St. Andrews as a Summer Resort.

Mr. Editor.—It affords me much pleasure upon return home, to write a few words with reference to the delightful, healthy, and pleasant town of St. Andrews.

I feel so much refreshed and restored in health, having gained upwards of seven pounds in weight during my agreeable sojourn in the old shire town, that I am prepared to resume business again with vigor. The splendid lamb for which our islands are celebrated, the fat mutton and beef, the hard and white fresh fish served on the table, the little over an hour out of their native element, the flurried new potatoes, the peas, beans, and other vegetables all tend to make wholesome and strengthening dishes.

Then again, the pleasant drives in the vicinity of Charnock, over the rustic roads there, and at Bay Side, from a very agreeable pastime to the visitor, as the delightful sailing and fishing in the beautiful Bay which skirts the southern end of the town. And here I may be pardoned for giving an opinion, that it is quite equal to the far famed sheet of water, the Bay of Naples.—True we had not those imitable Italian skies, but in their stead, a charming blue sky, with clear and fine weather. And as I am fond of bathing, it is due to St. Andrews to say that nature has adapted it for a bathing place. At full tide, there are innumerable little coves where you can undress and plunge headlong into the sea and enjoy a refreshing bath in the clear bracing salt water.

I hope Mr. Editor, that by next year, there will be a number of pleasure boats and yachts of which there was a scarcity this year; and I may add that an additional number of homes and vehicles would find employment.

I must hasten to a close, lest you may think me prolix; but will not omit to mention the charming views from the Old Fort at the Barrack Hill, and also from Charnock Mountain.

I can assure you, that many in our large cities would only be too glad to spend a few weeks during the summer months, in St. Andrews, were there some of the advantages enjoyed at the watering places of our country; such as small furnished cottages, and, for which all of us would be willing to pay handsomely—pleasure boats, carriages, &c.

It was informed that the large building called the new hotel near the Railway, is to be finished and ready for guests early next year. I hope a smart, live man, who understands the business, will conduct the hotel, which, with judicious advertising, will be well patronized. For myself and family, we were quite satisfied with the accommodations and attention at the hotel, which was our temporary residence while in your town.

Yours, Very truly,
New York, Aug. 22, 1879.

Immigration and Colonization.

In 1878 the Government returns tell us that 40,043 immigrants landed in Canada. The expenses of the Dominion Government for the services of agents, passage warrants, commission and publication for the same year came to $177,046.83. Of these 40,043 immigrants, however, but 29,807 settled in Canada and the remainder went to the United States. Why Canada should have been taxed to bring men into this country, without having some guarantee that they would stop here, is more than some people can understand. We can see the necessity of assisting colonization, breaking up the land, building log huts, buying farm implements and seed, but we cannot understand why any Government should be so blind as to spend money in bringing men to Canada and then let them drift across the line and smile at our simplicity. Yet this is what we have been doing, and doing so well that more than one-fourth of the immigrants we brought here passed over to the Republic. Nor were these immigrants of that class always desirable in a young country. The agents cared nothing about the "desirability" of the men they sent out, for they counted "heads" and each "head" meant so much money in the agent's pocket. This policy was as vicious as it was universal, and we are to lay reaping the fruits of our folly.

The St. Andrews Standard.

SANT ANDREWS, AUG. 27, 1879.

REFORMS.—We dare say some people will imagine that the word "reform" refers to something political, and has a connection with party. Not so; it means "a change from worse to better," according to the etymologist, Hooker, and is there not need of reforms in this "Canada of Ours." Why so many dishonest traders taking advantage of the bankrupt law, and defrauding their creditors. Is it not desirable that there should be less credits—that the payment of M. P.'s and M. P.'s should be reduced—that there should be more independence in politics—competitive examinations for the civil service—an educational test for the franchise, which would surely result in representatives not murdering the Queen's English, violating the commonest rules of grammar, and yet even in Parliament such men can be found. And are there not many social reforms required; more religion and less cant, more economy and less extravagance, in living, in dress, and other ways. Less aping aristocracy and more pure common sense. Less snobbery, and more genuine gentility—in fact the reforms needed are far too numerous to mention just now, but they may be referred to occasionally in separate paragraphs. At all events, there is a great need of reforms social, moral, political, and otherwise.

