Boys Conduct Church Service

Special to The Advertiser.
Ridgeway, April 30.—Mr. Vernon Procter, member of the boys' parliament, from Chatham, conducted the services in the Methodist church on Sunday evening, assisted by Ralph Steele, Walter Newham, Ledson Shepley, Allan Stewart and a choir consisting of members of the C. S. E. T. group night, attended by 25 enthusiastic workers.

The results show $8,000 collected during the day, with several canvassers and clubs to hear from.

Beck Sends $600.
Perhaps the most encouraging gift of the day came from Sir Adam Beck, who sent a donation of $600 from his sick bed in Johns Hopkins hospital in Baltimore.

When the receipts of the splendid gift from Sir Adam was announced, Dr. A. J. Grant rose to say that it was inspiring to think that Sir Adam, though ill and away from home,
could forget his own serious illness and stretch out a helping hand with a generous donation.

Dr. Grant moved that a wire at once be despatched to Sir Adam tendering the sincere appreciation of the Welfare Fund association, and telling him that the body was with him in his fight for health. President James Gray seconded the motion, which was unanimously carried.

The industrial fund, under the direction of T. McFarland, announced further donations amounting to $80. The financial houses boosted the totals of the day by $1,266. Advertising club, Fred Knapp, $60 from stenographers.

Fund Still Climbing.

The B'Nai B'rith society announced $50 more, with $2,360 to date. The list now totals $72,800. The following did not send in a report last night: Public services, retail stores, educational store and offices, Lions club, Knights of Columbus.

A discussion followed the meeting.
Different points concerning the work and the most advantageous ways of handling the campaign were thoroughly talked over.

A. E. Silverwood spoke of the big day's work ahead of every worker on Friday. He hoped that their splendid efforts would put the fund well over the hundred thousand mark.

James Gray, president, said that Friday was always a lucky day for him. He hoped that it would be lucky for the canvassers. There had been many tangible messages of good cheer received throughout the day.
He had received a check for $500 from a woman in Montreal. If friends away from home were helping it was not too much to expect that those at home would not fail.

LONDON WATER SAVING HELD OUT AS EXAMPLE

Reference Made in Power Plant Journal on Effect of Meters Here.

Reference is made in a recent edition of the Power House, the power plant journal of Canada, to the tremendous saving effect in the London water system by the installation of meters.

A. O. Hunt, acting manager of the public utilities commission, is in receipt of a letter from Campbell Bradshaw, managing editor of the magazine, formerly of London, expressing appreciation to Manager E. V.
Buchanan for the data supplied.

With 39.9 per cent of the system
metered in 1922, the commission distributed to its customers 2,384,187,000 gallons. In 1923, with 53.3 per cent of the system metered, the consumption was 2,235,388,000 gallons. Last year, with 73.3 per cent of the system metered, the consumption fell off to only 2,027,217,000 gallons.

Mr. Buchanan believes that the metering of the system already effectuated means a daily saving of 1,000,000 gallons. The commission is making an effort to complete the installation of the other 26.7 per cent of meters.

The London data appeared in a story outlining the saving of water through the use of meters in different cities in Canada and the United States.

King Brings Canada New Gift of Millions

Greater Surplus Available So Rapidly Has Country's Condition Improved.

TOTALS $4,816,000

Increase in Public Debt of Canada Will Not Exceed
$2,059,000.

Special to The Advertiser.

Parliament Buildings, Ottawa,
April 30.—Premier King tonight brought good tidings to the House for the country at large. He announced that so rapidly was the position of this country improving that the surplus for the past year would be almost three millions greater than estimated when the budget was brought down.

The surplus on government services of revenue over expenditure will therefore be $4,816,000, instead of the $1,823,000 estimated in the budget speech. Other receipts not mentioned by Mr. Robb which are to come to the treasury will be $735,000,000, while other expenditures which Mr. Robb placed at $19,527,000 are now not likely to be more than $11,602,000.

These figures disclose that the increase in the net public debt will not exceed $2,059,000 in the year following the period during which the government made the large reduction in customs tariff, cut the sales tax, and relieved the people of a considerable part of their burden.

AFTER A HARD DAY'S WORK

What a sweet sense of comfort comes from the complete relaxation of one's nerves. You no doubt carefully adjust your glasses and assume a comfortable position for the reading of the daily paper, or the latest magazine. You are contented with life, until by-and-by your eyes begin to twitch, burn and water. The type blurs and runs together, your head aches and you begin to feel drowsy—all symptoms of eye strain. Your quiet evening is spoiled and you begin to feel ugly and cross. You find fault with everybody and everything, except perhaps your glasses, which are really the direct cause of all the trouble.

muscles of the eyes and make "seeing" an unconscious effort. If you are in any way reminded that you have eyes, something is wrong

GREAT BUDGET VICTORY IS A SIGN OF THE TIMES

London Liberals Think Government Majority Reflects Sentiment of Whole Country.

ELECTION PROSPECTS

Believe Election This Year Would Result in Clear Liberal Majority.

London Liberals see in the large majority achieved by the government on the budget a sign of the times and the writing on the election wall. They believe it reflects accurately the general feeling throughout the country and expresses the confidence of all classes in Mr. King's government.

They look on Mr. King's statement as to an election this year together with this unexpectedly large majority as a happy augury for an electoral success and the return of a Liberal government with a sufficiently large majority to allow of easy and assured administration for Canada along Liberal lines and in accordance with Liberal policies.

"A Splendid Achievement."

J. C. Elliott, K.C., president of the London Liberal association, says, "A splendid achievement and the absolute justification of the practice of Liberal principles by a courageous administration. It proves the truth of the Liberal creed and doctrine and is a vote of confidence in them. I am exceedingly glad to see that the ginger group of the Progressives joined with us in this vote. It tells us as well that the men in the house are sensing the feeling now I believe general all through the country on the matter of government and that they realize the strength of the support Mr. King has gained in the last two years."

E. S. Little has a similar opinion. "Both the vote on the debate and the large vote recorded in opposition to Sir Henry Drayton's amendment show that the work of the government is satisfactory," he said. "The fact that the ginger group in the house voted with the government is a most encouraging sign."

Wants Election Soon. "Together with the results of the by-elections in the last three years I think it shows the time has come when the people of the country throughout are ready to give a Liberal administration a large and workable majority in the house. My opinion is that the vote recorded in the house today is a vote of confidence in the majority he seeks from the people of Canada."

Andrew Robson says: "It is a signal victory for the principles of Liberalism, and shows that faith in the old creed is growing not waning. This is proved by the vote recorded by the 17 men in the Progressive ginger group. It is, I think, a reflection of the general opinion in the country today and shows that the things would go in a federal election."

EVERY LITTLE CACKLE HAS ITS OWN MEANING

If Every Hen in Middlesex Did Duty, Farmers Would Gain $168,000.

"Every little cackle has a meaning all its own."

This fact was brought forth by Jack Andrews of the Middlesex branch of the department of agriculture today when he stated that if every hen in the county speckled or otherwise would speed up egg production by just one dozen eggs, farmers of the county would receive an extra $168,000.

"This can be done" assures Mr. Andrews "if the farmers will pay attention to the culling of their flocks. Last year we put on poultry culling demonstrations that saved the farmers a lot of money and we intend to do the same thing this year."

HUNDREDS IN TORONTO REFUSE FARM WORK

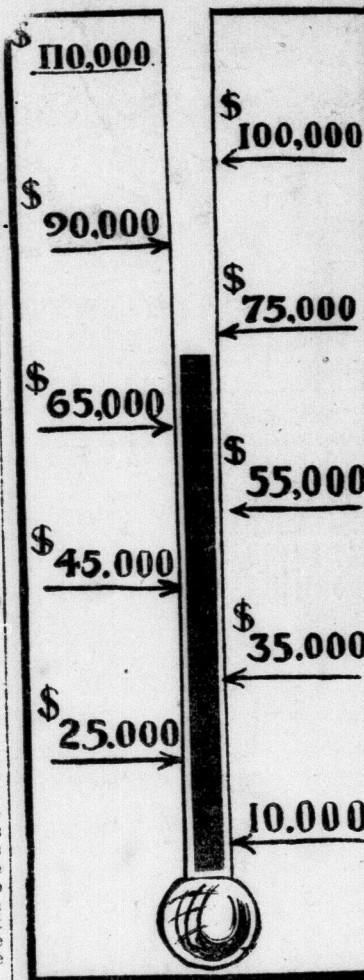

Queen City Official Assists in Placing Immigrants in Western Ontario.

A. D. McGilivray, Toronto immigration official, is spending a few days in London helping John Farrell in the work of distributing immigrants through Western Ontario. "There are hundreds of men in Toronto who simply refuse to take positions on farms, although other lines of work are exceptionally quiet. They don't seem to want to go on a farm, and the farmers must get help some place," said Mr. McGilivray. Mr. Farrell declared that a goodly number of farm hands for Western Ontario were expected in the city next week, having made the trip from the old country on the Regina. Several British smiles are also expected to arrive in London at the beginning of the week, Mr. Farrell said.

YOUNG CITY DOCTOR NAMED SHIP'S SURGEON

Dr. Earl Hunter Leaves Canada Friday For Union Castle Line Post.

Sailing from Montreal on the C. P. R. liner Montcalm on Friday morning, Dr. Earl Hunter, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Hunter, 72 Wellington street, will, on his arrival in England, take over the duties of ship's surgeon on the Union Castle Steamship line. Dr. Hunter, who is a London boy, and a recent graduate of the university of Western Ontario Medical school, has been assigned to the Southampton to Cape Town and return service of the Union Castle line.

His first trip will be made to Africa from Southampton on June 16, prior to which Dr. Hunter intends to visit leading hospitals in the British Isles for a short post-graduate course in tropical diseases, encountered by ship's surgeons en route from Cape Town.

Following graduation from the medical school here in 1922, Dr. Hunter acted as an intern at Victoria hospital, and later took up private practice in Northern Ontario mining districts.

ALL THROUGH THE NIGHT BUDGET DEBATE GOES ON

was a growing tendency to interrupt. Mr. G. Good of Brant was speaking when he was brought up with a protest that he was reading his speech. "I understand the honorable gentleman was giving a citation," responded Speaker Gordon. "Of course it would be contrary to the rules for him to read his speech."

Speaker Upholds Good. Mr. Good sharply added that he was quoting from a book review, "To expedite proceedings," he added, "I would suggest that I have the minimum number of interruptions."

"Oh, put it into Hansard as read," protested a Liberal member. Speaker Lennex, who had now taken the chair, observed that a member had the right to say that another member was obstructing the business of the house. Mr. Good, he added, was entitled to speak, as he had not had a chance to speak before.

"He has had five weeks chance," asserted Mr. MacDonald. "I would like to know who is obstructing now," said Mr. Good, and there were cheers from the "ginger group."

Continuing against numerous interruptions, Mr. Good said that he believed in Liberalism, but that did not imply faith in the so-called Liberal party.

Once again there were Liberal protests that Mr. Good was reading his speech. Again the chair upheld Mr. Good.

Mr. Good went on. The house read the morning paper or dozed as time wore on, and daylight dimmed the electric globes in the chamber.

W. J. Ward, Progressive of Dauphin, was the last speaker, but Mr. Ward took only a moment or two. Divide in Bells Ring.

It was a few minutes after 8 when division bells rang for the Conservative Division.

After Mr. Woods had concluded a brief statement, the house divided on the main motion. And the longest budget debate in the Canadian house in thirty years—it not in its history—had come to an end.

The house adjourned at 9 a.m. with two hours interval for dinner. It had been in continuous session since 3 o'clock on the previous afternoon.

BOY CHORISTERS INVITED

SYNOD WILL TALK BIBLE QUESTION

Important Matters Face 68th Session. To Convene Here Monday, May 11.

Right Rev. David Williams, D.D., D.C.L., bishop of Huron, will convene the 68th session of the synod of the diocese of Huron on Monday, May 11, at 8 p.m. in St. Paul's Anglican cathedral.

His grace, the archbishop of Algoma, metropolitan of Ontario, will deliver the sermon at the divine service, which will formally open the synod.

G. B. Nicholson, Chaplain, Ont., will speak on "The Responsibility of the Layman to the Church," at a public meeting in Bishop Cronyn hall on the following Tuesday evening, as part of the dominion-wide campaign for promoting increased knowledge of the church and its work, and calling forth increased devotion and service on the part of the laymen. Mr. Nicholson's address will follow a banquet for all clerical and lay delegates attending the synod to be given in Cronyn hall at 6 p.m.

While consideration of committee reports will occupy the major portion of the time of the synod, as outlined in the convocation circular and accounts, questions of public interest will be discussed by the synod.

One of the most interesting discussions of the whole synod will undoubtedly be that which takes place in taking up the report of the committee on the use of the Bible in the public schools. Rev. Canon Archdeacon G. B. Sage, M.A., D.D., rector of St. George's Anglican church, West London, is the chairman of this committee.

A second discussion which will prove of more than Anglican interest will be that on the report of the special committee appointed by Bishop Williams to gather information upon the subject of diocesan fire insurance and the formation of an Anglican church mutual fire insurance company.

Bible Recommendation. After citing the pronouncement of the general synod upon religious education in the schools, the committee of Huron synod under Archdeacon Sage recommends: "That the Bible memory course, now in use in London, Owen Sound and other cities, be adopted throughout by the schools of this province."

The committee makes also the following four "suggestions": "That the church schools be asked to work concurrently with public schools on the same passages of scripture as per schedule; that a constant relationship be established between the church and the public school and the home with the intention of having parents encourage the children in the reading and talking over the passages; that a closer co-operation be between the church school and public school be suggested; that memory work is not a solution of religious education of children, but a good foundation and a means towards some further measure as departmental regulations permit and experience suggests."

Diocesan Insurance. The committee on diocesan fire insurance reports the rejection of the application made by certain private individuals of the diocese of Toronto by the private bills committee of the legislature to form the Anglican church mutual fire insurance company. The committee also reports having rejected the proposal of making an arrangement through the synod office with some mutual company to group the synod's insurance and also the proposal of forming an Anglican church insurance company.

Feeling, however, that it "cannot ignore the fact that the Christian church is the one force that is impressing upon business the fundamental fact that there are other than economic considerations connected with business transactions," the committee makes the following recommendation:

"That a special permanent fire insurance committee be appointed consisting of men of Huron diocese, specially qualified, to act under the chairmanship of Archdeacon Doherty, to advise the synod office, the church wardens and all others, in the placing of fire insurance business, on all technical matters as to the working policies and securing the best rates and dealing with the general insurance problems of the diocese in a consultative way, and with power to interview the executive of the Canadian Underwriters' association and the insurance companies."

The financial reports of the synod itself and the various dioceses and of the church's work show that synod is in splendid shape financially.

C. SCOTT FOUND GUILTY OF NEGLECTING WIFE

Michigan Resident Will Be Sentenced Next Week—Youths Face Theft.

Charged under the criminal code with failing to provide for his wife and child, Charles John Scott, who for the past two years has made his home in Battle Creek, Mich., was found guilty by Magistrate Graydon in city court this morning and was remanded a week for sentence.

The evidence disclosed the fact that Scott left his wife in London two years ago and returned to Michigan. They came here on a visit at the time and, according to Mrs. Scott, she was deserted without being left any money. Since then she has had to earn her own livelihood.

In urging a conviction, Crown Attorney Albert Judd declared that Scott, who has been a railroadman for the past five years, has treated the whole matter as a joke and has made no effort to support his wife and child.

The prisoner was defended by U. A. Buchner. George and John Gordon and Kenneth Moffatt, three city youths, were given a day's remand on a charge of stealing brass worth $150.

Joseph Smith, 45, no home, was given two months in jail for being drunk. It is his fourth conviction in three months.

PUMPER WOULD BETTER RATING

Canadian Underwriters' Association Urges Fire Departments To Buy Apparatus.

Purchase of a new pumper fire truck for the city department will have much effect upon an improved rating from the Canadian underwriters' association, according to correspondence which has been received here. A letter from John A. Robertson, secretary of the association, strongly advocates the use of pumper apparatus by fire departments.

No. 1 committee of the council is acting in accord with recommendations of the provincial fire marshal, who recently inspected city equipment. Windsor is this week buying its fourth pumper truck. Stratford has added another and the town of Renfrew has found such a purchase wise. Toronto has 17 in use and almost every other city in province has from one to four standard pumper trucks in use.

Mayor's Viewpoint. Council criticism of the recommended purchase comes partly from the mayor who argues that if a new pumper truck is needed now, it was needed three years ago when horse wagons were advocated and that, if pumpers are any use at all, they should have precedence over horse wagons and such apparatus.

Mr. Wenig's opposition to added expenditure by fire department is in line with his move for greater efficiency in the department. He is still undecided to launch charges in writing but deprecates the fact that the city has had to wait for the Ontario fire marshal to come in and find the need of new apparatus.

Neeley Approves. Ald. Homer Neeley today expressed his approval for the move to secure a new pumper for the department, though he is watching with interest progress of the move for a departmental investigation. It is still strongly in favor of a commission administration for the fire department.

