TRANS-ATLANTIC PLANE CRASHES; 2 DIE

RADIO OPERATOR AND MECHANIC BURNED TO DEATH WITH MACHINE

Wheel on Landing Gear Collapses at Take-Off; Airship Veers to Left, Gas Tanks Burst into Flames From Exhaust Pipes

FONCK AND HIS ASSISTANT ESCAPE
2,300 Gallons of Gasoline Feed Blaze Which Rages for More Than Hour; All Participants Exposed From Blame and Plans Made for Another Attempt

WESTBURY, N. Y., Sept. 21.—Two men lost their lives this morning, when the trans-Atlantic aeroplane of Captain Rene Fonck crashed in an attempt to take off on a 3,600-mile non-stop flight to Paris. They were Charles Clavier, French radio operator, and Jacob Islamoff, Russian mechanic. They were trapped in the closed cabin of the huge three-motored biplane, Captain Fonck, the French ace in command of the flight, and Lieut. Lawrence W. Curtin, United States Navy, alternate pilot, leaped to safety before the plane burst into flames. Fonck was slightly scratched about the face. The take-off started at 6.30 a.m.

After the flames died out, the bodies were left in the airplane, pending the arrival of a coroner. One of the bodies was under the front of the wings, and the other further back. The plane, which was valued at $100,000 without the motors, was a total loss.

Residents declared several planes had come to grief in the same hollow on previous occasions.

The taking-off runway comes to an abrupt end at this hollow, and unless sufficient speed has been attained to clear it, a plane must drop over the trees.

The S-38, witnesses agree, never rose from the ground, but crashed into the hollow at a speed of 60 or more miles an hour.

MIAMI SHAMBLES
Known Injured Placed at 1,532, But May Reach 4,000 Mark

MIAMI, Fla., Sept. 21.—While first relief contingents were arriving here today, rescue workers continued their efforts at identification and burial of dead, relief of injured and the greater task of supplying food, clothing and shelter to the thousands made homeless by the hurricane which Saturday lashed the coastal area from West Palm Beach to Miami. The known death toll early today stood at 375. This steadily increased as additional bodies, cast up by the waters of Biscayne Bay, and found in the tangled wreckage of torn buildings, were brought to temporary morgues, and rescue workers believe the death list will reach more than 700.

The list of known injured was placed at 1,532, while it is estimated that a complete check will reveal the injured list to be more than 4,000.

FEARS FOR PENSACOLA
Varying reports from the entire storm area place the damage at between $50,000,000 and $100,000,000. While Miami and the surrounding areas strove for a complete check of its dead and injured, grave fears were felt for Pensacola, on the northwestern coast of Florida, and directly in the path of the gale. Last reports from Pensacola yesterday, told of a gas communication was severed, total of 100 miles an hour.

Scarcely a city or town in the storm area escaped the death toll left in the wake of the hurricane.

Greatest havoc was done in Miami and Hollywood, where more than 800 are known to have been killed and drowned by the rushing waters, which swept in from the Gulf Stream. The known injured in these two cities alone is fixed above 500, while the estimated property damage has been placed at more than $20,000,000.

Fifty-six deaths are known to have occurred at Morehead, Florida, reported 14 dead; Fort Lauderdale 18; Homestead, located in the Florida district, 40 miles south of Miami, 19; Clewiston, Coral Gables, Miami Shores, Little River and Hialeah, outlying suburbs of Miami, had a combined death toll of 45; while 25 scores of cities along the coast from Deerfield on the north to Hollywood City on the south, reported scattering casualties ranging from one to seven.

MARTIAL LAW ENFORCED
Martial law, established Sunday in Miami, Hollywood, and other cities in the storm torn area, continued in effect today, and national guardmen patrolled the streets. A number of looters are reported to have been shot at Hialeah, a suburb of Miami.

Illness Likely Saved Life of Lieut. Snoddy

SPECIAL TO THE TIMES-STAR
NEW YORK, Sept. 21.—Afflictions sometimes come as blessings in disguise. Lieutenant Allan P. Snoddy, U. S. N., is alive today through the fact that illness prevented him from taking off with Capt. N., who, however, escaped death in today's accident, although two of his companions were burned to death.

HALIFAX, Sept. 21.—Captain Romano of the Italian steamer Dori, which landed 123 Italian immigrants at Mill Cove St. Margaret's Bay, Halifax County, recently in violation of the immigration laws of Canada, has now stated to the immigration authorities, in giving his story under oath, that several days after leaving Beni Saf, Algeria, Northern Africa, a motor boat came along side with the Italians and they were put aboard his ship. This testimony is in direct contradiction of what he had previously stated, namely, that the Sicilians had stowed themselves away in the ship, and made their presence known only when a severe storm threatened the safety of the ship.

SAINT JOHN PEOPLE IN FLORIDA SAFE

Eleven Reported Drowned In Bahamas

NASSAU, Bahamas, Sept. 21.—Government relief boats have been dispatched to Long Island, of the Bahamas group, where 11 persons are reported to have been drowned in the hurricane which swept this area. Many houses are reported wrecked on Long Island, but the relief boats so far have not rendered reports of conditions. Nassau was undamaged by the storm and conditions were normal today. All the other islands seem to have escaped damage.

Their son, W. Kenneth Clawson, of the City Hall staff, this morning received a wire from his father, as follows: "Miami struck by bad squall, everything in terrible condition. No lights or water. Fred A. Clawson's family safe, although house considerably damaged. Miami under martial law."

Women Suspected Involved in Many Lawless Actions Recently

LONDON, Sept. 21.—Scotland Yard, which in its time has had many problems to solve, is now faced with the problem of the woman criminal. And Scotland Yard admits that the problem is not an easy one—women criminals are much harder to catch than men; they are more thorough in their preparations for a crime; more careful not to leave clues behind. It is certain that women have been concerned in many recent cases of burglary, house breaking, frauds on tradesmen, note forgeries, hold-ups and blackmail.

And there is pretty strong evidence that a woman was concerned in a recent Haywater shop murder. Investigations carried out by Scotland Yard into recent crimes prove conclusively that women played an important part in them, and that the number of women criminals is on the increase. Many cases show a woman or girl acting as "decoy" for the principal figure concerned.

Scotland Yard officers are now carrying out an energetic search for a pretty 20 year old bobbed girl who is believed to have been concerned in a number of daylight robberies from houses in the outlying districts of London.

