EARL GREY AND HIGH LICENSE

Says it Makes the Publican Push the Sale of Liquor

THE RATIONAL METHOD

Maldane Deprecates Tariff Reform Preference as Perilous to the Unity of the Empire—Says We are Only at the Beginning of Imperial Unity

Time's Special Cable

London, July 19.—It is stated that Earl Grey, before his departure, urged upon the Unionists the desirability of settling the tariff question on federal lines. He was questioned before leaving whether the public house trust movement had yet spread to Canada, and said it had. The temperance reformers on both sides of the Atlantic had not yet discovered that high license makes it necessary for the publican to push the sale of alcoholic liquor. When the temperance reformers recognize this inevitable effect of high license, based on rateable value, they will abandon their usual resort to the only rational method of taxing public houses, that is by purchase on alcoholic sales.

Rt. Hon. Mr. Maldane, speaking at the inauguration of a branch of the Free Trade Union, deprecated tariff reform preference as perilous to the unity of the empire. He believed we are only at the beginning of the unity of the empire. In such things as the imperial general staff now accomplished, the imperial navy and imperial conferences, and all things that through the dominions overseas together, such preserving complete freedom, we had the medium and material within which the real unity of the empire would be achieved.

Brother of Late John Alexander Dowie Seeks to Overthrow Voliva

Chicago, July 19.—Prospects of another battle for power in Zion City are seen with the arrival in Chicago of "King" Dowie, professed brother-in-law of John Alexander Dowie, "Elijah II" and claimant to the throne of a south sea island. It is said to be the intention of "King" Dowie to overthrow Overseer Wilbur G. Voliva.

Overseer Voliva said last night that he would ignore the self-styled regent. "I know of him only what I have heard," said Voliva, "as far as I am aware John Alexander Dowie had no brother."

"King" Dowie is supposed to be located in the present on the island, having arrived from Minneapolis during yesterday. With him is "Pope" Schroeder, who is in charge of a church in San Francisco. Dowie, it is said, claims the rule of Zion City by the right of succession.

An instruction staff is now being secured. The college will open in their temporary quarters being fitted up at the dockyard with a class of at least thirty and possibly more. ALLOWED TO GO TO THE STRINE

Syrian Women and Children Were Permitted to Continue Their Journey Through Kind Offices of Rev. Wm. Duke

The two Syrian women, Mrs. Abraham Mitchell and Mrs. Roger Deater, the former with her little daughter, Annie, and the latter with her infant son, who were not permitted to land from the steamer Annon by the Canadian immigration authorities here on account of the lack of sufficient funds, were handed from the steamer this morning. As they were on their way to the pilgrimage to St. Anne de Beaupre, Rev. William Duke, interested himself in their case and wired the department at Ottawa, explaining the situation and guaranteeing that the people would return to Eastport after the pilgrimage. As a result, directions were issued to the authorities here to release them, which was done, and the delighted women and their little ones joined the eighty pilgrims that left St. John this morning for the Shrine, Arthur Wain, of the United States staff of inspectors, here, also interested himself in their case, and himself sent a wire to Ottawa.

CITY VS. GORDON, AND SLEETH AND QUINLAN

Decision Given by the Chief Justice in June Last, Made Known Today

On June the fifth Ullo, Chief Justice Barker in the Chancery Division, in the suits of Gordon vs. the City of St. John, and Sleeth & Quinlan vs. the City of St. John, handed down a written judgment setting aside the award with costs. The announcement that his honor had rendered a decision in these suits was not made until today.

This case was tried at the June sittings of the court and M. G. Teed, K. C., appeared for the plaintiff's in both cases, and C. N. Skinner, K. C., for the city. The city leased certain lots in Carleton to the plaintiffs. The usual clause that if the lesser desired possession of the premises it would pay the costs of improvements and if the parties could not agree as to the value of the improvements the value would appoint an arbitrator, and in case they could not agree they would choose a third to act with them, was in the lease. The city appointed Edward Bates, the plaintiffs H. R. McLellan, and as these two did not agree as to the value to place on the improvements the case George H. Waring. On November 7, 1907, award of $5,850 was made by Messrs. Bates and Waring to Gordon, and $3,150 to Sleeth & Quinlan. Mr. McLellan awarded a greater amount. The plaintiff applied to have the award set aside on the ground that the arbitrators did not take into consideration the value of certain fillings used under the buildings on the property.

