ALL MATTERS ARE ADJUSTED

Northern Pacific Officials and Employees Have Reached Amicable Agreement. General Advance to the Men is Agreed Upon.

Special to the Daily Nugget.
Seattle, April 16.—All matters in dispute between officials of the Northern Pacific Railway and conductors and trainmen have been settled satisfactorily to both officials and men. The men get an advance of 15 per cent on freight conductors and trainmen, and 12 per cent for passenger men. The advance is granted the new... scale, which is one-half a cent per hour higher than the rate the Northern Pacific men secured last year. The company agreed to discontinue doubleheader trains except on two divisions. The increase of pay affects about 1400 men.

Is Doubtful.

Washington, April 16.—A private cable from a British source sent from Bogota, Colombia, says that ratification of the United States Panama canal treaty is extremely doubtful.

Carrying Supplies and Chinese Laborers to Work in the Canneries.

Special to the Daily Nugget.
Seattle, April 16.—During the present week the Pacific Packing & Navigation Company will dispatch four of its largest sailing vessels to the company's canneries in southeastern Alaska and Bering sea. They are the S. S. Goss and Ferris S. Thompson, and the ships America and St. Paul. All four will be fully laden with cannery supplies and men, each taking also 100 to 200 Chinese and cannery employees, principally Chinese.

IMPORTANT JUDGMENT GIVEN

Justice Craig Decides in Favor of Stampedees Who Located on the Matson-Doyle Concession—Application For Mandamus Successful—Grants Must be Issued.

Judge Craig rendered judgment this morning in the case of Fred Envidsen against F. X. Gosselin and Alvin R. Boyes, awarding the applicant a writ of mandamus requiring the respondents to issue grants to him for two claims which he staked on American gulch and Bonanza respectively.

The case was a test case and is considered to have important results. The circumstances are these: On the 23rd of January last Mr. Gosselin as assistant gold-commissioner, posted in his office a proclamation reciting an agreement entered into between Matson & Doyle and the government giving them the right to apply for and obtain any placer claims which might revert to the crown within the limits of their concessions, under certain conditions, the failure of the concessionaires to comply with these conditions, and the fact that the department of the interior had sent word to Dawson that the mining recorder here might grant entry for any of the claims so reverted. The proclamation went on to say that the ground would be open to location on the 25th of February, and that in the meantime a list would be prepared and published.

A number of miners who read the proclamation came to the conclusion that if the assistant gold-commissioner had the right to grant entry, as set out in his own announcement, he had no authority to refuse to do so. Consequently they argued, the ground was at once open to location. They accordingly staked on the 26th of January and on several days following but all before the expiry of the month limited, and applied for grants which were refused.

Envidsen was one of the stakers and on the refusal of a grant he applied for a writ of mandamus to compel the mining recorder to issue it. The case was argued on the 2nd of February and a decision is now rendered favorable to the stakers.

Mr. R. W. Shannon acted for the applicant and Mr. J. B. Pattullo for the officials.

Ottawa, April 15.—James H. Ross, member for Yukon, moved in the house today for the following:
Copies of all correspondence and orders-in-council relating to or concerning letters issued to Robert Anderson, J. J. Doyle et al, Messrs. Brown & Fry, C. A. Matson et al, and Joseph Boyle, respectively, and to all other leases in force issued to other parties for hydraulic mining locations in the Yukon territory. The motion was passed without opposition.

RELEASED

Alice Durand a French Maiden Held as a Witness

Miss Alice Durand, a young girl who says she is 18 years of age but whose real age is about 15 years, was released from custody this morning upon application made by Attorney Hagel who stated that she would appear when wanted.

Miss Durand is a French girl who arrived in Dawson about three weeks ago and she is wanted by the police to appear as a witness. She has been held in custody but as she was not ready for trial application for her release was made and granted. Mr. Hagel stated that there was not sufficient cause for her to be held longer as it was known where she was working and her services as a witness could be secured at any time.

Serge Smith stated that in view of information obtained since her arrest he was quite willing to allow her to be released provided she would appear when wanted. This she agreed to do.

The magistrate through an interpreter asked her age and she replied that she is 18 and a half years old, but it was stated that she is not more than 15.

MARKET SITUATION

Feature This Week Was Advance in Hay

Last Shipments Over the Ice Now Arriving—One is Due Tomorrow.

The most sensational feature of an otherwise rather quiet week in the markets was the sudden soaring of hay a few days ago from six to ten cents. For a number of months hay has been strong and quietly creeping upward a fraction of a cent at a time, but it was little dreamed by the consumers that the quotations would go skyward without any warning as they did. There is quite a little hay scattered about the town held by small speculators that has not been taken into account in figuring up the available supply in sight, but it is in such amount that but little figure can be put in the market with it. It is rather remarkable, too, that the small dealers are almost without exception profiting by their purchase in the fall. Said a lady a few days ago in the presence of the market reporter "every time hay advances a cent I make an additional hundred dollars." Now is the time to make a few dollars if one has an eye for speculation. In another month the river will be open and then all chances for turning an honest penny at the expense of some other person's necessity will be at an end until next winter.

