Old England Rattled

While Wales and Scotland Shake Violently

From the Effects of a Severe Shock of Earthquake.

Tories Make Capital Out of Russian Aggressions — An Actor Feigns Sickness to Get the Audience Out of a Burning Theater — Mrs. Crocker Strangled to Death by Her Son at Carlsbad.

Three Hundred Houses Burned.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 18.—A fire in Siredosk, Saratov, destroyed 300 houses last night, rendering 2,500 people homeless.

Cholera on the Increase.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 18.—The official cholera report states that there were 8,458 new cases in Russia yesterday and 3,270 deaths. This is a marked increase.

All Europe Sweltering.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Foreign advices state that all Europe is suffering from the extreme hot wave which shows no sign of abating in many places. Business is practically suspended and hundreds of deaths are reported.

Nearly Every House Burned.

BERNE, Aug. 18.—A most disastrous conflagration to-day visited the village of St. Stephen, 29 miles southwest of this place. The fire swept through the place, destroying nearly every house in it. The population of St. Stephen is about 1,500, and they have lost nearly all their possessions.

A Canadian Honored.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—Gen. Charles Robinson, who was recently appointed to the command of the troops and garrison at the Mauritius, is brother of ex-Lieut.-Gov. John Beverley Robinson, of Ontario, and Mr. Christopher Robinson, Q.C., of Toronto. Both his brothers from Canada were present in London to wish the general good luck on his departure to take command.

Severe Earthquake Shocks in the Old Country.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—A severe earthquake shock was felt in various sections of England, Wales and Scotland this morning. Crockery and glassware were broken. At Milliford Haven, Wales, the first movement lasted twelve seconds. At 12:40 a.m. another shock was felt, lasting five seconds. The last shock resembled an explosion. Consternation prevailed among the people. Many houses oscillated violently.

Serious Rioting in a Russian Town.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—A dispatch from St. Petersburg says: Serious riots have occured in the small manufacturing town of Hughesofka on the sea of Azov, where thousands of hands are employed in the extensive iron works, collieries and rolling mills of the new Russia company, founded by the late John Hughes. Many buildings have been destroyed, and it is reported that several Cossacks have been killed. The Governor of Taganrog has started for the scene with troops, and reinforcements have also left Ekaterinoslav. It is thought that the riots are due to the cholera epidemic.

Making Capital of Russia's Aggression.

LONDON, Aug. 18.—The Conservative and Liberal-Unionist newspapers are fomenting the popular excitement on the subject of Russia's advance into the Pamir region and the bold attempts of the Russians to arouse trouble in Afghanistan. The Tories insist that Russia has been encouraged by the prospect of Mr. Gladstone's return to power to renew her aggressions near the Indian frontier. The St. James Gazette says that there is every reason to believe that attempts will be made by Russia to overstep the Afghan frontier along the whole line, and that it is difficult to exaggerate the gravity of the crisis. A space of less than 100 miles separates the Russian from the English outposts.

An Actor's Clever Ruse.

ROME, Aug. 18.—At Biella, in the Province of Novara, Northern Italy, the theater was burned Tuesday night under thrilling circumstances. The theater was a handsome one for such a small town, containing about 12,000 people. A play was going on when one of the performers, who was waiting to be called on the stage, thought he noticed tiny threads or smoke curling up from the floor. He quietly called the attention of the stage manager to the circumstance, and the latter hastened without giving any alarm to investigate under the stage. On entering the door that led under the stage he was speedily driven back by the smoke, and saw at once that the place was on fire. The stage manager kept his self-control, and returned to the stage, where one of the chief characters was about to appear. The manager whispered the situation to the actor, and asked the latter to feign sickness when he went out to act his part, and thus give an excuse for stopping the performance. The actor did as suggested. He went on the stage immediately and pretended to reel, and then fell. The audience arose in sympathy and excitement, and the stage manager rushing forward hurridly said that owing to the serious illness of the signor the performance would have to close for that night. The doors were promptly thrown open, and the audience were hurried out. Just as the last of the audience were leaving the flames began to burn through the stage, and looking back the people saw the real cause of the dismissal. The theater was entirely destroyed, but no lives were lost. The loss by the theater property is about 300,000 lire, equivalent to $40,000.

Choked His Mother to Death.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—Mrs. Alice Crocker, of Chicago, was strangled by her son, 23 years old, in her apartments in the Koenig Villa in Carlsbad on Monday. Young Crocker is in an asylum. Mrs. Crocker and her son came to Carlsbad some time ago, at the end of a tour through Western Europe. They apparently were on the best of terms when they arrived, and young Crocker was with his mother almost constantly when she was in public. He always accompanied her when she took the waters. On Friday the landlord of the Koenig Villa says young Crocker behaved peculiarly. He went a short way from the villa several times in negligé costume, once without a hat, collar or necktie. When asked whether he was ill he said merely that he wanted more air, and that somebody in the house was trying to suffocate him. At dinner he complained that his letter of credit had given out and that he must raise money immediately. This excited surprise, as a friend, who had been at the bank with him in the afternoon, had noticed that he had drawn an exceptionally large sum, of which he had spent very little. In the evening Crocker was erratic in his behavior, and was heard talking loudly and bitterly to his mother. On Monday young Crocker complained of a pain in his head, but otherwise seemed unusually well. He talked with several acquaintances on the front veranda as to his mother's plans for the rest of their time in Europe. Then he jumped up and said: "That reminds me, I must see her at once or it will be too late." He hastened off to Mrs. Crocker's apartments and remained there an hour. He was heard talking angrily, but nothing was thought of it. Then all sounds ceased. A few minutes later something fell heavily in Mrs. Crocker's bedroom. A chambermaid heard groans. Mrs. Crocker was found dead on the floor with the marks of her son's fingers on her throat. Her clothes were not torn nor her hair more than lightly ruffled. Evidently she had been taken by surprise by her son's attack and had little opportunity to struggle before becoming unconscious. Young Crocker made no effort to escape. He acknowledged his crime, but seemed to have no conception of what he had done. He was examined by physicians and by them was pronounced hopelessly insane.

A Famous Vocalist Dead.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—Treballi Bettini, the well known contralto, is dead.

Thirty Drowned.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 19.—The steamer Grigorieuw was wrecked at Nijni Novgorod to-day during a storm. Thirty of the passengers and crew were drowned.

Cholera in St. Petersburg.

ST. PETERSBURG, Aug. 19.—After a prolonged inquiry it is non-officially admitted that the capital is infected with Asiastic cholera of a mild form which chiefly attacks factory hands.

Collapse of a Grand Stand.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—During a horse show at Buxton yesterday a grand stand crowded with spectators collapsed. Many persons were seriously injured including the suffragan bishop of Guildford.

Lighting Up the Atlantic.

PARIS, Aug. 19.—The French Trans-Atlantic Company has taken up again the project relative to ocean lights which was dropped a few years ago. A proposal is that light ships connected by telegraph cable be stationed at intervals of 200 miles across the Atlantic.

Mr. Blake's Farewell.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Mr. Edward Blake, the Canadian, who represents South Longford in the new Parliament, has started for a holiday in Quebec. In a farewell address to the Nationalists in Liverpool, he declared his belief that in the next session, or at the latest the session after that, home rule for Ireland will an accomplished fact.

The Moated Grange.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Lord Tennyson's birthplace, referred to by the poet in his "Mariana," was offered at auction to-day. The place comprises 1,269 acres of land, near Horn Castle, and includes in its boundaries two villages. Despite the auctioneer's seductive description of the beauties of the estate, the poetic associations connected therewith, and the fact that £100,000 was offered for it a few years ago, the highest bid was £36,500, and this being far below its value it was bought in by the vendors.

Ireland's Population Decreasing.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The Irish census for 1891 has just been published. The population, including those serving in the army and navy, foots up 4,704,750, there being 2,318,953 males and 2,385,797 females. This shows a decrease from the last census, taken in 1881, of 470,086, the males being 2,533,277 and the females 2,641,559, the decrease being 9.08 per cent. The most marked diminution was in children under 15, the figures being 15.7.

Terrors of the Earthquake.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—At Greystones, near Dublin, after the earthquake shocks early yesterday morning, people camped in the gardens or walked the streets in groups. The air was thick and sulphurous. At Pembroke the citizens thought a powder magazine of the torpedo works a mile distant had exploded. On learning the truth they promenaded the streets. Many were thrown out of their beds. Policemen testify to seeing buildings rock on their foundations. Similar accounts come from other places. In nearly all cases two shocks were felt.

Aged Bank Forgers Released.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—McDonald and Hill, accomplices of Bidwell in the great bank forgeries of 1873, have been released on condition that they leave the country. They have both started for America. Hill is a snowy haired idiot, as a result of his long confinement. McDonald, except that he is aged, looks well. He says the prison regime is calculated to make men mad or brutes. He was offered ten years off his sentence if he would divulge the method of splitting bank notes. He says he refused because he did not know the method. The bank authorities, however, persist in believing he did it.

Poor Sir Algernon!

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The most noted of the unsuccessful aspirants for reward at the hands of the retiring Government is Sir Algernon Borthwick, M.P., proprietor of the Post, who has done yeomen service for the Conservatives. He was, among other things which Conservatives like to recall, one of the founders of the famous Primrose League. Sir Algernon Borthwick expected a peerage, but owing to the failure of his efforts to get Kensington to return Mr. Ritchie Lord Salisbury declined to give it to him. The Queen was surprised at the omission of Sir Algernon Borthwick's name, and seemed anxious to honor him, but owing to her invariable rule not to exercise the Sovereign's right of overruling the Premier in such matters she deferred to Lord Salisbury, who remained firm. Lady Borthwick, a very ambitious woman, laments the misfortune openly, and takes the matter much more to heart than her husband seems to.

Old England Alarmed.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—Yesterday was the hottest day for many years. The whole past week has in fact been phenomenal in respect of heat all over the continent. The heat is of the humid kind, which makes life a burden. The reports of the earthquake alarm are becoming more numerous, and nervous people are getting frightened lest the snug little island may be in danger of some mighty upheaval. Dublin, Cornwall, Devon, Worcester and Gloucester have experienced the tremors. The sharpest shocks have been at Penzance and Worcester. Severe storms have followed these seismic disturbances, and all over England to-night torrents of rain fell amid terrific lightning and thunder.

War Not Expected.

BERLIN, Aug. 10.—The autumn parade of the Garde de Corps was held yesterday on the Tempelhof parade ground. The day was oppressively warm, the mercury marking 97 degrees in the shade, and Emperor William for the purpose of sparing the men ordered that a march past was to be the only maneuver. When the parade was over the Emperor, in the course of his customary remarks, begged the officers to give an absolute denial to all rumors of approaching war and of an increase in the budget. He also denied the report that it was the intention of the Government to introduce a smaller caliber rifle in the army.

British Parliament Prorogued.

LONDON, Aug. 19.—The House of Commons met at 3 o'clock yesterday. Mr. Marjoribanks moved that the Speaker issue warrants and make out writs for new elections to fill the seats made vacant by members of the House accepting office. Mr. J. K. Hardie, Laborist, member for South Westham, moved the House hold an autumn session, but this motion was squashed by the Speaker, who declared that the House could not consider it in the absence of the responsible Ministers.

There were only 30 members present in the House of Commons last evening when Parliament was formally prorogued until Nov. 4.

The following additional appointments were officially announced late this afternoon: Mr. Herbert Gladstone, son of the Prime Minister, Under Secretary of the Home Office; Mr. Thomas Burt (Laborist), Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade; Mr. George Granville Leveson-Gower, Comptroller of her Majesty's household.

CROOKEDNESS IN CHICOUTIMI.

Tory Methods of Conducting the Election—Polling Without a List.

QUEBEC, Aug. 19.—There is reason for believing that the Chicoutimi election was one of the greatest political frauds ever perpetrated in this district by the Tory authorities. Mr. Savard's agent has wired to Quebec that his principal is elected by 39 votes if the Point aux Esquimaux poll is eliminated. At the last moment Returning Officer Tremblay telegraphed to man named Gosselin at Point aux Esquimaux, notifying him that he had been named deputy returning officer that; he was to open a poll. Gosseling answered that he had neither ballot boxes nor ballot paper. The returning officer then wired him as follows: "Tadousac, Aug. 15.—Proceed to-morrow as follows: Get a small wooden box made, prepare a certain number of ballot papers and write the names of the three candidates upon them." On the morning of the 16th the deputy returning officer wired that he had no voters' list for his poll. "If you have no list," answered the returning officer, "allow those who are supposed to be electors to vote and it will be all right." The deputy returning officer then went to work and returned 63 votes for Belley. Both parties claim the victory. Flags are flying over the residences of both condidates at Chicoutimi, and both parties are so much excited that trouble is feared.

BASEBALL.

ALERTS VS. CHATHAM.

To-morrow afternoon, weather permitting, the Alerts and Chatham Baseball Club, will face each other on the old Tecumseh Park, London West. Wiscott and Martin, a crack battery, will fill the points for the visitors, whilst Hiscott and Quinn will do likewise for the home team. Below will be found the names and positions of the Alerts: Hiscott, pitcher; Quinn, catcher; Johnson, first base; Hynd, second base; Player, third base; Arthurs, short-stop; Bail, left field; Burton, center field; Sheere, right field.