SUBMARINE BOAT IS BACK IN TRIUMPH AFTER 1,600-MILE TRIP

Voyage to Bermuda and Back Showed Seaworthiness of the Type—Consumed 12 Days, Fog Causing Delay of 12 Hours at Provincetown

THE U. S. SUBMARINE SALMON

Nantucket lighting about one mile ahead, ahead two days later at 11 p. m., having spent several hours in a thick fog. It was necessary to lay up twelve hours for the fog to lift. Provincetown was reached at 4 Saturday afternoon, and yesterday the trip across the bay was made without incident.

In speaking of the trip home, Captain Davison said: "Out of Hamilton harbor we had fine weather until the Gulf stream was reached, when we ran into the usual conditions. The men proved good sailors, however, although this was their first deep sea trip, and we came right ahead without delay or incident until Friday afternoon, when we ran into an unusually thick fog. That allowed us up, but at 11 o'clock we made out Nantucket lighting just about a mile ahead. The fog was in an splendid shape, and everything is as right as it could be. I believe the trip will convince every one that submarines can go to sea and stand rough weather as well as other craft."

The Salmon was accompanied by the tug Underwriter, which to the dislike of the builders, who wished to make the trip alone, but the marine insurance companies would not permit. The contractors are required to insure the vessel until it is accepted, and the underwriters did not share the enthusiasm of the builders as to the seaworthiness, stability and self-supporting capacity of the little craft.

THE STRIKE IS NOW ON WITH GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY MEN

Regular Through Trains are Being Run From Montreal and Toronto, but Freights are Tied-up—Not a Wheel Turned at Battle Creek, Mich.—No Disorders

Montreal, Q. July 19.—(Special)—Every hour, other trains were delayed but not so seriously. John J. Meenan, general agent for the Wabash along the Niagara frontier, today said: "The strike on the Wabash is the result of a grand trunk strike and we were powerless to prevent it. On its line from Buffalo to Windsor, the Wabash is operated in connection with the Grand Trunk, and we are bound by the Grand Trunk agreements, so there was no choice about the strike. Some of our trains have been delayed, but only at this end, and we expect no serious trouble. So far we have been able to operate all trains with our own men."

While River Jet, Vt., July 19.—Manned by crews of strike-breakers, two trains on the Grand Trunk, whose conductors and trainmen struck last night, left here on schedule time today. The first train to pull out of the station this morning was the 12:25 express to Montreal, while the other train was the 8 a. m. local. There were no demonstrations when the trains left the station.

Battle Creek, Mich., July 19.—Not a wheel on the Grand Trunk Railway has turned since 8:40 o'clock last night. An express freight train arrived at that time and although forty train crews were called out, no violence is anticipated on the part of the strikers, though the police dispersed a crowd which had congregated near the yards last night.

FIGURES THAT TELL STORIES

NON-METALLIC MINERALS

THESE pictures contrast two kinds of non-metallic mineral products that are in common use. A recent report shows the whole mineral product of Canada last year at over $300,000,000. The metallic made exactly half—$150,000,000. Of the whole list, metallic and non-metallic, coal is the most important single item. Other non-metallic mineral products include many that are more important in value of product than petroleum, as, for instance, clay products, $55,000,000; portland cement, $5,200,000; building and other stone, $2,200,000; asbestos, $2,200,000; natural gas, $1,200,000; lime, $1,000,000; and gypsum, $660,000. Among the minor items were: salt, $415,000; pyrites, $196,000; mineral waters, $177,000; and mica, $154,000.

Staff Correspondence Campbellton, N. B., July 19.—In numbers increasing every day, the people of Campbellton, who suffered severe losses in the fire of a week ago, are returning to town, to make a new start in life, where they firmly believe will be a flourishing busy trade centre in a short space of time. Evidence that they are coming back is seen in the number of tents now occupied on the hill near the schoolhouse grounds, which were erected by the merchants who are being erected are becoming more numerous every day.

