LADY LAURAS' RELEASE
—OR—
THE STORY OF A SPOILED BEAUTY.

CHAPTER XXXV.

"It was a mistake that very nearly put an end to Miss Rooden's life," said the squire, gravely.

But none of the three had the least suspicion of what had brought about the accident.

Angela implored them not to let Lady Laura know anything about it. "If mamma knows," she said, "she will never let me skate again."

CHAPTER XXXVI.

The accident was not referred to at the Abbey lest Lady Laura should be alarmed. Two of the maids were informed of what had happened, but they kept the secret. Lady Bell was thoroughly alarmed, and could not be induced to go upon the ice again. To Squire Arden the accident was a puzzle, and he could not conceive how the misunderstanding had arisen. He decided in his own mind that both Captain Wynyard and his step-daughter were to blame. The captain should have spoken more plainly; Miss Rooden should have been more careful about the directions given to her. "If I had not been there, she would have been drowned," he said to himself; "nothing could have saved her." But no suspicion of the terrible truth ever crossed his mind.

Angela thought a great deal about her mishap. She was certain that the captain had said to her, "Go to the bend of the pool, where the willows grow." She could not have mistaken him. She heard his voice clearly and distinctly, and she could hear it in her memory now. The wind could not have played her false, could not have wanted to her words that had never been uttered. The more she thought of the matter the more puzzled she was; but it was not just yet that the real truth dawned upon her.

One fine spring morning the captain suggested a row upon the lake.

"The water is quite tempting this morning," he said. "Laura you should come. I have been on the lake, and found it so delightful that I have come expressly for you."

This little act of attention and kindness delighted Lady Laura and brought a flush of color to her pale face.

"I will go with pleasure," she replied. "I should like it, for I have not been on the lake since last autumn. You will come, too, Angela?" The gleam of pleasure on her mother's face so delighted Angela that she would have done anything the captain wished.

The water was pleasant, the sun bright, and the air balmy. Lady Laura was for a while quite her old self again. The captain exerted himself to amuse her; he talked and laughed more gayly than he had done for some time.

"It is fine exercise, Angela," he said. "You should learn to row."

"I can row," she replied. "When I was a little child, papa taught me, and I used to row with him."

"Row with me now," said the captain; and he gave her a scull and told her where to sit.

Lady Laura was pleased to see this. "If he would only take more interest in Angela!" she thought to herself.

She little knew how great was his interest in Angela.

"You could not have better exercise than this, Angela," said the captain. "I have had two of the pleasure-boats repaired and repainted. There is a third in the boat-house, one better than this. It shall be got ready for you and called the 'Queen of Rood.'"

Angela was pleased with the idea, though somewhat surprised by the perseverance with which the captain continued to give her lessons.

"You will be competent to row at Henley," he remarked laughingly to her one morning; "you manage a boat capably."

"Is there any danger?" asked Lady Laura, who was always nervous about her daughter.

Angela and the captain both laughed at the idea of danger.

"I am taking pains to teach Angela how to manage a pair of sculls properly, so that there shall be no danger in her taking the boat out alone," replied the captain.

Angela kissed her mother's pale face.

"If there was any risk, I would not go, mamma; for I would not alarm you."

So, morning after morning, the captain went down to the lake, and gave Angela lessons in rowing. Lady Laura occasionally accompanying them. Then the time came that the girl required no more lessons, but could row to any part of the lake without assistance.

Angela was fond of the water, and it soon became quite a habit of hers to go upon the lake every morning. She would row to one or other of the little islands and take her books with her. To her poetical, dreamy nature solitude was full of charm.

April, with its violets and snowdrops, was come, and again something seemed to shroud the captain's life in gloom; again all his high spirits deserted him; again morose and sullen melancholy seemed to take possession of him.

"He is longing to see Gladys Rane," sorrowfully thought his unhappy wife, as she noticed the change that had come over him.

It was a brilliant morning; the sun shone brightly, the odor of violets filled the air, pale yellow primroses dotted the emerald surface of the little islands, all nature was looking its finest. There were a few visitors at the Abbey. Lady Bell was still there, and a friend of the captain's, Major Norton. On this morning Lady Bell remained in her room—she had a bad headache—and Major Norton had gone out with the intention of riding over to Hetfield. Lady Laura took her breakfast in her room. Angela had therefore to go through the ordeal she detested—taking breakfast alone with the captain. He read his newspapers the greater part of the time, but occasionally exchanged a few words with her. Suddenly he looked up at her.

"Angela," he said, "I had almost forgotten to tell you. The Queen of Rood has been done up, and it looks a thoroughly smart craft. I prefer it to any of the other boats. You should try it this fine morning. I would accompany you, but I am going over to Caton Hall. Get Jones to help you with it; for an hour or two on the water will do you good."

The captain seemed very kind and solicitous about it. But Angela remembered afterward that he never looked at her while speaking, and seemed nervous and hesitating in his manner. He appeared to be anxious for her to go, yet while the servants were in the room, he gave many warnings and directions. To them it seemed as though the captain was very solicitous about their young mistress, and as though she were on the point of doing something which he rather feared might be rash. That was the impression left by the captain on the minds of the servants, so artfully had he chosen his words in their presence.

He rode off to Caton Hall, and Angela went down to the boat-house, where Jones, who had charge of the boats, was in attendance.

"I will have the new boat this morning, Jones," she said—"The Queen of Rood."

"All right, miss," returned the man, touching his cap. "It is not a new boat, but it is quite as good. It has been put into thorough repair and done up beautifully. You need have no fear, miss. I looked it well over yesterday when it came, and I had it on the river last night for an hour or two."

"I am not afraid," said Angela. "How prettily it is painted! And I like the name, the Queen of Rood."

A few minutes later the little boat was ready; and away went Angela over the shining water. How beautiful it was! The trees were budding on the little islands, the birds were singing, the water was so clear that she could see the blue sky and the white fleecy clouds reflected in it. She rowed along swiftly, enjoying the freshness of the morning.

The lake was an unusually large one, and very deep—indeed, it was the largest sheet of water in that part of the county. She had reached the center when suddenly—and to the end of her life Angela never forgot the terrible pang of fear that came to her—she felt the water rising about her feet. She bent down, and found, to her utter dismay, that it was coming in rapidly from a hole in the bottom of the boat. At first she did not realize the full danger of the situation; the idea that ran through her mind was that one of the planks had in some way or other become loosened. She stooped down and placed her hand where the water seemed to spring up most quickly, and there, to her horror, found that there was a large hole in the boat.

The little craft was right, when she entered, she knew, and had been right for some time afterward. Now quite suddenly, without any apparent cause, it was filling with water. What should she do? She was naturally brave and courageous, but for a moment she lost her presence of mind. She looked toward the shore, but she was far from it, and Jones was out of sight. The nearest island was at some distance, and, before she could reach either the banks or the island, the boat would sink through the weight of the water.

She gave a piercing cry for help; but there was no one in sight. Faster and faster the water rushed in, and she could feel the boat momentarily settling deeper and deeper. She saw that there was no hope of saving her life, for she could not bail out the water, neither could she row the boat to land. In a moment the full sense of her danger came to her, and she uttered another loud and piteous cry.

EDGEWORTH
SMOKING TOBACCO

Let's give the pipe its due. All the credit for a good smoke should not go to the tobacco. Men smoked pipes centuries before modern tobacco in tins was dreamed of. They changed their blends too, occasionally—always seeking a tobacco a trifle more suited to their taste. Now you may already be 99 p.c. pipe-happy. The purpose of Edgeworth is to give you the additional one per cent. that makes complete pipe-smoking satisfaction.

"Edgeworth" Smoking Tobacco is made in two forms. Sliced Plug and Ready-Rubbed, and we honestly don't know which you will prefer. Both forms have their enthusiastic devotees. Try both and then decide which you like best.

"Edgeworth" is sold by all stores in convenient size tins and at popular prices.

OUT OF DEBT.
As my green old age draws closer I am glad I'm out of debt; as I said to Griggs, the grocer, credit is man's one best bet; age is shorn of half its terrors if the old man has the price; debt is ranked with mortal errors—which make life as cold as ice. In life's blooming spring and summer, man should work and save the dimes, as I've said to Elbak, the plumber, forty-seven thousand times; then his neighbors will admire him as a man of sense and thrift, and fair damsel will desire him as a nuptial Christmas gift. There is always open trackage and an endless right of way for the man who has a package in the mothballs put away. And when comes life's bitter winter, and he's tired and longs for rest, as I've said to Frigg, the printer, he has got his treasure chest; yes, he has his of shillings, which are dripping from the bung, coin he earned by ceaseless drillings in the days when he was young. And he does not need to shiver with the dread of charity; he can journey in his stiver with his bank-book on his knee; he can eat a lordly dinner, he can drink from silver bowl, as I've said to Todd, the tinner, there is nothing like a roll.

NANTASKET BEACH FIRE SWEEP.

HULL, Mass., March 28. Paragon Park, New England's largest seashore amusement centre, and thirty houses were destroyed by fire which swept Nantasket Beach, on the wings of a fifty mile gale. At midnight the flames were spreading against the wind and Atlantic House, the principal hotel of the resort, was threatened. The loss is estimated at from hundreds of thousands to a million. The new town hall, built at a cost of three hundred thousand dollars, and Damon Public School, within a furlong south of Atlantic House, are besieged with small fires. Houses on six streets are burnt or burning at midnight, the section covered by flames at that hour, being roughly about one-third mile square. Flames early passed limitations of local fire department and help was called from Brockton, Docksand, Marshfield, Weymouth, Higham, Quincy and Cohasset. As night wore on Cohasset apparatus had to turn attention to safeguarding its own as North Cohasset was under fire from embers flying on the wind. Firemen from seven cities, handicapped almost helplessly from lack of water, decided to try and make a fight with dynamite just North of Atlantic House, at a point between that hotel which tops Center Hill and the State bath house.

