Austria Prepared and Anxious for Peace Upon Terms of the Reichstag

Manifestations of Weakness in Speeches of Chancellor Michaelis and Count Czernin

Newly Launched Offensive Meets With Success

ANNEXATIONS DISCUSSED IN THE BRITISH PRESS

Would Not Deprive Germans of Genuine German Territory, Unless to Indemnify France and Belgium For Their Losses at Hand of Foe

By Courier Leased Wire

London, July 30.—Statements by Dr. Michaelis, German imperial chancellor and Count Czernin, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister, which are regarded here as obviously made in collusion, dominate the news columns of the morning papers. They are generally treated, editorially, as a sign of weakness, while the absence of reference to the future of Belgium and Serbia is considered to exclude all credence in the desire for peace by understanding the Austro-German peace talk, unless accompanied by an undertaking to evacuate and restore conquered territories. It is declared merely to be aimed at delaying America's preparations for war.

Herr Michaelis' accusations against France are dismissed by some commentators as best left for refutation by French allies, but discussed by others, one of which says the story is too thin even for the Germans to believe. The Daily News, however, maintains that although the chancellor's statements are valueless as evidence, they cannot be left unanswerred, and insists that a statement of war aims, to be formulated at the coming conference of allies, must constitute an explicit disavowal of all thought of conquest for conquest's sake. The paper denounces the "ignorance of the folly of Sir Edward Carson's threat to drive Germany behind the Rhine," which it says has given Herr Michaelis a weapon which he has swift to use. "It is in the power of the Allies to render the weapon innocuous, even turning it against himself, but the repudiation of his charge must come quickly, and in a form leaving no loophole for misinterpretation."

The Chronicle proclaims its belief that it would be unwise for the allies to deprive Germany of genuine German soil. It points out that while the chancellor talks of vast territorial modifications, the mentions only the Saar valley, and it suggests that France may be aiming to restore the old German frontier of Lorraine, which would involve a little strip on the German side of from five to fifteen miles.

If France desired this for strategic reasons, the Chronicle would not say she necessarily had the right, "but it would be an exceedingly small affair, not compared to an instant to Germany's seizure of two large provinces in 1871. It must be remembered too, that after losing some millions in killed and wounded in a war forced upon her, and wherein she has borne the brunt of the battle for liberty throughout Europe, France has the right to make exceptional claims for her future security such as Germany had not in 1871 and no other state unless Belgium would have to-day."

Berlin, Saturday, July 28 via London, July 30.—Official announcement of the appointment of new men to Prussian ministerial positions is not expected to be made before Chancellor Michaelis returns from official visits to Vienna and Dresden and Munich the latter part of next week.

Herr Michaelis has been in active communication with leading party members of the Prussian lower house, and the selection of the men who are to assist him in carrying

WEATHER BULLETIN

One must expect to find a few new worms in a war garden.

Toronto, July 30.—Showers have occurred from the Ottawa Valley eastward, also in Northern Alberta. The weather has been warm in Manitoba and Ontario.

Forecasts: Fresh southwest to west winds, fair and very warm to-day. Thunderstorms in some localities to-night and on Tuesday, then cooler.

Six Villages Together With Many Prisoners and War Materials Captured by Victorious Roumanian Army in Advance on Friday Last--The Polish Situation

By Courier Leased Wire.

London, July 30.—Six villages were taken in another advance on the part of the Roumanian troops, according to an official statement issued by the Roumanian War Office. The statement reads:

"On the 27th, between the valleys of Casin and Putna we again advanced some kilometres and occupied the villages of Soveia, Dragoslav, Negriuta, Valegares, Topca and Colacul. We again took prisoners and some motor batteries and war material."

Blood and Iron

London, July 30.—The correspondent of the Times at the Russian southwest headquarters after describing the desertions and panic of the Russian troops says General Korniloff's measures against indiscipline have been approved and that he is executing deserters by wholesale.

Amnesty To Poles

London, July 30.—The editor of the Polish Review, published in London, has received from A. R. Lednitsky, chairman of the committee appointed by the Russian provisional government to settle affairs in Poland, a telegram saying that the government has granted amnesty to Polish prisoners of war, who are Russian subjects and who fought against Russia in the Polish legions and that they will not be treated as rebels.

All Polish civilian prisoners, including Prussian and Austrian subjects will be treated as subjects of foreign states which are not at war with Russia and they will recover personal and property rights. The telegram also gives details of various privileges granted Polish war prisoners.

Polish Problem

London, July 30.—A Zurich despatch to Reuters, Limited, says that telegrams from Cracow report that not merely single units of Polish legends refused to take the military oath, but whole regiments, including four infantry, one cavalry, one artillery and parts of other regiments, are agitating a majority of all the forces. Unless General Pilsudski is released immediately it is believed that serious consequences will ensue. The Polish party intends to bring up the question at the next setting of the Reichstag.

WHERE IS LENINE?

Petrograd, July 30.—Nikolai Lenin, peace agitator and alleged German spy, has disappeared from his usual haunts in Petrograd and his whereabouts is not known to the government authorities. The stories published that Lenine had been seized by the police at Ozeck; Finland; on the Polish region has been arrested by German authorities while attempting to leave Poland on a false passport. General Pilsudski's flight marks the culmination of the differences between the Poles who desire to form an independent Polish army and the German authorities who insist that the Polish forces be under German control.

CITE DU MOULIN IN CANADIAN HANDS

Successful Union Operation on Lens Front Results in Advancing of Canadian Front to Depth of Over Four Hundred Yards--Positions Won Consolidated

By Courier Leased Wire.

By Stewart Lyon, special Canadian Press correspondent.
Canadian army headquarters, France, July 30.—By a minor operation last night the Canadian front was advanced in the region east of the Reservoir Hill into the Cite du Moulin, the only suburb lying between Reservoir Hill and Lens. The losses of the Canadians were inconsiderable and the advance gives them possession of a stretch of difficult country, extending about one thousand yards north and south, with a depth easterly from our former front of over four hundred yards. The gain this morning was made as a result of careful scouting. By close observation it was learned that to lessen the heavy losses from our artillery, which has been pounding Cite du Moulin steadily for the past two weeks, the enemy withdrew men holding the line among its ruined houses during the day and only manned the positions at night when he believed from former experience that Canadian methods an attack in force was likely to be made. That was good tactics; but the obvious method of catching the enemy napping was to send an attacking party in daylight while our bombardment was still in progress. This was done. The range of our guns increased as the men went over, and so out the enemy outposts off from their sup-

BRITISH CRUISER IS SUNK

By Courier Leased Wire

London, July 30.—The British Cruiser Ariadne, of 11,000 tons, has been torpedoed and sunk, according to an official statement issued to-day by the British admiralty.
The Ariadne was an old British cruiser, having been built in 1908. She was 450 feet long, 60 feet beam and had a maximum draft of 27 1/2 feet. Her complement consisted of 677 officers and men.
The Ariadne carried sixteen 6-inch guns, twelve 12 pounders and a number of smaller guns. She also was equipped with two submerged 18-inch torpedo tubes.