The mayor, a member appointed by the council and a member appointed by the Ontario fire marshal would make a compact and representative group the synod's insurance and also the proposal of forming an Anglican church insurance company.

COURT OF REVISION TO MEET ON TUESDAY

Will Hold First Session For 1925—To Clean Up Old Cases.

Members of the court of revision will hold their first session of 1925 on Tuesday afternoon next at the city hall. During May a number of special courts will be held to clean up cases that are pending. On Tuesday efforts will be made to conclude cases left over from 1924.

A. J. Murphy will likely be chairman of the board this year. Sheriff D. Graham is continuing as a member of the revision court and George Hyatt is taking the place of T. W. Scandrett, who resigned at the close of 1924.

the requirements of agricultural interests as far as possible without prejudicing other sections of the country. He pronounced the policy of the government as for a revenue tariff, not a tariff for protection. "Our position is that if you are going to have protection, protect all the people, not merely a few," he declared.

On the strength of this attitude on the part of his administration, the premier claimed the continuance of the support the Progressives had given during the past three sessions.

Meighen Disappointed. Adherence is continued in other quarters, of course, to the belief that the government does not want an election this year. Those who support that viewpoint to the rather scanty preparation that has been made. There is no question, however, that the Conservatives have interpreted the oracle as advising them to array themselves in their armor.

Almost to a man, as far as the house of commons goes, they believe that they will have to face the country this year.

Mr. Meighen's speech on the budget yesterday disappointed his most loyal followers. It is regretted that he did not take issue with the government on broader lines than the finances of the National railways.

EXPECT NO ACTION BY SCHOOL BOARD

Additional Accommodation for Separate School System Unlikely This Year.

There is a strong probability that no action will be taken this year by the separate school board in providing additional accommodation for the system.

Trustee Major Albert Murphy, ex-chairman of the board, informed The Advertiser this morning that a careful survey of the whole situation has revealed the fact that the board may be able "to struggle along for another year" with the present accommodation.

Mr. Murphy expressed the opinion that should additional accommodation be provided this year, it would likely be in the way of renting rooms in some house in the vicinity of one of the schools, rather than the construction of any new buildings.

The report of the special committee appointed by the board to make the survey of the city as to the Roman Catholic population, will make its report to the board at its next regular monthly meeting.

PROGRESSIVE BACKING RURAL CREDIT SYSTEM

Coote Moves For Discussion at Next Banking Committee Meeting.

Ottawa, May 1.—The question of urging upon the government that legislation should be brought down at this session of parliament for the establishment of an adequate rural credit system will be considered by the banking and commerce committee of the house at its next meeting.

Notice of motion for the discussion of this matter was given to the committee today by G. G. Coote, Progressive, MacLeod.

FAIR PLAY FROM CHIEF FIREMEN'S SOLE WORRY

Local Union, in Open Letter, Hits at Charges of Inefficiency.

HONORABLE AIMS

Members of Local Force Welcome Probe—Co-operation Lacking.

The following letter, drawn up by the local branch of the International Association of Fire Fighters, and representative of virtually all members of the London force, explains their attitude in connection with alleged irregularities in the department, a suggested probe and treatment from Fire Chief John Attkin.

An open letter to the citizens of London, May 1, 1925.

"In view of the fact that at the present time the city of London fire department is the subject of much controversy and that as a result its efficiency is being questioned, we, representing the London branch of the International Association of Fire Fighters, wish to make it absolutely clear that the men of the department are in no way responsible for any statement or actions that tend to reflect on the organization."

"Our men are not members of the international association for any purpose that is not fair and square and above board. Our constitution quite plainly states that the object of the local shall be in fostering and encouraging a higher degree of skill and efficiency, and cultivation of friendship and fellowship among members."

"This phase of our association is adhered to courageously and faithfully. Our men are ready to promote in every possible way the welfare of citizens and offer protection that is of the highest standard with human possibilities."

"However, in carrying out this principle it seems only fair that the firemen should be tendered co-operation and given some assistance that

Jail Inmates Held the Keys

Associated Press Despatch.

Reno, Nevada, April 30.—Charging that prisoners in the Churchill county jail have been permitted to go and come at will, federal authorities filed contempt proceedings at Carson City yesterday against Sheriff J. B. Crane. It was alleged that in some instances keys to the jail were provided prisoners that they might attend motion pictures and other forms of amusement when they wished.

CANADA'S FIRE LOSSES.

Canadian Press Despatch. Toronto, May 1.—Fire losses in Canada during the week ended April 29, are estimated by the Monetary Times at $470,400, compared with $215,000 the previous week, and with $429,000 the corresponding week of last year.

would be in the interests of all concerned, instead of being referred to by irresponsible parties as being the cause of alleged inefficiency."

"We will lend every possible assistance so that all the truth and all the facts may be placed on the table. All we ask at any time is that the firemen be given fair treatment from the chief. Faithfully yours, International Association of Fire Fighters.

SEEK TO GO OVER $100,000 TODAY

Welfare Workers Not Halted by Rain—No Official Figures.

"Over the hundred thousand mark today" is the slogan of the Welfare Fund Drive workers who, despite storm and rain, have been out canvassing the city since early morning.

With subscriptions going over $100,000 by night, the success of the campaign is assured. It will leave less than $25,000 to be gathered in Saturday and Sunday.

At the chamber of commerce offices this morning James Gray, president of the association, and other prominent Londoners were working. They were enthusiastic about the results. There were no official figures, but news of subscriptions came in with the workers.

"The Greeks in London have looked after their own canvass," said Mr. Gray. "I have just been handed one check for over $60. Other encouraging amounts are coming in every few minutes. I see no reason why we should be downhearted. The whole city has co-operated remarkably well so far. I am sure the objective will be reached."

CENTURY OLD CURIO IS FOUND BY JAKE FOX

A brace and bit made of ebony, brass and ivory, by her majesty's maker, Henry Marples at the Hibernian Works, Sheffield, is one of the latest finds of Jake Fox, 213 King street. He came across the old curio some weeks ago and since then has had several offers for it by interested antiquarians. These experts who have seen the brace believe it to be almost a century old. Mr. Fox has all the bits that were made for it and today they can be used as well as by the original owners in the early days of Queen Victoria's reign.

MOTORIST FLEES AFTER HITTING BOY

Nelson Cornelius, 11 Years Old, Sustains Broken Leg
—Now in Hospital.

Police were combing the city last night for a motorist who struck Nelson Cornelius, 11 years old, British street, on Hamilton road near the city limits and broke the boy's leg. The motorist helped to carry the lad into a nearby store and afterwards disappeared. No trace has been found of him since.

The lad was crossing Hamilton road at St. Julien street. He stepped from the back of a street car, which was turning around, and was struck by the auto. He was accompanied by his two smaller brothers, Simpson and George, both of whom escaped injury.

Neither of the brothers secured the license number of the auto. They furnished the police with a fairly accurate description, and this was corroborated by Elmo Hardy, owner of the store.

All declared the man was between 35 and 40 years. He was rather shabbily dressed, wearing an old pair of blue overalls. The car was an old touring, and the side curtains were badly torn.

Dr. Reason was called, and after dressing the boy's injuries, had him removed to Victoria hospital in the police ambulance.

The lad was reported to be resting easily at an early hour this morning.

CHARRED BODY OF GIRL IS PARTLY IDENTIFIED

Believed by Indiana Woman To Be Daughter—Sign
Painter Held.

Associated Press Despatch.
Gary, Ind., May 1.—Belief that the charred and mutilated body of a young girl found near Chesterton, Ind., last Sunday, may be her daughter, was expressed to police last night by Mrs. Benard Janero, an Italian, who also recognized a vanity case found near the body. Coincident with this development, which authorities hope will help to solve the mystery of the girl's death, Tom McLean, Chicago, a sign painter, was taken into custody for questioning because of his actions while viewing the body at the Chesterton morgue. In a rambling conversation, he furnished information which led officials to think that he may have definite knowledge of the slaying.

GASSED MAN RESCUED BY EXETER NEIGHBORS

Geo. Windsor Found Unconscious in Bed From Effects of Coal Gas.

Special to The Advertiser.
Exeter, April 30.—Geo. Windsor had a narrow escape from asphyxiation. Before retiring he put some fresh coal on the kitchen range and left one of the lids off. During the night the gas escaped and as Mr. Windsor was not seen about the following day neighbors made an investigation. He was found unconscious in bed. Medical aid was summoned and he soon revived.

LONDON MALE CHOR WILL ASSIST SUNDAY SERVICES

The London male choir will appear at the evening service in First Presbyterian church next Sunday night. The choir will sing a number of sacred choruses, two negro melodies, which were so well received at their recent concert, are among those to be given.

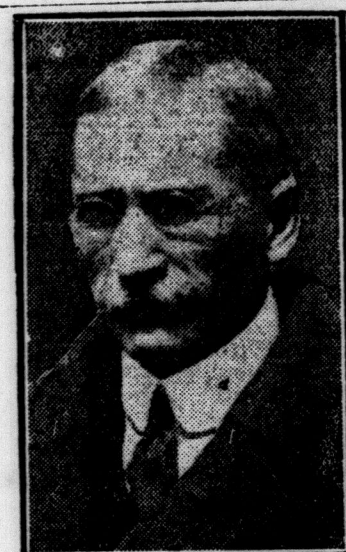

The great success achieved by the male choir in one brief season under George Lethbridge as director, has been the talk of musical circles this spring.

The appearance of the choir at First church next Sunday night will be their last until the fall.

NEW NATIONAL FLAG SOUGHT IN GERMANY

Associated Press Despatch.
Nuremberg, Germany, May 1.—The question of the national flag, which under the Weimar constitution was changed to black, red and gold, continues to agitate the public mind. According to the Frankfurter Couriers, the Nationalist bloc has started a referendum movement with the object of re-establishing the old black, white and red, and has already begun circulating subscription lists for the purpose.

FALLING ROCKS DERAIL TRAIN

Engineer and Firemen of C.N.R. Train Taken to Levis Hospital.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Quebec, May 1.—Two men are in the hospital and the locomotive of the Canadian National Ocean Limited, running from Halifax to Montreal, is lying on its side on an embankment near Levis, as the result of an accident which occurred shortly after 6 o'clock this morning, when a number of rocks fell from the cliff beside the track, striking the engine on its side and derailed a baggage car and an express car.

The engineer, Gagnon, and the fireman, E. Couturier, are in the Levis hospital, and there is a possibility that the former will not live. The extent of his injuries have not yet been determined, but it is reported that one of his arms was torn from its socket and that he suffered grievous internal injuries. The fireman is injured about the face and legs, and is also suffering from burns inflicted by escaping steam which filled the cab when the engine turned over and rolled down the embankment.

The Ocean Limited, No. 4, was approaching Levis when a number of rocks fell from the cliffs which tower beside the tracks.

Gold In Siberia Goes To Britain

Associated Press Despatch.
Moscow, April 30.—The Soviet government today made the largest concession it has ever granted in signing a 50-year contract with the British Lena Gold Fields corporation for the exploitation of the Lena gold fields of Siberia. United States banking interests will participate to the extent of 50 per cent in the investment.

FORTY KILLED AS TRAIN DERAILED IN PRUSSIA

Schneidemuhl, Prussia, May 1.—The Eldikhnen-Berlin express was derailed early this morning in the Polish corridor between Schneidemuhl and Starohard, killing between thirty and forty persons and injuring two scores.

The locomotive and most of the coaches were hurled down a steep grade and only one sleeping car and one coach remained on the track. The derailment is believed to have been due to the train speeding around a sharp curve.

GETS $1,075 FOR INJURIES CAUSED BY AUTOMOBILE

The county court action scheduled for June 2 brought by Archibald McKellar of Ailsa Craig against J. W. McDonald and Audrey Barnes has been settled out of court for $1,075. McEvoy and Henderson, solicitors for the plaintiff, announced today. A car owned by McDonald and driven by Barnes struck a horse and buggy driven by the plaintiff near Ailsa Craig on Sept. 24 last year. McKellar suffered severe injuries, and started action in the courts some time ago.

INDUSTRIES ALTER AS TREES DRY UP SEE CITY STUDENTS

Dr. Robson Black Urges Safety Measures at Kiwanis—Economy Session.

London Kiwanians held an economy session at today's luncheon, when a reduction in the cost of education was outlined by two school trustees and Dr. Robson Black, manager of the Canadian forestry association, made a plea to save the forests.

Mrs. J. I. A. Hunt and Rev. Roy Moss appeared before the club as two opponents of inclusion of manual training and domestic science in the colleges in the city, and explained why they thought it unnecessary. No vote, however, was taken by the club after their address. The matter comes up for decision by the school board this afternoon.

Dr. Black told the club that the Canadian forest was the best means of attracting and keeping population in the large forest areas of the country, and prophesied that unless some safety means were adopted, 5,000 industries in Canada would be lost in the next ten or fifteen years.

"The whole question of forestry preservation comes to this," he said. "If we do not undertake some measures with respect to the forests, we can say to the 5,000 lumber industries in Canada 'in about 1926 or 1927 you will have to move someplace else, because there is no timber you require.' In the past it has been solely the fact that Canada has spruce and the fir that has kept the bulk of the population to New Ontario, and large parts of Quebec and British Columbia. Take away the forest and you will have a 'man's land'."

"It is not the private lumberman who is at the present time destroying Canadian forests. For every one tree cut down nine are burned. Last year we had 6,000 forest fires in this country, and we burned 5,000,000 acres of good timber."

"We are inclined to think that the lumberman is creating huge fortunes for himself out of our timber. But for every $5 worth of timber cut, the lumberman pays out $4.50 in costs, and has to divide the other 50 cents in half to meet interest and government taxes. In spite of this, the lumberman pays out $4.50 every year because we still hold the greatest spruce reserves in the world."

TWO-DAY "U" COURSE FOR JUNIOR FARMERS

Western and Department of Agriculture Co-operate in New Plan.

Arrangements are being completed by the university of Western Ontario, with the co-operation of the Middlesex branch of the department of agriculture, to hold a two-day course at the university for the members of the junior farmers' clubs and the junior women's institute.

The course will be held immediately after the term of the university year, early in June. R. A. Finn of the department of agriculture states that some 250 young people of the county will take advantage of the course, which will include English, economics, history, and science.

ORGANIZATION PLANNED FOR HIGHWAY PUBLICITY

Meeting in Ingersoll Today of Municipalities On Route.

Special to The Advertiser.
Ingersoll, April 30.—An important meeting will be held here on Friday afternoon, when representatives from the municipalities on the provincial highway will discuss the problem of publicity, and will likely form an organization to carry on a campaign to place the advantages of this route before the public. Representatives are expected from practically every community between Niagara Falls and Windsor.

Two meetings have already been held, but the one tomorrow is expected to be more representative than the others. W. H. Wood of the Brantford chamber of commerce has taken the initiative in the matter.

VIENNA UNDERSTUDIES WILL GET CHANCE IN NEW PLAY

Associated Press Despatch.
Vienna, April 30.—Understudies and supernas are to have a great chance at the Vienna Burg theatre. A performance of Beaumarchais' "Barber of Seville" will be given for charity, in which all the leading parts will be taken by supernas. The company is expected to play the comedy in which they seldom have more than a single line to speak.

MRS. WARNER M'ROBERTS DIES AFTER LONG ILLNESS

Special to The Advertiser.
Lucan, April 29.—Mrs. Warner M'Robert of this village died this evening after an illness of several years' duration. She was a daughter of the late Samuel Haskett of Biddeford, Me., and was widely known. She was in her 35th year, and was a member of the Methodist church. She is survived by her husband.

HAMILTON WOMAN PASSES AWAY AFTER SHORT ILLNESS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Hamilton, May 1.—Mrs. Witton, wife of H. B. Witton, chairman of the board of directors of Tuckett's Limited, died very suddenly during the night at her home on Ravenscliffe avenue.

During the reception to the delegates to the convention of the International Council of Women yesterday by the Local Council of Women, Mrs. Witton assisted the local ladies and later went to the Tamahac club with them. During the afternoon she complained of illness and went to her home, where she died a few hours later.

SUICIDES ARE PREVENTIBLE STATES KITCHENER DOCTOR

Dr. J. E. Hett Declares 90 Per Cent Would Respond to Proper Treatment.

PREPARES TREATISE

Canadian Press Despatch.
Kitchener, May 1.—Dr. J. E. Hett of this city, discoverer of the treatment of abdominal fibroids with X-ray, has announced after years of research a theory by which he establishes the primary cause of suicides and claims as a result of his investigations that 90 per cent of suicides are preventable.

Dr. Hett declares it is all wrong to lay suicides at the door of mental conditions arising from shock, loss of memory, worry and other mental stress. These, he asserts, are only secondary or contributory. The real causes are certain physical pathological degenerations gradually brought about by certain life habits.

The physician's researches have been going on quietly for over 30 years, with the result that the identical lesions have been found in all cases of suicide coming under his personal investigation.

He claims medical science has heretofore thrown absolutely no light on suicide, which he regards as a disease. The doctor is preparing a treatise on the subject which he will place before various medical and health organizations.

