Terrible Mine Disaster At Universal Colliery, Wales

Over 400 Welsh Miners are Believed to Have Perished --Many Brave Rescues Made at Great Risk --Sad Scenes at Pithead.

CARDIFF, WALES, Oct. 14.—Over 400 Welsh coal miners are believed to have perished this morning in the Universal colliery pits near Cardiff when a terrific explosion shattered the works shortly after 7 a.m. Captain Barr was almost too weary to talk. He was heavily eyed. His face was deeply lined with sleeplessness and exhaustion. He smoked cigarettes nervously as he talked.

Standing of Street Railway Matters. The following statement was made by Mr. Henderson this morning regarding the status of the Street Railway Company suit. During the past month several conferences have taken place between counsel for the several parties and the Registrar and the trial judge in regard to the settlement of the minutes of judgment. An application is now to be made to the trial judge to vary the judgment as it has been settled by the Registrar, his decision being unsatisfactory to counsel for the Railway Company and Receiver. If the agreement, no application has been made, either by the railway company or the Receiver, as to whether or not the terms imposed by the trial judge will be accepted, and the time for doing so will expire on Friday next unless extended on application for that purpose.

An entrance was found, however, by way of an adjacent shaft and on descending in this manner the rescuing party came across some scores of men huddled together in portions of the mine where the ventilation was still good. Soon 327 living miners had been gathered together and taken up the shaft with the bodies of six of their companions who had been killed by being dashed against the uprights supporting the galleries by the explosion. The rescuers in the meantime continued their search in remote galleries of the pit for others who might still be alive and by noon had picked up and brought to the surface altogether 500.

Liberals Now Dissatisfied With Laurier Leadership

OTTAWA, Oct. 14.—The day after brings no solace to the Liberals. Consternation caused by the unexpected defeat in Chateaugay has increased. A full realization of the disaster to them becomes apparent. While the adverse majority was only 144, a new election law which has come into effect in Quebec since 1911, decried the Conservatives of 250 votes which they had in the general election. Under the same law as the general was fought under the Conservative majority would have been 400 or the normal Liberal before the downfall of Sir Wilfrid in Quebec.

Sylvia Pankhurst Gets Into Hands of Police

LONDON, Oct. 14.—After a fierce struggle the police arrested Miss Sylvia Pankhurst at Bow Neaths, in the east end of London last night, where she was making a speech. But when they got her outside the building, with the intention of placing her in a taxicab, and rushing her to Holloway jail, the militants attacked the police so savagely that they had to let her go and she escaped.

LONDON GIRL AND MASTER CRIMINAL

Identity of "Vera," Mentioned in the Hudson Bay Horror.

Medical specialists, including Dr. Scholer, of the New York Neurological Hospital, have examined Father Schmidt, who is charged with the murder of a girl named Anna Amuller, but so far, will not pronounce him either sane or insane. Schmidt's psychology is apparently one of the most contradictory and complicated problems with which they have been confronted. To ordinary men he seems perfectly sane in speech and manner, and he himself strongly repudiates the idea that he is mentally unsound, though he admits that his family history is against him.

The prisoner shouted in anger when Dr. Scholer put questions to him bearing on his sanity. He holds that the police cannot convict him of murder unless the missing head of the woman, Amuller, is found. His views on most things, he said on Sunday, are admittedly ahead of his time, but not necessarily wrong on that account. Socrates and Newton, he argues, were also ahead of their times, but nobody calls them mad nowadays.

"Vera," whose letters to Muret, the partner and associate of Father Schmidt in his black career, have been reproduced in the American Press, is a pretty girl of eighteen employed at one of the leading drapery firms in the West End of London.

"Dr." Muret, a notorious hogshead dentist, is in custody charged with being concerned with Schmidt in other crimes.

An inquiry by a representative of "Lloyd's" has established the fact that the girl, who has remained faithful to Muret through thick and thin, and whose affectionate letters were found in his flat, resides in a side street off Brompton Road.

Apparently she first met Muret when she was employed as a stitcher at another firm of drapers in the West End, the occasion being a party at a boarding house near Portland-place.

She entered the establishment in which she is now employed shortly after Muret had fled from London when he was wanted by Scotland Yard on various charges. His destination was Hamburg where he eluded the police by the adoption of numerous disguises. His dual personality is just as bewildering as that of Hans Schmidt, his partner in crime. Simultaneously he conducted business at different addresses in London, posing as professor of languages in Crompton-terrace, Holloway Road, dentist in Theobalds Road, and physician in Theobalds Road. These and many other names have been sought by Scotland Yard, but the girl on more than one occasion threw the police off the scent.

An interview with the head of the firm where she earns her living suggests that she is a simple and unassuming young person with little or no knowledge of the world. She is at present on holiday at a South Coast resort in company with her mother, who is stated to have acted as housekeeper to Muret when he was in London.

The police here entertain the opinion that both Schmidt and Muret have been implicated in a number of sensational England robberies—notably the Bank of England forgery in 1907.

The victim, Amuller, was born in Odenburg, twenty years ago, and worked in a gum and carpet factory. She was looked upon as an honest and industrious girl. It is stated that Schmidt sent her money, with which she paid her fare to New York.

Investigation

Started Into The Affairs of the Penitentiary at Kingston.

KINGSTON, Ont., Oct. 14.—When the investigation into conditions at Kingston penitentiary began this morning, Dr. Edwards, M.P., who made the charge in the House which caused the Minister of Justice to order the investigation, seized the opportunity to voice a strong protest against the expressed intention to limit the enquiry to five years back. It would seem absurd as it is well known to the member who made the charges that they involved matters that were more than five years old.

Knowing this it would seem that there was a deliberate intention on the part of the Government to make the scope of the whole investigation, if the scope of the enquiry were to be so restricted. He did not think this was the government's intention.

