DEATH CAME QUICKLY.
Hamilton, July 7.—Mrs. Sarah Eland, wife of Mr. Henry Eland, Macklin street, died very suddenly on Saturday. She was crossing the road from the residence of her son-in-law, Mr. McKay, to her own house, when she fell on the street and expired before aid could reach her. She had been afflicted with heart trouble for about a year, and although her death came so very suddenly, it was not altogether a surprise for her relatives. Mrs. Eland was 60 years of age.

Great sales prove the great merit of Hood's Sarsaparilla, and great merit enables it to accomplish wonderful cures.

There is no disguise so thorough as shabby clothes. A person so concealed is frequently passed by his best friends without recognition.

LIFE SAVED.—Mr. James Bryson Cameron states: "I was confined to my bed with inflammation of the lungs, and was given up by physicians. A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medicine, and less than a half bottle cured me; I certainly believed it saved my life. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

Violins are very susceptible to changes of the weather. The strings of a violin always become more taut, and thus give a sharper tone, when a storm is coming on.

Give Holloway's Corn Cure a trial. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done once it will do again.

Sir Edwin Arnold would like to see in all Christian governments a minister of state charged with the interests of birds, beasts and fishes.

Mrs. Seleste Coon, Syracuse, N.Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmlee's Pills according to directions under the head of "Dyspepsia or Indigestion." One box entirely cured me. I can now eat any thing I choose without distressing me in the least." These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when a cathartic is required.

Yale Beaten!

And Britannia Still Rules the Waves.

The Great Inter-Collegiate Boat Races at Henley.

Many Americans Witness the Defeat of Their Pets—A Gala Day.

Henley-on-Thames, July 7—(Bulletin.)—In the first trial heat for the Grand Challenge cup, First Trinity beat London Rowing Club by half a length. It was a fine race, but both crews were much tired at the finish. First Trinity made a fine spurt at the finish. Time, 7:20.

In the second heat for the Grand Challenge cup, New College beat Trinity Hall with the greatest ease by one and three quarters' length. Trinity Hall was quite done up at the finish. Time, 7:19.

In the first trial heat for the diamond sculls, R. K. Beaumont, of the Burton Rowing Club, beat Frank Beddington, of the Medway Rowing Club, easily, in 9:07.

In the second heat for the diamond sculls, Vivian Nickalls, London Rowing Club, beat Sidney Swann, Cambridge University Boat Club, by one-quarter of a length. It was a good race, and both were exhausted at the finish. Time, 8:53.

The third trial heat, that between Leander and Yale, was started at 1:33 1-4. Yale got away with a lead, but Leander won easily in 7 minutes and 14 seconds. Previous to the beginning of racing today, "Bob" Cook said that with the conditions as they were at 11:30 there was not the slightest advantage in either the Bucks' or the Berks' station. He added that it was a perfectly fair course, and thought that Leander would win by from a length to a length and a half.

YALE'S DEFEAT DESCRIBED.

The Yale men were afloat at 9:45, and took a short trial spin, to test the rigging of the boat. On its return "Bob" Cook carefully inspected the boat, and said: "The Lord is not with us as regards the wind; but the boat is in perfect condition." Capt. Treadway remarked: "We are all well and confident of winning." Coxswain Clark said: "We shall have a great try." Beard, Langford, Brown and Bailey gathered in a group, and in substance said: "We are more confident than yesterday." Capt. Treadway passed his hand carefully along the bottom of the boat, and then Mills, Whitney and Armstrong entered the skiff and towed the American racing shell to the starting point. The day was overcast, and there was little or no wind, although in the west there were slight indications of a coming breeze. From the earliest hours the course was lined with crowds of people, and there were many American boats, full of gay parties, carrying the Stars and Stripes and Yale flags, while the grand stand was crowded with Yale enthusiasts, who waved old Eli's colors and did everything possible to show their confidence in the oarsmen from New Haven.

When the word was given at 1:33 1-4, both Leander and Yale got away prettily and together. Contrary to expectation, Yale showed herself quick at starting, but at the end of the stand Leander had a lead of one man and was steadily creeping away, rowing evenly and powerfully. As the boats appeared in sight near the finish, there was tremendous applause, shouting and flags waving, and the excitement increased until it became a hurricane of demonstration in favor of Yale upon the part of the Americans, and in favor of Leander in the case of the British. The Yale partisans on the grand stand were fairly wild with excitement.

Leander won by 1 3-4 lengths in 7 minutes 14 seconds. The record is 6 minutes 51 seconds. All the morning trains arrived heavily laden with rowing enthusiasts. Yale's colors were to be seen everywhere—on the grand stand, in the enclosure, on the house boats, launches and small boats. Mr. James R. Roosevelt, secretary of the United States embassy, was present, but the United States ambassador, Mr. Thomas F. Bayard, was unable to attend on account of the arrival in England of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts. Along the crowded banks on the Bucks side of the river, Mr. William Waldorf Astor's launch was conspicuous with yellow and black flags, and attracted much attention. Mr. Astor's party was mostly composed of boys. They crowded the upper deck and enjoyed themselves immensely, in spite of the hot, sultry weather.

At the end of the island Leander had a lead of one man. Yale, however, steadily overhauled Leander, and, rowing evenly, had a lead of two men at the rectory. At the farm, Leander had pulled up until Yale only had a lead of one man. Then Leander spurted, overtook Yale, and had the lead of one man at the half distance, which was made in 3:27. "It's all over," said a Leander man in the launch; "we'll win now." J. C. Rogers, Yale No. 4, seemed rowed out at this point. He was very pale and pulled listlessly. In spite of this, the Americans rowed stubbornly, powerfully and evenly, sticking to it in the gamest manner possible, while all around were cries of "Leander! Leander!" echoing in their ears, and certainly not giving them any encouragement. Opposite the White House Leander drew clear, and when the Yale boat passed Clubland, George Langford, Yale's stroke, seemed played out. He was pulling lifelessly, and Leander went ahead almost as they liked. As the racing craft appeared in sight near the finish, the applause, shouting and flag-waving began and gradually increased until is assumed the proportions of a perfect hurricane of demonstration. When the boats crossed the finish line, the Yale partisans on the grand stand cheered the Americans to the utmost, and the Britishers were equally enthusiastic in applauding the Leanders, especially when it was seen from the last quarter that the latters were the winners.

Bob Cook, Yale's trainer, in an interview after the race, said: "I have no excuse to make. We did as well as possible with the material we had to work with, and I was satisfied we could not win with this year's material at Yale. We were simply beaten because we could not row as fast as our opponents. We have been handsomely treated here on all sides, and I am perfectly satisfied with the draw and with all the arrangements."

After the heat had been decided, Col. William, the representative of the Henley stewards, the other regatta officials and all the prominent men, went to the Yale boathouse and shook hands with "Bob" Cook and the American oarsmen, expressing regret at the fact that they had not won.

"Bob" Cook certainly never worked harder to get a crew in fit condition to win a race. Langford, talking over the race, remarked: "I felt the men behind me growing tired. They were unable to keep up the high stroke, therefore I dropped it and lengthened. Later on, Treadway and myself tried to raise the stroke, but we found we could not do so to advantage, as the men were doing their utmost as it was."

Guy Nickalls, at the close of the race, shook hands with Capt. Treadway, and said: "It's too bad."

An Alarmist.

Sir Charles Dilke Predicts a Great European War.

In Which Britain Will Fight France, Russia and Germany.

Great Increase in the "Tight Little Island's" Revenue.

Prospects of a Big Strike—Earthquakes in Cyprus—Stanley's Condition Worse.

20,000 MAHDISTS ON THE WAR-PATH.

London, July 7.—A Cairo dispatch says it is reported there are 20,000 Mahdists in Dongola and that they are resolved upon fighting.

MONEY IN WHEELS.

London, July 7.—The Coventry Machinist Company, the oldest in the bicyclist business, has been sold for £250,000. It gives the shareholders £18 for every £4 10s share, and also a 50 per cent dividend.

STANLEY WORSE.

London, July 7.—Henry M. Stanley, the African explorer and member of Parliament for North Lambeth, who has been ill for several weeks, with gastritis, has suffered another relapse, and is now lying in a critical condition.

SAFE IN PORT.

London, July 7.—The British steamer Italia (Capt. Wards), which left New York on June 11, for Genoa, Naples, etc., and which was spoken in a disabled condition off Cape Caroupe, has arrived there and reported all well on board.

ARMS FOR THE TRANSVAAL.

London, July 7.—The Standard publishes a Berlin dispatch to the effect that the Transvaal Government has ordered 60,000 rifles from Loewe & Co., the well-known German arms manufacturers. Ten thousand of the rifles have already been delivered.

BITTER AGAINST UNCLE SAM.

London, July 7.—A dispatch from Madrid says that in the Spanish Senate on Saturday, Gen. Calleja and Gen. Pando were very bitter in their expressions against the United States. The former declared that the conduct of the United States in protecting the Cuban rebels was most treacherous.

CRETAN AFFAIRS.

London, July 7.—The Daily News publishes a dispatch from Athens, saying that in view of the Porte's acceptance of the chief demands of the powers, the diplomats have unanimously urged Greece to influence the Cretans to cease their hostility and to prevent Greeks from sending supplies to the rebels in the island.

SPECIAL HONORS FOR AMERICANS.

London, July 7.—The Prince of Wales has issued a number of special invitations to well-known people for the inspection of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company of Massachusetts, at Marlborough House. The Princess of Wales will receive the ladies of the party.

PROSPECT OF A BIG STRIKE.

London, July 7.—The prospect of a general coal strike in England is being discussed. The employers are trying to effect a 10 per cent reduction in wages, and the miners of Derbyshire and Lancashire have already refused to accept the proposition. Such a strike would have a serious effect upon the home railroads, which have lately been enjoying a boom.

CYPRUS RATTLED.

Genoa, July 7.—The steamer Italia has arrived here, and reports that Larnaca, Island of Cyprus, has been suffering from earthquake shocks since July 1. The disturbances have been increasing in violence and extend to Limasol. A general panic is said to prevail at Larnaca, and the Government and military authorities have been providing tents for the affrighted people. The town is deserted, and the Government offices, banks and telegraph offices were under canvas when the steamer left Cyprus.

A GOOD SHOWING FOR GREAT BRITAIN.

London, July 7.—The revenue returns for the first quarter of the current fiscal year show an increase of $8,408,000, $5,000,000 of which is derived from the excise duties, indicating, it is claimed, that the prosperity of the working classes greatly exceeds the estimates of the Chancellor of the Exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks-Beach. If this prosperity is continued on the same scale, there will be another good surplus for the Government to devote to the defenses or other objects.

ROBINSON ALL RIGHT.

London, July 7.—Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of Cape Colony and the British High Commissioner in South Africa, has been elevated to the peerage.

Prime Minister Sprigg announced in the Assembly at Cape Town yesterday that Gov. Robinson, who was recently summoned to London to confer with the Government on the South African situation, would return to his post of duty in August. This statement disposes of the rumors that serious troubles existed between Gov. Robinson and Colonial Secretary Chamberlain.

A CAUSE FOR DISCONTENT.

London, July 7.—In the House of Commons last evening, Lord George Hamilton (Conservative) moved that the India exchequer should pay for the support of the Indian troops sent to Suakim to replace the garrison troops there who are being used in the Soudan expedition. There was a long debate on the motion, which was finally adopted by a vote of 252 to 106. The compelling of the Indian Government to pay the expenses of these troops is likely to cause much discontent in India. The Times, Standard, many of the "Unionist" papers, and all the Liberal papers oppose the Government in this matter.

SATOLI'S SUCCESSOR.