If Quebec has not one trouble it has another, and the people, or some of them, appear to be an unhappy lot, restless, dissatisfied, and turbulent. Not satisfied with beheading an excellent Lieutenant Governor for exercising an undoubted constitutional right, they throw the city into a state of anarchy, by a riot, maiming and killing people and destroying property, as has been recently done by rival factions mis-called "Laborers Societies." The next trouble was, a Mr. Sheehy, M. P., who was elected an independent Reformer, having voted with the Conservatives. This he had a right to do upon a question which he believed should be carried; but in doing so, having voted against the party by which he was elected, and the issues which he was returned to support, he no longer represents the constituency which elected him, and should surrender his trust to the people who returned him. Had Mr. Gillmor voted for any of the Conservative party measures, he would be called upon to resign very quickly by his constituents, but there is no fear of his committing such a blunder.

PROPERTY RISING IN VALUE.—On Wednesday afternoon last, the "Pheasant Property," consisting of a two story dwelling and small lot, fronting on the corner of Frederick and Queen Streets and opposite to the old Wyer house, was sold at Auction by Mr. Hatheway, and purchased by Mr. W. D. Foster; the house and garden at $1025, and the lot at $236—$1261. The bidding was spirited, and was proof, that the darkest hour is passed.

The house on the property recently purchased by his honor Judge McKeagney, is being repaired for present use. We understand that the Judge intends erecting a handsome mansion about the centre of the Square which will command one of the finest views in the town.

THE CONTEMPORARY REVIEW for August, contains a number of ably written papers by leading writers. We have only space for the following extract from an article on "Cheap Justice," by Henry Compton, which is worthy of reflection. Disinterested readers will agree with the writer, when he says:

Justice should be speedy and local. It should be sought by the complainant as soon as possible. The defendant should be required to answer as soon as possible; and there should be no delay about the final decision. Lapse of time between the wrong committed and the complaint made, means increase of difficulty. The difficulty tends to increase with the time, and is least when the facts are fresh in the minds of the witnesses. Immediate recourse to law raises a presumption in favor of the bona fides of the complainant. Unreasonable delays on one side or the other excite suspicion. Time is required for fraudulent inventions and manoeuvres, whether connected by the parties or by counsel drawing up the perjured affidavits in their chambers. At the same time many honest persons do constantly let a considerable time elapse before they have recourse to law, hoping to avoid the necessity by delay. Still the practical advantage, for the purposes of justice, of having claims preferred as soon as possible is sufficient justification of time limitations, by which legal remedy is limited to a definite time. The law is right that discourages delay.

Topics of the Week.

THE CROPS. It is gratifying to learn, were not seriously injured by the late storm of wind and rain; in a few localities the grain was beaten down, but has risen again and is maturing finely. On low lands the rain did some damage, but of small account. Potatoes it was feared would have been almost destroyed by the late heavy rain, but we are happy to know that there is no tendency to rot, and even on the low lands they have not been materially affected. Wheat, oats, barley, and other cereals, will yield large returns, and it is believed the harvest all over the country, will be very large and abundant; and the root crops generally promise a good yield. There is great reason to be thankful for the good harvest.

It is amusing to read the reports published with reference to the movements of the Governor General and Princess. Should they laugh, or sneeze, or pull off their gloves—all is recorded with a minuteness and detail quite amusing to outsiders. Now it is said they will visit Washington, Saratoga, and other places before returning to Ottawa, and that the Princess will not spend the winter in England. These reports are simply a species of toadyism and impertinences.

Sir Charles Tupper, Sir S. L. Tilley, and some English capitalists sailed in the Steamship "Caspian" last week, for Quebec.

Robbing Gardens.

A correspondent "G" warns these boys who have robbed his fruit trees in town, that he, and some others, "have set spring guns and traps in their gardens near the trees; and that those who are in the habit of stealing fruit from the trees, will have themselves to blame should they get shot or maimed while in the act of committing the deed."

The warning has been given—let the culprits beware.

Some of the Summer Visitors have departed for their homes. On Monday last, Mrs. Chief Justice Wood, and family, who were here for several weeks departed for their far off home. Mrs. Rubidge, Mrs. Wood's sister, having left a week earlier for her home at Brantford. These ladies while here were deservedly favorites, their genial, yet dignified manners, won the respect of all who met them. Mrs. Wood and family had many kindly greetings on their leaving.

Capt. C. Campbell, of the Bank of New Brunswick, Mrs. Campbell and family, who were here for a few days, returned to St. John on Saturday last.

Rev. Mr. O'Neill and Mr. James Brennan left for their homes this morning.