Chairman Macdonnell replied that the powers of the commission were quite adequate. Of course it is desired to investigate conditions as they exist to-day, not those of ten or twenty years ago. If it is necessary to go back in certain cases in order to clear up the conditions today, we will do so. The charges made refer to present state of management of the penitentiary. We will deal with the question as it emerges without laying down any hard and fast rules.

At the suggestion of H. A. Stewart, K. C., who is counsel for the commission, it was decided to hold future sessions at the penitentiary, where witnesses will be more accessible and the necessary books available. Major Hughes, Inspector of Penitentiaries, was the first witness called.

He was from 1870 to March 1913 sentenced with the Kingston Penitentiary. He told of the routine procedure upon the receipt of a prisoner. Mr. Lowney questioned him closely as to the benefits of compelling prisoners to wear a very loud patterned suit. Witness thought the distinctive garb aided in recapturing escaped prisoners and tended to frustrate attempts at escape. Touching the work of the surgeon of the penitentiary, the witness said he was usually at the prison about one hour per day, unless specially wanted.

The surgeon is paid $2500 per year. In reply to Mr. Downey, the witness admitted that "star" men were really treated the same as the other prisoners. It was largely a theoretical classification. The intention was that the better prisoners should get special treatment, but it was not carried out.

Radical changes in the management of Kingston and other penitentiaries, and the elimination of politics were strongly urged by Major Hughes in the course of his testimony before the Royal Commission appointed to probe the charges of Doctor Edwards. Major Hughes was expected to give sensational evidence touching the charges, but this phase of the enquiry was not touched this morning. Witness urged the formation of a school of instruction for officers, as at present it frequently happened that an officer was put over a convict who was in every way the officers' superior.

To-day practically nothing was done to improve a prisoner. The boys should be segregated and a systematic effort made to instruct and uplift. His central idea was the necessity of a trained superior type of man to officer these institutions. Major Hughes said he strongly approved the segregation, but it had never been carried out. The late Sir John Thompson's Government started to build a prison at Alexandria for boys and sentenced from Ontario and Quebec. Unfortunately for this branch of penitentiary reform the government was defeated and nothing had been heard of it since. (Continued on Page Six)

Uncle Sam and Mexico. WASHINGTON, Oct. 14.—President Wilson and his cabinet discussed the Mexican situation today at the first cabinet meeting since last June. The dispatch of a German warship to Mexican waters and the possibility of like action by other European powers, which may foresee a crisis for the United States Government, commanded attention.

Advices from Mexico City indicated that the Mexican deputies for whose safety the American Government had made representations were still in jail, but according to Huerta in no danger. His statement, however, that the deputies would be brought to trial was received here with disappointment.

Church News

For the Sunday

Alexandra Church. An exceptionally large congregation assembled for the morning service Sunday to commemorate the Sacrament of the Lord's Supper, which was impressively conducted by the Rev. D. T. McClintock. The pastor's theme was, "The Divine Remembrance of Jesus," founded on the text, "Behold I have given thee of the palms of my hands, and thy walls are continually before me." In the evening a bright song service was held prior to the regular. The Rev. Mr. McClintock's evening subject was based on the text "For thou makest me to inherit the iniquities of my youth," 1st in the bitter memories of the past; 2nd in disqualifying infirmities, 3rd in guilty burdens; 4th as motives for our salvation. The music was especially good, the solo, "A Perfect Day," by Mrs. Barton, with violin obligato by Mr. Reginald Beattie, was particularly pleasing, also the solo, "The Broken Prisoner," of Mrs. Barton, in the anthem, "Oh for a Closer Walk With God," which was splendidly sung by the choir, the solo by Mrs. Barton. Mrs. Cronal officiated as organist in her usual delightful manner. A song service will be held every Sunday evening at a quarter to seven.

Bowling

For the Sunday

The weather man was very kind last night, providing the finest of weather. This was realized especially by those whose pleasure outings took them into the open. The Dufferin Club members were among those who realized this, as they had a "big night" at the club. The tournament was concluded, the finals in the Consolation being played. F. D. Shepherd's rink, composed of Geo. Wolf, W. H. Johnson and Sidney Bull; and A. A. Lister's rink composed of J. R. Varney, C. Miller and J. R. Hamilton. Shepherd's rink won by the score of 22 to 7.

Runners up, members of the skipped by Mr. O. Morris, were presented with ties, and the winners of the consolation with cuff links.

The club took the opportunity of presenting to Mr. J. R. Hamilton, a popular member of the club and a former teacher at the Collegiate Institute who leaves to-morrow for Portage La Prairie, a set of gold cuff links. The usual replies were made on the occasion of each presentation. Mr. W. F. Wilson made the presentation to Mr. Hamilton.

SIR WILFRID LAURIER

The statement that in some Liberal quarters there is a feeling on behalf of a new leader, as the result of Laurier's added reverse in Chateaugay, hardly seems likely of fulfillment.

It is true that Mackenzie was fired after he met with defeat in 1878, but then there was the Hon. Edward Blake to fall back on. When he failed to make good, he also had to walk the plank, and then Laurier was available.

To-day there is no one man of outstanding ability on that side capable of filling the shoes of the white-plumed knight. One will develop in the natural course, sooner or later no doubt, but at present such an individual is most emphatically not in sight.

That Laurier, after leading his side to victory for fifteen years, suddenly threw the party into chaos over the reciprocity game, everyone is well aware. No such catastrophe brought about by a single leader, was ever paralleled since Gladstone forced several of his leading followers and supporters into the Unionist ranks.

Sir Wilfrid's project, described by Taft in a letter, as an attempt by Uncle Sam to make Canada "an adjunct" of the United States, was rushed into with a precipitancy nothing short of amazing, when it is remembered that the ex-Premier was an old party hand. He did not consult his adherents in the House of Commons, or apparently anyone else except two or three, and then he launched the measure, in the language of the Brantford Expositor, at the time, "like a bolt from the blue."

Just why he did so most forever remains a mystery. The country was prosperous, and without much doubt he would have retained office in a general contest normally due this year, but instead, Borden forced him prematurely to the country on an issue which wrecked the Liberal cause, and will keep it that way for many years to come.