THE WHEEL.

LONDONRIDERS AT SARNIA.

The London wheelmen have returned from the Sarnia races. The Y. M. C. A. riders of this city covered themselves with glory in the road race, winning five out of twelve prizes in that event. Frank White had a big lead on all competitors. Charles White and Clay Manville won fourth and fifth places respectively, while Walter Mann and R. M. Brebner arrived eleventh and twelfth. Stratford, St. Thomas and Sarnia were their competitors. All had a splended time and are loud in their praises of Sarnia's enterprise and hospitality. W. K. Evans, of this city, was one of the judges, and W. Owens, late of the F. C. B. C., one of the time keepers.

THE TURF.

BRANTFORD, Aug. 19.—Geneva, the stallion which won the 2:30 trot in Chicago yesterday, is owned by Mr. Cope Stinson, the well-known horse trainer, of this city. He purchased the animal some three years ago, and got him for $800. To-day, as a result of his recent performance, he is held at $25,000.

AQUATIC.

Y. M. C. A. REGATTA.

There was quite a crowd at Wonderland last night on the occasion of the Y. M. C. A. regatta. The darkness prevented the completion of the programme of races and only three events were contested. Fred Beitz and Will Lind won the double outrigger and tandem canoe races without any extraordinary exertion. A tub race was started between Bart Howard and George Sippi and an outsider. It consists of propelling a tub the best way one knows how, but progress was so slow that the competitors were lost in the gloaming. The remainder of the races will come off some Saturday afternoon.

The Great Strikes.

Critical Condition of Affairs at Buffalo.

All Classes of Trainmen Likely To Be Involved.

Nearly Eight Thousand Soldiers Sent to the Scene.

Pinkertons Brought in by the Reading Company.

President McLeod Says the Time for Arbitration Has Passed.

Bloody Work in Tennessee—Conflicts Between Miners and Militiamen—Gatling Guns Mow Down the Men—General Strike at Louisville Threatened.

A SERIOUS OUTLOOK.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 18.—The Commercial says: "As the situation now stands, there will be a general strike, involving engineers, firemen, conductors and trainmen on the Lehigh, Erie, N. Y. C., West Shore and Lake Shore by Saturday or Sunday, or the strike will have to be regarded as a flat failure. The grand officers of all the unions are in the city or within call. Chief Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, is in Toronto. Grant Master Sargeant, of the Firemen's Brotherhood, is supposed to be at the Falls. The meeting of firemen Tuesday evening was one of the largest ever held here, and the men are in sympathy with the switchmen. The conductors are known to be in touch with the other three organizations, and if a climax is reached will work in harmony with them.

EIGHT THOUSAND SOLDIERS SENT TO THE SCENE.

ALBANY, N. Y., Aug. 18.—Governor Flowers has ordered out 3,000 additional militia to be in Buffalo by noon to-morrow, making 8,000. The commanding officers of the Burgess corps and Jackson corps, of this city, have tendered the services of their commands at Buffalo to Governor Flowers.

THE PINKERTONS AGAIN.

ELMIRA, N. Y., Aug. 18.—The Reading Company brought 300 men to Sayre to-day, the majority of them being coal and iron police and Pinkerton men. A number of freight handlers and other men were also brought, but only a small number of them consented to do any switching and they very soon quit. The company has succeeded in moving several trains.

THE BOSSES DECLINE ARBITRATION.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Aug. 18.—The following telegram was sent by President McLeod, of the Reading Railroad, this afternoon to General Superintendent Bonzano at Buffalo:

"Am in receipt of your message stating that the New York State Board of Mediation and Arbitration have written to you that one Sweeney is willing to arbitrate, and has asked whether this company is willing to consent to arbitration. In the opinion of the management of this company the time to ask for or consider the question of arbitration had passed when the men abandoned the services of the company, destroying its property and threatening to murder its employes. They are now, therefore, in my judgment, not entitled to any consideration other than that of outlaws. Signed, A. A. McLEOD, president."

WHY THEY DECLINE ARBITRATION.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 18.—President McLeod, of the Reading, and Vice-President Webb, of the New York Central, have both to-night officially refused to arbitrate with their ex-employes. In substance the magnates say they have no grievances, and they know no reason why the employes have any. President McLeod characterizes some of his ex-employes as "outlaws."

MILITARY MOVEMENTS.

ALBANY, Aug. 18.—Troop "A" from New York city will leave for Buffalo to-night. The troop will number from 80 to 100 horses and men and are sent for patrol duty. They may be useful in scattering crowds. Gallup's signal corps of about twenty and containing the best signallers in the country are sent in case strikers become turbulent and cut the wires or otherwise block electrical communication. All of the Fourth Brigade is at the scene. The total number of men ordered out is 7,883. The adjutant-general thinks nearly 7,000 of these men will go to Buffalo. The remainder of the National Guard, numbering 5,554, are held in reserve to be ready at a moment's notice.

FIREMEN AND ENGINEERS HOLD THE KEY.

BUFFALO, N. Y. Aug. 18.—The Erie and New York Central yards were quiet to-night. Neither roads attempted to take out any freight, and none came in. Up to midnight the firemen had not gone out. The firemen and engineers or either branch have the key to the situation. The engineers will not run with green firemen, and if the firemen go out it means a tie-up or concessions by the employers. The firemen have been considering the situation to-night, and there are many among them who desire to force matters to an issue. The strike had lost nothing in its dramatic intensity to-night, but has rather gained, and if reports be true that the west is joining in a general demand for a scale be true, we may have the world's greatest railroad strike.

TO-DAYS DEVELOPMENTS.

THE ENTIRE VANDERBILT SYSTEM TIED UP.

BUFFALO, Aug 19.—By the calling out of the switchmen on the Nickel Plate, the entire Vanderbilt system in Buffalo is now tied up. The number of switchmen on strike in Buffalo is now estimated at from 600 to 700. The roads involved are seven, viz., the Erie, Buffalo Creek, Lehigh division of the Philadelphia and Reading, Central Hudson, West Shore, Lake Shore and New York Central. The roads not so far implicated are three, viz., the Western New York and Pennsylvania, the Delaware and Lackawanna and the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg. They may be involved later, though as long as they refrain from handling boycotted freight they will not be dragged into the fight unless it seems absolutely necessary, the leaders say. The Michigan Central runs its passenger trains into the New York Central station, but its freight goes into the yard at Suspension Bridge and it employs no switchmen here. Seventy-five men are out at Suspension Bridge, Waverly, Sayre and other points and this probably does not measure the ultimate extent.

Erie county is now largely interested in the railroad strike being called upon to foot a bill of about $20,000 a day to protect the property of the railroads. It is estimated that in all 8,000 of the National Guard have been called to Buffalo at an average expense of about $2 50 a day per capita. In addition we may have to pay damages for property destroyed and for the deportation of workmen who profess to have been lured here by false representations.

The Philadelphia and Reading managed to send out a few trains yesterday although there was no assurance that they would be able to reach their destination. This, however, was a forward step for the road, and was viewed with satisfaction by the officials.

Vice-President Wasb, of the New York Central, thinks the backbone of the strike is broken. The men of course are not of his opinion, and there is almost room for a diversity of views. The men say the battle is as yet beginning and that it will include firemen, trainmen, engineers and conductors, as necessity may require until the victory is won. The switchmen profess to be able to hold out for a month or two at least, while the companies say "We can stand it if they can."

From a union standpoint the present strike differs from that of two years ago, in that it has been regularly called and sanctioned by the grand master. This strike will be a duel to the death between organized labor and its sworn foes. The men are angry at the action of the State and county in calling out so many troops, and incurring, so they say, a needless expense to benefit one of the parties—and that the richest of the two—without compelling them to submit the question in dispute to arbitration. The massing here of the troops for the protection of the railroad property and its imported non-union workmen is the trump card played by the roads. They say they can soon end the strike if they have all the protection they need.

THE SWITCHMEN'S DEMANDS.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—Referring to the concessions asked of the railroad companies, Mr. Simscot said: "Anyone would naturally think to read the interviews with officials of railroads, that switchmen were making demands, which, if conceded, would wreck their companies. Nothing, however, is further from the truth. The switchmen are only asking 27 cents per hour as a maximum amount of wages, and that for night work. The day men are asking only 26 cents per hour. Now a comparison of these wages with those received by almost any class of skilled mechanics will demonstrate the justice of such demands."

PREPARATIONS FOR A LONG STRUGGLE.

The distribution of grand officers of the organization indicates that arrangements are being made for a long and determined fight. Vice-Grand Master Downey has taken up quarters in New York City, and Mills W. Barrett, grand organizer, has been ordered to Cleveland to prepare for expected battle there.

THE FIRST DEATH.

BUFFALO, Aug. 19.—One of the most lamentable incidents of the strike was the shooting of Quarter-Master Sergeant F. W. Elsaesser, of the Sixty-fifth Regiment, yesterday morning. The accident occurred at the Cheektowaga trestle, where part of the regiment was then stationed. The man who shot Elsaesser was Private Lucien Holmes, of the Sixty-fifth. Although explicit orders had been issued not to have any loaded pieces lying about, the order must have been disregarded. Holmes picked one of the rifles out of a stack and began trying the hammer. Elsaesser, who was standing directly in front of Holmes, paid no attention to Holmes and the latter did not notice his comrade. The trigger snapped suddenly, and to Holmes' astonishment a sharp report followed. The bullet struck Elsaesser in the right side of the head and tearing its way through the skull emerged at the forehead and imbedded itself in the wall. He died about 2:15 o'clock. All that was possible was done for him. Holmes is distracted with grief at the result of his carelessness.

Frederick W. Elsaesser was one of the best soldiers in the Sixty-fifth Regiment. He enlisted in 1881. He was then 20 years old. He soon rose to the position of quarter-master sergeant.

THE COMPANIES DETERMINED.

BUFFALO, N. Y., Aug. 19.—A railroad official outlined the policy of the companies this morning as follows: "The railroads will never give in. I know that the employes are determined, but the companies are equally so. If the strikers gain this point there is no telling where the thing will stop. Next year is the World's Fair season, and if strikers win they would have the roads by the hip, and would not hesitate to ask for anything. Now is the time to stop it and it might as well be fought out if it does take all summer."

PASSENGER TRAINS STOPPED.

Several of the early trains coming in this morning were stopped east of Chicago and Louisiana stations, and the passengers were obliged to finish their journey on the Seneca street trolley line. There was a solid string of passenger coaches from the central coal shed to Alabama street. The suburban trains reaching the city between 7 and 8 o'clock, bringing in large numbers of people, were also held in the yards and the passengers left them and came down in street cars. At 9:30 this morning grain commenced to move from all the central elevators in the creek. Five full crews are at work in the Ohio street yards under protection of soldiers. There has as yet been no disturbance, but the soldiers are hooted at by large crowds of toughs.

The War Against Convict Labor.

BLOODY WORK AT COAL CREEK.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 18. — A special says that a mob of miners made a movement on the stockade at Coal Creek, but fell back out of the range of the soldiers' guns. They finally captured a train and went to Briceville for dynamite to return later and renew the attack.

A Knoxville (Tenn.) telegram says: The miners have made two attacks on the soldiers at Coal Creek, each time being repulsed. The repulse is said to have been very bloody. Five hundred militia and citizens are hurrying forward to reinforce Col. Anderson. People here are terribly excited and business is suspended. A bulletin to the Journal says a third attack has been made on Camp Anderson, which was repulsed with heavy loss, many being killed.

CHATTANOOGA, Tenn., Aug. 18.—A special just received says the troops at Camp Anderson, Coal Creek, surrendered this morning. The soldiers and convicts at Clinton are en route home. The report is not yet confirmed.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—Latest information received at the capitol from Coal Creek is that Gen. Anderson has been captured, but his men are still fighting. Gen. Carnes, general commander of State troops, is within one mile of Coal Creek, and a fierce battle is expected.

MINERS MOWED DOWN.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 18.—This afternoon the court house bell rang the riot call. The excitement is intense. In the third attack on Camp Anderson the Gatling guns were brought to bear upon the miners with deadly effect. Many were killed and wounded. At 6 o'clock this evening the alarming news was brought in that and was being held a prisoner, with a guard to prevent a hotheaded mob hanging him. The details of the reported capture are not yet known, but it is said it to some extent disheartened the militia. They are, however, fighting with desperation, as they know that capture will be followed by death of all at the hands of the infuriated mob. Reinforcements are hurrying forward, but they are few in number, though brave fighters.

CAPT. ANDERSON HAD BEEN CAPTURED

IN DEADLY PERIL.

At 8 p.m. Gen. Carnes and the West Tennessee troops have not yet arrived, and it is feared that the little band that left Knoxville this afternoon will be butchered before help can reach it.

