Simplicity.

Little Lack of Life.
Magnificence
Of house I do not crave,
Nor golden opulence.
Dumb slaves, ten or a score
I would not prefer.
Always I should know fear
Of their like human eyes.
Whore's greedy bag of slush,
To touch, not taste,
I am not anxious for;
Time will I not waste,
But grant me rather, friend,
In humbleness,
To know me in the street,
And feel the sky's caprice.
I would not wish to be
A monarch's courtier,
Nor a monarch's page,
Let them and sweet
Be both near and sweet,
Tender and luminous,
And their deep ministry,
To the wide world's air,
But on the line,
Let me remember these,
And their deep ministry,
EMPEROR OF LIFE.
Little indeed;
Only what great God gives
Still to our human need,
I wish to be still white,
Time to be kind,
To feel Regally
His love and blessing,
And then, 'twixt Life and Death,
To break the bars
Of this mortal coil,
And reach the eternal stars.

House of Assembly.

Press Gallery, House of Assembly,
Halifax, May 28.—The session has reached and passed the century mark of days and even now we cannot see the end. There was very little doing in the house for Tuesday—Monday was a holiday—and the afternoon session on Wednesday was taken up mainly with a discussion on the merits of the agreement made by the government with the Intercolonial Mining Company for the continuance of coal mining at the Acadia mine, Westville, N. S.

Tuesday night, however, the premier essayed to deal with the Daniels Mills timberland scandal. Readers of the daily papers have seen his deliverance before this. Much was expected of Mr. Murray. It was expected by him and by all that he would rise to the occasion and show to the province that he, even in the dying days of his administration, could play the part of a statesman. Those who went to the house to hear a masterful speech went away disappointed.

The issue is a grave one. A minister of the crown is charged with a serious transaction. If the charge is true he should not be in the position he is in today. If the charge bears prima facie evidence of being true the premier should not tolerate him in his cabinet while that charge is hanging over his head. But Premier Murray was not equal to the occasion. His speech last night was a plea for time. He considered the matter a very serious one, serious enough to warrant him in asking the royal commissioner but he refused to ask the attorney general to step down until the commission reported. The Chronicle endorses this action on the part of the Premier by saying that a man is held innocent until proven guilty. This is all very well. But the man who is accused of committing a misdemeanor is not allowed to do as he may, please until he is proven guilty. When Hon. Mr. Emmerson transgressed, Sir Walter Laurier did not put up the plea that he should remain in office until the charges were proven, but he got out of his office by his watery-tongued, intimating that when he came back with unsullied skirts he might get his old portfolio back again.

Mr. Murray's speech last evening lacked fire, lacked sincerity, lacked conviction. He wanted a royal commission to try the case and as the present session is nearing its close there is no hope of a royal commission making a report before next session. It is this was the hope Attorney General Daniels may be able to hold on to the office until the Murray government goes out of power.

Mr. Murray could dissolve the house and go to the people, but it looks as though he wanted to get all there is going in the way of another session, doubtless feeling in his bones that if he manages to get through another session he will be doing remarkably well. So the royal commission is to be appointed and the Murray Government postpones the day of reckoning for another year.

I do not intend to dwell on the merits of the Daniels scandal or the evidence presented to the house, but in passing I may say that no other matter has ever come before the house which carries on its face the evidence of corruption and utter disregard for the rights of the people than this Daniels-Mills scandal.

It is evident that the present government is ready for anything. The legislature forced through the house concerning the Halifax tram company is enough in itself to convince every honest liberal in the province that a change of administration is absolutely essential for the well being of the province. And there is no doubt about this.

The same applies to the Daniels scandal. Liberals do not hesitate to express their condemnation of the whole wretched business. They blame the premier because they saw he knew all about the business and should have taken steps months ago to get rid of the present Attorney General. Had he done so, they argue, the name of liberalism would not now be dragged in the dust.

Hon. Mr. Armstrong's wide tirade has gone the way of all flesh. It is ended. It died prematurely. Mr. Corning has vindicated his position. And the people are pleased.

The redistribution bill has not been introduced, but the report of the committee appointed to consider the matter has been tabled. It gives, or recommends the giving of five seats to Halifax city and county and some of the other counties are recommended for increase.

It is not known if the government will introduce a bill in accordance with the recommendations of the committee or not. This was the one matter of importance spoken of in the speech from the throne. That it is delayed until the dying hours of the legislature shows the dire straits to which the government had been driven.