$750,000 DAMAGE DONE.

HULL, Mass., March 29. The fire which laid waste much of Nantasket Beach last night was brought under control at 1.15 this morning. Paragon amusement centre was almost entirely overrun and about seventy-five houses and cottages were destroyed. All the hotels and the new town hall were saved. The loss is estimated about seven hundred and fifty thousand dollars.

SUBJECTS OF THE HIERARCHY.

ROME, March 29. Pope Pius has asked the Soviet Government of Russia to liberate Archbishop Zepiak and the other ecclesiastics convicted in Moscow, on the grounds that they are members of the Catholic Hierarchy and the Pope's subjects.

PASSIVE RESISTANCE CONTINUING.

ESSEN, March 28. Unemployed workers in Ruhr Valley have taken steps to organize, forming a society for mutual benefit, it developed to-day. At a meeting of unemployed at Essen it was decided to appoint a Council, the duties of which would be to confer with the German Government regarding loans or funds for subsistence. The unemployed desire free food, free transportation on tramways and assurances from the Government that their funds would be forthcoming regularly. An appeal to workers in the Ruhr to continue passive resistance without resort to acts of violence has been issued by the coal mine and factory workers unions, representing one million three hundred thousand men. The appeal says: "We must continue the struggle for our rights and our freedom. We cannot, we must not, be forced by sugar coated words to become slaves of French imperialism, and militarism, the enemy of the workmen. Foreign aims in Ruhr will never be realized."

WHERE BERNHARDT WILL LIE.

PARIS, March 28. The body of Sarah Bernhardt, who night rested in the famous rosewood casket lined with white satin which was made at her order thirty years ago, and in which she was finally photographed while on her foreign tours. Bernhardt lies clad in a white satin dress. Over her hair and face a fine lace veil has been drawn. On her breast is pinned the Cross of the Legion of Honor, and around her neck is a ribbon holding a gold locket containing the picture and a lock of hair of her son Maurice, which she always wore. The casket will be taken to Church of St. Francis de Sales to-morrow morning at eight and after service the funeral procession will go to the cemetery Pere la Chaise where the body will be placed in a simple but massive vault without decorations and bearing only one word "Bernhardt".

OTHER CONCERNS GRANT INCREASE.

MANCHESTER, N.H., March 28. The A. Moskeag Manufacturing Co., one of the largest cotton concerns in the world, to-day notified its employees that a twelve and one-half per cent. increase would become effective April 30th. The increase affects between thirteen and fourteen thousand operatives.

Promised Passes for Humber.

UNION WEAKENING IN GREENSPOND.

Editor Evening Telegram,
Dear Sir,—Allow me space in your valuable paper for a few remarks concerning how things are progressing in this district. Covering the Advocate's remarks concerning the strength of the Union in this place, I wish to say the Union has weakened down considerably since the last election. What is there to keep those men together? Surely it is not the promises that were made to them in 1919. There may be between 90 and 100 Union men in Greenspond but even all these are not in favour of the present Government. I am sure from what I know that most of these men are kept in the Union by being promised passes for the Humber business. As far as I can see, Mr. Editor, it would be no trouble to get a change of Government if the people from Bonavista and down the North Shore were as strong for the Bennett party as we are. The senior member for Bonavista at the last general election told the people he was going to make one man do the work two or three civil servants were then getting paid for doing. He was going to have taxation reduced and I think he spoke about a powerful tug boat for St. John's. (He procured H.M.S. Lobelia, Editor) and also increasing the sealing fleet somewhat. We see in the public news here to-day that the same gentleman promises if the Government is returned to power he will have two more sealing ships added to the fleet. No matter what promises he will never turn the majority of the people of Greenspond to vote for him. This is my first time writing to a newspaper, and I would not do so now except to contradict the statements in the Advocate about the strength of the Union. Regarding the United Fishermen's Movement, I think they are doing good work, and may God bless them. They are speaking about useless officials, and I think Greenspond has one of them. Thanking you for space,
Yours truly,
WING ISLAND.
Greenspond, March 20, 1923.

Taxation and Expenditure.

NOW IS THE TIME FOR REFORM.

Friends, Politicians and Countrymen—(Pardon me Friends and Countrymen for including you with the politicians.)
The news that the Government has reduced the sugar tariff will be gladly received by the "ultimate consumer." But coming on the eve of an election, "we look the gift horse in the mouth," and as we distrust the motive, behind this reduced taxation, we speculate as to, in what detestable hidden manner, we shall be required to make up this deficit in the revenue. Of course before this country can emerge from its present period of depression, taxation has to be reduced extensively, but we cannot reduce taxation, and keep up this wild orgy of extravagance in other directions. Taxation reduced, and economy practised must walk hand in hand. The result which must follow, reduction of taxation, and the continuance of this spending mania, is too obvious for mention; in order to reduce taxation, you must first remove the cause of taxation. Therefore the only way to bridge the gap is sound economy, elimination of extravagance in all its forms, and better methods of administration. Why can we not have a business-like government that will conduct the affairs of this country, as you or I would conduct our business affairs? It can be done, but it requires a man of courage to do it. Can we not produce the man big enough, who will come before the electorate of this country and say "I am going to make this country a going concern; I am going to reduce taxation as far as practicable, and per contra, I will do away with all unnecessary and overlapping departments, abolish political patronage," (that vampire that insidiously gets at the independence of every country where it is practised) Surely the country would endorse such a man? How long are we to continue retaining governments, whose stock in trade is the promise of a job to one man, for another the excavation of a well (personally I have knowledge where the future of a certain government to keep this last mentioned pledge, was the cause of its representatives being defeated in a certain section).
APATHY RESPONSIBLE.
To a large extent the apathy of the country in general is responsible for a lot of mis-government. If we would decline to allow any, but the best brains and characters to represent us in Parliament, from now the opportunist, who is in politics to exploit the country for his personal aggrandisement and demand such a high standard of representation, that none but men of the highest integrity would dare solicit our support, we would be going a long way towards remedying matters. It is a pretty well recognized fact, that we all get about what we deserve in this world and while we continue to tolerate these evils of government, we must only expect they will continue. The only way to reform politics, is to reform the politicians. "Marry me and reform me," has no sentimental appeal; but as an evidence of good faith why not reform first?
This country needs to awaken from its lethargy, rub its eyes, and gaze around, get the job and take an interest in the running of its own affairs. Don't leave it to the politicians to run as they decree. Show them we want something different. Tell them the days of the mountebank politician are finished. We are enlightened and intelligent people, and demand representation as such. The average voter, in politics, is much like the small boy at the circus; gazing open-mouthed at the performing elephant, and the trick monkey, and being persuaded by the gentleman "in the tall hat," to accept as genuine, the freaks and fakes of the political ensemble, and even when he finds he has been bounced, instead of starting in and methodically cleaning out the show, he quite innocently asks for more. Whenever a business concern or government falls upon evil days, after diagnosing the trouble, the most important step is then to fire the incompetents and put in command men who are capable and honest; none others need apply. The cry "give us men," is to-day re-echoing through the land, and never was there greater need. Piuscentis and St. Mary's answer to this appeal is WATSON, TULLIVAN AND SINNOTT. How about the rest of you?

The Menace

of Coakerism.

ARTICLE XVII. The greatest act of mercy that can be bestowed upon Mr. Coaker, the F.P.U. and its enterprises, and last but not least, Newfoundland, is that Mr. Coaker's self-expressed political influence be destroyed, as it will when the people get an opportunity within the next two months. The country needs a change in the worst way. Three years of a one man rule is more than sufficient. Three years of Coakerism is as much as any country, much less Newfoundland, can stand. His dictatorial whip has failed to do his political flourishing. He is tired and found wanting. William F. Coaker, by his intrigues, abridgments, craves for influence, and ambition, stands to-day humiliated, distrusted, and displaced. The Union, of which he is the self-elected dictator, does not suffer to any degree, but on the other hand, will prosper with the times. The same Union, which Mr. Coaker used to further his whims and ambitions, will, in due course, give expression to his mistrust and then the once great "all highest" will curse the day he proved a traitor to the principles on which it was founded. For the benefit of those who cannot recall what appeared in the Advocate just a few years ago, the following is rather interesting:—"Squires acted a traitor to the National Government at the last minute. The black rascal Squires, you must never touch. If I should die tomorrow never allow Squires to represent a district where you have any votes. Squires has been intriguing for leadership all the summer. All that the devil could suggest was done by W. D. REID, SQUIRES, AND ALL THE ANTI-UNION CLIQUE to down and out me. "Crooble and Cashin stood by us to the last breath. They were coaxed and all sorts of influence used to get them, but they STOOD AS FIRM AS SIGNAL HILL. They proved to be our devoted supporters in the darkest hour of trial. They held the key but refused to use it." NOW WE WANT What do you fishermen and F.P.U. men of Bonavista, Trinity and Twillingate, and Fogo, think of a man with such rapid declarations.

