(Canadian Press.) Dublin, Dec. 7.—President Cosgrave announced to the parliament this afternoon that Deputy Sean Hales had been shot and killed and Deputy Patrick O'Maille, who was deputy speaker had been wounded while they were on their way to the parliament session. Deputy Speaker O'Maille's wound is serious.

SENATOR JAMES COUZENS. London, Dec. 7.—A suggestion that King George may go to Dublin to open the new Irish Parliament, as advanced by the Liverpool Courier, seems based partly on surmise and partly on private rumors. Although the possibility of the king's presence taken on a definite shape, it is safe to say that if such a visit would be welcome, the king would acquiesce. It is regarded as quite unlikely, however, that His Majesty would take the initiative in the matter.

According to a Dublin report, King George was to be accompanied by the Duke of York, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Duke of Kent. The report also stated that the king would be accompanied by the Duke of York, the Duke of Gloucester, and the Duke of Kent.

WORRIED OVER CAPITAL SHIPS

Lord Lee of Fareham Presses Government to Carry Out Treaty and Build Two.

London, Dec. 7.—(Canadian Press)—In the House of Commons yesterday Lord Lee of Fareham pressed the government closely to carry out the Washington treaty by immediately building two capital ships.

Lord Lee argued that under the terms of the treaty the government was permitted to postpone the building of the ships. Postponement would arouse suspicion in every admiralty in the world and would be good ground to suspect the good faith of the British Government.

The protest arose through an announcement by the Marquis of Linlithgow, civil lord of the Admiralty, of his inability to give a definite answer as to the government's intentions and his promise of a definite statement before the end of the parliamentary session.

Lord Lee declared that the government's attitude filled him with alarm. The Marquis of Salisbury, Lord President of the Council, on behalf of the government, gave a reassuring statement to the effect that the cabinet had not yet time to give the matter consideration, but that the ministers were fully alive to its importance.

Lord Lee accepted this assurance, but Lord Sydenham, who stated the discussion, still expressed dissatisfaction. He assumed that the United States was at least stopping the further building of ships which were on the docks when the treaty was made and declared that unless the treaty was carried out the United States would have an enormous superiority which England could never catch up with.

Invites Siki to Settle Controversy in Ring

Johnny Shugrue to Meet Filipino—The Six Day Race—Three Noted U. S. Athletes Going to New Zealand.

(Canadian Press.) Paris, Dec. 7.—Georges Carpentier believes that the best place to settle the controversy over his recent bout with Battling Siki is in the ring.

Here is what I propose to Siki. Notwithstanding his disqualification and the disqualification I might incur, I offer to meet him at any date he likes, in public or private. Should he be ready to put up a stake I bind myself to pay to charity that stake, or purse, if one is offered. I am absolutely certain I could finish with him in less than three rounds.

M. Henri Bernstein, referee of the Siki-Carpentier fight told L'Auto today that he heard Siki say: "Don't hit at my stomach. You hurt me."

Bernstein, however, said he attributed the importance to these words, which were similar to many he had heard during his experience as a referee.

L'Auto learns that M. Gra, who heard the fight, noticed something to Carpentier which proved that the match had been framed.

Turkey Must Choose Russia or Entente

Believed at Lusanne Straits Storm is Weathered

(Canadian Press.) Lausanne, Dec. 7.—The Turkish delegates to the Near East conference today faced the difficult problem of deciding whether Turkey, in formulating her plan for control of the Straits, should cast her lot with Russia or with the Entente power and the U. S. Turkey's suggestions for the solution of the perplexing straits question will be made public tomorrow at the Hotel Du Chateau.

Imret Pasha and his associates, in formulating their plans, were confronted by sharp difference in opinion between Great Britain and Russia in the discussion of the Dardanelles question. If Turkey goes over to the British camp, she fears the irate Russian army on her eastern frontier; if she sides with Russia in demanding complete control of the waterway, she fears the British navy in the straits.

The Turks thus far have temporized by saying that they favor M. Tchitcherine's plan, but they took this attitude before they had heard the solution offered by the powers. Imret Pasha and his associates were greatly impressed by the plan presented by Lord Curzon yesterday, on behalf of the Entente, which was approved in general by the statement of the position of the U. S.

The Turks apparently cannot forget that Russia is Turkey's traditional enemy and that Premier Lenin's government may be no less covetous of Constantinople and the straits than was Russia in the days of the Czaars.

Turkey has always found protection in numbers. She has played the European countries against each other to her great advantage time and again, and she has never been able to trust her fate to the straits while the rest of Europe, supported by the U. S., opposes an effort to turn the Black Sea into a Russian lake.

M. Tchitcherine, fighting hard to defeat Lord Curzon's plans, urges that it would enable a combination of powers like the Entente to keep a great navy in the Black Sea, as each member of the combination could maintain there as many ships as belonged Russia, or whatever Black Sea power happened to have the largest navy at the time.

Turkey, however, in considering Russia's plan, apparently has an eye on her own pocketbook. If she adopts M. Tchitcherine's proposal, Turkey would be forced to make a great outlay for a fleet and fortifications, and as she has no money she would prefer to have someone else bear the expense of poling the straits. Imret Pasha is a constant communication with Mustafa Kemal Pasha.

There are many rumors of a possible adjustment of the congress for the Christmas holidays inasmuch as the situation between the powers and Turkey has cleared somewhat.

The question of capitulations is in an even worse tangle than the straits problem, but Great Britain, France and Italy are showing tact in handling Turkey's sensitive attitude toward her sovereignty. In this question acceptance of anything that would bring her sovereignty into question would mean a loss of honor for the Dardanelles has been weathered without disaster, the prospect seems brighter for an agreement on principles that will satisfy all parties.

SHOPPERS SEE BANDITS STEAL

Thugs Attack Cashier and Beat Patrolman

Calmly Escape in Auto in Street in New York—Police of Two States Join in Search for Five Men.

New York, Dec. 7.—After leaping upon a cashier and a policeman behind and beating them into unconsciousness with blackjacks, unaccompanied bandits escaped from West New York with a black bag containing $20,000—$10,000 in cash and $10,000 in checks.

The robbery occurred at Bergenline avenue and Park street, the heart of West New York's shopping district, and was witnessed by more than a score of terrified women shoppers.

Five bandits took part in the hold-up, which apparently had been planned carefully for some time. The victims were John P. Conroy, cashier for the Public Service Company, and Motorcycle Patrolman Truncillo, of the Union Hill police station, who for some time has served as Conroy's escort on the latter's regular trips to deposit the company's funds at the Trust Company of New Jersey, some distance away.

As usual, Conroy left the gas company office with his black bag and seated himself in a sidcar of the motorcycle, which was directly in front of the cash register. Patrolman Truncillo got on the riding seat and began peddling. Before he could start the machine three of the bandits sprang from the crowd, and darted with the bag around the corner into Fifth street, where their two accomplices were awaiting them in the automobile.

The machine roared off at full speed west in Fifth street and then south on Hudson Boulevard, where trace of it was lost. The robbery was completed so suddenly pursuit could not be organized for several minutes and this proved futile.

Police of both New York and New Jersey were engaged in tracing several license numbers given by confused witnesses as having been on the car, which was thought to be a stolen machine. Conroy and Truncillo were treated in the robbery, but the car was not damaged. Neither, it was said, had been able to get a description of any of their assailants.

New Brunswick Has Largest Fox Ranch

Romance of Farming Shown in Exhibition in Toronto— Fortune in Small Family—An Attractive Story of the Industry.

(John R. Bone in Boston Transcript.)
Toronto, Dec. 2.—The romance of fox farming has been vividly illustrated by the holding here of an exhibition of silver foxes, which has brought together what is described as undoubtedly the finest collection of foxes in the world. Although the days of fabulous prices for foxes are over the 800 odd little animals in the exhibition are valued at more than half a million dollars. Not one of them would be passed with for less than $1,000, while many of them are valued at $5,000 or more.

Fifteen years ago Blake Vanmeter, a farmer's boy at Georgetown, Ont., caught a pair of ordinary wild foxes on his father's farm. Despite parental opposition he preserved them and they became the foundation of the largest fox ranch in Ontario. Thirty-four of his animals were found worthy for the exhibition and all are registered showing they conform with the Mendelian process of breeding. A portion of the old Vanmeter farm has become an all steel ranch, the first of its kind in the world.

The home of fox ranching is Prince Edward Island, the baby province of Canada. There in the seclusion and simplicity preserved by the tight little island that serves as a guardian of the Atlantic coast, the art of fox raising is an art as much as a business.

Millions in Revenue.
Prince Edward Island's foxes are valued at $3,000,000, and they produce in revenue two or three million dollars a year. As the total population of the province is less than 90,000 it will be seen what an important industry foxes have become for the inhabitants. Some of the ranches represent fortunes.

Altogether there are 794 fur farms in Canada, of which 788 are fox, 12 mink, 3 racoon, 3 marten, 2 skunk, 4 karmin sheep, 3 beaver, 3 muskrat. The Province of New Brunswick claims the honor of possessing the largest fox ranch in the world. This ranch is situated on the Little River fifteen miles from the city of Moncton. In 1918 the Colpitts brothers—who then were farmers living in a sparsely settled agricultural district—used to their advantage knowledge of the habits of wild animals acquired in hunting and trapping in earlier days. There was a modest venture of a single pair of foxes, while today they are the proud possessors of more than one thousand pairs, apart from the old ones numbering six hundred, thus placing this ranch as the largest single ranch in the world.

Industry Began in 1910.
About 1910 the real development of the fox industry in Canada began. The knowledge that the men already engaged in the enterprise were reaping handsome profits from the sale of pelts gradually leaked out and a scramble to get possession of foundation stock became a veritable craze. In 1913 promotions of companies succeeded each other rapidly. Merchants, professional men, farmers, and traders took a hand at the game. There was a wild scramble for options in the opening months of the year and later a still wilder scramble for the money to finance them. Options more or less secure comprised all the capital needed by most of the promoters. More foxes were pledged in advance of their birth than survived from litters born. Prices advanced during the fall to $10,000 per pair and even higher, and these were capitalized in many cases at double their cost. The cost of a pair steadily rose from $3,000 in 1910 to $20,000 in 1918, and during the heyday of the boom as much as $35,000 was paid for a pair.

The war temporarily disorganized the markets, but the reconstruction period silver fox breeding gradually reach stabilization as a solid, permanent commercial enterprise. So far as the fox industry on this continent is concerned the day of speculation is apparently over and live foxes are sold for what their pelts would bring or a little more. The market value of a pair of live foxes at present is from $100 upwards, according to quality and performance. It is estimated that over six hundred pairs of live foxes were exported from Prince Edward Island during 1921. At the last pelting season the price obtained for skins varied from $100 to $200, the average price quoted by dealers being $275.

A cash expenditure of $20,000 to $25,000 will now purchase ten pairs of the finest young foxes, build and equip a ranch, and pay for care and administration for one year. After that the first season and the selling of only enough of the young to provide for extensions to the plant and for current expense, the owner should pocket at least fifteen pairs. In two more seasons his yield, if managed with the whole original investment and leave the owner with a good business fully paid for.

The ranches are built in a grove of trees, in an orchard, or in the open. The foxes are kept in pens made of heavy galvanized mesh wire, sunk in the ground about three feet to prevent the foxes burrowing to freedom. The wire fences are built about eight feet high and have an overhanging wire shelf at the top to keep the foxes from climbing over.

Feed on Meats.
The ranch fox is fed on beef, mutton, horse meat, pork, beef and pork hearts, horse tripe, beef liver, lamb plucks, fish, fish biscuits, rice, rolled oats oatmeal, whole wheat flour, bran, homestead, cornmeal, eggs, milk, suet, turnips and cod liver oil. The cost of feeding averages about 80 cents each per week.

The pioneers in this industry took a long time to learn the many little kinks in the successful rearing of these very high-strung, nervous and temperamental animals. They tried to surround the animals with, as near as possible, their wild environments.

Original, large runs were used and pens of many hundreds of square feet were considered best. But just as we do not fence off hundreds of acres to develop a fine strain of cattle, but completely change the habits of these animals in domesticating them, so breeders are waking up to the fact that the fox can have his natural habits changed with beneficial results, and he is now being reared very successfully in very much smaller areas. Now are they allowed to burrow in the ground irrespective of certain breeders' claim that certain soil has special, and largely unproven, effects on the fox.