FLYING SLEEPERS

Three Air-liners For Night Journeys
 Arrive at London Station

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The first passenger aeroplane to be equipped with bed for regular night flying alighted at the London air station recently. The machine has been designed by Dr. Huth, of the German Albatross Company. It left Berlin at 9 o'clock in the morning with six passengers, and after a half hour at Amsterdam alighted at Croydon at 6.30.

In the saloon are eight seats for day flying, and at night they can be converted in four comfortable beds. Blinds can be drawn over the windows, and there are shaded electric lights in the ceiling of the saloon. At the rear of the cabin is a wash basin with running water, and a wardrobe.

A cabin boy in uniform travels in the machine to attend to the wants of passengers.

Three of these "flying sleepers" have already been built, and others of a larger size are to be constructed. A couple of the present type machines are to be employed regularly on a night airway between Berlin and Kensington. The engines driving the night-flying express have been silenced so as not to interfere with the slumber of those in the saloon.

MALONE'S Epping's Ancient Inn Being Demolished

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The old White Swan Inn, Epping, one of the most ancient of the historic hostels on the borders of the Forest, is being demolished.

Over 800 years old, it was originally called The Swan. The Manor Roll of 1556 describes it as being "situate in the open street of Epping."

In 1740 James King was before the Manor Court "for erecting a signpost on the waste of the Manor with a sign thereon called the White Swan," and fined five shillings.

The massive chimney stack of the inn has always been an object of interest, and it is said that a small house could be built out of the bricks.

We used to think we knew, but now we must confess, the more we know we know we know, We know we know the less.

SAINT JOHN, N. B., SEPTEMBER 21, 1926.

WHY NOT LET THEM UP?

As is usual at this time of year hundreds of salmon have been lying at the mouth of the Mispec, waiting in vain for a chance to go up stream to the spawning beds.

Saint John denies them that right and privilege—Saint John which is professedly eager to advertise and enhance its attractions for native and visiting sportsmen.

This does not look like good business. Likewise, this is no way to use a decent fish like the salmon. Even if the material aspect of the case were to be ignored, there is a sort of sentimental angle of the matter which cannot be dismissed lightly by the army of citizens who are interested in the greatest of our game fish.

City Hall for years past, when asked to clear the way for the salmon to the reaches of the rock-bound Mispec has displayed either apathy or hostility. Perhaps it is only lethargy, but whatever it is, it is not admirable.

On some occasions City Hall has rather objected to opening the dam at the Mispec mouth either on account of the cost—which would be trivial—or on the ill-founded plea that the rights of property holders up stream would be involved, or that their sewage would be affected. As to the cost it is not necessary to remove the whole dam structure, but only to blow out the bottom of it, perhaps with a couple of sticks of giant powder and so open a passage for the waiting salmon. If the city treasury is too impoverished to buy the explosive no doubt the cost could easily be defrayed through a subscription among local sportsmen. There is no property value above the dam which would be materially affected by the necessary opening, just as there is no legal right which would be infringed sufficiently to warrant a hopeful suit for damages against the city of Saint John.

Year after year the fishermen come to meet with disappointment and year after year they go back to the sea after spawning fruitlessly in the rocky harbor at the Mispec's mouth.

There ought to be enough sporting blood at City Hall to open the dam within forty-eight hours and give the patient salmon the right of way.

The country is spending a great deal of money annually in order to increase the number of salmon in our streams, and yet the fishery authorities not only permit but encourage destruction of the fish by loose methods of enforcement resulting in illegal practices such as fishing out of season, spearing, snaring, dynamiting, and the like.

Meantime the Mispec race continues. Let the salmon through.

THE FLORIDA DISASTER.

Whether we regard it as one of those violent manifestations of purely natural forces breaking loose and destroying all in their path or adopt the typical German view of miraculous retribution following the display of wealth offensive to the war-imperished Fatherland, the Florida hurricane is a ghastly affair. Figures keep pouring in which kill the hope entertained during the hours immediately following first news that the extent of the catastrophe might have been exaggerated. The state of affairs appears to be worse rather than better than early reports indicated.

Hundreds are dead, thousands injured, tens of thousands homeless and ruined, with material damage estimated in hundreds of millions.

So far from the scene of the storm we in Saint John are unable to be of any active assistance to the sufferers. We may rest assured that near neighbors are doing all in their power to render aid and succor. Naturally the Canadian Red Cross has offered to come to the rescue if desired, but it is unlikely that this will be necessary. Until communications are restored there must remain many—thousands perhaps—who are a prey to fear as to the fate of friends and relatives known or suspected to have been within the storm area. The Canadian Press is doing all in its power to collect information regarding Canadians in the stricken district. Some are known to have died and in the monetary sense, too, Canada will share the loss. It is estimated that over $80,000,000 Canadian money is invested in and around Miami alone.

To be active in assistance is denied us, but we can tender Florida our sympathy. We are sure that this hurricane, dreadful as it is, will prove but a temporary set-back and that Florida will rise once more to her splendid sunny self. Sympathy we tender unreservedly and hope for a speedy rebuilding.

HER FACE NOT HER FORTUNE.

(Boston Transcript.) A wealthy girl from America was attending a social function at a country house in England.

You American girls have no such healthy complexions as we have," said an English duchess to the girl. "I always wonder why our noblemen take such a fancy to your white faces."

"It isn't our white faces that attract them," responded the American girl; "it's our greenbacks."

Channel Thoughts. (Toronto Star.) Just as modest but successful men say, "I owe it all to my wife," so modest and successful salaried men say, "I owe it all to the tide."

This lady heard scratching sounds in the house and, in attempting to locate the noise, went into the bathroom. There in the semi-darkness she saw something in the wash basin. She presumed that her husband had dropped a

Queer Quirks of Nature

THEY ARE THE WHALE'S EAR BONES THOUSANDS OF YEARS OLD

By AUSTIN H. CLARK. IN ALL the deeper portions of the ocean, but especially in those regions furthest from the land where the depth is mostly about fifteen thousand feet and the bottom is red clay, the dredge brings up many of these objects.

Can you tell what they are? They are the ear bones of whales. Whale ear bones are extremely dense and solid, much like ivory, and they are the only portions of a whale that will persist indefinitely in the deep sea. The two lower pictures show the inner and outer sides of an ear bone whale from 65 to 70 feet in length. Many of the ear bones lying on the deep clay have been there for a very long time—thousands of years—and have become much decomposed or deeply impregnated, in many cases thickly coated, with the peroxide of manganese and iron.