TROUBLE IN KENTUCKY.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Aug. 18.—Unless an adjustment is made within a few hours it is probable the switchmen of all the roads entering Louisville will go out on strike. They are dissatisfied with the wages and the hours. The strike at Buffalo precipitated a demand on the Louisville and Nashville for the adoption of a standard, or Chicago scale. The switchmen of the road will be informed to-morrow by the company that their request has been refused. The men claim they will immediately quit work. A general railroad strike will ensue.

LABOR NOTES.

The moulders' strike at Kingston is over. Four men resumed work in Chown & Cunningham's foundry Monday. The strike lasted seven months.

The strike in the Elmira, N. Y., iron and steel rolling mill has been declared off, after having been in force two years and two months. It was an unconditional surrender on the part of the Amalgamated Association. About 200 non-union men now at work in the mill will be retained.

SERIOUSLY ILL.

The Dominion Premier Unable to See Friends—He Must Take a Health-Seeking Voyage.

Sir John Abbott, according to the Empire, has only very partially and imperfectly recovered from his late illness. Anxiety as to his condition is far from being allayed. Says our contemporary: "He continues weak, and finds any mental exertion, even dictation, exhausting. After the meeting of the council on Saturday the Premier was obliged to use a stimulant to enable him to reach St. Anne's that night, and he has since been unable to see visitors or to transact anything but business of absolute necessity. His medical advisers have recommended entire abstention from work of any kind, or discussion of public matters for at least a month, and it is understood he contemplates, under their advice, making a short sea voyage in his yacht. Sir John Abbott's many friends will doubtless hope that he may realize all the benefits that are to be expected from perfect rest and the salubrious air of the Gulf.

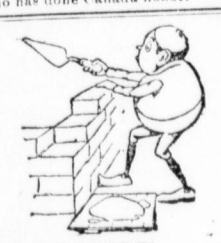

THE FIRE RECORD.

CLEVELAND, Ohio, Aug. 19.—The business portion of Geneva, Ohio, was burned this morning. Loss, $175,000.

To Banquet Mr. Blake.

TORONTO, Aug. 19.—President Yeigh of the Young Men's Liberal Club yesterday cabled an invitation to the Hon. Edward Blake to attend a banquet upon his return under the auspices of the Young Liberals. Should he accept it will probably be held in the Pavilion or other large building in order to accommodate the hundreds who would in that way desire to do honor to one who has done Canada honor.

BUILDING

A reputation is like building a wall. It is first necessary to have a good foundation.

To tell you that our foundation is good would be entirely unnecessary—that you already know full well; but a word as to the superstructure. Our sales are daily increasing. At present we are unable to meet the demand, and the superior merits of CUTIAM'S recently improved WASHING COMPOUND are rapidly convincing the public of their folly in using foreign washing powders. It is sold everywhere.

Chief Medical Officer, Gold Cure Institute, Grimsby:

GRIMSBY, July 21, 1892.

DEAR SIR—Being personally acquainted with the staff of your institute, and having knowledge of the methods and results of your treatment, it affords us great pleasure to say that we consider you are engaged in a work which must result in benefiting humanity. Indeed we feel it our duty to do all in our power to induce those within the sphere of our influence requiring your treatment to consult you.

We have visited your institute and have found it exceedingly well equipped, every care being taken of the patients under your charge, and an air of satisfaction pervading among them. We have noticed some cases in which we thought cures almost impossible, but under your treatment these have been effected in a truly remarkable manner.

We are looking forward to the time when thousands will take the opportunity to put themselves under your care for the cure of liquor, morphine, and similar destroying habits, and we are sure your good work must go on successfully.

We hope this indorsement of your institute and its work will have its effect among those who need to consult you.

Yours very truly,

(Signed) O. G. LANGFORD, Baptist Minister.

JOHN G. MURRAY, Presbyterian Minister.

C. SCUDAMORE, Anglican Curate.

T. L. WILKINSON, Methodist Minister.

A CHEERING PROSPECT.

Ta-ra-ra, boom-de-aye!

This was the tune whistled last evening by the hustling manager of the Western Fair as he was walking down Richmond street towards the station. His face was beaming with smiles and the occasion of his happiness was explained in the few sentences that passed between him and an ADVERTISER reporter, against whom he stumbled in a condition of semi-consciousness.

"Hello," said the scribe, "wherefore this exuberance and absent-mindedness?"

"Well, I declare; here we are again. Well, sir, I have just taken a run out of the office to attend to a few outside duties. You know. Yesterday and to-day we have mailed upwards of 6,000 folders and dodgers to the Patrons of Industry, who are coming to the Western Fair en masse this year on Tuesday, Sept. 20. The grand officers will be on hand to deliver addresses, and farmers generally, as well as members of the order, are anxious to see and hear them. A big street parade, with bands and banners, is on the tapis, and every previous demonstration in the city promises to be eclipsed on this occasion by the Patrons."

"What are your special attractions this year?"

"I cannot enumerate them. See the programme for yourself. I may say, though, that the specialties secured this year are far in advance of any that have heretofore been exhibited at any Canadian exhibition. We intend to please everybody and induce them to come again. This year a much larger attendance of American visitors is assured than ever before. The Western has been better advertised than on any previous year, and the attractions merit all that has been said of them in the press everywhere. Take my word for it that the fair this year will be bigger, better and brighter than ever before. Good-bye."

And off Mr. Brown dodged into a wholesale house opposite the Grigg House to confer with a director about some feature in the fair.

Preparations at the grounds indicate that a very large attendance is expected. The grove with its overhanging branches is more pleasant than ever, and altogether the prettiest fair ground on the continent will be seen by those who attend the Western Fair next month.

Carnegie's Combination.

Andrew Carnegie's present combination, under the name of "The Carnegie Steel Company, Limited," embraces the firms of Carnegie Brothers & Co., Limited, Carnegie, Phipps & Co., Limited, Allegheny Bessemer Steel Company, and the Keystone Bridge Company, at the Edgar Thomson Furnaces; the Edgar Thomson Steel Works, Duquesne Steel Works, Homestead Steel Works, Lucy Furnaces, Keystone Bridge Works, Upper Union Mills, Lower Union Mills, Beaver Falls Mills, Scotia Ore Mines, Larimore Coke Works, and Youghiogheny Coke Works. The general offices of the combination are located in Pittsburg, with branch offices in all the principal cities of the United States. The capital is fixed at $25,000,000, and the company has in its employ upwards of 40,000 men, about 3,800 of whom are at Homestead. The capacity of its works now reaches more than 2,000 tons of pig metal a day, and it is the largest manufacturer of pig-iron, steel rails and coke in the world.

Every Summer.

Lilesvie, Anson Co., N. C., U. S. A., June 26, 1889. "I have suffered with indigestion and nervous depression every summer for fifteen years. I first heard of your medicine at Hendersonville, N. C., a few weeks ago, after I had been prostrated three weeks with indigestion and bowel troubles. I had exhausted several remedies prescribed by physicians without any apparent benefit. I find no other remedy equal to Diamond Vera-Cure." REV. N. B. COBB, D.D. At druggists or sent on receipt of price, 25 cents. Address E. A. Wilson, Toronto.

BERLIN'S BIGAMY CASE.

Peculiar Line of Defence Adopted by the Dual Husband.

BERLIN, Aug. 18.—A peculiar case of bigamy is interesting the people of this locality. A few months ago Joseph Pinshenat became engaged to a very estimable young lady in Elmira named Maggie Weppler. All the preparations for the wedding were complete when it was discovered that the prospective groom had a wife in Berlin. The would-be bride was much put out and instituted an action against Pinshenat for breach of promise, but her solicitors were just on the point of serving the defendant with the writ when the father of Miss Weppler came into the office and said that things were settled and that the plaintiff and defendant had been married at Niagara Falls. Things would then have been all serene had not Pinshenat and wife No. 2 come back to Berlin. Pinshenat was arrested at the instigation of his first wife for bigamy. He was brought before Mr. Mackie, J.P., and the trial was in progress when proceedings were brought to a sudden halt by wife No. 2 refusing to testify on the ground that she was not obliged to appear against her husband. The magistrate overruled this objection. Witness gave her testimony and Mr. Mackie committed the prisoner for trial.

Pinshenat says that he was misled into marrying his first wife by some parties who made him drunk and then accomplished their purpose. He is a well-digger by trade, and affirms that once while he was working in a well a bucket of earth fell on his head, and so affected his brain that ever since if he merely takes a glass of beer he will do very foolish things and almost anything he is asked. This is the reason, he says, of his marriage to "Kate." As a proof of what he says, during his short confinement in the Berlin jail he had had three severe fits, and has to be watched all the time.

Great anxiety is felt by the citizens of Wallaceburg for fear that diphtheria, that is so prevalent just now, may prove an epidemic. The cause arises from pollution of the Sydenham, as the jam in the river has not been cleared since the freshet. Several carcasses have been removed from the water, but piles of filth and rubbish line the north branch, and no effort has been made by the lumbermen to remove it or their logs from the channel. A number of families have left for points along the River St. Clair, and the citizens generally are in a great state of alarm.—[East Kent Plaindealer. Wallaceburg, people, however, say these outside reports are greatly exaggerated and that the disease has been practically stamped out. There were only a few cases.

During the last thunderstorm, Henry Lassenby, of Beachville, was reaping in a field of wheat and took shelter under the reaper from the rain, when a flash of lightning, followed by a heavy clap of thunder, blinded and stunned him for a few minutes. ONTARIO AT THE FAIR.

Arrangements for the Dairy Exhibit—Honey and Dogs Will be Pentiful.

TORONTO, Aug. 18. — Mr. Nicholas Awrey, M. P. P., Ontario Commissioner for the Columbian Exposition, said yesterday that Prof. Robertson, dairy Commissioner, under Dominion Commissioner Professor Saunders, had paid a visit to the office, and had placed before the Ontario Commissioner an outline of the course proposed to be adopted for the dairy exhibit. The Dominion Government have decided to purchase two sample of cheese of each month—May, June, July, September and October of 1892, to be delivered at the expense of the Dominion from the factories lying west of Toronto at London, east of Toront at Montreal. After it arrives Prof. Robertson, assisted by two men appointed by the Ontario Commissioner, will make a selection out of all the cheese collected, which will be the Ontario exhibit.

It is expected that the mineral exhibit will be placed in the smoking-room of the old Legislative buildings by the opening of the Industrial Exhibition, so that members of the press and others may visit it. Yesterday there were received five large bits of gold ore, while other specimens are coming in rapidly. The exhibit will be the largest ever made by the Province.

In the Canadian building, to be erected by the Dominion and Provinces, Ontario will have two offices, 15 feet by 16 feet each. The woodwork will be done in material furnished from the forests of this Province, and the mantels will also be made of Canadian wood by Canadian artists. In connection with this building there will be a large exhibition room, 38 feet by 46 feet, and a reading-room with Canadian papers on file, the whole being a general rendezvous for Canadian visitors.

The space originally granted has been considerably increased through the efforts of Prof. Saunders.

Lumbermen in the Province have responded freely to the invitation, and are placing at the disposal of the Commissioner some choice specimens.

Ontario will make a large exhibit of honey. The Chicago authorities have allowed all the room demanded for this product.

There are any amount of entries for the dog show, and there will be no fewer than 600 entries.

The Medicine Did Not Cure Her.

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—Miss Lizzie Jackson, of Euclid avenue, has issued a writ for $200 damages against W. H. Scripture, a druggist on Queen street west. The claim is based on the somewhat curious allegation that some medicine obtained by the plaintiff from the defendant, made her worse instead of curing her. Mr. Scripture says he has a good defense.

SOUTHERN SNAKE STORY.

Hundreds of Rattlers Under a Kentucky Cabin.

A Farmer and His Wife Pass a Night at the Mercy of the Reptiles.

GREENUP, Ky., Aug. 18.—Timothy Gates, of Gates Station, recently related his harrowing experiences with rattlers. His wife now lies in a deadly stupor, brought on through fright or caused by breathing the sickening fumes arising from the mass of deadly snakes that surrounded them one night. Gates' cabin is two feet off the ground. His watch dog aroused him at night. Soon the hissing and rattling convinced them that rattle snakes in great numbers were beneath their cabin. Then the barking ceased, and they were satisfied that the dogs were dead. Mrs. Gates became unconscious.

They were afraid to move out of bed, as there were holes in the floor that the snakes could crawl through, and in their imagination the snakes were in the room all around.

Mr. Gates, a stalwart man with raven locks, was scarcely recognizable when he told his story owing to his hair having turned gray by fright. His wife has the appearance of having aged ten years. Mr. Gates reports that upon the light penetrating his cabin he peered around, and, seeing no signs of snakes in the room, got up and looked out. There in the yard were hundreds of snakes lying lazily about. In an hour a neighbor approached on horseback, and nearing the cabin, his horse stopped as if paralyzed. Seeing the monsters, and knowing it would be useless to cope with them unarmed, he gathered the neighbors, armed with clubs and shotguns. They engaged in a war that lasted for one hour before Gates was released from his cabin. Eleven dogs suffered death during the fight, and numerous others will die from the effects of the bites of the snakes.

