NANKING IS SHAMBLES OF MANCHU DOUBTERS

Scene of Fire, Rapine and Desolation Unequaled in Modern History-- People Driven From City.

British Cruisers Ordered to China -- Order Prevails at Shanghai -- Will Elect Provincial Government Soon.

Nanking, Nov. 10.—Historic Nanking this evening is the shambles of the Manchus. The sun set upon a scene of fire, rapine, desolation and butchery unequalled in modern history. Tonight 12,000 Manchus and imperial old style soldiers hold Purple Hill, where they are entrenched, while from beneath their stronghold they are driving before them herds of Chinese out of the city.

Shanghai, Nov. 10.—All was quiet here today and complete order prevailed. Wu Ting Fang told the correspondent that he was prepared to stand as the representative of the republican provinces in all matters having relation to the foreign powers. He said he was not a provincial minister but Minister of Foreign Affairs.

Not more than 700 troops are operating around Hankow the remainder being scattered along the rail-way. Imperialists assert that the Peiping authorities have ordered that there should be no aggressions pending a settlement of the revolt. It is undoubtedly true that Gen. Li Yuan-Hong, the revolutionary leader has received telegrams from Peking promising him a full pardon and granting all the demands of the revolutionaries.

Local Officers to Attend Conference
Hope to Improve and Perhaps Reorganize Present System -- Ladies Invited to Attend Opening of House.

The officers from this city that are invited to attend the military conference that will be held in Ottawa by Col. Sam Hughes, the Minister of Militia, with a view to improve and possibly to reorganize the militia of Canada, are: Col. Edwards, commanding 16th Infantry Brigade; Col. J. B. Baxter, commanding the 3rd Regt. Canadian Artillery; Dr. Murray MacLaren, P.M.O., M.B., No. 8; Col. McKeen of Chatham, commanding the 14th Infantry Brigade; Col. McLean will be present as a member of parliament and Major P. P. Day of the 28th

BONAR LAW MAY BE NEXT LEADER OF BRITISH

Practically Assured That New Brunswick Will Become Leader of British Opposition.

Only Been in Parliament Since 1900-- Will Probably be Unanimously Elected.

Austen Chamberlain and Walter Hume Long Understood to Approve of His Selection--Bitter Rivalry Will Thus be Avoided.

London, Nov. 10.—In the lobby of the House of Commons this afternoon it was regarded as being practically assured that Andrew Bonar Law would be unanimously elected as the leader of the British opposition in the House of Commons in succession to Arthur J. Balfour, whose resignation was announced Nov. 8. The campaign in the respective camps of Austen Chamberlain and Walter Hume Long developed such bitterness of feeling that soon it was evident that the selection of one of them at the expense of the other would leave behind too many raw places and both are understood to have declared their readiness to serve under the Law banner.

Mr. Law, who comes from New Brunswick only entered parliament in 1900. He vacated a safe seat in the Dutch division of Camberwell in the last general election to fight in North-west Manchester on the tariff reform platform, but failed of election and March last found a safe seat in the West division of Lancashire, South-west.

MARR'S - 1, 3 AND 5 CHARLOTTE STREET

CHARGED WITH THEFT OF SAILOR'S WATCH

A few days ago Hans Lager and Olf Lund two young Norwegian sailors arrived in the city on the schooner Helen Whittaker and Thursday night they took a whirl about Sheffield street with a result that about 11 o'clock they were arrested for being intoxicated and yesterday morning were fined eight dollars each. After the session in the police court Olf Lund complained to Sgt. Caples that while on Sheffield street, he had visited a house kept there by a colored man named Robert Tucker. He was in company with two white women, Kate Barrigan and Mary Hanson, and that it was a bawdy house. When he left the house he discovered that he had been robbed of his gold watch and chain valued at $20, and when he tried to gain admittance again he was unable to do so as the inmates would not unlock the door.

Yesterday morning after he told his story to Sgt. Caples, he accompanied the sergeant with Policemen Kane, Marshall, and Bill Perry, and identified the Tucker house, where he claimed to have been robbed, also the two women and the man as being inmates of the house at the time.

The women denied having seen the sailor's watch but he claimed to have had it Thursday night, while in company with Mary Hanson and a search of his room was made with the result that the watch and chain were found behind the bed room door and were identified by the sailor.

Tucker was placed under arrest, charged with keeping a bawdy house, while the two women were charged with being inmates, while the Hanson woman was also charged with having robbed Lund of his watch. Lund gave evidence of having been a visitor to the Tucker house, of having his watch when he entered the room with the Hanson woman and of missing the time-piece when he left the building.

Policeman Marshall testified of making a raid with the other officers on the Tucker house and of finding the watch and chain behind the door of the Hanson woman's bedroom.

Sgt. Caples gave evidence of Lund having complained to him of having been robbed and of identifying the Tucker house and the woman inmates, also the watch when it was found.

When the watch was found the woman said that Lund must have dropped it out of his pocket and Lund claimed that it must have been stolen as it had been fastened into his vest pocket.

The case was then adjourned until Monday afternoon next at two o'clock and the prisoners were remanded to jail.

NEW STEAMER FOR DONALDSON LINE

Some particulars have been received by The Robert Reford Co. Ltd. of the new twin screw steamer Letitia which is now under construction for the Donaldson Line at Greenock, in the yards of Messrs. Scott's Shipbuilding and Engineering Co. Ltd.

The Letitia is expected to make her maiden trip from Glasgow to St. John, N. B., leaving the former port on the 23rd of March, and sailing from St. John on April 11th. Her first trip to Glasgow for Montreal will be May 4th, 1912, and she will leave Montreal on her return trip on May 13th.

She is to be of about 10,000 tons and her engines will develop about 6,000 horsepower. She is being especially built for carriage of mail and cabin passengers only, called second, and together with the Athena, Cassandra and Saturnia will provide a weekly service between Canada and Glasgow.

The Letitia will have cabin accommodation on the bridge, shelter and main decks for about 310 passengers, and all the accommodation will be located amidships, in the very best part of the steamer. She will have spacious decks for promenading, music room, dining room, ladies' rooms, and many attractive features for the comfort and convenience of passengers.

She will be lighted throughout with electric light will be heated by steam, and will have electric toilets and running water in the rooms.

The Letitia in common with the other vessels of the line will be fitted with the Marconi system of wireless telegraphy, and also have large bilge keels to insure steadiness on the sea.

The third class accommodation will be arranged for 1100 passengers, all of whom will be accommodated in two and four berth rooms, thus insuring to families and individuals that privacy which is so much desired.

There will be large and well fitted recreation rooms, equipped during the construction of the ship to the requirements of the culinary department so that the Donaldson Line may be able to maintain its well earned reputation for catering.

The Letitia will also be provided with ample cargo carrying capacity, and will have powerful machinery for the quick hauling of same, and will also have three large refrigerating chambers for the carriage of perishables, and there will be a special cold chamber for the storage of provisions for the passengers and crew.

DECIDE TO ASK CHURCHES TO ASSIST IN WORK

St. John Society for Prevention of Tuberculosis Will Ask for Special Sermons and Collections - Officers Elected - Important Addresses Delivered.

At the annual meeting of the St. John Society for the Prevention of Tuberculosis held yesterday afternoon it was decided to ask the city churches to devote one Sunday in the year to the cause, arranging for a special sermon on the white plague, and requesting a special offering for the work of the society.

Some discussion took place on the question of utilizing for current needs the sum of $2,750, which the society is holding for the purpose of assisting the establishment of a home for advanced cases, but no action was taken. A feature of the proceedings was a brief address by Dr. Townsend, superintendent of the Jordan Memorial Sanatorium, on anti-tubercular work.

The financial report showed a good balance on hand. Judge McKeown, president of the society, occupied the chair and there was a large attendance of members.

Secretary's Report. Miss Helen Sydney Smith, the secretary, submitted the report of the past year. It showed that the cost of fitting up the dispensary was $4000, and that the society had at this institution during the year was 321 adults, and 219 children. The nurse paid an average of 54 visits in 14000, and that the society had 28 collectors on Tag day and intended to find a home for advanced cases.

The executive body to receive 1,000 members, paying $1 a year, but the society had not yet received more than 128, paying in $252. From other sources $409.52 was received. The executive reported that the $2,750 collected on Tag day and intended to find a home for advanced cases was still in the bank and expressed the opinion that the erection of such a home was too big an undertaking for the society and should be left to the municipal council, which showed great interest in something in this direction next year.

Medical Inspection. They also reported that they had taken up the matter of medical inspection of school children with the school trustees, and that, if adopted, would be a great step towards the prevention of disease.

Before calling for action on the report the president made some comments thereon. He spoke appreciatively of the action of the local government in making arrangements for the maintenance of the Jordan Memorial Sanatorium, and also of the act adopted at the last session of the legislature, providing that in event of municipalities establishing homes for consumptive patients the province would pay towards their maintenance 20 cents a day for each patient in the home for periods not exceeding 100 days. The action of the government in these respects would, he declared, greatly assist the work of stamping out the disease.

Referring to the decision of the society to set aside the sum collected on Tag Day to provide for the establishment of a home for advanced cases, he said members of the executive were of the opinion that it should be employed in connection with the current work of the society, which he felt had not been as extensive as it might have been during the past year, owing to the lack of funds. He thought the municipality rather than the society should be the burden of establishing a home for incurable cases.

Senator Ellis. Senator Ellis, who was with this view. He thought the municipality would be prepared to erect a home, and that if the society expended money secured on Tag Day it would be able to obtain better results than it had done in the past, and could again appeal to the province for sympathy of the citizens and receive more support than ever.

