Ferdinand's Suit Did Not Find Favor at Court.

A Gala Day in Rome-Premature Report of Earl Derby's Death.

Earl Derby. London, April 20.—The item announcing the death of Earl Derby was incorrect.

Why Ferdinand Failed. Edmund Yates says: The real object of Prince Ferdinand of Bulgaria's hurried visit to England last year was to endeavor visit to England last year was to endeavor to arrange for his marriage with Princess Victoria of Wales, but the project did not meet with any favor at court, and the Duchess of Edinburgh would not hear for a moment of his addressing one of her daughters. The royal family have, however, taken considerable interest in Ferdinand's career since he went to Bulgaria, as his father, Prince Agustus of Saxe-Coburg Gotha, who died in 1831, was first coasin to the Prince Consort, and they were fond of each other.

Outgoing Gold.

WASHINGTON, D. C., April 20 .- Secretary Carlisle has prepared a statement defining the policy of the Treasury Department in the policy of the Treasury Department in the present financial situation. Mr. Carlisle shows that when all the free gold is exhausted, the reserve fund can only be used for the redemption of greenbacks. The law gives him discretionary power to redeem treasury notes of 1899 in either gold or silver. With the supply of free gold exhausted he will redeem the said notes in hausted he will redeem the said notes in silver if necessary. In closing, he says: "There is gold enough in the country to meet all the requirements of the situation, and if all who are really interested in maintaining a sound and stable currency would assist the secretary of the treasury to the extent of their abilities, the existing difficulties would soon be removed."

The Home Rule Debate.

London, April 21.-Thomas Sexton continued the home rule debate yesterday in the House of Commons. He said that Belfast in no wise represented Ireland. The of civil and religious liberty in the north of Ireland was false and hollow, raised as it was against the people with whom toleration was a point of honor. A majority of the United Kingdom had declared for Irish home rule. Dealing with the question of the retention of the Irish members in the Imperial Parliament, Mr. Sexton proposed that the question, with some others, might be reserved for three years, the land question being reserved for that period. The Imperial Parliament would retain control of the commission retain control of the commission would retain control of the commission fixing the purchase of land rents question for three years. Ireland would have a far deeper interest in what happened in the English House of Commons than in anything that could happen in the Irish Legislature. Here the most vital interests of Ireland were reserved under imperial control, for, after home rule, the most momentous question was that of land. In the sphere of administration the control of the police was all important, so that while police was all important, so that while such matters were reserved, to reduce the numbers or power of the Irish members in the Imperial Parliament would be, notwith-standing the granting of home rule, to les-sen the influence of Ireland in her own sen the influence of Ireland in her own affairs. It was therefore absolutely necessary that for the present the influence of the Irish members should remain undiminished. The House ought, therefore, to leave the Irish representation as it was, and when the Irish Legislature came into its full powers at the end of six years, then the question of representation could be dealt with.

Col. Saunderson, the special champion of the men of Ulster, closed the debate for to-day. He denied flately Mr. Sexton's assertion that the majority of the people favored home rule. The attempt to kill the Ulster movement by misrepresentation or ridicule, he said, would fail.

Many Conservatives are signing a manifesto in which they proclaim their right to speak before the division and express the determination to persist in rising, if the sitting he continued through Friday night, unless the Speaker allows the closure.

An Explanation of the Difficulty-The Syndicate's Backers Withdraw-The M. C. R. Trouble Looms Up-President Miller Tries to Get the Rent-The City Secured.

For some time past it has been a matter of almost public knowledge that a crisis was impending in the affairs of the Cleveland, Port Stanley and London Railway and Transportation Company, popularly known as the Cleveland Syndicate.

Yesterday F. S. Miller, of Cleveland, president and local manager of the syndicate, gave up in despair and left with Mrs. Miller for Cleveland. The plain fact of the case is that Mr. Miller had not the money at his disposal to meet immediate expenses and had no other recourse than to do what he has done. In justice to those gentlemen, local and otherwise, who interested themselves in the consummation of the present agreement, it is fair to state that at the agreement, it is fair to state that at the time it was made the lesses relied on the backing of monied men. The deposit of $25,000 made to secure the city against default, and which is In the hands of the city treasurer now, is sufficient evidence of that. It has been learned, however, that that financial support has been since, to a great degree, withdrawn, and without it the syndicate has been unable to carry out the heavy obligations entered into. It is hardly necessary to state that it takes money to run a railroad, even the size of the L and P. S. R. Mr. Miller, acting for his collesques, struggled along trusting to the earnings of the road to tide them over, but the result has not equaled expectations by long odds. At this season of the year the passenger traffic is only small. As for freight the lessees have done very little. In this they had to face the opposition of both the M. C. R. and the G. T. R., as the latter corporation continued to handle goods to and from St. Thomas over the Kingscourt branch. In short, the L. and P. S. R. lessees did not pay running handle goods to and from St. Thomas over the Kingscourt branch. In short, the L. and P. S. R. lessees did not pay running expenses, and naturally they could stand such a condition of affairs long. Their financial difficulties have known for some time. They continued t known for some time. They continued to use rented rolling stock; they were unable to pay their employes; work had not been commenced on the slip-dock; the deal for the purchase of the Fraser House was declared off recently, and there have been other evidences of their embarrassment.

An ADVERTISER reporter called on Mr. C. H. Ivey last evening and asked him for a statement of the facts, as it was a matter of vital interest to the city, and the circumstances should be made public. He supplied information which is somewhat reassuring.

"Of course," said Mr. Ivey, "for some time there has been more or less of a breach between the backers and the syndibreach between the backers and the syndi-cate. This breach went on widening until it came to a climax here a week or ten days ago, and finally an arrangement was agreed to whereby the backers of the road were to try and see if they could not take the whole thing over—both the road and the line of boats. Pending that arrange-ment it was agreed upon that 1 should ment it was agreed upon

Trains loaded with people from all directions are constantly arriving, and it is estimated that not less than 150,000 visitors are in the city. The scene presents all the picturesque features of a gala day in Italy. Trops of all kinds in their brilliant uniforms line the streets and the square outside the railway station. The decorations everywhere are most sumptuous, indicating a desire on the part of the people to show their loyalty and their joy over the coming 25th anniversary of King Humbert's marriage.