Most of the supplies have been voted. If the government does not bring in a redistribution bill the chances are that prorogation may come in a few days. No one will welcome it more heartily than the premier. He has had the task of his life. With the handwriting on the wall, eternally staring him in the face, with a rapacious following, with a live and vigorous opposition, his life this session has not been one to envy. The press gallery feels sorry for Mr. Murray. He has been too easy with those who would use him for their own personal ends.

Oh, my dear! gushed Gerlie, 'Have you heard about Maud's bad luck?' 'She took Reggie's engagement ring back to the jeweller's to be valued. Oh, poor Maud!' 'Well, that's nothing!' sneered the other. 'I always do that.' 'Yes, but the jeweller refused to give it back to her. He said Reggie hadn't paid for it.'

Forest Reserves.

A forest reserve is not an area of forest land where no trees whatever are allowed to be cut. The object in setting aside the land for the reserve is not to prohibit cutting altogether, but rather to regulate the cutting and generally to treat the forest so that a continuous crop of timber may be taken off the area, instead of having it cut over once or perhaps twice and then left to waste.

Experience in other lands has demonstrated that such a continuous crop of forest trees can be grown and the setting aside of forest reserves is one of the first steps taken in the introduction of such a policy in this country. Crop after crop can be taken off the same area—of course at widely separated intervals, for a half century is a short period to allow for a crop of timber to mature.

The primary object of a forest reserve is thus to provide for a perpetual supply of timber. Another important object of the reserves is to protect the water supply, both the domestic supply for towns and cities and also the supply to be used for the generation of power. The effect of forests at the headwaters of the streams is to regulate the flow so as to make it constant throughout the year—not a torrent in spring and a nearly-dried-up stream bed in the heat of summer. To be valued as a source for power a stream must furnish a constant and regular supply of water. Very low water in a stream from which a town or city derives its water supply has often meant a great deal of sickness, (perhaps in the form of an epidemic), for the people of that place.

Where the forest is, the snow melts more gradually in spring and the rains of spring and summer soak into the ground, which acts like a sponge, and flow off more gradually than where the forest is removed.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

Making Paper Pulp.

GOVERNMENT WILL TEST NEW METHOD, M. W.

The Dominion Forestry Branch has spared no reasonable expense in equipping its Forest Products Laboratories, recently established at Montreal in co-operation with McGill University, with the most modern and efficient machines for testing the properties and possibilities of Canadian woods. Some native species of trees, little used until now, will be tested to see whether they are suitable for pulp and paper manufacture. For the purpose the largest non-commercial paper machine in the world will be installed. This has the unique feature of being adjustable to the manufacture of all grades of paper.

Detailed records of the process of manufacture of the different grades of paper will be kept. In this Canadian pulp and paper manufacturers by adopting the same methods may achieve similar results.

Another very important feature of the work of these laboratories will be the investigating of various methods of wood preservation. By such processes the life of railway ties, posts, poles and construction timber will be in some cases doubled. It is expected that it will be proved possible to use many of the most common Canadian woods for purposes of which, except for their non-durability, they are admirably adapted. Birch, for instance, treated with creosote or zinc chloride, or with a little of both of these preservatives, makes an ideal railway tie or paving block, being cheap and also very resistant to the wear and tear of traffic.

Still another side of the work will be to develop chemical methods for utilizing the large percentage of wood waste at present resulting from lumbering and milling operations. A circular will soon be issued from the Forestry Branch, Ottawa, treating of chemical methods of wood utilization. Another recent circular describes in detail the purpose of the laboratories and the work to be investigated. John S. Bates, B. A., B. Sc., the Superintendent of the new Forest Products Laboratories in America on the manufacture of pulp and paper, and under his efficient direction these laboratories will, no doubt, amply justify their establishment.

A certain ex-Governor of Texas was extravagantly fond of his dogs. One day he saw his youngest son kick a favorite blooded pup.

'You unmanly young cub! roared the late parent. 'How dare you kick my dog? I'll teach you to behave yourself better, sir!'

When the offender was soundly thrashed the father wiped the perspiration from his forehead.

'Let this be a lesson to you,' he said, 'how to treat my dogs. And now that I think of it, you've been disrespectful to your mother of late, sir.'

Milk Per Acre.

If it may be assumed that the farm of the average factory patron is fairly well adapted to dairying, that the patron himself is inclined towards dairying, rather than, let us say, fruit growing, and that his cows are fairly good, then it will be of interest to note how the farm is made to respond to the dairy inclination.

