St. Petersburg, Sept. 14. The reports that Chinese troops are concentrating in the valley of the Liao River are causing considerable concern here. The Bourse Gazette thinks it is probable that the Chinese Government will propose to guard and administer the territory actually occupied by the Japanese, adding: "To this Japan will readily acquiesce, as it will reliave Japane of guarding her lines of communication. In other words regular Chinese troops will become auxiliaries of the Japanese, and the Japanese army, thus relieved of the necessity of protecting its lines, stores and land transport, will set free all the strength of the Japanese forces to operate against Russia. China thus would become actually the ally of Japan. If the reports are confirmed not only Russia but other powers must intervene to show China what the limits of 'strict neutrality' means."

The Russian Government did not object, and within a day or two, with the assistance of experts. Admiral Goodrich can report more closely. The admiral also adopted the precaution of guarding the Lena with his own vessels, a course also approved by the department.

THE CLOVEN HOOF

Says the Ottawa Citizen:

On Aug. 23rd the petitions in the North Perth and Muskoka cases were filed at Osgoode Hall. The petition against Brown in North Perth included 124 charges, one of which was as

"During the said election, or shortly before it, Hon. J. R. Stratton and Hon. G. W. Ross, agents of the respondent, sent Edward Culleton, of Toronto, baker, to Stratford to assist in the election. Mr. Culleton was instructed by Hon. Mr. Stratton and Premier Ross to call upon R. T. Harding, an agent of the respondent, and that the said Mr. Harding would instruct him what to do. Mr. Culleton received from him, the said Harding, or some other agent of the respondent, a large sum of money to be used in bribing, treating and corruptly influencing voters. The said Culleton did so spend a large sum."

There was a charge that Stratton provided the agent with money; also charge against "Cap." Sullivan, Vance and Nelson of Buffalo which would necessitate the whole connection of the Ross Government 'machine" being enquired iuto.

Of course the Government knew the nature of the charges in advance and as a set-off, Premier Ross had the following charge included in the petition against Mahaffy in Muskoka:

"Some time prior to the said polling day, the 27th day of October, 1903, J. P. Whitney, M. P. P., leader of the Conservative party in the Province of Ontario; Dr. Beattie Nesbitt, M. P. P., E. B. Osler, M. P., Dr. Pyne, M. P. P., E. B. Ryckman, J. W. Flavelle, all of the city of Toronto, and other persons whose names are at present unknown to the petitioners. being members of a political association or organization, corruptly and illegally contributed and raised a fund or some money, under the guise of a "purity fund." This fund, the charge announces, was the source of the money corruptly used by the Conservative candidate in obtaining his election.

Immediately thereafter the Government press put on its best Pecksniffian air and proceeded to loudly deplore the dragging of the names of leading public men of both partiesmark this pathetic touch-into the mire of the election courts. Commenting on one of these Pecksniffian utterances on Aug. 26th the Citizen

The Toronto Star sheds a few crocodile tears over the fact that the names of Hon. G. W. Ross and Mr. Whitney are dragged into the protest trials. "One could expect that the leading men of both parties would become disgusted with the cross-fire of defamatory documents at Csgoode Hall," it remarks. The game of dragging Mr. Whitney's name in as a retaliation for the case against the head center of the notorious "machine" is too thin to deceive the public. Mr. Whitney can stand it if Mr. Ross can when the facts are aired in the courts. The Star's highly-hypocritical protest go this trip. Ross' work with the "machine" has long been known and the Conservatives hope to bring it home, much as the Star may deplore the fact. Mr. Whitney has never had a machine and the ringing in of his name as au offset to the Ross charges is a pure bluff.

Now let us see what has been the result: In North Perth when the case came on for trial as soon as the Conservatives proved the lirst charge of bribery by one bearing the alias-suggesting name of "John Collins," Mr. Aylesworth bastened to admit that the evidence was irrefutable and that the member petitioned against would accept judgment against himself without further demur. The court had, therefore, nothing to do but pronounce judgment, and the investigation of the chy against Fremier Ross, Hon. Mr. Stratton and the members of the "machine" was thereby shut off.

