QUEBEC, SATURDAY, MARCH, 4 1876.

PRICE FIVE CENTS.

COCKERS LOOK OUT

There is to be a grand cockfight on Monday night between a Penoup owned by red top Brady, the second vice-president of the Total abstinence society and a Black-red owned by G. T. Phillips boss plumber of John street.

Times must be hard down about Munro street when poor John has to go out collecting funds for the stakes which are heavy being tenpence halfpenny. He says he will go bets himself any one wishing to help him can leave their mits at No. 4 Fire station in the Palais.

And G. F.'s apprentices had better look out and not give him a chance to dock anything off them as he intends to go the whole stakes himself.

We can promise all lovers of the sport two hours' side splitting laughter as the handlers are banty legged Ned Phillips and champion of English lightweights giant Joe Price.

LOCAL NEWS.

It is rumoured that the Secretary of the Municipality of Lauzon, Nabuchodonosor Bourget is on the eve of taking a compulsory trip to Kingston in connection with some municipal matters. He will visit the principal lunatic asylums on the road for the benefit of his health and the restoration of his brain.

Mr. Editor.

Dear Sir.

This would be supervisor of cullers as his deputy has got back to Quebec from Ottawa they took very blue I understand the cullers had to make a subscription to bring them down, the others intended opposition deputy is stuck in Ottawa for want of funds.

MUNICIPAL COUNCIL OF LAUZON.

The monthly meeting was held last night.

Present: the mayor in the chair and the councillors on the benches—

The mayor presented a letter from John Macash offering to furnish the Municipality with horses to take the Councillors to their daily promenade to the city. The Mayor went on saying it would be a good thing as it would save them a great deal of trouble, a thing which they had enough for the time being, and he would fully approve of the financial committee to take steps towards an immediate agreement with the said John Macash, as the price asked was comparatively low.

Councillor Begin said he would corroborate with his verdict no, he for himself was getting tired and his purse exhausted of going to the court every morning.

Councillor Patry—advocated the cheerful sight it would be for the inhabitants of Quebec to see such nice body of men, as the Council of Lauzon, mounted on white horses going up Mountain Hill—he was not used of going on horse back and the trying point for him would be to come down the hill, but he would endeavour to overcome that difficulty.

Councillor Verreault—said he saw no difficulty in that whatever—though he had been but a few times on horse back—he happened once to have to come down a hill, he had done it without accident by letting loose the bridle and taking hold of the tail, he thought his worthy friend might do like him. Carried.

Moved by Councillor Verreault seconded by Councillor Bourget, that in view of the projected improvements and the high standing on which this municipality stands since the election of the present councillors, this building is deemed completely inadequate for the council to hold its meetings, and he would suggest that tenders should be asked at once for the erection of a new one, he thought well to commence by that as by anything else.

Councillor Dorval said he could appreciate the enterprising spirit of the mover of the present motion, but he would be against it for the moment as he thought there were some other improvements of more urgent need. The construction of a lunatic asylum for instance, had been often spoken off, but no proper measure had been taken towards the accomplishment of the project. He thought it was greatly time to attend to that.

Councillor Verrault replied he considered the amount of money now in the treasury was more than limited, and before thinking of building an asylum, they should have a town hall.

Councillor Dorval said he knew the value of money and how scarce it was, so he would never think of throwing it away. He would use it with the best advantage possible. His asylum would be build economically and though the amount of lunatics in the parish was very great, it would not get so full that there would not be a small space left for the present council to hold its meetings, he would therefore move in amendment to Mr. Verrault's motion, that instead of building a town hall they should build a lunatic asylum.

Councillor Begin with his new hat, sundry pants and a coat of shining soap on the face got up and said in the most elaborate speech, that he was not ready to vote on either the motion nor the amendment but he would ask it to be left till the next meeting in order that he should have time to study the question and then vote with integrity.

This council then adjourned till Monday first, it was 8.15 p.m.

The Quebec Star.

SATURDAY, MARCH 4, 1876.

A large meeting of city turf-men was held last Monday evening in Fisher's the Saddlers back shop. Among those present we noticed Mr. R. Tozer, Jas. Daly, Jno. Daly, David Rickaby, Jno. Cadille, John O'Connor, Thos. Malone, Sr., P. Colvin, Jacob Hesse and many other well known Sports.

