ASQUITH TAKES UP POSITION

Premier's Action Comes as Surprise. But He Is Frantically Cheered as He Leaves House, Until His Re-election — Generals Definitely Resign.

DRAMATIC SCENE IN THE HOUSE

[Canadian Press.] London, March 30 .- Col. John Seely, secretary for war, resigned his portfolio in the British cabinet today, and his resignation was accepted by the Premier. Premier Asquith himself decided to take the secretaryship of war in place of Col

Sir John French, chief of the imperial general staff of the British army, and Sii John Ewart, adjutant-general to the forces, definitely resigned from the service today. The first intimation received by members of Parliament that Col. Seely had definitely retired from the cabinet was when he entered the House and took a seat in the back benches instead of among his late colleagues. The Cause.

"The paragraphs which caused the crisis were contained in a memorandum written to Brig.-Gen. Hubert Gough and contained the following:

"The Government must retain its right to use all the forces of the crown in Ireland or elsewhere to maintain order and support the civil power in the ordinary execution of their duty, but it has no intention whatever of taking advantage of this right in order to crush political opposition to the policy or the principles of the home rule bill."

These guarantees were afterwards repudiated by the cabinet, and this was taken as a rebuff by Field Marshal Sir John French, who, as head of the imperial general staff, was virtual commander-in-chief of the army, and by Sir John Ewart, the adjutant-general to the forces Generals Resign

The two generals immediately resigned, and all efforts made by the King, the Premier, and the other ministers failed to induce them to change their minds. Their resignations were made definite today. Premier Takes Position

Premier Asquith's further announcement that he himself would take up the portfolio of secretary for war came in the nature of a surprise. Having announced his intention to take up the office, he declared he would retire from the House of Commons in accordance with the law "until it pleases my constituents to sanction my re

Rumors of Reinforcements For Torreon Defender Received With Misgiving.

ARE REBELS IN DANGER?

Magnificent Federal Defence Surprises Rebels-Is Mystery to All.

[Canadian Press.] Chihuahua, Mexico, March 30 .- For seven days Francisco Villa, military eader of the Constitutionalist revolu tion, has waged his battle against Torreon. For six days the fight has been the bitterest and the loss of life the heaviest in the recent history of Mexico, judging from the meager press dispatches received from the front, and the stories of slaughter told today by many of the 588 wounded veterans of Torreon, who are interned in hospitals

Constitutionalist sympathizers and rebel officers in Chihuahua again have become anxious as to the fate of their military leader and the remnants of the 12,000 men who marched to Torreon with him to engage in the revolution's first decisive battle. No word from Villa came early today to re-lieve the anxiety which obtained throughout Chihuahua. Reports that heavy reinforcements were hastening to relieve General Refugio Velasco, the Federal commander at Torreon, who had made such a resourceful resistance against the rebels, were received here with misgivings. But it is the fact that no news of General Villa's progress has come through for many hours, that is responsible for the greatest anxiety as to the fate. When advantage has been with the rebel leader in the past, free access to telegraphic communication was given newspaper correspondents at the front, but when he met reverses Villa would allow no news sent over the wires.

Fear For Villa Army officers here fear that Villa and stances and after much consideration I his army are in a difficult and perexhausted both men and supplies. Those familiar with the geography f Torreon and its vicinity cannot understand how General Velasco has been able to withstand the vigorous attack numerical superior force as long as he has, he having been driven, ac cording to report, to the very southern edge of the city. The only solu-tion which presented itself was that General Velasco and his men had succeeded in holding the roundhouse and railroad buildings in spite of the artillery fire which Villa might have been able to direct against them. Some Optimists.

There are those optimistic enough o believe that General Villa has driven the Federals from the stronghold and is pursuing them down the valley to the south, with the intention of demoralizing the Federal forces that his possession of Torreon might be undisturbed until he can reorganize his own army. This theory is discounted, however, because of the fact that no news of any character from the front has been received since Villa's message | ised to be a dignified contest with genu-Saturday night.

LONDON, MONDAY, MARCH 30.