Mark the contrast: On Wednesday and Thursday last the Musicola case came on which included the energes against Mr. Whitney and other leading Conservatives involving the alleged "purity fund." The charges were gone into thoroughly. The petitioners had absolutely no evidence to offer to support their allegations, on the contrary the evidence of Mr. E. B. Ryckman, treasurer of the Liberal-Conservative association, showed that the only sum for expenses, in addition to $500 paid to the general organizers of the party, was $1,250 paid to the local organizations by the central association and that it was expressly stipulated that these moneys should be spent only in a ligitimate manner,-that it was a "purity" fund in fact as well Cows.

as in name. The court decided that the Conservatives had conducted clean campaign in Muskoka, and Mr. Mahaffy was confirmed in his seat. The public is now in a position to contrast the methods and the men of both parties as they have been shown up in these proceedings. Premier Ross did not hesitate to try to besmirch Mr. Whitney and leading Conservatives by associating their names with alleged corrupt practices. They submitted to a thorough investigation and have been amply and completely vindicated. Not only does Mr. Mahaffy hold his seat, but the Conservative "purity" fund has been shown to be that in truth as well as name and the particular campaign in which a portion of it was used for legitimate expenses has been found by the court to be "a clean campaign,"

In what manner did Premier Ross Mr. Stratton and their "machine" meet the ordeal so openly and triumphantly faced by the Conservatives? Instead of submitting to an investigation of these charges in North Perth, the opportunity was seized to plead guilty to the first corrupt act proven involving some anonymous scoundrel masquerading ander the name of "John Collins." They accepted judgment and thus suppressed investigation of the charges against Ross, Stratton, "Cap" Sullivan, Vance and "Buffalo" Nelson, The British law rightly holds a man to be innocent until he is proven guilty. But when public men, ministers of the crown, are charged in the courts with specified acts of corruption, public opinion demands that they meet the charges and clear themselves. They are not in the category of ordinary persons, and in the face of the manner in which the Conservatives met their counter charges in Muskoka, an equal or greater onus rested on Ross et al, to do likewise. No honorable man can afford under such circumstances to claim even the ambiguous Scotch verdict of "Not proven," because no opportunity was even allowed to furnish proof, much less to hear a defence

SIR HECTOR ACDONALD. Broad Arrow, Official Military Organ of

Broad Arrow: "We have no wish to reopen a scandal, but the case the late Major-General Sir Hech Macdonald was a painful, a peculiar, and a sensational one. There is no doubt but that in the mind of the public he went down to the grave with a slur upon his name. A certain number of Scotsmen who knew and admired him doubted whether the insinuation made against him by the Governor-in-Council was well founded Governor-in-Council was well founded or merely the outcome of the gossip of melicious busybodies of "the unco guid" description. Consequently they subscribed a certain sum of money, and deputed certain persons to proceed to Ceylon for purposes of investigation. On their return they reported that Sir Hector Macdonald was innocent of the charge made against him. The result of the investigation was sent to the chief London papers, but only one inserted the statement. As, however, the original accusation was widely spread, it is only just that the exposure of the falsehood of that accusation should be given equal publicity."

passages in his poems, says The London Chronicle, but a correspondent asks whether "the charm of married brows," quoted in this column yesterday, means the crowning charm yesterday, means the crowning charm of the wedded yeoman, or only the personal peculiarity of eyebrows meeting in the middle—an accident always mentioned with admiration in the "Arabian Nights," but not generally prized in Europe. It is so little prized, indeed, that writers on beauty give directions for the clearing up of encroaching eyebrows. But did Tennyson admire it, and does he introduce this exceptional prank of Nature into the generalized sketch of the shepherdess of Mount Ida? Or, the shepherdess of Mount Ida? the snepherdess of Mount Ida? Or, on the other hand, does not Tennyson insist, in both the poems of which she is the heroine, on the wife-hood of Aenone? What do Tennyson critics think?

Novel Trap for Thieves.

For some time the postoffice au thorities in France have been much annoyed by an organized band of thieves who stole mail day after day out of the letter boxes, but now they have discovered a contrivance which, they are confident, will put a top to such thefts in future. It con-sists of a clockwork arrangement which is fastened to each letter box and is so connected with the main postoffice that the moment any one attempts to tamper with the mail a bell rings and notifies detectives who are on the outlook for the culprits are on the outlook for the culprits day and night.