There are now being built in P. E. I. open ranches completely away from the old idea of wooded places. In regard to small pens one successful rancher there says that in 1919, when he started, he used pens 80x80 feet on a south side sloping ground that ranchers said was an ideal spot, but for five years he was the best year he had only 115 per cent, which is very low. By accident, he ranched a female in a shed, and she had four and raised every one. He then adopted the shed and small run, and this year he had 200 per cent increase, which means an average of four to a pair.

Most Nervous Animal.
It is doubtful if there is a more nervous and temperamental animal in America than the fox, and his complete domestication, like our dog is a long way off. In a pen of a dozen half-grown pups part will run and hide, a few will be indifferent and two or three are apt to climb over the wire. All this is natural temperament rather than taming or training.

Foxes in the wild state form a colony and live together if not disturbed. The old couple remain at home, burrow year after year if food conditions hold out, and will burrow dozens of holes in the same hillside. The young ones dropped in March will get out for themselves in October and find a burrow of their own. When the proper

GERMANS EAT MORE SUGAR NOW

Lard Costlier Than Butter—The Consumption of Meat Greatly Reduced.

Berlin, Nov. 6.—(By Mail)—Fat, one of the chief essentials of cooking in Germany, has come to be such a luxury that only persons with "fat" pocketbooks can afford it. At the end of October lard was costing 1,000 marks a pound, while butter was bringing only 750.

The imports of hog-fat today amount to about two-thirds their previous volume and German farmers complain that they cannot fatten their porkers now so formerly because they no longer get the nourishing Russian feed.

Consumption of meat in Germany is now only 48 per cent. of what it was before 1914. In the efforts to find a satisfactory substitute for the high-priced fatty foods, people are turning more to sweets. Chocolate candy, particularly, is in growing demand. Fruits and pastries are in high favor and almost bread are now spread with preserves or marmalade where formerly they would have been eaten with a thick coating of butter, margarine or lard.

Goose was a leading meat in the old days, because of its unusually large grease content, but even this favorite has suffered heavily. In pre-war times, 8,500,000 geese were imported every year, as compared with 9,000 during the first two-thirds of this year.

Imported in 1921, each year saw an import of 106,600 double centners of dressed chickens and 22,000 double centners of ducks. From January 1 to September 1, 1922, both imported chickens and ducks together amounted to only 807 double centners.

Dairy produce also has been hard hit by the enforced change in appetites. The first eight months of the year registered 10,442 double centners of butter costing in total $800,000 annually before the war. The former yearly import of milk was 880,000 double centners. From January 1 to September 1, this year, the position was reversed and these imports stood at 1,808 and 31,870 double centners respectively.

29 WHITE WOMEN FOUND IN NEGRO CABARET JAILED

Court Surprises Girls and 54 White Men by Holding Them After Raid.

New York, Dec. 6.—Twenty-nine white women and fifty-four white men, caught in a raid on a negro cabaret at 165 West 131st street, were held in 8,000 ball each by Magistrate McQuade, in the Washington Heights Court for examination on charges of disorderly conduct. The decision created the greatest consternation among the prisoners, who had counted on escaping with a reprieve. Two of the women fainted, and several others became hysterical.

The raid was made early yesterday morning by Inspector John F. Sweeney and a squad of his detectives. Inspector Sweeney said, they found some of the prisoners indulging in indecent dancing, several "petting parties" were going forward, and improper language was being freely used.

BRITISH EXPEDITION GETS RARE BIRD SPECIMENS

Many Feathered Birds of Interest to Naturalists Secured in South Atlantic.

London, Oct. 30.—(By Mail)—Though the voyage of the Quest did not produce all the additions to scientific knowledge which had been hoped from it, some specimens were brought back which are of peculiar interest to naturalists, it is reported in The London Morning Post. These were shown in the British Museum. Captain G. H. Wilkins, naturalist of the Quest, was present, and many professors attended. Among the exhibits were a series of hunting or finches from Gough Island, a lonely spot in the southern Atlantic. There were finches plain and finches streaked. The Scotia expedition, some years ago, described them as different birds. The Quest has established the fact that the streaky finch is no more than an immature bird of the plain colored species.

Other interesting specimens brought home by the Quest are the water hen from Gough Island, which has wings but does not fly, probably due to the windy nature and the thick low jungle of its home; birds from Nightingale Island, which has no nightingales; the "wide-awake tern" from Ascension Island, a long black bird flushed white, with a long black beak and tall, a giant petrel (gray and fly) from South Georgia, with two of its chicks, which are fat and white and new to English naturalists; the Antarctic skua and the gentoo penguin.

SEEKERS AFTER FAVOR FOR THE CHILDREN.

It is the irony of fate that the men who did all in their power to discredit the hydro-electric policy of the Provincial Government in regard to the Musquash development should now go humbly to the Government to ask protection from the effects of that policy. While the spokesmen of the New Brunswick Power Company were making their plea the Premier was recalling the violent attacks which made it necessary for Hon. Mr. Foster to take the platform in the Imperial and expose the tactics of those who sought to destroy the Government's policy.

MY MOTHER

(By Agnes Joyce) My Mother, feebler old. Can't he be? But yesterday her strong hand lifted me. An infant, toddling with uncertain steps, Across the stumbling places in my path. Her graceful, supple body bent through all. The after years above the warp on which I wove, with awkward hands, my little web. Of life, mending the broken threads for me; Assisting always where the pattern grew. Too intricate. Teaching me beauty in Design and execution. How can Time Have wrought such change? Can she have grown so weak? Am I the strong one now? Does she need me. As I once needed her? Then it shall be My privilege and happiness to take Her in my arms and comfort her as she.

THE EX-KAISER'S SILLINESS

(Exchange.) Robert Lansing, who was U. S. Secretary of State under President Wilson, and who accompanied him to Paris to help frame the Treaty of Versailles, has written a scathing criticism of the motives of the ex-Kaiser, Wilhelm Hohenzollern. His reference to an extraordinary assertion of the ex-Kaiser's is particularly interesting, because Lansing, as a prominent and intelligent American public man, is able to speak with authority and force in the matter. The ex-Kaiser in his memoirs made repeated casual allusions to his understanding and agreement between Britain and the United States against Germany, said to have been negotiated many years before the Great War.

THE HUNTER'S REWARD

(Bangor Commercial.) "Many" hunters return unsuccessful, says a news reporter, commenting on the hunting season. No real hunter ever is "unsuccessful," he says, "because he goes back to the hunting season. He is a hunter because he returns a better man physically for his outing. The killing of game, just as there is more in fishing than catching fish. The stay-at-home giggles inwardly when he sees an angler or gunner trudging home at twilight with empty creel or bag, but if he only could get it through his obtuse skull the laugh is really on him. Of course, there are pot-hunters and fishermen whose hogish practices bar them from the ranks of decent sportsmen, but they are not the men who come home from stream or woods empty-handed.

MEDALS AND CASH TO PHONE HEROES

Six Women and Four Men Get Rewards for Public Service.

New York, Dec. 6.—National awards of the Theodore N. Vail memorial medals to six women and four men employees of the Bell Telephone System for noteworthy public service during 1921 are announced by the New York Telephone Company. The awards are made annually to commemorate the life work of Theodore N. Vail in the telephone field, and the recipients are chosen from the winners of bronze medals in the various associated companies of the Bell system. One gold medal, with $500 cash, was awarded to Byron Ernest Thady, twenty years old, a switchboard man of Pueblo, Colo., for unusual service during the Pueblo flood of June 8, 1921. With water pouring into the telephone building, he worked in the rising flood to maintain communication until the lines went out. When lights in the building failed, he improvised lamps, so that the operator force could continue their work. He saved records indispensable to the prompt restoration of telephone service and labored throughout the night for the comfort and encouragement of the operators who were cut off from escape by the flood. Nine silver medals, each with $250 cash, were also awarded as follows: Miss Lillian Elizabeth Barry, switchboard supervisor, St. Joseph, Mo., for rescuing two babies from asphyxiation. Miss Anna Regina Murphy, chief operator, Carbondale, Pa., for heroism during the burning of a central office building at Homestead, Pa., on January 21, 1921. Otis Payne, lineman, Washington, Ind., for rescuing a fellow-operator from electrocution. Mrs. Josephine D. Pryor, chief operator, Pueblo, Colo., for unusual service during the Pueblo flood, June 8, 1921. Robert W. Taylor, lineman, Winona, Miss., for heroism in the maintenance of telephone service during a spring flood on April 14, 1921. Miss Verda Ray, lineman, Chicago, Ill., for heroism in the maintenance of telephone service during a spring flood on April 14, 1921. Miss Kessiah Elizabeth Weeks, night operator, Hathorn, Pa., for warning a train crew of the burning of a nearby railroad bridge on April 6, 1921. Miss Etta Wilcox, night operator, Williams, Iowa, for riding to an adjacent town to spread the alarm after bank robbers and cut off communication and lighting wires in her village on June 7, 1921.

THE HUNTER'S REWARD

BONAR LAW

(Sir John Foster Fraser in London Observer.) "With thirty years' knowledge of the House, I can recall no speaker who was so precise and so deliberate in argument as Bonar Law. Though apparently extemporaneous, I know his speeches were carefully prepared—as he walked and down his library vigorously smoking his pipe and quietly reading to himself; he once told me that was the way he did it. "I doubt if Bonar Law has ever called himself a Conservative. He entered the House of Commons twenty-two years ago as a Liberal Unionist member for Glasgow, where he was in the business of a local contractor, but he will soon be on the Front Bench as a chess player. "Like 'T. E.' (Lord Birkenhead) Bonar Law jumped into parliamentary life with a single speech. I remember the afternoon, during the first hot days of the summer, when he was in the House of Commons, and the common controversy, when a diffident, rather nervous man stood up by a bench below the gangway and called upon the House to support the Chamberlain, with clipped phrases, appealing to intellect and not to emotion, and terribly logical in his deductions. "That man will soon be on the Front Bench as the verdict of the lobby. "He was a good loyal colleague of Lloyd George during the Coalition. As far as the House he was a remarkable man; he will never swing an audience off its feet by gorgeous oratorical imagery, but he will hold the admiration of the people by his sincerity."

ATLANTIC SUGAR

(Financial Post.) That an industry, after a loss of $8,000,000 in a single year (on raw sugar) should be able to secure credit enough to continue operations speaks well for its potential earning power. Atlantic Sugar has been able to secure credit of $8,148,326 as of April 30, 1922, and the year 1921 with a deficit of $5,188,273. For all that it was able to secure mortgages to satisfy its creditors and under normal conditions the operations of the current year are expected to result in a profit of $10,000,000. The refineries have been operating to capacity practically the whole year, 1921, 1,200,000 lbs. daily to 8,000,000 lbs. a week. It was able to do this partly on account of an excellent domestic trade, partly on account of a remarkable export business chiefly with the United Kingdom. It will have a long hard pull to wipe out that debt, and the common sense of unusual patience of its holders, but the preferred—which by the way has been cut down to one-third through conversion into common when the latter—for one quarter—paid at the rate of ten per cent, is cumulative and grows really runs much higher than the common.

TO CURB WILD-CATTING

Wild cat operators have been taking such a toll of financiers in the State of Pennsylvania that there is a movement on similar to the one in Ontario to have a law enacted providing investors with some measure of protection. The District Attorney of the coming session of the Pennsylvania Legislature will ask that banking and brokerage houses be placed under the supervision of the State Banking Department. Among the provisions to be contained in the bill are: Examination of stock brokers. Examination of the books of stock brokerage houses by the State Banking Department and the submission to the department of reports at stated periods. Prohibition of the use of the word "banker" by any person or firm doing other than a banking business.

"JAPANESE PEARLS" INFERIOR

Something approaching consternation swept the London market when it became known that the Japanese were producing what were declared to be real pearls by introducing into one oyster a particle of mother-of-pearl from another oyster. New York jewelers were not so readily driven into a panic, according to the State American, and they now state that the unnatural stimulation induced by the method results in a pearl of distinctly inferior quality; held to the light, the difference is readily seen. The surface lacks the lustre and pinkish glow of the natural pearl; it is a dead, waxy appearance, and the texture is not so fine. As a matter of fact, the Japanese have used; this never fails to differentiate the natural from the forced variety.

