The images appearing here are the best quality possible considering the condition and legibility of the original copy and in keeping with the filming contract specifications.

Original copies in printed paper covers are filmed beginning with the front cover and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression, or the back cover when appropriate. All other original copies are filmed beginning on the first page with a printed or illustrated impression, and ending on the last page with a printed or illustrated impression.

The last recorded frame on each microfiche shall contain the symbol → (meaning "CONTINUED"), or the symbol ▼ (meaning "END"), whichever applies.

Maps, plates, charts, etc., may be filmed at different reduction ratios. Those too large to be entirely included in one exposure are filmed beginning in the upper left hand corner, left turight and top to bottom, as many frames as required. The following diagrams illustrate the method:

Black

PPER CANADA :

OR OFFICIAL CORRUPTION AND HYPOCRISY UNMASKE

By W. L. MACKENZIE, Editor of the Advocate.

The British Government wanted to tax the Assericans, without letting them send tembers to Parliament. The people of America resisted; and in the House of Lords, and the father of Pitt, said, that they had "a right to resist," and that he rejoiced that they had resisted."

"He who is taxed without his consent is a slave. He may call himself what he will; but if he has no voice in the making of the laws, by which he is liable to be punished, and by which his property is taken away and applied to the use of others, he is, to all intents and purposes, a slave."

In Upper Canada, not one fifth part of the actual revenue raised by taxes, upon the sople, is at the disposal of their representatives. They are taxed without their conist, and these taxes are appropriated, by the King's representative, without their authority.

Mr. Huskingon's conduct, as colonial minister, promises well. But it will be time enough to give the British government credit for constitutional conduct towards Upper Canada, when the system is changed. Another revolution in America may be prevented by a due observance of the signs of the times; but if it break out, perhaps the fleets and armies of England, with all the Brunswickers, Hessians, and other German mercenaries, which her gold could hire, would not quell it. A conflagration may be revented at commencement, by the prudence of one person; but when it has spread self and gathered strength, who shall set bounds to its fury?

VALUABLE REPORT ON THE CONDUCT OF THE CROWN LAWYERS.

Always auxilium to inform our readers of the most important proceedings of the Colonial Legislature, we hasten to direct their attention to the report of a select committee of the House of Assembly on the petition of Mr. Playty, of Ningara Falls, loadly complaining of the conduct of the crown officers, and of a defective and partial administration of pastes. The report speaks a language net to be misuaders stood, and we trust that a perusal of it will serve to stir up the dormant energies of the wholesome part of the population, and anduce them to exert themselves manfully to clear the House of Assembly next election, of the Attorney General, Speaker Willson, Jonas, David, and Charles Jones, Messra, Burnham, Catainas, Scollick, Gordos, McDonell, Benaley, Clark, McLean, Vankoughnett, and the hole of that ominous next of Unclean birds which have so long Jam close-under the wings of a spendar the executive, and (politically to speak) issually preyed upon the very vitals of the country they ought have loved cherished and protected. A PEEP INTO THE HOSPITA

The compiler of THE BLACK BOOK, commenced the publication of The Coonial Advocate, this day four years, on the eve of a general election, for the avewed onial Advocate, this day four years, on the eve of a general election, for the avewed purpose of influencing the people in their choice of representatives in parliament. He has now determined to make one more affort on behalf of Upper Canada, by printing and circulating, at an expense (to him) of upwards to two hundred dollars, an edition of a work containing the VOLES of the members of the present and of past parliaments; 2000 copies of which will be carefully distributed in every township and, district in the colony, within a few weeks from this date. If the same corrupt, majurity which has upheld the executive in the present assembly, or a majority of persons of the same streng should again abdding agents in the present assembly, or a majority of persons of the same stamp, should again obtain seets in the provincial legislature, Mr. Mackenzie would feel it to be his duty to retire from the management of this journal (which he has bitherto published, more with a view to the public good than his own personal advantage) into the retirement of private life, satisfied with having intended well to the country, and under a firm conviction that any further exertions he could make, as a public writer, on behalf of a liberal, just, and efficient system of government, in this beautiful, and interesting land, would only end in his own ruin and banishment (as it ended with his ill treated countryman Mr. Gourlay) without being of much service to the cause he has conscientiously espoused.

Mr. M., however, more happily anticipates a new order of things, under the administration of a Lieut. Governor of a very different character from the present priest-ridden incumbent; with an improved judiciary, and a Honse of Assembly, in which the better portion of society will be fully and fairly represented.

Note.—When our readers shall have perused the Black Book, they will be better able to judge of that editorial article in our paper of the 8rd April hat, which was presented as a lifel by the assize Grand Jury, by Mr. Roe, a candidate for the assembly, and held to be of a criminal nature, by the person who yearly swallows the assembly, and held to be of a criminal nature, by the person who yearly swallows up $8000 of the people's hard earnings, as Attorney General, while his brother Peter is said to be in possession of a great landed patronage, and an annual income of $4800 of the public money.

THE GAGGING BILL. No. 1. Thursday, October 22nd, 1818

The resolutions on which were founded the gagging bill, otherwise entitled "An act for preventing certain meetings within this Province," set forth, among other things, "that the electing, assembling, sitting, and proceeding of certain persons, calling them-"selves Representatives or Delegates from the different districts of this province, and met in general convention at York," "tends giventy to disturb the public tranquility;" and regretted that "some subjects of the majesty," had "been cluded by the "unwearled and persevering attempts of the factious," to lend their countenance to "measures so disgraceful." The last resolution recommended the adoption of measures "which may, hereafter put it out of the power of any designing person to or-

The seditious persons composing the delegation, thus denounced as delusive, and disturbing the transport of Canada, were John Clark, M. P., Robert Hamilton, M. P., Major V. Robertson, and Doctor Cyrus Sumner, for the Niagara District;—Davis Hawley, Theomas Coleman. M. P., Paul Peterson, M. P., Jacob W. Meyers, and David Western, and Call West niel Washburn, for the Midland District ;-Roderick Drake, from Western District ;-R. Beasley, M. P., George Hamilton, M. P., and William Chisholm, M. P., for Gore Dist.—and Nathan Hicock, for Johnstown. Out of six of these men, since promoted to the legislature, only two (George Hamilton and Paul Peterson) have proved faithful to the people's cause.

"ganize discontent, and degrade the character of the prevince." Messrs. Mahlon Burwell, Alexander McMartin, P. Vankoughnett, John Cameron, Jas. Burand, J. Chrysler, Nelles, P. Howard, Hatt, Jonas Jones, Cotter, Swayze, and Z. Burnham, voted FOR THESE RESOLUTIONS.

JONAS JONES then brought in THE GAGGING BILL, which, while it renained in force, made it criminal in the people of this province to meet together and petition parliament or the king for redress of grievances in church and state, or to appoint agents or delegates. So that if the alien bill hall been then set on foot, it would have been a crime in the people to have met in bodies to petition against it, and a high misdemeanour for Mr. Randal to have gone to London as their delegate. For this infamous and unjust statute voted, Messrs. James Durand, Jonas Jones, Isaac Swayze, P. Vankoughnett, Z. Burnham. P. Howard, John Cameron, Peter Robinson, Nelles, Hatt; Cleach, James Cotter, and Isaac Fraser, (of Erpestown). Burwell happened not to be in the house when this last division took place.

No. 2. JOHN MILLS JACKSON.

This gentleman when he went home from Upper Canada to England in 1809, published in London a pamphlet, faithfully pourtraying the scenes of misrule and corruption he had witnessed on the part of the Licut. Governor, and on the part of the samely; entitled "A view of the political situation of the Province of Upper Canada." Mr. Jackson has since returned to the colony, and now resides near this town. The sentiments developed in his work are honourable to himself; and the conduct of the assembly towards him very discreditable to them.

On the 10th March 1810, the assembly expressed their abhorrence and detestation of his work, and voted it "a false scandalous and malicious libel," Among those who thus voted, we perceive the names of Saranel Street, Speaker, 1910; John Willson (Speaker 1828); Allan McLean ('ter Speaker), Peter Howard; Thomas Frazer; Levi Lewis; and Crowell Willson.—For this sycophaotic act, Mr. Gonday, in his statistics, terms the above named members, and those who voted as they did,—THE SCUM OF CREATION!!

Mr. Gourlay, very justly infers "that the abuse of power, at that time, and the consequent discontent, were strong inducements to the attempt which the Americans made to gain possession of Canada."

Speaking of Samuel Street, of the Falls, he says, "Mr. Samuel Street was, I "believe, the nephew of Samuel Street, who signs the address to Governor Gore, "page 330,---that disgusting address, blasting the open, frank, and manly endeavours of Jackson to call attention from home to the state of Upper Canada in 1809, when infatuation was in its most ruinous career." The address was signed also by two other miserable tools, namely Speakers Willson, and McLeau.

No. 3. THE SPOON BILL,

On the 25th March, 1818, the Commons of Upper Canada, and the Legislative Council, unanimously signed an address to the Prince Regent, stating how much they were "impressed with a lively sense of the FIRM, UPRIGHT, and LIBERAL administration of Francis Gore, Esq. Licutemant Governor," and that they had "U-"NANIMOUSLY passed a bill to appropriate the sum of THREE THOUSAND "POUNDS, ($12000), to enable him to purchase A SERVICE OF PLATE, commemorative of "their "GRATITUDE."

In addition to this shameful waste of public money, they voted many thousand dollars to judges and others, as bonuses—thereby rendering representative government in the colony a farce and burlesque. For "THE SPOON BILL" voted Allan McLean, (Speaker 1818), John Willson, (Speaker 1828), James Durand, Jonas Jones, P. Howard, Mahlon Burwell, P. Vankoughnett, Robert Nickol, and the rest of the corrupt and politically unprincipled members of the legislature of that period; not one man among them raising his voice against these barefaced acts of public robbery.

DURAND was made register of Gore; an AJOHN WILLSON, (pious John), went home and named his next child after the Governow got his brother Hugh, who can with difficulty sign his name legibly, and himself, made magistrates; and added the inspectorship of licenses to the other rewards of his time-serving patriotism. After the bill granting $10,000 a year, for ever, to the lieutenant governor, beyond the control of parliament, and out of the pockets of the people, was brought in, it was considered so odious at first, that it was negatived; but (says Robert Nichel, referring, to the journals), it was again brought forward and carried through all its stages, by the zealous exertions of that same MR. DURAND, who was one of the large majority of 16 to 6 who passed it.

MR. DURAND, in reply, instanced the terrors of John Willson, who had left his duty in the house, saying, "the times were too dangerous for any person to open his mouth."

MR. BURWELL desended his friend, honest John Willson. MR. JONAS JONES considered that Durand's handbill was a libel on honest John Willson, as a private individual and as a magistrate.

Each wanton Judge, new penal Statutes draws; Laws grind the Poor, and rich Men rule the Laws .- GOLDSMITH.

Notes taken, by George Hamilton, Esq. M. P., of a debate in the first parlimment called by Sir P. Maitland.

"JAMES DURAND. Gourlay's productions libellous. His followers honest, loy-" al, and most respectable men: so much so, that there were many present unworthy " to sit down with them. They shood forward, and almost alone, in defence of their country. The convention was a natural excrescence, growing out of the liberties of " the subject. Recommended in reply to the Governor's speech to allow it to dwindle into its NATIVE INSIGNIFICANCE. " JONAS JONES. Gourlay, a wretch, guilty of sedition. His pluctions libel-" lous. His followers the most loyal and honest men. Views with indignation the at" tempt to organize sedition."

"PETER HOWARD. Gourlay a great seducer, could persuade the people to " any thing. He (Howard) had opposed Mr. Gourlay, and had stated to the people " that they had no grievances: that they (the people); threw up to him the grant of

" £3000 to the late Lieutenant Governor : that this he could not deny." " MAHLON BURWELL said, he cared not for the people's opinions. As a proof " of Mr. Gourlay's evil intentions he instanced the expression in one of his addresses, " surely when the blood of Britons has elbed to the lowest mark, it will learn to flow "ugain," which he undoubtedly took to mean, that it should flow in the field; and " that it was an excitement to rebellion."

No. 7. Sedition Law Repeal Bill. --- Against repealing the adious gagging bill [at its 2nd reading], voted Messrs. Alex McMartin, Hamilton of Prescott, Archibald McLean, Attorney General, Allan McLean, BURW ELL, HAGERMAN, Alexander McDonell, and William Morris.

No. 8? MINORITY, in favour of allowing the holders of location tickets, for crown lands, TO VOTE for members of parliament, (although the said ticket holders, might have had no deed, and perhaps performed no settlement duties, nor paid fees).—Messrs. BURWELL, Walsh, Peter Robinson, Allan and Archibald McLean, JONAS JONES, HAGERMAN, Gates, Attorney General, and Hamilton of Prescott,—10. Lost, 25 to 10.

No. 9. MINORITY opposed to the bill for repealing the act appointing a provincial agent (Major Halton had been of no use as an agent.) Mesers. WALSH, Attorney General, Allan McLean, McCormick, and BURWELL. (Had these worthles had their wish they would have saddled £500 a year on the Hillier of that period, for twenty years to come, had he lived so long.)

No. 10. MINORITY opposed to the repeal of the £2500 permanent appropriation bill, (See No. 4.) and denying the necessity of resorting to economy and retreachment. Messrs. BURWELL, Allan McLean, and Attorney General.

- ' No. 11. MINORITY opposed to the bill giving the Receiver General a salary in lieu of poundage, and who wished to re-commit it after the third rending.---Meneral Nichol, BURWELL, Attorney General, Bustwick, Allan McLean, Archibald McLean, P. Robinson, Alexander McDonell, and WALSH.
- No. 12. ADJUTANT GENERAL'S DEPARTMENT....Minority in favour of increasing the salary of the Adjutant and Deputy Adjutant General, and opposed to the report of the committee, who wished to sit again that day three months (to rid themselves of the matter) Messrs. J. B. and P. ROBINSON, Bostwick. Nichol, WALSH, BURWELL, Gordon, McCormick, Archibald McLean, Gates, and Robert Hamilton.

No. 13. Opposition was made to Mr. Wilson, of Prince Edward's motion "that "in order to expedite public business at the next session of parliament, a select committee be appointed to sit during the recess, who shall have power to investigate and "report upon the public accounts, and also to send for persons and papers."