If he can twist and turn in such opposite directions with such speed and force, can you any longer trust him. Mr. Coaker boasts to-day that he can do as he wishes with the F.P.U. and its members. Surely you men with a touch of independence, who value honesty and character, cannot be thus persuaded. If you cannot, think for yourselves, act as your conscience directs you. Look elsewhere for a man who possesses such virtues and not be gulled by a man whose personal ambition is ruinous to the state and the era of democracy that is spreading throughout the civilized world to-day. There must be greater pressure brought to bear on Capt. Tom to force him into public life again, and as Capt. Tom was a good official I think that he deserves better treatment than to be sent to the political slaughter house the latter end of his days. Bonia must, and if he does not, know he is very dense, that he has not got the same power behind him now that he had when he represented this district before. When Bonia represented this district before, his election was not due to his popularity, but was due to the late E. M. Jackman's, who was the best representative of the district of Placentia and St. Mary's ever had, and who was a great power in politics at the time. Bonia has no such power behind him now and he has no person to do the rigging for him, as he says himself. I am picturing Capt. Tom on the platform trying to explain the Fishery Regulations, the ruin, misery and poverty they caused the fishermen of the country; also what explanation he will give when he hears that there are hundreds of fishermen in this district who did not get paid for their last year's catch yet, and also an explanation as to how it is the Government could buy the Northernmen's fish and could not buy ours. As we are ignorant of those matters as well as the Salt and Sugar scandals we feel sure that the Capt. will enlighten us, but we will require a better explanation than a comic story of the Captain's make, and a story of the shoulder. Nothing doing in the little story line this time, Capt. There is one thing, Mr. Editor, that will not be an eyesore to him and that is any of the monuments he built when he represented the district last as they are very conspicuous by their absence. We will take any of the $100,000 that Capt. Tom will be pleased to give us, but our votes we will reserve for Walsh, Sullivan and Sinnott and the man who will vote for Bonia and Coakerism is false to himself, his family and his country. We read with interest W. J. Walsh's challenge to Squires, but I would not like the meeting to take place here because Squires would be brought home in a paper bag. Yours truly, BOURNITE. Placentia Bay, March 28, 1923.

No Use for Bonia.

PLACENTIA WILL CAN HIM.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir—I saw by Coaker's mouthpiece, the Advocate, that Capt. Bonia is to be one of the standard bearers of Coakerism in this district next election. If Capt. Tom is coming to the district in the interest of Coakerism, he is doing so contrary to his convictions, because he has no more use for Coaker than the writer of this note has, and I am prepared to hang by the neck till I die before I would cast a vote for him. There must be greater pressure brought to bear on Capt. Tom to force him into public life again, and as Capt. Tom was a good official I think that he deserves better treatment than to be sent to the political slaughter house the latter end of his days. Bonia must, and if he does not, know he is very dense, that he has not got the same power behind him now that he had when he represented this district before. This Rubber Roofing sold last year at $4.75 per roll, but as some of the rolls were slightly damaged we bought it cheap and we are selling it at only $3.00 per roll.

With each roll you buy we give you enough nails and cement to put the roofing onto your roof.

Houses covered with this Patent Rubber Roofing pay less insurance tax than roofs covered with common felt, and in addition to saving on insurance you save $1.75 per roll.

YOU CAN PICK OUT GOOD ROLLS IF YOU COME QUICKLY

Patent Rubberized Roofing doesn't need tar or other coating until it has been one year on your roof.

Bonavista Will Ring Coaker's Political Knell.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Allow me space to write a few lines re the elections here at Bonavista. At the present time public sentiment for a change is about fifty per cent, and as there are no candidates named for this district yet for the Opposition. People are wondering who the line-up will be, but I can assure you if Capt. Winsor, A. E. Hickman and Walter Monroe contest the district for the Opposition they certainly will come back with flying colors. Coaker's political stock is certainly going down at the present time, as the people are just as anxious for a change as they were last election. And as for John Abbott and R.

G. Winsor, they certainly will go to the scrap heap, as nobody is taking them seriously at the present. Union members are in hopes that Coaker will pull them through, but their hopes are very faint, especially against men of the Hickman and Monroe type, who practically fit out two-thirds of the fishermen of this district. And we, fishermen, Mr. Editor, would certainly like to see Sir John C. Crooble come here and give us one of his good old rousing hair raising speeches, something we would all like to hear and I am sure it would do a lot of good. Now then, Sir John, don't forget to come down and have one public meeting as there are a lot of us that would like to hear you, more so if Coaker happens to be around. I know he wouldn't meet you on a platform, as he is afraid you would give him a dose of his own medicine. Well, Mr. Editor, you can rest as-

SINCE THE BABY CAME.

Time was that I could lie me down to sleep an hour or two. Or take a friendly book in hand and sit and read it through; Time was that I could hum a tune or loudly sing the same. But that was in the distant past before the Baby came.

Once I was master in my house and boldly had my way. I'd cross my threshold with a grin and about a glad hooray! But mightier monarch rules the home and I am in eclipse, The shout of joy is silenced by her finger on her lips.

Time was I bravely slammed a door or called downstairs for aid. Or boldly walked from room to room in search of things mislaid; But now I tiptoe round the place, a narrow path I take, And I must hold my tongue until that little tyke's awake.

The home is not as once it was, we've built our lives anew. We're doing not the things we choose, but what she makes us do; A tiny tyrant rules us all, the house is hers to own, And that small crib wherein she lies is mightier than a throne.

In whispers now I speak my wants where once I loudly spoke. The very walls are altered, too, where once the laughter broke; And though the ways of old are gone, their joy I'd not reclaim, We do not want the home we knew before the Baby came.

Yours truly, BAIT TUB. Bonavista, March 15, 1923.

Walsh, Sullivan, Sinnott

NONE OTHERS NEED APPLY.

Dear Sir—A champion of the present Government, who visited this town recently, and whose zeal for the cause, overcame his discretion, is our authority for the following amazing information: "Squires is anxious to capture this district, and is prepared to spend all the money necessary to attain that end." Right here and now we want it clearly understood, that we are quite satisfied with our present three men, Walsh, Sinnott and Sullivan, and we are sending them back in a short while to represent us for another four years, with majorities that will leave no doubt of our feelings. And that's that. Is there not room for grave reflection on our parts, when the leader of the most extravagant Government which ever governed this island, will cold-bloodedly let it be known, that in order to retain his seats among the mighty, he will spend one hundred thousand dollars of the taxpayers' money?

What a disgraceful state of affairs! Is the Government lost to all sense of responsibility, and become so shameless that they will stop at nothing to achieve their ends? I wonder if we people of Newfoundland fully realize to what depths we have fallen, when such doings are tolerated. Time was, when in order to seek the votes of the people, the aspirant had first to seek the approval of the people in the form of a "Call from the people." But they are not doing it that way now. The defeat of the Government is being made surer every day, by the senseless mouthings of would-be politicians who have kidded themselves and would like to kid others with the idea that they have all the inside information on this district, when they know as much about the district as they do of the political situation in St. James. If these "wiseacres" could only realize the harm they are doing, the party they represent, they would remain at home, but you know the old adage: "The wise-birds will rush in," etc. This one announcement has absolutely killed the government in this district. The people of Placentia and St. Mary's cannot be told how to vote. Years of precedent prove this too clearly, and when they say that Walsh, Sullivan and Sinnott are going back there has not been enough money coined to change that decision. The Premier told the soldiers they were "paid to fight" and he told a political meeting the other night that the and his candidates were as truly fighting for their country as the soldiers did in the war. Was that what he meant? Apropos of this subject. We notice an article in the Advocate from Capt. Walter Kennedy, Holywood, endorsing Capt. Bonita for this district. We know Capt. Walter as a mental personality and a "good sport," but we cannot have him butting in to our district. We know the meaning of the phrase "Four tubs astern." And this will be exactly Capt. Bonita's position when the ballots are counted.

Yours truly,

COLD RECEPTION ACCORDED COAKERITES.

Editor Evening Telegram,
 Dear Sir,—I wish to call attention to the public news of this evening, with its reference to Sir Michael Cashin, his son and Mr. C. J. Fox. People here do not want such dope. Had Sir Michael Cashin 10 sons and 10 sons-in-law in politics and they were respectable, straight, and honest that is all we want. Things are not the same here as they were in 1919. Captain Jones made the statement here that the Humber Deal won't go through if the Government is not returned to power. The Government meeting held here last night went off quickly, but they could not pass off any bluff on the people.

Yours truly,
 CORRESPONDENT.
 Grand Falls, March 21st, 1923.

Have you tried MRS. STEWART'S Graham Bread?

"Is Nfld. Governed by Lunatics?"

A FEW ACTS OF POLITICAL INSANITY.

Considering all the insane and foolish things that have happened since Squires and Coaker are responsible for since their advent to power we are constrained to ask ourselves the above pertinent question. To undertake naming all the mistakes, blunders, and errors of the present administration would occupy more space than we are prepared to devote to this subject to-day. We shall, however, name a few of the nonsensical and idiotic actions of our present rulers and leave the answer to our questions to the discerning minds of the electorate of this unfortunate country of ours. Don't you think that it was an act of Mid-Summer madness for Squires and Coaker to burden this country with the cost and maintenance and upkeep of a line of second hand steamers such as the "Lobelia", the "Watchful", the "Malakoff", the "Sebastopol", the "Bene", the "Daisy," etc. etc.? Don't you think that it was an act of insanity for Coaker to take over the operation of the Railroad and break the Reid contract—cancelling thereby all the claims this country has against the Reid Nfd. Co. for non-fulfillment of their contractual obligations, and incidentally losing millions of dollars of the taxpayers money in his mad attempt to run a business which he knew nothing about? Don't you think it was a piece of insanity for the Government to allow the Food Control Board to buy five thousand barrels Granulated Sugar at the highest price this article ever reached in history, and lose half a million dollars ($500,000) on this transaction and then squeeze the life blood out of the taxpayers by demanding six to seven cents per pound duty on this commodity to make up for the losses that their idocy brought about? Don't you think that it was the act of a lunatic to inflict the iniquitous "Fishery Regulations" on this country and force every nine out of ten of our Fishery Exporters in to absolute ruin and bankruptcy? We shall prepare a few more questions for another issue but think we have shown enough to-day to warrant every sensible man asking himself the question:—Is Newfoundland Governed by Lunatics?

To the Point.

(By WILL U B WISE.)