The first scows to arrive last year from lower Lebarge got in on May 19 and it is safe to assume that it will be about the same date this year. Importations over the ice to the Thirtymile will be as heavy if not more so than ever before. One Thirtymile dealer states that his shipments will aggregate fully 100 tons and will consist of oranges, lemons, potatoes, eggs, ham and bacon. There is due to arrive tomorrow what will probably be the last shipment of perishables over the ice. It embraces 300 cases of eggs, 30 cases of oranges and a number of lemons. The latter article has been practically out of the market for some time, even the saloon men being unable to secure what they needed for their trade.

Potatoes are wholesaling at 18 cents and retailing for two cents higher. Much of the stock in the city is as fresh as when brought in last fall, everything depending upon the class of the stock and where grown. There are also onions here that are remarkable for the way in which they have kept, being as nice and free from sprouts as when first harvested. There are plenty of apples and they are also in good condition.

Another five or six weeks and the prices on many of the commodities that now seem high, will have dropped to a much lower figure. Eggs will go for $10 to $12 a case, potatoes seven and eight cents a pound, butter will be cheaper and so will everything else be in the line of eatable no matter whether they be for man or beast. The sugar situation remains the same, the old price to actual consumers and 12 1/2 to the trade and small jobbers. The highest price will doubtless be reached within the next thirty days after which dealers will begin to clean up their stocks in anticipation of the arrival of new goods.

STILL IN SESSION

The Territorial Court Continues Sitting En Banc

The territorial court sitting en banc is still in session and will probably be so the greater part of next week, also. The cases so far disposed of are those of Brown vs. Jena, appealed from the judgment of Mr. Justice Dugas; Clark vs. Williams, heard yesterday, from Mr. Justice Craig; Emis vs. Levy, also heard yesterday, from Mr. Justice Macaulay. The case being argued today is that of Goldstein vs. Sawyer, likewise appealed from a decision of Mr. Justice Macaulay. Following will come on the famous case of McGrade vs. McConnell heard in the lower court before Mr. Justice Craig. There still remain three or four cases, some of them quite large and complicated, including Raymond vs. Faulkner, Carbonneau vs. Letourneau and several others.

BANQUET PROPOSED

Elaborate Welcome to Governor Congdon

The leading and most representative citizens of the city have decided to tender to the new commissioner, the Hon. Fred T. Congdon, a banquet that will in a formal manner be a fitting welcome to the gentleman and also show to him the thorough appreciation of their satisfaction at the selection made by the government in naming the successor to Mr. Ross. A meeting with that object in view was held yesterday afternoon in the board of trade rooms at which the preliminary steps were taken, committees named and other things attended to which shall result in a banquet that for elaborate detail will far excel any previous attempt in the territory.

The date and location are matters that have been left to the committee appointed for that purpose as has also the cost per plate. As covers are expected to be laid for fully 100 it is considered safe to assume that the scene of the splendor will be the A. B. hall which is really the only building capable of accommodating that number with ease. All the committees are busy with the details entrusted to their care and will meet tomorrow afternoon at 1 o'clock at the same place and report progress to a general meeting. The various committees are as follows:
Menu—W. H. Fairbanks, James F. McDonald, J. H. Rogers, D. A. Cameron, H. G. Wilson and Alex. McDonald.
Wine—Dr. T. B. Cooke, H. E. Ridley, Thos. O'Brien, T. M. McGowan, Frank N. Johnson, D. Doug and C. Macaulay.
Printing, hall and music—E. Shoff, L. La Londe, Thos. Adair, W. H. Walsh and J. S. Barron.
Program—Mayor R. P. McLennan, T. D. Patten, C. E. McKee, Norwood, A. Noel, Walter Woodburn, N. S. Fuller and Wm. White, K. V.
Reception—George Coffey, Patnam, Dr. Barron, Joseph McGillivray, Frank Phycator, Charles Worden, Dr. A. F. Edwards, M. Ryan, Geo. Murphy, John R. Grey, Edward Orr and W. M. McKay.
The first named in each instance is the chairman of the committee.

SULTAN'S NEW INSPECTOR

Accords an Interview to Representative of the London Times—Says That Albanian Difficulty is of Little Consequence—No Anxiety Felt.

Special to the Daily Nugget.
Constantinople, April 16.—The Macedonia correspondent of the London Times has had an interview with Hilmi Pasha, the new inspector general of the sultan's reform movement. The latter said that the Albanian question has been settled by the Turkish government and there is no further anxiety in regard to it. The disturbance in Albania was caused by a small and ignorant faction, and the revolt was by no means general. He expected, however, serious difficulties from Bulgarian bands. Pasha was confident about Austro-Russian reforms, and hoped to give proofs of excellent progress in three months. "Local diplomats are of a different opinion," remarks the Times correspondent, "and do not bear out the inspector general's statement. They contend that the sultan's mission is a farce. The only solution is military occupation of Albania."

