AN INSPECTION

Is Made of the Proposed Lake Erie and Northern Railway Route--An Outline of the Various Points.

The members of the Railway Board of the city council, and the members of the Parks Board assembled at the city hall yesterday afternoon shortly after two o'clock where they were joined by Mr. W. S. Brewster, and W. P. Kellett, who represented the Lake Erie and Northern Railway.

Those present were Ald. W. A. Blinnick, Ald. J. H. Spence, Ald. J. Quinn, Ald. Gillingwater, and City Engineer T. Harry Jones of the Railway Board, and Messrs. E. L. Todd, W. Glover, F. Cockshutt, J. C. Waller and Mayor Hartman of the Parks Board.

The delegation then proceeded along the foot of Scarie Avenue, at a point where the survey line, which runs along the edge of the river bank, takes a turn and runs out into the river, touching a piece of the island and proceeds northward towards the Holmedale. There is a grade here with a raise of 1 per cent, i. e. a raise of one foot in every hundred.

After arriving at the point where the G. T. R. and the electric roads cross, the committee got into the autos and returned to the city. The members of the Railway Board, after being over part of the route, will be in a position to report on same, and lay the matter before the city council, although a conference between the said board and Parks board may take place first.

FELL IN BICYCLE RACE.

PARIS, Jan. 18.—While riding in the six day bicycle race here last night Cyril Vanhouwert, the Belgian champion and Petit Breton, a Frenchman, collided. The Belgian when picked up was found to be suffering from a broken collarbone, a torn pleura and internal hemorrhage. His condition is grave. Breton was uninjured.

SLOSSON DOING WELL.

ST. LOUIS, Mo., Jan. 18.—Two sensational runs gave Geo. B. Slosson, the fifth straight block of 400 points in his 2,400 point match with Koji Yamada at 18.2 half-line hills here last night. The total score for the five nights' play is 2,000 to 1,231, in Slosson's favor. Slosson's high runs were 112 and 160 and the Japanese best run was 24. Slosson averaged 28.4-14, and Yamada 8-13.

VICTORIA LEADS.

VANCOUVER, Jan. 18.—Victoria nosed out Vancouver in a clean game by a score of four to three and went into the lead in the Pacific Coast League. There was but a shade between the two teams, but that shade must be allotted to Victoria. That team never checked better. In the second period, after Victoria scored once the Vancouver team came to life for a few minutes and there was some fast hockey. Cyclone Taylor became "cyclical" taking the puck up for two goals, both of them being shot by Harris. In the third period and in the last period Victoria notched a goal.

A FIRE

Takes Place at the Establishment of Miss Wilkes--The Men However Succeeded in Saving Many Valuable Horses.

(Courier Leased Wire). GALT, Ont., Jan. 18.—Fire, which started from some unknown cause, last night destroyed one of the immense modern barns on the estate of Miss Katharine L. Wilkes, at Blair, near here. In the barn were 75 horses, including some of the most valuable of the famous Wilkes' string, such as Great Mikado and Paronella Todd and other stallions. It was fortunate that the blaze was discovered before it had gained much headway, for it gave the men at the farm time to free all the horses and about fifty head of cattle. None of the animals were injured, but 180 tons of hay and straw and about 5,000 bushels of oats were entirely destroyed. The Galt firemen and the Preston department were called, but without adequate water supply they could do nothing. The crowds, which had gathered from all the countryside, simply watched the valuable structure burn. The barn was electrically lighted, and a short circuit may have caused the blaze. The loss is covered by insurance.

It is Just Like Spring Weather in the States

(Courier Leased Wire).

NEW YORK, Jan. 18.—Electric fans buzzing in offices here mosquitoes in New Jersey, snowless Vermont, blue birds and robins in Virginia, apple trees budding in Maryland and outside baseball practice in Philadelphia and dandelion picking in many places are reports attesting to the unusual midwinter in the east. Popular belief that yesterday was one of the warmest January days this city ever experienced is borne out by the search of winter records showing that yesterday's 50 degrees is the highest the thermometer has registered for a January 17th since the weather bureau was established 43 years ago.

The Hudson river is being navigated at a later date than any time since 1810 when Robert Fulton was running his steamer, Car of Neptune, between New York and Albany as late as January 20. It is customary to close the river for navigation on Dec. 15. Even in Maine most of the lakes and rivers are open, but the ice companies are still hoping for two weeks of zero weather which is required for a good ice crop.