The treasurer's report was then read. It showed the society had expended $1,750 and had a balance on hand of $500.89. The receipts were as follows: balance on hand last year $1,051.42; collections, $232; Daughters of Empire, $150; returned by Miss Rogers, $18.24; sale of stamps, $6.75; subscriptions, $27.42; St. Stephen's church, $20; Ladies concert, $209.32. Total, $1,751.15.

A large part of the expenditure was incurred in fitting up the new dispensary. Another report was submitted showing that an emergency fund, contributed by various societies and charitable disposed persons, of about $150 had been expended in looking after emergency cases.

Appearings of the Week

Rumors of dances are already afloat and the season promises to be an unusually gay one for the younger set. Dancing seems to be the ruling favorite as far as entertaining the young folk is concerned and where the hostesses own houses are not spacious enough to permit this the Golf Club is indeed a delightful spot for such occasions. It was there that the first dance of the season was given on Tuesday evening.

The evening was admirably arranged by several members of the "Millionaires Club." The chaperones for the occasion were Mrs. Harold Schofield, Dr. and Mrs. Sanction, and Mr. and Mrs. Alex. Fowler. Dainty programmes were provided for fourteen dances and two supper retreats. The dining table was very pretty with American beauty roses for floral decoration. The dance was in every way a distinct success and all the more enjoyable after such a lengthy lull from such affairs. Among the guests were Mrs. Harold C. Schofield, wearing a gown of pale blue satin with touches of lace and coral on the bodice; White satin, bugle trimming. Miss Margaret McAvily—Pale pink tulle, violets. Mrs. W. Henry Harrison—Wearing white nylon over white satin. Mrs. Alex. Fowler—Pale pink satin, violet in chiffon the same shade with touches of black. Miss May Harrison in charming frock of tan satin with fish net trim in same shade. Miss Elise McLean—Pink satin gown, roses. Miss Jean Trueman—Maize colored gown over white tulle. Miss Kathleen Trueman—White gown over white tulle. Miss Kathleen Trueman—White gown over white tulle. Miss Kathleen Trueman—White gown over white tulle.

Among the debutantes this season is Miss Marion Magee, daughter of Dr. J. M. and Mrs. Magee, Wellington Row.

Mr. R. H. Bruce has resigned his position in the C. P. R. and will engage in real estate business with Mr. Beverly Armstrong.

Ottawa is usually gay this season—there has been the greatest run in history for tickets to the opening of Parliament. The double attraction of a Royal Duke as Governor and a new Parliament has awakened all over Canada a desire to see Parliament open.

The wives and daughters of senators and members are busy with dancing and dancing masters. It is expected that the Duke's drawing room next Saturday night will be the most brilliant Ottawa has ever seen. The affair will be most admirably presented by Mrs. J. Douglas Hazen and her charming daughters.

Of the most delightful teas this season was that on Wednesday afternoon, when Mrs. Herbert Schofield was hostess at the Golf Club. Mrs. Schofield, who was becomingly dressed in black and white nylon over rose satin, ornaments, pearls, was assisted in receiving by her sister, Miss Hazel, who wore a lovely creation of black nylon over black satin with touches of lace. The rooms and dining room were artistically decorated with scarlet geraniums. Tables were arranged in two of the rooms, one being presided over by Mrs. F. E. Arthur Wright, Misses Peters, Mrs. Perry, Mrs. W. O. Raymond, Mrs. Wm. Harrison, Mrs. John McLean, Mrs. Simeon Jones, Mrs. Alfred Morrison, Miss Eleanor Robinson, Mrs. Clinch, Mrs. George Heagan, Mrs. C. W. Allen, Mrs. J. M. Magee, Mrs. Neales, Mrs. Chas. ST. JOHN, N. B., SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 11, 1911.

PRESIDENT TAFT'S "BAIT."

An interesting sidelight on the result of President Taft's wily move in the Reciprocity Agreement to admit pulp and paper free from unrestricted lands in Canada as an inducement to Canadians to remove the restrictions from Crown lands, is to be found in the action of United States pulp and paper importers who are about to file a suit against the Government to recover tariff duties they have paid on importations from Europe since July last, the date this clause of the pact came in force. Considerable quantities of pulp are brought into the United States from Norway and Sweden, and various grades of paper are brought in from many other parts of Europe. Under the "most favored nation" clause of all treaties of commerce and amity the importers claim that they are entitled to the benefits and privileges of the Reciprocity statute. In the event of the importers winning their case it may mean a loss of some millions to the United States treasury.

This scheme of the President's has also proved anything but popular with the pulp and paper manufacturers, and during his recent "swing round the circle," he was held up on more than one occasion, confronted with some pointed questions and asked for enlightenment. This occurred, for example, in Appleton, Wisconsin, where one of the paper manufacturers of the Fox River Valley, anticipating Mr. Taft's arrival, wrote and requested him to give an explanation of the free pulp and paper clause in his address. When we recall the statements made during the recent campaign by practically every speaker and newspaper in Canada opposed to Reciprocity, to the effect that free pulp and paper from unrestricted lands was only a trap, Mr. Taft's reply is particularly illuminating.

This portion of his speech, delivered during the half hour his train waited at Appleton, is reported in the Appleton Crescent as follows: "Now, my friends, I have been asked by a gentleman who wrote to me to explain my course in regard to the Canadian Reciprocity bill, and I will give a few minutes in answering this request."

"I am asked why I did not look better to the interest of the paper industry. I thought I had. My investigation through the experts of the state department and the preliminary and full reports of the tariff board convinced me that the difference in the cost of paper production in the United States and in Canada is the cost of the raw material."

"We were anxious to save our resources. Free trade would have put the industries of the two countries on the same level. We would have secured access to raw material in Canada and so better fight the battle of industry. But Canada in refusing the Reciprocity Agreement, means that she shall keep all raw materials, and when ours are exhausted, would transfer the industry into her own border."

"I was asked to say something about free paper, and its effect upon the industry in our country. Paper made from wood on certain lands on which there is no restriction is admitted free, but very little of it is accessible. Of all available land very little yields wood for free paper, most of it produces paper bearing the highest duty."

"This provision has been in force since July 22, and since then the price of paper has advanced, instead of going down, which does not indicate disaster to the industry. THE OBJECT WAS TO TEMPT CANADA TO GIVE UP HER RESTRICTIONS. IT WAS A BAIT."

"That is my explanation. As to the effect of that particular clause concerning the paper trade with the other countries, I am awaiting its consideration in the state department. I have tried to do justice to the people and don't propose to do an injustice. That is all I can say. I have given my answer as far as possible. I cannot like a judge give my answer now but must wait until I get to Washington to render my decision."

The President's comment is significant. It says: "The President's answer to the questions put to him by the paper manufacturers was anything but satisfactory to the manufacturers, and showed that it was without investigation and preparation, but was an evasive answer and let him out of a most embarrassing position."

There is a strong disposition on this side of the border to agree with Mr. Taft. Not to multiply instances will be sufficient to quote the accurate way in which Hon. Clifford Sifton sized up the situation during his speech in House of Commons condemning Reciprocity. Discussing this clause, which Mr. Taft now candidly refers to as "a bait," he said:

"Take the question of pulp and paper. The Province of Ontario and the Province of Quebec have decided, in their wisdom, that it is a good and patriotic policy for them to insist upon their pulp being manufactured at home. I am aware that some gentlemen who are of estimable character and good information have said that it is not a wise policy, but I do not believe there are many people in Canada who would agree with them. I believe that there is no policy, no item of policy which has been followed by any of the governments of Canada of late years which has met with more universal approval than the action of the Government of Ontario, and later of the Government of Quebec, in deciding upon the conservation of their resources by securing the largest possible revenue and benefit from the various resources which they possess. Well, that was the position."

"It is known of all men that the United States people would like to get cheaper paper made from Canadian pulpwood. Now, if there was anything that was perfectly clear in connection with the paper and pulp question it was that all the Dominion of Canada had to do was to sit down and wait, and leave the subject severely alone. That obviously was all that ought to have been done. We have not done that. We find this clause introduced into the treaty. What does it say?"

"If it means what our neighbors intended it to mean, it means this, that THERE IS A BONUS PUT UPON THE ABRIGATION OF THE REGULATIONS WHICH PROHIBIT THE PROVINCE OF QUEBEC AND THE PROVINCE OF ONTARIO HAVE MADE. It does not mean that the regulations are abrogated, because this Parliament has no power to abrogate them; but it means that we put a bonus upon their abrogation, and that is the worst possible thing that we can do."

So whether we call it "a bonus" with Mr. Sifton or join with President Taft in agreeing it was "a bait," we see very clearly that the clause was a trick to ensnare the Canadian people—a trick which failed. The manufacture into finished products of our own raw materials is a policy for which we have unmistakably declared.

GUTTER JOURNALISM.

It is an old proverb that "Truth travels afoot while lies travel on wings." The Halifax Chronicle having perpetrated a hoax, the paper, made out of whole cloth, of the wine consumption at the Borden banquet, the fable is industriously following the rounds of every Grit paper in Canada. The Telegraph has amplified and enriched the original account. The Chronicle's story contradicts itself and carries the refutation of any resemblance to reliability.

The demonstration was a magnificent testimonial to the leader who had so splendidly vindicated the National aspirations of our people. The only way the discredited party back at Halifax could counter such a great and spontaneous demonstration was a parade of gutter sweepings. The tickets were high, $5.00 each, because the rink, merely a closed in shed, had to be fitted and decorated as a banquet hall. It took over one hundred men as carpenters, decorators, cooks, waiters and attendants to perform the work. The breakage and waste connected with the tables of such an unprecedented large function was a considerable item. When these items were paid for, as well as the large stock of eatables required by the menu for seven hundred and fifty guests, how much was left for wines? The Chronicle admits the supply provided was limited, because it alleges the caterer had a supply of his own there to order by the guests. Why should they order and pay for it if it was flowing in oceans as the Chronicle alleges?