Mr. Colvin having been called to the chair, he said no doubt they would all like to know why the meeting had been called and if they would listen for a few moments he would enlighten them. They were all aware that some time ago, a magistrate had fined and reprimanded, a worthy member of their fraternity, for trotting his horse on the St. Foye road. Now it was very hard if the few gentlemen who keep good horses could not "let them out," occasionally without being watched and exposed to the risk of a fine. The less might be good, but he (the speaker) was in favour of it being changed, they were therefore meet to form themselves into a protective association, which would have for its object the defence of its members, against iniquitous law in general, and against magistrates in particular. It was for these present to decide how such ends would be best attained.

Mr. Jas. Daly says he was the man who had been fined, and he felt bad about that $10, especially as turkeys were going down in price, (Laughter). He would explain to the meeting how he had been caught. "You see said he," I took out the mare to give her a run, and as she was feeling well, I shook her up a little when going outside the tool bar, well I drove to Julian's who & I had a bet, and then started to come back. On the way out, the mare did travel faster and grinded lightning, and the habitants were saying "ça c'est un cheval qui marche," I tell you I never seen her trot prettier. Nary a break, but a nice clean trot. That was on the way out, mind you, coming back she went quicker nor that, I'll bet a $100 I could have liked any thing on the road if—

Mr. J. O'Connor said, Daly was always blowing about his fast, here and putting on style because he was a turkey merchant but he, the speaker, did not care for that; he did not believe about the fast trotting, and even if it was true Mr. Daly did not have enough of influence to save him from a fine, but he, (Mr. O'Connor) said, he knew all the big bugs, he went out driving with them, and although he was a merchant he did not know how to write, still he was something of man in Montcalm ward, (Laughter) and so long as he was able to help the councillors in his road, he didn't give a snap for their association, he would just drive as fast as he pleased, and never pay any fine either, but if he was fined, the city council would give him back his money and beg his pardon for any trouble he might he caused.

Mr. Rickaby thought it was Mr. O'Connor who was putting on style, and if he didn't mind his eye, he would just nail him out of the back door, and put—

The chairman called Mr. Rickaby to order, and that individual sat down.

Mr. Fitzgerald tried to chip in something but Mr. Hesse interrupting him, told if he would be good, he would buy him a watch, (Laughter).

Mr. Cadille was of opinion that they should form a protection association. It was very strange that after a hard day's work a gentleman could not, drive in John street, without being troubled by such disagreeable people as "policemen." An association was necessary and as his Pa had left him lots of money, he was willing to subscribe liberally towards it. But he must impress on them the necessity of doing every thing quietly. He liked very much to help the turf men whenever he could, but disliked people to know that he associated with horsemen. His friend Tozer knew this, and was always ready, to buy him a horse, or equip a sleigh, and as he (the speaker) belonged to the church he could not tell them how much he was indebted to Tozer for those services.

Mr. Tozer was very thankful to Mr. Cadille for the kind manner in which he had spoken of him, and as the trouble he gave himself now and then, it was not worth mentioning as he had nothing else to do.

He favored the formation of an association, but thought he should be exempt from paying anything towards its support, seeing that he was always ready to show attendance on the "sports" when they went out to hunt. He denounced the magistrate who had imposed the fine on his friend Daley, and wondered much why the government had not nominated him as a Justice of the peace. He had just as much money as most of them, and although some J.P. were very clever, still there were some stupid ones, and he would be content to be classed among the latter could he but write the words J.P. after his name. His family, too, he said would like it, as it would sound grand, and he thought the master of the hunt might use his influence to obtain an appointment for him (Mr. Tozer) in return for the fences he had taken down for him during the hunting season.

Mr. T. Malone Sr. thought such a thing as an association was not required. If every man conducted himself as a gentleman there would be no danger of policemen interfering with him. He (the speaker) loved a good horse, and liked to see him travel but he had no sympathy with the lunatics who "hooped" their beast, in crowded streets, and thus put life and property in danger.

To the Editor of the Quebec Star:

Dear Sir,

Will you be so kind as to insert in your valuable columns the following lines. We learn with much pleasure that Pierre Lepine is going to get married very soon. God help the poor girl that will marry this poor lunatic who gets about $250 a month at that Insurance where is employed but try's to make people believe he has a very large salary the end of the world is not far when we hear of Pierre getting married.

ANSWER TO CORRESPONDENTS.

"Santa Claus," of Pensacola I have no connection with this paper, I gave your communication to the Editor he considers it too scurrilous for insertion, try again address T. Dodridge Ed. Star Quebec.

Quebec 17th, Feb. 1876,

Dear Star.