Against it voted Messrs. C. Jones, BURWELL, J. B. & P. ROBINSON, Bostwick, Baldwin, RUTTAN, Gates, Morris, Robert Hamilton, Nichol, and Crooks.

No. 14. HALTON ELECTION, 1817.---I am credibly informed that when Henry J. Boulton had the effrontery to offer his services to represent this county, and when in his address of January 18th, 1817, he used the following language, "It will be my "constant endeavour to promote the interests of RELIGION, in the true spirit of "christian benevolence,"--he was supported and encouraged by John Willson: and that those good old times, Col. Coffin, and a number of the corrupt tools of office in York, went up to flatton to aid honest John's own election. Into the truth of these matters his constituents may make timeous enquiry.

No. 15. Control Concretion Aliens.

DOCTOR BALD WIN, argued and voted in assembly that Mr. Bidwell, Sen'r. as a natural born British subject, had a right to a seat in parliament; but very atrangely forgetting that the children of natural born subjects of his majesty are, by law, entitled to be considered British subjects, altho' born out of the King's dominions, was inconsistent enough to argue and vote, that Mr. Bidwell, junior, the present able and call thereof member for Lennox and Addington, was an alien and unfit to inherit, in this colony, the lands of his father. On Doctor Baldwin's principle, almost every person new in this colony, who was born in the United States after the treaty of 1785 is an alien. Doctor B. thought that because old Mr. Bidwell was not in obedience to the king at the time of the birth of his son, Marshall S. Bidwell, the candidate whom Robert Stanton, the returning officer, had rejected, the said son was an alien born.

DOCTOR BALDWIN moved, in substance, that Marshall Spring Ridwell, Esq. (being an alien) was not qualified to hold a seat in the assembly, and that Mr. Ham should retain his seat (tho' Ham had the fewest votes.)

MR. McDONELL, as appears by his speech, deeply regretted having given a vote the year before, against Mr. Bidwell, senior; he was decidedly of epinion that Mr.

Bilwell, junior, the rejected candidate, was eligible to a sest in the assembly.

[It had been contended that the rejected candidate was qualified by the provisions of 4th Geo. 2nd, and 7th Anne, by which he argued that all Americans whose fathers were natural born subjects, were also natural horn subjects themselves, and that his father being a natural born subject, the son could not be an alien.

Mr. Charles Jones, considered both the Messrs. Bidwell, ALIENS. Mr. Hagerman, thought so too, and was for leaving the question "to the interference of the executive."

Nothing could divest such persons of the rights of British subjects. The country was thinly settled when the act passed; and it was passed to induce persons to come in anti-action, not as tenants, but as freeholders; the act did not extend to other colonies. But Mr. Crooks did not vote as he had argued.]

Mr. C. Jones replied, that the 30th of the late king neither qualified emigrants from the States to vote nor hold property.

As DOCTOR BALDWIN'S motion exhibits a correct view of the opinions of certain members of the last parliament (1825) on what is termed the alien question, we record the vote upon Mr. Bidwell's eligibility.

For the resolution, [viz. that Mr. Bidwell was an alien, and could not sit in assembly], voted Messrs, M'Lean, J. Jones, C. Jones, Baldwin, Gordon, Hagerman, Burwell, Shaver, Vankoughnett and Bostwick, 10.---Against it, [and in favour of Mr. Bidwell's claim to the seat held by Matthew Clark], voted Messrs. Nichol, Randal, Hornor, Walsh, Pattie, Wilson, Clark, Baby, Wilmot, Wilson, Peterson, White, Ruttan, Kerr, Rogers, Chisholm, M'Donell, Gates, Hamilton, Morris, & Casey---22. Carried by a majority of 25.

Mr. Ruttan was the only opposer of the above resolution; he conceiving of course, that Stanton, as Returning Officer, had a right to reject Mr. Bidwell, tho highest on

THE YORK GOVERNMENT BANK. No. 21.

In order that the country may know who the men were who placed in the hands of the present executive, that tremendous political engine, commonly called the Bank of Upper Canada; the charter of which gives the officers of government, for the time being, the entire control of its funds and discounts. A fearful power indeed, when lodged in the hands of such an administration as the present.

The Attorney General, seconded by Mr. Gordon moves, that the Bill do now pass, and that the fife be "An Act to establish a Provincial Bank, under the style and title

In his motion he was supported by all the lawyers in the House, except Dr. Baldwin. The year were, Lawyer Robinson, Mr. Walsh, Lawyer Arch. McLeaq, Mr. Burwell, Lawyer Jonas Jones. Mr. Sherwood, who was speaker of assembly, in 1841, was a burrieter in good practice, a custom-house collector, had his pay of $2 per day, and his salary as speaker was $1600 a year. It was moved to reduce his salary to $800, and that just and economical motion was OPPOSED by Lawyers Hugerman, Attorney General, and Speaker McLean, and by Mesers. Kerr (the new candidate for Halton), McMartin, of Glengarry, McDonell, and Mahlon Burwell. It was carried, however, notwithstanding their opposition, and the salary was reduced, but the assembly still continues to allow. the chief judge of the Upper House to receive $1600, as its speaker, for one quarter the work done by the speaker of the Commons.

Tuesday, 11th December, 1822. No. 26. Mr. Bidwell; senior's Bill for An Equal Division of the Real Estate of persons Dying latestate. This measure might, in such a country as Great British; interfere materially with the present order of things, but here in Upper Canada, it would be found a very beneficial and salutary enactment. In the present parliament it has often passed the assembly, to be laid under the tabless the Upper House.—Advocate.]

Dr. Baldwin was much opposed to Mr. Bidwell's bill; he said, there never was a bill brought before the house which went so far to change the most salutary regulations of the British Constitution than the present : it aimed at a total Revolution in the laws, and weakened that power by which England became a great a powerful and an exalted Nation. It was altogether a visionary scheme, and would be found ineffectual; it might do in a Republican State, but not in a free government. By the present hill if a man dies intestate, possessed of 200 acres of Land, it is to be divided amongst, perhaps, ten Children .- Those children marry, and die intestate; and it is to be subdivided : he thought it would be impracticable and ruinous to children instead of benefiting them. The Statute of distribution was very properly confined to personal property, and not to Real Estate, and why should they excep aside from the fundamental principles of the British Constitution and look for novel enactments. The subdivision of land had too much of the Agrarian system in it; by it society would be confused, and Aristocracy upon which the happy, happy constitution of Great Britain rested, would be destroyed. He (Dr. B.) would wish to see the principles of Aristocracy supported in this Colony, to preserve the constitution conferred upon us by the British Government, and not run into a scheme of Democracy by establishing new fangled laws. With regard to the distribution of personal Estate, there were proper provisions made, but the present bill, if passed into a law, would be suppressive of the British law, and the British constitution.

Mr. Attorney General said, he agreed with every word that had fallen from the hon-gentleman (Dr. Baldwin.) Were they to pass a bill of this kind, they would can themselves off from all resemblance of the Mother Country : he looked upon the bill with abhorrence, and should oppose it.

Major Rogers said he had not seen the bill, and it was necessary that it should be read to put the house in possession of its Provisions. He (Mr. R.) was sure one child was as dears to a parent as another, and should be equally protected. By the present law, a man dying without a will, the whole Estate goes to the Heir, no doubt, often contrary to the wishes of the Father, who had not time to bequeath his preparty amongst his Children. The present bill went to remedy that evil, as nothing could be more unjust than to turn off the younger branches of a family to perish. He (Mr. R.) wished to support the constitution of this country, but he did not want that kind of Aristocracy here which deprived younger children of a subsistence. He hoped the House would agree to the bill's being read, to put them in possession of its contents, and not yote against a measure which they knew nothing of.

Mr. Hagerman said, it was unnecessary to read the bill. It was intended to take the right of inheritance from the elder Son, and distribute it amongst the younger. If the hon, gentleman said the present bill was not a departure from the British Constitution, he, (Mr. H.) would say he was ignorant of the constitution. (Mr. Rogers said, across the table, he had not said so.) Mr. H. said, if they passed the present bill, they would be departing from every thing venerable, noble, and honorable : he should be sorry that a bill of so dangerous a tendency would pass. Democracy was, like a serpent, twisting round us by degrees, it should be crushed in the first instance; for if that bill passed, it would not leave them the British Constitution but a mere shadow, A division took place-For Mr. Bidwell's motion, Messrs. Pattie, James Wilson, Clark, Randal, Peterson, Casey, Walsh, VanKoughnet, Bidwell, and Rogers. - 10.

Against it, Messrs. Peter Robinson, Bostwick, Burwell, Attorney General, Hagerman, Baldwin, Wilmot, Baby, Morris, McMartin, Kerr, Gates, Jones, Chisholm, R. Hamilton, and McDonell, 16. Majority against the motion,—6.

So that the usual courtesy was denied Mr. Bidwell, thro' the convincing arguments of Messrs. Attorney General, Baldwin, and Hagerman; and his hill was not even permitted to be read. A number of the members, it would appear, not only in this but in many other divisions, went below the bar.]

In the assembly, on the 19th Decr. 1823, the OPPOSERS of a similar salutary measure, were Messrs. Gordon, Burwell, Baldwin, Attorney General, Ruttan, Kerr, Jonas Jones, Hagerman, Nichol, McDonell, Robert Hamilton, McMartin, Archibald

McLean, Morris, Shaver, and Bostwick.
In reply to Mr. John Willson, who had introduced the measure for an equal division, among the family, of the estates of persons dying without wills, Doctor Baldwin, amongst other things, remarked, that "the hon." mover said this bill would improve the condition of the country; he would beg leave to deny such a result, and to direct the attention of the hon: member to the state of England, where under this law agriculture has highly flourished, where a respectable farmer can give his daughter £10,000 or £20,000 fortune; was there any Country more respectable in commercial and a gricultural prosperity? No Country equalled it-where then was the evil of the present law?—instead of improving the Country it would retard it's improvement; it would rather lessen the value of real estate and therefore check the spirit of improvement—it would in a measure tend to convert landed estate into paper currency, as the young expectants of the division would anticipate their shares, and waste and squander to speculators before they obtained their property." No. 27.

Mr. Bidwell, senior's bill for enabling Religious Societies to hold land for parsonages, burying grounds, &c.

[Here again Doctor Baldwin's contracted spirit manifests itself. He had carried thro' the law society act, which allows that formidable and dangerous association to hold as much land as they please, and to enjoy lands bequeathed to them, without limit or restriction as to quantity, and also to sell land, &c. The doctor's narrow prudence always forsook him when the law or lawyers were in the way, but in order to guard against improvident grants to religious societies, he wished that not more than 4 or 6 acres might be allowed to them.

Mr. Bidwell said, all that was required by the bill was ground for a Parsonage, a Church and burying ground, and as there was no limit to the lands for the accommodation of the Law Society, he had not thought it necessary to introduce a clause for that purpose into the present bill.

Dr. Baldwin said there was a great difference between this bill, and the bill regulating the Law Society.---That bill was for supporting the Law Society of this Province, WHICH SHOULD NOT BE LIMITED: the present bill was to grant privileges to Religious Societies, of various denominations: and the house should not, by vesting them with unlimited powers, lay the foundation for accumulating property. It was the feeling of the public to support Religious Societies, there might be large estates bequeathed to them; but there was no danger of bequests being made in favour of the Law Society, yet great danger might arise by bequests to Religious Societies.

Mr. C. Jones thought a bill of this nature should be supported, and regretted the titions had not a more respectable number of signers. He objected to one part of shill, which went to legalize marriages solemnized by methodists, after the decistagainst their having that right. Such persons wilfully flew in the face of the laws the country, and had a right to suffer for it.

Messrs. James Wilson and William Chisholm would vote $8000 for the mission of Attorney General, to England; and a further sum hereafter, if found necessary. Chisholm added, that if Mr. Robinson did not accept the appointment, he (Chislim) would oppose the measure altogether. (see No. 32.)

No. 31. BALDWIN'S "COUNT PALATINE."
Perhaps no motion ever made in parliament caused so much merriment, or drew ore ridicule upon its mover, than Doctor Baldwin's motion to make an Indian noblean. A count or earl Palatine!! The doctor stated that he borrowed his plan from a feudal times and that the chief and the warrior, were very similar; to FIX their

"His first step would be to authorise the governor to erect the lands of the Grand River into a kind of county Palatine--- to nominate from amongst the chiefs a count new results and the heirs male.

River into a kind of county Palatine...to nominate from amongst the chiefs a count Palatine, and enfeoff him with an adequate estate entailed on him and the heirs male of his body---he would also propose like power to the governor to enfeoff the other shiefs acknowledged by the six nations, with proportioned estates entailed on them and the heirs of their bodies, and also the warriors with proportioned fees of land entailed in like manner; those estates to be exempt from all debts, and unaliend

' by the feofees."

Is it not surprizing that in the 19th century an individual could have been found, weak and foolish as to express a desire in an American provincial assembly, to palaw creating Indian Peers, and ENTALLING their estates on them and their heirs, compt from all debts, and unslienable by the feofees? But the member for the policy and enlightened county of York went even farther than this.

He (Dr. Baldwin) "hoped the time would come when the civilized Indians we be represented in this legislature, and with this view the proposed bill provided power in the governor to call the count Palatine to a seat in the legislative count and a right to the feedees of the county to elect two representative chiefs, when properly educated, to seats in the assembly---[n laugh.] Gentlemen may laugh. cause they will not permit themselves to think."

This motion, it appears, was thought so chimerical that the bill was not even dered to a second reading.

I can assure Doctor Baldwin that the experiment of entailing landed property, locking it up FOR EVER, so as that it can neither be bought, sold, nor made he for the honest debts of the proprietor or his heirs, has, in Scotland been tried for wards of a century, in virtue of a Scotch act of 1685. One half of Scotland is, this day, entailed lands; some whole counties are nearly all entailed. Proprieton vast domains entail their lands to their heirs for ever; and, of late, small proper have been entailed also, to prevent them from coming under the grasp of their are cratic neighbours. If one half of Upper Canada consisted of entailed lands, we drawn for ever from commerce, we should have counts Palatine enough, without ding Indian chiefs.

No. 52. PRODICAL EXPENDITURE IN FAVOUR OF POOR MR. ROBINSON.

