MOTOR BOATS IN A FATAL COLLISION

A Young Man and Woman Drowned in St. Lawrence

Their Light Skiff Was Run Down by Fast Boat and They Perished Before Help Reached Them.

WATERTOWN, N. Y., June 25.—A special to the Standard from Clayton, N. Y., says: Edward Wells, aged 18, of Round Island, and Miss Lulu Campbell, of Albany, were drowned in the St. Lawrence about 11 o'clock last night opposite the depot dock here. In company with William Wells, a brother of one of the victims and Miss Magie McGraw, aged 23, of Auburn, the young people had just left the dock in a skiff equipped with a half horse power motor for a spin on the river. They had scarcely gotten under way when they were run down by a fast motor boat owned by George Massey and George Boynton, of Watertown. The craft is said to have been going at 25-mile clip and struck the light skiff squarely in the centre, cutting it in two as clean as with a cleaver, and hurling its occupants into the water. It is said that the skiff was equipped with the proper lights, but that the motor boat carried none. William Wells succeeded in keeping himself and Miss McGraw afloat until rescued by the motor boat, but his brother Edward, and Miss Carmen went down before their rescue could be effected. Both of the young men hailed from Clayton and the young women were employed at the Hotel Frontenac, Round Island. The bodies of the victims were recovered at 12:30 this morning in forty feet of water. The coroner is investigating.

Today's Star contains reports of an unusual number of accidents affecting persons in this section. A child near St. Stephen died in great agony after swallowing a small metal hook used by his mother on one of her dresses; a little girl on Adelaide street is dead as the result of drinking a quantity of carbolic acid accidentally left on the dining room table; two well known mariners are probably dead, Capt. H. T. Whelpley being reported as fatally injured at St. George, and Captain Stephen Morrell missing and probably drowned at New York. In addition to these the papers contain the report of a fatality in Crouchville in which a child was killed by falling over the dump.

FIREWORKS THAT SPEAK

Wonderful Invention of a Couple of Frenchmen.

PARIS, June 25.—Fireworks which not only please the eye, but are also capable of reproducing patriotic speeches were the subject of a special communication read today before the French Academy of Sciences. The inventors of the vocal fireworks are Georges and Ginetave Loudet, who have been working on the system for three years. By the arrangement of different explosives they are now able to produce both vowels and consonants. A railroad carriage of their design will be able to cry "Stop!" and a special rocket for July 14 will shout "Vive la Republique."

WEALTHY GROCER WAS BURNED TO DEATH

NEW YORK, June 25.—Dedrick D. Gristed, 50 years old, was burned to death early today in his warehouse on East 110th Street. He was a member of the firm of Gristed Bros., proprietors of a chain of dozen grocery stores in Harlem. Fire broke out in the Gristed warehouse shortly after midnight. The firemen after a short fight extinguished the blaze. They thought everyone had gotten out of the building, but when washing down the ruins came upon the burned body of the proprietor. It is not known how he came to be caught in the fire.

HE GAVE HIS LIFE TO PROTECT OTHERS

Heroic Brakeman in Preventing a Railway Wreck Was Terribly Mangled.

PARIS, Illinois, June 25.—Mangled beneath the wheels of the Knickerbocker Special yesterday, Lawrence Friend, aged 22 years, a brakeman, gave his life in preventing the fast Big Four passenger train from crashing into a row of freight cars head on and the loss of scores of lives that might have followed the collision. Friend was working on a freight train which was blocking the line when the passenger train came along at forty miles an hour. The brakeman ran to a switch and turned it just in time to throw the passenger train on a side track but not quickly enough to avoid being struck down and crushed by the knickerbocker's engine.

CAPT. WHELPLEY FATALLY HURT; CAPT. MORRELL LIKELY DROWNED; CHILD DEAD FROM CARBOLIC ACID

A Series of Accidents Affecting St. John People

---Well Known Mariner Missing from His Vessel in New York---Little Boy Hurt by Fall

Today's Star contains reports of an unusual number of accidents affecting persons in this section. A child near St. Stephen died in great agony after swallowing a small metal hook used by his mother on one of her dresses; a little girl on Adelaide street is dead as the result of drinking a quantity of carbolic acid accidentally left on the dining room table; two well known mariners are probably dead, Capt. H. T. Whelpley being reported as fatally injured at St. George, and Captain Stephen Morrell missing and probably drowned at New York. In addition to these the papers contain the report of a fatality in Crouchville in which a child was killed by falling over the dump.

