THURSDAY MORNING, JUNE 21, 1883.

LONDON, June 19—The story published in a Toronto paper regarding the suits arising from the recent masonic lottery created very little interest here. The parties interested, on being interviewed by the Globe correspondent, said they did not wish to make any statement, not knowing the effect it would have on their trials. Certain pleas have been set up in defence, and they prefer that any further developments take place in the regular way. They disclaim all allegation of fraut, but profess to be confident of carrying the issue on the merits of the defence.

But the London Free Press though an apologist of the whole lottery, was more en-terprising. It interviewed manager Brun-

The facts furnished by Mr. Strong, in the above contents, were tanknown to every director of the content of the content of the subsequences, were tanknown to every director of the content of the president and beard, that he had no interest in the scheme other than as manager for them, were accepted by all as incontrovertible. The accusations of the World (which has been the Fenton-Thompson organ from first to last) were received with considerable incredulity by members of the board in this ecity, and not until Manager Brunton was interviewed regarding the matter was any light throwa upon the replication of Mr. Strong. Mr. Brunton's statement of the affair is as follows: "I received $50 from my brother Wm. A. Brunton of Chicago, with the request that I should purchase a book of tickets. I did so, and, in order that no suspicion should attach to me in the matter, and at the same time meet the wishes of the directors that I should be perfectly uninterested in the sale or purchase of tickets, I handed the book to Mr. W. T. Strong, a personal friend of mine, in whom I had implicit confidence, and asked him to keep and take care of them for my brother Wi Ham, Mr. Strong did as I request ed, and out until 8 o'clock of the evening of the drawing did I know the numbers of the tickets held by Mr. Strong. I did not interfere, in any way whatever, with those who were appointed by the audience to draw either numbers or prizes, and could not, if I had been inclined to do so, have arranged, by any means, with either or all of them that a certain number and prize should be drawn at any time. This fact, all who were present and witnessed the drawing will cheerfully testify to. The allegations that I isau die 100, 000 tickets, manipulated the d'awing of the prize, so the large audience to appoint twelve refer es, &c., are so unfounded as i. is possible to imagine, and the World writer knew them to be so when he penned them. The World reiterates now all it said before: it believes that the lottery was a swindle; that Manager Brunton, out of his own mouth, is shown to have taken a most discreditable par; and that "gigantic rascality" characterized the whole affair. The Iffect of War Between the Iwo

Nations.
Paris, June 20.—In an interview here yesterday Marquis Tsong said that should France force China into war it is scarcely possible that, with the best intentions in the world, the Chinese could make any distinction between nationalities. The terrible consequences of war would fall upon all to old soldiers, the country would have been western foreigners alike. Englishmen, Frenchmen, Americans and Germans would all be placed in the same category by the people of China. The secretary of the Chinese embassy stated that none of their official despatches concerning Tonquin nad voy is having much the best of it, and there is little wonder his logical and conclusive

There was a grand military demonstration and salutes were fired. Eight thousand people were present. Sena-tor Hampton delivered the memorial tor Hampton delivered the memorial oration. He paid a glowing tribute to the oration. He paid a glowing tribute to the faith, devotion and patience of the southern women. They would always repel with scorn and indignation the imputation that the monuments to the confederate dead marked the place where traitors sleep. He said "we of the south were neither traitors nor rebels, nor was our war in any proper sense a rebellion. It was strictly a civil war growing out of conflicting interests and the different constructions of the country." He by opposing sections of the country." He congratulated the country that the future was auspicious, that the scars of war were being obliterated by time and demanded people do justice to the motives that in-spired their conduct. Dunn overheard the remark and snswered, 'You make a name by —." The concluding words are too indecent for utterance. An hour later Dunn saw three or four operators on Vine street and knocked one of them down. The one who used the offensive remark spoke up, "You've hit the wrong man. I'm the man you're after. Will somebody lend me a pop?" Here bystanders prevented further disturbance.

