

WORKMAN'S BODY SEVERED BY CONTACT WITH SAWS

Steve Lechota, a Russian Employed at the London and Petrolia Barrel Works, Instantly Killed This Morning While at Work.

Coming in contact with circular saws revolving at the rate of 575 revolutions a minute, Steve Lechota, a Russian, living at 544 1/2 Ottawa avenue, was instantly killed about ten o'clock this morning while at work in the plant of the London and Petrolia Barrel Works. His body was severed at the waist, his left leg was torn off, and one of his hands terribly mangled. Coroner Dr. MacLaren viewed the remains, which were later removed to the undertaking parlors of Smith, Son & Clark. An inquest will probably be ordered.

Occurred in Sawmill.

Lechota was at work near the head-saw of the sawmill, where the logs are first reduced to timber. The logs are placed on a carriage, which runs on a track past the twin circular saws, which cut the boards from the log. It was Lechota's duty, when the timber fell from the log, to drag it over onto a set of rollers, on which it was carried to another machine to be further manufactured. This did not require him to work near the saw.

Caught by Saw.

This morning a larger cant than usual was saved from a log, and was sent back to be cut again. Lechota, with a couple of other workmen, was engaged in pushing it from behind back onto the carriage. Apparently he thought that he could accomplish his object better by getting in front of the cant, for he stepped out in front of the saw with a heavy in his hand, and began pulling the timber. Mr. Fred White, the sawyer, realizing the danger the man was in, ordered him to go back, and took the heavy out of his hand. Lechota turned to go back to his proper place, and attempted to pass between the saw and a small circular splitter, a small wheel used to separate the boards from the log after it had been sawn. The space was not more than a foot, and in an instant his leg was caught and he was whirled bodily through the saws. The machinery was stopped as soon as possible, but as the saws were revolving at a rate of over a mile a minute Lechota's body was completely severed, the head and shoulders falling on one side of the saw and his body on the other.

Has Family in Russia.
Lechota, who was 32 years of age, was a married man, having a wife and four children living in the state of Minisk. In the southern part of Russia. He first came to this country four years ago, and after spending three years in Canada, he returned to visit his wife and family. He returned about eleven months ago, and coming to this city went to work at McLaughlin's. For the past week or so he had been ill and had not been able to go on with his regular work. Becoming tired of the delay, he applied for a position at the Barrel Works, and had only worked a day and a half when the accident happened.

He had a twin sister living in the south-eastern section of the city. She hurried to the scene on being informed of the accident, and her grief was pathetic. He was popular among his fellow-countrymen in this city, and was described as being a well-set-up man. Mr. St. Weinstein, who conducts a grocery store on Philip street, was well acquainted with him, and described him as a fine fellow. "Only last night he was in to buy some goods," said Mr. Weinstein, "and we talked together for about half an hour."

BANKS MAY TAKE
SEVEN PER CENT
UNDER NEW LAW

Proposal of Minister of Finance Regarding Interest Rates Carried.

Strong Protest by Members That Banks Will Become Mere Usurers.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, May 7.—Hon. W. T. White today declared himself opposed to the proposal that bank notes should be sterilized before being circulated after coming back to the banks. He believed that sterilization of bank notes would render the notes brittle.

However, he suggested an amendment whereby the treasury board could make regulations for discharging notes where considered necessary. He desired that the question be further inquired into before putting the regulation into effect. The minister submitted a further amendment relating to the rate of interest to be charged by banks. The amendment provided that "a bank may stipulate for, take, receive or exact in advance such rate of interest or discount as may be agreed upon, and may take such rate, but no higher rate than seven per cent shall be receivable by the bank. The provision suggested raised considerable heated discussion.

Banks Usurers.
"Why do you propose to allow banks to do what you will not allow private individuals to do?" asked Mr. Sexsmith vehemently, shaking his finger at the minister. "You have a usury act, and everyone prohibits individuals from charging beyond a certain rate. Now you are just allowing the banks to become usurers. So long as a man agrees to pay ten, twenty, or forty per cent he must do so. I think it most outrageous and most unreasonable."

"Why this is not usury," expostulated Mr. White.
"It is no better," declared Mr. Sexsmith. "If a man's father dies, and he wants money in a hurry to put in a coffin, he will go and agree to pay any exorbitant charge the banks may ask."

Mr. Emmerson's View.
"If we have a usury act," asked Mr. Emmerson, "are we not taking the lid off to usury by the banks by this amendment?"
Col. H. H. McLean, of Queen's, Sunbury, rose to the rescue of the banks. "Some members," he declared, "think banks are benevolent institutions. The banks should be allowed to regulate their charges according to the security. If banks are limited to allow a rate of interest in the west they cannot do business."

"Would the banks be under the usury act?" asked Mr. Sexsmith.
"The usury act applies to individuals who made it a practice of charging over ten per cent. The banks do that," said Mr. White.

Mr. White's amendment was put and passed by a vote of 12 to 4.

Westerners Ask For More British News

[Canadian Press.]
Saskatoon, Sask., May 7.—Representatives of western newspapers dealt with important business at their sessions held yesterday at the board of trade offices. The question of improved British cable service was taken up, and the desire of western newspapersmen to get more direct British news written for Canadian readers to supplement the Associated Press service was taken up. A committee, composed of J. A. Aiken, of the Saskatoon Phoenix; Wm. D. Davidson, of the Calgary Alberta; and E. J. McMillan, from the Western News, was appointed to negotiate in the matter.

The knowledge that M. E. Nichols, president of the association, intended to sever his connection with the association on his removal to Montreal, was the reason for the following motion, which was carried unanimously:
"That the association has heard with profound regret of the intention of M. E. Nichols, president of the Western Associated Press, to sever his connection with the association, and that a committee be hereby appointed to draft a formal resolution which will express appreciation of his services to the Western Associated Press and to western newspapers generally."

FLYING EXPRESS STOPS FEW FEET FROM BABIES ON THE COVE BRIDGE

Little Lad and Lassie in Play Wander On To the Structure and Engineer By Jamming on Emergency Stops Train in Nick of Time.

Two tots, a boy and a girl, both under 5 years of age, were guilty of one of the greatest breaches of railroad laws Tuesday afternoon, when they stopped Grand Trunk express No. 2 from the west on the Cove bridge.

The children, who are Harold McGlone, son of Mr. H. McGlone, of 314 Thames street, and Ida Holden, daughter of Mr. G. Holden, of 318 Thames street, were playing together all afternoon, when suddenly the boy suggested that they go down to the railroad tracks and watch the "choo choos" go past.

Ida was delighted, and taking her companion's hand, she accompanied him to the bottom of the embankment west of Thames street. They saw several engines go hurrying past, and delighted with the exhibition, decided to climb the steep hill to the railroad tracks. After considerable difficulty they arrived at the top of the hill and started west on the tracks, playing as they went, until finally they came to the bridge which spans the river at the Cove, and which is one of the longest in this section of the country. It was great fun for the boy to walk over the ties and look down at the river underneath, but the girl was a little timid at first.

Venture on Bridge.
After considerable coaxing on the part of her companion, she consented to go with him, and he returned to the edge of the bridge and took her hand to help her over the open ties. Everything went well until they got to the middle of the structure, when the boy suggested that they lie down on the ties and watch the water. This they proceeded to do. Just then the giant engine hauling heavy express No. 2 from the west came in sight, and there it was a considerable distance from the point, it was travelling about 40 miles an hour.

Lay on the Tracks.
The children lay in the middle of the tracks totally unaware of the approach of certain death, and Engineer Morris, with his head out of the window, did not see them until he was within a few feet of them. Then his hand flew to the whistle cord, and gave it a jerk. He opened it wide, and the whistle screamed forth its warning. Still the children did not move, and the engineer reversed his engine, reached for and threw on his emergency brakes. They grasped the wheels with a shriek, sparks flew, and passengers were thrown from their seats. Mr. Morris closed his eyes after doing all he could, for he

The procession was nearly two blocks long, and it was made up of from 20 to 30 automobiles.

The players were riding in a motor truck, and the London boys particularly attracted a great deal of white uniforms, which are being used for the first time today, and wearing their new maroon sweater coats, they presented a natty appearance.

PENSIONS FOR MOTHERS TO STOP CHILD LABOR

National Council of Women Discussed Proposals—Government Would Have to Make Marriage Restrictions.

[Canadian Press.]
Montreal, May 7.—The National Council of Women today discussed the subject of pensions for mothers. Mrs. Huestis, for the Toronto council, introduced a resolution advocating a petition to the Government urging it to pass such a measure. The object, she said, was to save mothers with young children from going out to work and to prevent child labor as much as possible.

Mrs. Huestis said that in Ontario there were children under 14 years of age employed at different kinds of work not covered by the provincial act.
Marriage Restrictions.
Miss Derrick, of Montreal, argued that no encouragement should be given to the unfit to marry and bring children into the world that they could not maintain. No pension to mothers should be granted unless the Government also imposed restrictions in marriage, segregation of the unfit, and the regulation of the home life. Mrs. Adam Shortt, of Ottawa, pointed out that in giving pensions to mothers the Government was giving aid to the parents of degraded women getting rid of their husbands and to husbands to desert their wives.

Will Investigate.
It was decided to appoint a committee to inquire into the subject, and the resolution was left over in the meantime.
Mrs. L. A. Hamilton, reporting for the agricultural committee, said a number of other country women who Taken on Train.

Passengers hurried from the coaches to the front of the train to learn the trouble, and there found the engineer talking to a curly-haired boy, who was standing looking up at him with an innocent look, and a little girl with her hand tightly clasped in that of her companion.

The children were placed aboard the train and brought to the depot, where they were turned over to Constable Logan, who took them to their homes and turned them over to their parents.

The engineer claims that it was the narrow escape he ever had, and says that he expected every second to see the children struck by the wheels of the express.

The procession arrived at the park about 2:45 o'clock, and the official ceremonies of the opening of the season were held. Mayor Graham, Rev. Father McKee and Rev. Mr. Norwood were chosen to perform the opening day festivities of pitching the first ball, and they went through their part of the program like veterans.

Of the nine members present, five voted in support of the motion, which was accordingly declared carried. The other two names were not voted upon at all, and it is felt by those who voted against the motion that these candidates were not given a fair chance.

BIG BOMB FOUND
UNDER HIGH ALTAR
IN OLD ST. PAUL'S

Suffragettes Blamed for Deliberate Attempt to Wreck London Cathedral.

Outrages Are Responsible, All Papers Agree, for Defeat of the Franchise Bill.