There are frequently noticed yields as low as 250 pounds of milk per acre cultivated including pasture, but some good patrons obtain 750 and 800 pounds per acre. Even this is little enough, for there are plenty of authentic records of 1,000 and 2,000 pounds of milk per acre. It should not be extremely difficult to obtain more than this, even 250 to 300 pounds.

This latter figure is a long way ahead of the yields already mentioned of only 250 pounds which may be found on many a so-called dairy farm in Canada, and is indicative of the possibilities in reach of the factory patron who is really anxious to attain first rank.

It is questionable if the average yield per acre in Ontario is much more than 600 pounds of milk. If loyal, whole-hearted support is given to the national industry of dairying, the farm and the dairy herd will be made far more productive. Great help will be derived by keeping individual records of each cow, because the old established complacent 'average' cow has no intention whatever of assisting the average patron to get 3,000 pounds of milk from the average acre. The first necessary step is to know for certain one may aim with hope at $30 or $40 per acre.

'Hall—What are you doing now?' 'Gall—Oh, I'm making a house to show canvas to ascertain why people don't want to buy a new patent clothes wringer.'

'There's a man just fallen off the pier and I think he's your husband.' 'Well, we'll soon know. If he doesn't come up he is probably Jim; he can't swim.'

'Mose,' asked the magistrate, 'what made you hit the man?' 'Well, Judge,' answered the old negro earnestly, 'he called me a woolly-headed fool. Wouldn't you hit a man what called you a woolly-headed fool?'

'No one could call me that,' the Judge answered tolerantly, 'I'm not woolly-headed.'

'Well, den,' persisted the old da'yer, 'ef he call you the kin' of fool you is.'

Checking Speculation.

Under recent legislation the oil traders of Alberta are not allowed to sell highly speculative shares in Manitoba. Prospectuses must be examined and approved before shares can be put on the market.

It is said that we should not interfere with 'business'. But 'business' will interfere with ignorant and credulous investors.

However valuable the oil properties in Alberta may prove to be, much of the money now thrown about in reckless speculation will never bring any return.

There have been mergers in Canada that involved flagrant robbery of the people. Upon millions of stock that represent no actual investment the public is required to pay dividends.

There will always be unwise investments. There are failures as honorable as successes. There is much legitimate land dealing. Not every mine that fails to produce stands for unfair treatment of investors.

VERAAX. The Menace of the Fly. It has now been established that flies are not only a nuisance, but that they are very active distributors of disease.

While by preference they infest places where filth abounds, they are of ubiquitous habit, and pass cheerfully from the manure heap, the privy, the garbage pail or the sick room to get the first taste of food intended for our dining tables, to deposit on it such germs of such diseases as typhoid fever, tuberculosis, infantile diarrhoea, etc.

The chief breeding places of flies are collections of garbage and manure—particularly horse manure. In such places they multiply with great rapidity. Each adult female fly deposits several hundred eggs, which pass through the cycle from egg to fly within eight or ten days.

Our houses (particularly the dining room and kitchen, and all sick rooms) and the faces and bodies of infants should be protected against flies by suitable screening. Every fly should be killed on sight. But the principal means of controlling the fly pest is by doing away with the breeding places.

Particular care should be given to the removal of stable manure, which, during warm weather, should under no conditions be allowed to remain at a less distance than a quarter of a mile from a human habitation. Garbage, contents of privy vaults, and refuse of all kinds should be similarly removed if the preferable destruction by fire cannot be carried out.

It is important to carry out these precautions from the very commencement of warm weather, and to persist in them throughout the fly season. The presence of flies indicates the presence of filth or insanitary conditions in the neighborhood, and is a certain sign that a cleaning up is necessary.

Overwork and Worry.

A FRUITFUL SOURCE OF BROKEN DOWN CONSTITUTIONS.

A little worry does a great deal of harm. Overwork and worry gives rise to headaches, nervousness, weak back, lack of interest in your work, indigestion and sometimes a complete breakdown of the nervous system, leading to paralysis.

Mrs. J. C. Chapman, Oshesee, Ont., says: 'I became completely run-down and my nervous system shattered from overwork and worry. I always felt tired and exhausted and slept badly at night. I tried several medicines but did not find the hoped for relief. Then I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I took them regularly for several months and they restored me to perfect health.

These Pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by writing The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Fenian Bounty.

Ottawa, June 3.—The resolution extending the time for making payments to Fenian veterans to July 31, 1915 had a narrow escape from death yesterday at the hands of the senate. Senator Murphy moved that unless the bill were ready to pass, it should be referred to a committee.