When a letter is thrown into a box or when a postman extracts the letters the bell also rings, but the sound is different from that which is made when a thief is at work, and therefore there is no danger that the detectives will ever be led off on a wild grosse chase. a wild goose chase.

To Encourage the Others.

The clamor in Japan against Admiral Kamimura because he failed to catch the Russian fleet from Vladi-vostock recalls an incident, fortu-nately rare, in the British navy. Admiral Byng withdrew before a superi-or French fleet in 1756 and lost Minorca. The British people were stung to madness by the exultations of the French, and the Admiral was court-martialled. Notwithstanding the generous statement of the great Richelieu that if the British fleet had not retired it would have been completely overwhelmed, Admiral Byng was condemned and was shot on March 14, 1757. One of those who exerted himself on behalf of the unfortunate Admiral was Voltaire, and in this connection he wrote the memorable lines: "In this country it is good to put an Admiral to death now and then in order to encourage the oth-

Costly for the Farmers.

Many times it happens that the farmers in the stormy season cannot get to the railroads, and therefore the produce which he would like to market and for which the market is clamoring is cut off by bad roads.
Could the farmer at all seasons draw his produce to the nearest shipping point he would use his own ime to better advantage because he would do this drawing in dull sea-sons, and the rolling stock of the railroads would be far more effectual, because a steady supply of freigh would in a measure do away with the congestion of traffic which hap-pens from time to time and which is a source of great loss to all concern-

Cheap Living in Denmark. In Denmark $4 a week is wages for a laboring man. He live comfortably upon that wage and bring up a large family of children. Four dollars a week to the Danish laborer means much more than $1.50 a day to the Canadian laborer bethe cost of living is compara-little. Skilled workmen are paid $1 to $1.25 a day, which affords them ample means. Provisions are cheap, and at the best hotels rooms may be had by transients for 60 cents a day, our money.

Zine Ceilings.

According to the Metal Industry stamped sheet zinc is rapidly coming stamped sheet zine is rapidly coming into use for metal ceilings in places where steel has heretofore been used. In Germany the material is even copper plated and given beautiful finishes. Those who have had experience with rusting of steel will readily appreciate the advantage of using zinc.

The Eiffel Tower is to be equipped for wireless telegraphy, making much the loftiest structure from which messages can be sent. It will prob ably produce extremely interesting results. The French Government is active in this use of the great tower

THE MODERN WOMAN.

Dr. Lyman Abbott's Opinion as to Her Proper Sphere.

The real results of this modern woman's movement are seen, I believe, says Dr. Lyman Abbott in the World's Work, in better wages to self supporting women; in enlarged opportunities for productible industry; in consequent industrial independence for unmarried women; in a resultant release from the odious compulsion which drove women into marriage as the only means of livelihood open to them; in an end to that kind of marital subordination which grew out of the fact that an uneducated woman is inferior to an educated man; in an intellectual companionship in the married life based on a common understanding of all life move ments and a common interest in them all; in the ability of the mother to keep the intellectual respect of her boy after he has gone out of the home to college or to business and to be his trusted counselor and his inspirer; in woman's broader horizon, larger life and more richly endowed character; in the ampler service she can render to society, to her country and to the world, and in her better equipment for the finest and highest service of all, that which is inherent in motherhood.

"It is a woman's destiny," Balzac makes one of his characters say, "to create not things, but men. Our creations are our children; our children are our pictures, our books and studies."
This is the greatest career of all—greater than that of the lawyer, the doctor, the poet or the artist. Law governs life, medicine prolongs life, poetry portrays life, art presents a simulacrum of life, the mother creates life.

The education of the future will recognize motherhood as the supremest of all destinies, and the curriculum of all schools and colleges worthy of the name will be fashioned to conform to this standard and to prepare for this

Why Women's Wages Are Low. Rather an amusing reason is given by Aana B. Doughten as to why young girls' wages still remain so much lower than young men's when the same work is accomplished and in quite as good a manner "Seldom." she says, "does a girl work with any idea of permanency and often the brighter and more capa ble she is, the sooner does some young man find that her qualifications are man and that her quantizations are just what he wants in a wife. Indeed, it is a fact," says this philosopher, "that many employers have found it useless to train good looking, capable girls in any special lines, for just when they are fitted for the required duties and the accompanying higher salary, off they go." Miss Doughten is in a position to discuss the subject as she is social secretary in one of the largest publishing houses in America.-Social Training Children.