The picture at the top shows a nodule of manganese cut across; this proved that the nodule was formed by the deposition of manganese about the ear bone of a toothed whale, one of the smaller kinds of whale. It was brought up from a depth of 15,000 feet in the mid-Pacific.

He was an English artist. What school who never spelt the picture for a pennyworth of color. He had just signed the last touch to a purple-and-blue landscape when his wife came into the studio.

"My dear," said the artist, "this—er—landscape I was—er—telling you about, I'm afraid for a title. Can you suggest one?"

"Why not call it 'Home'?" she asked after a long, lingering look. "Home?" said the artist. "Why call it 'home'?"

"Because," she answered meekly, "there's no place like it."

A merchant unable to sleep tossed fretfully on his bed and muttered unintelligible words to himself. The wife of his bosom sought the cause of his restlessness. In answer to her inquiries he said:

"You should expect me to sleep when my note to Cohen in the bank comes due tomorrow for $5,000 and there's only $2,000 in the bank to meet it."

"It is," said the faithful wife, "the, you get tight up and go over to Cohen's house and tell him. Let Cohen stay awake."

reason by a German-American, a Danish-American, a German and now by a Frenchman, how can they any longer call it "The English channel?"

The Frenchman swam it on Champagne. But that should not distress temperance advocates. He swam it mostly on water.

Cruel Nature. (London Opinion.) The thorns of a plant found in the Ozark Mountains are now used for gramophone needles and will last for thirty performances. Nature can be very cruel.

Famous Though Small and Young. (Hamilton Herald.) Miss Kathleen Small, of Hamilton, won first prize at the Toronto Exhibition as the first young lady of her class. As Miss Kathleen is only twelve months old, it is unlikely that her head will be turned by her triumph.

A Little. A little work, a little play To keep us going—and So, good-day!

A little warmth, a little light Of love's bestowing—and So, good-night!

A little fun, to match the sorrow Of each day's growing—and So, good-morrow!

A little trust that when we die We reap our sowing—and So, good-bye.

—Du Maurier.

POEMS I LOVE

"The Garden of Proserpine" by A. C. Swinburne.

THE late Alice Meynell referred to Swinburne as "that tinkling rhymer." She failed somehow to see the magic and beautiful imagery behind the faultless lines of the great lyrical poet. I think myself that too much of Swinburne at a time reacts on one as a drug. Sometimes all one can think of while reading him is the heavy perfume of funeral roses; but if his poems are only tunes, I am grateful even for that. This is a great favorite of mine.

Here, where the world is quiet; Here, where all trouble seems Dead winds' and spent waves' riot In doubtful dreams of dreams; I watch the green field growing For reaping folk and sowing, For harvest-time and mowing, A sleepy world of streams.

I am tired of tears and laughter, And men that laugh and weep; Of what may come hereafter For men that sow to reap; I am weary of days and hours, Blown buds of barren flowers, Desires and dreams and powers And everything but sleep.

Pale, beyond perch and portal, Crowned with calm waves, she stands Who gathers all things mortal With cold immortal hands; Her languid lips are sweeter Than love's who fears to greet her From many times and lands.

She waits for each and other, She waits for all men born; Forgets the earth her mother, And spring and seed and swallow Take wing for her and follow Where summer song rings hollow And flowers are put to scorn.

From too much love of living, From hope and fear set free, We think with brief thanksgiving Whatever gods there be; That dead men rise up never; That even the wisest die; In an eternal night to sea.

Then star nor sun shall waken, Nor any change of light; Nor sound of water shaken, Nor any sound or sight; Nor windy leaves or vernal, Nor days nor things diurnal; Only the sleep eternal; In an eternal night to sea. (Copyright, 1926.)

They Begin Early. (Buffalo Express.)

New York police have been given a pamphlet describing and picturing fourteen much-wanted criminals. Looking over them, it is found that nearly all of them are in their twenties. The oldest is 28, the youngest 18. They get "hardened in crime" early in their years.

Hoemous Wealth of U. S.

(Reinold Niebuhr in the Atlantic Monthly.)

Our wealth is so enormous that its power is making itself felt in the economic life of both Europe and South America in a way that practically defies every reasoned concept. In spite of extravagant standards of living, we are producing a billion dollars more wealth—annually than we consume and are increasing our foreign holdings each year by that amount. An English economist recently prophesied that at the present rate of increase American investments in the outside world would exceed the combined wealth of Germany and France by the year 1950.

REAL FOLKS

NEW YORK—Mrs. C. A. Dawson Scott, eminent in English literary life as an author and founder of the P. E. N. movement, which aims to unite writers of all nations in a mutual fellow-feeling, arrived for an American visit on the Olympic. But unlike most, if not all, distinguished British visitors, Mrs. Dawson Scott landed as a third class passenger. She made the experiment to see what conditions immigrants have to meet at Ellis Island. While she found much that was pure nuisance, she is of the opinion that her third class venture was preferable in that she met many "real people" whose real human interest was as high or higher than that of the usual run of first class passengers.

Law of Distance. The fact that smoke near a smoke-stack appears to be dark and then grows lighter and lighter is a good illustration of the law of the inverse square of the distance. At one-foot radius from the centre of the stacks, the surface exposed in any section is very close together, and the passage of light through the particles is almost prevented. The smoke then appears black. At a two-foot radius the particles are twice as far apart and only one-quarter of the area is covered, allowing four times the light to pass through. This section is continuous, and more and more light passes and through the smoke particles, causing them to become of a much lighter color against the sky background. At some finite distance from the mouth of the stack, the separation has become so great that there is practically no more interference with the light and the smoke disappears.

Dorothy Dix

"Believe Me, Husbands and Wives," Warns Dorothy Dix. "Marriage is Not the Place to Tell Home Truths—No One Marries to be Reformed or Elevated or Improved; We Marry to be Loved and Appreciated."

There is no greater foe to domestic peace and harmony than the critic on the hearth, and few, indeed, are the households that are not afflicted with one of these pests whose chirpings can never be silenced.

DOROTHY DIX

Stevenson once said that "to marry is to domesticate the recording angel." This is what only too many men and women find, to their horror, that they have inadvertently done. They took unto themselves husbands and wives in the fond belief that they were among admiring audiences that would give them the perpetual glad hand, and lo and behold, they discover that they have sold themselves into bondage to mentors and school mistresses and reformers.