London, July 17.—Monseignor Diomede Falconio, who has been nominated by the Pope to succeed Cardinal Satolli as papal delegate to the United State, is well known in ecclesiastical circles in America. When very young he entered the Franciscan order, and was sent to the United States to study theology at the college of St. Bonaventure at Alleghany, N. Y. He was ordained a priest in 1866 by the Bishop of Buffalo. Since then he has been vice-president and president of St. Bonaventure College. Later, he was sent on a mission to Newfoundland, and became vicar-general of Harbor Grace. He returned to Italy in 1885, and was elected provincial of the Franciscan order, and subsequently was made procurer-general of the order. He next was appointed Bishop of Macedonia and Archbishop of Matera.

WAR TALK.

Sir Charles Dilke in the Role of an Alarmist.

London, July 7.—Just now the British public is much moved by an article from the pen of Sir Charles Dilke, predicting that Great Britain, single-handed, is destined to engage in a great struggle against Germany, Russia and France combined. The fight, he claims, may come at any time within a decade, ostensibly about Egypt, but really on account of jealousy of Great Britain's colonial expansion. Therefore, Sir Charles urges Great Britain to hold herself free from any alliances which might only prove illusive, and devote herself to the development of her defenses.

The Spectator propounds the question as to what role America will play in such a struggle affecting her colonial interests.

The discussion regarding England's "splendid isolation" is again to the fore. During the past week a well-known military strategist, lecturing before the chief military institution, drew an alarming picture of London's defenseless condition. If, he declared, the Channel fleet were defeated, or lured away to distant fighting, England would be left without her breastplate, and an invader could easily reach the Empire's heart. His idea was that London should be fortified like Strasburg or Metz, and if the War Office should indorse the soundness of his arguments, and ask the Government to provide the necessary money, the request, in all probability, would be granted.

As a matter of fact, large sums are being expended at this moment in building detached forts around London, and strengthening the fortifications of the Mersey, Clyde and Tyne. The money appears in the estimates under a general head, and few Englishmen have an adequate idea how much work is being done in this direction.

Renewed attention is also being given by responsible military experts to the defenses of Halifax and Vancouver, and possibly other points in the Western Hemisphere; and there is reason to believe that a small committee, installed at the War Office and working in concert with the Admiralty, has been charged to discover what modifications are necessary and desirable in the defenses of Canada, the West Indies, etc., in view of the fact that in a few years the United States will become a great naval power. Presumably, the committee's instructions do not end with defensive schemes, but it is impossible to say more than to announce the fact that the committee exists, and is at work.

The only reason Charles Smith Hyman was not counted in yesterday was because the supply of ballots gave out. As long as there were ballots to count, Mr. Beattie's majority steadily dwindled until instead of 118 the figures had by a process of judicial involution been reduced to 41.

The proceedings of the afternoon were of a delightfully informal character amid environs usually rendered stiff and formal by legal red tape. No fresh decisions were required, and as those of the morning covered every point which cropped up, the judge had time to smoke a good cigar, while some of the spectators found time to smoke cigars which were not so good. As the smoke curled upwards over the table, and the ballots, which are about the size of the ordinary playing-card, were shuffled in packs of ten and passed across the table, the scene looked more like a whist party than anything else.

A spice of humor was introduced at times by the appearance of a ballot marked in a particularly ridiculous manner. Then the lawyers would chaff one another every little while, Mr. Hellmuth taking particular delight in expressing genuine (?) sorrow and regret that Mr. McKillop could not figure out a majority for Hyman.

"It's going lower every time," Mr. McKillop once said.

"Oh, yes," replied Mr. Hellmuth, "but a majority of one will do."

The rejected ballots, shown above, were all thrown out because the cross was not within the circle. A number of gentlemen who had evidently promised to vote for both parties pacified their consciences by doing so, but of course the ballots were not counted.

A great many times during the afternoon the judge had to scrutinize some of the crosses under a magnifying glass in order to give a decision. He ruled out one ballot which had been marked with an X made by drawing two lines like)(. The lines touched at the center, but the judge held that they should cross one another.

Another ballot was spoiled by having "Manitoba" written across it, and another was spoiled by being marked "Against Remedial Bill." Another read "Prohibition and Reform," and another had a large cross marked along the whole width of the ballot.

From the looks of several ballots there is prima facie evidence that several Chinamen, or men acquainted with their hieroglyphics, must have voted. Another unconscious humorist placed a full stop opposite Mr. Hyman's name.

Only ten ballots were found with the plain word "Prohibition" marked thereon. Six were marked in the Hyman disk, 2 in Beattie's, and 2 across the face of the ballot.

At the conclusion of the recount the judge signed the usual declaration. Mr. Beattie was in at the death, and looked relieved as the judge signed the decision. The judge will assess the costs today. These will be paid out of the $100 deposited by the Liberals. Mr. Beattie's election cannot be protested until he is gazetted.

Sandy McDuff.

Kent County Murderer Believed to be at Edmonton, N. W. T.

Killed an Illinois Man—Detectives at Edmonton Looking for the Assassin.

Edmonton, N. W. T., July 7.—Illinois detectives are here in company with Mr. Ott, of that State, in search of the murderer of the latter's son. The murder was committed in Illinois in December, 1894, and the assassin at the same time robbed his victim's mother of $68,000. The elder Ott believes that he can identify the man who killed his son.

The murderer they are searching for is believed to be Sandy McDuff, a ruffian from Orillia, Ont., who about eight years ago killed an old man at Tilbury Center, Kent county. An accessory to the crime named McMann was captured, was sentenced to seven years' imprisonment, and recently completed his term. McDuff made good his escape and was never captured. He was reported to have killed a man afterward in British Columbia, but investigation showed that the criminal was a different man.

The authorities have good reason to believe that McDuff has at last been located north of Edmonton, and with two counts of murder against him he is likely to figure either on an Ontario or Illinois gallows.

TOWN AND COUNTRY.

ILDERTON.

Ilderton, July 7.—Mrs. George Colbert has returned home, after visiting friends in Medina, Thamesford and other places.

Mr. R. C. Robson is visiting friends in Malton.

Miss M. McRoberts has returned home after spending a few days with her sister, Mrs. R. Bemish, of this place.

A great many of the farmers are through haying around here.

Ilderton, July 6.—The bicycle races under the auspices of the Ilderton Bicycle Club were run off on Dominion Day, as advertised. Quite a number of riders were present from London, Strathroy, Ailsa Craig and other places. Mr. F. Radway, of London, acted as starter, F. Clatworthy as timer, and F. Charlton scorer. The winners are as follows:

One mile novice—A. L. Smith 1, A. T. Charlton 2, C. W. Alford 3. Time, 2:42.

One mile open—B. Little 1, A. Brown 2. Time, 2:35.

Five mile open—W. Metcalf 1, B. Little 2. Time, 14:20.

HENSALL.

Hensall, July 6.—Quite a number were present at the raising of Mr. G. McEwen's flax barn on Tuesday evening last. It was dark before the work was completed, but a number of our citizens made their appearance on Friday at 1 o'clock and completed it. The framers are rushing it through, and it will be ready for use in time.

It is calculated that flax-pulling will commence on or about July 13.

Mr. B. Equert, of London, spent Sunday at his father's residence, near Sexsmith.

While shoeing a horse belonging to Mr. S. Ingram, Mr. C. Manns sustained a kick near the ankle, which laid him up for a while. He is now on the mend.

THE ARLINGTONS' STATEMENT.

The manager of the Arlingtons writes regarding Saturday's difficulty: "At one of the meetings of the City League, held at the Arlington club room, a motion, brought up by myself, and strongly supported by the Pastimes, to play all games possible on Tecumseh Park, was carried. I approached the Pastimes as to playing the game on July 4 on Tecumseh Park, but they refused on the plea of having lost money on the previous game there with the Orients. I tried to make arrangements with them, but they positively refused under any circumstances to play on Tecumseh Park. In regard to the statement made by the Pastimes as to our childish objection to "rooters," I wish to say that the president of the Pastime Baseball Club stated in the presence of several of the players of his own club that the Arlingtons always had the crowd with them at Tecumseh Park, while at Springbank the situation was reversed. We pride ourselves that whether we play at Springbank or Tecumseh Park, we have as many admirers as have the Pastimes. I further contend that to an onlooker a game at Springbank is very slow and tiresome, as the grounds are in no shape to play ball.

"I consider that, in accordance with the motion above mentioned, and proposed by myself, that I was justified in refusing to play at Springbank while Tecumseh Park was vacant, and further, I consider the Arlingtons have as much to say in the City League as the Pastimes, and when they have not then it is time to drop out. (I am informed that the Pastimes were the cause of the breaking up of the City League last year.)

"We are not afraid to play ball with the Pastimes, and hope satisfactory arrangements can be made to settle the dispute at an early date. The Arlingtons would sooner play ball on the ball field than on paper.

"Apologizing for taking up so much of your valuable space, but wishing to justify my action in the eyes of the admirers of both teams, I remain, Yours truly, W. J. BRIDGEMAN, "Manager Arlington B. B. C."

HOBBS VS. HYMANS.

The finest game of ball ever witnessed on the Erie Flats was played on Saturday afternoon between the well-known teams of Hobbs and Hyman. The game was close and exciting from start to finish. Both pitchers did excellent work. Nine hits were made off Cavanagh, but they were kept well scattered, while one solitary scratch hit was all the Hyman boys could make off Stringle's delivery. The game was marked by clever infield work throughout. Score.

TO DISPENSE WITH PNEUMATIC TIRES.

Five years from now the present type of bicycles will not be recognized, if one is to believe Inventor Frank J. Woods. He has a new wheel which is a radical departure from the ordinary pneumatic tired article, and which bids fair to make a startling innovation into the present methods of constructing a bicycle.

Mr. Woods is a mining engineer, who has already made several inventions in his own line, notably the "Woods Placer Miner."

Some time ago an idea for a wheel occurred to him. He made the drawings, and submitted them to the patent officer, and recently had his claims allowed.

In the last week he has had two models made embodying his idea, and will shortly attach them to a bicycle frame, and put them into practical use.

The essential features of his wheel are spring spokes and a flexible rim, the combination producing sufficient spring to do away with the necessity of using pneumatic tires. The spokes are made of pieces of flat tempered steel, and are curved in shape. This part of the idea is not new, and belongs to a patent which expired several years ago, but its use has always been prevented by the difficulty in finding a flexible rim to go with it. This Mr. Woods has devised.

The rim is made of a flat steel band with cork along the inside of it. Outside is a rubber cushion tire of ordinary construction, and the whole is held together by being tightly bound with sole leather. The spokes attach to nipples, which are fastened to the steel hoop. By this construction the inventor expects flexibility, resiliency, and an absence of slipping. This tire can be made in any size or shape.

How much of a success the new wheel will prove is considerable of a problem, and one the solution of which will be looked forward to anxiously by those interested in the manufacture of wheels. Mr. Woods thinks an ordinary bicycle frame with his wheels will not make a machine of over 23 pounds in weight, so the question is one of strength and ease of riding. If the new idea is not an unqualified success, it is certainly a long step in the direction of dispensing with the pneumatic tire.

Buried Treasure.

Valuable Casket and Jewels Dug Up at Princeton.

Believed to Have Been Buried by Americans Years Ago—Valuable Jewels in the Casket.

Woodstock, July 6.—David Grant, while digging a cellar for F. Cowan, on Railroad street, Princeton, found, about two feet below the surface a small oak box containing a small silver casket. The casket contained a gold watch, a gold chain, two rings, one set with a fine diamond, and two bracelets, all 20 carats fine.

The watch is a beauty, of German manufacture, inlaid with jewels. A German inscription inside the case, translated, reads: "Vinie Sept. A.D. 1721, H. K. No. 1312." The jewelry, aside from the diamond, is worth $450. The diamond, which is probably worth $800 or $1,000, will be sent to Toronto for valuation.

Tradition has it that a casket was buried in the vicinity of Burford by a party of Americans who made their escape after the battle fought near Burford in the war of 1812.

WHISKARD'S

TWO BUSY DEPARTMENTAL STORES.

This Store is Singular.