yesterday, announced to the members of the press who are in his confidence—The World press who are in his confidence—The World man is one of them—that he had just received a letter from our beloved police magistrate, who is now circulating through the cool breezes and summer sighs of the contintal Europe. The letter was dated at the Hotel Quirinale, in the eternal city, and bore date of May 31. Says the colonel: the Hotel Quirinale, in the eteral city, and bore date of May 31. Says the colonel:

"I arrived in Liverpool on May 8, went to Lendon next day, left London on the 12th for Harwich, arrived at Rotterdam on the 12th for Harwich, arrived at Rotterdam on the 13th, and the Hague the same day. I stopped there till the morning of the 15th, when we went to Amsterdam, where we spent the day, then traveled all night to Berlin, arriving at 7 a. m. on the 16th. I remained there oae day, when I met my friend Col. Brix, who translated my history of cavily into German. He took me out to see the troops drilling. I saw about 7000 all told 1300 or 1500 being cavairy. I was much pleased with these, especially with the squadron of the Body Guard of the emperer of Germany. Col. Brix introduced me to the commanding officer, and we had an interesting confas on military matters. From Berlin I went to Dreaden, then to Prague, afterwards to Vienna, and thence to Munich, after which I visited the Third Regiment of Cavairy at Freising, and from the marked kindness of their treatment of me you wentld imagine they all intended coming to Toronto on a spree, and expected to face the Beak. As I am off on a holiday, you may imagine I am not thinking much of courts, er evidence, or casee cither, but knowing I have left affairs in good hands, I am taking things pretty easy. I was all through the ruins of Pompeli the other day. It is wonderfolly interesting—a city as it was almost two thousand years ago. The shops, the houses, the signs, the jars of wine, the ruits in the pavements caused by wheels are and agres gone by, the sterping stones to cross the steets, the ha.h., etc., are all there as they were in the says of old. One of the most striking things I noticed was the plumbing work. You can see it there in perfection, with the taps for turning on the water just as they were before the Fall, and as good as ever, certainly much better than a great deal of the pumbing done in Toronto, if we are to judge from the samples about the police court. SATAN REPROVING SIN.

Usurpation," the Globe yesterday was especially severe on what it calls the new drag-net clause in Sir Charles Tupper's act of last session, by which provincial railways are brought under dominion control. We

"It takes away from under provincial control a number of roads that have been heavily subsidized by the province and its municipalities, and that never would have municipalities, and that never would have been projected, not to say completed, without such aid. To legislation of this kind, which is so uncalled for that it can best be described by the epithet "insulting," we have objected, and will continue to object. And when the people of Ontario come to realize how in railway matters they are tied hand and foot just as much as the people of Manitoba are, they will be unworthy of the name of freemen if they do not assert their right to do what they please with their own. Heretofore the building of competing railways in the Northwest has been blocked by an indefensible exercise of the veto power; hereafter the thing can be more simply managed by the operation of this new drag-net clause, which will take the roads when built ont of the hands of the people who build them, and virtually hand them over to the tender mercies of the monopoly they are intended to counteract."

tion against the base tories, who would which the people have built and paid for. But it is still wofully incomplete without something which we have to add, therefore let us supply the omission. Among other local roads which were built in great part with the people's money are the following. The first column of figures shows the given by municipalities:

But we really cannot see The official statement from which these figures are taken makes no mention of the Toronto and Ottawa among the subsidized roads; but it strikes us that the Midland system, now practically part and parcel of the Grand Trunk, includes some lines er branches not above named, which have been aided with public money. However, for our present purpose we have already two millions of public money, voted to certain roads, which have since been gobbled up by the Grand Trunk. Let it be inquired, now, who did the gobbling, and who helped it on? Was it the dominion government, Sir John Macdonald, or Sir Charles Tupper? No, it was none of these. The deed was done by the honest, reform government of Mr. Mowat, in full power and control in this province of Ontario. Mr. Pardee, as chairman of the railway committee, "bossed the job," while the Mulland amalgamation bill was being pushed through. The Globe itself aided and abetted, and Globe directors took a very active part in the whole business, from first to last. We call this a remarkable case of "Satan reproving sin."

