COMMERCIAL CLUB FOR NEWCASTLE

An informal meeting of some of the business men of Newcastle was held in the Council Chamber last Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock. Those present were Mayor D. P. Doyle, Ald. Wm. L. Durick, Chas. Morrissey, J. R. Lawlor, C. P. McCabe, Ed. Dalton, A. J. Bell, H. Williston, H. R. Moody, E. A. McCurdy, G. G. Couds, A. G. Putnam, G. G. Stothart, D. W. Stothart, A. McTavish, G. M. Lake and A. H. Cole. Mayor Doyle was elected chairman of the meeting. After considerable discussion it was unanimously decided to form a Commercial Club in Newcastle the purpose of which will be for the promotion of everything beneficial to the community, and to work in conjunction with the Board of Trade. It was decided to appoint the following temporary officers, a President, Secretary, Treasurer, and an Executive Committee of five. On motion the following officers were elected. President C. G. Couds, Secretary A. H. Cole, Treasurer, Geo. M. Lake, Executive Committee, Wm. L. Durick, G. G. Stothart, E. J. Morrissey, H. R. Moody and A. G. Putnam. It was further decided to hold the next meeting at 8.30 o'clock p. m. on Wednesday Dec 1st.

ZERO WEATHER EXPERIENCED MONDAY

The first zero weather of the season occurred at this place Monday night. The temperature as recorded was nine below zero. This is not unusual in this section, a period of zero weather usually coming on or about the first of December. There was no wind but the first cold weather of the season nevertheless was felt. As usual there were numerous thermometers in the town which registered several degrees below that temperature, a considerable variation being shown.

Fuel in Demand
 The first really cold weather of the winter has caused a brisk demand for fuel, both wood and coal being wanted. The snow has resulted in a brisk movement of wood of various kinds toward the town. Much is brought in from neighboring points on sleds. So far the price has been high but there are indications that the price will fall.

An Article Worth Reading

"We welcome every $10 check to care for one child, and every hard-earned dollar given by those who can give no more. God sees and blesses 'the widow's mite,' and we earnestly hope that not a single man, or woman, or child will withhold the small gift because it cannot be as large as the loving heart that prompts it. But, oh, to those who can give largely, the appeal is urgent. Do not be satisfied with even so precious a thing as the life of one little child. The lives of hungry children, shivering in tatters in the cold winter's wind are very long. There are three and a half millions of them. That little girl or boy you would gather into your arms and give food and another one by hand, just as hungry and cold and another was crowding close behind, and another, and another. Will you stop with one jewel when you can have a hundred or a thousand? Will you turn only one cry of suffering into laughter if you are able to put the light of health and happiness into many wan little faces?"

INDIAN POLICEMAN KILLED AT BURNT CHURCH SUNDAY

Police Officer DeDam of the Indian Reserve at Burnt Church was killed last Sunday night in a fight at the Reservation and two brothers, Peter and Frank Mitchell, members of the Indian colony are suspected of the crime.

How the terrible affair happened is not yet known here, but it is thought that there was a fight among the Indians and the policeman was done to death. Word of the tragedy was phoned to Chatham Sunday night and Coroner Benson gave permission to move the body to the man's residence. In the meantime Col. Sheridan of Buctouche, who is Indian Agent for this district, was notified and no doubt he will at once take steps to thoroughly sift the matter.

The Newcastle Police have been notified to be on the look out for the two Indians and a thorough search in this vicinity is being made.

LATER MURDERERS CAPTURED
 The two Indians who are suspected of killing Policeman DeDam were arrested last night by Constable Arthur Doran, who brought the two men to Newcastle and lodged them in the County Jail.

Million-Dollar Oil Blaze is Real Scene In Serial Thriller

One of the greatest oil well fires that ever occurred contributes a thrilling spectacle of Vitagraph's latest super-serial, "The Silent Avenger." The conflagration took place recently in an oil field near the coast. The story of "The Silent Avenger" has its later important settings in an territory.

When the time came for the filming of the scene, the real fire was reported nearby. William Duncan, star of the picture, and a large company travelled immediately to the scene of the blaze and staged their exploits under the shadows and within the glare of the vast blaze that was destroying millions in wealth.