Busiest, brightest of all busy stores in busy times. Busier than ever in these times when merchants far and near complain that trade is dull. There is a reason for it. This store is helpful. Worthy merchandise can always find a market here when prices are right; and holders of great lots invariably turn here when help is needed.

Ribbons.

Coming and going ceasless as ebbs the tide. A constant changing of radiant beauties keep this attractive department bright and fresh with new fancies. One always has more satisfaction buying where there's newness every day. Then the values are right, and customers know it. Come to headquarters for your ribbons.

Lovely Millinery.

The correct combination is fashionable shape and color, tastefully trimmed with the harmony of art, commanding attention and compliment always. This is why our millinery is so popular. The season nears its close, hence these values.

Another special purchase Ladies' Bell Crown Sailors, black and white, worth 40c, selling for 25c.

Woman's Sacrifice.

Vashti, the Queen, the Veiled and the Sacrifice.

Dr. Talmage's Brilliant Sermon on Vashti's Resignation—Lessons for Women.

Washington, D. C., July 5.—In his sermon today, starting from a brilliant Bible scene, Dr. Talmage discoursed upon woman's opportunities, and the wrongs she sometimes suffers. His text was Esther, i., 11-12—"To bring Vashti the queen before the king with the crown royal, to show the people and the princes her beauty; for she was fair to look upon. But the queen Vashti refused to come at the king's commandment by his chamberlains; therefore was the king very wroth, and his anger burned in him."

We stand amid the palaces of Shushan. The pinnacles are aflame with the morning light. The columns rise festooned and wreathed, and wealth of empires flashing from the grooves; the ceilings adorned with images of bird and beast, and scenes of prowess and conquest. The walls are hung with shields, and emblazoned until it seems that the whole round of splendors is exhausted. Each arch is a mighty leap of architectural achievement. Golden stars, shining down on glowing arabesque. Hangings of embroidered work in which mingle the blueness of the sky, the greenness of the grass, and the whiteness of the sea foam. The vases filled with apricots and almond. The baskets piled up with apricots and dates and figs and oranges and pomegranates. Melons tastefully twined with leaves of cacia. The bright waters of Eulaeus filling the urns and sweating outside the rim in flashing beads amid the traceries. Wine from the royal vats of Ispahan and Shiraz, in bottles of tinged shell, and lily-shaped cups of silver, the flagons and tankards of solid gold The music rises higher and the revelry breaks out into wilder transport, and the wine has flushed the cheek and touched the brain, and louder than all other voices are the hic-coughs of the inebriates, the gabble of fools, and the song of the drunkards.

In another part of the palace, Queen Vashti is entertaining the princesses of Persia at a banquet. Drunken Ahasuerus says to his servants: "You go out and fetch Vashti from that banquet with the women, and bring her to this banquet with the men, and let me display her beauty." The servants immediately start to obey the king's command; but there was a rule in Oriental society that no woman might appear in public without having her face veiled. Yet here was a mandate that no one dare dispute, demanding that Vashti come in unveiled before the multitude. However, there was in Vashti's soul a principle more regal than Ahasuerus, more brilliant than the gold of Shushan, of more wealth than the realm of Persia, which commanded her to disobey this order of the king; and so all the righteousness and holiness and modesty of her nature rises up into one sublime refusal. She says: "I will not go into the banquet unveiled." Of course Ahasuerus was infuriate; and Vashti, robbed of her position and her estate, is driven forth in poverty and ruin to suffer the scorn of a nation, and yet to receive the applause of after generations who shall rise up to admire this martyr to kingly insolence. Well, the last vestige of that feast is gone; the last garland has faded; the last arch has fallen; the last tankard has been destroyed; and Shushan is a ruin; but as long as the world stands there will be multitudes of men and women, familiar with the Bible, who will come into this picture gallery of God, and admire the divine portrait of Vashti the queen, Vashti the veiled, Vashti the sacrifice, Vashti the silent.

What glory was there on the brow of Mary of Scotland, or Elizabeth of England, or Margaret of France, or Catharine of Russia, compared with the worth of some of our Christian mothers, many of them gone into glory?—or of that woman mentioned in the Scriptures, who put all her money into the Lord's treasury?—or of Jephthah's daughter, who made a demonstration of unselfish patriotism?—or of Abigail, who rescued the herds and flocks of her husband?—or of Ruth, who toiled under a tropical sun for poor, old helpless Naomi?—or of Florence Nightingale, who went at midnight to stanch the battle-wounds of the Crimea?—or of Mrs. Adoniram Judson, who kindled the lights of salvation amid the darkness of Burmah?—or of Mrs. Hemans, who poured out her holy soul in words which will forever be associated with hunter's horn, and captive's chain, and bridal hour, and lute's throb, and curfew's knell at the dying day?—and scores and hundreds of women, unknown on earth, who have given water to the thirsty and bread to the hungry, and medicine to the sick and smiles to the discouraged—their footsteps heard along dark lane and in government hospital and in almshouse corridor and by prison gate? There may be no royal robe—there may be no palatial surroundings. She does not need them; for all charitable men will unite with the crackling lips of fever-struck hospital and plague-blotched lazaretto in greeting her as she passes: "Hail! Hail! Queen Vashti."

Again! I want you to consider Vashti the veiled. Had she appeared before Ahasuerus and his court on that day, with her face uncovered, she would have shocked all the delicacies of Oriental society, and the very men who in their intoxication demanded that she come, in their sober moments would have despised her. As some flowers seems to thrive best in the dark lane and in the shadow, and where the sun does not seem to reach them, so God appoints to most womanly natures a retiring and unobtrusive spirit. God once in a while does call an Isabella to a throne, or a Miriam to strike the timbrel at the front of the host, or a Marie Antoinette to quell a French mob, or a Deborah to stand at the front of an armed battalion, crying out, "Up! Up! This is the day in which the Lord will deliver Sisera into thine hand." And when women are called to such outdoor work and to such heroic positions, God prepares them for it; and they have iron in their souls and lightning in their eye, and whirlwinds in their breath, and the borrowed strength of the Lord Omnipotent in their right arm. They walk through furnaces as though they were hedges of wild flowers, and cross seas as though they were shimmering sapphire; and all the harpies of hell fall down to their dungeons at the stamp of her womanly indignation. But these are the exceptions. Generally, Dorcas would rather make a garment for the poor boy; Rebecca would rather fill the trough for the camels; Hannah would rather make a coat for Samuel; the Hebrew maid would rather give a prescription for Naaman's leprosy; the woman of Sarepta would rather gather a few sticks to cook a meal for famished Elijah. Phoebe would rather carry a letter for the inspired apostle; Mother Lois would rather educate Timothy in the Scriptures. When I see a woman going about her daily duty—with cheerful dignity presiding at the table, with kind and gentle, but firm discipline presiding in the nursery, going out in to the world without any blast of trumpets, following in the footsteps of him who went about doing good—I say, "This is Vashti with a veil on." But when I see a woman of unblushing boldness, loud-voiced, with a tongue of infinite clitter-clatter, with arrogant look, passing through the streets with the step of a walking-beam, gayly attired in a very hurricane of millinery, I cry out: "Vashti has lost her veil."

Again: I want you to consider Vashti the sacrifice. Who is this I see coming out of the palace gate of Shushan? It seems to me that I have seen her before. She comes homeless, houseless, friendless, trudging along with a broken heart. Who is she? It is Vashti the sacrifice. O, what a change it was from regal position to a wayfarer's crust. A little while ago, approved and sought for; now, none so poor as to acknowledge her acquaintanceship. Vashti the sacrifice! Ah, you and I have seen it many a time. Here is a home empalaced with beauty. All that refinement and books and wealth can do for that home has been done; but Ahasuerus, the husband and the father, is taking hold on paths of sin. He is gradually going down. Soon the bright apparel of the children will turn to rags; soon the household song will become the sobbing of a broken heart. God forbid that any evil spirit born of the wine cup or the brandy glass should come forth and uproot that garden, and with a lasting, blistering, all-consuming curse, shut forever the palace gates against Vashti and the children!

Once again: I want you to look at Vashti the silent. You do not hear any outcry from this woman as she goes forth from the palace gate. From the very dignity or her nature, you know there will be no vociferation. Sometimes in life it is necessary to make a retort; sometimes in life it is necessary to resist; but there are crises when the most triumphant thing to do is to keep silence. The philosopher, confident in his newly-discovered principle, waiting for the coming of more intelligent generasions, waiting for long years through the scoffing of philosophical schools, in grand and magnificent silence. A wife, abused, persecuted and a perpetual exile from every earthly comfort—waiting, waiting until the Lord shall gather all his dear children in a heavenly home, and no poor Vashti will ever be thrust out from the palace gate.

O, woman! Does not this story of Vashti the queen, Vashti the veiled, Vashti the sacrifice, Vashti the silent, move your soul? My sermon converges into the one absorbing hope that none of you may be shut out of the palace gate of heaven. You can endure the hardships and the privations and the cruelties and the misfortunes of this life, if you can only gain admission there. Through the blood of the everlasting covenant, you go through these gates or never go at all. God forbid that you should at last be banished from the society of angels, and banished from the companionship of your glorified kindred, and banished forever. Through the rich grace of our Lord Jesus Christ, may you be enabled to imitate the example of Rachel, and Hannah, and Abigail, and Deborah, and Mary, and Esther, and Vashti. Amen!

Music in London.

The Aldermen and the Band Concerts.

A Word for the Bandsmen—Criticism. Pay and Results Discussed.

A well-informed correspondent of the "Advertiser" writes:

"In looking over the "Advertiser" of June 27, I notice an item with reference to the dividing of the fund laid aside for band concerts between the Seventh and the Musical Society Bands—provided the music is satisfactory. Who is to be the judge as to whether the music is satisfactory or not, without discriminating against either band? Suppose the music does not meet with the expectations of those interested, whom can you blame for the defect? Nobody but those very people who engage the bands. Or if we are not able to place before the public a perfect organization, who can you blame? Nobody but those who engage the bands. Music at the present time in the city is at a discount, take things all round. There is very little appreciation of good music here. The chief consideration in engaging a band is cheapness, the next is noise. Music is out of the question. What inducement is there for good musicians to take engagements. There are many men in this city now who have played in first-class bands in other places, who have been used to making $5 to $6 for a day's engagement, who are at the present time earning more at a trade than they can by taking engagements at the prices offered here. What is the best you can get now? It is from $2 to $2 50 per day. Any good musician, who is a decent mechanic, can earn as much or more than that in a shop with far less worry and exertion; without counting the years he has thrown away in study and practice. Take park concerts, where a band has to retain the best of its men and to be more particularly careful as to the rendering of the music, the immense sum of $1 per man is offered for satisfactory music. As soon as such a band as Sousa's comes to the city everybody (including the distributors of the funds for satisfactory music) rushes to pay from a dollar up for a seat, but when it comes to patronizing a local band concert, why, we all get there all right, but we take precious good care it won't cost us much. And besides, are not our excessively wise and careful city fathers paying the immense sum of $1 per man for our satisfactory band concerts. This also applies to other engagements. There is a competition as far as prices are concerned, between the bands of the city, and the chief consideration is the price. There are several musicians in this city who play such instruments that are necessary to the harmonizing of band parts, but whom it is impossible to get to take engagements for the money offered, so that in judging the different bands it would be well to bear these points in mind. Taken individually, man for man, the Musical Society employs the best talent attainable under the circumstances, any doubt as to that question being easily settled by competition. After reading this let us hope before arranging for band concerts our city fathers will take into consideration the large amount they are offering for satisfactory music. When they are able and willing to pay a satisfactory price they will no doubt get satisfactory music.

IN LABOR CIRCLES.

New York, N. Y., July 7.—The Central Labor Union suspended Typographical Union, No. 6, today. The union is known as "Big Six" and is one of the largest unions connected with the Central Labor Union. Delegate Geo. Warner, of the International Machinists' Union, complained of "Big Six." He said the machinists who take care of typesetting machines would not belong to the International Machinists' Union, and secede. Then Warner asked "Big Six" to compel those machinists to join his union, but they did not. That was Warner's complaint, and his motion to suspend Typographical Union, No. 6, was carried. John Bogert, the representative of "Big Six," came in after this action was taken, and protested against the suspension before a fair hearing had been given to the "Big Six" delegates. Nothing further was done, however.