Alma Students To Visit Western College Lads' Hearts Are Beating Fast.

The hearts of the male university students are a flutter. On Monday next 75 resident students of Alma ladies' college, St. Thomas, will visit the University of Western Ontario. The board of governors of the college will drive them to London. Dr. Perry S. Dobson will be in charge.

There will be a semi-official tea and reception in the cafeteria in the science building at 3:30 p.m.

THREE PAPERS HEARD BY MEDICAL MEMBERS

Middlesex Association Meets
For Luncheon at Westminster Hospital.

Thirty members of the Middlesex Medical Association, together with their wives, were the guests of Dr. B. T. McGhie, superintendent of Westminster hospital at a luncheon given at the institution at 1 o'clock today.

Following the dinner, three papers were presented. The first was "Regularities of the Heart," by Dr. Gordon. It was demonstrated by the use of a kymograph that the heart is not a pump, but a valve. The second paper was "Nephritis," by Dr. McKillop. Dr. J. W. McLean spoke on "Psychotherapy."

Upon the conclusion of the papers, the officers for the year were elected and general business taken up. Some members of the Western academy of medicine were present.

GORDON HUDSON DIES AT ST. JOHN'S, AGED 17

Gordon Hudson, 17-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Hudson of St. Johns, died early this morning. Two brothers, William and Elmer survive.

The funeral will be held on Sunday afternoon from St. Johns to Silem cemetery.

LONDON C.N.R. TEAM WINS THIRD VICTORY

Splendid Work of Local Fire Team Give Them Cup Permanently.

In the 35th annual competition between the fire departments of the plants of the Canadian National Railways, London No. 2 team of the car shops won a third successive victory.

For a number of years the team has held the honors, and in view of the splendid efforts of the members the underwriters have presented the cup as a permanent reminder to the London car shops and fellow-employees of the value of concerted effort and a high standard of efficiency.

The director of insurance, W. D. Keelson, presented a replica of the trophy to each member of the winning team on behalf of Vice-President W. D. Robb of the C. N. R. He expressed the wishes of the officials that London should still enjoy the distinction of holding the finest record over the entire system.

The team is captained by T. E. Fellow, who has a record of 30 years' service. The youngest members on the team in point of service are: H. G. Mathews and W. Hazelwood, each with three years to their credit. The teams from London car shops and roundhouses have saved the railway at London considerable amounts in preventing fires and have assisted the city fire department on several occasions when property adjoining the railway has been endangered.

The time for the teams taking first three places in the dry race for the season 1924 were: No. 2 car shops of London, 44 seconds; No. 4 car shops of Montreal, 47 4-5 seconds; No. 5 team of car shops, Montreal (repair), 49 seconds.

MEANEST MAN ROBS FUNDS FOR HELPLESS

Passes in London South as a Welfare Collector—Citizens Warned.

The meanest man in the world has turned up again. He crops up periodically, this time in connection with the Welfare fund drive.

Yesterday a man, who was in no way connected with the drive, called upon residents in South London. He said that he was selling a periodical and at the same time helping the fourteen charities of London by assisting in the canvass. He told the householders that he had been assigned to the district and would be the only worker covering it, according to a statement made by Gordon Phillips today.

The Welfare fund committee have asked that citizens who have any suspicions aroused by any apparent irregularities in methods of canvassing, call the drive headquarters in the chamber of commerce rooms in the Tecumseh house. The 265 members of the Ontario Commercial Travellers' Association will wear distinguishing badges during their canvass in order to safeguard the public and prevent the meanest man in the world continuing his robbery of funds for the helpless.

BERT HOWE SUCCEUMS TO LENGTHY ILLNESS

Bert Howe, who owned a farm near Belmont until three years ago, died in this city last night, after an illness of some weeks. Mr. Howe is survived by three children, two brothers, John and Eldon of Chatham, and two sisters.

His wife, the late Ethel L. C. Dobb, died six years ago. Funeral arrangements have not been completed, pending the arrival of a sister from the Canadian west.

So much depends upon the Piano—

You know how you yourself are impressed when visiting the home of neighbor or friend—the piano is the first object to catch your eye, the one by which you are quick to judge both the artistic sense and the musical taste of your hosts.

So others judge your home—the kind of piano you use to entertain them has much to do with their opinion of your artistic discernment.

Let your choice of an instrument rest on the Mason & Risch. Even the musically-untrained can appreciate its ornamental quality—before a note is sounded, it wins approval by the beauty of its case and the refinement of its design.

But overshadowing mere externals and giving real point to your selection of such a piano is the glorious quality of its tone—a tone so pure and sweet that the trained ear of a musician will quickly acknowledge the instrument's superiority, even though you conceal the name of the piano's highly-reputed makers.

Be prepared to welcome the guests who are connoisseurs—with a piano that may be relied upon to worthily accompany a vocal artist or enable a talented pianist to perform with complete satisfaction to both player and audience.

HYDRO IS MEETING INTEREST CHARGES

Latest Remittance Contains Arrears On Thunder Bay System.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, April 30.—The Ontario government today received the sum of $4,378,397.82 from the Ontario hydro-electric commission, in payment of interest charges on advances by the government to the hydro enterprise. The remittance was notable in view of the fact that it included arrears of interest upon the Thunder Bay system totalling $582,748.69. All the units of the hydro enterprise, accordingly, are now meeting their interest charges. The government's advances to the hydro now total $142,714,107, the half-yearly interest payments upon this sum amounting to $3,795,648.32. In view of the fact that the Thunder Bay system has now paid its $582,748.69 interest, indebtedness to the government is now clear of debt in respect to interest charges, and henceforth will pay its way in the matter of interest as the other systems are doing.

PARIS GARRISON READY FOR MAY-DAY REVOLT

Mobile Forces Ready To Subdue Quickly Any Disturbances.

By CONSTANTINE BROWN.
Special Cable to The Advertiser and the Chicago Daily News.

Paris, May 1.—The entire Paris garrison, amounting to some ten thousand men, together with the whole police forces, has been assigned to barracks to prevent possible Communist outbreaks today.

Aeroplanes will fly over Paris, keeping constantly in touch with General Gouraud's headquarters, while motor trucks, provided with wireless, will be held in readiness to rush police and military forces to any point where disturbances may break out.

The police authorities have been busy lately searching houses of Communist leaders and removing trunks full of propaganda and documents. Although the police are silent regarding the contents of the confiscated documents, concern is shown by authorities, who heretofore were inclined to treat the Communist menace lightly, indicating that the movement is really serious.

Because of the measures being taken in Paris and the surrounding countryside, no serious disturbances are expected today, but there are indications that a serious movement is planned within the course of the next month.

Cairo, May 1.—(Via London)—Egypt and Italy are making belligerent gestures at each other over the little oasis of Djaghbub, occupied by less than 150 Bedouin inhabitants, which lies near the Egyptian-Tripolitan border.

Troops of both countries are near the oasis, but each government refrains from occupying it for fear of provoking hostilities. In the meantime, the governments are exchanging tart notes and boundary commissions are unable to agree.

M. P. SUGGESTS LEAGUE DEAL WITH CURRENCY

Alfred Speakman Moves Canadian Delegates Bring Matter Up.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Ottawa, May 1.—That the matter of taking remedial steps with a view of stabilization of the purchasing power of money should be brought before the league of nations through the Canadian delegates, under instructions from parliament, was the suggestion made to the banking and commerce committee of the house of commons today by Alfred Speakman, M.P.

Mr. Speakman moved as an amendment that this action be taken as an alternative measure to a previous motion by W. C. Good, recommending the calling of an international conference by Canada.

Considerable discussion followed in respect to the matter, but it was finally decided to postpone further consideration until the next meeting of the committee.

OTTAWA SUES COAL CO. FOR EXCESS PAYMENTS

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, April 30.—A writ was issued late today in the court of king's bench by the solicitor-general of Canada on behalf of his majesty the king, against the Canadian Coal Sales Company, Limited, claiming payment of $169,628 alleged to have been overpaid by the government on contracts by the defendant company for the supply of coal of specific name to the Tuxedo military barracks since 1920.

Hon. Ernest Lapointe, minister of justice, is named as prosecutor of the action on behalf his majesty.

SCOW OWNER NOW HAS TWO TERMS TO SERVE

Both Sentences Have Been Appealed by Sarnia
Resident.

Special to The Advertiser.
Sarnia, May 1.—Harry W. Loughheed, former manufacturer of this city but now owner of an export liquor scow, was fined $300 and was given in addition four months' imprisonment by Magistrate Henry Gorman in city police court today on a charge of illegal sale of liquor. Notice of appeal was given and deposit made. Several months ago Loughheed was given a six months' term by Magistrate Gorman on a similar charge. Appeal was entered, and is still pending, so that Loughheed now has ten months in jail hanging over his head. The Loughheed scow is the only one remaining within the city limits, others having moved their location.

Travellers Coming Home To Clean Up Welfare Fund

F. E. HARLEY,
President of the Ontario Commercial Travellers Association, and vice-chairman of the travellers committee of the United Welfare Fund Association drive. The organization of which he is president will have 265 workers canvassing city homes in the clean-up work of the annual drive tomorrow and Sunday.

No Rest This Week-End—Men of the Road Out in Force.

265 WILL CANVASS

Travellers Are Counted On To Give Big Drive Final Boost.

All trains arriving in the city tonight and tomorrow morning will bring additional workers for the United Welfare Fund Association drive. The commercial travellers are coming.

No group of canvassers receive a more hearty welcome from London's householders than the "Men of the Road." They have been out on the territory for a week. Today they came home, not to rest this time, but to go right out again on another selling campaign. The mission this time is an errand of mercy.

The members of the Ontario Travellers' Association, 265 strong, will be out in full force tomorrow afternoon. They will finish their clean-up of the loose ends of the campaign on Sunday night a few short hours before they go out on their own business Monday morning.

Last year the travellers gave the whole drive a final boost that has not been forgotten. This was evidenced this year by the fact that many canvassers this week were told that a number of donors were waiting to give to the commercial travellers when they called.

Meet at Luncheon.
The men will meet at the Tecumseh house tomorrow at 12:30 noon, where they will be tendered a complimentary luncheon supplied by public-spirited citizens. All the workers will be present. The speakers will be James Gray, president of the United Welfare Fund Association; A. E. Silverwood, and Dr. Alfred J. Grant. There will be inspirational addresses. Following these the men will start out.

The travellers' committee is made up of W. R. Grant, chairman; F. E. Harley, vice-chairman; George T. Hair, secretary. Mr. Grant is past president of the Ontario Commercial Travellers' Association. Mr. Harley is president and Mr. Hair is secretary.

The workers have been divided into 24 teams. They will make a house-to-house canvass of their respective districts. Cards will be left at each home. Collections will be made early Sunday afternoon.

Following are the captains and teams:

District No. 1.
Captain J. H. Thompson, R. J. McMehe, Chester R. Moule, W. B. Quigley, F. H. Butcher, C. H. Anderson, H. H. Ferguson.

MAY WHEAT GOES UP AT WINNIPEG

Advance of 6 3/4 Cents Made
On Wave of Export Buying.

Canadian Press Despatch.
Winnipeg, May 1.—May wheat today shot up to $1.68 1/2, an advance of 6 3/4 cents, on a wave of buying in which exporters were particularly active.

The bullish tone of the market was attributed chiefly to the character of private crop reports, issued today, placing the winter wheat production anywhere from 15,000,000 to 25,000,000 bushels below the United States government estimate last month. Liverpool cables, which closed 5 1/2 cents higher, also influenced the upward swing.

All the coarse grains were up in sympathy with wheat.

ADVANCES AT CHICAGO.

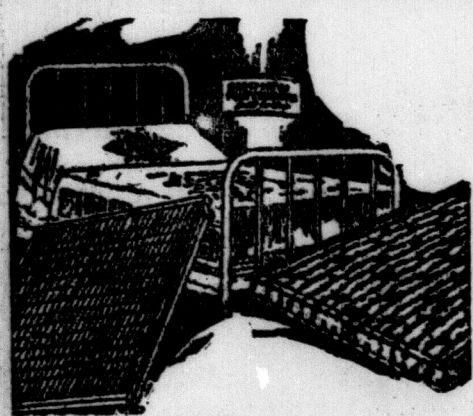

Associated Press Despatch.
Chicago, May 1.—Wheat scored a rapid upturn in prices today owing largely to sensational crop estimates from private, but authoritative sources. Before the first hour of trading was ended, the market showed gains with May noted at $1.58 1/2 and July at $1.47.

THREE CONVICTED OF UTLEY ATTACK

Harris, Johnston and Smith Guilty of Robbing Zurich Man.

Ernest Smith, John Johnston and Arthur Harris were all found guilty late yesterday afternoon by His Honor Judge Judd of robbery with violence and the wounding of Frank Utley of Zurich at the Smith home, 9 Front street, in the early hours of March 24. Sentence was deferred till Wednesday next at 11 a.m.

Frank Curran, counsel for the three prisoners, who are all colored, intimated that the case would likely be appealed by relatives of the prisoners. The three men were prosecuted by Crown Attorney Albert M. Judd. A surprise witness, one Shelden Howard, who swore that he saw the fight, identified the three prisoners, and gave damaging evidence for the crown.

Smith, in the witness box, claimed that he was in his bedroom when Utley entered with a drink of alcohol for him. The fight started, he said, when Utley kicked his dog.

Blames Liquor Traffic.

"The case is only another example of what is occurring from time to time as a result of illicit dealing and trafficking in intoxicating liquors," observed the court in summing up the evidence. "The question I have to decide is who is telling the truth."

"Utley's evidence is strongly corroborated by Howard, who says it was Utley and not Smith, who entered the room, where the assault took place. I believe their evidence in preference to that of the three prisoners, not so much because of their records but from a common sense view of the circumstances."

The court then directed that the Bank of Montreal bills amounting to $200 found on the three prisoners when they were arrested on the C. N. R. platform a few hours after the robbery, be turned over to Utley at the expiration of 15 days. His honor will in the meantime decide what will be done with the two $5 bills found on Mrs. Smith, which Utley claimed he gave her to purchase liquor.

Find Blood Stains.
Detectives Geo. E. Walsh and Thos. Bolton told of finding money in the pockets of Harris. There were blood stains on the sleeve of Harris' coat.

Constable H. Loader said he saw Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Johnston on the C. N. R. platform shortly before they were arrested.

Angus Robertson, Bank of Montreal, Hensall, said he paid $210 to Utley in Bank of Montreal bills on March 20. John Johnston was the first witness called by Mr. Curran for the defence.

Witness said he came to London from Guelph in January. Referring to the fight between Smith and Utley, Johnston said he saw Utley trip and fall into the arms of Harris.

He denied laying a finger on Utley that night.

Witness explained that the money was found on the floor of Smith's house, and all made a grab for it.

Has Been in Prison.
Cross-examined by Mr. Judd, Johnston admitted he hadn't worked since coming to London. He also admitted spending a great deal of his time each year in jail for the past six years.

Johnston said he had never seen any liquor sold at Smith's house.

Witness didn't know what the fight was about. He knew Utley was bleeding, but didn't pay much attention to him.

He and Harris went to get a taxi to get Utley away, but didn't try to get a doctor. At that time he had $90 belonging to Utley, having grabbed it from the floor.

"Why did you put the money in your shirt if you were looking for Utley to return it to him?" asked the court.

"Because I was afraid I would lose it," was the reply.

Harris, the next defendant to take the stand, stated he had come from Hamilton to visit his parents at 520 Philip street, and been home nine weeks prior to his arrest.

Witness claimed that he and Johnston were outside when the rumour started. He ran into the house and passed Howard going out the back door. Utley stumbled into his arms in the dark.

Smith lit a match in the bedroom and they all grabbed for the money on the floor, Harris declared. He had no intention of keeping the money.

Ernest Smith, residing in London for 18 months, said he had lived on Front street since last November. On March 22 he met Harris on the street slightly intoxicated and asked him home to sober him up.

Alcohol Produced
Howard came to the house and produced some alcohol.

"I didn't refuse the drink," smiled Smith showing a row of gleaming white teeth.

"I felt the alcohol working on me and I went outside," said Smith. When I came back I went into the bedroom and Utley followed me in with a drink. My dog followed Utley in and jumping up knocked the drink out of Utley's hand and he kicked my dog.

"When he kicked my dog, he might just as well have kicked me," declared Smith.

Witness then went on to tell how the battle waged back and forth. "Utley slipped one over on me and I went to the floor. I got hold of his legs and he fell. That didn't stop him and I grabbed a brass curtain rod. The lights went out just as something connected with my jaw. Smith denied going through Utley's pockets and removing the money.

Examined by Mr. Judd, Smith said this was the third court appearance for him since February. He also admitted serving a year and 20 days at Buffalo for petty larceny in 1919.

FIVE BALLOONISTS WILL START ON ELIMINATION FLIGHT TODAY

Litchfield Trophy and Prize of $1,000 Go To Winner.