The Chronicle makes what it alleges is a "correct estimate of the quantity and cost of the liquid refreshments" at $2,800. The tickets sold for $3,750.00, leaving less than $1,000 to pay for the banquet and all the other expenditures. Did the banquet only cost that sum, or if more did some of the Halifax Conservatives subscribe the extra $2,800 for wines to produce an "orgie," and thus defeat the very purposes of the demonstration? Which horn of the dilemma does the Chronicle take?

Either supposition is idiotic and shows to what lengths violent and ill-tempered partisanship will descend in a vain attempt to discredit the opposite side. When a journal drops below the code of morals that governs the conduct of any gentleman, it discredits itself and injures the craft. What gentleman would condescend to exercise espionage over his neighbor's larder or kitchen, or act as a detective on his dinner table?

When the last banquet was given to Sir Wilfrid Laurier in Halifax, all the Conservative papers discuss the wine bill or the quantity imbibed by each guest? They had too much decency.

The frenzy of the Chronicle for prohibition is a sudden and new found virtue. It has for years bitterly opposed all prohibitory legislation. It is the chosen ally and accomplice of the bar-room and saloon and the sincerity of its attack on the Borden banquet may be estimated when it is remembered that when leaders of its own party have made public exhibitions of themselves, it has remained silent as the grave.

A reliable correspondent who was present says he did not see one single person who exhibited marks of inebriety. He states he was at the hotels during the two days and saw only one man the worse of liquor, and his weakness was confined to talking foolishly, from which he concludes that he was not a Conservative but a Grit heeler.

The memory of Sir John Thompson is honored and revered in Canada far beyond the bounds or limits of the party which he successfully led. Why, then, cannot his name be allowed to rest? Is the gruesome poke pole a necessary decoration to the Chronicle's exhibit of Tory horrors?

A MATTER OF OPINION.

Mr. Alfred E. Lee, vice-president of the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange, has made an important statement about the age of eggs, which leads the Calgary Herald to remark that he had better have said something about the age of "leopards, of whom the great dramatist of the Anglo-Saxon tongue said: "Age could not wither nor custom stale her infinite variety." The age of an egg is more debatable than the age of a society actress. And yet notwithstanding these initial difficulties Mr. Lee testified before a Massachusetts commission investigating the sale of cold storage products that a fresh egg put in cold storage in first class condition in April would, if taken out in August, be a better egg than one just collected from the hen coop.

If this be true, and who can doubt it, the grievous misunderstandings of the storage situation might all have been cleared away by a little judicious advertising. The public has clamored for fresh eggs on the supposition that they are superior in quality. But if the storage egg really outclasses the fresh one there is no reason why consumers should not snap it up with avidity and a few educational labels such as "Stored eggs much more desirable than fresh ones" would have guided a dubious public to a sounder appreciation of what's what in eggs, and have greatly enhanced the demand for the frozen product.

Mr. Lee does not say if the improvement recorded from April to August would continue from August to January, although those who offer a fair trial acknowledged a superiority in an egg stored four months might easily be led to put an even higher estimate on one stored for nine months. In that case a cold storage label would become a badge of honor, and egg dealers under this new dispensation might be tempted to palm off the newly-laid for the aged and truly.

If cold storage men had only the courage of the convictions expressed by Mr. Lee what a happy breakfast table we should have. The connoisseurs would thus be able to obtain the seasoned sojourners of the storage warehouse, and the plain man would be able to get the fresh egg at a reduced cost.

The unexpected seems likely to happen in the situation which has arisen following the resignation of Mr. Balfour. Mr. A. Bonar Law is now prominently mentioned as the probable successor to the leadership of the Unionist party in the House of Commons. Mr. Law is one of New Brunswick's most distinguished sons and the honor, should it fall to him, will be a subject for general congratulation not only in this Province but throughout Canada. He is one of the ablest of the younger members on the Conservative side in Parliament and as a speaker and debater early made his mark in the House. The outcome of the meeting to be held on Monday will be awaited by the people of this Province with intense interest.

REGULATIONS OF THE LOCAL BOARD OF HEALTH FOR THE DISTRICT OF THE CITY AND COUNTY OF SAINT JOHN.

By-Laws Relating to Slaughter Houses and to the Feeding of Animals Destined to be Slaughtered for Human Consumption Within the County of the City and County of Saint John:

1. Every occupier of a slaughter-house within the County of the City and County of Saint John shall cause every part of the internal surface of the walls and every part of the floor or pavement of such slaughter-house to be kept at all times in good order and repair, so as to prevent the absorption therein of any blood or liquid refuse or filth which may be spilled or splashed thereon, or any offensive or noxious matter which may be deposited thereon, and shall cause every part of the internal surface above the floor or pavement of such slaughter-house to be thoroughly washed with hot lime wash at least four times in every year; that is to say, at least once during the periods between the first and the tenth of March, the first and tenth of June, the first and tenth of September and the first and tenth of December, respectively. He shall cause every part of the floor or pavement of such slaughter-house, and every part of the internal surface of every wall on which any blood or liquid refuse or filth may have been spilled or splashed, or with which any offensive or noxious matter may have been brought into contact during the process of slaughtering, or dressing in such slaughter-house to be thoroughly washed and cleaned within three hours after the completion of such slaughtering or dressing.

2. An occupier of such slaughter-house shall not at any time keep any dog, or cause or suffer any dog to be kept in such slaughter-house or on the premises in connection therewith. He shall not at any time keep, or cause to be kept, in such slaughter-house any animal of which the flesh may be used for the food of man, unless such animal be so kept in sole preparation for the slaughtering thereof on the premises.

3. Every occupier of such slaughter-house shall cause the means of water supply provided in or in connection with such slaughter-house to be kept in proper and efficient condition, and shall provide for use on the premises a sufficient supply of water for the purpose of thoroughly washing and cleaning the floor or the pavement, every part of the internal surface of every wall of such slaughter-house and every vessel or receptacle which may be used for the collection and removal from such slaughter-house of any blood, manure, garbage, filth, or other refuse products of the slaughtering of any cattle or the dressing of any carcass on the premises.

4. Every occupier of such slaughter-house shall provide a sufficient number of vessels or receptacles constructed of galvanized iron or other non-absorbent material, and furnished with closely-fitting covers, for the purpose of receiving and conveying from such slaughter-house all blood, manure, garbage, filth, or other refuse products, as food for any animal the flesh of which is intended for human consumption.

5. The flesh of any animal which has been wholly or in part upon animal organic matter shall not be exposed, nor offered for sale, nor be sold within the said County as food for human consumption; and such flesh when so exposed, or offered for sale, or sold, shall be deemed unclean and unfit for food, and shall be liable to seizure and confiscation in like manner as by law provided in the case of other unclean or unwholesome food.

The foregoing Regulations were made and passed by the Local Board of Health for the District of the City and County of Saint John, on the tenth day of October, A. D. 1911.

T. M. BURNS, Secretary.

THOMAS GORMAN, Chairman of the Board of Health for the City and County of Saint John.

CANADA'S GREAT BOOM

(Dominion.)
Up to a few years ago the western limit of Canada's industrial belt was Toronto. Now every part of the Canadian continent is gaining in population at a rate that makes the open prairie of yesterday the hustling town of today; that puts new places on the map, and makes a nation in a single year, and makes a nation in a part of North America that was a wilderness of mountains and plateaus a few years since. Thus there are upward of 1,500,000 people where there were only 14,000 in 1870. Settlers are rushing into the west at the rate of 1,000 a day, and 4,000 arrived in Winnipeg in one day this spring. The population of a good-sized town is the instant.

All of this has created a demand for a supply source of manufactured goods nearer the market. Not only is the market of the west a big one, but even the normal demand of so many people projected upon a virgin country is greatly increased by the early business of the individual and consequent liberal distribution of money. The people live much in the open, have good appetites, wear good clothes, or many of them, as their calling requires, make money fast and spend it freely, all of which goes to the making of a big market and a good one.

The sale of automobiles in the west since the first one was sold in Winnipeg in 1902 shows plainly how wealth is rolling into the hands of the people there and how some of it is spent. Starting from one car in 1902, there are now 400 automobiles, and bicycle dealers, basing their estimates upon the spring trade, place the number of cars to be sold in the three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta this year at no less than 2000.

As they buy automobiles so the people of the west buy all manner of goods, liberally. Long hauls overland entail heavy freight costs, and it is now some years since the business of western Canada began to look about them for ways and means to get up factories near to the great market of the west. Comparative scarcity of fuel near at hand directed the attention of explorers in the industrial field to the splendid waterpower by means of hydroelectric plants has taken a strong hold upon the imagination of the west, and is fortunate enough to have such water-power within reach.

Winnipeg's excursion into the field of hydroelectric development is the biggest thing of its kind in the west and is big enough to attract attention anywhere. The Winnipeg river, 77 miles from the city, will produce 60,000 horse-power at the final installation under present plans. This will be supplied power to manufacturers to 100,000 by doing certain engineering work on the river. The plant will cost upward of $4,000,000 and first delivery of power will be in November, 1911.

When a city spends $4,000,000 on a power plant the chief use of which will be to supply power to manufacturers it is a reasonable supposition that such a city has some use for the plant and expects to have more. This is the exact truth as to Winnipeg. The value of Winnipeg's industrial output in 1901 was fixed at $8,248 by the Dominion government census. The census of 1906 revised the figures to $18,983,250, and a 1911 estimate places the industrial output valuation at $36,000,000. This estimate is of course subject to correction by the census returns, but the amount is quite as likely to be increased as diminished.

The comparative number of factories and shops that make goods for sale in Winnipeg leads to the conclusion that the city's output of manufactured goods is very large by contrast with what was produced in 1906. There have been 109 factories and shops added to Winnipeg's industrial establishment in four years; nearly 40 in 1910 alone. While Winnipeg has advanced to fourth place among the cities of Canada in volume and value of industrial production and already has advanced to fourth place among the cities of the world, Montreal and Toronto are well in the lead of course.