Some of the United States papers are growing wonderfully belligerent on the Fishery question. This attitude is of course due to the fact that the fall elections are approaching, and these papers are becoming fishers of men—or electors. The fact is that on some of the fishing grounds, the Americans seem disposed to set at naught all law and governmental restrictions, and our fisheries, in consequence, are suffering and will suffer. Hence the apparent disposition of the American Government to investigate and reconsider the whole question involved may be hailed with pleasure, as being likely to lead to some kind of a definite and perhaps mutually satisfactory understanding.

ALARM OF FIRE.—About 5 o'clock last evening, an alarm of fire was sounded, when the engines and hose-reels were promptly at the scene, which was for the third time, the cottage owned by Alex. McMin. The fire however was put out before the engines began work. Such frequent attempts to fire the building demands an investigation.

DROWNED.—Two boys, named Pendleton and Ward, on Monday last, were thrown out of a dory near Deer Island. Pendleton was rescued, but young Ward was drowned; his body was recovered in a short time.

Isaac Woodward, Esq., died in St. John on Monday last, aged 84.

HARPER'S MAGAZINE for September presents many striking novelties, and in excellence of illustration is superior to even the August Number. In fiction, this Magazine is now remarkable for its three serial novels by Miss Mulock, William Black, and R. D. Blackmore—a marvellous array of imaginative power. "Mary Anerley," Blackmore's new novel, promises to be one of his best efforts, and William Black's, "White Wings," is an enchanting story.

One of the most novel features of this Number is a ghost story by Howard Pyle, with eight illustrations drawn by the author. The story has something of that charm which made Irving's tales so fascinating, and the pictures are among the very best examples of character sketches—as fine as they are striking.

Not less striking, though of a more stately order, are Mr. Reinhardt's admirable pictures illustrating Mrs. Champney's "Newport Society in the last Century." Lucy Larcom's spirited lyric, "My Mariner," is accompanied by an equally spirited illustration by Fredericks.

In the second paper of Mr. Benjamin's series, "Fifty years of American Art," there are beautiful engravings.

In excellence of engraving nothing could be superior to the sixteen pictures illustrating Barnett Phillip's interesting paper, "The King Collection of Engraved Gems," recently purchased for the Metropolitan Museum.

Besides the fiction already mentioned, there is a piquant short story by Mrs. Annie Howells Frechette. William Gibson contributes a beautiful poem, "The Last Rose of Summer," Edward Howland's paper, "An Industrial Society and its work," presents a curiously remarkable series of co-operative industrial plans successfully carried out Mulhausen, offering many useful suggestions to those interested in the welfare of laborers.

The Editorial departments are full of interesting matter. In the Editor's Drawer is a very amusing burlesque operetta, entitled "Il Jacobi," by Mrs. E. T. Corbett with six illustrations.

The Dominion Government, yielding to the representation of importers, have suspended certain provisions of the order regarding the duty to be paid on sugars, until the return of the Hon. Finance Minister, when it will be ascertained whether or no

SIR JOHN A. MACDONALD.—From twelve, the original number, the Privy Council of England has been increased to over two hundred and fifty gentlemen, whose mission is, in most cases, to do nothing. The rank is exalted, for Privy Counsellors take precedence next after Knights of the Garter. The emoluments are all, while the honor is great, and politicians who look upon honor as the end-all of their existence often find a refuge in the circle of Privy Counsellors, who sometimes "advise" Her Majesty what to do. A Committee of the Council is invested with some power, but only six members and one of the clerks are necessary to constitute a board. For all practical purposes, however, the functions of Privy Counsellor is now more honorary than real. But Sir John A Macdonald will enjoy the distinction, and he thirsts for power and fame.

Hon. Mr. Blake.

The Conservative papers are attacking the Hon. Edward Blake. They charge him with dishing up old ideas, and remind us that the representation of minorities originated with Hare and was afterwards advocated by Mill; that arbitration for the settlement of strikes was discussed twenty years ago, and in general charge Mr. Blake with being a scatterer of borrowed ideas. The chances are that the same papers tomorrow or after will be telling the people that "there is nothing new under the sun." Why, the world is full of "borrowed ideas." A few men do nearly all the thinking and the rest follow like a flock of sheep after the bellwether. Originality is a gift, given only to the few, and those few are the Sturges, the Hobbs, Lockes, Humes, Kants, Mills and the good and bad minds that startle the world with new theories from time to time. But there are men who have originality enough to think for themselves in a lesser degree than great minds, and who not only think but act, and of such a class the Hon. Edward Blake is one. Canadians should be proud of such a man, but politicians can be proud of no one save the obedient servant of one side or the other in political strife. Mr. Blake should be invited back to public life by all parties. We want to see public issues threshed on the floor of the House of Commons, grievances exposed and abuses laid bare, and the Hon. Edward Blake is one of the men well calculated to do it. The Conservatives should be able to afford to take a broad view of the situation, or if they cannot do that, they should at least have tact enough to assume a virtue which they do not feel, and do Mr. Blake justice.