Duncan is seen caged with Edith Johnson, playing the heroine's role, inside of a house, around which a stream of oil has flowed. This small river of oil becomes ablaze from the torch of a conspirator. Besides the thrilling plight of the characters, the tremendous spectacle of the real blaze makes the scene remarkable.

"The Silent Avenger" will be shown at the Happy Hour Theatre on Friday and Saturday.

The Cause of Heart Trouble

Faulty digestion causes the generation of gases in the stomach which inflame and press down on the heart and interfere with its regular action, causing faintness and pain. 15 to 30 drops of Mother Seigel's Curative Syrup after meals sets digestion right, which allows the heart to beat full and regular.

Has Arrived At Chatham

His Lordship Bishop P. A. Chaisson, C. J. M., the new head of the Catholic diocese of Chatham, arrived at Chatham from Seven Islands, Que. Wednesday afternoon.

Extensive plans were made by the Cathedral congregation to extend a welcome to the new bishop, Howard McKendry was chairman of the reception committee, and M. F. Haley, the secretary. Committees had decorated the church and palace. An address of welcome to the bishop was presented.

A procession was formed with the Captain W. J. Duncan as Marshal, and Alderman Thomas Fitzpatrick, as Assistant marshal. Upon arrival the bishop was met by the priests and dignitaries. Immediately afterwards the bishop and priests proceeded to the Cathedral, where an address was read from the members of the congregation.

In the evening a civic reception was tendered the bishop at the palace by the Town of Chatham, the council having decided to present an address welcoming his Lordship to his future home.

ROBERT STEAD'S NEW ROMANCE

Robert Stead, once of Calgary, now of the Civil Service in Ottawa, is today second only to Ralph Connor in popularity as a Canadian romanticist. Like the author of "The Sky Pilot," he has chosen the west as his stamping ground. From his early boyhood he lived in the prairie country and no one knows all its many-sided life better than he does.

His new story, "Dennison Grant," so-called from the name of the hero, offers some variation on his previous novels in that it shifts from east to west and from west to east, just as its author himself has done. The opening chapters are laid in the ranching country of Alberta and describe the tragic rivalry of the Y. D. gang and the Grant gang in their contention for the hay rights in a wild valley in the foothills of the Rockies.

Farmer Says He Spent Hundreds in Vain Search for Health Before He Got Tanlac

After everything else had failed me and I had spent hundreds of dollars without any results, Tanlac relieved me of my suffering and has given me a new lease on life," said William Lively, a well-known farmer who has lived at North Beaver Bank, Halifax Co., N. S. practically all his life. "Ever since I was a boy my stomach had troubled me and during recent years I suffered untold agony. My appetite was so poor I didn't relish a thing, and even what little I did eat fermented, causing sour gas which affected by breathing so at night that I often had to sit up in the bed to keep from smothering. I was badly constipated and suffered so from headaches and dizziness that at times I wasn't able to work. I had a tired, worn out feeling, and was laid up for days at a time not feeling well enough to get about the farm.

I heard a great deal about Tanlac and decided to give it a trial, and it wasn't but a little while until I knew I had found a real medicine, for I was rapidly improving every day. I have taken five bottles now and am actually feeling better than I have at any time I can remember. My appetite is just fine and I never suffer from gas or indigestion anymore. I'm entirely free from constipation and am never troubled with headaches or dizziness. I have so much strength and energy I can now do a day's work with any man. I'll always stand by Tanlac, for I don't see how I could have possibly done without it."

Tanlac is sold in Newcastle by E. J. Morris, in Redbank by Wm. M. Sullivan and in Doaktown by O. Hildebrand.

Fables Most People Believe

The legend of the salamander and the fire is as old as learning, so is the legend that newts, toads, and frogs are poisonous to human beings. It is a shame that this tradition is not exposed in every school. These harmless creatures, which do incredible good for us in the garden, are a source of horror and terror to many children, and even to many adults. Yet in truth they are as innocent as lambs.