When John led Mary to the altar, he never doubted that, in her eyes, he was a perfect pattern of all that a man should be, and that he realized her ideal in good looks, deportment, judgment, wit and wisdom, as embodied in a member of the masculine sex. Judge then, of his dismay when he discovers along about the time that the honeymoon begins to wane, that instead of regarding him as a model she apparently considers him an awful warning.

Everything he does and does not do is wrong. She finds fault with his every act. She criticizes his taste and tells him that his clothes are either too loud or too somber; that the style of his coat shows how hump-backed he is getting, or that the cut of his trousers emphasizes the fact that he is a trifle bow-legged, and that the way he wears his hair brings out the weakness of his chin. She spoils his dinners by correcting his table manners, and takes the punch and pop out of his best story by setting him right about the pronunciation of a word in the midst of it.

AND MARY is in the same boat. When she entrusted her young life into John's hands she never dreamed that she was also committing to his care her toilettes, her complexion, her habits, her grammar, her general likes and dislikes.

She never doubted that he considered her only a little less perfect than the angels, but to her consternation she finds that he appears to look upon her as the world's greatest aggregation of faults and weaknesses.

He never notices her dress except to tell her that it is ten years too young for her, or the color of it makes her look like a salaratus biscuit, or that it shows up her fat.

HE SNEERS at her opinion and derides her judgment. He ridicules her economies and lambasts her extravagances. He knocks her housekeeping, and for being either an anxious mother or a neglectful one.

It is literally true that criticism forms the staple of conversation in the average household and that most men and women would never find out what poor miserable creatures they are if they had not married. Many a husband and wife, listening to his or her daily doses, is filled not so much with a sense of his or her own unworthiness as with wonder as to what he or she has possibly picked out for a life partner one of whom he or she so thoroughly disapproves.

NOW, possibly, it is good for our souls for us to be constantly humiliated and reminded of our shortcomings, but it is not a pleasant experience and the one who does it has a loving office. We do not have the hand that smites us, nor do we yearn for the voice that corrects us, and that calls our attention to our mistakes and blunders.

Being played alive is no more painful a process than having our vanity and self-esteem torn from us, and to expect us to cleave to the one who does it is as foolish as to expect a victim to voluntarily seek the society of the torturer.

Nobody loves a critic. Nobody enjoys being criticized. Nobody's idea of a happy evening is sitting up listening to some one reciting the litany of his or her faults. The main reason why there is so little family life is because so many homes are merely a place for the exchange of criticisms, and the inmates flee from them to strangers who spread the same instead of pouring salt on new places.

CRITICISM is a dangerous pastime wherever it is indulged in, but it is always at fatal point when married people take a hand in the game. For while we smart under the knowledge that others see us the mere, ordinary, commonplace, uninteresting individuals that we are, we cannot endure to know that our own husbands and wives also think us dull and stupid, and homely, and boring.

The thing that enables us to endure the strictures of the outside world is the belief that the men and women we married are blind to our faults, that to them we are beautiful, that they never see our fat or illud our company tedious.

AND when this illusion is destroyed, when it is our husbands and wives who harp continually on our faults and are silent about our virtues, then marriage becomes a failure. The thing that made it worth while, the glory and circling wings are gone, and all the remainder is martyrdom.

Believe me, husbands and wives, marriage is not a place for fault-finding or telling home truths. It is a place where jollity should do its great and perfect work. No man or woman marries to be reformed or elevated or improved. We marry to be loved and appreciated.

SO DON'T be a critic on your hearth unless you want to drive your husband or wife away from it with your chirping.

This Season's Gowns Are Lovelier Than Ever

By MME. LISBETH

IN LOOKING over the collections of fall and winter frocks one is firmly convinced that never before in Fashion's history were there so many lovely things displayed.

On the right is a charming tea-gown have proved another successful combination. The sequins are embroidered on a net foundation, and the ones slightly tinted with black to obtain the "ombre" effect. One gown had black shoulder draperies from each shoulder which were caught in at the hem, while another had no relief except an indefinite gathering on the hips.

In the center of the picture is one of the smartest little hats that have found favor this fall. It is fashioned of figured velvet with a simple trimming of narrow ribbon—a pretty and girlish model which avoids extremes and still has style.

Flapper Fanny Says

HERE'S your daily irony: Near the foot of Fifth Avenue is the old Mark Twain residence, as every good rubber-neck wagonist knows. It has long since been split into two-room apartments that are rented out at prices exceedingly reasonable considering the historic nature of the building. I am told that the taxes of property at that particular point are so steep that the old mansion will be torn down one of these days to make room for another 20-story apartment-house, although frequent efforts have been made to preserve the building.

The other day a young woman who grinds out stories for the fiction mill, west apartment hunting. She heard of a vacancy in the Mark Twain house. The agent took her to one of the high ceilings and explained: "Now this is the room in which Twain wrote."

The young woman grabbed it up. "Today the clatter of her typewriter may be heard hour upon hour, tearing at the tales that enjoy popular demand at present."

"I find the room very inspirational," she told me the other day as she finished a chapter with the following words: "Flora found herself melting in his arms. Her lips burned to meet his, trembling like rose petals in the wind. For a moment he hesitated, then, with the suddenness of storm, his passion broke."

Whereupon, I have no doubt, the late M. Twain turned over thrice in his grave muttering: "Thank God, it's to be continued."

SPRINKLING of things literary: the New York Public Library has a room devoted to financial information. Here potential speculators in Wall Street may come and find anything they wish concerning the rating of stocks, the standing of concerns, the histories of the companies and such like.

A squad of clerks are kept busy from morning 'til night handing out information and volumes to the scores of men and women who then sit with scratch pad and paper figuring out the percentages, much as race track followers pore over form charts.

Frequently one may be seen to rise and rush out—probably to hasten an order to his broker.

While down upon the first floor throngs gather in the newspaper room to await the coming of the home town papers, scanning the columns for a familiar name; chuckling over some item about an old friend. Then, one by one, they go lonesomely back into the streets.

