Thousand At King Square To Honor Soldier Dead ARMISTICE DAY HERE MARKED BY 2 CEREMONIES

General MacBrien Assists at Both; Speaks at One SILENCE IS KEPT

Impressive Observance At Memorial and Tablet in Post Office

SAVE for the piping tribute of a baby in its mother's arms, solemn silence reigned in the busiest, noisiest centre of city traffic at the head of King street from 11 to 11:02 this forenoon when a representative body of Saint John people bowed heads in respectful memory of the soldier dead who sleep in wartime graves. In all the anniversaries of Armistice Day here none seemed as impressive as that observed today. The city-wide signal given by the fire alarm stopped traffic as if by magic and it might well have been the middle of the night so still and impressive was the silence.

REPRESENTATIVE BODY. The assemblage of people included Major General J. H. MacBrien, C.B., C.M.G., D.S.O., Chief of Canadian Military Staff; Acting Major J. H. Prince, Commissioner of the Navy League, Mrs. FitzRandolph and Miss Grace Leavitt representing the Women's Canadian Club, fraternal societies, soldier bodies and private organizations.

REV. MR. LAWRENCE'S ADDRESS. Rev. C. Gordon Lawrence spoke briefly but with deep feeling. He said: "We are here at the invitation of the Daughters of the Empire, in company with the Mayor's representative, the general officer commanding this military district and several other distinguished persons, for a simple ceremony at the monument erected in honor and memory of our glorious dead. One or two short prayers will be said, followed by the Lord's Prayer, which it is hoped we may repeat together. The period of silence will begin at a signal to be given. It is being observed, we believe, very generally throughout the Empire so that a great many thousands of people are paying tribute in this simple and impressive manner to the high example of self-sacrifice given by many who perished in the Great War.

IN MEMORY OF DEAD. "We stand here in sight of the ocean, its other side washes a land that will always be dear to us. For, mingled in its soil, are the mortal remains of our sons and brothers. In honorable warfare they gave their lives for our protection. To visit their resting place is for most of us a solemn duty. Across their graves the shadow of relative or neighbor will seldom fall. But we gather here in the city that was the home of a great many, around the beautiful and stately monument erected in their honor.

SEVEN years ago this morning the order was given for the cessation of hostilities. The prayers of many nations were answered and peace dawned upon the weary world. But for many of those whom we honor today peace came only in another life. They died in the midst of warfare far removed from the tender associations of the home they died to save.

"The words we speak today will be soon forgotten. We shall not survive our own remembrance. But the glory of their sacrifice will never pass away. In giving their lives for humanity they won immortality. Their name liveth forever."

All Three Given Until February Term of Supreme Court to Reply—Local Barristers Pronounced Absconders

AT this morning's session of the Appeal Division of the Supreme Court at Fredericton, a resolution was presented by F. R. Taylor, K. C., president of the N. B. Barristers' Society Council, finding R. B. Hanson, K. C., M. P.—elect for York-Sunbury, guilty of professional misconduct. On order of the court, Mr. Hanson was given until the February term to appear and show cause why he should not be found guilty and punished.

FREDERICTON, Nov. 11.—When the court of appeals resumed their morning with Sir Douglas Hazen, Mr. Justice White and Mr. Justice Grimmer sitting, Hon. J. B. Baxter as Attorney-General presented a resolution from the council of the Barristers' Society to the effect that Sidney H. Hunton and Roy A. Davidson, both of Saint John, be disbarred and their names struck from the roll of barristers and attorneys of the Supreme Court of New Brunswick, and he made a motion to that effect.

IN accordance with the resolution, Chief Justice Sir Douglas Hazen stated that notice would be published in two that notice of the Royal Gazette calling upon the two attorneys to appear before the court on the first day of the next term and state why the recommendation of the Barristers' Society should not be put in effect.

THE Chief Justice said that the court had been informed of the matter and had given it consideration. It did not appear that notice had been served on the two persons concerned.

DR. ALLEN'S CHARGES. Dr. Allen's charges were laid before the council of the Barristers' Society, on October 31st, 1924, and have been the subject of investigation by disinterested members of the council, culminating in the report which was presented this morning to the court for action. The evidence, which was taken by the investigating committee, together with the evidence relating to the Never's infants matter in the action for libel of Hanson vs. The Gleaner, Limited, which formed part of the evidence in their investigation, was filed with the court today by President Taylor, when he presented the resolution of the council of the Barristers' Society.

HANSON SILENT. Mr. Hanson, asked by your correspondent if he cared to make any statement concerning the resolution of the council of the Barristers' Society and the order of investigation by disinterested members of the council, replied that he had none, and that the matter was entirely in the hands of his counsel, Hon. J. B. Baxter.

VENIOT ANSWERS BAXTER STATEMENT

Takes Issue With Denunciation; Says, 'We Have Reached Crisis In Our Industrial Development'

States No Government Should Be Allowed to Barter Away Common Heritage for Sake of Political Expediency

BACKS PAPER COMPANY AGREEMENT

Commission Justified for Consenting to Hold 10,000 to 14,000 Horse-Power in Reserve, He Contends; Prime Minister's Statement Dealt With at Length

"WE have reached a crisis in our industrial development. No Government should be allowed to barter away our common heritage for the sake of political expediency."

So declares Hon. Dr. P. J. Veniot, former Premier of New Brunswick, in a statement issued here last night in reply to Premier Baxter's denunciation of the contract made by the late New Brunswick Electric Power Commission and the International Paper Company with regard to Grand Falls power.

Hon. Dr. Veniot charges the premier with several misstatements. He declares that Dr. Baxter says the province-company agreement for the sale of power was confirmed by the International Waterways Commission and gave this as a reason for not cancelling it. Dr. Veniot, on the other hand, asserts the Waterways Commission had nothing whatever to do with that agreement.

Dr. Veniot deals at length with the allegation of Dr. Baxter that the International had first option on 10,000 or 14,000 horsepower and with the statement that "until the Paper Company decides how much power it requires no other corporation can be negotiated with."

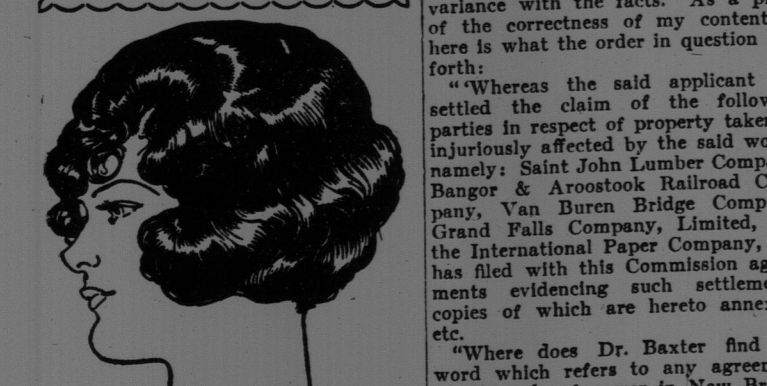

Dr. Veniot declares that the commission was justified in agreeing to hold that much power in reserve for a time for the company because they were considering locating a pulp and paper industry in this province.

"The Premier cannot hide the attempt to destroy the policy of public ownership under the guise of his being unable to cancel the contract. It is the height of nonsense and is resorted to for the purpose of providing an excuse for hedging on an issue of the utmost importance to the province," Dr. Veniot declares.

The former Premier's statement in full follows: "My attention having been called to a statement published in The Telegraph-Journal of November 7th, by Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, Premier of the province, relative to the Grand Falls water power development and certain agreements made in connection therewith between the late government, of which I was the leader, and the International Paper Company, I feel it to be my duty to make reply to the Premier through the same channel adopted by him to reach the public. In all fairness to the electors of this province I think they should be put in possession of both sides of the case.