When the Attorney General went to visit "royalty and ministers," as Nichold ed it, he had $8000 paid him for his expenses, besides being allowed his emolume of office rent, salary, clerk, fiat fees, &c. &c. But this political shark had not enough; he therefore got his friend the modest Mr. Hagerman of Kingston, in session of 1824, to effer a set of pulling resolutions for his [Robinson's] henefit, which was added speeches by the firm [Jonas Jones, Hagerman & Co.] If the torney had at that period nearly $8000 by his offices, &c. he had more than the court of the could afford to any man in his situation, and his emoluments deserve to be implicately curtailed, as well the enormous fees chargeable by lawyers in general in priest-ridden, lawyer-ridden colony.

Mr. Hagerman said "that in making Mr. Robinson, a further remuneration, the would recollect, that he was in the receipt of nearly £2000 a year in this country this profession; that having been a long time a burthen on his friends, he was oble to take a house in England, at a heavy expense, and that he was at this mone considerably out of pocket by this appointment; and that when they saw the great advantages this province obtained by his exertions, they would not only make him * adequate remuneration, but also, a generous reward for his faithful services. — O Mr. Jonas Jones said that the object of these resolutions was to remunerate I Robinson for services to his country; he saw a letter from him in August last, when he taken a house after living on his friends till he was ashamed to lives o longer, and was without the means of supporting himself in England at that time. If he had sufficient means last August, what, he asked, must be his situation at present?

[What thorough paced beggars these Kingston and Brockville backs proved the selves on this occasion .--- Advo.]

Mr. John Willson admitted that the conduct of Mr. Robinson in gaining the tribill was valuable. He entertained strong doubts about his being connected with a clauses of the Union bill, but the hon. member for Kingston had convinced him on a subject. He thought that as our commissioner was detained at the request of his m jesty's ministers, in order to serve this province, that he should be remunerated, the house should express their reason for doing so in the resolution for that purpose.

WEEKES' ESTATE BILL.

Query .- Was it not Doctor Baldwin, the member for York, who brought in the bill or vesting the estates of the late William Weekes, in the following worthy triumviate, viz. Strachan, Boulton, and Robinson, for the purposes of a public academy, on liberal principle !!!

BISHOP BURNET ON BRIBERY AT ELECTIONS. All laws that can be made, will prove ineffectual to cure so great an evil, till there comes to be a change and reformation of morals in the nation; we see former laws are evaded, and so will all the laws that can be made, till the candidates and electors both become men of another temper and other principles, than appear now among the the expense of elections ruins families; and these families will come in time to exp a full reparation from the crown; or they will take their revenges on it, if that h fails them: the commons will grow insolent upon it, and look on the gentry as in the dependence: during the war, and while the heat of parties ferments so much, it not easy to find a proper remedy for this. When the war is over, one expedient the power of the crown is, to declare that elections to parliament shall be annual: he if the same heat and rivalry of parties should still continue, that would ruin families so much the sooner.

No. 35. CONTESTED ELECTIONS...INCOMPETENT RETURNING OFFICERS...THE CAUSES OF DISCONTENT.

Mr. Nichol said he was favourable to a division of the Counties of Lennox and A dington, as it might put a stop to the heavy expense that was incurred every Sessiby the contested election for these Counties. The expense incurred for these Couties in contesting the Election, amounted to between 3 & 4000 pounds!!!! (see No. 3

On another occasion Mr. James Wilson said he saw nothing to complain of un the present election Law, but the corruption of Returning Officers—they put the Cotry to most enormous expense by their corrupt practices—he suffered by them his self, and was put to expense and trouble, he could assure the house that they we horridly corrupt, and if they passed a law against their malpractices, it would set the Country materially; but he thought the country did not require this bill nor a nu ber of others that were passed unnecessarily. The present law of Elections was go it came near the Scriptures, and it would seem as if the authors of it were divinely spired—The late decision also, respecting Location Tickets, which was made under was highly gratifying to the country.

Bigotry and Persecution, have been confined to no one sect, or denomination christians. The London Provincial Assembly of Divines consisted of 58 of the meminent pastors in the city. In 1647 they published their assent to the assembly's etechism, and testimony to the Solemn League and Covenant, wherein they dechatheir detestation and abhorrence of the "ERROR OF TOLERATION, patronizi "and promoting all other errors, heresies, and blasphemies whatsoever, under the grossly abused notion of LIBERTY OF CONSCIENCE." They lay the found tion of all their calamities in the countenancing of a public and general Toleration. What sad work would these divines have made, had the sword of the magistrate be at their disposal! -- [Neale's history of the Puritans.]

No. 36. BILL TO, ALLOW METHODISTS TO MARRY. &c. Sept. 18th The Attorney General thought the arguments of the hon. member who spoke he were fallacious, and not applicable to the present question. It was argued by him the Roman Catholics acknowledged a foreign head, and yet they were allowed the privileges; and were still a loyal body of people. In answer, he would say that the Roman Catholics formed but a small part of the population of this Province, and the preachers were not aliens, they were for the most part natural born subjects, but it majority of the methodist preachers were aliens, from a foreign land, who were needucated in the principles of loyalty and attachment to the British Government.

[The Attorney General's opinion in 1828, and in 1828, may be seen by comparing the above with his replies to the select committee on the petition of christians of different sects.]

Mr. Crooks did not see any injury that could arise to the Country by allowing m thodists to marry--it would rather be of great service; because it would set at rest a angry feelings, and secure their affections to the Government of this Country.

PUBLIC OPINION. No. 39.

The opinion of Mr. McDonell, of this town, as compared with that of Mr. Burwell. n respect to duelling, is highly creditable to the former While Mr. Burwell found t convenient to join the Attorney General and his band, in abusing and traducing Mr. Bidwell, and in justifying their pitiful and vindictive efforts to ruin a man every way their superior, merely because they felt his superiority of talent, he [Burwell] was ready to smooth over the misconduct of others, in such language as will be found below. How his old constituents will relish such doctrines we know not.

(From Heron's Gleaner, March 30th 1642.)

Mr. McDonell said, that some hon. members seemed to think it a disgrace to sit along ide the sitting member from Lennox and Addington because He was indicted for misapplication of public money; but altho' he was indicted, he was not found guilty by a petty Jury---le, therefore, thought these indictments should not be attended to. There was an hon. member of the Legislative Council, who at this moment stood indicted for MURDER in the United States, and it was not thought a disqualification by the members of that hon. body. There was an Officer of this House also, who was then present, and had been indicted for MURDER, yet, they thought it no disgrace to sit in company with him; therefore, he would banish from his mind, all transactions as to moral character, which took place in the United States.

Mr. Burwell wished to know from the hon. member from Glengarry, whose opinion he always respected, if he meant to compare the situation of the sitting member with the indictments found against the hon, gentlemen alluded to, or if he meant to attach the crime of MURDER to these gentlemen, who were challenged, and killed their opponents in a fair duel! No. 40. LAWYERS' FEES! A TERROR to the COUNTRY, and a SCOURGE to the Farmers!!

Here VICE assumes the serpent's shape; and Folly personates the ape: Here AVARICE gripes with Harpy's hawse---there malice grins with tiger's claws, While sons of mischief, Wit, and Guile, are alligators of the Nile --- Cotton.

By a reference to the 38th clause of the 1st chapter of the Statutes passed in January 1822, it will be found, that (in the act for regulating the practice of the Court of King's Bench in Upper Canada) in civil suits, before the highest tribunal in the Colony, the allowance of costs to either party; that is, to the attornies of either party, shall be regulated by the laws and usages of England---a country where living is infinitely more expensive than in this province. And in the 45th clause of the same infamous act, the Judges of the king's bench (themselves the breath of thuse who raise them to that distinction) are empowered to allow the officers of the court such fees both in criminal and civil cases as they may think fit. They are also authorised to alter and amend the table of fees (from time to time, at their uncontrolled discretion,) payable to attornies, clerks of the crown, sheriffs, counsel, officers, and other persons. Good God! what ignorant, interested, and unfeeling men they must have been, who could have allowed the lawyers, thus at will, to riot on the poverty, misery, and distress of Upper Canada. It costs a man ten times the time, trouble, and costs, to get through a lawsuit here, in common cases of $100 and under, to what it does in the United States, and all this owing to the ignorance, folly, or cupidity of the people's representatives. No great wonder the country swarms with petty village brawlers of barristers and attornies --- No wonder the Gore District can now maintain eight or ten of them in splendour; while in my memory, a few years ago, there was only one!!! One suit a place, with the present fees, would keep an ordinarily expensive family in subsistence for a twelvemonth :--- but--- if providence spares my health, I'll do my endeavour to thin their ranks, by suggesting measures to lessen their (often) ill-won gains; and the carrion being gone, the legal vultures will very soon fly off. In favor of this truly infamous bill, this surrendering of the lawful power of parliament, voted Messrs. Jonas Jones

[For other votes See Appendix.]

I am told that a jury fined Mr. Jordon Post, of this town, £3 or so, for damages done to Mr. Small's farm in cutting flown trees---which Post refused to pay. The case ac cordingly went thro' the hopper-boy of the York law-mill again, and Mr. James E Small's bill of costs, (against poor Post) had swelled up to the astounding sum of between two and three hundred dollars, upon the £3 .-- It is not of consequence now to enquire whether Mr. Post was right or wrong in refusing to pay the £3 verdict. The law ought to have protected him even from his own ignorance, so as that no attorney could have turned so small a claim into a job of this nature. The present table of feet generates and cherishes, in every part of the colony, a set of petty practitioners, who the longer they are cherished, will the more seriously ruin the peace of society and the prosperity of U. C.

I very well remember, some eight or nine years ago, there were only three lawyen in York; namely the two crown officers, and Doctor Baldwin. Now there are a score or two; with clerks, livery servants &c. to match: and all or nearly all of them living like little kings, on the dissensions, contentions, and quarrels, of their industrious but wrong-headed neighbours.

Mr. Fothergill, in his hand-bills, speaks shout vipers; and St. Paul, or some other Apostle, mentions a generation of that species, and addresses them to repent, somewhere in the New Testament. York is a den of such--- and the monstrous law feet allowed by this act, are their nourishment. It is not saying too much for me to estimate the annual gains of the law tribe, in York alone, at $66,000 per annum---and if judges' salaries, sheriffs' gains, and the incomes of the whole of the legal race down to the bailiff's assistant be added at is possible. I am correct in guessing their profits at $100,000 a year !! 1 For a fifth of which sum, the necessary part of their business could and would be better done. Every one of these persons is obliged to support the present system.

The lawyers in the House of Assembly, in my opinion, lay their heads together, no to make laws which shall be clear and distinct, and such as will answer the purpose for which they were designed, but rather to make statutes, like those about the Kingston Bank, which have never been good for any other purpose than to put money into the lawyers' pockets.

It is worthy of remark, that in the very next chapter of the statutes of the same session, in an act for regulating the practice of the inferior or district courts, parliament mioutely regulated the fees by statute, while in the supreme court they left the fees in the hands of crown appointed judges, who made the first use of their authority to take about £500 a year from Mr. Small and add it to the fees of the crown lawyers.

In 1824 too, Mr. Archibald McLean, one of the legal leeches from Storment, me ved -- not that the assembly should establish a table of fees in the Courts of Probab and Surrogate, but (as a rider to a hill) that the king's bench judges might do so an alter said fees at their pleasure! Robinson had, no doubt made a catspaw of him t make this motion, which was providentially lost.

"The Lords also voted that the decrees of the university of Oxford, passed in 168 in which the absolute authority of princes, and the unalterableness of the heredita right of succeeding to the crown, were asserted in a very high strain, should BURN'T with Sacheverell's sermon."-Bishop Burnet's History.

The following remarks of Mr. Hagerman, respecting the German and American for mers, is a complete exposition of the Attorney General's views on the question of depl ving the people of their rights.

Mr. Hagerman said, if the hon. member for the county of York only wished the persons to hold lands in this province, and to stop there, he was willing to go so with him, and he thought that that was as much as they were entitled to. There we other descriptions of aliens, who obtained grants of lands from his majesty, and we equally entitled to the consideration of this com.-" He [Hagerman] was of opinion that many of those persons who held lands were as much aliens as James Madison He would consent to allow these people (the farmers) to be secure in the possession

PRESBYTERIANS.

Fontenelle often said that such was his opinion of the intolerance of mankind, that if his hand were full of truths, he would not open it. And even our illustrious Sir. Issac Newton was so much annoyed by the illustral criticisms, to which the novelries of his doctrines had given rise, that he often lamented he had been persuaded to publish.—Walgolg.

The claims of the church of Scotland, to a share in the Clergy Reserves were, in Decr. 1823 opposed, says the York Observer, "by the Speaker (Sherwood), Attorney General, C. Jones, John Willson, and Hagerman, who contended that there was no provision made for them in the 31st of the king" &c.

Messrs. McLean, Nichol, Crooks, and Morris, argued in favour of the Scots

Presbyterians.

Mr. Hagerman moved to expunge a part of one of the resolutions, which laid claim to a right, on the part of the Scotch, to participate in all the advantages of the conquest of Canada, and denied they had any such right.

"Mr. RUTTAN rose to give his decided opposition to these resolutions. The Scotch church had no claim on the Reserves in this Province. These Resolutions go to declare that they have a right to be supported; what support can his Majesty's Government give them, only to be paid by the people of the country? What support have they at home, except what they receive from the people? They had none.—For his own part he thought that this was nothing less than an attempt to supplant the church of England in this Province; and to establish the church of Scotland in its stead. (cries of bigorry and intolerance from both sides.) The hom member for Kingston had said there was very little difference between the churches of England & Scotland; he would deny this assertion—there was a wide difference, and the greatest discussions herween these two churches; they were decidedly hostile to each other; and if any measure, such as at present proposed, were ever acted on in this country it would be attended with the most diabolical results!!! (cries of hear, hear.) He [Mr. Ruttan] would join in monaddress of this kind, requesting his Majesty to take away the rights of His Subjects of the established church.

Mr. BURWELL "did not think the church of Scotland had a right to be put on an equal footing with the church of England in this province."

No. 43. GRANTS OF LAND, MONEY, &c.