AUSTRIA PREPARED FOR ANY HONORABLE PEACE

Duel Monarchy Anxious For Close of War, Says Foreign Minister, But Will Remain Loyal to Teuton Cause if Entente Declines German Terms

By Courier Leased Wire.

Vienna, July 29.—via Copenhagen.—Reiterating that Austria-Hungary was ready to accept an honorable peace, but that the dual monarchy, in conjunction with its allies, would fight to the last extremity if the Entente Powers declined to enter negotiations on the basis of a peace by understanding as recently outlined by the German imperial chancellor and the Reichstag, Count Otto Karl Zimmern von Chudenitz, the Austro-Hungarian foreign minister in an interview to-day, discussed at length peace possibilities.

The Austrian statesman took occasion to reply to the speech made by David Lloyd George in London, July 21, when the British premier characterized the address delivered in the Reichstag by Dr. Michaelis, the German chancellor, as a sham. The Count said Mr. Lloyd George was mistaken when he represented the Reichstag peace resolution to be "a piece of bluff."

The chancellor and the Reichstag, the foreign minister said, declared that Germany was conducting a defensive war and that the German people only asked for an honorable peace by means of an understanding.

CAUSE OF JUSTICE, HUMANITY

Is Allied Cause in the War; Lansing on Menace of Militarism

By Courier Leased Wire

Madison Barracks, N.Y., July 30.—In a speech here last night before 1,700 members of the officers' reserve corps, Secretary of State Robert Lansing, emphasizing the peril of German imperialism to the United States and the world, declared his belief that the German people would not cast off the yoke of autocracy "until the physical might of the united democracies of the world have destroyed forever the evil ambitions of the military rulers of Germany."

ENEMY PLANE IS SHOT DOWN BY ITALIANS

By Courier Leased Wire

Rome, July 30.—The official statement issued to-day by the Italian war department says: "There was noticeable activity yesterday at several points on the Trentino front. Minor fighting resulted in our favor in the Upper Val Furva. East of Lake Garda, in St. Pellegrino valley and on Monte Plans we took some prisoners. The artillery duel was accentuated in the Lagarina valley."
On the Julian front there was considerable activity. An enemy machine was brought down by one of our airmen east of Tolmino."

GERMAN OFFICIAL
By Courier Leased Wire
Berlin, July 30.—German troops are advancing through the Suchava valley in the Austrian province of Bukovina, towards the town of Zoloty, it was announced officially to-day by the German general staff. The Germans also have pushed forward to the east of the Upper Col-dava valley. The statement says the Russians are holding the heights to the east of the River Zbroca, on the Russian frontier, which has been crossed by the Teutons at several points.

THE SITUATION

The "Russians still continue to retreat, and the only consistent endeavor to make any stand is on the Roumanian front. That effort, under the circumstances, must also be smothered ere very long. Premier Kerensky is still making heroic and unremitting efforts to save the country from the catastrophe which threatens. His latest step is to summon generals in the field for a conference at headquarters with the object, it is believed, of forming a supreme military council and adopting drastic means to compel the troops to stand and face the foe. Under the best of circumstances, Russia cannot expect to find her feet again for a considerable period, and meanwhile the Huns are easily securing large quantities of supplies and occupying ground with crops ready for the harvest. The evidence is conclusive that German agents and German gold have been responsible in the main for the disruption.

The fierce and continuous German attacks on the French front still continue to be abortive. The forty-fourth assault on the Chemin-Des-Dames proved a sorry failure, and in a counter attack, the French troops have gained ground from the Hurlbeise farm to La Belleville.

Sir Eric Geddes, the new First Lord of the Admiralty, took a very optimistic tone when he made his first speech in his new capacity on Saturday. In the course of his address, he made this cheering statement:—"The destruction of the German military power is progressing more since last spring than the people imagine, and the morale of the German army is going fast."

Such a statement, coming from such a source, will be exceedingly welcome. The British official report records much air fighting on the Western front. On Friday, sixty-one of the enemy planes were put out of commission, while seventeen British machines failed to return.

In London, a new organization, known as the "Workers and Soldiers Council" attempted to hold a peace meeting in a church, but were prevented after a riotous time, during which the interior of the edifice was wrecked.

In Poland, big demonstrations have taken place in opposition to the soldiers of the Polish army, having an oath of fidelity imposed upon them to the Austro-German sovereigns.

NOT A WHITEWASH All of the Liberal papers which have been so persistent in the hounding of Hon. Robert Rogers, refuse to accept the finding of the two appeal judges as anything but a "whitewashing." The Globe affirms that the outcome will not "satisfy public opinion," and that the people of Manitoba will resent "the slur thrown on Mr. Justice Galt," and the judiciary of the province.

Well, what about the slur which the amusing and venomous organ is seeking to cast upon Chief Justice McLeod, of New Brunswick, and Mr. Justice Teller of Quebec?

They are both honorable men, held in the very highest repute, and no one doubts that they made their finding in accordance with the facts. Why should the Globe and other Globules seek to impugn them and their unimpeachable records? The plain answer, is of course, that their conclusions on the evidence did not accord with the desire of the organs to drive Rogers out of public life.

The Hamilton Herald (Independent) in an article on the subject, says:—"The report of the McLeod-Teller commission upon the finding of Justice Galt in his investigation of certain administrative irregularities in Manitoba is a complete vindication of Hon. Robert Rogers. Justice Galt acting as a paid commissioner appointed by the Manitoba government, had found Mr. Rogers guilty of conspiracy to defraud the people of Manitoba. Mr. Rogers appealed against this finding, and a commission consisting of Chief Justice Sir Ezekiel McLeod of New Brunswick and Justice Teller of Quebec reviewed the evidence taken by Commissioner Galt and decided that the commissioner's findings are not based on the evidence. The commissioners go further and explicitly declare that Mr. Rogers is not guilty of the offences of which Commissioner Galt convicted him. Mr. Rogers' political enemies will of course say that he has been "whitewashed." A more reasonable opinion is that Commissioner Galt was influenced by personal animosity to Mr. Rogers the two men having had a violent personal quarrel since the commissioner having in the course of the investigation betrayed personal animus against Mr. Rogers. Most people free from bias will be inclined to the opinion that the verdict of the two eminent judges is more worthy of confidence than that of a judge who, besides being a personal enemy of Mr. Rogers, was retained and paid by Mr. Rogers' political enemies.