Hot Parker House Rolls—Take one cup each of milk and water, scald together with two tablespoons of butter or substitute. Let cool until lukewarm. Add one cake loaves yeast dissolved in one-fourth cup lukewarm water (to which had been added one teaspoon salt and two tablespoons sugar). Add about four or five cups flour and stir up quite a thick sponge. Beat hard to remove any lumps and make the sponge smooth and light. Cover and stand in warm place to rise until double the bulk. Stir down and let rise until double bulk and again stir down and let rise until double the bulk, then turn out on heavily floured board. Knead thoroughly until the dough has taken in all the flour possible without making it too tough. Roll out and cut in rounds with butter and fold over and place on well greased pan. Butter tops of rolls. Place in warm place until double the bulk and bake about 20 minutes. Have the oven quite hot the first 10 minutes and then decrease the heat.

Dressing Used in Waldorf Salad—Mix one can condensed milk, one-half cup vinegar, one teaspoon of mustard, three eggs, salt, pepper and paprika to taste. Beat milk and egg together well, and add vinegar and seasonings and mustard. Pour in pint jar in refrigerator until ready for using. No boiling is necessary.

Cream Filling for Puffe—Mix one-fourth cup cornstarch, one-eighth teaspoon salt, and several drops sugar (moisten with a little cold milk). Add two cups hot milk and cook until thick and smooth. Pour in pint jar in refrigerator, and cook over hot water for a few minutes. It should be very thick. Remove from the fire, and when cool add one or two teaspoons vanilla. Make a small hole in the side of each cream puff and with a teaspoon put it in.

THE RHYMING OPTIMIST

By Aline Michells

SEA, waves that are never still, restless winds wandering wide and free, roving the world at will. Restless winds and a restless sea toiling forevermore; ever, while night and its bright train flee, voiding its hungry roar. All is motion and vague unrest here, where the strong winds go; ceaseless motion of trough and crest, here, where the waters flow. Calm lies only beyond the Earth, far beyond wind and sea, all untouched by man's woe or mirth, stars . . . and their mystery! Looking away from the tumult here into the quiet there, into these measureless vistas clear, regions serene and fair, every man wonders with vague unrest, timeless for all Earth's bark, ever he longs for the joyous quest, seeking . . . beyond the stars!

GET 'EM DRESSED (Woodstock Sentinel-Review.)

It is probably the truth that most men are just as vain as women, but perhaps they are too stupid to realize or admit how much depends on appearance. It is quite possible that many a man has gone down to defeat for want of votes, not because of any lack of debating skill, but because his trousers bagged at the knees or were not properly creased.

THERE is always somebody in the audience who hasn't heard the oldest joke.

FOR Acid Stomach PHILLIPS' Milk of Magnesia

Instead of soda hereafter take a little "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" in water any time for indigestion of sour, acid, gassy stomach, and relief will come instantly.

BETTER THAN SODA

For fifty years genuine "Phillips Milk of Magnesia" has been prescribed by physicians because it overcomes three times as much acid in the stomach as a saturated solution of bicarbonate of soda, leaving the stomach sweet and free from all gases. Besides, it neutralizes acid fermentations in the bowels and gently urges this souring waste from the system without purging. It is far more pleasant to take than soda.

AFRICAN TRIP STORY TOLD TO AUDIENCE HERE

Dr. J. W. Inches Holds St. Paul's Audience Deeply Interested

Dr. J. W. Inches, of Detroit, who delivered an interesting lecture on his famous trip through dark Africa from Cairo to Cape Town, in St. Paul's church hall last evening, was greeted by a large and appreciative audience.

The party of which Dr. Inches was a member consisted of Colonel George, a famous hunter and noted author, Colonel Waldon and Commander Emmons. This expedition leaving Detroit and arriving in northern Africa set forth from Cairo and followed the Nile River to its source, and thence through Uganda, Belgian Congo, Rhodesia and Cape Colony to Cape Town.

The audience listened to the lecturer's story with absorbed attention and derived great pleasure from the skillful and delightful manner in which Dr. Inches told of his remarkable journey through this vast territory, the greater part of which is under British control. Many places were visited which had hitherto been rarely seen by a white man.

Accompanying his discussion Dr. Inches showed some very interesting slides and motion pictures of the places visited and of noted events which happened on the journey. Some of the most interesting of these were the ancient tombs of the king of Egypt—grievous remains of an ancient civilization, the Protestant and Catholic missions, and the scenic beauty of that famous region, the Mountains of the Moon. Many views of the Zambesi River together with the great Victoria Falls, were also shown by the lecturer. Coming to Rhodesia many places made famous by Cecil Rhodes were seen and particularly the last resting place of that great empire builder, among the Mataps Hills.

Dr. Inches is a New Brunswick man and is visiting his niece, Mrs. A. H. Inches, of Saint John. He left New Brunswick about 20 years ago and has attained prominence in the medical profession in the city of Detroit. Last evening's lecture was a treat for

LADY OF FASHION
MAKES HER HOME
IN LONDON ALLEY

Former Stable Opposite Her House, Becomes Gay Residence

London, Sept. 20.—Londoners no longer permit them to live in town houses, are resorting to strange devices in order to remain in the fashionable West End.

A lady who has recently made her home in a new house, is relating her experiences. This particular new house is a street of big houses of which they formerly contained the coachman's quarters and stables, but their function today seems to be quite as much to provide a solution of the housing problem for anxious house seekers who fall to find it among the flats and maisonettes in the new big houses have been converted. Opposite to her house in the new street is a former stable, now a gay little semi-detached residence, green shuttered, with three neatly-clipped bay trees in tubs alongside its bright green front door.

DIGNITY PROMOTED.

The coach-house front, bricked up nearly half way, gives generous space for the low casement window of the living room, to which dignity it has now been promoted. Above the front door, the bayloft of former days, now an airy balcony, gives on to a miniature balcony with nasturtiums running riot over its railings. The lady's house had been in the earlier stages of its existence the public house of the new street, with a little alley at the back. The bar needed but little alteration to turn it into a comfortable and rather picturesque parlor, with its low broad window occupying the whole of the front and commanding a view of the opposite neighbor's bay trees, and the alcove where the bar counter used to be making an inviting fireside recess for the lady's sofa. The room is now a room for a maid, and the comfortable room for the goods has provided accommodation for a maid, and a good sized kitchen and scullery in the basement. The dining room looks out on to a pretty little garden into which the skittle alley has been converted.

NO CHARGE MADE IN MADAWASKA CASE

EDMUNDSTON, Sept. 20.—Henry Michael, of St. Andre, Madawaska county, who was arrested by Constable Charles Violette, of St. Leonard, at his home in St. Andre, as a result of an election brawl, is still lying in the Edmundston jail, without any charge laid against him.