CONFIDENCE RENEWED. The best of evidence is being brought forward almost daily to indicate that capital and particularly American capital is ready for mining investments in this district.

During the six years that have elapsed since the original discovery on Bonanza creek was announced, methods of mining have undergone a total revolution. The problems involved in successfully developing properties under the peculiar conditions which prevail in this territory were new and complex.

It is about time for the Sun to discover a brand new strike somewhere in the Rocky mountains. The cheapest and most pleasurable amusement to be found in Dawson today is a genuine sun bath.

Chinese Outbreak. Pekin, March 12.—Inquiries received at the legations here from foreign governments indicate that greater importance is attached abroad to the disturbances in China than the most competent observers here think the outlook warrants.

For the future, bona fide Klondike propositions must command respect because they will be backed by dividends earned and paid. Already there are a number of companies which have made splendid returns on the money invested and there will be others steadily added to the list.

RAILWAY CONNECTION. The Sun observes that the way to secure direct railroad communication with the outside world is to address a petition to the Grand Trunk company. As usual the Sun is merely absurd. The Grand Trunk is before parliament with a scheme for a Pacific railway.

But unless the government proposes the matter it is not to be anticipated that the Grand Trunk will regard it seriously. A petition to the railroad promoters would be so much effort wasted.

It would be a very different matter should the suggestion emanate direct from the government from which the charter is sought.

President Roosevelt understands the full value of theatrics. While the eyes of 80,000,000 people are following him in his journeyings toward the west, he coolly makes up his mind to disappear for a matter of a fortnight in the fastness of Yellowstone Park.

The exact status of the Treadgold concession with reference to the act of parliament making provision for the adoption of rejection of orders in council, has not as yet been determined—at least no information in connection with the matter has been received in Dawson.

Stroller's Column.

It has become one of the regularly established duties of the Stroller of abattoirs. All scraps until when this residue is thrown into the multiple arithmetical process will determine the approximate amount of gold in the claim.

The claim represents a government safe deposit in which the claim owner has on deposit a certain amount of gold as security. Whenever he wants money he simply goes to the government and draws as much currency as he requires, the gold in his claim standing as a guarantee of redemption.

The bills issued by the government instead of promising payment direct, would simply authorize the holder to extract so much gold from such and such claim. Everyone would prefer having the bills to the gold and, therefore, no one would ever think of taking the trouble to dig for the security.

Now you can see what the practical working of this scheme would be. I estimate that there is easily one billion dollars worth of gold still left in this immediate district. By adopting my plan that amount of money would be thrown into circulation in Dawson almost immediately and everyone in town would become wealthy in a day.

I shall lay the scheme before the government and if they don't take it up—just watch the opposition. Did you say have a drink? Why certainly.

The pay-out at Willow creek was due July 1st at half-past two. There was the laborers that was on the roll. And the farmers that came to get their toll.

He reduced Bill Jones's claim by halves. On the price of his yellow and brindal calves. Why the pesky thing deserved a flogging.

He roared at the rancher who in those not over-awed began to sneeze. And suggested that the lank one get for the liquor.

He was somewhat embarrassed for he knew he was beat. I owe you one partner, and for that I'll stand treat.

LAURIER'S LIFE AND PLACE IN THE HISTORY OF CANADA

The First Volume of Mr. J. S. Willison's History Issued. The Fight for Freedom Waged Against Ultramontanes in Quebec the Central Theme in the Work—Leading Figures in the Political Arena.

The first volume of "Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal Party," by Mr. J. S. Willison, has been issued from the publishing house of G. N. Morang & Co. The book is a singularly fine example of the publisher's art. Paper, printing and binding are of the best that has been issued in Canada. The first volume brings the story of Sir Wilfrid's life down to the important subject of the relations of the church and state, relations which have exercised so powerful an influence on the history of Canada. The book is not written in the ordinary biographical form. It opens with a brilliant sketch of the early growth of the Liberal party in Canada, with graphic pictures of the great leaders who laid its foundation. The sources are given as the eager enthusiasm and the heroic purpose of William Lyon Mackenzie, the fiery genius and fervent radicalism of Brown, the sane counsels and more responsible statesmanship of George Brown, the intellectual dominance of Edward Blake, the constitutional presence of Oliver Mowat, the sympathetic and sagacious nationalism of Wilfrid Laurier, the zeal for reform and prudence in days of stress and storm of Alexander Macdonald. Sir Wilfrid as a schoolboy is said to have been a leader among his fellow students, and to have excelled in debate and controversy. As an illustration of his inclinations for law and oratory it is said that he was more than once punished for going without permission to hear cases argued in the village court-house or to listen to the orators at some political meeting. In tracing the premier's remarkable career, Mr. Willison quotes from many of his speeches, and it is interesting to observe, even in the earliest of them, the same strength, moderation, justness and nationalism that have won for him the admiration of the empire.