The people are not suffering from want, as there are plenty of provisions, but some articles of clothing are extremely hard to get, such as linen and underclothing for the men. Many commercial men from outside towns arrived yesterday and from the extent of the orders given most of them, it would seem that the merchants who are to re-open their establishments expect a great rush of business.

In the settlement of tents strict measures have been taken by Col. Malby, of the provincial board of health, to ensure proper sanitation, he having had close inspectors, latrines, and garbage barrels placed in different quarters. In the ruins by the commons, as it is thought, the animals which were lying about, by having them carted to the coal fire, which are all in flames at the lower end of the town.

There is talk among the followers of a congregation of having a union of Methodist between the Presbyterians and Methodists whose churches were destroyed in the fire. The site, which they now own is on the land formerly occupied by Alex. Finette and J. Evans, and the price paid is said to have been a little over $2,000.

In the rear of the supply shed on the school grounds, is being erected a big temporary building, which is to be used as the town hall. The mayor and relief committee will have their offices in this building, which is the third large one to be situated on the school grounds, the other two being used as supply houses.

The militia under Major Mersereau, left on the return to their homes today, as it was considered there was no further need for their services, there being no lawlessness or disorder which cannot be apprehended here and their officers in the aid of the police. The soldiers in their stay have performed good work, and but for the looks undoubtedly, much lawlessness might have been done.

Lieut. Gov. Iveside, Premier Hazen, Col. McKenzie and Hon. Robert Maxwell left this morning on the Maritime express for their homes.

YOUNG AT 107, SHE CAN SING AND DANCE

Sprightly Widow in London Draws Her Old-Age Pension Regularly Every Friday—Teetotaler for 40 Years

London, July 19.—Still sprightly and in perfect health, Mrs. Rebecca Clarke, who lives with her son at Wood Green, has just entered upon her 107th year. She is the oldest old-age pensioner, and she is believed to be the oldest subject of the King living in the United Kingdom. Mrs. Clarke, a well preserved woman, who looks no more than eighty, still takes a keen enjoyment in life. Every Friday, if the weather is fine, she walks up a stiff hill to the local postoffice, some 200 yards from her home, to draw her pension, and declares that the journey is not a bit too much for her. Her eyesight is still so good that she can thread a needle and do a little sewing. "You see, I do not feel old," smilingly explained this wonderful old lady. "I get up about 10 o'clock, and this time of the year I go to bed soon after 8 o'clock. I have a nap during the day! No, of course not. Why, I should feel ashamed of myself if I did such a thing. My appetite is capital, and I enjoy my food as much as ever. Today, for dinner, I had a mutton chop, potatoes, bread and some sweet pudding. But I can eat anything and I like a hard crust. I am a teetotaler for the last forty years, and do not feel the need of any stimulant, but I find a nice cup of tea very refreshing in the afternoon. "I can still sing a song—one of the old ones—to my great-grandchildren when they come to see me, and I can go through the steps of the old dances which were popular when I was a girl. I have no ache or pain, but I am not quite so firm on my feet as I used to be. I have no secret, but the old lady never learned to read, and she spends the greater part of the day in watching the traffic which passes by her windows. My memory as to the events which happened in her young days has almost entirely failed, but she takes great interest in current happenings, and the day's news is always read to her.

LOOKING FOR HEIRESS OF MONCTON REAL ESTATE

Providence Police Asked to Find Miss Mary Gould, Daughter of Former Moncton Man

Boston, Mass., July 19.—(Special)—The police department of Providence has been asked to assist in a search for Miss Mary Gould, twenty-one years old, who is said to have fallen heir to real estate near Moncton, N. B. The young girl recently lived with her grandfather, Professor Morison, a teacher of the French language at Providence. The search for Miss Gould was started by D. P. Le Blanc, a Lynn business man and a brother-in-law of the missing girl. Le Blanc recently received word from the tax collector at Moncton that the land said to have been left to Miss Gould by her mother was about to be sold for non-payment of accumulated taxes. Miss Gould's father was Abram Gould, formerly of Moncton. He died several years ago.