After the battle was over it was found that 141 snakes were killed, some of them monsters measuring over six feet in length and having 43 rattles and a button. Several persons were made faint from the peculiar odor arising from the bodies of the reptiles. Hundreds of the snakes escaped to their den in a cleft of rocks in an old quarry near by. Huckleberry pickers reported that the hills in that vicinity, which are covered with bushes, were overrun to such an extent that it was dangerous to gather the berries.

THE PASSION PLAY.

[From Wives and Daughters for August.]

A short time ago it was announced that the Passion Play of Ober-Ammergau was to be one of the attractions of the World's Fair in Chicago. An amphitheater was to be erected with canvas roof large enough to seat 10,000 people, painted mountains were to take the place of those which nature has furnished as the back ground at Ober-Ammergau, and Joseph Mayer was expected to come across the water to represent Christ.

The project, which is simply shocking to every right-minded person, has apparently been dropped. The wildest attempt to embody sacrilege on a stupendous scale could not exceed this scheme of importing the most sad and sacred event of history into the money-making, amusement seeking atmosphere of Chicago. To reduce the crucifixion down to the level of a Barnum & Bailey's "show," to make the awful story of the cross the subject of mercenary speculation, and the theme of gossiping pleasure seekers—that would be a desecration the bare possibility of which makes the mind recoil with horror. We have not any too much religious sentiment in these latter days. Let us keep the little that we have from being dragged in the mud.

Tempting the Appetite.

Yabsley—Do they set pretty appetizing meals at your house, Mudge?

Mudge—Appetizing? Oh, yes. A fellow gets up hungrier than when he sat down.

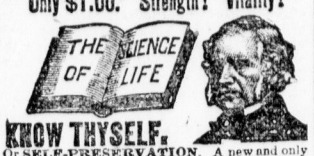

Mr. Job Scales, of Toronto, writes: "A short time ago I was suffering from Kidney Complaint and Dyspepsia, sour stomach and lame back; in fact, I was completely prostrated and suffering intense pain. While in this state a friend recommended me to try a bottle of Northrup and Lyman's Vegetable Discovery. I used one bottle, and the permanent manner in which it has cured and made a new man of me is such that I cannot withhold from the proprietors this expression of my gratitude."

Many men having started on a certain line, finding it unpopular, give it up and try something else; encountering an obstacle, they give that up and try something else. The consequence is they are first-class fizzles from start to finish. Other men are stimulated by opposition. They rather relish hostilities; they like to meet enemies. Adverse criticism they laugh at.

Nothing impure or injurious contaminates the popular antidote to pain, throat and lung remedy and general corrective, Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It may be used without the slightest apprehension of any other than salutary consequences. Coughs, rheumatism, earache, bruises, cuts and sores succumb to its action.

BOYCOTTING THE HORSE AND THE STEAM ENGINE.

Electricity bids fair to be the universal motor power in the near future. It already has been found to be a cheaper agent than horses for propelling street cars, and almost every week sees several hundreds of these hard-worked, docile animals worked out of a job through its adaptation to the wants of urban travelers. But there is a reasonable prospect that at no distant day electricity will replace steam on long distance roads as well as horses on the farm. We look forward to the time when the storage battery will be so improved, cheapened and brought within the reach of everyone that a farmer will be able to attach one to each of his vehicles and heavy implements, and get it to do the work of one or more horses, according to its size, at a tithe of the cost incident to present methods.

Already an electric phaeton has been constructed at Indianapolis, and those who are fortunate enough to attend the World's Fair at Chicago will have opportunity to test its adaptability to human wants. The vehicle will carry two passengers on the same seat and the motorman on the rumble. The motorman will guide with one hand and with the other apply or shut off the electricity, which is generated by six cells located under the main seat. The current is transmitted to a one-half horse-power motor. What the cost of manufacturing this novel vehicle is has not been stated, but it would not be surprising to find that its maintainance is little, if any, higher than an ordinary horse and buggy.

Probably the next great development of electricity, however, will be in supplying radial railways near large cities and in propelling trains on ordinary railways. First of all, we shall have the experimental state. If success crowns the efforts of the enterprising capitalists who now have the matter in hand, they will certainly have many imitators. The most ambitious scheme yet set on foot is that undertaken by the St. Louis-Chicago Electric Railway Company, which is now engaged in the urgent preliminary work, and has bought the necessary right-of-way to establish a bee line between these two big western cities. Capital has not been lacking for the preliminary work, and the projectors, who are men of acknowledged professional standing, state that there will be no difficulty in completing the line throughout and having it in operation 262 miles by the opening of the World's Fair season. It is expected to attain a speed of 100 miles an hour when the machinery and rolling stock have been perfected. The company will at the outset handle passenger, mail, and express business, and later on give attention to freight traffic. One hundred miles an hour appears to be a tremendous speed for even electric cars to run, but it may be that the projectors accept the view that there is greater safety for the traveler in the event of collision on a fast train than on a slow one. If this line is established and successfully operated, then the problem of long distance electric railway development will have been solved. A still more remarkable project is that of Col. Henkle, of Rochester, N. Y., who, according to a dispatch, recently laid before the officials of the Grand Trunk Railway his scheme for harnessing Niagara's water power. He now states that he is almost ready to make a start on the undertaking. He proposes to construct a gigantic power house across the brink of Niagara Falls for the purpose of generating electrical power to be used for lighting, running trains, and operating all kinds of machinery. The power house will cost $35,000,000! Four years will be required to build it, and Col. Henkle expects to make a start in November. This reads like one of Col. Sellars' fabulous projects — with "millions in it!" It may or may not come to anything. But this much is certain, scientists have long ago asserted that there is an enormous amount of power running to waste at Niagara Falls. It only requires well-directed knowledge and ingenuity on the part of man to turn this power to the advantage of the race. Col. Henkle may not have the ability to produce the results he contemplates, and if he has the ability he may find difficulty in getting capital to carry out his work. But if he once can successfully demonstrate that it will pay, he will not experience much trouble in completing his gigantic task.

We are on the eve of an era of marvelous development in the scientific world. Wonders have been accomplished in the last twenty years, for in 1875 electricity was not spoken of as an illuminating agent, much less as a motor. Suppose we make the same relative progress in the next twenty years, where, in the words of the famous Congressman, will we be at?

SOME BRITISH APPOINTMENTS.

It is not often that both father and son are to be found in the same Government; but the appointment of Herbert Gladstone to the post of Under Secretary of the Home Office brings about that unusual family combination. The junior Gladstone, is however, a man in the prime of life, and possesses considerable talent. The selection of Mr. Thomas Burt, miner's secretary, as Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Trade, is a concession to the radical element in Mr. Gladstone's following. Mr. Burt was at one time a working miner, but by the voice of his fellow-workmen he was advanced to the position of general agent of their union, and was returned as member for Morpeth. As he is a poor man his friends have paid his expenses while performing his duties in Parliament. Mr. Burt takes the place in the Government vacated by Mr. Broadhurst, another well known labor leader, in the last Liberal Government. Broadhurst was defeated in the recent contest because he did not see his way clear to indorse an eight-hour bill.

MR. CARLING has been in the city for several days, but up to the hour of writing there is no certification of the rumor that he had resolved to give up the seat in Parliament stolen for him from Mr. Hyman, M.P.

WILLIAM'S LATEST ASSURANCES.

Emperor William, in a speech at Berlin yesterday, absolutely denied all rumors of approaching war. This is so far satisfactory, but people do not forget that the last great European conflict broke out after every national ruler had been protesting that there was peace, and no intention to break it. What the people of Europe need more than anything else is a wholesale reduction of armaments and of taxation. When every workman in the country practically goes to work with a soldier on his back, for whom he has to find sustenance, it is impossible to have that comfort and happiness which his honest earnings should provide.

THE reunion of the English-speaking races on this continent and in Great Britain can surely best be promoted by encouraging commerce and peaceful fraternal intercourse. We have seen no valid reason adduced why the policy of this country should not be steadily shaped with this object in view.

THE PRISONERS AND TWINE.

We trust that the Ontario Government will not be deterred from its determination to break down the binder twine monopoly, and give the farmers of the Province a supply of this useful commodity at a reasonable cost, by any dodges that the ringsters may set on foot. Convicts in the Central Prison have to be employed. It is not fair to the farmers or the wage-earners who have to pay for their keep that they should be maintained in idleness, and it is bad for the prisoners themselves to be locked up without something to cultivate their energies. Objection has been raised that employment of convicts at trades is unfair to existing industries. There is some logic in opposition of that nature; but there is no reason in the outcry raised in some quarters that binding twine should not be produced in the Central Prison because at some future time some one in the Province may see fit to erect a factory.

The fact remains that the Ontario Government has already obtained the necessary machinery for manufacturing the commodity, despite the most strenuous exertions of the twine monopolists to prevent Hon. Mr. Gibson, Provincial Secretary, from purchasing it. The Government laid its plans on the clear knowledge that the farmers of Ontario, as well as the whole Dominion, through the operations of the tariff, were at the mercy of the binder twine combine, and it rightly resolved to so adapt the labor of the prisoners as to relieve the farmers, in some measure, of the great burden. As this can be accomplished without injuring an existing industry, and and as it aims a blow at one of the worst of the combines, the overwhelming mass of the people can be relied on to support the Administration in its course.

TOPICS OF TO-DAY.

At the sanitary convention in Niagara Falls, Dr. J. D. Macdonald, of Hamilton, presented his paper on "The Best Means of Disposing of City Sewage and Garbage." He stated that all expectation of turning sewage to profitable account for agriculture or horticulture will have to be abandoned, as the expense of its application to these is so great. The best that can be looked for is to make as little as possible the loss attending the handling of sewage and garbage. He referred to the assertion of some that rivers and lakes were the natural channels for carring off sewage, and objected to such a claim. Sewage should never be emptied into streams and lakes until it had first been purified. The best system of disposing of sewage was its application to land filtration. He believed in the possibilities of sewage farms.

An inherited tendency to longevity is the primal qualification for reaching old age, and this is something very different from good health or even a sound constitution. It is simply a tendency to live long, and such a person has more of a tenacity on life, though he is sick and puny from childhood, than another person who is strong and robust. Health and vigor may give more pleasure and enjoyment to a person in life, but it does not always signify longevity. So strong is this tendency to longevity among certain families that many of the beneficial orders and life insurance companies attach more importance to the life of parents and grandparents than they do to the simple examination of the applicants. A risk is less of a risk when the policy is issued to a weak, puny individual who comes from a long-lived family than when given to a strong, robust person with no visible disease or complaint, but with a tendency to a short life. Some families are made to last, and for generations the majority will live to 70, 80, 90 and 100 years of age. They will be attacked by numerous diseases, but their tenacity on life will enable them to live through all of them. It is only when all of the organs are finally worn out that they die at a ripe old age. There is no explaining this physiological phenomenon, but striking examples are quoted in the death columns of papers every day.

The Westminster Review for August is full of entertaining and pleasant reading. W. J. O'Neill Daunt discusses the condition of "Ireland Under Grattan's Parliament." J. B. Firth has a notable paper on the development of the English novel, entitled "Some Aspects of Sentiment." F. W. Haine discusses "The Modern Protective System." There is an interesting series of "Glimpses of Tom Moore," contributed by J. Petrie O'Byrne. Frederick Reutter has a thoughtful paper on "Education in Germany." George Greenwood argues "The Ethics of Field Sports." T. Rice Holmes has a caustic paper on "Mr. Froude and His Critics." Robert Ewen discusses "Unfettered Banking," and the number concludes with its usual complete summary of "Contemporary Literature," a department which distinguishes the Westminster from all other reviews, and in which it has achieved an enviable reputation for scholarship and reliability. ‡‡‡

Stephen H. Bonsal, the ex-reporter and foreign correspondent who excited just a glint of envy among his journalistic comrades last April by marrying and carrying off a Cleveland heiress, has recently been making a hero of himself in the journalistic world abroad. He was in Morocco when Sir Charles Evan Smith and the members of the British Mission started out to negotiate a treaty with the Sultan of Fez. He was representing a London newspaper, but was treated as a member of the mission. The conference with the Sultan resulted in a number of tragic incidents, all of which he described in the newspapers, Negotiations being broken off the mission started on his return to Tangier. Bonsal started off for himself and striking out across the desert beat the caravan to the telegraph office by a week. The dispatches electrified Great Britain and on his arrival in London he was summoned to the Foreign Office for a conference with Lord Salisbury, Bonsal was fired at on his way to Fez, and promptly made a representation to the Sultan on his arrival. The Sultan apologized and offered him $5,000 and a jeweled sword. He accepted the sword. Bonsal is one of the lions of London to-day.

THE PROLIFIC POTATO.

[New Orleans Times-Democrat.]

If there were but one potato in the world, a careful cultivator might produce 10,000,000,000 from it in ten years, and that would supply the world with seed again.

THE UNITY OF MANKIND.

[Walt Whitman.]

We are all embarked together like fellows in a ship, bound for good or for bad. What wrecks one wrecks all. What reaches the port for one reaches the port for all. Nothing will do eventually but an understanding of the solidarity of the people, of all people and all races.