CHURCH AND STATE. In entering upon the consideration of the momentous question of the relations of church and state, speaking of the clerical opposition to Liberalism which had caused Mr. Laurier's defeat in Drummond and Arthabaska, Mr. Willison says: "It may be that the clergy misconceived the aims and misunderstood the spirit of the Liberal party, and did not for sinister purposes maintain a deliberate alliance with the Conservative politicians. The assertion of the supremacy of the state in civil affairs is an essential feature of Liberal policy. But Liberalism is equally bound to practice religious tolerance, to respect all honest phases of religious opinion, and to afford equal protection to all forms of religious faith. The Liberal party of Canada has never sought to proscribe the Roman Catholic religion, to make requisition into its forms and ceremonies, to restrict in any measure the propagation of its tenets or force it into any subordinate relationship to the great Protestant denominations. Aside from its assertion of the supremacy of the state in public affairs, the Liberal party has had no quarrel with the Catholic ecclesiastics, and has never flinched from the duty of defence and protest when their legitimate interests were threatened or their admitted rights imperilled. But from 1870 to 1880 Ultramontanism had a formidable ascendancy in Lower Canada and as a necessary consequence of the very spirit and constitution of the Liberal party it had to wage a mighty battle for existence against its powerful ecclesiastical opponents."

WM. LYON MACKENZIE. Speaking of the rebellion of 1837, Mr. Willison says: "It may be that Mackenzie was impetuous and turbulent, but the rebellion of 1837 was at best a pitiful expression of the discontent which the greed and the oppression of the Family Compact had developed. Too much has been said of the rash counsels and unhappy adventures of Mackenzie, and too little of the crying grievances which an ineffectual and autocratic executive would not redress, and of the privileges they were resolved to maintain. It is in this fashion that the decisive blow has been dealt to tyranny and privilege all down the splendid centuries of British history; and if in the story of Liberalism in all countries there are wild and sanguinary chapters, it is because only in that way could popular government be established and perpetuated. In the green days of his strength, and through the hard season of conflict, Mackenzie bore himself bravely, readily and resolutely. Then came the rash advocacy of constitutional changes, which alienated public sympathy and discredited the cause of the reformers, heart-breaking days of exile, sordid and abortive efforts in voluntary and impracticable causes, and at last return in shattered health to the land he had loved and served so well, but which in the meantime had outgrown the temper of revolt and had not passed into the mood of patriote."

BROWN AND MACDONALD. George Brown he says in part: "George Brown loved to seal sturdy deeds. He loved to fight hand to hand and face to face. He had no room for the defensive, and cared nothing for power except to achieve reform, and nothing for place, except as a point of advantage from which to strike abuses and ameliorate satisfactory conditions. If not the chief architect, he was at least the chief commissioner of confederation. Sir John Macdonald, on the other hand, was rather the political beneficiary of the labors of the men who had made confederation a dominant issue before the reluctant hands to the movement. He was sympathetic at heart, he was in touch with the British North American League, which organized in 1849 to resist the annexationists, he gave nominal assent to the arguments of academic unionists and the Cartier-Macdonald government of 1858 feebly countenanced the project, but, like many another politician, he preferred to govern under established conditions rather than risk the loss of office by the premature adoption of a revolutionary policy, while in view of his Quebec allegiance there was clear political gain in retaining the Brown school of Federalism. Wary as always, adroit, unscrupulous and sagacious, he did not desert the child until it was well grown, and he then bulked larger at the side than the men who had nursed it from infancy. At least four great measures are inseparably associated with the name of George Brown: (1) The abolition of the clergy reserves; (2) Representation by population; (3) The confederation of the Canadian provinces, and (4) the incorporation of the Northwest territories into the new commonwealth."

Some clerical utterances quoted by Mr. Willison to illustrate the extreme opposition of the church to Liberalism are very striking. One priest in supporting the candidature of Mr. Hector L. Langevin, the Conservative candidate in Charlevoix, denounced Catholic Liberals as "ravening wolves who come to raise a disturbance in the flock, who come to tell you that the pope, the bishops and the clergy have nothing to do with politics. Beware of their perverse teaching. They want to seclude the priests in the church and the vestry in order to succeed better in their un-Christian work, which is to scatter and divide the flock of Jesus Christ." He said to his people: "You greatly need to open your eyes, my brethren, on the abyss of evils into which the partisans of Catholic Liberalism would throw you." They should listen to the salutary teachings of their bishops in their pastoral letters upon the tendencies of the self-styled Catholic Liberal party. They should not allow themselves to be fascinated by the deceitful words of "the serpent Catholic Liberal." They knew in what manner the serpent found its way into the terrestrial paradise. In the same manner Catholic Liberalism wished of the address." Hon. Edward Blake described it as the finest parliamentary speech ever pronounced in the parliament of Canada since confederation. During this address Mr. Laurier told the house that he could not look upon Riel as a hero. "At his worst he was a fit subject for an asylum; at his best he was a religious and political monomaniac." He quoted freely from notable historical examples to prove the unwisdom of political executions, urged the speedy release of rebels still confined in the northwest prisons, insisted that the substantial reforms conceded by the government were ample vindication of Riel and his associates, and declared, "Their country has conquered with their martyrdom, and if we look at that one fact alone there was cause sufficient, independent of all others, to extend mercy to the one who is dead and to those who live."—Toronto Globe.