[Canadian Press.]
London, May 7.—An attempt to wreck the ancient St. Paul's Cathedral by a bomb early today is attributed to the militant suffragettes. The verger who conducts sightseers through the massive edifice was making his rounds at about 8 o'clock this morning when he noticed a ticking sound near the high altar. Upon investigating he found hidden a heavy parcel done up in brown paper. He immediately placed it in water and handed it over to the police, who found a suffragette newspaper wrapped up with the bomb.

This attempt, and the placing of two other bombs in other parts of the city this morning, made it appear that the militant suffragettes had entered anew on their hitherto unbroken campaign, following the defeat of woman suffrage bill in the Commons last night. Shortly after the discovery at the cathedral, the police found a similar bomblike package on the steps of a newspaper office in Fleet street, and a tin canister, believed to contain explosives, was picked up on the steps of a wholesale drug establishment near St. Paul's.

No Arrests Made.
No arrests were made following the discoveries, and it is doubtful if the police have clues to the identity of the bomb-throwers. The various papers are awaiting examination by experts.

Plain-clothes policemen have been on duty in St. Paul's for several weeks for the express purpose of preventing militant suffragette outbreaks, but they observed nothing today.

Several parts of the cathedral, usually opened to the public, were closed today.
No trace of the destroyers of St. Catharine's Church, Halesham, which was burned yesterday, had been discovered this morning. The woman arrested on the charge of placing an explosive on the steps of the Grand Hotel yesterday, was discharged today for lack of proof.

Another mysterious fire broke out at a luncheon yard in Lambeth today, the fourth of this kind in London within a few days. It was extinguished before much damage had been done.

"Small but handsomely powerful," is the police officer's description of the bomb found near the high altar of St. Paul's cathedral this morning. The woman arrested on the charge of placing an explosive on the steps of the Grand Hotel yesterday, was discharged today for lack of proof.

PLUCKY STOP OF A RUNAWAY

Boy Climbers on Back of Galloping Horse at Risk of His Life.

REFUSES BIG REWARD

An occurrence that would make a stirring theme for a moving-picture film occurred on Tuesday evening about 8 o'clock. An unsung King's Plater, attached to a buggy, made the mile in :32 flat on Dundas street from Wellington Adelaide street.

Taking the wrong side of the road going east, and guided only by his instinct of blind fear, the horse bolted, and "Close Call" Charley, The Advertiser's demon, narrow-escape reporter, counted eleven parties of automobiles, twelve aged women, twenty-two toddling children and five boys on bicycles, who escaped the mad career of the "infatuated animal" by such a narrow margin that they might have happened to be these people made an awful picture of carnage in Charley's mind, and it was not a matter for great levity at that.

At Waterloo street, for instance, three boys on bicycles rode directly toward the runaway and did not see their danger until they were within a few yards of it. A moment's confusion and they would have been tangled together. But they must have been Boy Scouts with the "Keep Cool" maxim firmly in mind, for they divided, two to one side and one to the other, as the horse plunged be-lievelly toward the runaway, and the large cars narrowly averted collision and carriages and pedestrians pulled up just in time.

When the animal reached Adelaide street it turned north. On the corner was a small boy who, taking advantage of the momentary slackening of speed, ran after the buggy, climbed over the back, and not being able to secure the reins, worked his way along the horse's back to the rear of the reins, and grasping them, hung on until he stopped the horse. The lively man wanted to give him $25 for his act of bravery, but he refused and would not accept more than $2.

UNFAIR TACTICS
AGAIN EMPLOYED
BY GOVERNMENT

Arranged Things So That Whitney-Hanna Accusations Will Be Whitewashed.

Mere Fact of Taylor Item Being in Public Accounts Demands Investigation.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Toronto, May 7.—The latest move on the part of the Government in the debate on the Proudfoot charges is an attempt to jockey Opposition speakers out of position and leave the way open for an avalanche of perverid oratory from the big guns on the Conservative side later in the day.

Mr. J. C. Elliott (West Middlesex), was scheduled to resume the debate for the Opposition on the opening of the House today; a morning session was agreed to in the hope of concluding the matter today. A sudden change of line-up in the Government ranks made it necessary for Mr. Elliott to withhold his discussion.

An Unfair Move.

The object of the Government appears to be to get all the Opposition members who have been at all active in the investigation before the public accounts committee, or in the proceedings in the privileges and elections committee, to speak first, and then leave the way for Mr. McGarry, Mr. Ferguson and others to wind up with ex-parte statements that will go to the country uncontradicted.

It is even suggested that Mr. Rowell be scheduled in this position so that the Government may be able to apply the finishing coat of whitewash thicker than ever.

Mr. J. Hart (East Simcoe) was the first speaker after prayers, and was followed by Mr. Z. Mazan Sturgeon Falls. The prince at large, he said, was anything but satisfied with the conditions that had been permitted at this inquiry. He quoted opinions from prominent Conservatives to show an uneasy mind will be one of suspicion. The Government had been encouraged on its own ground, and the methods that had been advised by the Conservatives placed the Provincial Secretary in an unfavorable light, and were unfair to any man occupying such a position.

Opening the debate, Mr. B. I. Hart (East Simcoe) replied to the complaint of the Liberal members that the committee was too partisan. He said nobody else to blame but themselves. "Can it be wondered that they did not have a greater representation on that committee?" he asked. "They had a fair percentage of the members here in the House, and if there is cause for complaint it must be made to the people by refusing to send them into this House in larger numbers."

He reiterated the argument of the previous speakers, and said that the Premier had carried out his promises. He had invited the Opposition to investigate, and he had carried out his promises. He had invited the Opposition to investigate, and he had carried out his promises. He had invited the Opposition to investigate, and he had carried out his promises.

A valuable contribution was made to the debate by Mr. J. C. Elliott (West Middlesex). He said that the charges had been brought forward for the purpose of making political capital. Every public man had a public responsibility, and he would not take any personal satisfaction in having a man's character taken away and the charges left hanging in the air.

Three Taken From "Side Door Pullman"

Tony Kosack, of Wisconsin; George Knepper, of Kansas City, and A. Oakes, of Port Wayne, were gathered in by the police Tuesday evening from a box car in the Grand Trunk yards. They were charged with trespassing in police court this morning, and all pleaded not guilty.

Kosack and Knepper are cigarmakers and displayed their union cards. They claimed that they landed in town Tuesday and secured a job in a local cigar factory. They had no place to sleep, so went to the railroad yards and climbed into a box car.

Oakes has been in the city for several days, and is employed by a local cement contractor. He secured a boarding-house Tuesday, but when he went to bed the landlady wanted to put a strange man to sleep with him. He objected to that, and so sought shelter in the box car.

The court found them all guilty, but suspended sentence, warning them either get to work or out of town.

PROUDFOOT CHARGES FULLY SUSTAINED IS REPORT OF COMMITTEE MINORITY

Payment of $500 Was Illegal and Corrupt, Says Report—Scathing Exposure of Attempts to Shut Off Mr. Taylor's Evidence.

Toronto. —The report of the minority of the Ontario Privileges and Elections Committee finds the Proudfoot charges fully sustained. The report says in part: The said William Proudfoot charges that he (the said Hon. W. J. Hanna) had accepted the said sum of $500 from the said Taylor, thereby leading to the said Taylor to believe that the claim would be satisfied, and that the said sum was paid in consideration thereof. Further, "that the actions of the said Hon. W. J. Hanna in the demand for and the acceptance of the said sum of $500 by the said Hon. W. J. Hanna in the manner and for the purposes above set forth are and were unlawful, corrupt, and improper acts on the part of the said Hon. W. J. Hanna, and contrary to the law and practice of Parliament and of this Legislative Assembly, and are subversive of good government and the due and proper administration of the public affairs of the province."

Admitted the Charge.

While the said George C. Taylor said in the witness box giving his testimony, counsel for Sir James Whitney and the Hon. W. J. Hanna admitted that Mr. Taylor made the said contribution of $500 to Mr. Hanna for party funds, Mr. Nesbitt, counsel for the said Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna, made the further statement, appearing on page 274 of the evidence, as follows:

Mr. Nesbitt: "My admission is absolute, that there was a payment of $500 toward the party funds. Mr. Hanna has admitted that, and I am not going to ask him anything about it, and I am going to say that he should not be cross-examined about it. In the course of a statement made by the chairman on this matter, page 277, the following appears: 'The point we are dealing with now is with reference to the payment of the $500 entirely, and counsel for Mr. Hanna has said we admit the payment of $500, and we are prepared to say it was demanded or proffered, just as you like. In my own view, that is not material one way or the other. If there is any inquiry about it, it attaches just as strongly one way as the other.' Counsel for Sir James Whitney and the Hon. W. J. Hanna thereupon took the ground that counsel for Mr. Proudfoot was bound to accept the admission and could not go into the circumstances surrounding the payment or the conversation between the parties in reference thereto. (See evidence, page 274.) And the majority of the committee sustained the ruling of the chairman, and the chairman placed upon the majority of the committee, thereupon declined to permit counsel for Mr. Proudfoot to ask further questions or to submit further evidence in connection with this payment. Counsel for Mr. Proudfoot then asked the witness if Mr. Hanna had requested him to make other payments or contributions for political purposes. The chairman ruled this question out of order, and upon appeal the ruling of the chairman was sustained by the majority of the committee, and the chairman directed that the said question and the discussion that took place upon the same be stricken from the records.

Charge Sustained.

In view of the facts established in evidence in this investigation, and the admissions made by counsel for Sir James Whitney and the Hon. W. J. Hanna, and the refusal of the chairman, at the request of the counsel for Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna, to permit counsel for Mr. Proudfoot to continue said investigation and give further evidence with reference to the circumstances under which said payment was made, and in view of the statement of counsel for Sir James Whitney and Mr. Hanna that he was not going to ask Mr. Hanna anything about this payment, and in giving his testimony that the said sum of $500 was paid to him under the conditions and for the purpose set forth in the charge, your committee is justified in finding that the charge of the said William Proudfoot is sustained and that the said payment was illegal, corrupt, and subversive of good government, and that the actions of the said Hon. W. J. Hanna in the demand for and acceptance of the said sum of $500 in the manner and for the purposes above set forth are unlawful, corrupt, and improper acts on the part of the said Hon. W. J. Hanna, and that the same are subversive of good government and the due and proper administration of the public affairs of the province.

MR. PROUDFOOT SHOWS UP TACTICS TO STOP PROBE

Letter From Thorne Read in Which He States That Charges
Were True and Could Be Proven—Sir James Whitney Greatly Angered.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Toronto, May 7.—Mr. Proudfoot had his turn in the Legislature yesterday on the resumption of the House to receive the report of the committee on privileges and elections in respect to the charges against Sir James Whitney and Hon. W. J. Hanna.