Will you please to inform a number of your readers if there still exists in the city of Quebec a society known as the Bachelors club, I have several times asked for the desired information off parties whom I considered sworn Bachelors; such as Jim Porter, Bob Learmouth Little Charley Harry and others; but they seem to evade the subject altogether. Now Dear Star any information that you can give on this subject following gentlemen will be thankfully received. We wish to join in part as follows:

Billy McLaren,
George Bosette,
Little Bobby Battis,
Tom Hilliard,
Brian McDonald
Dan McCullum,
Charlie Black,
Dobby Dixon,
Big Bob Smith,
Micky the shakey
Johnny McClosky
Jim Murphy

Young De Jersey, and about 50 others.

We understand there is still another suitor, in the St. Rock's street corner affair in the shape of a dashing young eleg dancer figuring on the bills as Harry A---t but better known as dancing Pat-Two to one on Harry.

S. J. R.

John Hamon looks very fatorn lately the bitcher eat him out completely, poor guy I would be inclined to pity you if you were not such a confounded goit.

Yours truly,

A Friend.

That Harry Brocklesly (alias Hungry) L. B. Winton, little Billy Brodie and Harry Chaloner (alias kitchen hunter) were all beastly drunk and neigble to take care of themselves at the Glanderboyne Snow Shop Club dinner.

Veritas.

We learn that that little Cuckoo Billy Web, better known as "Cork Billy," acted as Usher at the concert of the Total Abstinence Society. When acting in that capacity again, Billy, there is no necessity to bring your blackthorn stick with you.

TOW BOAT COMPANY.

The St. Lawrence Steam Navigation Company had better send the gum chewer to look after after their interest; the Black River Barkers are getting fat. The chambians residents and carter's think a good deal of Bill. He has relations living at New Liverpool, he don't drive up three nights a week. We know a good deal. The New Ferry Company had better examine and look into the state of the boats before they do any thing.

To the Editor of the Quebec Star:

DEAR STAR:

Arrangements are been made among the sporting men of this city, for a great trotting match to come off in the St. Charles course in June next, for $1000 between Joe Woodley's, Sebaway, and the California horse Occident. J. F. W. says his horse can trot inside of five minutes, well done Joe, you had better get your father to bring you some bears grease from Bermuda to soften his limbs with. Joe Beef from Montreal will be the judge.

Yours a Judge.

There is a great void in society occasioned by the departure who has gone to Montreal to contest John Ryans seat in the Legislature, may success attend his efforts, how is this for the b-tchers.

CHURCH MATTERS.

Last sunday morning, two gentlemen, Messrs. Fis. Dinning, Jr. and Wilball were seen and heard talking over Ten thousand dollars matters in the entrance of the Wesleyan Church; They remained there from fifteen to twenty minutes of course when they arrived at their seats all the hard work was over, standing to sing and kneeling to pray.

NEWS FROM SOUTH QUEBEC.

Our sporting friend of Ferry Department had better be cautious in his rambles with his ex-confrere Thibault to Indian Cove, Me---- and in visiting the two ladies at St. Romeaold, and other places of interest in and around Point-Levi. Of course its his father's turn-out the sports. Look out, you may have clean hands to pride over next summer, and a much less stock of wines, liquors and refreshments in store; over the waiting-room Pointe-Levi, for yourself and friends we know you, you ugly black sheep your old uncle Poisy will be of very little suppo^t to you hereafter.

Mr. Hood late deliverer of Virtue and Co, has no further connections with the firm now established sole agent for the Dominion of Canada for cassels, Petter and Galpins subscription book.

NOTICE.

I hereby give that it is not because I wear a new beaver coat that I drive up and down John street, when I have no business there, and go to Grand Mass at different churches, but it is to give the young ladies a chance of admiring me.

This being leap year and having decided to settle down and enter into the holy state of marriage, I wish to notify the nice young ladies of Quebec; that I am ready to receive sealed proposals from any one of them who would wish to tackle me.

Description:

Good size (measuring 5 feet and 1/100 part of an inch), nice brown moustache, fine green eyes, and a very amiable disposition. There is a long legged friend of mine who says I have crooked legs, it is a lie, it is only jealousy on his part.

The conditions required to have a chance of being accepted for above said honor are the following, viz;

Must be English, no Irish or Canadian need apply. Must belong to one of the first families of Quebec. A little of money would be no object.

Pensacola Feb. 22nd 1876.

Dear Dodd.