Good times come again once more—so will be the result of the ousting of the present Government and its replacement by the sound and solid candidates that now represent the Opposition.

No Coakerite candidates are wanted in Conception Bay. Sufficient for years to come has been the misery caused in that bay by the ruinous policy of the Government during the past forty months.

From far-off St. Barbe comes the joyful news that there also the Government is doomed. Business men and fishermen generally have no use for Coakerism whatever.

"How is business to-day" queried a visitor yesterday to a Water Street store. "Nothing doing," replied the owner. "Why is this?" added the visitor; "I always see quite a number in here when I come in." "Oh, yes," answered the owner, "but these are Government Inspectors and Tax Collectors!"

The tremendous sentiment swelling up in favor of a Bennett Government has given a terrible fit of blues to the Coakerites.

The Government press is lashing itself into a fury of despair and desperation over the dismal prospects plainly visible to all their scribes. It is the last lash of their infuriated feelings before they kick the political bucket.

"It's no use" cry the Coakerites to content such a District as John's East. But to make some kind of a showing there, they will set up their nonentities as political "cockshots."

A mother and her babe starved in Bonavista Bay and others are in a bad state also. What a terrible state of affairs the whole country exhibits after three years of Coakerite domination.

Forty-seven families gone from Bay-de-Verde, within a radius of 15 miles. Another example of misgovernment and interference with the trade and fisheries of the Colony by the worst group of politicians that has ever been known.

No wonder Bay-de-Verde District strongly favors the return of a Bennett Government and the complete defeat of Cave and his colleague.

Laborers of St. John's West. Remember it was the political boss of Squires, Campbell and Fitzgibbon who classed you as "bums and loafers," and who threatened to make "the grass grow on Water Street!" As Campbell and Fitzgibbon are out of the running, don't let anybody coax you into a split vote for Squires, who is now their only hope. Remember the loss of one vote often causes the loss of one man; the loss of one man the loss of a party; and the loss of a party, the loss of a country. Vote the straight ticket then for CASHIN, HUNT and LINEGAR and run no risk whatever of injuring your welfare and that of your family.

Water Street Clerk

APPEALS TO HIS FELLOW EMPLOYEES.

Editor Evening Telegram
 Dear Sir,—I am not, nor never have been a political enthusiast, and would not on this occasion take any excessive interests in the general election but for the fact that now more than at any other time, our very existence is at stake. Contrast the conditions in the business establishments to-day with what they were four years ago, and none will deny but that the present outlook is such as to cause us the greatest consternation. Then every clerk was secure in his position and no fear of the future hung over his head. Unfortunately, as soon as Mr. Coaker got his grip on the Government and put the infamous Fish Regulations into effect, all at once there came a deplorable change, ending up in the havoc that exists to-day, and the throwing out of employment of hundreds, nay thousands, of workers. In the general devastation, many poor clerks have miserably suffered, some to find themselves in the griping of their lives, practically stranded.

The Women of St. John's West

WILL DO THEIR SHARE TO BURY COAKERISM.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I should like it to be made known in a public manner that the women of St. John's West are as deeply interested in this election soon to take place, as their husbands, sons and brothers. I may say in fact they are more so for their very existence is now at stake. No one has suffered more, perhaps, during the past three years than the women at home who have been obliged to bear so much of the sufferings caused by the terribly hard times that Coakerism has brought us. We have had to bear this suffering in silence, and weep and weep in the long hours of the day and night, for many long weary months in the year, because of the fact that our breadwinners have been so often deprived of the employment necessary for the upkeep of their homes.

We have a chance now to bring about better times by the election of a Bennett Government, and therefore I am glad to see so many of my sex enthusiastically appealing to their menfolk to vote the straight ticket for CASHIN, HUNT AND LINKAGH. In the neighborhood where I live all the women are in favor of the Opposition Party; and naturally to please us, for they know our welfare is their welfare also, the men assure us they will be only too glad to do their share in outgiving the Coaker candidates.

HEMORRHOIDS
Do not suffer another day with itching, bleeding, or protruding piles or hemorrhoids. No surgical operation required. Dr. Chase's Ointment will relieve you at once and afford lasting benefit. 60¢ a box; 25¢ a tube. Dr. Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Sample box free.

Only a few paid shouters are supporting the latter and these are all well dotted for their outrageous attempt to try and bring more suffering on us.

Hurrah, for the women of St. John's West, then, and may every woman in the Island help us out. We may have no votes, but then we have true good-hearted husbands, who have, and, who by crushing Coakerism for us, will prevent any more suffering to their wives and children.

Yours truly,

Wouldn't it Make a Cat Laugh!

MR. COAKER ON R. A. SQUIRES—(COPIED FROM ADVOCATE, FEBRUARY 21st, 1919.)

"The same Mr. R. A. Squires who fought tooth and nail to retain a position in the National Government and introduced a bill to extend the life of Parliament in 1917. And yet he prates about the 'sacred' Constitution. Wouldn't it make a cat laugh!"

"The same Mr. R. A. Squires who fawned on Mr. Coaker while both were in the National Government and was as nice as pie while he was endeavoring to negotiate a safe Union seat under the wing of Mr. Coaker at the next election. And yet he talks about 'convictions!'

"This is the same Mr. Squires who was willing to remain in the National Government under Sir W. F. Lloyd, but, when he heard others in the Executive thought of resigning, began to falter because he was thinking of his own selfish aims and aspirations. And yet he talks of 'independent' actions. Tell that to the marines!"

"This is the same Mr. Squires who, when he was told Mr. Bennett was rejoining the National Government, said, they should have provided for him too! After all R. A. S. has done some things and done them pretty badly!"

"And talking about buying and selling, Mr. Coaker to-day has only to beckon with his finger to the Star and Mr. Squires and they would come over bag and baggage, and never ask for one concession as long as they could bank in the broad Union smile of prosperity that is spreading throughout the land."

Is this enough, Friends Mossell and Mews, or do you want it rubbed in a little more on another day? Just say the word.

Forty-Four Years in the Service of the Public—The Evening Telegram.

Exhibit at Methodist College.
LARGE GATHERING VIEW DESIGNS.

The exhibition in the Methodist College Hall yesterday afternoon and evening, of work done by the pupils, girls and boys, during the past term was viewed with considerable interest by a large gathering of spectators. The exhibits were tastefully arranged on long tables which occupied considerable floor space and altogether about 280 articles were shown. The principal exhibit was about 150 pieces of woodwork done by the boys of the Manual Training Department under the teaching and direction of Mr. J. B. Young. In this class many useful and ornamental designs were to be seen, including hat racks and trees, lamp stands, brush holders, picture frames, etc., while several beautiful specimens of carving excited much interest. The excellence of the boys' exhibit was equalled by the girls in the showing of their culinary skill. There were pies, cakes, biscuits, and other goodies that looked very appetizing. The girls also displayed many very fine pieces of plain and fancy work, embroidering, crocheting, etc., their whole exhibit being of exceptional merit. The little tots of the kindergarten also had a place in the show and their exhibits consisted of paper cut-outs, cardboard model chairs, dolls houses, etc., as well as models of animals, statues, etc., moulded in plasticine. Every article of the exhibition was of excellent workmanship and quality and the owners and teachers are to be congratulated on the successful showing. During the afternoon the exhibits were gone through by competent judges, and the prize winners will be announced, and the awards made when the classes re-assemble after the Easter holidays, which begin to-day. The entire exhibition gave a striking example of the good work being done in the College apart from the regular routine of study. In connection with the exhibition a radio concert supplied entertainment. The concert was broadcasted from the Marconi Company's office on Water Street and was received at the Hall on a set made by one of the pupils of the College, Master George Roberts. Amplification was supplied by the Marconi Company and by means of a Magnatone, the different items were clearly heard throughout the hall. The programme was opened by an address by Mr. C. P. Ayre who spoke on the exhibition and the excellence of the exhibits. He also referred to the improvements in wireless, particularly the sending of the voice through space. During the evening, songs were rendered by Mr. R. Steele, Miss Jean Taylor, Mr. Leo Dillon, Mr. A. Neary, Mr. Dan Delmar, Mr. Karl Trapnell, Mr. J. Canning, Mr. H. Courtenay, Mrs. Gordon Christian, Miss Estelle Barnes; Piano Solos, Mr. Gordon Christian, Mr. Alan Pittman; Cello Solo, Hon. A. W. Mews; Mrs. A. W. Mews, Miss Eva Harris, Mr. Christian and Mr. Pittman accompanied. Mr. Collins and Mr. Brown were announcers. The concert was a great success and the excellent numbers rendered were a delightful treat.

Mr. Cluney Replies.
Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—In yesterday's issue of that unsavoury sheet, the Evening Advocate, there appears over the nom de plume of Harbour Main a criticism of the few words spoken by me at the meeting held in St. John's on Friday night. Now I wish to inform Mr. Harbour Main that I am not a little bit worried over the result in Harbour Main. Any schoolboy with the average amount of intelligence can say that the result of the two previous elections will again be repeated in a few weeks, and that as night succeeds day so surely is a change coming that will put men of the like of Mr. Harbour Main doing something more than kicking the milk from the Government nurse bottle. Let me tell you, Mr. Harbour Main, that I am held in more respect by the good people of that settlement than you, are on the South Shore—your native residence, if I am not greatly mistaken. As to my similarity to a dog that makes a lot of noise, I wish to point out to your benumbed brain that a good Newfoundland dog is a valuable and reliable animal and when he gets his grip on anything he is sure to hold on and bring it to safety. Such a fellow, Mr. Harbour Main, you will find in your humble servant, Sam Cluney. No Government boodle fills the pockets of Sam Cluney. Through rain and snow you will find me on the road at my occupation—not of raking in the shekels from the Government treasury, but doing an honest day's work at my humble trade. Your reference to me as a butcher or "botcher" is timely, seeing that I made you squeal pretty loudly. Let me repeat that I have the courage of my convictions, no hiding behind an assumed name—as you have cowardly done. Come out in the open over your own signature and play the man and I will answer you to the best of my ability, although not an educated man.