Doctor Baldwin is said to have actually proposed to address the Lt. Governor that he would grant the new townships to individuals: Also, that the bounty voted for ruising hemp in this colony, should be placed in the hands of the storekeepers: And that an Indian chief should sit on the assize bench as an assistant judge !!!

Speaker John Willson, on the last day of the 1st session of this parliament actually proposed and carried a resolve to give Doctor Powell, $400 of addition to his salary as clerk, altho' the doctor, hesides, large fees in the probate and district courts, had then about $200 salary as clerk of assembly; and for some extra services which did not detain him over 3 months in the year. He also pulled the motion for £15 to pay the, for newspapers, which had not been delivered by any order of the assembly, nor lad any demand been made, either directly, or indirectly, for recompense; and to room the farce, he came back from his room into the house where the committee was sitting, and proposed to give $200 to Carey, for some speeches waich had been reported so far back as 1820, and which the former parliament conceived they had often enough paid for. Carey himself had sent in a claim of only £25, for this service.

But, said the speaker, give him twice as much as he asks!—The house gave him £30; and some of the members told me they saw the money of the country would go one way if it did not go the other, and so they should vote for these motions. I compared the Speaker's conduct in my next newspaper, to that of the spoon bill parliament and of our foolish monarch, James 1st. But three years had still to elapse before the evil would admit of a remedy.

No. 43 a. Bill to increase the salary of the Assistant Adjutant General of Militia.

Note.—The Adjutant General himself had voted to him in a former session an extravagant permanent provision; and the object of the above bill was to give him an assistant to do the work he aught to have done himself.

In favour of this hill voted Colonels Bostwick, Burweil, Nichol, Gordon, Baldwin, Chisholm, and McDonell, and Messra. Ruttan, Kerr, (the mover), Pattie, & Casey.

No. 44. Remuneration to the Commissioner and his Secretary for going to Lower Canada to settle existing differences.

Messrs. Baby, and Macaulay went down, staid a few days, and came up again. The former is in the annual receipt of a large salary as Inspector General and Executive Councillor. Mr. Hagerman wished to give them $4000 :- Mr. Nichol was for $3000 .- They received $2000. THE IRISH AND THE JONESES.

January, 1824. The following is a faithful copy, from the Observer, of an extract from a speech delivered by Mr. Charles Jones, in parliament, on emigrating paupers. We are rather surprised at the friendship shown to the family by the frish, after reading such language.] Mr. C. Jones. "The hon. Att'y General said the Government of the Mother Country was at heavy expense sending out settlers from Scotland and Ireland every year : he[Mr.J.] thought it was for their own good they sent out these settlers. Some of the recent importations, were Radicals from Scotland: many of those from Ir-land were said to be public disturbers of the peace of that unfertunate country; and happy was the government after a great deal of coaxing, to get rid of them, even at the expense of 15 or 20,000 pounds. Many have been sent from England who were paupers, and supported at the common expense of their respective parishes; and if it cost the government [or Parishes] £50 for transporting each family to this country, it was yet a good bargain to them, [the Government], for most of these families cost their Parishes £50 yearly for their support. Precious materials, some of these, to populate and enrich a new country!!

It ought not to be said hy hon, members that, for such favours we ought to feel conscious of labouring under a very heavy debt of gratitude; for one he [Mr. J.]deni-

This extraordinary increase in the contingent expenses of a body whose session in 1821 was as long as in 1827, induced the members for Middlesex, Messrs. Matthews and Rolph, to move for a conference [17th Feb. 1827] on the subject, with the legislative council.

Mr. Jonas Jones, opposed this course vehemently; he said he had seen an account of their contingencies, and it was all right, perfectly right, quite correct, he would an swer for it, Besides, time was short, and he would oppose enquiry. He did oppose it, as did Messrs. Atkinson, Beasley, Burke, Burnham, Cameron, Clark, Coleman, Crysler, Fothergill, Gordon, Ingersol, Lyons, McDonald, McDonell, McLean, McBride, Perry, Scollick, 2 Thomsons, Vankoughnet; and White, so the amount was voted, without the members being made acquainted with one penny of the details of £1155, of the funds of this poor province thus taken out of the public chest, probably to encrease executive influence.

No. 48. ASSESSMENT LAW AMENDMENT BILL.

This just and necessary measure went, among other things, to provide that the owners of wild lands, might be permitted to pay their taxes into the hands of the treasurers of the districts in which they respectively reside, wherever the lands might be situated; and that, for a stated compensation, each treasurer would, at certain periods, transmit the monies so received, to the treasurers of the districts wherein the lands were situated. This was opposed by Messra. Attorney General, Beasley, BURNHAM, Coleman, Ewing. Gordon, HAMILTON, Hornor, Ingersol, J. Jones, MCDONALD, of the Ottawa, Morris, Rolph, Scollick, Wilkinson, James Wilson, and White;—17. There was a tie, and Mr. Speaker Willson tomahawked this useful bill, by his casting vote against it. [26th February 1825.]—James Wilson amended his vote last session.

I may here remark, that the wild land assessment bill, like many others of the Attorney General's insidious and artful measures for undermining the liberties of this country, is so contrived as to place the revenues derived under it, not in the hands of the people's representatives (where it ought to be) but entirely in the power, and under the sole control of the district magistrates, who are persons appointed by, and removeable at the nod of the lieutenant governor for the time being: a crafty measure, calculated to strengthen executive influence; and no evidence, either of the wisdom or integrity of the Assembly in which it was passed.

Next Session the assessment collection question was again agitated; the votes (January 4th, 1826) were 17 to 17; and the Speaker voted with government as before. C. and D. Jones, Matthews, and McCall, also voted with the Attorney General this last time;—Coleman, McDonald, and Ewing, were absent; and Mr. Rolph went over in favor of the measure. I have placed the three treasurers' names in capitals, to shew how unfit men are to vote where their own interests are affected. These men, perhaps thought the trouble of opening 11 new accounts would exceed the profit, and so they voted on the easy side, and against the people.

No. 49. EMOLUMENTS OF GOVERNMENT OFFICERS.

8th March, 1825.

Mr. HAMILTON'S motion requesting government to furnish a statement of the o-moluments of the different government officers, for the last four years, was OPPOSED by Messrs. Attorney General, Beasley, Burnham, Cumming, Gordon, Ingersol, C. & D. Jones, McDonald, McDonell, McLean, Morris, Thompson, of York, Vankoughnett, and Wilkinson; but it carried, nevertheless, and the returns (very incorrect) may be seen in the appendix to journals of 1st session present parliament.

No. 50. OBSTINACY OF THE LORDS.

The Upper House, having taken umbrage at a rule of the commons, refused to communicate with them by message (see bournals session 1, parliament 9, page 59.) whereupon a motion was made by Mr. Of the government party, not to consider the resolutions that had been sent down, in committee, but in the House. The vote stood 17 to 17, and the Speaker turned the scale, by voting with the Attorney General.

No. 51. THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S OPINION OF SPEAKER WILLSON.

if As a great deal was said about the respectability of the Hon. the Speaker of this House, he would deliver his sentiments about him. It was very well known that he (A. G.) opposed his election to fill that chair; he opposed it altho' HE HAD A FAVOURABLE OPINION OF HIM (Speaker Willson.) and believed that his conduct in this House was never regulated by any FACTIOUS FEELING or improper motive; but altho' HE HAD THE FULLEST CONFIDENCE IN THE FEELINGS of the hon. Speaker's HEART, yet he had not the same confidence in his acquirements."—Attorney General.

It was about this time that I discovered what an erroneous estimate I had made of John Willson's character; I began to perceive the cloven toot, and the more I looked into the man, and the more I examined his past parliamentary conduct, the more I was satisfied that he was acting a double and deceiful part as a politician. I judged, however, that it would be of no avail for me to represent him to his constituents in his true light before the close of the parliament; but I wrote a letter to him, and there stated my undisguised sentimen's of his conduct. He is at liberty to puddish it. I have since tried to coax him into some favourable measures for affording information to the press, as Speaker, but he was too much the creature of Acting Clerk Fitzgibbon to give heed to my remonstrances.]

MISAPPLICATION OF PUBLIC MONEY. No. 52.

Mr. HAMILTON, being of the opinion that the assembly was about to be dissolved, and that government reight venture upon taking the public monies for their own uses without leave of the assembly, introduced on the 23rd March, 1825, seconded by Capt. John Matthews, a motion "that it be resolved, that the applying any sum of ·· unappropriated money, or surplussage of funds, to uses, not voted or addressed by "parliament, is a misapplication of the public money."-In support of this motion, Mr. H. and Doctor Lefferty quoted the example of Mr. Fox, in the British House of Commons, who had carried a similar measure by a great majority.

Here, however, comprison had taken too deep root, and the venal part of the assembly were now bringing forth those buds of sycophancy, which afterwards blossomed into downright courtiership.

The bad votes on the above motion, succeeded in opposing it, and were as follows: Messrs. Charles Jones. Walsh, Ingersol, Clark, York Thompson, Atkinson, Attorney General, Beasley, Gordon, D. Joues, McDonald, McDonell, McLean, Morris, Play-ter, Wilkinson, Vankoughnett, and Walker,—18. (Jonas Jones was absent.) The timeserving conduct of the assembly at this period, cast the arhitrary arts of the executive into the shade, and disposed many persons, among which I was one, to view the government with less suspicion, until in the next session the diabolical scheme of involving the country in civil war, by breaking British faith-with the Anglo-Aniericans, unfolded itself, and induced me, as a good subject of Great Britain, to enter the lists of unqualified opposition, and I trust that my private and public exertions in the honest cause I disinterestedly espoused, have, in some small degree, aided in convincing the country that at the ensuing election "every man ought to do his duty," by throwing aside all selfish and mercenary considerations,; voting and acting faithfully and uprightly, and encouraging one another in the good cause.

WANT OF A QUORUM.

In reading the black book, the electors must not suppose, if they do not perceive the name of their representative among the had votes, that, as a matter of course, be voted right. This by no means follows: On many occasions, members, to avoid displeasing the government, or lessening their own popularity, have staid away from a debate; or, at the division, left their seats and stept below the bar or out of the House. Very many members were, last parliament, irregular and uncertain in their attendance; and consequently delayed the business of the country, and added to the burthens of their constituents.

For an example of irregular attendance, take the following, from the journals of the 1st session of 9th parliament, p. 64.

" Wednesday, 16th March, 1825. Members present, Messrs. Walsh, Hornor, Hamilton, Walker, C. Jones, Randal, Lefferty, Clark, Perry, D. Jones, Beardsley, Attorney General, James Wilson, Peterson, Vankoughnet, McBride, and H. C. Thomson, 17."

Twenty three being necessary for the despatch of business, the Speaker, after waiting from 10 o'clock in the morning till 6 at night, declared the House adjourned for want of a quorum.

It is a very natural question, "Where were the others?"-And although we cannot reply to T positively, we incline to think that some of them might have been employed during the day on the trial of controverted elections. But that excuse will not serve for the like occurrences during the four sessions.

ugh we cannot have been emlat excuse will No. 51. POWERS OF THE LOCAL MAGISTRATES.

If the magistrates of each district were chusen by the people (who are, of course. beat acquainted with their characters) I should not object to the monies arising from wild land assessments, dog taxes, wolf taxes, &c. being placed under their controll; but as they are, in general, merely temporary, and even sometimes transient servants of the local executive, acting in concert with the minious of government, or suffering degradation from office, if such it he, if they do not obey orders, notens votens, I do think that the house of assembly ought to have had the control of the proceeds of such imposts as the above; and I consider it a dangerous power, in the hands of the magistrates, by which they are enabled, to fix the price of an innkeeper's annual license, at any sum they please, between 12 dollars and fifty dollars. Examine the Journals of assembly, for the session of 1825-6, and you will perceive that in the Western and, Ottawa districts. £5 a year is charged for license to each and every innkeeper, with the exception of Moses, Patter, who pays £4. Again; turn over to the Home district, and you will see that A. Montgomery, John Wilmot, James Schoffeld, Joseph Bloor, Jacob Sayder, Charles Franks, Thomas Simpson, Ulick Howard, Joseph Markwell, Jane Jordon, and John Hays, each pay, under the same act of parliament, £10 each!! Is this fair? Is it just and expedient, to allow the first and foremost houses in Amhersthurgh, Sandwich, Hull, &c. &c. to get off for $10, while their brethren on Yonge Street, and in York are obliged to pay $10 ! Are not these justices who charge, to all alike, £3, in the Western districts, very well aware that they have the power to levy £12 instead thereof? And is not this partful indulgence placing the innecepera greatly in their power ? It would appear as if the act of parliament was actually made use of to link a very influential class of men to the wheels of the executive, and its dependents.

In York, the maximum or highest rate charged, is 10, in Cornwall 5, Sandwich 3, in the Ottawa 4, Kingston 9, Niagara town 8, Bruckville, and Prescott 74, Cobourg, and Port Hope 7, Vittoria, and St. Thomas 4, Sandwich, and Amherstburgh 5, Hamilton (Gore) 5, Dundas 6, and Ancaster 74 pounds. Is this scale fairly graduated 1

William Forsyth's pavilion at the Falls, and A. Montgomery's house on Yonge St., (the one doing perhaps one twentieth of the business of the other) pay alike; and John Hay, and Joseph Bloor, in York, have paid higher for license than the owners of the most spacious hotels in Kingston, or Fort George!! Look at the charges, and look at the system; 'tis a base one.

By the present system of district taxes, under the control of a body of men appointed during the pleasure of the crown, a revenue of perhaps, from $50,000 to $80,000 per annum is placed at the disposal of the minions of a colonial government, instead of being under the salutary control of the representatives of the people. No wonder it is that our legislature is despised by the backs of office, when it is known, that out of an annual revenue, in all equal to $410,000, only a little over a couple of thousand pounds was required to be voted, last March, by the commons in parliament!!

On examining the journals of 1821. I find that Mr. Speaker Willson (magistrate & excise officer) brought in a bill to continue this injudicious apportioning power in the hands of the magistrates, but that after it had passed the assembly, nem. con. some flaw was found in it up stairs, and the Attorney General, seconded by Peter Shaver, brought in, on the last day but one of the session, the bill which appears on the statute book; and, according to the unconstitutional system still continued, carried it thro' parliament the same day, none dissenting. I also perceive that in 1824 the act was continued for four years, with alterations, and that it, with several other important statutes, would have expired had the last session been called three days later! Such are the expedients resorted to by a colonial government. I trust the innkeepers who have paid high licences will read this chapter with attention, as well as the public. The remedy is in the next assembly, for the act expires with the close of their 1st session.