It was Mr. Proudfoot's innings in more than one sense, because he not only made an elaborate statement showing the sham tactics adopted by the Government to prevent a full investigation of his charges, but he succeeded in getting before the House the now famous letter from L. E. C. Thorne to H. Maisonneuve, upon which the charges have been based.

Reviewed the Case.

Mr. Proudfoot spoke for nearly two hours and a half, making an exhaustive review of the entire case. He supported his arguments with opinions from leading counsel that evidence relative to the coal tenders was improperly excluded, and brought to bear strong proofs that the parties against whom the charges had been made were amenable to the provisions of the criminal code; first, Taylor for paying the money to a member of the Government or of the House; second, the person accepting the money, and thirdly, Mr. Hanna for taking it.

Continuing Mr. Proudfoot charged that the extension of time under the Taylor, Scott & Co. contract was made with the object of satisfying Taylor in respect of the claims he had against the Government.

Mr. Proudfoot went over the evidence given by Mr. Cartwright, and declared that that witness was not a party to the corrupt issuance, a flat which was never even suggested by him (Proudfoot), but he thought Mr. Cartwright should have been acquainted with the whole fact.

Applied For Fiat.

"We find that early in March the Scott, Taylor & Co. were applying for a fiat, as they contended that they had considerable claims against the Government, which they decided to prosecute in the courts," continued Mr. Proudfoot. "They had failed to secure it in the ordinary manner, so they decided to adopt forcible methods." "No man can give such a testimony as that and be believed," suddenly interjected Sir James Whitney with a roar. "The man who says that is a falsifier, and the man who maintains it is a traducer, like the honorable gentleman." This was the signal for uproarious conduct on the part of the Government. Every member rattled his desk until the auditorium resounded like the musketry fire of an infantry regiment.

The statements of the Premier brought Mr. Rowell to his feet with a complaint to the Speaker for permitting the Premier to continue his invective, which was somewhat in the dignity of the House, "is that language allowable in this Legislature?" he hotly asked. "I submit that it is unparliamentary and should be withdrawn," and then the deer hanging was the order of the day for the oppositionists.

Premier Ruffled. "I am glad that the honorable member (pointing to Mr. Rowell) comes here sometimes and interjects with little speeches," emphatically returned the Premier, who by this time had become considerably ruffled. "He has refrained from taking part in the proceedings of the committee, but he has himself in the building or remained downtown. He has something to gain out of these proceedings, and he has succeeded in getting somebody else to bring this matter up, but he could get nobody else but the honorable member for Centre Huron."

"We have decided to tolerate these gentlemen, but when they make assertions as that I am going to resent it."

Mr. Proudfoot—I submit that the statement made by the Premier was one which he has no right to make. If an honorable gentleman on this side of the House had made such a statement he would have been called to order.

At this point there were loud and continued cheers from the Liberal members, who cried to Sir James: "Withdraw! Withdraw!"

Vitriolic Remarks.

Mr. Proudfoot continued his speech, and referred to the fact that had Taylor's evidence been sworn in its entirety, which he deemed it unfair that it wasn't, but he was again interrupted by the Premier. "How do you know it would have been sworn? The man stands there with a face of triple brass and says that Tom says something to Dick, and Dick says something to Harry, that certain statements are true. I think it is time to talk put down." Then the Government members resumed their banging antics, and were greeted with cries from the oppositionists of "Withdraw! Withdraw!"

Mr. Proudfoot then made an appeal to the chair, but this proved futile. Speaker Hoyle told him that he must confine himself to the points at issue. "The member for Centre Huron must keep within the radius of the debate," he declared, "and no wander afar off outside the area of the charges."

Mr. Rowell—Are you going to allow the Prime Minister to continue such conduct?

Sir James Whitney—So long as the honorable members continue to say things which are not true so long will there be interruptions.

Mr. Rowell—No member of this House, no premier any house of assembly in the British empire ever did or would say what the Premier has said this afternoon, nor would he endeavor to do so. Nor would he refuse to withdraw it when asked.

Had Every Right. Sir James replied by saying that he had a right to pursue the course he had adopted, because members of the House had brought in men on the floor of the House who were not members, to help them with their cases. This brought the Speaker to his feet, who said that he had heard of nothing like that before, and if it were true, the members who did that had violated one of the most important rules of the House.

Before the proceedings of the House were taken up, the Lieutenant-Governor was brought in to give assent to all the legislation that has so far been dealt with. One hundred and fifty-three bills were assented to and the work of the legislators now stands finished, except that which arises out of the present debate.

VOTES FOR WOMEN AGAIN REJECTED BY THE COMMONS

No Chance of the Bill Coming Up Again Before Present Parliament.

Premier Claims Government Has Not Been Neglectful of Women's Interests.

[Canadian Press.] London, 6.—The House of Commons today, on the second reading, rejected the bill of Mr. Dickinson, which would have enfranchised some six million women, by a vote of 265 to 213.

This ends the prospect of women getting the vote from the present Parliament.

The bill proposed to grant the franchise to every woman, who, if she were a man, would be entitled to be registered in respect of a household qualification within the meaning of the act of 1884; also every woman who is the wife of a man entitled to be registered in respect of a household qualification, and who has resided in the qualifying premises during the period required by law. No woman could vote until she had reached the age of 25 under the provisions of the bill, and no woman could be disqualified by reason of marriage from registering and voting.

Many Fine Speeches.

There were several good speeches for and against the measure. The Government were all full and when a division was called for on the motion of Arnold Ward, a son of Mrs. Humphry Ward, the author, to reject the bill, the House was packed. Premier Asquith, Home Secretary McKenna, Secretary for the Colonies Harcourt, War Secretary Seely, Joseph Fosse, head of the board of education, and Chancellor of the Duchy of Lancaster Hobhouse were among the ministers who voted against the bill. Sir Edward Grey, the foreign minister; Chancellor of the Exchequer

Sale of Women's Suits Thursday

THAT ARE WONDERFUL

$6.75, $10.75, $14.75, $25.00

WONDERFUL is a strong word, but its application to these Suits is not out of place, for in the first place their values, and the present prices are from $10.00 to $37.50, almost double the prices fixed for this sale. In the second place, being mostly light in weight and new spring models of the very latest cut and style, they are good to wear just now, on cool days through the summer, or even next fall. Many women buy at special sales now for next season's use, thereby successfully combatting the cost of high living.

There are about 170 Suits in this sale, yet the lot may not last the day out, merely because more than 170 women should recognize the money-value of such Suits as these.

Why Duffy's Malt Gives Health and Strength

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey has been for fifty years one of the greatest restoratives known to medical science

Why? Because it contains in a form most available for the human system, the wonderful strength-giving power of nature's greatest food—grain—combined with unusual tonic properties obtained through the process of malting and distilling which has been exclusively used by us since the beginning.

Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey

One of the results of this process is to obtain a whiskey of such purity and quality as complies with the test requirements of the United States Pharmacopoeia.

As the pharmacopoeial standard does not require that the grain be all malted, as found in Duffy's Pure Malt Whiskey, it will be seen our process gives a whiskey superior to the requirements of the United States Standard.

Another result is to secure that wonderful palatability and delicacy of flavor for which Duffy's has always been famous.

Sold by druggists, dealers and hotels in SEALED BOTTLES ONLY, price $1.25 a large bottle. Get the genuine and be sure the seal over the cork is unbroken. Lloyd George, President of the Board of Trade Sydney Buxton, Augustine Birrell, the chief secretary for Ireland, and Walter Runciman, president of the board of agriculture, supported the measure. A. J. Balfour, the former Conservative leader, and Bonar Law, his successor, and many others did not vote. A majority of the Irish Nationalists opposed the bill.

When the result was announced it was received with an outburst of cheers by the opponents of the bill, but there was no great excitement.

Premier Speaks. The Premier defended the Government's course by saying it was consistent with the best traditions of British statesmanship. He regretted that he found himself at variance from his colleagues on the question, and greatly as he would regret severing himself from the prosecution of other great causes, he would lay down his office. If his colleagues ever suggested that they did not feel justified in following a Government the head of which was opposed to them, "They never did that," declared the Premier, amid cheers.

Mr. Asquith said the bill created 6,000,000 new voters, and that it had never been approved by the existing electorate. He continued:

"Would our political fabric be strengthened, would our legislative fabric be more respected, would our social and domestic life be enriched, would our standard of manners—and by manners I mean the old-fashioned virtues of civility, courtesy and independence of the sexes on one another—be raised or refined if women were given the vote?"

Cries of "Of course, they would" were raised on all sides of the House. The Premier strongly denied that Parliament had been neglectful of the interest of women, and said he saw no evidence that British women as a whole wanted the vote.

Sir Edward Grey. Sir Edward Grey, secretary for foreign affairs, supported the bill. He said there was ample evidence that a very large section of the women of the country had shown by constitutional means that they favored the enfranchisement of their sex. Militancy he characterized as "the incoherent and criminal conduct of a small body of representative individuals, with whose outrages the law had dealt and ought to deal severely."

Nobody, he said, had greater reason to deplore the methods of the militant suffragists than those who desired the enfranchisement of women, but he argued that their outrages should not influence the decision of the House on the bill.

Women's Qualifications. Many admitted that women were fitted to deal with social and industrial matters of legislation, which virtually affected their interests, but that they were not fitted to deal with the question of foreign policy. He contended that the demonstrated aptitude of women in dealing with abstract economic questions involved in social and industrial legislation proved that they were possessed of sufficient intelligence to pass judgment on questions of foreign policy, which were far less complicated and seldom an issue at the general elections.

Lord Robert Cecil, advocating the bill, contended that to vote against it because of militant outrages would be utterly illogical and unworthy the high standard of intelligence claimed by the members of the House of Commons.

Praise for Premier. The Right Hon. Walter Hume Long, in opposing the measure, first congratulated the Prime Minister on the ability and calm dignity displayed in his speech, despite the treatment he had received at the hands of the suffragettes, which, he took occasion to say, "is a disgrace to the country." He urged that the passage of the bill would not stop militant tactics, but would only lead to fiercer agitation for a larger measure of enfranchisement.

Mr. Frederick E. Smith said that the supporters of the bill repudiated the militants when it suited them, but would use them as long as it paid to do so. It was not until 1906, when militancy began, that a single member of the House took the movement seriously.

A motion to reject the bill was carried, 265 to 213.

Farmers Around Varna Expect Bumper Crops

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Varna, May 7.—A number of the farmers have finished seeding. The weather has been ideal and the seed-beds are in almost perfect condition. The first and most important condition for a bountiful harvest is already realized.

The trees are well out in leaf, and fruit trees are heavily loaded with blossoms. The earlier-sown grain is up and looking well.

