Dawson Promised a Line By the O'Brien Combination.

Will Be a Part of the System of Electric Line to Run Up Bonanza—Maxwell Talks of His Junket.

Messrs. Maxwell, M. B., Matheson, Roberts and McLean arrived home Sunday from a tour of the several leading gulches. The lawmaker was profoundly impressed by what he saw in the way of mining operations and the evidences of buried wealth. He thinks that the development of the country has but just

The impression given by the trip was that a roadbed in the bottom of the gulch would come into conflict with the mining operations to an extent detrimental to both, and it was about decided that the best route would be along the hillside at a low elevation. It is not considered likely that an effort will be made to construct the road this fall as, it is learned, a mistake was made in the shipment of the materials, and it was sent to Ottawa. However, it was turned about and started again and is expected to arrive here before long.

The most important information connected with the project—at least to citizens of Dawson—is the fact that the gentlemen purpose extending their line through the city from the north to the south end, with all the facilities which go with a metropolitan street car servishould be a money maker. A bridge across the Klondike and connecting with Klondike City is another feature of the project.

Tom O'Brien, who has been attending to the purchasing outside, is expected in shortly.

Card of Thanks.

The following, sent from Whitehorse and signed by 50 passengers on the steamer Eldorado, is given publication in the Nugget with much pleasure:

WHITEHORSE, Aug. 24, 1899.
To the Officers and Crew of Steamer Eldorado:

We, the passengers on the steamer Eldorado, wish to thank you, one and all, for the kind and courteous treatment extended to us during the trip from Dawson to Whitehorse, you having left nothing undone that would add to our comfort; and we also take pleasure in recommending the Flyer Line to the traveling public for safety, speed and convenience.

ROBBERS ARE BOLD.

Attempt to Rob Nigger Jim's Pavilion.

BORED SEVERAL HOLES THROUGH THE FLOOR.

But the Strong Box Was Lined With Steel Plates.

They Crawled Under the Building From the Rear and Successfully Located the Position of the Box—$9,000 Is Almost Lost.

A bold and determined effort was made this (Tuesday) morning to rob the strong box in which the money and valuables of Nigger Jim's pavilion are kept. The box, which is made of ordinary wood with a sheet steel lining, is kept under the bar. The would-be robbers crawled under the building from the rear and, having successfully located the box, proceeded to bore a number of holes through the floor. The bit which was used easily penetrated the wooden portion of the box, but was stopped by the steel lining, and the robbers were forced to withdraw without accomplishing their purpose.

The box contained gold dust and currency to the amount of about $9000. No clew to the robbers has yet been found.

Suit for Divorce.

James H. Courtney, a former citizen of Dawson, is at Seattle, suing for a divorce from his wife. In a long and truthful statement of facts, Courtney informs the court that during his married life he has been the victim of his wife's temper and of inhuman treatment to such an extent that life has become a burden. Among the charges is one that, while going up the Yukon river to Dawson in July, 1898, his wife cut him with a knife, clubbed him over the head and threatened to poison him, and that in August, after reaching Dawson, she threw boiling water over him and then left him.

Armed with these facts, a Nugget reporter called upon Mrs. Courtney on Monday, and asked her if she had any defense to make to Mr. Courtney's complaint. Her reply was that she had not, because she did not know that the man named in the proceedings is her husband. She had heard rumors to the effect that her husband was seeking a divorce, but had received no personal notice of it. She also said that Mr. Courtney is expected to arrive here before long.

A Millinery Store for Dawson.

Miss Nellie Spencer, representing the well known Seattle house of J. H. Graham & Co., has gone to Seattle to secure a stock of millinery, cloaks and other ladies' goods. She will return not later than October 1, bringing in a stock suitable to the climate and sufficient to meet the requirements of the most exacting taste.

He declined to express himself at this time on the condition of the trails and other matters requiring attention, but said he would do so at an early day. The gentleman is enjoying his visit greatly and will prove a strong champion of the country when he gets back home.

THE KING OF ALL TRUSTS.

American Railways Merging Into One Solid Body.

Greatest Industrial Organization Ever Conceived—Will Revolutionize the Present Way of Doing Business.

New York, Aug. 14.—There is slowly being worked out by the master minds of Wall street the plans of the greatest railroad combination the world has ever known, says the New York World. It is to be the grand climax to the financial development of the nineteenth century and the culmination of the wonderful era of combination and organization, which have recently become almost all embracing.

The combined capital of this stupendous enterprise almost surpasses comprehension, while its powers will be greater than that exercised by any set of men on the face of the earth save that of organized governments. Its resources will be second only in this country to that of the United States government, and its influence will extend to every state.

It will indeed, at this time, be impossible to set the limitations of this coalition to which the tendency of the times has at last brought the railroads of the century under the direction of J. Pierpont Morgan, its master financier.

The new organization is to be nothing less than "the railroad trust," under whose protection all the railroad systems of the country are about to array themselves. The main object of the trust is to maintain rates and to eliminate expensive competition as much as possible by the division of territory.

The men who are working out this plan, evidences of which are becoming manifest every day in the changes which are taking place in the officials of the various systems, are J. Pierpont-Morgan, William K. Vanderbilt, William Rockefeller, E. H. Harriman, Geo. Gould, James F. Hill and A. J. Cassatt. The purposes of this organization are thus summarized:

The combination will undertake at once the re-establishing of rates and their maintenance on a permanent basis.

It will begin at once to cut down the expensive passenger and advertising departments of the railroad. Advertisements will be withdrawn from all the small country newspapers which receive transportation in exchange for advertising and sell it, thus distributing rates.

It will abolish the so-called "fast freight lines," which are expensive and unremunerative parasites.

It will do away with the selling agencies and the various subsidiary companies owned and operated by officials of the parent companies.

It will abolish the traveling freight agent as far as possible, as he is universally voted "the root of all evil."

It will resist the demands of all big corporations for rebates, excepting always the Standard Oil Company; and it will, following the lead of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad, co-operate with the interstate commerce commission in the maintenance of law and rates.

It will establish both the anthracite and bituminous coal trades on a permanently profitable basis.

It will abolish differentials at the Atlantic seaports and establish a grain tariff from the west to the seaboard based on the prevailing market price of the cereal on the Chicago board of trade. It will take up and provide for a settlement of the labor question as far as possible.