The cloud which lowered over the reputation of the minister of public works has lifted. These conclusions will be endorsed by all those not utterly blinded with party prejudice.

THE NEED FOR MEN AT THE FRONT

The Woodstock Sentinel-Review records the fact that an application for leave for a Woodstock soldier to come home, on the ground that his mother is probably dying, was refused. The explanation accompanying the refusal was that the need for men at the front was too great to permit of leave being granted merely on account of sickness or death in the family.

The incident is one which serves to bring home anew the fact that our boys in the trenches are sadly pressed for reinforcements, and yet the spectacle has been presented in Canada of the leader of one of the two great parties seeking to have such help delayed by a referendum, with a possible chance of defeat.

This is not the time for hesitation and the wasting of precious time. The crisis is far too great for that. The crying need of the hour is for more men to help the brave lads who volunteered, and Canada, if she fails in that paramount duty, will show herself to be an apostate nation.

ALLIES FIRED WITH JUSTICE OF CONQUEST, SAYS MICHAELIS

German Chancellor Claims Inside Information on France's Aim; Lloyd George Voiced Allied Desire, Peace Only in Conclusion of War

Berlin, July 29, via Copenhagen. Dr. Georg Michaelis, the German imperial chancellor, on Saturday summoned a large number of newspaper men, to whom he declared:—"The speech of David Lloyd George, the British premier, at Queen's Hall, London, and the recent debate in the British House of Commons again have proven with indisputable clearness that Great Britain does not desire peace by agreement and understanding, but only a conclusion of the war, which means the enslavement of Germany to the arbitrary violence of our enemies."

"Proof of this may be seen in the fact that Sir Edward Carson (member of the British war cabinet) recently declared in Dublin that negotiations with Germany could begin only after the retirement of German troops behind the Rhine. In response to a question put by Commoner Jos. King, A. Bonar Law, the spokesman of the British government in the House of Commons, modified this declaration by fixing the standpoint of the British government as being that if Germany wanted peace she first of all must declare herself willing to evacuate the occupied territory."

Talks of French Conquest. "We possess clear proofs that the enemy gives assent to a declaration, going even further than that implicitly made by Sir Edward Carson. You all know that detailed information regarding the French plans of conquest, approved by Great Britain and Russia, has been circulated for weeks past in the neutral press, and that it has not been denied up to the present."

"It would be of the greatest importance for the enlightenment of the whole world regarding the true reasons for the continuation of the sanguinary massacre of nations for it to be known that written proofs of our enemies' greed for conquest have fallen into our hands. I refer to reports of the secret debate on June 2, in the French Chamber of Deputies. I ask the French government this question: Does it deny that ex-Premier Briand, in the course of that secret sitting, at which were present Deputies Moutet and Cochon who had just returned from Petrograd, were forced to admit that France shortly before the Russian 'revolution' had come to an agreement having in view plans of conquest with a government which Premier Lloyd George describes in his last speech as a 'corrupt' and 'narrow' bureaucracy?"

Asking Questions. "I ask if it is true that the French ambassador at Petrograd, in response to a request sent by him to Paris, received instructions to sign a treaty, prepared in advance by M. Domergue (former premier and foreign minister), after negotiations with the Russian Emperor?"

"If true or not, that the French president at the instance of Gen. Berthelot, head of the French military mission to Roumania, formally entrusted him with a mandate, and that M. Briand afterwards sanctioned this step."

"This treaty assured to France her frontiers, but amended on lines of previous wars, the conquest of 1870, to include, besides Alsace-Lorraine, Saarbrücken and vast territorial modifications on the left bank of the Rhine."

Says Tereschenko Objects. As described by France 'Week M.

DUFFERIN RIFLES DAILY TALKS

The position of the Citizen Army as a part of the recognized defence of the country will depend, in a large measure, on the state of the discipline existing therein. To what extent is discipline necessary in the Active Militia? This is answered by asking another question. What is the Active Militia organized for? On your answer depends the reply. Has it been formed to provide you with a pleasant recreation? To secure the nucleus of a baseball or football team? To give you some safe and agreeable connection with the Great War? If you can answer any of those questions in the affirmative, then you need not trouble further about discipline. But, of course; your answers are most decidedly in the negative. There is a degree of discipline in every effectively organized body. Nursery, school, office, and workshop, each has certain rules, formulated on a basis of efficiency with the member of a household in which every member subordinates the general good to his own convenience. Unbridled liberty means discomfort and discontent; undisciplined liberty is license.

The disciplined man need not lose his self-respect. No man has a higher opinion of his "rights" than the member of a well-organized trade union. Such men often grow restless under restriction to the verge of reckless insubordination. Their officers and instructors know that any moment might find them in mutiny. Yet these men settle down when they see their colonel stand rigidly and silently at attention under the wrath of a Brigadier. Discipline works downwards, never upwards. The discipline of the British Imperial Services is the best in the world. There are harsher systems, but none better. This discipline is difficult to define but it may be inadequately described as one which; "without crushing initiative; ensures instant; unhesitating and unquestioning obedience to orders; even in the absence of supervision."

There is no reason why the Active Militia should not have a discipline equal; in comparison to that of the Guards. Every member should bear constantly in mind the fact that both the Volunteer and the Guardsmen are training for the same work. The fact that one trains for fighting in Canada does not make any material difference and it is the object in view which matters. The man who refuses to submit to discipline will do the same movement a distinct service by remaining out of it.

Tomorrow—No. 8. "How discipline is taught!"

VAULT BURGLAR

Hamilton, July 30.—The big vault in the offices of R. Murgatroy and Son private bankers and insurance agents at Smithville, was blown by yegmen early this morning. Nothing was missing. It was evident that the safe-crackers, who worked like professionals, were scared away as they left behind a large tent and a dozen horse blankets which had been used to deaden the noise of the explosion and to drill the hole. The men who were found to be the identity of the men who apparently escaped in an automobile.

