What Dyspeptics Should Eat

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE "Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble are, nine times out of ten, due to acidity; therefore stomach sufferers should, whenever possible, avoid eating food that is acid in its nature, or which by chemical action in the stomach develops acidity. Unfortunately, such a rule eliminates most foods which are pleasant to the taste as well as those which are rich in blood, flesh and nerve building properties. This is the reason why dyspeptics and stomach sufferers are usually so thin, emaciated and lacking in that vital energy which can only come from a well fed body. For the benefit of those sufferers who have been obliged to exclude from their diet all starchy, sweet or fatty foods, and are trying to keep up a miserable existence on gluten products, I would suggest that you should try a meal of any food or foods which you may like, in moderate amount, taking immediately afterwards a teaspoonful of bisulphated magnesia in a little hot or cold water. This will neutralize any acid which may be present, or which may be formed, and instead of the usual feeling of uneasiness and fullness, you will find that your food agrees with you perfectly. Bisulphated magnesia is doubtless the best food corrective and antacid known. It has no direct action on the stomach; but by neutralizing the acidity of the food contents, and thus removing the source of the acid irritation which inflames the delicate stomach lining, it does more than could possibly be done by any drug or medicine. As a physician, I believe in the use of medicine whenever necessary; but I must admit that I cannot see the sense of dosing an inflamed and irritated stomach with drugs instead of getting rid of the acid—the cause of all the trouble. Get a little bisulphated magnesia from your druggist, eat what you want at your next meal, take some of the bisulphated magnesia as directed above, and see if I'm not right."

A CREPE BLOUSE.

Cool and dainty model in crepe, having one-piece sleeves and a V-shaped neck finished with a turtleneck collar of its own material.

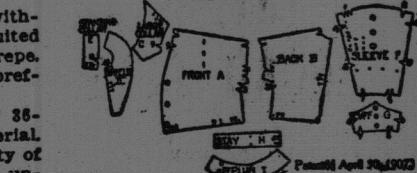

The demand for cool summer blouses is more insistent than ever. This season they are being made up into the coolest way possible, with loose sleeves, long or short, low neck and a soft turtleneck collar.

The model shown here is made without a lining and nothing is better suited to its development than filmy crepe, voile or net, with crepe given the preference.

To make it requires 3 yards of 38-inch or 44-inch material. Very pretty crepes come in a variety of dainty colors from 12 cents a yard up.

ward. The sleeves and fronts are cut on an open width of the material, after which it is folded for the cutting of the back, the collar and cuff. If the short sleeve is used, the lower part of the long pattern should be cut off on cross line of four small "o" perforations. Follow creasing on slot perforations to tuck the front at the shoulders, then stitch tucks about an inch and a quarter deep. Close shoulder seam and sew sleeve to armhole edge as notched. Close under-arm and sleeve seams as notched. Tuck sleeve, creasing on crosslines of small "o" perforations; stitch 1/4 inch from folded edges. Center-front indicated by large "o" perforations. Close cuff seam as notched, sew to long sleeve as notched. Sew large collar to neck edge, and standing collar to shield as notched. Gather lower edge of front and back between double "o" perforations, and two inches above. Adjust stay to position underneath gathers, centers even, small "o" perforations at under-arm seam. Now add the bodice, which has the center front indicated by large "o" perforations. Close back seam, sew to lower edge of waist, centers even; small "o" perforations at under-arm seam. Finish with fancy pearl, glass or crocheted buttons.

A DEAD FLY

May be as Dangerous as a Live One!

It is certainly more repulsive, and, if left, will breed far more disease than it is not sufficient to kill the fly. You must destroy the germs as well. These, if allowed to multiply, will spread disease and death. Give up using the fly swatter and the unsanitary sticky fly paper. Buy WILSON'S FLY PADS—the only really effective method of exterminating the death-dealing housefly. They kill all the flies in the house in a few hours. No dead flies left lying about. Be careful to follow directions found in each packet.

Hints for the Cook

Lemon Pie. Grated peel and piece of one lemon, three tablespoons water, one cup sugar, two eggs, one soda cracker, rolled fine. They kill all the flies in the house in a few hours. No dead flies left lying about. Be careful to follow directions found in each packet.

Orange Frosting. Grate the rind from a large orange and squeeze all the juice. Add to this the yolks of two eggs beaten to a froth and enough confectioner's sugar to spread smooth. This is easy to make and never fails to give satisfaction.

Maple Nut Cake. Cream half cup of butter, add gradually one cup of sugar, then add alternately half cup of milk and two cups of flour mixed and sifted with two teaspoons of baking powder. Beat thoroughly, flavor with two teaspoons of vanilla. Fold in the stiffly beaten whites of four eggs, add one scant cup of broken nutmeats and bake in patty pans or loaf. Boil one pound of crushed maple sugar and half cup of water until a soft ball can be formed when dropped into cold water. Pour the sirup slowly into the stiffly beaten whites of two eggs, add half cup of chopped nut meats and spread on top of cake.

MEAN TO DUMB ANIMALS Editor Times: Sir,—Is there any meaner person than one who will go away from home, closing up the house, leaving a cat to find a new home or starve? Such an act is so

THE BABY.

Ho, there, little stranger from Baby-land. When glided your boat in over the sand? O'er the harbor-bar secure from storms, How found you the safe port of Mother's Arms?

Didst come with a fleet from the shore dim and grey, With pennons floating and ensigns gay? Why! you might have been swamped amid its mighty swell, As you rocked and tossed in your tiny shell!

But what, little sailor, didst say came alone? Well, now! you are a brave chap I must own! But it puzzles me much how you happened to know To the very best port in the world to go!

How the friends near and far join the fuss and ado Always made over tiny seafarers like you! But the welcomes of all the rest, bundled in one, Count as naught to the joy-note in dear Mother's tone!

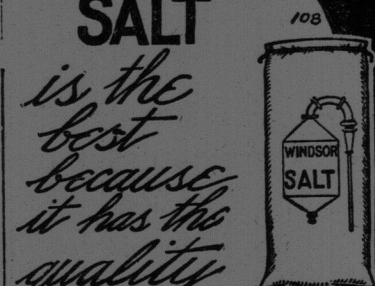

To the lovelight which radiates her tender face In a smile, in a tear, in a soothing embrace; Yes, indeed, little stranger with Baby-land charms, 'Twas lucky you anchored in port Mother's Arms!

—Norris Barrymore.

A COSTLY SESSION.
Today's papers announce the prorogation of parliament at Ottawa, and also announce that there was a decline of $5,892,218 in the revenue of Canada for the first two months of the fiscal year, as compared with the like period of last year.

that general power should be given the local authorities to get whatever land they deemed necessary for housing purposes, and they should be given an opportunity to show foresight and to provide for future needs. Land needed for public purposes should be purchased compulsorily, if necessary, and in case of dispute the price should be determined speedily and cheaply by a judicial commissioner.

It appears that the reports of loss of life in the recent storm in Bay Chaleur were greatly exaggerated, although the financial loss in the destruction of fishing craft was unhappily great. Even the marine department at Ottawa was deceived in regard to this matter, as the minister of marine and fisheries announced the loss of life to be more than one hundred. There is very evident need of better means of communication along the coasts of Bay Chaleur.

WILSON ADMINISTRATION
Vice-President Marshall of the United States was in Bangor this week, and was asked what he thought was the greatest achievement of the Wilson administration. His answer probably expresses a feeling that is shared by observers who are not intimately concerned in United States politics, but who have watched with a great deal of interest the progress of affairs. The vice-president said: "The greatest achievement of the Wilson administration has been the impression made in the minds of the people that everything done down in the White House is honest. That is the greatest achievement. It is known all over the world that what is done in Washington is done by representatives of the people for the people themselves. The people know that there is no pull in the White House on the part of other interests than those of the people."

REFORM IN BRITAIN
Those who are interested in taxation reform and in better housing will find food for thought in the budget proposals of Mr. Lloyd George in relation to these two subjects. Mr. Samuel, president of the local government board, in a recent speech dwelt upon the effect of these proposals. Mr. Samuel declared that the system of taxing houses and improvements must be reformed. We quote: "If we had deliberately set out to devise a system of taxation for local purposes which should discourage building, lower the standard of houses for the working classes, tax the poor heavily and the rich lightly, we would have arrived at last at just such a system as we have at present."

Mr. Samuel said that by the provisions of the budget now before parliament local taxes upon houses and for improvements would be reduced, and the necessary money derived from a carefully graded system of taxation upon income. This would not be done by a local income tax, but the national income tax would be increased, and the proceeds distributed to the various localities in proportion to their necessities, in relief of the rates upon houses and improvements. There would be no reduction, however, of the rates upon land values, and there would be a separate valuation for land on the one hand and for houses and improvements on the other. Mr. Samuel made the very striking statement amid cheers that "the time had come to lay down definitely the principle that with respect to land the owner had a right to do as he wished with his own."

With regard to town planning, Mr. Samuel said that the adoption of well considered town-planning schemes was essential, and he had appointed a committee to consider the subject and to make such recommendations as would cheapen the development of suburban land. He said that it should be made a statutory duty of local authorities to see that the population of their districts was adequately housed and the health laws observed. Moreover, the government felt Queer Queries.

Why are eczemas always narrow?
Who lives on our mental reservations?
What rites are used in burying the past?

Does it make one taller to stand on ceremony?

Did the man who returned after many days secure them?

Why He Was Working.
"Had a puncture, my friend," asked the passerby, with an air of interest. The chauffeur looked up, and swallowed his feelings with a huge gulp.

"No, sir," he replied. "I'm just changing the air in the tires. The other lot's worn out, you know!"—RT-Bits.

Timely Aid.

The Young Man—"Thanks! I've been trying to find the spot all evening, but with these new gowns a fellow hardly knows where he's at!"—Puck.

Not One Did.
"Indeed," the lecturer went on in a quizzical way, "I believe I am justified in asserting that nine women out of ten practically ignore the fact that they have become engaged. As a test, I would ask all married men in the audience whose wives virtually popped the question to them to arise."

There was a subdued rustle in the audience and in the tense silence that ensued could be heard sibilant feminine whispers in concert, "Just you dare stand up!"

Wondered What It Was.
Mr. Brown had just registered and was about to turn away when the clerk asked: "Beg pardon, but what is your name?"
"None," echoed the indignant guest.
"None?" returned the clerk calmly.
"That is what aroused my curiosity."

W. H. BERRY AND THE ROYAL COMMISSION

It was reported some days ago that W. H. Berry, chief superintendent of government sealers, who is needed as a most important witness before the Dugal commission, had left his home in Charlotte county and gone to the United States. He is said to have gone on about June 4, and inquiry at his home elicited no definite information as to his plans or the date of his return. There is, of course, plenty of time yet to return before the inquiry begins, and it would be improper to assume that he intends to be absent when needed. Others whose reputations are at stake, it would be thought, would use every endeavor to have Mr. Berry in attendance to answer the charges made by Mr. Dugal. The report concerning Mr. Berry has caused much talk throughout the province, and probably this talk cannot be disposed of until his name is called at the inquiry and it is then seen whether or not he responds. His friends are said to be confident that he will appear. Time alone will tell. His absence, of course, would create the worst of impressions upon the public mind.

WANT $660,000 FOR NEW MONTREAL PLAYGROUNDS

Administration of the City of Montreal will be asked to vote approximately $660,000 for new playgrounds, and their equipment during the next few years, according to statements made public this morning by T. McC. Black and Dr. J. E. Gaudin, joint superintendents on Montreal's growing system of children's recreation parks. The superintendents in the course of their statements brought out a fact which until now has not been made public, that since last fall over six hundred thousand dollars has been spent on the purchase of new playground land in the city, while the sum of forty thousand dollars is now at the disposal of Dr. Gaudin and Mr. Black for immediate playground development.

"It is just as well for the public of Montreal to know," Mr. Black said this morning "that the playground scheme drawn up by myself last fall, and concurred in by Dr. Gaudin, is not a backyard business. We fully realize that the present and future generations of Montreal children must have playgrounds not only for the summer and for during a few hours each day, but playgrounds which shall be available for use all the year round from early morning until late in the evening.

"For the summer we must have tennis grounds, baseball diamonds, croquet lawns and open spaces where the children may play. Then there must be football and cricket fields, plenty of apparatus and heaps of sand and other things with which children delight to play. Furthermore, provision must be made for affording children the opportunity of playing in the winter time and with this end in view it has been

Four Big Playgrounds

The plans concurred in by Mr. Black and Dr. Gaudin as representing the solution of Montreal's problem of children's playgrounds, provides altogether for the establishment and equipment of four big playgrounds for older children, and twelve smaller playgrounds for children of tender years.

Development work has already commenced, and has been carried forward in several of the larger and smaller playgrounds, notably Park Lafontaine, where provision will have been made by the end of this week for the amusement of three thousand children; Fletcher's Field, the Haymarket Square, and the east end of Viger Square, which it is recommended should be fitted up with swings and other playground apparatus.

For the complete development of Park Lafontaine the sum of $88,500 will be necessary according to the playground superintendents' plans while another $82,500 is required for the development of Fletcher's Field. For enlarging the playground facilities in Haymarket Square $80,000 is required, while the development of the east end of Place Viger square will need approximately $25,000.

Twelve Smaller Playgrounds.

For the development of the twelve smaller playgrounds the necessity of which is fully agreed to by Mr. Black and Dr. Gaudin but $61,000 will be needed. The twelve squares which it is proposed shall be fitted up as summer and winter playgrounds are already partly equipped. St. George Rienne Garden, Desery square, Bellevue, Papineau squares, part of Grenville park, part of Jacques Martel square, north of St. Jacques boulevard, and part of a piece of city property at the corner of Delorimier and Amity streets. To equip these playgrounds, Mr. Black explained there is $40,000 now available and the money will be spent in the best manner possible.

Added to the sum required for playground purposes stated above there is another $375,000 to be spent on acquiring new properties. For new properties and equipment the sum of $60,000 will be required under the scheme of development which is at present being carefully followed out.

Ben Granger is a war veteran, aged 28—which should enable you to guess...

"What is it," he asked me one moonlit eve, as we sat among his boxes and barrels...

"Hello, Willie!" says Myra. "What are you doing to yourself in the glass?"

"Well, Ben," says I, "let the Secretary of the Treasury keep 'em."

Ben pondered over my word while a mockingbird on the top of a mesquite by the porch trilled a dozen bars.

"Of course the dogs of war weren't a complete pack without a yelp from the San Augustine Rifles."

"Well, Ben," said I, with judicial seriousness, "I think we might safely limit the number of motives of a man who seeks fame to three—to ambition, which is a desire for popular applause, which looks to the material side of success; and to love of some woman whom he either possesses or desires to possess."

Was Confined To His Bed For Four Months With Rheumatism. Mr. W. H. Riley, Ruddell, Sask., writes:—"It is with the greatest pleasure that I can recommend Doan's Kidney Pills to all suffering with rheumatism. I was so bad with this terrible disease, I was unable to get up from my bed for four months, and nothing seemed to relieve me until a friend recommended Doan's Pills. I had my doubts about them, but was so desperate I would try anything suggested to me. After taking half a box I was able to get up, and after taking two boxes could get around quite well. After taking six boxes I was completely cured, and able to work for the first time in five months, and have not had a touch of rheumatism since. Anyone who saw me then would not know me now, as I am strong and active since taking your valuable medicine."

"I remember, one time, a little cavalier of Spanish men sauntered out from behind a patch of sugar-cane and shot Bob Turner, the first sergeant of our company, while we were eating dinner."

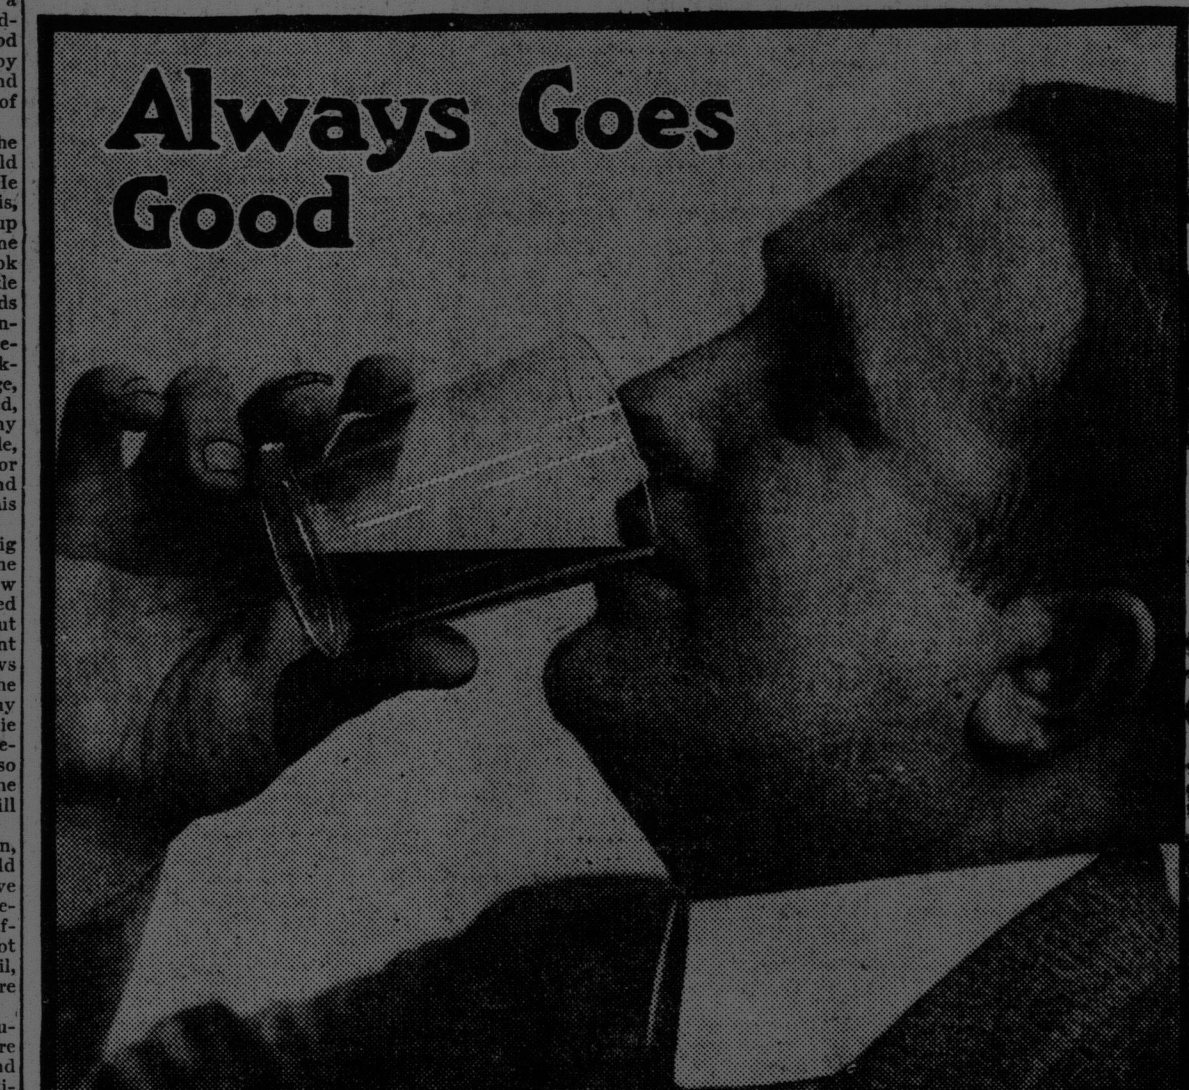

"I'll give you an estimate of his physiological and pictorial make-up, and then I'll stick spurs into the sides of my narrative."

"OH, I DON'T KNOW! MAYBE I COULD IF I TRIED." "Robbins' or 'Hello Willie!' as we marched up in files of fours, I never saw an illustrious-looking human in my life than Willie was. He had at least seven or eight medals and diplomas and decorations on the breast of his khaki coat; he was sunburnt the color of a saddle and he certainly drew himself proud."

"I wouldn't have done it, but I was plumb mad. I pulled a San Augustine paper out of my pocket, and showed him an item. It was half a column about the marriage of Myra Allison and Joe Granberry."

"I'll give you an estimate of his physiological and pictorial make-up, and then I'll stick spurs into the sides of my narrative."

FISHERMEN OF GASPE ESCAPE

Fears For Safety of Northern Fleet Set at Rest—Thirteen Believed to be Total Drowned From Southern Shore

Dalhousie, N. B., June 11.—Reliable information about the damage done to the Quebec side of Bay Chaleur and Gaspe coast during Friday and Saturday's storm is as follows: Seventy fishing boats wrecked, thirteen went adrift, thirty damaged. Half the boats that went adrift have been picked up. No lives lost. Schooner Bravo went ashore at Douglastown pulled off and was towed to Gaspe only rudder damaged. It is said here that the property loss along both shores of the Bay of Chaleur will be in the vicinity of $300,000, so that there will be great suffering among the poorer families. This amount is made up from the loss of 250 schooners along the Gaspe coast representing a value of about $400,000 and the sixty-five schooners beached along the Bay of Chaleur and on the islands of Miscou and Shippegan worth $100,000 more. That all the Gaspe fishermen escaped seems almost a miracle but all are said to have been accounted for. The body of Fred Theriault, another Carquet fisherman, was recovered yesterday and buried at Carquet. This brings the total in that district up to ten and it was said last evening that no others are missing. Besides the damaged schooners on the Gaspe coast many buildings were blown down by the storm and the machinery for the boring of artesian wells which has been in progress along the coast was swept away. During the worst of the storm on Friday four inches of snow fell in Gaspe.

Chatham's Version. Chatham, N. B., June 11.—Thirteen fishermen perished in the storm on Bay Chaleur last Friday, and the damage to vessels and property was not as great as reported. Your special correspondent arrived here today and was agreeably surprised to learn that the reports of loss of life and damage done to boats last Friday had been greatly exaggerated. The total number of persons who lost their lives was thirteen. The storm which broke with great suddenness and was very violent, threatened for a time the lives of 1200 men who were out in

REDISTRIBUTION BILL DISCUSSED

All Night Session of House To Hear Nova Scotia's Claims—Hon. Dr. Pugsley's Suggestions

Ottawa, June 11.—The address to his majesty, asking for amendments to the British North America act, to permit the increase of western senatorial representation, and to secure for Prince Edward Island four members in the commons, was moved by Mr. Borden at the opening of the morning session. Mr. Borden, after explaining that the way was left open for the inclusion of Newfoundland in the dominion, said it was desirable that any approach to such union should be on the basis of equality. Sir Wilfrid Laurier, while he did not endorse all the principles involved in the resolution, agreed not to oppose it. Hon. William Pugsley thought the address should provide that the increased senate representation should not come into effect before redistribution, since if there was to be an increase in the representation of the crown, it should coincide with an increase in the representation of the people. Premier Borden could not see that Mr. Pugsley's remarks were applicable to this case. W. F. MacLean moved an amendment for an elective senate, stating at the same time that he would not undertake to specify the nature of its constitution. Edmond Proulx, of Prescott, supported this proposal, and also favored proportional representation and an age limit. Hon. Frank Oliver and Mr. Turgeon opposed any change with regard to the appointment of a senate. Mr. Borden thought the time was not opportune for the working of a change in the senate, and Canada could not well ask the imperial government to do it. Sir Wilfrid Laurier supported this view, saying that both parties had long favored senate reform, but none had been able to work it out. An amendment by A. A. McLean, of P. E. Island, to have that province's representation made six members was lost. Hon. Wm. Pugsley thought that in fixing the unit of representation, Quebec province, with its fixed representation of six members, should be considered as the original area so designated at confederation, not the much larger Quebec of the present day. This would involve giving more members to the territory added to the province since confederation. Hon. Mr. Pelletier said that the restoration to the province of their representation at confederation might be considered in the future. The address simply outlined a policy for the present, and proposed to protect the smaller provinces. After some further discussion the address petitioning for enabling legislation by the imperial parliament was carried. The evening sitting of the house was taken up with a discussion of the redistribution bill. A slight change was made in the Ontario schedules by reducing the size of the constituency of Kent and putting two townships in East Lambton. The New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island constituencies went through without debate. With regard to Nova Scotia, there was a vigorous protest from George W. Kyte against the merging of the ridings of Richmond and Cape Breton South. It was unfair to Catholics as there had been sufficient change in Nova Scotia seats to make it unnecessary to touch Richmond. Catholics were in the majority in Blenheim, Inverness and Antigonish, and the redistribution had wiped out their representation in all but one of these places. For the whole of Canada he thought that Catholic representation was too small considering their numbers. E. N. Rhodes replied, deprecating the introduction of a religious issue, and saying there could be at least five Catholics members from Nova Scotia in the next parliament according to the numbers in the different constituencies. No complaints of the finding of the committee had been made except that from Mr.

ARTILLERY IN MOUNTED ORDER

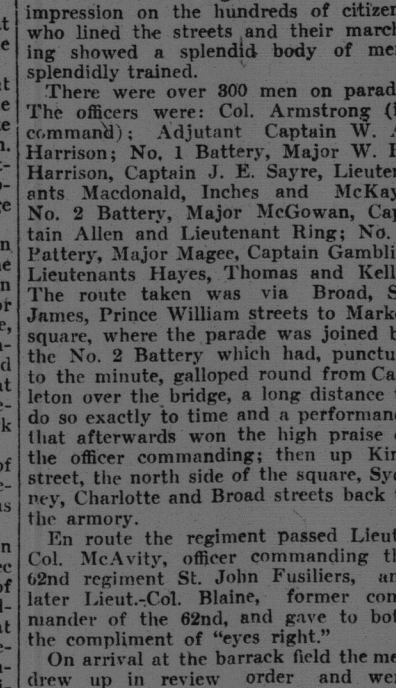

First Parade of Local Regiment With Complete Field Equipment—March-out Watched by Large Crowds

For the first time in its history the 8th New Brunswick Regiment Canadian Artillery paraded the streets of the city last evening in mounted order, ready for field service. The regiment made a fine impression on the hundreds of citizens who lined the streets and their marching showed a splendid body of men, splendidly trained. There were over 300 men on parade. The officers were: Col. Armstrong (in command); Adjutant Captain W. A. Harrison; No. 1 Battery, Major W. H. Harrison; Captain J. E. Syre, Lieutenants Macdonald, Inches and McKay; No. 2 Battery, Major McGowan, Captain Allen and Lieutenant King; No. 3 Battery, Major Magee, Captain Gambin, Lieutenants Hayes, Thomas and Kelly. The route taken was via Broad, St. James, Prince William streets to Market square, where the parade was joined by the No. 2 Battery which had, punctual to the minute, galloped round from Carleton over the bridge, a long distance to do so exactly to time and a performance that afterwards won the high praise of the officer commanding them up King street, the north side of the square, Sydney, Charlotte and Broad streets back to the armory. On arrival at the barracks field the men drew up in review order and were briefly addressed by the officer commanding. He congratulated them on the splendid muster and stated that he hoped the drivers would feel that the horses they were driving for that parade would be those they would take to camp with them. The inspection would be very much on the same lines as they were then drawn up. He hoped, too, that at the next parade all the guns would be fully horsed. Col. Armstrong added that on Saturday week if possible the men would go out with the horses and limbers to East St. John or to Lancaster Heights for special drill. On June 28 he announced a church parade and for July 6 and 7 the inspection. The colonel expressed his great pleasure at the work done by the non-commissioned officers. The artillery will go into camp this year at Petawawa from August 10 to 14. Some forty men of each of the St. John batteries with the mounted officers will leave on August 8, a special train running for their conveyance. They will drill daily until Friday, August 14. On their return they will be at Montreal on the 18th and expect to arrive in St. John on Sunday morning, the 16th. Refuse to Strike. Milan, Italy, June 11.—The group of syndicalist railway employes who decided to call a general railway strike so far have not been able to induce their companions to obey their orders. Nearly All Subscribed. London, June 12.—Underwriters of the Dominion of Canada loan of $25,000,000 got 89 per cent. of it, which considering the time and the large amount of the loan is regarded as satisfactory.

An "Opening" for Summer Goods

To the Merchants of St. John: INTRODUCE your Summer goods as you introduce those of Spring, Fall or Winter. The most radical change of the year in wearing apparel comes in the Summer months. Each season in the year sees its changes and modifications in dress. In Summer comes the greatest change of all. You announce your new Spring goods. You announce your Autumn openings. You spread broadcast the news of the arrival of sturdy Winter wear. You dress your store with your Summer styles as you do your Spring and Fall openings. Why not an "opening" of Summer goods? Call the people in to see your Summer goods. Send the summons far and wide by means of the merchant's trusted servant—the advertising columns of the daily papers. Think of this idea. It may be new and it may be not. But it is well worth your consideration. You can obtain helpful advice on advertising free of cost and without obligation by consulting the Advertising Department of The Telegraph and Times.

Players We Know

Among the players with Sydney in the Cape Breton League are McGovern, catcher, last year with Battle Creek, Mich., and formerly with the Marathons. Tucker Council, who has been playing first base for Fall River, Mass.; Sprague, second, from New Bedford; last year captain of Stellarton; Riley, from Fall River; Fyfe, third; McKenzie and Dawson outfielders; Cogan, Boston, and McDavitt will alternate as pitchers and in the outfield. Another pitcher is expected soon from the New England League. McDavitt was in the province two years ago with the Dorchester team. Bigney is manager for Sydney.

Stanley Bates, a former Fredericton southpaw has been let out by the Worcester club to the New England League and is now pitching for Lynn. Bates' first game for his new club was pitched on Tuesday against Lowell and he gave a fine exhibition, Lynn winning by 4 to 2. Bates was particularly effective with men on bases as is shown by the fact that there were eleven Lowell runners left on the bases. The Lowell batters gathered seven hits off Bates' offerings and he struck out as many batters as hit safely, but he gave four bases on balls.

The lure of the diamond has apparently been too strong for Dave Mosey, to withstand and he is now pitching for Worcester. He won from Lewiston in his first game the other day.

There are a few former N. B. and Maine Leaguers in the Eastern Maine League, notably Dutch Howard, who last year was one of the most dependable writers of the St. Croix team. "Dutch" is managing the Oldtown team and was on the mound in the opening game, allowing four hits and striking out eight men.

"GOOD FELLOW" MANAGER WRECKS TEAM; A MORAL IN THIS STORY

By Hugh S. Fullerton.
Fellows, here is a story with a moral. Ordinarily, we hate morals. They are almost as bad as excuses. But this time we insist upon preaching a sermon. The text is: "The Good Fellow."
We have been studying the clubs in all leagues, from the majors down to class D. We know the managers of the clubs under study. Most of them are close personal friends. Many of them we have been rooting for and hoping against hope that they might win.
We have taken fourteen clubs, which are managed by men who are known as "good fellows." Only two are in the first division of their leagues. In nine leagues managers who are not known as "good fellows" are leading. In these same leagues there are a number of "good fellows." One is first, two are second, three are fourth, three are fifth, five are sixth, two are seventh, and three are eighth. These are the managers who are known among their players as "good fellows."
As a study in what "good fellowship" does to a ball club, the figures are significant. The "good-fellow" manager who is easy with his players usually has a losing club. The man who drives his team hard, enforces discipline and compels obedience, who rules strictly but justly, may not be loved by his men, and many of them are hated, but they get results.
There is one team in one major league that is an example of what the "good-fellow" type of manager brings upon himself. He is leading a team that belongs up close to the top and which, under conditions this spring, ought to be first or second, yet is far down in the second division and playing only fair ball.
I was with some of his players this spring, and they were singing his praises, telling what a "good fellow" he was. It was past midnight, and they all were drinking.
"Let's cut it out and go to the hotel," suggested one.
"Aw! what's the difference?" replied one of his star pitchers. "It is a 'good fellow.' He won't kick."
"That's a fine way to treat a good fellow," I remarked and since then I have been unpopular with several of them.

SHORT JABS AT ALL 'ROUND SPORTS

Baseball is as uncertain as ever. Every now and then Walter Johnson loses a game.
"The Golf Guide" for 1914 is out and is much larger than last year's—the winners' names taking up so much space.
It seems inconsistent to keep prosecuting Harry Thaw and permitting those fellows to run their cars at Indianapolis.

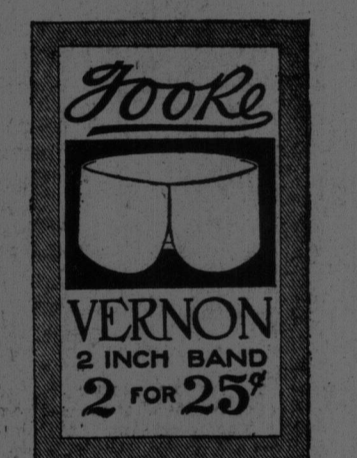

Willie Ritchie sighed when he heard that Chick Evans was beaten. Maybe it will be Chick's turn to sigh pretty soon.

Joe Birmingham and Hank O'Day ought to get George Stallings' system. In spite of the Braves' standing they are not appointing successors to Stallings.

"John," she said, as he settled down for his afternoon smoke, "I've got a lot of things I want to talk to you about."
"Good!" said her husband, affably.

I'm glad to hear it. Usually you want to talk to me about a lot of things you haven't got.

A Tip for Tippy Golf Players. (By Fullerton.)
Speaking of the Sandwich tourney and the breaks of luck that made and made champions, there was an incident at a Chicago course recently that illustrates how a player may go beyond his gait. There was a match between two poor ones who normally play at or near 100 strokes. They reached the course just as a rain storm broke and abandoned the idea of playing in favor of splitting a quart of Scotch. After they had consumed the Scotch the sun suddenly came from the clouds and the afternoon became beautiful, so they went rather untastefully to the tee. One of them took the first hole in three, sinking a twenty-foot putt—and he went around under the heavy field, in a clean 52, scarcely missing a put.
The orders for that brand of Scotch were quadrupled.