BODIES FOUND BELIEVED TO BE CREW OF H. F. DIMOCK

Two Men Have Been Missing—Since Steamer Buried and It is Believed They Have Been Found

New York, July 19.—The bodies of two men, believed to be members of the crew of the freight steamer H. F. Dimock, lying between here and Boston, which was badly damaged during the pier fire of the Metropolitan Steamship Company, Saturday, were found floating in the Hudson river at the foot of Fulton street today. The Dimock caught fire from the burning pier and most of her crew jumped overboard. Nearly all were rescued by harbor boats, but at least two were found to be missing after the blaze on the Dimock had been extinguished by fire boats which hauled her into mid-stream. The bodies found today were apparently those of a fireman about thirty-five years old and of a deck-hand or longshoreman about twenty-eight years old.

PEAT CONVENTION IN OTTAWA TO SHOW GREAT POSSIBILITIES OF FUEL IN TWO COUNTRIES

Billions of Dollars are in Peat Bogs Yet Undeveloped-Experts to Awaken Public Opinion

(Ottawa Free Press). The memorable strike of the miners of the anthracite coal regions in 1902-1903 when coal had to be imported from Europe to meet urgent demands, and sold in Canadian cities for $12 to $15 a ton

It is estimated that the United States, exclusive of Alaska, has 11,200 square miles of peat bogs, averaging nine feet in depth, and that these contain 128,000,000 tons of fuel per square mile for each foot in depth, or a total of nearly 13,000,000,000 tons, worth at $3 a ton approximately $380,000,000

Some idea of the possibilities may be gained from the estimate that a tract of 25 acres of peat averaging nine feet deep should yield 50,000 tons fuel, or enough to supply one hundred families for twenty-five years allowing 20 tons per annum to each family

The approaching convention of the American Peat Society, which Dr. Eugene Hagan, Dominion Director of Mines, is president, and Mr. Charles E. Fox, secretary, to be held in Ottawa on July 23-27, will bring about a revival of interest in peat

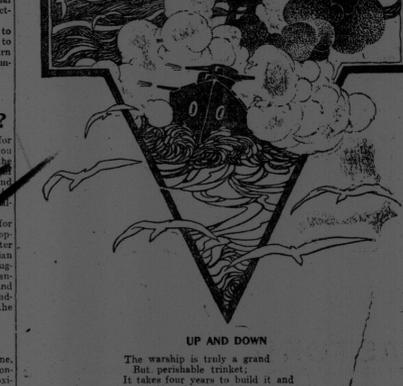

For manufacturing and power purposes peat is used in this country for the production of gas, and in the production of electricity

McBRIDE TO WELCOME LAURIER

The Conservatives of British Columbia, led by Premier McBride, will extend a royal welcome to Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The news will startle the Toronto Tory papers and cause a painful sensation in the office of the St. John Standard. The following announcement appears in the Victoria Colonist, Conservative:—
"Hon. Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia, has received formal notification, through Mr. Ralph Smith, M.P., that Sir Wilfrid Laurier, prime minister of Canada, will accept the reception preferred by the provincial government in behalf of the people of British Columbia, and this picturesque and to-be-historic function, which it is intended shall be made one of the most enjoyable and complete events of the kind in Canadian history, is set for the evening of the 17th August. The parliament buildings on this occasion will be a blaze of electrical illumination, unprecedented in extent and effectiveness; the best band available will discourse music on the ample lawns; interiorly the public offices will be a wonderful study in floral decorative art, orchestral music will be provided, a buffet supper will be served, and nothing that good taste or experience can suggest will be left undone to convince Sir Wilfrid of British Columbia's (and its Conservative government's) recognition of him as a great Canadian. At this reception, it is understood, the intention of Premier McBride is to invite foremost provincial Liberals to occupy the places of special honor."
Such an event could hardly occur in eastern Canada. There is too much narrowness in Conservative politics in this part of the country. Sir Wilfrid Laurier is held up as an enemy of British connection. Only last week Sir Wilfrid was characterized as a load the Liberals of Manitoba could not carry. But in the west they have a wider outlook, and British Columbia, regardless of politics, will welcome the federal premier as "a great Canadian." Premier McBride is setting before eastern Conservatives an object lesson worthy of their attention.