Prince George of Wales, the Duke of York, arrived to-day. The German Emperor and Empress arrived in Rome at 1 o'clock this afternoon. King Humbert and Queen Margherita, attended by a distinguished gathering of Italian princes and nebles, met the imperial visitors at the station. THE M. C. R. AGAIN.

The M. C. R. difficulty again looms up and makes confusion worse confounded. Mr. Miller was in Detroit yesterday interviewing Mr. Ledyard with regard to the paying of the M. C. R. rental. From information received in the city it appears that Mr. Miller is not only demanding the rents for running powers to date, but demanding it at the old rate, notwithstanding the agreement with the city, and the M. C. R. entered upon on March 19 last, From reliable sources it is learned that the part of the agreement under which the syndicate seek to collect the rent at the old rate is as follows:

lows:

"The above agreements, paragraphs 1 and 2 and each of them, shall be binding upon us (the lessees) and irrevocable for 40 days from the date hereof, and if within that time a notice in writing and if within that time a notice in writing be given to us or to the undersigned Frank S. Miller, or to C. H. Ivey, of the city of London, stating that the corpbration of the city of London assents on its part to the above agreements or either of them, the said agreements, or the one so assented to by the said the corporation of the city of London, shall thereupon be binding upon us absolutely."

It appears that the city has not as yet delivered the notice of assent to either of the parties named in the agreement, and therefore the lessees of the road feel justified in asking for the same rental that was

The L. and P. S. R. developments, as exclusively published in this morning's Apprentise, created somewhat of a sensation in the city, though people thought the news would come sconer or later.

"The terms of the lease seemed too good too be true," said a leading business man today. To do what the lessees undertook to do, apart from running the road—erect a hotel, buy the G. T. R. freight ferries, build a $15,000 slip-dock, purchase a passenger steamer, etc.—meant an outlay of over $100,000. Fanoy a company of their financial standing attempting that. Unless they were sure of a solid backing from the coal companies, it was a great game of bluff. One is almost tempted to admire their nerve; they went ahead with the assurance of millionaires. Mr. Miller complained that the merchants did not give them a fair share of freight business. That is partly their own fault; they made no effort to secure it. man for the temperance party. The par ticular point to which he wished to cal attention was the vote which was taken or Jan. 2 last with reference to the closing of all saloons and bars in this city at 7 o'clock every night in the week, the same as now prevails on Saturday evening. "There are several points connected with that movement on which I will take the liberty of refreshing your memories," he continued. "In the first place I wish to point out that the matter submitted to the people was not a bylaw. It was called a bylaw for the sake of convenience, but a bylaw it never was—it was simply a proposition, a sug-Jan. 2 last with reference to the closing of sure of a solid backing from the coal companies, it was a great game of bluff.

That is partly their cwn fault; they made no effort to secure it. I don't think they solicited a firm in the city for patronage—no one approached me anyway. With the opposition of the M. C. R. and G. T. R. they ought to have done a lithe husting. There's money in the road if it is managed properly. The members of the syndicate knew nothing about the railroad business."

The general opinion around the city seemed to be that the best thing the city can do is to open negotiations with Mr. Zerbee and learn what his terms are. It is understood the $25,000 in the city's hands belongs to the coal company, of which Mr. Zerbee is the head. If such is the case Mr. Zerbee will not readily part with it, and the inference is that Mr. Zerbee's proposed offer to run the road is made partly with the ideas of a saving that sum. He is also interested in faultiling the large coal contracts entered into with the G. R. and others. It is otherestablishments more or less dependent was-it was simply a proposition, a sug gestion, and all that was asked of the the sale of intoxicating drink, as well as other establishments more or less dependent other establishments more or less dependent upon the same, it will be seen that the number of those immediately interested in the traffic cannot be small. Now, I do not wish to deny that these gentlemen have legal rights, or that in voting they are exercising their legal rights, but I do say that in a question like the present, when the point at issue is none other than the traffic in which these gentlemen themselves are engaged, their votes ought to be left out of consideration. That being the case, there is no doubt whatever on which side the honest opinion of the citizens of this there is no doubt whatever on which side the honest opinion of the citizens of this city really falls. Again, we have more than a suspicion that the so-called majority was not an honest majority. Cases of obstruction, intimidation and impersonation at the polls were reported to us by the score. Nay, they were openly referred to at the street corners by persons who, for very shame's corners by persons who, for very shame's sake, should have held their peace. When the gentlemen of the liquor trade, in their recent appeal to the City Council, asked that the number of licenses be increased from 40 to 50, their request was rejected by a vote of 14 to 5. Now, no one ever supposed that the present City Council was (anatically anyious to oblige the temfrom 40 to 50, their request was rejected by a vote of 14 to 5. Now, no one ever supposed that the present City Council was fanatically anxious to oblige the temperance people or to recognize their claims. On the contrary, many of these gentlemen were elected on anything but a temperance ticket. Nevertheless, even they by an overwhelming majority, decided that it would not be in the best interests of the city to increase the number of licenses, and I am not so sure that they would not cut off some that now exist if opportunity were given them to do so. Putting all these things togother, gentlemen, I am sure you cannot fail to see that the tide of temperance in this city is rapidly rising, and that city to increase the number of licenses, and I am not so sure that they would not cut off some that now exist if opportunity were given them to do so. Putting all these things together, gentlemen, I am sure you cannot fail to see that the tide of temperance in this city is rapidly rising, and that the majority of the people are in favor of a decidedly forward movement. We ask you, therefore, neither to go backward nor to stand still, but to give us what we honestly believe the majority of the people of