Particularly noticeable was the action of Senator Power, who was in the chamber during the discussion, but slipped out as the division was called. Senator Dennis is confined to his house with typhoid fever, but was paired with Senator McCreary.

Patrons of the motion picture performances at the Opera House enjoyed a rare treat this week when the remarkable production, 'Sixty Years a Queen' was presented. Good success were present both on Monday afternoon and evening and the program as presented was greatly enjoyed.

It is important to carry out these precautions from the very commencement of warm weather, and to persist in them throughout the fly season.

In our first week conveying the burning of Mr. George A. Pratt's barn we made an error in saying the fire was caused by an overturned lantern. The origin of the fire is now known. Mr. Pratt is of the opinion that it was either a case of incendiaryism or that it was caused by children. The barn was locked at the time and when visited by Mr. Pratt, less than an hour before it was discovered, there was no appearance of fire. There was no insurance on the building.

A Horrible Disaster.

Another awful disaster has taken place on the sea. A thrill of horror went through Canada, Friday morning when the news was flashed from Father Point that the Empress of Ireland, a C. P. R. ocean liner, had gone down and hundreds of lives had been snuffed out as a result. No greater disaster has taken place on the sea since the loss of the White Star liner Titanic, which occurred two years ago on April 15th. While more lives were lost when the ill-lated Titanic went down yet the loss of the Empress of Ireland in some respects surpasses that of the Titanic. The Titanic rammed an iceberg and some time elapsed before she went to the bottom giving those on board a much longer time to escape from their awful fate, but in the case of the recent disaster those on board of the ill-fated vessel were not given ample time to make their escape, as we are told that the vessel sank a very few minutes after being rammed by the Norwegian vessel. The disaster took place at a time when the passengers had retired for the night, and did not have time to realize that a disaster had occurred when they were engulfed in the churning waters of the Gulf of St. Lawrence. The calamity has cast a gloom over the civilized world and words cannot convey any conception of the feeling of horror caused by the tragic news.

In looking over the list of survivors it will be noticed that many of the crew were rescued and that the majority of those lost were persons who were taking passage to the Mother Country. The fact that many of the crew were rescued can easily be seen through, for at that time they would be on duty, while the passengers would have retired to their berths and so little time elapsed after the Empress came in contact with the other vessel that they would not be able to get to the decks and would be trapped in their death trap like rats.

Boy Scouts. The two important events in scout activities of late have been the Fishing Tournament held on May 25th and the trials for the Y. M. C. A. proficiency medal held on Wednesday, June 3rd. On the 25th boys scattered far and near over the country, some covering a distance of over 50 miles on foot.

The catches, with one exception, were not very heavy but large in numbers. Arthur Brown won the championship and first prize, a fishing rod. Walter Johnson came second, winning a base-ball bat, beating the third man, Fred Herbin, by the small margin of one ounce. John Crowell, with a salmon weighing over ten lbs., would have been entitled to first place, but he unfortunately accepted a "lift" on the road and was ruled out.

The trial on Wednesday last brought out most of the boys. The scheme as laid down by the Y. M. C. A. is most interesting, and it is hoped that a detailed account will appear in THE ACADIAN in the near future.

The running bar was secured by Walter Johnson, too yds in 11 1/2. Jumping bar by Donald Grant and Arthur Tingley. Bar for base-ball throw by Walter Johnson, Stanley Morrison, Clarence Waifs, Gilbert Westerbe, Robert Cook and Rod Angus.

It is hoped that a Scout Field Day may be held on Labor Day, Sept. 7th, when the trials for these medals will be completed.

Asst. Scout Master Leader Thurber and Patrol Leader Stan. Morrison have been recommended to a special bar for unselfish service in work among the boys. Regular meeting with drill this evening. Saturday at 2 p. m. the finals at base ball between the Otters and Foxes. Saturday, June 13th, a tramp to Black River Falls, shooting and fire lighting practice.

T. L. HARVEY Letters to the Editor. To the Editor of THE ACADIAN: Sir,—The subscribers to the old Wolfville Cemetery fund may wish to know what has been done with the funds. Seventy dollars was subscribed last year for the purpose of erecting a fence around the grounds. A seal Maritima wire fence has been constructed around the three sides of the grounds at a cost to the fund of about $60.00. There still remains of the fund in the hands of the Town Clerk the sum of $10. The front of the grounds is yet exposed and it is the desire on the part of many interested in the cemetery to build a good substantial concrete wall on the road line. This work will cost about $150. The cemetery committee trust a sufficient interest will be shown in the work to bring about the desired result. G. E. DEWITT, Chairman of Committee.