The suggestion which led to the adoption of this great project was the result of a mere accident, caught up by the fertile mind of Young Mr. Harriman. He put through, as it were, an experimental exhibition of its possibilities and the result was so successful, suggestive and satisfactory that it immediately brought together the great railway magnates and bound them together in one solid body. The master mind of Morgan took up the work of Harriman, and, under his strong hand the minor features of the great plan are now being worked out. It was from the first resolved to retain in every case the corporate individuality of the various roads. This was in obedience to the laws of many states prohibiting the combination of competing lines. There was policy in it, too, for these gentlemen have already read the warning in the sky against trusts.

The first evidence of the success of "harmonizing" the coalers has been the advance of 25 cents a ton on the price of anthracite coal, which will add to the revenues of the coal group of stocks no less than $10,000,000, while another advance of 25 cents a ton in October next will add $1,000,000 more to the revenues, thus enriching their earnings by $20,000,000 in a single year.

Another evidence of the new combination has been the adjustment of the differences between the Pennsylvania railroad and the New York Central over the Beech Creek line, which amounts to a compact that neither road will hereafter invade the territory of the other by the construction of tributary lines.

The latest evidence of the combination has been the adoption of the Stickney plan for a great freight clearing house in Chicago, where all the freight between the east and west will be cleared and distributed at a saving of many millions dollars year.

DREYFUS DOOMED.

Charges Thought to Be Poor—Sensational.

Rennes, Aug. 17.—Despite the fact that several good witnesses have given evidence for Dreyfus, his chances of acquittal seem to grow smaller; and had judgment been rendered two days ago it would undoubtedly have been for conviction. This is not so much due, either to prejudice against Dreyfus or a preponderance of evidence against him, but rather to a sort of fanaticism which impregnates the members of the court martial and the blind sense of obedience which they feel toward their generals, several of whom, as the principal prosecuting witnesses, are exhibiting a malignity of purpose toward Dreyfus that may be construed as a direct order upon the officers of the court martial for a verdict of guilty.

One of the most sensational sessions of the court martial was that of today. Mme. Henry delivered a prearranged arraignment of Dreyfus, in which she referred to M. Bertullus as a Judas.

Bertullus, a magistrate, testified strongly in behalf of Dreyfus and declared that Du Paty de Clam was the guilty one.

Col. Picuqart also gave strong evidence for Dreyfus.

M. Labori, Dreyfus' wounded counsel, is recovering quickly and his doctors think he will be able to resume his attendance at court on Monday.

A man named Glorot has been arrested at Paris and it is said he has confessed to being Labori's assailant.

Paris, Aug. 18.—M. Guerin, president of the Anti-Semite League, is held a prisoner in his house, which is barricaded to protect him from violence. Eight of his typewriters left the place today and surrendered. M. Guerin frequently appeared at a window, earnestly regarding the approaches, as though expecting rescue. A band of anti-Gurin demonstrators was followed and was roughly handled by a band of anti-Semites, whose enthusiasm for Guerin is becoming so fanatical that they are making a list of all who dare to insult him. The latter's lives are considered to be endangered.

Don't forget opening of Cafe Royal Wine Rooms, Monday night, Aug. 14.

Dr. Brown is now located in his old office in the A. C. block. New and complete equipment, moderate charges and work warranted.

Dissolution of Partnership.
The partnership heretofore existing between James Hall, W. E. McKinney and Gilbert Young, owners of the Green Tree Hotel at Dawson and the Eldorado saloon and hotel at Klondike, has been dissolved, Mr. Hall having purchased the interests of his partners. All outstanding accounts due the said firm will be collected by Mr. Hall. JAMES HALL, Dawson, Y. T., August 23, 1899.

PORTO RICANS PERISHING.

Islands Devastated by Wind and Rain Storms.

Two Thousand People Perish Overnight and Many Are Now Dying Daily for Want of Food.

New York, Aug. 16.—A frightful wind and rain storm, covering nearly the whole island, resulting in the death of many hundreds of people and the inundation of cities and towns has just occurred in Porto Rico. General Davis, in a report to the war department, says the deaths outright will reach 2000, while many are dying daily from their injuries and lack of food. He appeals urgently for food to save the stricken people.

Communication with the distressed districts is still only partly open.

Arecibo was devastated by the hurricane and later was flooded by the Arecibo and Manatee rivers. Two hundred bodies have already been recovered and hundreds more are missing. It is thought they were swept into the sea.

The town was inundated to a depth of six feet. After the water subsided the dead were found lying everywhere.

The bodies were buried on the spots where they were found.

The town is now rapidly filling up with starving persons from the country. Only four soldiers were drowned, but all are without shelter. Capt. McComb and his men did valiant service in saving life. Forty persons were rescued from floating wreckage. A thousand head of cattle were lost there.

At Noranzito 20 persons are known to have been killed. A thousand are homeless and starving. Moravis is totally destroyed.

At Ciales 20 persons were killed. Many are missing at Barcelona. Seven residents were killed. At Cayey the death roll is at least 90.

It is impossible to estimate the loss of life and property in the country districts. Every river is still swollen and passage is well-nigh impossible.

The crops are totally destroyed. Children are dying by hundreds from starvation and exposure.

All the people are flocking to Bayamo for food and shelter.

A courier has just arrived here from Yabucoa. He says the town was demolished by the storm. Already 80 bodies have been recovered and it is estimated that 200 perished. Many are wounded.

Medical assistance is scarce in all parts of the island.

Gen. Davis says the latest reports show the disaster to be greater than he had anticipated and extends over the whole island. He is doing everything in his power to alleviate the suffering and has every confidence in generous results from his appeals to the American people. Where possible the troops that lost their shelter in the hurricane have been ordered to San Juan.

CONTINENTAL REPUBLICANS.

Clay Predicts an Anti-Expansion Presidential Ticket.

New York, Aug. 16.—A special to the Herald from Washington says: "Senator Clay, of Georgia, a Democrat, is quoted in the midsummer-political gossip here as having expressed the belief that there would be an anti-expansion Republican ticket in the field for the presidency next year. According to this gossip, the new ticket is to be called 'the Continental Republican,' and though it is not believed that it will be possible to get former Speaker Reed's consent to head the ticket, he is counted on as one of its most effective supporters."