The prisoner states that he was arrested at his home, quite some time since, by Constable Violette, who was Constable Violette, but that the constable did not carry any warrant for his arrest. Michael is inclined to believe that his attorney is taking habeas corpus proceedings to liberate him.

ALLEGED VICTIM MISSING.

Inquiries at the local hospitals reveal that Bellefleur, the alleged victim of the shooting affray, is not a patient and although his whereabouts could not be learned, it was reported at the Sheriff's office today that Bellefleur was well on his way to recovery.

Sheriff James T. Clair and Police Magistrate C. N. Begin stated today that they would be anxious to free the prisoner immediately unless a charge was preferred against him.

Advice to Girls on correct skin care—as urged today by leading skin specialists
By NORMA TALMADGE
Just one rule to follow—start for one week in this way. It has brought naturally clear complexions to thousands.
DON'T think a naturally clear skin is beyond you—no, that one comes only as the result of costly beauty treatments. Modern beauty science proves otherwise. Printed below is a rule anyone can follow without bother or expense. Authorities say it has given more women the charm of natural skin loveliness than any other method known. It has almost entirely supplanted the artificial methods of yesterday.
In your own interest, try it for one week. Note the improvement that comes when your pores are properly cleansed of their accumulations with the gentle lather of Palmolive in this way.
THE RULE IN SKIN CARE THAT EXPERTS URGE
Wash your face gently with soothing Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream—this is all.
Do this regularly, and particularly if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the heads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away. Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and lovely.

CANADA UNIONS LOSE 2,875 IN TWELVE MONTHS

Disension and Secession Blamed by Trade Congress for Falling Away

Canadian Press Despatch.

MONTREAL, Sept. 20.—Due to the breaking away of the Canadian Western Miners, District No. 18, from the United Mine Workers of America, the convention of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress learned here today that there is again a decrease in the membership of international trade unionism in Canada of 2,875 for the year ended Sept. 1, 1926.

P. M. Draper, secretary-treasurer of the congress, in presenting this report, pointed out that only members of the unions on which per capita tax has been paid to the congress are included. Per capita tax is not paid by unions on its membership not working, and Mr. Draper estimated that the figure of 103,087 which he gives would be increased by one-fourth if this were done. He said he felt it necessary to make some explanation of the figures because of criticism of the movement, within and without labor, who might wish to refer in glowing terms to the reduction of membership in international unionism in Canada.

PEAK YEAR IN 1921

Mr. Draper's figures, as submitted to the delegates, show the peak in 1921 to have been 173,778 members, and the decline is shown for subsequent years as follows: 192,071, 191,842, 117,060, 105,912 and 103,087 for the present year. Disension and secession were responsible for the decrease in membership of the congress, said Mr. Draper. In 1924 the United Mine Workers had 17,000 members in Canada, in 1925 the number had fallen to 9,875 and for the year under review the number showed a further drop to 7,085.

SIGNS OF RETURN.

Delegate Wilkinson, of Edmonton, commenting on the figures, said that there were signs that the western miners now realized that they had been led into error in deserting the United Mine Workers of America, and he believed that they would again become members of that international.

Further light on the western miners' situation is shown in the report of the executive committee of congress, which will be discussed later.

The statement is made that last December an application for membership was received from an organization formed of miners who had seceded from District 18 of the United Mine Workers of America, the title of this organization being the "Mine Workers Union of Canada," claiming jurisdiction over both coal and metal miners.

CONSTITUTION CLAUSE.

The report adds: "In refusing the application your executive pointed out the provision of the constitution of the Trades and Labor Congress that 'in no case shall an organization be admitted to membership whose jurisdiction conflicts with any international or national union already affiliated to this congress.' As the United Mine Workers of America were already affiliated to the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada, no other organization covering this class of workers could be granted a charter."

The financial statement submitted by Mr. Draper shows receipts of $28,100 and expenditure of $19,278, leaving a balance of $8,822.

WELCOME VISITOR.

Among the welcome visitors to the city yesterday was A. A. McClaskey, now retired, but for many years one of the most prominent commercial travelers in the Maritime Provinces. Mr. McClaskey arrived from his present home in Boston and is a guest at the Victoria Hotel. He is busy renewing old acquaintances.

KING DENIES STATEMENT ON IMPERIAL MEET

Says No Reference to Conference Was Authorized by Him

Canadian Press Despatch.

OTTAWA, Sept. 20.—"I have authorized no statement with respect to the Imperial Conference," said Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, Liberal leader, tonight. Mr. King was referred to in a despatch intimating that Canada would not be represented at the Imperial Conference. He stated that when he makes an announcement in regard to the conference, it will be quite definite.

The information contained in the despatch shown to Mr. King was said to have been secured by a correspondent of the London Daily Express in the course of an interview with Mr. King here.

Letters To The Editor

THE PETITIONERS REQUEST

To the Editor of The Times-Star:

Sir—I would like to have space in your paper to say a word in reference to the letter in your issue of the 18th, signed "Citizens Committee."

As stated therein the most important request of the petition has been ignored, namely, the appointing of an auditor and expert by the council, approved by a committee selected from the petition. Surely this is plain. Then why did the gentleman at City Hall elected by the people to serve, pass this important request over? If they understood the feelings of the masses in regard to existing conditions they would no doubt give the matter more careful consideration and grant the requests as stated in the petition, namely an audit and investigation by experts into all departments by competent men approved by a committee of citizens. Nothing less will suffice.

As to leaving any arrangements of this investigation in the hands of Mr. Olive, would consider it out of the question, as the department of which he is chairman is the one needing a most thorough airing both in the method employed in assessing of real estate and treatment accorded those seeking information from the chairman of the board of assessors.

Yours truly,
H. JONES.

PLANS MADE FOR NEW YEAR'S RALLY

United Sunday Schools to Hold Annual Gathering in Centenary Church

The New Year's rally of the United Church Sunday schools of the city will be held on New Year's Day in Centenary church. It was decided at a meeting of the superintendents, held in the pastor of St. Andrew's church last evening.

The president, J. W. Flewelling, presided. The meeting opened with prayer by J. H. Murphy, after which the meeting elected Robert Reid as chairman and L. Stubbs secretary, and W. Anderson was chosen as treasurer. Grant Smith was appointed to secure Centenary church for the rally and to look after the arrangements for the accommodation of the various Sunday schools.