Mr. Paton, cashier of the custom house, has shown us a copy of The Constitution, published by William Lyon Mackenzie at Toronto on Wednesday, January 11, 1837. The paper contains one of Dr. Rolph's great speeches on the clergy reserves, besides other flaming political utterances. The advertisements are very interesting. A house at the corner of York and Hospital (now Richmond) streets built by Major Patton (father of the present collector) is advertised to let. It had a "spacious garden filled with currants, raspberries, gooseberries, grapes and choice fruit trees," and being the most active politician of the day and editor of The Constitution, was also up to his eyes in other business. He was agent for the penting of the nouse just referred to. He was arranging for the publication of a Canadian edition of the Holy Bible which, however, he was compelled to delay for a time owing to his contract for the government printing which claimed precedence. Mr. Postmaster Patteson, if he turns up the Constitution, will learn that in those days there his predecessor, James S. Howard, advertised the postoffice open on Sundays from 9 to 10,a.m. Among those who acted as agents for the Constitution (good radicals you may be sure), were John Lesslie, P. M. Dundas, (he died the other day); W. S. Conger, Cobourg; John Cawthra, Newmarket; Stephen Richards, Brockville; Chas. Durand, Hamilton John Montgomery, hotel, Yonge street Sam. Lount, Holland Landing. Perhaps the most readable and picturesque advertisement is the following, which we give entire:

OAKVILLE HOUSE,

the United States is the New Orleans Times-Democrat. Its principal proprietor is Major E. A. Burke, a gentleman of indefatigable energy and great enterprise. Thinking that southern interests were not sufficiently well represented, he conceived the idea of running several papers in affiliation, as it were, with his New Orleans journal. With this object in view he approached Jay Gould and made a bid for the New York World. The latter promised him the refusal of the paper, but, instead of fulfilling his promise, sold to Joseph Pulitzer of St. Louis, the present owner of our namesake. Major Burke is not a man to be thwarted and so has determined to start a daily paper on his own account in New York, which is to make its appearance about Jan. 1, 1884, and which, while being a thorough newspaper in all that the name implies, shall resent in its editorial columns the inter-Ontario government, the second the amount fully than they have ever been before. If the South had more men like Major Burke, it would speedily regain the place it held before the late war, and in the tariff question and other matters directly affecting it, would obtain more consideration in congress than it does at present.

I would earnestly press all who desire the continued existence of our confederation to think of these matters. Whether a conservative or a reform local government should, at one time or another, be in power, it would be very injurious to the people, very hampering and annoying to that government, to find itself deprived of its powers, and these exercised elsewhere. In their efforts to preserve these just now, the reform body should be, firespective of party, assisted by all good citizens. For party, assisted by all good citizens. For party, assisted by all good citizens. Toronto, June 20, 1883. THE INADEQUACY OF THE ENGLISH

SIR: Mr. Houston's letter in your issue o always been regarded as an erratic genius, Tuesday, June 5, is so excellent, both in them he is prepared to go as far as the paper of that date and give it an attentive perusal. The minds of many, however, need preparing for it. They are indifferent to the subject, because having long since got over their own early difficulties, they do not now notice them, and are unconscious of the strange absurdities that exist from New York of the dynamiters tried and convicted in London. The following testimission I will remind them of a few of Perhaps there never was a perfect alphabet of any language. To be so it should contain a letter for each sound in the language, and in its practical application each letter should represent its own sound only. Our own language contains, say forty elementary sounds, while we have only twenty-three effective letters, c, q and e being redundant. So that seventeen of our simple sounds have no special letters. These are mostly vowels. The most natural way of perfecting the alphabet, everybody will say, would have been to invent seventeen additional letters In applying has no other associates in London than the Irish patriots. His reoms were often their meeting-place. Plans suggested by him have been carried out by them, and Mrs. Boucicault declares that if the British government ever succeeds in establishing the identity and seizing the person of the real No. 1, Mr. Boucicault will not be very far off at that moment."