Former Secretary of the Treasury George S. Boutwell, of Massachusetts, who is high in the councils of the anti-expansionists, is talked of as the Continental Republican candidate for the presidency, and it is said that the anti-expansionists, with him at the head of the ticket, would expect to prevent the regular Republican ticket from carrying any of the New England states.

Valuation of Several Boats Increased.

Paid Under Protest and the Matter Goes to Ottawa for Adjustment—The Anglian Has an Accident.

Sweet, brooding peace again exists between the internal revenue office and the owners of the several boats upon which the appraisement had been lately advanced.

The steamer Sacha, of the A. C. line, arrived in port on Saturday and remained until Monday noon.

Repairs on the hull of the Canadian were completed Sunday and the boat left for Whitehorse rapids shortly after noon.

The steamer Flora, of the B. L. K. N. Co., left for Whitehorse rapids on Sunday night by the light of the moon.

Information from above on Sunday was to the effect that the steamer Anglian broke her rock shaft near Selwyn on the way out and was obliged to go to the bank for repairs.

Three built and only once afloat is the history of the new dispatch boat Tasmania, which was launched on Lake Bennett.

The Lesson Was Lost.

A young man named A. J. Wheeler was put under arrest on Friday charged with obtaining money under false pretenses from Elias Meadows and the Rochester bar, Corporal Wilson being the complainant.

On Friday afternoon some of Wheeler's friends went to the rescue and made the amounts good again, but the police declined to drop the prosecution and Col. Steele put Wheeler on 10 day's probation.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

An action against Vernon & Story, in which the theft of $30 was charged, was dismissed, the evidence showing conclusively that the money was due them as their percentage on a mining deal.

Blanche Basse was arrested by Constable Delatore on a charge of illegal liquor selling, and she was fined $50 and costs.

E. F. Good and J. E. Wilson, for ill-treating a poor horse with a sore back, were assessed $5 and costs and advised to go forth and sin no more.

George Floss, Thomas Haurie, Thos. Kavanaugh, John Smith, Jacob Whitford and John Noon were found guilty of being intoxicated and fined $10 and costs each.

Fannie Hall and Flora Hastings sued Manager Frank Simons, of the Opera house, for $116.66, said to be due as wages. The first named was allowed $51.50 and the other the full amount asked for.

G. W. Allen, proprietor of the Dawson City saloon, exchanged $56 for the privilege of selling liquor on Sunday. Col. Steele told him he ought to be satisfied to sell for six consecutive days and nights, which is a greater privilege than is usually allowed by the Canadian people.

John A. Blakney, a member of the Merwin's crew, was arrested on complaint of J. J. Donaldson, charged with the theft of two lanterns, a saw, hammer, ax, etc., which complainant had left in a boat alongside the Merwin. The articles were in Blakney's possession, but no criminal intent was shown and the case was dismissed.

NOTICE.

When a newspaper offers its advertising space at a nominal figure, it is a practical admission of "no circulation." THE KLONDIKE NUGGET asks a good figure for its space and in justification thereof guarantees to its advertisers a paid circulation five times that of any other paper published between Juneau and the North Pole.

SOMETHING TO CONSIDER.

Dawson is rapidly assuming all the indications of an up-to-date, bustling, prosperous city. Business is settling down into well established lines and it appears as though the days of tremendous margins and consequent profligate scattering of money in expenses are practically over. In view of these circumstances it is well for the business man who realizes and appreciates the advantages to be derived from a judicious use of printers' ink, to consider in that medium he can most successfully reach the people who are buyers.

Unquestionably, the man who is taking gold dust and nuggets out of the ground is the man whose eye it is the shrewd merchant desires to catch. To reach this man is the advertiser's aim.

The Nugget makes the statement without fear of successful contradiction that it delivers more papers to actually paid subscribers upon Eldorado, Bonanza, Hunker and Dominion creeks and their tributaries, than all the other newspapers in Dawson combined, for the simple reason that no other paper in Dawson attempts to rival the Nugget's creek service.

The Nugget's semi-weekly issue is delivered by carriers upon all the above named creeks and in consequence the advertising columns of this paper have a value possessed by no other newspaper in the city.

The Nugget has carefully sounded popular feeling on the question of publishing a daily. The unanimous sentiment is that a daily paper is not what the field requires. In the first place it is a physical impossibility to place a daily paper upon the creeks except in the most slipshod fashion. This fact alone destroys the value of a daily to the advertiser. In the second place to ask the payment of 25 cents per day for the limited news of the preceding 24 hours is asking too much. The Nugget prefers to give its readers a large, bright and newsy semi-weekly, giving them all the news contained in the six issues of a daily. That the public agree with the Nugget's ideas, our recently largely increased subscription lists and street sales will amply demonstrate.

MORE TAXATION COMING.

As indicated in our local columns, the revenue itch has again attacked the governmental anatomy, and holders of real property may expect an invitation to "dig up" at no distant date. It appears, however, that as a sort of compensatory inducement there will be granted to the territory a minority representation in the Yukon council. Insofar as this latter feature of the case is concerned, representation should by every right have come long ago. There never was a more flagrant case of taxation without representation than has existed in the Yukon during the past two years.

The royalty, customs and timber revenues and other exactions have gone out to Ottawa in a continuous stream and no opportunity has been presented for any representation of the territory either at Ottawa direct or in the local legislative body. If, in addition to representation in the council, it is the intention of the government to allow the expenditure for local purposes of funds raised by local taxation, there can be no special objection raised to an equitable tax on property.

We maintain, however, that with the assessment of the proposed tax there should come a substantial reduction in the royalty, which is a direct and altogether unjustified tax upon producers.

BUSINESS OUTLOOK.

The outlook for general business in Dawson for the coming winter is brighter than was the case last year at the same time. It will be remembered by everyone who spent the winter months in Dawson that from the close of navigation last fall until the commencement of the cleanup last spring, the volume of money in circulation grew steadily less. This was due largely to the fact that a comparatively small number of men were being employed on the creeks at wages and in many cases these were working upon agreement to take payment at the cleanup.

An inspection of the creeks made recently by representatives of this paper indicates that a greater number of men will be employed this winter at regular wages than last year.