TAKE PROVISIONS

Associated Press Despatch.
St. Joseph, Mo., April 30.—Five balloonists of national and international reputation will soar away from Roscreans Field here tomorrow in the national elimination balloon race. A prize of $1,000, the Litchfield trophy, and a place in the international events await the winner. Precaution is being made by the balloonists to protect themselves against being marooned in Northern Canada should the southeasterly winds predicted carry them that far. W. T. Anorman, winner last year, and his side, C. K. Wollman of Akron, Ohio, will carry provisions for two weeks, a shotgun and a high-power rifle, in addition to radio equipment. The starting order of the balloons are determined by lot follows:
Army balloon—Lieut. William J. Flood, pilot; Lieut. Hayne McCormick, aide.
Goodyear III.—W. T. Anorman, pilot; C. K. Wollman, aide.
Army balloon—Captain Raymond F. O'Neill, pilot; Lieut. Guy Rossmann, aide.
St. Joseph Optimist club balloon—Captain H. E. Honeywell, pilot; Harry Preston, aide.
Detroit—Herbert V. Thaden, pilot; W. C. Napier, aide.

MICHIGAN MAN'S BODY IS GIVEN UP BY RIVER

John Raymond Disappeared From Wallaceburg Boarding House On April 22.

Special to The Advertiser.
Wallaceburg, April 30.—The body found here in the Sydenham river, which was first thought to be Edgar J. Thomas, missing salesman, has been identified as that of John Raymond, aged 60, of Marine City, Michigan.
Raymond came to Wallaceburg about two weeks ago to look for work. His wife resides in Marine City, where she conducts a boarding-house.
Immediately after the remains had been conveyed to the Coroner's Bureau, an undertaking parlor a jury was impaneled by Coroner Dr. H. A. Taylor, and after viewing the remains, the inquest was adjourned until Saturday. The members of the jury are: J. S. Leckie, foreman, S. Babbitt, R. Carter, J. Latone, F. Warrens, R. Asselstine, J. Guinness. It was at first feared that the man had been a victim of foul play, but a post-mortem examination estab-

FEARS OF ANOTHER TRAGEDY DIE WHEN SHIPS FOUND SAFE

Reported Finding of Empty Beer Cartons Caused Rumors.

USED FOR FISH

Special to The Advertiser.
Port Stanley, April 29.—Vague rumors of the sinking of another beer boat, current here all day, were discounted tonight when a survey of the north shore failed to reveal a boat missing from any of the Canadian ports. The locations of all American-owned vessels has also been established.

The reported finding of empty beer cartons in mid-lake this morning gave rise to stories that a second launch had met the fate of the Val-kyle of Port Stanley, which sank with her crew of four on the morning of Sunday, April 19.
Fishermen doubt the story of the discovery for they claim that beer cartons, being of soft cardboard construction, soon become saturated and sink when thrown into water. They claim also that even if cartons had been found it would mean little, for it is a general practice to use this type of box to carry fish and this may account for the finding of the empties.

AT THE THEATRES

LOEW'S THEATRE

"The Goose Hangs High."

A little different from the rank and file of film production, "The Goose Hangs High," showing at Loew's theatre for the last three days of the week, offers an interesting study of family trials and tribulations in America.

There is nothing spectacular about the picture. It depicts the every-day life of moderately situated people who are raising a family and sending the boys and girls to college. The parents are perhaps a little over-indulgent, even for these times. Many will claim that it presents a truthful picture of the teen-age children running wild, just about as it is done today. The author has made a careful survey of the American home.

The plot concerns the parents who sacrifice many things they want for themselves, to see their thoughtless and extravagant children have a college education and a good time.

There is a lot of fun in the picture and it is well cast.

The Betty Neal trio, the first number on the vaudeville bill, is a singing and dancing act, with one exceptionally good dancer.

Walsh and Clark have a good line of patter that stirred up storms of laughter. Mr. Walsh displayed some original dance steps.

Frank A. Ford and Company enter with a novel method of serving the sarcasm that is supposed to vibrate across the table when love has

CAPITOL THEATRE

"The Code of the West."

A double attraction is offered for the first three days of this week at the Capitol in Fred Emney, and Eng-lish singer and pianist on merit, and Zane Grey's story, "The Code of the West" in picture form. Mr. Emney is a singer with a robust baritone and a wide repertoire of songs. His singing and playing have been an enjoyable part of the program.

Enid Bennett stars in the screen version of the western story and makes a dainty little heroine. The story is typically a Zane Grey one. It depicts the west of the present and tells of the story of an eastern girl who pays a visit to one of those picturesque ranches and stays to become the wife of a romantic Mexican hero.

Part of the scenes, all of which are artistic, are laid in the hills during a forest fire, and the hero and Enid Bennett are shown charging through the flames bush in their mutual escape from the rushing death. The picture presents plenty of action, the hero is an approved cowboy, and the setting is exceptionally fine.

A Mack Sennett comedy "Giddap," the story of a burlesque polo game, and a Pathe news film make up the offering. One of the series of American Cities is given in the Pathe news film. Los Angeles being shown in color in a charming educational picture of interest.

ROAD POSTS WILL KEEP ALIVE MEMORY OF EARLY SETTLERS

Quebec To Erect Signs To Commemorate Pioneers of Canada.

PORTRAY ALL PHASES

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, April 30.—That the early history of Canada should not be permitted to pass into oblivion, and that the struggles of the pioneers of both races, fighting at times against each other and at times joining against a common enemy, should be perpetuated, has inspired the historical monuments commission to erect post-ers throughout Quebec of great historical interest.

These will commemorate events that played a great part not only in the provincial history of Quebec, but also in the development of the whole dominion. A few words of descriptive comment will inform the passer-by of the nature of the event the memory of which it is desired to preserve.

These posts direct attention to many phases of Canada's early life. They recall the memorable days of old Quebec, the martyrdom of the earliest missionaries by the Indians, the battles between the American revolutionaries and Canadians, between the British troops, under Monckton and Wolfe and Fraser and the French, and also dwell upon the pious associations of the inhabitants by recalling the birthplaces of their religious leaders.

The rebellion of 1837 plays its part in the scheme. The "patriots" of that day are venerated and attention drawn to the manner of their dying.

The memorials will be erected immediately and the work is to be completed by June 1.

LISHED THE FACT THAT DEATH WAS DUE TO DROWNING.

Raymond left his boarding-house on Wallace street on April 22, and had not been seen since. His absence was not noticed, as it was believed that he had gone to some other town for work, or had returned to his home at Marine City. No personal belongings or money were found on the body.

MOST OF CANADA'S FISH GOES ABROAD

According to authoritative statistics, Jack Canuck, while a prodigious eater in many respects, has yet to develop a man's sized appetite for the tasty and nutritious fish that abound in Canadian waters. Third among the fish producing nations of the world, Canada exports annually 80 per cent of the country's fish catch, retaining the balance, which means an average consumption of only 23 pounds of fish per year for every person.

A small fish appetite indeed when compared with what the peoples of other nations consume. England, for instance, averages 56 pounds per person per year. France about 40 pounds, and Japan, where fish is a staple article of diet—some 200 pounds per person. It would appear that the Canadian housewife is not as keenly appreciative as are her overseas sisters of the saving in the family budget possible through a more general use of fish. For in the matter of price, fish foods certainly merit pride of place in the economy column—no mean recommendation either in these days when the high cost of living is still abroad in the land.

OATMEAL MUFFINS.

One cup rolled oats, 1 cup sweet milk, 2 tablespoons molasses, 1 egg, ¼ teaspoon salt, 2 tablespoons fat, 1 cup flour, 4 teaspoons baking powder. Scald the milk. Pour over oats, and let stand one-half hour. Add molasses, salt, fat and beaten egg. Stir together flour and baking powder. Add to the mixture. Drop in hot greased tin, 25 times. Bake in a hot oven about 20 minutes. This makes 15 muffins.

The title of this puzzle is the solution to a word or group of words appearing in this puzzle. Can you find them?

Each word reads from left to right (horizontal) or downward (vertical) according to position. Lettered in correctly, words that cross will interlock. Each number in the white squares also refers to a definition in the accompanying table.

Each definition suggests a word possessing the exact number of letters to fit the white spaces allotted to it.

Each white space is to receive one letter only. Words start only in numbered spaces.

When You Can Be Well, Why Be Sick?

Why Suffer Delay and Grow Worse?
Enjoy Life—Health—Happiness

To Have No Back Pains, No Nervousness, No Kidney Disease, With Plenty of Life, Energy, and No Blood Disease, Is the Wish of Every Young, Old or Middle-Aged Person.

To you—if you are sick—if you suffer—if you are afflicted with any ailments of MEN—if you are worn out, tired or failing, if you need medical advice—if you are not in perfect health—if life is a dragging, miserable existence—if you lack energy, vim and vigor that make life worth living, to you—rich or poor—young or old—you need my treatment at once.

Nerves and Blood Are Life
The lack of nerve force is found among men of all ages. This is true with men in all walks of life, from the day laborer to the mechanic or professional man. Merchant and clerks are alike sufferers—no man is exempt from the ailment who has rebelled against nature's laws—so if you have the result of overwork, dissipation, sedentary habits or worry, and your vital organs are disturbed, remember, delay in seeing the right doctor makes it more difficult to overcome the symptoms, and you might reach an incurable condition beyond relief if you delay too long.

My Equipment
Is composed of the latest and best known agents in Electrical, Surgical and Mechanical Apparatus, and are prepared by the knowledge of their uses and the experiences in prescribing them so as to get the greatest uniform results from them.

I Am Prepared to Give You
Rheumatism, Bacteria, Yaws and any and all forms of treatment of this character that have been tried and proved a success.

YOUNG MEN—THINK OF YOUR FUTURE

How about it, are you qualified to face it—like others doing more and getting more out of life than you are? Find out, if you don't know already, what is dragging you down. No one can violate nature's laws and succeed. I have helped thousands physically, mentally, morally. I believe I (as I have thousands of other men) can help you. Just be frank and tell me your troubles. Let me help you to regain and maintain your health.

FRIDAY, MAY 1, 1925.

Hindenburg in 1919 and 1925.

President Hindenburg of Germany is seventy-eight years of age, and has been elected to a term of office the duration of which is seven years. The interest in his election has not decreased by the fact that he was successful. His success has started the discussion all over again. Had he been defeated the incident would have been a closed one; the world would have said that it was the end of the Hohenzollerns, and admitted there was truth in the lines, "The old order changeth, giving place to new."

The Hindenburg of today may or may not be the Hindenburg of wartime. That doubt comes from his own statements on two occasions, one in 1925 and the other in 1919. The most recent was in his speech accepting nomination:

"My life lies clear before the world. I believe I did my duty in the hard times. If this day now commands me to act as president of the Reich, I shall do so, regardless of party, person, origin or profession, nothing will be wanting on my part."

"As a soldier I always thought only of the whole nation, not parties. Parties are necessary to the parliamentary rule of the country, but the head of the state must be above parties, independent of them, and must conduct the office for the benefit of every German."

If the German language suffers nothing in its translation to English that means that President Hindenburg, prior to his election, committed himself to the idea of a republican Germany. Those who hold that he meant what he said when he expressed his willingness "to act as president on the basis of the constitution" also point out that Hindenburg stood by President Ebert when the reactionaries were attempting by a bold stroke to set up a monarchy in Bavaria, at which time Ludendorff gave an amazing example of the asinine qualities he so abundantly possesses.

So much for that view of the Hindenburg as he appears today. What of the Hindenburg who, at the close of the war, sat down to pen the story of his life? In the concluding chapter, "My Farewell," he said:

"Comrades of the German army, once the proud and mighty German army! How can you talk of despondency? Think of the men who gave us a new fatherland more than a hundred years ago. Their religion was their cause. They built up a new fatherland, not on the foundation of doctrines strange to them, but on those of the free development of the individual within the framework of the whole body politic, and on his sense of responsibility to the state. Germany will tread that path once more as soon as she is permitted to do so."

"Germany, the goal and starting point of so much that is inexhaustible in human civilization and culture, will count as though only so long as she ceases to believe in her great historical mission. My faith is unshakable that the best among us, with their deep, strong thoughts, will succeed in fusing the ideas of today with the precious relics of ancient times and on them set the stamp of eternal qualities which will bring salvation to our fatherland."

"Such is the firm conviction with which I have left the bloody battlefields of this war of nations. I have witnessed the heroic struggle of my fatherland, and I shall never believe that it was its death struggle."

"I have often been asked the question on what I based my hopes of our ultimate victory even in the darkest hours of the war. I could only point to my faith in the justice of our cause and my confidence in our fatherland and the army."

"For the time being a flood of wild political passion and sounding speeches have overwhelmed the ancient structure of our state, and apparently destroyed all our sacred traditions. Yet this flood will subside again. Then from the tempestuous seas of our national life will once more emerge that rock—the German imperial house—to which the hopes of our fathers clung in days of yore, and of which the future of our fatherland was confidently set, nearly half a century ago, by our own efforts."

Once more, if the German language retains its flavor when translated into English, that message meant that Hindenburg was an imperialist of the first order. His tribute to the imperial house of Germany was no mealy-mouthed prattle, but the positive declaration of an ardent belief. He might just as well have written "Let us bide our time until this flood of wild political passion spends its force, and then, comrades of the German army, there will emerge that rock—the German imperial house."

So there he is, the quasi-political pleader of 1925 on one hand—the champion of kaiserism in 1919 on the other. Small wonder that the world looks on and wonders which Hindenburg Germany has elevated to the highest position in the gift of its people.

There's a Ray of Hope.

Debaters at Ottawa are coming to the point where they preface their remarks with the assurance that they will not take long to say what is in their mind. It is almost apologetic in spots, as the few instances chosen at random will show.

James Arthur, M.P. for Parry Sound, on April 28, just before filling up thirteen pages of Hansard, including interruptions, referred to his contribution as "the few remarks that I am about to make."

On the same date Wallace Stewart, M.P. of Humboldt, as a starter, observed, "I understand that the whips have been totaling up the pages of Hansard that have already been covered in this discussion and have come to the conclusion that the time has arrived when we must make an effort to conclude our remarks within a reasonable length of time." Truly the lament of the penitent, but he blew hot and cold, for in the very next breath he said, as though rebelling against the pages of Hansard being impoverished by being cheated out of the full text of his donation, "I do feel that it is rather unfortunate from my own standpoint that I should be the first upon whom the blow should fall, and that I should be obliged to place before the house so late in the night the remarks I desire to make."

The campaign for brevity was, in Mr. Stewart's opinion, a very excellent thing, but it was a monumental blunder to earmark him as the first martyr of shorn and close-cut oration. Other addresses of less importance could very well be put through the hay-baler and be turned out in tabloid form, but for him the spigot of oratory should be turned to the last notch, and none should stretch forth a hand to restrain the torrent.

Before he was through with his preamble Mr. Stewart had departed many fathoms from his first opening chords of humility in which he sang in accord with the idea of concluding his remarks "within a reasonable length of time." He forsook the sweet notes of the lute and played defiantly on the trombone: "I assure you, Mr. Speaker, that it may be quite late when we get through tonight if I am required to complete the statements which I wish to make." And having so said he breathed out fourteen pages of Hansard.

A few days later the feeling for brevity was growing. A. L. Beaubien, M.P. for Provencher, on rising, assured the house that he would "not be much longer than twenty minutes," and what is more to the point, he did it and used but two pages of Hansard.

Andrew Knox, of Prince Albert, speaking the same day, thought it advisable to inform the Speaker that he was going to be brief. That was a week ago, and he was the eighty-eight speaker at that time. Mr. Knox said: "It is not my intention to speak at any great length in this debate, which has been moving along rather slowly."

There is a ray of hope in this apologetic strain that now and then forces its head up through the hard clay of loquacity. May the young sprout be watered and carefully tended, spared from spring frosts and summer heat. Some day it may grow into a fine tree and be known as the variety that blossoms and brings forth its fruit in the shape of the twenty-minute speech.

The Case of Edgar Thomas.

Few cases in this district have been more unusual than the disappearance of Edgar J. Thomas, a resident of Mount Brydges. The missing man was in Wallaceburg on April 15, and left there in the afternoon for Chatham, following the route over which his business would take him. Right there all trace of him seems to have ended.

The case is particularly distressing because Mrs. Thomas has been nursing a family of five children, all of whom in turn have suffered from scarlet fever. Under such conditions the disappearance of the husband adds a mental burden and a worry that is almost too much for the wife and mother to bear. There are homes all over the district where real sympathy will go out to Mrs. Thomas at Mount Brydges.

Note and Comment.

The trouble with harmless gossip is that it doesn't stay harmless.

It's puzzling, but the population of London and the number of cars driven here are both increasing.

There are many people who owe their comfortable positions to thrift—that was practiced by some ancestor.

One way to catch a breath of spring is to sit in the movies in front of the gent who boasts his ability to grow early onions.

Traffic will be directed from a tower at the corner of Dundas and Richmond, so henceforth drivers will get their instructions from on high.

The prize for being the shrewdest man in the community went to the old boatman who collected his fares in advance because the boat leaked.