Little Ronald Rose, son of John Rose, 157 Elliott Row, was hurrying to his dinner at noon today when he slipped and fell over the embankment at the foot of Elliott Row. He rolled down the bank and striking his head on a rock was rendered unconscious. He was carried home and shortly afterwards came round alright. Beyond a sore head the little fellow is said to be not badly injured.

CAPT. H. T. WHELPLEY FATALLY HURT AT ST. GEORGE.

Capt. H. T. Whelpley, of 43 Victoria street, has met with serious and probably fatal injuries at St. George. He is skipper of the schooner Ruth Robinson which is discharging coal at St. George. At three o'clock this morning he fell into the hold of the vessel, a distance of seventy feet. He struck his head, fracturing his skull and sustaining other severe injuries. He was unconscious when he was carried to a hotel where he is now under the care of a doctor and a nurse. Little hope is entertained of his recovery. Word was received by his family this morning too late for them to catch the New Brunswick steamer for St. George. To reach the scene of the accident Mrs. Whelpley and her son, Harry, started from the city this morning in a carriage, intending to drive the whole distance. In addition to his son, Capt. Whelpley has four daughters, Ethel, Vera and Florence, living at home, and Mrs. Holder.

CAPT. STEPHEN MORRELL MISSING IN NEW YORK.

The distressing news reached the city yesterday of the mysterious disappearance at New York of Captain Stephen Morrell, whose residence is on Sewell street.

BOYS SET HIS HOUSE ON FIRE

North End Resident Complains of Bonfires on the Streets—Residence Nearly Destroyed.

W. J. Kyle, who resides at 83 Acadia street, told the Star today that on Monday night there was a large bonfire at the corner of Acadia and High streets, that there was another in the same place on the following night and that on Wednesday night one was lit directly opposite his house. A heavy southwest wind, Wednesday night, sent millions of sparks against his house. Believing that if the fire were continued his house would be destroyed, Mr. Kyle attempted to extinguish it, but as soon as his back was turned it was relit. He went to the North End police station and complained. The officer on duty tried to get a patrolman by phone but was evidently unable to do so for no officer arrived on Acadia street. When Mr. Kyle got back he found the windows blazing of his house on fire. In a minute more the fire would have gained considerable height, as it was, Mr. Kyle had to empty three or four buckets of water before the fire was extinguished. The cost of repairing the damaged wood will amount to several dollars. Mr. Kyle is naturally very indignant. He doesn't entertain a very high opinion of the North End police.

THE KIEL REGATTA

KIEL, June 25.—Prince Henry, sailing the "Tilly XI," the Crown Prince sailing the "Anjala IV," and Prince Zeppelin on board the "Elizabeth," took part in the special class here today. There were twenty starters and a fine eleven knot northwest breeze was blowing over the fifteen miles course. The prince sailed skillfully and finished sixth. The King of Saxony has arrived and is the guest of the emperor on the imperial yacht Hohenzollern.

CENTRAL RAILWAY HEARING CONTINUED

Evidence Taken on Amounts of Money Spent

Today's Proceedings in Teachers' Institute—Several Interesting Papers Read.

FREDERICTON, June 25.—The railway commissioners continued their enquiry this morning. J. H. Dixon was recalled and laid before the board copies of all orders in council. Mr. McVey, of the Provincial Engineering Department, the next witness produced the plans of the road. He showed the length proposed to be 83.2 miles. The chief engineer will be examined later. Deputy Receiver Habbitt's testimony was then continued on the moneys paid, the investigation this morning being on the $345,922 paid by the government from the time the road was taken over down to March last, exclusive of the $400,000 bond guarantee and subsidies. The first interest on bond issued amounting to $18,000 was made in 1905 and has continued since. The money expended on the road so far as shown to date is as follows: To Central, $147,000; to New Brunswick Railway Company, $71,000; amount paid by province under legislation, $345,922; provincial bond guarantee, $400,000, making a grand total of $1,013,922.