HINT FOR BORDEN CLUB

While no official statement has been issued, it is expected the orators at the Borden Club outing on the river will discuss the present state of the Conservative party. In April last the Kingston Standard, a strong Conservative journal, had this to say of the demand for a re-organization of the Conservative party:—
"There is to be a new birth; and truth and candor compel the statement that the new birth is necessary, for he who sees the situation at first hand and at close range and talks not alone with the leaders of the party, but with the rank and file at Ottawa, serves well neither himself nor his party by pretending that all is well. All is not well. There is need for a change, and it is a happy and fortunate condition of affairs that there is a desire for a change. A new order of things is both imminent and inevitable."
"The so-called Old Guard at Ottawa has had its day. The day of the new guard is here—not a new guard possessed of the idea that it and it alone must rule the party, but a new guard possessed of this idea, namely, that with its strength and its courage, with its virility and aggressiveness, with its keenness of intellect and its alertness of perception, with its recognition of changed conditions and the necessity of changed policies—that this new guard shall not be relegated to the rear by the fiction that seniority alone should count and that brains and talent and purpose and resourcefulness must wait upon old age—must bow in submission to the old order of things."
The Kingston Standard went on to say that neither the Mail and Empire nor the Toronto News voted the real feeling of Conservatives, and it would perhaps say the same concerning the St. John Standard. The Borden Club outing may be a fortune. The new birth may be at it. But Mr. Foster was one of the "old guard" at Ottawa. And Mr. Johnson of Ontario says Mr. Foster is a back

THE USE OF PEAT

The Times-Star has received from the Canadian Federation of Boards of Trade and Municipalities a copy of the programme of the fourth annual meeting of the American Peat Society, to be held at Ottawa, July 23, 24 and 25th. An article printed on another page of this paper tells about this convention, and the great possibilities of peat for fuel in Canada and the United States. A general invitation is extended to all persons interested in this subject to attend the convention, and to be present at the demonstration, at the experimental plant at Alfred, Ont., of the use of peat as fuel, and as a source of power. About 2,000 tons of peat for fuel is being manufactured at Alfred, and the fact that it is being done successfully suggests great possibilities of development of the peat bogs that are scattered all over Canada, including the province of New Brunswick. The programme of the annual meeting of the American Peat Society shows that a list of able speakers has been secured. The list includes men from Ontario, North Carolina, Boston, Toledo, Detroit, St. Paul, Washington, New York, Atlanta, St. Augustine and other places. Some of the subjects to be discussed are: Peat Power Generation, A New Portable Peat Machine, Dry Peat, A Peat Fuel Plant and How to Operate It, Development of Gas Producers for Peat and Lignite, The Progress of Peat Briquetting, Peat Litter, etc. There is a producer gas power plant operating with peat fuel at Ottawa. Any persons from New Brunswick who propose to attend this convention are requested to advise the secretary, Mr. Arthur J. Forward, E. A. It is proposed, if the interest shown and the attendance at the meeting justify it, to form a Canadian Peat Society, devoted to the advancement of the peat industry in this country.

CLOTHING FROM WOOD

During the last few years wood pulp as a material from which to manufacture clothing has been subjected to much experiment, and with considerable success. Neckwear and some other articles of apparel have been made from wood pulp, and now a French process has produced an article named La Soyasse, which, it is claimed, is suitable in every way as a cheap substitute for "wool." The Pulp and Paper Magazine for July states that it has received samples of the fibre, and clippings of some kinds of cloth made therefrom. They are all of silky lustre, and surprisingly strong in texture. It is believed that this new material might be made available for use not only in place of cotton and linen, but of wool. A factory is being built in France to manufacture La Soyasse on an extensive scale, and arrangements are being made also for its production in England and the United States. The fact that another use has been found for wood pulp illustrates the importance of conserving the raw material to the greatest extent possible. It is claimed that clothing material can be produced from wood pulp by the new process cheaper than either cotton, linen or woolen material can be produced. It is true the industry is still in the experimental stage, but the success already attained suggests remarkable possibilities.