British Doctors Have Changed Their Minds

(Courier Leased Wire).

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The members of the British Medical Association today decided by a majority of 113 against 35 votes to release the British doctors from the pledge they had given not to serve under the National Insurance Act which provides a monetary allowance and medical attendance to the working classes during sickness. The opposition of the doctors to the scheme of state insurance was based on the amount to be paid them for their services to the insured persons which they declared was too small. It is however, suspected that politics have much to do with the doctors' resistance, especially in London. The minority at today's meeting was composed entirely of London practitioners and the campaign against the act continues in the Metropolis.

Canadian Cruiser Captures a U. S. Schooner While She Was Poaching

(Courier Leased Wire).

VICTORIA, B. C., Jan. 18.—Although she made a determined effort to elude capture the Gasoline Fishing Schooner Active, Captain Engell of Tacoma, is in charge of the Dominion Government, having been caught in the act of poaching a little over a mile off Cape Cook, Vancouver Island, by the Fishery Protection Cruiser-Newtoning, who brought the vessel into port. The captain and his crew of the Newtoning sighted the Active fishing while patrolling the Active fishing while patrolling the Halifax Banks off the Northwest shores of the island about noon Monday. The American craft had her gear out, but when she sighted the Newtoning she started up her engines and headed for sea. In the hurry of her escape the Active left her trawls behind. The officers of the Newtoning having taken her bearings found the Active was well within the three mile limit when discovered fishing. She had about 3,000 pounds of halibut aboard when captured. The Active will remain here until the case comes before the courts.

MUCH RESERVE

Is Manifested by the Turkish Plenipotentiaries--Some Caustic Comments at the Expense of the European Powers.

(Courier Leased Wire).

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The greatest reserve is maintained by the Turkish plenipotentiaries here in regard to the note handed to the Ottoman Government yesterday by the European ambassadors at Constantinople. All discussion of the merits of the note is avoided by them on all the elements for an exhaustive judgment.

Osman Nizami Pasha, the Turkish Ambassador to Germany, said, however, he could not help remarking that Europe, which four months ago had proclaimed the principle of the maintenance of the state of things existing before the war, whatever the result of the conflict might be, has now taken the strange course of demonstrating its neutrality by making in the note open allusion to the possible loss by Turkey of Constantinople and some of her Asiatic provinces, when it says that a resumption of the war would "bring into question the fate of the Turkish capital and perhaps an extension of hostilities to the provinces of Asiatic Turkey."

With such evidence of European sympathy, Osmond Nizami Pasha added: "Nobody could consider the Porte too exacting if it asked for an explanation of what the powers mean by moral and material support, judging by the efficacy of the benevolent support so lavishly poured out in the ambassadorial note."

The same can, he said, be asked from the Turkish point of view, he asked what the powers promise concerning the Islands in the Aegean Sea. He continued: "Even admitting for the sake of argument that Turkey is ready to yield the islands in the Aegean Sea, how can she cede them to the powers on the simple promise that their settlement will exclude all menace to the security of Turkey, when Europe has just given such tangible proof of how little her promises are worth."

The Kaiser Spoke Out in a Plain Manner

BERLIN, Jan. 18.—A newspaper correspondent learns the following from a high diplomatist who knows something in regard to the failure to send to Turkey the collective note of the powers which contained a threat of a naval demonstration in the Dardanelles.

According to this person, the Kaiser, during the annual reception on January 12, entered into a lengthy conversation with the Roumanian minister. The Emperor expressed the hope that Roumania realized the great responsibility which rested upon her regard to a controversy with Bulgaria, and spoke of the great danger that threatened, owing to the differences between Roumania and Bulgaria, and said it might be the beginning of a general European war.

Ten Million Dollars to Aid the Farmers

(Courier Leased Wire).

OTTAWA, Jan. 18.—Hon. Martin Burrell has given notice of the following resolution: That it is expedient to provide a sum not exceeding $10,000,000 to be appropriated and paid out of the consolidated revenue fund of Canada during the period of ten years beginning with the year ending March 31st, 1914, for the purpose of aiding and advancing the farming industry by instruction in agriculture, including the work carried on by veterinary colleges."