There was select party given by the Beer-jerkers of the "Seabreeze saloon," to their male friends on monday night last. The following gentlemen were among the invited guests.

Matt Williamson,
John O'Brien,
Harry Smith,
Tom Ross,
Teddy Eeright,
Wm. Reason,
Old Turner.

Dancing and flirting were indulged in until after midnight, when a dispute arose between Williamson and Deaf H. as to who should have the privilege of escorting one of the ladies to her residence, when a general row ensued. The proprietor, George Wells forcibly ejected them from his premises, the Police arrived on the ground, and arrested the combatants, with the exception of O'Brien who was piloted to the rear of the building by one of the ladies who had been looking lovingly on him all night. Their trial comes off this morning. It is supposed the girls will defray all the law expenses.

I will send you full particulars of the trial for your next issue.

Yours truly,
Mariner.

DOTS AND DASHES.

H. A.—n contradicts the Valentine story published in the Telegraph of Feb. 11th and adds that the gallant captain never sent his wife a Valentine and is now thinking of using his tool, Chris. O'C—r, to suppress (what he now terms) that vile scurvelous sheet. "The Telegraph."

We wish to inform J. B.—s that he is spotted by a lot of Montreal Ward boys, for having followed a young lady down Augustin street, nearly to John street and back again. Take care Joseph and dont get into trouble with them fellows. They will likely comb your fair whiskers.

Montreal Feby 23rd. 1876.

Dear Star,

The news has only reached me the day before yesterday of the explosion which took place recently at the Quebec Rubber Company's works. Dear Star the news came on us here like a clap of thunder, and so much surprised were we, when we found out the great changes that have been and are about to be made in that locality, we came to the conclusion that the Directors of that great enterprise were having their eyes opened at least; and we then cried aloud with joy! Well done Billy! Well done John R.—s. Dear Star when I was surprised to find so many bosses loafing in and around that establishment and what disgusted me most was this. These fellows such as A. F.—y and T. M.—c. and others were under the impression that the works could not be carried on without them. Oh what a mistake these gentlemen were labouring under. However my Dear Star I must congratulate the directors and the rubber workers in particular on the change; and hope to see that establishment in a flourishing condition before long.

Yours truly,
Thomas Woods,
formerly of Quebec.

Dear Star.

Would you be so kind as to insert these few lines in your valuable columns being out the other night taking a walk toward St. Foix. I heard the following conversation between two gentlemen's well known in this city. The conversation was about forming a new Copartnership between James G. Ross and Louis Fuchs the well known French Capitalist what the object of this Copartnership is I wont tell in case of harming this young French man who I may say is a credit to the old city of Quebec.

I remain
Yours etc.,

Canotier—Embarquez, nous partons, nous avons M. Verreault avec nous.

Monsieur—Vous avez Verreault avec vous?... Peu, c'est bien assez pour m'en empêcher.

A l'Editeur du Star de Québec :

M. l'Editeur,

Dans ma dernière correspondance que vous êtes l'obligeance d'inclure dans votre journal, je vous parle de l'échat que j'avais fait d'un chapeau, d'une canne, et d'un habit pour figurer avec mes honorables amis du conseil municipal. Je vous avoue donc ces quelques mots avec l'espérance que vous aurez encore quelque commission, car mes amis voudraient savoir par quoi est produit ce malaise que je leur laisse appercroître très souvent.

Mon nouvel habit en est la cause. Pourquoi ne pas avoir gardé le vieux? il était fait à moi, j'étais fait à lui. Il mouillait tout les plis de mon corps sans le gêne, j'étais pittoreque et bizarre. L'autre raide, empêtrait me gêne. Il n'y avait aucun besoin auquel un complaisance ne se prétend, car l'indigence est presque toujours officieuse. Mon banc à trainé était-il couvert de mouillé, un de ses pans s'offrait à l'esmeyer. La limon épais se refusait-il de couler de ma hache, il présentait son flanc. On y voyait tracés en longues raias noires, les fréquents services qu'il m'avait rendu, ces longues raias annonçaient l'aitisan, l'homme qui travaille.

A présent j'ai l'air d'un riche faîneant; et quand j'endosse mon habit neuf, il produit sur moi une telle métamorphose, que l'on m'appelle Monsieur Bin-Gin gros comme ma canne! et sur mon chemin lorsque je m'achomino vers le palais de justice, ou je vais faire rire de moi depuis quelque temps au dépens de ma bourse si vous voulez, tout le monde va demander quel peut-être ce monsieur et les gros bonnets me saluent tout bas.