AMBITIOUS PROGRAMME

The Times-Star prints today a copy of a petition signed by one hundred and fifty-eight flag officers and general officers of the British navy and army, asking that the government obtain parliamentary sanction to float a loan of £100,000,000 for national defense. It is not at all probable that this petition will be complied with, but the document is interesting as showing how seriously many army and navy officers regard the question of imperial defense. The Imperial Maritime League, we are told, was founded in 1908 "to secure the maintenance of British sea power." A copy of its constitution which has reached this office states that the ends it seeks are: Increase in the sea power of the British peoples, their closer union, and their inter-imperial organization for defense. It is insisted that command of the sea must be the governing condition of national life. It is claimed that there should be a strategy department within the admiralty, charged with strategical study, and nothing else. Emphasis is placed upon the importance of spreading information showing the need of naval supremacy, and upon the value of having British seamen for British ships. A further aim of the league is to advocate all measures that tend to unite and simplify the action of Great Britain and the overseas states in all matters of defense, sea-borne trade and commerce.

Readers of the Times-Star get the value of an excellent special cable service. This service is Canadian, and not sent through United States channels.

The Rt. Hon. Mr. Haldane does not regard a preferential tariff as a means to promote the unity of the empire. He believes this unity is largely a matter of sentiment rather than business, and that it is best promoted by the largest measure of autonomy in the various states composing the empire, in all matters relating to trade and industry. If they all desired a preferential tariff that end would of course be accomplished. But Mr. Haldane would not raise the spectre of disruption to frighten the other country or any overseas state into preferential arrangements which otherwise would not be desired. This appears to be a reasonable view of the case.

The difference between Earl Grey and the temperance reformers with whom he differs appears to arise from their respective points of view. His attitude appears to imply that he regards the business as one that is necessary. The other reformers regard it as one that should be destroyed, and they regard high license at one means tending toward that result.

The Grand Trunk strike suggests that the Lemieux Act should be strengthened in some ways. The subject is a very difficult one for legislators to deal with, but the analysis of trade caused by a great railroad strike is too serious a matter to be regarded with indifference. Public interests must be protected. It is better that the strike occur now, however, than when the harvest movement is in progress.

THE SOWER

A sower went forth to sow;
His eyes were dark with woe;
He cranked the furrows beneath his feet,
Nor smelt the perfume, warm and sweet,
That sprang for pity everywhere.
He came to a field that was harrowed
By iron, and to heaven laid bare;
He shook the seed that he carried
Over that brown and bladeless place.
He shook it, as God shakes hail
Over a domed land.
When lightning interlace
The sky and the earth, and His wand
Of love is a thunder-blast,
Thus did the sower cry:
His seed was human blood,
And tears of women and men,
And I, who rear him food,
Said: When the crop comes, then
There will be abating and sighing,
Weeping and wailing and crying
Flames, and ashes, and woe.

THEY DISCUSSED

THE FUTURE OF CAMPBELLTON
Town Council Met Last Night With Gov. Tweedie and Premier Hazen

Campbellton, N. B., July 18.—It is now almost an every hour occurrence to see new buildings rise above the ruins of the fire stricken town of Campbellton. Like magic they are springing up in all sections of the desolate town, causing the optimistic inhabitants to have most buoyant hopes for the future of their formerly prosperous and pretty commercial centre.

This afternoon a meeting of the town council was held in a big marquee on the school grounds. Several matters of importance to the citizens were discussed, among other, the bonded indebtedness and the laying out of the new town.

Mayor Murray presided and, in addition to the councillors, James Reid, M. P., for Restigouche, was in attendance. The question of the indebtedness of the town, a matter involving $200,500 was discussed at length and the feeling was that the local or dominion government should shoulder the burden until the town could take it over. It is felt that the interest should be paid on the bonds by one or other of the governments until they are wiped off. It was finally decided to let this matter stand for a meeting with the lieutenant-governor and the premier this evening.