THE PRESIDENT'S VICTORY. RESIDENT Wilson seems to have scored a decided victory in the matter of the Panama Canal tolls-the first test vote giving him a satisfactory majority. His administration has been a strenuous one, but this has been the worst struggle he has had. In his tariff and currency legislation he had carried practically the full strength of his party. But in his effort to secure the repeal of the law relieving American shipping he has met with serious opposition from strongest Democrats in Congress are oper of the House, and Oscar Underwood, against him. That he has been able to control the bulk of his party in spite ions. Now those opinions may have been Bright and gay, of the desertion of his chief officers shows both the personal strength of the President and the force of his appeal to

The passage of the law which is now being attacked was, of course, in the interests of certain classes of shippers in the United States. It was in violation of the terms of the Hay-Pauncefote treaty, which provided for the construction of the canal. That treaty required that all nations should have equal privileges in the use of the canal. Its language would seem to be plain, but there was just enough ambiguity to give certain politicians an excuse for saying that it meant "all nations other than the United States." The appeal to national and commercial prejudices carried the bill through, though at the time some of the best men, and some of the most important journals of the United States protested against it as a dishorprable proceeding. The subject received very ideration during the presiden tial election, though the Democratic platform seemed to favor it. But soon after the President was installed it became evident he did not view the treaty repudiation with favor, though he kept his opinions in the background while he was steering his tariff bill through Congress. Having cleared the decks of important local legislation, he was able to come out freely in his disapproval of the tolls act. And now his appeal to the higher sense of honor and justice seems to be successful, despite domestic antagonism.

It is noticeable that the President's adversaries of both parties are trying to utilize national prejudices, and their chief argument is that the President is submitting to English demands, and sacrificing the interests of Americans. The practice of twisting the tail of the British lion, which had fallen into some disrepute, is being resorted to again. The people are reminded that originally "the American eagle hullt his rest with the mane of the British lion," as one orato expresses it, and that it would be cowardly to do anything Great Britain The argument of exaggerated patriotism is usually the last resort of a poor cause. And it is not to the credit of human nature that it is very often successful. In Canada it has been one of the chief assets of Toryism from the days of Sir Francis Head down to the election of 1911. And in the United States it has been useful in partisan politics on more than one occasion. That it appears to be losing its force in the republic would seem to indicate that our neigh bors are reaching a degree of mental stability which we might be glad to strive for ourselves.

MONG the Interesting reminiscences in Sir Charles Tupper's lately published memoirs is one referring to the Langevin scandal. Sir Hector Langevin vas a prominent member of Sir John Macdonald's cabinet, and generally recognized as heir-apparent to the political frown. Mr. Tarte, at that time a Conservative, had intimated to Sir John that he had all the evidence to prove Sir Hector's guilt in connection with certain contract scandals. Sir John and Sir Charles discussed the matter. Tarte had said he would drive Sir. Hector out of Parliament. How was the situation to be met? Sir John proposed to retire Sir Hector by making him lieutenantgovernor of Quebec. And this appears to have been agreeable to Mr. Tarte. But Sir John was slow about carrying out the arrangement, and Mr. Tarte proceeded with his exposures. The result was the enforced retirement of Sir Hector from public life. The amusing part his intimates that a man who was not fit for Parliament would do for governor It was just as well the proposition was of both parties have usually been men een made a governor, and had to face the scandal afterwards. A man politically besmirched would have been no more pleasant a spectacle as a governor than as a cabinet minister.

COLLEGE TO FARM.

T THIS time of year the about-to-AT THIS time of year the thinking graduate college student is thinking not only of examinations, but of the life after. Some have, perhaps, even yet not made up their minds as to their careers, and are waiting for something to turn up. What Canada wants right now, and is prepared to reward richly, is the producer. The country must raise more cattle to supply the all-devouring American market, as well as our own. More dairy products are called for, more fruits by far. Pronounced novelty in shapes and trimming alike is a feature of the New Spring Millinery. Of the immense variety of shapes presented most are small and many conform to the high-sided idea. Some of the models are little more than skull turbans, fitting snugly about the head. The Canadian Millinery styles in the main follow the American adaptations, and the new American tariff law prohibiting the importation of wild birds' plumage caused a search for new trimmings for spring hats. Small flowers will be more popular than for many seasons, while Novelty Ribbons will be in great demand. New effects in Ostrich are featured, while many jaunty Quills are used to advantage.