Mr. J. J. F. Winslow, secretary of the New Brunswick Railway Company since 1904, was the next witness called. He produced what books he had in his possession. He said there had been no meeting of the company held during his term of office. The only books he had were in connection with the general business of the incorporation; the books containing the running expenses and revenue of the road would be at Norton. The secretary's books showed that the N. B. Railway Company was incorporated with a capital stock of $100,000 par value per share $100. Of this amount five hundred shares were issued as follows: To C. Skinner, 49 shares; R. E. Irving, ten, and ten each to W. Kitchen, E. B. Winslow, E. Hutchinson, C. A. Bruce, F. Stetson and A. F. Barnhill. Since then Mr. Skinner had transferred some sixty shares to several parties. Mr. Winslow said that as far as he knew the books showed no payment made by any of the shareholders on account of stock. The investigation will continue this afternoon.

WANT MORE EFFECTIVE ANTI-DUMPING LAW

Toronto Manufacturers Say Law is Not Effective Enough—Claim Toronto Discourages Manufacturers

TORONTO, June 25.—At the annual meeting of the Toronto branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association today, the retiring chairman, Edward J. Freyberg, made a pointed reference to a slaughter of foreign goods on Canadian markets. "The dumping clause," he said was one of some assistance in preventing this but it had been clearly demonstrated that machine undervaluation of goods more easily detected. His advised employment on the part of the association, of special tariff officer. Mr. Freyberg drew attention in particular to matters affecting Toronto. In this connection he showed by means of a tabulated statement that this city was not making the rate of progress in manufacturing as other centres in the country and put the blame for this to a large extent upon restrictive legislation existing in the city. He claimed that manufacturers were going to other places to avoid such legislation.

RUSSIAN BANK WITHDRAWS FROM MANCHURIA

MUKDEN, June 25.—The Russo-Chinese bank, in spite of the protest of the legation at Peking is to immediately withdraw its branches from a portion of Manchuria over which Japanese influence is increasing. The bank has been short of its political character since the death of M. Pokotiloff, former Russian minister to China, and its withdrawal from Southern Manchuria promotes the Russo-Japanese entente by further demarcating spheres of influence of the two countries in Manchuria.

WON'T LET OLYMPIC TEAM GO TO LONDON

NEW YORK, June 25.—Police Commissioner Bingham has refused leave of absence to Martin J. Sheridan, Matt McGrath and John Flanagan, the three policemen who have been selected members of the American team that is to compete in the Olympic games in London next month. It was stated last night at the Irish American Athletic Club that Mayor McEvelin would be appealed in the matter.

THE INDIAN ARMY.

General Kitchener has transformed the Indian army from a disconnected mass of magnificent immobility into a practically perfect fighting machine. He went to India a few years ago and found there a military system similar to almost every respect to that which made possible the early success of the British at the time of the mutiny. He found scattered commands with no system of intercommunication, no departmental base, and no knowledge of modern strategy or tactics. The troops were splendidly equipped, but there was a lack of agreement in their mode of operation which made it impossible for the leaders to act promptly and effectively in the face of danger. He made the reorganization of the Indian army his first duty. Kitchener is an organizer rather than a fighter. He is only thought when in battle is to secure victory and he is utterly regardless of the cost. At Omdurman, his latest engagement, he exposed his plan that in his later career he has been looked upon as unwise, and while given positions of great responsibility he has only rarely been in direct command during action. Britain while admitting his ability has not forgotten the waste of a thousand lives by a wholly unnecessary attack at Paardeburg. But in the work of reorganization Kitchener stands in a class by himself. He made possible Lord Roberts' march to Pretoria, he engineered the Sudan campaign and he was the one man who could put the Indian army on a proper fighting basis. That his latest effort has been marked by full success is shown in the recent published report of General Willcock's expedition against the Zalka Khels. The reorganization methods were productive of the best results. The cost of the expedition was the smallest on record, the amount of baggage taken was less than ever before, a large force was mobilized quickly and with secrecy, the expedition moved with such swiftness that the enemy did not have time to concentrate, the natives were so demoralized after the first attack that the column withdrew without being harassed and weakened by the usual sniping operations, the field and headquarters organizations worked together without a hitch, and the effect produced by the decisive movements of the expedition was one of astonishment from end to end of the border.

UNITED STATES INFLUENCE.