Seventeen additional letters. In applying such an alphabet, all that would be necessary in writing a word would be to use those letters which represent the simple sounds heard in the word, Nothing could be so simpler. But what have we done? Speaking broadly we have twelve simple vowel seunds—six long and six corresponding short ones—as heard in the following words, viz: palm, pat, mate, net, feet, fit, nought, not, note, nut, pool, pull; and four dipthongs as heard in the words, sy, by, boy, now, new. For the representation of boy, now, new. For the representation of these seventeen vowel sounds we have only a, e, i, o, and u Failing the completion of the alphabet there are several ways of meeting the difficulty. One would be to let one letter serve for three or four sounds, distinguishing between them by discritic marks placed over the letter. If this had been view on either side, I am sure no one, who has during the last session at Ottawa, observed how decidedly powerful railway associations have in fact directed the legislation of the country, can avoid being fully aware of the method by which this commanding influence is obtained in large general assemblies such as that referred to. The members come from widely distant and widely different localities. On many questions their interests are not common, on many they are totally opposite. In such an assembly general interests are not always safe, and local ones never.

Let anyone think over for himself the legislation—or lack of legislation—on two very important railway matters last session, the railway commission and the Toronto Esplanade bills. Whatever may be his opinion of the merits of these bills he will be certain on one point, namely, that the railways commanded the house, and commanded it largely by the aid of members whose local interests would not be interested for the first time we see the Suppose that for the first time we see the Suppose that for the first time we see the Suppose that for the first time we see the Suppose that for the first time we see the same. The curse, which was measured with a see I tape on the ice and winter, is said to be three miles in leading to a foot, and his been market wit, buoys during its whole leagth, thus giving the oarrowen processes to get out of the course; and the general public no reason to doubt the correctness of the recount fahe ime is properly taken. There are but few sease left now on the grand stands, and it is estimated that the races will be witnessed by fully twenty thousand people, this being the first opposituative ever given here to see the clampion of the world row a race. Good weather and amooth wat r are all that is now asked for to make this regatate one of the most successful ever held in the United States.

Young or Old Marcs for Breeding.

To the Editor of The World.

Sin: There is not much in this controversy, which you say is exciting turf-circles in England. which you say is exciting turt-circles in Eng and.
The instances adduced of young fresh mares throwing winners can be matched by as many illustrations of the reverse. Few anim ds have ever been on the turf so long or won as many races as Beeson the turf so long or won as many races as Beeswing. She was put to the stud at 11, and threw Newminster to Touchstone at 15, a colt good enough to win the Leger and to be the sire of Hermit. In fact, except the London masonic lottery, there is none so uncertain as that of breeding for githe turf Statistics are absolutely valueless.

Count Lehndorf quotes Caller Ou, as the successful foal of a young m.re. Granted, but what has he to say to this very Caller Ou's son Roysterer, whe this other day won the City and Suburban, though the old mare was 30 when she dropt him to Cremorne? If I had time and you had space I could necession; but to show the absurdity of any absolute necessions, I will take a few at haphazard. Bend or (Derby) from Rough Ro-e at 12. Traisar (he his thorse in training) from Thrift at 13, Low and Chief from Bathi de at 20, Rosebery (4und victor at Newmarket) from Ladylike at 14, St. Blaize (Derby) from Fuses at 13, Robert the Devil from Cast Off at 11, Sefton (Derby) from Lady Sefton at 14, Placida (Oaks) from Pietas at 18, Wheel of Fortune from Q. Bertha at 16, Apology (Leger) from Mandragora at 11, Beaudesert (Middle Park Plate) from Sea Gull at 11, Prince Charlle (2000 gs.) from Eastern Princess at 11, Thurio (Grand Prix) from Verona at 21. Camballo (2000 gs.) from Little Lady at 14, etc.

Were I to go further some wiscare might be found arguing that a mare must be in her teens before she can throw a winner. I will only add that in America the instances of old mares producing winners are quite as frequent. The English borses quoted above are all highly distinguished animals in the modern turf gallery.