SNYDER NOW SAID TO BE AN OUTFIELDER

Saginaw Player Traded for Coose Not a Catcher

WAS LONDON STUNG?

Played 95 Games Last Season for Saginaw and Batted .271-Stole 26 Bases.

According to a local fan whose business takes him to Michigan at odd times during the summer, Snyder, the Saginaw player, who was traded to the London club for Chubby Coose, the former Brantford pitcher, is an outfielder, and not a catcher, as Manager Reisling was led to believe. The London man believes that Saginaw got all the best of the deal, as he has seen both Coose and Snyder in action, and he thinks Coose is by far the better player.

The records show that Snyder played 95 games for Saginaw in the outfield last season. He batted .271 and fielded .951, only fair averages. Coose, a pitcher, who was used occasionally in the outfield and at shortstop, batted .261 in 88 games and fielded .963. In the matter of averages, Snyder shows up a trifle better than the former Red Sox player. The records do not say anything about Snyder as a catcher and it is apparent that he did little backstopping for the Saginaw team last season. He stole 26 bases during the season, which is a pretty good record against Coose's nine, and made 20 sacrifice hits

Snyder is a youngster, about the same age as Coose, and he is a comer. Manager Reisling had him sized up pretty strong or he would not have made the trade. He is a well built boy and is said to be very fast. If he is coming to the ndon club as a catcher it is likely that he has done some receiving before and was playing the outfield for Saginaw because that team had a couple of good backstops.

"Do you think she would come if you sent her a cablegram?"

As Booth and the lawyer walked down Fifth avenue toward the club where they were to dine together, the latter, after a long silence, made a remark that disturbed the young man vastly.

"She's going all to pieces, Booth. Bound to collapse. That's the way with these strong-minded, secret, pent-up natures. She has brooded all these months and she's been living a lie. Well, the break has come. She's told you and me. Now, do you know what I'm afraid will hap-pen?"

"I think I know what's in your mind," said the younger man seriously. "You are afraid she'll tell others?"

The lawyer tapped his forehead significantly. "It may result in that."

"Brain fever," interrupted Carroll, with a gloomy shake of his head. "Delirium and all that sort of thing. Haven't you noticed how ill she looks? Feverish, nervous, irritable? Well, there you are."

To be perfectly honest with you, I don't believe she's accountable to anyone but God in this matter. The law has no claim against her, except in a perfunctory-way. I don't deny that it is only right and just that Wrandall's family should know the truth, if she chooses to reveal it to them. If she doesn't, I shall be the last to suggest it to her."

GRADUAL DECLINE

Dressed Carcases, However, Are Scarce—Hay the Only Offering.

Three loads of hay comprised the Monday market, selling at $14 and $15 per ton. The smallness of the market was due to the bad state of country roads, acording to the few farmers on the square. Saturday's market was much smaller than expected on this account. A large shipment of live hogs will be nade Wednesday, and the price paid will set the price for hogs on the local market. It is expected that about $8.75 per hundredweight will be paid, as the price is taking a very gradual decline.

Dressed hogs, however, were scarce on Saturday, and sold for $12.50 and $13. Beef sold by the carcass, for 11 to 13 cents per Front quarters of pork sold at 13 and 14 cents per pound, and hinds, for 15 cents per pound. There was a plentiful supply of apples which sold at low prices late in the day. Good quality fruit was bought for $2.50 to

At least, so the doctor had said. Two days passed before the distressed young man could get any definite news concerning her condition. He unconsciously began to think of it as a malady, not a mere illness, due of course to the remark Carroll had dropped. It was Carroll himself who gave a definite report of Sara. He met the lawyer coming away from the apartment when he called to inquire.

New York, March 30—Wall Street, noon.

The uneven course of speculation for a time resulted in contrasting movements, but ultimately the trend of the important issues became definitely downward. Steels came chiefly from professional traders, who favored the short side on account of the lack of investment demand and the steady diminution of speculative interest. Bears nevertheless remembered the stubborn resistance of the market on last week's decline, and moved cautiously. The general market was largely influenced by Steel. BRILLIANT REVIEW asked as an appropriation for the oil reserves, but the First Lord explained that with the cost of tanks and pipe lines to deliver oil at the jetties, much more is being spent. "Oil in quantities has been purchased in this country, and quantities will reach us during the period covered by the new estimates," was the most explicit information he consented to give. "The great exertion has been made. There is no difficulty-in obtaining oil," he added.