No. 55. WAGES TO MEMBERS FOR TOWNS.

Opposition to a bill making provision for wages to town members; (1st session of the parliament)—Messrs. Attorney General, C. & D. Jones, Gordon & Clark.—On the second session there was no division, but the legislative council gave sundry queer reasons for not assenting to the hill, one of which was, that members were members for the province and not for a particular place. Why then do districts pay their members?

CROWN OFFICERS. In April 1825, the assembly voted, that it was inexpedient to allow the crown officers to charge for opinions given to the lieutenant governor, or for office rent, or for clerk, or for travelling expenses, seeing they receive salaries from England. nority opposed to this honest voto were, Mussrs. Attorney General, Coleman, D. Jg Lyons, Morris, Walker, Watsh and Wilkinson. Although Lyons and Wilkinson appear to have got into had company in this instance, they turned out staunch members for the people in the long run; and the the majority was opposed to the above impo-sitions, they allowed them by their votes, to be paid during the whole of the four seasions. The Receiver General has been allowed payment for his clerks, in addition to his enormous income, during this parliament. "The House was opposed to the charge, except the above eight, omitting Coleman, and inserting Ingersol's name.

· ODDS AND ENDS.

In former years this province paid for surveys, at one time £2000—at another time No. 57. £5000—and at a third,—£3000; in place 15,000. Annual Expenditure of Surveyor General's office, estimated by complete of finance, 1325, £1,300. Besides the incalculable number of fifteen pences, half dollars, and three and ninepences, levied by that department upon poor emigrants, who lisve more need to receive than to give.

The three first days of the second session passed in idleness for want of a quorum. Mesers. Beasley, Bidwell, Burke, Burnham, Fothergill, Hamilton, Hornor, lugersol, Lyons, Matthews, McBride, McCall, Playter, Randal, Rolph, Scollick, Thompson, Thomson, and White, were present on the third day. Such irregularity adds heavily to the expenses of the legislature.

The annual amount of presents made to the Indians exceeds £20,000 (Message of Reutenant Governor, Nov. 29th 1825.) I would like to see an accurate account of he way in which this wast sum is appropriated. The Indians shew very little appearance of having $80,000 a year of a god-send.

In 1818, the contingent expenses of both Houses of parliament, was £576- in 1828, £2928!!!!!!--In 1819, only £363, [see statutes)---in 1824, £1051,

No. 58. The Act to render Justices of the Peace more safe. This was the title of a bill, which the legislative council and the property call it; that is to say, they spoilt it; and on its being returned to the assembly metamorphosed, the members who voted for it were, Messrs. Attorney General, Beasley, Burnham, Gordon, Ingersol, McDonald, Morris, Thompson, of York; and Walsh. But ot carry.

THE ORIGINAL ALIEN BILL.

The original that nation had observed long, that Scotland lay at the mercy of the property of the power to end the power to their power to end the power to the public; that the judges, being rich less and their datumes, at the cost of the public; that the judges, being rich less that since there are no juries made by them were in such a state of dependence, that since there are no juries made by them. THE ORIGINAL ALIEN BILL. allowed in Scotland in civil matters, the whole property of the kingdom was in their hands, and by their means in the hands of the ministers. They had also observed, how ineffectual it had been to complain of them at court: it put those, who ventured ou it, to a vast charge, to no other purpose but to expose them the more to the fury of the ministry."-Bishop Burnet.

 The Legislative Council sent down to the Assembly, that infamous bill, commonly called the old alien bill, in Dec. 1825. The Assembly went into committee on the bill, & left only the title; having, in place of the body, substituted an entire new bill declaring the emigrants from the U. S. who had complied with the provisions of the 30th Geo. Illed, and the local acts, to be good subjects of king George, de facto, as well as de jure.

The Attorney General stated, in my hearing, that the bill sent down from the legislative council would not, in his opinion as a lawyer, confer civil rights. The report of the conneil owns that it had no power to do so; and alids, that as far as sproperty is concerned the local legislature could afford ample security. It is evident therefore that, and their hill passed, the crown officers and judges would have interpreted it as affording a security to the property of the Anglo-Americans but no more, and that a couple of regiments of the regulars would have been dispersed over the counties to drive that ill treated race from the polls.

or contrived to be not of the way on the flux vote.

THE ATTORNEY GENERAL (who has American blood flowing in his veins, as wall as Jonas Junes,) said, in a most impassioned tone, that he would suffer death before he would consent to a measure that would confer the rights of subjects on med who, but a few years ago, had "invaded our country-ransacked our villages-burnt. "our houses-SIURDERED nor wives and children, and made our houses a desert."

This was said of a friendly power, in a time of profound peace, and commercial intercourse, and with the knowledge that Lord Erskine, the present umbassador to Prussia, Mr. Jeffrey, and many other distinguished British subjects were marrying American women. Soon after, the Marquis Wellesley married Miss Caton, a Bultimore lady, the grand-daughter of the venerable Charles Carroll, of Carrolltown, the only sur viving signer of the famous American declaration of independence, in 1776-and the daughter of one of the democratic murd —rs, as the Upper Canada Attorney General of Virginian descent, and New Holland modesty, would have it.

The opinion of our Government.—The centiments of the Legislative Council; as now composed, most be held to convey the opinions of the Executive; and the following extract from the report on the rights of the Anglo-Americans then in Canada, by Docter Strachan, & Cumpany, was adopted by the U. C. peerage, and printed at the expense of this colony. "Hence it appears to your committee impossible that your hon-" orable house can, for a moment, entertain this clause, which virtually places traitors "to the king's government, THE DESTROYERS of our parents and friends during "the American Revolution, upon a footing with ourselves."-What an unchristian spirit does this pussage breathe ! & by a priest too! Repeating the grievances of threescore years; renewing with more than fendal malignity, the quarrels and broils which had slept for ages, and which had for their origin the oppressions of petty despots, who, like their meansouled successors, strove to enrich themselves and their families, by the disquiets engendered by their avarice and ambition.

Minority who voted against the foregoing resolve Messrs. Attorney General, 5 Joneses, Burke, Cameron, Crysler, McDonell, and Vankoughnett; 9!!! "Resolved, that the post office must, in time, become an important branch of public 'revenue." The above 9 opposed the last resolution also, and were joined by Gordon, Walsh, and Morris, making 18, who DENY that the post office will become in time, an important branch of revenue!!!! The same 12 voted against another resolution, that the sums of money raised by the post office was contrary to the first George Hird, or that it would be desirable to have the P., O. under the control of parliament.

January, 1825-6 .- Page 58 .- " Resolved, that it is the opinion of this tiouse, that great abuses do exist in the post office department." No. 63. MEMBERS of ASSEMBLY VOTING THEIR CONSTITUENTS

The following members voted, that the 30th Geo: 3rd, Chap. 27, was not passed for the avowed purpose of encouraging "persons who were born, or whose fathers or "paternal grandfathers were born, within the allegiance of the British Crown, but "were resident in the United States of America, at and after the conclusion of the "treaty of 1785," to come and settle in the Canadas, &c. and that it did not evidently contemplate such persons settling as freeholders in British America: Messrs. Attorney General, Burke, Cameron, Crysler, Gordon, D. Jones, C. Jenes, J. Jones, McDonell, Morris (half pay), and Vankoughnet;—11.

The same eleven members by their vote positively decided that these persons had come in great numbers into this colony, from its earliest settlement, with consent of our government, and also voted that they had not been admitted to all the rights and privileges, and made subject to all the obligations of subjects, with no other restrictions than were imposed by a seven years residence, before they could vote for or be elected as assembly men.

The shind members, with Thompson, of York, denied that these persons on coming from the United States, in virtue of the 30th Geo: Sed, had re leved their allegiance, (see Journals 1825...6, pages 5), & 51) They denied that these Anglo-Americans has awed a temporary allegiance to the new government of the United States during their residence in its territories: and that on valuntarily returning under British authority, being invited so to do, they were, on taking the oaths, &c. to be considered as British subjects!!!!!

Canadjans remember these eleven representatives!---Have they not dishonoured the British name by their conduct in this matter?

Mr. Gordon appears to have slipt out of the House during the passage of the 7th and 8th resolutions, which went to state that these persons had continually held offices of honour, trust and profit, had held and conveyed lands, had sat in all the provincial assemblies, and served he war, and that a very large proportion of the lands of the province was then held by them; as also, that they fought gallantly during the war, and were not dangerous persons in the province (see same pages of the Jou oals). Messas. Attorney General, Birke, Vankoughnet, Cameron, Crysler, Jones, 1, 2, 3, McDonell, and Morris, a tually voted against the above 7th and 8th resolutions, holding, of course, a different opinion.

The same 10, with Mr. Gordon, who had slipt back into his place, voted AGAINST the 9th & 10th resolutions, which set forth that as these Anglo-Americans had become connected with the other inhabitable, by all the ties of social and domestic life, and had contributed to the tranquility and welfare; and the security and defence of the province, it would excite great slarm and dissatisfaction in the country if the usual construction of the law were altered with respect to them, and tend to destroy confidence in the security of civil rights; and that, under all the circumstances, it would be an unparalleled violation of honour and good faith in His Majesty's government to construct the law, so as that these persons (invited to return among us by British acts, and encouragements, and proclamations) should now be considered and deakt with as aliens. For the other votes, see Journals, Session 1825-6, pages 50, 51, 52, & 55.

Mr. Burnham kept out of the way during the first agitation of the subjectship; Messrs. Atkinson, McDozald, and others, did not vote either way.

THE CONVENTION OF 1818.

Mn. Gourgay .- Journals, Sess. 1825-6; pages, 66, 67, & 68.

Messrs, Attorney General, Burtham, Burke, Cameron, Crysler, 3 Joneses, Mc-Douell, Morris, and VanKooghnett, voted that the political plans and principles of Mr. Gourlay, are hostile to the government of this country; that no good subject can besitate to declare his entire disapprobation of them, and that those who vindicate and sow them are moverthy the confidence of the people and of the government.

The same twelve members, with Walsh, and Scollick, who joined them, voted against the following resolution. "Resolved that this house is satisfied of the loyalty and patriotism of "the delegates to the convention" and the purity of the intentions of the people who appointed them, while the withholding from such meritorious persons the promised and well earned bounty of their sovereign, on account of their exertions to procure a redress of public grievances, implies a serious and unnerited imputation, which not only affects them and their posterity, but also the people whose conduct he, herein, endeavours to scandalize.]

A further resolve, declaring, that the conduct of government, in this case, manifested a disposition to SACRIFICE those who might endeavour to procure a redress of gievances, and to stille as d latimidate public opinion, was carried the opposed by hose creeping sycophants, Walsh, Scollick, and the other twelve before named. (p. 68.)

No 65. EMIGRATION FROM THE UNITED STATES.

The Attorney General, seconded by Jonas Jones, proposed a resolution, declaring hat the house prefer encouraging Irish, English, and Scotch emigrants to settle in the produce, rather than emigrants from the United States, a people who had been lately up in arms against us, and who had a government of which we greatly disapproved. Messrs. Atkinson, BURNHAM, Burke, Cameron, Crysler, JONAS JONES (Ogdensburgh Jonas), McDonell, Morris, Hugh C. Thomson, W. Thompson, VanKoughel, and Walsh, voted for the Attorney's motion.

It was resolved that it is highly expedient to renew and continue every encouragement to emigrants from the United States, to come and settle in Canada, and that hey form a population eminently worthy of the protection of his majesty's paternal government, and tend to promote the prosperity of the colony (under, of course, the sual restrictions). This was carried, tho' opposed by F. Walsh, Att'y General, Scollick, (from WATERLOO), BURNHAM, Jonas Jones, Burke, Cameron, Crysler, McDonell, Morris, and VanKoughnet.

Note. - The two Thomsons voted with the majority in this instance,

A resolution, declaring that the Chief Justice of the King's Bench ought not to act is a member of the executive council, lest the administration of justice might be, thereby, rendered less pure and satisfactory, was opposed by Messrs. Walsh. Attorney Beneral, Scollick. C. Jones, D. Jones, J. Jones, Burnham, Borke, Cameron, Cryser, Gordon, McDonell, Morris, and VanKoughnet. [The rest of the resolutions, which are well worthy of attention, will be found in page 73 of the Journals of Assembly, Sess. 1825-6.]

No. 68. REMOVAL OF THE LONDON DISTRICT PUBLIC BUILDINGS. Altho' this was a local bill, I confess I disapproved of the undue haste with which it was carried through the assembly, before the people of the district had had sufficient time to express an opinion, and before they knew that such a bill was in progress.--There is a rule of the two Houses which requires six months notice in the Gazette, of intended applications for private bills. This rule was dispensed with, in this instance, altho' the people had a right to look upon it as a safeguard against too rapid legislation. For the third reading of this bill voted Messrs. Rolph and Matthews, and against it, Messrs. Hornor, Walsh, and McCall .-- Mr. Ingersul, if he was in York, did not vote at all. THE PUBLIC BUILDINGS ... A Ten-thousand Pounder.

Mr. Vankoughnet, from the committee of supply, reported the following resolution; Resolved, that it is expedient to authorize the raising by loan, the sum of £10,000, to be appropriated in erecting buildings for the use of the legislature, and that three commissioners shall be appointed for the purpose of contracting for, and superinterding the said buildings." In its favor voted Messrs. Attorney General, Burke, Burnham, Cameron, Clark, Crysler, Rolph, Johas Jones, Playter, McBride, McDonell, and Vankoughnet,---13. Against it voted 15. Now, it may be here remarked, that the most important business of the session was yet to do; the supplies were under consideration and 13 members, heing less than one third of the people's representatives, caused a tis A judicious speaker in such a case would have felt and acknowledged the delicacy of his situation, and negatived the resolution, until a more decided expression of the house could be obtained in a full session. Not so did John Willson. When the Welland Co nul £50,000 was in doubt, he advocated it in committee: when the disgraceful McGi £10,000 job was on its last legs, he gave it, in committee, his approbation; and indeed whenever an extravagant project, for spending money, was set on foot, this ignorant vain, and presuming man, was sure to be in its favour, from the spoon bill and down wards. In the case before us, he at once gave his casting vote in favor of borrowing $40,000 to build a new Assembly Room, athis too while the roads were in a deplorble state, and the Hospital (built by the pious father Strachan, with the money co lected for the war sufferers on our frontier) empty.