THE BACKDOWN.

[Chicago Canadian-American.]

The removal of the canal rebate under pressure is tantamount to a backdown, though very little if any loss of traffic is likely to accrue to Canadian ports as a result of the action taken at Ottawa. The rebate was abolished just two months too late to reflect credit on Canadian diplomacy.

AN OFFICE HOLDER'S EPITAPH.

[Portland Transcript.]

An incorrigible political office seeker died a few years ago, and his friends asked a well-known journalist for an epitaph for his tombstone.

The journalist selected the following, which was not, however, accepted:

Here Lies John Jones
In the Only Place for Which He Never Applied.

THE TAX ON LAND VALUES.

[Portland (Ore.) East Oregonian]

A tax on land values regardless of improvements will do much towards eradicating the abuses of land monopoly and giving the producer all of the fruits of his toil. It would undoubtedly compel the owner of land to be the user of land. It would take the unearned increment now going into the pockets of the monopolizers, manipulators, speculators and the idle rich classes and pay the expenses of government, thereby relieving labor and enterprise of the burden of taxation which is pressing the life out of them at present. It would stimulate industry; it would discourage speculation; it would lessen taxation; it would prevent land values from being inflated by schemers.

FREE INTERCOURSE A NECESSITY.

[Montreal Witness.]

We have, however, less belief than Principal Grant has in the power of either of the peoples of this continent to hold itself aloof from the other. Fraternity is the only possible condition of stable equilibrium. Every gale that blows drives us upon each other's shores and each other's protection. The currents of common waters float American commerce down to us; summer heats and winter colds compel us to visit one another; intellectual, social, moral and religious sympathies draw the good of both nations together in public meetings and discussions. In fact, those who oppose free intercourse between the people of Canada and the United States are fighting against the sun and the earth, the moon and the stars in their course and against the strongest human as well as elemental influences.

WHAT CANADA NEEDS.

[Windsor Record.]

Apart entirely from any desire for a mere party advantage, we have no hesitation in saying that, with the present party, there is no hope for an amicable adjustment of our commercial affairs. Their whole policy has been one of antagonism towards our neighbors. We believe that greater obstacles would have been created to keep our neighbors and ourselves from closer trade relations were it not for the danger of seriously injuring the interests of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which is all powerful with the powers that be. We are firmly of the opinion that the backdown on the canal tolls rebate was because of this danger. When we get rid of the parish politicians at Ottawa and get men in their places who can take a broad statesmanslike view of international questions, then we can look for a better commercial condition of affairs on this continent. We have either got to get this or annexation. The electors have the choice in their own hands.

DESTRUCTIVE FLAMES.

Fire, Water and Smoke Get in Their Work at Ridgetown.

RIDGETOWN, Ont., Aug. 19.—At 12 o'clock to-night fire started in the rear of Long's large dry goods store in the Livingstone Block. It was quickly subdued by the brigade, but not before Mr. Long's large stock was completely ruined. P. Bawden's stock of drugs, next door, was also badly damaged. J. W. Coyne's dental parlor above Long's store, and the lodge rooms in the third flat were also badly injured. Long's loss will be heavy, as will Mr. Bawden's. Insurances unknown at present.

A New Gun Carriage.

NEW YORK, Aug. 19.—The pneumatic gun carriage was yesterday subjected to a thorough test. Ten rounds were fired in an hour with full service charges from a ten-inch rifle. The carriage worked beautifully and will be a grand success.

A Reception to Mr. Blake.

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—President Bryan Lynch has called a meeting of the Irish National League for Richmond Hall on Friday evening to arrange for a reception to Hon. Edward Blake on his return to Toronto. It is proposed to have the reception take place in the Pavilion and the idea is to have it a Provincial affair.

The Northwest Crops.

WINNIPEG, Aug. 19.—Reports on the state of the weather and the crops and the progress made in harvesting in this Province, collected by the Free Press, of this city, were published last night. The reports are all favorable, and two weeks more fair weather, without frost, will insure the largest return of first-class grain that has ever been harvested in the Province and Territories. No damage is reported from frost or hail. Oats and barley cutting is well advanced and a considerable quantity of wheat has also been harvested. Wheat is expected to yield from 20 to 40 bushels per acre, oats from 40 to 60 and barley 30 to 40. Prospects everywhere are of the brightest.

Not an Enemy in the World.

When Narvaez, Duke of Valencia, lay on his death bed, the Archbishop of Granada stood by his side, endeavoring to prepare him for the great change. "I trust that you have pardoned all your enemies, that you also may receive forgiveness." "I have no enemies," said the dying man. "But, your Excellency, a man who has been so long in office as you have——" "I haven't one, I tell you." "Still, it is just possible ——" Not one, I repeat." "Pardon me, your Excellency——" Losing his patience, Narvaez raised himself up with what strength he had left and said to the archbishop:—"Look here, I have no enemies; I had them all shot, and there's an end of it!"

A Veteran's Story

Jos. Hemmerich.

Mr. Joseph Hemmerich, an old soldier, 529 E. 146th St., N. Y. City, writes us voluntarily. In 1862, at the battle of Fair Oaks, he was stricken with typhoid fever, and after a long struggle in hospitals, lasting several years, was discharged as incurable with Consumption.

Doctors said both lungs were affected and he could not live long, but a comrade urged him to try Hood's Sarsaparilla. Before he had finished one bottle his cough began to get loose, the choking sensation left, and night sweats grew less and less. He is now in good health and cordially recommends as a general blood purifier and tonic medicine, especially to his comrades in the G. A. R.

HOOD'S PILLS are hand made, and are perfect in composition, proportion and appearance.

TRAGEDY IN THE BALL FIELD.

A New Orleans dispatch says: At a game of baseball in Carrolltown yesterday afternoon the decision of the umpire produced ill-feeling, and Gabe Jones, the manager of the Allen Baseball Club, whipped out his revolver and opened fire on the crowd, killing Robert Jones, a spectator, instantly, and seriously wounding Louis Foster and Richard Williams. James Brook, manager of the opposing club, fired at Jones, but was a bad marksman and hit no one. A general fight ensued and a number of persons were injured, none seriously.

FLYS.

The St. Louis club has already been shut out seven times in the second season.

Childs and McPhee are considered the heaviest batting second basemen in the League. Burke is not far behind them.

A game of ball was played at Bothwell Wednesday between West Lorne and Bothwell. West Lorne, 20; Bothwell, 9.

The record made by Perry Werden of the St. Louis club is a most enviable one. He has played in 24 games and is credited with but one error.

A baseball match was played at Paris Wednesday on Riverside Park between the Brantford and Galt clubs, which resulted in favor of Brantford 6 to 4.

Eastern Association games, Wednesday: At Providence—Providence, 1; Rochester, 5. At Albany—Albany, 1; Troy, 6. At Buffalo—Buffalo, 5; Binghamton, 7.

The Alerts play the Chatham ball tossers here on Saturday, the Tilsonburg Blues on Aug. 27, and the Athletics, of Hamilton; the 'Varsity team, and the Dukes, of Toronto, later on.

Jocko Halligan, the Baltimore outfielder who broke Captain Stricker's jaw in Boston last Thursday during a dispute, the result of Halligan getting drunk, has been suspended without pay for the rest of the season by the Baltimore management.

THE KENNEL.

A new wire-hair fox terrier has made his appearance in England. He is named Bolton Woods' Perfection, believed to be the best fox terrier in the world. After being exhibited at an obscure little show he was purchased for $1,000 by Mr. Rotherham Cecil, and he is now held at $2,000, although the rough-coated dog is never as highly prized by fanciers as is the smooth coat. One of the latter has just changed hands at $500, although as yet an unknown puppy.

CRICKET.

As an instance of the interest taken in cricket in England, more than 31,000 people paid their way into Kensington Oval to see the recent match there between the Surry and Notty elevens.

The East Toronto Cricket Club will play the London Asylum team on the latters grounds to-day. The home eleven will be: Terry, Beemer, Pope, Williams, Hyman, Bacon, Smith, Walker, Thurling, Flynn and Roes.

The military men report having been royally treated by the Aylmer players. The return match will be played in this city at an early date. Following is the score:

CHATHAM, Ont., Aug. 18.—The touring East Torontos arrived here at 2 a.m. this morning two men short, whose places were filled by two of the Chatham colts. They bowled well and fielded fairly well, but they made a poor showing at the bat. The Chatham club gave a great exhibition of play in the field and hard hitting. Kolfage took two hours for his 64, and Nicholls nearly three hours. Kenny also hit brilliantly and scored 48. Full score:

SPRINGFIELD, Mass., Aug. 18. — New track records, both trotting and pacing, were established on the Hampden Park course this afternoon in the presence of 7,000 people. The first race called was the unfinished 2:19 pacing race, which required three additional heats to finish the race. Chronos, the pool favorite, finally won.

THE PACING RECORD SMASHED.

CHICAGO, Aug. 18.—The world's pacing record went to smash to-day. Old Johnson, who paced his mile in 2:06¼ in October, 1884, at Chicago, has been dethroned, and Hal Pointer reigns in his stead. Hal went around Washington Park track to-day in 2:05¼, making the fastest mile ever gone in harness. As in the case of Nancy Hanks yesterday Hal was hitched to a sulky with low wheels, pneumatic tires and ball bearings. Its weight was the same as that used by Doble in driving Nancy Hanks, 62½ pounds. Hal came out of the race strong and fresh. The official time in first quarter, 31⅝; half, 1:02⅜; three-quarters, 1:34; mile, 2:05¼. Hal Pointer is a bay gelding, 16 hands high, sired by Tom Hall, out of Snow Haven, and owned by Henry Hamlin, of Buffalo, N. Y.

TIPS.

It is stated that the entries for the Aylmer races are coming in very fast.

R. R. McKellar, Glencoe, has sold his driving mare to Levi Lewis, of London, for a handsome figure.

The Quebec Provincial Government has given orders that proceedings be taken to stop the turf pool rooms which have lately been doing a rushing business in Montreal.

THE WHEEL.

Henry A. Becker and Wm. Siegel, two wheelmen from Cleveland, Ohio, are in the city. They have traveled from home via Detroit, and will continue eastward to Toronto, Niagara Falls, and other points in Ontario. "Your Canadian roads are a treat," said one of them. "We must acknowledge they are ahead of those on the other side. We have been kindly treated everywhere by the wheelmen along the line."

THE CANADIAN RECORDS NOW.

The Canadian records have been considerably altered within the last fortnight, almost entirely due to the presence of A. A. Zimmerman. Commencing at the Hamilton meet, Zimmerman gave new figures for the quarter and half mile, then on the first day of the Toronto races he again reduced the latter, also lowered the mile record, and established a record for the quarter mile with flying start. On Monday he made figures for the half mile with flying start, and Wednesday, at Sarnia, for the third time he reduced the half mile (standing start) record, and placed the mile and two mile figures at notches where they will take some hammering to beat. Wells, Hyslop, Palmer, Carman, and Sanger, of Milwaukee, also have taken a hand in this record-building, as the following table will show:

Distance—	Record.	Maker.	Track.
¼ mile	36 sec	Zimmerman	Hamilton
¼ (flying)	32 sec	Sanger	Sarnia
½ mile	1:07 4-5	Zimmerman	Sarnia
½ (flying)	1:05 3-5	Zimmerman	Toronto
1 mile	2:26	Zimmerman	Sarnia
2 miles	5:03 2-5	Zimmerman	Sarnia
3 miles	8:08 3-5	Carman	Kingston
4 miles	11:15	Wells	Kingston
5 miles	13:55 3-5	Hyslop	Toronto
6 miles	17:55 4-5	Wells	Hamilton
7 miles	21:07	Palmer	Hamilton
8 miles	23:57 4-5	Palmer	Hamilton
9 miles	27:17 4-5	Wells	Hamilton
10 miles	30:11 3-5	Wells	Hamilton

LONG-DISTANCE RIDING.

Long-distance riding is the fad this year, but there does not appear to be much danger of the endurance men monkeying with the 24 figures created by Frank Shorland, the English rider, at the Horn Hill track recently. A record of 413 miles 1,015 yards is a formidable thing to overthrow. Shorland rode a geared ordinary in the race, and on this point the American Wheelman says editorially: The superiority for speed of the geared ordinary over all other designs of the bicycle seems to be acknowledged on all sides. The English cracks have been lowering the long distance records at an astonishing rate on this style of machine, and Shorland's and Edge's recent performances can be cited as evidence of what may be expected of riders of the geased ordinary. In this country Campbell has won every ordinary event in which he has ridden this season with one exception an that style of machine, and there is a strong probability of its general adoption by racing men by next season.

NEW WAY TO MEND A TIRE.

In England they have found a way to mend the pneumatic tire in a successful manner. The invention is patented, but our wheelmen can infringe without any danger. Supposing a puncture has been made in the tire, the neccessaries for its repair are a hollow punch, a solid stem of composition, at one end of which is fixed a circular piece of canvas, and this is folded umbrella-like to fit into the punch, and composition included, so that when inserted in the hole previously made by the punch the canvas will be spread out inside the tire, will be glued on to the interior thereof, and the hole filled with the stem of India-rubber. If the puncture is a large one, more than one hole can be made, and a series of mushrooms inserted till the wound is healed. It will be at once seen that the process is simple, effective and neat.