In case any readers may be curious, the full name of the new president of Germany is "Paul Ludwig Hans Anton von Beneckendorff und von Hindenburg."

President Coolidge shook hands with 1,420 people in half an hour, and one critic remarks that's what comes of being reared on a farm and milking cows.

An uncle from the country, when going through one of these modern apartments for two, put his foot in it by mistaking the kitchenette for the telephone booth.

County Clerk John Stuart says there are ten thousand men in London who never go to church. In which case the tax collector is a greater success at drumming up a congregation than the parson.

Toronto Globe says: "The seller of beer may pay the additional taxes by lengthening the 'head' in each glass." How under the sun does the Globe know anything about the "head" on a glass of beer?

President Dowler of the chamber of commerce will look after the duties for a couple of weeks while a change in secretary is being made. A great chance for the genial "Bob" to land half a dozen industries off his own bat.

London ice men say they can't sell ice by weight as long as the sun shines. If the consumer went for his ice and got a 56-pound chunk at the warehouse he would get what he paid for, but he wouldn't have 56 pounds by the time he got it home. It works the same way when the ice is being delivered in one of the company's wagons.

Now He's In Doubt

Recountin' in a simple verse and tellin' in a way just how, that Willie's calf when sellin' come was turned one day to father's cow.

Young Willie was a farmer's son, he did the chores and milked the cow, he fed the horses in the barn and heaved the hay from out the mow. Much pleased his father often was to see his son a-workin' so, for Willie was a hustler too, bein' always movin' on the go.

So father gave to Willie once a calf that he could call his own, which caused much pride in William's heart and pleased the brains inside his dome.

So Willie figured out a spell how he would rear that calf a spell, a-puttin' beefsteak on its ribs and make the critter fit to sell. He fed it hay and gingerbread, he gave it bran and clover too, the calf it prospered at his hand, it flourished like a weed and grew.

When it had colic in the spring 'twas Willie gave it senna tea, in heated days he came along to swat the pesky summer flea.

He reckoned how he'd sell his cow when he was through with summer dust, and reckoned by that time of year she'd be so fat that she would bust. And with the ducats that he got he'd buy two calves and start again, and keepin' on a-workin' so be numbered with successful men.

When came the fall fair time around then Willie got his beast in tow, and figured when he'd dressed her up he'd take her to the village show.

When he'd done his other work he straightened out her switchin' tail, put creases in her wool just like small waves that speak a gentle gale. He fed her on mince-pie and cheese and straightened out each crumpled hair, he put a halter on her snout and waited her to the village fair.

The judges gazed upon the show and looked at Willie's in surprise, they tied a ticket on her horn a-sayin' Willie copped the prize.

Much pleased he be at such a turn, he'd never take a city job, for he'd breed cattle on a farm and spend his days upon the sod.

One day a drover came along and talked with Willie's dad a spell, and askin' if there be some stock he'd reckon how he'd like to sell. The drover took out sixteen head, and Willie's beast was in the lot, and father took the shekels in, includin' what wee Willie's brought.

Since when young William be in doubt about the future of his lot, not knowin' if when he grows up he'll live upon a farm or not.—ARK.

To the Editor

How Many Road Hogs?

Traveller Says That in His Driving Every Day He Finds That Other Motorists Are Fair With Him.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—I have seen so many jokes and comments about road hogs that I am just a little anxious to know how many of these animals there are. As a matter of truth I believe the thing is very much overdone, and I say this from the standpoint of a man who drives a great deal. As soon as the roads are fit I use my car almost every day in the week and call on a number of places in Western Ontario.

Now I have not met many of these road hogs, nor have I passed many of them either. I generally find that drivers of other cars are willing to treat me about the same as I am prepared to treat them. If I am prepared to turn out and give a good share of the road for a car that is passing me the other man nearly always does the same thing. I am just mentioning this because I really think there are few road hogs worthy of that name. DRIVER.

Factory Should Come Here.

Reader Says London Has Good Supply of People Who Have Been Trained in Industry That Seeks Location.

Editor of The Advertiser:

Sir,—The writer desires to draw to the attention of the city council and the chamber of commerce a point that may already be under advisement, in view of its obvious character. For the past year the report has been in circulation that the National Biscuit Company of the United States intends to enter the Canadian field. That company is now energetically building up a sales connection and the writer is informed that the next step within this year will be the establishment of a huge Canadian factory. The natural location for such a factory is in a city where trained help is available. London as the headquarters of two of the largest factories of this kind in Canada has a distinct advantage. This influence is what takes most of the rubber companies of the U. S. to Akron. If this factory gets away from London the writer intends to write another letter to The Advertiser asking who moped.

He Meant It Literally.

Old Lady (visiting state prison)—"I suppose, my poor man, it was poverty brought you to this."

Counterfeiter—"On the contrary, mum, I was just coinin' money."

Though It Could Be Worse.

"Josh," said Farmer Wilkins to his son, "I wish, if you don't mind, you'd eat off by yourself instead of with the summer boarders."

"Ain't my society good enough for 'em?"

"Your society's all right, but your appetite sets a terrible example."

His Turn at Last.

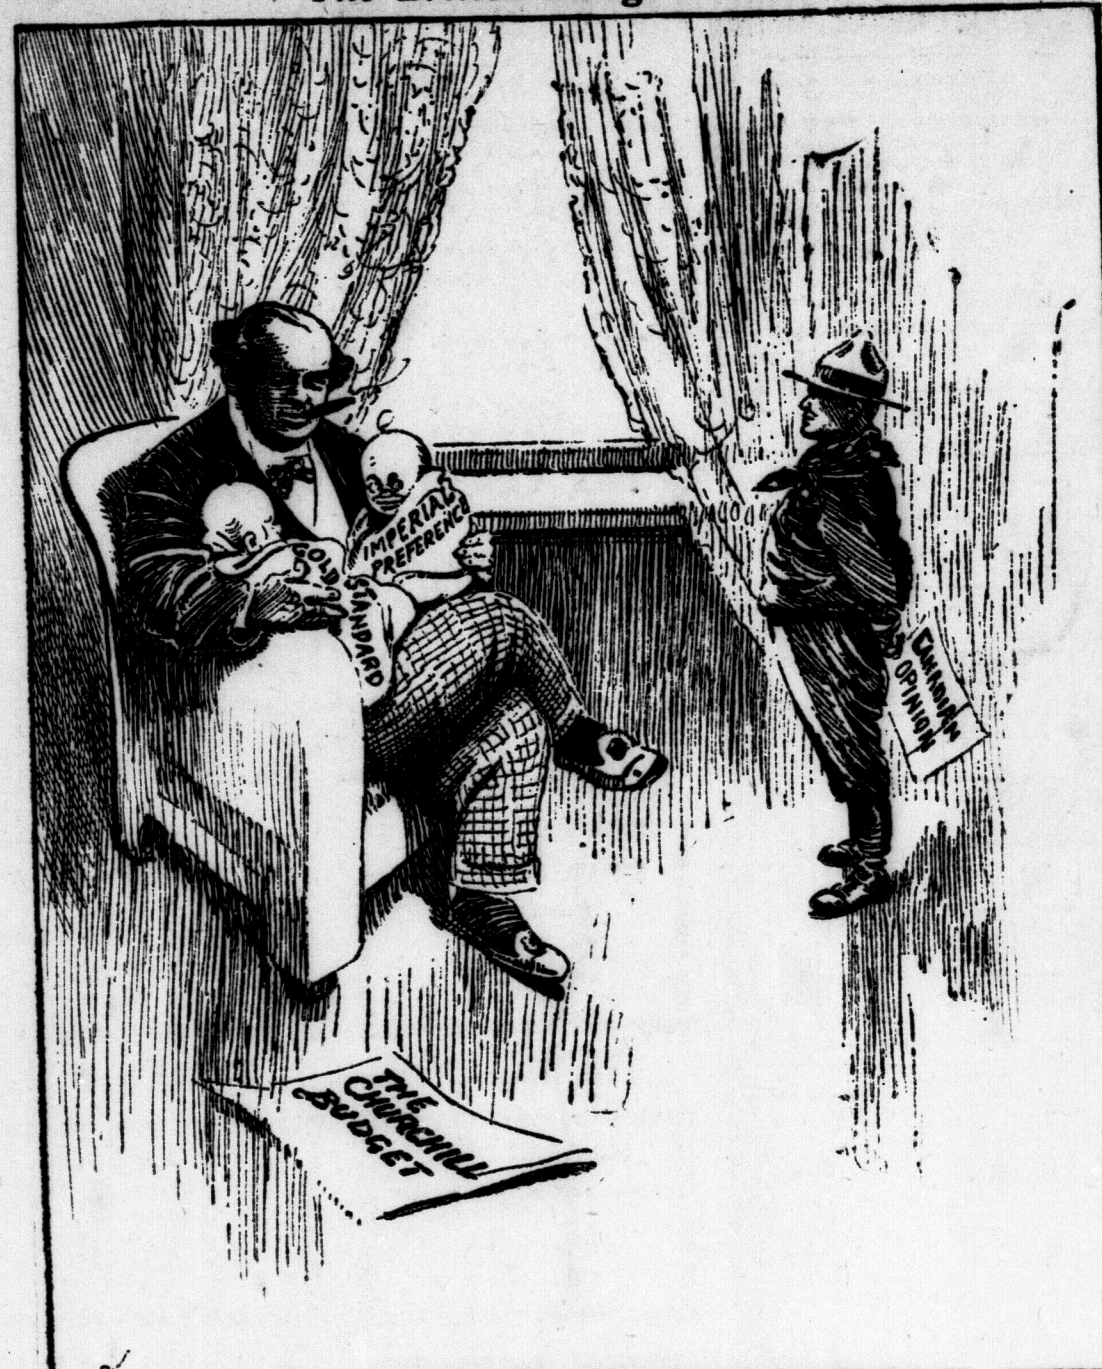

Doctor (after removing his barber's appendix)—"And now, my dear sir, how about a little liver or thyroid operation? And your tonsils need trimmin' terribly."

A Poor Risk, Anyhow.

Agent—"You had better let me write that insurance for you, Rastus."

Rastus—"No, sah, boss; I is not too safe at home, as it is, sah."

Mr. Churchill: "He seems to recognize you, Johnny."

THOMAS HUSSER BURIED FROM BROTHER'S HOME

Suffered Paralytic Stroke Two Weeks Ago—Widely Known.

Special to The Advertiser.

Sparta, April 30.—The funeral of the late Thomas Husser was held this afternoon from the residence of William G. Husser, 755 Quebec street, London. The Rev. C. W. Bistol conducted the services at the house and at the grave. Interment was made in Siloam cemetery in the family plot.

He was the eldest son of the late Frederick A. and Alice Husser. He was born Nov. 20, 1858, at Kendal, Westmoreland, England, and emigrated with his parents to Canada in 1862, and spent five years in Scarborough township. In 1868 they moved to London township between Hyde Park and Melrose, where they lived for many years. For the past 20 years he had lived on Adelaide street, London, about one mile north of the city limits.

Two weeks ago Mr. Husser was taken with a paralytic stroke, followed by more severe ones almost immediately, so that he became helpless and unconscious.

He was a Conservative in politics, and at one time a prominent member of the Masonic order at Lobo village. For several years he was a member of the Presbyterian church at Hyde Park during the pastorate of the late Rev. Alexander Henderson.

He was unmarried. He belonged to a family of six sons and three daughters, three of whom remain to mourn his decease, namely, Rev. Dr. Husser of Sparta, Mrs. James N. Barter, and

MONUMENTS OF INDIANS.

Anthropology is a formidable name, but an interesting science. Briefly, it may be accepted as meaning the study of man in general. To that study no race has provided a more interesting problem than the North American Indian, whose origin is more or less surrounded in mystery. Consider, for instance, the totem poles of the Indians of British Columbia. What relations exist between these curious monuments to valorous redmen and the gaudy banners of the Chinese, or the crude carved obelisks of the Egyptians? Perhaps none, but it is a fact that these totem poles constitute a distinct type of art, which has much symmetry of color and design, though first appearances may appear to be to the contrary.

Totem poles are not the vague creations of idle men. They are carefully thought out and executed records of deeds well done, and they provide an open book for those who have the knowledge to read.

Nowhere are finer examples of these totem poles to be found than in some of the Indian villages on the route of the Canadian National Railway, between Jasper and Prince Rupert, a part of the famous triangle tour in British Columbia. At Jasper there is a fine specimen, brought from the Queen Charlotte islands and erected intact beside the Jasper station. But the greatest collection is located at Kitwanga, on the Skeena river. This is one of the oldest places of northern British Columbia, and trains stop to allow passengers to view the poles, and it is safe to say that next to Niagara Falls, this little village is almost the most photographed spot in Canada. That in itself tells the appeal these poles make to the imagination of the tourist. Another proof is the fact that it is almost always impossible to get the train out of the village on time, because there are always some passengers who desire to linger longer with these striking monuments of an ancient race.—Advt. b

OIL MEN TO LOSE FEDERAL BOUNTY

Hope That Original Rate To Be Restored Is Dashed.

COMES AS SHOCK

Producers of oil in the Petrolia district who had been looking for some word from Ottawa to the effect that the remaining half of their government bounty on production might be retained, have received instead word from the supervisor of the bounty office to have their tanks cleared out by the end of June, as after that date there will be no bounty forthcoming.

Half the bounty was taken off on the first of July last year, and the remainder will be cancelled on the same date this year. The notice to the producers is as follows:

Dear Sir,—According to the act respecting the payment of bounty on crude petroleum, chap. 68, no bounty shall be paid on crude petroleum produced on or after July 1, 1925.

I have therefore to ask that the producer forward his claim for bounty to this office on July 1, or as soon after that date as possible.

Some of the petroleum produced on or before June 30 cannot possibly be delivered to the purchaser in the month of June. However, in every possible case I would like the producer to clean out his tank right up to June 30, and have all the petroleum produced on or before June 30, 1925, delivered to the purchaser before July 1, 1925.

In the few cases where the above procedure is impossible, the producer, in making claim for bounty, should state clearly on his claim form that the petroleum was produced in June, but could not possibly be delivered until July.—Yours respectfully, (Sgd.) W. D. McDERMID, Supervisor, Crude Petroleum Bounties.

Sunken Steamer Has Disappeared

Glenlyon, Wrecked in November, Now Entirely Covered.

Canadian Press Despatch. Port Arthur, April 30.—Captain Smith of the steamer America reported today on his arrival in port that the steamer Glenlyon of the Great Lakes Transportation Company, which went on the rocks at the entrance to Siskiwit Bay last November during a heavy gale, has disappeared below the surface, and no trace of the vessel can be seen.

THERE is only one McCLARY'S Tor-Red (Protected) Element and it does each and every one of these things:

Heats Quickly—By building up and multiplying the heat, instead of dissipating it into the air.

Retains Heat—The Tor-Red (Protected) Element retains heat and once heated will cook on "low" or "off" with stored heat.

Toasts Perfectly—Without risk of short circuit by crumbs getting into, or toaster coming in contact with the wiring.

Cooks After Current Turned Off—The stored heat in Tor-Red (Protected) Elements keeps them at cooking heat long after the current is turned off.

Saves Current—Because of the stored heat.

Reduces Repairs—Because nothing can get into the Elements by pots boiling over or dust or crumbs dropping on to the wiring.

Lasts Longer—Being protected, McClary's Tor-Red Elements need no-cleaning or brushing, avoiding burnouts.

Ask your Hydro or electrical dealer to fully demonstrate for you the special features of

McClary's Electric Range

Or write for descriptive booklet to McClary's, London, Toronto, Montreal, Winnipeg, Vancouver, St. John, N.B., Hamilton, Calgary, Saskatoon and Edmonton.

THE NIGHT OF THE WEDDING

By C. N. and A. M. WILLIAMSON.
Copyright, 1924, by Public Ledger Company.

INSTALLMENT VIII. WHO'S WHO IN THE STORY.

EVELYN HASTE, beautiful and rich girl, who sits down at the piano on her wedding night—and mysteriously disappears.

KENNEDY HASTE, her husband, who suspects complicity on the part of his old war comrade.

SIR RAWDON WELLS, an amateur scientist, who has insisted on lending the couple Hidden Hall Court, his gloomy and mystery-ridden estate, for their honeymoon, and who is found after the disappearance, in a secret chamber.

PANDORA, a crowsy-like girl, adopted sister of Kennedy, and secretly in love with Wells.

MISS GILLET, an ex-war nurse, who fell in love with Haste in a hospital, and who is an intense person.

The Gypsy Girl.
"Do you mean, miss," asked Anson, "that you—were jealous of Miss Carroll?"
"Yes, I was, frightfully jealous," flashed out Pan. "I didn't know what jealousy could be till I saw Kennedy Haste—infatuated with a girl of her sort. I must have a terrible nature, I suppose. I wouldn't have stopped at anything—at anything. I tell you—to separate them."

The police sergeant from Ardrey-le-Mare stared at the girl. What revelation was she going to make? He had flattered himself that he knew fairly well what women, young and old, were capable of in their different types. Yet, if this gypsy child were about to confess a crime, all his convictions would be shaken. "Well, but you didn't separate them," he said soothingly. "They were married today."