Scandals Insinuated. Opposition newspapers have hinted strongly at scandals in connection with oil contracts, and accused the Government of favoring capitalists who are its friends. Rupert Gwynne, M.P., pressed Mr. Churchill to publish the contracts, and particularly wanted to know whether the Mexican Eagle Company, of which Lord Cowdray is the head, was among the favored ones. The First Lord quoted a nemorandum from the royal commission which investigated the question of oil fuel, asserting that secrecy regarding naval supplies was necessary. He refused to give the names of contractors, and would say only that Mexico is one of the countries from which oil is being obtained. Some news of the campaign for oil did crop out in the speech The admiralty has been building a fleet of oil tank steamers very quietly. Four are already in use and ten more are under way. Large ships which would be in the line of battle during war will continue to depend upon coal, but the Cardiff product has become obsolete already, he said, for light cruisers of the latest type, all of which are equipped with oll-consuming engines. Torpedo-boats, destroy ers and the smaller craft generally are consuming oil Oil Saves Time and Money. Mr. Churchill revealed the report of the royal commission on the advantages of engines burning oil only over those burn-ing both coal and oil. The newest smaller ships are being equipped with the former type. The radius of action of a fleet with oil-burning engines would be increased 40 per cent, and the fighting strength of a fleet would be increased 25 per cent because of the greater facility of refuelling at sea in all weather, so that ships would not be obliged to return to their base for coaling. The reduction of stokehold force would be 55 per cent. Oil would give the advantage of a very rapid increase of steam production, and would eliminate the variations of steam pressure necessary for the cleaning of coal burning furnaces.

Added interest was lent to the incident by the fact that Mr. Murphy is a strong advocate of home rule for Ireland, while Mr. McKegeney is an Orangeman, and a staunch supporter of the views of Ulster. NAPOLEON CHAMPAIGNE MAY GO TO SENATE

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ottawa, March 29.-It is reported that Napoleon Champaigne, of Ottawa, member of the Ontario House, is likely to be appointed to the Canadian Senate within a short time, and may be named to fill one of the vacancies caused by the deaths of Sir George Ross and Senator George E. Cox. The French-speaking population of Ontario, which constitutes about one-fifth of the people of the province have two senators at present, and have for some time claimed that their numerical strength entitles them to a third representative in the Upper House at Ottawa. Mr. Champaigne has recently given indications of intentions to cause his party trouble by too great insistence upon the awkward school question, and there is a growing feeling that he can best be dealt a senatorial appointment. which would in a measure silence him.

by His Lordship Bishop Williams.

Twelve candidates for confirmation were eceived into the church by Bishop Williams at the evening service of St. George's Church, West London, last evenng. The Bishop was the preacher for the casion, and spoke from the text, "The Blorious Gospel of the Blessed God."

"It is well," said his lordship, "that we hould at times in these days, when so nany attempts are being made to explain away the gospel upon naturalistic principles, to be brought back by a clear the imm and emphatic statement of who the author of the Christian gospel is. God is the uthor of it, and not man."

Four elements set forth in the gospel of Christ were emphasized by the Bishop in his address to the candidates. The gospe gave the right conception of God. Heathen nations regarded their gods with eelings of terror, but the Christian faith had taught that God was a god of purity and love. The Christian gospel also gave mankind the true ideal of life; it was set forth in the written word, and also presented in the life of Christ. A third element was the assurance of immortality that gave life a seriousness and dignity, and last of all and perhaps most important, was the promise of the Holy Spirit as revealed in Christ's gospel. His lordship urged the candidates before him to accept these four principles as their guide in leading the Christian life.