CRITICISM OFFERED. "Had Premier Baxter divested himself of the spirit of political partisanship, which seems to pervade his every argument touching the question under consideration, his statement would at least have had a semblance of sincerity and consistency, and he had published at the same time and made his criticism a copy of the agreement between the Paper Company and the Hydro Commission, so that the public would have been in a position to judge whether he confined himself to a statement of fact."

statement that no such condition exists. RIGHT ABOUT TIME. "As to the time specified in which the Paper Company must act in or under avails itself of the terms of the agreement I may say that Premier Baxter is right that the Hydro Commission shall reserve the power above specified for six months after the date when it shall actually be ready for delivery and that such contract shall further provide that, within the six months' period the Paper Company shall elect to take such power, the same shall be reserved for a further twelve months period, etc.

LET PEOPLE JUDGE. "Let the public judge if Premier Baxter stating the fact when he says there is no means provided in the contract for fixing the price of power. Why not the very wording of the agreement?

"Misstatement No. 3.—Until the Paper Commission decides how much power it requires no other corporation can be negotiated with, states Premier Baxter. "In order to show how outrageous this statement is I will quote the clause in the agreement which deals with this point. Here it is: "The Paper Commission will bind itself (in case the Paper Company shall desire to purchase the same) to reserve as below specified and sell to the Paper Company for delivery and use in New Brunswick primary power generated from the initial development at said Grand Falls in a block, subject to the provisions next below, of either ten thousand or fourteen thousand horse power, as the Paper Company may elect. Such contract shall provide that the Paper Company, at any time, and from time to time, take such power in any amount within a limit of ten per cent less or more than such block of 10,000 or 14,000 horse power, as the case may be."

USE OF SURPLUS POWER. "Touching that part of the agreement which deals with the use of primary power for grinding wood, the Premier leaves the impression that if he sold for grinding the wood, he would have a surplus of power over and above the ordinary market demand, it must be sold to the paper company which would be reserved for grinding purposes to the Bathurst Company. There is not a single word in the agreement which indicates that the surplus power must be disposed of in the way Dr. Baxter intimates. The disposal of surplus power, as he calls it—notwithstanding that the agreement does not speak of surplus power—is dealt with in the agreement directly as a matter of policy on the part of the Government. Before any power can be sold for grinding the wood, the Government must declare that it is its policy to place aside a certain quantity of primary power to be sold and known as grinding purposes. It is well known that hydro power for grinding purposes requires the use of far greater quantities of power than that for use in carrying on the manufacture of the finished articles of pulp or newspaper.

STATEMENT COMBATED. "Premier Baxter further states 'The Province is bound to the Paper Company to give it practically the first option on the use of power.' This is an utterly false statement with common sense that I can only conceive of his use of such an argument as a preparatory step to handling over the Grand Falls to certain private corporations, and he adopts this means of influencing the public mind in that direction.

"Premier Baxter further states 'The Province is bound to the Paper Company to give it practically the first option on the use of power.' This is an utterly false statement with common sense that I can only conceive of his use of such an argument as a preparatory step to handling over the Grand Falls to certain private corporations, and he adopts this means of influencing the public mind in that direction.

REGARDING AGREEMENT. "Misstatement No. 1: Referring to the agreement between the International Paper Company and the New Brunswick Hydro Commission, touching the sale of the company's primary power for the ordinary uses of industry and for grinding purposes, Premier Baxter says: 'This agreement has been confirmed by the International Paper Company, the International Waterways Commission, and is one of the conditions upon which the province has been granted the right to use water coming from the State of Maine.' "The order of the Waterways Commission contains not one single word in reference to an agreement for the sale of any power for use in New Brunswick to the International Paper Company. The Waterways Commission had nothing whatever to do with the agreement between the International Paper Company and the Hydro Commission, their attention even was never drawn to this point. They had no jurisdiction in the matter. The only question which the Waterways Commission could and did deal with, as between the Paper Company and the New Brunswick Hydro Commission, was never the agreement by which the Hydro Commission undertook to compensate the Paper Company for any injury done to property, rights or franchises within the limits of the Saint John River within the limits of the international boundary between Canada and the United States. The agreement touching this point, as well as compensation for property in New Brunswick owned by the company and affected with the development of Grand Falls was made a part of the order of the Waterways Commission.

ORDER QUOTED. "When Premier Baxter says that the agreement for sale of power in New Brunswick to the Paper Company is 'one of the conditions upon which the province has been granted the right to use water coming from the State of Maine,' he states what is absolutely at variance with the facts. As a proof of the correctness of my contention, here is what the order in question sets forth: "Whereas the said applicant has settled the claim of the following parties in respect of property taken or injuriously affected by the said works, namely: Saint John Lumber Company, Bangor & Aroostook Railroad Company, Van Buren Bridge Company, Grand Falls Company, Limited, and the International Paper Company, and has filed with this Commission agreements evidencing such settlements, copies of which are hereto annexed, etc."

TO INCREASE POWER. "But apart from all this, there remains the means of increasing the power from 50,000 to 75,000 horse power, should the market require it, with but a small extra construction cost, and which, when completed and sold found for the latter extra amount of power, would lessen the cost of production and thus give a cheaper rate to all industries as well as for domestic and other uses.

finished articles of pulp or newspaper. The policy of the Government was not to sell in large quantities power for grinding wood, especially in its initial development of 50,000 horse power, because we were fully convinced that there was an available market for all the primary power without engaging specifically to sell any part of this power for grinding purposes. When the question of selling primary power for grinding wood was up for discussion with the International Paper Company, it was pointed out that it was not the Government policy to sell primary power for grinding wood, but that any surplus or "off-power" accumulated through a run-off during fresher seasons could be utilized for that purpose, and if, later on the Government found that it would be the proper policy to sell a certain quantity of primary power for grinding wood exclusively, then would the International Paper Company have the option to such power after the provision relating to the Bathurst Company had been carried out.

STILL HAS JURISDICTION. "The Government has still full jurisdiction over the sale or non-sale of primary power for grinding wood, and nothing in the agreement compels the Hydro Commission to sell the Paper Company any part of its power for the purposes referred to by the Premier. It appears to me that he is making a play on words in the hope of convincing some few at least that the late Government did an injustice to existing industries. Any one carefully reading the agreement will readily conceive how the late Government attempted to safeguard the general interests of the province by inserting the proviso that power for grinding wood (surplus) would be available only as a fixed purchase."

ANOTHER PHASE. "But let me draw the attention of the public to another phase of this question. Should the Premier, after that mature deliberation so characteristic of the gentleman, decide to pass Grand Falls over to private concerns, what will prevent them from utilizing all the primary power for their own use, in whatever form they may see fit, and deprive other industries not in their line as well as users of domestic power from enjoying the benefits of selling directly for that purpose."

Cheerfulness is not merely a matter of choice; it is an obligation we owe to those about us.

"It Doesn't Matter" Is Sad Form of Generosity.

(Victoria Colonist.) "I haven't had any, and I don't suppose I shall; but it doesn't matter—you have it, Joe!" Thus, according to her own account, would an old servant of his name deliver herself.

And yet, even to my childish mind, there seemed something a little wrong with this form of generosity. Perhaps sentimentality was not one of Joe's characteristics, but surely the apple or orange would have tasted sweeter even to him without that qualifying "doesn't matter."

"It doesn't matter." Say it as you will—virtuously, complacently, resignedly—it just spoils the gift or the sacrifice for the recipient. Indeed, it often makes it impossible to accept a favor at all. Have you offered to give up a looked-for treat or pleasure for the sake of someone else, and been told "It doesn't matter"? If so, you know just how these words affect you.

If you take your treat in spite of the doubtful assurance, it is very little pleasure that you will get out of it. And if you do not take it, the joy that should have been yours in giving has been dimmed and blurred by the ungraciousness of another.

There are people whose lives seem to be one long series of "doesn't matters." They cannot give, or forego, or deny themselves a single thing without a grudging spirit asserting itself, and they thus add their quota of depression and gloom to an already depressed world. Whereas if only the giving could be put on a higher plane, on the plane of the giving of our Lord Himself, what a different effect it would have on the world. His words to us is, "Freely ye have received, freely give." And no lower standard ought to satisfy us.