BIG BUSINESS APPROACHING

Ottawa Journal.—Among the signs which point to the revival of business on a general scale, railway traffic has not yet been recognized at its full significance. Traffic is always the direct product of trade, and therefore, is barometric in its indications. No other barometer is so absolutely reliable. It is the very nature of things it must be infallible. If railway business is active, it means that business in the broadest sense is also active and railway business means that it is singularly active at the present time.

THE WORLD'S RADIUM

(Winnipeg Free Press.) A gram of radium is worth $70,000 and a pound would cost $32,000,000. But there is not a pound in the world. The annual production of thirty-five grams and there are 452 grams in a pound. There are prospects of an increased quantity in the discovery in the Belgian Congo of a new deposit which may possibly reduce the extra-ordinary price of this extraordinary metal. The thing that makes radium most valuable is that it is almost indestructible. It is very active, very powerful, and it has a very long life. There is still a great deal of doubt as to whether it is a cancer-causing agent, and its curative properties have not yet been definitely settled upon radium's potentiality.

EDUCATION PAYS

yielding to Wilsonism might be spelled out of their concession. We do not suggest that a preference be enacted, to wit, that there be no quarrel over the league or over Mr. Wilson and the Senate. If we are to be realistic like M. Clemenceau we must accept the past and stand by the truth as we have seen it and see it now. But has not the time come when it is possible to agree to disagree as to this past history and go forward to the solution of present problems without malice for the past and with open mind toward the needs of the future? TRAINING NAVAL ENGINEERS. (Engineering, London.) With the admission, a short time ago, of a group of midshipmen, direct from their brief sea training in H. M. S. Thunderer into the Royal Naval Engineering College, Kynham, the education of officers for the higher positions in the engineering branch of the Navy entered upon a new era, the college reverted to the duty to which it was originally created, and engineering training is again placed on a sound footing. If there is any justification for making a young engineer go through the mill, learning by experience the use of tools and machines, the properties of materials and the mysteries of workshop processes, then there is every reason for such work being done in workshops such as those of Devonport Dockyard. Here the midshipman not only can take part in the actual work of the machinery, but he can also have the inestimable advantage of rubbing shoulders with some of the best workmen to be found in the country. Some twenty years ago, when it was decided to turn every naval officer into a seaman, a gunner, a soldier, an engineer and a man of science, it was a silent body of public opinion content to reserve its strength for the poll-treating as a kind of side issue, a publishing booth.

PROHIBITION IN ONTARIO Ottawa Journal.—As yet in Ontario is concerned there is no prohibition question. It has been settled, and will remain settled. The active element, we fancy, will never find sufficient encouragement to justify it, bringing the matter to an issue again. From time to time the wets make a noise like victory, and produce an array of statistics that seem to confirm their optimism; but it is an artificially stimulated "Dutch courage," for the balance of power is in the hands of the machinery of the law. It is a silent body of public opinion content to reserve its strength for the poll-treating as a kind of side issue, a publishing booth.

SIR HENRY THORNTON

Sir Henry Thornton, the new head of the Canadian National Railways, sets it down as an essential of success that the management and control must be completely divorced from politics, meaning of course politics of the partisan type. With this view there will be general agreement. As a unifier of Canada the railway system has of course a political significance which must be recognized, but that is entirely different from the use of the system for partisan purposes. Sir Henry insists that the management must be free from political meddling even where a decision may be unpalatable to some section of the country. He adds, however, that every effort will be made to meet the reasonable demands of all sections and every request will be received with sympathy, since the object of the management will be to make the railway system serve to the fullest extent compatible with good business the interests of all. Sir Henry's address to the Montreal Board of Trade, and to the country, reveals him as a man who not only knows his business but has a clear grasp of the conditions he will have to face in Canada. It was in all respects an admirable address, of a character that gave the Canadian people a new confidence in government ownership of the railways, and a conviction that it would be extremely difficult to find another railway man so well qualified to see that the experiment has a fair trial under the most progressive management. This is no doctrinaire, but a practical man of affairs, approaching his task with an ability reinforced by the most valuable experience in railway management. He asks only a fair field and a sporting chance, and every fair minded Canadian will be disposed to see that he is not disappointed. His coming to the Maritime Provinces, in the very near future, will be made the occasion of a most cordial welcome, for it was here the principle of government ownership was first put in force in Canada, and the people are deeply concerned in its success in the larger field from coast to coast. It may be that as time passes Sir Henry may come to regard us as a somewhat insistent folk who proclaim their views with some vigor; but he will also learn that we desire to be fair, and to give credit where credit is due. He has already given us a vision of what a national railway system may become a servant of the state, and there will be a universal desire not to put factious obstacles in his way.

The Liberal Government in Ottawa has been a year in office. The country is moving steadily forward toward a complete restoration of normal business conditions, and the Government is gaining in public confidence. Premier King deserves the congratulations attended to him yesterday.

Congratulations to that gallant gentleman and rare comrade Sir Thomas Esmond, now a member of the Irish Senate. He will have much of interest to relate when next he comes to New Brunswick on a hunting trip. Bottles made of the dry rind of gourds are used by the Italian peasantry.

MAKERS' SHOW
LONGER SKIRTS

With Them Go Shorter Jackets in Styles Decried for Next Spring.

Cleveland, Ohio, Dec. 6.—Longer skirts and shorter jackets will grace the boulevard queen in the spring of 1923, according to the styles shown here at the annual convention of the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association.

The straight-line silhouette will remain, but will be varied by draped blouse effects, flaring lines in sport and auto coats. Sleeves are to be loose and bell-shaped on many coats and jackets will be gathered in narrow bands at the wrists. Plaids were shown in the sport coat types.

The low bloused jacket and box type of suit coat are being made for wear with plain skirt, or with a dress to constitute a three-piece suit. In many instances the skirt is draped slightly and has an uneven hem line. Pointed and twill cord, however, will be the most widely used for suits, manufacturers said.

The soft-riding fabrics will give their grace to spring coats, which are of three types—wraps, capes and straight-line coats, either with or without a blouse. Silk will appear in many of the dressier wraps.

Tan shade, beige, wind, sand will rival navy. Greenstone and bawing are the new gray tones.

Officers of the association elected are: Wave Sunshine, Cleveland, President; Dudley C. Palmer, Chicago, Vice President; H. S. Livingston, Cincinnati, Treasurer.

DOUGHBOYS PLAY SANTA

TO RHINELAND CHILDREN
Coblenz, Dec. 6.—The American doughboys in the Rhineland are making up a purse of many millions of marks with which to give German youngsters a real Christmas. The Rhineland Post of Veterans of Foreign Wars started the purse with 300,000 marks, and every soldier in the American forces is giving at least the equivalent of one dollar, which is more than $1000 marks.

Relief work already has begun among the German poor. A number of soup kitchens are operating, supported largely by officers, and the veterans' committee is collecting clothing and toys.

DETECTIVE SHOT FOR THIEF.

Policeman So Excited Over Mistake He Falls and Breaks Ankle.
New York, Dec. 6.—While engaged with a number of police reserves in looking for burglars reported to have been seen in the apartment house at 107 Bloomfield street, Hoboken, directly across the street from Police Headquarters, Patrolman George Capelli of the First Precinct accidentally shot Detective Sergeant John F. Beatty of Headquarters.

Beatty, in plain clothes, entered an apartment in the house, and saw a man climb out of the window of another apartment down to an extension in the rear. When Beatty hurried down to the yard to intercept the man, Capelli, falling to recognise him, shot at the wall back of him to scare him. The bullet caromed off the wall, and hit the sergeant in the abdomen. It was extracted at St. Mary's Hospital, and the sergeant went home, his condition not being serious.

Patrolman Capelli became so excited when he realized that he had shot the sergeant that he tripped and fell, breaking his left ankle.

STOMACH TROUBLES ARE DUE TO ACIDITY

Safe, Certain, Speedy Relief for Acid Indigestion.
So-called stomach troubles, such as indigestion, gas, sourness, stomachache and inability to retain food are probably nine cases out of ten, simply evidence that excessive secretion of acid is taking place in the stomach, causing the formation of gas and acid indigestion.
Gas distends the stomach and causes that full, oppressive, burning feeling sometimes known as heartburn, while the acid irritates and inflames the delicate lining of the stomach. The trouble lies entirely in the excess development of secretion of acid.
To stop or prevent this souring of the food contents of the stomach and to neutralize the acid, and make it bland and harmless, a teaspoonful of Bismarck's Magnesia, a good and effective corrector of acid stomach, should be taken in a quarter of a glass of hot or cold water after eating or whenever gas, sourness or acidity is felt. This sweetens the stomach and neutralizes the acidity in a few moments and is a perfectly harmless and inexpensive remedy to use.
An antacid, such as Bismarck's Magnesia which can be obtained from any drug store, enables the stomach to do its work properly without the aid of artificial digestants. A magnesia comes in several forms, so be certain to ask for and take only Bismarck's Magnesia, which is especially prepared for the above purpose.

STAGE NAUGHTY DANCE, PAY $50 COURT FINE
Robert Moore, president of the Bonnyville Baseball League, was on Monday fined $50 and costs by Magistrate Gundy in the Windsor, Ont., Police Court after pleading guilty to being an accessory before the fact to staging an indecent show.
The charge arose out of a banquet held by the baseball league two weeks ago, during which scantily clad women were said to have danced to entertain the patrons.
Mr. Moore declared previously that he did not know beforehand what kind of entertainment was to be supplied at the banquet, but as president of the organization he was forced to accept responsibility for the affair.

IF KIDNEYS AND BLADDER BOTHER

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating Acids.
Kidney and bladder irritations often result from uric acid, a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it may irritate the bladder, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, causing you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread; the water passes sometimes with a scalding sensation and is very profuse; again, there is difficulty in voiding it.
Bladder weakness most folks call it, because they can't control urination. While it is extremely annoying and sometimes very painful, this is often one of the most simple ailments to overcome. Get about four ounces of Jad Salts from your pharmacist and take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast; continue this for two or three days. This will help neutralize the acids in the urine and rid the bladder and urinary organs, which then set normal again.
Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of people who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.
Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia water drink, which often quickly relieves bladder irritation.

HEARD WOMAN SING 3,750 MILES AWAY

Radio Concert at Newark Was Distinctly Audible at Croydon.
London, December 7.—A woman singing in the United States, 3,750 miles away, was heard in England at Croydon. On Sunday a week ago, Mr. H. D. Ridley, chief test room operator for Westons, Barn Limited, wireless engineers of Blackheath, picked up portions of a wireless concert broadcast at Newark, N. J. This week he tried to repeat the experience. Sitting in his room in Croydon, he tuned in for the Newark broadcasting station whose name he had in a list of stations whose names were not good, with a humid atmosphere and low clouds, but the test was successful. The items picked up were:
At 2 a. m. Enville time, a violin and piano solo; 2:11 a. m., a woman singing; 2:25 a. m., piano solo; 3:12 a. m., a speech, but the words were not distinguishable, owing to adjustments being made at the time; 3:44 a. m., dance music.
Mr. Ridley said his experience refutes any suggestion of "freak" reception. He heard distinctly the call of Newark, "W.J.Z."

BOILS Made Him Sick and Miserable

Mr. Richard Zelenoski, McLean, Sask., writes: "I had been suffering continuously, with boils, for three years, and during that time I tried many different remedies without any success whatever. In spite of all my efforts I was compelled to go to the hospital. This was in the Fall of the year, and right in the busiest time of the season. Upon my return home I just took about two weeks until my neck and arms were again occupied by the boils which made me feel very sick and miserable.
One day one of my friends advised me to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and after I had used less than two bottles I was very much surprised at the result.
It is now over two years since I got in touch with B. B. B., and I have had no further trouble with boils since. I will recommend it to all persons suffering from any defect in the blood."
B. B. B. is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
Liverpool, states that between 1 a. m. and 3 a. m., on Saturday, on a three-mile receding set of his own construction, he heard a wireless telephone programme transmitted from the New Jersey broadcasting station.