Fall wheat has stood the winter well and promises to be a good crop. The grass is well advanced, and many cattle will be turned out this week—some were turned out to pasture last week.

FOUND DEAD BABY

Inquest Will Be Held Into Mysterious Discovery at Leamington.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Leamington, May 7.—The finding of the body of a new-born baby in an outbuilding has prompted Dr. J. M. King, coroner, to order an investigation through the office of the crown attorney in Windsor. Dr. King has empaneled a jury, and will hold an inquest.

The condition of the body indicates the child had been dead about a week, it is said.

EX-KENT WARDEN DEAD.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Chatham, May 6.—John Vester, an ex-warden of the county of Kent, is dead at his home in the Communication road, Harwich. He is survived by a widow, three sons and five daughters.

LONDON, WEDNESDAY, MAY 7.

THE WHITEWASH.

The majority report of the Ontario Privileges and Elections Committee applies a ready-made coat of white-wash to Mr. Hanna. This was obtained when the Proudfoot charges were referred to such a tribunal. Assurance was made doubly sure when the partisan majority appointed as chairman the man who had already applied the gag in the public accounts committee. The majority report has, therefore, no significance. It is merely a partisan defence of the defendants, differing in no way from the speech of defendants' counsel in reviewing the evidence.

The minority report finds the charges sustained. Its recital of the attempt to shut off inquiry is a statement of fact which cannot be refuted. It will be remembered that Mr. Proudfoot and his counsel, Mr. Dewar, withdrew from the case while Mr. George C. Taylor was in the witness box. The payment of $500 to Mr. Hanna by Mr. Taylor had been admitted by Mr. Hanna's counsel, and Mr. Dewar was proceeding to question Mr. Taylor as to the conversation between himself and Mr. Hanna when the payment was made. The chairman at once interposed and ruled out the question, supported by the committee. He refused also to permit Mr. Taylor to be asked whether Mr. Hanna had requested him to make other payments for political purposes. Counsel for Mr. Proudfoot protested that it was his right and duty to inquire into the circumstances surrounding the payment of the $500, but the chairman and the committee would not entertain the plea. The direct line of examination into the main charge was blocked, and Mr. Proudfoot refused to go on, bound and gagged.

The matter is now before the Legislature, where Mr. Proudfoot has been enabled to read the letter which he was refused permission to put into evidence. The document was not intended for the public eye; it was a confidential narrative of the Hanna-Taylor incident, written in January, 1912, by Mr. L. E. C. Thorne, who was brought from Port Huron by Mr. Hanna to reorganize the system of accounting in the Provincial Secretary's department. It was Mr. Thorne who mediated between Mr. Taylor and Mr. Hanna when their relations were critical, and who was accepted by both as arbitrator of Taylor's claim against the Government. As his letter shows Mr. Thorne believed that Mr. Hanna had compromised himself, and that his position in the Government would be untenable if the Taylor charges were proved, or even made known. Furthermore, Mr. Thorne said that some of the charges were true.

Such evidence as the privileges and elections committee allowed to emerge, and the Thorne letter, are ample warrant for the demand of the committee minority that the charges be referred to a royal commission. This procedure was asked in the first place by Mr. Proudfoot and rejected. There is even less reason now than before for refusing the request.

PAN-AMERICAN PEACE.

During the past few days there has been in session in the city of St. Louis a conference of representatives from the various nations and dominions of the American continent who are interested in the promotion of peace. Such a conference is, of course, a voluntary gathering, without power to directly control the actions of the countries represented. But even so, it is an indication of the kinder feeling and fraternal relationship between alien people, which a higher civilization demands.

So far as Canada and the United States are concerned, the century of peace which has passed shows what can be accomplished in this direction. We have had our differences, yet they have been amicably settled. Though the settlements may not always have been satisfactory, yet any disadvantage they may have brought to either one of us has been immeasurably preferable to the disaster and loss of an actual war.

But a nation's distaste for war, and its willingness to submit to the judgment of some international court, depend very largely upon the peaceful and law-abiding character of its people. That is where the difficulty appears with the Latin nations of Central and Southern America. Until these nations have learned to keep the peace at home, and submit cheerfully to their own laws, they are not likely to be important factors in the development of Pan-American peace. Local politicians who argue with the sword and gun will be strongly disposed to use the same weapons in the settlement of disputes with their neighbors.

It is possible for the Anglo-Saxon nations, even under present conditions to prefer arbitration to war. If they should agree on this principle they will abide by it. But it will require a long course of training, and a marked change of national temperament to bring the Latin races into line. Even when that is accomplished in theory, it will require an international police force to carry out the judgments of an international court. No one should be hopeless of the final result. The day will come when wars will cease. It is for those nations that claim to have attained a higher degree of civilization to lead the way, to banish war between themselves, and to educate others to a higher standard.

WOMEN'S SUFFRAGE BILL DEFEATED.

The British House of Commons has again defeated a women's suffrage bill, this time by a vote of 255 to 219.

The latest measure, called the Dickenson bill, from the name of the mover, goes much further than the previously-rejected conciliation bill. It aims to enfranchise all widows or unmarried women over 25 years of age who have the same qualifications as male householders; and all married women, who are the wives of male householders. About 6,000,000 women would have come within these provisions.

If the bill had passed the House of Commons, the Government would have extended to it the protection of the Parliament act, by which it could have been passed over the Lords' veto in two years' time. Its rejection means that women will not get the franchise during the present Parliament. A bill must be passed in three successive sessions to become law without the Lords' consent, but the Government will go to the country not later than 1915.

The Dickenson bill was one upon which nearly all woman suffragists were united. The cabinet is sharply divided on the principle of woman suffrage, but scarcely more so than the front bench of the Opposition. Two or three years ago, the Dickenson bill would undoubtedly have commanded a majority in the House, but the excesses of the militant suffragists are no doubt responsible for the change. Lord Robert Cecil is right in contending that it is illogical to vote against woman suffrage because of militant outrages, but even the British House of Commons is not always governed by pure reason. Some former friends of the cause probably felt that to vote for it at the present moment would expose them to the taunt of yielding to intimidation.

It may be that the rejection of the bill will stimulate the militants to worse forms of violence. Hitherto only property has been destroyed; henceforth life may not be spared. The movement seems to be running in a vicious circle. So long as militancy continues women are not likely to get the vote, and so long as they are refused the vote, militancy is likely to continue.

The Proudfoot charges can't be stifled before the tribunal of public opinion.

Do you ever hear of the naval "emergency" today? The North Sea bubble has broken.

No wonder Mr. Hanna's counsel considered the Thorne letter too thorny to be read at the Privileges and Elections Committee.

"I told McN. (McNaught) that I knew some of T's (Taylor's) charges were true, and I knew that T. could and would prove them."—Quotation from the Thorne letter.

It is reported that Mr. Ferguson, M. P., will be the next attorney-general of Ontario. As chairman of the Hanna-Whitney gagging committee he has deserved well of his masters.

Two thousand people got into the Laurier meeting on forced tickets. There is a suspicion that the forgery was part of a plot to produce a disturbance. If so, most of those who came to scoff remained to cheer.

REVISED.

"Mah breddren," cried a Boston colored preacher, "Ye must be like great Caesar's ghost—above suspicion."

SIMILAR.

[Yonkers Statesman.] Bacon—Huxley said that an oyster is as complicated as a watch.

[Edinburgh.]—Well, I know both of them run down easily.

DIFFERENTIATION.

"What is the principal difference between modern and ancient times?" "One of the main points was that the moderns earn their living, while the ancients urged their dead."

THEY SHOULD WORRY.

[Punch.] Mrs. Gramercy—Whatever will you do if business ceases to be profitable in a year or so?

"Thanks, awfully, dad, but—er—are you quite up-to-date? Drills altered a lot since you were home last."

TRY IT.

Bee Master (to pupil who has just brushed off a bee which stung him)—"Ah! You shouldn't do that! The bee will die now. You should have helped her to extract her sting, which is spirally barbed, by gently turning her round and round.

Pupil—All very well for you, but how do you know which way she unscrews?

TANTALIZING.

[Louisville Courier-Journal.] "There's a foreign couple living in the flat next to us, and they are simply a torment to my wife."

"Why so?" "They quarrel incessantly, and she can't understand a word of it."

IN BAD.

[Haverhill.] Young Jack was talking to the new visitor soon after her arrival. He eyed her critically for a few moments, then looked up and said:

"So you're my grandmother, are you?" "Yes, dear, on your father's side," remarked the old lady, smiling.

"Well, you're on the wrong side, you'll find that out," replied Jack, without removing his gaze.

AWFUL BLOW.

[Harper's Weekly.] "Yes," said Slithers, "Mickey was my dearest friend, and I shall never cease to mourn his death. It was a terrible blow from which I shall never recover."

"Why did you marry the widow?" "Why—er—ahem!—why, yes, I did, but—"

Here Slithers subsided into a deep and uncomfortable silence.

WAITING ORDERS.

[Chicago Tribune.] Mrs. Goodsole—What does your husband think of these militant suffragettes?

Mrs. Vick-Senn—He doesn't know what he thinks. I haven't told him yet.

MERELY TEMPORARY.

[Boston Transcript.] Jewele—That ring is only plated, sir—highly suitable for an engagement ring.

Customer—Oh, well, I guess it will last as long as the engagement will.

AN AIDE FOR ROGERS.

[Ottawa Free Press.] The committee "probe" into the alleged corruption preferred against Premier Whitney and his right-hand minister at Toronto have served one purpose surely. In Chairman Ferguson, Hon. Bob Rogers should be able to detect the making of a first-rate henchman in the Provincial House.

PLAY IS CHILD TRAINING.

[St. John, N. B., Telegraph.] Play is not merely the outflow of animal spirits. Every child who indulges in play is part of an apprenticeship to a trade or a calling. Children are trained in their play to learn the callings of adult life. Assistants in training will make their play serious and they will be trained to do their work when they are called upon to do it.

WELL, HARDLY!

[Kingston Whig.] Mr. Hanna professes to be willing that every question of the Liberals, respecting his department, should be answered, but Mr. Ferguson, a supporter and ally, will not allow this. Does anyone suppose that Ferguson would override Mr. Hanna if the latter would not have it, he being on his defence?

THE MAIN CONCERN.

[Halifax Chronicle.] That imperial unity has been seriously set back by what is happening at Ottawa, and that still more serious results will flow from the forced passage of the naval bill are matters which, at the moment, give no concern to the Canadian Prime Minister. His chief concern is to cling to office and "the spoils."

AS TIMES CHANGE.

[Washington Star.] "Of course, I favor the greatest simplicity."