The coal miners of Nova Scotia have taken a step which cannot fail to result ultimately for themselves and their province. In a vote polled on Wednesday they decided by a small majority to unite with the United Mine Workers of America, thereby dissolving the Provincial Workers' Association, which for years has successfully conducted their affairs. Under the new rule, United States influence will prevail, and this American influence in Canada, inevitably create discontent. The coal miners of Nova Scotia have been generously treated in the past. The P. W. A. has been understood by men well up in years, of mature thought, and desirous of fair play to all. Among the younger miners there has been a growing feeling that the policy pursued by the association has not been sufficiently aggressive, and that the unions would be in a better position to enforce their demands if supported by the United States organization. This latter belief is no doubt correct, but it has not been shown that Nova Scotian miners need any outside support. If they had been in the past unfairly treated by the mine-owners, if they had found that their reasonable requests were disregarded, then it would have been for them to strengthen their position. But this has not been the case. Leaving aside Springfield where strikes are a sad, there has not been any serious mining disputes in Nova Scotia for many years. The P. W. A. is recognized, the employers are honorable business men, and the heads of the P. W. A. have always exhibited an inclination to consider the interests of the mine owners as well as of the men. The miners have from time to time fought increases in pay, shorter hours, and changes in classification of work by which they would benefit. It has always been found possible to reach a compromise entirely satisfactory to both parties. Now, however, the younger generation favor a more aggressive policy, they want to be in a position to enforce whatever demands they may make. They will profit by having with them the support of an American organization, but this will be overcome by losses in other ways. The influence of United States labor leaders is not desirable in Canada; Nova Scotia miners will pay a weekly or monthly per capita tax to the central organization, which amount will be kept to their own province; they will feel the power of the United Mine Workers behind them; and will be more apt to enforce demands supported more by force than by fairness. Unhappily is a grand thing for workmen, and the public generally commend the spirit which prompts such combinations. In the early days when Canadian industries were in their infancy, affiliation with larger bodies was no doubt helpful, but surely Canadian workmen are now able to stand alone.

The harbor facilities committee has lost no time in preparing the bill under which it is intended to place the harbor in commission. Efforts should now be made to have it considered at once by the council and put through at Ottawa during the present session. Hon. Mr. Fursley could not doubt arrange for the introduction of the bill and there is not likely to be any serious opposition at Ottawa.

ON A JUNE NIGHT.

Half-hid amid the dusky pine-plumes The golden moon shines bright; And yonder, unseeing mass of vine-plumes With perfume fills the night. The cricket's chorus shrill is ringing Amid the dewy blades From far away the streamer's singing Comes faintly through the glades. Though that ripe moon on loves and sorrows For centuries has shone; For those who love the light it borrows Are long forgot and gone. To me it seems as if through ages The earth had taken flight, Days of the Nile-land's mystic sages Seem come again tonight. Days long no more! but yet the perfume Are sweet and fresh as then; And that rich gold amid the pine-plumes Still fades and comes again.

VERY MUCH OUT.

An acquaintance called on some ladies in an Alabama town who had at the time been much vexed by a seemingly endless succession of callers. The door was opened by Augustus Butts, the faithful old butler. "Are the ladies in?" asked the caller. "No, ma'am, they're all out." "I am so sorry that I missed them," continued the visitor, handing him her cards. "I particularly wished to see Mrs. Jones." "Yes, ma'am, thank you, ma'am," responded Augustus. "They're all out, ma'am, and Mrs. Jones is particularly out, ma'am."

KAISER AND DIPLOMAT.

At the Philadelphia club a Philadelphia adroitly advertised to Charles Sumner's great popularity with the Kaiser and the German court. "It is not surprising," he said, "Mr. Sumner is a brilliant and profound writer, a learned historian. He has, too, a pretty wit. "My sister, who lives in Berlin, tells me that the Kaiser invited Mr. Tower to dine with him informally, called him in the invitation 'the most engaged man in Berlin.' "The most engaged man in Berlin will be but too happy to dine with the most engaging one."

A FORGOTTEN PREDICTION.