Y. M. C. A. Members Work in Shifts Applying Artificial Respiration to Lad with Broken Neck—He May Recover.

New York, Dec. 7.—Simon Schlum, a sixteen-year-old schoolboy, is at the Orthopedic Hospital, 420 East Fifty-ninth street, slowly recovering from a broken neck and the resulting complete paralysis. He has been kept alive by the efforts of the interns of the hospital and a group of about thirty volunteers from the West Side Y. M. C. A., who have constantly applied artificial respiration.
The boy has been at the hospital since August, when he was transferred from the Coney Island Hospital. He was injured at Steeplechase Beach on July 29 by diving into shallow water. Little hope was held out for his recovery following the accident, but the remarkable vitality of the boy led Dr. Russell Hibbs, chief surgeon of the Orthopedic Hospital, to believe that he would survive an operation for spine fusion, which was performed a few days ago. He has rallied since and his recovery is now expected.
Young Schlum was accompanied to the beach on the day of the accident by Benjamin Swedish, of 202 Berry street, Brooklyn. Both boys were swimming suits under their clothes and when the crowd diving from the jetty at Steeplechase beach began to thin, they slipped off their clothing and prepared to dive. Neither knew how to swim, and there was no one to tell them that the tide was receding and the water was less than two feet deep. Schlum, who was a year older than his companion, dived first and his head struck the bottom. He did not come up to the surface, though the younger lad could see him in the shallow water. A guard hurried to the rescue, and Schlum was carried to the Coney Island Hospital, where he was unconscious for several days.
His recovery sufficiently to be taken to his home, 301 Berry street, for a few days, but was transferred to the Orthopedic Hospital later for the operation. The operation revealed the fact that the first vertebra was broken, and as a result of the operation for fusion the boy was completely paralyzed. This was expected by the operating physician, Dr. Russell Hibbs, chief surgeon of the hospital, who has pronounced the operation successful and predicts the recovery of the patient.
The application of artificial respiration was begun on Friday morning by the hospital staff. It was constantly necessary and by Saturday evening the interns were exhausted, and a call for help was sent to the Y. M. C. A. secretary of the West Side Young Men's Christian Association, who responded with about twenty-five volunteers, who have been working in four-hour shifts ever since and have, by their efforts, kept the boy alive. A small amount of nourishment was given him for the first time since the operation, and the weights which hold the knitting bones in place were lightened.

"My Boy Was Starving to Death"

"As He Was Getting No Nourishment He Was Gradually Wasting Away."
"Here's a story which will interest every mother. Before my boy was born, I was in such delicate health that the doctor didn't think I would believe that it was my own boy that was being born. I was so weak, I never saw such a change in any child. He was fat and rosy and full of life with a happy smile! 'What on earth have you done to him,' I said. 'Why,' she replied, 'I simply made him live out of doors, gave him good food—and here's the secret, I gave him three bottles of Carnol before he had taken half a bottle his whole appearance had changed. He got heavier, his face took on a colour and he would run round for hours at a time.' The change in my boy is the most wonderful event in my life. I am a regular 'fan' for Carnol and never lose a chance to boost it. As I write I am looking out of the window and when I see that rosy, active, healthy child running round, I cannot believe that he was once a puny, delicate boy."
Carnol is sold by your druggist, and if you can conscientiously say, after you have used it, that it hasn't done you any good, return the empty bottle to him and he will refund your money. —628

ADVANTAGE OF COKE
There is among householders a very general prejudice against the use of coke as fuel for the furnace. Objection is made that it is bulky and that it burns too rapidly. There is no gaining the fact that it takes up more space than is desirable. But this cannot be regarded as an insuperable objection. Anthracite is available to fill the family coal bin is not obtainable. The difficulty of too rapid burning may be overcome by limiting the supply of air through the ash-pit.
The United States Bureau of Mines recommends householders to burn coke during the coming winter. It says that coke makes a better domestic fuel than coal, gives a more uniform temperature in the house, and almost does away with the necessity of cleaning the furnace and flue.
Consumers of coke, however, must adopt suitable methods of firing. The wood should be started by first feeding a six-inch layer of coke onto wood kindlings after they are well ignited with the draft on. When this layer has started to burning well fill the firebox with the fuel and cut down the draft until the coke will just continue to burn. Keep the fire always under control; do not let it blaze up and then try to cut it down again suddenly.
With the fair-sized fire-box, the furnace should carry over night. But if there is any anthracite on hand, it should be used at night in very cold weather.

QUEEN'S MEMORIAL TO HER REGIMENTS

Erected in New Chapel at Royal Military College, Sandhurst.
London, November 7.—(By Mail)—Queen Mary's memorial in the new memorial chapel at the Royal Military College, Sandhurst, to the two regiments of which she is colonel-in-chief, the 18th (Queen Mary's Own) Hussars and the 127th (Queen Mary's Own) Light Infantry, has been placed on an archway close to the commandant's seat in the chancel. On the other side of the chancel and near to the panel contributed by the regiment itself, has recently been erected the memorial which Princess Mary, Viscountess Lascelles, has given to the Royal Scots, the regiment of which she is colonel-in-chief.
The chapel is being erected in three sections, and the east end has already been dedicated by the Archbishop of Canterbury. The central portion was opened on Sunday by the Bishop of Oxford, who dedicated the whole of the memorials at the same time. The ceremony took place at the 11 a. m. parade service, but owing to insufficiency of accommodation, attendance was limited to officers and gentlemen invited by the regiment. Two representatives from each of the regiments represented in the memorials, and 128 relatives of fallen officers. Seats for relatives were allotted in the order in which applications were received.
Owing to the fact that many hundreds of relatives were unable to attend the parade service, the Bishop of Oxford arranged to stay at Sandhurst and preach at the evening service. The College authorities arranged for the chapel to be open to relatives and the general public during the day, when the chaplain explained the memorials.

ANTAGONISH LAD KILLED IN MILL

Antigonish, N. S., Dec. 6.—Henry Delanty, nineteen, son of Arthur Delanty, of Merland, near here, was almost instantly killed yesterday when he was caught by a belt of a sawmill. He suffered a fractured skull and other injuries.
HARD FOR THE WIDOWS.
Speaking at the monthly luncheon and business meeting of the Ottawa branch of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada this week, A. G. Cameron of the Juvenile Court drew the attention of the members to the terrible circumstances in which fully sixty per cent. of the mothers are left. Drawing his conclusions from statistics gathered in his office, Mr. Cameron said that in looking over some 810 applications for mothers' allowances only forty per cent. had been left with insurance, sixty per cent. had been left without any means of support. In many cases not even enough to pay funeral expenses. The average amount of insurance left to mothers was $1,171, the largest amount being $5,000, and the smallest $60.

HALIFAX MAN HAD TROUBLE TO EAT BUT NO APETITE
Steady, Old-fashioned, Was Bilious and Often Became Dizzy. Says One Bottle of Decco Worked Wonders.
"Nearly all my joints ached and were stiff from rheumatism," says Ralph Dawson, of the Welding Tag Store, Halifax, N. S. "My stomach was in bad shape and I had no appetite, as things I'd eat always seemed to cause belching and bloating with a heavy pain in my stomach. I always had to be taking something for my bowels. I was nervous and this kept me awake half the night. I felt very weak and run-down and always had a tired feeling."
"Decco seems to be just what I needed and the relief obtained after taking just one bottle is very surprising to me. The pains in my joints are almost gone. My bowels act regular, I sleep well and I eat 100 p. c. better, no more tired feeling in the morning and I feel much stronger in every way. SUFFERED SO FROM HEART AND NERVES LIFE WAS A BURDEN

Mr. A. H. Lee, Beasville, Ont., writes: "I am delighted to let you know what I have to say regarding the good Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills did me.
A short time ago I suffered with heart and nerve trouble, and was so bad I could not sleep, only about two hours each night. My heart was so bad I had spells when driving on the road and would faint away, and neighbors would carry me in from my wagon. I also took these pills in the night and during my daily work on the farm. My nerves were so bad I would jump out of bed, and was then compelled to walk the floor before I could settle down again, but after taking a few boxes of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills I can honestly say I am a relieved man. I now feel in the best of health, in fact, the best I've been in for three years, and can do any kind of work with pleasure where before life was a burden to me."

"There Were Many Things Which I Could Not Eat"

Mrs. H. Robert Wells, English Harbour, Trinity Bay, Nfld., writes:
"I was troubled with nervous dyspepsia—so much so that there were a great many things I could not eat at all on account of the distressed feeling afterwards. I used many different remedies, but they did me little good. Finally I tried Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills, and was surprised at the relief this combined treatment gave me in such a short time."

ANTAGONISH LAD KILLED IN MILL

Antigonish, N. S., Dec. 6.—Henry Delanty, nineteen, son of Arthur Delanty, of Merland, near here, was almost instantly killed yesterday when he was caught by a belt of a sawmill. He suffered a fractured skull and other injuries.
HARD FOR THE WIDOWS.
Speaking at the monthly luncheon and business meeting of the Ottawa branch of the Life Underwriters' Association of Canada this week, A. G. Cameron of the Juvenile Court drew the attention of the members to the terrible circumstances in which fully sixty per cent. of the mothers are left. Drawing his conclusions from statistics gathered in his office, Mr. Cameron said that in looking over some 810 applications for mothers' allowances only forty per cent. had been left with insurance, sixty per cent. had been left without any means of support. In many cases not even enough to pay funeral expenses. The average amount of insurance left to mothers was $1,171, the largest amount being $5,000, and the smallest $60.

YOU HAVE NO ONE TO BLAME BUT YOURSELF IF YOU FAIL TO HEED THE ADVICE GIVEN

It is your own fault if you continue to suffer from stomach trouble, constipation, weak kidneys, backache, rheumatism, sluggish liver, dizzy spells or nervousness, says the Decco expert, now located at Ross Drug Co.
HALIFAX MAN HAD TROUBLE TO EAT BUT NO APETITE
Steady, Old-fashioned, Was Bilious and Often Became Dizzy. Says One Bottle of Decco Worked Wonders.
"Nearly all my joints ached and were stiff from rheumatism," says Ralph Dawson, of the Welding Tag Store, Halifax, N. S. "My stomach was in bad shape and I had no appetite, as things I'd eat always seemed to cause belching and bloating with a heavy pain in my stomach. I always had to be taking something for my bowels. I was nervous and this kept me awake half the night. I felt very weak and run-down and always had a tired feeling."
"Decco seems to be just what I needed and the relief obtained after taking just one bottle is very surprising to me. The pains in my joints are almost gone. My bowels act regular, I sleep well and I eat 100 p. c. better, no more tired feeling in the morning and I feel much stronger in every way. Decco is a wonderful medicine and I fully intend to complete the full treatment."

Is This Scheme to Get Monopoly of Hydro Electric in Province?

(Montreal Gazette)

Every since the announcement of the plan of the new administration for the segregation of the three companies comprising what is known as the Quebec Railway, Light, Heat and Power Company, there has been much unrest among the Quebec Railway shareholders, who wonder just what this move will mean to the value of their stock. About the street generally there is considerable interest in just what the tramways group is planning to do in case the bills now on tap are passed by the provincial government. The effect of this legislation upon the value of the Quebec Railway shares depends upon what Mr. Robert intends to do with these companies once he gets them segregated, and this intention is locked up in the mind of Mr. Robert.

The segregation plan, when first mooted, was plausible enough as accepted by the street. It was believed that the plan was merely to separate the companies so that, following the general trend of the public attitude toward public utilities these days, rates might be adjusted so as to make each company pay a reasonable return upon capital invested, this being a thoroughly sound economic principle. While the company has made no capital expenditure other than out of earnings in about ten years, its capitalization has been regarded as quite high enough at around $20,000,000—by some, in fact this was considered altogether too high for the property. In justice to those who take the latter attitude it must be said that there have been times in the history of the company that its capital would have essayed a modestly large proportion of aqua (pura or otherwise). It may be assumed however, that in the operations of the past ten years a good deal of this water has been squeezed out.

From the showing of the company in its last annual report, and from earnings figures published since that time it has been reasonably accepted in many quarters that the company, with considerable industrial growth making its appearance in the district in which it operates, had a very fair margin of working out its business. It was assumed of course that whatever recapitalization of the companies took place under the plan of segregation, would be on a pro rata basis and that the total capitalization would be about the same as the present situation of Quebec Railway. On that basis and with contracts permitting of a reasonable return on the capital of the various companies, Quebec Railway did not look like a bad proposition. The announcement of the bills which would result in the creation of a group of double that of Quebec Railway, Light, Heat and Power, naturally brought consternation to shareholders, who, at best, had been hopeful that they might some day secure a return upon the present capitalization.