Do You Use It?

It's the best thing for the hair under all circumstances. Just as no man by taking thought can add an inch to his stature, so no preparation can make hair. The utmost that can be done is to promote conditions favorable to growth. This is done by Ayer's Hair Vigor. It removes dandruff, cleanses the scalp, nourishes the soil in which the hair grows, and, just as a desert will blossom under rain, so bald heads grow hair, when the roots are nourished. But the roots must be there. If you wish your hair to retain its normal color, or if you wish to restore the lost tint of gray or faded hair use

WISDOM! STRENGTH! BEAUTY!

The careful and economical housekeeper displays great wisdom when she selects as her standard of colors, the Diamond Dyes. Her wise experience leads her to use the Diamond Dyes because of their great strength, as one package has the dyeing power of two packages of the poor imitation makes. A grand characteristic of the Diamond Dyes is their beauty of shade and color, and they are always fast, firm and unfading. Carefully avoid imitations and vile substitutes.

London, Tuesday, July 7.

As a result of the recent recounts, the popular majority for the Liberals in the five Middlesexes has been increased to 600. With the gerrymander removed, and the outside townships and villages foisted into Middlesex in order that a popular verdict might be prevented, this fine old county and its capital city would be Liberal by an overwhelming majority. The era of fair play must soon arrive.

\|\| \|\| \|\|

It looks as if the good soaking rain which the country requires so much will not come till the high tax Government gets out of Ottawa.

\|\| \|\| \|\|

They had queer doings in Hamilton, too. One deputy returning officer refused to initial the ballots, as provided for by law, and as the Liberal candidates had a good majority in the division, the Conservative counsel at the recount argued that all the ballots should be thrown out. Are we to be governed by partisan deputy returning officers? What might have happened if the Tupper Administration had been sustained!

\|\| \|\| \|\|

Great Britain's trade continues to boom, according to the revenue returns. Last quarter, compared with the same period of 1895, the receipts increased by $8,408,000. While the revenue increases, the condition of the people improves. In recent years, the ratio of paupers in England has fallen from 47 per 1,000 to 22 per 1,000. And this is the country which Canadian high tax advocates like Sir C. H. Tupper have been telling us is going to the dogs.

The Monetary Times, a commercial journal, tenders this seasonable advice to ardent partisans who have undertaken to bulldoze their men and coerce the coming Government:

"On the eve of the elections the hint was thrown out that if the result appeared to be adverse to protection, the cotton mills of Quebec would be closed down. Without any such contingency, the cotton mills of Massachusetts are likely to take a month's vacation. When the Wilson tariff was under consideration, many manufacturers were accused of stopping their works, or threatening to stop them, with the object of producing an effect on legislation. The policy of using such a weapon may well be doubted. A resort to it has a tendency to produce antagonism in the place of a common agreement. It is well to remember the adage which tells us that more flies can be caught with sugar than with vinegar."

A Very Small Majority.

The Liberals of London did well to demand a recount of the ballots counted for the candidates in the city election. Mr. Franklin Wright, the returning officer, declared that Mr. Beattie was elected by a majority of 118. The recount before Judge Edward Elliott has resulted in a reduction of this majority to 41. Thus a change of 77 votes from the Conservative side to the Liberal column would have put Mr. Hyman in the majority, or an addition of less than two votes in each sub-division to the Liberal total would have secured a like result.

It is now known how the Liberals were placed in the minority in the recent contest, and there is no reason to doubt that when the seat is again declared vacant—as it soon will be—Mr. Hyman will take his rightful place as member for the city and supporter of the new Liberal Administration. In due course, doubtless, the means whereby Mr. Beattie achieved a temporary success will be laid bare. Then it will be proved, under the new condition of affairs, with a purified list of voters, fair returning officers, and bulldozing and corrupting of electors prevented, that London is determined to cast its lot with the Administration of the day, the principles espoused by which the majority of the legitimate electors of London stand ready to indorse by their votes. That is the stand taken by the large majority of the cities of Canada, and it is not likely that London will lag.

Bengough's Political Shadows.

The recent excellent political cartooning in the Toronto Globe recalls the two bound volumes of Mr. J. W. Bengough's cartoons, prefaced by Principal Grant. Confederation is 30 years old, and Mr. Bengough has been cartooning more or less during a major portion of that period. It is a considerable time, but Mr. Bengough was caught young.

"What shadows we are, what shadows we pursue!" exclaimed Burke. One cannot but be reminded of the exclamation in looking through these volumes.

About 1870, we observe, the main figures were George Brown and John A. Macdonald. The latter had a splendid nose for purposes of caricature, and George Brown also made "good copy." George Brown then meant the Globe; and the Globe then meant George Brown. If the party won an election, it was said the Globe did it; it had also to bear the blame in case of defeat. George Brown is dead, and, like Sir John Macdonald, not so much spoken of today as one would a few years ago have thought probable.

In the cartoons of the period we find the following politicians—now all dead: L. H. Holton, L. S. Huntington, John Beverley Robinson, Sandfield Macdonald, Joseph Howe, Sir Leonard Tilley, Sir John Rose, Sir George E. Cartier, Sir Alex. Galt, Hon. T. N. Gibbs, Sir F. Hincks, Sir N. F. Belleau, Hon. A. McKellair, Dr. Ryerson, Hon. T. W. Anglin, Hon. C. F. Fraser, Hon. Joseph Cauchon, Senator Boyd, Hon. Alex. Morris, Sir Alex. Campbell, Gordon Brown—it is like walking through a thickly-settled cemetery!

Farther on we find cartoons of others who mixed in the political fray, but have joined the majority. Genial Tom White, who probably might some day have become Premier; Dr. Schultz, Hon. John Norquay, J. Burr Plumb, Matthew Crooks Cameron, Hon. E. B. Wood, Sir A. A. Dorion, Adam Crooks, W. H. Howland, for a while leader of the Canada First party; and there is the face of the genial egotist, R. W. Phipps, who claimed to be the father of the N. P.

Quite prominent for a time, naturally, was the cartoon of Hon. Alex. Mackenzie, as honest a man as ever lived.

In turning over the pages of Bengough, we see the faces of many prominent men, who are still with us: Sir Oliver Mowat, one of the artist's favorite profiles; Sir Richard Cartwright, Hon. David Mills, Geo. W. Ross, William Macdougall.

Senator Macpherson, who was quite a cypherer against Mackenzie, figures for a while; and there is Sir Charles Tupper, depicted as "The Great Stretcher." Edward Blake appears frequently, but the artist never succeeded very well with the face of the now member of the Imperial Parliament. Mr. W. R. (now Chief Justice) Meredith made sketch-copy for a good while as leader of the Opposition in the Ontario Legislature. Mackenzie Bowell's face was seldom successfully given; but Sir Hector Langevin's was just the face for cartooning.

There is another face, apart from either political side, which frequently appears—that of one of the most upright, accomplished and influential men in Canada, Goldwin Smith.

Altogether, it gives one curious and mingled feelings to turn over these volumes of Bengough, and to recall the names and features of those who played their passing part on the political stage of Canada since Confederation.

The Clog on the Wheel.

There are scores of reforms to be worked out by the incoming Liberal Government; and while many of them depend upon the administration of honest men, and can be made effective at once, there are others which can only be introduced after legislation. The reform of the tariff is one of the latter, and the correction of several successive gerrymanders is another. If such work was dependent on the House of Commons it might be completed speedily; but there is another chamber to be reckoned with, and it may prove to be an obdurate one. The Senate itself needs to be reformed, and its case may become urgent. Mr. Mackenzie in his time was weighted down by this incubus, and he made the mistake of showing it a too great leniency. If we are to have a second chamber at all, it must be brought under the spell of public opinion, and the Laurier-Mowat Government may be depended on to move early for a reform of the Senate. Mend it or end it—it does not greatly matter which.

They met per wheel—the usual way,
And, as spokes together flew,
They spoke of love. They ride today
"A bicycle built for two."

Trial in Which a Cat, a Pigeon and a Mother of Seven Were Involved.

From the London Standard.

At the Bow County Court yesterday, before Judge French, Q.C., William Willis, 23 years old, of Herbert street, Plaistow, claimed 10 shillings, the value of four pigeons alleged to have been destroyed by a cat belonging to Mrs. Quick, of 19 Herbert street.

Plaintiff said defendant's cat was a vicious brute, and he caught it in his pigeon house with the pigeons lying dead.

Judge French (to defendant)—Did your cat do this?

Defendant—I have only his bare word for it. It may have been some one else's. I can't control my cat any more than other people.

The Judge—This is a novel point. Is it necessary to prove that the cat is of a vicious disposition, the same as in a case of a dog bite?

Mr. Haynes—I am not appearing in the case, your honor; but I should think that, as a cat is a domestic animal, it would be entitled to its first pigeon, the same as a dog to its first bite. Some evidence of a "scienter" would be necessary.

The Judge—Has the cat killed any pigeons before?

Plaintiff—Yes, your honor; this is the third time. I have told her of it.

Defendant—Yes; he came and abused me and my husband something awful.

The Judge—Then you knew your cat's bad habits. Why do you not keep it in order?

Defendant (indignantly)—Control a cat, indeed! Do you know anything about cats, your honor? I have seven children to look after. Do you think I can run about all day looking after the tricks of a cat? (Laughter.)

The Judge—Why do you keep such an animal?

Defendant—It is only a dear little kitten. Besides, it came to my house the very day my youngest child was born.

Plaintiff—And your boy is 4 years old. So your honor can see what kind of kitten it is. (Laughter.) It is a big cat. I trapped it one day after it had been in my yard.

Defendant—Yes, and he said it had killed a bird that day. My husband said: "Let me see it." He did not show it. At night he showed me a dead one, but it had been dead some days. It was high. (Loud laughter.)

The Judge—You will have to pay, Madam. You should not keep such a cat.

Defendant—I am going to give it away, now this trial is over.

The Judge—Don't send it where there are any pigeons. (Laughter.) Judgment for plaintiff, with costs

Defendant—I can't pay. I have got to feed my seven boys.

The Judge—Pay 2s. monthly.

Plaintiff—Two shillings monthly! What is the good of that to me? Will your Lordship please put the money in the hospital box as it comes in? (Laughter.)

Defendant—Just listen to him! See his impudence. That's only said to be cheeky to the court. He once called my husband an "undigested liar." (Laughter.)

Among the holiday books printed in cheap form is Thomas Hardy's "The Return of the Native," a story dealing with English life. It has an interesting plot, replete with love and adventure.

"The Renegade" is a Scottish smuggling story by James Chalmers. Lovers of the sensational will find it to their taste.

Another seasonable novel bears the title "A Sweet Disorder." It is by Norma Lorimer, and is a love story.

These works are published in Macmillan & Co.'s colonial library, and are published in Canada by the Copp-Clark Publishing Company, Toronto.

"His Honor and a Lady," Mrs. Everard Cotes' charming new story, has been printed by G. M. Rose & Sons, Toronto, in their cheap paper-bound series (price 60 cents). Mrs. Cotes is best known to Canadian readers as Sara Jeannette Duncan. She is a most entertaining writer, and in this her second work dealing with scenes and incidents in her life in India she sustains her reputation. The book will be much sought after for holiday reading.

Table Talk for July is full of useful and helpful suggestions for the home. Its seasonable recipes and menus are of great value to the housekeeper, while many topics of interest to the home-maker are touched upon. "The Whirling of Fashion's Wheel," by Tillie May Forney, as the title implies, tells of what to wear and how to wear it. The publishers offer a sample copy to any of our readers who send their address to Table Talk Publishing Company, Philadelphia.