Now in his declining years, he is the leader of forces which he himself badly shattered in 1911, and whose ranks have become still further riven by his utterly mistaken attitude with reference to navy aid for the Old Land. For him, in all human probability, there can be nothing more but the chieftainship of an opposition.

CITY COUNCIL MATTERS

The City Council meeting last evening was characterized by much of what can be termed good business. The finance committee report contained two sensible recommendations. The first was that $50,000 be voted right off for a new school in the Eastern portion of the city. The actual and the growing needs warrant such a step and it would have been foolish to incur any delay. The second excellent thing was the declaration that outlying districts should not be brought in unless upon their request and on the basis of city figures as to assessment and taxes. Brantford to-day has one of the largest areas of any Ontario community of the smaller class and has quite enough and a little more, to look after, at least for some time to come. To add to police, and fire protection, extend sewers and water-works, etc., on a preferential basis, would be absolutely foolish.

Another good move was the decision to attempt to acquire the New England-Glebe property, and to strengthen the hands of Mr. W. F. Cocksbutt, M. P., who has already taken the subject up at Ottawa. Said property runs along the Hamilton Road towards Echo Place and extends back to the Canal. The area is about 180 acres and comprises most desirable sites for factories and houses.

A committee was selected to arrange for the laying of the cornerstone of the handsome new public building. This affair should be heartily joined in by all classes and men of all shades of politics and no doubt will be. Hon. Mr. White, Minister of Finance, who comes in lieu of Hon. Mr. Rogers, is a most estimable and clear-headed man and without question will receive a hearty welcome.

DISASTERS AT SEA

Since 1893 the record of human lives lost as the result of disasters at sea, has been of a most appalling nature. Here is the list:—

Table listing shipwrecks and deaths at sea from 1893 to 1913. Columns include date, ship name, location, and number of lives lost.

Such incidents can be classed as something with regard to which there can be no guaranteed immunity. As long as people take their chances at sea, on land and now in the air, just so long there will inevitably be tragedies to record. With regard to sea-going traffic, there has at least in later years been the added safety of the marvellous wireless telegraph system.

This already has been the means of saving many hundreds of lives which would have otherwise been lost.

AN INDEPENDENT VIEW

Says the Hamilton Herald, (Independent) with regard to the Chateaugay election: One thing is clear, and that is that although the constituency of Chateaugay cannot fairly be said to have endorsed the whole naval policy of the government, it has condemned the Laurier naval policy. The Liberal campaigners made that policy the chief issue—practically the only one—of the campaign. They discussed it thoroughly. The electors could not help understanding exactly what the naval policy is that the Liberal leader proposed, and that Mr. Fisher would support if he were elected. And a substantial majority of them voted against the Liberal proposals.

The fact that a constituency which has been represented by none but Liberals for forty-six years has at last rejected a Liberal candidate who appealed to them mainly on the naval issue, should, it seems to us, compel the Liberal leaders seriously to consider whether they have been shaping their course wisely on this great question.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

The New York ball players received over $2,000 a piece for getting licked. Bring on your wallops.

Just why October isn't the month picked on by June brides is a puzzle to the ordinary, mere male.

That sweet young thing, Sylvia Pankhurst, has been arrested again. It's a great pity that she can't be induced to make a Sylvian glide down some sylvan glade and stay there.

Perhaps it would stop some of those militant suffragettes who threaten to break up a royal wedding if they could be spliced the same day themselves.

The latest rumor is that the Parisian gents who design the fol de rols for the fair sex, are now figuring on devising costumes made of X-ray material.

Two or three Grit exchanges which reach this office, were so knocked out by the result of that Quebec bye-election that they hadn't a word of comment. It certainly was a soc dollager.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier says he does not feel at all cast down over his latest reverse. When you have to be continually taking nasty medicine there's nothing like getting used to it.

Some Grit papers have alleged that the Liberals in Chateaugay realized on the eve of polling that the Riding was a goner for some sinister reasons. In view of this assertion it is somewhat amusing to find these remarks in the columns of the Montreal Witness (red hot Grit) on the afternoon of the polling:—

"The Liberals have no fear. Mr. Honore Mercier, the local member; Mr. N. P. Mallette, the president of the local Liberal Association, and Mr. Desparios, the secretary, are certain of the reward of their days of canvas, their nights of studious organization. The threats, the promises and the offers of the workers for the Conservative candidate have availed nothing. The situation is summed up when it is stated that the Conservatives hope for victory, and the Liberals are certain of it."

"I will," said Peterby; "I'll pretend that I am dangerously ill."—Boston Transcript.

The Effect of Moonlight—It was at the seashore and they were sitting on the beach, while the moon shone beautifully on the surging waves. "What effect does full moon have upon the tide?" she asked, looking sweetly up into his face. Illit Gold Buying—Most people have heard of I. D. B. (Illit) diamond buying, a crime which in South Africa is punished with penal servitude on the breakwater at Cape Town.

The Rand, however, has the lesser known offense of I. G. B. (Illit) gold buying. Considering that in the Rand mines only a few pennyweights of gold go to a ton of quartz, it is obvious that the miner does not get much chance of stealing the precious metal. When does the gold thief get his opportunity? The pieces of quartz are ground into dust by powerful hammers known as "stamps." Water then washes the dust over inclined plates coated with amalgam. The gold instantly combines with the mercury in the amalgam, and is carried off by a stream of water.

It is not this gold dust which is the dishonest employee will scrape out of the gold which, though small, amounts up to a good bit of gold in time. —Pearson's Weekly.

Well-Qualified—The drapery magnate was bombarding the applicant with the usual questions. "Speak French?" "Yes." "Good salesman?" "Yes." "Can you tell a good lie?" "Oh, yes!" "Well, I'll give you a start."

The young man got on famously for a few weeks, until one fine morning a dainty Parisian dame approached him and sweetly stated her requirements in the native tongue. The poor young man was flabbergasted, not comprehending a single word. Five minutes later he was facing his indignant employer.