A Terrible Charge. Monticello, N.Y., March 5.—Peter Yerkins, the uncle of Mrs. Kate Taylor, who is now awaiting trial here for the murder of her husband, was arraigned today for a preliminary hearing, charged with complicity in the murder in having instigated the woman to commit the crime. Mrs. Taylor was arrested on information given by Yerkins, who informed the authorities that his niece had confessed to him that on the night of January 26th she had shot her husband, and had then chopped up the body and buried it in the kitchen stove. The woman's fourteen-year-old daughter, Ida Delay, witnessed the murder, and testified against her mother after the arrest. Yesterday the daughter, who since the murder has been living with her uncle, James Taylor of Kiamasha lake, told him that Yerkins had persuaded her mother to kill her husband. On this information Yerkins was arrested. In her testimony at the hearing today the girl said, "Last September mamma and I went to see Peter Yerkins, and mamma and he had a long conversation. I only heard a part of what they said, but I heard him say to her, 'If you will kill Taylor and get him out of the way I will buy the Benson farm and give you the deed and I will come and live with you. Be sure and make a clean job of it.' Yerkins was committed to jail for further examination.

Bible School Lesson for Apr. 19

Title—The law of love. Romans 13:7-14. Golden text—Love worketh no ill to his neighbor, therefore love is the fulfilling of the law. Romans 13:10. Christianity recognizes the duties of citizenship, and in no way interferes with the established social order, except where that order is based upon pure assumption, or in any way infringes upon human rights. "Render therefore to all their dues" exhorts to reverence for properly constituted authority. The Christian should give ready obedience to law and ordinance. He should pay his taxes and customs duties and be faithful to all his duties as a citizen.

"Owe no man anything" if literally carried out would produce a moral revolution. In any case if followed it would inspire industry, frugality and economy, and would put a period to the vices and unlawful desires which now prompt men to contract debts, in most cases without any reasonable expectation of being able to meet them. "But to love one another" Love is a debt which can never be discharged. We should feel that we owe this to all men, and though by acts of kindness we may be constantly discharging it, yet we should feel that it can never be fully met while there is opportunity to do good.—Barnes.

"Love worketh no ill to his neighbor, therefore love is the fulfilling of the law." These words follow a summing up of that part of the Ten Commandments which enforces our duty to our fellows. "Love would see to do good, of course it would prevent all dishonesty and crime towards others. It would prompt to justice truth and benevolence. If this law were engraven on every man's heart, and practiced in his life, what a change would it immediately produce in society. If all men would at once abandon that which is fitted to work ill to others, what an influence would it have on the business and commercial affairs of men. How many plans of fraud and dishonesty would be at once arrested. How many schemes would it crush. It would silence the voice of the slanderer. It would stay the plans of the seducer and the adulterer; it would put an end to cheating, and fraud, and all schemes of dishonest gain. The gambler desires the property of his neighbor and thus works ill to him. And there are many employments all whose tendency is to work ill to a neighbor. This is prominently true of the traffic in strong drink. It cannot do him good, and the almost uniform result is to deprive him of his property, health, reputation, peace, and domestic comfort. He that sells his neighbor liquor is knowing what must be the result of it, is not pursuing a business which works no ill to him and love to that neighbor would prompt him to abandon it."—Barnes. "And that knowing the time." We can here do no better than to quote Dr. Taylor's excellent paraphrase of this and the following verses: "All the duties of a virtuous and holy life we should the more carefully and zealously perform, considering the nature and shortness of the present season of life; which will convince us that it is now high time to rouse and shake off sleep, and apply, with vigilance and vigor, to the duties of our Christian life; for that eternal salvation which is the object of our Christian faith and hope, is every day nearer to us than when we first entered into the profession of Christianity."

For the Navy. London, March 2.—The British naval estimates for 1903 were issued this evening for an expenditure of $179,184,250, an increase of $16,019,000, of which amount $11,180,000 will be devoted to ship building and repair. The maintenance estimates provide for 127,100 officers and men, an increase of 4,600 officers and men. The total expenditure for ship building, repairs and maintenance is $89,103,600. The new construction includes three battleships, four armored cruisers, three protected cruisers, to be used as scouts, 15 torpedo boat destroyers, submarine torpedo boats, two coast guard cruisers, a gunboat and an admiralty yacht.

Boxer Activity. Pekin, March 10.—Yuan Shi Kai, the former governor of Chih-li province, having been informed the Boxer organization was resuming activity in the eastern part of the province, dispatched troops, who discovered that members of the society, well armed, were drilling at night in a town a hundred miles east of Pekin. The Boxers were dispersed after a dozen of them and several soldiers had been killed. Yuan Shi Kai ordered the prisoners to be beheaded and their heads displayed in public, and issued a proclamation imposing the death penalty on members of the organization.