The Best of Advice

BY CLARK KINNAIRD

THE MOST INTIMATE OF ALL RELATIONS.

THE two lines with which Pope begins the second epistle of his Essay on Man provide a foundation for a whole system of learning:

Know then thyself, presume not God to scan, The proper study of mankind is man.

The relation of the individual person to the species he belongs to, is, as Havelock Ellis sets forth, the most intimate of all relations.

It is a relation which almost amounts to identity.

Yet it somehow seems so vague, so abstract, as scarcely to concern us at all.

It is only lately that there has been formulated even so much as a science to discuss this relationship, and the duties of which, when properly understood, it throws upon the individual.

THE word "Eugenics," the name of this science, and this art, sometimes arouses a smile, sometimes a frown, and sometimes an expression of contempt.

It seems to stand for a fact, in reality, ancient, and may be nearly as old as man himself.

But the thing the term stands for is, in reality, ancient, and may be nearly as old as man himself.

Consciously or unconsciously, sometimes under pretexts that have disguised their motives even from himself, Havelock Ellis points out, Man has always been attempting to improve his own quality or at least to maintain it.

And we know that when he slackens that effort, when he allows his attention to be drawn too exclusively to other ends, he suffers, he becomes decadent, he even tends to die out.

LEARNED men in this science, of which Havelock Ellis is one, tell us we do not need, and it would be undesirable, to emulate in human breedings the achievements of a Luther Burbank.

We have no right to impose on any human creature an exaggerated and one-sided development.

But "it is only our right, it is our duty, or rather one may say, the natural impulse of every rational and humane person, to seek that only such children may be born as will be able to go through life with a reasonable prospect that they will not be handicapped by inborn defect or special liability to some incapacitating disease."

WHAT is called "positive" eugenics—the attempt, that is, to breed special qualities—may well be viewed with hesitation, the best authorities admit.

But so called "negative" eugenics—the effort to clear all inborn obstacles out of the path of the coming generation—demands sympathy and co-operation, for as Galton, founder of modern Eugenics, wrote of this new science:

"Its first object is to check the birth-rate of the unfit, instead of allowing them to come into being, though doomed in large numbers to perish prematurely."

That's all there is to this "birth control," which so many persons look upon with alarm.

Affections are as thoughts to her, The measures of her hours; Her feelings have the fragrance, The freshness of young flowers;

And lovely passions, changing oft, So fall her, she appears The image of themselves by turns, The idol of past years!

Of her bright face one glance will trace A picture on the brain, And of her voice in echoing hearts A sound must long remain; But memory, such as mine of her, So very much endears, When death is nigh, my latest sign Will not be life, but hers.

I fill this cup to one made up Of loveless loneliness, A woman, of her gentle sex The seeming paragon; To whom the better elements And kindly stars have given, And from her heart each flow, 'Tis less of earth than heaven.

Her every tone is music's own, Like those of none but she, And something more than melody Dwells ever in her words; The coining of her heart are they, And from her heart each flows, As one may see the burdened bee Forth issue from the rose.

I fill this cup to one made up Of loveless loneliness, A woman, of her gentle sex The seeming paragon— Her health, and would on earth there stood Some more of such a frame, That life might be all poetry, And weariness a name.

—Edward Pinkney.

Coal Once Hard to Sell. It is only a little more than a century since anthracite coal as a fuel was first used without scepticism.

As late as 1819 handbills were being printed telling people how to use it and what to expect from it in the way of fire and heat. Some coal was being mined in 1822, but with great difficulty, and it was sold with even greater difficulty, some of the coal peddlers being run out of town by their buyers a few hours after they tried to use it.

RT. REV. GEORGE W. PLUMMER. THE distinction of being the first American bishop to be recognized as head of one of the branches of the Anglican Universal church, an eastern religious organization often known as the Church of the Holy Spirit or the Chaldean church, belongs to the Rt. Rev. George W. Plummer.

This church is decidedly unique in that it performs eastern rites in the English language in the United States. The orders of Bishop Plummer will be accepted as valid by the Eastern church.

The Chaldean church made a pronouncement concerning the validity of the orders of both the Church of England and the Episcopal church, which has been delivered to the Archbishop of Canterbury and the presiding bishop of the Episcopal church.

Bishop Plummer was born in Boston, Mass., and is a graduate of Brown University.

NEWSPAPER FAIRNESS. (Financial Post.) Leading daily and weekly newspapers throughout Canada have been very fair in their treatment of election topics. The newspaper editors have avoided pettiness to a singular degree. Newspapers that publish only one side of the political story; that find all the virtues on one side, and all the weaknesses in the political platform of the other party, add nothing to national unity.

Their editors probably argue that during an election campaign is the one time, of all times, when a clear, definite stand must be taken by the paper and a lusty battle fought. But in fighting that battle there should be sanity and sportsmanship. It is refreshing to observe so many of the best newspapers taking the broader stand and giving fair treatment to all parties and all speakers. The paper that has taken such stand has not lessened the power of its columns to serve the particular cause to which it subscribes.

The editor asks if it would not be well to purchase it and maintain it as public property. He thinks that the house which so great a Canadian figure occu-

It is to be hoped that such action will be taken. The suggestion will be given strong endorsement in all parts of the Dominion.

Veniot Replies To Baxter Over Grand Falls Contract Question; Takes Issue With Denunciation

of this development? The very agreement which his own committee showed the wisdom of the former Government in making a distinction between normal and surplus power and in controlling the limit on the quantity of power which they were bound to sell, should such a policy be at any time adopted. I feel positive that a more careful study of this phase of the question will convince the Premier that if he accepts the advice of those who are interested in private ownership, he will be "rushing" in where angels fear to tread.

SOLICITUDE FOR CONCERNS

"I cannot close without making some reference to the Premier's general remarks touching what he calls the deplorable position in which the agreement with the International Paper Company has left the Fraser's Lake and to some extent the Bathurst Company in so far as obtaining power is concerned. His solicitude for these companies, at the present time, may seem ridiculous to the public, especially if one considers that during the election of August last, Dr. Baxter and his friends condemned me for undertaking to develop Grand Falls when I must have known that there would be no assured market for the power. Now that the elections are all over and the good doctor snugly enthroned at Fredericton, he discovers that I had so arranged matters that the two companies in question cannot get all the power they will need. How suddenly have the market demands increased. If I am not mistaken Dr. Baxter on one or more occasions stated that he spoke with absolute authority when he said that neither the Fraser's nor the Bathurst Company were prepared to enter into contracts with the Hydro Commission for power, and he used this argument to show why we should not proceed with the development. Why this very sudden change? Is it possible that there was an understanding between interested parties and Dr. Baxter, during the election campaign, that they would refuse to consider an agreement to purchase power so that it could be shown there was no ready market for the product of Grand Falls, and in the event of Dr. Baxter's success they would be prepared to cry out loudly for power, but for power only that would be developed under a different system than that proposed by the Veniot Government? Such a method would be just the steps necessary to destroy the principle of public ownership in this province.

NO BRIEF FOR COMPANIES

"Premier Baxter seems very severe in his condemnation of the International Paper Company. He held up the Grand Falls for a number of years without making any serious attempt to develop it. I have no brief for any of the companies which may be interested in the development of Grand Falls, but it does appear to me as if the Premier were going from the sublime to the ridiculous. He cannot hide the attempt to destroy the principle of public ownership in this province.

CAPITAL INVESTED HERE

"While it is true that the International Paper Co. is American by nature and birth, it is also true that the greater part of its capital is now invested in Canada, a considerable amount of which is in New Brunswick. They are now preparing to invest more in this province. Why does Dr. Baxter wish to discourage them? Does he not want to see our industrial life grow and expand? Which would be the best feature of our industrial life? Is it by having foreign capital come into our province, opening up new industries and giving employment to thousands of our own people by manufacturing our raw material into finished articles at home? Or is it preferable that the raw material be sent raw material, be transferred across the American border under the impetus of Canadian capital, to be manufactured into finished articles, thus depriving our forest wealth for the benefit of foreign labor and markets and to the detriment of our own people, such as being considered in this direction? No one would deny that the capital comes from Uncle Sam's domain.