It has been said that there is no intention to issue the amount of capitalization asked for, but the bills would give the directors power to issue bonuses upon paid-up shares almost indiscriminately. The Quebec Railway situation, from being one of considerable apparent merit, is degenerating into a state of chaos in the face of the possibilities of these bills. It is rumored that the intention is to eventually let the city have the gas company, to secure for the tramways company a contract with the city similar to that existing between the City of Montreal and the Montreal Tramways Company, and to turn the power company into the larger scheme of Mr. Robert, which is reputed to aim at a monopoly of the hydro-electric industry of the province of Quebec. The $20,000,000 capitalization set for the power company, as compared with $10,000,000 each for the other two, lends color to the theory that this company is picked out for special uses, and as for the monopolistic designs of this group upon the hydro-electric natural resources of the province, there is little doubt left as to this intent by certain clauses of the bills. This aspect of the matter is dealt with editorially in this issue.

The details of this great scheme, no one aside from Mr. Robert seems to know, and with the example of Montreal Tramways and Power before it, the financial community is not inclined to be over- sanguine until they are shown. In so far as the status of Quebec Railway shareholders is concerned if these bills pass there are but few about the street who do not feel that the dropping of the company into this great unknown is an unfavorable development. There are, it must be said, those who think that the outcome will be of benefit to security holders. It is pointed out that the wide powers, particularly those of expropriation, asked, if granted would have a tendency to undermine confidence in the credit of existing corporate enterprises and municipalities of the province. (Montreal Gazette Editorial)

The public utility corporation of the city of Quebec, known as the Quebec Railway, Light, Heat and Power Company, a short time ago was taken over by capitalists of Montreal, who have promised the citizens of Quebec a policy of energetic development and improved services. Towards the accomplishment of this programme the general public cannot have other than goodwill, and it will be cause for congratulation if the new management succeeds in bettering the light, heat, power, and transportation facilities of the Ancient Capital while at the same time deriving a reasonable return of profit on the capital invested. These matters concern directly the citizens of Quebec and the capitalists who put money in the enterprise, being in lesser degree of interest to residents of other parts of the province, and in giving privileges to the companies we may assume that the civic authorities of Quebec will provide proper safeguards against undue powers and immoderate exactions. On this local matter has grown a measure.

and the Quebec Gas Company. It would naturally be inferred that these bills relate to services within the City of Quebec already more or less adequately established and operated, in respect of which certain larger powers are found by the companies essential to the development of the properties. The fact is quite otherwise. It is not a municipal tramway, power and gas company the promoters of the legislation contemplate but a provincial concern, a giant octopus and a prospective monopoly. The municipal projects are merely a pretext, the stepping stones to larger things, and so extraordinary are the powers sought as to warrant instant and emphatic protest. Indeed, one man concludes that by requesting everything the promoters hope to secure something, but they cannot be congratulated upon the apathy to public interests their bills attribute to the Legislature. In order to make efficient the municipal tramways, and power and gas services of Quebec, the promoters not only seek unusual rights and privileges in that city, but actually in 40 counties in the province, and elsewhere outside the province. The natural resources are to be drawn upon, and apparently held in monopoly of forty counties, some of them as remote as Sherbrooke, Sherbrooke, St. John's, and the St. Hyacinthe, in order to provide trams, light and power for the good people of Quebec City! The promoters, indeed, are not in fault; it is the way of promoters to make the sky the limit of their requests. The Legislature, however, has something to say about such matters, and the Legislature should loudly and promptly speak in the negative when these bills are presented. Blanket charters in private hands are about the last kind of exploitation the Legislature should tolerate. One wonders at the modesty which refrained from spreading tentacles over the other counties of Quebec, or is it that the water powers in these are already otherwise assigned? We make no apology to our traders for printing at some length the catalogue of powers desired to be possessed by the promoters of these bills. "The company shall have power in the City of Quebec and in the Counties of Saguenay, Lake St. John, Charlevoix, Montmorency, Quebec, Portneuf, Champlain, St. Maurice, Maskinonge, Berthier, Joliette, Bonaventure, Gaspé, Matane, Rimouski, Temiscouata, Kamourasie, Lévis, Montmagny, Bellechasse, Lévis, Dorchester, Lotbinière, Mégantic, Beauce, frontenaie, Nicolet, Arthabaska, Bagot, Wolfe, Compton, Yamaska, Drummond, Richmond, Richelieu, Sherbrooke, Sherbrooke, Stanstead and St. Hyacinthe, in the Province of Quebec, and elsewhere outside of the Province of Quebec. "To purchase, lease or otherwise acquire, erect, construct, maintain, use and operate such dams, canals, flumes, pipes, docks, wharves, roadways, bridges, rights of way and any other works which the company may deem necessary or useful for the purposes of its business, and may sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the same, in whole or in part, as the directors may see fit. "The company may appropriate any immovable or other property or rights required for the purposes of its business, in the territory in which it has the rights to operate. "If there are any powers requisite to monopoly, to the formation of a huge octopus, which the promoters have overlooked, they are not readily discernible. Some of the powers sought are proper enough, and doubtless essential to the execution of the plans of the gentlemen who have taken over the public utilities of the city of Quebec in respect of those utilities, but the Legislature will fall in its duty to the people if the bills in question are not shown in connection with the carrying on of the business of the company, and to sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the same, as the directors may see fit. "To acquire and undertake the whole or any part of the business, property and liabilities of any person or company carrying on any business which this company is authorized to carry on, or possessed of property suitable for the purpose of this company, and to enter into any agreement with any such person or company for leasing, hiring or purchasing the franchises, rights, works, plant and rolling stock belonging to any such person or company, and to sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the same, as the directors may see fit. "The company may in the same places purchase, lease or otherwise acquire, erect, construct, maintain, use and operate such dams, canals, flumes, pipes, docks, wharves, roadways, bridges, rights of way and any other works which the company may deem necessary or useful for the purposes of its business, and may sell, lease or otherwise dispose of the same, in whole or in part, as the directors may see fit. "The company may appropriate any immovable or other property or rights required for the purposes of its business, in the territory in which it has the rights to operate. "If there are any powers requisite to monopoly, to the formation of a huge octopus, which the promoters have overlooked, they are not readily discernible. Some of the powers sought are proper enough, and doubtless essential to the execution of the plans of the gentlemen who have taken over the public utilities of the city of Quebec in respect of those utilities, but the Legislature will fall in its duty to the people if the bills in question are not shown of all their other provisions. A close scrutiny of the bills should be made. There may be jokers in the pack, placed there by an unsophisticated draftsman unfamiliar with the limitations legislators amenable to public interests impose. It is one thing to invite investment of capital in development of natural resources, provision of utilities and improvement of transportation; but even these advantages may be acquired at too great a price, and when blanket charters of monopolistic tendency is the price, that price is too great.

SCHOOL MATTERS
ARE CONSIDERED
Meeting of Board of Education at Fredericton—Government Session Ended.

Premier Foster and several members of the Government who had been attending a meeting of the Government in Fredericton returned to the city last night. At yesterday afternoon's session attention was devoted chiefly to educational matters, the board of education being in session. The board received applications from Miss Margaret Lynda, of the Normal School staff, and Miss Caroline Currie, travelling instructor in household science in the Women's Institute branch, for leave of absence. The board voted three months' leave on full pay to each. Mrs. Otty White, of Fredericton, is applying for Miss Lynda and Miss Rayworth, of Sackville, for Miss Currie. It was decided that candidates for disability allowance must be examined by Dr. G. G. Melvin, chief health officer, or by some other official department of health. The hearing of evidence was concluded in the Circuit Court yesterday in the case of Kinghorn against Barnaby, arising out of an automobile collision. Hon. J. B. M. Baxter, K. C., addressed the jury for the defendant and W. A. Ross for the plaintiff. The case was given to the jury this morning. The first school for the blind was founded in Paris, 1784.

PREPARE FOR ROSEBUD DAY

A meeting of the Local Council of Women was held yesterday afternoon with Mrs. E. Atherton Smith presiding. A hearty welcome was extended Mrs. Allan G. McAvity, new president of the Free Kindergarten Association. Reports of the arrangements for the annual Rosebud Day to be held on Saturday were given and it was shown that the organization was being very effectively completed. Mrs. R. J. Hooper reported that 1,800 tags were ready. Miss Estey reported as convener of banks. It was decided to ask A. M. Beiding, H. Sheehan, K. A. Wilson, and H. Usher Miller to assist in counting the money at the Children's Aid Home on Rosebud Day. It was reported that the sum necessary to keep the home free from debt was between $2,000 and $3,000. Mrs. Smith expressed her thanks to the clergymen who had spoken in support of the tag day. She said that sixty-five High School girls had offered to help with the tagging. Mrs. J. H. Dooly reported that six automobiles would be available for the use of the taggers. Mrs. H. W. Robertson, as convener, with Mrs. A. C. D. Wilson, for tagging, then gave the list of the names of those who would take charge of the various wards. They were as follows—Kings, Daniel's the north end sub-division C. W. L. Mrs. H. Fishery convener. The various ward conveners then reported on the arrangements they had made to secure workers.

The Case for
Daily Newspaper Advertising

The question has been asked: What are the Advantages of Daily Newspaper Advertising by contrast with all other forms of advertising?

In setting out these advantages, Daily Newspaper Publishers do not discount supplementary forms of publicity. But the area of Canada and its distribution of population are such, that Daily Newspaper Advertising has been and must be the basis of all the pointedly successful Canadian advertising campaigns.

- 1. UNIVERSAL APPEAL.
 - (a) Enters the home intimately. The newspaper enters the home and has a more intimate appeal to all members of the family than any other reading matter.
 - (b) Reaches all classes. The newspaper appeals to all literate members of the community, without distinction of race, class, creed, sex, income or occupation.
 - (c) Thorough distribution. The newspaper finds its readers, whether they are at home or not; if they are not at home, it reaches them when travelling, on trains and cars, in hotels, clubs and libraries.
 - (d) Reaches the business man. The newspaper is to the business executive the most necessary medium of information.
 - (e) Minimum duplication. Because of the completeness of the service of each newspaper, there is a minimum of duplication between newspapers.
- 2. IMMEDIATE APPEARANCE.
 - (a) Impulse to immediate action. Because the newspaper deals with the immediate fact and the opinion of the day, its columns give an impulse to immediate action; results are often felt even before the presses are silent.
 - (b) Quick insertion. Through the newspaper the reader may be reached within a few hours after copy is prepared.
 - (c) Quick change. Advertisements in a newspaper may be changed or even cancelled up to a few hours before going to press.
 - (d) Quick repetition. A newspaper advertisement which proves successful can be repeated promptly before the conditions favoring success have altered.
 - (e) Timely copy. Newspaper copy can be adapted to the day on which it appears, or to current events, and can avoid untimely references.
- 3. FREQUENCY OF APPEARANCE.
 - (a) The choice of the day. The newspaper advertiser has his choice of the precise day of the week most suitable to his advertising.
 - (b) Intensive campaigns. Newspaper advertising permits any intensity desired, up to daily insertions.
 - (c) Serial campaigns. In the newspaper it is possible to use serial copy with any desired interval between insertions.
 - (d) Cumulative effect. A newspaper campaign may be planned to obtain a maximum cumulative effect, through the flexibility of space and intervals.
- 4. LOCALIZED CIRCULATION.
 - (a) Close to place of purchase. The reader of a newspaper advertisement can go directly to the place where the article advertised is on sale.
 - (b) Spotty distribution. The advertiser with spotty distribution can, by using newspapers, advertise exclusively where his goods are on sale.
 - (c) Concentrated territory. The newspaper offers the maximum concentration of circulation in any community.
 - (d) Strengthening weak territory. The newspaper may be used to strengthen weak spots in the distribution with the exact degree of force desired.
 - (e) Progressive zone advertising. Newspaper advertising may be extended progressively by zones, hand-in-hand with and aiding the extension of distribution.
 - (f) Seasonable by territory. Seasonable variations in the demand in different territories may be taken into account in newspaper advertising.
 - (g) Price variations. When necessary, different prices may be quoted in different territories through newspaper advertising.
 - (h) Localized copy. Newspaper copy and illustrations may be made to meet precisely, and take advantage of, local conditions.
 - (i) Traceability. The effect of newspaper advertising may be traced by observing the course of sales in each community.
 - (j) Try-out and test campaigns. At low cost, tests may be made of the medium, the product, the selling plan or the copy approach at typical points before embarking on a costly general campaign.