This means, of course, a continued injection of money into circulation during the approaching winter and a consequent stimulus to business generally. The present low prices on commodities are a genuine boon to consumers, but it is hardly likely that they will outlast the period of open navigation.

The Dreyfus cast bids fair to go down in the history of France as one of the most celebrated affairs that have ever occurred even in that country of spectacular display. Hugo nor Dumas ever had better material for their most dramatic works than is furnished in the Dreyfus case. The recollection of this travesty upon human rights will doubtless be perpetuated both in literature and in the drama.

The Nugget's suggestion with reference to street crossings was acted upon by the Yukon council with commendable promptness. It is just as easy, however, and no more expensive to contract for ten crossings at one time as to contract for the same number one at a time. This is a point which appears to have been overlooked.

The Nugget's pictorial forecast of the Hon. Mr. Maxwell's trip over the creek struck a responsive chord in the breast of every man whose business has taken him to the diggings of late.

There are no more beautiful autumnal tints to be found anywhere than right in and around Dawson. It is worth spending a hard winter in the Klondike simply to enjoy the glories of our Indian summer weather.

Seattle and other Sound cities seem to be pretty plentifully supplied with festive and winsome, but at the same time, mercenary damsels, ever on the alert to capture the unsuspecting Klondiker within the meshes of their alluring charms. With all the importations of feminine loveliness that have been made this summer The Nugget is unable to see how the outside girls should have any show at all.

Dawson is to have no postoffice building this year. The fiat has gone forth and that settles it. It begins to look extremely doubtful, also, as to whether we are to have any trails built, except those which have already been constructed on paper. If the Yukon council does not bestir itself Old Winter will come along and do the job himself.

It is a noticeable fact that the majority of Klondikers, after a few weeks spent on the outside begin to have an indefinable longing to see Dawson again. Evidently there is some intangible atmospheric influence that draws men back to their old haunts.

The Nugget rises to thank its friends for the kindly remarks that have been passed upon its increased size and improved typographical appearance. The numerous congratulations that have been showered upon us are highly appreciated.

Some of our sour dough friends are predicting an unusually cold and early winter. The Nugget hails from Missouri, when it comes to a question of weather predictions in the Klondike.

Brother Steele is beginning to ascertain the fact that there is a strong similarity between a white elephant and a Klondike daily newspaper.

Week at the Shows.

A strong bill of drama and specialty is crowding the Opera House this week. "Chick" is nicely presented for a curtain raiser, and is followed by a long olio of exceptional merit by a galaxy of well known artists, headed by Paul Boardman. Among the new faces is that of Frank Gardner, who does a bit of good acting.

John Mulligan, at the Monte Carlo, presents his own adaptation of "Oliver Twist," and anyone who knows John is ready to believe that it is a side-splitter. In the olio is seen the reappearance of Florence Brocree, who is received with great acclaim, and Nellie Forsythe, heretofore a stranger to Dawson boards. Marsh and Swanson are engaging in nightly wrestling bouts and offering to meet all comers.

Goes Out for a Big Stock.

H. Bauman, the well known and hustling merchant, left on the steamer Canadian for a flying trip to Seattle. Mr. Bauman represents the big house of S. W. Bauman. It is his intention to purchase a stock of ladies' and gents' furnishings and ladies' gauzeries, the value of which will not be less than $40,000. He expects to return inside of 30 days, bringing the stock with him, and will then be prepared to furnish any demand for the lines of merchandise he will handle. Mr. Bauman has made a number of good deals in Dawson, and the news that he intends placing so large a stock on the market will prove of interest to all who appreciate the value of up-to-date, fashionable goods.

The Big Sale.

The enterprise which Manager Jake Kline is displaying in throwing his immense stock of men's clothing and furnishing goods into the market, at extraordinarily low prices, is already attaining big results. Everything in the way of stylish goods, men's suits, overcoats, shirts, underwear, etc., etc., are being sold at the very lowest figures. The big sale is now on, and, as is shown by the price list published elsewhere in the Nugget, price is no object.

MORE OF UNCLE HOFFMAN.

New and Interesting Developments—Corrivieu Held for Trial.

The examination of Ike Corrivieu, charged with having stolen goods in his possession with guilty knowledge, the same being some pieces of jewelry stolen from "Uncle" Louis Hoffman on the night of May 26, took place before Col. Steele on Monday. Mr. Hoffman was the first witness and he told in detail how his place was entered and a satchel containing his most valuable articles to the amount of $7000, carried off. Among them was a Marquis ring containing 35 stones and valued at $350; there was no other like it in the Klondike. He told the police and Mr. Sale, of Pond & Co., of his loss and one day Mr. Sale told witness he could possibly locate the property if he would get out a search warrant for Jack Glover, as that man had offered to sell him some gems and said he was going to leave town.

Glover also had Mr. Sale make two rings out of a large Marquis ring containing 35 stones and resembling Mr. Hoffman's ring. Later on Corrivieu showed up with the rings and sold them for $125 to Mr. Sale who, at that time, did not know they were Mr. Hoffman's. The climax came one day last week when Corrivieu offered to sell a diamond stud to Mr. Sale for $6. The latter gentleman told witness of it and he provided the money for the purchase. The arrest followed. Mr. Hoffman fully identified the stones in the ring, two of which had flaws, and his identification was corroborated by Doc. Stearns, who saw the ring before the robbery and pointed out the flaws to Mr. Hoffman. The stud was also identified.

Mr. Sale told what he knew of the affair, which was along the lines described by Mr. Hoffman, and Corporal Wilson, of the N. W. M. P., related his experiences in trying to trace the stolen goods and of making the arrest.

Counsel for the defense endeavored to show that the evidence failed to show that the prisoner had any knowledge that the goods were stolen and held that he should be discharged; but the court decided to remand the case for trial by the territorial court. Bonds in the sum of $2000 were accepted, with Murray Eads and Tom Chisholm as sureties, and Corrivieu was liberated.

None of the bids for the whole trail could be accepted, as it has not yet been determined whether more than 10 miles of the trail will be constructed this year.

Two contracts have thus far been awarded, one each of five miles to Fraser, Fawcett & Cameron and to Patterson & Cleveland.

The Big Store.

The immense department store of the Alaska Exploration Co., on First avenue, is nearing completion and within the next few days as fine an array of goods will be placed therein as ever delighted the people of the coast.