"This is scandalous, sir. When I employed you did you not tell me that you could speak French?" "True," mildly replied the culprit; "but did you not also ask me if I could tell a good lie?"—London Tit-Bits.

Significance of Small Duties.—Don't object that your duties are so insignificant. They are to be reckoned of infinite significance and alone important to you. Were it but the mere perfect regulation of your apartments, the sorting away of your clothes and trinkets, the arranging of your papers—do it with all thy might! and all thy worth and constancy. Much more, if your duties are of evidently higher rank, a father, a mother, weigh earnestly what claim does lie upon you on behalf of each and consider it as the one thing needful to pay them more and more honestly and nobly what you owe. What matter how miserable one is if one can do that? That is the sure and steady disconnection and extinction of whatsoever miseries one has in this world.—Thomas Carlyle.

Rocheport in Court.—Henri Rocheport went to court of late. It is said, as plaintiff, defendant or witness than any other man in Paris. Partly this was because of his articles, partly because of his continual dealings with the picture dealers, with whom he was often called as a "witness" by parties in political suits, not because he had any pertinent testimony to present, but because he had a happy faculty when on the witness stand of making the government, the police and all that set appear a set of fools or scoundrels. The French code of procedure allows a witness much more latitude in "telling his own story" than does ours. And Rocheport's stories, whether relevant or not, were sure to have a sting in them for the folk in authority.—New York Sun.

To The Editor

REPLY TO H.H.M. ON HOME RULE.

To the Editor of the Courier: Sir: In your issue of Oct. 10, there appeared a letter signed H.H.M. who as he states was requested by a number of local Orangemen to take exception to my letter of Oct. 4, under the title, "A Home Rule Advocate." Your correspondent requests to know whether I am an Irishman. The fact that I signed myself an Irish Canadian Home Ruler, should be sufficient proof of my being an Irishman. I would infer however, from H.H.M.'s request, he desires to know whether I was born in Ireland.

Before making further reply to my letter, as he (H.H.M.) seems to think, the fact of his having lived in England and having visited Ireland as a tourist, he should be better able to discuss Irish affairs than I, who has not had the honor to have been born within the Island of Scholars and Martyrs and Saints though my grandparents were both born in Ireland, as were my parents. Therefore I feel I may with pride profess to be an Irishman.

As to your correspondent claiming to be better qualified to speak on English Rule in Ireland, than myself, because he (H.H.M.) has lived in England and has visited Ireland as a tourist and whether his points are as he states, more logical than are mine on the subject in question; will depend on the production of his further reply to my letter of Oct. 4, of which he speaks.

My logical friend (H.H.M.) says the Home Rule Bill is more the concern of Ireland than to Canada, to which I agree. Such being the case, why is it the Canadian Orangemen are having so much to say on the issue? Why is it Orangemen are holding meetings all over Canada against Home Rule? Why did Mayor Hoken and Mr. Willison, editors of the Orange Sentinel and the Toronto News, move and second a resolution promising to aid a one Rev. William McGuire, a Belfast Orangeman, sent or brought to Canada to secure money and men to fight against the King and Parliament of Britain? Should the Home Rule bill become a law of the land?

I would like to ask your correspondent (H.H.M.) what can be said of this sort of thing, "Orange Loyalty," Treason or what? Surely this is not in keeping with the "Orange Motto"—One King, One Flag, One Empire. As to that outburst of indignation of which H.H.M. speaks and the bushel under which I may be glad to hide my head, I would advise H.H.M. not to lose any sleep over that part of the program.

I am like Churchill who said of the Asquith Government, "I have convictions and have the courage of my convictions," and shall never hide my head under a bushel as described by your correspondent. I wish to assure my friend, H. H. M., I am no bigot nor have I any desire to injure or offend the feelings of the opponents of Irish justice, but shall speak of what I know to be the truth without fear or favor.

Concluding Mr. Editor, as your correspondent don't claim to have made a full reply to my letter that same was more to ascertain whether I am an Irishman. Therefore, I shall content myself to await a further reply from H.H.M., when I shall be pleased to further discuss the question with him. Sincerely thanking you Mr. Editor for your valuable space, C. L. H. Irish Canadian Home Ruler. Brantford, Oct. 12, 1913.

Editor of The Courier,

Dear Sir,—I read in your issue of the 10th inst. a letter purporting to be a reply to Home Rule, but I fail to see any reply at all. In the first place, what has H. H. M. to offer to the people of Ireland that they might better their conditions, for anyone must admit that the conditions existing in Ireland to-day are not what they ought to be. Secondly, I think that C. L. H. has got a far better idea of the domestic affairs of Ireland than H. H. M., even though the latter has had two or three trips to the "Emerald Isle."

It is true that C. L. H. speaks in rather bitter terms, but he may have cause. I would ask H. H. M. what do the Irish people mean by persistently returning unopposed, men who are pledged to Home Rule to the English House of Commons—Do they know what they want, or not, or does H. H. M. think he knows better than they do men, but live there. Also he is aware of the fact that at last two elections in the British House, the Unionist party of Great Britain has as one of their political planks Home Rule for Ireland, and that Mr. Bonar Law, Mr. W. Long, Sir. E. Carson and H. H. M. ever used that plank. I can assure him that it is true. Also, has H. H. M. ever read the political history of Ireland by Gustin McCarthy? There is a book that will make the Unionist stink in the nostrils of any fair-minded person, C. L. H. is also rather bitter towards the Orangemen, but at the same time, what do quite a number of them know of the existing affairs of Ireland, when they have never seen the country? H. H. M. admits that all he knows is what he has seen when on a visit. A person wants to live and be amongst the people in all grades of life before we can be any kind of judge at all.

And when it comes to talking about getting Priest ridden in these days, well I think that is absurd. How is it that Canada is not Priest ridden to-day? For 15 years your head of affairs was a Roman Catholic.