Too many pap-fed parasites like you, Mr. Harbour Main, infest the South Shore. It is time some of them were made do a decent day's work instead of being a burden on the taxpayers of this unfortunate country. In my next letter, Mr. Editor, I am going to show up some of those people and let the public of Harbour Main District see them squirm, when things are laid bare. You may purchase some votes, it is true, but there isn't enough gold in the Government chest to turn the intelligent voters of Harbour Main district from their allegiance to Bennett. Already the dawn of prosperity is shining on the horizon. It will be welcomed by the long suffering of Newfoundland as well as by your humble servant.

Yours truly,
S. CLUNEY.

First Real Conquest of Ireland.

The first real conquest of Ireland was accomplished at the end of March, 1603, when Tyrone, reduced to extremities in Ulster, submitted to Sir Henry Doovyn. It cost Elizabeth, in the last four years, her reign, more than £1,200,000; and the mere multiplication of this figure by ten, to reach its modern value, gives us an idea of the drain on England's resources. The total revenue for these four years was £93,810, so that during these years, Elizabeth's expenditure in Ireland alone exceeded her entire revenue by more than a third. These figures throw some light on the charge of parsimony which might more justly be brought against Elizabeth's Parliament, than against the queen herself, though she boasted of being a good "housewife," and over five years revenue was devoted to the conquest. In human lives it cost more than the naval war against Spain, and no service was more unpopular with English soldiers. The barbarism was not all on one side, and famine and murder accounted for English as well as for Irish losses; as it has on many occasions since. Ferocious as were the methods employed, it was not the conquest itself so much as the use to which it was put, that planted roots of future bitterness and seeds of lasting strife. England spent millions to settle English landlords in Ireland, only in the end to spend more millions in order to buy them out. Whether the creation of a Free State will bring peace to this "Green Isle," remains to be seen. Let us hope that it will do so, for no country has been blessed with more aids to prosperity than Ireland.

M.C.E.—Fifty-sixth Session meets to-night, Thursday, March 29th. Debate: Resolved: That the Modern Church has lost its Convictions. Leaders: Mr. L. C. Morris and Rev. Dr. Curtis. Visitors welcome—mar29,31

Why Squires - Coaker Supporters Get Through the Windows.

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir,—At the request of a friend who is a Squires supporter I visited their committee rooms the other night in order that I might personally hear what the speakers had to say on behalf of the Squires-Coaker Government. I did not know whether the moon appeared over my right shoulder, or a black cat crossed my track, before I stepped upon the threshold, but some such significant omens of ill-luck must have befallen me for when I got in, there was asked to speak a young man named Gibbs, whom I was told was sent there by his father to enlighten St. John's electors as to how they should vote. Immediately the hand of M. P. Gibbs was seen indirectly in evidence, cold shivers came over the audience, and such were so plainly discernible that I felt a sense of pity for them all, particularly when muttering could be easily heard to the effect that the "Kibosh" is on our cause for sure, now when M. P. Gibbs bluffs in among us." What the young man tried to say, I don't know, nor did I think the audience cared, for everybody seemed to be more impressed by the "spats" which adorned the boot tops of Mr. Gibbs Jr., than what he was saying. I caught a few words about the Humber Deal and industries, and then my mind led me to think that perhaps Mr. Gibbs was pleading for the establishment of a "spat" factory in the Humber Valley. I have no doubt the young man would be able to give a most excellent lecture on the desirability of wearing "spats" and their powers of attracting the admiring attention of observers, but in considering him as an adviser to intelligent men who have lived many more years in St. John's West than he has, I would rather admire the upper portion of his anatomy viz: his cheek. Feeding the voters of St. John's West on "brilliant" speeches from Mr. Leo Carter and Mr. Gibbs, Jr., are samples of the political food the Squires trio are providing. It is no wonder that the audience got out through the windows instead of waiting to use the regular exits, as one of the Government papers recently stated. Fortunately, on the night in question a nearby window provided an opportunity for myself to get out quickly, along with a group of the Committee doing likewise, and so I lost the remaining portions of what young Mr. Gibbs was supposed to be talking about.

Yours truly,
MICKEY FREE.
March 28th, 1923.

Tired of Bluffers.

Editor Evening Telegram
Dear Sir—Allow me space for a few remarks regarding the general elections soon to take place. I read a lot in the Daily Mail about the Humber Deal. Did not Mr. Squires and his party think of the Humber before now? What did they do to uplift the country during the past 3 1/2 years? I hear they were building monuments of broken stone in St. John's. We should be up and doing. It is time to turn the wasters out and put in men who will give the people something better than breaking rocks. If they are again returned to power there will be rockslides in every district in the country. Newfoundland will get nowhere if our fishery is not carried on. When the merchants were knocked out by the Fishing Regulations, they could give us no help, and we were sent breaking rocks, building roads in the wilderness or shovelling snow. The Advocate says if Coaker is returned to power he will send two new steamers to the icefields. He had plenty of time the past 3 1/2 years to build steamers, and he is only bluffing. He cried before, "down with the merchants," and when they were down we had to go to the Government and beg for a barrel of a bag. It is far up to see that we are not going to be bluffed as we were in 1918. We will turn the bluffers out by voting for Bennett on his party.

Yours truly,
ON DECK.

"Squires will win." Yes, the Booby Prize.

An invention has been made, it is claimed, whereby the captain of a ship may note the depth of water on which he sails. He can see the bottom.

J. R. Bennett has been able for some time past to view the bottom of the financial sea into which Squires has brought us.

The bottom is rocky and the water dangerously shallow.

Bennett and his colleagues can see also to the bottom of the Squires schemes, and the jig is up.

Can't fool all the people all the time.

The Higgins game is the many game. "Billy" knows the rules governing a good square game. You bet he keeps to them.

The real issue, Coaker or not Coaker. "To be or not to be," the dupes of a mad man.

"Squires government is coming back"—on a shutter.

St. John's East has lots of brains. Not calf brains either.

Nature abhors a vacuum, so do we, that is why we do not like the Advocate.

"Drastically beaten"—An Advocateism, a Coakerism, in effect.

"Coaker the Idol." We thought he was getting near deism when we saw that Circular Letter to "Dear Friend Jim."

Coaker is a remarkably systematic man—especially in making costly blunders.

He got a 75 per cent. vote in Bonavista last election. He spoke for 75 minutes last night in that town. Just exactly one minute for each one per cent. You talk of system!

"What did the Bennett bunch do since 1919 but obstruct and destroy?" asks the Advocate.

The greatest act of destruction yet arranged is that now, in process of preparation.

Bennett will destroy the Destroyers—Coaker and Squires.

The Advocate tumbler pigeon was at work again last evening.

In the midst of its oratorical flight "Rally, Newfoundlanders and send our men to work after polling day," it tumbled and forgot to finish the sentence which I beg leave to supply by the words "to all Squires out!"

The appeal is made to Newfoundlanders to send "our men to work."

Who are "our men"? Are they the cheap $7.00 a week men they are going to import for work on the Humber?

"I am tremendously interested in advertising and things of that sort."

"What was the last non-fiction book that you read?"

"If you were to sit down and make out a list of the non-fiction books that you read last year how many would there be on it?"

"How often do you go to the dictionary and look up a new word which you have met in your reading? How often do you take the pains to verify a word when there is some uncertainty of its meaning?"

"Do You Look Things Up?" When some place is spoken of, the location of which is not at all clear in your mind, is it your habit to turn to your atlas and look it up?"

"When a question about historical facts comes up do you each make guesses and let it go at that or do you turn to the encyclopedia?"

"Perhaps there is no encyclopedia in your home. That would not be so strange for not everyone can afford an encyclopedia at first, but I have known homes of people who certainly did not consider themselves in the class of the ignorant and yet in which there was neither atlas nor dictionary."

Use SUNLIGHT SOAP and Save Your Money!

Sunlight Soap is so pure that it will not injure even a baby's tender skin. You cannot get better Soap than Sunlight, even though you pay twice its price. Sunlight Soap being all pure Soap, is really cheaper than inferior, adulterated soaps.

Here are the Proofs:

When you buy a bar of Sunlight Soap for 15 cents you get 12 ounces of pure Soap, whereas when you buy an 8 ounce bar of adulterated soap for ten cents, you get only 6 ounces of soap and 2 ounces of adulterant, therefore the adulterated soap costs you 20 cents for 12 ounces of soap.

If you take a twelve ounce bar of Sunlight Soap and cut it into 2 pieces, one piece weighing 8 ounces and the other piece weighing 4 ounces. The 8 ounce piece of Sunlight cost you 10 cents, and the 4 ounce piece cost you 5 cents, and each piece is pure Sunlight Soap.

Where can you buy 8 ounces of pure soap for less than 10 cents?
 Where can you buy 4 ounces of pure soap for less than 5 cents?

Use Sunlight Soap for washing your clothes because it is the purest soap and because it will not injure your clothing.
 Use Sunlight Soap for scrubbing your floors, because being all pure soap it is really the cheapest soap you can buy.

Sunlight Soap is made and guaranteed by Lever Bros., Ltd., soap makers by appointment to His Majesty King George V.
 Lever's Guarantee reads as follows: 1,000 Pounds (or $5,000.00) will be paid to anyone proving Sunlight Soap to contain any injurious chemicals or adulterants.

Soap which costs less than SUNLIGHT is worth less!