In the short space of two days the bill had gone thro' all its stages, rule after rule ha ving been dispensed with for that purpose, in the most unparliamentary manner. supporters now were 16, namely Messrs. Attorney General, Clark, Jones Jones, Me Bride, Gordon, Scollick, C. Jones, Thompson of Toronto, D. Jones, Burke, Cameron, Coleman, Crysler, Lyons, McDonell, and Playter. Its opponents were only it so that the Speaker's aid was not again invoked.

Messrs. Powell, Allan, and York Thompson, were named as commissioners by the House, in the bill; which conveyed their implied assent to the Lt. Governor's inves ting Allan with so many places as he holds; for if he had too many before, why did the assembly press another upon his acceptance?

ROBINSON'S £355 11 1. ..

If ever sheer assurance had its seatin a human countenance, it has it in the Attorney meral's physiognomy. Goodness how I was astounded when I first heard of his sgraceful hill charging £500 sterling, for his journey to London on his own business, is time he was there. How the opposition members of Assembly ridiculed and ered and scoffed the Attorney about his unparalleled meanness in this matter, and aout the Lieutenant Governor charging the country £50 for a pot or a kettle lie had ought for the government house, from Peter McDougal. The Attorney meekly born all, however, and got his beggarly claim paid at last out of the permanent $10,000 and. Two meaner men than the Attorney and Solicitor General of Upper Canada

This just resolve was opposed [and successfully too] by Messrs. Attorney General, Atkinson, Burnham, Clark, Coleman, Crysler, Gordon, C. & J. Jones, M'Call Scollick, Vankoughnet, and Walsh.

Fifteen is only one third of the Assembly, and when it is remembred that the other rules of the House, as to the time allowed for bills to go through their several stages, were often dispensed with, this vote must be considered as a dangerous and improper precedent.

ROBERT CHARLES HORNE. We sometimes find fault with the small salaries allowed government officers by our No. 75. republican neighbours, but it is probably without cause; for where unlimited power over the public funds is given to governors and their creatures, that power is likely to be Doctor Horne, sometime government printer, petitioned the present lieut. governor in 1826, for a balance due him, as he stated, in equity, for printing the statutes, during several years, over and above the niggardly statute illowance of £80 per annum, voted by the house of assembly, for that service. The petition prayed for the further MODERATE sum of £245, and went into particulars. What was my astonishment, after perceiving that Maitland had sent down Horne's petition, with his recommendation in its favour, to the assembly, to find by the Journals, that out of the private fund commonly called the crown revenues, very improperly placed at his excellency's disposal, this same Horne had been paid, in 1822, £50 EXTRA, for the last year he printed these same statutes. over and above the allowance of £80, by parliament .---And yet Maitland recommended to the assembly to pay him a third time for the same service. Truly these loyal lieut. governors may be said to have each an enormous loyal conscience, when the funds of this loyal colony and the pockets of their loyal favourites (on showing such symptoms of chymical affinity, as this honest proposal of Horne's) could be backed by the interest of the government house.

No. 74. THE GOVERNOR'S PILGRIMAGE.

Maitland made a pilgrimage to the east in search of loyal addresses, preceded by Strachau as his jackall; and accompanied by "the usual state." In Durham, and stewhere, addresses were presented to him exceedingly insulting and abusive towards the assembly, a co-ordinate branch of the supreme power of the state, which addresses he received very thankfally and with the greatest complacency and satisfaction; and gazetted them, and sent them to England. For this step, the assembly, in their reply to his speech to them on the opening of the session in December 1826, did not fail to regret that his excellency had so far forgot himself. The minority of countiers who were for a puffing encumium upon his excellency's journey, instead of the gentle reproof administered as above, consisted of Messrs. Ingersol, Attorney General, Morris, Jonas Jones, Scollick, Walsh; York Thompson, Charles Jones, Burnham, David Jones, Walker, and Cameron—12.

No. 75. STERIFF'S SALARY BILL.

The renewal of a sidary to sheriffs in this province was one of the rotten measures of the present parliament. The fees of their office is enough for the Sheriffs without burthening the province in order to keep them in deputies to do their work, while they share the income. For this rotten net voted Messrs. Atkinson, Baby. Beardsley, Burnham, Cameron, Clark, Colemin, Gorlo, Ingersol, all the Joneses, Lefferty, Lyons, Matthews, McBride, McCall, McDonald, McLean, Morris, Scollick, Walker, and Wilkinson. Even ad nitting that one or two of the poorest sheriffs were in want of salaries, certainly the incombents in the districts of Niagara, Gore, and Johnstown do not require $200 each.

The word upon which all shouted was "the church and Sacheverel:" and such as joined not in the shout, were insulted and knocked down: before my own door, one, with a spade, eleft the scull of another, who would not shout as they did. and division. Here it must be remarked that that worthy person John Willson, spear of the commons, was somewhat puzzled. He said he saw golden apples in a bill; much that he had, and son ething which he could wish to see aftered, althoby, by no means wanted to lose the bill. He legged since one near her to take the responsibility off his shoulders, and whined so pitcoosty as to induce Mr. White, who was possed to the bill, and voted against it at the last, to join the administration party voice, in order to get the bill out of committee, one way or the other. Bo the 3rd vision (4t members being present) carried the bill to a third reading. Mr. Willson, ad not had the power to have thrown it out altogether, nor did he state a wish to do to the bill of Mr. McDonald voted in committee is not recorded.

Mr. Attorney General moved for the third rending of the bill to be on the Monday flowing, and was supported by the court party above enumerated, and by Mr. Atoson who was pleased to join them.

In the interim. Thompson, of York's constituents were very earnest with him not rate away their rights, insomuch that he left the house for a few days, and the vote Monday, was 19 to 19. The Speaker occided against the passage of the bill, and would have lain over had not Mr. Rolph (very properly) moved for its being placed the order of the day. This was done, and then Mr. Rolph moved that Messes. Mcide, Wilkinson, Peterson, Baby, and himself of course, should be a select commiteta report on the bill; which proposal, whether dictated by folly or prudence, inuded no legal character in the assembly, except himself, and was (no wonder) rekted. On Tuesday, Thompson came back from Toronto, and the vote was 20 to 20; ain 20 to 20, and then Mr. McDonald reported progress, and the matter was deferduntil Bornham should come up with his key; on Friday he was present, and the Ireceived a lift. On Monday, York Thompson, and Ituruham, were both at their sta; and, strange to relate! McBride, who had voted for preserving the people's huall along until this day, and who even promised to me on the latter part of the evious week, to use his influence to turn Thompson and Clark, rose up and (having tained more light) advocated the Attorney General's measure and voted for it too; that as Wilkinson was sick, and Atkinson against the prople, the vote stood 24 for, 18 against the bill, and so it passed, to the infinite versation of every sincere wellsher of good government and the honour of old England. I did every thing I could prevent its progress, by slarming the country thro' the news, by placards, and by ivate letters; and I sent a placard into the house on the morning of this vote, which Attorney General replied to in his place, being fearful that it might prove a atumbg block to some of his dopes; but he found his arguments more convincing within ors than without, as the sequel proved. The Speaker ordered the schoolfellows. esses. Attorney General, and John Clark, to carry the bill to the Lords, and they

"Kings naturally love to hear prerogative magnified: yet on this occasion the king ad nothing to say in defence of the administration. But when May, the master of he privy purse, asked him in his familiar way, what he thought now of his Lauderale, he answered, as May himself told me, that they had objected many damned hings that he had done against them, but there was nothing objected that was against is service. Such are the notions that many kings drink in, by which they set up an iterest for themselves, in opposition to the interest of the people: and as soon as he people observe that, which they will do sooner or later, then they will naturally ind their own interest, and set it up as much in opposition to the prince: and in this intest the people will grow always too hard for the prince, unless he is able to sublice and govern them by an army."—[Bishop Burnet's History—Reign of the 2nd larles--Maitland, Duke of Lauderdale's Terrible Persecutions.]

The private informer, upon whose doubtful testimony, Maitland, Hillier, and Robina, attempted to ruin this truly independent Englishman, on the plea that he had califor Yankee Doudle, in a temporary theatre, occupied by some atrolling players on England and the States, and who has been stated in the public prints, without stradiction, to have been Vankoughnet, had for a time the malignant satisfaction of ding his purpose gained. A report, however, was made on the subject, by a comittee of parliament, and after due investigation, in the course of which they were ridiculed in a pamphlet printed at the king's press, and generally ascribed to Mr. Jamacaulay. The report was adopted by the assembly, which completely exculpate Capt. Matthews. A motion was made that it should be printed, than which nother could be more reasonable, as the Captain's fair fame had been assailed in the government papers in both provinces, with much virulence, and the story had travelled on the United States, who held M—tl—nd and Co. in deserved derision in consequent I was much astonished at the opposition made to this motion, but it was voted again by Messrs. Walsh, Attorney General, Coleman, Burke, Cameron, Crysler, Gobia Jonas Jones, and the other two Joneses, McLean, Morris, Vankoughnet, and WHIT

NO. 81. $200,000 LOAN to WEELAND CANAL.

If public improvements can be judiciously accomplished by a frugal management of the revenue of a colony, it is well; but for such a Government as our plunge deep in debt, and pledge the farms and barns of their constituents for payment of the principal and interest, in order to put patronage into the hands of a an executive as we have at present, in whom the country has little or no confiden and to do this without enquiry too, and to enhance the value of the depreciated at of a private company, and that too without examining into, or causing a detailed re of its affairs to he made to the country, such conduct deserves and has my unquality reprobation. It is no excuse, in my opinion, that the western members were more mediately interested in the result of the Welland Canal. Their votes were, on whole, rightly named bad votes; for if improvement was desirable at the expense the people, the St. Lawrence should have been first thought of. On the Monday which the detested allen hill was passed, Mr McBride, at the suggestion of Mr. A Stewart, of Niagara, moved that the assembly should take stock in the Welland Car to the amount of $400,000, in addition to the long already made, but as no person ch to second the motion, it felt to the ground; and it passed the house to take stock to amount of $200,000; and to borrow money, on the credit of the province, to pay installments to the directors. The majority in favor of this bill were as follows : Me Attorney General, Thompson of York, Alkinson, Jones and Charles Jones, Scoll Baby, Beasley, Burke, Cameron, Clark, Cryslet, Cumming, Gordon, Hornor, gersol, Matthews, McBridg, McDonell, and McLeam .-- 20.

THE ATTORNEY'S HIGHWAY BILL.

This was a bill to oblige landed proprietors either to make roads thro' their lands, on the highway thro' the province, and clear the trees away on each side thereof, or if they neglected to do so, to authorize the sale of said lands, by the sheriff, aitho' the proprietors could show that they had paid the full price, and in no way forfeited their titles. This measure had been tried year after year, for three years successively, and it now earlied, heing supported by Mesars, Jones, Attorney General, Ingersol, McBride, Atkinson, Clark, Burke, Burnham, Cameron, Cryster, C. & D. Jones, Lyens, McDonald, McDonell, McLean, Morris, Scollick, and Vankoughnet. The Lords perceiving that it struck at the root of the British freehold system, threw the bill out.

No. 86. MINISTERIAL ELOQUENCE.
JUDGE JONAS JONES (see his other titles) in January 1826, said in assembly, "Mr. Rolph's language is foul, infamous, and scandalous; be (Rolph) has a vile and democratic heart, and ought to be sent out of the country."—The members took down his words, and we have their memorands.

It can be proved (see Col. Advo. Jan'y 12th 1826) that one day in the house in session 1825-6 as the members were separating, Jonas Jones, called Ductor Lefferty (who is a worthy and upright member, of respectable Irish descent) & a da--mn--d bl--ck-gy-rd." We have the signature of some of the people's representatives attesting this last also, which has been publicly charged against Jonas but never contradicted.

Jones one day openly accused Hugh C. Thomson and George Hamilton, with going home to their respective places of residence, without reporting themselves to the house, in order that they might get their wages in their absence.

On the 8th December, 1826, Jonas moved a remarkable amendment to the reply to the Lt. Governor's speech, making the house say that it felt much satisfaction at the "unequivocal proofs of a substantial and regularly progressive advancement throughout "this colony, to be attributed in a great degree to the fostering care of the provincial gor "gerament, as happily administered under his excellency."

Bad and corrupt as the assembly are said to have been, they would not awallow this, and Jones was left in a minority consisting only of York Thompson, Scollick, Walker, Attorney General, the other 2 Joneses, Ingersol, Burnham, Cameron, and Coleman.

York Thumpson was Jones's 2nder.

In my paper of next week I plainly told the house and the country, that I perceived a falling off in the integrity of the independent party. Clark, Beasley, McBride, and Ingersol, proved the correctness of my statement, for as to Morris (except on Clergy Reserves to please the Scotch of Perth) Coleman, and Walsh, they never had any independence to lose, being merely creeping seckers of favor from men in office; and think it is a scandal to the judgment of Perth that Morris has been so often sent here. In the same paper (Dec. 14.) I gave notice of the publication of the Black List, and warned the poor spirited among the members that I would sum up their accounts at the close of the farce, cost what it would. I am now doing so, and I hope not in vain.

Ath. session; 1823, Jan'y 19.—The following members voted for an echo of the Lt. Governar's speech, as a reply, and opposed Mr. Rolph's amendment, which went to express a different opinion of the Strachanic University scheme from that which had heen put, by Robinson, in Maitland's mouth, at the opening: Messrs. Attorney General, Clark, Scollick, Coleman, York Thompson, Burnham, Cameron, Gordon, and G. Jones.

No. 88. THIRD & LAST ALIEN BILL.

Feh'y 7th, 1828.--Mr. Jones Jones, proposed an amendment, excluding persons from sitting in our provincial parliament, who had taken the oath of allegiance to the U. S. government at any former period, or sat in Congress, or in any of the State legislatures. Jonas was supported in this by Mesers Attorney General, Gor. dod, C. Jones, Clark, Baciman, York Pao apion, Morcis, VanKoughaet, Cameron, Coleman, and Ingersol.