I suppose H.H.M. would say we know better. Why not concede the same to the Irish? The Union is a farce. Who is responsible for the big strikes in Ireland to-day, and also for the system of sweated labor and degradation, but those who are to-day hurling the wealth that they have thus acquired in all directions, in a panic to save that glorious Union which means so much to them. I think the Orangemen would do far better if they were to help their fellow men in Ireland to throw off this yoke of tyranny which has been breaking the back of Ireland for so many years. There is only one fault I have to find with the Orangemen, that is they are behind the times. Where is their loyalty? They would seem to me to be loyal to those who have been trying to strangle them for over 100 years, and at last are ready to say "Do what you like, I am finished." I am sorry to say that Earl Grey should have been dragged into this affair, I have always contended, that if Canada or any other Dominion beyond the sea can administer their own affairs with profit to themselves, that Ireland should have the same privilege. A constant reader, E. F. A.

NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—One quarter of the New York National League club's share of the 1912 world's series gate receipts must be turned over to the other seven clubs of the league, according to an announcement made last night on behalf of an arbitration board appointed to act on the Commission's ruling last year stipulating this. Under the rule, the New York club is compelled to surrender also one fourth of their share of the receipts of the post-season games just ended. The amounts that will thus be divided among the other clubs are $26,000 from last year and $20,000 this year.

With the City Police

Magistrate Livingston had another lengthy session of the police court this morning, several cases, mostly of a minor nature being on the docket.

When the case of Thornton's Ltd., charged with a breach of the health by-law came up, Mr. W.A. Hollinrake acting for the company asked for a further adjournment, because of the fact that the city council had not yet dealt with the matter.

Medical Health Officer Pearson objected to the adjournment stating that the repeated postponements were becoming tiresome. He could not see any reason why the court should not go ahead and deal with the case and if there had been a grievance or a breach of the by law the parties should be punished.

Magistrate Livingston stated that he wanted to ascertain what the city council thought regarding the matter before passing judgment and therefore granted the request for the adjournment.

Considerable of the court's time was taken up in dealing with the case involving a charge of a breach of the building by-law, against a citizen in that defendant did erect a building on Gikinson St. contrary to permit and that he did erect certain buildings on Gikinson St. without permit. City Engineer Jones and Building Inspector Bennett gave evidence, stating that he had taken out a permit to erect a store and had then built a house. For other buildings erected they could find no permit ever having been granted.

Magistrate Livingston told defendant that he had no business to put up those buildings without conforming to the regulations and he ordered that he meet the building inspector and settle the question satisfactorily.

It is the intention of the members of the board to visit the House of Refuge, at Fergus on Friday next, Mayor Hartman, Councillor Davidson and Mr. Houlding going to the former and Warden Kendrick, Ald. Minshall, Councillor Simpson and Ald. Ward, the latter.

A couple of offenders against the bicycle by-law were fined $1.00.

Edward Hill was charged with assault upon his father, Jacob Hill. According to the plaintiff, the plaintiff and defendant had a dispute over the cutting of some timber. It is alleged that the son took up a big stick and threatened to kill his father, but the plaintiff got out of the way before he was harmed.

Case was adjourned.

Magistrate Livingston told defendant that he had no business to put up those buildings without conforming to the regulations and he ordered that he meet the building inspector and settle the question satisfactorily.

PREPARATIONS FOR ROYAL WEDDING

Everything in Readiness for Royalties Big Event - Final Details.

[Canadian Press Despatch] NEW YORK, Oct. 14.—A London cable says: The gathering of the Royal Family for the wedding of Prince Arthur of Connaught and the Duchess of Fife to-morrow is now complete.

An evening party was given by the King and Queen at Buckingham Palace last night. The monarchs invited not only their own guests, but also those who in an ordinary way would have been the guests of the Duke and Duchess of Connaught and the Princess Royal, and the list approached a total of 800. No uniforms or decorations were worn.

The King and Queen accompanied by the Prince of Wales and the bride and bridegroom elect were present, and every one of the Royal Family now in London was in the party with the exception of Princess Mary.

Prince Leopold of Battenberg, the King and Queen of Norway, the Crown Princess of Sweden, and Greece and Princess Andrew of Greece were included in the party.

Being an after-dinner function there was no formal banquet, but supper and buffets were arranged in some of the apartments.

In Queen Anne's room, guests had an opportunity of inspecting the royal wedding gifts.

The King and Queen have given to the Duchess of Fife several wedding presents of which the principal is a magnificent diamond tiara, composed of hundreds of stones varying in size, with a large central stone.

The princess Royal has given a handsome gold dessert service, which is stated to have only two equals in the country, the Windsor plate and the plate presented to the Duke of Wellington after Waterloo.

King Manuel and Queen Amelia have given a gold bowl and the Duke and Duchess of Argyll a fine painting of Osborne.

The Prince and his bride-elect both passed a very busy day, and in the morning Prince Arthur received at Clarence House a wedding present, consisting of a silver service from the United Grand Lodge of the Free and Accepted Masons of England.

Terrible Mine Disaster

(Continued from Page 1) Not Much Hope. CARDIFF, Oct. 14.—The rescued miners, the members of the life saving gang, and the officials of the mine this afternoon declared that they could not hold out much hope for the miners still below. The men brought to the surface were found on the east side of the mine where the ventilation remained fairly good while on the west side where the explosion occurred fire soon added its terrors to the deadly afterdamp and the rescue parties were unable to make any progress toward the affected area.

The officials of the mine found it necessary to call a detachment of police to keep back the women and children who had crowded round in the vain hope of obtaining some news of their relatives while the mine managers with tears streaming from their eyes replied to all inquiries, "there is little hope."

Most of the rescued men presented a pitiable appearance. Some of them were not expected to live and nearly all of them were suffering from burns and shock or the effects of afterdamp.