Good Fruit. The most successful fruit growers of the Annapolis Valley have for years followed the practice of applying Muriate of Potash mixed with Basic Slag and Bone Meal, or other Phosphatic fertilizer, to their orchards, depending on a crop of clover to supply the necessary Nitrogen and Humus. There is no doubt that the adoption of this ideal system is directly responsible to the remarkable color and quality of Nova Scotia apples, which features have gained for them so many awards and established their enviable reputation in the markets of Britain. We can supply you with all high grade fertilizer materials, Potash, Nitrate of Soda, Acid Phosphate, Basic Slag, etc., at lowest prices. You can mix these yourself at home and save 25 to 40 per cent. in fertilizer cost.

CAMPBELLVILLE, Ont., May 5th, 1913.

Boys on the Street.

An investigator who reviewed the brief careers of the four gunmen who were electrocuted recently for the murder of Ruesenthal, the New York gambler, found one experience common to the four. All had been educated on the streets. From the street they graduated to the pool rooms when they were old enough, and none of them was far advanced in his teens before he had displayed some of the evil tendencies that go with a street education. Of late years organized society has come to recognize that it owes a duty to children by providing them with beautiful playgrounds, but there are playgrounds, and since the four gunmen were children a dozen years ago they had the opportunity of using these playgrounds. The mere buying of play rounds will not keep the boys off the street any more than the opening of tea rooms will keep them off their own streets. They are frequented by hundreds of boys who invade them first for business purposes, and it is only a short time before they learn all that vile and coarse life. Probably it is necessary for these boys to be on the streets, as they are in many cases the chief support of a widowed mother. To deprive them of the right of frequenting the streets at night might be to impose a hardship in many a home. Yet by permitting them to run the streets at all hours, to congregate with older boys whose own influence upon them may be a depraving one, is to take a risk.

Classroom Howlers.

The editor of the University Correspondent, recently offered a prize of one guinea for a collection of the choicest 'howlers' or blunders of the schoolboy. A selection from those sent is given:

A Sailor's Yarn.

Some men in a public house were listening stories to pass away the time. They had all had a yarn at it except an old sailor, who had remained silent all the time, until pressed by the others to spin a yarn. He began:

"I was once in a dreadful storm. All the provisions were washed overboard. I was very ill, and ate nothing for four days; at the end of that time I began to feel hungry, and the steward gave me beef, chicken, port wine and eggs."

"But you said all the provisions were washed overboard. Where did the beef come from?"

"From the bullocks' (bulwarks), said the old sailor."

"And where did you get the chicken from?"

"From the hatch."

"And the port wine?"

"From the port hole."

"And the eggs?"

"Eggs?" said the sailor. I didn't say eggs did I?"

"Oh, yes you did, said the men. We've caught you now."

The old sailor thought he was caught, and had to consider. At last he said: "Oh, yes, I did have eggs. The captain ordered the ship to lay to, and he gave me one."

He—Well, don't I want you?

She—Oh, George, I am yours.

Continuous Efforts.

Genius is only the power of making continuous efforts. The line between failure and success is so fine that we scarcely know when we pass it; so fine that we are often on the line and do not know it. How many a man has thrown up his hands at a time when a little more effort, a little more patience would have achieved success.

After he had kissed her and pressed her rosy cheek against his, and patted her round chin, she drew back and asked—"George, do you shave your self?"

"Yes," he replied. "I thought so," she said. "Your face is the roughest I ever—" Then she stopped; but it was too late, and he went away with a cold, heavy lump in his breast.

"I don't seem to be able to say the right thing to women," said a young man confided to us the other day, "and that's why I don't shine in their society. I'll tell you an instance of it. Not long ago I met a woman I hadn't seen for years, and I could see that she was trying to keep young. So I thought I'd say a graceful thing to her."

"You carry your age remarkably well," says I.

"Well, the moment I said it I could see that I was in the wrong. She was looking chilly and getting red so I said:

"Don't mind my little jokes—I never mean what I say. As a matter of fact, you don't carry your age a bit well."

"And then she killed me with a haughty look, and called away with out saying good bye. Say, how should I have put it?"

REMARKABLE CASE OF Mrs. HAM

Declares Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound Saved Her Life and Sanity.