MISSIONS IN 1915

Twelve Received Into Church Appeal Will Be Made For That Amount

> An appeal will be made to Presbyterian churches in Canada for $800,000, for home missions, in 1915. This was decided at the annual meeting of the Presbyterian Home Mission Board, which met last week in Toronto. Dr. D. L. McCrae, pastor of Hamilton Roard Presbyterian Church, who has returned from the meeting, told The Advertiser that the home mission work of the past year has been the most success ful in the history of the church, despite the financial stringency in the West, and the immigration of more than 400,000 for-

"This year, the Presbyterian Church gave $100,000 to home missions more than last year," he said. "The discussion of the church union uestion has brought about a fine spirit of co-operation among three churches, Presbyterian, Methodist and Congregawhich prevents overlapping work and waste in men and money in the nission field. "The missionary budget is really no burden on the church," said Dr. McCrae, and it will be raised quite easily. Many ongregations have more than doubled their contributions, since using the new 'every-member" canvas method and the weekly duplex envelope.

"Less than an average of twenty cents a week will now more than meet the apportionment of the largest churches and the whole budget. Many of the well-to-do ess able only are required to give a few cents a week. Dr. McCrae was enthusiastic over the Dominion-wide success of the mission. 'Nearly 500 students from Canada, 'the United States and from all over Great Britain and Ireland, have offered themselves for the work, he reported. Besides these, he said that large numbers of applicants are seeking to enter the Presbyterian ministry.

Ontario Loan and Debenture Company Inspector Passes Away-Wife in West.

With his wife in Edmonton visiting their daughter and unable to reach London before Thursday, Alex. D. Macpherson, inspector of the Ontario Loan and Debentures Company, residing at 97 Stanley street, died suddenly at midnight, Saturday, after only a few hours' illness. Acute neuralgia of the heart was given as the cause of death. About three weeks ago Mrs. Macpherson left for the west to visit her daughter, who has been residing in Edmonton since her marriage several years ago. At the time Mr. Macpherson was in the best of health. Saturday he pursued his occupation as usual and Saturday evening was in the best of spirits. Late in the evening he complained of being ill and shortly after passed away. As soon as he complained of feeling unwell, relatives who were at home, telegraphed his wife, stating that her husband was dangerously ill and advising that she take the first train east. Shortly after the husband died.

With the quickest possible train connections Mrs. Macpherson will be unable to arrive in London before Thursday

Hyman Hall held a good-sized audience Saturday evening to hear the illustrated lecture by Rev. S. E. McKegney, "A Trip Across Ireland." A splendid series of lantern slides, depicting scenes in the Emerald Isle, were explained in an interesting manner by Mr. McKegney. Ireland, he stated, was a country much misrepresentd.

In the average American mind it was a country of hovels, and its people ignorant peasants. This impression had been heightened by American companies takneightened by American companies of pictures there for lecture purposes. They selected the poorest huts to offer as samples of the dwellings of the Irish peosamples of the dwellings as well take a e. "They might just as well take a cture of the Grand Trunk station here a sample of the buildings in Canada,"

The Irish were, on the contrary, a thrifty and industrious people. Speaking on the situation in Ulster, Mr. McKegney said that the Ulsterites were determined.

SPECIAL SERVICES MARK DEAN'S ANNIVERSARY

Fortieth Year of Service as Rector of St. James' Church Observed.

The fortieth anniversary of Very Rev. Dean Davis as rector of St. James' Anglican Church was observed y special services Sunday. Venerable Archdeacon Richardson occupied the pulpit at the morning service, and Venerable Archdeacon Hill, of St. Thomas, was the preacher at the even-ing service. Both made fitting reference to the long and faithful pastorate of Dean Davis.

Archdeacon Hill referred to him as an old college chum whom he had known for forty-five years.

Special music by the choir, under the direction of Charles E. Percy, was a feature of both services. In the morning an anthem, "My Faith Looks Up to Thee," was rendered, and solos by Miss Georgina Quigley, Miss Elsie Greene, and Mr. Eliott heard to advantage. At the evening service Miss Minnie Fox, Miss Greene, and Miss Quigley were soloists, and the cheir gave a pleasing rendition of "Hark, Hark My Soul." The service was followed by a brief organ recital. Miss Marjorie Talbot favored with a solo, which was greatly appreciated.

Christianity Wields Strong Exalted Thoughts and Degrading Aspirations Centered There.