At the Wicket. EAST TORONTO C. C. V. UPPER CANADA COLLEGE. This match took place on the college grounds yester-day in presence of quite a number of spectators, and resulted in favor of the college by 31 runs Scores— U. C. C. 64, East Toronto C. C. 33. Umpires—W. C. Coldham for U. C. C., G. N. Morrison for E. T. C. C.

Coldham for U. C. C., G. N. Morrison for E. T. C. C.
East Toronto went first to the bat, sending in as their representatives Messrs. H. K. Cockin and F.
Harley opposed to the bowling of Messrs. Creara and Montgomery; the worthy captain (F. Harley) of the East Torontos misjudged his first ball, which was an easy one to the cfi, and sent it skying into Brcck's hands at cover point. G. G. S. Lindsay was the next man in, and he duplicated the example of his chief, being caught out first ball in the same manner and by the same fielder. Wickets then fell rapidly, Creelman being top scorer for the East Toronto's with 9 to his credit. Creara and Essou bowled well for the college, whilst the fielding of Martin at point and G. Pardee at long off was very creditable.
The only stand made by the college was by Brock and Montgomery, who played fine cricket for their respective scores of 28 and 22. Brock showed his old form of two summers age, hitting and cutting very prettily; his square leg hit for four out of the grounds being warnly applanded. Montgomery showed good steady cricket, and took the hit of the day, a seven to square leg, the ball going right across the fi-ld into the ground in front of the principal's residence. If this batsman would only use a little more freedom and cut right out from the shoulder he would make a very good cricketer, as it is he is by fong odds the best bat on the college team.
Mr. Smith, the college captain, along with Mr.

The Gas Stove

The reduction in the price of gas for ooking purposes has had a very marked effect in increasing the number of gas stoves in the houses of the city. The company have been as busy as they possibly could be in putting in stoves ever since the reduction was made. It is only now that the economic and labor saving advantages of the stove are becoming normally known and the stove are becoming normally known as the stove are stored to the stove are stored to the store are becoming popularly known; and once known the article seems bound to take the place of the cumberous range in households where economy, cleanliness and despatch are sought for. The Altered Bank-Noter Committed.

The young and good-looking married woman, Ellen Saunders, held on several bank notes, was sent for trial to the criminal court by Ald. Baxter yesterday. Eliza Gorman swore that she recognized the prisoner as the same person who had about a year ago purchased goods from her and presented a five-dollar bill, which was afterwards found to be "begue". She received wards found to be "bogus." She preserved the bill, which was produced in court as evidence against the prisoner. St, Phillip's Church Garden Party. The strawberry festival and garden party given by the ladies of St. Phillip's church last night in the Adelaide street rink was a successful and pleasant affair. The rink was brilliantly illuminated with the Fuller to beautify the scene. At 8 o'clock the throng began to circle around to tuneful music. Flowers, ice cream and strawberries were disposed of rapidly, with much profit to the ladies.

CONFEDERATION LIFE ASSOCIATION.

President—SIR W. P. HOWLAND, C.B. K.C.M.G. Vice Presidents—HON. WM. McMASTER and WM. ELLIOT, Esq. The profits for the five years to the 31st Dec., 1881, were distributed during 1882, and were eminently satisfactory to our policyholders.

The surplus over all liabilities at the 31st Dec., 1882, the first year of the current quipquenium, was as follows:

uipquenium, was as losses own under the Company's own valuation of the Policy and Annuity $ 62,889.87 obligations obligations.

Surplus under the valuation of Prof. Cherriman, Superintendent of Insurances.

Surplus under the valuation of Mr. S. Homans, on the standard for the State of New York. 75,053 0 102,633.8 If policy holders are safe in the companies which merely conform to the requirements of a fixed standard, it is evident that the

of a nxed standard, it is evident since the policyholders of this association are most thoroughly protected.

This association holds the highest reserve of any Canadian company. R. S. BAIRD, J. K. MACDONALD, City Agent. 2 Managing Director. Before You Get Injured Procure an Accident Policy from the London Guarantee & Accident Co.,