HEADACHES OVER THE EYES MEAN FRONTAL CATARRH

Mr. Eric Berault, a young gentleman who has lived for years in Sweetburg, Que., inherited catarrh from his mother. The disease spread through his system till he was a physical wreck. "As a child," said Mr. Berault, "I was prone to an ulceration of the mucous lining of the throat and nasal passages. I grew pale and emaciated, lost all desire for food and got into such a dreadful condition that my friends said that Catarrh was fairly eating me up. "Every organ of my body seemed affected, and the doctor said it was the first stage of consumption. He advised Catarrhose and I inhaled it ten minutes at a time every few hours, and was rewarded in a few days by a wonderful improvement. "Catarrhose pleased me and the doctor so well that I used it continually, and took Ferrozene Tablets after each meal to build up my strength. In about three weeks I was quite recovered and the doctor says no remedy but Catarrhose could work such a miracle. "Everyone in town knows I was just about dead with catarrh, and my cure is an evidence of what Catarrhose can do. It is a pleasure to recommend Catarrhose. CLOSING STOCK LETTER.

By Direct Private Wires to J. C. Mackintosh & Co. Montreal, Nov. 10.—The decision of the commerce court on the intermountain rate case while perhaps greatly exaggerated as a bullish market factor, nevertheless served as a pretext for another burst of bullish sentiment in today's market. The general advance was widespread at certain points of the market, moreover, was subjected to enormous profit-taking. The advance was, however, not so great that the closing witnessed a precipitate retreat of the short interest and another rapid advance of prices which closed the general level from one to five points above yesterday's final level. While the bullish gains they were nevertheless the real leaders, the buying for a time being so impressive as to leave little doubt in the minds of the ordinary investor that powerful interests were responsible for the advance. The attractive coal stocks under the lead of Reading and Lehigh recorded sensational gains accompanied by rumors that valuable equities would soon be distributed to stockholders. The general advance also showed aggressive sympathetic strength while the copper shares reflected the improving conditions in the metal market. The general advance has now reached a level from ten to twenty points above that prevailing a month or six weeks ago. Some stocks have risen at an average of a point a day for the past fortnight. This cannot continue without interruption and while the prospect points to still higher prices, a smart reaction would not be surprising at any time. LADLAW & CO.

MARKET LED BY RAILROAD STOCK

New York, N. Y., Nov. 10.—Fluctuations of stocks were uncertain and at times feverish today but the market again exhibited decided strength. At the opening the railroad stocks showed substantial gains. The market soon fell back and some issues, including Canadian Pacific, Erie, Missouri Pacific and Wabash Pfd. lost one to three points. Heavy realising sales kept the market in check. Prices rose and fell within comparatively narrow limits until late in the day when buying expanded rapidly. Prices advanced as the close extended. Gains were well distributed through the list of more active stocks. In some cases running up to five points.

The railroad stocks especially those of the western group were the leaders of the market. Trading in these stocks was stimulated by the action of the new commerce court in staying the decree of the interstate commerce commission for a reduction of intermountain freight rates. During the flurry of the last hour the most conspicuous part was taken by Reading and Lehigh Valley, which were bought so eagerly that various reports of extra dividends were circulated. Although sales were much quieter today, the advance in the Wabash Pfd. was reported to be satisfactory for both export and domestic consumption. Although sales were much quieter in November have not been so large as the average for last month. The American Tobacco issues were much quieter today and fluctuations were smaller. For a time the market was unsettled by a sharp break in the Wabash Pfd. but this was accompanied by reports of possible unfavorable developments which were apparently without substantial basis. U. S. Steel pursued an irregular course. At one time a point below yesterday's close, it rose later in the day to 1 1/2 points above. The increase of 80,000 tons in the Steel Corporation's unfilled orders at the end of last month seemed to have little influence on the stock, which remained almost stationary immediately after announcement of the figures. The showing of the Steel Corporation was regarded as satisfactory in view of the fact that during October its plants were running nearer to full capacity than for some time before. London sold U. S. Steel heavily on the early decline and later bought railroad stocks in moderate amounts. The price for London stock were about 35,000 shares, with only about one-third as large a total of purchases. A small cash loss by the banks for the week was indicated by known movements of money, there having been a gain from the interior and a decrease on sub-treasury operations. Recent indications of better business conditions were strengthened by the figures for this week's bank clearances. Throughout the country which made the most favorable showing for a considerable period. The increase over the corresponding week of last year amounts to nearly 9 per cent. Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $4,076,000. U. S. bonds were unchanged on call.

Pandora Range

A Ventilating Oven that Ventilates.

There is only one practical way of ventilating a range oven and that way has been adopted in the Pandora—is an actual, positive, working feature and not a mere talking point.

Fresh air is drawn from the outside through small vents into the oven while the odors and cooking fumes are forced by the fresh air out through small vents into the smoke flues, and up the chimney.

Roasts cooked in a Pandora oven retain their sweet, natural flavor, entirely free from cooking odors, absolutely unmixed with any foreign flavor. Puddings, cakes, bread, meats, etc., are always light, fresh and free from mixed odors or flavors.

In the Pandora range you get all that scientific study, practical experience, skilled workmanship and an immense and finely equipped plant combined, can produce—the highest possible attainment in range perfection.

Ask your local dealer to show you the Pandora range, or write to us for free catalogue before buying any other.

MADAME PEVSNER ON PALESTINE MOVEMENT

Delivers Lecture in Synagogue -- Has Travelled Extensively—Specimens of Products of Holy Land.

There was a large attendance last evening at the Hazen Avenue Synagogue when a most interesting lecture was delivered by Madame Bella Pevsner, who arrived in the city from Montreal a few days ago. Madame Pevsner is lecturing in the interests of the Zionist Movement. She was born in Moscow, but has been away from Russia for the last twelve years during which time she has travelled through every country in Europe. She has also lectured in the Western States of America, and some of the larger cities of Canada.

It has been arranged that Madame Pevsner lecture in the Odd Fellows' Hall, on Union Street, tomorrow evening and the lecture will be illustrated with stereoptical views of the work that is being done towards settling the Jews in Palestine. Much attention is being given to the growing of olives, grapes, almonds and oranges but in addition handicrafts are skillfully pursued. The lecturer also exhibits specimens of some clever silver work done by the children and their teachers, Jews of Zemen were engaged in this work.

The lecture to be given on Sunday evening by Madame Pevsner will be on the Land and People in Palestine, the development of the Jewish colonies.

"The Jews were born in Palestine; they created Palestine, they became a nation there; when they left they were a stray people and had definite civilization of their own, with the settled type of physiognomy. What little consideration they get now in the world is due to what they were in the land of their fathers. In Palestine and nowhere else can the Jew find a home which will ease his heart hunger."

So says Madame Bella Pevsner, a worker from Jerusalem, who has come here to preach Zionism, and incidentally, to show how the 44 Jewish colonies already planted in the Land of David have progressed. In all the eleven million Jews scattered throughout the world there still linger, she says, the same yearning for the land of their nation's birth. In many this yearning is deep hidden under the business cares which they allow to engulf them. But once they reach the surface and speak to the heart and there bubbles up that unquenchable desire, which has been stilled but not quelled.

Madame Pevsner is a Russian Jewess from Moscow. In her earlier years her ardent spirit itself in the noble aspirations for the best Socialists. She worked for the realization of a keen sense of brotherhood and fellowship. But though socialists of other races welcomed the Jews for their fine working capacity, she saw that between her people and all others there was a great gulf fixed. Under the most liberal government there is still a social cleavage. It is not deliberate, perhaps, but it is there. Where he may amass wealth and fame and riches, the Jew yet remains a stranger in a strange land. So she narrowed down her energies, devoted herself to work for her own people and for them she saw the only hope in Zionism.

Palestine can take ten million people. There are eleven million Jews throughout the world. It is not the intention of Zionists to withdraw their fellows from all countries, but to have one spot on earth where they are free to express themselves, to develop their nationality, to show they are capable of creation. In scarcely any country does the Jew appear as anything but a middleman. This is not, she says, because they lack of creative instinct, but that trade alone is free. In almost every other walk of life their way is, in most countries barred, either by local force, or by social prejudice. They do create now but it is in their employments, and not themselves, who set the credit. In Russia, and even in Finland (where their own struggle should have taught them better) no Jew may enter the University. Consequently the professions are barred to them. In art they often succeed in making a name; but it is always as independent workers, very rarely as they are honored with an official position. Hence the difficulty of their struggles.

The world is full of the tragedy of the wandering Jew. It is hidden tragedy, hidden sometimes under the splendor of the millionaire, but the heart knoweth its own bitterness. In vain do they give largely to convince the world and themselves of their own patriotism. The people of the land rejoice in their munificence, and accept their gifts; but to these people, in his heart the Jew knows it, he still remains a stranger.

This is so in America. Mme. Pevsner assured a Standard representative. There are two million Jews in America, many immensely rich; and nowhere in the world do the Jews spend more lavishly on their own poor, and nowhere with less effort. Their charity is merely directed to giving the poverty stricken means of moving from town to town. So they keep up the wandering and a complete demoralization sets in.

Those who are rich and well placed do not feel so keenly as they follow the yearning of Zionism. But a Jewish workman is happier in Palestine with one franc a day than he is in free America earning his five francs. Forty-four Jewish colonies have already been planted in Palestine, and there only in the Jew free show what he is capable of as an artisan and an agriculturist. He is content to be a Turkish citizen, and he is welcomed by the Turks because he is making a desert a rich province. His very weakness is in Palestine the source of his strength. The Turks would have looked askance at any colonization of Palestine by a people who had a fleet and an army at the disposal of them. But the Jews, wealthy as they may be, what power have they?