It is true that the toad conceals a scalding acid within its skin, but that is never used against us. It is a protection against enemies which seek to devour it. If a dog picks up a toad in its mouth, the toad scurries to the dog's mouth, burrs the mouth of the dog, and makes it glad to let go its prize, but it never does that to us. What it does, when in fear, is suddenly to discharge all the moisture its skin contains, so as to make itself smaller and lighter, thus enabling it to move more rapidly and even to creep into small places for which it would otherwise be too bulky.

That is the whole truth about the superstition of the "venomous toad." As for the frogs and the newts, they have not even poison with which to defend themselves from the jaws of a consuming enemy.

Over Rivers We were taught that monkeys, when wishing to cross a river or a gorge, form a chain and swing themselves over. It is said that a string of monkeys attach themselves, one under another, to the strongest of the party, which holds on to a tree. When the living chain is long enough, the monkeys swing outwards over the river or chasm, until the endmost animal is able to grasp a tree on the opposite side, hold, and convert the chain into a living bridge, over which the females, the young, and the aged pass. Following that, the chain has to release its hold upon the tree to which it was first attached, and in turn swing over the gulf. The whole thing is impossible. The trees on the banks of the river would not allow room for a chain long enough to cross the stream to get the necessary swing. The bridge could not be made. But, if it were made, when the chain was detached from its hold many of the monkeys would be dashed to death.

The story has lately been investigated by scientists of the American Museum of Natural History, who declare that the belief arises from the honest misconception. Observers have seen long processions of monkeys following each other across a stream, not by a chain bridge, but leaping from branch to branch of trees growing on the two banks, and nearly meeting overhead. The explanation is undoubtedly correct, but it will upset the teaching of thousands of school books on zoology.

The Seeing Eye

Principal Reynolds of the Ontario Agricultural College thus delivers himself in the Agricultural Gazette of Canada: "The teacher who hopes to take a right place in the life of the country school district must cultivate the seeing eye and the understanding heart for persons and things rural. The usual, popular, melodrama, comic supplement, moving picture conception of the farmer and of country people must be forgotten. It is essentially and perniciously false. Plans For Next Dominion Census

OTTAWA, Nov. 24—The cabinet council has approved a series of forms for taking the next Dominion census, the sixth, on June 1, 1921.

The forms provide for census of population, manufacturing, trading and business establishments, farms and farm products with schedules for the blind and deaf mutes, absentee family cards, enumerator's oaths, etc.

The purpose of the schedule for the blind and for deaf mutes is to obtain a record, according to age and post office address, of all persons so afflicted.

Irish Question In Parliament

LONDON, Nov. 24—The debate in the House of Commons on the Irish question was inaugurated this afternoon when former Premier Asquith moved his resolution, expressing abhorrence of the recent Dublin assassinations, condemnation of reprisals, and urging the taking of immediate steps to bring about Irish pacification. The motion was a composite resolution, combining the Independent Liberal and Labor motions and sponsored by Mr. Asquith, Donald McLean and Arthur Henderson. The former premier declared there was only one way for escape, and that the first step lay with the government. This, he said, was to discontinue the reprisals. He believed he said that an overwhelming majority of the Irish people and of the crown forces had no sympathy with reprisals.

Sir Hamar Greenwood said as regards the reprisals charge there was not a single authenticated case of anything called a reprisal having taken place under an officer. Sir Hamar said detailed plans for the destruction of large power houses in Manchester and docks in Liverpool had been discovered, the Liverpool plans involving use of eight hundred pounds of high explosive relignite at 21 points.

In the House of Lords Viscount Grey, former secretary for foreign affairs, appealed for an eleventh hour attempt by generosity to Ireland to fashion the home rule bill into an acceptable measure.

Vicount Bryce said that instead of cutting Ireland in two it would have been better to have one parliament, with all possible guarantees that Ulster would be looked after. The bill as it stood offered no prospect of fulfilling the hopes they all cherished, and it was only by going still further that a settlement could be accomplished.

Advocates Formation of New Province In Ont.