PAPER CO. CONTRACT

"In his general comments on the situation the Premier says that the contract with the Paper Company 'retards the action of the Hydro Commission in every possible direction.' No one knows better than Dr. Baxter that such is not the case. But, admitting for the sake of argument, that he is right, why does he not cancel the contract? Did he not loudly boast during the election that he could and would cancel any and all contracts entered into by the Veniot government, which he considered should not have been made. According to him the contract in question is 'outrageous.' Why not cancel it? Is the good doctor weakening, or does he find himself face to face with the situation that he must in some way pay the debt due the big interests who combined to bring about the defeat of the policy of public ownership in this province by defeating the Veniot government?"

"It is no use," says Dr. Baxter, "to pass legislation interfering with the contract for the province has no jurisdiction over the orders made by the International Paper Company." "I have quoted the Order of the

TERRITORY AFFECTED BY SECURITY PACT

The shaded portion shows the demilitarized portion of Germany extending thirty miles east of the Rhine. It has been the scene of war since the time of Julius Caesar, but it is hoped that the Locarno agreement has removed the menace of war now.

Waterways Commission, which distinctly shows that the Commission did not intend with the question of the agreement for the sale of power to the International Paper Company. Even if the agreement in question was made in a matter of record for reference, the direct order issued deals only with the question of compensation to be paid the Paper Company. The Premier cannot hide the attempt to destroy the principle of public ownership in this province.

POWER FOR INDUSTRIES

"Surely Premier Baxter cannot be serious when he says that the only way out of the difficulty which is facing the province is to hand the enterprise over to a private company. What about power for smaller industries? It is not by concentrating on two large enterprises that we can solve the problem of power. What about the rural districts? Why create a monopoly for two pulp and paper mills and let the balance of the province suffer for want of industrial development? Let Premier Baxter carry out under the policy laid down by the late government. He will not only have way help to keep our young people at home and prevent to a large degree that exodus from this province which is so deplored during the last Federal election. He now has one of the greatest opportunities of his life to prove his sincerity to the electors of the province. Surely he will not allow the chance to slip by merely because he feels something should be done to recompense the advocates of private ownership who stood so loyally by him and his party in the last Provincial election.

CRISIS REACHED

"It is time that the people of New Brunswick took a more lively interest in our public matters. We have reached a crisis in our industrial development. No government should be allowed to barter away, on a mere flimsy pretext of this or that being not just right, our common heritage for the sake of political expediency.

"In conclusion let me say that, notwithstanding Premier Baxter's severe attacks against the contract with the International Paper Company, I still say, and will continue to repeat with all my might, that the contracts or agreements with the Paper Company do not in any way jeopardize the ex-

Bailey, of Boston, in the presence of friends of the contracting couple. The bride, who was a blonde of blonde cloth, trimmed with beaver, a hat to match and carried a shower bouquet of Opheia roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Helen Grannan, who wore a gown of old blue crepe, with hat of black panne velvet and carried American beauty roses. Robert Burns of Boston, an intimate friend of the bridegroom, was groomsmen. During the service, William Grannan, brother of the bride, sang very acceptably two solos. After the ceremony a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's mother and Mr. and Mrs. Bailey left for a honeymoon at White Mountains. The bride wore with her traveling costume a seal coat, trimmed with squirrel, the gift of the bridegroom. Many beautiful presents were received, testifying to the popularity of the young people.

Dorothy Dix

"We Should Live So That We Will Not Be Afraid of What Others May Say About Us, and Having Done That, Not to Care a Hang What They DO Say," Advises Dorothy Dix.

THERE is no more difficult question to decide than how far we should be ruled by our neighbors, and where we should draw the line between snapping our fingers in Mrs. Grundy's face, and groveling in the dust before her.

DOROTHY DIX

A millionaire's insolent dictum, "The public be damned," very nearly wrecked a railroad, and certainly it will wreck any man or woman to flout the opinion of the community in which he or she lives.

It isn't enough for us to be good; and act in accord with their conventions. There is an unwritten law that we may not do certain things without subjecting ourselves to gossip, and we defy this at our peril.

THE married woman who goes joyriding with slick-haired youths may be, in reality, a devoted wife and mother, and faithful to her husband; the young girl who indulges in petting parties in automobiles parked in front of her house at 8 o'clock in the morning may be merely indiscreet.

The married man who takes his stenographer out to lunch may be actuated by only the most altruistic motives, but their clear consciences avail them nothing.

Their neighbors cannot see into their souls. They can only judge by the outside, and make such deductions as appear to warrant. Therefore, we are loath if we think we can defy our neighbors, and do as we please, and live our own lives regardless of them.

EVERY now and then you find some intrepid individual who tries this experiment: A young girl who thinks she has the right to comfort and console some married man and receive his attentions. A couple who decide to live together without benefit of clergy. A man who scorns to follow the dictates of fashion, and who comes to your parties unshaven and unshorn, and wearing a flannel shirt and baggy trousers. But sooner or later, the juggernaut of public opinion rolls over all of these people, and leaves them crushed and maimed. They find themselves ostracized, balked at their ambitions, dropped out of everything, and left to go their self-directed way alone.

Now this fear of what "they will say" is the beginning of righteousness. It is the lantern's whip that keeps many a weak, tempted brother and sister in the straight and narrow path. And it is a good and wholesome thing for us to entertain a proper respect for our neighbor's tongues, and to so conduct ourselves that we are not afraid of being the subject of conversation when two or three of them are gathered together.

But while we are wise to accord proper deference to our neighbors' opinions, we are foolish to be slaves to them, and to be so afraid of what they will say about us that we sacrifice all of our independence to them.

For we may be sure that no matter what we do, we will be discussed and criticized, and that we will not be able to please everybody.

THE Joneses will think we stay at home too much; the Robinsons that we gad too much. The Smiths will opine that we are extravagant; the Thompsons that we are tightwad. The Johnsons will hold that we spoil our children; the Greahams that we are too hard upon them. If we have an automobile the O'Reillys will wonder how we can afford it. If we don't have one, the O'Reillys will wonder why we don't. If our household is a devoted one, some of the neighbors will hold us up as an example of a happy marriage, and others will suspect it of being a bluff.

And so it will go. Others will discuss us as we, in our turn, discuss them, and in the end we have to fall back upon the philosophy of the old Dutch merchant who suddenly acquired a fortune, and who, knowing that his origin would be a matter of speculation among his friends, carved over the doorway of the fine new mansion that he built: "THEY SAY, THEY WILL SAY, LET THEM BE SAYING."

Unfortunately this fear of "what they say" makes such cowards of many people that they will ruin their lives rather than do something that they think the neighbors might criticize. It is at the bottom of what makes men starve along at what they call "white-collar jobs" when they might be making fortunes in some trade. It is what crowds the professions with the snail who would make successes as carpenters, or bricklayers, or plumbers.

FOR years the fear of what the neighbors would say kept women threadbare in genteel poverty, and eating the bitter bread of dependence, who were just aching to get out and work and make money for themselves. This dread of what the neighbors will say is still keeping thousands of women who have a genius for cookery that they would love to express, and who thrill at the sight of a pan and pot out of the kitchens they long to be in.

They would a million times rather go out to domestic service than work in factories or clerk in stores, if they weren't terrorized by the thought of what their neighbors would say.

WORST of all, this fear of what "they say" makes men and women ruin themselves by extravagance. They feel that they have to keep up with the Joneses. They haven't the courage to live according to their means. They think they will be criticized if they don't give the sort of parties their friends give, and wear the same sort of clothes and have as good a car. So they run into debt and come to disaster in the end.