MEMORIAL SERVICE FOR PTE. JOHN LAMB

Fallen Hero Honored In Death at Balfour Street Church

The services for Pte. John Lamb, of the Balfour Street Presbyterian Church yesterday, were conducted by Pastor Rev. D. L. Campbell. In the morning he spoke on the life of Joseph; drawing many practical lessons from the wonderful life. In the evening the service was in form of a Memorial service; for Pte. John R. Lamb; son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Lamb; Oxford Street. Pte. Lamb was killed in action on July 7th, and his death will be very keenly as he had made a large number of friends before he enlisted.

Rev. Campbell spoke on the last words that our Saviour said before he died "Father into thy hands I commend my spirit". He showed how each one of us could practice the Art of living so that we would know the art of dying; which is not only for those who are fighting but for those who are here.

Pte. Lamb's sacrifice was for his King and country and was done voluntarily and we know that there is no more honorable thing than the man who pays the supreme sacrifice.

The heart-felt sympathy of the Church members and the Community is extended to the bereaved family in this their trying hour.

Where is Lenine.

Petrograd, July 30.—Nikolai Lenine, peace agitator and alleged German spy, has disappeared from his usual haunts in Petrograd, and his whereabouts is not known to the government authorities. The stories published that Lenine had been seized by the police at Oczki, Finland, on July 24, and that later he had escaped during a battle between government agents and anarchists at Tornea, Finland, are said by the officials to be untrue. A vague story was current in Petrograd July 28, that the suspected Teuton agent had fled from the capital to Kronstadt, that he had been smuggled through Finland to Stockholm and already had reached Germany. No official confirmation of this report could be obtained. Another rumor current here yesterday was that Lenine was operating in Stockholm.

DECORATION OF GRAVES BY ODDFELLOWS OF THE CITY WAS OBSERVED YESTERDAY

Parade of Five Hundred Loyal Lodge Men Despite Sweltering Heat; Deceased Brethren Buried Here Honored By Their Fellows

Headed by the Dufferin Rifles band and the Citizens' Band of Paris, the members of Gore, Harmony and Mohawk lodges, I.O.O.F. of this city, together with the visiting brethren from surrounding points, visited Greenwood and Mount Hope cemeteries yesterday afternoon and decorated the graves of the departed Oddfellows. In spite of the extremely warm weather, several hundred marched to the cemeteries, but the number was not so large as in former years on account of the number of members who are overseas. In the ranks as the procession filed down the streets from the lodge rooms could be seen several returned soldiers in khaki. The Rev. G. A. Woodstock of Zion Presbyterian Church and the Rev. David Alexander of the Immanuel Baptist church, delivered brief orations in Mount Hope and Greenwood cemeteries respectively after the flowers had been placed on the graves.

The decoration committee consisted of Messrs. Charles Craddock, chairman, A. Watson, secretary, O. E. Ostrander, George Collington, W. Holmes, C. Masters, C. Page, W. Almas, Henry Dawson, L. Perry.

Rev. D. Alexander. Rev. David Alexander's oration at Mount Hope Cemetery was listened to with much interest. The speaker based some fine thoughts and sentiments on the three-fold links of Odd-Fellows viz Friendship, Truth, and Love. A society which stood for these called men to the higher and greater things of life.

Great men of modern times had been inspired by friendships. Rhodes and Kitchener were both Empire Builders and were fast friends. Kitchener and Lord Roberts were also deeply attached to each other. K. once said "Tell Roberts I want a billet under him, and if there is nothing else open I'll black his boots. We will never know what achievements, adventures, and production of art and literature has been brought into existence because of the warm impulse of friendship. Friendship provides an outlet for the soul, but there was one supreme thing it did it helped us to retain our faith in human nature. Despite the many contradictions we find in men, the possession of a sincere and genuine friendship kept us from becoming harsh and cynical. Friendship also survived death. W. Schell maintained he lived in fellowship with his dead son. Stead was visionary but he was a gallant reformer, and in a practical Dr. Parker spoke to his wife after her death so he declared. Be that as it may nearly all believed the soul immortal and our departed were not dead, except physically. Cecil Rhodes said "I am a man who says there is no God is a fool," again he declared, "the man who does not believe in a Supreme Being is no better than dog." These were strong utterances from a man who gave all his wealth to the good of other men, and whose ambition was the glory of the British Empire.

Truth was like the sunshine. Like the solid earth life, the ample skies because God given and God created. Jesus was the Truth in human form. The Ex-Chancellor's utterance that Germany's signature to respect the neutrality of Belgium was a "scrap of paper" would haunt him to his death, and be a stigma upon that nation till the end of time. Thomas Carlyle wished to write his books as his tomb-stone. The stone-mason had built houses, and walk blamelessly thru this world of shadows. We must heed the truth and be governed by its imperatives. Love was the greatest thing in the world. This ceremony to-day was a good lesson in the humanities. In these days of war the finer issues of life were apt to be lost sight of and undervalued. It did one good to step softly over the green sods which covered the ashes of the dead and utter a wreath thereon. Sydney Whitman on seeing an army of recruits walk along in silence and uncheered was moved and declared there must be something divine in man to volunteer such a death and service. It was love that did it. Love was the key to open all doors. We must keep our hearts right with God, and be lovers of all men and all nations. Christ on Calvary said, "Father forgive them." If we followed Him that same voice would one day say, "Well done good and faithful servant."

FIVE DIVISIONS OF ENEMY TROOPS CUT TO PIECES

Forty Fourth German Attack On Chemin-Des-Dames a Failure FOE LOSSES HEAVY Fourteenth Prussians Led Assault, And Were Mowed Down

London, July 30.—The correspondent of Reuters with the French army in France, telegraphing on Friday night, says: As a result of the Battle of Chemin-Des-Dames which died down for a moment yesterday afternoon in consequence of the exhaustion of the enemy, after raging practically without interruption for a week, the Germans obtained a precarious footing in a part of the French line below the crest, opposite the village of Ailles, while the French on the Craonne plateau recovered the whole of their original front except a small work in the north-eastern angle of the Craonne plateau, which was utterly wrecked by bombardment, and is now untenable by either side. Against these trivial advantages the enemy must pay many thousands of casualties. Five German divisions participated in the fighting. Three of these need reorganizing before they can again be employed. The Germans grudging neither men nor munitions in order to ensure success. Undismayed by the failure of their onslaught on the Craonne plateau they threw two fresh divisions into a night attack on the Hurtebise-Labrelle front on Wednesday. The attack was made by the Fourteenth Prussian division, with the Third Bavarian division in support.