"I did everything I could to prevent them from being married," Pan assured him. "I wrote anonymous letters—"

"What—you did? You don't look like a young lady who would do such a thing as that."

"I don't know what I look like, and I don't care," the girl cried. "They were married in spite of me. But I just couldn't stand it. I begged Kennedy to let me come and stay here. He wouldn't. Still, I didn't give up my plan in spite of that. I took a taxi and drove down alone."

"What was your plan?" Anson questioned her in a kind of fearful fascination. He seemed to be dreaming this scene—dreaming that a charming young girl had turned into a demon before his astonished eyes.

"My plan was to part Evelyn Carroll and my brother."

"How could a girl like you part them?" the sergeant inquired, still half unconsciously humoring Miss Haste, as if she had been a precociously naughty child. Then suddenly it struck him that he was leading her upon a wrong track. Child or demon, he had no right to do that!

"But," he added hastily, before she could speak, "it's my duty to warn you not to say anything which can be used in evidence against you later. You see, I'm keeping notes in my book here of all the information I get in this case, and if you—"

"I want what I say to be used against me," the strange girl broke in.

"That's why I sent word to you I had a statement to make. I may be bad, but—I'm not quite bad enough to let my suit fall on anyone's shoulders except my own."

"What suit are you talking about, miss?" Anson tried to ask her. He had begun to form a theory now that she was hysterical as many young girls are, and was accusing herself of some fantastic crime for sheer vanity and excitement's sake.

"I have—I have done away with Evelyn," the answer came from white, dry lips. "She will not be able to spoil my brother's life any longer."

"Good heavens, miss!" broke out Anson. "You don't want me to believe you've murdered Mrs. Haste?"

"I don't care whether you believe it or not, so long as you don't believe it of any innocent person."

She was glaring at him now like a young fury. Or was it that she had nearly reached the end of her endurance, and was afraid of herself?

Anson lost his head a little and roared at her: "Did you kill your sister-in-law, or did you not—if you want to make your statement?"

Pandora Haste's defiant young face suddenly took on a look of slyness. "I have made all the statement I care to make," she hedged. "I've told you that no one's guilty except myself. I don't need to go any further, do I? You warned me yourself just now that everything I said would be used in evidence against me. Whatever has happened to Evelyn Carroll I am responsible for, and nobody else. As to what has happened—why, you police people may find that out for yourselves—if you can!"

The man felt as if the girl had stuck out one of her little feet for him to stumble over, and sent him blundering up against a blank wall. He had never met any one like her, and had never had such an experience as this. He did not know what to think. But he could not help being relieved by the possibility of saving Sir Rawdon Wells. If that creditable young creature had in fact "done away" with Kennedy Haste's wife, the burden of suspicion would soon be lifted from the master of Hidden Hall Court.

"Well, that's up to us, I suppose—finding out what did happen. And we're bound to do it before long," he boasted. "But you say you don't want any one else to be wrongly suspected, if you did the thing—whatever it was—how about that blood mark on the floor? I don't mind telling you that Sir Rawdon Wells offered to measure his foot with the print, and it fitted."

"Oh!" the girl choked a little. "I did that on a first impulse. I was sorry afterward."

"What did you do?"

"Took a boot of Sir Rawdon's and—dipped it in some blood, and put it there on the floor. You see, I knew about the secret door. He showed it to me himself one afternoon, though he didn't tell many people about it. He took me down to his laboratory that day, and let me watch one of his experiments. He was trying to make a new anesthetic. I stole a little sample bottle of the stuff. I thought it might be handy by and by. I don't mind telling you this one thing more: I used some of it tonight. Look at this—and smell at it!" She snatched from a smart little breast pocket in her blouse a handkerchief, and laid it on the desk before the police sergeant.

It was the handkerchief she had picked up from the floor of the music room; Eve's handkerchief, marked with her monogram and scented with her perfume—scented also with something else.

"E. R. C." Anson read the initials. "Evelyn Rosemary Carroll."

"I must keep this, you know," he said.

"Of course!"

"You say you dipped a boot of Sir Rawdon's in some blood? But blood isn't as easy to get at as water."

"I'm not going to tell you about that," Pan answered. "That is one of the things you'll have to find out for yourself."

"But—but do you understand that on the strength of what you have told me, miss, I don't see how I can do anything else except arrest you?"

Anson was looking at her in a troubled, dazed way as he spoke, somewhat as if he'd caught a mermaid and must provide quarters for it. He saw her heart at the last words, and shiver all over. Then she bit her lip and lifted her chin high—a pretty chin with a childish dimple in it.

"Naturally!" she said. "Who breaks—says. One must expect that. I hope there's a nice clean prison in Ardrey-le-Mare!"

As a matter of fact Ardrey-le-Mare was proud of its "prison," which consisted of a certain number of cells attached to the police station. But the thought of shutting up this orchid-girl in one of them nearly drove Anson out of his wits. She would have to go there tonight. There was no help for it, after what she had said. Or was there none? The wretched man racked his brain for some hint given by past experience.

Groping wildly he reminded himself that she hadn't confessed to murder, and there was as yet no actual proof that murder had been done. Could the girl be detained in this house until she had to appear before the magistrates tomorrow, instead of being led to the police station like a white lamb calling itself a wolf?

But no. There were the blood-stains in the music room where Mrs. Haste was known to have been playing the piano just before she disappeared. There was that queer smelling stuff that overpowered the scent on her own monogrammed handkerchief—stuff which the girl proclaimed to be a new anaesthetic stolen by her from Sir Rawdon's laboratory. And more incriminating still—in connection with the fact that avowedly Miss Haste knew all about the cellar where the great furnace was—appeared her voluntary confession, which she had not told yet what she had done with that boot. But a pair had been found partly destroyed in the furnace. And bones—apparently human bones—had been found there also. Oh, the evidence was black! No excuse could be found for letting a person suspected of such a crime remain virtually free for a single night!

"The girl will have to go," he decided, eyeing her gloomily. And then aloud he inquired if she wished to name anyone to defend her.

"Defend me? I don't know what you mean," she said, looking hunted. Anson explained. She would have to appear in court before the magistrates tomorrow, at Ardrey-le-Mare. She must have a solicitor, unless she wanted to trust her case to the police court lawyer, a man who appeared for accused persons if they could not afford to engage one on their own account.

Pandora's air of defiance had changed to one of utter fatigue, a kind of physical indifference. "It doesn't matter," she said. "I don't know anything about lawyers. I suppose my brother has one. Perhaps he—"

"That would hardly do," said the police sergeant, still in the dream of strangeness which compelled him to advise a self-confessed criminal in his charge. "You seem to forget that you made an enemy of your adopted brother. You couldn't possibly be represented by a man enraged by Captain Haste."

"That is true," the girl agreed. "I had forgotten. Of course, Ken will always hate me now. Tears gathered in her big eyes again, and dripped over her cheeks. She did not seem to know that she was crying. She sat staring into space.

"Well, I will see what can be done," Anson said, trying to steel his heart against the strange child and forget her youth. "I shall have to take you over to Ardrey-le-Mare presently. But it isn't too late yet. If you've gone out of your head and imagined all this, why, now's the time to tell me."

"I haven't imagined it," she answered, dully. "I've nothing more to tell—nothing to take back."

Rawdon Wells did not know where to go in his own house. The music room was closed also. The whole place was unhomelike, unfriendly, even hateful to the master of the house. He wandered about the great hall like a lost spirit, staring vaguely at pictures of his ancestors and envying them because they had been comfortably dead for a long time. He wished to be anyone rather than himself, and thought of the future as unbearable.

A Bicycle Built for Two!

Of course, you would not often see a C.C.M. Bicycle carrying two people as shown in the picture.

But it is amply strong enough to do so. A C.C.M. is in reality "A Bicycle Built For Two".

This surplus strength is built into the C.C.M. without adding an ounce of unnecessary weight. It is achieved by the use of the very best materials, by special reinforcements of the frame and by rigidity of construction.

This reserve strength is more important than you might, at first, think. It means safety for the rider and long life for the bicycle. The C.C.M. will withstand unusual strains, sudden jolts, unexpected jars far better than a cheaper machine, while bumping over ruts, railway crossings, stones and rough ground is all in the day's work for the C.C.M.

As an example of the reserve strength of the C.C.M., take the frame. It is not of just ordinary quality. It is of English Seamless Tubing, reinforced at the joints. The forks, too, have a drop forged crown, making them practically unbreakable. The bearings are of flint-hard steel. The spokes of specially-drawn and heat-treated wire. The rims of clear maple, tested for strength.

In fact, every one of the 1,761 parts of a C.C.M. is of superior quality and strength. And when you have

1,761 parts, all of superior quality and strength, the result is a bicycle with a wide margin of safety, superiority and long life—in truth, "A Bicycle Built for Two".

Slip into the C.C.M. dealer's. He will be glad to tell you more about the C.C.M. and show you the new models for men, women, boys and girls.

Prices Again Reduced

This year C.C.M. prices have again been reduced. They are now selling at the lowest prices since pre-war days—$20 to $25 less than the after-war "peak" prices. A Big Dollar's value for every dollar you invest.

The new 1925 C.C.M. catalogue, profusely illustrated, free from the nearest C.C.M. dealer or from any C.C.M. office.

WOMEN and THE HOME

LONDON WOMEN OPENING HOMES

Provincial W. M. S. of Presbyterian Church Convenes Here Next Week.

London will be the mecca for visitors next week, when the annual meeting of the Ontario Provincial W. M. S. of the Presbyterian church opens on Monday in St. Andrew's church. London hostesses are opening their homes and Mrs. Archie Macpherson, the billeting convener, is arranging for this hospitality to the guests.

Many distinguished women will be in the city in this connection. Officers and speakers and superintendents of departments with their hostesses are as follows:

Mrs. J. D. Walker, Toronto, president, with Mrs. H. H. Young, Dufferin avenue.
Mrs. McQuesten, Hamilton, honorary president, at the Tecumseh.
Mrs. J. M. Duncan, Toronto, first vice-president, with Mrs. F. Ballantyne, Thornton avenue.
Mrs. E. E. Kitchen, St. George, honorary vice-president, and Mrs. W. J. Haddow, forward movement secretary, with Mrs. C. A. Whitman, Waterloo street.
Mrs. James Hamilton, Goderich, third vice-president, with Mrs. H. H. Rennie, Maitland street.
Miss Aglue and Miss A. C. E. A.

Symbol

My faith is all a doubtful thing,
I move on a doubtful loom—
Until there comes, each shower
A cherry tree in bloom.

And Christ who died upon a tree,
That death had stricken bare,
Comes beautifully back to me,
In blossoms everywhere.

FIRST "AT HOME" GIVEN BY WOMEN

Elmwood Avenue Church Is Mecca For Many Callers—Excellent Program.

A charming social event of yesterday afternoon was the first "At Home" given by the ladies of the Elmwood avenue continuing Presbyterian church at their lovely new church home. Between 200 and 400 women from other Presbyterian churches in the city were welcomed by the president, Mrs. W. A. Reid, who was assisted in receiving by Mrs. William Love, Mrs. W. E. Kelley and Mrs. T. C. McCullough.

The delightful afternoon was featured by a tour of the home, the guests later returning to the drawing-room, where a cosy fire added to the attractiveness of the room. A spring atmosphere invaded the spacious room through the medium of many spring blooms—tulips, daffodils and June blossoms.

During the afternoon a very pleasing program was presented, including violin solos by Miss Bryden, accompanied by Miss Mary Weston, vocal solos by Miss Finlay, accompanied by Mrs. T. D. McCullough, and Mrs. Harmon Westland, accompanied by Mrs. McIsaac, and a piano number by Miss Eleanor Pollock.

It was a pleasure on the part of the hostesses to have as special guest Mrs. George Craig, who is leaving the city shortly, and the ladies were very glad to be able to have their "At Home" before she left for her new home.

Afternoon tea was served at the conclusion of the program, from a table prettily arranged with shining silver and centered with a large silver basket of golden daffodils. Mrs. Archie MacDonald and Mrs. Charles Mitchell poured out tea, and responsible for this successful house-warming were Mrs. Colin McCallum and Mrs. W. H. Graham.

ONTARIO TO HAVE GUIDES TRAINER

New Officer Will Be Appointed by Executive in September.

That Ontario is to have a fully qualified girl guide trainer was the decision made at this week's meeting of the provincial girl guide council executive, over which Mrs. E. B. Smith, of this city, presided as provincial commissioner. The new guide trainer will have her headquarters in London and her work will be to give expert training to guides and guides throughout the province.

The girl guide work has been advancing rapidly during the past year in the province. Ninety-one new companies have been formed and many more would be available for advancement if training could be secured for officers and guides. The appointment of the new officer will be made in September. Arrangements were made to hold the next annual meeting in March in this city, the session to last two days.

Jimmy Skunk Stops An Automobile and Entirely Satisfies His Curiosity

By THORNTON W. BURGESS.
That is Jimmy all over. He believes in standing at all times for his rights, but at the same time he is polite about it. He knows that on the whole it is better to be more apt to get what he wants than one who loses his temper.

"Politeness," says Jimmy Skunk, "is the most paying thing I know of. It costs nothing but a little self control and it wins out where anger and rudeness lose out." And Jimmy is quite right about it.

Now Jimmy Skunk has his full share of curiosity. He likes to know all about everything so far as possible. That great monster with the glaring eyes like great moons which had tried to frighten him out of the old wood road and had failed, puzzled him. He wanted to see it again. It was new to him. Never had he heard of such a creature. It wasn't to be feared, for hadn't it gone around him last night? It was afraid of him just as everybody else was. Jimmy was sure of it.

So here he was this very next night, ambled out to that road in the hope that that monster would again give him a chance to see what it looked like. He was disappointed. The monster didn't appear and finally Jimmy gave up and went back to the Old Orchard to hunt for White Grubs. But late the following afternoon Jimmy was back there at the edge of the old road. He intended to be in time anyway.

He had been there but a few minutes when he heard a queer noise down the road around a turn. Jimmy stepped out in one of the wheel ruts and looked down the road inquiringly. The noise grew louder. Then around the turn came the great creature he had hoped to see. At least Jimmy supposed it to be the same one he had seen in the night. It had the same great eyes, only they did not glow with light. They were quite ready to move on. The honking stopped. A man's voice shouted at him. Jimmy almost grinned to himself as he looked a bluish and saw the head and shoulders of one of those two-legged

ORENDAGA WILL HAVE NEW TROPHY

Carved Log, Placed Above Fireplace, Will Honor Winning Team.

Orendaga Camp at Port Bruce is to have a new trophy this year in the form of a carved log, placed above the fireplace. This log will bear names of the members of Miss Margaret Showler's team, which brought in the greatest results in the 1923 drive for the new lodge.

Decision to give such a trophy was made at yesterday's meeting of the executive of the camper's association held at Lenmore. The president, Miss Thelma Tummonds, occupied the chair. Arrangements were also made for the formal opening of Orendaga on May 24. On this day a small ceremony will take place at the camp during which the trophy will be presented to Miss Showler's team. The camps begin in June. A permanent crest for the trophy was also decided upon although a design has not yet been chosen.

FIRST FIELD DAY HELD AT HIGHLAND

Mrs. Emerson Nichols Wins First Honors—Many Women Enter Contests.

Of interest to lady golfers was the first monthly medal handicap arranged at the Highland Golf club yesterday afternoon by the women's golf committee, when a great many of the members turned out for the opening field day.

Mrs. Emerson Nichols won the first honors of the event, carrying off the first silver medal. The second was won by Mrs. A. M. Jarvis and Mrs. Collyer and Miss A. Bartgum tied for third place. In the bronze series Mrs. C. E. Marley and Mrs. W. Turville tied for first place, while Miss A. Porte was a close second. The afternoon was voted a very successful one, though the weather was rather doubtful. Following the contests, many of the players remained for afternoon tea at the clubhouse.

LISTOWEL W. M. S.
Listowel, April 30.—The annual meeting of the Methodist church was held recently, when the following officers were elected: Honorary president, Mrs. Hunt; president, Mrs. S. Adolph; first vice, Mrs. Bartley; second vice, Mrs. J. C. McDonald; third vice, Mrs. Purcell; treasurer, Mrs. J. P. Walter; corresponding secretary, Mrs. J. Fair; recording secretary, Mrs. F. Von Zuben; pianist, Mrs. S. Large; Temperance Herald, Mrs. Cavell; stranger secretary, Mrs. R. Seaman; Christian stewardship, Mrs. T. J. Smith; heralds, China, Mrs. A. Zurek; Japan, Mrs. Sanderson; India, Mrs. Clarke; Oriental and French, Mrs. Davey; envelope stewards, Mrs. W. Kargess and Mrs. Wm. Squires. Mrs. M. R. Kay will conduct the mission study book. Mrs. Fred Von Zuben was appointed to the district convention at Sarnia on May 26, 27 and 28.

The local auxiliary of the W. M. S. received a gift of $50 from the late Miss Wherry.