There is the most conclusive evidence that a conspiracy existed to defeat this movement by impersonation, bribery and intimidation, and yet we had within 76 of half the number of votes cast in connection with this movement. If we were here with a petition containing the names of 2,756 of the unpurchased and independent electors of this city, our petition would be entitled to consideration. They further asked, said Mr. Gundy, that the area wherein liquor is sold be centralized, and that the shop licenses of E. Shea and F. McNeil be not granted again this year, as they were a source of temptation to the neighborhood in which they are situated and liable to become mere drinking salcons or drinking places. In view of the fact that there had been a number of violations of the law during the past year, they asked that the licenses be canceled in those places where the law has been so violated. The separation between shops and groceries were shown to be not so thorough as the law requires, and they urged the necessity of a more stringent enforcement of the law; that it be made impossible for liquor orders to be left with the clerks in grocery stores. They would also ask that wholesale license holders be subjected to a more rigid enforcement of the law, and that all screens be removed from the windows of barrooms during prohibited hours; also that there be but one door to the barroom from the street. been ramant at the polls. Fraud was striving for. Fraud and intimidation had been rampant at the polls. Fraud was shown by the fact that the temperance women took many women voters to the pells only to find that they had been impersonated by some one of the opposite party. Intimidation had been made manifest in several forms. In some instances they found women who had previously been heart and soul in the 7 o'clock movement, afraid to vote, because if they did some member of the family would lose his position. Another form of intimidation had been the indiscriminate swearing of the female voters. Many women have a dread of taking an oath, and many would sooner not vote than take it. nany would sooner not vote than take i But the women were sworn in almost every instance where they voted for the bylaw. But where they voted against it they were not subjected to such treatment. The speaker herself had been obliged to take the oath

There were some teen-year term of office. There were some places, he admitted, that were doing an illegitimate business that was next to impossible to detect. Liquor detectives had informed him that London was about the hardest place they had met to obtain convictions in. Mr. Regan stated that he did not think that the hour of closing the bars other than Saturday nights and Sunday should lie with the commissioners; it should be made statutory all over the country and then if the saloons were closed at 7 o'clock in London it would be impossible to go across the river and get liquor. He was fairly convinced that the closing at 7 o'clock would send a lot of grist to the liquor mills of London West, and the saloon-keepers over there would be very averse to coming into the city.

Mrs. Thornley—London West has carried a local option bylaw and are perfectly willing to vote for it again in the city.

the crib was torn from its fastenings it would tear away the connecting pipes and let the water into the shaft. Another fear was that the leak in the bottom of the shaft would soon fill and drown the men. It was an awful sight at 8 o'clock to see the huge waves washing over the bottom of the crib which, being anchored by stone-work to the bottom of the lake still remained.

A late dispatch says: Fourteen workmen lost their lives to-day in the fierce storm which leaked Lake Michigan while engaged in bricking up a shaft in the waterworks tunnel. The hurricane swept away the frail structure which had been, built upon the top of the cut to shelter the men and dashed them into the seething lake. Through the heroic efforts of the lite-saving crew James Miller was saved. He is the only man who escaped with his life, and is too weak to tell his story. The work was in charge of Chicago contractors, whose loss will be about $10,000. Work upon the tunnel will be delayed several weeks.

Following is the list of the dead:
John McBride, engineer, Chicago.
Michael Dwyer, fireman, Milwaukee.
Wm. Pruesener, fireman, Milwaukee.

Send for circulars and particulars to young more until 18:30 o'clock, when it became so bad that it was proposed by some to leave the lock and take chances outside. The subject was discussed for some time and finally all agreed to it as it was found they could not live much longer where they were. Accordingly the lock was opened and the water allowed to come in. McBride, Dwyer, Gregg, Johnson, Leikowitz and Miller saves. Leikowitz and Miller succeeded in getting out of the lock and to the surface. To do this they had to climb up through ten feet of water. The other nine, Miller says, could not find the ladder, he supposes. When he got on the crib, Miller wound the wire cable which runs from a drum towards shore around his arm and was then able to hold on until the lifeboat arrived. He says that Dwyer, Gregg, Johnson and Leikowitz held on about half an hour and then one by one were swept away. MeBride held on until within 10 minutes of the arrival of the boat, and he too succumbed and was washed off.

MORE BAD NEWS.

CHICAGO, April 20.—It is feared the worst remains to be learned regarding last night's storm on the lakes. The big ateamer A. M. Wright and its tow, the schooner R. B. Hayes, is missing, as is also the schooner Kate E. Howard. Grave fears are entertained that the vessels foundered in the gale.

The Danforth was driven on the beach at Lakeview at 4:08 o'clock this morning, and after the crew had been rescued the vessel went to pieces. Since the Danforth left the Wright and the Hayes no tidings of these boats have been received. Each had a crew of ten men.

ing fast accompanied by a high wind. The street car system is completely blocked, as the snow is damp and packs. Advices from points throughout the States of Dakota and Wisconsin indicate that the storm is general. At Park Rapids, Minn., the snow is reported to be twenty inches deep and ten inches at Fergus Falls. The signal service for Minnesota reports the storm the heaviest known for years.

PROBALE LOSS OF A SCHOONER AND TEN MEN.
CHICAGO, April 20.—The steamer A. P. Wright left here last night at 6 c'clock with the schooners Hayes and Danforth in tow for the lower lakes. An hour afterwards they encountered a terrific east gale. The tow line of the Danforth parted and she drifted ashore south of the harbor entrance. The Hayes was burning torches for an hour before the Danforth broke adrift, and reports are current that she has foundered. She was commanded by J. P. Minskey and had a crew of ten men. Her cargo was corn for Buffalo. The crew of the Danforth was taken off by the life saving crew.

DETROIT. April 20.—One of the heaviest gales ever known on the lakes raged last night, the wind attaining a velocity of over 70 miles an hour. The local weather office reports that for the first time since the office was established its wind instrument, signal pole and signal lights and flags were carried away. As the wind becomes a gale in weather office parlance when it reaches 34 miles an hour, the 70-mile gale of last night and this morning is entitled to be called a howler, and must have made things lively for the few early navigators on the lakes.

and a half west of this place was blown off.

THE GALE IN GODERICH.

GODERICH, Ont., April 20.—The severest wind storm ever remembered here broke over Goderich last night and this morning and continued during the day. Fences were laid flat, trees were blown down and uprooted, and windows were driven in, awnings torn down and a general topsytury state of things existed all day. The town hall was partially unroofed, two of the chimeys at the east end having been blown down and carrying shingles, rafters and plaster into the clerk's office. Injury was also done to the roof of the Goderich organ factory and other buildings, the most prominent of which was the G. T.
R. roundbouse. Several of the large windows of the court house were also blown in. When the hour for opening the Chancery Court arrived this morning, as a result an adjournment had to be taken to the office of the master in chancery, where result an adjournment had to be taken to the office of the master in chancery, where Mr. Justice Robertson continued the court. The fury of the storm seems to have passed, but at present three-quarters of the gale is blowing, and the weather continues unsettled.