And the present inhabitants of Palestine, Arabs, whose life has been squeezed out of them by greedy tax farmers, how do they welcome the newcomers? They too, seem to be yearning for their earlier home. When they can sell a little plot to the Zionists, they retire gladly to their ancient plans of Mesopotamia.

Exploits of a Bridegroom;— Concerning Marriage and Other Licenses—Learned Women. BY EDGAR NICOLE.

A recent issue of a Western newspaper relates the story of a wedding that took place a few days ago in a small town, the incidents of which are so unusual that mention of the interesting ceremony may not be unprofitable.

It is stated that the bride, and her party, waited for the groom for nearly an hour and were about to leave the church in disgust when the dear young man entered the sacred edifice on the arm of the best man. Of course this proceeding did not look at all nice. We all know that it is the custom for the bride to be escorted to the altar by the groom, and the groom is mostly able to move alone unaided. To make matters worse, the poor chap looked quite unlike his real self. His eyes were without their accustomed brilliancy, his collar was not adjusted with the requisite precision, and he was missing the almost indispensable necktie. Other matters in connection with his general appearance seemed to indicate that all was not well. But it turned out that there was nothing really wrong, at all events from a moral standpoint, and this fact was quickly proved by the best man, who, in this instance, was the best man indeed.

It seems that the groom had had a whole week of practically sleepless nights, had alternately been overworking with joy because of the great event and worried over little things that didn't seem to go quite right. For example, as the difficulty of getting any sort of clothing to suit his ideas of good style. He had, during that strenuous week, bodily mauled at least one new suit, put out of action four hats, thrown eleven neckties out of the window, consigned two shirts to the flames, and had nearly succeeded in starving the family parrot that had always been left to his tender care. He became nervous and worn out. Nevertheless, he bravely went to a church about three hours before the time appointed for the wedding ceremony (albeit it was not the right church) only to find the doors locked. Not to be bested by mere locks he entered the building through a window, took a seat, and waited with commendable patience for the bride party. At last he fell asleep, and was discovered and rescued by an official of the church. In this condition, murmuring in soft, morporean tones, "Don't forget tomorrow, Gertrude," and other touching sentiments. The best man, who had been searching for the groom and had been contemplating the expediency of using the nearby river for his body, was soon found and the proper church was reached as quickly as possible.

At first there was general embarrassment, as might have been expected, but Gertrude knew her dear Gussy well enough and was not nearly so upset about the business as were the other members of the bridal party, some of whom had been shaking their heads while the bride's father showed an inclination to shake a fist at all right and proper.

The experience of another couple at Quincy, Mass., a week or so ago, is not by any means unparalleled in history. We are told that when Aaron Siedeman and Julia Bernstein were about to be pronounced man and wife the clergyman glanced over the license and found that it was one permitting Aaron to hunt deer. The groom had gone to a place where various licenses could be obtained, but to the department where only game licenses were issued. He seemed to have imagined that everybody must have known that marriage was what he was thinking about at the time, and that the proper document should have been handed to him as a matter of course. It is pleasing to note that the disappointed Aaron did not seek the imprisonment of the wicked fellow who gave him a license that he didn't want, and that everything ended all right.

The case of George Whitley and Sarah Stovel, a Nova Scotian case, is in some respects similar to that just recorded. In this instance the license given to the officiating minister was a license to keep a dog. There is no doubt, whatever, that here, again, the one and only license that was upmost in the mind of the applicant was a marriage license, and the brutal issuer of the document, related to a canine should, of course, have been aware of that. A sentence of not less than a year's confinement in a dog kennel would have served him right. In the case of this happy couple, too, the difficulty was surmounted, and there is no reason to suppose that Sarah will not remain forever as true as the metal that boasts her maiden surname.

Another dear little story about a marriage license is that concerning a man who, having obtained the precious thing, sent it by mail, with an affectionate letter, to his mother, who resided several hundred miles away. When the time came for him to produce the license he exclaimed with evident pleasure, "Mother's got it—that's all right!" But it wasn't all right, at all events just then, even though he succeeded in rectifying the pardonable proceeding of the would-be hubby.

Referring once more to marriage licenses it seems neglectful not to mention the case of the butcher who was evidently "carped" by every body in his business. For on the face of a license which he had procured he scrawled the following very interesting memorandum:

- 1. Don't forget Mrs. Jones' chops. 2. Smith wants another leg. 3. Sausages is all gone. 4. Johnson's dog had died, and would not want to gnaw any more bones. Presumably the good man meant when he wrote memo. No. 4 that Johnson's dog had died, and would not want to gnaw any more bones. Perhaps the dog had swallowed a blade-bone and was so much cut up because of it that it welcomed death. Or, perhaps the animal was aware of the state of things disclosed by memo No. 3 and, in order to evade the purveyor of the purveyer of bones in the hope that that course might help the gentle butcher in some way.

The bridegroom's explanation was that at the time of making the notes he imagined he was writing on one of his bill-heads, and that the marriage ceremony was allowed to proceed. Let us hope the happy pair will go happily through life together, sounder to shoulder.

Now that reference is being made to the subject of marriage it may not be out of place to mention a recent case in which application was made to a United States court for a divorce, wherein the husband set forth, as a grievance, the alleged fact that his wife was too highly educated. He said she spoke too many languages and caused him infinite worry because he couldn't follow intelligently her linguistic activities. He pleaded, in effect, that although the wife was a B.A. and that when she was in a rage (as was sometimes the case, he averred) she would sample about ten different languages.

The proceedings in this case are still pending, so it is not possible to state the outcome of the unfortunate affair. Some will say that the disagreeable man ought to be be-laxed as he must have known, before marriage, how different he was from the higher education of women. Dr. Douce was an Englishman, who died many years ago. By his will he gave certain property to the parish of Netter Wallon, Eng., the income of which he directed should be applied in teaching poor girls. He read, wrote and cast accounts a little way, the said girls being restrained from going too far in their learning, inasmuch as it is not to be desired that girls or ladies should have too great learning, lest they become saucy and wishful to go as parlor maids, and so forth, leaving the men of learning and importance without servant maids or women for the cooking of victuals.

An Important Announcement to the Citizens of St. John from Ungar's Laundry and Dye Works

We take pleasure in announcing to the public of this city that we are now in a better position than ever to attend to the Dyeing and French Dry Cleaning Department of our business, and we are now prepared to receive and promptly execute all orders for this department, in all of its various branches. Patrons of our Dyeing and French Dry Cleaning department will now have an opportunity of having all articles of wear restored to their original freshness of color, at a very small expenditure. Our French Dry Cleaning is a wonderful process. It makes everything pure and clean, restoring the original beauty of color and finish, without the slightest injury to the material, no matter how delicate the color or texture may be. Wearing apparel cleaned and refinished, without opening a seam or ripping a stitch. The little things of the wardrobe, such as ribbons, laces, gloves, neckwear, belts, etc., which may be put aside as "used up," for no fault except soil or stain, easily yield to our Dry Cleaning process.

WE DRY CLEAN

THE WORK BEFORE PARLIAMENT

The Twelfth Parliament of Canada will be opened on November 15th under conditions that will make the event more noteworthy than any of its predecessors. There will be a new Government and there will be a new Governor-General, and that Governor-General, Ontario and Manitoba in previous governments of the Province of Quebec. The only representative of the Government will have in the Senate, at the opening, will be Senator Loughheed, who though a member of the Upper House for a long time has had no experience as a Cabinet Minister. To Mr. White the unique honor belongs of having taken the oath as a minister of the Crown before ever having been elected in any legislative capacity. Those members of the Government who do not yet hold seats in the House will have no part in its deliberations until the House is properly constituted and the Speaker installed. The House being duly constituted Mr. Speaker will then be competent to open his official letters and the first of these will doubtless be from enough members resigning their seats in safe constituencies to make room for the self-sacrificing M.P.'s who resign will doubtless be consoled with a Lieutenant-Governorship or a seat in the Senate where such worries as elections are unknown. Soon after the opening the House must vote "supply," that is, money enough to pay the ordinary expenses of the Government, which in the case of the late House was the responsibility of the Premier. Mr. Hazen has left the New Brunswick Legislature for the wider arena of Federal politics. Two, Mr. Cochrane and Mr. Rogers, have relinquished portfolios in Provincial Governments, Ontario and Manitoba respectively, to take up work national, instead of provincial in scope. One minister, Mr. Follis, held portfolios in previous governments of the Province of Quebec. The only representative of the Government will have in the Senate, at the opening, will be Senator Loughheed, who though a member of the Upper House for a long time has had no experience as a Cabinet Minister. To Mr. White the unique honor belongs of having taken the oath as a minister of the Crown before ever having been elected in any legislative capacity. Those members of course there will be the reviving of some of the alleged scandalous acts of the administration that is no more of the administration that is no more. There will probably be investigations galore and the country as a whole hopes that the new broom which sweeps clean will be strongly it evidence for it seems inevitable that no matter which party is in power the ship of state must of necessity attach to itself myriads of barnacles that clog its progress. The late government's policy in regard to the National Transcontinental Railway will come in for some criticism, as will the Hon. Mr. Cochrane's attitude in stopping work on some sections as soon as he reached power.

Altogether one of the liveliest sessions for many a day may be anticipated. The West will bulk large in the deliberations of the new House. The borders of Manitoba must be extended and the increase in population in that and the newer Provinces will naturally lead to demands that Parliament will have to listen to. The Hudson's Bay Railway is one of the things that is not so far off, perhaps, as most people may imagine. Alberta and Saskatchewan will probably want their constitutions amended, giving them wider powers than as baby provinces they possessed. But what will be the first really big job of the Borden Government? There are those who profess that it will be the Georgian Bay Canal, which is bound to come, sooner or later, and has been talked of for fifteen or twenty years. Whatever the "big job" turns out to be, it will be preceded by a warm discussion in the House. It will most likely be something to which the late Government had given some consideration and of such projects those of the ex-ministers who still have seats in the House may be relied on for some frank criticism. Some of them will have expert knowledge.