Apropos of the modern methods of training children, a writer in the Lad's Pictorial remarks that, although she "believes thoroughly in the influence of love and patience, me modern child is not a brilliant example of the new method. It is too often pert, ill mannered, blase, self willed and no respecter of persons. It is nonsense to maintain that a young undisciplined, mentally and physically unformed creature can be treated like a grownup. Everything young, whether it be a child, a puppy, a colt or a tree wants discipline, and discipline is not to be maintained by theories."

Can't Sleep?

Here's a prescription that never fails to bring sound, refreshing sleep: Every morning, before breakfast, take a foaming glass of ABBEYS SALT. Take it faithfully—give it a fair chance—and it won't be long before you "sleep like a babe" and feel "a nundred per cent. better" in every way.

Visitors to this place will be impressed with the great flood of daylight which pervades every corner of this beautiful floor, and which makes the selection here (especially of furs) so much easier and more satisfactory, than in the usual show room, where artificial light must be depended upon.

There is perhaps no article of merchandise about which the purchaser can have so little accurate knowledge of absolute value as in furs, and where consequently, it is of so great importance to purchase them from the most reliable source.

After brief meetings in their respective armories the two companies amalgamated for drill and put in a busy hour in the hall under the direction of Capt. Black.

At the conclusion Capt, Black addressed the soldiers. He complimented them on the large inaugural attendance and pointed out that prospects this season were brighter than ever before. Ald. John Edmondson, chairman of Ald. John Edmondson, chairman of the Property committee, was all smiles this morning. It is a brand new dynamo. John says that now he is going to have a light on every corner even if it is only one of Roy Tobey's fire-flies and he has to go out and paste it up himself. The many and various complaints which have been made about the lights—and there was good ground for the protests—has bothered the sunny chairman of the Property committee considerably. Honest as does lineman Sam Moore. Honest John even looked all over the dynamo to find the volts so he could show them to his friend G. G. Martin. It is expected that now all the lights on all the circuits will be a source of brightness to the streets, and now when a light is out the lamp will get the blame.

A MODERN LAWYER.

Enormous Amount of Work He Gets Through Daily.

I know, says a writer in the World's Work, a prominent New York cor-poration lawyer who is out of bed at 5 o'clock in the morning and after taking exercise is ready for breakfast at 6:30. He is at his office in Wall street at 8 o'clock. His secretary and his stenographer await him. Dictation begins at once of the rough outline of a brief to be prepared. He follows this with dictating memoranda for his clerks, specifying certain questions of law and of fact which he desires looked into dur ing the day.

At 9 o'clock he reads and answers important letters which his secretary has sorted out for his attention. At 9:30 he is ready for consultations with clients. From that time until 4 or 5 o'clock in the afternoon he is in continuous attendance, either before courts (generally of appellate jurisdiction), at meetings of boards of directors or in consultation.

At perhaps 4:30 o'clock the lawyer is ready to receive reports from his clerks. They are required to report solely upon the point intrusted to them. Little or nothing is left to their judg-ment or discretion. It is merely de-sired to know what the law and the cases are upon some particular point. They are expected to report accurately, concisely and quickly. This miscellaneous work continues until perhaps 6:30 o'clock, when the day's labor downtown is at an end.

Some lawyers even make use of the time consumed in going home. During the summer months William Nelson Cromwell spends his nights on the New Jersey coast. He goes down by boat each afternoon, but a large state-room on that vessel is equipped with desk and typewriter and stenographer, that full use may be made of the precious hour devoted to the trip. During the winter he will probably be ready for dinner at 7:30 o'clock. An office boy has gone ahead of him, carrying a green bag full of books and papers which are to be considered during the evening.

The Marine Bride.