Harvest Home. Oxford St. Methodist Church was the scene of a successful Harvest Home supper and concert last evening. The affair was under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid. A splendid supper was served in the school room and afterwards an excellent program was given in the auditorium. The program consisted of solos rendered by Miss Gault, Mrs. Robert Thompson, Mrs. (Rev) Liddy, Mr. Teller and Mr. Knott; readings were given by Miss Steele, Mr. Danby, Mr. Harry Sills and Miss Edna Glass; speeches were made by Rev. Liddy of Wesley Methodist Church and by Rev. Lavelle of Brant Avenue Methodist Church. The accompanists were Miss Olive Robinson and Mr. Porter. Rev. Marshall, pastor of the church, presided.

VULturno FIRE MAY HAVE BEEN PLANNED ONE

LIVERPOOL, Oct. 14.—There is a rumor in Liverpool, which is unbelievable, but which your correspondent sends for what it is worth, to the effect that the destruction of the steamship Vulturno was the result of a deliberate plot to destroy the ship. This is said to be the belief of the owners of the Uranium Line, who ascribe it to attempts of the German and Dutch emigrant lines to break up the Continental business of their company.

Captain Tinsley, the manager of the Uranium Company here, who until three years ago was assistant superintendent of the Cunard Company here, says he has been impressed with the signs of bitter antagonism of the Continental rivals of the Uranium Company, who were alarmed over the growth of the trade of the latter company from Dutch ports.

This antagonism was shown in many ways, says Captain Tinsley. The German officials forbade German immigrants to sail on vessels of the Uranium Line, and there was constant trouble with the seamen, who were Dutch and Belgians, and whose disaffection is attributed by Captain Tinsley to interference by rival companies. Captain Tinsley has been trying for a long time to remove the Dutch and Belgian element from the crews, whose brother-officers found these men troublesome.

Captain Tinsley says he has received many threatening letters. He got one on the sailing of the Vulturno which read: "If you do not grant our demands one of your boats will be burned."

There was trouble with the crew before the Vulturno sailed, but it wasn't serious enough to prevent the vessel from sailing.

It is the assumption of the owners of the line and of Captain Tinsley that a bomb was exploded in the hold of the Vulturno, and that the explosion set fire to the ship.

An Investigation

At the present time boys and hardened offenders sleep and work together. He favored the abolition of the stone pile altogether. In reply to inquiry witness stated he did not believe in putting cattle on a farm to be worked by convicts.

Touching on conditions in the hospital, he said that was very dirty when he was in the penitentiary last January. Asked for suggestions for new industries for the penitentiary, Major Hughes said if the government would give them orders for such tables and chairs as they needed, the prison shops could do the work. Incidentally he made a point of the fact that they rarely had a carpenter in the penitentiary.

In Saskatchewan penitentiary they had about four in eight years in Kingston. This assured the commission that with competent instructors the prisoners could turn out first class furniture. Convicts used to be given a plug of tobacco weekly as a ration if they wanted it, but this was abandoned under Sir Oliver Mowat's regime.

Prisoners from the lower walks of life complained bitterly of the deprivation, but Sir Oliver took the view that tobacco was a luxury. He urged the establishment of a school of instruction for officers before they went into a penitentiary. Kingston would be a suitable place for this as it is central. Officers from all over the Dominion could be thoroughly trained before they were put in charge of an institution. It would eliminate the uneducated officers, the officer who was often found inferior to the convict he was over. To-day there is practically no instruction along this line. Mr. Downey thought this could be worked out without a special school. It could be done under the warden in each penitentiary by having a conference twice a month with the officers.

For Inland Revenue

Chief Inspector Alexander of the Inland Revenue department, was in the city yesterday to look into the transfer of the Inland Revenue department to temporary quarters, until the new public building is finished. He seemed to be impressed with the vacant portion of the old Y. M. C. A. building, but his report will have to be awaited for a definite announcement. If a move is made the Customs department will secure much needed extra room.

STEAMER IS STILL AFLOAT

Baby Thrown Into the Sea Was Rescued by a Sailor.

[Canadian Press Despatch] LONDON, Oct. 14.—The Volturno was still afloat on the afternoon of Sunday in latitude 47.37 north, longitude 33.45 west, and there is apparently a possibility of its yet reaching land. The Campanian was in her vicinity at a quarter past two on October 12, and Captain Rostron, in a wireless despatch to the Cunard Company, says the derelict was then going southwest, making about an knot an hour. Her hull appeared to be in good condition and liable to float indefinitely. A careful search was made for the missing boats. La Touzaine of the French line also kept a careful lookout, but did not see any boats.

Among the rescued was a baby which the hysterical mother had flung into the sea. Arthur Hazelwood, a seaman of the Devonian, sprang overboard and rescued the child. Another figure was that of a tiny girl of five years of age, whose nationality even is as yet unknown. She stood among her fellow sufferers bewildered, unrecognized and unclaimed.

There was a difference of opinion on this matter, some of the adherents being of the opinion that the city architects should be allowed to draw up the plans for the new city hall, while others were of the opinion that it should be open to competition.

The motion was finally withdrawn, and the matter was left in the hands of the buildings and grounds committee.

THREE IN A ROW FROM THE CUBS

Chicago White Sox Captured Championship of the Windy City.

CHICAGO, Oct. 14.—The Chicago Americans made it three in a row from the local Nationals yesterday, and won the city championship. The score was 5 to 2. Scott, vanquished in a duel with Humphries Friday, had simple revenge on his rival in to-day's game.

To Jacques Fournier goes the honor of driving in the run which decided the game. His double in the fourth inning sent the winning run across the plate. The Sox started a bombardment against Humphries' forces in the fourth. After Lord had walked, Chase singled. On Bodie's attempted bunt, Lord was forced at third, but Collins drove out a single and Chase scored the first run by making a beautiful slide under Archer. Fournier followed Collins with a timely double into the overflow crowd, and Bodie and Collins scored. A pinch-hitter latted for Humphries in the next inning, and Jimmy Lavender, who went to the mound for the Cubs, was greeted with a fusillade of hits, which included doubles by Lord and Bodie and a single by Chase, giving the Sox two more runs.