Three regiments of the Fourteenth division, namely the 16th, 56th and 57th, attacked side by side and in two waves each, three battalions strong. The third battalion of each regiment was formed in a first reserve. The battalions had been brought to maximum strength for the operations. Every man, including cooks and orderlies, had to go over with his company. All the officers, including the colonels, had to be present in the departure trenches. The first trench line. Still another division, the 1st Bavarian, was in readiness to relieve the shattered remnants of the 14th division in the French trenches as soon as the operation was completed. For five minutes before the attack the trench mortar batteries behind the crest maintained a fierce drum-fire of bombs on the French front line. Despite the elaborate preparations of the Germans, the attack broke-down. The greater part of the two-mile front was involved under the French fire and the assaulting companies either never reached the French front line or were unable to hold it. By Thursday evening nothing remained of the German gains except a few yards of trenches south of Ailles. This was the forty-fourth attack which the enemy had made on the Chemin-des-Dames.

SEEKING JAIL BREAKERS Chatham, Ont.; July 30.—Walter Downes, white, and Herb Williams, colored, waiting trial on a serious charge preferred by a 15-year-old white girl; escaped from the country jail by placing a bench against the stone wall of the exercising yard; and are still at large. The police are scouring the city and vicinity for traces of the fugitives and the police in many places in Western Ontario have been asked to be on the lookout. The escape was made following breakfast. During the temporary absence of Turnkey Gouyon the men escaped from the corridor to the office, where they secured the keys and unlocked the door to the exercise yard. By means of long benches they scaled the 18-foot wall and were well on the way to freedom before their disappearance was discovered. A Mr. Simpson noticed them hiding in a wheat field near the C. P. R. bridge. Fosses in that vicinity have been unable to locate them. The Brantford police were warned to maintain a sharp lookout for the offenders but there has been no trace of them locally.

GRAYS AND BEARS Providence and Ne Equal in Struggle Pennant Honors

Toronto, July 29.—The Leafs their own with Buffalo in Saturday double-header, for they shut the bats out in the first by 4 to 0, dropped the second, 5 to 2. Luckily enough, one would almost imagine fate played a part in the game for Al. Justin, the new hander recently secured from Buffalo, had for his receiver "Lalongo, also a Buffalo product they held their former team to five hits and no runs in a splendid victory for the Leafs. Jaynes who pitched the greater of the game had only one bad inning when he was out of the box. He suffered from a serious vomiting before the first inning over and had to be taken out. He was in one run, scored single and a triple. Jaynes ran the side, but eased up long in the third to let the Leafs get more.

"Bunny" Hearne, for the time within the week failed to get to the fans' expectations in second game. With the first safely stowed away, it was concluded that Hearne would hand Toronto second, but he did not. "Bunny" yelled along with but fair success until the seventh, one run had been tallied on him in the fourth but at this stage the Leafs went down when Hearne weakened. He was out in the eighth, but the Leafs had a five-to-nothing score from them. They desperately tempted a rally in the eighth, only saved themselves from a rout when they put two runners across the plate. Engel pitched consistently and tightened up in pinches.

At Newark. Baltimore and Newark divided double-header to-day the Orioles ing the first game by 6 to 0, while the Bears slammed Hill and Appton for 21 hits in the second game and made a runaway race of it, winning by 18 to 2. Scores: First game: Baltimore 6 3 0 0 0 0 0 0—6 13; Newark 0 0 0 0 0 0 0 0—0 6. Batteries—Thormalen and Avoy; Smallwood, Wilkinson and Egan. Batteries—Schwach, Schellen and Mayer; McNeil; Young, Ear and Koehler.

At Montreal. Montreal divided to-day's double header with Rochester losing first game by 8 to 7, and winning the second which only went seven innings by agreement, by 6 to 5. The first affair was a slugger and Duffey's hitting in the second game was responsible for the victory. Scores: Montreal 0 0 1 2 1 0 2 0 1 1—8 15; Rochester 8 1 0 0 0 0 1 1 0—9 12. Batteries—Schacht, Causey, Iman and Sandberg; Hoyt, Ger and Howley. Second game: Montreal 1 0 0 0 1 1 3—6 10; Rochester 0 0 0 0 1 1 x—6 10. Batteries—Loiz and Wendell; Duffey and Madden. St. Paul, Minn., Bases Full. Providence, July 28.—The Grays defeated Richmond to-day by score of 8 to 3 and 3 to 1. Richmond's services of its manager, G. Toronto, July 29.—The Leafs held their own with Buffalo in Saturday's double-header, for they shut the Bisons out in the first by 4 to 0, but dropped the second by 5 to 2. DOMINION STEEL ADD TO LEAD IN CITY LEAGUE

Their Hold on First Place Strengthened by Victory Over Keetons on Saturday; Allen Again in the Limelight; Cubs Outdone by Cordage

The baseball battle between the Dominion Steel Products and the Motor Trucks at Agricultural Park on Saturday was one of the best of the season and although the D. S. P. came out on the long end of a six to nothing score the contest provided some real baseball. The victory was chiefly due to the splendid work of Joe Allen who allowed only twenty one men to face him in seven innings and was so stingy with his hits that only two were garnered. Beckett, also southpaw, who tossed them up for the Motor Trucks, pitched a very good brand of ball but the poor support of his team-mates and their inability to connect safely, was responsible for the result of the game. The Motor Trucks however, played greatly improved ball and by brisk plays in the field nipped off runs that looked like certainties. In the first inning, Stewart made two sensational throws from fence field, one to the plate where Vanning was caught, and another to third base where Doyle fell victim to a perfect peg. The game was much better than the score would indicate, and the losers in spite of the fact that they did not once cross the plate, provided a lively opposition, especially in the earlier innings. The scoring commenced in the third inning when Vanning drove the ball through the rightfield fence, and did not stop until he had reached third base. He scored when Jeffrey allowed Doyle's drive to go through his territory. Five runs were tallied in the next inning on two hits, a fielder's choice, and six errors. This concluded the scoring, and the balance of the game was a grim battle, both teams striving for runs, and the opposing southpaws engaging in a pitchers' battle. The score:—

ning; Two base hits, Orcutt, Smith; Struck out by Allen 9, by Beckett 4; Wild pitch Beckett; passed balls, Rupp 1.