"The marine bride," one of the best known characters in the streets of Berlin, is dead. She was usually to be seen on Unter den Linden, between Friedrichstrasse and the Brandenburger Thor. She was a worn looking wo-man, about fifty-five, shabbily dressed, although of good family, and always carried a heavy bag. Every Berliner knew her, and no one molested the poor, demented creature. Her story is tragic. Many years ago she was betragic. Many years ago she was so trothed to a navy surgeon, and shortly after her engagement she received news that he was drowned at sea. Her mind became unhinged, and since the day of the fatal news she has wandered along Unter den Linden, believing that her be rothed would return to Berlin, driving through the Brandenburger Thor. in the heavy bag she carried what she believed was a suit of clothes, for which her lover would exchange his sea stained garments.

John Sharp Williams and Tom Reed There is no better story teller in congress than the Hon. John Sharp Williams, the leader of the minority. One of the stories told by Mr. Williams concerned the late Speaker

Thomas B. Reed. "One day," said Mr. Williams, "I met Mr. Reed coming out of the cloakroom and he said to me in that peculiar drawl of his, 'Williams, whatever makes you such a bitter partisan?'

"'Well, Mr. Speaker, that's pretty good coming from you, isn't it?' I re-why are you such a bitter partisan? "'Well, I'll tell you,' I said. 'You know I never saw a Republican until 1 was thirty-eight years old, and I can't Australia's New Premier In a note upon Mr. Watson, the new Australian premier, the Outlook of London says: "A compositor by trade, he, like many of his craft in Australia, became a prominent trade union leade in Sydney some twelve years ago. He is still in the prime of life, a sober minded, self contained, determined man, one who recognizes clearly what he and his class want and what they believe they can achieve by constitu-tional means. He is deemed a quiet reserved business man, with a certain talent for intrigue in the sense that he knows perfectly well how to drive a hard political bargain with a harassed ministry and has never failed to insist upon its execution to the letter. On the other hand, even his political opponents acknowledge that he acts up to his promises."

Wanted It to Show.

John S. Sargent while he was painting the portrait of James Whitcomb Riley in Philadelphia narrated some of the vicissitudes of a portrait painter's life. "Once, I remember," he said. "I did a half length of a rich Londoner. The man was a coarse, high colored type. He made rather a good subject. When the portrait was done he stood off and studied it very cfosely. 'Well?' said I. 'Well,' said he, 'it's excellent, only,' he added, 'you have left out one very essential feature. 'Excuse me, but,' I faltered, 'I thought you wouldn't care to have the er er wart reproduced. 'Hang it,' he said, 'I'm talking about the diamond pin, not the wart!'

CURED BY CUTICURA

Wonderful Change in One Night. In a Month Face Was Clean as Ever,

"I was troubled with eczema on the face for five months during which time I was in the care of physicians. My face was in such a condition that I could not go out. It was going from bad to worse and I gave up all hope, when a friend of mine highly recommended Cuticura Remedies. The first night after I washed my face with Cuticura Soap and used Cuticura Ointment and Cuticura Resolvent it changed wonderfully, and continuing the treatment it removed all scales and scabs. From that day I was able to go out, and in a month my face was as clean as ever." THOMAS J. SOTH, 317 Stagg St., Brooklyn, N.Y.

That Cuticura Soap, Ointment and Resolvent are such stands proven beyond all doubt. No statement is made regarding them that is not justified by the strongest evidence. A TRUTHFUL INDIAN.

Didn't Get Tired Like the Rest, For a Very Good Reason.

Clement Scott, the English dramatic critic, took a profound interest in the American Indian. He had at his tongue's tip a hundred incidents wherewith to illustrate odd phases of the Indian's character.

"There was a farmer in the west who was hard put to it for help upon his farm. Indians were plentiful in the neighborhood, but they were poor workmen. Always tired, they would put down the hoe or rake as soon as the master's back was turned, and, se-lecting a cool spot, they would lie down on the grass and sleep the day away.

"But one morning a very tall, robust
Indian asked the farmer to give him

"'No,' said the white man, 'you will get tired. You Indians are always get-ting tired.'

"'Oh, no,' said the other. 'This In-jun never get tired. This Injun not like the rest."

"'Well, I'll try you," said the farmer, and he engaged the man. He put him to work in a wheatfield; then he went away for an hour or two. When he returned he found the Indian asleep under a tree.

"'Here, wake up here,' he cried. 'You told me you never got tired.'