Itching

If there is one thing more than another which gratifies us, it is the great volume of hearty thanks which come from grateful parents for the cures Hood's Sarsaparilla has effected upon their children. The agony of despair turns to unspeakable joy as mothers and fathers see dreadful sores and eruptions gradually yield to the potent purifying power of this great medicine, and bright boys and girls given perfect health. Read this:

"When my baby was four weeks old, scrofulous eczema broke out on his body. He became literally covered with

Sores

When six months old the breaking out healed on his body, but his head, face and arms were a terrible sight. I passed many sleepless nights holding his little hands to keep him from scratching his face. I cannot tell what he suffered with the sores. One doctor attended him a year without avail. No one thought he would ever get well. He was almost a year old when I commenced to give him Hood's Sarsaparilla. He soon grew so much better that

I was able to rest at night. Gradually the sores on his head and arms healed, the burning and itching ceased, and he slept better. In 2 months he looked like another child, gained strength, was cured. I recommend all persons afflicted with eczema or any skin disease to take Hood's Sarsaparilla. I feel assured that it will do wonders for others. I cannot praise it too highly for what it has done for my poor little sufferer. It is hard to believe he is the same child, he is now such a big, hearty, fat boy, a very picture of health. If more people would give Hood's Sarsaparilla to their children, there would not be so many poor, delicate little ones." MRS. AGNES C. BAILEY, Box 91, McVeytown, Pennsylvania.

BLAZE AT UNION, B. C.

Destroys the Williams Block—Loss $10,000—Fighting Bush Fires.

Union, B. C., July 6.—Fire yesterday destroyed the Williams block on Third street, three other houses belonging to Leon Hart and F. W. Williams, and a small cottage, the property of A. D. Williams, the owner of the block. The loss, which will amount to $10,000, is partially covered by insurance.

Bush fires threaten Grant & Company's new saw mill on Courney road. Fifteen men were employed all night in fighting the fire, and managed to save the property.

About the Liver.

A lazy, slow or torpid liver influences the whole system, causing biliousness, sick headache, sallow complexion, languor and dullness. Burdock Blood Bitters regulates the liver, purifies the secretions and cures all forms of liver troubles. We say so and here is the proof:

I hereby wish to thank you for the great benefit derived by me from your Burdock Blood Bitters. For three years I was troubled with liver complaint and tried everything to no purpose. I had almost given up hope, until one day I determined to try Burdock Blood Bitters. I can say now that marked improvement resulted from the use of the first bottle, and at the end of the sixth bottle I discontinued its use, being completely cured.

He Had No Hope of Overcoming the Liberal Majority.

H. R. Frankland (Lib.) Confident of Gaining East York on Appeal.

Mr. Lister's Big Majority in West Lambton.

STANDING OF PARTIES.

The parties now stand as follows:

Liberals	117
Conservatives	85
Independents	11
Total	213

Majority for the Liberals over all, 21.

Majority against the defeated Government, 43.

This estimate ranks as Independents all who were elected as such, including Mr. Dobell, of Quebec, and Mr. Lewis, of Albert. These members, as well as a number of others, have already promised to give a general support to Hon. Mr. Laurier.

MR. LAURIER.

Montreal, July 7.—Mr. Laurier was again in the city yesterday, and passed the day receiving numerous callers. He returned last evening to Arthabaska, where he will arrange for proceeding to Ottawa as soon as he receives the Governor-General's summons.

TO PROTEST EAST YORK.

Toronto, July 7.—The counsel for Mr. H. R. Frankland in the recount of East York votes before Judge McDougall, say they have not the slightest doubt of winning on an appeal. A protest asking for the annulling of the election, and alleging corrupt practices by agents is being prepared, and a "scrutiny" will be asked for. A "scrutiny" is practically another recount before the election courts, composed of Superior Court judges. Then the whole question of the mis-marked ballots will be opened up again.

Mr. E. F. B. Johnston, senior counsel for Mr. Frankland, says that the judgment giving Mr. Maclean the seat, said nothing of the authority quoted by him and interpreted the statute so as to make one part directory, and the other mandatory, thus allowing votes for Maclean and disallowing votes for Frankland. The case will be one of the first to come before the election court.

RECOUNTS.

Dr. Roddick (Conservative) had a majority in St. Antoine, Montreal, declared to be 173.

Beaverton, Ont., July 7.—North Ontario Returning Officer gave his official declaration here yesterday, the vote being: Major John A. McGillivray (Con.), 2,328; Mr. D. Graham (Ind.), 2,327; majority for McGillivray, one.

Walkerton, Ont., July 7.—A recount in the North Bruce election was held here yesterday before Judge Barrett, and resulted in increasing Mr. McNeill's (Con.) majority from 10 to 31.

Berlin, Ont., July 7.—The recount in South Waterloo resulted in reducing Livingstone's (Lib.) majority from 150 to 89. Judge Lacourse took the ground that if cross appeared either in oblong or disc it showed the intention of the voter and allowed such to count.

LISTER'S BIG MAJORITY.

Sarnia, July 7.—Mr. J. H. B. Moore, returning officer for West Lambton, gave his formal declaration yesterday in favor of Mr. Lister. The total vote showed: Lister, 2,366; Hanna, 878; Dewar, 1,208. Majority for Lister over Hanna, 1,488; majority for Lister over Dewar, 1,158; majority for Lister over both, 220.

YOUNG LIBERAL M. P.S.

Mr. W. W. B. McInnes, the new Liberal member for Vancouver district, is a son of Senator McInnes, of Victoria, and is but 25 years old. Mr. H. J. Logan, who defeated the Minister of Justice in Cumberland, is but 27 years old, and Mr. A. E. Dyment, the new M. P. for Algoma, is but 32 years of age. Each of these young men won noteworthy victories for the Liberal party. Then from Quebec there are at least three or four members between 25 and 30 years old.

TUPPER'S RESIGNATION.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto World, telegraphing last (Monday) night, said: "The day of Mr. Laurier's advent to power is rapidly approaching. I asked the Premier tonight when the Ministry were likely to resign, and his reply was: 'The day is not very remote.' Sir Charles is naturally somewhat uncommunicative on the subject, as official etiquette requires that the Governor-General should be the first to receive the Premier's intimation of his desire to step out. The resignations may take place tomorrow, but it is more likely to be on Wednesday."

A COSTLY BALLOT.

In Labelle, where the bulk of the population are French-Canadians, there were only 24 spoiled ballots out of 4,000 votes cast. Perhaps the French understand this ballot better because the inventor is a French-Canadian. The invention having served its chief purpose by securing $2,500 for Mr. Durocher, a good Conservative, may now be replaced by the old ballot with a slight improvement, thickening the dividing lines. With this change the old ballot cannot be improved on.

GREAT VICTORIES.

The citizens of Vancouver and Victoria gave Mr. Hewitt Bostock a magnificent reception upon his return from Yale-Cariboo, where he achieved such a great Liberal victory.

Rev. J. M. Douglass, Liberal, was today declared elected for East Assiniboia by a majority of 1,054. The total vote cast was: Douglass, 3,556; McDonald, Conservative, 2,502.

ANOTHER PROTEST.

Messrs. Dandurand and Brodeur have been retained as counsel to contest the election of Mr. Chauvin, Conservative, in Terrebone, Que., on the usual grounds of corruption. They will also ask that Hon. G. A. Nantel, provisional Minister of Public Works, be disqualified on account of the promises he made during the election.

FIRE LOSSES IN JUNE.

New York, July 7.—The fire loss of the United States and Canada for the month of June amounts to $5,571,250, a remarkably light sum, even for a summer month. This makes the total for the half-year $63,959,550, which exhibits a gratifying decrease in comparison with the record of $66,497,600 for the same period in 1895.

The cords of window blinds are good barometers. When they become tight the reason is found in the fact that the air is moist; the cords have absorbed some of the moisture, and so are drawn taut.

To prevent pale and delicate children from lapsing into chronic invalids later in life, they should take Ayer's Sarsaparilla, together with plenty of wholesome food and outdoor exercise. What they need to build up the system is good red blood.

Heptonette Cloaks

They protect from rain and dust. You can detach the cape and use it for a stylish wrap. Heptonette is positively waterproof, giving a written guarantee to this effect. Each garment is stamped "Heptonette" inside the waist. We impress this upon customers because we want them to secure the best rain cloak upon the market today. We are the manufacturers' agents for London, and you can depend on securing the right article by buying from us.

Single Circular Cape Heptonettes, cape detachable, gored skirt, in tweed, black, navy, all sizes	$ 5.00
All-Wool Heptonettes, single or double capes, very full sweep, a good choice of colors, including fawns, tans, black and navy	$ 6.50
Black and Navy Heptonettes, full godet skirts, stitched and strapped seams, very stylish	$ 8.50
Other styles of Heptonettes, all fashionable, sure rain repellers and dust proof, up to	$13.50
Rubber Waterproofs, suitable for everybody, all sizes, from $1 75 to	$12.00

A Shelter in the Time of Storm

A feature of Heptonette Cloaks is that they can be used for traveling or driving. The dust readily shakes from them. They are the most perfect garments made, and though they cost a trifle more at first, they give unbounded satisfaction. Scores of customers have worn these garments for six and seven years and still they find them useful.

TEXTILE BUCKSKIN is uncrushable and keeps the skirts and sleeves of summer gowns in the full flare and puff of fashion through all kinds of weather and wear. All colors. 25c per yard.

Live Stock Markets.

MONTREAL.

Montreal, July 6.—There were about 500 butchers' cattle, 350 calves and 500 sheep and lambs offered for sale at the east end abattoir today. The butchers were out in large numbers, but trade in cattle was slow, and prices rather lower, more especially for half fatted stock, which were much more numerous than were needed. Prime stall-fed beeves sold at about 3½c per lb, and shippers paid a little more for the best large steers; pretty good stock sold at from 2½c to 3¼c, and common half fatted beasts at from 2¼c to 2½c per lb. Calves were in fair demand at from $6 to $9 each.

Sheep continue very difficult to sell, and prices are from 2½c to 3c per lb. Lambs sold at from $2 to nearly $3 75 each.

Fat hogs are rather plentiful and lower in prices, ranging from $3 75 to $4 10 per 100 lbs.

Old Resident Dead.

William Webb Passes Away in His 92nd Year.

Sketch of an Interesting Career—Charter Member of St. George's Society.

Mr. William Webb, sen., died yesterday at the residence of his son, Wesley Webb, 490 Piccadilly street. Mr. Webb was born at Downton, Wilts, England, when the present century was but five years old, and he lived until within four years of its close, being in his 92nd year when he died. Deceased brought his family to Canada in 1837, and settled on a farm on North street, near Talbotville. He resided there for probably a quarter of a century, when he left the farm and went into business in London. He was very successful at all he undertook, and 23 years ago he quit active work and has enjoyed the fruits of his labor ever since. Deceased was married three times, and he leaves the following children: Mrs. Sarah Glen, Detroit; Harry Webb, Alma, Mich.; Wm. and Wesley Webb, city, and Mrs. Mary Buchner, St. Thomas.

Mr. Webb was one of the charter members of St. George's Society, and had held all the offices in its gift. He was a Conservative, a strong temperance man, and was originally an active member of the New Connexion Methodist body. Since the union he had been a regular attendant at the Queen's Avenue Church until compelled to remain at home by the illness which set in before Christmas. It was the only illness of any account that he ever had.

Although Mr. Webb had reached such an advanced age, he retained all his faculties, and on his 91st birthday he read the Bible without glasses. Deceased was a plain, outspoken Englishman, and hated pomp. This detestation of show was manifested in his will, wherein he directed that his funeral should be private, and that he be buried in a plain pine coffin. The funeral will be held on Wednesday afternoon, and will be conducted by St. George's Society.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

—Mr. E. Stanley will erect a $1,000 brick residence on South street.

—The vital statistics for the month of June are: Births, 72; deaths, 33; marriages, 54.

—Two bicyclists had a collision in front of the Free Library last night, in which Lou Hambly's wheel was badly smashed.