The Daily Newspaper is the medium of the moment—the axis of opportunity; flexible, powerful and instantaneous in its ability to create Sales. Advice as to the best ways and means of using it will be given to those who inquire of us; or, consult any recognized advertising agency—a list supplied on request.

RAINS WROUGHT DAMAGE
Austrian Buildings Unsafe After Long Downpour.

Vienna, Nov. 1.—(By mail).—Six weeks of steady rains, broken by but few dry days, have wrought great damage throughout Austria. The tower of the village church in Taufkirchen, Upper Austria, collapsed this week, killing two persons and injuring several others. Salzburg Cathedral, containing the famous Rupert Chapel, is so badly damaged that public subscriptions have been opened for a repair fund. In Vienna hundreds of buildings are reported as seriously damaged by the continued downpour. In this city construction almost universally is of brick faced with about an inch of plaster, ruled to imitate stone. Everywhere where this plaster covering is peeling, exposing the brick, and if frost should come before the buildings get dry, very heavy damages are predicted. The situation is aggravated by the fact that there has been virtually no repair work done since the first year of the war.

HARBOR INSPECTOR FOR ST. JOHN PORT

Appointment of W.A. Charlton Made Today

Betterment of the Loch Lomond Water Service Recommended—Question of Payment for Time Lost During Accident.

A proposed improvement in the water system from Loch Lomond, the appointment of a harbor inspector, the question of completing the survey of the city for the Board of Assessors and several matters were considered at a committee meeting of the Council on Monday night.

Reporting on the matter of the city survey, the Mayor read a report from the city engineer enclosing a letter from G. Murdoch, engineer in charge of the survey. The original estimate of the survey, Mr. Hare reported, was $27,000, but $25,000 had been voted by the council with the understanding that the work could be completed in three years, which would end next May.

On motion of Commissioner Bullock it was decided to appoint William A. Charlton harbor inspector for the Port of St. John. Mr. Charlton is now chief of the harbor master's office and his present salary of $1,800 will be increased by $400.

Water Main Improvement. Commissioner Wigmore presented a plan of suggested changes in the city water system. He said that a header in the line from Loch Lomond at Silver Falls was the weak point in the system.

Commissioner Frink remarked that a new main, the necessity of which was apparent fifteen years ago was still more necessary now. At that time the estimated cost of the new line was $50,000 and he was of the opinion that at the present time it would cost three-quarters of a million.

Commissioner Wigmore said while the city itself was in very good shape regarding distribution mains there was no doubt that a new line from Loch Lomond would be required soon.

Commissioner Wigmore said that it was proposed to do the work this winter by the men of his department. Commissioner Wigmore moved that the work be carried out and paid for by bond issue and tenders be called for the pipe fittings.

ST. JOHN MAN HURT

While working for the Dominion Steel Company, at Buffalo, U. S. A., Earl Jones, formerly of this city met with a very painful accident. He lost his balance while descending a ladder and fell down a ten-foot hole, sustaining a deep cut in the arch of his right foot, which necessitated six stitches. In a recent letter to his mother, Mrs. C. A. Jones, 8 1/2 Leinster street, Mr. Jones wrote that the doctor informed him that it would be six weeks before the use of his foot would be restored. DECEMBER JOYS

Tom Dyer is not to be ousted from his throne as the discoverer of the mayflowers, early and late. He espied the item about the mayflowers Lewin Collins brought to the Times two days ago and did girdle up his loins. Today he came to this office with a mayflower more nearly in full bloom than those of Mr. Collins. Mr. Dyer is grateful for hydro. The transmission line through the wilderness behind Rockwood Park has made a road free from obstacles for a long distance. He says it will be very popular with snowshoers this winter. He is beginning to plan the winter vacation and to dilate on the charms of the wilderness. His heavers begin to feel stuffy in the heated office and want to engage him as guide for an immediate excursion. As to Mr. Collins, he pays that gentleman a warm tribute for his love of nature, but adds that he has only to hop across the field from his own home to find several beds of mayflowers. And that's that.

and not on the estimated as had been done in the past. He added that this work had been recommended by engineer Melanis and before finally voting on the proposed motion in council, he would present the Melanis report. Commissioner Frink was of the opinion that as the city was not limited in its drainage from Loch Lomond, the installation of Venturi meters was not vital.

Commissioner Thornton agreed, saying that this item might be eliminated on the proposed new work.

Commissioner Wigmore said the meter was necessary to keep a check on the draft—he said today 15,000,000 gallons of water was being drawn by the city.

JUDGMENT IN POKER CASE

O'Leary Cannot Receive the Sum Sued For

Judge Ritchie Reviews Evidence of Card Game, and Borrowing of Money in Connection With It—Decision for Brager.

In the city court this morning Judge Ritchie delivered judgment in the case of O'Leary against Brager, the sum involved being $40, made up of a check for $20, a check for $10 and a cash loan of $10. His Honor found that the plaintiff, Parker O'Leary, was not entitled to recover any part of the amount and dismissed the case, granting counsel fees to the defendant, Maxwell Brager.

The case was first heard two weeks ago. In the course of his judgment, His Honor said that when the case was heard he had no doubt that both the checks were given for gambling and, such being the case, under the English authorities the plaintiff could not recover on them. In connection with the question as to the loan of the $10, it was urged by the counsel for the plaintiff that it was a different matter from the checks, but His Honor said that after looking into the matter he had come to the conclusion that both the checks and the loan had been given in a gambling transaction.

The English authorities were very strongly against gambling. A game of cards was one thing; playing for money in this case had lost $50 in the game played. To make good his losses he had borrowed money on the checks, and after contemplating to lose he made a loan of $10 from the plaintiff. Under the evidence it was a shameful transaction and under the law the plaintiff could not recover. Judgment was therefore entered in favor of the defendant and counsel fees to the amount of $6 were awarded to him.

Dora May Griffin and Annie Coyte, who escaped on Friday from the Home of the Good Shepherd and were arrested in Moncton on Sunday, were this morning ordered by the Magistrate to be sent back to the Home. FATE OF POMPEII AWAITS TORONTO

Sir Andrew Macphail at the Young Men's Club of Board of Trade

Rural Volcano Awakes - Montreal Philosopher Mixture of Meighen Gloom and Leadcock Humor, Says the Toronto Star.

(Montreal Gazette.) Sir Andrew Macphail's address to the Young Men's Club of the Toronto Board of Trade on Monday, November 27, was reported in a spirited vein by the Toronto Daily Star of the evening day. The report is reproduced here under.

Imagine the gloom of Arthur Meighen and the humor of Stephen Leadcock mixed together in the proportion of nine parts of Leadcock to one of Meighen, and you will have some of the flavor of Sir Andrew Macphail's address last evening to the Young Men's Club of the Board of Trade.

His speech was a serio-comic commentary on the text, "In the sweat of your brow shall you eat bread," and he began with a little higher criticism. It was not the curse of original sin which had been the cause of the curse of work, but it was the curse of work which had led mankind to invent the theory of original sin as the only plausible explanation of the necessity of penitence.

"There is no sorrow where there is bread in the house," said Sir Andrew Meighen. "That is an eternal truth, an unvarying law, as valid in the Garden of Eden as in the Garden of Ontario." And he went on to tell of the great sorrow that fell on earth's primal pair when there was no money in the house to buy bread for Adam and Eve, or shoes for Cain and Abel.

Avoiding Curse of Work. He cast a melancholy eye out of the twentieth story of the Royal Bank building down to the myriad points of light which twinkled starlike in the city streets below. "The curse of work is the curse that humanity has always struggled to escape," said he, regardless of the success of Sir Adam Beck and the Hydro. He looked at the young men of the Board of Trade seated in front of him like playboys of the western world, each with a brown paper-mache son's-wester cocked on his forehead, and labelled, in Roman numerals, Bill, Jim, Joe, and so on. "But it is a curse that you young men seem singularly to have avoided."

He then gave a well-known recipe for escaping work. First there was war—one of the earliest and most popular and still popular modes of escape, once extensively practiced in the Highlands of Scotland, where men ate their bread, not in the sweat of their face, but in the light of the spilt, which roasted the stolen Lowland cattle. Almost as popular was the church, the age-old idea of whose clerics, extended to the modern clerk, to, in fact, any one who could read or write. "The easiest way to live in idleness," said Sir Andrew, "is to enter a university. The master motive in all education is the desire to escape from work."

INCREASED CRIME IN BRITAIN SHOWN BY PRISON REPORT

Trade Depression and After-War Conditions as Partial Causes.

London, Nov. 4.—(By mail.)—The report of the Commissioners of Prisons and the Directors of Convict Prisons for the year ended March 31, 1922, has been issued as a White Paper. It shows that the total number of prisoners received under sentence during 1921-22 was 56,922, compared with 40,712 for 1920-21, an increase of 7,210.

greater part of the year there were about four hundred male prisoners in local prisons and three hundred in convict prisons who had been transferred to this country from Ireland. They were released early this year.

The number of receptions on conviction, both absolutely and relatively to population, was still much lower than it was for the five years ended 1915-16, both with regard to convictions on indictment and summary convictions.

The total number received this year after conviction on indictment was about the same as for the preceding year for both sexes, viz., 5,029 males and 869 females, as compared with 5,029 males and 869 females last year. As compared with the totals for this year for the five years ended 1915-16, the figures this year represent a reduction of 80 per cent. for males and 81 per cent. for females.

uses as an indication of what was likely to happen in the near future. Trade depression, and the other effects of the war which were still with us, coupled with the increase in prison population that had actually taken place, suggested that a further increase might be expected.

On the other hand, despite a certain number of spectacular crimes which had attracted a good deal of public interest, there was no increase in convictions on indictment. Moreover, out of an increase of 7,210 in the total number of receptions into prison under sentence, no less than 4,063, or well over half, was accounted for by the increase of debtor prisoners; the remainder of the increase being accounted for under the heading of non-indictable (i. e., minor and trivial) offences.

Reference is made to the educational and recreative facilities which now form part of prison life. Lectures, debates, and concerts are features of the prison system, and the inmates are kept abreast of the main changes which are taking place in the outside world by weekly summary of news, which is read by the governor or chaplain in each prison.

No "Pampering." "One misconception, which has given rise to occasional criticism, requires a word of notice," says the report. "It is that prisoners are being 'pampered.' Those who will persist in considering mental and spiritual values will not make this mistake. Pampering is not the object, nor is it the result. It is our duty, as custodians of those who are for a time forcibly separated from life in the civic community, to restore them to it at least as fit when we received them. To this end we should feed and exercise their minds as well as their bodies; else we shall return them to the stern competition outside torpid in mind and nerves, and quite unfit to take their part. It is, therefore, reasonable that we should provide brain food in the form of books and social intercourse as regularly as we issue wholesome food for the body.

We have only to add that though large numbers of prisoners have been brought out from their cells in the evenings with a minimum of staff present, there has never yet been the least sign of any misbehavior. All seem to have felt it to be a point of honor to show their appreciation in their conduct.

Prison labor, it is stated, is unsatisfactory. In some respects the position is worse than usual, because the Government Departments are still stocked with surplus stores resulting from the war. It has been suggested that the trade unions should be approached with a view to an understanding which would enable the commissioners and directors, with proper safeguards against undercutting, to obtain at least a partial access of the outside market.

The special reports of the medical commissioner, the chaplain-inspector, and the administrative inspectors are printed as appendices to the report.

GERMAN RIVER PIRATES. Set Lighter Adrift After Murdering Owner. Hamburg, Nov. 9.—(By mail.)—Traveling rapidly down the Elbe on Tuesday, apparently with not a soul on board, the lighter Dorothea attracted the attention of passing seamen, who notified the authorities.

Police-boats soon gave chase, and succeeded in gaining control of the mysterious vessel. They found the deck covered with blood and every sign of a fierce struggle. It appears that the owner was returning with a large sum of money as payment for a cargo of bricks which he had unloaded at an Elbe wharf, when he was held up, robbed and murdered, and his body thrown into the river.

This is the second act of piracy that has occurred on the Elbe during the last few weeks, and the culprits are believed to have been escaped convicts from the prison at Glueckstadt. Pure chance prevented the deserted vessel from coming into collision with other steamers on the Elbe, which on that day was crowded with shipping.