Second Game. The game in which the Cordage Company and the Holmedale Cubs were the principals, developed into a fiasco. The Holmedale Cubs had secured a substantial lead, but with the bases full Walters, in attempting to catch a baserunner off second base, threw to the outfield and three men had tumbled before the ball was returned to the diamond. "Pat" O'Connor, who has twirled excellent ball for the past two weeks was a trifle off-color on Saturday, but the readiness displayed by the other members of the team in taking advantage of the opportunity, when the Cubs began to go to pieces, won the game by a score of 13-9. The bingles were evenly divided each aggregation annexing fourteen safeties.

Sporting Comment

RE-ENTER MCNEIL. Says the Providence Journal: "Norman McNeil, the new backstop of the Grays, in the three games thus far played has given promise of becoming one of the best receivers in the International league. Almost unknown even in his own city of Buffalo, he tried in vain to get Patzy Donovan to give him a job on the Bisons.

"Out of practice for weeks, he jumped into the fastest minor league in the country and made good from the start. In the three games played with the Grays he was at bat 11 times and made six hits and two sacrifice hits. He has also stolen one base. In the field he has had 13 put outs and one assist. He may prove another Schanz, who was picked off the sand lots of Buffalo."

Canadian League fans will remember McNeil as a one-time catcher for the Peterboro team of the Canadian League. He was a well built, dark haired chap, but while here did not display any indications of being a world beater. However a number of ex-Canadian Leaguers have lately emerged from the dark and prehistoric past, broken into fast company, and are making good.

CRICKETERS LOST GAME AT HAMILTON

Local Team Defeated By Margin of 19 Runs on Saturday

The Brantford Cricket Club journeyed to Hamilton on Saturday last, to play Hamilton at cricket, the game commencing at 3.30 p.m. under ideal weather conditions. Hamilton, winning the toss, chose to bat first. Special mention should be made of the bowling by Stewart and Rieboro of Hamilton, also of Wash and Hutchings of Brantford. F. W. Nutt of Hamilton batted well for them, as did also Sergt. Winyard of Brantford, they making the highest scores for their respective teams. Brantford, although defeated, are not by any means disheartened, seeing that they have already this season defeated their opponents on two previous occasions, and are now looking forward to repeating their former victories. The return match will take place on Saturday, Aug. 11th, on the O. S. B. grounds. The scores for Saturday were as follows:

Kilties In New York

NEW YORK has been captured by the Kilties. Lieut.-Col. C. W. Darling's brass band and detail of the 48th (Gordon) Highlanders from Toronto, and Lieut.-Col. Percy A. Guthrie's pipers from the Clan McLean have succeeded in winning the heart of Gotham. From the time the Highland laddies arrived early Monday morning until they departed at four o'clock on Sunday afternoon for Chicago, they have been in the centre of a constant whirl of excitement. They have toured New York, Brooklyn, Newark and outlying districts. They have been to Coney Island and the ball game. They have been feted and toasted in the cafes and cabarets. They have been royally entertained. The skirl of the pipes and the gaudy plaids of the kilts delighted old Father Knickerbocker's heart.

The last week was recruiting week in New York and the British Recruiting Mission, headed by Brig.-Gen. W. A. White, was well "up-stage and centre," brilliantly displayed by the calcium light of every means of publicity known. The kilties have helped stimulate recruiting tremendously. They have made the Americans realize, as probably few other forces could, the nearness of this war of nations. While the appeal of the kilties was to the British and Canadians in the United States, the Americans declare the Highlanders did as much for their hosts as for themselves. United States recruiting officers say that recruiting has jumped ahead briskly since the kilties came.

A dozen men in Montreal and Toronto, headed by E. W. Beatty, Vice-President and General Counsel of the Canadian Pacific Railway, raised $10,000 among themselves to finance the 48th (Gordon) Highlanders on their two weeks' trip to New York and Chicago. Lieut.-Col. J. S. Dennis, who has been assistant to Lord Shaughnessy, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, is in charge of the Western Division of the British Recruiting Mission, with headquarters at Chicago. Although the Chicago and Minneapolis offices have been open less than three weeks almost one thousand men have been recruited in that time. Lieut.-Col. Dennis plans to establish branch recruiting offices in all the principal cities in the United States near the Canadian border west of Chicago. He also plans to have representation in the larger cities of California. He is, in fact, inaugurating a west-wide whirlwind campaign for recruits for the British army.

There are a great many British in the United States and it is hoped to bring the appeal home to them by a lively campaign. In Chicago alone there are almost 350,000 persons of British allegiance. While the proportion may not be so large in other cities, there is a very good percentage of British born. In passing it might be well to note that this is the first time since 1812 that a British force, armed and carrying its regimental colors, has stood on American soil. The event was indeed historic.

ORGANIZATION BACK OF FIRING LINE AT FRONT

Systematic Business Of Modern Day Warfare Complex and Many Sided

Behind the British lines in France, July 30.—(Correspondence)—What makes an indelible impression on the newcomer to the battlefield is the tremendous organization back of the actual fighting line, the miles of roadways dotted with transport of war-food for men and horses, shells for the guns, ammunition for rifles and machine guns and comforts for the wounded.

The final and most interesting link in this vast organization is the operation of getting the food right up to the men in the trenches. It usually takes place under cover of darkness when the enemy is unable to impede its progress as efficiently as with the aid of daylight. Night after night this goes on. After one recovers from surprise at the quietness with which it is done he is bound to marvel at the clock-like precision of the whole operation, all of which testifies to the efficient organization necessary in a war like this.

The first intimation that the transport is preparing to move out toward the front line is a clattering of horses shoes on the cobbles of a French farmyard. Then voices call out orders, watercarts are filled; horses are harnessed to the wagons and a few minutes later the whole column is standing ready, silent, transport men mounted, the quartermaster, transport officer and a sergeant on foot. In another instant a whistle sounds, there is a cracking of whips, then another clatter on the cobbles, and the rumble of heavily laden wagons as the whole column moves out toward the trenches.

A few miles ahead the first star-shells shoot up and little sudden pricks of flame come from the enemy's guns, and there is a soft burst of shrapnel followed by the deep boom of the heavy guns.

As the column "goes in" with the rations moves up close to the lines the star shells and boom of the big guns becomes more distinct. Suddenly the column halts—shells have burst in the road or on either side of it a little way ahead. When this ceases probably for only a few minutes, the word is given to move on again. The column continues to crawl along until it reaches a battered old building beside the road and within a stone's throw of the support trenches. Here are left the supplies brought up by this column.