"The Temptations of the Heart" was jected," Rev. J. G. Stuart told of the the subject of the sermon of Rav. Edwin Hawkins in St. Paul's Cathedral yesterday morning. Rev. Mr. Hawkins preached from the text, James i., 14: Every man is tempted, when he drawn away of his own lust, and en-

"What evils, heinous crimes, and cruelies have their rise in the occult plannings, deep down in the human heart." said Mr. Hawkins. "The heart is the nome of the noblest and most exalted feelings on the one hand, and on the other of ignominy and degrading aspirations It is the home of the most refined and exquisite passion of love, on one hand, and on the other hand, the home of hatred and contempt.

"The third temptation of our Savior was an appeal to the heart. The tempter offered him all the kingdoms of earth. Jesus had come these very kingdoms, but it win was by offering himself as a demption for humanity. Christ had come to teach and show men that sacrifice is the highest type of service, even to the giving up of life itself. So when the tempter offered the kingdoms of the earth to Christ, if he would simply bow down to him, Christ said: 'Get thee behind me,

It was appropriate that at this Lenten season, said Mr. Hawkins, in closing, that Christians should examine their hearts to see whether the well springs of action there were good or evil.

MELTING POT FOR WORLD NATIONS

Inhabitants of All Climes Seek Out Dominion, Says Rev. J. S, Woodsworth.

He drew some startling predictions a for the future of the Dominion from a prison bars, mass of statistics regarding immigration problems which he exhibited in a series of charts. What the product of that great crucible will be is a question which should be foremost in the mind of every Canadian, he said. The national character was undergoing a distinct change at the present time, due to the influx of people from other lands with other customs and manners of life, other ideals of government, of justice and

There was no guarantee that the prevailing type in the next century would be Anglo-Saxon or even the great Germanic type. That meant that a population eight times as great as London's had to be assimilated. This year the number of immigrants coming would even greater. Character Born of Strife. "This struggle and conflict against the two opposing forces which everyone experiences, is what develops the character in us," said Mr. Johnston. "Character is born of this strife. Untempted innocence is not character. Some of us take the easy comfortable method of life, 'being led by the spirit,' but those persons attain little. It is those who stand the temptation, agonizing struggle and strife of mind as did Christ, who attain real character."

In the evening, the pastor reviewed the emptations of Christ, and their relations to the church. Speaking from the ext, Matthew, chapter 4, and verses i and ii, Rev. Mr. Johnston said: "The church is God's agency toestablish the kingdom of God, and the church is tempted to go forward, to build up the kingdom by the means suggested to Jesus in the vilderness."

Dramatic Forms Unnecessary. "None shall live by bread alone; but by every word that proceedeth out of the mouth of God," the speaker quoted, referring to the first temptation. "The church must keep that gospel in its place, and the other gospel will not be so necessary. The church can never be developed by showy and dramatic forms," declared the speaker. "The power of the church is in the simple truth of God, and she must never be afraid to trust to this simplicity.

"Many a church has been dragged into the mire by the weight of the world, and by its worldly understanding, has been shorn of its strength."

"These references are barely more than supposition, and are too vague to be taken as foundations for doctrine. These words mean, in many cases, 'down to' and 'up from' in the Scriptures. Caesar's house. "'All the saints salute you.' These saints, though unnamed, were evidently the men of the guard of Nero Claudius, a man whose name itself tells a story of all that is vile, for he was a man who stopped at nothing in the pursuit of pleasure and vengeance, even murdering his mother and brother, and reveled in crime. were men who came in daily contact with this monster and his atrocities and remained unstained. These men of Nero's house show that though one's environment has to do with the ease or difficulty in leading a Christian life the outcome rests entirely with the man himself. 'You often hear a person assert that it is imposible to lead a Christlike life and enter into the field of public or social life, but here were men stationed in the heart of the worst things that a mind can picture, and yet through their faith being of a steadfast and devout nature were able to triumph and remain unspotted. "At the present day there is a great need of Christian men in our political life, but men of that description refuse to enter because they claim that it lowers them. Let us be done with this whining and applogizing for our faith, which gives Christianity the ment and carry it like these men—boldly and in all walks of life."