To build health and then to keep it—thousands have found a way

The tireless vitality that means success—the strength and vigor that make life a joy instead of an effort—

They are within reach of every normal man. Yet thousands lose them because they neglect the body's two most vital functions:

- Removing daily all of the poisonous waste
-Building up and nourishing the living tissues.

The fresh, living cells of Fleischmann's Yeast contain a natural food—with the very elements which help the body build tissue and rid itself of the waste that tears down and undermines the whole system.

Like any other plant or vegetable, yeast produces the best results when fresh and "green"—not dried or "killed." Fleischmann's Yeast is the highest grade living yeast—always fresh. It is not a medicine, it is a natural food. It helps to "tone up" the whole system and assures regular daily elimination. Results cannot be expected unless it is eaten regularly.

Everywhere physicians and hospitals are prescribing Fleischmann's Yeast to correct constipation, skin disorders and to restore appetite and digestion.

Back to normal weight in six weeks

A recent letter from a travelling salesman tells a remarkable story.

"A year ago," he says, "I was in very bad condition—thin and anaemic—and weighed 140 lbs., though I am over six feet tall."

He began eating one cake of Fleischmann's Yeast at each meal. At the end of six weeks he weighed 170 lbs., and today, "I feel better than I ever have."

Eat two or three cakes a day regularly—plain, or spread on crackers, or mixed with milk or water. If you prefer, get six cakes at a time. They will keep in a cool, dry place for two or three days. Begin at once to know what real health means! Be sure you get Fleischmann's Yeast. All grocers have it.

Advertisement for 'Big Brothers' for Bad Boys. 'BIG BROTHERS' FOR BAD BOYS. New York Chapter of the Knights of Columbus will Establish Chain of Clubs to Work Out Their Plan. and friend, are features of a social welfare programme presented to the New York Chapter of the Knights of Columbus by Judge Cornelius F. Collins of the Court of Special Sessions and ratified by that body at its meeting in the Hotel Astor. The plan provides also for a non-denominational employment bureau and a room registry that it is hoped may develop into a home for working boys. It calls for co-operation from existing K. of C. committees in every branch of recreation, education and general welfare, arranges for training for professional volunteer workers with boys and will support and stimulate Catholic summer camps with a view to greatly increasing their number. "This programme is the result of more than two years' study," said Judge Collins. "A subcommittee on big brothers will enroll the name of every member of the Knights of Columbus who can serve in any capacity as a friend to a boy in need. A card index, to be thus compiled, will enable us to furnish a big brother on a moment's notice, particularly for the special kind of work called for. There will be at least 5,000 of these men ready for instant service." This social welfare programme has the endorsement of the United Catholic Charities, organized a few years ago under the direction of Archbishop Patrick J. Hayes. It has his official sanction, and authorizes Judge Collins and his committee to enlist the aid of every Knights of Columbus council in the archdiocese. This will be begun at once. BORE RICHELIEU'S ARMS. Valuable Tapestry Sold in Paris for 5,900 Francs. Paris, Nov. 8.—(By Mail)—A valuable seventeenth century Paris tapestry, in excellent condition but much soiled and in need of cleaning, was sold at the art sale at the Hotel Drouot for the small sum of 5,900 francs. Owing to its soiled condition its historic value had escaped the notice of the experts and it was not even catalogued. The tapestry represents an armed warrior on a landscape background, and on its wide border there is an escutcheon "D'Argent a trevis chevrons de Uraules, timbre de la couronne ducale, surmonte du chapeau de cardinal." These arms "argent, three chevrons gules" are the bearing of Cardinal Richelieu, the Minister of Louis XIII.

NO SURRENDER. (Halifax Chronicle).

In so far as continuance of the Ontario Temperance Act, governmental control of the sale of liquor, the leasing of the sale of beer and light wines, or similar allied questions, a factor in the present political situation in Ontario, Premier Drury has named his colors to the mast. Speaking before a mass meeting held in Massey Hall by the World League Against Alcoholism, Mr. Drury gave it as his carefully considered conviction that prohibition had come to Ontario to stay, that there was no danger of reversion to the legalised sale of liquor in any way, shape or form, that neither government control nor the selling of beer and wine would ever receive the sanction of the Ontario electorate, and that, before many years had passed, prohibition enforcement officers in the United States would not be harassed by the presence of a partially-legalized Canada on their northern boundary.

The Ontario Premier, we believe, reads the signs of the times aright. Prohibition has come to stay. The liquor traffic will never be restored. The dry majorities in Ohio and California—107,854 and 29,221, respectively—are higher than first reports indicated. The grasp-growing States of the Pacific Coast voted down prohibition for ten years, but has become converted by experience. It is a safe prediction that the Volstead Act will stay on the federal statute book unimpaired.

The Leviathan Is a Marvel Of New Electric Appliances

When the Leviathan, the second largest passenger vessel in the world and the largest under the American flag, steams into New York next spring from the Newport News shipyard, she will represent the latest development in the use of electricity as applied to ocean liners. She will arouse the interest of technical experts as well as casual visitors because of the many new appliances which are being installed. A few of the most important features are outlined by Rear-Admiral William S. Benson, Shipping Board Commissioner, in a statement from Washington.

If all of the various sizes of electric wiring were put together end to end, thus forming a single conductor of various diameters, the strand would reach from New York to Norfolk, a distance of about 400 miles. The total weight of the wire and cable is about 100,000 pounds. Even this does not cover all the wire on the vessel, for there are many more miles of it concealed in the windings of the various appliances and apparatus. Only about ten per cent. of the original wiring remains in the vessel.

In the passenger accommodations removed cables are used and every precaution has been taken in their installation to lessen the fire risk, such as the provision of special outlet boxes, fixtures, kick pipes at the decks, and the like.

Control and Lighting.

For controlling the electric current in the multitude of circuits 8,000 switches of various types and sizes are used, the largest being capable of handling 5,000 amperes and the smallest two amperes.

To light the 4,000 rooms on the vessel approximately 15,000 lamps are required. Many festoons and other fixtures are provided for decorating the ship on special occasions. Some idea of the power required to illuminate the vessel fully may be gained from the realization that the electric current consumed in one evening between the hours of seven and eleven would supply the ordinary home for seven years.

Artificial ventilation is obtained in all parts of the vessel by means of motor-driven fans. In order to clarify the air in some of the large public spaces an elaborate ozone generating plant and system of distribution have been provided.

In the first and second class accommodations electric passenger elevators serve the five principal passenger decks. The elevators in the first class accommodation are equipped with an automatic leveling device which always brings the car to a stop with the floor of the car level with the decks, thus preventing injury to passengers. Automatic electric provision and baggage elevators transport the tons of food and baggage from the electrically cooled refrigeration spaces and baggage rooms to the passenger decks.

In the galleys and pantries also the electric servant holds forth. Some of the ranges, the bake ovens, the griddles, the meat choppers, bread slicers and the like are all operated by the turn of a switch. In the dining room electric plate and food warmers keep the various courses warm until the passengers are ready for the next serving. Automatic push button electric dumb-walkers carry the cooled food from the main galley to the various passenger decks, so that hot food can be served in any stateroom.

Other features of the power system are in the gymnasium equipment, imitation fireplaces, bracket fans, lifeboat winches, searchlights and the like.

Modern systems are used for transmitting signals and establishing communication. Foremost among these is the ship's gyro-compass system, extending to all parts of the vessel, including each first class stateroom. In all, more than 600 telephones are connected to the switchboard, which requires the services of two operators.

In addition there are the usual telephone systems for the operation of the ship, including the fire and engine room loud speaking system, loud speaking manœuvring circuit and a small intercommunication circuit for use of the captain, chief engineer and wireless operator.

The annunciator system in the first and second-class staterooms is of a most up-to-date type. The extensive nature of this system can be more clearly comprehended when one knows that 1,700 lamps and 4,500 push buttons are required.

Electric Clocks.

Electric clocks are provided in the public rooms, in many of the first-class staterooms and suites, as well as in many other parts of the vessel. These clocks are controlled from a master clock which is installed in duplicate on the bridge deck. The method of operating these electric clocks is different from the usual manner, owing to the requirements that the clocks must be capable of being set backwards or ahead.

WIRE CAGE MADE FOR APPLE TREE

Freak Worth $5,000 Enclosed for Secrecy — Branch Recently Sold for $1,000 and Royalty on Buds.

Perrell, N. J., Dec. 7.—A wire cage has been constructed around the "35,000 apple tree" in the orchard of Lewis M. Mood, a farmer living at Perrell, in South Harrison Township, Gloucester County. Mood recently sold a branch from this particular tree, producing an entirely new variety of apple, to one of the big nursery firms of the country for what is said to be a record-breaking price for this fruit.

The public will have to wait two years or more before it can learn about the Mood apple, as it is being guarded with the greatest secrecy, indicated by the erection of the wire cage entirely around the tree. All that is known so far is that it is a red apple of exceptional size and sweetness. There is no other apple just like it in this country, so far as horticultural experts have been able to determine.

This new variety will be subjected to the most exhaustive tests under various climate and soil conditions throughout the United States, for the nursery firm which has bought it is willing to place it upon the market. Orchard science as applied through top bidding will make it possible to produce the new fruit in quantities large enough for experimental purposes within a year or two.

The new apple is purely an accident of nature, being a freak from one of the ordinary orchard varieties. Mood noticed several years ago that one of the branches of a particular tree in his orchard was bearing an apple that was different, both in color and flavor, from the fruit from other limbs on the same tree. He watched this apple carefully for season after season. He took off some buds and started other trees. The big red Mood apples were in such demand among his customers that last season he sold $75 worth of apples from the original tree alone.

A representative of the Jersey Farmer company learned that the Jersey Farmer had an apple that was attracting attention and he called to see Mood. "I had heard of you trying to put out this new apple myself," said Mood in talking of the apple that "I put a price on those fellows from pestering me about selling. They got the head of their company here to look over the apple, and to see the tree. After several conferences we finally came to terms. Just what these terms are, are set forth in a bill of sale and a surveyor's record of the exact location of the tree, which have been filed in the Gloucester County Clerk's office at Woodbury. Even the particular branch of the tree is designated in this unusual record.

According to the agreement on file, which is corroborated by Mood in person at conversation, he has received $1,000 in cash and is to get $4,000 in "royalties" at the rate of 2 cents for each bud that is taken from the original branch or any tree developed from it. These buds will be grafted upon other stock to produce trees of the new variety.

"Five thousand dollars seems like a big price for an apple," remarked one well informed nurseryman regarding Mood's sale, "but in these days a new apple of exceptional quality, color and size is worth a small fortune to any one who has the courage and organization to introduce it to the nation."

ITALY TO GROW FLOWERS FOR THE PERFUMERY TRADE

Genoa, Nov. 4.—(By mail.)—Italy is developing a new industry, the growing of the distillation of perfumes and essential oils. Flower production for these purposes is encouraged in the southern provinces, and it is represented that the profits to be expected are large, compared to standard returns from other crops.

Experts have studied the situation and report hopefully. They say Italy is favored climatically, and that she has a monopoly already in the production of bergamotte, a basic essence used in virtually all perfumery. Bordighera, on the Italian Riviera, promises to be a centre of the new industry.

The perfumes manufactured in Italy already have been favorably received at home and abroad, especially in South America and the Near East.

The Boston News-Letter, founded in 1704, was the first American newspaper.

WHITE LIGHT FROM OIL LAMPS NOW

Government Tests Prove New Light Beats Electric—Sensational Invention.

A new lamp has recently been invented which burns common kerosene oil and produces a soft, white light said to be even better than electric light.

Tests by the Government and leading Universities prove this new light is superior to ten ordinary oil lamps. It burns without odor, smoke or noise, is simple and economical, requires no pumping up and has been approved by the Underwriters for insurance.

The inventor, O. K. Johnson, 246 Craig St., W. Montreal, is offering to send one of these new lamps on ten days' free trial, or even give one to the first user in each locality who will help him introduce it. Write him today for particulars. Also ask him to explain his agency proposition.

SPANISH ROAD ACCIDENT.

Motor Car Fell Fifty Feet From Curved Into Sea.

Madrid, Nov. 7.—(By Mail.)—Dona Catalina, daughter of Senor Ramon de la Sota, a well-known shipowner and ironmaster of Bilbao, was killed on Sunday in a motor-car accident near that city.