The next sight is a stream of men with picks and shovels and ammunition; a sergeant to see that the rations for the different companies are placed in different piles; a post-office hurriedly hither and thither in search of D company's letters, which have been mis-laid; and the transport officer and quartermaster supervising and controlling everything—always in the most impenetrable darkness, save when a star shell lights up the white faces, the sweating horses and the road.

The transport officer gives a few words, and the empty wagons jolt out onto the road again to join in the stream that flows back towards billets and sleep.

LIMEYS

(Associated Press)
London, July 30.—American blue-jackets on duty in European waters have a nickname of their own for England's sailors and soldiers. They call them "limeys"; the individual being known as a "limey." The American sailor means apply the designation to all English fighters just as the British refer to their soldiers as "Tommys."

The sailor from the United States has his nickname for nearly everything he sees. Bluejackets who had served in the Near and Far East first started calling British sailors and soldiers "lime-juicers," because of their fondness for fruit juice and charged water. Now the designation has been shortened down and everything British is "limey." British sailors and soldiers clubs are known as "limey clubs," and within a stone's throw of the support trenches. Here are left the supplies brought up by this column.

LADIES' WAIST.

By Anabel Worthington.

When it comes to a selection of waists for the business woman there is nothing which can rival the tailored shirtwaist for smartness and appropriateness. The pattern shown in No. 8342 give it a softness of line which is very becoming. The centre front closing is trimmed with three large buttons and the convertible collar may be worn open or buttoned snugly about the throat. The regulation shirtwaist sleeve may be finished with either of two styles of cuffs, one plain and the other matching the collar in outline. The sleeves are also perforated for shorter length. Materials such as linen, madras, pongee, taffeta or habutai are practical for this type of waist.

The shirtwaist pattern, No. 8342, is cut in size 36 to 42 inches bust-measure. The 36 inch size requires 2 1/2 yards of 36 inch material, with 3/4 yard of 30 inch contrasting material.

SIDE TALKS

By RUTH CAMERON
THE GREATER CHIVALRY.

A friend of mine was reading a letter aloud to her mother. Some name was mentioned and her mother repeated vaguely—"Ruth Martin? Who is she?"

"Why, don't you remember mother?" cried the daughter impatiently. "You must remember."

"I can't seem to," said the mother anxiously. There was an almost hunted look on her face. She was evidently summoning her forces to make her mind work as quickly as it once had—and knowing that she would fail.

"Well, I don't see how you can forget. She's that girl we met last summer at the Boardmans."

"It was Pitiful to See Her—"

"Oh, yes, my dear," said the mother guiltily, "but," with pathetic attempts at extenuation, "I didn't know her first name was Ruth."

"Poor little mother! How I pitted her!" Her daughter didn't mean to. "Like all youth she just 'didn't' realize."

You can hardly imagine a young person so hardhearted as to complain because an older person could not walk as fast as she could, could not remember, could not leap easily from rock to rock on the shore.

Why then are so many young people impatient and irritable when the older folks cannot show the same nimbleness of mind as they would? Remember That Age Slows the Mind

If they stopped to think, they would realize that the years slow up the mind and the spirit as well as the body.

The mind cannot move as quickly and as surely as it once did any more than the feet can.

How absurd to be impatient when the older folks forget, when they cannot think quickly, when they call things by their wrong names. They are not doing it wilfully, they don't want to run the risk of your impatience, they are making just as much effort as you with your quick, young mind.

The Chivalry of Old for Young One of the Beautiful Things of Life

The chivalry of man for woman of old is one of the beautiful things of the spirit; one of the finest flowers of civilization.

There is no way in which true breeding more surely shows itself than in such chivalry. And they must not be merely physical chivalries either, but an all embracing patience and forbearance for every kind of weakness and feebleness.

SUB FIRED ON DROWNING MEN

Crew of Torpedoed British Steamer Showered with Shrapnel in Water

OFFICIAL REPORT Barbarity of German U- Boat Pirates Is Laid Bare

London, July 30.—(Correspondence)—Eight men were killed and several wounded by the shelling by a German submarine of the life boats of the Elder Dempster Steamer Adah, which was torpedoed on June 15, according to an official version of the affair. One boat was sunk by shrapnel fire from the submarine and the survivors were sprayed with shrapnel while the water in the water waiting for the other boats to pick them up.

The official narrative says that the submarine commander went along side one of the Adah's life-boats and made use of her to send some of the crew of the submarine on board the Adah just before the steamer sank. When the submarine's crew had been returned to the boat, the officer in command of the life boat was ordered to move away from the submarine.

"By this time," the official statement reads, "the boat commanded by the captain of the Adah, which already was badly smashed by one of the shells from the submarine, was about three or four hundred yards away from the German craft."

The submarine again opened fire on the captain's boat with shrapnel, killing eight men and taking the boat's stern off. Then after the boat had been sunk and the men were swimming in the water, the submarine shelled them with shrapnel.

When the German thought he had finished everybody who was in the captain's boat, he then opened fire on the Chief Officer's boat, sinking eight shrapnel. Fortunately nobody was killed, but only holing the boat, breaking the oars and wounding several men slightly.

"After this," the submarine commander waved to the chief officer to go over to the position where the captain and several other people were swimming about to pick them up, and the submarine then went away on the surface.

"The captain and the remainder of the men were then picked up by a French patrol steamer."

"This," the statement adds, "is a fine and gallant record of the fighting for 'The Freedom of the Seas.'"

Rippling Rhymes

I like to hear men talk, when they're not selling stock, when they can spout of lissed meals, of chipmunks, cheese and chalk. But ever as I walk my soul receives a shock; the men I meet in mart or street are selling mining stock. I never meet a gent on pretty intent, who knows the tops of Scott and Pope, and is on Shakespeare bent. Ah, no, the man of gulle comes with his beaming smile, to sell me shares and other snipes and bore me for a while. How happy I would be if I a man could see who'd talk some time of Shelley's rhyme, and Gray, his Eley, to sit beneath a bush, far from the spair, colts—mad push, and talk for hours of birds and flowers, and hand out soulful quail. To leave the clanging trucks, and talk of Burns and Keats, with some glad-jay who felt that way—'twould be the best of treat! But soulful men don't walk with me around a block; the modern men hale lye and pea—they all sell mining stock. They all are selling shares in patent folding chairs, in mines and mills and swamps and hills, and homes for polar bears. They're dealing in hot air, and little do they care for Oslan's lye or Milton's fire, or Byron's wild despair.