AT LISTOWEL. Ont., April 20.—The wind blew a perfect hurricane all last night, and considerable damage is reported to buildings in surrounding country. T. H. Rolts had a barn on his farm blown down, there being about 50 sheep in it at the time, which are said to have been killed, the top being full of hay, it was impossible to reach them. settled.

HAMILTON. Ont., April 20.—A heavy gale, accompanied by heavy rains, has been raging here all day, and considerable damage has been done all along the beach and harbor. At Mollwraith's dock, where the steamer Maccassa was being painted, the heaviest damage of all resulted. The wind and waves caused her to tear away about three feet of the dock and drife out on the bay. The boat subsequently drifted over to the Grand Trunk dock and was made fast there. The damage to the dock and steamer will amount to about $500. Eight schooners were in the bay during the storm. All the vessels rode out the gale fairly well with the exception of the W. J. Suffel, bound for Charlotte, which carried away her top mast and lost her dingy. AT HAMILTON.

After entertaining friends all afternoon flux. Goodings, wife of Henry Geodings, herdsman for F. W. Stone, Guelph, was taken suddenly ill at 10 o'clock Tuesday night and two hours later she was dead. The cause of death was apoplexy, which produced a hemorrhage at the base of the brain.

—Protection enables manufacturers to sell cheaply and pay high wages. That contention cannot be assailed. But it does not increase their willingness in either of these directions. It also enables them to sell dearly and pay low wages, and they choose the course that is dictated by business principles.

—The best sole leather is made of dementic hides, and the choicest of these are taken off by the "Big Four" packing firms of Chicago. There were slaughtered at the Union stock yards last year 2,449. 172 head of beef cattle. The total shipment of hides from Chicago to the tanneries was 229,711,388 pounds, or about $16,002. 5000 worth. Chicago is the largest greenslited hide market in the world. It is claimed that the big packers, having gradually driven out the smaller butchers, have incidentally almost absolutely obtained control of the domestic hide supply. They have regulated prices to the destriment of the domestic hide supply. They have regulated prices to the destriment of the successful and delivering their hides which are subversive of the interests of them who tan them.

During the last week of January, 714,032 During the last week of January, 714,032 paupers received relief in England and Wales. Of these 198,446 were "indoor" and 515,686 "outdoor" relief cases. The percentage of paupers to population that week was 24.3 per 1,000. The returns show a general improvement over all years since 1857, with the important exception of

SIR OLIVER'S IMPORTANT DE-CLARATION.

The deputation that yesterday waited on Sir Oliver Mowat, to ask the passage by the Ontario Legislature of a measure to prohibit entirely the retail sale of intoxicating liquors throughout this Province, elicited from the Premier a weighty and encouraging deliverance.

The powers of the Province, said Sir Oliver, speaking as a constitutional lawyer, are not beyond doubt. But a way can be

Mr. Bowell, Canadian Minister of Trade and Commerce, wants the system of high taxation continued in Canada for at least two generations to come, because, as he alleges, protection has made the United States prosperous. Every intelligent man knows that this plea is absolutely untenable. In the first place, the United States has been prosperous, in spite of high tariff exactions, because its 44 States have enjoyed unlimited free trade within an area as large as the whole of Europe. What European statesman is there who would not rejoice to have free trade extended throughout the whole of the continent? Then Mr. Bowell ignores the fact that the people of the United States have, by an unmistakable verdiet at the polls, declared that they do not believe in taxing the many for the benefit of a few, and that they desire no more taxes to be collected than are needed for the economical government of the re-public. The Liberal policy is a tariff for revenue only. We believe in that kind of a tariff, but we desire to see the taxes so adjusted that, if it is diseriminate at all, the advantages shall be in favor of the poor. In this we differ from Mr. Bowell and his associates, who tax luxuries lightly and put heavy specific and ad valorem duties on many of the neces-saries of life that must be bought by the

Take the cotton duties as an example. These taxes were defended by Mr. Bowell and his friends in Parliament, and Mr. Edgar was assailed for taking strong grounds against the combinations that now throwing many employes out of work, as their whim dictates. Mr. Edgar's contention that the cotton lords are making undue profits is borne out by the developments at the recent annual meeting of the Dominion Cotton Company. It was also decided to grant $600 to the coefficient of that the cotton fords are making undue profits is borne out by the developments at the recent annual meeting of the Dominion Cotton Company. Mr. Gault, the president, then stated that the company had made 20 per cent. dividend on $3,000,000 of an investment. Who knows how much of this stock is watered? The profits may be very much larger than represented, but, if not, does it not seem that a company which can coin money in this way should be able to hold its own in the markets of the world without specially taxing the people of Canada to add to its enormous profits? Mr. Gault himself made a confession at the annual meeting of the company, which appears in a newspaper friendly to the combine, that fully bears out this view. He assured his hearers that the company is so strong that even if the tax rate on cotton were reduced as low as it was when Mr. Mackenzie was in power, the cotton manufacturers could hold their own with the world. We have always become manufacturers could hold their own with the world. We have always become and the company with the world. We have always become and the company with the world. We have always become manufacturers could be delicated to grant $600 to the company with the world as a great deal that was encouraging in missionary work in the reasurer that the company with the world. We have always become and the company with the world. We have always become and the company with the world. We have always become and the company is a strong that even if the tax rate on cotton were reduced as low as it was when Mr. Mackenzie was in power, the cotton manufacturers could hold their own with the world. We have always become manufacturers could hold their own with the world. We have always become manufacturers could hold their own with the world. We have always become a constant of the company work in the treasurer that the collection at last evening's meeting in missionary work in the the mission are sent that the collection at last ev the cotton manufacturers could hold their own with the world. We have always be-lieved this, and only now desire to emphasize the fact, and to call the attention of the Administration at Ottawa to the offer made by the chief of the cotton combina-tion. There is not a shadow of an excuse for retaining the tax at its present high rate, and there never was any legitimate excuse for increasing it beyond the rate imposed by the Mackenzie Government.

HOW THE HEATHEN CAN BE REACHED.

Rev. Dr. Burns, of Hamilton, in a recent etter points out that there are a thousand millions of people in the world, and that an army of missionaries is needed to enter the foreign field, while the number of ordained ministers at home continues to be greater than the demand. He asserts that the energies of the churches are misdirected in this home competition, and that it is time a strike out were made. Here is the doctor's France is soon to adopt an interesting innovation in the postal card system. The sards will be issued in the form of cheek books, with stubs. The sender of the post card can make memoranda of its contents on the stub, and can have this stamped at the postoffice before the card it detached, so that a verified record of the correspondence can be kept.

