

INSPECTOR DEW'S INQUEST
SHEET AT CRIPPEN INQUEST

Evidence Which Has Already Been Accumulated Against Crippen—London Newspaper's Report of Testimony Given by Witness at Inquest on July 18.

The London Standard publishes the following report of the inquest in the Crippen case, held in London on July 18th.

The inquest was opened at the Islington Coroner's Court yesterday on the remains which were found on July 13 in the cellar at 39 Hilldrop Crescent, and are believed to be those of Mrs. Crippen, otherwise known as Belle Elmore. For some time prior to the opening the little court, which stands in the churchyard of St. Mary Magdalene, Hollesway road, was surrounded by a large crowd. The mortuary adjoining the court, in which the remains have lain in a coffin since Thursday afternoon, was also an object of much curiosity.

Here Dr. Pepper, the famous Home Office analyst, had conducted his careful examinations of the remains in the hope of ascertaining the cause of death.

Mrs. Neave, mother of the missing typist, was also in attendance, and several other witnesses were present, including the Music Hall Ladies' Guild, of which Mrs. Crippen was honorary treasurer. These included Miss Melinda May (hon. secretary), and three vice-presidents of the guild—Mrs. E. Smythson, Mrs. Martinetti, Mrs. E. Straton—Mr. Paul Martinetti, and Miss Lil Hawthorne.

In opening the case the coroner said that they had not a great deal of evidence to place before the jury, but so far as the husband had not been arrested. The inquest would probably have to be adjourned in order to ascertain if there was any trace of poisoning.

The first witness called was Mr. John Edward Nash, theatrical manager of Parkmansons, Vauxhall Park, who said that he and his wife, Miss Lil Hawthorne, were great friends of Belle Elmore. Dr. Crippen, a dentist with American qualifications of some kind.

The coroner.—When did you see her last?—They had dinner at our house on January 18. That was the last time I saw her alive.

Did they seem all right?—Yes. They had had a meeting at the Music Hall Ladies' Guild that afternoon, and adjourned to our house to have just a little private dinner, and Mr. Crippen accompanied his wife.

man flesh. We had to cease our labors for a time on account of the horrible smell. On digging further we came across another portion, but we went further I sent for the divisional sergeant, Dr. Marshall, and let him see them. I procured other officers from the nearest police station, Kentish Town, and caused the hole to be dug right under this place. We found a large quantity of human flesh.

The witness went on to say that no head was found and no hands or feet. There was a quantity of clothing mixed with the mould and clay. He drew the deduction that the idea was to destroy the whole of the identity of the person murdered. He continued: "I found also a portion of female underwear consisting of a hard, cement-like material. There was a piece of coarse string, 15 inches long, with attached to it, a piece of cement another piece eleven inches long, and small pieces of coarse paper with bloodstains on it, and a small piece of string about three inches long. The clothing found consisted of a portion of a lady's woollen underwear, and there was a portion of what would describe as woollen combinations and a portion of what I think must be a man's shirt or pyjama jacket, and on the jacket is a name on a tab inside of 'Jones Bros. Holloway' and there is a further explanation in the house, and in a box upstairs in the bedroom I discovered a suit of pyjamas somewhat similar to that found with the body and an old pair of trousers, which I could not find the jacket of the odd pair. The jacket we found amongst the remains might be that belonging to the pair of trousers.

"I told him who I was, and said that certain information had reached us as to the whereabouts of the man concerning whom I had been making inquiries, and would like him to give me some explanation. He said 'I suppose I had better tell the truth.' I suggested to him that would perhaps be the better course. He then made a long statement to me, which I reduced to writing, but I do not propose to put it in at present. The gist of it was that it was all lies he had told me about his wife being dead, and that, so far as he knew, she was not dead; that, on the first—I think—of February, he had given a little party to some friends, including Mrs. Paul Martinetti, through the Mrs. Paul Martinetti, and during the visit she after the friends had left, created a bother, and found fault with him and abused him, and she then said that she had had quite enough of it, and had decided to leave him and go away, and would never see him again. He also said she told him she knew someone who was quite willing and wanted her to go with him. He said she had repeatedly made that statement, and he took no notice of it. He thought the man she referred to was in Chicago, and he assumed she had gone to him there. I questioned him about her clothes and jewelry, and he said she had taken a basket, and he said she did not want anything he had bought her. I asked him about the clothes, and he said she had not taken much, so far as he knew, but he knew she had taken a basket. I also took a statement from Miss LeNeve, which I do not propose to produce at all present. I was with Crippen almost all day, and he was still not satisfied, and suggested that he would have to make every effort to find his wife, and probably if I visited the house at Hilldrop Crescent I might assist him in searching for papers. Of course, my object was to get into the house.