Sensational Charges

Vienna, March 20.—Sensational charges against Prince Philip of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, who is an Austrian Field Marshal, and husband of the Princess Louise of Belgium, eldest daughter of King Leopold, were made today during the debate on the army bill in the Reichsrath by Hier Dasyński, the Polish leader. The latter denounced the Prince as a criminal, and, referring to the imprisonment of the former Lieutenant of Hussars, Mattasich, who eloped with the Princess Louise of Coburg several years ago, and was sentenced to four years' imprisonment in December last for forging the signature of Princess Stephanie, (Countess of Louisa), asserted that while in prison, Mattasich drew up a formal accusation, charging Prince Philip with forcing the Princess Louise, who was confined in an asylum for the insane, near Dresden, some time after her elopement, to encourage the advances of the late Baron Hirsch, and with compelling her to ask the Baron for money.

Murderer in Jail

Lincoln, Neb., March 20.—A special to the Star from Fremont, Neb., says: A man who gives the name of John Bennett and who asserts he is the murderer of Nora Fuller, a girl who was killed at San Francisco over a year ago, surrendered to Sheriff Bauman here and is being held. The man appeared at the jail door last night and begged the sheriff to imprison him, saying the face of the dead girl haunted him. The prisoner is about 40 years of age and well-dressed. He is good looking, wears a stubby black mustache and weighs about 135 pounds. To the sheriff, to whom he confessed the crime, Bennett said that he formerly was a lawyer, but that he had done nothing since the murder. Bennett in his confession said he choked the girl to death at a house at 1121 Walnut street, San Francisco. He would not tell why he committed the crime, but said after he was done he left the city hastily. He was placed in a cell and during the night raved like a wild man. At one time he addressed a fancied jury. This morning the prisoner was much more quiet. He will be held for investigation.

The costless man throws a careless stare. Round the waist of the hatless girl, As over the dustless and mudless road. In a horseless carriage they whirl. Although for lunch his coinless purse For them affords no means. Save a tasteless meal of homestead food By the side of stringless beans, Yet he lights a mirthless cigarette And laughs a mirthless laugh, While her father tries to call her back By wireless telegraph. —Chicago Inter Ocean. A STRONG DEFENSE

Made in Case of Joseph Crahan

Of Exchange Saloon for Selling Liquor During Closed Hours.

A strong fight was put up by Joseph Crahan of the Exchange saloon...

At 12 o'clock the house was closed and everyone left except those occupying that box and at 12:05 they had another round of drinks.

Before getting the drinks upstairs Murray Eads had come up and said he wanted to see who was there as it was after hours and then said it was all right and brought the drinks up to them.

Under cross-examination the witness stated that he has been a detective in the regular employ of the N. W. M. P. for about a year and that aside from his salary he receives no remuneration when he secures a conviction.

Wm. E. Haddock a miner who was in company with Alcock on the evening of April 4th corroborated the evidence of the previous witness and stated further that he had gone upstairs by a stairway leading from the saloon.

James Wishart, night bartender of the saloon, was called for the defense. Witness did not remember the circumstance described by the previous witnesses, but had remembered seeing Sergt. Smith and Corporal Stewart that evening.

Under cross-examination the witness stated that drinks served upstairs were supplied from the bar.

Mr. Crahan was also put on the stand and stated that he had always tried to live up to the letter of the law and closed his doors as soon after 12 as possible.

IN HIS OWN COUNTRY

The "Judge" in Classic Orangeville

That City With Belleville May Yet Become the Mecca of Courtless Tourists.

The following article taken from the Orangeville Sun of March 22 will appeal to the many friends of "Daddy" Walsh here in the city and show that a man is not without honor in his own country even though he is a barrister.

That portion of the article regarding Mr. Walsh's ability as an after dinner speaker will be heartily approved of by those who have had the opportunity of listening to the brilliant epigrams and evanescent mottoes that like sparkling Moët & Chandon flow from his lips at the conclusion of a banquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Rutledge, of Dawson, Yukon territory, were in town on Monday, being guests of our respected fellow citizen, W. L. Walsh.

Mr. Rutledge is one of the early pioneers of the northern gold fields and has unbending faith in the future possibilities of the Klondike.

He told the Sun that in the fall of 1897 it was the small sum of $3,000,000 shipment that caused the world's stampede to that region when fully 100,000 people started from all corners of the earth.

Of that number fully 30,000 got "cold feet" and stampeded for home as quickly as possible with the one desire to give the camp a black eye because they could not pick gold nuggets.

He recalled and those who tendered the fee in lieu of the work and were turned down can also have the same relief.

Had a Living Husband New York, March 21.—Capt. John J. Healy, known as the discoverer of the Klondike, accuses his second wife, who is suing him for divorce, of having had a living husband when she married him in 1887.