The value of czone as a purifier and its manufacture by an electrical process has been very thoroughly gone into in England. Experiments have been carried on for over a year and a half in one of the large laboratories, which have embraced testing zone as an exterminator of every conceivable sort of insect, germ and bacteria, as well as determining the exact cost of manufacturing it electrically on a large scale. The use of electricity zone will shortly become a comparatively cheap commercial product.

Strike out were made. Here is the doctors arraigment:

"A lecturer in the University of Edinary and overministered. So is soverhurched and overministered. So is the United States, and the same is true of some other countries. In such lands piety seems to be continuous the same is true of some other countries. In such lands piety seems to be on inverse proportion to the number of ministers. They are simply in the wrong place. They ought to be somewhere else. But, to be more specific, if every minister and the winds of the corresponding to the corresponding to the such that would prevent others. But I would not send every winister. When the proposition of the ministers in North America, 16,000 to 20,000 could and should take their places in the mission field. The amening the exact cost of manufacture is the doctors of manufacture in the University of Edinary seems to be countries. In such lands piety seems to be countries. at home, not for the simple purpose of preaching Christ, but for the protecting of shibboleths. The church that is without sin in this matter may first cast a stone at the others. If in a little village three or four denominations have a dozen members each, each must have its own minister to keep the fences up. In some cases it is quite unnecessary, for the people have been so poisoned by sectarian preaching that they woulf rather stay at home than join in the services of another church, and they actually glory in what they call loyalty to their own church.

"Before I act, said the Premier, "I must "know that I have a law that is legal and "constitutional. It would require the "strongest possible power to enforce a pro"hibitory law, and it certainly could not "be enforced if any doubt remained as to its "validity. It would be hopeless to try it."

But the most important portions of Sir Oliver's reply to the deputation remain. He said that three-fourths of the crime in this and other countries was caused by the liquor traffic, and declared that whenever it was made clear that the Ontario Legislature had power to pass and enforce such a prohibitory law, HE WAS POSITIVELY PREPARED TO GO FOR IT.

The importance of this declaration cannot be over-estimated. It comes from a man who means what he says, and who possesses the parliamentary influence to make good his words.

but that there are not a shoal of them. It is high time to call a halt.

"Brethren, if we desire sincerely to bring the world to Christ we must consult as to the best means. We have hundreds of ministers in Canada that could well be spared. Their removal would be a great relief to the people. Some sectarian fences might get out of repair, might actually fail and the people might get together. Some churches might be closed, fewer buildings would be exempt from taxation and taxes churches might be closed, fewer buildings would be exempt from taxation and taxes might be lighter. Without a particle of extravagance the churches of Canada and the United States could send an army 15,000 to 20,000 strong and never miss them, never weaken a point, unless in the way I have mentioned. And we may rest assured that when the ministry have faith and sincerity enough to move in apostolic lines they will find the treasury adequate to their most heroic undertakings."

CLOSING SESSION

Of the Presbyterian Women's Missionary Association.

THURSDAY AFTERNOON.

The convention of the Presbyterian Women's Missionery Society resumed this afternoon, when the announcement of the election of officers was made as follows: President, Mrs. Ewart; vice-presidents, Mrs. Ewart; vice-presidents, Mrs. Mosdames McLennan, G. It was said by some that Hindoolsm was going to pass out of existence, but the speaker thought it was apparently on a balance, and she could hardly tell which way it would turn. Christianity would certainly eventually take possession of India, but missionary work must go on with increased vigor. It was encouraging to come back to Canada and fined so many helping to keep up the missions.

Miss Adam, of Edinburgh, Scotland, who had been a delegate to the Pan-Presbyterian convention in Toronto, was announced by the president as being present. Miss Adam spoke of the trip to Canada and the United States, where she visited many of the largest cities. The convention extended hearty greetings to Miss Adam to carry with her to the annual meeting to be held in Edinburgh.

Dedicatory prayer by Mrs. Ball, of Vanneck, closing words by Mrs. MacLaren, closing prayer by Mrs. Hossack, of Lucan, and the singing of the Doxology brought the important convention to an end.

not have been appointed, because he had been unsuccessful as a manufacturer under a highly protective tariff.

Hon. Mr. Ross commented on the hostility of the gentlemen opposite to the binder twine industry, as exhibited in their criticism. Many thousands of dollars will be saved to the farmers of the country by the establishment of this industry, and it is absolutely necessary that a practical man should be appointed to supervise the purchase of material, to superintend the working of the machinery and to sell manufactured products.

In reply to Mr. Clancey, the Provincial Secretary said the Government would place twine in the hands of farmers at the least possible cost. The Government has made no arrangements with anyone to handle the sale.

After passing many items, with little debate, the House adjourned at 9:25.

THE TEMPERANCE DELEATION.

Considerable stir was caused in the evening by a large delegation of temperance workers who met in convention in the afternoon and passed resolutions in support of Mr. Marter's bill to prohibit the sale of liquor by retail and insisting that nothing short of prohibition of the traffic would satisfy them. But few delegates from Western Ontario were present and none from London.

F. W. Atkins, Hamilton, chairman of the convention, introduced the delegates to Sir Oliver Mowat and his colleagues. He read was to prove their sincerity and prevent is being said that they were partisan in their movement.

"We want an immediate settlement of the question of prehibition," said W. W. Buchanan, a Hamilton delegates.

Sir Oliver expressed his pleasure at receiving the deputation. They were frank, and so would he be. It was impossible to feel too strongly in regard to the consumption of intoxicating liquors, which has caused probably three-fourths of the crime and poverty in this and other countries. Judges, magistrates and persons connected with charitable institution have so affirmed. He had no doubt that if there were real prohibition it could be inforced, but there is no use in putting prohibition on the statute book unless the people are ready and able to enforce is. If the law is not enforced, we would be better without it. It would be most disastrous to the temperance cause if Mr. Marter's bill were passed while the Province has no power to pass it. Sir Oliver showed the demoralization that resulted from the Dominion Government attempting to pass the McCarthy Act, the validity of which was assailed and which for along time prevented proper enforcement of either law. He could not support Mr. Marter's bill at the present, though he might go further as soon as the law is settled by the courts. Mr. Marter's bill provides for the prevention of the sale by retail, but the British Privy Council has said in dealing with the matter we cannot separate retail from wholesale. "If we had the power," said Sir Oliver, "to pass and enforce a prohibitory law, I am positively prepared to go for it, but I cannot assume that we have power to pass and enforce a prohibitory, has already told us that the Privy Council decision does not give us power to prohibit. There are thus grave doubts about our powers, and before I act I must know that I have a law that is legal and constitutional. It would require the strongest possible power to enforce a prohibitory law, and it certainly could not be enforced if any doubt remained as to its validity. It would be hopoless to try it.