COAKERISM DOOMED IN TRINITY.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—Please publish the following few items in your valuable paper as it is not often one reads any news from this place except in the Advocate and that giving only one side of the story. The Advocate states that Coaker will win the day. I say to do so he will have a hard fight as there are a good many non Union men here, at Port Rexton, Champney's East and Champney's West. These places would like to see Mr. J. G. Stone around here. Of course he may get black looks from the special party which sticks to Coaker for what they can get out of him. These men who hold out for Coaker only do so because they have their little savings put in the Trading Company. If they go back on Coaker they are afraid they will lose their money. That is where he has them. A lot of poison talk is going the rounds here breeding discontent in the minds of the people. Why do not people use their own consciences and do as seems good to themselves? I will again say don't be too sure of the Coakerites being returned victorious on Polling Day you won't find all will give an account of themselves on Polling Day. The United Fishermen did not hold any meeting around here. If they had come they would have got many signatures to their resolutions. Can anyone tell what good Coaker and his party have done for us during the past four years. We can see plenty of children naked and hungry. Is it not time for people to open their eyes and see where their folly is leading them. Thousands of our fine young men had to leave Newfoundland for foreign parts to earn a living. High taxation is driving many more away. Men of Terra Nova, you have been asleep too long. It is time to look out for your rights. Give Mr. Bennett the Leader of the Liberal-Labour Progressive Party all the assistance you can and turn from power the crowd that has brought the country almost to ruin.

Yours truly,

C. L. B. Cadets.

All ranks at Headquarters are speeding up in all departments preparatory to Battalion Parade on Easter Tuesday when the Regimental Chaplain his Lordship Bishop White will formally introduce the newly appointed Lieut. Colonel, Walter Rendell, C.B.E., of the Royal Nfd. Regiment to the Brigade as their Officer Commanding. Old Comrades under President Chafe, Battalion and bugle bands, O and K Companies of Field College are also parading and a special invitation has been sent to the ladies auxiliary of the C.L.B. to be present as the guests of the Officers.

Last Thursday the lads were given a rare treat in listening to a lecture by Engineer Commander Howley, R. N., late of the H.M.S. Irresistible. The Brigade were keen listeners to his account of the earthquake at Messina and of the attempt to get through the Dardanelles Straits. Commander Howley had over 100 wounds from shell splinters, etc., and exhibited some of his "iron pills" to those present. He described the sinking of the Irresistible by a mine most graphically and of the escape of his shipmates from the engine-room. The Brigade hopes to have another lecture from his again.

Athletic and gymnastics are making progress under Sergt. Major H. Rendell, Serjts. Adams, Fred Stone and Corp. Keats. Boxing classes are also being held by ex-School Champion Sergt. Arthur Johnson son of Percie Johnson, Esq., Sergt. Johnson has taken the ribbon at his Col. lege for boxing and is finding his pupils very anxious and willing to learn this manly exercise.

Tuesday night's parade showed 120 all ranks on duty. Lt. Col. Walter Rendell, C.B.E., paid an unofficial visit to the Mess and received a very hearty welcome. Major Williams, Acting Officer Commanding, Major Tait, M.C., Adjutant; Capt. Herbert Outerbridge, M.B.E., Joseph Snow, P. R. Rendell, Lieut. Fred Reid, Perlin, P. G. J. B. and Hayward and Sgt. Sergt. Harold Rendell were on duty.

P. G. J.'s attendance was the largest on parade with recruits second with forty lads answering to the roll. Bay Roberts H. Company sends in good news. January report shows an average parade of 48 out of 58 on the strength. Good work Major Dawe O.C. February report shows 62 on the strength and three on leave Lance Corp. Russell, Pte. M. Pritchard and Bandsman Snow. Following recruits have been sworn in, John Norman, James Norman and W. O.P. Bellamy. Acting Sergt. Serick has resigned. The Bay Roberts C.L.B. Ladies' Auxiliary held a great sale on February 12th and 13th and although winter storms prevailed—a record sum of three hundred and thirty dollars was realized. Heartiest congratulations to Mrs. Walter Crosbie, President and Mrs. Charles Noel Butt, Secretary and to each and every lady of the Auxiliary.

Grand Falls Company reports 55 on the strength for February with an average attendance of only 31 and fifteen lads discharged for non-attendance. We hope these lads will all shortly apply to rejoin and the attendance will be more regular in future.

Bonavista Company reports 35 on the strength for February with an average attendance of 21. Lieut. J. J. Bishop is now in Command of L. Company Bonavista and doing good steady work. Seven parades were held during last month. We have no reports last month of our other Companies. Battalion orders for last week at Headquarters announce the following promotions at Bonavista. No. 5400 Corp. Thomas Etsell to be Sergt., No. 5401 Lance Corp. George Ford to be Corporal, No. 5402 Lance Corp. Etsell to be Corporal, No. 5394 Pte. W. Templeman to be Lance Corporal. Headquarters sends best wishes to all officers and lads of the 1st Nfd. Regiment Church Lads' Brigade and wishes them all a very happy Easter.

An Eastern Tragedy.

Towards the end of March, 1891, a disastrous adventure befell a party of Englishmen at Manipur, a small native state bordering Assam and Burma. The native ruler had seven brothers; one of these, who held the position of Senapati, or commander-in-chief of the army, deposed the king, and put a weak and feeble brother in his place as regent. The British Government was called upon to put matters right, and on March 21st, it despatched Mr. Quilton, the Chief Commissioner of Assam, with a small force, to Manipur to remonstrate with the Senapati. On the 22nd they entered Manipur, and were received with the utmost politeness. The Senapati, however, resolutely refused to appear, and Colonel Skene with 250 men, was sent to arrest him. His house was taken after a sharp struggle, but the wily owner had escaped. He soon reappeared at the head of a fierce artillery attack on the British Residency, which suffered greatly. A parley was agreed upon at a spot midway between the Residency and the Palace, and Mr. Quilton took with him Colonel Skene, Mr. Grimwood, Mr. Cousins, and Lieutenant Simpson, all unarmed, and without escort. The anxious watchers at the Residency saw that after a long talk, the whole party walked on, and entered the fort, the doors of which closed on them. The attack on the Residency was immediately renewed, and with the odds against them, and the ammunition falling, the Englishmen were in dire straits. Through infinite difficulty and danger they managed to retire across country to meet Captain Cowley's relief party, carrying seventeen wounded, and accompanied by Mrs. Grimwood, who displayed the highest courage and resource throughout. It was not until April 26 that the fate of the Chief Commissioner and his colleagues was known. Three columns converged on to Manipur, only to find the place deserted, the palace blown up, the princes fled, and the mutilated bodies of the Englishmen in the enclosure. The Senapati was soon afterwards captured, and after due trial, was hanged for his crimes on August 19th, 1891.

Removing Grease Stains From Leather.

While it is possible to remove grease spots on leather shoes, handbags, and similar articles by carefully sponging the affected parts with benzine or methylated spirit, it sometimes happens that in this treatment the stain is spread or the colour of the leather is altered. Hence the following method (devised by the Bureau of Chemistry of the U.S.A. Department of Agriculture), which avoids this difficulty, is recommended.

Protected by Rubber.
The stain should be moistened round the edges and then painted with a solution of rubber such as is ordinarily used by cyclists to repair punctures. After a few minutes the layer of rubber may be peeled off, when the grease stain, having been absorbed by the rubber, will be found to have disappeared. This method has the advantage that the treatment can be readily confined to the stained parts.

How They Do It.

(Grandbrook Courier.)
After a good deal of study and work we have at last figured out why so many editors get rich. Here is the secret of success: A child is born in the neighborhood; the attending physician gets $25, the editor gives the loud-junged youngster and the happy parents a send-off and gets $50. It is christened; the minister gets $10 and the editor $50. It grows up and marries; the editor publishes another long-winded, flowery article and tells a dozen lies about the beautiful bride; the minister gets $10 and a piece of cake; the editor gets $50. In the course of time it dies and the doctor gets $55 to $100, the minister gets another $15, the undertaker gets from $50 to $100; the editor publishes a notice of the death and an obituary two columns long, lodge and society resolutions, a lot of poetry and receives $50. No wonder so many editors get rich.

MRS. BUDGE SO WEAK COULD HARDLY STAND

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Restored Her Health

River Desert, Que.—"I used to have a severe pain in my side. I would be unable to walk fast and could not stand for any length of time to do my ironing or washing, but I would have to lie down to get relief from the pain. I had this for about two years, then a friend told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as she had had good results. I certainly got good results from it, too, as the last time I had a sore side was last May and I have not had it since. I am also glad of having good nursing for my baby, and I think it is your medicine that helped me in this way."—Mrs. L. V. BUDGE, River Desert, Quebec.

If you are suffering from the tortures of a displacement, irregularities, backache, headaches, nervousness, or a pain in the side, you should lose no time in trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.
Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Affections Peculiar to Women" will be sent you free upon request. Write for it to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario. This book contains valuable information that every woman should know.

Attacking the Merchants

A THREADBARE POLICY.

The political jobbers who now control the Government have set out on a campaign of slander of their opponents that must be repugnant to every lover of fair play and clean politics. The attack on Mr. Monroe by Premier Squires is a sample of the tactics being employed. Such an attack, however, will lower the Leader of the Government to the level of a common street corner orator. Mr. Monroe is one of our most successful business men, and the fact that he met with reverses is due to the destructive policy of Squires and Coaker. Coaker introduced a policy so vicious, so impractical and so out of harmony with common sense that he succeeded in demoralizing and paralyzing trade and Mr. Monroe, like others, had to suffer. The fishermen whom Coaker ruined were unable to pay for their supplies so that fishermen and suppliers suffered alike. It is, therefore, heartless as well as indecent, for Squires to refer in this way to the work of his own hands, his own friends involved in the transaction and largely responsible for the unfavorable condition of Mr. Monroe's business. Therefore Squires is unfit to be further entrusted with the Government.