The establishment will be complete in every department and under the able management of Mr. E. W. Brown, who is in charge of the merchandising department, will be conducted on broad lines and in a manner that will insure it great popularity with the public.

Buying Hunker Property.

Louis Coste, representing the Dome-Yukon Gold Mining Company, this week purchased No. 2 below, Hunker, from John Cameron and Thomas Warburton, for $65,000. This is the third purchase of the kind made during the past fortnight by Mr. Coste, he having also secured Nos. 5 and 6 above, for which he paid $50,000.

No Irish Need Apply.

It is learned that six Canadian stenographers are being brought to Dawson by Commissioner Ogilvie, and that upon their arrival they will fill the position now occupied by the same number of young men. Two of them will hold positions in the courthouse now filled very acceptably by Messrs. Clegg and Kulp, both of whom some time ago announced their intention of going outside; one will take the position in the commissioner's office occupied by Mr. Shepard, one will be stenographer to Gold Commissioner Senkler and the other two will be apportioned to other departments.

To Number the Houses.

The council has passed an ordinance authorizing the placing of street signs on the corners and the numbering of all the business houses and cabins in the city. It is to be hoped that the work will be commenced at once, for it is almost impossible to find anyone in town at present.

Notice.

Parties who shipped gold dust to the coast by the Nugget Express during the summer will please call at the office, in the Aurora building, and get receipts issued by the connecting express companies at Seattle.

THIS LUXURY COMES HIGH.

It Will Cost Money to Have Votes in the Council.

Representation and Taxation Will Come From Ottawa Hand in Hand—Real Estate the Object Aimed at.

The prospects are good that before long the figure of the festive assessor will be seen at the doors of Dawson freeholders and they will soon after be requested to step into the comptroller's office and pay their realty taxes in the good old way of the states and Canada. This is to be the price of representation in the Yukon council, and the two will come. It may be presumed, hand in hand.

At present no real estate taxation maintains in the Klondike, owing, first to the fact that it is not allowed by the so-called Yukon bill, and second, because no one outside the government reservations has a patent for his land. In lieu, the Yukon bill allows the council to assess a license of $100 against merchants, but this has never been put into effect for some reason or other, probably because it is not an equitable system.

The Yukon bill, however, has been greatly altered of late and when it is again presented to the public it will be observed that the council is vested with full authority to create a real estate tax. Coincidentally, the Ottawa legislators are preparing for the passage of a bill allowing the Canadian residents of the Klondike two representatives in the council, and it is expected that both measures will go into effect about the same time by proclamation.

A Nugget man has talked with government officials on the subject and they agree with the foregoing statements; they do not, however, appear to have a deeper knowledge of the intentions of the Ottawa law-makers on the subject, and it is not impossible that there may be some more surprises in store for Yukoners. It is hoped, at least that the said legislators will allow the council to keep the taxes at home and use the money for some of the many public conveniences so badly needed.

THE LITTLE WARS.

Americans Best the Filipinos Again—Indians Get Licked.

Manila, Aug. 17.—The Twelfth infantry advanced up the railroad from Calulut at sunrise and assaulted the entrenched Filipinos, numbering 2500. Despite a heavy fire the Americans advanced rapidly, making many rushes, and finally compelled the enemy to abandon their position and retreat. A reporter of the Manila Times, who was with the Americans, was shot in the head and killed. Colonel Smith, with ten companies of the Twelfth infantry and two guns of the First artillery, attacked today the enemy on the outskirts of Angeles, estimated at 2500, driving away and inflicting upon them reported loss of 2000 killed and wounded. Our loss, two killed and 12 wounded.

On the 11th instant Gen. Young's troops drove the insurgents northeast of Manila through Maraguina and San Mateo into the mountains, returning the following day. A column of insurgents 500 strong, descending the road east of Baliuag for the purpose of taking the railway, were driven by our Baliuag and Quinga troops and routed yesterday; this force is in full retreat northward, carrying a number of their dead officers. Angeles was permanently occupied at once.

Washington, Aug. 18.—Ten new regiments are to be hurried to Otis at once. They are expected to inaugurate a campaign of such vigor as to soon make the Filipinos sue for peace.

London, Aug. 16.—The Transvaal situation is unchanged according to all information, but continued delay of the Boer answer to Great Britain's demands for a joint inquiry as to the effect upon the Uitlanders of the proposed franchise for reform measures makes matters look more serious. The war office has completed its preparations for an emergency force of 40,000 men, to be ready to leave within a week. Fast steamers for their transportation are awaiting orders. It is said the Grenadier guards, now at Gibraltar, and the Twenty-first Lancers, now in Egypt, may be sent to South Africa, in addition to other regiments which have already been ordered there.

New York, Aug. 16.—A dispatch to the Herald from Cape Haytien says: The defeat of the Jimenez forces in Santo Domingo by the government troops under Gen. Escoboza is not likely to end the insurrection. It is reported that the loss on both sides was large, and according to the government authorities the flight of the rebels developed into a massacre. Two thousand government troops are expected at Monte Chirsti. Money, arms and ammunition are being forwarded by the insurgents.

Chicago, Aug. 17.—A City of Mexico special says: The federal troops under Gen. Torres surprised the Yaquis rebels at 8:30 o'clock in the morning and routed them. The Indians made but a weak resistance and soon dispersed in the forest along the river, being hotly pursued. They left seven killed and a large number wounded. The loss to the federal troops was one killed and one death from sunstroke. The rebellion is now practically at an end.

Washington, Aug. 17.—United States Minister Russell, at Caracas, reports to the state department that the insurgent faction in the state of Los Angeles, Venezuela, under Gen. Castro, was completely defeated by the government troops in a bloody battle which lasted eighteen hours. The loss of the insurgents is placed at 800 killed and wounded, and that of the government forces at 300. This is the end of the disturbance in that section, which is the only one affected.

MORE FIRE PROTECTION.

New Steamer Arrives—The Department to Be Enlarged.

The new fire steamer ordered by the fire commissioners by authority of the Yukon council arrived from San Francisco on the steamer Sarah Saturday. It is a Clapp & Jones machine, manufactured by the American Engine Co., a trust; is much larger and more powerful than the old one, and is recognized as one of the standard American machines; indeed, it is a much better type of steamer than is used in any except the largest and richest cities. An order for a two-tank, four-wheeled chemical engine accompanied the other, and it is learned that this machine is coming to town by the up-river route.