COST OF THE ZULU WAR.—The Chancellor of the Exchequer has submitted an estimate of the cost of the Zulu War Office, still adheres to that the cost of the war will half a million a month down July. From that time they expenditure should rapidly from July to the end of the sum of £421,000 is given as Besides these, the navy in million of outlay as the cost, and the sum of £500,000 down for contingencies. The war is four and a half million one and a half millions were last; the remaining three proposes to raise by Exchequer surplus last year was put; and the balance he expects t contribution from the South onics.

celor has submitted an estimate of the cost of the Zulu war. The Chancellor, backed by the authority of the War Office, still adheres to his estimate that the cost of the war will be covered by half a million a month down to the end of July. From that time they consider the expenditure should rapidly diminish, and from July to the end of the war a further sum of £421,000 is given as the estimate. Besides these, the navy incurred half a million of outlay as the cost of transport, and the sum of £500,000 had been put down for contingencies. The total cost of the war is four and a half millions, of which one and a half millions were voted in April last; the remaining three millions he proposes to raise by Exchequer bonds. His surplus last year was put at £1,800,000, and the balance he expects to receive as a contribution from the South African colonies.

Japan and Formosa Teas at CAMPBELL'S. Pure, fresh ground Coffees at CAMPBELL'S at 30c 35c and 40c per lb.

A writer in the Westminster Review for July, advocates Imperial Federation, on the ground that it would strengthen the Empire and save the redundant wealth and population of the Mother Country. From 1815 to 1876, the total number of emigrants who left the United Kingdom was 8,424,942. The destinations were as follows:—

United States	5,467,075
British North America	1,549,010
Australasia	1,165,628
Other places	243,229

Thus, while England sent 5,467,075 emigrants to develop and enrich a foreign power, she secured only 2,957,867 for her own colonies, assuming that the "other places" are British possessions. Taking the money value at $1,000 apiece, England in that period of sixty-two years presented to the United States with the sum of $1,125,000,000, or an annual gift of $19,000,000.

A MAN OF A THOUSAND

When death was hourly expected, all remedies having failed, and Dr. James was experimenting with the many herbs of Calcutta, he accidentally made a preparation which cured his only child of consumption. His child is now in this country, and enjoying the best of health. He has proved to the world that Consumption can be positively and permanently cured. The Doctor now gives this Receipt free, with full particulars, showing that every one can be his own physician and prosper his own medicine, only asking that each remit two green stamps to pay expenses. This herb also cures night-sweats, nausea at the stomach, and will break a fresh cold up in twenty-four hours.

Address: CRADDOCK & CO., 1632 Race St., Phila., naming this paper.

In the whole history of Medicine, no preparation has ever performed such marvellous cures or maintained so wide a reputation, as AYER'S CHERRY PECTORAL, which is recognized as the world's remedy for all diseases of the throat and lungs. Its long-continued series of wonderful cures in all climates has made it universally known as a safe and reliable agent to employ. Against ordinary colds, which are the forerunners of more serious disorders, it acts speedily and surely, always relieving suffering, and often saving life. The protection it affords, by timely use in the throat and lungs disorders of children, makes it an invaluable remedy to be kept always on hand in every home. No person can afford to be without it, and those that have once used it never will. From their knowledge of its composition and effects, Physicians use the CHERRY PECTORAL extensively in their practice, and Clergymen recommend it. It is absolutely certain in its remedial effects, and will always cure where cures are possible.

THE GREAT CAUSE OF HUMAN MISERY.

We have recently published a new edition of Dr. CULVERWELL'S CELEBRATED ESSAY of the radical and permanent cure (without medicine) of Nervous Debility, Mental and Physical Incapacity, Impediments to Marriage, etc. resulting from excesses.

Price, in a sealed envelope, only 6 cents, or two postage stamps.

The celebrated author in this admirable Essay clearly demonstrates, from thirty years successful practice, that alarming consequences may be radically cured, without the dangerous use of internal medicine, or the application of the knife; pointing out a mode of cure at once simple, certain and effectual, by means of which every sufferer, no matter what his condition may be, may cure himself cheaply, privately and radically.

This Lecture should be in the hands of every youth and man in the land.