—The summer school of the Western University opened this morning with 41 registered students. The mathematical class started to work today. Classics will be taken up tomorrow, and the modern languages on Tuesday.

—The Masonic Grand Lodge meets in Belleville on July 15 and 16. Among the prominent members of the board of general purposes who will go from London are: D. Spry, P.G.M.; Dr. Geo. C. Davis, J. S. Dewar, R. B. Hungerford and A. E. Cooper. Among the delegates from the various city lodges are: A. B. Greer, Geo. Browne, D. W. Blackwell, C. A. Kingston and Wm. G. McMillan.

—Mr. Percy Peto, residing at 27 Craig street, South London, met with an accident while returning to the city after lunch this afternoon. He was riding down the Ridout street hill with his head down, and crashed into Parnell's delivery wagon. Fred Parnell, who was driving the rig, tried to get out of the way, but his attempt was futile. The horse jumped almost over the bicycle, and threw Mr. Peto under the wagon. The machine is a sorry wreck. Peto escaped with only a few bruises.

USING RIVER WATER.

The water in the Springbank reservoir continues at a low ebb, although the level has crept up to four feet 9 inches, in the last 24 hours. Today the street sprinkling carts are being filled from G. T. R. stand pipes, thus effecting a considerable saving.

GARDENER—METERS.

The Huron Expositor contains an account of the wedding on June 24 of Mr. Edward Gardener, of London, to Miss Jennie Meters. The ceremony was performed on the lawn at the residence of Mr. Wm. Sinclair, in the presence of a number of guests, by Rev. Mr. Walker. The bride was assisted by Miss Atkinson, of Seaforth, and the groom by Mr. Thomas Meters, the brother of the bride. Both bride and maid were very becomingly attired. After a wedding dinner Mr. and Mrs. Gardener left for London, amid the congratulations of all assembled.

NO BAD TIMES HERE.

The Bennet Manufacturing Company are so pressed with orders that they are working overtime, and with a largely increased staff. It was found impossible to close on Dominion Day. Among the export orders is one for the interior furnishings of the chapel of Linlithgow Palace. This palace is one of the historical spots in Scotland. There Mary Queen of Scots was born and in the chapel James IV. of Scotland prayed before leaving for the battle of Flodden. Cromwell afterwards occupied the palace as a barracks for his men. The chapel is being refurnished throughout.

A NEW MUSICAL SOCIETY.

A meeting was held last night for the purpose of organizing a new musical society. The various city church choirs were well represented, and a large degree of enthusiasm was manifested. The society is to be under the leadership of Mr. W. H. Hewlett, and will be known as the London Vocal Society. The support of some of the best known and most active musical workers, both professional and amateur, is promised, and as one of the main objects of the society will be the production of unaccompanied choruses, it is believed that the music-loving citizens of London will rally to its support. Full particulars as to officers, executive committee, etc., of this new society will be forthcoming in a few days.

Summer Comes

With the flowers and sunshine. Birds pour out their melody and the chirp of the grasshopper will soon tempt the fisherman to stretch forth his hands and grasp the shadow of his flight. The playful mosquito will do her nicest to soothe weary pleasure seekers into the realms of slumber, and the stinging, aching, corns will remove every semblance of comfort make sad the songs of the birds, and evoke cloudiness in the soul, that even the brightest sunshine cannot dispel. Corns are thorns in the flesh, but Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor removes them in 24 hours. Putnam's Painless Corn Extractor is the best.

THE NEW SCHOOLS.

Tenders Accepted by No. 2 Committee of the B. of E. Last Night.

No. 2 committee of the Board of Education last night opened tenders for the two-room additions to the Rectory street and Wortley road schools. The members present were Trustees Hunt (chairman), Dr. Campbell, Wilkins, Bayly, Burdick, Martyn, Keenleyside, Anderson and Architect Matthews.

All the tenders submitted were exceptionally close. The amount set apart for the addition to the Rectory street school was $2,430, and the tenders accepted totaled $2,407, leaving a balance of $23. John Purdom will do the carpenter work for $920; John Hayman & Sons the brick work for $1,077; E. Winder the painting and glazing for $77; Robert Gash, plastering, for $110; McLaren, Parkinson & Co., metallic ceilings and galvanized iron work, for $105; and H. J. Boyd the heating for $118.

The successful tenderers for the Wortley road addition were: Carpenter work, John Purdom, $1,240; brick work, John Hayman & Sons, $753; painting and glazing, H. & C. Colerick, $130; plastering, Murray Bros., $87; metallic ceiling, $119, H. J. Boyd; heating, $207, H. J. Boyd—a total of $2,566, or $134 less than the appropriation—$2,700.

Architect Matthews will examine the Colborne street school and report to the board the amount required to place the building in proper condition.

Man, an Ungrateful Animal.

As a race we succeed in showing a good deal of dissatisfaction with the weather, and grumble a great deal about it. In summer we're too hot; in winter, too cold, and during bright, spring days, we complain that it won't last long. The great secret for doing away with all complaint is to dress appropriately. In summer, don't dress; wear a neglige suit, and watch your neighbor work. You'll be cooler than if you worked yourself. But in winter, that's different; indulge in all the active work you can find; but, instead of burdening yourself with a number of garments, have your outer coats interlined with Fiber Chamois. It will keep out all wind, rain and frost, and yet is inexpensive, and so light in weight that you don't feel its presence. b

He Fought Hard.

It Took Four Policeman to Subdue O'Reilly.

Used His Teeth—A Medicine Company Must Pay Wages.

Carling Street Police Court held the largest crowd this morning it has seen for some time past, drawn there no doubt on account of the Dr. Earle Medicine Company, the managers and proprietors of which were being sued for non-payment of wages.

The company had a wagon and traveled around the country from town to town giving free concerts to draw the people together, to whom they sold these patent preparations.

Victor Chamberlain, a former waiter at the London Club, brought an action against F. W. Rockett, one of the partners of the company, for wages due him, amounting to $34 94. Rockett disputed the account, claiming he had made an agreement to pay the two parties he had hired $5 per week, and not $6. He admitted that the men had invited him out to a dance, and while there he had promised them an extra dollar per week if they made the business go. Chamberlain said he started on April 29, and quit on June 17, and during that time he had only received $7 06.

The second case was that of J. E. Campbell, book-keeper for the Medicine Company, for an account for wages amounting to nearly $140. He made a verbal agreement on April 29 with Mr. Rockett and G. Dewstew, the manager of the company, to start with them and work the first week for nothing. He started traveling with the company, kept the books, did the corresponding, and helped things along generally.

Manager (Dr.) Dewstew, who has a Paderewski head of hair, admitted engaging Campbell, but said he had no authority to pay him. He was, however, entitled to give him money for tobacco, his laundry, and a quarter to spend whenever he wanted it. Campbell had received during the time he was with the "company" $4 37.

Prof. J. B. Simpson, was called, and said he had been with the company during the first week, but left them. He held up his hands in the witness box and said: "They were the worst set of swearers and miserable characters I ever got among. Don't ask me anything about them, if you please."

The magistrate wanted to hear no more of the case, as up to this time it had been in progress for over an hour. He gave judgment in favor of Chamberlain for $34 94 and to J. E. Campbell for $33 29.

Michael O'Reilly is a burly fellow from Niagara street, Toronto. He was arrested last night by P. C. Darville on Richmond street under the influence of liquor. O'Reilly steered up the street as far as Lee Hing's laundry, where he kicked in the door, tried to rob the celestial, and frightened him half to death. Lee's cries brought P. C. Darville and several others to his assistance, but O'Reilly made things interesting for the whole party. He kicked, fought and bit at everybody. He tried to bite Darville, and chewed a piece out of the chief's cane. He was finally removed to the station by four policemen, and while being searched he tried to do the police force up. His case was laid over for a day.

Harriett Williams has once again gone astray. She was arrested last night for being drunk. "I have not drunk anything since last December," she pleaded, "and if you will be so kind as to let me go this time, I won't come back again."

The Police Magistrate—Now, Mrs. Williams, you will have to be careful. If you start drinking again you'll have to go down. I'll let you go this time.

William Vanstone, a young man was charged with disorderly conduct.

George Underwood was before the police magistrate for drunkenness again, and the magistrate, looking at him, said: "Underwood, this makes twenty times you have been here, and I'll fine you $10 or twenty days. You have been up for nearly everything." He went down.

ALERTS' NEW PITCHER.

Fisher of Detroit Signed—Will Twirl Against Galt.

The Alerts have a new pitcher. His name is Fisher. He comes from Detroit. He belongs to the league team there, but has pitched no games because he is in process of development. He is such a promising colt that the Detroit manager will not release him, but has consented to put him out at pasture for a time. He is said to have lots of speed, and to be able to curve a ball around a fence post. He arrived in London today, and donned an Alert uniform. In practice he showed up well. Tomorrow he will have a chance to show his mettle. The following are the positions of the clubs for the game, which will be played here:

Sir Charles Tupper May Not Resign Till Thursday.

No Doubt That Macdonald Will be Unseated in Winnipeg,

And Joseph Martin Elected in His Stead Various Recounts.

(Special to the "Advertiser.")

Ottawa, July 7.—Sir Charles Tupper had arranged to resign today, but it is not likely he will be able to do so. There are some matters which he has hanging on until such time as he can get these arranged.

Sir Frank Smith was here today, and attended the Cabinet meeting. One Minister of the Crown said that it might be Thursday before the Government could vacate their offices.

Major Sam Hughes has been officially declared elected for North Victoria by 251 majority.

The recount in Lachute, Argenteuil, resulted in an increase of Dr. Christie's majority by ten votes. This makes a total majority for Dr. Christie (Lib.) of 75.

George McHugh, Liberal, is declared elected in South Victoria by 62.

Winnipeg, July 7.—Attorney-General Sifton will not hold a seat in the Laurier Cabinet.

The Liberals seem confident that Hugh John Macdonald will be unseated, and that Joe Martin will again represent Winnipeg.

A. L. Sifton, of Calgary, a brother of the Attorney-General, and a native of Middlesex county, has been asked to stand for Saskatchewan in the event of Mr. Laurier resigning that seat.

A Brother's Error.

Howard Blanchard was the first to discover the approach of the wild figure, and it was so strange and startling—so different from anything he had ever beheld—that, in his momentary alarm, he would have raised his arm and fired had not Capt. Brandon seized the weapon and called out:

"Hold! That is the Prophet and my friend!"

With the activity of a youth and all the more surprising in one of his size, the Prophet laid his hand on the stone wall that surrounded the corral and vaulted over.

The Prophet inquired about the strength of the force and made some shrewd suggestions as to further action.

During the day neither Capt. Brandon nor his men showed themselves above the wall, but the children, who could not be restrained inside the central stockade, moved about without being molested. At times the riflemen up on the cliffs fired down a random shot, as if to show that he was still on the lookout.

"Let him stay there until it is dark, and I will make it hot for him," said the captain, when about sunset another bullet whizzed over the camp.

True to his word, the captain crept out with the dusk. He assured his friends he would be back in an hour or two, and told Howard Blanchard to take command till he returned.

"If the young man makes a mistake I will correct him," said the Prophet.

Two hours passed but the captain did not return. Midnight came and morning neared, but still he was absent. And the Prophet raised his hands and said: "I fear me a great misfortune has befallen us. We may never see the brave captain again."

CHAPTER VII.

In a former chapter it was said that Capt. Brandon placed the utmost reliance in all but one of his men, and to this man he could not openly show his suspicion. His name was Patch, and he was employed at Omaha to drive one of the mule teams. Short, thickset and bullet-headed, Patch looked an ideal prize-fighter, an effect heightened by a broken nose and the absence of front teeth. Patch was very taciturn beyond the professional swearing at his mules, profanity being considered on the plains an essential to the mule's progress and usefulness as harness. He rarely spoke, and he never joined the people about the campfire in the evenings.