The captain, sixty years of age, and white haired, occupies a magnificent suite at the Imperial hotel, and when asked about his wife's suit today, said:

"Mrs. Isabelle Finley, whom I married in 1887, was then the wife of a living man. I had known her and her husband in Montana, and when I met her in Juneau, Alaska, she told me her husband was dead."

"We were married and lived together for several years. She was a good woman and a good wife until seized with a mental affliction."

"Two years after our marriage I learned that instead of being dead, her husband, Finley, was alive, and that she had caused him to be incarcerated in an insane asylum in Montana."

"I never told her I knew this, and have kept the knowledge a secret with myself until now, but I feel that I must use it to protect myself."

Capt. Healy is credited with being many times a millionaire. He is now engaged in building a railroad in Alaska.

Wages Raised Portland, Or., March 21.—A 15 per cent. increase in wages for all freight train employes of the O. R. & E. Company and 10 per cent. better wages than has in the past been paid to those working in the passenger branch of that company's service was announced this afternoon.

The result of a conference that has been on for some time in this city, between Superintendent J. P. O'Brien and a committee from the operating department.

"We are working now on minor details," said Superintendent O'Brien, "but the main point of contention has been disposed of. There are a few matters which are mere incidents yet to be arranged, but the workmen and the company are on the very best of terms and everything will be arranged to the satisfaction of all by the middle of the coming week."

J. K. Sheppard, chairman of the conference committee from the trainmen, said: "We are rapidly arriving at a complete and definite understanding, and there is no doubt everything will be settled on Monday or Tuesday."

Members of the committee are well pleased with the wage increase obtained, even though it is considerably short of the amounts asked, which was an advance of 20 per cent. in each instance.

Passenger trainmen have always been paid more than those doing much harder work in the freight service, and the difference in percentage of increase is intended to in a measure equalize this condition. It is along the line which has been adopted by all railroads of establishing a uniform wage scale, graduated to the class of work performed.

SUED FOR DIVORCE

Capt. John J. Healy, Yukon Pioneer

Is Defendant in a Suit for Legal Separation From His Wife.

New York, March 31.—Hearing in the suit of Isabella Healy against her husband, Captain John J. Healy, known as the discoverer of the Klondike, was begun here yesterday before Carl Schurs, specially appointed by the Chicago court.

Mrs. Healy was represented by Edwin Burrill Smith and Captain Healy by James Hamilton Lewis, of the state of Washington.

The actresses named by Mrs. Healy in her bill for divorce and property were summoned to testify for Mrs. Healy. Upon cross-examination the women proved good witnesses for the captain.

Miss Linden, with the "Ben Hur" company, swore that Captain Healy was a friend of her father in California, and that at her father's instance she introduced herself to him in Chicago. She testified that her relations with the captain were formal, never exceeding those which she might have adopted towards her father.

Miss Navarre, playing in "Notre Dame" company, said that she and the other woman mentioned, Miss Eubank, were taken by the captain upon a trip to West Point by day-light, returning at 6 o'clock.

She said Captain Healy met the two women through Miss Linden. Miss Fullam produced testimony to show that she was an active member of the Presbyterian church, and with her companion engaged as one of the officers of charity work in the slums of the east side. She said that Captain Healy had offered to help them in their distress as he would have aided his own daughter. They declined the assistance because they were not certain that they would be able to return the money.

All three witnesses testified that Dr. Wilcox, of Chicago, one of the men at war with Captain Healy in his railroad and mining investments, had been passing himself off as Wilcox, a New York detective, and in behalf of Mrs. Healy had assured the women witnesses that they would be liberally rewarded if they would implicate Captain Healy in questionable conduct.

Healy, in answer to his wife's charges, now pleads that she is not entitled to any of his property because, he alleges, she had two living husbands when she married him. He says she confessed to him that she married in Milwaukee, and subsequently married William Finley, a prominent mining man of Montana, and while Finley was in an insane asylum she came to Alaska and married Captain Healy.

Healy discovered these things, he says, within the last year. Since then he has refused to live with her. He says she has secreted more than a quarter of a million dollars given to her by him, and still professes to have been abandoned by him and left without means.

The case will now proceed to Chicago, where the vast property involved is tied up in litigation through the sensational charges made by each against the other.

ELDORADO AND BONANZA. Special to the Daily Nugget.

Mr. Keyes of No. 39 below Bonanza who has property on Chisken creek came home late Tuesday to visit his family. He left for the latter place this morning to resume work.

Mrs. G. W. Williams of No. 27 Eldorado has been confined to her bed several days.

Mrs. Cabbage, wife of Dr. Cabbage of the Forks, visited Mrs. Kenyon of No. 26 above Bonanza last Tuesday.

The dance which was to have been given in the tent at the Forks on the 17th has been postponed till next Wednesday night, the 22nd. Good music will be furnished for the occasion and luncheon will be served in the hall.

Nearly everyone on the creeks are thawing their dumps, building tramways or making slide boxes.