O, instinct funeste des convenances, tact délicat et ruinous, goût sublime qui change, qui déplace, qui édifie, qui renverse, qui vise les costes, qui fait tant de si belles choses et cause de si grands maux; toi qui substitua chez moi mon vieil habit à un neuf n'ayant aucune élégance pour ma caisse, qui ne contenait rien, c'est toi qui peut-être bientôt conduira mes effets chez Casey, où l'on entendra la voix enroulée d'un cricier dire: à vingt centimètres un habit conseiller!... Cette pensée fait mon tourment, car je ne puis faire l'idée de descendre de la hauteur où je suis monté; et s'il fallait qu'un revers de fortune quelconque vien à m'y contraindre, que serait un homme comme moi, un homme de ma position, au milieu du commun des mortels?.... O ce serait ma mort!... De ma mediocrité première il ne me reste presque aucun vestige, effet merveilleux, chef-d'œuvre de la savannerie de Couillard et j'aimerais pourtant bien à rester ainsi. Voilà en quelques mots l'explication que j'ai eue devoir donner à mes amis, du malaise que je laisse appercevoir quelques fois.

J'ai l'honneur d'être M. l'Editeur,

Votre serviteur,

Tommy Bin-Gin.

Conseiller-Lauzon.

Il se passe en ce moment à St. Joseph de Lévis, un fait assez curieux: cette paroisse d'ordinaire si tranquille a été tenue en émoi depuis quelques jours, par l'apparition tout les soirs à neuf heures précises, de deux chevaux blancs, traînant à leur arrière un char, dont personne n'entreprisait l'ensemble, et du milieu duquel des plaintes et des gémissements se font entendre. Ces équipages comme sortant des profondeurs internales, jette d'abord une clarté éblouissante, mêlée à un tintamarre effrayable,—puis la clarté fait place aux ténèbres et la tintamarre aux plaintes!—alors les chevaux comme conduits par un mauvais génie, s'élancent à fond de train à travers la campagne, reversant tout sur leur passage. Leur apparition se fait d'ordinaire vis-à-vis la demeure d'un petit seigneur de l'endroit, ce qui ne manque pas d'attirer une masse de curieux s'enthousiasant les uns les autres et les cancanis vont leur train. Il y en a qui disent que ce sont les enfants de Bacchus qui viennent sérenneler leur grand Père; d'autres, que c'est l'âme en peine de quelques conseillers en désespoir; d'autres, que c'est un certain individu de l'endroit, condamné à courir le loup-garou pour expier ses fautes, son voyage en terre sainte ne lui ayant pas réussi; d'autres que ce sont les chevaux et le char que F. X. Couillard avait commandé chez Belzébuth pour fêter son avènement à la mairie, et qui fatigués d'attendre, sortent tous les soirs se délasser en attendant qu'il soit permis à son honneur de les guider; d'autres enfin, plus hardis poussent l'hypothèse jusqu'au point de dire que c'est son honneur lui-même qui, à l'aide d'un certain pouvoir occulte, connu seul des génies de son espèce, se rend invisible, et se console à sa manière de se voir frustré dans son ambition, en battant la campagne avec ses deux chevaux blancs aux grand détriment des habitants de St. Joseph. L'échassaudage qu'il s'était fait paraît-il, est chiancellante et menace de jour en jour d'être renversé, et pour chasser le cauchemar que cette pensée lui donne et trouver une distraction à son âme, en détresse, il se promène. Cette dernière hypothèse quoique peu admissible semble prévaloir aux yeux de la masse des gens, car depuis longtemps on leur a battu les oreilles qu'un grand triomphe aurait lieu et que F. X. Couillard monté sur un char de feu trainé par deux chevaux blancs, se montrerait dans toute sa grandeur. Ce qui ne se fera pas. O destiné! voilà de tes coups! tu as condamné ce malheureux à se contenter du simulacre.

Mr. Johnny Dion, épicier, doit se présenter dans Québec vendredi aux prochaines élections.

— MM. L. N. Fuchs and L. Bergeron ont l'honneur d'adresser leur plus sincères remerciements aux nombreuses pratiques qui n'ont cessé de leur accorder leur patronage depuis qu'ils ont ouvert leur écurie de louage. Ils profitent aussi de cette occasion pour informer leurs amis et le public en général qu'ils seront toujours prêts à fournir les meilleurs chevaux aussi des voitures très confortables sur tous les rapports. Prix très modérés.