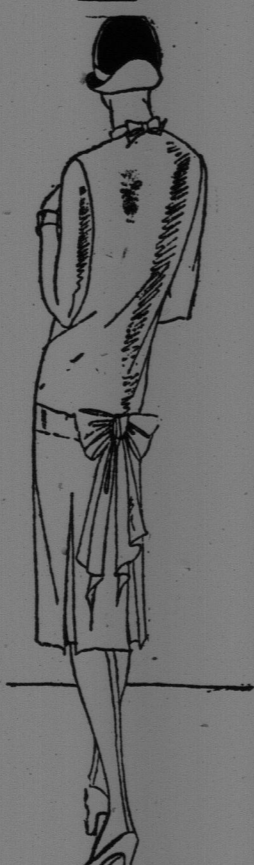

And the queer part of it all is that when we are brave enough to be independent, and choose the sort of work we are fitted for by nature, when we roll our own heavy carriages and make our own frocks and ride in a limousine and live within our means, our neighbors all praise us for it, and say kindly things, instead of ridiculing us as they do when we pretend and pose.

THE moral of all of which is that we should live so that we will not be afraid of what "they say" about us, and having done that, not care a hang what they do say. DOROTHY DIX. Copyright by Public Ledger Company.

FASHION FANCIES

By Marie Belmont

THE reverse fashion from front-trimmed frocks is seen in smart new models that have perfectly plain fronts, and concentrate on trimming at the back. The dress above furnishes a modish example of the frock trimmed at the back. The material is gray mohair, and the frock simulates a two-piece model. The wide belt is attached through the centre of the dress and finished with a sash of the material at the back. Inverted pleats furnish ample width for walking, and the small matching felt hat also turns up at the back.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS

By OLIVE ROBERTS BAZZON

AN "EYES AND NOSE" PARTY.

"What shall we do next?" asked the Clown when the stunt party was over. He was rather out of breath, the Clown was, for he had done about a dozen stunts to entertain the visitors. He had jumped over six chairs, and balanced on a table on the end of his nose, and juggled a lamp and a knife and an orange all at one time and ridden a one-wheeled bicycle—and finally he had ended by twisting himself into a sort of double-knot and then untying himself again.

So it was no wonder he was out of breath when he said: "What shall we do next?"

When the people of High Jinks Land had finished clapping, Mister Corn Dodger said: "Let us have some votes on it. Who has an idea?"

"I have," said the Little Dog. "That-Laughed, 'lets eat'."

"It is too soon," said Mister Dodger. "Is that all you can think of?"

"Oh, no," said the Little Dog. "Let's chase cats."

"Aye's and 'no's please speak up," said Mister Corn Dodger. "Personally I am not in favor of it."

"Nor I," said the Hi Diddle Diddle Cat.

"Nor I," said the Cat-Who-Had-Been-to-London.

"What do you mean by 'eyes' and 'nose'?" asked Nancy. "What have eyes and nose to do with it?"

Mister Corn Dodger looked surprised. "Don't you know?" he said. "If not, your education has been neglected."

"Ha, ha, ha!" laughed the Clown. "You're all talking about different things. Mister Corn Dodger is speaking about 'Aye's' and 'No's' that means 'Yes' and 'No.' 'Aye' means 'yes' and 'No' means 'no.' And Nancy means the eyes we see with and the nose we smell with."

"Thank goodness, that's fixed," remarked Jack O'Lantern, who was a bit sensitive about his own eyes and nose. "Now we can begin all over again. We'll go back to the voting."

"Very well," said Mister Corn Dodger. "Who wants to chase cats? All in favor says 'aye.'"

"Me," barked the Little Dog. "You should say 'I,'" said Mister Corn Dodger. "Better still—spell it. There are two kinds. There are 'aye' and 'I' and I don't know which one you mean."

Unselfishness of Mothers Often A Vice, Declares Woman Novelist

By MARGERY PICKARD.

UNSELFISHNESS is as much a vice as a virtue, Anne Parish, novelist, whose "The Perennial Bachelor" recently won her the Harper prize, believes.

"Selfishness may choke one's life, but misdirected selflessness chokes the growth of all it touches. Such unselfishness warps both lives, the giver and the recipient. Women far more than men indulge in unselfishness as a vice."

Anne Parish, prize-winning novelist, is wholly feminine, absurdly young and soft-voiced.

She has been reared in the best Southern tradition, and life has dealt gently with her. In fact not for the world can you imagine her dealing other than gently with anyone.

Supreme unselfishness and its toll one generally sees at the end of a life, not in the flush of optimistic youth. Then why is Anne Parish calling it a vice?

"I know so many families where girls have lost their lives—by that I mean their own future and chances for a career or marriage—by looking after one of the family. Women, more than men, are given to pouring out unselfishness upon others. The maternal instinct I think is one reason. To some women, unselfishness amounts to a self-indulgence. They warp the moral fibre of the person for whom they sacrifice their own future."

Lifelong self-sacrifice weakens others by its hothouse treatment, she added, and makes of them ineffective people who are, often enough, gentle and lovable.

One of the extraordinary things about gentle, ineffective people is that they unwittingly and often unconsciously wield an influence greater than that of strong, vehement characters. Miss Parish said: "Such natures, often weak and gentle, to a remarkable degree change the lives of all about them. I can see sharply defined the influence she has had on my life."

The person through whom the great est changes in my life have come is a mild, gentle person. She would be stunned to hear it. And yet, looking back, I can see sharply defined the influence she has had on my life. She admits that very often sons

Jack Mulhall Carries On Despite The Sheiks

By RUSSELL J. BIRDWELL.

Jack Mulhall and Rex Ingram used to crash the studio gates together—back in their "extra" days.

Now Ingram sojourns in Europe, make a picture now and then, and when sufficiently moved, for the bank account has long since ceased to be the cause of anxiety.

And Mulhall is equally comfortably situated in Hollywood, playing opposite such celebrities as Corinne Griffith, Colleen Moore and Dorothy Mackall. He has just finished with Miss Mackall in "Joanna."

The smiling Irishman is one of the oldesters of the infant industry. Back in the dead days he was a member of the immortal Biograph Stock Company. In his very first attempt he scored in a film which boasted a scintillating cast composed of Blanche Sweet, Dorothy Gish, Lionel Barrymore, Micky Nelson and Antonio Moreno.

Tony of course, has just returned to Hollywood after completing a film with Rex Ingram, "Mare Nostrum," which was taken in France, Italy and Spain.

Since the days when he and Ingram made the rounds, Mulhall has fought one of the greatest fights of film history—the Latin versus the Nordic type of hero.

But the engaging young Irishman has watched the sheiks take the count and continued blithely on his way.

Little Editorials

A REMEDY. IF PEOPLE could learn, once and for all, that they never can get something for nothing in this life, the army of swindlers and confidence men would vanish overnight.

For the desire to do just that is the reason for the loss of millions of dollars annually in "sucker" investments.

A man wants to put a few hundred dollars into a project that will make him wealthy. Not to work for his wealth, not to spend years of toil and energy in laying by a competence; but to get it for nothing, without earning it.

And presently some smooth oil stock salesman comes along and there is another sadder and wiser man.

You don't get things for nothing in this life. Things simply don't work out that way.

Scientists To Sumatra For Sun's Total Eclipse

By DAVID DIETZ

A COLLECTION of costly telescopes, astronomical cameras, spectrosopes and other expensive apparatus is now on the first leg of a journey half-way around the world. It was shipped recently from New York, bound for Singapore.

At Singapore, it will be placed on another ship and taken to Sumatra, one of the larger islands of the Malay archipelago. The equator cuts through the middle of Sumatra. There are six active volcanoes on Sumatra. Earthquakes occur occasionally. Water-spouts and severe thunderstorms are frequent.

You might wonder, therefore, why expensive astronomical apparatus is being sent to Sumatra. It is because a total eclipse of the sun will be visible there on Jan. 14, 1926.

It is only occasionally that astronomers are lucky enough to have a total eclipse visible over easily accessible territory like the eclipse of last January, which was visible in a track extending from Minnesota to New York city.

Usually astronomers have to carry their instruments to far off places and run the risk of having months of preparations ruined by a cloud or sudden rain at the moment of the total eclipse.