The plan of the fire commissioners is to build a permanent fire station on the site of the present one, which seems to be ideally situated for the purpose, and then put up another one at a point on the water front near the postoffice. In each of these will be a steamer and one or two chemicals. An order for 3000 feet of new hose was also sent out, of which 1700 feet has arrived, and with this leading from the two steamers, it is reasonable to expect the business part of town to be well protected from fire.

Of course the department must be enlarged by the employment of more men, and this will be done at once.

Crooked Bankers Arrested.

Montreal, Aug. 17.—William Wier and A. Smith, respectively president and director of the defunct Villa Marie bank, have been arrested on the charge of issuing false statements to the government. Wier was released on bail, but Smith has not been able to secure a bondsman. The accountant, Lemieux, who was arrested when the bank closed, but subsequently released, is also wanted. J. J. Herbert, the paying teller, charged with stealing over $50,000, is still at large.

Sorrowful Soliloquy of One Who Has Been There.

Tells a Tale of Woe Which Will Sound Awfully Familiar to Many a Hard Working Klondiker.

The following humorous epistle was taken from a late issue of the Daily Alaskan, published at Skaguay. The sorrowful story it tells will strike a responsive chord in the hearts of thousands of prospectors who have been through the experience of working a worthless lay:

Skaguay, Aug. 14.—Ed. Alaskan: Yesterday morning I took a walk. Unlike the Delaware girl, I did not walk to have a talk. On the contrary, I walked alone, but had the talk before I returned.

It was this way: Being out of a job I desired to commune with God and nature, so I took a walk—just naturally picked it up and took it, the first thing I ever really stole in all the days of the years of my pilgrimage through this vale of tears and liquor at two bits per per.

It was a royal morning—a royal Bengal morning, so to speak. The rain of the previous night had laid the dust, as well as having soothed nature's perturbed feelings. All nature rejoiced. The voice of the tweedledee was heard to reverberate from hill to hill, while the voice of the tweedledum re-echoed thro' the vale. Tumble bugs stood on their heads and dangled their heels in the air in glee. Everybody and everything looked pleasant. The milk of human kindness was stirred until it churned butter. I rejoiced with nature. Visions of my early youth wiggled transversely o'er my mind from northeast to southwest, and in order to feel once more like a boy I removed my shoes and hosiery and dabbled my feet in a limpid brook.

P. S.—It was a good thing for my feet. While thus reveling in delights which vividly brought back to my mind the three-button-cutaway days of my youth when I would go home with my shirt upside down, I chanced to glance eastward along the railroad track. That glance brought me back to the direful present and caused me to realize that I was the father of hungry children, the husband of a wife whom I promised to love and protect, but who, I sometimes think married beneath her station in life.

Approaching me was a man with a pack on his back. I cast at him a furtive glance. (I pride myself on my furtive glances). As he approached I saw that old age had cooled his Douglass blood and that a look of deep melancholy had settled on his wrinkled brow.

"Good morning, old man," sez I
"Good morning," sez he.
"You look," sez I, "as if the bright sun of prosperity has not beamed very brilliantly upon you lately. Here, sit down and take a pull at this! Ah, I thought it would make you feel better. Now, tell me, sir, why it is that I find you walking along the railroad track carrying your roll of blankets when you could ride in pomp and Oriental splendor at two bits per mile?"

"I will tell you, sir," said the old man, as he cast a longing glance toward that portion of my pants in which I had deposited the remainder of my "constitutional." "It is this way: Sixteen months ago I went to Dawson. I carried with me the air and vigor of well preserved manhood. Little birds then warbled their sweet lays in this now-seared heart of mine. Now that same portion of my anatomy feels as though it had been treated to a course of green persimmons. As I said before, sixteen months ago I went to Dawson. Since that time I have done considerable prospecting, but for the last four months there I worked on a lay. It was on a good creek, Bonanza, and I labored most assiduously. I excavated several tons of dump. I thought I was a millionaire and figured on the purchase of a few transcontinental railways. I also thought of purchasing a few counties in Kansas and conducting Pingree potato gardens for the benefit of children whose parents were populist farmers. Our clean-up came. My share was $5. * * * Excuse these tears, stranger. I can't repress their flow. They are only the 'tailings' of upwards of a hatful I shed when I found I had but $5. Now I am going back to my old home in Ontario, a broken, discouraged man. When visions of gold galore were floating o'er my mind I thought I would go back home and break my children of the habit of eating pie with a knife, and now, and a fiery look of disgust transformed his physiognomy, "the poor little devils won't have any pie to eat." JACK FROST'S FIRST TOUCH.

Sets the Hammers to Going With Increased Speed.

Building Operations Hurried by the Approach of Winter—Nugget Reporter Again Makes the Rounds.

Dawson's building boom continues without abatement; indeed, things are busier in that line than they were ten days ago, when The Nugget presented a thorough resume. This is due, in a large measure, to the chilly atmosphere which was inaugurated with the arrival of last week and which seemed to forecast an early arrival of winter. As a consequence, people who had previously decided to build got a hustle on themselves for fear of getting caught by Jack Frost, while others whose buildings were in an incomplete state lost no time in resuming operations. Thus, things have been fairly booming, and the carpenter has been, and is, the most sought after and important individual in the town. It was expected that the new government buildings would be under way by this week and the information, published exclusively in The Nugget last week, that operations had been put off until next summer was a keen disappointment to our citizens, by whom the accommodations and comforts proposed are much needed.

Probably the most important building operations now under way are at the quarters of the police, where the first of a series of expensive structures incorporated on an extensive plan of rehabilitation was commenced a few days ago under the supervision of Sergeant Davis. This building is located at the north side of the court and immediately at the rear of the Canadian Bank of Commerce. It is to be 80x30 feet in dimensions, and two stories in height, built of logs squared by one of the sawmills. Already the second story is under way, but much delay is occasioned by the inability of the mill to turn out the material fast enough for the men. This building will contain the barracks, mess room and kitchen and reading room, and will cost about $5000. As soon as logs can be secured another building will be put up just east of this, the present officers' quarters will be torn down and new ones erected about 50 feet east. The old buildings forming the present confines of the square will then be removed and the court will be merged into that of the soldiery on the south, making a parade ground second to none in the Canadian police and military service.