An Appreciation.

To the Writer of the Menace of Coakerism, Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—I feel that the people of Newfoundland will owe you a deep debt of gratitude for the way you are showing up Mr. Coaker and his actions. You are fighting for a great cause, let me tell you, for I consider no cause greater than that of exposing a man who has had such a career as he has. I am so sorry for all of my poor misguided countrymen who have been duped by his unbridled tongue and pen that I have often longed for the day to come when someone would arise to slate him and unmercifully expose him. Keep up the good fight and show him up in his real character. I pity any man who sets his name mixed up with Coaker in any of his doings, for I can foresee the day they will hang their heads in shame at the thought of ever having anything to do with him.
Yours, etc.
NEWFOUNDLANDER.
Catalina, March 20, 1922.

They Have Learned to Know Him.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—I don't think it is fair for the papers to be making out that all the fishermen of the North are in favor of Coaker, because there are thousands, I believe, who have no use for him at all.

He will find when the proper time comes that he and his tools in St. John's will be no more able to gull us than Coaker himself was able to hatch out gulls on Dunnage Island.
For goodness sake, Mr. Editor, don't let it be spread broadcast over Newfoundland that the fishermen are followers of Coaker, for we are not. I would be ashamed for anybody to accuse me on such an absurd charge, and I know of my own knowledge there are many others with the same opinions as myself. No decent man with a wife and family but should blush with shame at the thought of being a party to mix up with that fellow in any way, and I am sure every fisherman would be of the same mind as I am if they knew even only half as much about him as some of us know here.
Yours truly,
TRUE FISHERMAN.
Milton, T.B., March 19, 1922.

Making Square Holes.

Most people cannot, and are quite sure that no one else can, make a square hole with a centre-bit, until they have seen it done. Certainly it does seem ridiculous to say that a tool turning on its own centre will produce a square hole. However, if the material to be bored is presented to the bit in the right way a square hole will be the result.

Dye to Test Death.

BLUE THREADS THROUGH SKIN THAT TURN YELLOW.

A remarkable new means of making certain that death has ensued has been discovered as a result of progress in chemical analysis by means of dyes.

By the change in colour of one of these dyes it is stated to be possible to make a conclusive test of death. Coloured threads stained with a blue dye are threaded through the skin and left there for an hour and are then withdrawn. If the blue colour has changed to yellow it may be taken, says the inventor, M. Silvio Rebello, to prove death conclusively.

The performance took place in a strong, south-westerly wind, and will give to M. Maneyrol the £88 prize given by the French constructor, De Woitte.

Whilst longer distances were flown in circles over aerodromes, this is the longest straight-line glide so far recorded.

HOW SQUIRES MADE IMPROVEMENTS.

Reorganizing the Marine and Fisheries Department.

"I propose to make the Marine and Fisheries Department one of the most important departments of the Government. It requires a complete reorganization," said Mr. R. A. Squires in his 1919 Manifesto. Nearly four years have elapsed since this promise was made, and to-day the Marine and Fisheries Department, in a chaotic state because it is without a head, is probably the most inefficient in the country. W. F. Coaker, the fishermen's friend, according to himself, was the man selected for the task of reorganizing the department. How well he succeeded is shown by the fact that it is impossible to obtain any nearly accurate figures in connection with the cod or other fisheries at any time, information which should always be accessible there. Even Mr. Penney, who was sent on a pilgrimage to Norway to learn how the Norwegians made their fish, admitted in his picturesque report, the only result of an expensive trip, that the Norwegian fish merchants complained that they could never obtain accurate figures concerning our codfishery.

But what else but inefficiency could be expected from this most important department, when its head was rarely or ever in his office. Premier Squires promised that the Marine and Fisheries Department would, after its reorganization, help to secure new markets for our fishery products. He fulfilled that promise by instituting the Fish Regulations which antagonized all our old markets, and so far, no new ones have been secured. The Minister of Marine and Fisheries, Mr. W. F. Coaker, was frequently abroad on expensive trips, instead of looking after his department. About two years ago, he took all his personal belongings from his office and since that time, has not been inside its doors. A ship cannot get along without its captain, nor can a department progress without the Minister in charge being always on the job. That is why, instead of maintaining the efficiency which should be found in the most important department in the country, the Department of Marine and Fisheries is utterly disorganized to-day. Another good reason why the people of Newfoundland should make an end of Coaker and Squires misrule by voting for

BENNETT & BETTER TIMES.

Cannot Show Cause Why the Government Should be Returned.

We've looked carefully through the Squires-Coaker organs during the past few weeks, and not once have we seen in those "bought and paid for" papers, any proofs of the present Government's fitness to guide Newfoundland through the ensuing four years. As you know, when a firm has been in business four years, the managers must be able to show results if they wish to retain their jobs, so also when a man is given a trap or a schooner for a term, he must make good or he loses control of the trap or schooner. The present Government have been in charge for four years. If you believe they managed things properly and give treated you right, you should give consideration for their request for re-election. If they have treated you right and governed this country properly during the past four years, they should now be able to tell you just what they did for you. Isn't that correct? We assert that they didn't manage things properly and that they didn't treat the electors right. Indeed, we go further and say they treated the people badly, and we can prove what we say to be true. The electors should not give their votes to the present Government, unless they know what the crowd did for them since 1918. That's the question they should ask Squires and Coaker. Both these men were elected to do the best they could for Newfoundland. What did Squires do for the city or Coaker for the outports? Ask them electors. It is easy to be seen that Squires and Coaker did quite a lot for themselves. They're both well-off men with houses, motor cars and plenty of money. But what did they do for those who elected them? They, as members of the government, should have done a lot for the people. They, as members elected by the people in 1918 should have done a lot for Newfoundland.

THE REAL PERSONS RESPONSIBLE.

Squires and Coaker were responsible to the voters for the acts of the Government. Therefore Squires and Coaker are responsible for the Fish Regulations that ruined the country. Squires and Coaker are responsible for the taxes taken from the electors by the Government. Over twelve hundred dollars from each voter during four years. It's up to Squires and Coaker to show you what they did for you since you elected them. We are showing them what they did to you. They drove your sons to foreign lands and took $1200 each from you in taxes. Do you intend voting for them again? If you're satisfied that they're doing nothing for you, why should you vote for them? If you put them in again you will have to pay another $1200 each or more, that's certain. Thousands of dollars are now being spent to elect Squires and Coaker. Their heeled are working overtime, and you must do the paying. You should not vote for either Squires or Coaker. They don't deserve your vote. They did nothing for you since you elected them. Whom will you have—Bennett and Better Times or Squires and Coaker? Now, bear in mind that Bennett will be elected and will have the Government very soon. The outports alone will give Bennett a majority of twelve members in the new Liberal-Progressive Government. Are you going to help by giving Bennett six members for St. John's in the new Government, or are you going to split your vote and waste it on the Squires-Coaker men who will NOT be in the Government?

WHERE BONIA WILL BE ON POLLING DAY.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—I noticed in the Advocate of the 24th inst. an item announcing Holyrood as being joyful over Bonia and Hearn joining the Squires party. I wish to inform the writer he is not stating the truth, as very few here understand such treachery. It's only individuals like the writer who laud such mean transactions. It is fresh in the minds of every voter how low he can condescend when mean actions count I am not a fisherman, but I understand what is meant by "Four Tubs Astern" but I am well aware that the writer of that article was not that distance to heaven when he scooped in seven thousand dollars of our money when employed under the cruel fish regulations, not counting what he received for distributing poor relief in the Straits which seems to have been kept in the dark. But the day is not far distant when an opportunity will be given to ascertain the correct amount given this gentleman for his services. In a few weeks we will show him and his associates what Holyrood will do, and I am sure to express the sentiments of many who are only awaiting the opportu-

ity to show the country that we still stick to our colours and hail with delight the coming of the nominees of J. R. Bennett. I am, dear Sir, Yours truly,

Wesleyville Instructs St. Barbe.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—I have been very much interested in Mr. J. D. Henry's letters in your columns. The part of the District of St. Barbe which he knows so well seems to have been grossly neglected by the Coaker Government. Does anyone wonder at that? What one does wonder at is that the District, whose traditions are Liberal, should have been fooled into electing a Squires-Coaker man. This is a combination which never did, and never can represent the Liberal traditions of such men as Whiteley and Bond. They assumed the title of Liberal to deceive the District—but in reality they represent Tory ideas and traditions, and these at their worst. It is an old saying, "Tory times were hard times." Were ever Tory times harder than Squires-Coaker times?

Mr. Henry tells of the utter neglect of the Government last fall with regard to shipping facilities for the N. W. Coast. The Government's delinquency is quite intelligible when one considers the whole aspect of the situation. Coaker is lord of all, and must dance to his tunes. Coaker is the biggest merchant in Newfoundland in his capacity as head of the F.P.U. Everything must be made to serve the interests of the Fishermen's Protective Union, and the several other organizations of which Coaker is the head. He has a line of stores along the coast, and the best must be done for his business at these centres even at the expense of the N. W. Coast. The steamers can be, and often have been, so manipulated as to benefit his business undertakings without any thought of the rights of other merchants. Coaker took the risk of sending a steamer to Bonavista Bay last February simply because he had 250 barrels of Flour to send to his various stores around here. Of course the Advocate said she was sent with freight. She did not take thirty packages outside those consigned to F.P.U. stores. If any of the merchants here wanted to get freight along at that time of the year they would be told that it was impossible.