The grand total of attendance at the six games, with the receipts and division of the money is as follows:

Total attendance, 153,020—total receipts, $105,875; National Commission's share, $10,500; each club's share, $20,453; players' pool (for first four games), $26,325. This amount is divided between the winners and losers as follows:

American League players . . . $21,795

National League players . . . $14,530

CLEVELAND BEAT PITTSBURG.

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 14.—The Cleveland Americans defeated the Pittsburg Nationals yesterday by a score of 4 to 0 in a game of 13 innings. It was a remarkable pitcher's battle between Gregg, of Cleveland, who struck out 10 men, and Hendrix of Pittsburg, who mowed nine batters Score: Pittsburg 0, Cleveland 4.

ST. LOUIS NATIONALS WON.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 14.—A fist fight between players, numerous verbal battles between the managers, desertion of the umpires and many other exciting features, kept the "fiats" in a lively spirit at to-day's double header in the series to decide the city championship of the major league teams.

The championship is still undecided, each club having won three games and tied two. The Nationals won the first of yesterday's games, 5 to 2, and when darkness stopped the second at the end of the fifth inning the score was 1 to 1. Scores: First game—Nationals 5; Americans 2; Second game—Nationals 1; Americans 1.

English Amateur Golfer Won.

PARIS, Oct. 14.—An amateur golfer of London, Dr. H. B. Gillies, who is on vacation at Granville, and who entered this season in the golf championship tournament, beat all the best European professionals yesterday in the first play over the famous course. He did the morning and afternoon rounds in 75 and 76 respectively.

All the players complain of the excessive length of the Chantilly course—6,655 yards—and declare that they never played over so long a course. As a consequence, it will be shortened in the future.

MAY LOSE ITS PARK.

London Club May Have to Get New Grounds Next Season.

LONDON, Oct. 14.—The London Canadian League Baseball Club may be faced with the necessity of providing a new park here next season, if the by-law to erect a permanent breakwater around West London, which goes up with the electrification vote on October 22, is carried, as it probably will be.

Yesterday John Hayman of this city, secured an option from the owner of Tecumseh Park, W. J. Reid, which he will exercise if the district is assured of protection from possible flooding. He will subdivide the park for residential purposes, and the Canadian League will have to look elsewhere. At present there is no suitable park available.

The colt was well handled by Stinson, but was never in danger.

PRESSURE.

"I can't" has aided many a man. Where high obstructions rose, To conquer bravely, rather than Sit down and nurse his woes.

"I will" has often served the weak— On steep and stony ways And caused the fearful still to seek The sweet reward of praise.

More potent than "I can't" and still Backed by a sharper thrust And stronger purpose than "I will"

Is man's old friend "I must." —Chicago Record-Herald.

CITY AND COUNTY Teachers' Convention this week in Y. M. C. A. Hall, Thursday and Friday morning and afternoon sessions. Thursday evening, lecture by President Falconer, Toronto University, and address by the chairman Rev. G. A. Woodside. Public cordially invited.

Leaving the armories, the right half battalion marched down Dalhousie street to Park Ave., crossing Alexandra Park at this point, proceeded down Colborne street to Workman's brickyard, crossing the hickory yard, which, by the way, was a very rough journey, the half battalion proceeded up respective positions. The hill was guarded on both sides, and apart from this outposts were stationed. The Mohawk cadets, although not parading with the regiment, took up positions on the left flank. Half of the company took up a position at the rear of the institute property, the other half taking up a position along the railway track. B. Company was stationed at the brow of the hill at the left. A company of the brow of the hill overlooking the city, D. company on the right flank C. company at the rear to guard against possible attack from that point. A company composed the reserve forces. A portion of the ambulance corps accompanied the defence. When the fight was waging half of A. company joined D. and C. company.

Movements of Attack. Leaving the armories the left half battalion proceeded to Darling marching down 1st street to Rawdon street. A. Rawdon street, G. company and the signallers left the half battalion and proceeded to a point on the west side of the hill. The remainder of the half battalion proceeded to Stanley street, going across a field over the hill. Passing through an orchard the portion of the half battalion remaining took up a position on the Hamilton Road, later moving across the field and attacked the right flank and rear guard. H. company got in behind the defence and drove the defence out of position. G. company and the signallers attacked a portion of A. company guarding the brow of the hill. This attack was a faint one.

The movements were well planned and great credit is due the officers in command and the staff. The men also acquitted themselves excellently.

Many Spectators. At the conclusion of the battle the companies formed on Colborne street, at Stanley Ct. Many spectators, old and young, took no vantage points along the route and many were the expressions of approval. The bugle and bugle leading the lads, the khaki swung through the streets to the lively music provided. Arriving at the armory the regiment were briefly addressed by Major Genet, who was in command. The Major spoke of the trip to St. Catharines next Monday. He stated that he did not leave the time the regiment would leave early. The regiment was then dismissed. The hot coffee crackers and these provided after the parade were greatly appreciated. This good work was in charge of Quartermaster Ward, and well the general officer discharged his duty. All were greatly pleased with the fight and the St. Catharines trip is looked forward to.

The Parade State. The parade state was as follows: Field officers, 2. Majors Genet and Ashton; staff officers, 4. Capt. Ballachey, Col. Palmer, Quartermaster Ward, Capt. Watt. Companies A—36; B—29; C—24; D—28; E—50; F—27; G—16; H—32. Signallers, 26; stretcher bearers, 77; brass band, 17; bugle band, 30; recruits, 1, Total 300.

Dangerous Wire. Shortly after one o'clock this afternoon a boy while riding a bicycle through Victoria park came in contact with a wire which was stretched between two trees. He was thrown off his wheel and stunned. He finally came to and rode off on his bicycle, refusing to give his name. If the Parks Board want to stop trespassers they should put up more than one wire, as a single one is very dangerous. The young lad to-day might have cut his throat on the wire.

Carpets. It means style with economy, and a saving thrown in, to buy those Tapestry Brussels' Carpets now on sale at Cromptons.