While this is under way, too, an asylum building will be put up on a site just south of the hospital, which stands at the back of the police reserve and on the so-called slough, and by its side, too, will be erected the canteen building, which will be in the nature of a club house for the police and soldiers. It is also proposed to put up a log stable on the bank of the slough, with stalls for 12 animals.

Another important improvement at the barracks is a new eight foot sidewalk to extend from the slough bridge to a point beyond the court house, extending thence eastward to Fifth avenue, where it will connect with another walk leading down to the Klondike bridge.

A conspicuous building on the police reserve is a reservoir connected with Col. Word's water system. It is 14x28 feet in dimensions and contains a large tank standing 12 feet above the floor, from which the water in the Second avenue main receives its impetus.

The last piece of vacant ground on First avenue left by the late fire disappeared on Saturday, when a restaurant building was put up on Jim Harrison's allotment of the Tivoli theatre site.

The Adcock building on First avenue, which had retained its temporary nature since the second day of the fire, had its winter clothes put on, so to speak, this week, making it sightlier to the eye and a heap more comfortable.

The Bank of British North America building has been finished on the exterior this week, the walls being filled with sand and the outer boards covered with galvanized iron.

Across the way Alex. McDonald is showing a very correct initiation of the act of putting up a three-story hotel and business building in two weeks. Its mushroom like growth has been the wonder of passers-by for several days.

Mrs. Louise McVay has erected a good looking building on Third avenue, near Second street, which has been named the Gold City hotel.

John Borland has finished a frame grocery building on Third street, nearly opposite The Nugget office.

Lars & Duclou this week had their photographic studio enclosed with boarding and tar paper, preparatory to the advent of winter.

Hoey Jones is just finishing a building on the west side of Third avenue, near Dr. Bourke's hospital, which he purposes using temporarily for the storage of mining machinery.

Sid Stewart, cashier at the N. A. T. & T. office, has transformed his log cabin on lower Sixth avenue into one of the neatest looking and coziest cottages in town. It stands on a commanding site and constitutes a home of which he may be proud.

J. Winters last week erected a small frame cottage on Sixth avenue, between Fourth and Fifth streets.

Mrs. Cummings has just completed a neat log cabin on the north side of Second street, a short distance beyond the A. C. warehouses, and a Mr. Morrison has lately built two others just across the way.

Mr. Bernier, who conducts a mercantile establishment at the corner of Fourth avenue and Third street, is engaged this week in finishing the exterior of the building with a covering of lumber, making it look very neat, and the Washington bakery, adjoining was fitted with a large brick oven, the first one ever constructed in the Klondike.

Thos. Mahoney has completely remodeled the well-known O'Brien store at Klondike, fitted it with new counters and shelving and put two 8x8 feet plate-glass windows in the front. The work was under the supervision of Foreman Fredericks, of the N. A. T. & T. Co. and was done in his well-known excellent way.

Dawson Prices.

Prices have shown considerable fluctuation in the town markets this week, particularly in relation to meats and vegetables. Mutton, for instance, which was down to 25 cents per pound, now rules strong at 75 cents to $1 per pound. Tomatoes had been a luxury at $2 per pound, but are now down to 75 cents and $1. Watermelons, too, have ceased to be the exclusive fruit of the Eldorado millionaire, and are purchased now by the bootblacks at $1.50. Eggs have become very common in the market—that is, imported eggs—and the price has dropped to 75 cents a dozen; Yukon eggs, however—eggs laid in Dawson by resident hens—command $1 per egg, and are all taken up by the hospitals. The following prices on staples were ruling on Friday:

Flour—$5 to $6 per sack.
 Beans—10c. to 12c. per lb.
 Sugar—18c. per lb.
 Bacon—25c. to 30c. per lb.
 Butter—50c. to $1 per lb.
 Rice—20c. to 25c. per lb.
 Rolled oats—20c. to 23c. per lb.
 Cornmeal—20c. per lb.
 Potatoes—Cheechakos, 25c. per lb.; sourdoughs, 35c. to 75c. per lb.
 Milk—40c. to 50c. per can.
 Cream—35c. to 40c. per can.
 Canned goods—Vegetables, 40c. to 50c. per lb.; meats, 60c. to 75c. per can.
 Ham—35c. to 40c. per lb.
 Dried fruits—25c. to 30c. per lb.
 Onions—Cheechakos, 20c. per lb.
 Cabbage—Three lbs. for $1.

WILL FOLLOW HIS VICTIM.

Arthur Goddard Thought to Be Slowly Nearing Death.

No Doubt That He Is Insane Now—Goddard's Father Hurrying to the Rescue of His Son.

If anyone doubts that Arthur Goddard was insane at the time when he murdered poor Jimmy Prater, he may disabuse himself of the idea by inquiring into the present condition of the young man. Slowly but surely the malady which possessed him then has progressed until there remains no room for doubt that his mind is hopelessly wrecked. Most of the time he spends in brooding silence, saying nothing, but occasionally he becomes violent and requires constant watching. On Saturday, for instance, when his keeper entered the cell to get his supper dishes, Goddard suddenly and with great viciousness, jumped upon him and tried to bear him to the earth, exhibiting an unnatural strength due to his temporary passion. His keeper, however, easily overcame him and held him gently on the floor while the paroxysm lasted. The worst feature of the affair is that Goddard is wasting away rapidly, both physically and mentally, and he is not expected to long survive. Indeed, it is safe to assume that he will never be tried for his crime, for if he is not dead before the day of trial arrives, he will likely have his sanity inquired into by order of Judge Dugas, which will legally establish his insanity.

From outside reports it is learned that Goddard's father is on the way in to save his son from trial. The gentleman is a prominent business man of Chippewa Falls, Wis., a Thirty-Second degree Mason and a prominent man in his community. He has strong letters from Gov. Schofield, of Wisconsin; Congressman Jenkins, of his district; residents of Chippewa Falls, and from Canadian Emigration Agent Currie, of Milwaukee. His contention is, as heretofore described by The Nugget, that his son was and is insane from the results of an injury to his head received when he was 6 years old, together with the effects of the hardships incident to a prospector's life in Alaska.