"'Ugh,' said the other, yawning, 'this Injun don't. But if he not lie down often he would get tired just the same as the rest."

Sir Wilfrid Laurier on War Between U.S. and Britain and Canada.

Sir Frederick Borden gave a dinner to some military men at Ottawa at the beginning of July. In reply to the toast of the Dominion, Sir Wil-

the toast of the Dominion, Sir Wil-frid Laurier said:
"I thank my old friend, Sir Adolphe Caron, for the very kind words that he has spoken of me. My health is good now, thank heaven. (Cheers.) I never knew that hard fighting was injurious to health. At all events, it is a pleasure to me to thank my friend, Sir Adolphe Caron, for the way in which has spoken of the friend, Sir Adolphe Caron, for the way in which he has spoken of the relations which ought to exist, and which, I am happy to say, do exist to-day between the different parties as they are represented in Parliament. I am no longer a boy like Sir Adolphe; I am somewhat of a veteran, having been associated in many hard struggles as the leader of the party to which I belong. I faced for years the old veteran of Canadian politics, Sir John Macdonald, a man whose name is dear not only to his friends but to those who opposed him in his day. I have also been associated with another veteran of manly fights, a man courageous and manly, Sir Charles Tupper. With him my relations were always pleasant. my relations were always pleasant. So they were with Sir John Thompson in his too brief career as leader of his party, and I am happy to say, very happy to say, indeed, that my personal relations with Mr. Borden, the worthy successor of these men in the leadership of the Conservative party, have always been equally plea-sant. (Hear, hear.) Of course we disagree.

Of course we disagree. We cannot always agree; there would be no fun in Parliament or anywhere else if we did. (Laughter.) If mankind at large were always to agree there would be no necessity for the militia. It is because nations will disagree that there is necessity for such a force. And let me sav to you, gentlemen, you citizen soldiers of Canada, men, you citizen soldiers of Canada, if you will take it from me, that those who do not belong to the force appreciate the efforts which you make for the defence of our common country, should the occasion ever arise. God grant it never may. You are sacrificing a good deal. You sacrifice a good deal of your time, of your leisure, of your money, and you do it not for any immediate reward, not because there is anything to be it not for any immediate reward, not because there is anything to be gained by it, on the contrary there is loss; you do it simply for the grand patriotic reason that if the country is ever in need she will find you standing between her and the foe. (Loud cheers.) Therefore it is a work of preparation which you are always doing. It is that your country may not be found wanting, may not be found defeaceless. that you try may not be found wanting, may not be found defenceless, that you are preparing, and preparing all the time, for an emergency. A good deal might be said on that subject. At all events, for my part, I believe there is a good deal yet to be done for the militia of Canada. If I had my own way, and in this matter I express my own wish, there would be a corps of volunteers in every town, corps of volunteers in every town, express my own wish, there would be a corps of volunteers in every town, in every village, in every hamlet. The boy should learn early how to shoot. (Applause.)

"The art of war, like every ether art, is always changing. The battles of to-day are not fought as they were fought sixty years ago; they were not fought sixty years ago as they were there score years before that; but there is one thing which we shall always need, and that is men ready and courageous to face any emergency. How is that emergency to be faced is a problem that always changes. The modern rifle is one of the most complicated and most delicate of instruments. Unfortunately there is not enough of our population who know how to use the rifle and understand its delicate mechanism. We should develop this knowledge as much as we can, and it is one of the ideas to which my friend, Sir Frederick Borden, is giving constant attention. "Gentlemen. although we have a

"Gentlemen, although we have a militia force, we may never have a war. The only people with which we can have a war is a race of the same kith and kin as the mother country. and I would look upon war between Great Britain and the United States as almost as great a crime as the civil war which convulsed the United States forty years ago. age Being Lately Seen by a British

The Indians tell of a wild man on Vancouver Island, and now a Cau-casian, Michael King, relates that he has seen what looked like half-man, half-man, half-ape.

King told his story at a camp fire to the accompaniments of a chatter-ing mountain brook and the whis-pering pines towering to a starbight sky. He was on one of his solitary cruises for timber on the island, and had not seen a human face for days.

A strange cry of mingled surprise and fear, very human in its quality. brought him to a sudden halt, rifle in hand, and eyes straining everywhere for an avalenation where for an explanation.