"This Union is rapidly hastening to a state of society in which representatives will fulfil the duties of kings, lords and commoners and the power of the majority pass from democracy of numbers into the hands of an aristocracy not of noble ancestry and ancient lineage, but of moneyed monopolies, land-jobbers, and heartless politicians." This quotation is not, as might appear, the present day Jeremiah, but its author was William Lyon Mackenzie, the instigator of the Upper Canadian rebellion of 1837 and he gave forth this utterance in 1850 after three years' residence in the United States.

"Some people," said the Rev. Mr. Goodman, "can never be made to appreciate the value of religion."

"That's right," replied Mainchance, the merchant, "they don't know how to catch the church trade at all."

"Did your husband knock chills all fever?" asked the woman who was standing in front of the cabin.

"No," answered the woman who was driving a spring wagon. "He wouldn't have that much sit-up-an'-sit. He just got around an' let 'em overtake him."

"See here," asked the cautious stranger, "if I decide to stay here for a week how much is it going to cost me?"

"You can answer that best yourself," replied the clerk of the Florida hotel. "How much have you got?"

Mr. Sudderick, travelling abroad—That guide of ours is a very impatient young fellow.

Mrs. Sudderick—What has he done?

Mr. Sudderick—Why, he's got onto the fact that we came from the country.

"How could he know that?"

"I dunno. But he pointed out one of them oldest pictures an' said he's posed 'd interested in Rubens."

"I see a man intends to let a rattlesnake bite him and depend on prayer for a cure," call that faith."

"I call it cruelty to animals, unless somebody's going to pray for the snake after it's bitten some a fool as that."

"Are you superstitious?"

"Not a bit," replied the man who is assumed of his little weaknesses. "I have nothing to do with superstition. In fact, I have observed that whoever I begin to take notice of signs I always have had luck."

A journalist at a dinner was talking to William Dean Howells about literary fame.

"But, after all," said Mr. Howells, with his gentle smile, "literary fame is not so very highly regarded by the people, is it? I remember when I was in San Remo some years ago seeing in a French newspaper a notice that bears upon this question."

"It was a notice inserted by a rat-trap maker of Lyons, and it said: 'To Whom It May Concern—M. Pierre Loti of Lyons, inventor of the automatic rat-trap, begs to state that he is not the same person, and that he has nothing in common with one Pierre Loti, a writer.'"

THE RELATION OF THE CLOUDS TO NATURE

The study of natural laws not infrequently reveals a close relation between some of the most beautiful phenomena of the earth and sky and the most terrible exhibitions of the destructive powers of nature. A striking instance of this is the crown of light, feathery cirrus clouds which float high in the clear sunshine, indicate to the practised eye of the seaman the place where a West India hurricane is raging across the deep. These clouds radiate from the centre of the hurricane where the fierce spiral currents of inflowing air, crowding together, rise to a great elevation, and then flow outward in every direction over the storm. From the hues and textures of the distant clouds something may be learned of the character of the storm that produces them. The Hydrographic Bureau at Washington informs ship captains that when the cirrus cloud plumes seen radiating from the storm are faint and opaque in tint, gradually fading behind a veil of haze, the approaching storm is an old one of large area, but the clouds are of a snowy whiteness, projected against a clear blue sky, it is a young cyclone of small area but of great intensity. The procession of clouds that accompany a hurricane at sea is sometimes a most beautiful scene when viewed from a distance, though a fearful tragedy may be under way beneath that glowing canopy of sun-tinted vapors. A curious discovery was made some years ago in Germany with reference to certain luminous clouds visible at night for a long time after sunset, and

CHURCH'S MESSAGE TO SOCIALISM

Freer Field Demanded by Pan-Anglican Speakers

Grinding Poverty of the Workers Contrasted With Extravagant Luxury of Idle Rich

LONDON, June 25.—Highly significant of present-day theological thought was the principal session of the Pan-Anglican Congress here, when the largest gathering yet attracted assembled to hear the message of the Church to Socialism. One hundred and fifty archbishops, bishops and a multitude of minor clergy, and an assembly of laymen and laywomen outnumbering any hitherto gathered, crowded Albert Hall. The Bishop of Birmingham, who was scheduled to preside, was absent owing to illness. He sent a paper, which was read by his substitute, the Bishop of Massachusetts, the keynote of which was the injustice of the existing division of the grinding poverty of the workers with the extravagant luxury of the idle rich, he remonstrated from the church's tremendous aid of penitence for having failed so long and so greatly to champion the oppressed and weak, pending to be followed by a parallel era the well-merited judgment of God take all weapons of social influence out of our hands.