"Yes," replied Mr. Quibble. "But 'Yes,' replied Mr. Quibble. 'We are getting around to the stage of civilization where an automobile is a commonplace affair, while a coach and horses represent ornate extravagance.'"

DEANERY MEETING HELD AT EXETER

Many Important Discussions Took Place on Diocesan Work.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Exeter, May 7.—The annual meeting of the Exeter Diocesan School Association and Deanery Chapter was held yesterday at Trillick Memorial Church.

Holy Communion was celebrated by Ven. Archdeacon Richardson, of London, with Revs. D. W. Collins and J. B. Fotheringham officiating.

The meeting of the clergy of the diocese followed. Rev. J. B. Fotheringham, rector of Goderich, read a most suggestive and valuable paper on "The Church and Social and Economic Questions," which called forth much discussion.

Lunch was served in the parish hall by the ladies of the church, for which they received on motion of Rev. C. E. Jenkins, of Clinton, a hearty vote of thanks.

After brief business in the afternoon the chair was taken by Ven. Archdeacon Richardson, who, with appropriate remarks, introduced the matters on the program.

Mrs. Parsons, of Forest, gave an excellent address, speaking from experience on "The Organized Bible Class."

A round-table conference, led by Rev. T. B. Howard, diocesan Sunday school secretary, which proved highly interesting, followed.

He dwelt in a masterly way with the folk roll and the home department of the Sunday school, the adult Bible class, and the training class.

He was followed by Rev. T. B. R. Westgate, who spoke of his work in East Africa. Mr. D. M. Rose, of Toronto, followed in an earnest address on the layman's missionary movement.

In the evening, after a brief church service, speakers were again delivered by Messrs. Rose and Westgate.

FLOATING ICE

Immense Field Will Threaten Navigation For Weeks to Come.

[Canadian Press.] Marquette, Mich., May 7.—Threatening navigation for weeks to come, an immense field of ice extending east and west for more than a hundred miles, is floating in the eastern parts of Lake Superior. It appears to be drifting into the mouth of Whitefish Bay.

The cutter Tuscarora encountered the vast pack today several miles east of Whitefish Point.

Rear Exit for Barns Would Save Horses In Case of Fire

There should be a law providing that all barns should have two exits, said a well-known horseman, discussing the fire that caused the death of fourteen animals at a ribbon street boarding stable early on Tuesday morning.

"In the last three or four years there have been serious fires, in which more than fifty horses have been burned," he said. "In every case many of these horses could have been saved if there had been a rear door in these barns. Most of the horses are suffocated rather than burned to death, and it is shameful that they should not have a chance for their lives."

In the McAdam & Ferguson fire thirteen horses suffocated or burned, and every one of them could have been saved if there had been a rear door. The same was true of the fire on Tuesday morning. Mark McAdam was able to get two of the horses out after he had run from his home and torn out the bricks beneath the window. The fire was burning around the door, and the horses would not leave through it. The fire, and few small stables at the rear, and every one of them should have it."

Epworth Leaguers Plan International Meeting

[Canadian Press.] Dallas, Texas, May 7.—Plans for an international Epworth League gathering with representatives of the Methodist Episcopal Church, the Canadian Methodist Church, and the Southern Methodist Church, are being discussed here. Dr. F. S. Parker and Bishop J. H. McCoy were appointed to confer with the leaguers of the different churches to arrange the date and place of meeting. The proposed convention will be held during 1914.

MRS. THOMAS POOL DEAD

Former Bothwell Resident Succumbs to a Short Illness.

Mrs. Pool, wife of Thomas K. Pool, of 183 John street, died on Tuesday evening after an illness lasting one week. She was a daughter of Mrs. William Laughton, of Bothwell. Mrs. Pool was a resident of London for about five years, and was well known in the city. She is survived by her husband. The funeral will be held on Thursday from her late residence to the G. T. R. station to meet the 1:40 train for Stratford, where interment will be made. Rev. T. H. Mitchell, of the New St. James' Presbyterian Church, will conduct the services.

AFTER NEW FACTORY

Ingersoll Plans to Loan Toronto Firm $20,000 for Locating There.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Ingersoll, May 7.—As a result of negotiations which have been carried on for some days by the industrial committee of the board of trade and Ingersoll expects to secure a large new industry from Toronto, which will erect a $30,000 factory and employ 50 men. A by-law will give employment to 50 men. The new factory will be erected on May 23 to loan the Standish Manufacturing Company, of Toronto, $20,000, payable in annual installments.

QUICKLY STOPS THE WORST BACKACHE

MAKES KIDNEY TROUBLES, BLADDER DISORDERS, AND RHEUMATIC PAINS VANISH.

If you suffer with backaching kidney trouble, have disagreeable bladder and urinary disorders, or are tortured with rheumatism, stiff joints, and its heart-wrenching pains, the new discovery, Croxone, will quickly and surely relieve all such troubles.

Croxone is the most wonderful remedy yet devised for ridding the system of uric acid and driving out all the poisonous impurities which cause such troubles. It is entirely different from all other remedies. It acts on the principle of cleaning out the poisons and removing the cause.

It soaks right in through the walls, membranes and linings, the water in the blood, and dissolves, and makes the kidneys sift out and filter away all the uric acid and poisons from the blood, and leaves the kidneys and urinary organs clean, strong, healthy, and well.

It matters not how long you have suffered, how old you are, or what you have used, the very principle of Croxone is such, that it is practically impossible to take it into the human system without results. There is nothing else on earth like it. It starts to work the minute you take it and relieves you the first time you use it.

It suffers with pains in your back, sides, or have any signs of kidney, bladder trouble, or rheumatism, such as puffy swellings under the eyes or in the feet and ankles, if you are nervous, tired, and run down, or bothered with urinary disorders, Croxone will quickly relieve you of your misery.

An original package of Croxone costs but a trifle, and all druggists are authorized to return the purchase price if it fails to relieve you in a single case.

Modern Version.
Little Boy Blue, come blow your horn,
How can we jump if you do not warn?

At last we have another publicity commissioner. This time, he is appointed with the reservation that if there are no results in a year the office will be abolished. "Three times and out" seems to be the reasoning.

One thing: London has been nicely put on the map by J. Grant, and Mr. McDonald will have time to devote himself to keeping it there.

OUR EXACT ARTIST

HE CRACKED A JOKE

"They are keeping off this electrification vote because they think the people will 'fall for it' in warm weather," said one citizen.

"Wait until the people see how many cars are required to take them to Port Stanley, and they won't 'fall for it,'" said another.

"Does anyone think I'll vote for such a proposition as that?" said another. "Why don't they ask St. Thomas to pay half or two-thirds of it, and then come to us? We aren't exactly a lot of children in this town, and our taxes are quite high enough."

The citizens of London do not want to injure in any way its pioneer railway. Every time it is abused it gains more friends.

Mr. Mantell will no doubt preserve the play bill in which he appears with his eminent contemporaries, the Messrs. Marks.

The latter company may not produce "King Lear," but they will be there with "A Soldier's Daughter" on Thursday night.

I CAN'T SEE HIM

SCARCE.

Ah! the man who smiles when the world goes wrong.

And who laughs when he's down and out.

Who can grin when he's up against hard luck.

Is a hero, beyond doubt.

We have often read of a man like this. But greatly to our regret, "heavy" though we travel some, and our eyesight's good, we have never seen one yet.

Later on they will present "Uncle Tom's Cabin," and the property man is wondering where he can dig up a flock of bloodhounds. But the "heavy" man may say:

How are your poppysocks (we mean hollyhocks), coming along? Neither are ours.

Jack Barleycorn.

Jack London was a thirsty kid.

When he was only four.

He drank a lot of beer a day.

And used to cry for more.

He knew a cheery, broadway man.

With whom the redheads mingled.

He took ten shots to fit him up.

With what he called a "jingle."

He passed up all the "unvelled truths,"

Got ossified in Bering Sea,

Likewise in Hakodadi.

He wrote a thousand words a day.

And always had a drink.

He drank and drank and drank and drank.

And never thought it sinful.

At last "white logic" came his way.

(I don't know what it all meant).

He tinned the booze and took a brace—

So runs the last installment.

Canada To Have Three Coast to Coast Lines

[Canadian Press.] Winnipeg, May 7.—"About two years from now, or in the summer of 1915, the Grand Trunk and the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway will not only extend from coast to coast, but will be in a position to handle passenger traffic," said J. E. Dairymple, vice-president of the Grand Trunk Railway, last night on his arrival in Winnipeg with a party of officials of the system.

It is the intention of Mr. Dairymple on his way east to pass over the coast, and take the first trip over the new section of the line, which he expects will be in running order by the end of the summer.

"Traffic over the Grand Trunk Pacific east," he said, "will continue to pass on to the Temiskaming and Northern Ontario Railway, over which line running rights are fully arranged. The short stretch between Cochrane and North Bay is the only section not directly controlled by the Grand Trunk, and from North Bay east, trains pass over the road of the Grand Trunk itself."

Railway Conductors Six Hundred Strong To Meet at Detroit

Several representatives of the Order of Railroad Conductors of this city will likely go as representative of the Grand Trunk conductors. It could not be learned who is to represent the C. P. R.

In this organization are 49,000 members in the States and territories, the Dominion of Canada, and Mexico. Delegates from the various divisions will be there to the number of 650. The convention will be at the Hotel Cadillac, but the business sessions will be held at the Arcadia Hall.

The principal business to be transacted is the enactment of new bylaws and amendments to the old ones. Wages will not enter into the discussions, so it is stated by a member, and the strike, now imminent in the east, will not be up for any official action.

May Remove Headquarters.

One of the things that probably will be discussed will be whether to move headquarters from Cedar Rapids, Ia., to some other city. When the O. R. C. met in Detroit fourteen years ago, several flattering offers were made to the organization by ambitious cities, and since then others have been received, but for nearly twenty years headquarters have been in Iowa city. It is likely that they will remain there.

The committee on jurisprudence is holding a session at the Cadillac convention. Members in attendance are: W. H. Tobin, of Shreveport, chairman; S. C. Cowen, of Tyrone, Pa.; E. E. Williams, of St. Louis; William Fairchild, of Tacoma, and E. Pugh, of Montreal.

A. B. Garretson, of Cedar Rapids, who is president of the organization, has been in the east because of the urgency of the situation there, and is not expected in Detroit before Saturday.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the O. R. C. will hold its meetings at St. Andrew's Hall, but its headquarters will be the Pontchartrain.

During the convention, delegates will visit Niagara Falls, Mount Clemens, Ann Arbor, the Flats, take a ride through the tunnel on flat cars, have moonlight excursions, and visit the plant of the Ford Motor Company.