On the same day Mr. Morris proposed an amendment excluding from all benefits intended by the hill, those persons wan had wan arawn from this province to the U. S. during the late war. This antendment, Mr. Charles Jones, who is said to have no journed in Boston during a part of the contest, opposed; and Mr. James Wilsus warned the house to take care lest it did not adopt notions which would take off some of its own members [much laughter]. Morgis was supported by Beasley, and the same persons as supported Jonas's amendment, except the brothers Jones, and think, The opposition to the passage of the last alien bili. 7: F. by, were Messrs. THE LOCAL GOVERNMENT JUSTLY CENSURED, No. 89.

" A base a wicked and an unfoeling and selfish government imparts its bad qualities in time to the great mass of the people."—George Canning.

The assembly, on the 4th Feb'y last, addressed his unjesty, offering him their grateful thanks for having withheld his assent to the alieu bill, and thank-only acknowledging the paternal feeling with which the king and his ministry and parliament, had regarded the petitions of the people, carried home by Major Randal, their agent... The court party opposed this address very violently, but they numbered only 18.... Canadians, remember them; their names are, Brasley, Jones Jones, Charles Jones, Walsh, Burnham, Cameron, Clark, Gordon, Ingersol, Morros, Scotlick, VauKoughnett, and York Thompson. The Attorosy kept, out of the way at the time of voting When the address was handed to governor Maithing, to but by him sent to the king, his excellency to his official way, gave the assembly the lift direct, and flatty told them that the petition carried home by Major Randal, and which their address had upheld as constitutional conveyed regroundless imputations, from which he [Mairland] should vindicate his government; and further, that the assembly had acted a strange and inconsistent part. [See Journals, Feb'y 12th.]

This reply caused great irritation; and the house took it up, and voted that the petition carried home by Major Randal, did not, in their opinion, "contain any GROUND. LESS imputations against the government of this colony." The minimity, against supporting the people's rights, on this occasion, and for propping up Strachan and Robinson's evil measures, were Messrs. Walsh, VanKoughnet, Altorney General, Buruham, Cameron, Clark, Jones & Charles Jones [David kept below, it being the last session], Coleman, Gordon. Ingersol, Morris, Scotlick, and York Thompson.

THE $44,444 McGILL JOB. No. 90.

This was a wicked vote. The security offered was merely the promissory note at ten years after date, of a Montreal mercautile house, and a lieu on a property for which the horrower held a doubtful and encumbered title, along with others. Moreover, the country had no money to lend, was embarrassed by a heavy private, public, and district deht; and this loan proposed to involve the province in £10,000 more, with very doubtful means of repayment. The cash was to be left to the nephew and heir of a man who had wallowed, during a long life, in the midst of public money, and who has a pension of $2000, out of the farmers' hard earnings, for doing nothing. Had the ich succeeded, it would not have enriched the country one farthing, but have strengthened the hands of the executive, by enabling McGill to speculate to a greater extent in Montreal, and to come up next winter, for Hastings, as a ministerial member. --Lastly; the vote was partial, militating against the advantages which might hereafter be claimed for other manufactures; and it the surely absurd to refuse one furnace £150, and grant another 10,000/. Moreover, it was depriving future assemblies of the power of exercising a sound judgment in encouraging other domestic establishments by premiums, toans, and bounties. I used many stratagoms to thwart this mad project. , I wrote against it in the newsaper, and kept all my work hands up on the Wednesday night, to give place to Mr. Futhergill's luminous speech; I wrote privately to persons in the country begging of them to instruct their representatives, and argued the case with some of the members, while I was orging the constituents of others, who were then in town, to use their infuence : I also found out and explained the defective nature of Mr. McGill's title, but it was all of little avail. At last I hit upon an expedient which gained time and reduced their majority to one, by the pure force of ridicule. I wrote a petition turning the proposed loan into a jest, and got Mr. Timothy Street, who fully entered into my views, to sign it; Captain Matthews laid it before the House, with infinite gravity, and it was read and greatly reprobated, but fully answered the purpose. On the third reading of the bill, Mr. McBride, in obedience to the will of his friends in Niagara, tomahawked it by his casting vote. Speaker Willson, had voted for it in committee; consequently, had McBride stand away like Scollick and others, as if under doubts, the foolish and wicked grant would have been carried very smoothly, three Speaker Willson's means.... The final vote stood as follows; Yeas, Attorney General, Beasley, Cameron, Clark, Cofeman, Gordon, Ingersol, Lefferty, Jonas Jones. McDonell, Mc Lean, Morris, York and Kingston Thompsons, (I wish the latter would candidly give his reasons in his paper for that vote), White, and Vankoughnet .-- to. Nays, Bahy, Beardsley, Bidwell, Hamilton, Homor, Lyons (he was very sick), McBride, McCall, McDonald, Matthews, Perry, Peterson, Randal, Rolph, Walsh, Wilkinson, and James Wilson--- 17 .--- Eleven members were absent.

I never, on any occasion, was so fully satisfied of the invisible corruption which exsts in popular assemblies, as in this same instance.

THE HUMBUG UNIVERSITY, OR STRACHAN AS HE IS.

Before going into particulars concerning this court project, I shall subjain some few Before going into particulars concerning this court project, I shall subjets some few extracts from Burnet, Lord Bishop of Salisbury's History of England, during his time. "The universities, Oxford especially, have been very unhappily successful in corrupting the principles of those, who were sent to be irred among them t so that few of them escaped the taint of it, and the generality of the elergy were not only ill-principled, but ill-tempered; they exclaimed against nil moderation as endangering the church; though it is visible, that the church is in no sort of danger from either the sambers or the interest that the dissenters have among us, which by reason of the toleration is now so quieted, that nothing can keep upinny heat in those matters, but the folly and bad humour that the clergy are possessed with, and which they intuse into all those with whom they, have credit."

"The convocation took care to mention node of those greater chuses, of which many among themselves were emisently guilty; such as pluralities, non-residence, the neglect of their cures, and the irregularities in the lives of the clergy, which were too visible.".--1b.

"The cext, and indeed the greatest care of the new ininiary, was the menaging the elections to regularities in the lives of the clergy, which were too visible.".--Ib.

"The next, and indeed the greatest care of the new innistry, was the menaging the elections to parliament. Unheard-of methods were used to secure them: in Londou, and in all parts of England, but more remarkably in the great cities, there was a vast concourse of rude multitudes brought together, who behaved themselves in so buisterous a manner, that it was not safe, and in many places not possible, for those who had a right to vote, to come and give their votes for a whig; open violence was used is several parts: this was so general through the whole kingdogs all at the same time, that it was visible the thing had been for some time concerted, and the proper methods and tools had been prepared for its—The established clergy had a great share in this: for, besides a course, for some mouths, of inflaming sermos, they went about kyon house to house, pressing their people to shaw; on this great occasion, their zeaf for the church, and now or never to save it."—[Bishop Burnet's History of the Reign of Queen Anne.]

Queen Aune.] "Yet I must say there are many things in it, (the church of England) that have been very uneasy to me.' "The requiring subscriptions to the Thirty-nine Articles is a great imposition. I believe them all myself. But as those, about original sin and predestination might be expressed more unexceptionably, so I think it is a better way to let such matters continue to be still the standard of doctrine, with some few corrections, and to censure those who teach any contrary tenets, than to oblige all that serve in the church to subscribe them."—Ib.

Archdeacons' visitations were an invention of the latter ages, in which the bishops, neglecting their duty, cast a great part of their care upon them. Now their visitations are only for form and for fees; and they are a charge on the clergy; so when this matter is well looked into. I hope archdeacons, with many other burtlens, that lay heavy on the clergy, shall be taken away. All the various instruments, upon which heavy fees must be raised, were the infamous contrivances of the canonists, and can never be maintained when well examined.—Ib.

The Lord Bishop of Salisbury's opinion of Oxford and Cambridge in 1710 .- Is those seats of education, instead of being formed to love their country and constitution, the laws and liberties of it, they are rather disposed to love-arbitrary government, and to become slaves to absolute monarchy; a change of interest, provocation, in some other consideration, may set them right again as to the public ; but the chave no inward principle of love to their country, and of public liberty : no that the casely persons, skainst Doctor Strachad's misrepresentations and university charter, is well known to the reading public. Like the address to his majesty, founded thereon, it sets forth that Doctor Struchan's letter and ecclesianical chart, were inaccurate in important respects, and calculated to lead the British government into serious errors. It states that only a small proportion of the people of U. C. are members of the church of England; that there was no peculiar tendency toward that church; that nothing could be more grievous and alarming than the apprehension of a design to erect an established church, with exclusive privileges; that Strachon's justinuations against the methodist ministers were false and slanderous; that the parter ought to be cancelled, and a new one granted, suited to the people's wants and winnes; that the monies a rising from the sale of clergy lands should be appropriated to promote education, and internal improvements, &c. &c. On the 28th, the following eight persons, voted against the report altogether; and that it might not be received nor entertained by the house of assembly ; viz. Messrs. Walsh, Attorney General, York Thompson, Scotlick, Clark. McLean, Burnham, and Vankoughnett .- The Joneses kept out of the way, and so did Gordon.

On the 20th March, an address to his majesty, founded upon and agreeing with the report, which the house half adopted, as its opinion and judgment, was moved. It was opposed by Messrs. Jonas Jones (the Atturney General being absent), Burnham, Cameron, Sheriff McDonell, McLean, Morris, Scotlick, York Thompson, and Van-Koughnett-9. No other Jones voted any way, and Morris would have supported the address had minternal improvements." heen struck out, but us that was not done, it afforded him a decent pretext to record his name in the court list. Coleman said they should not catch him in the religious trap, he would vote for the address, which in ddiculed, however, as a measure from which no good could be expected.

When Zacclieus Burnham, a converted episcopalian, from presbyterionism, was asked if he thought Strachan's chart correct; he replied he did not see any errors in it, with in his knowledge-and Scollick opened his mouth and said "I cannot form any idea. Beardsley, could not answer the same question, without further enquiry. Gordon, had no reason whatever to doubt the correctness of the charf, in as far as the different denominations were concerned !!! [Gordon is the son of a Scots Preshyterian minister, but like the Eethunes, we suppose he must have been brought up to the more courtly creed of the church of England.] Is Strachan's chart correct ? quoth the committee to John Clark; who turned round for his own advantage lately. "Why," says Joha "I really cannot say whether it is or not."---When Wm. Thompson, member for 24, 000 of the anhabitants of this colony was asked if the clergymen of the different chris tian denominations not specified in Doctor Strachan's chart, were few and scenningly ignorant, as that person had asserted. Thompson replied he thought THEY WERE except the baptists. Gordon thought so too, consequently has but a pour opinions the catholic clergy in his neighbourhood. John Clark, did not know. [The foregoing question enumerated all the baptists, balf the presbyterians, all the catholics, quaken tunkards, menonists, unitarians, moravians, independents, &c.]

the act of the 14th George Hird, were not granted by the commons, but merely subtracted from the sum wanted, and a vote required for the balance. Such, however, is the case—and a most dangerous, evil and unconstitutional principle is thereby anomally recognized. The people surrender into the hands of a colonial unchecked government, a large revenue, raised upon the governed; and allow it to be squandered on persons who lib deserve it; to the injury of the province.—A resolution was proposed to the evening before the close of the session, pledging the House to take the suma prince under the above act under the control of parliament. Nineteen voted in favor of this resolve. But the following it persons, thought it safer to trust this $20,000 or $30,000 a year, in the hands of Sir Peregrine and Doctor Strachan, and opposed the resolve.—viz. Messrs. Attorney General, Walsh, Jonas Jones, McLean, Burnham, McDonell and Cameron of Gleogarry, Coleman, and Vankoughnet.

Mr. JAMES CROOKS.

I discover by the Journals that Mr. Crooks's terms of absence from his parliamentary duties, without leave of the House, became so long and frequent as to cause Colonel Nichol to move that the House should order his attendance. The vote was 16 to 17, and Mr. Crooks had leave to take his time, so he kept away until a new writ had been ordered for Lennox and Addington, and did not then vote on the question of subjectship therein involved. When he came down from Flamboro' I perceived that the votes were generally with the court party.

No. 95, ADJUTANT GENERAL COFFIN, AND THE MILITARY COLONELS.

On the 5th Murch 1823, Culonel Nichol, Colonel Gordon, Colonel Crooks, Colonel Ruttan, Colonel Burwell, Colonel Robert Hamilton, Colonel Hagerman, Colonel Morris, Colonel Bustwick, Colonel Archibadd McLean, Colonel Vankoughnet, with Subsiterns Shaver, Gates, and Casey, and Commissioner Charles Jones, (15 persons) voted £365 animally (= to $1460) as a salary to Ensign Nathaniel Coffin (of the balfpay or superannuated regulars) for acting as Adjutant General of Militia; and they at same time relieved him of the easy burthen of the said office (the duties of which could be all done with case by the assistant) by voting a salary to an assistant adjutant general of $600 a year; the same 15 militia worthies voted, thirdly, $340 for contingencies, ie pens, ink, paper, and postages, to the aforesaid spleudid establishment .-This profligate measure was completed in all its parts and made permanent. It was proposed to limit its operation to four years, which was opposed by Colonels Nichold Rutten, R. Hamilton, Archibald McLeun, Burwell, Hagerman, Vankoughnet, McDonell, and Bustwick, and by Messrs. Shaver. C. Jones, and Gates. So that altho golonels Crooks, Gordon, and Morris, of the Royal Scotch Fairservice corps, were alsent, the bilt passed on the 10th March, 1823.

Fitzgibbon, who was then assistant to Coffin, and did the whole business of the department, has never near known to lise an advantage for lack of what public people call a good stock of assurance; he had, moreover, a peculiar knock of his win, which fitted him extremely well for a lobby member—se he came forward next resion (January, 13:24) and asked an additional $200 a year of salary, as assistant. It yes, O yes, responded the militia guardians of the public purse—and Fitz's income from that source instantly became $800 instead of $600, and the profligate allowance was made permanent to his successors in office. In favor of this capsheaf to parliamentary folly voted Colonels Burwell, Baldwin, &c. [For votes see No. 43 a, suge 18.]