There followed a series of eloquent addresses, the first of which was from Mr. McEwen of New York. All the speakers except one displayed a socialistic tendency, all over the north of England they were face to face with a rising tide of Socialism which they were powerless to stem, even if they wished to do so. Countless workers in the forges, furnaces and mills of the north had adopted the Socialistic ideal and held to it like a religion and loved it like a bride. He demanded that the Church give a freer field to Socialism. He appealed to it to try to understand it and not to hasten to discount it. More significant than the speeches themselves was the keen interest shown in the Socialistic plea and the earnest enthusiasm with which such points as those above referred to were greeted from all parts of the hall.

CLOTHES IN NEW YORK. Clothes, the kind that are spelled with a capital "C," mount to a price that would seem like fiction if you had not found it so. There are shops along Fifth Avenue—those that are labeled "Hats," "Hosiery," "Mills," "Jeans"—where one buys a gown or a hat—that is, she would if one had the money—as a collector buys a Gort or a Rubens. The articles—oh, dear, no; or a million—hazard wears, say a costume of lace with a rope of pearls to her laces. She needs her customers in a reception room where oriental rugs, the portrait and softly shaded lights shed the elegance in the decorations. She looks my lady over. The hired outfitter, the stater, the needlewoman do the best. And the bill comes in, $20 to $50 for a hat, $200 to $2,000 for a gown. There are plenty of prices like these in New York. There are others that quietly let you down, down with you, until you are standing on the ground, about $15 for only the making of a gown, and $15 for a hat—that is, a hat, Broadway—Mfg. Co.

COBERTON, June 25.—Up to a late hour 23 bodies had been recovered from

According to the latest information the Larache carried only 22 in the crew and 49 passengers, all of whom have been accounted for with the exception of 22.

SUFFRAGETTES WILL MAKE ANOTHER BIG DISPLAY

Will Lay Siege to House of Commons and Hold Up Premier Asquith

LONDON, June 24.—Convinced that their recent tactics have failed to persuade Premier Asquith to accelerate the legislative machine in their favor, the suffragettes project another novel demonstration next Tuesday with a view of exerting further pressure. While a deputation will seek an interview with the prime minister it is the intention to surround the House of Commons with a cordon of suffragettes which the leaders predict will number 300,000. It will be a peaceful gathering, however, and no attempt will be made to force an entry into the house.

NELSON SIGNAL ENTIRELY WRONG

LONDON, June 25.—Dr. Macnamara made the interesting announcement in the House of Commons that the Admiralty intended to change the flag now used on board the Victory to represent Lord Nelson's famous Trafalgar-day signal.

It will be remembered that a few weeks back the Admiralty librarian made the remarkable discovery that Nelson is being grossly libeled. His celebrated signal "England expects every man to do his duty" has been rendered by a combination of flags to mean "Advance America."

Biographers, historians, marine painters, and the decorators of the Nelson column in Trafalgar Square have fallen into the error which as was shown in the "Express" on May 16, was caused by the ignorance of an Admiralty code issued in 1894. It was generally supposed that Nelson used the code issued in 1799. The existence of the 1894 code which was actually in use at Trafalgar, was only discovered last month by the Admiralty librarian.

Dr. Macnamara stated yesterday that the signal book which had been unearthed had made it clear in the opinion of the board that the flags used

SINGER'S TOUR BRINGS $250,000

LONDON, June 25.—Miss Clara Butt and her husband, Kennerley Rumford, have arrived in London on the return from their Australian tour.

In an interview Miss Clara Butt said: "We have been away eleven months, during which time I have sung at seventy-two concerts, although it was originally intended that we should give only twenty-five. We have worked very hard and had a great deal of travelling, but then every one was so kind. Really, we have had a royal time, and have been most hospitably entertained. Addresses of welcome have been presented us galore, and in most of the towns we were officially received by the civic authorities."

The biggest audience, continued the famous singer, was at Melbourne, where she sang before 16,000 persons. It was the last concert of the tour. The total receipts amounted to $250,000, which she understands is the largest sum ever earned by singers in Australia.