Gunmen Killed Five In Past Four Days

[Canadian Press.] New York, May 7.—Gunmen of the east side killed their fifth man within four days today. He was Antonio Scamario, formerly of Dayton, O. The assassin used a shotgun, firing from the shadow of a doorway, and escaped. The four other recent murders include:

That of David Minzer, shot during the rush hour last night by three gangsters on the Williamsburgh bridge.

"The Blouse Net Softens and Beautifies" Says Billie Burke in a "Waist Talk"

I wonder if you had added one of the dainty net blouses to your summer wardrobe. If you have not I would advise you to do so. There is nothing prettier than just plain net over one's flesh—it softens and beautifies any skin.

The French women have all known this for ages. The American girl will buy heavy laces or delicate chiffons, but she has hitherto seemed to think that net was "cheap." It can be bought in a very fine quality, but that you buy for one dollar a yard is beautiful.

The simplest clothes a girl can wear are the most becoming. Youth needs no embellishment, for then the eyes are bright with enthusiasm; the mouth curls up with laughter, and the skin is tinted with the real joy of being alive.

Let the woman who has grown sallow and worn brighter her complexion with color both on and beside her face; youth needs only to be healthy and well groomed to show this fairer than can be made by man.

Let the middle-aged woman soften her skin by the sheen of expensive lace. Youth needs only a veil of net about her throat through which the pink and white of flesh as beautiful as the petals of a flower can be seen.

The girl who soon learns this fact is the girl who will be spoken of as beautiful.

Perhaps I have wandered from the net blouse, but it's all a part of the subject, after all. We must realize that dress was not first worn as a covering for our bodies, but as an ornamentation, and when we clothe ourselves in just "covering" we are not making the most of the beautiful and artistic things for the ornamentation of women.

The thing for each one of us to learn is: What is the most appropriate for me to wear and what will enhance my good looks most?

I think nothing this spring will do more for the girl with a fine skin than a dainty net blouse. Make it simple, add a little lace to it, if you wish, but it is quite as pretty if made with only tucks and gathers.

The one I have on in the picture is just a plain little beige waist, buttoned up in the back with reverses and collar edged with Valenciennes.

It is cut "round neck"—no girl should wear a collar unless she is painfully thin.

I am wearing these little net blouses altogether whenever I must wear a separate waist of any kind this spring, and I like them better than bodies of any other material.

Many girls are making them with a lining of the same, cutting the lining low and trimming it with lace and making the blouse over it with only tucks and gathers of the same goods.

You can make your net blouse in almost any style, but you must have at least one if you would be in fashion this summer.

to be polished with three cloths and many odors in a day and a half."

And then, after it all, came the woman's comment.

"Why," she said, "I could run this house without a servant and have myself tidy by 10 o'clock in the morning!"

Mr. Bennett does not intend to do his own house work at Thorpe. His aim is to save needless labor by his servants.

Clean the Cellar.

People who live in houses should clean the cellar out very thoroughly in the spring, as it is almost impossible to keep out bits of decayed fruit and vegetables during the dark winter months.

If you have been able to "lay down" vegetables for the winter, those remainings, if any, should be carefully looked over and all those that are the least bit defective should be disposed of.

The bins and shelves and receptacles should be thoroughly swept and washed out with a disinfectant. Change all the places of the boxes and barrels; look over your preserved and canned fruit and see that it is all in good shape on your hanging shelf.

Don't use chloride of lime to disinfect your cellar, as it will spoil the flavor of all foods.

Use a strong solution of copperas water and common salt and sprinkle it over the floors and shelves from a sprinkling can.

Open the cellar windows and let it dry out, then whitewash every bit of the wall and underposts and shelves, the outside of the bin barrels and boxes.

GERANIUM BORDERS

Those who have wintered plants of Madam Sallier geranium in the house can make excellent use of them for edging beds in summer.

This variety of geranium, unlike all other members of the family, sends up a great many slender stalks from the base of the plant. The other words, it seems to have a sort of "crown" from which centre most of its branches are produced.

One often finds 40, 50 or more of them on each plant. Every one of these can be used as cuttings, from which to grow plants for summer use. Break off each stalk, cut it into two-inch pieces, and insert each piece an inch deep in the ground where it is to grow.

Not one in fifty will fail to take root, and by the middle of summer the cuttings will have grown to plants eight inches across, with many leaves. The habit of this plant is very compact and symmetrical, so pruning ever being needed to bring it into good shape.

If the "slips" are set eight inches apart, you will get a row of solid foliage from them by the time they are two months old. The leaves of this geranium are of a light pea-green, bordered with creamy white, and are almost as attractive as flowers.

I consider this one of the very best edging plants.

A bed of pink-flowered geraniums edged with the variety described is always a "thing of beauty," provided the old flowers are clipped off as soon as they begin to fade. Border a bed of rose-colored phlox with it and the effect will be found extremely pleasing.

The Poets' Corner

GOOD-BYE.

Sounds of the seas grow fainter,
Sounds of the sands have sped;
The sweep of gales
The far white sails,
Are silent, spent and dead.

Sounds of the days of summer
Murmur and die away,
And distance hides
The long, low tides,
As night shuts out the day.

THE BEE'S MARKET BASKET.

The bee carries its market basket round its hind legs. The "basket" is a fringe of stiff hairs, approaching each other at the tips and forming a sort of cage, into which the bee crams enough pollen to last two or three days.

Earthenware saucepans stood on a shelf. The cupboard was full of gear, chiefly in earthenware. Denry began to exhibit to his mother a tank provided with ledges and shelves and glasses, in which he said that everything except knives could be washed and dried automatically.

Old Mrs. Machin could not have been more impressed at Maskelyne and Denry. She had never seen anything like it in her life.

No Fireplaces.
He led her into the hall, which was radiantly lighted.

"It's quite warm here," said Mrs. Machin.

"The whole house is heated by steam," said Denry. No fireplaces.

"No fireplaces!"

"Not No fireplaces. No grates to polish, ashes to carry down, coals to carry up, mantelpieces to dust, flatirons to clean, fenders to polish or chimneys to sweep."

"And suppose you want a bit of fire all of a sudden in summer?"

"Gag stove in every room for emergencies," said Denry.

And in every room and on every landing was something intended to save labor.

"In each bedroom two aluminum taps poured hot and cold water respectively into a marble basin, and below the marble basin was a sink. No portage of water anywhere in the house. The water came to you and every room consumed its own slops."

"The bedsteads were of black enameled iron and very light. The floors were covered with linoleum, with a few rugs that could be shaken with one hand. The walls were painted with gray enamel."

"There were no sharp corners anywhere. Every corner, every angle, between wall and floor or wall and ceiling was rounded to facilitate cleaning. And every wall, floor, ceiling and fixture could be washed, and all the furniture was enameled and could be wiped with a cloth in a moment, instead of having Hamburg Steak—Even the piebald dish may be made palatable, nutritious and attractive in appearance with a little care. Buy a cut round steak one and three-quarters pounds and chop it yourself, carefully removing every bit of skin, tendon and bones, then run it through the meat grinder season with a teaspoonful of salt and a salt-spoonful of pepper. Mix thoroughly, then pack firmly in a wet kitchen basin of a size to leave the steak an inch thick and perfectly uniform. Let it stand half an hour or more; you can then turn it out and handle it as you would a whole steak.

Place in a heated frying pan containing a tablespoonful of butter, and cook rather slowly, turning once with a pancake turner, covering when half done. Take it up on a hot platter, spread with fresh butter, squeeze over it a little lemon juice and if tomato sauce is liked pour it around, not over it. Have it carved like a porterhouse at table, not spooned out. It will have a close, firm texture and never be recognized for the hashish-like mixture sometimes served under the name of "hamburg steak."

PROBLEMS OF THE FAIR SEX SOLVED BY CYNTHIA GREY

[Correspondents are requested to make their inquiries as brief as possible, and to write on one side of the paper only. It is impossible to give replies within a stated time, as all letters have to be answered in "turn" as they are received. No letters can be answered privately.]

"Wants To Be an Actress."

My Dear Miss Grey: I have received valuable help from you before, and I take the opportunity now of expressing my thanks to you. Would you kindly answer me the following questions:

1. I am a chorus girl, and I would like to become an actress. How and where should I apply? I will never be a chorus girl, so would like to know if one has to be a chorus girl when starting. I have good acting and talking ability, but not a good voice for singing. Would this hinder very much?

2. Sometime ago the meaning of what stamps meant when put on letters in a certain way was given in your paper. I intended to cut it out, but missed the paper. Would you mind publishing it again?

3. Do you know who wrote "Thais," and I would like to be procured from the Public Library. Is this writing a play, or an ordinary book?

Thanking you in advance, and hoping I have not troubled you very sincerely, —MRS. A. J. GOSIA.

A.—1. Generally musical comedy actresses begin their theatrical careers as chorus girls. As singing is one of the requisites, I believe it would be a drawback, if you cannot sing.

2. As the stamp language was printed some time ago, I am sorry I cannot publish it again for you.

3. "Thais" is a drama founded on a novel, written by Anatole France, and dramatized by Paul Willsbach. This book is on order at the Public Library.

More Wedding Queries.

Dear Miss Grey: Will you please answer the following questions?

1. Is it proper for a bride to wear her diamond ring on her wedding day? If so, on which finger?

2. Can you give me a good recipe for a groom's cake?

3. What is the meaning of "goops" on the advertisement page, that we see every day in The Advertiser?

A.—1. The engagement ring should be worn on the fourth finger of the left hand.

2. There is a recipe for a groom's cake: Two cups of butter (cheap), 2 cups white sugar (cheap), 10 eggs, 4 cups flour, 2 cups raisins (seeded), 2 pounds almonds, blanched and chopped, 1/2 pound citron, shaved fine. Stir the almonds into the cake, flour, the raisins, and citron, and put a layer in the cake pan, then put in a layer of cake, then fruit again, and so alternate, finishing with cake. Bake two hours in a moderate oven.

3. You will note the article of "Goops" ends with "Don't be a goop" and sets forth some foolish habit with the moral not to encourage them.

Arnold Bennett's Dream House

When Mr. Arnold Bennett, the distinguished author, takes up a permanent residence in his native England—he has grown tired of Paris and the Parisians—he will live in a house that might be called "The Housewife's Paradise."

Two years ago Mr. Bennett imagined such a house in his novel, "The Card." Now, as nearly as they can be, his dreams will be realized.

The hero of "The Card" is a self-made man who cannot help feeling ashamed of the humble cottage in which his mother insists on remaining, refusing to move into a large house because she could not bear to have servants about her.