Among other matters which the country expects to see brought before Parliament this session will be Civil Service reform; amendments to the Bank Act; legislation to regulate the formation of mergers and watering of stocks; the establishment of a permanent tariff board; measures to encourage co-operation, so that consumers may be less at the mercy of middlemen. These are a few of the things that will form the subject of debate this session will depend on two things—how far the new Government is prepared to go in the matter of constructive legislation, and how many pages of Hansard the gentlemen occupying the back benches in the House will monopolize. Just how much can be done in the latter direction was shown, at enormous expense to the country during the closing sessions of the last Parliament.

THE HON. P. LANDRY, NEW SPEAKER OF THE SENATE.

THE HON. DR. SPROUILLE, NEW SPEAKER OF THE COMMONS.

Navy question. Will the matter be submitted to the electors? Will the construction of the dozen vessels contemplated by the Laurier Government proceed? Will the youthful Canadian Navy meet with an untimely end, and will Canada send a money contribution to the British Admiralty? These are the great rocks that are ahead of the Borden administration. Contending as the cabinet does, those who have publicly insisted upon widely divergent views on the matter of Canada's share in imperial defence, it will require all Mr. Borden's statesmanship to prevent a breach. Those who know him best claim to have no fear of the result although none of them predict with such certainty which course he will pursue. Some of them favor the referendum as being the quickest and surest way of settling a question that is, otherwise, apt to be a thorn in the side of the Government for some time to come.

The AUTOBIOGRAPHY of a CONSUMPTIVE

WHERE THEY SLEEP IN THE IOWA STATE SANATORIUM. By WILL M. ROSS. I never was particularly robust. Late in the spring of 1903 I became oppressed by a persistent languor.

with a new sympathy and insight into the lot of the leper outcast. It occurred to me to forestall embarrassing answers by anticipating embarrassing questions.

Some days later, however, my landlady cornered me and informed me that I had "lied" to her, and did have tuberculosis—but she said it with a smile.

They do not have tuberculosis, those sick folk of the southwest, for "tubercle" is a tormentum verum, but they have everything else from the boils to Bright's disease, and the universal symptom is a cough.

At the end of this time I went to work on the staff of the El Paso Herald upon the advice of a physician who said it would "take my mind off my troubles."

In quick sequence, then, the other symptoms of disease activity began to appear, and by middle spring I was forced to lay aside my work.

A month of rest and idleness inaugurated a "new era of good feeling," which might have continued but for the coming of hot weather, with a heat which can only be appreciated by those who have summered with me.

SUPERSTITIONS OF OLD SAILORS

Some Odd Freaks and Fancies of the Seafarers is Now Rapidly Disappearing.

Why does a seafaring man—captain, cook or cabin boy—consider it unlucky to ship with a man who neglected to pay his laundry bill?

Why does a sailor nearing port at a lengthy voyage gather up old clothes and shoes unfit for further use and ceremoniously commit them to the deep?

Why does he like to sail on a ship which displays a shark's tooth firmly nailed to the bowsprit or jibboom?

Why does he display great faith in the merits of a pig as a weather prophet?

The simplest answer to these questions is—because the average sailor is superstitious. He may not be quite as superstitious, perhaps, as the old-timer who went long voyages in sailing vessels, but even the advent of the four-day transatlantic liner—skyscraping steamships and floating hotels which travel from port to port on schedule time in defiance of storms, doldrums and other unfavorable weather conditions—has not quite deprived the sailor of his reputation for superstitiousness.

Some day he may become as a matter of fact as a subway guard, but at present there still lingers around him enough of the romance and mystery of the sea to make an interesting study of him and his odd beliefs.

During very rough weather at sea it would be hard to convince any old-timer sailor that there wasn't a Jonah aboard. Many Captains of the old school, who ought to know better, are so superstitious in this respect that it is not uncommon for them to take intense dislike to officers who have happened apparently to be the harbingers of bad weather and especially fog. It is quite usual on board ship to find members of the crew nicknamed "Foggy Jones," "Heavy Weather Bill," or "Squally Jack."

Cats on board ship were considered lucky and many a stary one finds a comfortable home and careful attention with Jack for his friend, although, on the other hand, our domestic friend has at times been held responsible for the continuance of very bad weather and had to play the part of Jonah to the full extent.

Perhaps the most amusing superstition of the sailor is in considering it a crime for any member of the crew to leave port with his washing bill unpaid, as this neglect is generally believed to be the cause of bad weather being encountered just after leaving.

The ways of invoking the gods of the elements to bestow fair weather and winds are numerous. Among the best known is that when nearing port after a lengthy voyage, Old clothes and shoes unfit for further use are collected and thrown overboard with much ceremony and faith as to ultimate beneficial results which will carry the ship swiftly and safely into harbor.

One of the most curious superstitions is that dealing with the capture of a shark. The natural dread and antipathy with which these monsters of the deep are viewed cause a capture to be hailed with much rejoicing. All hands, from the captain to the cabin boy, take a keen interest in the operations, and having successfully landed the shark on deck—a proceeding that causes no little excitement—it is killed and its tail cut off. This trophy is then nailed either on the end of the bowsprit or jibboom and is considered a valuable charm, capable of having the power to bring the ship fair winds and finest of weather. It is not uncommon to see sailing ships lying in port with this peculiar sign of the sailor's superstition, but the custom is fast dying out with the advent of the steamship, where the capture of a shark at sea is a very rare occurrence.

Another remarkable and weird belief is that connected with the albatross. These huge birds measuring 14 to 18 feet from tip to tip of their wings, are only to be seen in the stormy regions of the Cape of Good Hope and Horn and the surrounding latitudes. They follow ships for weeks at a time. The peculiar belief of old sailors credit these birds with possessing the souls of ancient mariners who for their misdeeds have been doomed to scour these stormy regions for eternity.

During calms these birds are easily captured by a contrivance of the sailor's own invention, which, being lured, attaches itself to the hooked bill on the albatross attempting to procure

WOMEN'S AILMENTS CAUSED BY NEGLECT

Are Quickly Cured and Robust, Sound Health Restored by Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

Women are on the whole more sickly than men. One reason is that their system is more complicated; another and more important reason is they put off measures of relief too long.

At the beginning constipation is the cause of nine-tenths of women's ailments. The blood becomes weakened and polluted—the nerves suffer and a run-down condition takes root.

Because of the mildness of action as a system regulator, because of their undoubted power no medicine for women can compare with Dr. Hamilton's Pills and the result is as you would expect.

Thousands of happy women say Dr. Hamilton's Pills are the greatest and best blood-purifier, the finest cathartic, the most certain regulator, the best remedy known. All Druggists, 25c. boxes, or the Catarrh Co., Kingston, Canada.

Grand Falls, Nov. 9.—The ladies of the Roman Catholic church sewing society gave a bean supper and fancy sale at which a large sum was realized.

Mrs. F. W. Hechler went to Edmondston on Wednesday to spend a few weeks.

Mrs. William Pirie returned home on Friday after spending a few weeks at Boston and other cities.

On Monday evening a number of the friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Pirie gave them a surprise party, it being the twentieth anniversary of their wedding.

The killing of a pig at sea is always an occasion of much importance not only for the reason that fresh meat is to be enjoyed—a great luxury on a sailing ship after, perhaps months of salt provisions—but also because what is termed a "pig-breeze" or favorable wind may be looked upon as a certainty. Pigs when kept on sailing ships are often let out on the pens, and their movements, which are believed to foretell the state of wind to be expected, are watched with keen interest. Should a pig show signs of lassitude and merely lie down or wander slowly about the decks, this is considered a sign of calm weather, with little or no wind in prospect, but any friskiness and a great amount of squealing is hailed as a sure sign of winds, being necessary factors for the navigation of a sailing ship.

Sailing on a Friday is, as many know, considered unlucky. Sunday is generally considered a lucky day, although the superstition as regards the day of sailing is almost forgotten and seldom commented on in these days of rapid travelling.

Whistling on board ship is considered a dangerous habit, as a direct cause for stormy weather. The culprit, whoever he may be, is quickly rebuked, although during calm days and others indulge in the habit, preferring to risk stormy weather to drifting about motionless.

MISS CARRIE DEAD, OLDEST "ACTRESS"

Had Passed Century Mark in Years and Weighed Six Tons—One of Hippodrome Troupe.

New York, Nov. 10.—Miss Carrie, acknowledged to be the oldest "actress" on the American stage, died in this city early yesterday morning of pneumonia. She had been engaged in the circus and theatrical business for eighty years, and her friends and acquaintances admitted that she was more than one hundred years old.

Miss Carrie's body was embalmed, and present occupies an unpretentious position on rough boards, although scores of her friends and admirers called yesterday and expressed their sorrow.

As Miss Carrie had amused thousands of men, women and children in this country and abroad for so many years, her death is regarded as a sad blow to the stage. She weighed six tons and was valued at $1,000, a ton being the oldest and largest performing elephant in the world, and one of the herd which takes part in the spectacular act of "Amusing the World" at the Hippodrome. She was the first elephant to come to the United States and appeared at the time with the circus owned by the late John Robinson.

Miss Carrie's skeleton will be turned over to the American Museum of Natural History and mounted along with the skeleton of a mammoth, an elephant which died a number of years ago. The skin is expected to bring $1,000.