Port William, Ont., Nov. 24—F. H. Keefer, K. C., M. P., for the riding of Port Arthur, spoke today before the convention of the Central Canada Colonization and Highway Association of a new province to consist of the whole northern portion of the province, including the district of Patricia. The speaker, who was introduced by Chairman A. Pitt, took issue with the Government of the province on the expenditure of money collected in the northern district, saying that two million dollars was collected from it, over and above what was expended on it through grants for roads and other government services. He claimed that financially and from the standpoint of population and territory the proposed new province would compare favorably with other provinces at the time of their formation. Mr. Keefer was accorded a kindly hearing, but no resolution dealing with the matter is likely to be brought before the convention, as all resolutions that will be considered at the present session were in the hands of the committee by November 18.

The convention which is meeting under the presidency of Alfred Pitt, of Dryden has already endorsed the formation of a union of municipalities covering the four westernmost ridings of Ontario, Port Arthur, Port William, Kenora and Rainy River. This union is ready for organization under the chairmanship of H. M. Peterson, of Fort William. Other resolutions include a demand for a commissioner to push colonization and industry in this district.

Finding the Right Man

The superintendent of a certain big railway, Mr. Evans, was not satisfied with his storekeeper. There was too much waste. "What I need," he said to his assistant, according to Munsey's Magazine, "is a man with some sense of economy. If a carpenter is going to put up a coat hanger in a switchman's shanty, the storekeeper will give him enough nails and screws and coat hooks to supply coat racks for a hotel; if a painter is going to touch up a three-foot scratch on a passenger coach, he will give a new brush, a quart of varnish and a pint of stain—enough to finish the whole side of the car."

Later, the superintendent was watching the workmen at a ferry slip. They were heaving tar and swabbing the sides of the slip with it to protect the big timbers. John Harris hammered away at a barrel of tar and knocked the head in. He then picked the pieces out of the barrel and tossed them into the water. Michael Fossenden was keeping the fire under the melting pot. Behind him was a stack of wood. Michael had nothing to do for a moment; so he took a pipe and flung up the bits that had made the barrel head. They were sticky with tar, and at the proper time Michael fed them to the fire under the melting pot.

Supt. Evans changed his mind.

DAME PETER LAMARRE

Pointe St. Pierre, P. Q.

"I think it my duty to tell you how much your medicine has done for me. I suffered for three years with terrible Eczema. I consulted several doctors and they did not do me any good.

Then, I used one box of 'Sootha-Salva' and two boxes of 'Fruit-a-tives' and my hands are now clear. The pain is gone and there has been no return. I think it is a marvellous cure because no other medicine did me any good and I tried all the remedies I ever heard of, without benefit until I used 'Sootha-Salva' and 'Fruit-a-tives'.

'Fruit-a-tives' cooled the blood and removed the cause of the disease, and 'Sootha-Salva' completed the cure."

about crossing on the ferry boat. He went back and found Grayson of the marine department.

"Please find out for me who that chap is down there on the raft, feeding the fire," said Evans.

Grayson sent a man down to the slip for the information, and Evans was waiting at the landing at the noon hour.

"How much do you get here, Mike?" asked when the fire tender climbed up with the others to get his dinner pail.

"Two dollars a day," said Mike.

"Been to school?"

"Oh, yes—grammar school."

"Now tell me this, Mike—why were you wasting time fishing up those tar-covered barrel heads when you had plenty of wood on the raft?"

Evans appeared quite stern, and Michael was worried.

"Why sir," he said apologetically, "I wasn't exactly wasting time. You see, I couldn't do any more to the fire, and it seemed a shame to throw away all that good wood with tar on it, because it makes such a roaring fire. It's so much saved, too, for it must cost something to get enough wood to keep those tar pots running."

"How would you like to be assistant storekeeper on my division, starting at four dollars a day?"

"I'll begin this noon," said Michael, earnestly.

"Finish your day, and I'll get you transferred. I need a man just like you. Report to me to-morrow, and I'll tell you just what I mean."

Six months later Michael was head storekeeper on Evan's division—Ex.

Conditions Are Very Disturbed

MONTREAL, Nov. 24—"General conditions in Great Britain and Europe are still very disturbed," said J. W. Norcross, president of the Canada Steamships Lines, who has just returned from a trip abroad.

"The situation in respect to the production of coal has operated as a severe deterrent in general industry and in shipping circles," he added.