PROBABLY nothing illustrates more forcibly the lengths to which scientists will go in their search for knowledge than does their study of total eclipses. The period of totality is less than two minutes.

Yet because certain features of the sun can be studied only during those two minutes, astronomers will spend months in preparation for them.

The Sumatra expedition is under the direction of Dr. John A. Miller, the director of the Sproul Astronomical Observatory.

Dr. Miller and the other members of the expedition will all be in Sumatra on Dec. 1. They will spend from Dec. 1 to the day of the eclipse, setting up their apparatus and getting ready for the two minutes of totality.

THEIR apparatus includes an astronomical camera built of structural iron with a focal length of 15

ACID STOMACH IS DANGEROUS

Suffers From Indigestion or Stomach Trouble CUT THIS OUT

"Stomach trouble, dyspepsia, indigestion, sourness, gas, heartburn, food fermentation, etc., are caused nine times in ten by chronic acid stomach," says a well known authority.

Burning hydrochloric acid develops in the stomach at an alarming rate. The acid irritates and inflames the delicate stomach lining and often leads to gastritis accompanied by dangerous stomach ulcers. Don't dose an acid stomach with pepsin or artificial digestants that only give temporary relief from pain by driving the sour, fermenting food out of the stomach into the intestine.

Instead, neutralize or sweeten your acid stomach after meals with a little hot water and Bismarck Magnesia, not only will the pain vanish but your meals will digest naturally. There is nothing better than Bismarck Magnesia to sweeten and settle an acid stomach.

It soaks up the harmful excess acid much as a sponge or blotting paper might and your stomach acts and feels fine in just a few minutes. Bismarck Magnesia can be obtained from any reliable druggist in either powder or tablet form. It is safe, reliable, easy and pleasant to use, is not a laxative and is not at all expensive.

BRANCH FORMED

Laymen Decide on Organization at Dinner in Admiral Beatty

A. M. Belding Gives Address on Maritime Matters and Mission is Praised

Trinity church branch of the Laymen's Association of the Diocese of Fredericton was formed last evening, although the organization will not be completed until next Sunday evening. The Men's Club of Trinity will continue to function but will get behind the Laymen's Association in its work.

This action was taken at the annual banquet of the Men's Club, with about 80 members present, in the Admiral Beatty Hotel last evening. In the absence of the president, E. A. Schofield, the chair was taken by S. H. J. Hargrave, the vice-president. During the luncheon a number of songs were sung, with Mr. Coupe at the piano.

A. M. Belding, the speaker of the evening, made reference to the men who had gone from various parts of New Brunswick and made good in larger fields. It was not the fault of the people, he said, that our young men had to leave home to find opportunity to advance in life, but was due to the fact that the Maritimes had not been given the treatment they should have received from the rest of Canada.

He told of his trip across Canada and the very cordial reception he had met with, calling attention to the conference at Winnipeg next week when matters vital to Canada would be discussed. He also pointed out some of the things which the people of the Maritime Provinces might do for themselves.

MUST HAVE FAITH

In conclusion, he said that what we need more than anything else is faith in ourselves, faith in these provinces, and the baptism of a new energy, so that we may make the most of every favorable condition; since whatever the rest of the country may be willing to do our material progress must depend upon our own faith and works.

W. S. Fisher, in moving a vote of thanks, described the address as the most illuminating he had heard in so condensed a form. He paid a very high tribute to the publishers of the Telegraph-Journal and Times-Star for sending Mr. Belding through Canada at their own expense. He said he knew them, and that they were actuated by high ideals in this matter and not by selfish motives.

Rev. Mr. Lawrence, rector of Trinity, seconded the motion. Harold D. V. Farridge told the club the story of the young men's club of Trinity, which was in charge of Walter A. Harrison and himself. It had made a remarkably fine record, and he appealed for a committee from its Men's Club to aid in promoting its interests.

After some discussion it was left with Mr. Patridge and Mr. Harrison, who received a fine tribute from the rector and a hearty vote of thanks, to arrange with the president and vice-president for the personal support of members.

W. S. Fisher and C. C. Kirby spoke on the necessity for the formation of a Laymen's Association and it was decided to form a branch and also to continue the Men's Club, the two bodies co-operating in church work. A considerable number of those present signed up for the association and Mr. Fisher and Mr. Kirby expressed their great satisfaction.

Thanks were tendered Rev. C. J. Markham for arrangements for the banquet, which was a great success. During the evening a solo was sung by Mr. Donovan, and a dramatic reading given by Ronald Shaw.

PAST CHANCELLORS MET.

A chicken supper prepared under the direction of Grand Chancellor J. A. Mowry preceded the regular meeting of the Saint John Past Chancellors Association, Knights of Pythias, held last evening in Pythian Castle, Union street and was thoroughly enjoyed by the past chancellors of the city. After the tables had been cleared routine business was taken up. John M. Jenkins, president, was in the chair. Interesting questions came before the meeting and were discussed.

UKE CLUB ENTERTAINED.

Miss Grace Green, of Windsor street, West Saint John, was hostess last evening for the members of the Uke Club. Miss Maude Reed, president, was in the chair. A social time was greatly enjoyed and refreshments were served.

Social Notes of Interest

Mrs. Ronald K. Miller gave a very enjoyable bridge of five tables at her residence, 5 Earle Avenue, West Saint John, yesterday afternoon. At the tea hour, Mrs. R. J. Cochrane presided at the artistically arranged table, which had for decoration a silver candelabra with yellow candles and Opheila roses in bud vases. Assisting with the dainty refreshments were Mrs. Freeman Hamm, Mrs. Moffet Bell and Miss Gertrude Fleming. Prizes were won by Mrs. John Marr, Mrs. Freeman Hamm and Mrs. George Gregory. Those present for bridge and at the tea hour were: Mrs. Henry Mercer, Mr. Allen Beatty, Mrs. Phillip Simms, Mrs. Sidney Jones, Mrs. Thomas A. One of the features of the reception was the artistic decorative scheme in which pink and yellow were the predominating colors."

For Cleansing and Rejuvenating—At least once a day, always after exposure, smooth Pond's Cold Cream liberally over your face and neck, letting the pure oils bring to the surface dust, powder and excess oils. Wipe off all the cream and repeat the process. Then close the pores with a dash of cold water.

For a Delicate Finish and Protection—Smooth on just a light film of Pond's Vanishing Cream. Now see how even the surface looks and how smoothly your powder goes on and how long it lasts. And this cream protects your face from wind, biting cold and dust.

The best way to care for the skin according to the DUCHESSE de RICHELIEU

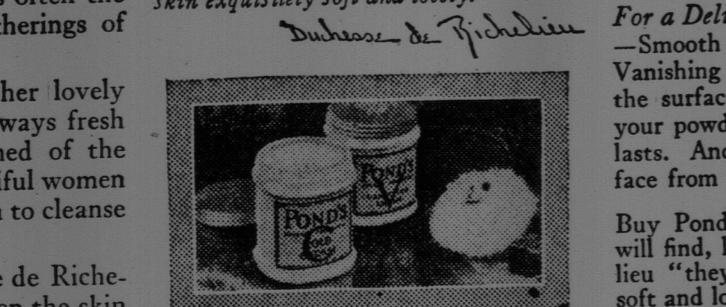

HER name—one of the finest old titled families of France—her social grace and lovely soprano voice have made the Duchesse de Richelieu a leader in the most exclusive circles not only in Europe but in America as well.

And her beautiful New York home, "The House on the River," filled with pictures and furniture handed down from the great Cardinal de Richelieu, is often the scene of delightful gatherings of the socially elect.

Determined to keep her lovely cream-and-white skin always fresh and youthful, she learned of the Two Creams that beautiful women everywhere depend upon to cleanse and protect the skin.

At once the Duchesse de Richelieu declared: "They keep the skin exquisitely soft and lovely." This

This is the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients.