Dr. McKay—May I ask does your Government intend to

THE CANADIAN BANK OF COMMERCE.

This Company now proposes to carry on a Telephone Business on the Automatic Principle, and to that end proposes to purchase the patents of the Etrowger System of Automatic Telephony. The present owners already have orders for the equipment of several Canadian towns with their Automatic System.

The present owners of the patents have subscribed for sixty thousand dollars of the stock at par, paying cash therefor.

at par, paying cash therefor.

The success of the system has been practically demonstrated by actual operation, and must necessarily supplant the present cumbersome system.

It is also exclusively used in La Porte, Ind., a town of ten thousand inhabitants, where it has replaced the original system, and it has been adopted by the United States Government and installed for it at Fort Sheridan. I has also been purchased by and is in successful operation in the Free Press building at London, Ont. and was purchased at a far higher price than that at which the present existing system was offered, and in direct competition as far as the merits of the two systems were concerned.

The Strowger system possesses the following features:

The Strowger system possesses the following features:

IT COSTS LESS THAN ANY OTHER SYSTEM TO INSTALL.

IT REQUIRES NO CENTRAL OPERATOR.

EVERY SUBSCRIBER MAKES HIS OWN CONNECTIONS.

NO DELAY OR REPLY FROM CARELESS AND INDIFFERENT OPERATORS OF "LINE BUSY."

EVERY SUBSCRIBER HAS A PRIVATE AS WELL AS A PUBLIC LINE WITHOUT EXTRA COST.

THE VILLAGE requiring ten telephones can have as perfect a service as the CITY retiring 10,000.

The service being automatic is ready NIGHT and DAY.

The fact that OTHER SYSTEMS require operators PREVENTS many SMALL TOWNS om having a TELEPHONE SERVICE, as they need but a few telephones and cannot afford erectors.

Other towns employ a day operator but have no NIGHT SERVICE, which this system The Company desires to equip exchanges in every CITY and TOWN throughout Canada as rapidly as possible, and now offers TWO HUNDIRED and FIFTY THOUSAND DOLLARS ($250,000), of its Capital Stock at par (of which sixty thousand dollars has been subscribed by the present owners). Terms of subscriptions:

10 PER CENT. ON SUBSCRIPTION, 15 PER CENT. ON ALLOTMENT,

Remainder as may be required by the Board of Directors, but calls not oftener than thirty days apart, nor for more than ten per cent. at one call.

The right is reserved to reject any or all subscriptions, and to allot a pro rata amount in age of over-subscription.

POSSESSING A PERFECT SYSTEM, REQUIRING NO OPERATORS, the Company by its saving in operation alone can pay large dividends, and in the end it is always "THE SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST."

THAT TELEPHONE STOCKS ARE AMONG THE MOST PROFITABLE OF ALL INVESTMENTS THE OLLOWING QUOTATIONS OF PRESENT PRICES AND DIVIDENDS SHOW: Bell Telephone Company, United States, Price, $190 per Share. Dividends, 8 per cent. Bell Telephone Company, Canada, Price, $150 per Share. Dividends, 8 per cent. The price to be paid for the exclusive right of using and of manufacturing under these patents for the Dominion of Canada is $80,000. The patents are valid for fifteen years from 1891. Subscriptions will be received at the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Toronto, and its branches in Montreal, London and Hamilton, where full prospectuses can be obtained.

Subscription Books will be opened at the Canadian Bank of Commerce in the said cities on MONDAY, APRIL 24, and close SATURDAY, APRIL 29

The system can be seen in operation at the Temple Building, Montreal, the Bank of Commerce Building Toronto, and the Free Press Building, London, Oat.
It is proposed as soon as the Directors may deem it advisable to list the stock of the Company on both the Montreal and Toronto Exchanges.

Local Legal at Osgoode Hall.

The appeal of the plaintiff in the case of Thompson vs. Hay was dismissed with costs at Osgoode Hall yesterday. This case originated over a carriage sold to Hay, of Woodstock, by Thompson, of this city. It has been through half a dozen courts until the law costs amount to many city. It has been through half a dozen courts, until the law costs amount to many times more than the amount originally in dispute. The plaintiff's appeal was from an order of the Queen's Bench divisional court, allowing an appeal from an order of a judge in chambers refusing prohibition to the first divisional court in the county of Middlesex. The judge held that prohibition was not to be held to prevent the judge from now transferring the action to the proper court. Shepley, Q.C., for the appellant. G. W. Dean vs. Bank of British North America.

Dean vs. Bank of British North America.

Judgment on appeal by plaintiffs from the judgment of the junior judge of the County Court of Middlesex in favor of the defendants upon the summary hearing of an interpleader matter under rule 1,148. The plaintiffs shipped certain packages of glassware from the United States to C. Mc. Callum & Co., at London, Ont., and these were in bond at London when seized by the sheriff under writs against the goods of McCallum & Co. The plaintiffs then claimed their right as unpaid vendors to stop the goods in transitu, and upon this appeal contended that the seizure under execution did not defeat such right. Appeal dismissed with costs, the court holding that the transit was at an end when the attempt was made to stop the goods. McLean vs. Breithaupt, 12 A. R., distinguished. Hellmuth (London) and R. K. Cowan (London) for the appellants. Rowell for the respondents. Dean vs. Bank of British North America

ONTARIO LEGISLATURE.

From the ADVERTISER'S Own Correspondent.)
TORONTO, April 21.—In the private bills committee to-day, Mr. McKay's bill to consolidate lagersoll's debt, $32,000, was passed. Notice was given to taxpayers that the debt be spread over twenty years; the bill provided for 30 years. Chairman Gibson said this might be held as a trick on the people, and twenty years was made the limit, subject to amendment by motion in the House if no taxpayers objected.