DIDO AND BAM.

Dido and Bam were two short-tailed pups with long pointed ears. They lived together in a little wooden house out near the garden.

Dido was a sly sort of pup, and would contrive in all sorts of ways to beat Bam out of his meals when he could. Another thing both dogs liked to sleep at the far end of the dog house, and any time that Dido found Bam had gotten in first and wouldn't come out, he would bark loudly at him, pick up his ears and run pell-mell toward the stone fence as if he had seen something worth chasing.

Poor Bam, thinking it might be a squirrel or a chipmunk, would come out. Dido would run all the faster, barking at the top of his voice until Bam joined in the chase. Then Dido would duck out of sight, and when Bam returned to the dog house he would find Dido curled up pretending to be asleep. Sleeping in front was very disagreeable, Bam thought, especially on a stormy night.

Bam stood for these jokes a long time. One day Dido called him away from a nice bone to chase something terrible down the road, and when Bam came back out of breath his bone was gone and Dido nowhere in sight. Bam was angry, and as soon as Dido ran around the house Bam jumped at him.

"You took my bone!" growled Bam. "I didn't," answered Dido, who for the first time saw light in Bam's brown eyes. "I called you to chase Jenkin's wagon down the road," he answered.

Bam didn't believe him because it was such an old trick of Dido's so he growled again, and made a dash at Dido. But Dido slipped into the dog house.

"Come out, you bad pup. I'll teach you not to take my bones. You can never fool me again with your barking. Come out, I say!" growled Bam.

Dido was frightened and hid in the back of the house.

"I've taken them many times, but honest I didn't take the one you just had," he whined.

Bam stationed himself before the door way, daring Dido to come out. Something moved in the grasses along the garden path. Bam pricked up his ears and went over to investigate. To be the big black cat was wrestling with the bone of contention. Bam barked at her, and To be ran up a tree.

"So you're the guilty one! Come on out, Dido, To be had my bone," barked Bam.

Dido stuck his head out the door. He was afraid Bam was trying the same trick on him to give him the promised-bone. Bam, with his jaw chawing on the bone when Dido ventured forth.

"See, I never took it," said Dido with an injured air.

"Well, that's an old trick of yours calling me away when you want what I have. I really should beat you for it once, then you wouldn't think it such a good joke," said Bam. Dido promised he would never do it again if Bam would promise not to beat him.

"You see, when one's in the habit of playing jokes like that they're often times accused of doing things they don't do, and sometimes suffer for another's wrong," said Bam.

Bam saw Dido was frightened, so he didn't jump on him, and from that day on the two dogs took turns sleeping in the back corner of the dog house, and shared each other's dinners. It kept them both busy watching To be, so she wouldn't have a chance to repeat the offence which almost cost the pups their friendship for each other.

RETREAT OF RUSSIAN ARMY TO BE STAYED BY KERENSKY

Will Adopt Stern Measures to Compel Troops to Stand and Face the Foe; War Minister to Confer With Military Leaders

London, July 30.—Having retreated a distance of approximately 100 miles from where Kerensky, the Iron Man of Russia, carried them in his personally conducted drive early in the present month, the Russian army on the centre of the line in East Galicia is again on Russian soil on both sides of the Husiatyn, and is still being followed up by the forces of the Teutonic allies. Likewise the armies to the north and south continue to fall back before the enemy, at a few points only standing to offer a semblance of resistance, and then only for short periods of time. Whenever those of the faithful troops attempt to give battle they are harassed by numerous stronger forces of the Teutons and compelled to give ground, receiving no assistance from their recalcitrant former brothers in arms, whose main effort continues to be to get out of striking distance of the enemy.

Some of Panic. Having rejoined the British armored car headquarters on the 17th inst again for Stanislau on the afternoon of the 20th. Nothing was then known of the rupture of the front at a point only 20 miles distant, on the previous morning. The first report thereof reached Locker Lampion late on the 20th. At Stanislau the rumors began to circulate on the afternoon of the 22nd, that Tarnopol was in danger, but nothing positive was known by the staff. Cherimisor assumed command of the Eighth army that morning. I saw him at noon. He was disquieted at the defections of his own men, but still had not a word of the rupture at the front on the Eleventh army. On the morning of the 23rd the staff had information dispelling any doubt of the magnitude of the catastrophe. My first thought was to rejoin the British section, whose position was extremely perilous. Abandoning all impediments I jumped on the first car going to Buczacz in the hope of meeting the British contingent as it fell back through Podgaje.

At Podgaje I came across our transport and the colonel of the British aviation corps. From them I heard the full story of the disaster. The officers had safely removed their plans or the property aviation section from the zone of the Eleventh army under the full blast of the Russian plane. I had come to Buczacz at full speed. In the afternoon of the 24th I had a scorching sun we literally fought our way, using sticks and first bandishing revolvers at demonstrators, who had repeatedly tried to storm our cars until we got ahead of the route. Then, placing our lorries across the road, we damaged the side of the panic Leavins Buczacz at 5 in the evening, we reached Proskurov.

London, July 30.—The Times correspondent telegraphing from the Russian headquarters under date of the 25th, says that from the words of an officer captured near Brzezany a fortnight ago, we understood the Germans were preparing a bold stroke in conjunction with agents at Petrograd in our armies. "You will see your troops run away when the time comes. We have a walk-over," he declared. Events have fully outdone the prophecy. Lenine and his crew have well earned their pay. The disturbances in Petrograd on the 16 were obviously directed from Berlin, so as to coincide with the German plan. The thunderbolt fell almost on the day when the high command on the front changed hands, and the harvest in Eastern Galicia and Bukovina had been almost garnered.

It was a whole day before news of the crisis in Petrograd reached us, Lenine's agents were acquainted therewith through traitors by wirelessly. They spread the report among troops that Maximalists had control of the government and the war was at an end. The enemy struck at our most sensitive point from the direction of Trembovacz from rail highways, and disuniting the elements of the seventh armies, exposing the right flank of the latter to serious peril. Our line was recaptured on the morning of the 19 at Batkov. The sixth Grenadier division deserted by wholesale and fled. The rupture represented a slight affair, as we had eight divisions in reserve. The staff of the neighboring armies were left in the dark. Korneff realized the danger as great. Batko had to go to Stanislau and transfer his command of the eighth army to Cherimisor. Precious time was wasted in the journeys.