The killing of a pig at sea is always an occasion of much importance not only for the reason that fresh meat is to be enjoyed—a great luxury on a sailing ship after, perhaps months of salt provisions—but also because what is termed a "pig-breeze" or favorable wind may be looked upon as a certainty. Pigs when kept on sailing ships are often let out on the pens, and their movements, which are believed to foretell the state of wind to be expected, are watched with keen interest. Should a pig show signs of lassitude and merely lie down or wander slowly about the decks, this is considered a sign of calm weather, with little or no wind in prospect, but any friskiness and a great amount of squealing is hailed as a sure sign of winds, being necessary factors for the navigation of a sailing ship.

Sailing on a Friday is, as many know, considered unlucky. Sunday is generally considered a lucky day, although the superstition as regards the day of sailing is almost forgotten and seldom commented on in these days of rapid travelling.

Whistling on board ship is considered a dangerous habit, as a direct cause for stormy weather. The culprit, whoever he may be, is quickly rebuked, although during calm days and others indulge in the habit, preferring to risk stormy weather to drifting about motionless.

TO BUILD TOBIQUE VALLEY RAILROAD

John E. Stewart Severs His Connection with Tobique and Campbellton to Continue Construction of New Line.

Perth, N. B., Nov. 10.—John E. Stewart, the well known promoter is about to sever his connection with the Tobique & Campbellton Railway Company, of which he is managing director and go on with the building of the Tobique Valley Railroad from Plaster Rock to Riley Brook himself, according to information received here today.

At a recent meeting the shareholders of the company refused to ratify a contract permitting Mr. Stewart to build the extension. A stormy meeting resulted, Mr. Stewart accusing J. F. Tweeddale, M. P., of refusing to interview Mr. Hazen, then premier, with a view to obtaining a provincial government subsidy.

Mr. Stewart, who promotes the building of the Tobique branch to Plaster Rock, has a contract with the Dominion government calling for a subsidy of $6,400 per mile. The subsidy will lapse at the end of this month unless the work be undertaken.

The Weak, Lame, Aching Back

Comes From The Kidneys.

Those who have never been troubled with kidney trouble do not know the suffering and misery which those afflicted undergo.

On the first sign of backache Doan's Kidney Pills should be taken immediately so as to avoid years of suffering from kidney trouble.

They go right to the seat of the trouble, heal the delicate membranes of the kidneys and make their action regular and natural.

Mrs. Joseph Throop, Upper Point de Bute, N.B., writes:—"I cannot speak too well of Doan's Kidney Pills. For two years I was so tired life was a burden, and I got up more tired than when I went to bed, and my back was so lame I could hardly straighten up. I took different kinds of medicine, but none of them did me any good until a friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills. I did so, and today I don't know what it is to be tired, and my lame back is all gone. I can recommend them to any person suffering with lame back and that terrible tired feeling."

GRACE GEORGE AT THE OPERA HOUSE NEXT WEEK

GRACE GEORGE. In Sauce For The Goose.

Grace George, who will be seen at the Opera House two nights, Nov. 14 and 15, is one of the few American actresses who have won success in London. Great as is her fame as a comedienne in the United States, it is paralleled in the British metropolis and this enforced the need of local institutions for the purpose. In advanced cases the problem was a very big one, and although the need of the municipality. The keynote of the problem was to make the patient happy and easily accessible to the family, and this enforced the need of local institutions for the care of advanced cases. In Massachusetts the family of advanced patients were allowed to visit them at almost any time.

Dispensary Work. A valuable adjunct of these two institutions, which, in conjunction with the board of trade regulation making notification of cases compulsory enabled those interested in the fight to get at the sources of the disease. Through these agencies localities where the disease obtained were discovered, and efforts could be made to remove the causes of infection, which were often of a sociological nature and demanded special treatment.

The nurses employed by the societies did excellent work. They spread the gospel of clean living and those who had occasion to enquire into the results of their work were often surprised at the quickness and extent of the reaction. Their educative campaign spread far beyond the home they entered; whole neighborhoods saw what they attended adherence to their instructions, and even the children learned new lessons in cleanliness and kept their windows open. At the conclusion of the address the president thanked Dr. Townsend on behalf of the society, and said they would call upon his expert knowledge, if they ever got into difficulties.

OBITUARY.

Mrs. Isabella Kennedy. The death took place Thursday evening after a lingering illness, of Mrs. Isabella Kennedy, wife of James Kennedy. The deceased lady was 73 years of age, the eldest daughter of the late David Loughran, of Ardman, County Donegal, Ireland. She came to this city fifty-six years ago and had been fifty-two years married. Surviving, besides her husband, are three sons and daughter. The sons are: Captain W. R. Kennedy of the United States Government steamer Leonidas, now at Havana attending the work in connection with the raising of the battleship Maine; David Kennedy, employed with the dry goods house of Lozier and Co., Brooklyn, and George Kennedy of Vassie and Co. The only daughter is Mary, wife of Rev. L. G. Marnell. Mrs. Kennedy leaves three brothers, two in Ireland and one in Australia. The funeral will take place this afternoon at 3 o'clock; service at 2.30.

continued from page two. ed on the minutes without amendment. A nomination committee consisting of Rev. R. A. Armstrong, Dr. Thomas Walker, Dr. McAvoy, Senator Ellis and Mrs. David McLellan and Mrs. J. L. McAvity was then appointed to nominate officers and members of the executive for the year.

While the committee was engaged the president introduced Dr. Townsend, who delivered a brief and interesting address on anti-tuberculosis work.

Tuberculosis, he said, was a great problem, having a medical and sociological aspect. The chief factor in fighting it was education. In its earlier stages the patient could be educated most satisfactorily in sanatoriums provided for the purpose. In advanced cases the problem was a very big one, and although the need of the municipality. The keynote of the problem was to make the patient happy and easily accessible to the family, and this enforced the need of local institutions for the care of advanced cases. In Massachusetts the family of advanced patients were allowed to visit them at almost any time.

For the INDUSTRIOUS NEEDLEWOMAN

The Complete Centerpiece

Design by C. IDA FERRIS

one-third of Design

WITH the lovely blossoms around us in florists' windows or on our own grounds, if we are that fortunate, I feel sure that you will greet the chrysanthemum in a lasting form with much joy.

The large centerpiece that I have had designed for you is especially effective in colors on either tan or white linen. I am particularly fond of gray linen for a background, as you have no doubt noticed by this time.

Just multiply this design by three, and you will have the beauty of the centerpiece in its entirety. If you intend to trace it, you will find that the design is a swinging design that keeps the same center, which you can pin upon the material by means of a thumbtack. Follow any of the directions for transferring that are on another part of this page.

When you have completed the design, your next consideration is the working of it. It is very effective in outline stitch, using heavy mercerized thread. Another effective and quick method is a long-and-short stitch worked in from the edges for a very short distance, slanting the threads down toward the base of each petal as you go along. In this case, work the small central pieces solid.

Then again, there is a great use now of the outline work combined with seed stitches to fill in with straight parallel lines of darning stitches. This gives a solid effect on petals with surprisingly little work. Some time in the near future I am going to give you a centerpiece especially planned for this stitch.

The leaves of the present design you will work in long-and-short stitch, using green of a soft bluish tone, if you are working in colors.

A fine stem stitch for the stem is good, while a heavy outline stitch, whipped into a cord, is quicker and just as effective.

Put the scallops with darning cotton and work with the regular buttonhole stitches around the border. The white thread for the all-white work and a dark brown for the yellow work are the favorites. Buttonhole the edge again to prevent fraying.

Generally speaking, there is a large graceful feature in a chrysanthemum design that few other flowers offer. Take advantage of this opportunity while it is here. Make one of these effective centerpieces for yourself or for a friend. You cannot regret it.

Some Gifts for the Men

WHAT shall I give John at Christmas? The question is an ancient one, yet every year it has to be solved, for every woman has a John, a Tom, a Frederick—some masculine friend or relative that she wishes to remember with a gift on Christmas morning.

If you make the gift yourself, it will add greatly to the pleasure of giving, besides showing a more personal interest in your friend than would something bought from a shop. Men like dainty things and appreciate the interest a woman displays if she makes a gift with her own hands. A man always enjoys fine linen handkerchiefs, but if they are marked with the initial or monogram embroidered in one corner by the woman who presents the gift, he will prize them doubly.

Embroidering on linen is easy and fascinating work. After having the handkerchiefs marked with the desired letters, pad the outline with fine mercerized thread and work the letters with the over-and-over stitch, taking care that the stitches are even and smooth.

A somewhat unusual gift, but one that will be greatly appreciated, is a half dozen one-inch squares of linen with his monogram embroidered thereon, intended to be inserted in his dress-shirt sleeves.

Plain silk ties with the initial embroidered on the end of the widest side is another suggestion. Do the work with floss in a contrasting color.

A broad black silk scarf, to wear under the topcoat to protect the shirt front when evening clothes are worn, should be marked with the gentleman's monogram. You can make him an attractive collarbox by buying a circular cardboard box six inches in diameter, such as confectioners use for candy and cake, and covering with coarse natural-colored linen.

Put the linen over the outside, allowing it to cover the box to the point where the lid fits over. Bind the edge with flat linen tape. On the linen used for the box embroider the monogram in scarlet floss.

Handkerchiefs, cravat and glove cases are made of linen folded over like an envelope, the glove case ten inches long and five inches wide and the cravat case fourteen inches long and six inches wide.

These can be lined with silk or satin and delicately scented if you wish.

If you are wondering what to give your husband or brother or sweetheart, why not select one of the above-mentioned articles?

Make Your Own Handbags

FANCY handbags held by a long cord continue in fashion, especially if they match or correspond with the gown with which they are worn. It is not always possible to buy a bag that matches the costume, but don't let that disturb you, for they are not hard to make if you are fond of sewing and can embroider.

The bag that is to be carried with your black velvet suit, for example, can be made of velvet, embroidered with gold and inset with imitation jewels, thus making a very handsome bag.