To a Seattle reporter Mr. Goddard said: "I want it understood that I have the utmost confidence in the government of Canada and the Northwest Territory, and believe that they will treat my son right in this matter." Mr. Goddard said last night. "This is the least of my troubles. I believe I can furnish incontrovertible proof to the court at Dawson that Arthur's reason was dethroned when he committed the crime. His conduct since that terrible day, according to advices I have received, is that of an insane man, I know of no civilized government on the globe where a crazy man is hanged for murder.

"When he was 6 years old Arthur suffered an accident while coasting down a steep hill, in which his head was crushed. He was not expected to live. For a week he was unconscious, and then slowly recovered his faculties. No operation was performed, the physicians, one of whom is still living, believing that it would be useless. He has never been right since. One side is partly paralyzed, and whenever he has overworked himself or has become overheated, he has suffered from the injury to his head. There is still a slight depression there.

The physician who examined him then said that he would never be entirely sound, and that he would probably become crazy at some time. The boy was most carefully reared, well educated and tenderly cared for. He has always been slight in build and not strong, due to his injury. Before he went away he was examined by Dr. Day, who treated the boy when he was hurt. It is his opinion that the boy is not right in his head.

"I have evidence to prove this beyond a doubt. I have not the slightest fear but that the boy will be acquitted at the trial, which will be held September 10. I only fear that he will be wasted away beyond his power to recuperate, as letters from his attorneys indicate that he is in a bad way."

STILL SETS THE PACE.

Henry Cox Opens Private Dining Rooms at the Fairview.

Proprietor Henry Cox of the popular Fairview hotel is never happy unless he is improving the already first-class service of his excellent establishment. His latest accomplishment is the dedication to the public of three private dining rooms, which will enable him to cater with especial satisfaction to his guests for private dinner parties and banquets. He insists on giving as good service as can be had anywhere in the world and better than anywhere else in Dawson.

OUTSIDE NEWS IN BRIEF.

The bubonic plague has broken out in Spain and Portugal.

Russell A. Alger declares that he has retired from politics.

The United States reports the strongest meat market in its history.

Jim Franey was so badly injured in a prize-fight with Frank McConnell at San Francisco, Aug. 16 that he died next day.

The Seattle P-I gave a business men's excursion to Skagway and Bennett, leaving Seattle Aug 17. There were 165 aboard.

Two hundred people drank picnic lemonade at Rockford, Ill., and were made sick, many suffering greatly. Citric acid did it.

While a carriage containing six people was being driven on a ferry boat at Washington, Ind., it fell into the White river and the occupants were all drowned.

Mayor Nikens, of Tacoma, has been indicted on a charge of attempting to receive a bribe of $12,500 from the old light and water company there. He says it's a political dodge.

Walter Wellman and the survivors of the polar expedition led by him, arrived in Norway on the steamer Capella, having successfully completed their explorations in Franz Josef land. Mr. Wellman has discovered important new lands and many islands, but failed to find any trace of Andre.

Anti-Goebel Democrats in Ohio have nominated a full ticket, with John Young Brown for governor. The resolutions adopted declare the Louisville nominees not the nominees of the Democratic party, endorse the principles and platform of the Chicago convention of 1896 and Bryan for president in 1900, and condemn McKinley for alleged advancement of the interest of the trusts.

THE RECALL IS SOUNDED.

About Half of the Yukon Field Force to Go Outside.

Capt. Bennett Arrives From Selkirk With a Copy of the Order—Several Officers Listed to Go Out.

The long looked for order recalling a portion of the Yukon field force to Canada has arrived. The bearer of the important information was Capt. Bennett, who arrived on Monday evening from Fort Selkirk as a courier for Col. Evans to Capt. Burstall.

A few hours after his arrival, a Nugget reporter called upon the last named officer and requested some information on the subject. The gallant gentleman replied that, while the matter is in no wise a secret, he was not permitted by the military regulations to make it public and would be obliged to reluctantly refuse the request.

From other sources, however, it is learned that 100 men, or half the force in the territory, has been ordered out of the country. The command at Dawson numbers but 74 men and it is not believed that more than 25 of them will be taken, the other 75 being selected from the detachment at Fort Selkirk.

It is further stated that the commissioned officers who will go outside under the order are Major Young, of Fort Selkirk, and Captains Burstall and Ogilvie, of Dawson. The latter gentlemen are very popular here, and their departure will be genuinely regretted.

Capt. Bennett is assigned to the command of the Dawson force.

It is expected that Col. Evans will be down in person this week, when the plans for the departure of the soldier boys will become known.

Restaurant Employes Stampede

One of the stampedes that papers of the P. I. order like to write about occurred in Dawson Monday, when six employes of the Northern restaurant stampeded to Nome on the strength of a letter received by one of them from Ed. Dosier, who went to the new country some weeks ago and has a restaurant there. The contents of the letter were of such a character as to cause six of the employes of the restaurant to throw up their jobs in a bunch and prepare to leave for Nome at once. The men included Billy Crocker, John Cooper and Mr. Casey, one of whom was the head baker at the restaurant. "Drop everything and come," is the way the letter read, and they went.

Stampede To Stewart.

Passengers on the steamer Eldorado, including Attorney McGowan, report that a big stampede to the Stewart from Fort Selkirk and vicinity is on. The discovery was learned through an Indian who arrived at Fort Selkirk with a large amount of coarse gold. He located the find as about 40 miles from there.

As a result of his statement, Mr. Pitt, manager of the Harper store at Fort Selkirk, purchased licenses for a dozen Indian bucks and started for the diggings. This so impressed the people at Selkirk, who know Pitt to be a cautious man, of almost unerring judgment, that scores of people joined the stampede. Colonel Williams, a Dawson man, also got off a boat at Fort Selkirk on hearing the news and followed the crowd.

It has been known for two years at Fort Selkirk that there is a rich deposit of ore somewhere on one of the northerly tributaries of the Stewart, but it was never definitely located until last week.

It was also learned on the Eldorado that confidence in the south fork of the Big Salmon is reviving. The engineer of the boat, Dick Mayo, was in receipt of a letter a few days ago from a partner up there, on the strength of which he has resigned his position with the intention of joining his friend. He refused to tell a reporter anything about the location of the find.