There is an air of activity in the vicinity of Fox quick. It will be only a matter of a few days, till Mr. Coffey, manager of the Anglo-Klondike Mining Co., will have everything going in full blast there.

The roads on Bonanza and Eldorado are very barren of snow, and it is necessary for the stages to have four horses.

Mr. J. J. Hickey is again at his post as engineer on his claim on Oro Fino hill. He is the noted base ball player.

It is the general opinion of the people on the creeks that this spring will witness a flood like that of the spring of '98.

Misses T. A. McMillan and Thos. Kerrigan of the Forks returned from the Tanana a couple of days ago. Their view of the new diggings cor-

BRILLIANT SUCCESS

Informal Dance of the Arctic Brotherhood.

Winter Operations Practically Suspended—Town on Lower End of Dominion.

The Arctic Brotherhood again distinguished itself last night by giving a small and early, an informal soiree dansante, the first since Lent. Like the first of the informal affairs given, the idea carried out and uppermost in view by the promoters was to have a pleasant evening of dancing lasting until a reasonable hour so that those attending would be in shape to attend to business today and not knocked out completely as is the case when the dances last until 5 and 6 in the morning. The program contained twenty dances and at 1:30 the last had been finished, a very reasonable hour, and everyone departed perfectly satisfied. No lunch was served, nearly all the dancers, however, repairing to a cafe at the conclusion of the ball. The music was admirable, the best the dancers claim that has been enjoyed for many months. It was furnished by Messrs. Foster and Durant, the latter a recent arrival from New York. Owing to the huge success of the serial of last night many of the members are clamoring for a repetition two weeks hence, a desire that will probably be acquiesced in.

"STRICTLY CASH" Starting May 1st, 1903, we shall adopt a Strictly Cash System. Consumers will get the benefit of ready-cash purchases, as the margin of profit can be considerably reduced when the element of risk which is incurred by a credit system is entirely eliminated. Besides, our limited capital makes it imperative that we get ready money for our goods, consequently we adopt a system whereby the cash customer gets the fullest value for his money, and in this particular all concerned will be both protected and pleased.

THE COUNTY FAIR. Will be Repeated Tomorrow Night

The County Fair" has had such a strong run at the Auditorium that Manager Bittner has determined to produce it again tomorrow night.

Several requests to that effect have been made by patrons of the house and in compliance therewith a special performance will be given.

"The County Fair" is a splendid piece and has proven unusually popular.

GOLD RUN SULPHUR

Getting Ready for the Sluicing Season

Winter Operations Practically Suspended—Town on Lower End of Dominion.

Mike Hunt, recently manager of the Gold Run hotel for Chute & Will, resigned his position when the change in the proprietorship of the hotel was effected and has taken his departure for Dawson.

Mr. Protzman, who was bookkeeper in the store of Chute & Will, has secured a similar position with Knapp & Kearney at the Forks and has moved his family there.

On the approach of spring the owners of Gold Run have suspended their winter operations and are rigorously at work putting up flames, manufaturing sluice boxes and making other necessary preparations for the coming sluicing season. The creek will undoubtedly make a better showing than was at first anticipated.

Ferry Reed, our popular mining inspector, arrived home on Monday after spending a few days in Dawson. Mr. Reed has a very large territory under his supervision and is fully entitled to the high esteem in which he is held in this community as an honest, attentive and accommodating official.

A water grant has been awarded to Hugh Day et al on 216 Dominion. They have given to John Liza a contract to build a dam across the creek at this location and a sluice 10 feet bottom and 2 feet 9 inches high. This enterprise will be of incalculable value to miners on the rich benches on the right limit of Dominion below the mouth of Gold Run, and will make it possible for them to continue their mining operations all summer. The fact that a large business man will speedily spring into existence and assume the dimensions and importance of a lively mining town is longer admits of doubt. No bit is considered by all to be the logical location for such a center.

Mr. Heines, an industrious and enterprising miner of 245 Dominion is putting in one of the best pieces he has found in this part of the district. He has a good claim and will employ a large force of men.

Some of the Sulphurites who stampered to Tanana have returned to their new field having no attractions for them. The latest prodigy at Mesure, Dyer and Woodson. The each state that in their opinion it will take at least from one to two years of hard prospecting and development work in that immense country before anything like a decent camp can be maintained.

A fellow who claims to be "the toughest man north of Mexico" on day last week proceeded to go some of the residents of the upper end of Sulphur his practical demonstration of his skill in the art of mystery of Congress. Strange to say he did so with little or no tolerance and stranger still he did so in a very dignified manner.

The dance given by the Tanana Club on Monday night at No. 13 below Sulphur was in every respect an unequalled success. About seventy-five people attended and were pleasantly entertained by Messrs. Durban, Ross and Mahan, the committee in charge. Miss Hall of the Daily roadhouse served as emcee.

This was the first of a series of dances and the committee deserve much praise for their efforts, and are certainly entitled to the thanks and congratulations of all lovers of the berthuborean art. May they continue with similar success at their later functions.