So The Card uses his ingenuity and builds a house, cleverly fashioned that the work of keeping it clean can be done in a quarter of the usual time, and then, by strategy, makes his old mother move into it.

Now The Card's ingenious labor-saving appliances most of which have never gone past the author's imagination, are to be tested, and those of them that prove practicable will be installed in the house in which Mr. Bennett will live.

First the author bought a house at Thorpe, near Colchester, and then he persuaded Mr. Richards, the artist, who illustrated his book on restaurants, to get out plans for its reconstruction and improvement. "And put in all the labor-saving appliances you can," said Mr. Bennett.

A Marble Doorstep.
So ever since Mr. Richards has been reading "The Card," especially such passages as the following, which describe how Denry, the hero, shows old Mrs. Machin, his mother, over what is to be her new home.

"That is a funny doorstep," she remarked to kill time.

"It's of marble," said Denry.

"What's that for?" asked his mother.

"So much easier to keep clean," said Denry.

"Well," said Mrs. Machin, "it's pretty dirty now, anyway."

"Quite simple to clean," said Denry bending down. "You just turn this tap at the side. You see, it's so arranged that it sends a flat jet along the step. Stand off a second."

He turned the tap, and the step was washed pure in a moment.

side as inside, isn't it?" said Denry.

"Well, I never," exclaimed Mrs. Machin.

"This automatic step-cleaner was only the beginning. Denry began to arranged so that you could clean it easily."

In the kitchen the electric light blazed on walls tiled in gray and a floor tiled in black and white. There was a gas range and a marble slopstone with two taps. The woodwork was dark.

Earthenware saucepans stood on a shelf. The cupboard was full of gear, chiefly in earthenware. Denry began to exhibit to his mother a tank provided with ledges and shelves and glasses, in which he said that everything except knives could be washed and dried automatically.

Old Mrs. Machin could not have been more impressed at Maskelyne and Denry. She had never seen anything like it in her life.

No Fireplaces.

He led her into the hall, which was radiantly lighted.

"It's quite warm here," said Mrs. Machin.

"The whole house is heated by steam," said Denry. No fireplaces.

"No fireplaces!"

"Not No fireplaces. No grates to polish, ashes to carry down, coals to carry up, mantelpieces to dust, flatirons to clean, fenders to polish or chimneys to sweep."

"And suppose you want a bit of fire all of a sudden in summer?"

"Gag stove in every room for emergencies," said Denry.

And in every room and on every landing was something intended to save labor.

"In each bedroom two aluminum taps poured hot and cold water respectively into a marble basin, and below the marble basin was a sink. No portage of water anywhere in the house. The water came to you and every room consumed its own slops."

KATHERINE LESLIE'S HOME MARCHAT

THE FLOWER AND THE GIRL.

There is no doubt that the florist will have a very little approval for the fashion of wearing artificial flowers for the corsage bouquet. But a fashion that is less to the florist is gain to the woman.

For the natural flower though unquestionably sweeter and lovelier, has the disadvantage of freezing in a few moments in winter, and of marking the coat and dress with its moisture whatever the season of the year.

The rose and the violet are the two worn so long, but the tiny nosegay such as a child would gather and make into a posy has for the moment ousted them.

And now who does not rejoice to see the pansy returned to favor both for corsage and millinery purposes. It appeared modestly and sweetly about mid-winter for the small corsage bouquet, and since, it has been steadily gaining in favor, taking the place of the bold American Beauty rose, and giving a delicious note of color in my lady's out-of-door costume.

In all the lovely shades of purple it comes, and in yellows of such velvety softness that those who have hitherto not loved this sunny color have been won to its side. It is really astonishing to see with what perfect art this "thoughtful flower" is reproduced by the makers.

Pretty, too, and effective are the tiny bouquets of forget-me-nots combined with a delicate pink rosebud, which are also replacing the large velvet and satin roses that have been so long in favor. Now that yellow in all its shades is the favorite of Fashion, the primrose has been re-questioned, and if one does not remember to have seen orange primroses but to have in mind vague memories of the "fair primrose" of the poet being pale and shy, why, a primrose by any other color will be as fashionable, and that is evidently the main thing!

Nearest of all the corsage bouquets is a Bulgarian colored floral creation called a Dahlia. But it is a Dahlia that was never seen on sea or land, and though far from being "the poet's dream" it is that thing so often so far removed from all poetry, smart. The rambling rose in characteristic clusters of lovely pink or red makes a very pretty corsage knot of flowers and is reproduced in satin with perfectly shaped green velvet leaves.

"Any Rags, Any Bones?"

Dear Miss Grey: There are about ten members in our club, and most of them are nearly fourteen years of age. Would you please tell me some ways of earning money in the country for our club, and also a name.

Thanking you in advance,
—BROWN EYES.

A.—1. If you have space in your garden why not raise table-flowers, such as sweet-peas, pansies, astors, or nasturtiums? The are always in demand on local markets. Collect old rubbers from the homes of your ten members, also old rags and bones, perhaps this latter method will not appeal to you, as the dainty task of raising flowers, but it all helps Brown Eyes.

2. You do not mention whether it is a sewing, or literary club. "Fleur-de-lis," "Girls Social Club," "The Happy Ten," or "The Good-Time Club."

A Hair Tonic.

Dear Miss Grey: I have been troubled lately with dandruff in my hair, and my hair has also been falling out. Could you please give me a recipe which would be efficacious in helping my hair and improve its condition. Something which will be in the form of a liquid when made up at the drugists. Thanking you in advance. Sincerely yours,

"SWEET SIXTEEN."

A.—This tonic has been found excellent. Castor oil, 12 grams; resorcin 1-5 dram; spirit of wine, 6 ounces; balsam of Peru, 8 grains. Shake well before applying to the scalp. Mas-

Catarrh or Colds
Never Quickly Cured
By Swallowing Drugs

Cough Syrup, Tablets, Etc., Go to the Stomach, Perhaps Sicken It, But Don't Kill the Germs of Catarrh.

The Direct Breathing Cure Is Best.

To cure an ailment in the throat or chest, to root out Catarrh or Asthma, it is essential that the medicine be conveyed direct to the affected parts.
This is why no other remedy has achieved such world-wide success as Catarrhazone, which alone can be breathed in one second to every air cell in the breathing organs. The healing vapors of Catarrhazone mix with the breath and descend through the throat, down the bronchial tubes, to the deepest air cells in the lungs—
all parts are saturated with the rich pinney essences that ease, heal and cure.

"No one ever contracted a more obstinate attack of nasal catarrh than I suffered a month ago," writes Mr. G.
E. Root, a well-known resident of Bridgetown, W. I. "My head ached terribly, I sneezed about every three minutes, but still my nostrils were entirely closed and I couldn't breathe through them. Ten minutes inhaling Catarrhazone gave me a little relief, so I continued to use Ca-tarrhazone every hour, and before the day was out I had improved. Ca-tarrhazone quickly cured me. I am well ever since."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhazone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitutes. Large Catarrhazone lasts two months; price $1; smaller sizes 25c and 50c. At all storekeepers and druggists, or The Catarrhazone Company, Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

When Eddie Foster joined the Nationals last spring he failed to set the world afire with his work at the start and Griffith was thinking of playing someone else on third. But all of a sudden Foster hit his gait and came to life, playing the best game in the American League at the third corner.

He is very important as the batter in the Nationals' hit and run game and has been favorably compared to Willie Keeler as a place hitter.

Don't Diet Yourself
TO DEATH TO CURE
DYSPEPSIA OR INDIGESTION.
IT ISN'T NECESSARY.

While it is necessary for the dyspeptic to abstain from rich, greasy, highly seasoned food, it is useless and injurious to deprive the sufferer of a full supply of good nutritious food sufficient for the needs of the body.

Weakening the body will never remove dyspepsia, on the contrary, all efforts should be to maintain and increase the strength.

Burdock Blood Bitters will increase the strength, and at the same time enables one to partake of all the wholesome food required, without fear of any unpleasant after results.

Miss Martha A. Brooks, Gagetown,
N.B., writes: "I have been troubled with indigestion for more than seven years, have tried several doctors and different medicines, claiming the power to cure, but all without success. Having heard of the many cures effected by Burdock Blood Bitters, I decided to give it a trial. I have taken only one bottle, and that one has done me more good than all the other medicines I have used. My appetite, which was very poor, is now good, and I can eat most everything without any disagreeable feelings."

TORONTO BOXERS DO
WELL AT BOSTON

Walter Jackson Was Knocked Out in Three Rounds as Result of Wild Swing.

Boston, Mass., May 6.—The preliminaries of the American national boxing championships were held here tonight. Several Riverside A. C. boys of Toronto competed in the various events.

In the preliminaries of the 125-pound class, W. Hitchen had little trouble in disposing of Jack Clark, of Roxbury, Mass., in less than a minute in the first round. He won by a knockout.

In the 108-pound class Frank Pacey lost a hotly-contested bout to Steve Phillips, of Boston. The Toronto man backed believe that he should have at least received a draw.

In the 135-pound class Sullivan, of East Boston, knocked out Walter Jackson in three rounds. This bout was fiercely fought, and Jackson went to the floor as the result of a wild swing by his opponent.

ENGLISH POLO TEAM
SAIL FOR AMERICA

Large Crowd Gathered to Bid Farewell to Players.

Southampton, May 7.—Price of the members of the polo team which is to represent the British Isles in the contest for the international cup at Meadow Brook, Long Island, in June, sailed today for New York. The team consists of Captain R. G. Rison, Captain Leslie St.
George Cheape, Captain Vivian Lockett,
Captain A. J. Edwards, and Captain
F. M. Freake, who is one of the reserves.
Before leaving, Captain Rison said:
"The British team is in perfect trim. I believe it has an even chance of retaining the cup."

Captain Cheape also expressed the opinion that the British team stood a very good chance.

British leadership of the team depends on the position in which he plays. If he plays No. 3 he will be captain. If someone else plays in that position that player will command the team.

A large crowd had gathered at the station in London to bid the players farewell as they boarded the boat train.
Lord Wiltshire, the other reserve player, was among them. He intends to sail later.

Authorities Everywhere Indorse

The Russell-Knight Car

Men who know cars—men who have run them since "the early days," and who have made a careful comparison of the Russell-Knight with other high-grade cars, are unanimous in their approval of its all-round superiority.

The design is later and will be standard, not only for 1913, but for 1914 as well. The Russell-Knight Engine is an advance upon even the Knight Engines in the European and United States licensee's cars. It is absolutely the "latest" Knight model, passed and approved by a corps of engineers second to none in the world. Russell-Knight Model "28" today is a proved success.

The body is of an entirely new design—not a part or accessory is visible upon it. It is a handsome body, designed to be comfortable and spacious.