The audiences were very enthusiastic, and were evidently keen lovers of music. "In fact," said Miss Clara Butt, "I think they are more critical than at home. One thing that struck me was the general demand for good music. Two charity concerts were given by the party, at Sydney and Melbourne, and each resulted in a sum of over $1,000 being handed over to the local charities."

During the homeward voyage on the Mongolia Mma. Butt and her husband sang at a concert when the vessel was in the Mediterranean. There were about 500 present, and $500 was collected for the Seaman's Orphanage Fund. Miss Clara Butt reappears on the London concert platform on June 27.

Her daughter is an invalid, Mrs. P. Kinzie, who has taken an interest in the woman, has collected a little money for them, but says that assistance of a permanent nature is required. The woman spends her time in knitting mittens and socks which she sells in the effort to support her daughter. Neighbors speak of the case as a pitiable one, and feel that steps should be taken to procure relief. It is said that Mrs. Kane, who keeps a grocery nearby, has very generously supplied the family with food during the past year.

THE "NON-POLITICAL" POLICY OF MR. HAZEN'S PARTY

Albert County Magistrate Dismissed From Office, the Excuse Being That He Took Part in Elections.

MONCTON, June 26.—The hypocrisy of the "non-political" cry with which Premier Hazen and his supporters can be vassed the Province previous to the recent provincial elections is being daily shown. Perhaps there is no more glaring specimen of Tory tactics than the dismissal from office of police magistrate Daniel Stuart, of Hopewell Parish, Albert county. When notice of Stuart's removal appeared in the Provincial Gazette, the "non-political" cause, were appended. Mr. Stuart wanted to know the cause and wrote Premier Hazen in reply he received a reply over the telephone. Tory leader's signature saying that Mr. Stuart's removal had been decided on recommendation of members from Albert County, the cause being no less an offense than "political partisanship." This is contained in a letter over J. D. Hazen's signature, this from the gentleman who said there was no politics involved in the provincial campaign.

One drunk was fined four dollars.

Otto Schlicher and Francis McInchion, two sailors, were charged with lying and lurking on the South Wharf at an early hour this morning by Officer Marsagall. The officer said he found the men preparing to sleep on a doorstep. The sailors said their vessel was tied out in the harbor and it was too late for them to get out to her. They were excused.

Barlowe Velisarpoulos the young Greek bootblack who has been giving considerable trouble to his guardian, Peter Petropoulos, was found asleep in an express wagon off Charlotte street by Detective Marshall at an early hour this morning. #### SAUNDERS-YEOMAN.

A quiet wedding took place at the residence of Wm. M. Yeoman, Croustville, Wednesday evening, when his daughter, Lottie E. was united in marriage to Walter B. Saunders, in the employ of Manchester, Robertson and Allison. The nuptial knot was tied by Rev. J. W. B. Stewart, of Trinity church, and the couple were unattended. The ceremony took place in the presence of a few friends and relatives.

The groom's present to the bride was a gold watch.

Mr. and Mrs. Saunders will reside at Croustville.

BODIES OF COUSINS WERE BROUGHT HOME TOGETHER.

Dr. Frank McDonald, of Chicago, and George McDonald, of Malden, Will be Buried Tomorrow.

There will be a rather sad gathering at McDonald's Corner, Queens County, tomorrow, when the bodies of both Dr. Henry McDonald and his cousin, George McDonald, will be buried.

Dr. Henry McDonald was a former resident of Cambridge, Queens County, and a son of the well known Queens County Baptist clergyman, Rev. A. B. McDonald, who is still living at McDonald's Corner. Dr. McDonald had an extensive practice in Chicago. He died last winter and it was decided not to remove the body for interment in the old family burying ground in Queens County until this week. The remains arrived in the city today in charge of his late wife, Mrs. McDonald, who is a St. Louis newspaper man, the deceased's widow and her mother.

A rather strange coincidence is that a couple of days ago the late doctor's cousin, George McDonald, formerly of Cambridge, Queens County, died at his home in Malden, Mass., and his remains also arrived in the city today. He was the son of the late Donald McDonald, a brother of the Rev. A. B. McDonald. The remains of the two will be taken up river on the steamer tomorrow morning and the funerals will take place Sunday afternoon at McDonald's Corner.

The late Dr. McDonald has a number of friends in this city and he paid a visit here and to his old home about a year ago.