This was quickly forthcoming in a manner to try even the nerve of so superb a woodsman as this veteran of the forests. Within 100 yards appeared a thing, large, completely covered with hair, with long arms hanging below the knee, penetrating eyes under a mass of unkempt hair—certainly a man, said Mr. King, but yet such a human as no nation, tribe, or country knows. This was quickly forthcoming in a country knows.

As he saw this striking object in his path Mr. King's memory went back to the stories told by Indians who had refused to enter that part of the island with him. They had said that a fearsome thing lorded it ever the country, and, in their superstitious terror, they had said it was a god of the Spaniards, the descendant of a great chief who had left his ship at Nootka and mated, by force with a pricess of the tribe force, with a princess of the tribe. But while he thought these things, King's hand was on the trigger of his rifle. He was prepared for the nis rine. He was prepared for the wild man, or the ape, or whatever it might be. But the wild man was in no mood to meet the man with the stick that talked in thunder. After a moment's scrutiny of the pathfinder it decided on flight, and plunged into the forest wilderness, where it was quickly lost to sight.

where it was quickly lost to sight. No further meeting with the wild man fell to King's lot.

His story, of course, has been received with sarcastic comment on the coast, but it is curious to note that Otto Scheen has just come in from the northern end of Vancouver Isl-and bringing a tale of having seen footprints such as are made by no wild animal that ranges the forests of this continent. While apparently made by a human being they are those of neither Siwash nor white

Perhaps the hairy monster seen by King has retreated further north with the object of flying from contact with real humanity.

SENT UP FOR TRIAL

Two Young Men, Stanley Boyd and Louis Tremblay, are Charged with Five Different Burglaries.

P. C. Dezelia deserves great credit for the splendid manner in which he rounded up a band of young burg-lars, whose depredations, it is alleg-ed, extended into two counties. Stan-ley Boyd and Louis Tremblay were ley Boyd and Louis Tremblay were tried this morning on the charge of entering Andrew Thomson's place of business and taking several watches. There were two charges, as the place was twice robbed. P. C. Dezelia worked on the case, and suspicion pointed strongly to Boyd and Tremblay, but they couldn't be found. While the police were looking for them, robberies occurred at Tilbury the charge of them, robberies occurred at Tilbury and Glencoe, and the Maple City po-liceman at once attributed these to the two.

This morning Boyd and Tremblay arraigned on five charges of burg-lary. They were committed for tria on the charge of entering Andrew on the charge of entering Andrew Thomson's warerooms by night and stealing; but on the other charges they were remanded for a week to enable Crown Attorney H. D. Smith to secure additional evidence. They were tried on the charge of entering the jewelry store of Nicholas Smith and stealing a general collection, including cuff buttons, rings, knives, talcum powder, etc. Some of the jewelry was in court this morning, having been secured from a Maple City young lady, to whom it was presented. Mr. Smith, when in the withness box, said that this was the fourth time he had been robbed and he considered himself a trifle unlucky. He identified the jewelry recovered.

The fourth case was that in which t was alleged that the boys had obbed the store of V. Campbell, Tilbury. The also taken.

The fifth case was that in which Boyd was accused of robbing the store of J. H. Hicks, Glencoe. A suit of clothes, a Tain coat and a pair of pants were taken. Boyd had the suit on and he surrendered it to Mr. Hicks, who was in town to-day. The boys were remanded on the three lat-ter charges for a week. O. L. Lewis is defending the prisoners.

New York, Sept. 14.—Seven persons in one family were burned to death and six others were injured seriously, in a fire which partially destroyed a tenement building at Nos. 68-70 First street, early yesterday. More than twenty families were asleep in the building. Women and children were being dropped from the windows of the lower floors, and dozens of grown persons were fighting in the hallways to reach the open air when the firemen arrived.

A policeman clambered to the roof of an adjoining building and by clinging to the cornice, with the smoke pouring in his face, reached down to the window of the fifth floor and raised seven children who were handed out by their parents.

Another officer, winding a coat about his head, entered the building from below and rolled down the stairs the body of a half suffocated man. Three times the officer came back from within carrying two persons in his arms. Then he fell. ex-
