared on points of doctrine and pastoral work and read before the alliance. Revs. G. W. McDonald, W. B. Higgins, M. S. Trafton, S. A. B. B. and C. E. Short were selected to prepare such papers.

Strong resolutions on temperance were adopted, urging that pledges be circulated in Sunday schools, and the subject be specially treated by superintendents and pastors.

POLICE COURT.

Camden Must Have a Care—A Carleton Squabble—Sailors Locked Up.

In spite of the warning given some days ago in regard to violating the I. C. R. rules two other cab drivers appeared in the court this morning and were fined two dollars each. The magistrate stated that the next who appeared in violation of this bylaw would be fined twenty dollars.

P. J. Mooney was reported by Sergt. Ross for encumbering St. John street in Carleton with building materials and not having it fenced nor a light provided. It appears that so much of this street has been taken up that for a distance of about a hundred feet teams are compelled to drive on the sidewalk, and it has been greatly damaged. There are several contractors who have been piling stuff on the street and each one has the privilege of using a third of the width including the sidewalk, which does not leave a very wide passage for teams.

Thomas Murray was arrested on St. John street by Sergt. Campbell last evening, charged with whiskey. He sat on the bench this morning, with his hands clasped, his smooth, shining head bowed, his eyes cast down and his whole attitude one of profound reverence. The first impression created was one of sympathetic interest, which was only defied by the frantic efforts made by his feet to keep up a continuous jostling.

George Mitchell, the third of the quartette of sailors who deserted from the Eretria, was this morning sent to jail to be kept there until the steamer is ready to sail. It came out in the evidence that Mitchell had taken his clothes to a boarding house, the keeper of which refused to give them up. The magistrate ordered that the boarding house man be notified to appear in court at ten o'clock tomorrow.

Some days ago George Clark reported Morris Lord for assaulting him on Water street, Carleton, but failed to appear in court to support his charge, giving as an excuse that he was not able to come. The case was dropped, but yesterday the police reported both parties for fighting on the street and today they appeared in court to argue the case. Clark is in a bad state of repair, is breathing heavily and experiences much difficulty in moving about.

Alfred Stackhouse was the first witness and told the story of the fight as seen by him. According to his story Clark was drunk and had in his possession a large knife. He made a rush at Lord, who staggered and then gave him a push and a boot, which was translated by Mr. Baxter as a blow and a kick. The witness stated that he was frightened and went away after seeing Clark knocked down and blood pouring from his face. Clark is a man of about fifty-five years of age, and Lord an able-bodied young fellow. Other witnesses were examined, and their statements were to the effect that Clark had started the fight and got a bad beating. Officer Goslin said that he had been told that some of the Lords had so frightened one of the principal witnesses that she had left town in order not to be summoned. Some discussion took place in regard to the delay in laying the information, but the reason was explained by Sergt. Ross.

Mr. Baxter moved that the case be dismissed, but the magistrate thought that characters like Clark should not be permitted to go about. This man was drunk, was wandering up and down the wharf, brandishing a knife and threatening people, and such conduct should not be allowed. The magistrate regretted that there were obstacles in the way of getting such people into the penitentiary, but thought that at least some punishment should be awarded. The matter was finally settled by the parties giving sureties for their future good conduct.

KILLED 80 SALMON.

A letter received today says that the fishing party of which Judge Barker, W. H. Thorne and Mr. Forget are members, and which is enjoying an outing in Bonaventure county, had up to June 25th killed 80 salmon.