His great delight was to sit on the wagon box and chew tobacco. He actually devoured great black slabs of it. From this perch he would watch the immigrants, or, rather, he would watch one of them, Clara Blanchard. He followed her every movement with his red-rimmed eyes, and at times was so fascinated as to fall into a mesmeric state and sleep on the box all night.

Patch submitted to Capt. Brandon's discipline. He had a dread of the tall guide, and would have offered no resistance had that person kicked him, but behind this show of obedience the debased spirit was in revolt. He would have deserted at once but for the fascination that kept him within the sight of Clara Blanchard. Through his dim brain the thought crept, "If I was to help bust this outfit up, them Bouton chaps mout let me have charge of her like a kinder reward."

While watching his mules that day Patch discovered something that had escaped the notice of Capt. Brandon and which could not have been thought of by Bouton's party—viz., the river, on which the semi-circular corral wall abutted, was so shallow at the upper part of the camp and for many yards up the river that it could be waded without reaching a depth above the knee, and in this way the place could be surprised and taken in the rear. Patch was on guard the first half of the night, and it can be said that he was too much absorbed in the contemplated treachery to give any thought to the duties or dangers of his position. He listened eagerly to everything that was said, and the instant he was relieved he resolved to test the practicability of his own scheme. He succeeded in reaching the outlaw camp and was brought before Bouton, who at once asked:

"Are there many more like you over in that camp?"

"No, boss, there ain't another one. I was mighty lonely over there, and that's why I left."

"Left?" repeated Bouton.

"Yes. Lit out."

"You're a deserter, then?"

"As full blowed and fresh a one as you ever clapped eyes on," chuckled the wretch. "I can give you a few wrinkles that's open your eyes."

"Well, what are they?"

Patch lowered his voice to make his words more impressive and confidential, and then told of his discovery and offered to guide Bouton and his men.

"But what if you are a spy and want to lead us to destruction?" asked Bouton, who in his heart felt that the wretch was sincere in his villainy.

"Couldn't you shoot me down at once if you seed I was givin' you away?"

Bouton believed the renegade and was resolved to try his plan at once. Two hours of daylight remained, time sufficient to win and to have an hour to spare.

"One-half of the force will be sufficient," said Bouton. "Get ready, men, as I call your names."

He was selecting his men when Black Eagle sped in from the darkness and stood gasping in their midst.

"What is it, Black Eagle? Speak!" shouted Bouton, alarmed at the manner of the young Shoshone.

"Henry Kyle——"

"What of him?"

"Killed, we fear! Come, come! Capt. Brandon is back in the hills!" And Black Eagle waved his arms in the direction from which he had come.

After Capt. Brandon left the camp—ostensibly to find the man who had been firing at them all day, but really to spy out the enemy and get a good idea of their force and raise the siege if feasible by a bold dash—he crept to the summit of the cliff and found the rifleman's post deserted. From this vantage ground he could count the men about there and see exactly where the videttes were posted. Satisfied with the survey and resolved to lead a dash on the sleeping outlaws, he started back to his own camp by a circuitous route that led him farthest away from the enemy. He had gone safely over half the distance when he came to a halt by hearing low voices near by. Capt. Brandon crouched down behind a rock and listened. The voices soon ceased, and he could hear the light, quick step of an Indian as he glided back to the outlaw camp. He also heard the clicking of Henry Kyle's rifle as he paced the hill with a step as noiseless as the falling of a leaf.

In this trying situation Capt. Brandon never lost his presence of mind. He reasoned that it would be fatal to bring on a conflict there, and that if he could strike the river at a point higher up he could swim down till he reached his own camp. He started to carry out his plan, but in a short time found his course blocked by a precipitous mass of rocks that was the extension of a mountain spur abutting on the river. He turned with the intention of finding a path to the water, when, suddenly, on rounding a boulder, he found himself face to face with Henry Kyle.

With the strength of a giant and the quickness of a tiger the captain threw himself upon this man and bore him to the ground. The rifle fell from the younger man's grasp as he was in the act of falling, and the captain did not attempt to use his.

THE ONLY ONE OF ITS KIND.

Paine's Celery Compound a Life-Renewer in Hot Weather.

Thousands of people feel weaker and more unhealthy during the summer months than at any other time of the year. This is due to the depressing and weakening hot weather.

The weakest system may be fortified and made strong by Paine's Celery Compound, earth's greatest blessing to suffering humanity. We quote the words of one of Canada's best physicians; he says: "If men and women during the heated days of summer would use Paine's Celery Compound three or four times a day, they would find their vitality and strength greatly increased, and their digestive organs would be more vigorous and in better condition."

The greatest boast of Paine's Celery Compound is, that it cures when all other medicines fail, and it is the only advertised remedy that is regularly prescribed by physicians.

"You are charged," said the judge, "with riding your bicycle through the street at a rate exceeding ten miles an hour?" "Ten miles?" said the man whose new wheel had run away with him, "ten miles? I'll bet I was going 800."

SLEEPLESSNESS is due to nervous excitement. The delicately constituted, the financier, the business man, and those whose occupation necessitates great mental strain or worry, all suffer less or more from it. Sleep is the great restorer of a worried brain, and to get sleep cleanse the stomach from all impurities with a few doses of Parmelee's Vegetable Pills, gelatine-coated, containing no mercury, and are guaranteed to give satisfaction or the money will be refunded.

"How often do you cut your grass?" "Every time my neighbor has his lawn mower sharpened."

As the name indicates, Hall's Vegetable Sicilian Hair Renewer is a renewer of the hair, including its growth, health, youthful color and beauty. It will please you.

Prospects of Plenty

European Weather Favorable for the Crops.

A Splendid Showing for Fruit in Canada.

The Wheat Situation—A Decline in Price of 15 Cents Since March.

European weather and crop conditions continue to show the bright side of a very promising outlook, says the London Corn Trade list of June 12. The paper says:

"There has again been a good deal of rain, especially in the south and southwest of England, but it has since become fair and very warm again. These further rains have been very beneficial to vegetation generally, and especially to the spring crops, which had suffered so much from the prolonged drought. The further reports regarding the prospects of the wheat crop which are to hand this week continue to speak of it in favorable terms. In France there has been lots of rain, and in some districts very heavy storms. This rain came very welcome, especially for the spring crops and pastures; where, however, the wheat is flowering, which is the case in many districts, it is to be hoped that the weather may now become fair and dry; no complaints of appreciable damage to the wheat by those storms are yet spoken of in the French papers, but the continued heavy rains of yesterday were creating some uneasiness." The reports from all other countries generally are very encouraging. It is evidenced that foreign markets are controlled by their own favorable crop prospects and are disposed to rest confidently on the supply and demand basis. In former years substantial supplies, on hand and perspectively, were considered a necessity by all exporting houses abroad, but in more recent years a reasonable present sufficiency is considered "as good as a feast."

FRUIT PROSPECTS.

Advices from the principal apple sections of Ontario report the prospects favorable for a large yield in most of the orchards, and the quality promises to be excellent, being so far free from any signs of spot or scab. In fact, the prominent orchardists have sprayed for both insects and fungoid growth. The Province of Quebec also gives promise of a large crop of apples, especially on the Island of Montreal, where the trees of many of the orchards are heavily laden with fruit. Of course, the fruit may be thinned by wind storms, but the outlook generally bespeaks a large crop, both in Ontario and Quebec.

A Windsor dispatch says: The indications are that there will be an immense yield of all kinds of fruit in this section this year. The vineries are almost breaking under the weight of the load, and small fruit trees are bearing in abundance. With continued good growing weather, the wheat and oat crops also will be very large, but corn has suffered considerably on account of the heavy rains.

THE WHEAT SITUATION.

The Trade Bulletin of July 3, says on this question, believing that the price of wheat in Chicago had touched bottom on last week's record-breakers, several good round blocks were purchased by Montreal and outside buyers; but the week opened by still further record-breakers, July selling down to 53 5-8c, thus eclipsing last week's performance of the bears by more than 1c, and showing a decline of 15c per bushel since last March, when it was 68 5-8c. The first surprise on Monday last was the much smaller decrease in the visible supply than was expected, it being only 959,000 bushels in place of 1,500,000 bushels, as had been foreshadowed. The elevator people again figured in the situation, by selling September against the strong bulls, who changed their July options to September. Such a prolonged period of depression in the wheat trade, in which values seem to continue to slump below cost of production, is very remarkable; but, as a member of the local Board of Trade said on Monday last, "such a phenomenal condition of things surely cannot last much longer."

One would naturally be inclined to indorse that opinion; but when it is considered that, despite the low prices of the past few years, producers the world over continue to flush the great consuming markets with their excessive supplies, what else can be looked for but low prices? Private advices from St. Louis now say that Kansas will have fully 30 bushels of wheat to the acre, and that the crop will be a large one, probably double that of last year, if not more. Then again, it is now admitted that the reported shortage of spring wheat in Minnesota and the Dakotas will be nothing near as great as predicted some time since. On the other hand, the unusually big shrinkage in the world's stock of grain in sight during the past two weeks, amounting to 6,346,000 bushels, one might suppose would be sufficient to intimidate buyers and strengthen values. But no; even after that fact became known by the electric flash of all quarters of the globe, prices actually settled down to a further record-breaking basis, clearly demonstrating that statistics have lost the influence they once possessed in determining the course of values. We appear to be living in an era of paradoxical surprises, in which factors that should, by casual reasoning, have certain results, are productive of the very opposite issues. At least, this seems to be the experience of some of the leading men in the grain trade. A great deal of this may be attributed to the many misleading estimates of crops, which, it seems to us, must have been pure inventions, gotten up and based on the merest shred of truth, for the purpose of consummating certain speculative deals, in which outsiders have been drawn in and then shaken out as shorn lambs. The cry of wolf on short crops has been so repeatedly heard that traders and speculators place no confidence in them whatever. The time may come, however, when the wolf of scarcity may be an actual entity; but it will scarcely be appreciatel until the gaunt specter is ready to spring upon us.

SEVERE STORM.

Railway Bridges Destroyed—Mother and Daughter Drowned.

Wheeling, W. Va., July 7.—The storm which passed over this vicinity Sunday night was particularly severe. The two Baltimore and Ohio railway bridges across Wheeling Creek at this place were badly damaged. The creek is out of its banks, and buildings and crops have been washed away. Two B. and O. R. bridges across Grove Creek have been swept away, as has also 400 yards of track at the Narrows.

At Moundsville the farm house of James Barry was washed away. Mrs. Barry and her daughter were drowned. An estimate of the damage reported exceeds $200,000.

A later dispatch says that a portion of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad passenger station at Wheeling was swept away by the flood in Wheeling Creek. A number of cars standing in the depot at the time were lost.

A CHILD HERO.

Detroit, July 7.—Eddie Helm, 6 years old, is being lionized in the vicinity of Twelfth street and Pallister avenue. When his parents were away the house caught fire and was entirely destroyed, but Eddie saved his baby sister's life at the risk of his own by rushing into the house after the flames were well under way and the rooms filled with smoke.

SIX PERSONS BLOWN UP.

Pittsburg, July 7.—By the explosion of natural gas at the Evergreen Hotel, seven miles north of Allegheny, six persons were more or less injured, three, it is feared, fatally. Those seriously hurt here: August Stilzer, aged 38 years; Ada Stilzer, 16 years; John Brooks, 30 years; Mrs. Franklin Marshall, 30 years. The hotel was badly damaged by the explosion, which was caused by a leaking pipe.

DEAD IN THE CELLAR.

Galt, Ont., July 7.—John Cullen, a corporation laborer, aged about 55, was found last evening in the cellar of his house on Portland street, with his neck broken. He lived alone, and had not been seen since last Wednesday. Thinking something was wrong, neighbors entered the house, with the result mentioned. There were no evidences of foul play, the man apparently having opened the door leading to the cellar, and fallen down head first.

London and Environs

—The Musical Society Band will give a concert in Victoria Park, on Thursday night.