Police Surgeon's Evidence.
Dr. Thomas Marshall, divisional police surgeon, who was next called, said he went to the house on Wednesday evening and saw the human remains. They were without bones. "Are you prepared to state whether the remains are those of a male or female?"—Only on the grounds that we have heard. I cannot swear on any anatomical grounds. There is some element of doubt. The investigation is proceeding, and Dr. Pepper may be able to make a more positive statement. The perpetrator of the act had endeavored to obliterate not only all evidence of identity, but also all traces of sex.

Inspector Dew added that the police would be glad of any assistance. The following are the members of the committees which are planning the affair: Band Committee—C. Nevins, Wm. Wallace, R. J. Wilkins, with representatives from each of the performing bands. Press Committee—Mayor Frink, E. B. Stockford, G. A. Ross, C. Nevins, R. J. Armstrong, and representatives from each of the city papers.

Committee for preparing Square, such as procuring lights, benches, etc.: Mayor Frink, Ald. McGoldrick, chairman of Board of Public Works, and Ald. Vanwart, chairman of Safety Board. General Committee:—Honorary chairman, Mayor Frink; members, Ald. McGoldrick, Ald. Vanwart, R. J. Wilkins, Postmaster Sears, James Hunter, T. Wilkins, Wm. Allison, R. B. Woodrow, E. Ramsay, J. Alexander, C. Nevins, D. Belyea, Wm. Haslem, J. A. Brooks, W. McClellan, R. J. Armstrong, R. Stewart, C. McAuloo, G. E. Day, E. N. Stockford, Wm. Crawford.

ALL MANUFACTURERS
ASKED TO BE PRESENT
Meeting Will be Held in Board of Trade Rooms This Afternoon to Gather Data for Technical Commission.

The following self explanatory letter is being sent out by the secretary of the board of trade to local manufacturers: "One of your greatest difficulties today as a manufacturer in St. John, is that you cannot get your skilled labor force to remain here. The board of trade has recognized this and has for some time been advocating the establishment of industrial training schools throughout Canada, so that mechanics and others might be more skillful in their work. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association has also interested themselves in this, and two years ago urged the appointment by the Federal Government of a royal commission to investigate the requirements of the manufacturer in Canada in the connection of need for such schools, and has appointed a royal commission on industrial training and technical education. The commission meets in St. John, and will discuss the requirements of local manufacturers in this respect. Industrial training schools will undoubtedly be established at different places throughout the Dominion, and it will depend largely upon the interest in the matter displayed by our manufacturers whether we get one here or not.

A meeting of the manufacturers has been called for a o'clock on Wednesday, the 3rd, of August, to try and find out what the St. John manufacturer wants in the way of skilled labor, so that the matter may be placed intelligently before the members of the commission when they meet here. It is a matter of direct importance to you and one which will have an important bearing on the future of St. John as a manufacturing city. Will you, therefore, be one to attend the meeting on Wednesday?
Yours respectfully,
W. E. ANDERSON,
Secretary

FIVE BANDS READY FOR MONDAY'S CONCERT
Plans for Big Musical Evening for Campbellton Fire Sufferers Well Under Way—Committees in Charge.

The Polymorphians were busy all yesterday getting things ready to hold their monster band concert and musical evening in King Square next Monday night, a big success. At last evening's committee meetings in the Victoria Bowling Academy, good reports of progress were given by all the committees.

The one remaining band which had not been approached before the last meeting, professed their services last evening so that there will be five bands in the Square at the same time, and seating facilities for about 3,000. Everybody approached by members of the club has declared himself in favor of the scheme. It has been felt all along that the poor men have not had a chance to contribute their mite to help swell the large amounts being sent in aid of the Campbellton fire sufferers, and the club's idea of "passing round the hat" through the big crowd is being widely commended. There is no desire, however, to prevent the rich man or even the poor man, from throwing his five, ten or twenty-five dollars bill in the plate besides his loose change.