In 1913 there were mined in Great Britain approximately 280,000,000 tons. This year the total will probably not exceed 240,000,000 tons, with more than double the miners and other workers employed than was the case in 1913. The sharp increase in the price of fuel has had a marked effect on British industrial production and export trade and has interfered materially with shipping.

Mr. Norcross stated, however, that the situation was being faced here generally and he had been able to conclude that the Canada Steamship Lines, the details of which will be announced later.

As to present conditions in the ocean carrying trade, he said that there was no use denying that the tramp market was poor, due in some considerable measure to the fact that British purchasers of foodstuffs abroad have been reduced to a minimum, owing to the fact that there were large stocks on hand in Great Britain. These, however, are being reduced daily and it would be only a question of time before British buyers would be in the commodity markets again, a development which would result in a quickening of the transportation trade.

COAL ARRIVING

The past week was a busy one for the local coal dealers. A number of cars loaded with coal arrived during the week and the delivery men were kept on the jump. No trouble to dispose of it was experienced as the stocks of many of the householders were so much depleted, and many more carloads can easily be placed the dealers are fortunate enough to secure them.

Willing To Quit In Favor of Acadian

Moncton, N. B., Nov. 24—Fred L. Estabrooks, who was elected as one of the Government supporters in Westmorland in the recent Provincial elections, has written to Ferdinand Bourgeois, the defeated Acadian candidate on the Government ticket, offering to resign his seat in favor of Mr. Bourgeois.

Mr. Estabrooks stated that he regretted the fact that Mr. Bourgeois was not elected, not only from his high appreciation of Mr. Bourgeois and his abilities, but also from the fact that French-speaking people have no representative of their own.

"To show my feelings towards your people, if all concerned are willing to allow you to accept my seat, I am willing to sacrifice my seat in the interests of equal representation to all," said Mr. Estabrooks.

At a meeting of French Acadian electors in Moncton on Monday a resolution was adopted expressing appreciation of Mr. Estabrooks' offer, but stating that they could not for a moment consider its acceptance.

"My, You Are Looking So Much Better!"

"YES, I am feeling fine, too."

"And how is baby?"

"He is just dandy and as good as can be."

"And what have you been doing to look so well?"

"Oh, I got run-down nursing baby and began to get discouraged I was feeling so miserable. I suppose it was my nervous condition that got baby restless, and then, of course, it worried me trying to look after him."

"I thought you looked so worn-out when I was in last time."

"Well, I was feeling so discouraged that I sent for mother to come and she was not here a day before she had me using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food."

"I should have told you about it, for we always use Dr. Chase's Nerve Food when any of us get nervous or run-down."

"For the first few days I could not see that it was doing much good, but soon I found myself sleeping better and feeling less worried and irritable during the day."

My appetite improved and as I gained strength baby seemed to sleep better and be less trouble. He is just fine now and as good-natured as any baby ever was."

"How do you take the Nerve Food?"

"One pill after each meal and at bedtime. I will soon be able to discontinue using it, but want to be sure that my system is thoroughly built up before quitting."

"That is great. It gives me more confidence than ever in Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and that is saying a good deal, for you know what it did for me when I had that nervous breakdown. Has your mother gone home?"

"Yes, and I tell you it was a lucky day for me when she came to the rescue with her help and good advice. Her experience with Dr. Chase's Nerve Food proved to be a blessing for me."

Forty-six new performers entered the 2:30 list and thirty-four others already included therein, lowered their records.

The Acadian Recorder's list of record harness horses in the Maritime Provinces thirty years ago shows that the fastest record racing on the provincial tracks was Black Prince 2:20 1/4.

A Series of Talks On Music

By Prof. C.C. Laugher, Mus. Bac. Sarnia, Ont.

NO. VI.—MUSICAL PECULARITIES
A musician on being introduced to a stranger said, "I hear you are a music writer." "I am sir," replied the stranger. The first musician then added—"I am glad to make your acquaintance as I am afflicted in the same way."

One of America's most noted song writers was Stephen Foster whose chief title to fame is "The Old Folks at Home" and "My Old Kentucky Home." Stephen Foster would often ride up and down Broadway on a 5c bus seeking inspiration for a song.