The meeting of the town council and Governor Tweedie and representatives of the local government was held this evening in a large tent on the school grounds, Mayor Murray presiding. The speakers were Governor Tweedie, Premier Hazen, Hon. R. Maxwell, Hon. C. H. LaBrosse, F.

The Evening Chit-Chat By RUTH CAMERON

HOW often do you think before you speak? In other words, how often do you plan in your mind before your tongue begins to work just what you are going to say? Not very often, I'll wager. If you are an average person, your tongue and brain probably work simultaneously, and as a consequence you seldom express yourself with absolute accuracy.

I met a woman the other day whose accuracy of expression, whose exact and measured use of words, whose perfect English, I at once marked. And before I had talked with her for long, I also remarked a queer little trick she had of not answering the instant I ceased speaking, but of remaining silent for a moment as if to arrange her answer. "But don't you think," I asked, "when I knew her well enough to do so. 'I'm arranging just what I want to say before I speak, just as you do when I write,' she exclaimed. Doubtless it would be pretty difficult for most of us to do that as a regular thing. 'Don't forget,' she said, 'it is a good scheme to try to follow when you are engaged in any rather important conversation?'

WITNESSES TELL OF HANSON'S THEFTS

Man Charged With Numerous Depredations Brought Before the Police Magistrate This Morning

In the police court this morning Oscar Reynolds Hanson, otherwise known as "Hobo" Hanson, and by several other aliases, was arraigned on various charges of theft. The list includes the theft of a horse and carriage and harness from Albert Kindred, on the 8th inst., a cow from Samuel Linton on the 7th inst., a bicycle from Richard D. Coles on June 1, and another bicycle from W. A. Nelson on the same date. Evidence was given this morning of the theft of the bicycle from R. D. Coles, and the cow from Linton, and the prisoner was remanded.

Ruddock Wottrich, who bought the Coles' bicycle from Hanson, first took the stand. He said that about six weeks ago Hanson came into his place in Union street. He said his father had died and left him a horse and farm, and as he had no use for the bicycle he thought he had better sell it. He did not say just how much he had had the bicycle, in answer to a question the prisoner said he wanted $10. Witness offered $8, but finally got $6. He had no doubt the prisoner was the man. A couple of days after Richard D. Coles came in and identified the bicycle as his. Afterwards Coles came back with Detective Killen.

The witness was here stood aside, until his book was sent for, and R. D. Coles was called.

He said about June let the defendant hired a bicycle from him for a day at $1. This was paid. At that time the prisoner said he was going out traveling for exports. About 5 o'clock he telephoned that he had met with an accident with the wheel, which he had at Mass. & Fairville. Witness agreed to lend him another wheel for the evening, but in the meantime he had telephoned to Mason, who said that no bicycle had been left there.

Next morning he was in Wottrich's store, and saw the wheel. Prisoner gave the name of Oscar Reynolds, and said he belonged to Millford. He then told the police about the matter. He valued the bicycle at about $20. A day or two before the prisoner hired the wheel he came in to buy one. He said that the man for whom he worked was named Craig.

By this time Wottrich's book had arrived in court and he took the stand. Defendant had written his own name, "Mr. Oscar H. Reynolds," on the page and witness had written underneath the word Millford.

Samuel Linton, of Grand Bay, from whom Hanson is alleged to have stolen the cow, said he had the animal at pasture near Martinson station. His custom was to drive them to the field every morning and take them in in the evening. The evening of the 7th inst. he found only two cows. He followed the fence around and found where the wires had been unfenced and the animal driven out. He traced her as far as Martinson station. Here the tracks went up the road and a man named Walter Vair, who lives near there, who said he had seen a man drive it along. He then went to Mr. Ham's place. Mrs. Ham said she was there nearly all day, but she had not seen the cow. He then went home and hitched his horse and went in search. He went to Grand Bay and found that a man was trying to sell a cow to Thomas Shaw. Mr. Harkins, he has been captured in this city. Of these, A. Gordon Leavitt has taken sixteen. Last night he got two. One of these were under the electric light near Zion Methodist church; the other was at the corner of Coburg and Sewell streets. Four of the moths were captured and sent to Mr. Leavitt for identification. Mr. Leavitt thinks that the fact so many have been found argue that they are more numerous in this province than ever before.