ATHLETICS.

Harry Jewett's record of 100 yards in 9 4-5 seconds at Cleveland on Saturday is disputed.

THE TRIGGER.

The London Gun Club will hold its regular shoot this month.

The London Gun Club's fishing resort at Dorchester promises to become a magnificent place if the enterprise of the organization is allowed full scope. It wants but the third reading of the bylaw by the township council to give the privileges of the charming sport. Five thousand dollars capital stock will at once be subscribed, and the big pond there stored with trout, boats will be built, and every possible improvement made. The company is composed of leading citizens who propose making it unsurpassed as a pleasure and recreation ground, conducted on sportsmanlike principles.

LACROSSE.

Stratford Lacrosse Club defeated the Niagaras in four straight games Wednesday.

AQUATIC.

The Canadian Association of Amateur Oarsmen will investigate the suspicious circumstances of the senior single scull race at the recent regatta.

QUOITING.

The quoiting match postponed from the corporation employes' picnic was played off last evening, John Stoey defeating Harry Merritt by four points in a 21-point game.

Tossed by Mad Brutes

Five Texas Steers on the Rampage.

They Start on a Tour of Devastation in New York.

Policemen Thrown Into the Air and a Merchant Chased Into His Store.

NEW YORK, Aug. 18.—Five wild Texas steers escaped from a herd entering Haggerty's slaughter house at the foot of East Forty-fifth street Tuesday morning and ran amuck, with results which, in one case, at least, will probably prove fatal. The five animals in question were in charge of Daniel Reynold, who is now held in Jefferson market prison awaiting the result of the injuries of half a dozen persons who were gored, tossed and trampled upon by the vicious beasts.

The "bunch" started on their mad course at First avenue and Forty-fourth street and ran through Forty-fourth street to Third avenue, and thence to Fortieth street. There, turning west again, they went to Fifth avenue, and then through Thirty-eighth street to Seventh avenue, scattering people right and left.

At Seventh avenue the creatures separated and at that point the shouting of affrighted men, the screams of hysterical women and the barking of dogs drove them almost crazy, and there they overturned fruit stands and hucksters' wagons, while pedestrians rushed into the nearest houses or stores. Then they went on in various directions and trampled upon scores of people. They wrecked shops and smashed windows as they passed along, carrying consternation with them and leaving destruction in their wake.

At Nineteenth street and Seventh avenue Edward Hagan, 40 years old, of 252 West Nineteenth street, a street sweeper raised his broom and attempted to stop one of the steers.

The brute rushed at him, with a loud roar, and lowered head, and tossed him high in the air. The man fell some ten feet away, striking upon his head. His scalp was cut, and he was so badly bruised that it was found necessary to take him to the New York Hospital.

At Washington and Bank streets a big red steer attacked Edward McGavern, 19 years of age, of 524 West Fifteenth street. He gored the young man and trampled upon him, breaking four of his ribs, and then tossed him several feet. The victim was taken to St. Vincent's Hospital, where it was said last night that his injuries would prove fatal.

Policemen Gies and Dees drew their revolvers and entered a liquor store, from a window of which they fired at the red beast and brought him down upon his knees. Then the animal's roars were terrific. He lashed his sides with his tail and bloody foam gathered on his lips and in his nostrils. He was a frightful-looking object, but George Rohr, of 334 West Thirty-sixth street, went bravely up to him and cut his throat.

At Sixth avenue and Fourth street one of the enraged animals knocked two women down and then landed a man upon its horns and hurled him through a plate glass window of a store. The man was badly shaken and cut, but none of his bones were broken, and he refused to give his name to the police. Continuing on its mad way the steer reached Carmine and Bleecker streets. Here John T. Hendricks, manager of one of the Atlantic and Pacific Tea Company's stores, was standing at the door of his place of business. The steer bellowed and charged and Mr. Hendricks fled into the store, the animal following, so that it was very much like a case of a bull in a china shop.

The vicious beast went every which way in the store, smashing pottery, crockery and glassware, and finally dashed out of a side door, near which Policeman McDonald, of the Charles street squad, was standing with a drawn revolver. The steer rushed at the policeman and ripped up his uniform and then tossed him. Next he threw Policeman Mullen, of the Elizabeth street squad, up in the air, but finally met his death at the hands of Policeman Hydetack, who sent a bullet into his heart.

Another steer gored a horse to death that was owned by Michael German, who lives in Verick street. The same animal also tossed a little Italian boy named Giullo Vincenzo, who was playing on the stoop at 240 Mulberry street. This steer was killed on Mott street by a posse of policemen from the Mulbery street station, after it had torn the uniform off Policeman Curtis and tossed Policeman Ryan so that the officer landed upon a wooden awning over a grocery store.

By this time only two of the steers remained alive, and they, after wrecking a butcher shop in Horatio street, ran to the North River, at the foot of Little Twelfth street, and leaped into the water. They were chased by tugboats, lassoed and hauled ashore, one at the foot of Jane street, and the other at the foot of Bloomfield street. They were taken in charge by Meat Inspector Goodhardt, and were subsequently claimed by William Meyer, a Brooklyn butcher, who said that he had sent them to Haggerty's to be killed.

The Only Way.

Smith—My wife has solved the hired-girl problem.

Jones—She has?

Smith—She has. And now we have no more trouble.

Jones—Pray tell me the secret. How has your wife soived the problem?

Smith—She is doing her own housework.

Slanderous.

"Me mamma says we can't play with you 'cause you have the mumps."

"Ah, go on! 'Taint so, fer I give 'em to Sammy Gibbs day afore yistedy."

Well Meant, but Awkwardly Put.

"So glad you haven't forgotten me, dear Lord Varicose; I was afraid you would after so many years!"

"Oh, no, Miss Evergreen; I never forget old faces!"

A Juvenile Retort.

Charley, to his papa, who has just come into the room—Papa, what makes you look so cross?

"Because I heard mamma scold you just now, so you must have been naughty."

"But, papa, suppose I looked cross every time mamma scolds you."

A Worldly Antithesis.

Mrs. Van Schlesinger—I think the Sweetly Brothers are thoroughly charming. They belong to that nearly extinct genus, "in the world, but not of it."

Miss Sharp—Do you, indeed? I always considered them rather a common species—of the world, but not in it, you know.

One Definition.

Mrs. Jason—Jehiel, what is an agnostic?

Mr. Jason—W'y, it is a feller that don't believe in neither doctors nor preachers as long as he is in good health.

"THE SON OF THE GENERAL"

Is Surprised at Being Interrogated by Salvation Army Delegates.

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—The trouble in the Salvation Army is further from settlement than ever. Last night a deputation composed of delegates from all the city corps waited on Commandant Booth to seek an explanation respecting his dismissal of officers. At first the commandant demurred to receiving them, but afterwards admitted the delegation and heard their statement.

In reply he told them he was surprised at their interrogating him, "The son of the general." He was determined to pursue the policy he had adopted and distinctly refused to make any explanation or concession.

The deputation retired very dissatisfied with their reception and Mr. Booth's treatment. To-night they report to their respective corps. It is anticipated that the corps will resent this treatment and support the deposed officers, in which event Booth will find himself a general without an army, as far as Toronto is concerned.

THE TYPOTHETAE TREATED.

Officers-Elect of the United T. of A.—An Elaborate Banquet.

TORONTO, Ont., Aug. 18.—The United Typothetæ of America continued its convention to-day, when the following officers were elected: President, W. H. Woodward, St. Louis; first vice, John R. McFetridge, Philadelphia; second vice, James Murray, Toronto; third vice, W. B. Briggs, Providence; fourth vice, M. B. Murdock, San Francisco; fifth vice, N. L. Curdick, Milwaukee; sixth vice, W. H. Bates, Memphis; secretary, W. B. Rogers, New York; treasurer, Charles Buss, Cincinnati; executive, Ames Pettibone, Chicago, chairman; Col. H. T. Rockwell, Boston; Edwin Freegard, St. Louis; J. C. Rakin, New York; Theo. Sproule, Pittsburg.

The visiting delegates were entertained to-night with the most elaborate banquet ever set in Toronto, and the ladies held a very delightful at home at the Queen's Hotel.

THE STORY OF A KISS.

A Vienna Student Who Said the Wrong Thing at the Wrong Time.

The following story goes far to prove that the Austrian capital has learned judges who are as expedient as a Cadi of Bagdad in solving the difficult problems that come up before them. It was a young student named Bierogger, who, returning home at 6 in the morning, after a night of it, felt "all the poetry of his nature called into play by the enchanting apparition of a blooming maiden of 19 summers walking toward him in the street." Unable to resist the temptation he snatched a kiss and found himself in the arms of a policeman, and, next morning, demure and sober, he was brought up before the judge. The court was in a genial mood, and, doubtless having once been a student himself, he played the part of counsel for defendant and addressed the young lady, conciliatingly, thus:

Judge—The defendant was jovial and excited, and he now admits that he was at fault. Won't you forgive him for having kissed you?

Plaintiff—I'm not vindictive, but I want 10 guldens damages (about $6).

Judge—Ten gulden for a kiss?

Plaintiff—Yes, I must now leave my lodgings on account of the scandal, and 10 guldens is not too much.

Judge—But the defendant is only a student, and therefore not a man of means. The sum you demand would be a great loss to a person in his position.

Here the unfortunate student, who was the picture of misery, put in a word for himself:

"Do think it over, miss. You must feel that if I had been in my sober senses nothing in the world would have ever induced me to kiss you. No, not if I lived for 100 years.

Plaintiff—Why, this is a fresh insult, almost as bad as the first!"

Defendant (disconcerted) — "Oh, I—didn't mean that; indeed, I would k—I mean I wouldn't, that is, I—I—haven't the audacity to kiss any young lady. Otherwise, I would willingly—that is, in fact—"

Plaintiff—"Oh, of course, that is different. Well, I'll take five guldens."

The judge seemed to think five guldens too high a price to pay for a kiss, but the money was at once paid down, the case dismissed, the plaintiff and defendant smilingly approached each other, and left the court chatting gayly together.

Dr. Caven Married at Mitchell.

MITCHELL, Aug. 18.—A very pleasing event occurred here yesterday, the occasion being the marriage of Miss Margaret Middlemiss, daughter of the late Robert Middlemiss, of Chatham, to Dr. W. P. Caven, second son of Rev. Principal Caven, D.D., of Knox College. The ceremony took place at the residence of the bride's uncle and was conducted by the father of the bridegroom.

A Grammatical Joke.

Said the lecturer, "The roads up these mountains are too steep and rocky for even a donkey to climb; therefore, I did not attempt the ascent."

If everybody had a million dollars everybody would be dissatisfied.

No one need fear cholera or any summer complaint if they have a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Dysentery Cordial ready for use. It corrects all looseness of the bowels promptly and causes a healthy and natural action. This is a medicine adapted for the young and old, rich and poor, and is rapidly becoming the most popular medicine for cholera, dysentery, etc., in the market.

Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y.

EAST BUFFALO, Aug. 18.—Cattle—There was hardly enough stock in to-day to quote; only about three cars of cow stuff and light common butchers' cattle. The city butchers bought the stock up readily at free, strong windup prices.

Sheep and Lambs—About five cars got in during the night and morning; market very irregular, but averaged higher. The eastern markets are reported stronger, a shortage of stock being expected on account of the strike. Both speculators and butchers picked up quite a number of small ends and paid better prices, and all were sold by noon. Prime lambs, $6 50 to $6 60; fair lots $6 30; fair sheep, $5 25 to $5 40; cull stuff, $3 to $4; two loads of Canadian lambs sold at $6 75, the market closing steady.

Hogs—About 8 cars offered; prices ruled a shade stronger than yesterday; some good hogs sold at $6, and best at $6 05 to $6 10, while fair grades brought $5 80 to $5 90, and pigs $5 35 to $5 50, the latter price for choice; roughs and stags about steady, with yesterday about all sold.

—Thomas Pinkham, a boilermaker at E. Leonard & Sons, was crushed yesterday by the collapse of the props on a boiler he was at work on. The wounds were more painful than serious.

—Frank Campbell, a lad employed at John Ferguson & Son's, had a finger lacerated yesterday through inserting it in a picking machine. The flesh was torn off, leaving the naked bone protruding. James Gannon also had a finger completely cut off by a "buzzer" a few days since in the same establishment.

A Heartfelt Acknowledgment.

Mayor Spencer has received the following letter:

ST. JOHNS (Nfld.), Aug. 5.