—Mrs. Henry Gardener, of Briscoe street, South London, is very ill of inflammation of the kidneys.

—A meeting of the creditors of Risdon & Livesey, of St. Thomas, was held yesterday, when Mr. C. B. Armstrong, of this city, was appointed assignee.

—The committee of Patrons of Industry held a meeting at Strathroy on Saturday, and had no difficulty in securing the records, papers and documents belonging to the order, which were in the possession of Mr. L. A. Welch, the late secretary-treasurer at Strathroy.

—A special freight train, No. 241, from Stratford to Sarnia, on the G. T. R., met with an accident Saturday night between Granton and St. Marys, by the car next to the van jumping the track. No one was hurt, but traffic was delayed for over four hours. The train was in charge of Conductor J. Hartley, of Sarnia.

—Messrs. Magee & McKillop, of this city, the executors of the last will and testament of Samuel Poole, deceased, have given notice of appeal to the Court of Appeal from the judgment of Chief Justice Armour, given the 22nd day of May in favor of the defendant. The case will likely be heard in Toronto in September.

—At the regular meeting of Loyalty Circle, No. 99, Companions of the Forest, the following officers were elected and installed by P. C. C., Mrs. J. W. Reynolds, H. S. C. C.: P. C. C., Miss C. —It is very probable that the next incumbent of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto, will be Rev. Arthur Sullivan, D.D., at present bishop of Algoma, formerly of London township. Rev. Dr. Sullivan is one of the most eloquent preachers in the Church of England today, and came to this country in company with Bishop Dumoulin and Dean Carmichael, of Montreal. He was for a long time connected with St. George's Church, Montreal, and left it to undertake the onerous office of Bishop of Algoma. Some three or four years ago his health broke down and he has been anxious to resign his bishopric ever since.

THE LATE JAMES CRAIG.

The late Mr. James Craig was born in Roxboroughshire March 3, 1818. He was married to his first wife in 1841. They came to Canada with their two children in 1844 and settled on a farm, which was all woods, in Dorchester. He lived there 23 years. During this time he served for some years in the township council, and was also for some yars a member of the county council. In 1867 he exchanged his farm for one in Westminster, where he continued until his death. Soon after he settled in Westminster he was appointed tax collector for the township, which office he continued to fill with great acceptance to the people and council for 24 years. By his first marriage he had six children, five of whom—three daughters and two sons—are still living to mourn his loss. Twenty years ago this month he married her who now remains his widow. She was the widow of the late Mr. Mark Carrothers, and sister of Rev. J. G. Laird, of London. About fifteen years ago he retired from the farm and settled in a small place just outside the city, where he built himself a fine brick residence. He united with the Masonic order in Belmont 30 years ago, and continued an accepted member until his death. He was a member of the Presbyterian Church about 60 years. At the time of his death he was a member of St. Andrew's Church, in the city. His funeral took place from his late residence on Thursday, July 2, and was largely attended. Rev. Mr. Sawers, assisted by deceased's brother-in-law, Rev. J. G. Laird, officiated at the funeral, both at the house and at the grave. The pall-bearers were four grandsons, and two step-sons. He was a life-long Reformer, and on June 23 he drove to the poll in his division to cast his vote, and on the day after the election he drove into the city to hear the results, but felt poorly when he returned home, and went to bed and never rose again, quietly passing away on the following Tuesday evening.

THE DAIRYMEN.

Notes by the Secretary of the Western Ontario Association.

The annual report of the Dairy Associations of the Province is now being distributed. It contains a verbal report of the addresses delivered at the annual convention of the Ontario Creameries Association, the Dairymen's Association of Eastern Ontario, and the Western Dairymen's Association, and also concise reports of the work carried on by the various officers of these organizations.

This volume of valuable information on every phase of dairying should be in the hands of every patron of a creamery or cheese factory. Members of the association for 1896 who do not receive their reports within the next fortnight will confer a favor by notifying the secretary. Dairymen who are not members of the association and desire the annual report can receive it by remitting the annual fee for 1896 (50 cents) to the secretary.

Inspector Millar has recently visited the Markdale, Constance, Cookstown, Lawsons, Holyrood, Ashfield, West Huron and Kintail factories, and inspected the milk and given instruction in making. Parties desiring his services should make application to the secretary of the association as early as pasible, so that the inspector may be ableto arrange his visits without unnecessary traveling expenses.

The following factories comprise the Middlesex syndicate recently organized by the association for more uniform instruction and inspection: Thames, Dorchester, Burnside, Avon, Harrietsville, Gladstone, Lyons, Elgin, Yarmouth Center, Mapleton, Glanworth, Pond Mills, Geary's, Proof Line, Devizes, Cherry Hill and Thamesford.

Mr. J. B. Muir, the instructor in charge, has spent a day at each of these factories, and is now making his second tour. He has been well received by the makers at all the factories, who seem anxious and willing to profit by the instruction he is able to give them. Though it is too soon to look for definite results in the way of a more uniform product, the interest shown by those concerned in the work must eventually result in a permanent and lasting improvement in the quality of the cheese made in the syndicate.

For New-Born Infants, Use Only Lactated Food.
When it is found impossible for the mother to nurse her infant, it should be remembered that Lactated Food is a perfect substitute for mother's milk, and in very many cases can be used with greater safety.
When Lactated Food is regularly used, infants are always free from the prevailing hot weather plagues, such as cholera infantum and diarrhea. Lactated Food makes the baby happy, hearty and vigorous. Give Lactated Food a fair trial during the hot weather, and protect your dear one.

A Cordial Good-Bye.

Mr. Geo. M. Reid Goes to New York to Extend His Business.

His Liberal Admirers Present Him With an Illuminated Address.

Upon the departure of Mr. George M. Reid, manufacturer, city, for New York, a large number of his personal friends met and presented him with a handsome illuminated address. The presentation took place at the Liberal headquarters before 200 leading citizens. Among those present were: Messrs. C. S. Hyman, John Cameron, F. E. Leonard, R. K. Cowan, Sam Stevely, George Belton, J. D. Clarke, Thomas S. Hobbs, M.P.P., Alex. Fraser, J. W. Jones, Thomas Gillean, Geo. Burns, J. D. LeBel, James Reid, W. J. Harvey, George Loveless, P. H. Ranahan, Thomas Purdom, D. Purdom, J. O'Gorman, Dan Ferguson, John Trebilcock, Ab. Rumball, P. Flannery, John Thompson, John Stephenson, William Wanless, jun., C. H. Fewings, Thos. Lewis, M. Rowland, Samuel Stewart, Thomas Browne, John Ranahan, Arch McNeil, L. Leonard, John Sullivan, B. McCann, Frank Butler, V. Cronyn, Q.C., Dr. George C. Davis and many others.

Dr. Davis acted as chairman, and at 4 o'clock, when Mr. George M. Reid put in an appearance, he rose and stated that as the time was short, and Mr. Reid had to leave by the 4:25 train, they had not much time to spare, and called upon Mr. V. Cronyn, president of the Liberal Association, to read the following address:

"George M. Reid:

"Dear Sir,—On the occasion of your departure from the city of London, the Liberals of the city desire to express their unfeigned regret that in your absence they will lose a most energetic and enthusiastic co-worker, and the Forest City a most influential citizen. You have been identified in every good work that has been prospered, and carried to completion in this, our fair city, in late years. We are not unmindful, either, of your military career. You were a loyal and devoted soldier, and when danger arose, you were one of the first to respond to your country's call, and your conduct while serving as adjutant of the Seventh Fusiliers in the Northwest was such as to call forth the highest praise from your superior officers and the men of the battalion, whom you so faithfully served.

"As a Liberal, you have been always in the front of the fight, and have given no uncertain sound; self-sacrificing, energetic and hard-working, you have endeared yourself to us all, and you may rest assured that you and your family carry to your new home the best wishes and the kindest regards of every Liberal of the city of London.

"Signed, on behalf of the Liberals of the city of London,

"V. CRONYN, President Reform Association.

"GEORGE C. DAVIS, D.D.S., President Young Liberal Association.

"W. WANLESS, Admiral of the Fleet."

A round of hearty applause followed, but before taking his seat, Mr. Cronyn said he might add his personal regret at Mr. Reid's departure from amongst them, but they had the consolation that if he were not with them in body, he was with them in spirit. They could not afford to have a battle in London without George Reid, and in his opinion there never was an address given to a more worthy person, or a more zealous and progressive Liberal than George Reid. (Applause.)

Mr. Reid was much affected by the extreme kindly utterances of his friends, and with facial expression indicative of a full heart, he told them he had fondly hoped and thought that his departure from London would have been quiet. The recent election was a hard fight, and he had not gotten over the strain yet. He had reached the conclusion that London had for the time been disgraced, and though the Liberal party had been equal to the task of carrying on an honest contest, they were in the recent contest unable to cope with the rascality on the other side. (Cheers.) He felt disappointed at Mr. Hyman's defeat, but thought it was a source of gratification to have the country go the way it did. He would rather that London had been won, though, than the whole country. He might have, upon some occasions, appeared a little "bossy," but it was only his zeal for the great cause of his country that compelled him to act and speak with such force. He had been surrounded with associates who were true to their principles as Liberals; who had used every honest effort to elect Mr. Hyman. Though they were temporarily defeated, he had no doubt that before the year was out, Mr. Hyman would have the seat. (Cheers.) As an ardent Liberal, he could not keep out of the fight. It was one of his peculiarities, and he had a liking for it. He thanked them sincerely for their kindness to him at all times, and especially for the kind expressions in the address made on behalf of the association. He took his seat amid applause.

There were loud calls for Mr. Chas. S. Hyman. He felt sure, he said, that no words of his were needed to impress upon their departing friend the feeling of general regret with which the whole Liberal party was imbued at his departure. He probably knew Mr. Reid better than anybody, and it was impossible for him to even try to find words to express his feelings upon an occasion of this kind. Mr. George Reid had referred to his peculiarities, but he knew they were not peculiarities, but honest principles. (Cheers.) He was a worker of the noblest order, and his departure would not be regretted any less by all of his associates than by himself personally. He would go away not only with the love and kindly feeling of his political friends and workers, but with the esteem of business men and citizens generally. (Cheers.)

Dr. Davis, as president of the Young Liberal Association, addressed Mr. Reid in a few well chosen and pointed sentences. Turning to his departing friend, he said: "Citizens of London generally regret your departure, and hope in due course you will return to aid their progress with your energy and ability. As for your political friends, we all feel that we sustain a loss, because you are a worker; you are made of the right stuff." (Cheers.)

Hearty hand-shaking followed these speeches, Mr. Reid's many friends wishing him godspeed. The gathering dispersed with three cheers for Geo. M. Reid, Charles S. Hyman, Mr. Laurier and the Queen.

Nearly 300 of Mr. Reid's friends assembled at the G. T. R. depot to see him off. He went east on the 4:30 train. As the train pulled out Mr. Reid was loudly cheered as he waved his hat in an "au revoir."

FORCE OF HABIT.

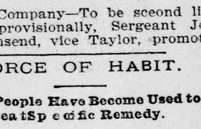

London People Have Become Used to the Great Specific Remedy.

London, July 6.—The dispatch from Detroit with reference to the cure from Bright's disease and blood poison of Mr. Langley, of this city, by the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, has recalled the wonderful facts of the case to the citizens, among whom Mr. Langley is well known. It has reminded them that Mrs. Langley among others also made a wonderful recovery. The use of the pills, however, has become so universal here, and there has been so many instances in which they have been used with beneficial results, that a similar case would hardly excite as much interest now as it did then, when the medicine was less known.

Lord Salisbury is 66 years of age. He spent fifteen years in the House of Commons, and has been 24 years in the House of Lords.

Few medicines have held their ground so successfully as Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. During the past fifty years it has been the most popular of all cough cures, and the demand for it today is greater than ever before. Prompt to act and sure to cure.

"How did young Downey come by the title of major?" "Why, easily enough. Don't you remember that his father was a colonel?"