SILENCE IN PARIS

PARIS, Nov. 11.—All Paris stood silent for one minute at 11 o'clock this morning in commemoration of the Armistice Day. The city began decorating for the event last night, and was awakened early this morning by street bands, playing the same martial airs to which the French troops marched away in August, 1918.

"Into the light that nevermore shall fade;
"Deep their contentment in that best abode,
"Who wait the last clear trumpet call of God."

SPECIAL PRAYERS.

"In the Name of the Father, and of the Son, and of the Holy Ghost, Amen.
"PREVENT US, O LORD, in all our doings with Thy most gracious favor, and further us with Thy continual help; that in all our works, begun, continued, and ended in Thee, we may glorify Thy Holy Name, and finally by Thy Mercy obtain everlasting life; through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.
"GOD OF OUR FATHERS, we offer Thee our heartfelt thanks for all Thy mercies to our Empire, for the devoted lives of all those who have made this people great and free, for deliverance from the craft and power of foreign foes, and for the sacred trust of the sea. Help us to treasure our great inheritance, that Thy blessing may still rest on the British name, fill the kingdoms of this world become the Kingdom of Thy Son; to Whom with Thee, and the Holy Spirit, be all glory and dominion forever and ever. Amen.
"ALMIGHTY GOD, from Whom all thoughts of truth and peace proceed; kindly, we pray Thee, in the hearts of all men the true love of peace, and guide with Thy pure and peaceable wisdom those who take counsel for the nations of the earth; that in Thy quietness Thy Kingdom may go forward till the earth is filled with the knowledge of Thy Love; through Jesus Christ our Lord, Amen.
Then followed the Lord's Prayer in unison, the blessing and the singing of the National Anthem.

AT THE POST OFFICE

At the Armistice Day service of the Women's Canadian Club, a wreath of poppies was placed on the memorial tablet in the Post Office at 10 o'clock. The wreath was in memory of the men of the units who sailed from Saint John and the spirit of the Women's Canadian Club in keeping alive the memory of the men who had gone.

Flowers in memory of Private George Tiplady, from his father and mother.
A wreath from the Saint John Ambulance Association.
Floral remembrance in memory of Private W. Foster Brown, from his mother, Mr. Foster Brown, from his mother.
A wreath from the Post Office staff General MacBrien spoke. He said he considered it a great privilege to be present and saw few words in tribute to the men who had gone from this city to do their duty for King and country in the Great War. The observance of Armistice Day was very important, as it kept alive the memory of the deeds of those who had died and taught the coming generations the true significance of the day. The winning of the war had preserved to the people of the British Empire the privileges of living under law and order and made sure the fact that the Empire would endure.

LESSON FOR TODAY

This day, also called to mind the spirit displayed by the men who went overseas and, he said, the same spirit must be displayed by the men and women of today. It was much harder to be patriotic in peace time than in war time and he congratulated the Women's Canadian Club on their peace time work in the Empire.
Mrs. Fitz Randolph thanked General MacBrien and, after expressing regret at the absence of Mayor Potts through illness, called on acting Mayor Frink. The acting Mayor said he was glad to be present and pay his tribute of respect to the memory of those who had fallen in the Great War. As the chief magistrate of the city at the outbreak of war and for two years of its duration, he knew the spirit which animated the men who had gone. At first, it was thought the Germans had a great deal of efferontery to challenge the might of the Empire but it was soon seen that Britain was facing the greatest struggle of all time and the men of Canada settled down to do their share and win through. He paid tribute to the British reservists who at the call to arms put down their implements of toil and within 36 hours were on the high seas enroute to the Mother Country.
"There was need, he said, for the same spirit of sacrifice and service today for

Eyes Strengthened 50% by Proper Eye Care, Says Doctor
Suggests Simple Home Treatment Which Quickly Relieves All Irritation and Sharpens Vision.
No longer is there any excuse for most of our eye troubles, for specialists have perfected a simple but amazingly effective treatment which not only quickens the eye, but also banishes eye headaches, eye-strain and blurred vision. This simple treatment is called the Bon-Opto system, and is now being prescribed by physicians and specialists everywhere. It is based on the latest scientific discoveries. Scientists have recently proved that 50 per cent of all eye troubles are due to weakness in certain little muscles which adjust the eye. Esotropia alone will not strengthen these muscles. But the Bon-Opto treatment seeps through directly to these muscles and tones them, and soon restores them—and therefore the eyes—to their old-time strength and vigor.
Don't neglect your eyes. The discomfort felt after an automobile ride, a movie, or any close work, are important danger signals. Yet every irritation and ache can be relieved by the treatment of a Bon-Opto eye-bath, and more serious trouble prevented. Bon-Opto should be in every home. Your eyes are far more important than your teeth. As it often is, you use your eyes more than you should take your eye-bath. So get a package of Bon-Opto. Results guaranteed. Money back without question if you are not delighted with the improvement in your eyes and sight. Bon-Opto is sold by good druggists everywhere.

DEFICIT OF $1,000 ON SAINT JOHN FAIR

Will Hold Exhibition Again in 1926—Twenty-one Directors Are Named

F. A. Dykeman, A. E. Everett, A. I. Foster, E. J. Terry, R. R. Patchell, R. D. Paterson, W. H. White, G. D. Ellis, P. S. Crosby, G. C. P. McIntyre, L. B. Wilson, W. C. Allison, Mrs. H. Lawrence, G. W. Wilson, A. J. Mulcahy, H. A. Porter, F. B. Schofield, W. F. Burditt, W. L. Harding, I. Northrup, and W. J. Wetmore were chosen directors of the Saint John Exhibition Association at the annual meeting last night. They will meet on Friday to elect 10 others to complete the board.
At the meeting last night, F. A. Dykeman, president, was in the chair. Owing to the weather and the disappointment in the amount of the program, a decrease was experienced in the grand stand receipts which more than offset the increased revenue at the main gates. As a result the year's operations showed a deficit of approximately $1,000, due also in part to the fact that in 1923 the three-year insurance schedule fell due. The cash balance still on hand is $1,008.14. A recommendation to hold a fair in 1926 was endorsed. The dates set were Sept. 4 to 11.
Resolutions of sympathy were passed to the family of William S. Allison, for many years actively engaged on the exhibition directorate, and to George L. Warwick who, on account of ill-health, declined re-nomination as director.

At the Armistice Day service of the Women's Canadian Club, a wreath of poppies was placed on the memorial tablet in the Post Office at 10 o'clock. TWO RUGBY FOOTBALL TITLES IN BALANCE THIS AFTERNOON

SCHOOL FINAL ON SATURDAY IS LIKELY NOW

U.N.B. Favored to Beat Nova Scotia Tech Today

ONE rugby football title will be decided this afternoon, while another will be in the balance when University of New Brunswick meets Nova Scotia Technical at Sackville in the final of the Maritime inter-collegiate title and Newcastle High School is guest of Fredericton High at Fredericton in the semi-final of the New Brunswick school title.

OFF TO MONTREAL Following the Sackville game, U. N. B. returns to Fredericton and on Friday afternoon leaves for Montreal to play the Montreal Rugby Club fifteen for the MacTier Cup.

FRIDAY, THE 13TH. The annual meeting of the colleges this fall set this coming Friday as the tentative date for the inter-sectional play-off, but superstitious aroused by this supposedly unlucky combination—Friday, the thirteenth—caused the boys to go easy and N. S. Tech suggested Thursday.

Despite the strenuous kind of a game it was, U. N. B. players came out of their match with Dalhousie University on Saturday in pretty good physical condition and with a lot of knowledge of rugby they had had no previous opportunity of acquiring, so the experience should do them a lot of good.

TWO WINS and several losses, some of them rather crushing, is the 1925 record for the Trojans A. C. on the gridiron but in the matter of keeping things moving, the hustling football club bats around the 1,000 mark.

REFERRING to the Allison grounds, a little boy asked one of the young lady taggers last Monday why all the big crowd was collecting there. On being told there was a football game in progress, he remarked: "Darn, I was going to sail my boat there this afternoon."