W. M. Spencer, Esq.:

Dear Sir,—I am requested by our committee of relief to acknowledge the receipt of $2,000 subscribed by your citizens and remitted through you for the relief of our fire sufferers. The sense of deep gratitude felt by our people for these munificent donations has already been wired you. I have further to state that a final resolution embodying the feeling and sentiments of the committee referring to this subject are recorded in the minutes of the committee and shall receive publication when our report shall be made. We are progressing as well as can be expected with our work of relief, and have provided over 9,000 persons with food, clothing and temporary shelter during the last three weeks. Much more difficult work remains to be accomplished in the absolute necessity of providing somewhat permanent winter quarters for about 4,000 of these homeless persons. This, together with the cost of other aid we must afford the sufferers, will tax our resources to the utmost. Thanking you sincerely for your kindness and attention, I am, yours truly,

JAS. B. SCLATER, Secretary Relief Committee.

The Convict Labor War.

Startling Reports from Tennessee Confirmed.

Gen. Anderson Captured by the Belligerent Miners.

Possibility That He May Be Lynched—Five Men Killed—Another Bloody Fight.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 19.—This was the situation as known at Knoxville at 1:30 this morning: A Journal correspondent has just escaped from Coal Creek to Offetts, where the wires are now working. His report confirms some rumors sent in earlier in the night.

Gen. Anderson was captured by five men coming under a flag of truce. He was enticed into the village by promise of safety. Turning a corner he met a mob who took him to the hotel and produced a letter to his lieutenant, which was an order for the surrender of the stockade and fort. Though threatened with hanging, the general steadfastly refused to sign the paper, and asked only that he be shot and his grave be marked so that his family could find it. He may be lynched.

The firing which lasted all of Wednesday, was desultory. The miners claim they have killed five men and silenced the firing of the howitzer. It is silent, but probably to save ammunition.

At Offets Gen. Carnes learned that 500 miners awaited him at Knapp's Summit, about a mile from Coal Creek, and that three cattle guards were filled with dynamite. Hearing this, he left the train and went up on the side of a narrow valley, and is now within two miles of Coal Creek waiting for daylight.

The Journal correspondent, knowing the temper of the miners and of the militia, fears a bloody fight at daylight.

MORE ARMS AND AMMUNITION ORDERED.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Aug. 19.—Acting Secretary Grant, of the War Department, this morning telegraphed instructions to the commandant of the arsenal at Indianapolis to forward at once to the Governor of Tennessee at Knoxville 600 stands of arms, and 39,000 rounds of ammunition for use by the State authorities in suppressing the miners' riots. This action was based on a requisition from Governor Buchanan.

REINFORCEMENTS FOR THE MILITIA.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 19.—Gen. Carns has gone into camp at Offetts. He will go to the relief of Fort Anderson at daybreak. There has been no fighting since dark last night. Two hundred more volunteers left for Coal Creek at 4 o'clock.

The Fall River Tragedy.

FALL RIVER, Mass., Aug. 18.—When asked why he murdered Mr. and Mrs. Borden Peckham said he had a good reason for doing it—which he did not state. Mr. Fleet asked him what clothes he wore when he committed the crime and he replied, the same ones he now wore. He was asked if they were not spotted with blood and he replied no, there were no spatters, because the first blow caused death and stopped the heart's action. He said he struck the other blow by way of precaution. He then told the deputy marshal that he expected no sympathy and wanted to be held. He had borne the knowledge of the crime as long as he was able and now wanted relief of mind.

There is scarcely a doubt but that Peckham is crazy.

Adam Graeme, of Mossgray.

By Mrs. Oliphant.

To this friendly, confidential footing he was very anxious to return to-night. He wanted to discuss his plans with them, to make Helen aware of the course which he projected for himself. Since he made the plunge, and relinquished his place as friend to claim a nearer one, the attempt had cost him much; not only the constraint which it had placed upon his intercourse with his father, but the loss of Helen's society which it involved; so he resolved for this night to ignore their past struggle, and to be only the old familiar friend, the son of the house.

Mrs. Buchanan and her visitor sat together silently, both of them somewhat sad. The sound of the children's footsteps and subdued voices broke the stillness, and almost immediately Helen entered the room. The candle was not lighted, for Mrs. Buchanan liked the twilight, and was thrifty besides, economizing the daylight as she did other things. She was seated before the fire which only shed a ruddy glow upon her face, and did not in any degree light the dusky room. Withdrawn in a corner of the sofa, William Oswald sat unseen.

"Mother," exclaimed Helen, as she entered, "I have been thinking all day of my old plan of going to Edinburgh. You remember what Hope Oswald said about Miss Swinton, and the letter I wrote to her has been lying in my desk for a month. I wish you would consent, mother; I wish you would let me send it."

"But, Helen, my dear," said the less hasty mother, "you must take no such step without consideration."

"What can we do here, mother?" said Helen, eager for the moment, in the strength of impulse. "What can I do here?—always the same—no possibility of changing this dull routine of labor—no chance of rising higher. I shall not always be young," and the sudden change from warm hope to depression fell upon the variable face in an instant, "and so long as I am, should we not provide?"

"Helen, my dear," repeated the gentle Mrs. Buchanan, "you distress me when you say such things; besides, it is nonsense, you know."

Helen did not answer; she sat down on the other side of the fire, and leaned her head upon her hand. The dark cloud of melancholy hovered over her—for the moment the young sunshine was gone. It was a dull routine—a laborious life—cheered only by the special inheritance of fair and gracious things which had been given her in her own spirit, and sometimes the cloud overshadowed even these.

"Helen," said the grave, firm voice, whose power over her changeful moods she strenuously resisted, and even to herself would not acknowledge, "I am going to Edinburgh."

She started—the quick thrill of her varying nature went over her, carrying the cloud on its sudden breath. A flush of evanescent offense sprung over her face, as she looked past her mother to the dark figure which began to be dimly visible on the sofa. Her purpose had changed on the moment, but she was half angry that she had been anticipated.

"Yes," said Mrs. Buchanan, rising hastily to light the solitary candle. "William is not content to live quietly at home, Helen. The air of Fendie is too still for him."

There was a slight drawing up of the stooping figure—an almost imperceptible expanding of the breast—a hurried, momentary glance at William, in which only one who had long studied it could discriminate the proud, shy pleasure, tinged as it was by a certain sadness, with which Helen heard this news.

"He is quite right," she said quickly.

"Do you think so?" asked William; "but what if I only lose myself yonder in the crowd, and remain as unknown as I am now?"

"I know you will not," said Helen. Then she recollected herself. "I mean—yes, William Oswald, I mean you will not—you will do better than that."

He was still in the shadow, and while he could observe every change of her features, she could scarcely see the dark glow of pleasure which covered his face.

"But, Helen, you think of fame—and I will never win fame; hundreds fail every year of acquiring the mere standing ground. Is it worth hazarding quietness and peace, and giving up home as I shall do, think you, for the chance of such distinction—only small distinction, Helen—as I can ever reach?

Her pulse began to beat more quickly—strong in those young warm veins of hers ran the tide of her ambition.

"I do not mean distinction—that is," said the truthful Helen, who felt that in some degree she did mean it, "I mean things graver and nobler before distinction. I think the old chivalry will never die out of the world, William; to be a knight—to carry arms against all the powers of evil—to win new lands to acknowledge our king—whatever we have to work at for our bread, that remains the real work to live for, as it seems to me, and I know nothing so precious but one might peril it—nothing so dear but one would give it up for such a cause as that."

Her voice shook a little with the excitement that made it strong—the stooping head was quite erect—the eyes shining like stars.

Mrs. Buchanan sat a little apart looking at them—observing with quiet, smiling wonder how the grave face of the silent, uncommunicative William began to speak and grow eloquent too, as it bent toward the other countenance, whose thoughts were "legible i' the eie."

But he seemed more inclined to listen than to speak.

"I grant you that," said William; "but suppose, Heaven, a man should distrust his own powers, and to think it most expedient to keep himself apart from all struggles—to withdraw far away from the evils he has not strength to contend with—what then?"

"Then he does not fulfill his end," said the rapid, eager voice—"which is not to flee from natural temptations and difficulties, but bravely to resist and to battle with the same. I know one feels one's heart sink often. It may not be so with you who are strong—but I feel that to cease such work and warfare as one is called to do, does bring a perilous sinking of the heart. It is not well—surely it is not well to withdraw from the evils which are in us and about us; we are bound to do battle with them, William—not to stand on our defense alone, but to carry the war into the camp of the enemies. I think sometimes that the state of war must be the only good state for those who have sin natural to them as we have—and that if these words, resist and struggle, were withdrawn from our language, we should be no longer human, for when we let our arms fall, our hearts fail, and weariness comes upon us, and distrust and gloom; and out of the living, moving world we come into the narrow chamber of ourselves—and the sun sets upon us, William."

The sun had set in the cangeful face upon which William Oswald looked, and for the moment its waning color and downcast eyes proclaimed the unmistakable sinking of the heart. She did not perceive the look that dwelt upon her, nor its language—language unconsciously powerful. "And this, Helen, is your philosophy." The words fell dreamily upon her ear, echoing through a long silence. The philosophy was not hers alone. Kindred thought had risen in the young minds, as they grew together into the early flush of maturity, and now she sent him forth—a knight.

CHAPTER XV.

Saucy fortune, didst thou smile,
I perchance would little heed thee;
Think'st thou when thou frown'st, the while
For myself I dread thee?
Nay, not I—I only vow,
If one falls, it shall be thou.

"I am a man now," said Halbert Graeme, with something of the pride of his years; "and, thanks to your goodness, sir, I have education enough for any ordinary profession. If only I could make a beginning—"

"You would certainly succeed," said the Laird of Mossgray, with his pleasant, kindly smile.

"I do not know," said Halbert, modestly; "but I think that men who are content to work hard and persevere must surely have some measure of success. I am not very ambitious—that is—"

"I shall not quarrel with you, Halbert, my man, for your ambition," said the gentle kinsmen, whom Halbert had feared as stern.

"Well, sir," said the youth, with renewed confidence, "I shou'd like to rise, no doubt; but I am willing to work hard for it, and quite content to begin as humbly as you think it proper I should. I have no right, I know, to such help, where I have already received so much; but I have the claim of blood on no one I have ever known, and I thought I might ask advice from you."

It was his second day at Mossgray, and Halbert remembered his last walk up the Aberdeenshire glen, a week ago, with Menie Monikie, and his declaration to her—

The Four Cardinal Points.

MRS. PALMER'S HAMMER.

With it She Will Drive the Last Nail in the Woman's Building.

The design for that much-talked-of hammer with which Mrs. Potter Palmer is to drive the last nail in the woman's building has been fixed upon, says the Chicago Tribune. To determine what the hammer should be like has been the work of many months by the women of Nebraska, but they have succeeded at last and the precious implement is being executed by an Omaha jeweler.

No hammer of the like of this one has ever pounded a nail. The handle will be composed of light and dark woods alternating and encircled by a broad band of gold, on which will be engraved: "From the Women of Nebraska." The head of the hammer will be of solid silver. On the face of the head will be the seal of Nebraska in gold relief. Draping the hammer and handle will be the flag of the Union wrought in gold. For each State in the Union there will be a diamond star, and the flagstaff will be of pearl, surmounted by a golden eagle.

The idea of the hammer originated after the women of Montana had proposed a design for the last nail. This last nail is to be manufactured of gold, silver and copper, the most prominent native minerals of the State. The head of the nail will consist of a representation of the seal of the State. This seal happens to contain mountains, rivers and valleys, as well as the sky. To properly represent these features diamonds and sapphires will be used. Mrs. Eliza J. Rickards is the originator of the nail idea.

After the nail story had been circulated the Nebraska women took up the hammer idea. Last come the women of Colorado. They did not want to fail in doing something on the line of finishing the Woman's Building, so they will present the casket in which the hammer and nail are to be kept. This casket will be a miniature model, in precious metals, of the Pueblo mineral palace.

THE WISHINESS OF WASHINESS.

[From Wives and Daughters for August.]

A new sort of woman has been unearthed by Mr. Bok, of the Ladies' Home Journal, and he occupies nearly a page of the last issue in describing her, and telling her why she ought not to exist. "They," he says, "are donning masculinity, not only in their garments, but in their ideas; they want to vote; they are beginning to believe more in certain fanciful 'rights' than in their children; they are acquiring mental knowledge at the expense of heart affection." Where is the proof of these remarkable statements? Ordinary observation shows that the fashion of wearing vests, cravats and mannish-looking shirts is as common among weak minded as among strong minded women. As for donning masculine ideas, that would be as difficult a performance as swimming in a masculine lake, building a masculine house or eating a masculine pie. Ideas are sexless and free to everybody. They are also capable of being assimilated in large quantities by the human mind, whether that mind happens to be encased in a male or female body. Any kind or amount of knowledge which is acquired without injury to health is a strength and enrichment to the feminine nature. Knowledge is not acquired at the expense of heart affection—it is acquired in most instances at the expense of pocket money. It would be an insult to college-bred men to affirm that their love of their families and homes was less ardent than the love which laboring men and artisans give to their wives and children. Nobody asserts that men are "acquiring mental knowledge at the expense of heart affection." Yet the rule should work equally well in both cases.