The motor-car overturned when swinging round a curve and fell from a height of 50 feet into the sea, where it was caught on the rocks. Don Ramon's daughters were unable to get free and remained half in and half out of the water for nearly an hour, when a child passing along the road heard their cries and ran to the coastguard station.

ALL-TIME BAN ON W. H. KLEPPER Drastic Action by Baseball Arbitration Board—Giants vs. White Sox in Spring Tour.

London, Ky., Dec. 7.—Wm. H. Klepper, president of the Portland Club of the Pacific Coast League, yesterday was forever barred from further participation in the affairs of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues, in a resolution adopted by the board of arbitration of the organization.

Greenleaf afterward stated that he would rather have played the match than gain permanent possession of the coveted trophy for forfeit, and every one who is familiar with the circumstances realizes that Greenleaf did not attempt to dodge the issue in any way. He was willing to play with the set of balls that had been used in the New York State professional championship tournament—a set which was entirely strange to him, but which Church had previously played with. Church, however, declined, stating that he wanted a new set of balls, although there is nothing in the rules governing championship competition which demands that a new set be used.

Greenleaf the title a year ago at Philadelphia when he finished first in the tournament for the third time in succession. The rules had been changed to provide for challenge matches, and it was specified that a player would have to defend the medal for one year in order to gain permanent possession. The match with Church was the last in which Greenleaf would have to be successful. He had previously beaten Arthur Woods, Tom Hueston and Benjie Allen. Therefore, when Church forfeited, Greenleaf automatically gained the trophy for his own.

Greenleaf has earned a position in pocket billiards similar to that occupied by Willie Hoppe in billiards for the long stretch of years prior to Hoppe's defeat by Schaefer. Greenleaf is without peer. As a shot-maker none of the champions of the past has seen his superior and few of them have excelled him in safety play. A quiet, retiring young man who just recently turned his twenty-second birthday, Greenleaf is a credit to the game and has done much to help lift pocket billiards to its present popularity.

So far as he had drawn it up, her contract of classes was to include Saturday morning class for children, a morning class for women, a grade school girls' class on Monday and Wednesday afternoon, a High School girls' class on Tuesday afternoon and Friday evenings, a senior class on Wednesday evening and Friday afternoon, and a junior class to be arranged later.

Twice round the running track after classes was to include one of the rules and the girls last night were inclined to think the track was eight laps to the mile—not twenty.

There are some regrets that the swimming pool is not in use but a filtration plant is needed and a filtration plant is an expensive matter, so the swimming pool is not likely to be used this season.

Miss Kindred is well qualified to fill the position she occupies. She graduated from the Boston School of Physical Training and later she taught in the grade schools of Boston. She was the referee for the Worcester County Women's Education Club. She is at present staying at Arthur Hall.

NATIONALIZATION URGED OF RAILWAYS IN ERIN Acquisition of Roads by Tribunal of State Urged in Programme

Dublin, Nov. 11.—(By mail).—A commission appointed by the Irish Government to inquire into the work of Irish railways has just reported. It is recommended, however, that the nationalization of the railways by the state. It is recommended, however, that the hands of a state minister, but by a national railway board representing various interests, including labor.

The present market value of the entire railway stock in Ireland is estimated at between twenty-five and thirty million pounds sterling which, it is suggested, should be acquired by a tribunal that would issue bonds at a sinking fund in instalments over ten years. The project of a nationalization, however, has been broadly criticized; it is not popular.

The Irish railways are at present being followed with as much interest as in the past. Followers of the Giants will eagerly scan the reports of the training camp performances of Jim O'Connell, the $15,000 Coast sensation, and Jack Bentley, former star pitcher and baseman of the Baltimore Orioles, as these two players will win the New York uniform next year for the first time. The Yankees adherents will be particularly interested in the work of Babe Ruth, who will make a big effort to regain some of his lost prestige.

The next areas of interest to baseball fans may develop when the club owners of the two big leagues assemble in their annual meetings. It is not altogether improbable that certain important trades may be put through at these conclaves, and some lively arguments may ensue. Certain matters on which Ban Johnson and some of the club owners are not in accord will come up for decision. The report also expressed hope that the late Morgan K. Bilsland of Parkersburg, W. Va., was elected to succeed the late Morgan K. Bilsland of Parkersburg, W. Va., as president of the American League club owners.

Castle Defeat Fay. New London, Conn., Dec. 6.—Mike Castle, of Lawrence, Mass., won a referee's decision over Tommy Fay, of New York, in a twelve-round bout here tonight. The men are featherweights.

SKATING. West Side Rink Open. Hilton Belyea's skating rink in West St. John was opened last evening and a large number of people attended. There was a good sheet of ice and some local speed skaters revealed themselves of the opportunity for a workout. Hilton, himself, was out on a new pair of skates getting in condition for the international championship to be held here next February.

BASEBALL. Frazer Denies Report. New York, Dec. 7.—Henry H. Frazer, owner of the Boston Red Sox, yesterday denied emphatically that a Toronto syndicate had obtained an option on his American League club or franchise.

Writers Make Protest. New York, Dec. 6.—The New York chapter of the Baseball Writers' Association announced yesterday that it planned to file formal protest against the American League's action in credit-ing Ty Cobb with a disputed hit, thus giving the Detroit manager an average as more than 400 for the third time in his career. Formal action, it was said, would be taken by the association at its annual meeting next week when the official score of the game, played by which a hit was given Cobb in the official averages when he was hit by a ball thrown by Scott, Yankee short stop, and not as a safe blow for Cobb.

Plans For Next Season. (New York Times). With the opening of the next baseball season still more than four months distant, plans already are well under way for the inauguration of the new campaign. Only four of the sixteen major league teams are still undecided as to where their training quarters will be located next spring. The Yankees have decided to give New Orleans another trial, while the Robins have selected Clearwater, Fla., as the scene of their preparatory sessions. The Giants' management has not as yet announced whether the world's champions will return to San Antonio, their spring headquarters for the past few years, or whether they will pitch their camp in California. Both the Giants and the Yankees already have started to round upon array of young talent to be given a trial in the south and from present indications, the southern activities of New York's two championship teams

U. S. HOLDS KEY TO PEACE, SAYS BISHOP BLAKE

Calls War Sure Without Disarmament Based on Guarantees—These Worthless Without America.

In a striking address at the annual Thanksgiving service at the Metropolitan Memorial Episcopal church, Bishop Edward Blake of Paris, pictured the United States as holding the key to peace. He pleaded for aid to Europe and held the United States had a moral obligation to complete the task begun on the battlefield. War is inevitable without disarmament and disarmament cannot come without guarantees, while guarantees are ineffective without America, according to Bishop Blake. He spoke on the general European situation and with special reference to France where he has been for the last two years. He was introduced by Bishop William McDowell.

"Whether we like it or not, America must lend her aid to Europe if peace is to come to the world," said Bishop Blake. "We must face the fact that war is inevitable without disarmament, that disarmament is impossible without guarantees, that guarantees are ineffective without America."

Heard "Damn Europe" Here.
This would be an unwelcome gospel, the speaker said, to many Americans. He declared the first words which greeted him as he landed in New York in November were, "damn Europe! Let stew in its own juice. America has one enough."

"The profanity was not so surprising as the sentiment," added Bishop Blake. "I do not believe it represents the real mind and heart of the American people, once that mind and heart are freed with the truth."

"Economically nothing could be more absurd than to allow Europe to stew in its own juice. We must not forget that the United States is producing more than it can consume. It is said that our surplus of cotton alone last year amounted to more than 4,000,000 bales. There was a similar surplus of other raw materials, minerals, foodstuffs and manufactured articles. A nation that is producing 800,000,000,000

For Quality
MAPLE LEAF MATCHES
Call for them by name it is your safe guard worth of goods annually must have a market for its products outside its own borders if its mines and farms and factories are to continue their normal output.

Our Best Customer.
"Europe is America's largest customer. Under normal conditions she consumes more than 80 per cent. of our total exports. When conditions are abnormal in Europe and her markets are closed against us, as they are at the present time, we are confronted with overproduction, stagnation, depression, unemployment, misery, unrest and social danger in America. The peace and prosperity of America absolutely depend upon the restoration of Europe. We cannot permit Europe to stew in its own juice! Our welfare rises or falls with her. We must lend a hand in her rehabilitation or run the risk of our own undoing."

"But there are certain moral implications in the present situation that are much more profound than the economic ones. At the close of the war virtually every European treasury was empty. The nations were bankrupt. There was only one solvent nation, and that was the United States. We came out of the war with our resources unimpaired. Our national wealth was $20,000,000,000 greater than it was a decade ago. No nation ever possessed the riches that are ours today."

Wealth Carries Obligations.
"What is the meaning of the prosperity and the wealth that the good God has lavished upon America? Has it been given to us to use for ourselves and ourselves alone? No normally minded man can think this for a minute. Prosperity carries obligations as well as benefits."

He opposed insistence on repayment of the loans to the Allies, said the fundamental issues of the war were the same at the close as at the beginning and that the primary purpose of France at Versailles was protection, not reparation. He recalled that Clemenceau wanted a buffer state between France and Germany, but Great Britain opposed it. He asserted there was not a nation in Europe that would not disarm if it dared to, but said Europe alone and unaided lacked the moral faith and leadership to attempt it.

AUTONOMISTS ACTIVE.
Movement for Independence in Sardinia

Rome, Nov. 10.—(By mail)—The movement for autonomy in the island of Sardinia seems to be taking an alarming turn. The extreme wing of the Sardinian "Party of Action" is at the head of the movement, which is anti-Monarchical and anti-Fascist in character. Although no conflicts are reported, open acts of rebellion to the authorities have taken place, and the prefect of Cagliari has cabled to the Minister of the Interior informing him of the gravity of the situation. The government has given orders to check the movement.

Grave Ordered Closed Until Savants Arrive.

Cairo, Dec. 7.—Lord Carnarvon has decided to re-seal King Tut-en-Hamun's tomb for a period of some weeks, pending the arrival of Egyptologists from England, and possibly others from America. He is anxious to obtain American expert assistance in classifying the data already obtained and their co-operation at a later formal opening of the inner chambers, which are still undisturbed.

Arrangements are now being made to preserve the historic objects and facilitate their removal to the Cairo museum.

A special meeting of the executive of the Carpenters' and Joiners' Union, Local 919, was held last evening in the Trades and Labor Hall in Prince William street. The meeting was called for the purpose of completing the organization plans for the coming sports at the new arena, which are being held jointly by this union and the St. John Rowing Club. Manfred Day, president of the union, occupied the chair.

BOYS' CLOTHING AFLAME.
Set on Fire by Phosphorus From War Wreck.

London, Nov. 9.—(By Mail).—On Dover sea-front yesterday a twelve-year-old boy, named Carvill of Dover, was seen suddenly to be enveloped in flame. Four men rushed to his assistance and tore off his clothes, and he was taken to hospital. Two of the rescuers also had to be treated there for burned hands.

Several large tubes containing a mixture of phosphorus have been washed ashore at Dover, apparently from a war wreck. The tubes are thought to have been used in the war to make smoke screens by vessels of the Dover patrol which attacked Zebrugge. Carvill went on to the beach and put some of the mixture into his pocket, and as he walked on to the parade it set fire to his clothes. The tubes will be examined and handed over to the military or naval authorities.

An old-time card service was held last night under the auspices of the Epworth League of the Carmarthen street Methodist church. Miss Estella

Marie, the vice-president, was in the chair. The pastor, Rev. E. E. Styles, gave an interesting talk in which he related the history of some of the carols and told of the origin of various Christmas observances. The members of the League then sang several of the familiar and beautiful old carols.

WOMAN BEGGAR HAD $133.
Represented Her Life's Savings, Said Lawyer.

London, Nov. 8.—(By Mail).—Fanny Ziden, 40, an Austrian, and Polly Kuppelch, 28, a Pole, pleaded "guilty" at the Guildhall yesterday to begging in Bishopsgate. When Ziden was arrested £133 was found in her possession, including eleven sovereigns. Mr. Hinde, for the defence, said this money represented her savings, which she always carried about with her. She was of a miserly disposition, and lived on a little cocoa, made with water, and dry bread. The other woman had a sick husband, and during the summer had worked hard to support him and their child. Alderman Sir Alfred Bower fined Ziden £5, and discharged Kudenholt.