A PENSION TO THE CHAPLAIN.

It is well and generally known that the Reverend Robert Addison has nearly $1000 a year salary as a Church of England parson at Niagara, and further that he is a very extensive landholder, and a wealthy man. As it was inconvinient for him longer to earn an extra gum as chaplain to the assembly, by a personal attendance at York, Mr. Hagerman moved, seconded by Vankoughnet, that A PENSION of $200 a year, for life should be settled on him! No sooner said than done. Mesars. McDoncil, Clark, Walsh, Baldwin, Wilmot, Kerr, Ruttso, Crooks, Gates, Burwell, Venkoughnet, Nichol, Archibald McLean, and Geo. and Rob. Hamilton, supported the motion, which became a law.

Next morning, however, when Doctor Ballwin moved for the final passage of the bill, Mr. Hagerman either alipt out of the House, or came late in the day so that he was not of his place when the vote was taken, as was Mr. Wilmot. To the enemies of the bill was added Measrs. Casey and Gates,—it was 18 to 12, and the Speaker tomahawked the bill, so that the Grangemen remained as before. No. 04. PARSON STRACHAN'S COMMON SCHOOL BICK.

That vile tool of a corrupt government, old Speaker Willson, brought in the act to make permanent the Common School Bill. Little did the country know the insidious provisions of Willson's bill, and how much it changed and altered the original, or class Willson's name, would have been unifersally executed. The fact is, for I now know At, old Willson got the bill from Dr. Strachan, cut and dry, and yet he (Willson) intro-[Bee statutes chap. 8 ... Passed Jan. 19th 1844.] It provides, aduced it as his own. mong other things, that $600 a year shall be at the disposal of such a board of education as Maitland may choose to set up (Strachen Robinson and Co. are its present members) for the purpose of being employed in the purchase of books, and tracts, designed to afford moral and RELIGIOUS instruction, to be distributed among the district boards of education (Strachan and Co. again here) and in indigent settlements. Se that the old Speaker and his supporters became catspaws to Struchan, and made a permanent public provision out of the province funds for purchasing Episcopalisa books and tracts to convert the youths of the colony to the established faith. I printed by contract at one time 2000 English Church catechiams and was puld out of this fund The rest of the cash went to England, with Strachan, who brought back thousands of episcopeliae books for youth, never ordering any thing larger than a truct to be printed within the colony.

This statute dehars teachers from receiving a share of the school money until examined and approved of by one of Strachan's district boards of education ... the approprintion of the trustees of the school goes for nothing, although they are the proper judges. Strachan's cunning enabled him to perceive that such a clause as this would lay the poor teacher of youth, entirely at the mercy (not of his worthy employers but) of his (Strachan's) convenient and courtly boards; for unless a member of the beard certifies to the fitness of the applicant, &c. &c. he has no share in the common school money. In the Home District, the case of Mr. Appleton, is enough to excite horror in the minds of the country people, against this busy intermeddling priest; that case is before the legislature, and will yet receive due attention. Strachan and his board, in this district, liave, I hear, restricted the common school money, to 22 schools only, of their own arbitrary selection. The accounting of all parties is to the Lords of the Treapury in England; and whether there is any corporation dinners. &c. at 2 gulness a bead, deducted, I know not. There must have been a very deluded majority in favor of having a good bill thus most shamefully mutilated to serve the political purpose of a corrupt administration, for it appears by the journals that no division took place dering the progress of the hill through the Commons. Dr. Strachan's craft consisted in getting John Willson, then an undeservedly popular member, to father the measure; and should teach the people caution, so that men of shrewdness, as well as integrity, may hereafter sit in our assemblies. Within a month or so after John Willson did the archdeacon this especial service, I find; his reverence did him the honor, to gazette his name as a favourite of royalty, along with Colonels Crooks and Chisholm, as a Burlington Canal Commissioner.

CANAL COMMISSIONERS SEARCH WARRANTS.

A colonial logislature, such as has hitherto existed in Upper Canada, is no great blessing, further than that it accustoms the people to a popular mode of administering government. A governor and council durat never have gone the lengths to which the corruptions of one small assemblies have carried them. I percuive that about $12,000, if not $16,000, were voted to the commissioners who had the luck to be appointed to manage the enquiries into the host made of improving the navigation. Two thirds of that money was waste profusion and extravagance. The act, chap. 1fth, statutes, 1fts, has a clause (the 50th) which is very unjust, and would, if generally acted on, put the country in an uproar. Deputy Collectors of the customs are thereby empowered to call on magistrates for warrants and to enter shops or dwelling houses and search for and take supposed smuggled goods; and it is for the shopkeeper or inhabitant to prove that the articles so seized have paid duty-a fact which, however true, in many cases could not possibly be proven. Fir the passage of this last named edious statute (see clause 80th) voted Messrs. Attorney General, Speaker Willson, Burwell, Archy McLenn, Gordon, Randal, McMartin, Clark, Kerr, Robert Hamilton, Ruttan, Jonas Jones, Hagerman, Murris, McDonell, Shaver, and Bostwick .-- 17. This is the only instance in which we have had to record Mr. Randal's name as dividing in favour of what we really think a very had measure, during a period of eight years.
No. 101. ISAAC FRASER, of ERNEST TOWN.

When Isaze was member for the counties of Lennox and Addington, he not only voted for the Gag Law, along with Durand, Jones Jones, Burwell, &c. but also bepossed the repeal of the 44th of the late king, commonly called the Gourley Banishment Act. He also brought in Father Strachan's petition to the assembly, for a grant of a sum of money, to be paid out of the provincial treasury, for the maintenance and preparation of the Father (Strachan)'s theological students of the established church of England. Strachan's emissuries and friends, in these counties, are now supporting Praser, in opposition to the present worthy and upright representative of the counties, Mr. Peter Perry. They play a very plausible game; not openly attempting to oppose both the late members, unly Mr. Perry, because he has not sufficient abilities. like Mr. Bidwell very well, and profess highly to approve of the manly aland he has taken, and they are determined to vote for him and Mr. Frager, a man (as they say) of equal integrity and great parliamentary experience. But it want do lazac, it wont do-you are scarcely fit even to be named us a competitor to Mr. Perry ; you have been weighed and found wanting, white he has maintained his integrity to the very last. BEACK AND ALL BLACK.

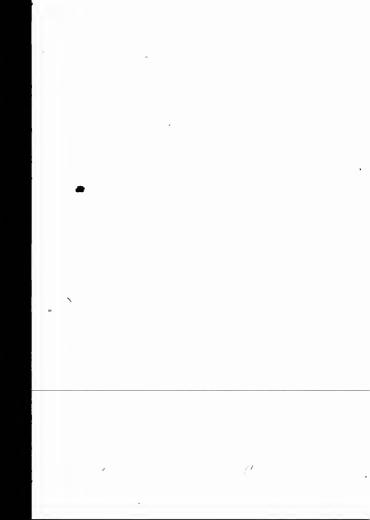

In Oct. 1818, Peter Howard, brought him bill to increase the wages of assemblymen; and Mr. Vankoughnet brought in another, to take away the Receiver General's poundage and to give a salary in lieu thereof. This economical measure Van has kept agoing these last 10 years, session after session, as a popular veil for his political rottenness... also Mr. Jones brought in a bill to provide a salary for the Speaker of the upper house, and a pension (of $3100 a year I believe) to the old C. J .-- Vankoughnet seconded Jonas Jones's motion for passing the Gag-Law.

In Feb'y 1819 --- Means. W. H. Morritt, John Clark, C. Ingersol, George Adams, S. P. Jarvis, and others sent a fulsome address to Sir P. Maithind puffing his administration, and denouncing Mr. Gourlay's conduct as seditious, and disloyal. Mr. G. was then in jail.

DOCTOR BALDWIN. No. 105.

In Feb'y 1821. Doctor Baldwin actually proposed lawyer Allan McLean, whose name figures in this work, as Speaker. The Doctor was promptly seconded by lawyer Hagerman, but the measure did not carry.

In one of his retrenchment speeches in 1823, "Dr. Baldwin said, there was a ' clerk in the Governor's office, who had £180 a year from the people of this province, while he, at the same time, was a student at law, and acted as clerk to his master, attending to his own private business! Was this not, he asked, an extravagant waste of public money ?"-In 1827, however, this gentleman felt no repugnance, when he selicited the two Speakers, 'to appoint his nephew librarian to both houses of parliament, altho' said nephew was then "a student at law, and acted as clerk to his mater (Dr. Baldwin himself), attenting to his own private business." Old John William willingly gave in to the request of his old friend, and the doctor's student had the John Speaking of Baldwin, Carey, in his Observer observes "Where self was concerned, he was always vigilant, always active. When he possessed but a few acres of land, he advocated the justice of the bill for the assessment and sale of wild land, (for the purpose of making and improving the roads) when he got possession, by the death of Miss Russel of 51000 acres, he termed the very act that he had advocated, arbitrary, oppressive and usurious!"——Carey was an eye-witness to "the good old times," and having taken some dislike to Doctor Baldwin, out came the following facts—which my readers may know more of than myself.

The doctor was one of the committee who reported and advocated the extraordinary militia bill, authorising 12 days' training during profound peace, and empowering the doctor himself [as a militia colonel] to commit to prison, without trial, for 48 hours, all non-commissioned officers and privates, guilty, in his opinion, of disohedience of orders! But, when he found public opinion excited against the measure, he withdrew from the house on its final passage, altho' requested to remain and vote against it!

Mr. Peterson moved to throw it out---Dr. Baldwin opposed the motion! Casey's clause to limit its operation to two years, was opposed by Baldwin who moved to fill up, the blank with four years, and succeeded! One ulterior, object of the bill may have been to encrease the salaries of the Adjutant General and his Deputy. By this favorite measure of Doctor Baldwin, those compelled to serve in flank companies, were subjected to great loss of time, and trouble and expense,

In March 1828, when Mr. McDonell introduced into the assembly the petition a gainst what has been called the Orange association, he remarked that the proceedings of the Orangemen were calculated to disturb the public peace, and insult persons of the Roman Catholic religion—and he moved that Lawyers Hagerman and Baldwin reight be appointed a committee to consider said petition. Doctor Baldwin said he could not decline accepting the trust reposed in him by Mr. McDonell, altho he him, self was a member of the united church of England and Ireland, and hoped his ofspring, in whom he had inculcated the principles of the established church, would contique worthy members of it."---[As a matter of course when the late difficulties arose respecting the Alien Question and the Strachanic University the doctor holding very different sentiments from the great mass of the people, left them to shift for themselves --- and perceiving that his opinious did not and could not coincide with theirs, he, with a manly candour, sometime ago, published in the Freeman an address to the freeholders of the county of York, absolutely declining to come forward as a candidate.... I wish the freeholders throughout Upper Canada would keep in mind that many other. persons who, like the doctor, remained in the back ground during the alien and religious difficulties, are nevertheless now shoving themselves forward in the several towns and counties, as candidates for the suffrages of a people whose wishes and desires they never will and never can represent.

NIAGARA DISTRICT CANDIDATES. No. 104. It looks squally in Lincoln-Messrs. William Crooks, John Clark, and George A. dams, are said to have united their stocks-but we trust they will meet a signal defeat. Samuel Street, Thomas Clark, George A. Ball, William Crooks, and (we think) George Adams also—joined and led the terrible persecution which arose out of the protest signed by them against the validity of Mr. Randal's election. It would be paying Mr. Randal a poor compliment if the district were to associate with him either Crooks, Ball, Adams, or Clark. Those who have read Gourlay's work on Canada will remember that in Mr. Wm. Crooks's report of Grimsby, he undervalues all other denominations of Christians while he puffs the church of England to the very clouds. The Methodists, Baptists, &c. would do well to look to Mr. Crooks's recorded opipions in Gourlay's work, about "the all devouring wolf," before they trust him in parliament :-- as to Messrs. Clark and Adams, they are fowls of the same feather. In favor of the annoying and most injudicious petition of Crooks, Ball, Clark, Street, and their associates against Mr. Randal, the victim of their m*, voted in the assembly, 1825, Messrs. Walker, Attorney General, Gordon, David Jones, Charles Jones, Sheriff McDonell, W. Morris, Vankoughnet, and Arch. McLean.-Said Archy has since got hold of Mr. Randal's valuable property in Cornwall, at sheriff's sale (at the suit of Thomas Clark) for £45.

THE MINORITY, who voted for the Attorney General's motion, 80th Jan-No.105. THE MINORITY, who voted for the Autorney General's mound, both salvary, 1828, to suppress and blot out from the Journals of Parliament the motion upon which 50 copies of WILLIAM FORSYTH'S petition, complaining of the grievous outrage committed, by the military, upon his magnificent estate at the Falls, consisted of Messrs. Walsh. Attorney General, Thompson of York, Burnham, Cameron, Gordon, Ingersol, Jonas and Charles Jones, Morris. Scollick, and Vankeughnet.

Mr. BIDWELL'S EXPULSION. Mr. Bidwell, senior, was expelled the House of Assembly in 1822, thro' the influence of the Attorney General, whose superficial legal acquirements were totally eclipsed by the more solid and useful skill and learning of his venerable antagonist. The expulsion violated the rights of the counties which had elected Mr. Bidwell, gave tise to the infamous design against the people's liberties, called the alien question -- and was 🐞 illegal that a bill had afterwards to be passed in its justification. The journals being burnt I cannot now ascertain with accuracy the names of all the persons who voted for this wicked measure, but a friend has handed me the following list, in which if any error has crept I shall willingly rectify it --- and voters can readily learn the truth in their counties ... For the expulsion voted Messrs. Hagerman, Attorney General, Crooks, Jonas Jones. McDenell, Wilmot, Burwell, Ruttan, P. Robinson, two McLeans, Morris, Mc-Martin, Vankoughnet, Gordon, and two other members.

APPENDIX.—Mr. James Wilson, finally voted against giving the Attorney General any remuneration for going to England.—The votes on the King's Bench Bill I cannot obtain .-- Some trivial errors have crept into my account of the vote against Mr. R.

Surely the country will cry to heaven to interpose in behalf of those who have suffered for their adherence to the principles of eternal justice in this beautiful province.