Imagine, taxpayers of the N.W. Coast, from whom was withheld the barest freight facilities last fall. Imagine, I say, the S.S. "Malakoff" being taken off between her regular trips to make an extra trip to bring F.P.U. Delegates to their homes so that the F.P.U. interests could be looked after on Monday. Who pays for all those extra trips? If the "Malakoff" has extra packages of freight for the F.P.U. store at Greenspond and a hundred for other mercantile firms, the steamer's ball is to the F.P.U. wharf to save the expense of handling freight, but the public must go to extra trouble and expense by going to the Union Wharf for theirs. We have lived under three and a half years of tyranny, and it is time it ended. What would the public have said to Bowring Bros. when they ran the Coastal Steamers if they had used them to advance the interests of their firm. Yet it would have been just as reasonable as it is for Coaker to do so now.

Bonavista Bay is the pet child of Coaker. The pet of the people have shares in the Union, and he holds this weapon over their heads. "If you vote me out all your money is lost." Must, therefore, the whole country suffer because a number of fisherman in Trinity, Bonavista, and Green Bay have money invested with Coaker. We could well spare the West Coast some of our mail boats. Let me enumerate them to show our preferential treatment. We have the motor boats F.P.U., once owned by the Union, now owned by a Coakerite who bought her for $25,000 and gets $50,000 per year for running her once a week from Newtown to Gamba. The contract is, I believe, for five years. Then the "Malakoff," sailing from Port Union, of course, makes a weekly trip; the "Susu" makes a weekly trip; and then the "Prospero" fortnightly. This is not counting up the smaller boats in the bottom of the Bay. How does this compare with the N.W. Coast?

I have just read in the Free Land the following with reference to the member for St. Barbe District; "Jack Scammell goes back to the District of St. Barbe for re-election with the record of services faithfully and effectively rendered to the District which honoured him with such support and confidence in 1919." Let St. Barbe District ask this same Jack Scammell where he was and what he was doing when his relatives and chums were bleeding and dying for their country. Why did a fine young stalwart like him hang back. Others could go and die to keep him safe and allow him a "longer life in which to work for himself." He was a very useful man to Coaker in his enterprises, and being endowed with the gift of the gab he was sent by his master to persuade people to invest money in the F.P.U. Thus he hid himself under Coaker's wings during the war, and afterwards came out without a blush of shame to seek the suffrages of his countrymen. St. Barbe District will honour itself by voting Mr. Scammell off the list of our country's legislators.

These are facts, Mr. Editor, which are known to most people on this side of the Dominion and should be known by all.

Yours truly,

West End Committee.

A CHALLENGE TO DISCUSS THE HUMBER.

At the West End Liberal-Labor Progressive rooms last night some 500 members of the committee gathered to report the progress of their work. Addresses were given by Sir Michael Cashin, Mr. C. E. Hunt and Mr. Arthur English.

THE ALLURING HUMBER.

Sir Michael thanked the Committee for their attendance on such a wild night. This was the spirit that was winning. He drew attention to an item in last evening's Mail regarding an additional expenditure on the Humber of one and a half million dollars, but there was nothing regarding the terms of the contract. Neither had the Prime Minister accepted the challenge to a meeting to discuss the terms of the deal. Surely they do not expect any sane man to support an agreement he knows nothing about. The whole trouble is that there is a clause in the Humber Deal with regards to labour and the labourer, which they want to hold from the public. Hon. M. P. Gibbs said at the west end Government rooms on Tuesday night that the Humber Deal is alright. Gibbs is prepared to support it, yet he has not seen it and this is the only plank in Squires' platform. Sir Michael, in conclusion, pointed out that as yet the Humber Deal has not been shown to the people and they could not vote for something they did not know or had not seen.

AN ATTEMPTED SWINDLE.

Mr. Arthur English in a forceful address told a story of the Humber. He had taken Sir R. A. Squires at his word in 1919, and stood as a candidate, but he proved false to his Manifesto, and under the probe of public opinion, he had discovered that all was shallow water and not one item had been carried out. Regarding the Humber Deal, he said he had the picture of Squires coming along with a document and asking the elector to sign it, and commit himself to something he knew nothing about, because no one outside of Sir R. A. Squires and Dr. Campbell, and a couple of others know what the terms are. It was an insult to the intelligence of this country. A year or more ago the Advocate was filled with the big Humber Deal and he took up the matter with the Editor, but he refused him space to discuss it in that paper's columns, as they were only looking at it from their own angle. He forthwith called upon the Governor, Sir C. A. Harris, and discussed it with him. Governor Harris, after discussing the Deal as it then was, said it was an attempted swindle, and that a public meeting of protest should be called. So great was the opposition that the matter dropped for a time, and now it has again been brought forward. It is understood, said Mr. English, that the terms are less burdensome, but what are they? It is for the people to know before voting for them. Mr. English in conclusion referred to the dreaded exposure of the scandals and expenditure in the affairs of the country, hence the proposing of the House.

GOVERNMENT EXTRAVAGANCE.

Mr. C. E. Hunt, in a short address heartily thanked all present and said that whether the Humber deal was crooked or straight, it was a closed book to the public. If it was a square deal the Opposition were in favour of it. There were a thousand men now at Humbermouth, but how many of these were from St. John's West, Coaker is promising the Union men the first chances, if the Government is returned and in his circular says that every "cut" job will be given to F.P.U. men. Reference to the Campbell, Mr. Hunt said that Squires and Campbell received a frost at Petty Harbour and that both admitted that Cashin, Linegar and Hunt would be elected.

SPLITS FOR A GENERATION.

There were enough splits at the oil factory at $5.00 per load, he said, to keep the institutions of the country in fuel for a generation. But St. John's West could not be bought it was facing the issues on their merits. The $15,000 spent on Yankee Detectives would be sufficient to keep 100 widows and orphans for five years. Mr. Hunt returned to other extravagances of the Squires administration and in conclusion said that honest men were now needed, and the necessity of Coakerism that was killing St. John's must be put out of business for ever and that could be done by voting the straight ticket for CASHIN, LINEGAR and HUNT.

CHALLENGE TO SQUIRES UNANSWERED.

Before the gathering dispersed Sir Michael Cashin announced that as the Prime Minister and colleagues did not intend accepting his challenge, and as the latest to state "the Humber Deal was good because he knew it was," is the Hon. M. P. Gibbs, a member of the Upper House, who spoke at the Squires meeting. He would issue a challenge to him to-day, and would hire a hall for him to discuss the Humber Deal, and to tell us what it was all about. If Mr. Gibbs fails to accept the challenge then the only thing to believe is that they are or-

The Tragedy of The West Coast.

(From the Evening Telegram, Tuesday, October 5, 1920.)
 The Fishery Regulations, we are told, cannot be blamed for the existing condition of affairs on the South and West Coasts. To what then are such conditions attributable? Never before in the history of that section of the dominion has there been such widespread dullness that is now prevailing. It is not confined particularly to one place but is seen everywhere. Business stagnation is in universal evidence and no improvement can yet be noticed. In other years and during the war even, the West Coast towns and fishing settlements were hives of industry. Every man was engaged at the fishery. There was no let up from January to December. Fish could be sold easily and at good prices. Provisions and outfits were comparatively cheap, and much money was being circulated. Prosperity shed its influence over all and merchant and fisherman alike enjoyed the benefits thereof. Now a change has taken place, a change not quite a year ago, and the result of that change is most depressing. Few people are fishing and fewer still are buying fish, excepting that taken on account. Cargoes are going to market, but the sailings of these are not witnesses that any special progress is being made. These cargoes had to go. They are made up of the fall, winter and spring voyage and perforce had to be exported, but their export is not an index of present conditions. They belong to the past season's catch, but the unfortunate part of it is that there is no immediate catch, consequently the plight of the West Coast is the plight of the people of Burin Islands, who directly charge that the Fish Regulations are the cause of the distress which prevails there.

The story of Rose Blanche is almost identical with that of Burin Islands, both places having a community of interest in the same business relations, and a great interchange of personal views is constantly being carried on between them; hence anything affecting the one place affects the other. The people of Rose Blanche are, as a unit, entirely fishermen, as also Harbor Le Cou, which is but a few miles over the hills to the northward, and connected by road. Rose Blanche and Harbor Le Cou are two of the most enterprising fishing places on the South West Coast. In what is chiefly a business town, the hardy toilers continued their toiling, and more fish in proportion to the population was brought in at these places than at any other. The Rose Blanche men bore the name of "fish killers," and right well had they earned their title to that distinction. The fishing was to them the means of livelihood. There are but few gardens at Rose Blanche, the soil not lending itself kindly to agriculture, being mostly rock, but such gardens as are cultivated have made a name for their crops. They have been brought from elsewhere and mixed with the turtly growth which covers the rock formation. In these gardens are grown such few vegetables as shallow soil will nurture, but not in quantities by any means sufficient to form a year's supply for any one family. The consequence is that, in common with other parts of the District of Burgeo and LaPolle, the bulk of vegetable supplies has to be brought in from Prince Edward Island and the Codroy Valley (every hill, no matter what the coast fishery was the mainstay of Rose Blanche and its contiguous settlement, but after years of prosperity and free as well as fair trade the shadow of hard times has been thrown over the people and this once busy fishing centre is busy no longer, its industry having been strangled.

Coaker Deserted by All Honorable Men, Says Squires' Paper.

The following was written by Dr. Meddell, now Editor of Squires' Paper The Daily Mail:
 "Coaker finds himself to-day opposed to men who once strongly supported him. Ask if those men hold their heads high in honor and respect among their fellow citizens. Ask if they have ever repudiated the principles they maintained when they stood on the same platform with Coaker. They have not. They stand by those principles as firmly to-day. Hence a natural inference that Coaker has declined, Coaker has fallen from the estate of rectitude, if he ever held it. Perhaps it were more correct to say that time has stripped the coat from him, and he stands to-day revealed in his true proportions. The man had not the moral force back up his professions, hence is deserted by all honorable men, save a few who have not yet come to a sense of the compromising position they hold."