Theodore Thomas, the pioneer conductor who did more to educate the American public than any other musician, was wise in his day. He was always on the lookout for dainty titbits of music, and would take infinite pains to make them effective. He arranged Schumann's Träumerei to end with muted strings to descend in the extreme and instructed the strings to continue drawing the bow across the strings without making a sound. The audience imagined it still heard the sounds floating off to an immeasurable distance till Thomas broke the spell by quietly laying down his baton.

Regarding singing classes, I read a most interesting account of one of the first singing classes and how it was conducted. Mr. Cheney says, I was one of the class in 1700 in New Hampshire, the session being held at the home of one of the members and sometimes in the school house, boards being placed across the kitchen chairs to answer for seats, in form of a circle with the singing master in the centre. The master commenced by saying "I now follow me up and down, he would then sound a note and we would sound the note after him. At the close of the session the singing master agreed to give instruction for one shilling and six pence per night and take his pay in Indian corn. The men members paid for the tuition while the girls supplied the candles for lighting purposes.

It has been said that musical inspiration does not attack all musicians in the same way. Here is one that I think is the strangest origin of any composition that I can recall. It is that of Scarlatti in his "Cats Fugue." The composer often had his favorite cat on his shoulder as he sat at the spinet. One day the cat became scared at something and springing from his shoulder ran across the key-board and away, but in her flight she struck several notes on the key-board which Scarlatti afterwards made into a fugue in her honor.

Brahms, the great music master, hated lionizing but he certainly possessed a high sense of humor. Once when being entertained by some of his friends in a Vienna restaurant the landlord brought on his best wine with this remark, "Here is a wine that surpasses all others, just as the music of Brahms does all other composers." "Well," said Brahms, "take it away and bring me a bottle of Bach."

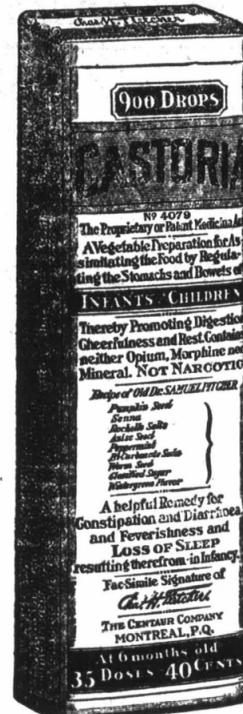

In a recent article in the Musical Quarterly, the writer tells of some strange methods for inspirations such as—Haydn took refuge in prayer and rosary; Beethoven in the open air and nature; Mozart in paper and ink; Wagner depended on costly robes of silk and velvet saturated in rich colors; Dumas declared that a fine quality of paper was a real source of inspiration to him; Tschat-kowsky needed air and trees; Halevy the noise of the tea kettle; Strauss wine and cigars, or a game of tarok; Suppe a good dose of snuffing tobacco; Donizetti was at his best when fixing his eyes at a distant point; Thomas when lying in bed; Balzac when clothed in a monks cassock; and Gluck when at his piano placed in the midst of an open field in the sunshine.

Bathurst People Honor Mr. McLean

Bathurst citizens, on Monday evening, gave a dinner in honor of Angus McLean, chief executive of the Bathurst Lumber Company, Limited, T. M. Burns, the mayor, presided. Following the toast to the King, J. L. Ryan proposed the health of the guest of honor, voicing the highest esteem in which Mr. McLean is held. On behalf of the citizens of the town of Bathurst, Mr. McLean was presented with a walking stick, emblematic of the support of his fellow townsmen, in all his undertakings, after which Mr. McLean fittingly replied to the toast. The speakers included Hon. J. P. Byrne, O. Turgeon, M. P., and others prominent in the business and social life of the community. An excellent musical programme was furnished.

PRICE OF MILK
Editor Advocate: The price of feed has come down about seven dollars per ton, but we do not see the milk men hastening to reduce their price. The reason assigned a few months ago for the raise in price was the increased cost of feed. Now with a radical decrease in the price of feed are we not justified in demanding a reduction in the price of milk?