It was decided this year to give the offering to the Protestant Orphanage instead of giving the usual nut bars to the scholars attending the rally.

PROGRAM COMMITTEE.

A program committee was appointed consisting of E. E. Thomas, chairman, Robert Reid, J. W. Flewelling, H. W. Bromfield, Mr. Bromfield was appointed leader of the singing and M. Harrison was appointed leader of the orchestra.

TECHNICAL HIGH COURSE IS OPENED

26 Pupils Enroll For Vocational Training—Night Classes Ready Soon

The Technical High School course opened yesterday at the Saint John Vocational School with E. J. Alexander as teacher and 26 pupils enrolled. A number of pupils, who had registered earlier in the season, made their first appearance for class enrollment yesterday, somewhat disappointing the staff and disorganizing the work. In all pupils for three more classes arrived yesterday, those for the technical course, and sufficient for a new group in the commercial department, and a new group in the industrial department.

It has been necessary to organize five groups in the commercial department instead of four and to re-arrange timetables.

Inconveniences now being faced have not daunted the directors or the staff in carrying through the full program and preparations are now being made for registering night class pupils. It is probable that there will be a meeting of the Vocational committee this week when a date will be fixed for the registration of night class pupils. It was originally planned to have the night classes in operation early in October.

There is one department in the Vocational School which is fully organized and fully equipped and has not been phased by the big rush of students. That is the cafeteria department. There were 218 served at lunch at the cafeteria yesterday with in half an hour.

SCALLOP FISHING BEGINS THIS WEEK OUT OF DIGBY PORT

RESUMPTION OF INDUSTRY After Cessation Due to Low Market

NEW BOATS FITTED OUT FOR BUSINESS

Present Fleet Consists of 15 Well Equipped, Locally Owned Ships

The fleet has been laid up for the past two months on account of the very low market price and during the lay-off many of the boats have had new engines installed and other necessary repairs made in preparation for a long and busy season.

The scallopers all fish several miles out in the Bay of Fundy as a rule, leaving the port about daybreak, returning about midnight.

BOATS OWNED LOCALLY.

The boats are all owned and operated by local men, and a number of boys also find employment. The price of scallops, about $2 per gallon a couple of weeks ago, has taken a jump, and the quotation today is $2 in the open market. A few of the boats made good drags the first day out.

SMALL PIMPLES COVERED FACE

Also Arms. Caused Disfigurement. Cuticura Heals.

"My face and arms were covered with pimples that were very small and came to a head. They were very troublesome and scratching caused them to burn and fester. They caused disfigurement for a time.

I tried different preparations without success. I read an advertisement for Cuticura Soap and ointment and sent for a free sample. It helped me so I purchased more and in about a month I was completely healed." (Signed) Miss Allie M. Howe, 72 Chestnut St., Winnipeg, Man.

Beauty and Craftsmanship beyond Comparison
Traditions of fine craftsmanship are cherished with reverence... in Canada.
The skill and conscience and love-of-one's-art which built those traditions, are still realities... in Canada.
Truly fine coach-working is not becoming a lost art. It thrives and progresses... in Canada.
Credit this happy fact to the pride of workmanship inspired in his men by that great pioneer Canadian industrialist... Robert McLaughlin.
Take patriotic pride in the work of those men still employed by his associates and successors in the institution he founded—General Motors of Canada, Limited.
A masterpiece of their deft hands is exhibited in every Canadian-built Fisher body. And superior Canadian craftsmanship truly enhances the significance of the nameplate, "Body by Fisher". Shaping the best Canadian steels, working selected Canadian hardwoods, using the finest Canadian paints and Duco finishes and the choicest Canadian upholsteries, these veteran workmen, day after day, produce Fisher bodies known the world over for beauty and craftsmanship beyond comparison.
Admiring the superb beauty of any Canadian-built General Motors car, you conceive an appreciation of these men, grown gray at their labors of love.
In each their handiwork appears, each bears their master touch.

SENIOR RUGBY LEAGUE FORMED

Nationals, Canucks, Trojans and Wanderers Are the Teams

A Saint John City and County Senior Football League was organized last evening at a meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. and the league, it is expected, will have four teams, Nationals, Canucks and Wanderers, all playing in last year's Intermediate League, and the Trojans, the solitary senior team in football last year.

OFFICERS ELECTED

When the formation of a senior league was decided upon officers were elected as follows: President, C. H. Cochrane; vice-presidents, first, John J. Dunlop; second, R. H. Bennett; secretary-treasurer, George W. Green. The members of the executive are to be named at a later meeting.

A meeting of the league has been called for Thursday night at the Y. M. C. A., when the schedule will be drawn up. Each of the teams will put some good men in the field this year.

The Trojans expect to play about the same line-up as they had last year with Malcolm, Holmes, Kerr and G. Wilson as some of their big get-gets.

The Nationals figure on Writman, the Chown brothers and John Armstrong to bring them in the laurels. John Armstrong is in splendid trim after the successful season with the Watermen in baseball.

IMPERIAL BILL EXCELLENT ONE OPENING WEEK

Norma Shearer Leads in Striking Picture, "The Devil's Circus"

When Director David Hartford came to Saint John to make the Ernest Shipman local picture "Blue Water" he had with him the demure little Montreal actress, Norma Shearer. Yesterday this brilliant star reached great heights of artistry in the powerful Danish story and Metro production "The Devil's Circus," at the Imperial Theatre when large crowds saw the Truly Norma is now a favorite screen artist and all her offerings under the Metro banner have been most acceptable so far.

In this picture now running Miss Shearer is first presented as a girl on the brink of womanhood, just out of an orphan asylum, a shabby, shy, forlorn little creature, her only friend in the world her nondescript dog, which she carries under her arm. The awakening of love carries her into womanhood, and as the stirrings of passion effect the transformation there strike the pangs of separation. Her love is torn from her by the police and an emotional scene of rare realism and convincing fidelity takes place. Then she is a circus girl, a tragedienne performer, clad in tights and spangles.

Unseled ballet skirts and ornate wraps. Here she is a woman of the world, disillusioned, despairing, clutching at the true one lost. This transition, rapid though it is, is portrayed in plausible fashion through Miss Shearer's extraordinary histrionic ability. Then again she drinks more deeply of the gall of life. She is a cripple, maimed by the act of a woman insane with jealousy, peddling dolls on the streets, ragged, cold, hungry and, above all, bitter against life. All of these characterizations would perhaps be simple enough to an actress of Miss Shearer's attainments when done singly, but linked in one picture and considering that they represent a fairly rapid transition their achievement is extraordinarily praiseworthy.