The entire article appears to be based upon the apprehension that if woman takes one single step in the direction of progress that step will land her outside of the sacred sphere of home, the front door of which she will slam with a viciousness that will make every peace-loving husband shake in his shoes. And this in face of the multitudinous facts which prove that the best home-makers in the country are the so-called "advanced women." Such a woman applies to domestic difficulties the same intelligent attention and cultivated reasoning power that she formerly brought to bear upon her studies. She is not a door mat in her own home, nor is she a family donkey. Least of all is she a doll. But by every degree in which her own mental life has been broadened and bettered is the life of her family broadened and bettered. "When you educate a man," says the sage, "you educate an individual; when you educate a woman you educate an entire family." Genuine womanliness is not of so frail a texture that it is going to be destroyed by a cultivated mind, or a self-supporting life, or an abundance of ideas, or any other creature.

It is always interesting to observe a man laboriously stoop down and carefully chalk out a circle large enough in his opinion to include more than half the human race, and then say, "There, now, all you ladies just step inside of that, and don't let me hear another chirp out of any one of you." But the trouble with Mr. Bok's circle is that it's too small for even a single self-respecting woman. "The average man," he says, "would much rather that his wife nestle close to him, and ask him to advise her, than that she should strut around his house in an assertive manner, and lay down the law to his children and his servants." His house, you observe, his children, his servants. What belongs to the wife? Nothing apparently except the proud consciousness that she is standing inside of that dear little chalk circle. This is the sort of sentiment that we cannot choose but call the wishiness of washiness. But we have heard it designated as the boshiness of Bokkyness.

BARE FEET TWINKLE.

Mary and Nellie Give a Free Show and Are Rewarded for Their Cleverness.

Two barefoot waltzers from the neighborhood of Liberty and Washington streets strayed up to Park Row last evening. They were Mary Smith and Nellie Carr, and they live at 107 Washington street. Mary is 11, and Nellie only 5 years old. Nellie is so small that she scarcely comes up to Mary's waist. They were returning home, and had just caught sight of St. Paul's Church dial, whose hands marked 7 o'clock, when an organ grinder came along.

The girls instinctively twined their arms about each other and merrily danced to the tune of "Knights of the Mystic Star" in front of the International Hotel on the rough stone pavement. Their bare feet cleaned the dancing space till it almost shone. They executed steps with a grace that caused a few passers to stop and look on in wonder. Soon the sidewalk was blocked. Nearly 200 people gathered around the little dancers. As they stopped for breath a shower of silver fell at their feet.

The organ struck up "Kathleen Mavourneen" and the girls resumed their rude but graceful tripping. "Let's show 'em de forward an' back," said Mary, but before they could execute this step a newsboy screamed, "Cop!" The Italian lumbered away through Vesey street toward Washington. The two dancers followed, and a few minutes later were lost in one of the big barefoot balls that spring up on the sidewalks there whenever an organ plays. —[New York Sun.

He Knew the Reason.

At a recent Sunday school service in Bath, Me., the minister was illustrating the necessity of Christian profession in order to fully enjoy the blessings of Providence, and, to make himself clear to his youthful hearers, said: "For instance, I want to introduce water into my house. The pipes and faucets are all in good order, but I get no water, and why not?" He expected the children to see that it was because he had no connection with the street, but they all looked perplexed. Finally a 5-year-old boy squealed out: "I know; it's because you don't pay up!"

"August Flower"

Mrs. Sarah M. Black of Seneca, Mo., during the past two years has been affected with Neuralgia of the Head, Stomach and Womb, and writes: "My food did not seem to strengthen me at all and my appetite was very variable. My face was yellow, my head dull, and I had such pains in my left side. In the morning when I got up I would have a flow of mucus in the mouth, and a bad, bitter taste. Sometimes my breath became short, and I had such queer, tumbling, palpitating sensations around the heart. I ached all day under the shoulder blades, in the left side, and down the back of my limbs. It seemed to be worse in the wet, cold weather of Winter and Spring; and whenever the spells came on, my feet and hands would turn cold, and I could get no sleep at all. I tried everywhere, and got no relief before using August Flower Then the change came. It has done me a wonderful deal of good during the time I have taken it and is working a complete cure." ④

The High-Jumping Record.

The highest standing jump ever made without weights was 5 feet 11 inches, but in establishing this record the performance of the college girl who stepped on a mouse one morning when she was getting out of bed has apparently been overlooked.

A Definition That Defines.

This gem of schoolboy definition is worthy of being placed on record. It was sent in by a pupil in a public school: "Repugnant—One who repugs."

Not the Same Old Story.

[From the Detroit Free Press.]

The man was standing at his store door on Jefferson avenue talking to a stranger. "See that lady across the street?" he said.

"Yes," was the brief reply.

"Isn't she very handsome, is she?"

"Her beauty won't kill her, I guess."

"Well, it's queer how things go in this world," said the man contemptuously. "Twenty years ago she was one of the prettiest girls in Detroit, and I was one of a dozen fellows who tried to marry her."

"Same old story," observed the stranger; "some other fellow got her and the man you are got her."

"No, he didn't either."

"No?"

"No, I married her myself, and she is coming over here now for $25 to get a new fall hat with," and the man smiled as if he were glad of it.

Death of Mrs. Alex. Gilleau.

She took a slight turn for the better last evening, but a relapse set in and she passed away at 5 a.m. The body was brought to the city to-day for interment. Deceased was the daughter of Capt. Sullivan, of Windsor. Her parents arrived in time to be present at her death bed. She had been married about nine years, and leaves two children, a boy and a girl to mourn her loss. Hill, of St. John the Evangelist's Church, officiated at the house and at Woodland Cemetery. The pall-bearers were: W. Hayes and J. Livesay, representing the Bell Telephone Company; E. S. JOHNSON'S CLAIM GRANTED.

The City Solicitor Deems the City Liable for $688—Sewers and Drains —New Boulevard Inspector.

Contractor Johnson's claim against the city for $688, balance remaining from his original contract figure for the erection of the Victoria Bridge breakwater, came up at a meeting of the Board of Works last evening. The city solicitor was of the opinion that the city was liable for the full amount, and the committee agreed to pay it.

A letter from Francis Griffith was read, stating that he had fallen into a sewer on Bruce street the other day, and claiming damages. A. H. Shaw explained that the sewer had been properly guarded, but that the guard had likely been removed by some small boys. The communication was filed.

D. McDonald and others complained that on account of the bad condition of Grosvenor street their milkmen, bakers and wood dealers had refused to deliver supplies to them. They asked that the road be repaired. The matter was left with the engineer and member for the ward.

D. Spence asked about a petition sent in some time ago for a sewer on Maple street. The assessment commissioner reported that it had not the requisite number of signatures, and Mr. Spence replied that the petitioners were willing to pay the extra cost. The matter was laid over.

The tender of Harding & Leathorn for Stanley street drain was accepted at $1,799, $28 extra for manholes and $20 for gulley holes.

The city engineer reported that the new breakwater at Victoria bridge was satisfactory. Ald. Shaw agreed with him, although Ald. O'Meara differed and thought the bridge was not safe.

Chief Williams asked that the police station be painted and re-shingled, and that other repairs be made. The matter was left with Waddell committee to report.

Nine residents of Piccadilly street who had petitioned for a sewer asked that their names be registered as against the petition. Referred to the assessment commissioner.

The city engineer will be boulevard inspector instead of Park Ranger Grant.

A report from the medical health officer recommending an open ditch in the vicinity of Maitel and Florence streets was laid over.

A letter from residents of Stanley street complained that the plans prepared called for too deep and too large a drain, causing an unnecessary outlay of $200. No action.

The roof of the East End Hall will be repaired.

The pay sheet, amounting to $857 19, and accounts were passed, and the committee adjourned. Ald. Bartlett (chairman pro tem.), O'Meara, Shaw and Jones, City Engineer Graydon, Acting Secretary Drewsile and Street Commissioner Owen were present.

TORONTO TIDINGS.

Blew Out the Gas and Died—William Cuddy's Funeral.

TORONTO, Aug. 18.—The body brought in to-night from the lake of Dreamers proves to be that of George McFluer, who was drowned off Port Union on July 17.

George Carswell, who has been staying at the Metropole Hotel for a few days, was found this afternoon in bed dead. He had apparently blown out the gas. Deceased was a cook, and had been in the employ of the C. P. R. on a steamer. He has no home nor family.

The body of Wm. Cuddy, who was murdered by an insane convict in Jackson, Mich., Monday, arrived here last night and was buried to-day with full Masonic honors, the ceremonies being in the hands of King Solomon's Lodge.

Mr. John Winchester has been formally notified of his appointment as Master in Chambers.

Cured Liver Complaint After Leading Physicians Failed; and a Walking Skeleton Puts on 180 Pounds of Healthy Flesh.

LONDON, May 7, 1891.

I take pleasure in adding my testimonial to the many you have already. About two years ago I was suffering from liver complaint. I consulted some of the leading doctors but could find no relief. I was advised to try your Royal Crown Remedy. After using one bottle I felt so much better that I was induced to continue. When I had taken the third I could enjoy my food, which I had not done for a long time. I was reduced to a skeleton when I commenced to use it, and to-day my weight is about 180 pounds. Yours truly,

THE CAR SHOPS.

Present State of Negotiations Between the City and Grand Trunk.

Why an Agreement Has Not Yet Been Reached.

In some quarters there has been a disposition to snarl at the City Council because reading through the proposed agreement between the Grand Trunk Railway and the city regarding the car shops. That the nagging has been unnecessary and undeserved may be gathered from an interview which an Advertiser reporter had with Mayor Spencer this morning.

"Did you talk car shops when you visited the Grand Trunk general manager at Montreal on Wednesday?" asked the scribe.

"Yes," replied the mayor, "we talked over the proposed concentration of the car shops in London. As you know, an agreement has been pending between the city and the company, whereby the city offers to give the Grand Trunk $100,000 or a bonus if it concentrates its shops here, and employs continuously 500 men. This agreement has been considered by the council and by the company. When I saw Mr. Seargeant he said he and the company were prepared to carry out the agreement, as revised by its solicitor, if the city would accept it. But the council, acting on the advice of Mr. W. S. Meredith, city solicitor, have in two occasions decided that the altered agreement does not sufficiently protect the city's interests, and therefore we have awaited further action by the Grand Trunk Company. Mr. Seargeant now promises to confer with Sir Henry Tyler, president of the company, who is on the ocean at present, and will arrive in Canada next week and inform the council as to whether they will accept any of Mr. Meredith's amendments to the agreement."

"Does the company seem inclined to concentrate the shops elsewhere?"

"By the conversation I had with the general manager, I am not inclined to think that concentration will take place at any other point. The mechanical officials consider London as the best point to concentrate at, but the management assert that they do not see any great advantage to be derived in concentration at the present time."

"Has the railway company evinced any desire to have the L. and P. S. Railway lease and the car shops mixed up in any way?"

"Not at all. They have taken up each matter separately, and talked business in relation to them as business men do. This is acceptable to most of the aldermen, who, in response to public opinion at last election, pledged themselves to keep the two bargains separate."

GAMBLING IN JAPAN.

The Premiere and Six Judges of the Supreme Court Arrested.

An extraordinary trial, known as the Diabetai gambling case, has just come to an abortive conclusion at Tokio. What lent an unusual interest to the case was the fact that the defendants accused of illegal gambling were no minor personages, but the president and six judges of the Supreme Court. The alleged offense with which they were charged consisted in playing cards in a tea house with some of the dancing girls of the capital for partners. Owing to the high position of the accused and the loftiness of the Japanese euphemisms, the case was known in police circles as the "flower play matter," because the game of cards in which the judges are supposed to have been indulging was the Japanese game of "hanawawase," or "flower matching," so called because the cards bear representations of various kinds of flowers, which have to be brought into couples by the players.

Owing to the grave scandal occasioned by such charges being preferred against the very administrators and interpreters of the law, strenuous efforts were made to hush the matter up, but the accused judges, especially Judge Kojima Ikoo, the president of the Supreme Court, declared their resolve to have the whole matter thoroughly sifted. The most eminent counsel in the Japanese bar were retained, and a special tribunal, called an admonition tribunal, was opened in the Administrative Court for the purpose of conducting the investigation. The inquiry, which was conducted with closed doors, has resulted in the court pronouncing the defendants to be beyond the reach of prosecution.

As an instance of the extraordinary excitement caused by the whole affair, it may be mentioned that the recent resignation of Viscount Tanaka, of the Ministry of Justice, was rumored to be in consequence of the ex-Minister considering the occurrence of such a scandalous moment during his tenure of the portfolio of Justice too disgraceful to be consistent with his remaining in office.—N. On the Rocks in the Rapids.

MONTREAL, Aug. 18.—The position of the wrecked steamer Columbian, which was under in the Lachine Rapids, is unchanged. The managements of the company state that the steamer is as safe as if she were lying in the harbor. They say she has sustained no injuries whatever. In order to float her the company will build a pier to give them some support in their efforts. A dam will also be made at that point in the river where the steamer lies in order to float her. It will take only two weeks to construct the pier and dam. In the meantime the Corinthian will take the Columbian's place.