— Il est rumeur que Prosper Verret épicier, va-t-être nommé Juge de Paix.

— Dimanche dernier M. Calix Lacasse et Jacques Darveau, tabacconist, ont failli se cassé le cou en descendant de la longue queue.)

— Ulric Gauvreau a acheté un casque de rat-musqué.

— Il est bien vrai, que Célestin Lantier et T. Sawyer vont partir pour l'Europe. Chrétien priez pour eux.

— On dit que le gros Louis Julien, épicier va être élu maire de New-York. Honneur à lui.

— Stanislas Drolet a donné 25cts à la St. Vincent de Paul, pour venir en aide aux pauvres.

— Il paraît que Elzéar Vincent, libraire demande des soumissions pour se faire blanchir.

Robert Roussel a acheté un orgue de barbarie, on prétend qu'il va commencer à jouer ce printemps.

— Le public est prié de se rendre vers minuit ce soir, sur la plateforme, M. Petrus Plamondon apparaîtra dans son brillant costume de Christophe Colomb.

— On dit que M. Orphée Plamondon doit se présenter dans Québec centre en opposition à M. Johnny Dion, épicier, bouteur pour l'assistant broker apostolique.

Aussi que le vénérable Ulster qui a l'honneur de couvrir le corps pestilentielle de Orphée Plamondon sort de la célèbre maison de secondes mains, O'Donnell.

Le public est prié de se rendre sur l'esplanade à midi lundi, son honneur le Maire Owen Murphy dansera un reel joué par son ami Némési Déri, aubergiste.

On dit que F. X. Drouin avocat a acheté un magnifique cochon d'Inde, pour envoyer sur sa terre aux Illinois.

— Mr. Aurèle Grenier, cotiseur, a envoyé un cartel à T. O. Gingras.

— Jos. Elz. Belland est bien depuis son voyage en Floride.

AUX CORRESPONDANTS.

La correspondance signée "Amicus" contre L. N. Henault marchand du St. Roch, ne peut être publiée elle n'est pas drôle. Prenez un autre sujet.

Le correspondant qui écrit contre les lieut-colonel Vohilt, Amyot et le Capt. G. Amyot, depuis près d'un mois, et qui signe "Un intime du 9me" aurait dû s'apercevoir qu'on aime pas à publier ses écrits, faisant parti du 9e nous ne voulons pas attaquer ces messieurs, et le correspondant voudra bien ne pas se troubler d'avantage.

L'imprimeur du Star.

M. Robitaille Pex-messager du fameux Hector $32,000 et un M. Bureau ci-devant cordonnier, commence à se faire un nom dans le faubourg St. Jean. Faire attention, les vieux comme les jeunes le "Star" les ménage pas.

M. France Adée de Heddyville en envoyant un des plus beaux garçons du siècle, donne avis que.

Il est près à prendre la plus belle demoiselle de Québec en mariage.

Il exhortera dimanche prochain sur le pont Doresteer depuis 2 à 4 heures, les demoiselles qui voudront bien se présenter.

Frid.

AVIS.

Le sousigné donne avis à MM. Charles Angers et Théodore Sawyer, qu'il ne donnera plus n'credit pour aucun montant à son établissement, vu que le premier compte n'a pas été soldé.

Signé.

NAISSANCE.

Le Mercredi des Cendres, durant la grand'messe, la dame de M. J. B. Philibert Gagnon, taillleur civil et militaire, de St. Roch, deux jumeaux.

La mère et les enfants se portent bien. Voironavant, M. Gagnon a décidé de ne plus remettre les retaillies à ses pratiques, ainsi d'en faire des pantalons à sa chère progéniture.

Jules Perrier.

D'après les dernières nouvelles d'Ottawa il paraît que l'hon. M. Cauchon aurait réussi à faire verser à un bon montant au gouvernement fédéral pour l'embellissement de Québec, allons mesurer les constructeurs préparez vos plans, et tachez d'avoir les doigts souples, les oreilles de St. Roch et de St. Sauveur ont l'entendement bien discuter de temps à autre avec des phénix longue comme le bras pour les embrasser et rien se faire. Arthur Buis a osé de danser uno jig sur la première pierre.

Un spectateur.

We have lots of correspondence left over this week for want of space.

We would warn our readers not to give any stamps to fellows who go about saying they are connected with this deservedly popular journal. We know some of them who have got money lately. There are just two who can lawfully receive them, the Editor and the Printer.