JACK O'BRIEN SAYS CHANGES AT HOLLYWOOD FEW

Movie Actor Makes Personal Appearance and in Picture at Unique

Popular movie star Jack O'Brien made his first personal appearance in the Maritimes yesterday before a highly appreciative audience, answered many questions regarding Hollywood and movie stars, gave advice to movie aspirants. The chief requisite for any girl planning a trip to Hollywood, are a chaperone and a return ticket, he told an audience in the Unique last night. "Hollywood" is just another great big gold field, he said, girls come in on every train, girls of undoubted beauty and talents, who would certainly be successful in the movies if they had the opportunity, but with 25,000 girls making the rounds of the studios every day, they have almost no chance to get that opportunity, and they have many pitfalls awaiting them. Questions were answered in an interesting and amusing manner and the entire talk given by the popular actor seemed to be highly enjoyed by the Unique patrons. After the talk Mr. O'Brien screened several shots from recent pictures including one wherein he played leading man and Norma Shearer, giving the audience a chance

"Marion" is at The Palace Theatre in "Beverly of Graustark"

"Beverly of Graustark," with Marion Davies in the lead, is a romance with a capital R—and all in modern dress. An automobile proves as romantic as a charger of old, and a modern girl in modern garb as romantic as a princess of the middle ages. The new Cosmopolitan production, now playing at the Palace Theatre, is George Barr McCutcheon's famous novel, told with fidelity to his spirit. Miss Davies plays an American girl, heroine of the play—with hair cropped short, and garbed in military uniform, she counterfeits a crown prince. Then she goes back to fluttering femininity and becomes once more the famous beauty of the play. Antonio Moreno makes an ideal leading man and Roy D'Arcy is the sinister villain. Creighton Hale,

BUCK JONES HERE IN A MAN FOUR SQUARE

Finds New Use For Lariat in Picture Shown at Gaiety

"A Man Four-Square," Buck Jones' latest William, for starting vehicle, made under the direction of R. William Nell and now playing at the Gaiety Theatre, has a sequence in which there is a country dance. Florence Gilbert, playing the lead opposite Mr. Jones, and Marion Harlan, who has one of the important roles, attend this dance which is given in honor of Mr. Jones' being elected sheriff to clean up marauding cattlemen. Both of the young ladies come dressed in very chic and pretty frocks. While waiting for a scene to be shot, the two young ladies started a friendly argument as to whose dress has the widest sweep to the circular skirt. Buck Jones seems to think he knows a lot about dresses but, decides the only way to settle the argument, and go on with the picture, is to take his lasso and measure each of the skirts. This is done, and Miss Gilbert won. Those supporting Jones are William Lawrence, Jay Hunt, Harry Woods, Sidney Bracey and Frank Beal. "A Man Four-Square" will be shown to-night for the last time. Paulette Duval, Max Barwyn, Albert Gran, Charles Gray and others have adequate roles. Tonight will bring to a close this engagement.

SAINT JOHN MAN ONE OF NAMED "BORDERERS"

Thomas Meehan of West End Seven Years With Them in India

To one Saint John man, Thomas Meehan of 289 Union street, West Side, the announcement that the King's Own Scottish Borderers had been affiliated with the Saint John Fulliers was especially interesting information, for he had served on the battlefields with the 26th Battalion of Great War fame and also as a member of the famous Scout Regiment, "The Borderers." As the Saint John Fulliers, on reorganization after the Great War were linked with the 26th, Mr. Meehan may be stated as having been attached to both soldier units which have been recently affiliated. So far as known, he is the only one.

Mr. Meehan joined the King's Own Scottish Borderers at Berwick-on-Tweed, Scotland, in 1900, and served in all 12 years under their colors, when the regiment was under command of Col. Dickinson. He was for seven years with them in India. He was at Dargal Heights and through the Tirah campaign in 1907-08. He read, with much interest naturally, the Times-Star summary of the achievements of this notable unit of battle veterans. At Dargal, he said the Borderers were in the fight before the Gordon Highlanders and the latter came up as reinforcements. At the time of the Boer War, about 1900, Private Meehan was invalided home with enteric fever, but he was early to enlist and take up soldiering again. He joined the 26th Battalion here and served through 1914 and 1915 and part of the following year. Then he was invalided home at account of gastritis. He possesses several medals including one showing his Indian Frontier service and other for his fighting times in the Great War.

SEE THE FALLS

At high tide the water of the Bay of Fundy reaches a higher level than the water of the Saint John river, and for this reason the Falls disappear entirely, and the water of the Falls becomes smooth as the surface of a lake. At low tide the water in the Bay becomes so much lower than that of the river, that the full water is reversed and flows down river into the Bay. At half tide, when the level in the Bay and river are about equal, the Falls disappear entirely, and the water of the Falls becomes smooth as the surface of a lake. The world it should be seen at all the stages. The best time to view this phenomenon is: TODAY (daylight saving time.) High Tide 11:30 a. m. Slack Tide 2:30 p. m. Low Tide 6:18 p. m. KING OF MARCH MUSIC IN CITY THIS MORNING

Sousa Recalls Former Visits and Speaks of Stanley Lawlor

John Philip Sousa, composer, writer and conductor, also lieutenant commander in the U. S. Army, passed through Saint John early this morning with his band of 75 musicians enroute to Moncton and Halifax for all engagements. He was met at the station by a Times-Star reporter called to the car, but it required only the snapping of those famous eye glasses to make sure it really was the March King himself the newspaper man so rudely awakened. "No, I'm going to sleep right on into Moncton," said Mr. Sousa with a smile in spite of all, "for if there is one thing I love it's my tangy sea-coast air." The band and special artists have gone out of style along with tight trousers, he said, he was wearing a mustache only. The March King has traveled over a great portion of the world's surface and oceans since his last concert in Saint John. On one of these long trips to South Africa, one of the members of his organization was Stanley Lawton of this city, one of the famous saxophone trio. Mr. Lawton spent the final years of his life in a local orchestra playing string bass. Mr. Sousa and officers spoke highly of the reception they were receiving in this city, and was reminded through the thrill of pleasure it gave them to among people of another nationality, particularly the British, at whose hands they had always received the most cordial treatment.