Robt. Richardson, aged 28, dropped dead while at work in a London foundry.

DUFFERIN RIFLES IN SHAM BATTLE

Mimic Warfare Last Night Proved Very Successful Affair.

Glebe Hill, just east of the city, and the immediate vicinity was the scene of a "sham fight" last night when the Dufferin Rifles held their annual sham battle. The regiment was divided into two battalions. The right half which formed the defence, was under command of Capt. Colquhoun, and was composed of A, B, C and D companies and a portion of the ambulance corps. The left half, composed of E, F, G and H. company's the remaining portion of the ambulance corps and the signallers, was in command of Capt. Cutcliffe, and composed the attacking forces. The judges, Lt.-Col. Ashton, Majors Smith and Brooks and staff officers of the regiment, Majors Genet and Ashton, and Capt. Ballachey, gave the decisions in favor of the attack. The scouting was commented upon on all sides.

Dangerous Wire. Shortly after one o'clock this afternoon a boy while riding a bicycle through Victoria park came in contact with a wire which was stretched between two trees. He was thrown off his wheel and stunned. He finally came to and rode off on his bicycle, refusing to give his name. If the Parks Board want to stop trespassers they should put up more than one wire, as a single one is very dangerous. The young lad to-day might have cut his throat on the wire.

THE RESULT OF THE INQUEST

Into the Death of Foreigner at the Massey-Harris Plant.

"We find from the evidence that the deceased came to his death while engaged in lacing a belt. We recommend that an experienced man be engaged to do this work in future."

After being out for over half an hour, the coroner's jury, empaneled in the death of Mathew Cuncevic, the Austrian, who was killed on October 7th at the Massey-Harris works, last night returned with the above verdict. Coroner Fissette presided over the inquest and as three witnesses, all fellow workmen were the only ones called, the proceedings did not take long.

John Bowden, who is employed as foreman in the smithy department at the Massey-Harris works for about 6 years. During that time he had held several positions, among which was the job of oiling the shafting every morning and replacing his own and other belts. Witness said he considered the deceased a careful man. He never had seen him place a belt on a running shaft so far as he could remember, this being strictly against the rules.

Latterly Cuncevic had been employed on an eye machine and it was his duty to replace the belt on the shaft every time it came off. Bowden did not see the accident but from investigations and inquiries which he made following, he was convinced that the deceased was caught while lacing a belt, the ends of the lace catching in the shafting and pulling his arm in. The fact that the man's arm was still held to the shaft by the lace, after the body fell to the floor, led him to come to that conclusion. While lacing the belt Cuncevic was standing on a long ladder. Witness considered on a long ceased the most experienced man at this kind of work in the shop. Mr. Bowden stated the machinery was never stopped to lace a belt as this was not considered a dangerous practice if the workman was careful. The opinion of the witness was that the death of the deceased was the result of an accident, which might have been averted with a little more caution on the part of the deceased. He was not prepared to say that Cuncevic had been careless.

Fred Allan. Mr. Fred Allan, a pipe fitter at the Massey-Harris factory said he was in the department where Cuncevic was killed at the time of the accident. The first he knew of the accident was when the ladder upon which the deceased was standing moved and witness looked up just in time to see the body of Cuncevic being drawn from the ladder into the shafting. The body was whirled around about three times but by this time somebody turned off the power. Witness saw the deceased lacing belts on previous occasions. Mr. Allan did not consider the job of lacing belts with machinery running, dangerous if a man was cautious. He had done quite a bit of it himself. The greatest danger was in letting the ends of the lacing get caught in the line shaft.

Peter Dunham, a fellow employee of Cuncevic said he often fixed his own belt while the shaft was running and he had not yet met with an accident. Witness did not see Cuncevic caught but he heard the ladder shift and glancing up he saw the body of the deceased going over the shaft. There was a faint cry as the body made the first revolution but a few seconds later the body was mutilated almost beyond recognition.

Coroner Fissette. Dr. Fissette in summing up the case said that in his opinion a "safety first" agitation was needed in the Brantford factories in order that the number of accidents, which during the past few weeks had been greatly on the increase, might be kept as low as possible. He was of the opinion that in 90 per cent of the accidents carelessness was the direct cause and it seemed that the workmen of to-day did not think of danger until it was too late. Regarding the accident under consideration the coroner pointed out that as no one saw the man caught the evidence was simply supposition on the part of the witnesses. It was his personal opinion that the ends of the lacing had been drawn in and whirled around and around.

Well Known Here. A despatch from Toronto has the following in reference to Mr. Hector Charlesworth, the dramatic critic of Saturday Night, who fell from a balcony in Toronto last night. "Following the testimony of Police Charlesworth yesterday in the police court in connection with the charge of aggravated assault against Edward Baker, press agent of the Princess Theatre, John Harley, agent for the Cyril Maude Company, was arrested in London, Ont. It was intimated in court by County Crown Attorney Corley that a charge of conspiracy to do bodily harm would be laid against both Baker and Harley. Mr. Charlesworth's story was that he was badly beaten up by Baker in the manager's office at the Princess, the door of which had previously been locked. He alleged that Harley had been implicated in a plot to injure Charlesworth. The case was adjourned Wednesday morning, though counsel for the plaintiff wanted the assault charge disposed of at once. Baker's bail of $1,000 was renewed."

MUSIC
Popular Question Answered
QUESTION III.—I have an old piano, and didn't want to go to the expense of buying a new one just now. I presume it will do for a young beginner? ANSWER III.—No, it is a great mistake to commence piano lessons on an old instrument that possesses a bad action and poor touch. Successful piano playing depends entirely on "technique" and touch of the player. From the first lesson right up to the last, the one great important aim is to develop technique, which means Touch, Tone, Expression and Execution. Organ playing is entirely different. Various stops gives the expression soft, loud, etc. but expression in piano playing depends upon the "touch" of the player. A poor piano will give a poor touch; a good piano, with proper teaching will give a good touch. A good foundation is just as important in piano playing as any other line.