ASKIN ORCHESTRA SCORES SUCCESS

Appears in Brilliant Program in Church Auditorium Last Night.

The magnificent orchestra of the Askin Street Methodist Church appeared before the public in a very fine recital last night. This orchestra, which for the past two years has carried off the shield at the Ontario Musical Festival in Toronto, has been working energetically this year under the able direction of Dr. James H. Smith, the conductor.

Last night's concert showed that the tone is improving in this aggregation of instruments which was able to carry off the honors before orchestras from larger cities. Thirty-five players form the orchestra, each player an artist of no small ability. The resultant tone is big and controlled. The ensemble plays with finish and artistry, each section well trained and ready for its part.

Ambitious Numbers.
The program last night began with two very ambitious numbers, the first movement of Haydn's "Military Symphony" and "Terry Wives of Windsor Overture," the latter number having been a test selection at the musical festival competition last year. Although both of these numbers are such as would try an orchestra much older in organization and musical experience, the Askin street orchestra is able to play them worthily.

The program also included "Woodland Sketches," a lovely little number from the works of MacDowell, "Chinese Temple Garden," by Kettelby, into which the orchestra put all the delightful atmosphere of the Orient, and "The God's Patrol March," which was beautifully rendered. The work of the orchestra included also several lighter numbers, which were received with enthusiasm and great applause. Altogether its performance was a brilliant one.

Assisting Artists.
The orchestra was assisted by Miss Frances Cullis, whose lovely contralto voice was heard in several attractive numbers. A second assisting artist was Percy King, bass, whose solos added greatly to the enjoyment of the evening.

One of the most popular numbers was an instrumental trio, brilliantly rendered, with W. Morlock at the violin; Jack Chapman at the flute, and Miss F. West at the piano. A mazurka was cleverly played on the violin by Master Billy Bending, who rounded out a program which was altogether satisfactory.

Mr. J. F. Maine acted as chairman for the occasion.
At the conclusion of the concert the orchestra members and assisting artists were entertained to supper by the officers and assistants of the Sunday school, under the convenship of Mr. F. Smith.

COUNTY WOMEN WILL ENTER COMPETITIONS

Team From Middlesex To Take Part at Toronto Exhibition.

The Middlesex department of agriculture is already making preparations for taking a team of young women to compete at the Toronto fair in the domestic science competition.

R. A. Finn and his assistant J. F. Andrew are organizing inter-county competitions in Middlesex among the girls and a strong team will then be picked for the Canadian National Exhibition.

THE WORLD OF SPORT

Bill Marsden Secured by Western University

Famous Aura Lee Coach Arranging To Come To London.

ASSISTANT COACH

The biggest sensation Western University has ever known in its athletic way came yesterday in the announcement that Bill Marsden, famous cricketer, soccer and rugby player and hockey coach and manager of Toronto Aura Lee, had been secured as field manager at the local school.

Marsden's connection with Western University presents big things for athletics in almost every line.

The news that the Toronto Avenue road organization was no more, had not been abroad a week before Marsden had four outstanding offers for his services in connection with athletics. Three of them were from clubs who desired his services for next winter as coach and manager of their hockey teams. Two offers were from across the border. The fourth offer—the one Marsden accepted—was from Western University. Western University wanted Marsden to take charge of its big new athletic field.

Naturally, Marsden's valuable knowledge in connection with all branches of active sport will be utilized to the full by the authorities at the university. The loss of Bill Marsden will leave a hole in amateur hockey in Toronto. He was with Aura Lee for 19 years and during that time Aura Lee hockey teams under him won championships of every description from midget city league to junior O. H. A.

Marsden will move here within the month and, according to university officials, will advise on the laying out of the campus. Marsden, as an athlete, cricketer, knicker, soccer and hockey player, will be a great help in the work of green keeping and his duties, other than coaching, will be in this direction.

Coach Charles Fickley will still have charge of the football team, but Marsden, as one of the best conditions of players in the Dominion, will be assistant coach. He was a fine rugby player himself in the old days and is a keen student of the game.

However, it has been as a hockey coach that Marsden has been most noted.

'Iron Man' Joe Opened 20 Years Ago; Still At It

By AL DEMARE (Former Pitcher, M. Y. Giants)

Twenty years ago today, before a crowd of 40,000 people, "Iron Man" Joe McGinnity pitched the opening game of the season against the Boston Beaneaters, defeating them 10 to 1. Interestingly enough, although this is his 34th year at professional ball, McGinnity intends to pitch this year the opening game for the Dubuque, Iowa, club of which he is manager.

Following McGinnity's game twenty years ago, "Iron Man" Joe allowed only three hits, two of which were by the one-liner himself. He made a three-bagger himself.

PETTY POLICY OF CONSERVATIVES ROUNDLY FLAYED BY PREMIER KING IN CLOSING OUT DEBATE ON BUDGET

Gets a Tremendous Ovation
When He Rescues Truth
From Opposition Mire.

FOILS ALL ATTACKS

Shows Government Did Not Use Subterfuge in Budget Statement.

Ottawa, May 1.—Not since the present government came into office has such an eloquent and such an effective justification of its policy and its course been given as was contained in the speech of the prime minister last night; seldom perhaps, has an opposition received such a castigation as the Meighen party received at his hands. Mr. King not only completely demolished the entire criticism which the opposition has been developing for the past month, exposing the fallacy of the case it has sought to make against the administration, and at the same time supplied an equally effective answer to the complaints of the Progressive party; he presented the record of the government and the position of the country under his ministry in terms well calculated to satisfy the intelligent expectations of the public.

Liberals Cheer.

At the conclusion of his address the Liberal side of the house went wild with enthusiasm, no such applause having been heard hitherto in the life of the present parliament. The battering of desks continued for several minutes, and members tossed the contents of their desks into the air.

It is generally conceded that the prime minister has very materially strengthened the position of his government by his exceptional utterance yesterday, and that another result will be to force a change of tactics on the Meighen opposition, if not on the progressives as well.

In fact, toward the conclusion of his speech Mr. King gave significant warning that a continuance of present tactics in the House of Commons would result in an early dissolution of parliament and a direct appeal to the country for a mandate to the ministry to go ahead with business as the government has desired to do in this respect. The prime minister declared that the government would not tolerate having the business of parliament held up as it has been held up since the early part of the session. The government had legislation ready for introduction, and it could have been proceeding with it, but for the blocking tactics of the opposition. Its desire now was to proceed with it. But the government had no intention of doing this through the summer months. Rather than that, the prime minister would request the governor-general to dissolve parliament, and an election would be held on the issue of the government's purpose to go ahead with the business of the country in the manner indicated.

Appeals to Progressives.

Mr. King made a direct appeal to Progressive party to give the government on the present budget the support they had afforded it in past sessions, to take the broad views of the interests of the nation, rather than a sectional view. Asking them to put aside their theoretical stand on the tariff question, especially in connection with the duty on soft coal, increased by the very pressing needs of the maritimes, he suggested that they remember the helping hand stretched out to them last session on tariff reductions for their benefit.

"You have an opportunity by your action on this budget to show that you are something more than sectionalists—that you have some broad vision, that you are thinking first of Canada as a whole, not of the particular little constituency from which you may come," he said. "May I say this also in justice to your constituents? I should feel pretty badly if I thought that any group of men and women in Western Canada in the constituencies from which you come would not respond to an attitude of that kind, and would not rather condemn you if you failed to take it. But you have your chance on this budget, and it is for you to say. It has been from this larger point of view, from the point of view of national interest, that the whole of national economy, national well-being and goodwill, that the government has taken the stand that it has on the tariff question at this particular session."

Served Country Well.

Continuing his appeal at the conclusion of his address, he said: "In the short time that we have been in office of some three years or more, we have reduced the cost of the public service. More than that, we are able to point to a vast increase in the trade of the country, to the growing of national unity, to an improvement in our credit, to the circumstance that not only is our money at par, but if you will buy an evening paper, you will see what I read tonight in large letters: 'Canadian dollar quoted at a premium.' Having regard to all these circumstances I think the government is entitled at least by Mr. King to men who have promised honest cooperation where the government sought to serve the country's interest, to give it support in the budget which it has brought down at this session."

Before proceeding to show that while his government, accused of not having practiced economy or reducing taxation, had done both these things and on a scale for which might well be proud, Mr. King took up the charge that the budget had been introduced before the end of the fiscal year in order to make a better showing. He did so in a manner to give cheerful news to the country. He showed that the financial situation had proved to be vastly better at the end of the fiscal year, March 31, than the acting minister of finances estimated it.

Shames Meighen.

Premier King, at the opening of his speech, said that Mr. Meighen had departed from the rules of the house in declining to discuss fiscal matters in this budget debate, which was the debate set apart by parliament for the express purpose of discussing the

Premier To Go To People Unless Tories Mend Way

Canadian Press Despatch.

Ottawa, April 30.—With his followers wildly applauding, Premier King unequivocally declared in the House of Commons tonight that if more progress were not made with the legislation parliament would be dissolved.

"I want to make it perfectly clear that this government does not intend to stay through the summer months trying to carry on the business of this country because honorable gentlemen opposite wish to go in opposite directions at the same time," he said.

"I will say here right now," Premier King added, "that if the government finds it impossible to carry on the business of the country in an expeditious and satisfactory manner I shall not hesitate for one moment to ask His Excellency to dissolve this house."

Mr. Meighen had had ample opportunity during this prolonged debate of presenting his tariff policy. The premier could not understand why he had not done so, "unless he is ashamed or afraid of his own offspring." His reason for not introducing his protection manifesto as an amendment to the budget might be that he knew that if he had done so "it would have been so overwhelmed with adverse votes that he would have been even more ashamed of it than he is at the present moment."

The government had done everything to expedite public business, said Mr. King, believing that the Canadian people did not want the session to be over-long. This session had appeared to be going along expeditiously when, for some reason or other, the opposition had begun to obstruct and delay the business of this house in an unreasonable manner and in a manner without precedent. The resolution to bring in the ocean rates bill had been held up seven days and then the Conservatives had complained because the government brought on a division. In contrast it was interesting to recall the fact that the resolution preceding the bill for the acquisition of the Canadian National Railways had been forced through the House by the late Conservative government and no debate at all was permitted.

Mr. Meighen interrupted to deny this. Mr. King quoted from Hansard that the Speaker of the day had ruled the motion not debatable and called a snap division.

Mr. Meighen protested bitterly that he was being blamed for a Speaker's ruling.

The premier accused him ironically of a "fine spirit of chivalry" in blaming a Speaker who was no longer in the House. A little while ago he had blamed his private secretary for inaccurate figures. Probably most of his other statements were as misleading.

Mr. Meighen jumped to his feet and angrily exclaimed that he took full responsibility for the immigration figures he had quoted. What he had said was that the figures came from the minister of immigration through his secretary, and the minister was responsible for their accuracy. The premier went on to denounce instances in the present session when he thought the business of the House had been unduly delayed by the opposition.

The reason for this delay, according to information received by him, was that it was thought that the government might go to the country this year, possibly in June, and the Conservatives did not want this. "Could a higher compliment be paid to this administration?" asked the premier.

Replies to Insinuations.

The premier said the point of Mr. Meighen's speech had been that the government had not taken into account railway expenditures in its financial statement. It had become direct statements, and the government had been charged with a method of making up its accounts calculated to deceive the house. It had been charged that the guaranteed amounts to the railways had not been included and thus the method of bookkeeping had been altered. Mr. King read a certificate of the Edward Morgan Company, chartered accountants, Toronto, stating that the accounts with other years in the matter of railway accounts. The auditors were the same as were employed by the last administration in 1920.

The Conservatives were responsible for having purchased the Grand Trunk Railways and making it a charge upon the country. Now they were trying to indict the government for the present situation, though they had no responsibility for introducing the program. Speaking of the administration of the railways, "which was kept free from politics," Premier King said: "I think that the country is pretty well satisfied that Henry Thornton is the best executive it is possible to find under the sun." The government would take the responsibility for that appointment.

Seek Tax Reduction.

Mr. King admitted that it was always desirable to reduce taxation if possible. The reason that this government found it extremely difficult to do so was "because of the legacies left by honorable gentlemen opposite." The whole cost of the war had been financed out of borrowed money, and the interest on that alone amounted to ninety million dollars a year. In addition to paying for the war by borrowing, the former government, he said, had used borrowed money to the extent of thirteen million dollars to meet its deficits. The Conservatives had financed in a way which made it extremely difficult for their successors. They had issued large blocks of tax-exempt bonds, which were outstanding now to the extent of $93,597,900. The government was called upon to pay interest on these bonds every year amounting to $50,307,460. But it could collect no revenue. It was estimated that the loss of income for the present year alone as a result of this would amount to $18,467,558. "Honorable gentlemen opposite paid ten million dollars for the stock of the Canadian Northern Railway which, according to the former minister of finance, wasn't worth five cents," declared Premier King, amid the applause of his supporters. The Conservatives had put upon the government a mortgage amounting to nearly two billions, which would have to be met for some time to come. As far as the Canadian National Railway was concerned, deficits on the system had dropped from seventy to fifty millions per annum with the change of government. Mr. King claimed that for every four dollars which the former government had spent, the present government was spending three.

Other Improvements.

The premier reviewed changes in the civil service and other economies the government had been trying to make. Reduction in taxation of 25 per cent had been made as compared with 1921. The general tendency had been toward a reduction in the cost of living and improvement in the purchasing power of the dollar.

The premier accused the opposition of trying to place control of taxation in the hands of an independent group which would not be responsible to parliament. This government, he said, would not permit its function to be usurped by such an independent body for advice on finance and taxation; it would go to the competent and unbiased experts within the civil service.

The premier then turned to the legislative program still before the house. The government had hoped to effect such important legislation as that dealing with the railway rates, with the Home Bank, with the alternative vote, with the grain act, with rural credits, and such similar matters. "But I am unable to say what will happen until I see how the work of the session progresses," added Mr. King.

"I believe the people of this country are of the same view as the citizens of Great Britain and the United States. That is, they want to see in power a government that will not be faced with uncertainty, with embarrassment because it is confronted by groups which for so long have been trying to enforce conflicting views. I believe Canadians wish to see in power a government with a strong majority that will be able to carry on, and when the time comes to appeal to the country, I can tell honorable gentlemen opposite that it is on these lines the appeal will be made."

The premier gave the House a review of trade during the last three years. The government had been able to accomplish a great improvement, largely with the help of Progressive members, and in spite of the opposition of the Conservatives. The government, stated Premier King, had endeavored to assist the fishermen of the Atlantic and Pacific coasts. It had also raised the duty on bituminous coal. This step would assist the Maritime Provinces and "would help a great national policy."

Hon. Arthur Speaks.

Right Hon. Arthur Meighen said he did not propose to deal with the broad question of fiscal policy, but would confine himself to a review of the financial conditions in Canada. He wished to save time in this debate which he thought had gone on too long.

He had intended to answer some of the charges made against the late Conservative government by J. E. Archambault of Chambly-Vercheres during his debate, but in reading through the records he had been struck with the fact that all these charges have been answered over and over. It had been proved that the Ross rifle and other war-time equipment which Mr. Archambault criticized was used not a day longer than was necessary, but was replaced as soon as other equipment was available. In view of all the facts, he wondered how Mr. Archambault could "drag up these musty details" in view of the present condition of affairs in the dominion.

"I don't think I can recall any two speakers who have given the same deductions from the budget presentation," said Mr. Meighen. Mr. Marler had claimed that the budget was "clear," yet members could not tell what it meant, and none had "erred more frequently in the presentation of facts than that Mr. Marler himself. It was in the main purpose of budget presentation. In Mr. Fielding's budget there had never been complaints of lack of clarity. Obscurity in the present budget was not in the method of bookkeeping, but because the government, in presenting the results of this bookkeeping, endeavored to conceal the facts."

Ways of a Budget.

The first year Mr. Robb had presented a budget the result of both accounts was given to the country as a whole. To secure a surplus last year the acting minister included everything except the guarantee he made to the National Railways of $72,500,000, which in reality meant that there was a deficit of $36,500,000, instead of a surplus of $36,000,000 as he had claimed. Mr. Meighen asked anyone to suggest that the claimed surplus of the year was arrived at by the same methods as were used in 1924. If the same methods had been used, Mr. Robb would have had to show a greater deficit than last year, for he had put to one side not only the guarantee, but also the cash loan.

NASH CLOTHES are the world's best in value, style and appearance. When you buy your clothes from Nash you not only get a suit of clothes, but in addition you get years and years of our experience in the correct art of making clothes.

NASH CLOTHES for 1925 are of the conservative type, cut along the popular English lines. The designs are such that appeal not only to the up-to-the-minute dresser, but to the conservative, sane-minded businessman of today.

$24, $30 and $35

NASH CLOTHES use only the finest of high-grade pre-shrunk Hymo canvas (guaranteed unbreakable). To those who are in the know, Hymo canvas is the finest that can be procured and will stand the test of wear.