Shamrock, Mo.—"I feel it my duty to tell the public the condition of my health before using your medicine. I had falling, inflammation and congestion, Fema's weakness, pain to both sides, backaches and bearing down pains, was short of memory, nervous, impatient, passed sleepless nights, and had neither strength nor energy. There was always a fear and dread in my mind, I had cold, nervous, weak spells, hot flashes over my body. I had a pain in my right side that was so sore that I could hardly bear the weight of my clothes. I tried medicines and doctors, but they did me little good, and I never expected to get out again. I got Lydia E. Finkham's Vegetable Compound and Blood Purifier, and I certainly would have been in grave or in no system if your medicine had not saved me. Now I can work all day, sleep all at night, eat anything I want, have no hot flashes or weak, nervous spells. All pains, aches, furs and drags are gone. My home, children and husband are no longer neglected, so I am almost entirely free of the bad symptoms I had before taking your remedies. I had no measure and happiness in my home."

Stern George Washington.

Etiquette at the White House has never been so severe as in the days of Washington. The first American president had a code of observance drawn up, with which all persons coming into contact with him were expected to make themselves acquainted. He excited well nigh as much deference as royalty. At receptions he greeted all comers with a stately bow but never deigned to shake hands, and nobody was allowed to address him until he took the initiative. The gentlemen who in attendance were expected to see these rules observed. Washington never visited a private house, and at his own dinner parties the protocol stipulated that the president does not remain at the table drinking after the cloth is removed.—London Chronicle.

It is Whispered:

That an old story is being revived of a prayer meeting held for the benefit of a poor fellow's relief who had broken his leg. While Deacon Brown was praying, a tall fellow with an ox-goad knocked at the door, saying: "Father couldn't come but sent his prayers in the cart." They consisted of potatoes, beef, pork, corn and eggs.

That some folks find it hard to live within their income; but they would find it mighty hard to live without it.

That's so, my boy, there are one hundred millions of people in this country, and you are only one of them—just one! Think of that once in a while, when you get to wondering what would happen to the world if you should die.—Es.

Western Conceits.

In a coincidence with the general custom in Canada the name, Albe, hitherto been abbreviated, the letters 'Alta' being used. But now it has come from the prairie province. According to the view of these westerners no abbreviation should be used for the name of so great a province as Alberta. The post office department has accordingly given orders that in all postal documents the name must be written in full.

This exhibition of western conceits is about the most foolish yet and we fear in these hurried times many will still abbreviate the name even at the risk of wounding the pride of the Albertians.

A clergyman, taking occasional duty for a friend in one of the inner land churches of a remote part of England, was greatly scandalized on observing the old verger, who had been collecting the offertory, abstract a half crown before presenting the plate at the altar rail. After service he called the old man into the vestry and told him with emotion that his crime had been discovered. The verger looked puzzled. Then a sudden light dawned on him.

"Why, sir, you don't mean that old half crown of mine? Why O, you 'fied off' with the last 15 year!"

A clergyman in P. E. Island some years ago, when preaching on the sweetness of home and duties of husbands, said that old married men should kiss their wives as they did when they were a year or two married.

Meeting the preacher the next day the old man said, "It's no good, preacher."

"What isn't?" asked the preacher.

"Well," said the old man, "when I went home after the sermon last night and kissed my wife she said, 'What's gone wrong with you, you old fool!'"

A little boy of 5 was invited to a children's party. The next day he was giving an account of the fun, and said that each of the little visitors had contributed either a song, a recitation, or music to the pleasure of the other.

"Oh, poor little Jack!" said his mother. "How unfortunate you could do nothing!"

"Yes, I could, mother," replied the young hopeful. "I stood up and said my prayers!"

"In China, my dear friends," said the absent minded missionary, "human life is regarded as of slight value. Indeed, if a rich Chinaman is condemned to death he can easily hire another to die for him; and I believe many poor fellows get their living by thus acting as substitutes."

RED ROSE TEA "is good tea"

Peep again in your oven. See those loaves, those pleasing loaves you've made. How fat—rounded—substantial. No, they won't fall when colder. Because the Manitoba strength that is in FIVE ROSES will hold them up till eaten. This sturdy elastic gluten has kept them from dropping flat in the oven. No mighty holes 'twixt crust and crumb—neither. All risen evenly—to stay risen. Never heavy—sodden—soggy—indigestible. Yours are the FIVE ROSES loaves—Crispily and appetizing of crust. Golden brown and tender. Spongy of crumb—light as thistledown. FIVE ROSES helps a lot. Try it soon.