The committee passed Mr. Hardy's bill to establish under private auspices a school of mining and agriculture at Kingston.

BURNED OUT.

LISTOWEL, April 20.—Early this morning a fire broke out in a brick block on Wallace street. The Royal Hotel, Zeillax jewelry store, Christman's barber shop, Bolton & Tabberner's insurance office, Darling & Blewett's law office, J. W. Scott's bank, were all considerably damaged by fire and water. The losses are all pretty well covered by insurance.

Sometimes we hear of the "foreign element" controlling American cities. The value of a remark like that depends upon what is meant by the "foreign element." Take Chicago, for example, which has now about 1,200,000 inhabitants. In that city 131,333 Americans and 65,000 Canadians are voters. This constitutes a good majority of the electorate. But, perhaps, the Canadian should be counted as a foreigner. Next to the Canadians are the Germans, who have 45,000 votes. The Irish have 23,000; the Swedes, 10,800; the English, 7,800; Bohemians, 5,700; Poles, 4,800; Norwegnans, 4,800; Austrains, 3,200; Russians, 2,900; Scotch, 2,500; Danes, 2,300; Dutch, 1,600; Italians, 1,000; French, 600. The Americans and Canadians largely outnumber the other vote.

There is no disposition on the part of this praiseworthy organization to cultivate a clannish or exclusive disposition. Its aim is historical and social. The record of the struggles and achievements of the people who have done much to promote the best interests of this continent, national, social and religious, is worthy of honorable preservation. Its aspiration is to have all its race and kin qualified in every respect to be exemplary citizens in this great free land. Previous congresses have awakened much interest and have been highly successful. The coming one will be no exception.

"You are thinking it's not enough, Oswald?"
"It might be enough for prudent people. But Idon't think it would be found enoughly you and Caroline Davenal. Mark. I isany—I shall not affend you!—I faney you are not of a prudent tures."
"I don't know that I am. But any man can be prudent when there's a necessity that he should be."
"It has not always proved so."
"It see you make me a spendthrift," said Mark, good-humoredly.
"Not exactly that. I think you could not live upon as small an income as some can. Dr. Davenal gives you, I believe, £200 a year, and you have been with him six months; my opinion is, Mark, that at the twelve-month's end you will find the £200 has nothing like kept you. You will be looking around for another hundred to pay itehts."
"Are you so particularly saving yourself," debts."

"Are you so particularly saving yourself,"

"Are you so particularly saving yoursely." retorted Mark.

"That is not the question, Mark; I am not going to be married," answered Oswald, with asmie. "But I do save."

"If the doctor will give me £400 a year to begin with, there's no need to wait."

"You have no furniture."

"That's easily ordered," said Mark.

"Very easily indeed," laughed Oswald.
"But there'll be the paying for it."

"It won't take so much. We shall not set up in a grand way. We can pay by installments."

set up in a k and any stallments."

"A bad beginning, Mark."
Mark rather winced.

"Are you going to turn against me, Oswald? To throw cold water on it."
Oswald looked very grave as he anawered.
Mark was not his brother, and he could not urge him too much; but a conviction seated itself in his heart, perhaps not for the first time, that Mark had inherited their father's imprudence.

time, that Mark had inherited their father's imprudence.

"These considerations are for you, Mark; not for me. If I speak of them to you, I do so in your true interest. We have never been brother's counsel—you would deem I had no right to do it. Only be prudent for your own sake and Caroline's. Good-even ing, if you will go back."

Neal admitted Mr. Oswald Cray, and Neal's face lighted up with the most apparent genuine pleasure in doing it. Neal was the quintessence of courteous respect to his betters, but an additional respect would show itself in his manner to Mr. Oswald Cray, from the fact possibly that he had served in the Oswald family at Thorndyke, and Mr. Oswald Cray was so near a connection of it.

and Mr. Oswald Cray was so near a connection of it.

Dr. Davenal was then in the garden-parlor with Sara. The noisy boys were regaling themselves in the dining-room, under the presidentahip of Miss Battina. A few moments, and the doctor and Mr. Oswald Cray were deep in the discussion of the proposition that had so moved them; the doctor being the first to speak of it. Sarasat near the window, having taken up some light work. A fair picture she looked, in her evening dress; her cheeks somewhat flushed, her neck so fair and white, the gold chain lying on it; her pretty arms partially hidden by their white lace. Dr. Davenal stood in a musing attitude on the other side of the window, and Mr. Oswald Cray sat between them a little back, his elbow on the center-table, his chin on his hand.

"Mark has just told me of it," he observed in reply to Dr. Davenal. "I methim as I walked here. I was very much surprised.

spoken to you so soon."

"What do you think of it?" asked the dector, abruptly.

"Nay, sir, it is for you to think," was the reply of Mr. Oswald Cray, after a momentary pause.

"I know—in that sense: My opinion is, that it is exceedingly premature."

"Well—yes, I confess it appears so to me. I told Mark so. There's one thing, Dr. Davenal—some men get on all the better for marrying early."

"Yes; its true; and some men are all the better for waiting. I like those men who have the courage and patience to wait, bearing steadily on to the right moment and working for it. I married very early in life mysoif, but my circumstances instified it. Where circumstances do not justify, a man should wait. I don't mean waiting on to an unreasonable time, until the sear and yellow leaf's advancing; nothing of that; but there's a medium in all things. I am sure you would not rush into an imprudent marriage; you'd wait your time."

A amile parted Oswald Cray's lips.
"I am obliged to wait, sir."

"That is, prudence obliges you t''

"Yes, that's ir."

"And I make no doubt your income is a good deal larger than the present one of tirk's?"

"And I make no doubt your income is a good deal larger than the present one of therk's?"

"I believe it is."
Dr. Davenal stood in silence, twirling his watch chain.

"Give me your advice," he said, turning to Mr. Oswald Cray.

"Give me your advice," he said, turning to Mr. Oswald Cray.

"Dr. Davenal, may I tell you that I would prefer not to give it? By blood, Mark is my half-brother; but you know the circumstances under which we were reared—that we are, in fact, little more than strangers; and I feel the greatest delicacy in interfering with him in any way. I will do him any good that I can; but I will not give advice regarding him in so momentous a step as this."

Dr. Davenal understood the feeling; it was a perfectly proper one.