The following are the members of the committees which are planning the affair: Band Committee—C. Nevins, Wm. Wallace, R. J. Wilkins, with representatives from each of the performing bands. TOURIST TRAVEL IS HEAVIER THAN USUAL Traffic this Year to Date Has Been Large, and Month of August is Expected to Make Record. The number of tourists passing through St. John so far this summer has exceeded that of any corresponding period in previous years, and the indications are that the rush of visitors during the present month will be phenomenal. A good many tourists are going up the river, but the seaside resorts are more popular, attracting the large percentage of the birds of passage from the land of the spread eagle.

Rev. W. A. Sparks, of St. Mark's church, Leominster, Mass., has been corresponding with the secretary of the Tourist Association with a view of securing land to build summer cottages for a group of his friends, but it is not expected that the land will be purchased this summer.

STANLEY D. CARR MAY BE DROWNED IN WEST

The police here believe that the man named Carr from St. John, who, according to a despatch from Shellwood, Sas., was drowned in the North Saskatchewan river, may be Stanley D. Carr, who last year kept a fruit and confectionary store on Brussels street and who left here for Saskatchewan last fall. Carr came to St. John about three years ago from Salsbury. He was said to have a brother living in St. Martins. Last September he was arrested by Deputy Chief Jenkins and Detective Killen on a warrant sworn out by A. H. Chipman, for obtaining money under false pretences. In some manner Carr had obtained the sum of $80. The case was withdrawn from the police court by Mr. Chipman, who stated that he did not believe that Carr had intentionally intended to defraud. He was given his liberty, but soon discontinued his business and shortly afterwards left for the west. Just received Stahl's jelly gumdrops (Boston make) at White's, King Street.

MYSTERY OF ST. JOHN MAN'S DEATH SOLVED AFTER TWO YEARS OF DEEP ANXIETY

William J. Parks, South African Veteran, Killed in Mining Accident in New Mexico--Father in North End Advised Yesterday By Standard of Son's Fate.

After two weary years of long and patient waiting for the parents for the letter that never came, and after the Dominion Government had failed in their efforts to locate him, word reached the city recently which explains the mystery of the strange disappearance of William J. Parks, a son of Archibald Parks, of this city and almost convincingly proves that the young man met a tragic and sudden death two years ago in a mining disaster in far away New Mexico. Young Parks who was of an adventurous spirit, was one of the first who volunteered for active-service in South Africa, at the outbreak of the Boer War, although only 19 years of age at the time, and left with the first contingent of Canadians for the scene of hostilities. At the conclusion of the war he served for some time with the Mounted Police.

Returning home he answered the lure and call of the west and five years ago located in Winnipeg. He entered the employ of the C. P. R. and studied electrical engineering at which he soon became an adept. Three years ago he severed his connection with the C. P. R. and finally drifted down to Texas where he engaged in mining. His parents received letters from him regularly. The last letter received was two years ago last September. At that time he was in Dill, New Mexico, where he had entered the employ of a new company, and was engaged in wiring a big mine. He intended going to St. Louis, Mo., when the job was completed, and then going to pay a visit to his home.

COUNCIL WILL HAVE CHANCE TO PROBE IT

Sad Case of Young Man Brought from Westmorland County to Enter the Provincial Hospital.

Given to bursts of jollity and merriment when leaving his home at Portage, Westmorland county, the mood of Michael Collins, a mental wreck, rapidly changed after boarding the C.P.R. train for St. John yesterday afternoon. Bounding off the train at the Union depot he demonstrated the physical power of the demoniac. Constable Dole, who was in charge, hurried the strenuous one in the direction of a cab, but with his arms free and swinging, he possessed a circus acrobat to a standstill. Grasping the constable by the throat and yelling "war and murder," he was nearly successful in biting the exponent of the law. A firm grip of the hair of the young man by the burly constable averted the tragedy. When the courage of the depot police returned, a cab was found, the feet and hands of the victim were bound and the party was ready for a trip to the provincial hospital for nervous diseases. A victim of what? Of the cigarette habit, for young Collins was the cigarette fiend of the parish of Betsford and nicotine was successful in robbing him of his mind.

However, in return for the goods he handed the clerk a cheque for a hundred dollars. The paper was payable to cash and was certified. The merchant gave the American change of about $75. The cheque was deposited in a local bank and in due course turned up in New York. There it was dishonored as a forgery and was returned to St. John.