HE CAUGHT THE THIEF AT WORK

Passenger on Calvin Austin Nabbed Man in His Stateroom

AN OLD OFFENDER

Believed He is Responsible for the Series of Robberies on the Steamer—Arrested Just Before Boat Left Boston for Saint John

An elderly passenger arrived here this morning on the Calvin Austin who did the traveling public and steamship company a service of no little value by diving through his stateroom window last evening just as the steamer was about to leave her Boston wharf, and collaring a sneak thief for whom the company's officers say they have been looking for two years. The passenger in question does not weigh very much but he is chain lightning in action.

After securing his stateroom and placing his grip and top-coat in it, he went out on deck. A little later he wanted to get his traveling cap, which he had left in the stateroom, and went back for it.

He unlocked the door quietly with his key, and stepped inside to see a man bending over his valise, which was open, and rapidly sorting out its contents in a search for valuables.

On a chair beside the open valise lay the passenger's pocket-book. The thief was apparently about to place other articles on the chair beside the pocket-book and escape when he had completed the collection.

"Here, here!" exclaimed the passenger. "What is going on here?"

The busy thief turned round and confronted him without any evidence of excitement and said mildly:

"Oh, I must have made a mistake. With which he stepped softly toward the door, leaving the pocket-book and other articles on the chair.

"He was bigger than the passenger, but the latter did not hesitate.

"Come back here," the passenger ordered, "and let us see whether you have made a mistake or not."

By this time both of them were in the passageway. The thief turned round as if to accompany the passenger back into the stateroom, but as the passenger stepped in first the thief opened the door, closed the door from the outside, and quickly locked the passenger in the stateroom.

The window of the stateroom was open, and while it was narrow the passenger dived through it without a moment's hesitation, landed on his hands, recovered his feet, raised the cry of "Stop thief!" and rushed around to the port-side of the boat where the thief must emerge if he were seeking to go ashore.

There was no trace of the fugitive, but after a short search the passenger saw him making for the gang-plank promptly seized him by the coat collar. Others also seized the man, who offered little resistance, and in a short time he was handed over to the police.

The passenger, who has come to New Brunswick for a rest, and also in connection with some business interests he has here, earnestly requested the steamship officers to withhold his name, and as they felt very much in his debt they promised to do so.

ITALIAN CASE WAS AGAIN ADJOURNED

Policeman Rankine the Only Witness Examined at This Morning's Session

There was quite a crowd in the police court this forenoon when the Italian murder case was again taken up. The session, however, was a short one, only one witness, Policeman Charles H. Rankine, being put on the stand. The prisoner when brought into court betrayed little if any interest in the proceedings.

Policeman Rankine said he was on duty at York Point on June 29th. Joseph Jones approached him, and in consequence of what he said, he accompanied him to North street, to the house occupied by Siracusa. They found one of the windows in the rear open and entered through it into the kitchen. While in there they heard a man groaning in the bedroom of the kitchen. The man was lying on the bed. He spoke to him but received no answer. Witness then went in and telephoned for Dr. Berryman, who soon arrived, and after an examination advised that Siracusa be taken to the hospital. When the ambulance came, Rankine went with him to that institution.

In answer to Detective Killen, the witness said that Siracusa was lying in bed with his underclothes on. His hand was in his underhirt. The pillows and sheets were covered with blood. When the doctor came they rolled him over and the doctor found a wound in the head. They then carried him on the mattress to the kitchen. The pillows and sheets from the bed were produced in court and identified by witness.

Rankine had seen Siracusa around the place in North street, and he had also seen the prisoner in the streets. Witness said he had brought a revolver from the house, which had been given him by Dr. Berryman. He produced it in court. Every chamber was loaded at the time it was found. The rooms in the house were all upset. There was a full flask of liquor on the floor of the bedroom and an empty one. It was between 4 and 5 o'clock when he went to North street.

This was all the evidence offered and the case was adjourned until Friday morning at 10.15.