The envelope bag is pretty and easy to make. Let us consider a bag of black velvet and gold. It can be made from a half yard of velvet, the same amount of gold-colored satin for the lining, three yards of heavy gold cord and enough gold-colored floss and gold thread to embroider any design you may fancy.

First, cut a paper pattern fourteen inches long and ten inches wide. Four inches from one end mark a dotted line all the way across; measure two inches above this and mark another line.

Measure two inches from each edge of the top of the paper and draw a line to the lower edge. Then find the center of the top edge, and from there mark a line to each edge of the top cross line. Now cut along these lines, making a pointed flap, and also cut along the lines drawn from the bottom corners to the top, and fold over on the dotted line.

You have then the shape of the bag. Lay the pattern on the velvet, having the nap run toward the bottom, and cut, allowing a half inch for seams.

Now fold the pattern over on the dotted line and cut another piece of velvet that size. The lining satin is cut exactly the same as the velvet.

Now sew the lining and velvet separately, joining them only at the open edges. Before joining tack a piece of whalebone along the edge where the flap folds over. The design is embroidered both on the flap and the front portion of the bag before it is made up.

Try the bag.

The flap is fastened over with a flat stove stud.

A variety of materials and designs can be used for these handy bags. Silk, satin, tulle, cloth and velvet are,

however, the most popular fabrics. All are embroidered or ornamented in some artistic manner, and the up-to-date woman will have one to match every costume she wears.

After joining the lining and velvet, saw a row of cord all around the edge, allowing two yards of cord to be doubled and fastened to the flap centers to slip the arm through when carrying the bag.

ing the bag.

Beaded Photograph Frame

AMONG the decorative articles made of beads, and one you can make yourself as a holiday gift, none is prettier than the beaded frames.

These are made on a groundwork of net. The beads are sewed on in any pretty design you may fancy, are lined with a bright-colored satin and mounted on square, oblong or oval frames.

An attractive square frame is made on silver net, with a border of tiny opal beads showing a vine design running through it.

A conventional fleur-de-lis in silver and bottle-green beads decorates each corner. The whole is mounted over green satin.

Beaded frames will remain in fashion longer than most articles decorated with beads that are finding so much favor now.

Fruit Sachet

SOMETHING new in the way of sachet bags has been invented by a clever young woman with an eye for the artistic, even in little things.

Instead of the little flat sachet bags one usually sees, she makes them to resemble different small fruits.

Small pieces of purple, green and white silk are filled with sweet-smelling spices and sachet powder, with an outer covering of cotton directly under the silk that is lined by hand in the natural color of grapes. They are then arranged in small clusters and fastened to a broad green grape leaf with fine trousils made of green silk-covered wire. The effect is quite natural and very pretty. Small apples of satin and peaches of tulle velvet are easy to make; strawberries and plums are dainty.

The idea is new and altogether delightful. Surely the way is easy.

To Transfer

HERE are suggestions for transferring the pattern before you to any material before working.

Perhaps the easiest way is the "wind-down-pane" method. This is successful when the material is thin, like linen, batiste, etc. Pin the sheet of paper and the material together and hold them up against the glass of a window.

With a sharp pencil draw on the material the design, which can be easily seen through the goods. If one-half of the design only be given, unpin the paper and turn the other side to the fabric. The strong light behind will make it plain.

If you have carbon paper, you should place the sheet between your fabric and the newspaper. This latter is on top. With a sharp pencil go over the outline of the design. The impression will be left in fine lines and will last, until worked. This method is successful on heavy material.

The last way is also easy. On wax paper or ordinary tissue paper trace the pattern before you. When the design is completed, turn over the paper and outline the pattern with a heavy lead pencil. Then place the design down on the fabric and redraw the outline, pressing hard with the pencil. The pattern will be transferred without difficulty.

Surely the way is easy.

Gift for an Invalid

WHEN planning your holiday gifts, don't forget the invalid. Make a bag of dainty dowered silk or cretonne, running inch-wide satin ribbon in the top for a drawstring and lining it with delicately scented silk.

Have the drawstring very long so it can be hung on the bedpost in easy reach of the invalid's hand, without the necessity of her raising herself in bed.

In the bag is a small paper pad, pencil, handkerchief and anything she may need that otherwise would have to be handed to her by an attendant.

Sometimes a little surprise can be slipped in the bag that will give much happiness and help to pass the weary hours of suffering.

County Council Pays Visit to Jail and Find that Sanitation is Impossible with Limited Number of Cells -- Criticize Police Magistrate.

That owing to overcrowding, conditions in the common jail are a disgrace to any civilized community, and that the police magistrate accentuates the difficulties by his practice of remanding prisoners and keeping them in jail without determinate sentences, were the discoveries made by a committee of the county council which paid a visit of inspection to the jail yesterday. The committee found that 74 prisoners were crowded into 16 cells, that all the requirements of sanitation were wanting, as well as most of the conditions of decency and morality; and they decided to make a number of important recommendations to the council with a view to alleviating the evils. In one case they found a man and a boy locked in a cell, a condition which is contrary to all modern jail practice, and lends itself to the most frightful abuses.

The committee which inspected the jail consisted of the chairman, Council M. O'Connell, of St. Martin's, and Councillors Codner and J. E. Jones, with the county secretary and the sheriff. They decided to recommend the council to install a laundry plant in the jail and to provide the prisoners with clothing. They decided also to ask the council to authorize the provision of shower baths, and to establish elsewhere, another matter which they thought demanded attention was the provision of better ventilation for the cells and corridors.

Disgrace to Community. The chairman of the committee when seen by a reporter, said the conditions in the jail at the present and the strongest kind of an argument and the strongest kind of an argument for the immediate establishment of a prison farm.

"The jail is frightfully overcrowded," he said. "This condition, we were told, has been developed by the fact that the patrol wagon now brings many prisoners to the jail for safe keeping, who before it was placed in use, were taken by the policemen to the lockups and kept there for the night. Sheriff de Forest, who impressed me as a very capable official, also charged that the police magistrate increased the difficulty by neglecting his duty and remanding many prisoners whom he ought to give a speedy trial, and not keep in jail under indeterminate sentences. In some cases five or six prisoners were crowded in a cell, a condition which should not be tolerated in any jail.

"Eight Cells Not in Use. There are eight cells in the basement of the new big wing which are not being used. We were told that the reason was that they were too damp to place prisoners in, but the building is heated by steam, we did not think the reason was a very strong one.

"As to sanitation, there is no such thing in the jail. Ordinary decency is impossible under the present crowded conditions. We will recommend the installation of a shower bath and the provision of clothes for the prisoners, so that when they are taken there, their old clothes can be taken away and the prisoners given a good bath and clean clothing.

"Now they are brought there, many of them in filthy clothes which they have to wear during the period of their sentence, and the quarters are usually overrun with vermin. Now, and then the guards have to strip the prisoners and put their old clothes in pickle, a heroic remedy which does suffice to keep the place free of parasites.

Sanitation Impossible. "Sanitation, cleanliness or decency are impossible under present conditions. Two thirds of the prisoners there are drunks, and they must be kept out when they are taken. We saw a young fellow, who did not look to be more than 14 years old locked in a cell with an older man. "Such conditions as obtain can not lend themselves to reform; they are more apt to brutalize and pollute the prisoners.

"We need a prison farm and need it quick. The mere drunks and young fellows with no great harm in them are being brutalized there when they might be learning habits of industry on a prison farm without expense to the community.

Preparations for the Laymen's Missionary Convention, to be held in this city on the 20th and 22nd of November are gradually nearing completion, and present indications are that the convention will meet with the greatest success hoped for by those who have been instrumental in bringing St. John into the list of convention cities.

Rev. J. E. Tucker, secretary of the movement, has received to date between 200 and 300 names for registration as commissioners, and when the convention opens the number will no doubt reach the three hundred mark. Rev. M. E. Fletcher, who has been in Newcastle, Sussex, Moncton, and Woodville and other places in the province reports that each of them will send large representations.

At the session of the Anglican Synod, held during the week in Fredericton, Bishop Richardson commended the movement, and he will take part in the convention, which will be attended by a large number from all the denominations.

The great convention will open on Monday 20th, which will be the grand rallying day for registration at the headquarters 85 Prince William street.

The special feature of the St. John convention will be the grand meeting on Tuesday, Nov. 21st, to be addressed by Sir Alexander Fraser, and J. Campbell White.

Nothing is being overlooked to make the convention a memorable one, and the programme arranged for in this city is of a high order.

Among the speakers during the convention will be Rev. J. Day, M.A., chairman of Canada's Congregational Union, who is well known in Montreal for his religious and social activities; also the Rev. Canon Gould, general secretary of the M.S.C.C. Canon Gould succeeded the Rev. D. L. Workman, Tucker as secretary and has proved himself worthy of the high position he fills. He has a brilliant college record, receiving the degree of B.A. from Toronto University and M. D. from Queens, Kingston. He accepted a call to missionary work among the Mohammedans, believing this to be the hardest work possible. In this work his medical knowledge was invaluable, especially his ability as an eye specialist. Rev. J. Day will take part in the general Anglican denominational rally.

Meeting Tomorrow. Leo Patrick Cathels will address the meeting tomorrow morning in the Y. M. C. A. at 10 o'clock.

Interesting Musical Event. The lecture on Shakespeare and music to be delivered in Stone church schoolroom on next Wednesday evening, Nov. 5, by Dr. H. C. Perrin, dean of the music faculty and director of the conservatorium of McGill University, which is to be under the auspices of the Women's Canadian Club is arousing much interest and will open the season of the club's activities. The lecture will be musically illustrated.

POINTS TO REMEMBER. What does St. John lack? Isn't it manufacturing establishments and population? The former will furnish the latter. Cheap power will furnish the former.