The Russell Left Drive leaves all four doors available. The driver has a clear view in both directions before turning into passing traffic. The rear Windshield—a unique and exclusive Russell feature, is a great boon when winds are high or roads are dusty.

Demountable Rims and the Square Rim save many a roadside repair. The ample clearance and low centre of gravity make the ideal car for Canadian road conditions. The Power Tire Pump eliminates all labor in re-inflating tires. Call on nearest branch or agent and see the car, Catalogue upon request.

LAMBTON CORN MATURES EARLIER THAN IMPORTED

Association Formed With a View of Greatly Increasing the Yield—County Has Barely Touched Fringe of Its Agricultural Possibilities As Yet.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Petrolia, May 7.—In response to an invitation from the district representative of the department of agriculture, Petrolia, an enthusiastic number of Lambton County corn growers met in convention at Oil Springs. Mr. Anderson, warden of the county council, presided, and in a brief but pertinent address, welcomed the representatives to the town.
Addresses by Messrs. John Hunter, Wyoming; R. L. Moorehouse, Cairo; B. W. Fanshler, Florence; Alex. Mark, Wainstac, and S. C. Smaile, Oakdale, brought out many interesting and important points in relation to the growing of corn, and the importance of the industry to the county.
In 1911 there were over 23,000 acres under corn, producing an average of 76 bushels per acre. The growers present agreed that 100 bushels per acre was not worthy of the county, and that the crop be increased to 100 bushels per acre it would mean an increase of over 550,000 bushels of corn per year.
Matures Earlier.
Seed corn produced in Lambton County will mature from one week to ten days earlier than corn imported from Essex, Kent or United States. It is not only better for home use, but superior as well for the counties which lie to the east and north of Lambton.
W. H. Porter, district representative, explained the object of the association, and suggested how good seed might be disseminated over the country, through the instrumentality of corn shows, schools, farmers' clubs, corn clubs and experimental plots. Mr. Porter's speech followed and moved that in view of the fact that conditions in Lambton County are so admirably adapted to the production of corn, and whereas the county has never touched the fringe of its possibilities in this direction, be it resolved that we organize a corn growers' association, whose object it shall be to enhance the quantity and quality of corn grown in Lambton County.
Elected Officers.
A constitution and code of bylaws were at once agreed upon, and the following executive appointed:
Honorary President—Dr. C. O. Fairbank, Petrolia.
President—Chas. Fleck, Cornwall.
First Vice-President—R. L. Moorehouse, Cairo.
Second Vice-President—S. C. Smaile, Oakdale.
Treasurer—John Hunter, Wyoming.
Secretary—W. H. Porter, Petrolia.
Auditors—W. A. White, Oakdale; A. A. Dewar, Petrolia.
Many growers not able to be present communicated their interest in the move and the desire to become members. All were emphatic regarding the importance of a high standard for their seed corn produced by the association. If interest and enthusiasm be any criterion for judgment, success is assured to the association and much good will eventually accrue to the County of Lambton through this organization.

NEARLY BROKE HIS NECK WHEN BIG DERRICK UPSET

Dan Johnston, of Forest, President Ontario Fruit Growers' Association, Fell 25 Feet and Had a Close Call from Being Killed.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Forest, May 7.—Dan Johnston, of the sixth concession of Bosanquet, was hurled 25 feet to the ground and was badly injured today when a large derrick upon which he was sitting, tipped over. Johnston landed on the back of his head and should have been terribly shaken up, Dr. Blain, who is attending him, cannot understand how Johnston escaped either breaking his neck or fracturing his skull.
Was Badly Hurt.
As it is, he sustained injuries to his head, shoulders and back, which will confine him to his bed for many weeks. Mr. Johnston was at work with Geo. Price, an assistant, when the accident happened. Price had his ankle fractured.
Mr. Johnston owns one of the largest fruit farms in the district and had been very busy for several days rushing his spraying work.

Pupils Regret Resignation of Principal Brien, of Ingersoll.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ingersoll, May 7.—As a tangible expression of the esteem in which he is held by the pupils and staff of the Collegiate Institute presented Principal Brien with two handsome rattan chairs. Accompanying the presentation was a suitable address, in which regret was expressed at Mr. Brien's ill-health and his consequent resignation. Kindly reference was also made to his efficient and pains taking efforts during the years that he has been principal of the school.

TO GET POINTERS FROM THE SCHOOLS IN UNITED STATES

Education Board Authorizes Visit to American Industrial Schools.

Inspector's Report on Public Schools Shows a Total Enrollment of 6,953.

The board of education Tuesday afternoon passed a resolution of protest against the proposed change in the library act, which would confine appointees of the board of education to the library board to members of the teaching profession. Librarian W. O. Carson waited upon the board, and at his request, and on motion of Trustee Gunn, the resolution was unanimously carried.

Leave of absence was granted to two teachers, Misses Dora Rogers and Florence Fisher. The salaries of the kindergarten directors were advanced after some discussion, to the same basis as the salaries of the grade teachers. Salary adjustments will date back to March 1, since which date the kindergarten teachers have been working both morning and afternoon.

Decide on Picnic.
On Trustee's motion it was decided to hold a school picnic.

Chairman Gammage, of the Industrial committee, and Principal Brien, of the industrial school, were authorized to visit American industrial schools to study educational methods in use there.

A full-time dressmaker and milliner will be added to the teaching staff, beginning with September. Dr. Teasdale wanted to know who were taking the course in dressmaking and millinery. He did not think the industrial school should teach dressmaking and millinery to millionaires' wives and daughters, who take it up as a pastime. He was assured that this was not being done.

Night Classes.
Trustee Shaw asked about the night commercial classes, and the college and declared that he could not understand the accounts of that school.

Chairman Dennis stated that a meeting of the committee would be held very shortly. Principal McCutcheon invited the members of the board to attend a drill of the Collegiate Cadets in their new uniforms at the armories next Tuesday at four o'clock.
An invitation was read from the National Association of School Hygiene to be held at Buffalo, inviting the city to send delegates, who would "appropriately represent" London. The invitation stated that "local" invitations had been extended to all foreign countries, the lieutenant-governors of all the Canadian provinces, the governors of all the United States, and the mayors of all the principal cities of the earth had been invited. The communication was addressed to the chief magistrate of the city, and was first to be received by Magistrate Judd, who sent it to Mayor Graham, who sent it to the board of education, who decided to file it.

Inspector's Report.
The industrial school report for April, submitted by Principal Brien, showed an enrollment of 198 in the evening classes and 42 in the day classes, with average attendances of 88 and 26.

The Collegiate Institute report, submitted by Principal McCutcheon, showed an enrollment of 680 and an average attendance of 643.
The school nurse's report on the public schools showed a total enrollment of 5,562, and an average attendance of 5,262, increases over the same month of 1912 of 530 and 358 respectively. In the new districts about 80 non-resident pupils are in attendance. A meeting with the township residents was held at the school, and the duties of the city will be held shortly.

Messrs. W. E. Oppen, of Listowel, and W. O. Morrow, of Seneca, were asked to give the public school staff of the Inspector's recommendation.

The school nurse in April made 1,417 inspections, finding 241 children with defective hearing, 11 with defective vision, 14 with defective vision and 116 with carious teeth.

[Canadian Press.]
Halifax, N. S., May 7.—Within 24 hours the fate of the Halifax tram bill and the civic agitation for municipal ownership, and perhaps the fate of the Murray Liberal Administration will be definitely settled; but when the question comes up in the Legislature today, it may possibly be decided by the casting vote of the Speaker.

As nearly as can be ascertained, eighteen members are supporting a measure to increase the capital of the company from $1,500,000 to $5,000,000, and eighteen are opposing it, but changes are possible before the debate begins.

Much Excitement.
Excitement runs high on the question here, for Mayor Higgs has called a public open air meeting for tonight to protest against the adoption of the bill, and this will be held practically under the windows of the Legislature while the debate is in session.

If the promoters of tonight's public meeting carry out their intention it is to burn the Premier and Mr. Robertson to the adoption of the bill, and this is expected to result in a number of his followers supporting it rather than voting in a manner which might indicate a want of confidence in the leader.

The present standing of the Legislature is 25 Liberals to 13 Conservatives, and the Halifax seats are opened as the city representatives have been threatening to resign if the Government supports the bill—it might be seriously embarrassed.

CORRESPONDENCE

Liberals and the Navy Question.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:
The Free Press of recent date states: "The band of the 'Toronto meeting' opened with 'Rule Britannia.' This was a distinct affront to Liberals, who prefer 'O Canada.'"

I can assure any good Liberal will not dispute what the Free Press says. Any man born on Canadian soil, or who has become a Canadian by adoption, and who does not hold "Canada First" (the cry of the Conservatives in National Policy) will be but a broken reed for the mother country to lean upon in time of trouble or emergency.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier is right in his contention when he quotes "Daughter and I in my mother's house, but mistress in my own." And all the flagging and buncos talk that our emergency friends may give us does not alter the fact that if we allow the Borden naval subscription (it cannot be dignified by calling it a policy), without any assurance that we are not to be let in for an annual tax, to pass we are deliberately letting ourselves into the same position the American colonists were in before they rebelled.

Now, sir, no good daughter will refuse to assist her mother when help is needed, but no good daughter who has started a home of her own will, if she is wise, allow her mother to levy any impost on her that will keep her from putting forth her best effort to build up her own home, and much less will she, by any act of her own, tie herself up to a lot of obligations and duties which, as years go by, will more and more hamper her in the discharge of her duties.

Sir, we are always willing and always have been to give of ourselves and of our substance in any time of national distress, but we do not want nor would it be wise, to undertake any obligation (especially when we have not been asked to do so) that may as years go by become irksome, or that will make the light yoke which we at present bear become so heavy that it may some day gail us, and cause us to turn and anathematize the men who by forcing through the mistaken naval policy have caused it to become so.

Apologizing, Mr. Editor, for the length of this letter, and thanking you, in anticipation for its insertion in your columns, am yours, truly, CITIZEN.

HOGS ARE PLENTIFUL ON MARKET TODAY

Prices of the Porkers Ranged From $6.30 to 9.46 Per Hundred.

But for the weekly shipment of live hogs, the attendance at the market today would have been small, but the number of farmers who brought hogs to the city was larger than usual. Prices ranged from $6.30 to 9.46 per cwt. Dressed hogs were also fairly plentiful, and the prices ranged from $12.50 to $13.75 for heavy hogs, and from $12.75 to $13.75 for those of a lighter weight.

Top loads of heavy hogs ranging from $10 to $12 per cwt, while oats were quoted from $1.08 to $1.14 per cwt. The prices:
