BUNGLAR SHOTS TORONTO POLICEMAN ATTEMPTING TO MAKE ARREST

TRAIN SERVICE CURTAILED AS APPEALS COME FOR COAL FROM ALL PARTS IN UNITED STATES

Restrictions Are Placed on Use of Public Utilities in Some Districts—No More Bunkering of Foreign-Owned Vessels in American Ports—Government Looks Forward to Early Settlement of Strike.

Washington, Nov. 7.—Curtailment of passenger train service, discontinuance of bunkering of foreign-owned vessels at American ports, restrictions in some places of the use of public utilities, and appeals for coal from various cities as the strike of approximately 425,000 bituminous coal miners today rounded out its first week, gave the nation further indications of the distress in store should there be a protracted suspension of mining operations.

OPERATORS CLAIM NON-UNION MINERS WORKING AT NORMAL

Pittsburg, Pa., Nov. 7.—Officials of District No. 1, United Mine Workers of America, offered today to form a joint committee with the operators to check up on the situation. The effect of the strike, so far as the general coal supply is concerned, has been felt but little in this locality, according to railroad officials. They say they have an abundance of coal on their lines which is being distributed as rapidly as possible to those industries and public utilities deemed essential by the Government.

OBJECTIVE FOR ONTARIO WILL BE INCREASED

Amount Set for Special Subscriptions Was Easily Secured. BOOST OF $15,000,000

Organizers in Various Districts Confident of Raising Additional Sum.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—A new objective of $50,000,000 in special subscriptions for Ontario will likely be set, the first objective of $35,000,000 in special for the province having easily been exceeded. Telegrams from the organizers of the various counties and cities are coming in, and, with the exception of one or two who feel that they have exhausted the money, giving capacity of their own districts, all these telegrams speak enthusiastically about the chances of making good on the new objective of $50,000,000.

ADVOCATES USE OF AIRSHIPS FOR TREATING TUBERCULOSIS

London, Oct. 24.—The employment of airships as sanatoria for the treatment of tuberculosis and other diseases is advocated by a doctor who was attached to the British air force according to the Globe. The patients, it is pointed out, would be able to live for several days at a height of about 5,000 feet, enjoying complete rest and breathing air as pure and invigorating as that of any of the famous mountain resorts, which only the rich can afford to visit.

THOUSANDS OF SETTLERS COMING TO CANADA FROM GREAT BRITAIN AND U. S.

Immigration to the Dominion Increased by 288 Per Cent in September—Larger Percentage of New Arrivals Are Farmers or Farm Laborers.

Ottawa, Nov. 7.—Immigration to Canada from all countries increased in September of this year by 288 per cent, in comparison with the same month in 1918. For the first six months of the fiscal year the percentage of increase of 1919 over the same period last year was 149. Nearly all the new arrivals this year come from the United Kingdom and the British Empire as has been the case since the outbreak of war in 1914. From April to September, 1919, the total number of persons from the United Kingdom entering Canada was 33,597, from the United States, 31,880, and from other countries, which does not include Germany, Austria or any country that fought against the Allies in the war, only 3,457, making a combined total of 68,934. Last year in the same six months the arrivals from the mother country totalled but 1,642, from the United States 23,305, and from other countries 2,775, making in all 27,722. During the month of September 2,495 of the settlers from the United States entering Western Canada brought with them $309,639 in cash and $286,230 worth of effects. In September, 1918, 1,098 persons from the United States brought $387,510 cash and $77,395 in effects. The larger percentage of the new arrivals this year were farmers and farm laborers.

NUMBER OF PROBLEMS YET TO BE SETTLED BY PEACE COMMISSION

Paris, Nov. 6.—The supreme council is now taking the inventory of the remnants of the peace conference, endeavoring to decide what questions will be unsettled when the supreme council comes to its close, and how these shall be disposed of. A number of unsettled problems will be left for the commission to deal with. The reparations commission, which will be the most important of the peace conference, remains in Paris, and will have a very considerable personnel, and a great amount of work to do in connection with the German peace treaty, which cannot be transferred to the various foreign offices.

REPORT IS DENIED

London, Nov. 7.—Questioned by the Canadian Associated Press concerning a report from Montreal that the Canada Steamships, Limited, and Vickers are negotiating for 50,000 shares of the Dominion Steel Corporation for the purpose of embarking on a large shipbuilding program, Col. Grant Morden said today: "There is nothing to it. It would be madness for any shipbuilding policy to be adopted in Canada without some assistance from the Canadian Government."

FLIGHT IS POSTPONED

Minneapolis, Nov. 7.—The projected non-stop flight of the giant British Handley-Page bombing plane to Chicago was postponed today, on telegraphic reports that the landing field at Chicago was a "quagmire." The plane weighed 15 tons, and the managers of the flight decided it would be foolhardy for it to attempt a landing on a muddy field.

TORONTO POLICEMAN IS SHOT IN ACT OF ROBBING HOUSE

Constable William Milton Receives Two Bullet Wounds Over Heart as He Attempts to Arrest Unknown Man at Early Hour This Morning—Not Expected to Live.

Toronto, Nov. 7.—Police Constable William Milton was shot twice above the heart while attempting to arrest a burglar in his home at the rear of a Yonge street store early this morning. Constable Milton, returning from a party shortly after 10 o'clock, heard noises, and on investigation discovered the burglar, who was lying on his face, his tunic being soaked in blood. He telephoned police headquarters and detectives were assigned to the case. When found Police Milton had his baton in his right hand, indicating that he had been engaged in a struggle with the burglar. A revolver containing two discharged cartridges was found near the wounded man, but the constable's pistol was missing. The wounded policeman was removed to St. Michael's Hospital in an unconscious condition. After a little while he was entertained for his recovery. The burglar has not yet been located. Residents in the neighborhood report having heard the shots.

HUNGARIAN GOVT. RENEWS DEMAND FOR BELA KUN

Charges of Murder Are Laid Against Former Dictator. Vienna, Wednesday, Nov. 5.—The Hungarian Government has renewed its demand for the extradition of Bela Kun, former dictator of Hungary. Distinct charges are lodged against him, that he caused to be murdered certain Hungarian officers in Russia, Rumanian emissaries, and certain citizens in Transylvania, and that he ordered the death of the writer who criticized his government. He is also accused of leaving illegal tribute.

THREE PERSONS LOSE LIVES DURING FIRE IN ATLANTA HOTEL

One Woman Leaps From Third Story Window to Street. Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 7.—At least three persons lost their lives and nearly a dozen were injured in a fire in the Wilson Hotel here early this morning. Damage to the building at Peach Tree and Walton streets in the downtown section was confined to the interior. Scores of men and women were rescued by firemen. One of the dead was a woman who leaped from the street before the firemen arrived. Fire Chief Cody said he feared more bodies might be found in the building. The fire apparently broke out in the second story of the three-story building. The ground floor is occupied by stores and a moving picture theatre. The loss had not been estimated early today nor had the cause been determined.

COMMISSION HOUSE HAS CELLAR, BUT NO WAY TO GET THERE

Nearing Completion When Absence of Stairway Noticed.

ENTRANCE FROM OUTSIDE Plan Received For Group of Houses On Hamilton Road.

Prohibition can be carried too far. Just because you don't believe in a man having a private stock, there is no reason why you should refuse to allow him to have cellar steps in his house.

This is the unanimous opinion of the London Housing Commission which at its meeting last night found that it had a house nearing completion under which there was a cellar, but no means of reaching it except through a window.

As attention to the furnace and various other chores which require the householders presence in the cellar promised to be rather arduous via the window route, the commission decided to build an outside cellarway.

Four more applications for houses were received and recommended for loans. Superintendent W. E. Dodd reported seven houses nearing completion.

A plan for a group of houses on the Hamilton road was received from T. Adams, a local contractor and town-planning adviser.

"The province has never in any case refused to pay over to the municipality any part of the funds for the houses made on progress estimates without any insistence upon such a condition as is mentioned in the newspaper article."

Over seventy municipalities are now constructing houses, and in every one of these cases advances have been made on progress estimates without any insistence upon such a condition as is mentioned in the newspaper article.

CANADA'S TOTAL FOR LOAN NOW IS $253,783,600

Ontario, Including Toronto, Has Subscribed $148,218,850.

WEATHER IS HELPING

Bad Weather Handicapped Western Canvass, Now Improving.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—The Victory Loan total, as reported by W. S. Hodgins, chairman of the Dominion business committee tonight, has reached $253,783,600. The returns by provinces are:

Ontario (Incl. Toronto) $148,218,850
British Columbia 10,868,100
Alberta 5,298,750
Saskatchewan 4,404,900
Manitoba 13,851,500
Quebec (Incl. Montreal) 61,506,900
New Brunswick 3,787,400
Nova Scotia 5,880,150
Prince Edward Island 437,000

Total $253,783,600
The returns from Nova Scotia are up to Monday night. From British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan, Manitoba, New Brunswick and Prince Edward Island to Tuesday; from Quebec up to Wednesday night, and from Ontario to date.

Toronto subscriptions today amounted to $6,350,150, bringing the grand total for this city up to $411,510,500. The Montreal total up to Wednesday night was $52,634,400.

Marked Increase.
In all the Toronto districts today the canvassers reported a marked increase in the number of small subscriptions. Their total for the day was $1,651,500. Information from various sections of the province and also from the West is to the same effect. The severe weather in the West for several days seriously handicapped the canvassers, but the conditions for getting around are better now, and results much more satisfactory. Edmonton is rolling up a big total. Up to Tuesday night subscriptions there amounted to $1,230,620 from 2,892 applications.

Halifax is well on towards the $4,000,000 mark. According to a telegram received at Ontario headquarters today, the Halifax total was $3,431,200. So far the employees of 134 industrial establishments in Ontario have won the Victory Loan honor banner.

TWO SUBSCRIPTIONS OF HALF A MILLION EACH

KINGSTON, Nov. 6.—This afternoon it was announced from the headquarters of the Victory Loan Committee that the Canadian Locomotive Company and Queen's University had each subscribed for half a million in Victory bonds. This subscription puts Kingston into the million and a half mark, and gives added impetus to the local campaign.

BOY HANGS TO DEATH BY ROPE; MISHAP BLAMED

Body of James Moses Found Near St. Marys—No Inquest.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
ST. MARYS, Nov. 6.—The dead body of James Moses, 15 years old, was found hanging by the neck on a rope in the barn of John Moses, his uncle, Wednesday evening, near here.

The boy had been doing the chores on the farm about four miles north of here on the Central gravel road, Downie Township. As he did not show up for supper a search was made. Life was apparently extinct, but medical aid was summoned without avail.

The rope had been used for lifting hay into the mow. It is thought that he may have attempted to slide down the rope, and that the noose slipped over his head.

Coroner Dr. C. F. Smith decided that an inquest was not necessary, as death appeared to have been purely accidental.

The boy had been brought up on the farm where the tragedy occurred by his grandmother, now dead. His father, William Moses, is at present living in the West. The boy had lived on the happiest terms with his uncle, according to neighbors, and was popular in the neighborhood. The affair has cast a gloom over the entire community.

MAY PICK WESTERN ONTARIO MAN FOR EDUCATION MINISTER

Disposition Reported To Go Outside Toronto To Fill Post.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
TORONTO, Nov. 6.—In connection with the forming of the new Farmer-Labor cabinet it is understood that considerable discussion has taken place with regard to the filling of the place of minister of education.

It is stated that in the conferences that have been held on the subject there has been a strong disposition to have the place filled by a man outside of Toronto, and it is known that one of the names prominently mentioned in this connection is now associated with the work of Western University at London.

The fact that so large a number of the supporters of the new government are from Western Ontario may prove an influence in leading to the choice of a man from that part of the province for the place. It is practically understood from the premier-elect's statements that he intends to go outside of the present membership of the legislature for a man to succeed Hon. Dr. Cody.

ROSS AMENDMENT TO G. T. R. BILL IS DEFEATED 39-35

OTTAWA, Nov. 7.—The amendment by Senator Ross to the Grand Trunk Railway purchase bill providing for postponement of consideration until next session was defeated at 1:30 a.m. by a vote of 39 to 35.

The second reading was then carried on the same division, reversed. Eight senators on the Government side voted with the Opposition for the amendment. They were Senators Nicholas, Ross, Dowler, Mont-

PRODUCING TO SAVE.

During the war there were those who prophesied that it would end in the defeat of every belligerent. That is to say, even the nominal victors would be face to face with a condition of industrial and financial exhaustion, which would have all the deplorable consequences of defeat. That is precisely what did not happen to Canada; but it would certainly have been the situation had it not been for our foresight in making provision for the future by the Victory Loans, which not only met the necessities of war, but enabled us to seize opportunities for great trade expansion. So sound was this expansion that the period of industrial depression, which usually has followed wars of much less consequence was averted.

Depression and the color of defeat were avoided by the patriotism of Canadians, who, by heavy over-subscriptions to the Victory Loans of the past furnished the capital for her to go on with. But unless the same spirit of sacrifice and enthusiasm is shown in connection with the 1919 Loan, calamity, almost as serious as defeat might have been, can hardly be averted. We are proud of our enormous prosperity, evidences of which are to be seen in every farm and in every counting house, but only by keeping up the good work of saving to produce and producing to save—the ends which the Victory Bonds effect—can it continue?

PIQUANT LADY ASTOR.

The doings of Lady Astor, running as a by-election candidate for the British House of Commons, are becoming the talk of the world. Her candidacy is independent with Laborite leanings, which is piquant enough for a peeress. Her husband, an American like herself, has lately come into the House of Lords, an irony of fate for him as he seems to be anything but a snobocrat. The father ate the sour grapes of social climbing, so the son's and son's wife's teeth are set on edge. When a woman rose to heckle Lady Astor in one of her meetings and began by addressing her as "Your Ladyship," the candidate's quick interruption was "Oh, wash that out." The United States, always interested in the doings of her sons and daughters in "effete England," stands at amused gaze. Great Britain enjoys even more the unprofessional manners of the titled woman from the woolly west.

Not only the American import, however, but the native British brand of "upper class," has lately changed its mode of approaching the vulgar public. The rapid emergence of the Labor party, the queuing of the House of Lords in 1912, then the all-shattering war and now the general rampage of nouveaux riches, quick-rising adventurers and American jazz, have all contributed to bring about a new sort of political peer. There are, of course, the old diehards standing against it all and nosing over their Morning Post, but lords and ladies, countesses and knights, are moving to a pace they never dreamed of before. Every shade of political opinion and social conduct may be found among the old and new gentry, and Lady Astor will have many cheering her on in her contempt for mere rank and her alignment with Labor. Her wit, of course, takes with the jolly British public, both high and low. She deserves success in the political whirl for her courage, her freedom from artificial restraints and her fun.

OUR GREAT LAKES SAILORS.

This is the time of the year when any day may chronicle serious disasters on the Great Lakes. These great inland waters, so beautiful in the summer months, and so much the delight of holiday travelers, become wild and dangerous when the middle of September has passed, and the storms of the autumn begin to heave their waters. For the last three months of navigation on the lakes (for boats often sail until the middle of December) there is need of the utmost vigilance and most skillful seamanship on the part of the master who would pull his boat through. With fogs, snowstorms, wild gales of wind, rocks, shoals and magnetic disturbances, eternal vigilance is the only source of safety and even at that there is no fall that does not exact some toll from the lake shipping.

Salt water sailors marvel at the skill with which lake captains handle their huge vessels in the narrow passages, and under the most dangerous conditions. It is a very different matter fighting a storm on Lake Superior to fighting it on the Atlantic. There is no need to make comparison, because it is a stiff proposition in both, but with rocky shores never far away on the northern lake, the master cannot allow himself to be beaten far out of his track. The shores of Lake Superior have dashed many a fine steamer in pieces and others have disappeared on its wide expanse with never a hint of what overtook them. Strange things happen on Lake Superior. In September, 1901, the big freighter, Hudson, went down with all on board, leaving not a trace. The following June, nine months afterward, the pilot house of the Hudson came ashore with the body of the wheelsman inside. The Bannockburn disappeared as strangely in the fall of 1902, the only hint of her fate being a few life preservers found floating days afterward. Nearer home we had a few years ago the uncanny loss of the big car ferry, Bessemer, with all of its crew, and shallow Lake Erie has not yet revealed the place where the big boat lies.

The men who sail the lakes in the fall know its dangers, they know that hundreds of men as skilled as they have ventured once too often.

Yet the demands of commerce send the big boats on their trips as long as the connecting rivers remain free of ice. It is the trips in the late fall that make the dividends. The master who can get in an extra trip for his employers is the man who is wanted, and so the dangers are faced and the hardships borne. Much has been done in the past, and much continues to be done to make lake navigation safer, yet still the unforeseen will happen, the strain comes too severe, the fog proves too thick, or the gale too strong and another good ship is gone. There are hundreds of homes in Western Ontario where the storm at night causes anxious thoughts for the boys who are "steam-boating." There can be no doubt that the great lakes do breed a class of men who are as skilled and resourceful in their business as any other class of sailors the world over. It is a great democratic calling, where the newest deck-hand may aspire to command a ship, and if he has the right stuff in him, may see his ambition fulfilled in a surprisingly short space of time. The men with executive ability, with cool heads and quick hands, climb quickly, and there are few men masters of lake steamers who did not begin at the very lowest rung.

TWO IRISH PARLIAMENTS.

Once more a "solution" of the Irish question has been found. This time it is a recommendation by a sub-committee of the British ministry, appointed especially to seek a way out of the exasperating muddle. The finding of the investigators takes the form of compromise, as it proposes the establishment of two parliaments in Ireland; one for Ulster in the north, and one for the Nationalists in the south. Over these two legislatures will be a council, composed of the representatives of the two parliaments and the British government. The function of this body will be to superintend the revenue producing departments which cannot be placed under control of either of the legislatures.

At present this scheme seems about the most reasonable one in sight. It provides Ulster with the protection that province claims it requires, avoiding the complete separation that would seriously hamper Ireland's progress. The Nationalist party on its record, should not find this plan unacceptable, as it will give them in large measure the local self-government for which they have been fighting many years.

As to the Sinn Fein and his "republic" the Irish can be trusted to deal with them. The Sinn Fein is not Ireland by many degrees. The infamous pro-German De Valera and his band of trouble-makers are rapidly losing ground. The United Kingdom, and this includes the vast majority of Irishmen, is heartily sick of Sinn Fein agitation, and in America De Valera's welcome is petering out. The same political factions of Ireland might easily get together on this scheme of mutual concession. No doubt it has weaknesses, but it would be a step towards something better. If it helps stabilize things Irish ever so slightly it will be welcomed by everybody, but the irreconcilables.

BUYING FUTURE PROSPERITY.

The circumstances which led to the introduction of the Victory Loan idea, which has been so fruitful of benefits to Canada, were peculiar. In 1917 financial experts were dubious about the affairs of Canada. The war, with its drains upon lending countries, prevented her from borrowing abroad. It was necessary that she should have a large available capital, not merely to carry on war, but to finance those credits to Great Britain and other countries, which were destined to bring such vast returns to this country. Canada was thrown on her own resources, and appealed to her people for funds.

We all know how magnificently that and subsequent appeals were met. The remarkable over-subscriptions of the past two years completely changed the outlook for Canada, and dissipated uncertainty. They gave a new impetus in agriculture and commerce; they established a prosperity such as this country had never previously known. They enabled the provincial governments and municipalities to finance reasonable undertakings at home. In short, they gave a new lease of life to Canada's commercial activities. But the process once set in motion must be continued. Upon the ready response of the small investor, as well as the capitalist, depends the immediate economic future of Canada. Everyone's prosperity is involved. The purchaser of 1919 Victory Bonds will buy continued and future prosperity.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Going over the top with the Victory Loan will help put a solid bottom to Canadian industries.

The returns from the Newfoundland elections show that the Cashin government has "cashed in."

France's traditional fear of dictators, royal or otherwise, will keep Clemenceau out of the presidency, but at that he is today uncrowned king of the French.

Mr. Calder threatens that the Ottawa Government may resign if Parliament favors further gratuities for the veterans. Oh, please don't, Mr. Calder, "for the love of Mike, be reasonable." Did anybody laugh in the House at Mr. Calder's bitter words?

Spiritualism bids fair to take the place of alcoholism as a staple of humor and wit. Exit one spirit, enter another sort. A good story comes from New Jersey of 60 acres dug up in a frenzied search for buried treasure on a revelation by some spirit. Five per cent beer is not in it with the new intoxicant. How about prohibition?

Sir George Paish, the British economist, says that continued depreciation of the sovereign, franc, lire, mark and rouble will cause the destruction of Europe, Great Britain and civilization. The same holds true of the depreciation of capital that goes on through constantly advancing prices. Our Governments should be striving to reduce prices instead of bluffing about it.

From Here and There

THE AUTUMN TRUCE.

[Chicago News.]
There is no politics in an autumn day. Debaters lose their edge. The haze of October refutes their arguments. A mild-tempered sun rises through the windless morning hours to noon's peak. It warms the mellow laziness innate in every man. The day lifts a huge paw, soft and thick furred, and lays it quietly on his forehead. Factions dissolve. The hurrah of political campaigning, struggles of class and prestige, sink into the soothing smoke of the fall sky. Men drift into the field with girls or golf. They are content only of the small hills capped in sunshine. The poplar is a giant furnace of yellow flame. A row of them spouts brief geysers of color against the purple sky. They jet upwards with slender vivacity. They spray warm gildings upon the autumn blue—grayed upon a dusky ultimatum. Successful lassness wraps about those who can accept an hour of fall weather. They loaf on the sunny side of things, forgetful of care under the pumpkin-colored sun.

THE PERFECT GENTLEMAN.

[Selected Definitions.]
[R. M. Freeman in Westminster Gazette.]
Define me, someone, if you can.
The elusive term of gentleman.
Says Vere de Vere, "A man is he Of pure blueblooded ancestry."
Says Newman Prig, "He's best defined As one who has a cultured mind."
Says Midas, "Culture? Blood? Poo! Dash! The true criterion is cash."
Says Priest, "He is in thought, deed, word, A Christ-like person—Church preferred."
Says Books, "Whoever in the lets, He never fails to pay his debts."
"Tis clear enough he's one," says Shirk, "Who for his living doesn't work."
"A real gent," says Ike Chink, "Doesn't know the price of anything."
Between these various views they vote, Come, pay your cash and take your choice.

THE FIRST REGULAR AIR EXPRESS.

[London Times, October 10.]
The Alreo express airplanes, which fly daily between London and Paris, on Saturday completed their sixth week of continuous operation. "I started this service," said Mr. Holt Thomas on Sunday, "to show that besides providing transport at 100 miles an hour, airplanes can now be flown to a time table in bad weather. We have since we began scheduled 86 flights. Of these, though on 28 days the weather was unfavorable, we accomplished no fewer than 82. Only one flight had to be abandoned through weather. On that day conditions were worse than they had been for years. The progress of another flight was interrupted by mist and exceptionally low clouds. As a proof that the airplane is no longer unreliable, I may mention that once only during 26,700 miles flying has a pilot alighted through mechanical trouble. "This service is the first link in a European chain of 100 miles an hour aerial ways. Before long we shall be able to save, not merely hours, but days, in the transport of letters from London to some of the great continental cities."

THE PRINCE IN 1860.

The Renown, the great warship which brought out the Prince of Wales, is the latest word in naval construction. She is about 30,000 tons. She has the most modern guns, which will carry from ten to twenty miles. She is one of the most formidable ships in the Royal Navy. Moreover, she is fitted up for the behoof of the prince, with all that the elegant arts can offer.
Note the difference between the Renown and the Hero, which brought the grandfather of the present prince to this country in 1854.
The Hero is described as one of the finest vessels in the British service. She was commanded by Commodore Seymour, a gentleman of great experience in naval matters; carried 90 guns, and had a complement of 800 men. Her engines were 600-horsepower; burden, 3,040 tons.
The Prince's Quarters.
The record says that she was up with every improvement that modern skill could devise, she is one of the most tremendous instruments of destruction ever made by man. The prince occupied the captain's apartment. There was a little alteration had been made for him; his little alteration was a dining-room. The dining-room is of a plain, but of a very substantial description. At the stern of the vessel is his sitting-room; leading from it is his bedroom. Passing from the sitting-room forward to the gun-room a dining-room is entered. The paneling is plain white, with gilded beadings.
Two large tables occupy a considerable portion of the space. The dining-table is in the steward's pantry, and staterooms occupied by members of his suite.
There is little ornament in any of the apartments.
The furniture is of oak, stained to show the grain; the carpets are dark crimson; the chairs are covered with red morocco.
The cot in which his royal highness slept, and which was selected for him by his royal mother, who visited the Hero for the purpose, is suspended from a couple of iron arms, and has no curtains. What is generally considered to be a republican simplicity marks the whole. The heir-apparent to the throne of Great Britain, as far as the mere appearance of the furniture goes, is, when on board the Hero, not more comfortably lodged than the master of many a trading vessel, and many a cabin passenger by a Canadian or Cuban ocean steamer enjoys conveniences to which the most favored inmate of the Hero must be a stranger.
Compare this Spartan simplicity with the sybaritic luxury which marked the fitting up of the Renown for the prince, and the special treatment by the C. P. R., and which expresses a degree of sumptuousness unapproached in the art of train building.

Intimate particulars are given of the laying of the foundation-stone of the Parliament Buildings at Ottawa by the prince, with attendant ceremonies of a most dignified and impressive character.
A handsome Gothic arch had been built at the entrance to the grounds, and inside, at the spot where the ceremony was to take place, there was a Gothic canopy, immediately in front of which, and over the stone, was a gigantic crown.
The Procession.
Around the stone was a railing, painted white. Outside this was an open space for the press and a few privileged individuals, while surrounding this central space, canopy and all, was tier upon tier of seats, capable of accommodating several thousand people, all filled with ladies and gentlemen. On each side of the road leading to this amphitheatre were platforms for children, and for those who could not be accommodated within it, while bands of music, companies of volunteers, hosts of lumberers in scarlet shirts, Orange societies from the townships, mounted and clad in Orange frocks, parties of Roman Catholic clergy, etc., are in their assigned positions on the line of march. Punctual to the hour, his royal highness arrived, followed by the governor-general. The Canadian ministers were in blue and gold. The prince was the principal figure.
After the invocation the prince and chief members of the suite advanced to the stone. If was of Portage du Fort, and on it was the simple inscription: "This corner-stone of the building intended to receive the Legislature of Canada was laid by Albert Edward Prince of Wales, on the 1st day of September, 1860."
It was suspended from the centre of the great crown by a pulley running around a gilded block; under it was a similar tube of the white Nepean limestone, which the future building is to be faced, within a cavity in which was placed a glass bottle. In this bottle were placed coins, documents, etc.
After the spreading of the mortar, the prince gave the finishing touch with a silver trowel, which had been presented him, and on the back of which was an engraving of the completed Parliament House.

Luncheon followed the historic ceremony, performed at a time when the future of the Dominion was uncertain, and Confederation had yet to be applied with its binding force, making out of a confederacy of provinces a great and united Commonwealth—a contrast to the conditions obtaining today in the Dominion, and which have so favorably impressed the prince, who finds a united nation forging ahead and fully conscious of influential destiny.
The League of Nations.
[New York Evening Post.]
The League of Nations has been severely criticized from the radical standpoint. It is a league of governments and not of peoples. It is a league of the Allies and not of the world as a whole. It is a great many other fearful things which any lively imagination can conjure up. But the League of Nations if it is to become a reality, will not be so much what the peace conference has made it as what the will of the peoples will make it in the course of time. It is for the peoples to see to it that the right men are designated by their government to work the new machinery for the purposes intended. No amount of original blue-prints and written safeguards will guarantee a true league if the determination does not exist in every country to enforce the popular will. No League of Nations scheme could prevent in advance the British Government or the French Government, or the White House, from appointing delegates misrepresentative of the British or French or American peoples, if the peoples themselves are slack in defence of their rights. Those who have spoken sneeringly of a League of Governments have done so on the assumption, tacit or expressed, that governments are in themselves an evil. But democratic nations who believe that on the whole their government do represent them, will not start out with this fundamental prejudice against the league. The problem of the league is, after all, the same as the problem of democratic government. Vigilance is the price of liberty.

President Fultz stated that the under- stood the Akron Club had been incor- porated for $100,000, half of which would be invested in a new ball park and ath- letic grounds near the business centre of Akron.

Five other bids, two from Montreal and three from Scranton, Syra- cuse and Providence, were received for the franchise, but the Ohio offer was accepted as being the most promising for the welfare of the league and the game.

The club owners also discussed the question of resuming relations with the major leagues. President Fultz stated that some of his clubs favored it, but others were opposed to resuming rela- tions. President Charles Comiskey of the White Sox, before leaving this city, said that he believed that the minor and majors should again get together under the old agreement. He said that the break in relations last winter was a mistake.

No Rink, No Ice, No Hockey Is City's 1919 Prospects

For Another Year London Finds Itself Without Hockey Accommodation—Only Temporary Arrangements Can Give City Place On 1919-20 Hockey Map and These Have Not Been Made Thus Far.

Once again London faces the prospects of a hockeyless winter, a condition that means practically no hockey. During the last two months there have been sundry rumors of the erection of a huge arena on various suggested sites, but with the middle of November here, nothing more tangible than the rumors has materialized. And the worst of the situation is that nothing more will materialize this year at least, as it is too late in the season to start on the construction of a rink, even if financial backing were behind blue prints.

The lack of sufficient athletic organization in the city or sufficient faith in the rink project is emphasized every day by the reports which come in from every city, town and hamlet of the province, telling of the organization of clubs, and in some cases, the erection of large rinks.

Last year's hockey program dwindled down to more or less of a failure, due not to the fault of either the hockey club manage- ment or to the owners of the rink used last year. The London Curling Club is primarily a curling club, and while it was the wish of the members, and is yet, to do all possible to help out the hockey situation, they probably went as far as they could in helping it out. They will not be able to go any further this year without going out of business as a curling club and becoming homeless themselves. In the meantime those behind the hockey pastime must feel that the situation seems rather hopeless just from present angles.

It is possible that some temporary arrangements may yet be made for a hockey program this year, but these will certainly limit the game to probable entries in the Northern League and O. H. A., and very little of that, with absolutely no city, church or manufacturers' league program.

A suggestion that a big athletic organization be formed which would centralize the direction of city sports and provide for all branches in the erection of clubrooms, gym and an arena will not materialize this year, although there are hopes that the plan will be found feasible before many years pass over. The Mont- real A. A., which has been going for some years now, is perhaps the best example of a successful centralization of such a project, and any similar enterprise would be modeled along the same plans here. In several cities London's situation is repeated to an extent. One city at least has made a step in the direction of a city athletic association, and that is Sarnia. Organized last spring, the associ- ation took over baseball and an athletic park, and plans are under way for the gradual enlargement of the idea until it embraces clubrooms and also a big ice arena.

London has always supported sport in every branch. This sudden apathy is hardly consistent with the past sport history of the city, unless its explanation lies in the fact that sufficient organization force to bring all the different sport elements into one groove has not yet been exerted.

Western U. Team Round Into a Great Machine

Blue and White Are Due For Surprise If the Snappy Work- outs of Brock's Crew Are Indications — Scrubs Are Making Line-Up Uncertain.

When Coach Brock sent the Western University football squad to the showers yesterday afternoon, after they had been put through an hour and a half's break drill in signals, kicking, catching, running and passing, they were told to rest today, so they will take the field on Saturday in the pink of condition. The working of the signals yesterday looked for all the world like Shaq's machine that smeared the Varsity team all over the Toronto Stadium last Saturday. Of course, it will be somewhat different when they face a team, but the fact remains that every man knows the signals perfectly, and during the whole practice it was seldom that one man was out of place. The local collegians have now a team of fourteen players, with every man in every play. That is the secret of a successful team, and it is certain that whichever team has the long end of the score on Saturday, the fans will see a fast, clean game of intercollegiate football, with the line interference that makes the game so pretty to watch. Western is out to get back their eight points, and add some more to it, for good measure, and Coach Brock and Captain Cline are both well satisfied with the condition of the men, and their knowledge of the signals. It will not be a case of nervousness in the first few minutes on Saturday; that vanished with the game in Toronto, and the spectators will see the locals go after Varsity with a jump. Coach Brock will not divulge his team to start as yet, as some of the scrubs have been coming along so fast that it will be hard to keep them off the team on Saturday. The game will com- mence at 3 o'clock sharp, as the team referee will give them his curtain lec- ture on rules interpretation before the line billed for the game.

ONLY ONE CHANGE MADE IN M. A. A. LINE-UP

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—There will be one change made in the line-up of the Montreal team against Hamilton. The players who started against Ottawa last Saturday will start again on Saturday with the exception of Davidson, who will be replaced by Laws. A strong line of substitutes, including George Draper and George Duckett, will make the trip to Hamilton.

The M. A. A. players, accompanied by a good following of members will leave by the Grand Trunk Friday night at 11 o'clock. The M. A. A. players are confident of bringing back the championship with them from Hamil- ton. A victory will give M. A. A. the title, while a win for the Tigers will give the honors to Hamilton, pro- viding, in either case, that the Ar- gonaut protest is disallowed.

YANKEES TO COLLECT THIRD PLACE MONEY, SAY COMMISSION

President Ban Johnson Was Not at Meeting Which De- cided to Override Detroit Tigers' Claim.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The national baseball commission will be requested to pay the American League third team share of the world series money to the New York Americans. This decision was reached at a meeting of directors of the American League held here Wednesday. The meeting was at- tended by Jacob Ruppert, New York Club; H. H. Frazee, Boston Club, and C. A. Comiskey, Chicago Club.

President B. B. Johnson and J. Dunn, Cleveland Club, were not present.

The meeting also disallowed the protest of the Detroit American Club in the case of Pitcher Carl Mays in the following resolution:

"Be it resolved that the protest of the Detroit Club be disallowed, that all games played by the New York Club, in which Pitcher Carl W. Mays participated, were valid and entitled to be included in the tabulation of games won and lost.

"And be it further resolved that the standing of the clubs in the American League of professional baseball clubs for the championship of the baseball season of 1919 is as follows: Chicago, Cleveland, New York, Detroit, St. Louis, Boston, Washington, Philadelphia."

BINGOES' FRANCHISE GOES TO ARKON CLUB ON $30,000 BID

Montreal, Scranton, Syracuse and Providence Bids Lost —Relations With Majors Discussed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The interna- tional baseball league playing circuit will include Akron, Ohio, instead of Binghamton, N. Y., next season.

The franchise of the Binghamton Club was sold yesterday for $30,000 to Frank W. Doyle and Chas. S. Skelly, repre- senting a syndicate of Akron businessmen. The sale was ratified at a special meeting here of the league, which all the club owners attended.

The Binghamton franchise was re- turned to the league at the close of the 1919 playing season by George F. Johnson, a wealthy manufacturer, who owned the club. Mr. Johnson, in addi- tion to giving each of his players a bonus, released them unconditionally, it is claimed that in doing so Mr. John- son violated the rules of the league, as he ought to have asked for waivers be- fore releasing his players. The disposal of these players, some of whom have been signed by other clubs in the league, will be decided by the National Board during the annual meeting of the National Association of Minor Leagues to be held in Springfield, Mass., next Tuesday. If the board sustains the league's claim to the players, they will go with the franchise to Akron. The Toronto Club bought two of the players.

We Welcome the Ladies

MEN! IMPORTANT NOTICE

HOUSE OF HOBBERLIN tailoring will be in our store all day Friday and Saturday, represented by Mr. Burley, who is designer and chief representative of this wonderful tailoring (for men) institution.

We can safely bet these are the best tailored clothes for Men in Canada today, and we will take a second to none place with these garments to our London and district customers. Others may offer two, yes, three, pairs of trousers FREE, and yet others holler price till they kill. BUT did you ever get stung so badly as when you were to receive something free? Always! It was your worst buy.

We profess through this reputable firm of tailors to have Canada's finest clothes to show you Friday and Saturday of this week. We might add that we have several hundreds of pure wool cloths just arrived from England, that were ordered eighteen months ago, and the prices today would be 35 per cent higher. All of these are to be offered to you at the old market value if purchased now.

The price of Suits commences at $35 and ranges to $45, $50 and $60. Some of the best known pure wool cloths in the British Isles are in this range.

You select your suit and overcoat and pay us a deposit, and in the course of two weeks we can give you finished garment (no, not made to order), but strictly tailored to your measure. We give you try-on one week from date of your measurement order.

The models are all here—truly young men's suits; the conservative dresser is also well represented; then the quiet man of affairs holds his place—as the head of the tailoring house is one of the long-experience standing, who knows what men want to present them at their best, which GOOD clothes positively do for all men in the world of progress.

All are hand-tailored; buttonholes, collars, lapels, insertions of lining are all hand sewn.

We cordially invite every man, and we more cordially invite you to bring your wife, mother, or anyone you may think knows good clothes.

On the corner of Dundas and Clarence

As You Were

According to rumors emanating from New York with such emphasis as to make it either certain that there is some foundation or another cloud of dope has arrived and escaped the police, the greatest upheaval in the history of the major leagues is about due, and that the next few weeks will see the announcement of a new major circuit which will include Pittsburg, Montreal, and Toronto. Also attached to this is the rumor of a movement on the part of New York millionaires or start rival clubs in Detroit and Cleveland.

The directors of various clubs are supposed to be in revolt, and to these bolters is attributed the germ of the idea of starting a new major league circuit. The lack of harmony in the upper circles of the big leagues is certainly very pronounced at present, and it was made more open by the action of Dan Johnson in refusing to sit on the joint national commission yesterday because Col. Ruppert, owner of the Yankees, was a fellow member.

Judging from past events, however, there's no danger of the baseball war being launched in the United States before two years anyway.

Lieut. Jack Munro was a spectator of the G. A. C. card at Toronto last night, having come down from Elk Lake to see the house. It's a far cry since the time the big husky boy from Montana was presented into the ring with Jeffries, and was beaten by stage fright before the big fellow had made a pass at him. He made good in the bigger game in France, rising from private to a commissioned officer and getting badly messed up in the Somme, no decision affair.

Jimmy Wilde is slated to arrive in New York today. The game little Briton's milling in the pictures with Pal Moore, to whom he gave pounds and then beat, has assured him of a big welcome in the United States. It is hoped that as a real welcome, they'll try to get men near his own weight to go on with.

Hildreth sort of evened up with his rival and friend Commander J. K. L. Ross in his Mad Hatter's defeat of Sir Barton at Pimlico Wednesday. Sir Barton came in third, eight lengths behind the Hildreth 3-year-old, which he had beaten in the last meeting. Sir Barton was heavily played too, with the winner being given very little choice.

Len Smith, an old rugby official, in an open letter regarding the present agitation to introduce changes into Canadian rugby, thinks that the forward pass with the American interference and eliminated, would render the game more open and interesting. He thinks also with the elimination of the scrum and scrumage men are mere ornaments, and if the number of men were to be cut down to twelve, a start could be made in these positions.

SILVER QUILTY CHANGES MIND, AND WILL ACT IN M. A. A-TIGER GAME

MONTREAL, Nov. 6.—President William F. Wing of the Interprovincial Rugby Football Union, has appointed the referees for the game Saturday. Billy Mallett and Tommy Riddell will officiate in the game between Argonauts and Ottawa at Toronto. Mallett will be the referee.

Ewing claims to have secured the consent of "Silver" Quilty to referee at Hamilton with Billy Hewitt of Toronto as judge of play. Quilty declared after the game last week that he would never officiate in Hamilton again, but since then has changed his decision.

They Usually "Go Up," But Don't Use Planes
NEWHAVEN, Conn., Nov. 5.—Coaching a crew by airplane is not yet practical, although tried this week by George Van Santvoord, who has been assisting in coaching the Yale Varsity squad. The first crew was on the harbor for practice when Mr. Van Santvoord in a plane, with a professional pilot, flew over it. He attempted by megaphone and signals to direct the oarsmen. Mr. Van Santvoord said today it was novel to him, but aerial coaching is hardly likely to rival the present system. The airplane allows more views from different and better angles, but it is too fast for a crew, and there is difficulty in communicating with it.

Report has it that Trainer Aubrey S. Hounney, who trained at Goshen, N.Y., last spring, may take up training quarters at Leadville, Mass.

After her victory in the 2:13 pace at Windsor, Conn., two weeks ago, Ardele, 2:08 1/2, by Al Stanley, 2:08 1/2, was sold by K. C. Lasbury to John Hastings of Boston, Mass., for $2,000.

Ed. L. Hepler, Winfield, Kan., owner with J. A. Stinson of that city, of the fast pacing mare Queen Oksa, 2:08 1/2, says that good mare is safe with foal by Braden Direct, p. 2:01 1/2.

Harry Putnam, who trained and marked Peter Manning (3), 2:06 1/2, at Libertyville, Ill., has a chestnut 2-year-old filly by Azoff (2), 2:14 1/2, dam by the Bondsman, that gives great promise.

L. H. Prigge of Cairo, N.Y., has sold the brown pacer Serasim (2), 2:09 1/2, by Scientia, 2:11 1/2, to W. H. Barry of Schenectady, N.Y., who plans to race him through the Bay State Circuit next year.

The pacer Ben Norval, 2:13 1/2, died October 17 at Pickering, Neb. He was by Norval Chief, 2:19 1/2, was out of the dam of Budweiser, p. 2:07 1/2, and obtained his record at Beatrice in 1913, driven by C. W. Murray.

The pacing mare, Belle Alcantra, 2:02 1/2, raced this season and last in the Grand Circuit by Reimann, Conn., McAlmon, may take part in next year's Eastern racing, as Massachusetts parties are reported to have taken an option on her.

Mr. David M. Look of New York says the report that Emily Ellen (3), 2:05 1/2, lost her foal this year by Lee Axworthy, 1:53 1/2, is an error. The foal, a filly, is living. Emily Ellen is carrying a foal by Guy Axworthy, 2:05 1/2.

Oettinger Bros. of New York, owners of Anty Guy, 2:05 1/2, have sold a chestnut yearling colt by Guy Axworthy, 2:05 1/2.

8,700 TRAPSHOOTERS SHOT IN TOURNAYS IN PAST SEASON

Annual Convention in New York of American Association Elects E. R. Galvin President.

NEW YORK, Nov. 6.—The annual meeting of the American Trapshooting Association began here today, and will be concluded tomorrow, when amateur gunners from all over the United States and Canada will take part in the discussion of important matters pertaining to the welfare of the sport. Applications for the privilege of holding the grand American handicap tournament next August were received from Chicago, Cleveland, Toledo and Atlantic City. The award of this annual fixture will be made by the members of the executive committee of the association some time next month. The secretary's report for the last year showed that 422 registered tournaments had been held, in addition to 47 state shoots, including two in Canada. More than 5,700 individual gunners took part in these tournaments, during which the number of targets thrown was 5,973,291. The following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Emmett B. Gal-

A few days ago at Indianapolis, Sep. 2, Tommy Murphy paid last week from Fred D. Wilcox, Deposit, N.Y., and the 5-year-old Locanda pacer, Fred Locanda, 2:13 1/2, also a former member of the Wilcox stable.

Two new members of Harry Bruster's stable at Sage Park, Windsor, Conn., are Prince Wilcox, by Wilcox, 2:13 1/2, and a trotter purchased last week from Fred D. Wilcox, Deposit, N.Y., and the 5-year-old Locanda pacer, Fred Locanda, 2:13 1/2, also a former member of the Wilcox stable.

The 3-year-old pacing gelding, Royal Dewey, 2:14 1/2, by Lord Dewey, 2:02 1/2, out of a sister to Ess R. Kay, 2:05 1/2, was separately trained at Windsor last week. Whereupon Owner-Trainer A. L. ("Kingfisher") Martin and several hatching offers for the youngster, including one of $5,000.

Cheer Chorus Workouts Just As Strenuous As Team's—Fans to Hear Good List of Parodies.

All over both faculty buildings yesterday arose songs with familiar tunes but strange words: it was the individual or collective practicing of the Rooters' Chorus for the final drill they have tonight at the gym, to prepare them to root their football team to a victory over Toronto Varsity on Saturday. For the cheer notes given them, the students have taken hold of the songs and parodies with a vengeance and will take their pieces in the grandstand, well trained to obey the slightest motion of Cheer-leader Macpherson. The girls had two separate practice yesterday and will come to the rehearsal tonight well prepared to add their bit of noise and harmony to that of the men. Following are two samples of the parodies.

Tune—"Oh! Johnny" Oh! Western, oh! Western, how you can buck. Poor old Toronto, you're sure out of luck.

For when Vic Traynor starts to kick, Poor Toronto's half-back line, They fumble and they grumble, Then our outsidies they tackle, And bring them down hard.

Oh! how we're going to wallop Toronto, Oh! how we're going to win this game, With a quarter back so small, And a line like some stone wall; We're going right through, We're GOT to break through, We're going to smash Toronto, We'll out our half-line handles that pig-skin.

Oh! how the scrimmage is smashing through, Trick plays will make them foggy, Stopping bucks will make them groggy, Then hurrah! for the championship again.

In addition to these there are six yodel and six more songs, so that no interval in the game should be void of action.

Could Not Sleep

Mr. Earnest Clark, Police Officer, 338 King St., Kingston, Ont., writes:

"For three years I suffered from nervousness and sleeplessness. I believe my condition was brought about by overwork. I had frequent headaches, neuralgic pains and twitching of nerves and muscles. I had indigestion, was short of breath and easily tired. I commenced a treatment of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and seven boxes of this medicine cured me of all my symptoms. I am now feeling one hundred per cent. better than I was, and have to thank Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for the good health I am now enjoying."

FOR TWO YEARS HE COULDN'T WORK

Has Now Accepted a Position and Will Go to Work in a Few Days.

"Just give me Tanlac and you may have all the other medicines," said Robert M. Sexton of 504 C avenue east, Cedar Rapids, Iowa, while discussing his case, recently.

In relating his experience, Mr. Sexton made the remarkable statement that a few bottles of Tanlac has done him more good than all other treatment and medicines he has taken in ten years combined. But let Mr. Sexton tell his own story. Here is his statement:

"At the time I began taking this Tanlac I had not been able to hit a lick of work in two long years, but I am now on my feet and am going to accept a position in just a few days. My stomach commenced troubling me about twelve years ago, and although I just tried everything I kept getting worse until I had a complete nervous breakdown and got to where I was of little use to myself or anyone else. I suffered from indigestion after eating, and the gas on my stomach made my heart palpitate frightfully. I could not rest or sleep at night and would often get up away in the night and walk about town until day.

"I was beginning to think there was no relief for me, but Tanlac is fast making a new man of me. I had taken but a few doses of this medicine until I began to straighten right up, and while it may sound unreasonable, it's the truth, a few bottles have done me more good than everything else I have taken in ten years put together. I can now eat anything I want and have no more gas, bloating or palpitation of the heart. My nerves have quieted down, and I can lie down and sleep like a child until morning. There's no getting around it, Tanlac is the greatest medicine I have ever seen or heard of, and it is nothing else than remarkable how it has brought me out in so short a time."

Tanlac is sold in London by Standard Drug, Limited, and by an established agency in every town.

COAL MINED IS BUT A THIRD OF THAT CONSUMED

U. S. Government Taking More Drastic Steps To Protect Public.

SHIPPING IS AFFECTED Coal Supplies For Bunkering Foreign-Owned Vessels Stopped.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 6.—Still hopeful that court developments at Indianapolis Saturday might point the way to an early ending of the coal strike, Government agencies nevertheless put forth renewed and more determined efforts today to protect the public against distress almost certain to result from a protracted suspension of mining operations.

Realizing that the country is burning three times as much coal as the mines are turning out, the railroad administration, the great distributing agency, through its recently created central coal committee, took drastic action in ordering that the supply of coal to foreign owned ships in American ports be stopped immediately.

With calls for assistance from communities suffering from a coal shortage growing more numerous, the railroad administration turned loose every available car to meet the appeals made for fuel.

Eliminate Train Service. Orders went to regional directors of the nation's railroads from Director-General Hines to eliminate train service where absolutely necessary in the public interest, but it was officially announced that no general curtailment of service was contemplated.

The discontinuance of foreign tonnage bunkering was the first general step taken by the Government since the coal strike began last Saturday toward curtailment of transportation. The central committee made it plain that American-owned ships and tonnage under the American flag would continue to receive coal supplies, but that all other vessels, as the situation now existed would be compelled to await the end of the strike.

The committee's action is similar to that taken by Great Britain during the recent strike of British coal miners. Officials would not predict the result of the order as the amount of foreign tonnage now in American ports is dependent on coal supplies from this country was not known in Washington.

Land Traffic First. It was apparent that the central committee considered that precedence must be given to all land traffic in the matter of fuel distribution before even American ships would be accorded bunkering permits. Priority regulations would be observed "to the letter" in dividing the coal stocks, members of the committee said, as the supplies of coal on hand and in transit "will just about be able to take care of domestic demands and necessary ocean tonnage."

Before leaving Washington tonight for Indianapolis, Assistant Attorney-General Ames, in charge of the Government's injunction case, declared there was no change in the Government's policy toward the strike, and that he would endeavor to obtain a renewal of its temporary injunction.

Reports from agents of the department of justice and from miners and operators showed a little change in overnight conditions, except that operators claimed 44 union mines in operation in West Virginia, against 22 over last Saturday. Officers of the American Federation of Labor and representatives of the miners denied the reports and asserted that advances showed no crumbling of union forces anywhere in the bituminous regions.

There were rumors, apparently emanating from high sources, that the injunction hearing set for Saturday might go over for one week without prejudice to either side. Equally positive were rumors that Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, would make a personal appeal tomorrow to Attorney-General Palmer for withdrawal of the restraining order and all court proceedings on assurance that if this were done the strike could be settled and the men put back to work in the mines in 48 hours.

The Last Word. Mr. Palmer was out of the city, but the statement by Judge Ames that the Government would not compromise the strike, which it held illegal, was accepted as the last word on the subject. The dismissal of all court proceedings asked for today by the unions would make it possible, labor leaders said, for the two sides, through their full scale committees, to negotiate a new wage agreement at one sitting. Refusal and issuance of more drastic orders directing heads of the miners' organizations to resume operations, would mean, these officials said, a long-drawn-out struggle.

Government officials took another look at the stock reports, and while these indicated coal enough to meet immediate needs, the fact stared them in the face that the daily consumption was around 10,000,000 tons, while the daily output had been reduced by the strike to about 3,500,000 tons. It was easy for a man to figure, they said, how long present stocks would last, assuming the bins were filled for an average run of 30 days.

Gives Unstinted Indorsement To the Victory Loan, 1919.

TORONTO, Nov. 5.—E. C. Drury, premier-designate of Ontario, gave unstinted indorsement to the Victory Loan in the following statement issued over his signature this evening:

"The purchase of Victory bonds is not only a patriotic duty, but an investment opportunity of most unusual merit. The bonds constitute the best and safest investment in Canada.

"I unqualifiedly commend the Victory Loan to the farmers of Ontario, and hope all classes will unite in this patriotic endeavor to make the loan an overwhelming success."

Mr. Drury will address the Toronto Victory Loan workers at the King Edward Hotel tomorrow night.

MY HEART AND MY HUSBAND

ADELE GARRISON'S NEW PHASE OF REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

Why Dicky Desperingly Cried, "And I Thought I Understood Women!"

My mother-in-law stood looking fixedly at me waiting for a reply to her proposal that she and the baby accompany Dicky and me on our proposed auto ride. At my delay in answering her, her look changed to an impatient glare. For I am afraid that I presented a picture of open-mouthed dismay at her words. I had carefully concealed from her the fact that Dicky wished me to run the car, a procedure, of course, which would effectually bar her and the baby, on in fact anyone else as passengers, for I knew that I could bear no more watching my first attempt. I was sure that Dicky would not run the risk of having anyone else in the car to distract his attention or his.

But if I were to give her this information now she would think I was simply implying a ruse to keep her from going with us. She was in a moody mood, anyway, and when she is indulging herself in one of those of her natural common-sense ascribes to, I do not think my mother-in-law was ever so thoughtful to me as she has always been most careful to humor every whim of hers that I possibly could, no matter how trivial the occasion to myself, and have only stood in contradiction to her when some special issue was involved. This cool nodding of her request was something entirely new in her experience.

Where is Richard? I felt a trifle ashamed of myself when I saw her jaw drop and her eyes open wide in rather a vacant stare, but the next morning she had recovered herself, and I saw that she needed no sympathy from me or anybody else, but was abundantly able to take care of herself.

"Speak to Dicky, forsooth!" she exclaimed. "I might be that she is in the habit of the tone you are adopting. When I find it necessary to get down on my knees to my son to ask him to take her for a motor ride it will be high time for me to demand for the Old Ladies' Home! I suppose that is where you and I would both be glad to see me, but I will not have my son's name mentioned in connection with a home and consideration in my son's house, and I am going to have my share in the matter."

"In the garage," I returned shortly, for she was so tremendously angry that I saw words either placating or soothing would only irritate her more. And was glad to escape into my room as she went down to her room, and I was retreating back expressing haughty wrath.

What Dicky Reported. I sank into a rocking-chair, trembling bit, for I was not as strong as I had thought. I wondered if it were worth my while to attempt to get down on my knees to my son to ask him to take her for a motor ride. I was sure that Dicky would not run the risk of having anyone else in the car to distract his attention or his.

I felt a trifle ashamed of myself when I saw her jaw drop and her eyes open wide in rather a vacant stare, but the next morning she had recovered herself, and I saw that she needed no sympathy from me or anybody else, but was abundantly able to take care of herself.

"Speak to Dicky, forsooth!" she exclaimed. "I might be that she is in the habit of the tone you are adopting. When I find it necessary to get down on my knees to my son to ask him to take her for a motor ride it will be high time for me to demand for the Old Ladies' Home! I suppose that is where you and I would both be glad to see me, but I will not have my son's name mentioned in connection with a home and consideration in my son's house, and I am going to have my share in the matter."

him her back and looked me up and down. "Whether I should have believed you or not then I shall certainly know how to appraise your statements in the future," she said. "Such a thought could only enter the brain of one accustomed to such facile deceit."

"Oh, come now, mother," Dicky protested hotly, but I signaled him to keep quiet. "Woman-like, I should have fiercely resented it if he had not taken my part against his mother, but as soon as I knew he was ranged upon my side of the controversy I was perfectly willing to let her have all the honors of combat. She was not slow to take them."

"Keep quiet!" she commanded, as if he had been a noisy child of three. "And carry Richard Second down. You will take me for a ride now, and then if there is time enough afterward you can risk your life and your wife's in any way you please."

Madge's Great Satisfaction. She swept out of the room, closing the door after her decidedly—to put it mildly—both would certainly be more than enough.

"Police! Help! Also murder!" he exclaimed. "I haven't seen her in such a wax in moons. Better get under the bed, old dear, and stay there for as long as you like. Richard, it is time for you to take to the tall timber. Well! I am sure you will be sorry for me. It is a queer world, but I am going to pass the buck to me."

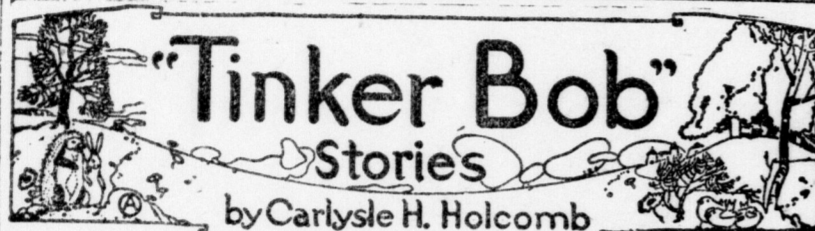

"I would advise you not to spend too much time in introspective analysis," said Dicky. "or she will be looking for you."

Dicky made the door to two strides. "Oh, wise young Madge! Oh, excellent! Mrs. Hawk shall be paraded. 'Never mind, old dear, I'll be back for you. It's all right to give her a ride and I'll be blasted if I'm going to let her spoil your whole afternoon.'"

"She couldn't do that, dear," I said softly. "You stood by me as you did just now."

Dicky stared at me, then gave a low whistle as he opened the door. "And I thought I understood women!" he said as he went out.

"Tinker Bob" Stories by Carlisle H. Holcomb

THE NIGHT PATROL

Jack the Rabbit was very happy when he saw Tinker Bob, King of the Forest, bringing his lost child safely home. It was a long time, however, before he saw the young rabbit who had disappeared as he was hunting for him.

"I am very sad to think how cruel the Hawk treated this child of the Forest," said Tinker Bob as he carried the edge of the forest to the edge of the forest.

"No, it will never happen again," said Tinker Bob. "I am going now to make arrangements for Mr. Hawk's punishment. Will you go at once and get the Chief Porkey and Major Poie Cat to gather the Forest Dwellers around the Throne early in the morning so that I may take council."

"I will," said Mr. Rabbit, and started off. When Jerry the Jay Bird started from the tree top, "I'll tell it first. I'll tell it first. Then it was that Tinker Bob had to call Jerry to his side and give him a few pointers on how to behave. The King knew that Jerry was a good fellow, and that he was going to be punished, she would go to the forest."

"Now, Jerry," said Tinker Bob, "go to Bobby Owl and tell him I want to see him very soon, and that I want to hear you screaming at the top of your voice as you go through the forest." Jerry flew hurriedly but silently away.

It was but a little while until, from the top of the tree, Tinker Bob saw King's throne, there sounded: "Hoot, hoot," Tinker Bob came out and looked up and saw Bobby Owl looking down upon him. "What is it, O King?" asked Bobby Owl as he blinked his big eyes.

"I want you to go through the forest tonight and find where the Hawk family lives," said Tinker Bob. "When you find the tree, perch yourself on the lowest limb and cry, 'Hoot, hoot,' and I will come and mark the tree."

When night was on Bobby Owl flew far above the forest and looked about. He went from one tree to another, and when he saw the great forest to the other to see that all the birds were sleeping. Then he came low and flew from one tree to the other. By and by he looked at Mrs. Hawk's nest, with her little ones, were sound asleep. Bobby perched himself on the lowest limb in the forest and cried out in a low voice: "Hoot, hoot." He waited for some moments and then he heard footsteps in the forest and soon he could see the form of the King approaching.

Tinker Bob marked the tree, then called Bobby Owl to his side and said: "Now, you patrol the forest tonight, and if the Hawk leaves her nest, let me know. I will be with you in a moment and will patrol the forest."

The King of the Forest had prepared the council chamber for the arrival of the Forest Dwellers. One by one they began to gather. Chief Porkey came first, then Major Poie Cat, then Tinker Bob and Lady Duck brought the three Fox children. Jerry the Jay Bird was perched on the lowest limb of the tree, and when he saw the King get every word, that he might tell it from the tree tops.

Little Sammy Squirrel and Jenny Wren came in rather than to disturb Mr. Muskrat, who was recently introduced to the forest dwellers. Tinker Bob brought the King and his family took a prominent seat. When all of the Forest folk were together, Tinker Bob brought the assembly of wicked Mrs. Hawk who had cruelly snatched Baby Rabbit from the ground and was abhorred to carry him to her nest and devour him. Each dweller in turn stretched his neck to view the terrible Mrs. Hawk, and each criminal was a very curious sight indeed to the peaceful forest dwellers.

"Now," said Tinker Bob, "we will hear Mrs. Hawk's story. She will tell us why she was cruel to Baby Rabbit." Mrs. Hawk, perched herself on one arm of the King's throne and began her story: "You see," she began, "I supposed every one in the forest was to blame for the Hunter killing one of my children, and I thought I had a right to take the young Rabbit from other children to eat. I didn't think I had a friend in the whole forest. That is the reason I built my nest where I thought no one could see, and I The forest King is a wonderful creature,

SECOND PROBLEM

The Advertiser's Puzzle Contest

The correct solution of the first puzzle is 1,275. As the number of contestants who submitted this solution exceeds the number of prizes, all those who other solution are eliminated from further participation in the contest.

Only one solution of the second puzzle may be submitted. It cannot be changed after it has been sent in. No money has to be paid with the solution of the second puzzle. However, any contestant who did not pay up to the limit with his solution of the first puzzle, may remit with his solution of the second sufficient to make up the difference, and he will receive full credit, the same as if he had remitted the maximum amount in the first place.

This puzzle will be given two insertions in The Advertiser, and two extra charts will be sent to all those who submitted the correct solution of the first puzzle. Anyone who submitted 1,275 as his solution of the first puzzle is entitled to these charts.

Solutions of this puzzle must be either brought in or mailed not later than 10 o'clock Friday evening, November 14, 1919. However, those residing where they do not receive the paper until several hours or a day later than city subscribers will have this time extended to correspond with the longer time it takes them to receive the paper. Solutions mailed so as to bear a postmark showing they were mailed within the time limit will be accepted the same as if they had been left in person.

In the event of ties on this puzzle, unless those tied prefer to divide the prizes, those tied will be required to solve the same puzzle again with the conditions changed, as will be announced later.

THE SECOND PUZZLE CHART

A large grid of numbers for a puzzle, with some numbers circled. The grid is 10 columns wide and 20 rows high. Some numbers are circled, indicating a path through the grid.

THE PROBLEM

Draw a continuous chain of circles across the face of the chart to the extreme right hand column of figures, then back again to the extreme left hand column. Begin at any number or figure in the extreme left hand column that you wish. Starting in this column you may go either up or down, or to the right, until you reach the extreme right hand column. Then that the King did, go up or down, or to the left. This is shown in the little illustrative chart below.

A smaller grid of numbers, similar to the one above, used for an illustrative example of the puzzle.

The above chart is shown to give contestants a better idea how to proceed. Starting in the upper left-hand corner, the first section contains five circles; the second, 4; the third, 3; the fourth, 2; the fifth, 1; and so on. In starting the chain, as well as in finishing, five circles appear in the extreme left-hand column. If for any reason a contestant prefers to start right out to the right, instead of going up or down, or wishes to end his chain without having more than one circle in the extreme left-hand corner, he may do so. Or he may have either three or four circles, either at the start or finish. At the turning point in the extreme right-hand corner he may have either three, four or five circles. In figuring up your solution, do not pay any attention to the figures outside of the circles; merely add together those you have drawn circles around. In drawing your circles across the big chart be careful not to efface them.

"Everybody Who Can Should Subscribe To The Victory Loan"

---Bishop Williams

Rt. Rev. David Williams, D.D., Lord Bishop of the Anglican Diocese of Huron, Says:

Everybody that can should subscribe to the Victory Loan:

First, because without it,

1. We cannot meet the cost of demobilization of the Canadian Overseas Forces.
2. We cannot finance from revenue the liberal provision that is being made for re-establishing the soldiers in civilian life, and for placing them on farms.
3. We cannot sell the surplus products of farm and factory outside Canada.

Secondly, because:

1. It will encourage production---the world's greatest need at this time.
2. It will help the movement back to the land, and by the extension of loans to ex-service men of the British army, we shall promote the best class of immigrants---the class that Canada needs---men for the land.
3. It will help to establish conditions till the crisis is over and the laws of supply and demand resume their normal action.
4. It is a profitable and safe investment, so that by helping the country you are also helping yourselves.

RESIGNATION OF GOVT. HELD OVER M. P.'S HEADS

Hon. J. A. Calder Says If Gratuities Granted Govt. Will Not Carry On.

ATTITUDE CRITICIZED

Members Declare Supporters' Wishes Should Determine Action.

OTTAWA, Nov. 6.—Another clear-cut intimation that the Unionist Government will not carry on should the House impose upon it the burden of providing additional gratuities for returned men came from Hon. J. A. Calder, chairman of the special soldiers' committee, in Parliament tonight. The minister, after remarking that it was only fair and proper that the Government should state to the House its policy and take a definite stand on questions involving large expenditures, said that the members should vote as they saw fit. But he added that the point was that if the members signified their disapproval of the Government's stand by voting down its policy, then another Government would have to carry on.

The majority of the members heard from today appeared to favor Major Andrews' amendment to the motion for the adoption of the report of the committee's proposals. They did not all indicate how they would vote, however. The number of Government members who have so expressed themselves, combined with uncertainty as to what the attitude of the Opposition members would be, was clearly causing anxiety around the corridors of Parliament tonight.

The Pros and Cons. Members who criticized the report and thought the returned men should receive more favorable treatment included J. H. Burnham, W. F. MacLean, W. K. Baldwin, W. F. Cockshutt, C. Turgeon, Major Power and Thomas Foster, East York.

On the other hand, Dr. Edwards, E. W. Nesbitt, Col. E. W. Cooper, Col. Athurs and H. B. Morphy, all members of the special committee, favored its findings.

Captain R. J. Manion made the suggestion that the amount for relief of returned men should be increased from fifty to one hundred millions. He was opposed, however, to the Andrews amendment. He observed that should it be adopted, and a general election result, nothing whatever could be done for the returned men for a period of six months.

H. B. Morphy, the last speaker of the evening, strongly supported the committee's report, and described Major Andrews' amendment as being "futile."

W. S. Middleboro moved the adjournment of the debate.

The Afternoon Session. At the afternoon sitting Mr. Kennedy, member-elect for Glengarry-Stormont, was introduced to the House by Messrs. J. F. Reid (MacKenzie) and F. L. Davis (Neepawa), and took his seat on the cross benches.

The debate on the soldiers' report was then continued by W. F. MacLean, who argued that though a good report in many ways, it lacked a certain broad human touch which should be exercised in dealing with the soldiers. It was not what should be expected as a parliamentary recognition of the achievements of the sons of the nation who had risked their lives and future in the war.

He came, said Mr. MacLean, from a constituency which had sent a very great number of men to the front. He recalled the days of recruiting when he had gone around and from platforms asked the young men to join the colors. During the last election campaign he had asked for support for the Union Government, because it was formed to win the war. And both during the recruiting period and the election campaign he had told the people that when the boys came home they would be taken care of. Therefore, he thought the claims of the returned men should be given more recognition than the report provided for.

Suggests Bond Issue. Turning to the financial situation, Mr. MacLean said that the pressing question was where was the money to come from. He was not going to make any proposal on this score, beyond suggesting that great mineral deposits lying near Sudbury should be taken control of by Canada and operated for the benefit of Canadians. Some of the revenue accruing could be used for re-establishing the returned soldiers. He expressed the view that people would subscribe generously to a bond issue for the soldiers. An expenditure of $200,000,000 now would probably settle the soldiers' claims for all time. If it were not given now, they would be coming back to parliament year after year for money.

H. W. Baldwin, Stanstead, said that Canada had plenty of resources which should be developed before we said we could not do more for the returned men. He praised the United States system of soldier insurance, and said it made for thrift. He believed the returned man should be handsomely reimbursed for what he had lost by going overseas. The debt of the country was discouraging communities and individuals alike, but if Canada's resources were developed that debt would soon be wiped out. Therefore, he would give the soldiers land. If there were not enough within the surveyed sections then let them go freely into the unsurveyed and let them keep any minerals or anything else they found there should be further investigation to see how far the country could go to keep themselves and the nation and encourage them to develop our resources.

No Skimping. Mr. Cockshutt, Bradford, said he would not agree with the finding of the report. It was too cautious on the side of saving the country. He would spend six times as much as the report set forth: $250,000,000 to $300,000,000 was not too much to place the men back into civil life properly. The Government had done splendidly, but he thought there should be further investigation to see how far the country could go to ward meeting the plans of the veterans' organization. There should be no skimping in this matter. It was better by far to err on the side of generosity.

No amount of money could repay these men for the sacrifices they had made. Mr. Cockshutt believed that if the report were placed again before the committee with instructions to amend the country would support that. A soldier loan for say $300,000,000 would be subscribed within Canada much more rapidly than the present Victory Loan was being taken up.

Must Find Solution. He appealed to the members on both sides of the House to approach this as too serious a matter for party considerations and too serious for personalities. A solution had to be found. The widows and dependents and aged and infirm were waiting for a solution.

dependent mothers should be treated much more generously than at present; so also, should the disabled men. Mr. Cockshutt expressed the opinion that if the Government should announce a soldiers' loan there would be a rush of subscriptions. He thought there would be no difficulty in raising $300,000,000. If the loan were over-subscribed it would be wise to keep all that was raised and use it during the coming year, for Mr. Cockshutt wanted the House to see this question was one which could not be finally settled all at once. There would probably be demands of one kind or another for some time to come.

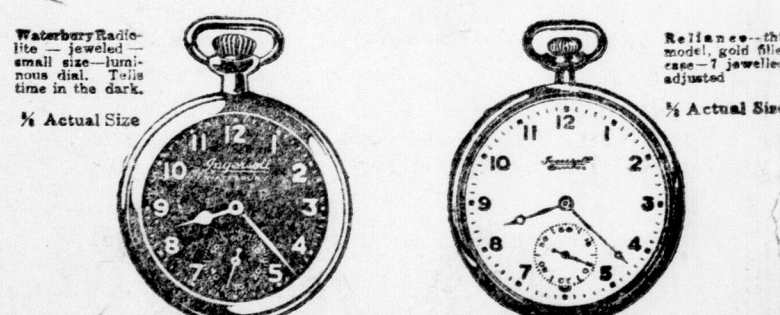

Mr. Cockshutt replied that, in normal times, when trade was good, he thought a proportion of this would be taken out of current revenue. At any rate, he was of the opinion that the interest could be paid if it were secured to do it. He had confidence in the committee which has made the decision, and felt that if it were referred back to them with instructions to recommend a broader plan, they would hit on a solution of the difficulty.

Mr. Turgeon said that this country was in duty bound to recognize the sacrifices of the returned soldiers. Even though the commitments of the country were large, he believed that the people wanted to help the soldier. He advocated the distribution of $100,000,000 in addition to the $50,000,000 provided for by the report, and expressed the view that the soldiers would be satisfied with this. When the bill was introduced he proposed to introduce an amendment to this effect: that the Government should believe that Canada was bankrupt. He thought that the distribution of $100,000,000 to pay taxes for good reason than they had been in a long time.

Mr. Thompson said that as far as the farmers of the West were concerned, they were ready to do their share for the returned soldiers. If there were to be any increase in the customs tariff he wanted them to agree to pay.

STEEL SHIPMENTS
BECOMING SLOWER

Coal Strike Likely to Make Situation Worse.

In its summary of the iron, steel, metal and machinery markets for the week ending November 6, Canadian Machinery and Manufacturing News, Toronto, makes the following comment: It has been claimed in this report for some weeks past that shipments of steel coming to Canada from the United States strike zone did not bear out the contention made that production at mills was increasing quite rapidly. Events of the past week have shown this to be increasingly so. Shipments were more tardy than ever, and there are places where not a pound of sheet or plate has been received for almost three weeks. One Canadian manufacturer returned this week from booking a nice line of tractor business in the Canadian West, and at once set to work to buy the material required to go ahead. On approaching the steel market he found that his troubles had only begun. He was not able to secure any material, nor was he able to get a delivery promise that would be of any assistance to him for purposes of winter manufacture. The coal strike, if it lasts, will make matters worse, and may have the effect of putting new zest in the rather tired-out steel struggle. Steel mills use such a tremendous amount of coal that it is not possible to store a supply for any length of time. They depend, rather, on a steady supply coming in, the coal going directly and at once to their coking plants. Delivery dates are still some distance in the future on machine tools, and considerable business is being lost to some firms on that account. As a general thing a dealer acts as an exclusive agent, and if he cannot get any thing better than a May delivery from his principals, he simply has nothing left but to pass up the business. The scrap metal market is in a poor condition for the moment. Strikes, and talk of strikes has battered down any strength the market had. Buyers look for lower figures, while sellers do not want to take the prices offered at present by the dealers. The result has been the bringing about of a condition not far removed from stagnation.

MUNICIPAL VOTERS' LISTS OUT;
THREE WEEKS FOR CORRECTIONS

Citizens should get busy at once and see that their names are placed on the lists of voters for the coming municipal elections. Unless appeals are entered by November 27, they will not be considered. City Clerk S. Baker and his staff, as in past years will endeavor to have all the names on the list, but there are several cases which may not be reached if the persons involved do not report. Those who have changed their place of residence since March 1, more especially those who have moved into ward three or ward four are warned to see that their names are on the list. Lists are available in the schools, the public library, the city hall and the Liberal and Conservative Clubs. According to the figures compiled, the favorite place of residence in the city. In this section of the city there are five subdivisions in which there are over 300 voters. In ward two there are two subdivisions of this size; in ward three, none, and in ward four, two. Simple Test Made Now May Save Many Weeks of Serious Illness Later.

People who get up in the morning tired and nervous with dull, aching heads, dizzy spells, spots before the eyes or pains in the back and groins—who have been out of bed five or six times during the night because of weak kidneys and bladder irritation, should make this simple kidney test without further delay. First save a 24-hour sample of your urine—then obtain from your druggist a little Solvax. Take three doses during the day and one before going to bed—continue this treatment for one week, take another sample of urine, and compare it with the first—just notice how much clearer it is, lighter in color and almost entirely free from sediment and besides you don't have to get up nights any more—your headaches and back-aches have disappeared and you arise in the morning rested, refreshed and "full of pep"—ready and fit for a day's work. This simple Solvax test is easy and inexpensive to make (as any good druggist can supply the amount of Solvax necessary at a very small cost). Make this test today and let your own eyes and feelings tell the story. If your druggist cannot supply you, write, enclosing 50 cents, to Booth's Hyomei Company, London, Ont., P. O. Box 338—Advt.

Ultimatum Brings Tears to Eyes of Woman in Case.

Sidney Kestline, late of Petrolia, Longwood, Alvinston, Strathroy and now of London, told Magistrate A. H. M. Graydon in police court today that it was all he could do to support a wife in these days of the high cost of living, and he left his wife because she insisted on training her mother and father with her every time they moved. He declared that he had fought a losing battle with old man J. C. McEvoy, and that he threw up the sponge in Strathroy after getting into debt $35. Mrs. Kestline, four years married to her husband in Petrolia in May of 1915, and how he had left her without any apparent cause. "Are you willing to live with your husband now?" asked J. M. McEvoy, counsel for Kestline, who is willing to provide you with a suitable home, without your father and mother though. "Are you willing?" "Tears welled up in the eyes of pretty Mrs. Kestline. "This is a hard question to ask me," she said in a voice that trembled with emotion. "I do not like to leave my mother, after all these years. "You must make your choice," said Mr. McEvoy. "Will you accept your husband's offer?" "Yes" at last. Finally in a low voice that was barely above a whisper, Mrs. Kestline gave her answer, a trembling "yes."

DON'T SPOIL A GOOD MEAL
WITH A BAD STOMACH

If a physician, a specialist in stomach diseases, came to you and said: "I will fix up that miserable worn out stomach for you or money back. "I will make it as good as new so you will not suffer from any distress and can eat what you want without fear or suffering, or money back." Would you turn up at his office? And when you're offered Mi-o-na stomach tablets, made from a prescription which a number of the stomach specialists know how to write, are you going to be narrow minded and continue to suffer from indigestion, or are you going to be fair to yourself and try Mi-o-na on the money back agreement? Mi-o-na stomach tablets are offered to you on this basis, that if they do not put your stomach into such good shape that it is no longer a source of stomach, bill ousness, sick headache, and stomach distress, your money will be returned. For sale by all leading druggists. If your druggist cannot supply you, write, enclosing 50 cents to Booth's Hyomei Company, London, Ont.

Central Powers To Be Represented on Women's Congress

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 6.—Special provision for the representation of the Central Powers in the new organization of the International Congress of Working Women was made at the suggestion of Margaret Bondfield, of the British delegation, at today's sitting. It had been agreed that one of the vice-presidents should represent both the Slavic and the Teutonic peoples, but the British delegate insisted that the position of the women of the Central Powers was too important for such divided representation, and it was agreed to hold open one vice-presidency to be filled later by a woman chosen by German, Austrian and Russian representatives.

HYDRO-RADIALS TO COST MORE THAN $6,500,000

Beck Gives Out Estimates and Proposed Route At Galt.

TAKE VOTE IN JANUARY

To Submit Bylaws in Seventeen Municipalities—Would Take Over G. T. R. System.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

GALT, Nov. 6.—Representatives of every municipality and township lying between Hamilton on the south and Elmira on the north gathered here this afternoon in the city hall, filling it to the door, to hear Sir Adam Beck and Chief Engineer Galt of the hydro commission outline their plans for the hydro radial system, covering this territory and to receive estimates on its cost.

As a result of today's meeting bylaws will be submitted to 17 municipalities affected at the January election. Today's meeting, called by the commission, was presided over by Mayor Mercer. Sir Adam Beck said Ontario lacked transportation and that he came before this meeting assured that the system proposed was the best. Electric lines in the United States had been investigated, estimates on revenue had been obtained and full authority given to the commission to submit bylaws to be voted on in January. He predicted that the extension of hydro radials would have the result of reducing the cost of power to districts served by them.

The Toronto terminal of the hydro radials, he said, would be almost as large as the present union by-pass and further, he said, ample market facilities would be provided for agricultural and fruit products with an interchange of traffic with all steam roads. The hydro chairman was inclined to wander somewhat, and he even touched on the political situation at Queen's Park.

"I care not what party I belong to," he said, "but I believe it is right to give these men (referring to the U. P. O.), a chance. This is no time for strife and only by production can we reduce the high cost of living."

Reference was made to statements that the Chippawa Canal scheme would be a failure, but Sir Adam reminded his hearers of the prediction he made in 1913 that 200,000 horsepower would be required in 1919, which had been fulfilled. Further, he said, there would be greater restrictions in the use of power in the next year and a half, so great was the demand. The commission could now easily dispose of 100,000 more horsepower if it had it. While the first estimates on the cost of the Chippawa Canal were $16,000,000, and it might cost $25,000,000, that was not too great an amount if the commission could show dollar for dollar. Then the cost of power might be as low as pre-war prices.

When the resources were fully developed, he believed that 450,000 horsepower to be provided by the Chippawa Canal would be taken up in a few years. He did not believe the people of Ontario would turn back on hydro, but that electric would continue to lead the world in electric production.

Chief Engineer Galt presented the report on the route and cost of the proposed hydro radials lines from Hamilton to Elmira, with Galt practically the hub of the system. Municipalities served will be the townships of Ancaster, West Flamboro, Beverly, North Dumfries, Waterloo, Woolwich, Preston and Guelph, towns of Elmira, Dundas, Waterloo, Preston and Healdsburg and the cities of Hamilton, Galt, Kitchener and Guelph.

It is the intention to use the interurban terminal on James street, Hamilton, thus connecting with Toronto. The Hamilton-St. Catharines Railway line will branch off from the Toronto-Hamilton, Niagara line three-quarters of a mile from the terminal, then run westerly, south of the Desjardines Canal in the valley to Dundas and Copetown, and then northwesterly through Rockton and Sheffield to Galt, entering this city from the south along the Grand River.

WHY EXPERIMENT?

Food scientists claim that the leavener is largely responsible for the flavor, texture and wholesomeness of your home baking. That on no other one ingredient does so much depend. It is important, therefore, to use a baking powder that you know possesses the necessary leavening qualities.

TRADING SCHOONERS BRING FORTUNES IN FURS FROM FAR NORTH

Nome, Alaska, Oct. 22.—Fortunes in furs were brought out of the far north this summer by the few trading schooners that braved the unusual heavy Arctic Ocean ice and worked their way along the northern rim of the continent to Banks Land and Herschel Island and back again.

Over 2,500 furs were stored on Banks Land alone awaiting the boats, according to reports brought here. For two years the ice has prevented boats from reaching the spot, and as a result, the trappers on the island have been piling up what Nome men said was the greatest cargo ever brought around into the Bearing Sea.

A SHARP SKIRMISH.

WASHINGTON, D.C., Nov. 6.—After a sharp and fruitless parliamentary skirmish, during which a vote on the ratification of the peace treaty without reservations for a time seemed imminent, the Senate late today went back to its regular order of business and began formal consideration of the reservations recommended by the foreign relations committee.

Col. Gerald White Former Tory M. P. Appointed Senator

OTTAWA, Nov. 5.—Colonel Gerald White, who for a number of years was Conservative member for North Renfrew, was today appointed to the Senate, and this evening took the oath and signed the roll. The new senator served as commander of a forestry battalion overseas and was not a candidate for re-election at the general election of 1917. He takes the place made vacant in the Upper House by the death of the late Senator George Taylor.

It is understood that William Proudfoot, former Liberal leader in the Ontario Legislature, has been added to the Senate, or that he will be within the next day or two.

EMPLOY SPOTTERS TO WATCH THE SPOTTERS

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—"I am satisfied that liquor spotters are not accepting any bribes, but we are making inquiries into certain rumors," said J. D. Flavelle, chairman of the Ontario license board today. "At present we have not sufficient evidence to hang a cat." Rumors have been persistent of late that the spotters employed by the department were taking bribes. Spotters will now be engaged to spot the alleged bribed spotters.

The Young Man's Opportunity

"If you want to know if you are a success, ask yourself this question—'Can you save money?' If you can, you are a success. If you can't, drop out."

That's plain talk, but it's true.

That's something for the young man of Canada to think over. If you are not saving money—you are not getting anywhere.

You are lifting your feet and putting them down on the same spot day after day, marking time.

No man ever succeeded that way.

Take a grip on yourself and cut out those careless, useless expenditures you make day after day.

Victory Bonds are your opportunity.

Buy a "big block" of Victory Bonds.

Buy them on easy terms—under the installment plan.

Grit your teeth—and pay for them! You can do it.

And think what this money saved may mean to you later in life. It may mean an interest in some business; it may mean the making of a home. It will mean that you can avail yourself of some investment opportunity that will ensure your financial or business success. The possession of some "ready money" has often been the foundation of a fortune.

Begin saving to-day.

THE BARKER LUCK. By A. W. Peach.

Rose Barker faced the issue bravely as she had faced other difficult problems in days past.

On the evening that the verdict had been given, her faithful and unobtrusive lover, Elmer Horton, who had worked in her old office, came to see her...

"Dear, the Barker luck has busted!" "It's the Barker luck, Elmer," she said, smiling bravely.

"Ah, I wonder!" Then her smile faded a bit. "Well, I must have it done, but the money end of it—"

"Do!" He used to sit and ramble on by the hour with you while I was only asking for five minutes to make love to you."

She shook her head warningly. "None of that, Elmer. I'm not going to be a great flourish. I'm glad to be talked of as having money."

He took the check quickly. The writing was so erratic that it hardly made sense. "Clearly enough, it was the vagary of your public mind."

"What are you thinking about?" "That, see how yellow it is! He has a little crazy, No, don't be foolish."

"All right, sir," she assented, making a game of it. He folded the check and placed it carefully in his pocket.

"Flood me with love, my dear," she said. "You have been so good to me, so faithful and kind—"

"I'll remember, And Rose Bee, remember that the Barker luck has busted!"

"What are you thinking about?" "That, see how yellow it is! He has a little crazy, No, don't be foolish."

Doctoring Near-Bear With Raisins or Yeast Is Breach of O. T. A.

TORONTO, Nov. 6.—A warning has been issued by J. H. Nothing stronger than the Ontario temperance act allows will be tolerated, the warning states.

Anzac Considering Important Reforms In Defence System

Sydney, Australia, Nov. 5.—Important and far-reaching reforms in the defence of Australia are advocated in a report now being considered by the federal cabinet. The report is the work of an advisory committee of experts, several of whom held commands at or near the front during the war. The committee points out that with the world in its present condition of unrest there is no real guarantee against war, and it emphasizes the vulnerable position of Australia.
 It recommends a concentrated course of citizen force training covering, perhaps, three months in a year under conditions approximating those of war. It further recommends organization of the commonwealth military forces on division lines and the formation of machine gun and other new units sufficient to constitute six infantry and two cavalry divisions; establishment of divisional headquarters and skilled skeleton staff; an air service; and development of arsenals activities to insure a reserve stock of ammunition and other war material Australia can manufacture.

When The Day Is Over

When the household worries of everyday life have dragged you down, made you unhappy, and there is nothing in life but headache, backache and worry, turn to the right prescription.
 Everything growing out of the ground seems intended for some use in establishing natural conditions. Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., long since found out what is naturally best for women's diseases. He learned it all through treating thousands of cases. The result of his studies was a medicine called Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine is made of vegetable growths that nature surely intended for backache, headache, weakening pains, irregularities, and for the many disorders common to women in all ages of life.

Orilla, Ont.—"I suffered from a bad case of woman's trouble with backache, nervousness, disordered digestion, irregularity and I had great pain all the time, sometimes I would faint at my work. I had one physician after another but they did me no good. I then took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and it fixed me up all right. I look much better and feel fine. I will recommend the 'Prescription' to all suffering as I did."—MRS. MAYBELLE B. GRATRICK, 115 Albert St.

HORSE, DOG, CAT AND RAT MEAT, RUSSIAN DIET

Get Bit of Black Bread and Cherry Leaf Tea to Wash It Down.

With the Russian Northwest Army at the front, Oct. 25, via Copenhagen, Nov. 5.—As Gatchina is a suburb of Petrograd, only 25 miles away, and has been under soviet rule as long as the capital, you can get some idea of food conditions in Petrograd by living in Gatchina. The food situation still is much like it was under the bolsheviks. For the White army has a very scant supply of provisions and conditions cannot change much until the big bridge from Jamburg is restored so that trains can come into liberated Russia direct from Revel, where America has a big bread is poor.

The bread is very poor. It looks and tastes like a mixture of black clay, straw, sand and glue. It is sour and heavy as a brick. One loaf of bread each day is issued. One loaf of potato soup and was the ration of each person in Gatchina. Even the Reds. Even this meagre ration has failed in Petrograd. Even this horrible soup for bread now is so scarce in Petrograd that one pound now costs 5,000 rubles in other but czar or soviet times.

Bolshevik prisoners have told me they have not tasted meat in many months. Meat is very scarce and there is not a particle in Gatchina. I have eaten out of horse meat since I have been in Gatchina. I do not mind horse meat, but I am not sure I could stand it long. I found it very difficult to eat. I know how much dog meat costs, but probably much more. Almost all the dogs in Gatchina have been eaten. Those that still enjoy the blessing of life are guarded carefully by their masters, or would be otherwise.

How Dogs Keep Alive.
 The dogs themselves keep alive only by feasting on the horses that die in the streets. These are horses that die of disease or otherwise would have been used for eating people.

Conditions are not so bad at Gatchina as in Petrograd because Gatchina is, it was in 1914—surrounded as it is. There is much open space in Gatchina. There are potatoes, pumpkins, and other vegetables. I have seen a man just from Petrograd who told me today that he had a lot of capital at rats and paid high prices for them. Gatchina admits eating dogs, but not, however, that it has ever eaten a rat in Gatchina. I feel it is very suspicious of hash in this town.

Two Meals a Day—Maybe.
 At the officers' mess we have two meals a day. The first meal at noon bread and tea, generally made of dried cherry leaf. At night, we have all we have a very poor meal made of horse, all chopped and mixed together, and tea. There is nothing to buy in Gatchina. Not a single shop or store of any kind has the faintest article of anything. The peasants have nothing to sell. Coming into Gatchina with a loaf of bread at 200 rubles. A loaf of bread means more to the owner than any number of marks or rubles.

DIRIGIBLE SERVICE A HUGE UNDERTAKING; WILL COST MILLIONS

Liverpool-Australia and Liverpool-New York Are Proposed Routes.

LONDON, Nov. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—The proposed Liverpool-New York air service will be an enormous undertaking. The problem of supplying the necessary dirigible airships is but one of the items to be considered. They cost about $3,750,000 each to construct. At least six of these huge craft will be needed to maintain these two services with any degree of regularity.
 There are also to be considered the problem of suitable landing grounds and mooring posts; the intention of the Great Northern Aerial Syndicate being that aerodromes will be provided at the more important stations, while mooring posts will serve as second-class stops or halts.

2,000-Mile Intervals.
 Aerodromes for dirigibles are required only at every 2,000 miles, and it is now possible for an airship to be moored to or released from a mooring tower in any wind up to 60 miles an hour; yet the total financial backing considered necessary for such an undertaking is in the neighborhood of $10,000,000.
 The mooring-out station for airships, which is in the form of a high tower including an elevator shaft, by which the dirigible will be hoisted up and down from the ground, is over 150 feet high. With a revolving head, the dirigible can be rigidly attached to this tower by the nose, will rise clear of the ground in all weathers, and be able to swing with the direction of the wind.

 Each of these towers will be provided with a hauling-in winch and a rope by which the dirigible will be hauled up the morning post, also a supply base of hydrogen, fuel and water ballast.

FAMOUS HOCKEYIST IS BACK FROM OVERSEAS

KINGSTON, Nov. 6.—Captain "Nick" Hawfl, one of Kingston's famous hockeyists of other days, has returned from overseas and secured his discharge from the army. Captain Hawfl has little to say about hockey, but it is probably that he will figure in hockey circles in Ottawa this winter, as he has expressed a wish to bring a veteran team here from Ottawa for several games.

TO REMAIN IN WOODSTOCK.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 6.—The Rev. Dr. L. B. Gibson, pastor of Knox Church, this city, has refused an invitation to become pastor of a church near Pittsburgh, Pa., at a salary $1,100 in advance of what he is getting in this city. He prefers to remain in the land of his adoption, Canada, he says. Dr. Gibson has been in this city for four years.

Still Greater Reductions in a Sweeping Clearance of Broken Lines. Former Prices Were $39.75 to $125.00.

Reduced to $29.75, $37.50 to $87.50

Women's and Misses' styles in Tricotines, Velours, Gabardines, Poptines and Serges, in all the new shades, as well as the always reliable Navy and Blacks.

It can be said in all sincerity—and the suits themselves will verify this assertion—that this is the year's greatest suit clearance. Many of the suits are worth far more than the selling price wholesale, but the 'Artistic' policy demands that each season's garments be sold in its own season. Early choosing is advisable.

FORMER NOBLES OF GERMANY SUING FOR RETURN OF ESTATES

CASSEL, Germany, Nov. 5.—(By the Associated Press.)—Two Germans, formerly of the nobility, who have been deprived by the new regime of the greater part of their estates, have been obliged to sue the new governments for restoration or reimbursement. They are the Duke of Coburg-Gotha and the Duke of Oldenburg.
 The former Duke of Coburg-Gotha and his son, Prince William, have been obliged before the revolution to surrender a vast domain of forest. After the Diet concluded all the nobles' property, promising to pay him what the courts should determine to be a fair price.
 By one stroke of the pen the commissioners who now rule the new Free State of the Coburg-Gotha estate of the Duke of Coburg-Gotha estimated to be worth 65,000,000 marks, and this without offering to reimburse the duke for his loss. The duke was stripped of everything he owned.
 The other portion of the duchy, Coburg-Gotha, has reached a financial agreement with the duke.
 Both prince and duke have sued the new governments. In the case of the duke the court which sits in Gotha has obtained a legal ruling from eminent attorneys that confiscation without remuneration is illegal so that the duke is to recover his money, or be paid for his property. After all, life for dukes, princes and other nobility in Germany today is unhappy.

Vienna, Ever Gay, Now Mad Whirl of Pleasure-Seekers

Berlin, Nov. 5.—(By Associated Press.)—Vienna, once again, is now more superficially gay than ever, owing to the illicit traders who have profited by the war, and now are spending their ill-gotten gains, writes a newspaper correspondent from the Austrian capital. Vienna, says one of these writers, is "diving music." Describing the scenes in the dance halls and pavilions and gambling resorts, the writer says that nearly all the people demonstrate a desperate demand for youth and enjoyment, and adds that "this sickly and morbid joy in spending on self-destruction" produces a frightful effect on the sober-minded people of the city.
 Public amusements are provided in the Pleasure Park, and Schoenbrunn, where are given places for children, fire-works, riding, dancing, Trottoire, dances by Berchtesgarden peasants, acts from Bohemian and hand concertos.
 The writer says that all of this striving for amusement is only a mask for perplexity and inability to return to order and sane life or evidence of helplessness and indigence.

BLEEDING GUMS MEAN PYORRHOEA, SAYS DENTIST--SAVE YOUR TEETH BEFORE THEY LOOSEN AND FALL OUT

Says a little Epithol, rubbed on sore, inflamed, bleeding or pus-discharging gums, quickly, makes gums clean and healthy and teeth sound and tight.

Thousands of people—probably four out of five, over forty—are victims of Pyorrhoea, Kings disease of the gums, says Dr. Charles S. Decker, a prominent New York dentist. Their gums are red, swollen, inflamed and bleed. They may bleed or discharge pus on the slightest touch or if they are snoring, flabby and tender. Their teeth are loosening and decaying and almost ready to fall out. Having tried various dental remedies, powders, lotions and so on, without success, they come to the conclusion that Pyorrhoea is incurable and that they must have their teeth pulled and go through life with false teeth. Yet their case is not hopeless.

In my dental practice in recent years I have found in many instances that these conditions can be cured, and quickly, cleaned up by the simple application to the diseased gums of a little ordinary Epithol.

Therefore, if your teeth are loosening or decaying or discharging pus from the roots, or if your gums are bleeding or are sore and tender, and bleed easily, you owe it to yourself to make the Epithol simple cure. Go to any reliable drugist and get an ounce of Epithol—remember the name—E-P-I-T-H-O-L—and rub it into the diseased gums each night and morning for ten days. Then see if a wonderful improvement has not been effected. The results I have obtained in some instances seem little short of marvelous. Not long ago a man came to me with teeth sore and loose and gums constantly discharging pus which had been carried to his stomach, developing a serious case of stomach trouble. His physician had ordered him to have all his teeth pulled. Instead I had him use Epithol on the diseased gums, and in a short time the trouble cleared up. His teeth tight and healthy again and the inflammation ended of a sudden. When we consider how greatly our general health depends upon the possession of sound, healthy teeth, it seems to me that the discovery of such a valuable dental aid as Epithol cannot be advertised too widely or too strongly.

NOTE: Epithol, so strongly recommended above by Dr. Decker, is a safe and harmless antiseptic antipruritic treatment for teeth and gums that is making a wonderful impression wherever it has been introduced. Dentists and users alike are amazed at the wonderful improvement it brings so quickly. The manufacturers have such great confidence in Epithol that they have agreed through such prominent local drug stores as the Standard Drug Company or Taylor Drug Company, and other leading druggists, to dispense Epithol in a full purchase price of the first package if it does not make a wonderful improvement in ten days. This makes its test an easy and simple matter and avoids all risk of loss.—ADVT.

BILL AT PATRICIA

EXCEPTIONALLY GOOD AND PLEASES CROWDS

"The Brute Breaker," Famous Story of Love and Adventure, Feature.

Showing at the Patricia the last half of this week is a bill which will more than delight London theatre-goers, if Thursday's performances are any criterion. Both afternoon and evening the house was filled to capacity, and those who were fortunate enough to be present left any "buses" which may have accompanied them far behind.

"The Brute Breaker" is the story of love and adventure in the tall timber country. Leaves nothing to the imagination as a "long plot, comedy, sentimentality through the whole story."

In the land of towering trees no law but that of brute force is known. In the woods the bully held sway, but one day Louis Gratiote came. He was a French-Canadian, who loved fair play and was a champion of the weak. One by one the bullies were conquered by Matt and Jeff in "Sound your A" also provided many laughs.

GOOD VAUDEVILLE PROGRAM PRESENTED AT GRAND THEATRE

Five Acts and Griffith's "Broken Blossoms" Pleases Large Audiences.

Although the feature picture, "Broken Blossoms" is being shown at the Grand during the whole week, the vaudeville underwent a complete change yesterday and five new acts were presented.

The headline attraction of the program, "The Mystic Garden," presented by G. W. Nelson, was staged in a setting that gives this act of illusions a flavor of the mystic orient. The three features of this act were "Atmosphere Suspension," "The Birth of a Masterpiece," and "The Birth of a Masterpiece." In the first of these while a girl is to all appearances hypnotized and suspended in the air, she is made the subject of many art studies. Some beautiful effects are created.

In "The Mystery of the Crystal Casket," the girl makes her appearance in a casket, which, a few seconds before, was shown to be entirely empty. The "Birth of a Masterpiece" was something after the same order. During a short interval an empty cabinet is covered by curtains and when they are drawn a tableau portraying "The Rock of Ages" is shown, and is immediately followed by another of a modern version of the picture.

A gymnastic novelty called "Striking a Pose," given by the three Kanes, a daring balancing act, introducing novelties and some hair-raising stunts. Copes and Hittler are an eccentric pair of comedians. Their style of comedy is an unusual one. Probably, if others than they attempt to stage it, it would not be called comedy, but they have a way in "putting it across" that takes the crowd by storm. Laughter greeted their every minute of the act, and they received generous applause.

The pep of Billy Browning made his act a popular one. He has a way in telling a story that would keep it from falling flat even if there was not a particle of humor in it. His stories are humorous and absolutely free from suggestiveness.

A miniature musical comedy revue called "Puppy Love" played by Johnny Small and Sisters, beautifully staged with special settings and lighting effects. The two girls have fair voices and dance rather well, while Johnny Small made a hit with a song, "The Old Ones Are After the Young Ones."

GREAT WESTERN DRAMA PLEASES AT MAJESTIC THEATRE

"The Westerners," Great Tale of Northern Life, Thrilled Audience Last Night.

London theatregoers rarely have the opportunity of seeing such a thrilling photograph of western life as they have in the presentation at the Majestic Theatre of "The Westerners," the latter part of the week. The picture was shown the first time in London last evening, and thrilled the large crowds which thronged the popular playhouse.

The story is laid in the Black Hills in the days of the gold rush, and tells in an absorbing manner of the implacable revenge of Michael Lafond, a half-breed Indian, against Jim Buckley, scout, who caused Lafond to be driven from a wagon train for insulting one of the white women. Lafond rises to power in the hills, murders the white woman, kidnaps her daughter and raises the child as his own daughter, later using the girl as part of his scheme of revenge against Buckley.

Lafond plans to trap Buckley to his ruin and to force the girl, Molly, into the life of a dance hall woman.

Here he finds Buckley, now a leading citizen of the settlement. The former scout has no recollection of the half-breed, and the latter lays his plans to ruin Buckley without interruption. Molly, the only woman in the camp, enjoys the adoration of the male population. Among them is Cheyenne Harry, a reckless young miner, who becomes her chief suitor. Meanwhile Lafond has succeeded in his scheme to disgrace Buckley in the eyes of his fellow men. He is forced to fight his way out of the settlement. Lafond, however, is recognized before leaving camp in pursuit of Buckley. How Lafond's plans are frustrated and Molly is saved by the man she loves while the half-breed meets his just deserts in a plunge down a steep embankment in a buckboard, brings a smashing climax to an enthralling narrative.

A Charlie Chaplin comedy and other special features complete the picture performance.

Miss Marjory Skinner continues to please the audience at the Majestic. Miss Skinner possesses an exceptionally fine voice and a charming personality. The program tells us her story in a most interesting manner. She renders numerous popular numbers in a pleasing manner, and is not at all stingy with her smiles.

'A JAPANESE GIRL' WINS FAVOR WITH LARGE ASSEMBLAGE

Miss Dorinda Abbott Directs Pleasing Operatta and Miss Elsie McDermid Takes Leading Role.

One of the prettiest musical performances of the season was held last night in the Auditorium, when a heavy of pretty girls with musical voices appeared in "A Japanese Girl," presented under the direction of Miss Dorinda Abbott of the London Conservatory of Music. The music of the operatta which is by Charles Vincent, was splendidly rendered by the cast. Miss Elsie McDermid taking the leading role as "O Hanu San."

Perhaps the most effective piece of solo work in the whole production was the "O Tori-Kayo" song sung by Miss McDermid with bird-trill obbligato. The whole operatta is built up on the Japanese custom which decrees that the one who is going far from home, should leave behind him a substitute in the shape of some living thing such as a plant or bird. In the story, "O Hanu San" is represented as carrying on a conversation with the bird, who remains as a reminder of her father's absence. The introduction of the bird notes was most effectively done.

"Sayonara," sung behind the scenes, was a most attractive chorus number, as was the opening "Sing O-hayo-O," and the final jubilant chorus, "In Praise of Canada." Other dainty and effective chorus numbers were "Carmen Laps," the "Lullaby" and the tip toe chorus, "Hush."

The humorous solo number, "What Shall I Do?" sung by Miss Irene Brown, as the Japanese serving maid, is also worthy of mention, as is the comic duet, "We are Not Finished Yet," by Miss Alice Carley and Miss Janet Metcalf. Miss Alicia Clement and Miss Nettie Jones were able supporters of the leading lady in the roles of "O Kiku San" and "O Kayo San," while Miss Edna Guy made a most successful governess. The costumes and stage setting throughout were exceedingly pretty.