NASH CLOTHES are guaranteed to be satisfactory in every manner. It represents the best value for the money. Large turnover, efficient management, small profits, big buying power and practical tailors are some of the factors why it is possible to buy Nash Clothes for less.

CHEESE
Special to The Advertiser.
Brookville, Aug. 10.—A local meeting of the Brookville dairymen's board of trade this afternoon the total value of the transactions was $14,000. The following were the prices obtained for the various grades of cheese:—

Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, April 30.—The receipts of cheese were 1,671 boxes, as compared with 1,097 for the same day last week and 1,035 for the corresponding day of the year. Cable cheese was weaker than the rest of the market. The receipts of cheese and cheese was quoted at 86¢ to 88¢ per cwt. There was little inquiry, and the market was quiet, with an easy undertone. The trade in spot was slow with western No. 1 white and colored quoted at 18½¢ a pound and No. 2 graded at 17½¢ a pound, while Quebec 20-pound cheese sold at 15¢ to 15½¢ a pound.

New York, April 30.—Cheese irregu-

BUTTER AND EGGS

Canadian Press Despatch.

Montreal, April 30.—Butter receipts were 735 packages against 850 a week ago. The supply of butter was not so limited demand for supplies from all sources and the more liberal supplies of fresh cream made coming forward an easier feeling prevailed in the market, and prices for all grades were reduced.

There was no change in wholesale jobbing prices announced, there being no change in the market for eggs. Actual wants, and sales of finest creamery were made at 35c a pound in solid.

Butter—No. 1 pasteurized, 33½¢ to 34¢; No. 1 creamery, 32½¢ to 33¢; second, 31½¢ to 32¢.

Eggs—Fresh specials, 35¢ to 36¢; fresh extras, 34¢; fresh firsts, 31¢.

Chicago, April 30.—Butter prices declined sharply again today, and the market ruled very easy and unsettled, with a very strong undertone of a decline. Dealers were anxious sellers and buyers were cautious, critical as to quality and operated close to immediate requirements. The centralized market was well supplied at a decline, with trade only fair. Sunblewere fairly liberal and freely offered.

 Fresh butter, 40½¢ to 40¾¢; certified, 40¼¢.
 New York, April 30.—Butter weak receipts, 9,618 tubs. Creamery, higher than extras, 42½¢ to 43¢; extras, 42¢ firsts 40¢ to 41½¢.
FLOUR
 Canadian Press Despatch.
 Montreal, April 30.—There were on

New developments in the local food situation. Business in spring wheats is quiet, but there is a demand in all directions. The tone of the market was firm, but prices were steady. Trade here is not very active, but there is a demand for supplies, and prices were firm. Rolled oats were dull. Corn—first, $8.70; second, $8.30; stonies bakers, $8.40; winter, patents, choice, $8.50.

Brani—Per ton, $26.25 to $27.25. Shorts—Per ton, $28.25 to $29.25. Middlings—Per ton, $24.25 to $25.25.

Associated Press Despatch.

Minneapolis, Aug. 22.—Wheat prices unchanged to 2c higher, at $8.45 to $8.6 a barrel; shipments, 27,954 barrels.

HAY AND STRAW
Canadian Press Despatch.
Montreal, April 30.—There was no improvement in the demand for baled hay, and the market was quiet, with a steady undertone. No. 2, per ton, car

SECRET OF KEEPING YOUNG

Why is it that some women look older at thirty-five than others do at fifty? Why is it that so many women are always run-down, weak, pale, nervous, irritable and unhappy? Health, vitality and freedom from pain and disease alone can prevent the signs of age from appearing on themselves upon women. All over this country women are awakening to the fact that the ill, aches and pains of women may be relieved by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the result is renewed life, energy and the glow of health. In fact, the secret of keeping young is to ward off all internal ailments that cause premature old age, which is easily accomplished by this remarkable root and herb remedy.—Adv.

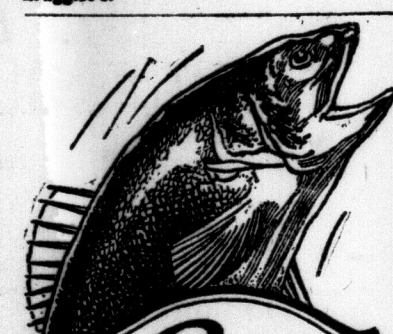

Modern Pavements Make Feet Tired

The miles and miles of hard surface roadways and side-walks are very wonderful, but, being hard, non-resilient, and excellent conductors of heat and cold, they torture our poor feet unmercifully.

It has been found that if tired, sore feet are bathed in warm water containing a few drops of Absorbine Jr., they will be delightfully cooled and refreshed.

But this is not the only use for Absorbine Jr. It is a liniment, antiseptic, and germicide in one—the handiest, most useful article in the family medicine cabinet.

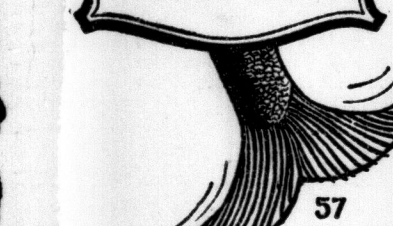

Not only does it kill germs and prevent infection in open cuts and sores, hastening the healing—not only does it limber up to new freshness, tired, stiff muscles, but as a mouth wash, throat spray or gargle it protects you against wandering disease germs and leaves behind a pleasant, clean taste and odor. $1.25 a bottle at your druggist's.

Fish is good for you because—

Fish is rich in the very elements your system needs. Fish gives you protein—to build bone and tissue. Fish puts iodine into your system and iodine is the greatest preventative of goitre and thyroid trouble. Fish foods furnish you with insulin—the greatest element of all for counteracting diabetes. Wise indeed is the person who makes fish a regular part of the daily diet.

ACROSS CANADA AND BACK.

The wonder trip of the coming summer will be conducted by Dean Laird of Macdonald College, to Victoria, B. C., and back.

Inspired by the success of the trip to Victoria last year on the occasion of the Teachers' Federation meeting at that point, and filled with patriotic motives for everyone to see their own country, the dean has arranged for a special train of standard sleeping cars to leave Toronto on July 20, visiting Port Arthur, Port William, Winnipeg, Regina, Moose Jaw, Calgary, Banff, Lake Louise, Vancouver, thence steamer to Victoria.

Returning, the trip will be via the Okanagan Valley, Nelson, the Kootenay Lakes, Windermere, Bungalow Camp, from which place the party will be moved to Banff, 104 miles over the newly-completed Banff-Windermere Highway, the most charming and awe-inspiring trip it is possible to conceive, with stops at Radium Hot Springs, Vermilion River, and Storm Mountain Bungalow Camps—another day at Banff, then Edmonton, Saskatoon, Devil's Gap, Bungalow Camp, near Kenora on the Lake of the Woods, steamer from Port William to Port McNicoll, thence rail to Toronto, where the trip will terminate on Aug. 10.

Everything is included at the price of $325, from Toronto—transportation, sleeping cars, accommodation in hotels and bungalow camps, meals in diners, hotels and on steamers, sight-seeing tours at points visited, and all gratuities.

While appealing primarily to teachers, the tour is open to everyone desiring to go.

Fares from other points than Toronto will be named, and descriptive illustrated booklet sent on application to Dean Laird, Macdonald College, P. O. Quebec.—Adv.

Assumes Office as Senior Inspector-Administrator of London Schools.

Inspector Geoffrey Alfred Wheable, B.A., M.C., assumed office today as senior inspector-administrator of the London school system.

V. Kenneth Greer, M.A., left yesterday for Toronto to take up the duties of his new post as chief inspector of public and separate schools in the province, and thus "the old order changeth, yielding place to new."

Mr. Wheable takes up the reins of office almost as much a popular favorite as the man who laid them down. His promotion from the position of assistant public school inspector has been greeted with approval on all sides, both within and without the primary and secondary school system.

Mr. Greer received his provincial appointment at the hands of Premier G. H. Ferguson as minister of education the latter part of January, but up until the very day of his departure he continued to exercise the duties of office as administrator in just as careful and efficient a manner as if he had not known that on May 1 he would be severing his connection with the local board of education.

Mr. Greer attended a meeting of the executive committee on Wednesday at a special meeting of the board this afternoon in his capacity as administrator. There was thus that break in the continuity of administration which was inevitable.

The board has advertised for a successor to Mr. Wheable as an assistant inspector and has already received a number of applications and as well an inquiry from a woman. It is not likely, however, that an appointment will be made for several weeks.

COMMERCIAL TRAVELLERS' SPECIAL TRIP TO STRATFORD. The above train, which now leaves London at 7:30 a.m. Mondays, will, commencing May 4th, leave London at 7:10 a.m.

News From City Churches

ST. MARTIN'S CHURCH. The first garden party of the season was arranged for at a recent meeting of the congregation of St. Martin's church, when it was decided to hold this party on the grounds on June 24. Miss Jessie Macfie was unanimously elected general convener and has plans already well under way for this enjoyable event.

HALE STREET L. A. The annual meeting and election of officers of the ladies' aid of the Hale street Methodist church was held yesterday. Mrs. W. L. Talbot was re-elected to the presidency, and the other officers included: Vice-president, Mrs. R. Beattie; secretary, Mrs. Vern Hawkin; assistant secretary, Mrs. J. Duncan; treasurer, Mrs. Geo. Pond; pianist, Mrs. Wainwright; assistant pianist, Miss Poad; press secretary, Mrs. M. Stevenson; and floral convener, Mrs. J. Bessence.

TRINITY CHURCH SALE. A successful sale and rubber social was held at Trinity church in aid of the ladies' guild last night. There were many callers during the evening and a large sum was realized by the members of the guild. In charge of the various booths were Mrs. Mann and Mrs. T. Mills; fancy work, Mrs. Stewart; Mrs. Mortimore and Mrs. Brizal; home cooking, and Mrs. Jack Strain and Mrs. A. Smith; ice cream, Mrs. H. Isherwood. The president, Mrs. J. F. Chapman, was assisted by Mrs. J. F. Chapman.

ALL SAINTS' TEA. A very successful tea was held in the basement of All Saints' Anglican church yesterday afternoon under the auspices of the women in charge of the fancy work booth of the ladies' guild. The tea was held in the hall, Mrs. James Patton was the general convener, and was assisted by Mrs. J. F. Chapman.

SAUCY SUE WINS. Associated Press Despatch. Newmarket, England, May 1.—Saucy Sue won the one thousand guineas stakes run here today. Lord Astor's Gadabout was second and Prince Aga Khan's Firous Mahal was third. Eleven ran. The winner, Saucy Sue, owned by Lord Astor, is by Swynford, out of Good and Gay.

WOMEN'S AUXILIARY. The regular meeting of the women's auxiliary of the Southern Congregational church, was held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. F. Burridge, Curlew street. The president, Mrs. W. Claris, presided, and the lesson was read by Mrs. Burridge, after which Mrs. W. Taylor took charge of the devotional exercises. Mrs. Rudland then read an interesting, but short, story on "One of India's Widows" after which the

ADVERTISER EXTRA GIVES RAID NEWS

Newsprint of 1870 Tells of Fenian Warfare—Owned by A. Sharp.

Archie Sharp, 320 Central avenue, has brought into The Advertiser office an Advertiser extra, printed May 26, 1870, at 10:15 p.m., giving some "hot" information as to the Fenian raid activities on the Mississippi frontier.

The extra, No. 3, complete, embraces a despatch from Toronto, "special from our own correspondent," intimating that 1,000 country volunteers were gathering at Toronto, that the Mississippi frontier was clear, but that the Fenians were being met by the 69th Regiment and volunteers.

Mr. Sharp, who says that "he has never been anything else than a subscriber to The Advertiser," was in the drygoods business here in London from 1871 until 1892, when he was appointed drygoods appraiser at the customs house here. Mr. Sharp held the position of appraiser until the date of his retirement in 1921.

U. S. SOLICITOR-GENERAL'S RESIGNATION IS ACCEPTED

Associated Press Despatch. Washington, May 1.—President Coolidge yesterday accepted the resignation of James M. Beck, solicitor-general of the United States, to be effective as soon as his successor has been appointed and has qualified.

The solicitor-general disclosed in his letter of resignation that his eyesight is suffering from the strain of his arduous service of the last few years and that he wishes a long rest before resuming the practice of law in New York and Washington.

and as yet no definite action has been taken. The members believe that it is a matter of passing the buck, as was evidenced at the meeting on Tuesday night. They believe that time has been wasted by the authorities and that action and not words is what is needed.

Another matter that came up at the meeting was the water service charge levied by the public utilities commission. As time was limited, no discussion on the matter was held,
but a special meeting was called for next Thursday night, when the matter will be threshed out. So far as can be learned, the association is opposed to the extra charge, not as a matter of money, but one of principle.
They believe they are being treated unjustly and will demand an explanation from the commission, judging from talk of the members.

Assessment Commissioner Harry Bennett was present at the meeting and gave an interesting talk on the assessment system of the city.
Improper drainage in the northern section of the park was brought up and an effort will be made to have the city engineer have this trouble cleared up.

The men who will wait upon No. 1 committee at its next meeting are J. C. Fletcher, A. Sanderson, and Secretary A. A. Williams.

LA SALLE CADETS SHOWING PRAISED

Col. Gillespie Inspects Unit at Armories—Drilled To Perfection.

One hundred and thirty-three cadets, the full strength of the De La Salle unit, were reviewed yesterday by Lieut.-Col. George Gillespie at the armories. It was the annual review of the cadets, and great praise was paid to the boys following the inspection ceremonies, by Col. Gillespie.

Col. Gillespie declared that although it was early in the year, the boys had drilled to perfection. He deplored the fact that such a splendid unit was not uniformed, but hoped that uniforms could be secured for the boys in the near future.

The unit was divided into two companies and these were in command of George Player and Joseph Nolan.

A squad of twenty-four signallers under John McGinnis gave a demonstration of the Morse code and then the entire corps went through a

Most of the athletic work at the school is centered around the cadet corps, and thus a lively interest is displayed by the boys, who are anxious to distinguish themselves on the field of sports while at the same time advancing the aims of the school.

Brother Edwin, who has full charge of the cadets at the school, is given credit by the officials of the school for the efficient manner in which he looks after the unit.

FOUR HUNDRED ATTEND SOCIAL OF LIONS CLUB

Monster Party in Aid of Bandstand Proves Great Success.

More than four hundred attended the London Lions' club euchre and bridge party last night in the Winter Gardens. One hundred and ten tables were set and used in this the biggest card party to be held in London to date. After cards there was a dance, which lasted into the small hours of the morning, and which was attended by many people who were not card players and who came in later.

This party was the first entertainment to be put on by the club in order to raise funds for the Lions' club bandstand, which, it is hoped, will be erected in Victoria Park this summer. Last night's crowd was sufficient to justify the executive of the club in the belief that a bandstand will be built and ready for use by the Western Fair comes along. The large turnout was particularly gratifying to the committee in charge and the club in general.

ENSEMBLE SUITS $25—$35

Up-to-date spring wardrobes don't dream of doing without an ensemble! In the first place, the ensemble idea is foremost in new fashions. In the second place, an ensemble is a most emphatically useful thing to have. And, again, the cost is so strikingly moderate.

Models at $25.00 and at $35.00 vary from flannel ensembles of sportlike air, to more formal affairs of twill and rep. The matching frock is most often of crepe, printed or plain—and sometimes with hem border of the coat fabric. Sizes 16 to 42.

Silk, Satin and Crepe Dresses $18.75 up to $35

Everything that distinguishes a smart frock of this season from a smart frock of other seasons has been brought into play in this group of afternoon models.

There's the long scarf collar—small rippling knee flounces—pleats that conceal fullness, and with the slightest motion produce the animated silhouette—cap sleeves for one extreme—long and full peasant sleeves for another. In a host of new shades. Prices alone are easily classified. They stay firmly between $18.75 and $35.00

Woodstock Fire Force Rescues and Adopts Orphaned Squirrels

Special to The Advertiser.
Woodstock, April 30.—Members of the local fire brigade are acting "good Samaritans" to four young gray squirrels. A few days ago the mother carried the babies. The effort was tiring, and when she was crossing a street she was unable to escape the wheels of a passing automobile and was killed. There was no other way to get the young squirrels out of the tree but to call the firemen. With extension ladders the squirrels were soon brought down and removed to the fire hall. At first it was hard to get them to take any food, but now they are eagerly awaiting turns at a milk bottle.

GODERICH FARMER DIES
IN LONDON, AGED 72
Daniel O'Connell, for many years a well-known farmer of Goderich, died in London yesterday in his 72nd year, following a long illness. The remains were sent from the E. C. Killings-worth funeral home at 9 o'clock this morning to Goderich, where solemn regium high mass was sung. Interment was made in the Roman Catholic cemetery at Goderich.

PROVINCIAL POLICE WILL OPEN TWO POSTS IN NORTH
Canadian Press Despatch.
Toronto, April 30.—Two additional posts of the Ontario provincial police will be opened in Northern Ontario, due to the increased mining activity in the Gowanda and South Lorrain mining camps, and the influx of miners. Transfer of men necessary will be effected so that single men will man these posts if possible.