A CORRESPONDENT who does not sign his name writes expressing the hope we shall give every publicity to Canada's great winter game, hockey, and asking that we publish the National Hockey League schedule.

U. N. B. SHOULD have little difficulty in winning the Maritime inter-collegiate crown today at Sackville when they play N. S. Tech. But Montreal and the MacTier cup—that's a different matter.

WHILE there has been a deal of talk—and rightly so—about the coming of Clas Thunberg to our shores for the big meet, we should not overlook our own local boy, Charlie Gorman, in our desire to give the Finnish ace a royal welcome.

Saint John Skating Association Executive Sets Date Today

SETTING the date for an annual meeting is not a very important item of business, such as will be done this afternoon at a meeting of the executive of the Saint John Skating Association.

Last year, a membership drive instituted by the local skating association, achieved a considerable measure of success and at present there are about 600 members on the roll.

NO DECISION YET RE ESKIMO TRANSFER

EDMONTON, Nov. 10.—While I have made no definite decision regarding the transfer of the Edmonton Eskimos to Regina for the 1925-26 season of the Western Hockey League, I favor the Regina proposition that has been offered me, and no one in Edmonton can prevent me from moving as I have already secured the consent of the majority of the club owners for a transfer.

SCOTTISH LEAGUE STAR TO LONDON

LONDON, Nov. 10.—Rumors at the beginning of the season had Harper, the international goalkeeper of the Edinburgh Hibernians on the transfer list, and these were then denied.

Girls Unable To Agree On Rules

The representatives of the ten city girls' basketball teams, which met last night in the Y. W. C. A. recreation centre to discuss the formation of the Girls' City Basketball League, were found to be evenly divided in their choice between boys' and girls' rules.

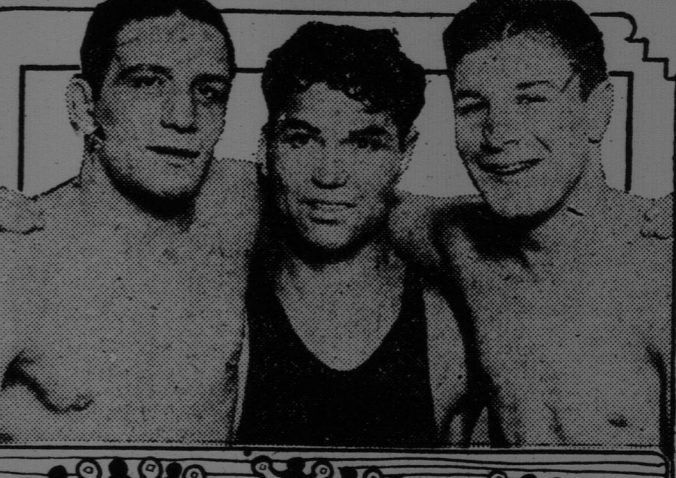

BREAKS RECORD

PARIS, Nov. 11.—On the Montlhery speedway yesterday, Captain Aldridge, an Englishman, driving an automobile of one half litre engine capacity, broke the world's 50 kilometer record by covering the distance in 16 minutes and 95-100ths of a second.

NEW YORK, Nov. 11.—A majority of the newspaper critics at Lucien Vinez's first fight in this country disagreed with the judges who awarded Charley Rosen a victory over the Frenchman.

3 Kings of Fistic Game

Three of a kind—and all kings. As you doubtless know, Battelino is junior lightweight champion, Dempsey rules the heavy sector and Los Angeles wears the bantam crown. They were snapped at Jack's Los Angeles gym the other day.

G. N. MACBRIEN TALKS ON PACIFIC

Chief of Staff Addresses
Saint John Canadian Club

Canada Interested in Matter—
Wars Due to Nations Seeking Expansion

Major-General J. H. MacBrien, C. B., C. M. G., D. S. O., chief of staff with the Department of National Defence, gave the members of the Saint John Canadian Club last evening, in the Admiral Beatty Hotel, an interesting and comprehensive talk on the Pacific Ocean and Japan, outlining the situation geographically and politically and going briefly into the history of the various possessions of Pacific territories by the various powers interested.

CANADA INTERESTED.

Canada was interested in the Pacific, he said, owing to the possibility of war between Japan and the U. S. He reviewed policies of the nations as affecting the Pacific and said the desire of nations to expand their trade and their territory had been the cause of all the wars of the last few centuries.

base, he declared it absolutely needed more dry docks and better fortifications to protect the large volume of trade passing.

The national endeavor of Japan was to be a great manufacturing country to provide work for her increasing population. The people preferred not to leave the country but were sometimes forced to do so to stave off starvation. They were trying to evolve a new civilization and wanted recognition as the equal of the white race.

The speaker showed a number of lantern slides illustrating his visit to Japan. He was given a hearty round of applause at the conclusion of his address and Col. Weyman expressed the pleasure of the members in the talk.

LONDON, Nov. 11.—W. K. Neale, of Chingford, has thrown a bomb into minstrel circles by a statement that Wendell Hall, of "It Ain't Gonna Rain No Mo'" fame, is not the composer of the popular song.

"I have had in my possession for 30 years a volume of 'Universal College Songs and Glee', of American publication, which includes a song called 'Jawbone, or Ain't Gonna Rain No More,' written by Dockstader," Mr. Neale writes.

"The chorus of this song is substantially the same as that of Hall's, and furthermore, the title of the latter's song is not even original."

ADMITS ITS AGE

Mr. Hall, when questioned, said:—"I have never heard of the song of which Mr. Neale speaks. Granting his sincerity, however, I must say that I wrote the 'Rain' song as much as Dockstader did. To be exact, neither of us wrote it."

"The melody is an old negro folksong which I have traced back more than 100 years. Its origin is unknown, but the tune and lyrics have been passed down through generations by word of mouth."

passed down through generations by word of mouth.

"All I have done is to modernise the melody and compose new lyrics in keeping with the times. Two or three of his lyrics I remember hearing the darkies in Florida sing when I was a child. The rest are mine."

"Low Dockstader was a famous minstrel, and no doubt got his song from the same source."

"Anyhow, I'm not jealous. I'm the one who made the money out of 'Rain.'"

MISS LAWRENSON HEADS NEW CIRCLE

The Silver Cross Circle of the King's Daughters last evening completed organization as follows: President, Miss Edith Lawrenson; vice-president, Miss Annie Tait; secretary, Miss Kathleen McArthur; treasurer, Miss Marjorie Bullock. It was decided to hold the next meeting on next Saturday at the residence of Miss Dorothy Nice, 108 Hasen street.

EDITOR VISITED CITY.

C. H. J. Snider, editor of the Toronto Telegram, came over the Bay on Monday and spent yesterday in the Public Library gathering data not elsewhere obtainable for some writing he has in contemplation. The Telegram is carrying long articles from his pen on the Maritime conference and the situation in these provinces. He has greatly enjoyed his visit. He left for Toronto last night, hoping to return next summer for a holiday.

EVANGELISTIC SERVICES.

A large congregation assembled in the Coburg street Christian church last night and was greatly impressed by a forceful sermon delivered by Evangelist John H. Wells, whose theme was "Spurred Love." He used the story of the man who had not on a wedding garment and spoke of Christianity as the only religion that could take a man out of the gutter and reclaim him to a good life. Mr. Wells said that he knew of a man who had fallen so low that he stole the shoes off his dead brother's child to get a drink of liquor. That man had been reclaimed by the gospel message and was now a minister. Mr. Wells made an earnest appeal to the people. W. W. Keaney's conducting of the hearty service of song was inspirational.

Napoleon's Gift To Josephine Is Stolen

PARIS, Nov. 11.—A necklace of pearls and emeralds presented by Napoleon Bonaparte to the Empress Josephine on his return from the Italian campaign, has been stolen with other jewelry and furs valued at many thousands of dollars from the Paris flat of the Baroness Suroouf during her absence in Brittany. The baroness is the grand-niece of Josephine, and the necklace was her most prized heirloom.