"No, I would not," replied Dr. Davenal.
"I wish it had been so. Don't talk of it; it will put me out of conceit of Mark."

Mr. Oswald Cray laughed, and stole a glance at Sara. Her cheeks were crimson; her head was bent closer to her work than it need have been.

"Why did you ask if I would have objected to you?" inquired the doctor. "It was not so, was it?"

"No, doctor that it was not. On the contrary I have seen for some little time that Mark and Caroline were getting to like each other."

"I thought you said you were surprised."
"Surprised at Mark asking for her so soon. Not that an attachment was existing."

FACTION SLAVERY WEAKENING.

It is in the interest of the partisan to inspire in the people the greatert possible dread of his "property" bug-bear — the party spirit. This mechanical hob-gobin of his manipulating is one of the most effective means he has at hand of frightnaing men, who are inclined to do some awkward independent thinking, into silence or, possibly, into acquiseence. He cows them with the unlikelihood of success—with the failure that he confidently predicts must beat back every effort to divide his partisan majority. In the course of this reasoning, all sorts of uncomplimentary things are said of the "party following" by the very men who profit most from its loyalty. They assure you that it is not open to reason; that it cares little for facts; that it will support them and their faded party colors through thick and thin. That there is a certain and sad amount of truth in this charge cannot be denied, but Parlisment is not the country, sad one has but to study the politics of the last half decade to see clearly that this much dreaded party fetichism is only a poor toothless menster after all.

Partyism, like certain other noxious weeds, only grows on uncultivated ground. Where there are no vital issues before the people and politics has descended to a mere light between the "ime" and the "outs," it is not strange that blind and meaningless factionism should prevail. But in the face of a serious public question, the party fetter finds itself surprisingly weak. Instances of this are very ready to our hands in these times of political re-awakening. Let us go first to the native land of maudlin factionism—the United States—and see there how thoroughly real "issues" have been able to over,ower party bonds. But a few years ago, their politics was an unblushing wrestle for the spoils of office. The slavery quistion was estiled; the two parties agreed on the tariff; they were both hopelessly disunited on the silver problem; and there was not a ghost of a principle at take when they may in the submit and the standard of "tariff refo

THE LITTLE LIFE CALLS FOR CARE !

Mother, You Are Responsible!

When baby comes to gladden the home terrible responsibility is imposed upon the mother. The life of the tender flower is in her care and keeping. In order to preserve the tragile plant the mother must use her best efforts in one direction. The baby's disting becomes the all-important subject; its daily food will cause it to grow in flesh, bone and muscle, or will be the subject; its daily food will cause it to grow in flesh, bone and muscle, or will be the means of contributing to sickness, weakness and death.

When selecting a food for baby it is importatively necessary to follow the truths of science. Foods that do not possess the clements of pure breast milk cannot possibly sustain frail babies with imperfect digestive powers. Of all the foods ever prepared for infants, the well-known Lactated Food is the only perfect substitute for healthy breast milk. Lactated Food is free from all injurious ingredients that are found in the common foods of the day. Physicians everywhere are recommending Lactated Food, because it is easily assimilated and is a preventive of diarrhea and dysentery. Mothers are strongly urged to give this great food a trial. In every case it means life, health and growth to the child, and contributes to the proticely comfort and haminess. to the child, and contributes mother's comfort and happiness.

is a good motto. It is particularly good when applied to anything which we use daily at our own meals. Bread may truly be called the staff of life and we cannot be too careful as to what we put into it. Good health is of too great importance to be trifled with, and biscuits or pastry made with the alum powders which are so commonly sold in this country, are very injurious, leading to dyspepsia and numerons other troubles resulting therefrom. The pure cream of tartar and sods baking powders are healthful in every respect. In this class of powders the Pure Gold brand has obtained the highest position and is always reliable.

"'Just one!" he pleaded tenderly
"There's no one near to see,
We're quite alone, the gloom is deep,
The neighbors are all fast asleep;
And now, before you venture in
The house, 'twill surely be no sin
To grant to me a kiss—just one!"

Deeply she blushed at his request.
To her a kiss meant more than jest—
A sacred pledge, to true love owed,
Not to be carelessly bestowed;
And so she drew her small hand back
And gave him one tremendous crack
Instead upon the car—just one.

John C. Mill requested that Dufferin arenue be opened from Quebec to Charlotte streets. Ald. Dreaney explained that pupils attending Quebec street school and living east of the school had to go around by Dundas street. He moved that the chairman and city engineer look into the matter with a view of purchasing the property.

Ald. Garratt—Would the residents on seak side of the proposed street be willing a view of purchasing the property.

Ald. Garratt—Would the residents on each side of the proposed street be willing to give their property?

Ald. Dreancy—I think they would be foolish if they did.

The engineer will report on the matter.

James Court and others complained that on account of a defective sewer on Wreay street, South London, their cellars were repeatedly flooded. The surface water flows in from Westminster township and causes the whole trouble. A ditch was necessary to carry off this water.

The city solicitor's opinion will be obtained on the matter.

Alex. Harvey asked that either surveyers' monuments be put in on Talbat street north or that he be given the boundaries.

The city engineer said that there were very few monuments, none at all in East London or South London. In Toronto and Hamilton there were none.

No action was taken.

The Bell Organ and Piano Company had been served by the Medical Health Officer with a notice to connect their premises on Dundas street with the sewer. The city engineer had refused to grant them a permit to do the work unless they up put a Dundas street with the sewer. The city engineer had refused to grant them a permit to do the work unless they up put a deposit of $50 as required by bylaw. This they would not agree to do, although they would be willing to pay for the work. The Board of Health will be asked to put down the drain.

Hon. John Carling protested against the cab stand being situated in front of his block, Richmond street.

The stand will be changed to Carling street.

street.
The caretaker of Victoria Park asked for a quantity of hose, that the boulevard be painted, and a number of trees—English elm and sycamore. Granted. His request for a boiler to heat the greenhouse was filed.

The artificial stone walk on King street

The artificial stone walk on King street will be commenced about May 1.

The engineer was instructed to call for tenders for new dump carts.

The pay sheet amounted to $575 22, of which $374 76 was for street cleaning.

The engineer will propare a sketch of a bandstand for Victoria Park.

Ald. Coo advocated more extensive flower culture in the park, and suggested that local florists be allowed to establish flower beds there, and that prizes be offered for the best exhibit.