The Government thus is energetically fulfilling its promise to aid agriculture. The sum, by far the largest ever devoted to the country's basic industry, is especially intended to promote educational work. The work will proceed along the lines laid down by C. C. James as a result of his survey of the industry over the entire Dominion. It is understood that Mr. Burrell and Mr. James have worked out a well-defined scheme for the expenditure of the money on extremely practical lines. The distribution of the grant will be largely on the basis of population.

NEW PRESIDENT

Was up Betimes This Morning--French People Hail His Appointment to the Post With Universal Satisfaction

(Courier Leased Wire).

PARIS, Jan. 18.—The French cabinet met today at the palace of Elysee, under the chairmanship of President Fallieres, when all the ministers formally offered their resignations as a sequel to yesterday's election of Premier Raymond Poincare as chief executive. President Fallieres, however, requested all the members of the Government to retain their portfolios until their successors had been chosen. He did not indicate the statesmen, who would be asked to form the new cabinet. President-elect Poincare took his cup of coffee at an early hour this morning and then went for a brisk walk in the Avenue du Bois de Boulogne at a time when few persons were about, except those who were hurrying to work. Afterward M. Poincare proceeded to the Foreign Office on the Quai D'Orsay, where he worked with two secretaries clearing up the arrears of national business. The newspapers, even those professing Monarchist and Clerical sentiment, comment on Raymond Poincare's election with favor and with a unanimity unprecedented in French politics. It is in fact difficult to find anywhere a dissenting word. Friends of Jules Pams, the strong opponent of M. Poincare in the balloting, aver that it was the Conservatives who decided the presidency, but to this statement the reply is made that the Conservatives possessed 91 votes in the National Assembly and that therefore with everyone of them supporting the candidature of M. Poincare, he would still have acquired the Republican-Radicals vote more than Jules Pams, as he won the election by a majority of 187.

Falkland Farmers' Club
The Farmers' Club held their first meeting of the new year on Tuesday evening, January 14th, at the home of Mr. John McGill. About thirty members were present and all spent a most enjoyable and profitable evening. A very interesting address on agricultural co-operation was given by Mr. F. C. Beaupre, assistant district representative of the County of Brant. He gave an account of the growth of the movement in Denmark and told of the magnificent results which it had produced in that country. He also told how far the movement had proceeded in England, United States and Canada. At the close of the meeting, the Women's Institute joined the club and a short but excellent program of vocal and instrumental selections was rendered by Miss Scott of Paris, and Mr. H. Tennant. The next meeting will be held on the evening of Jan. 28th, at the home of Mr. Wm. Tennant, when there will be a debate viz: "Resolved that specialized farming offers greater profit than mixed farming." All are cordially invited to attend.

A largely attended pre-communion service was held last evening at Alexandra Presbyterian Church, at which time 36 persons were received into the membership, 14 by profession of faith and 22 by certificate. The Rev. J. W. Gordon of St. Andrew's Church was present and gave a delightful address in which he portrayed God's love towards us, taking for his subject "The Story of the Lost Sheep." The Rev. Mr. Gordon's first thought was "God is a seeker after men" and is seeking in many ways. Second "God is an anxious seeker." Third "God is a persistent seeker" and the search is still on. The Rev. Mr. McClintock addressed the new members in a kindly and appropriate way as to their opportunity and responsibility.

THE JUBILEE TERRACE QUESTION.

The proposed turning of the Galt, along the Lake Erie and North-Sideways, along the front of Jubilee Terrace, has aroused some opposition—there can be no question about

The Company, for their part, have not the faintest enquiry, and their only show on this matter of settlement.

Why not select another route? This query most commonly heard. This paper does not possess any authority for the road, but as it understands the matter, other routes have been surveyed, without practical result.

The minutiae would scarcely be how difficult it is to put through the plan Brantford to Galt. The nature of the intervening country, such as to render so much cutting and filling necessary, as to make a huge expense in such regard probable. The Grand Trunk spent a two dollars on bringing their main line through Brantford, and even now trade between York and Paris is steep as a mountain, and need two engines, and a pusher, for the heavier freight trains.

What the Lake Erie people desire to utilize as much as possible, is done by the Grand Trunk the same way as the C.P.R. does the work of rivers and streams in getting through to the Coast.

Jubilee Terrace is a beauty spot of which all are proud. Then the question arises as to how much of defacement would be involved. That is a phase which should be carefully looked into.

It is a fact (a cold blooded commercial one, if you like, but nevertheless a fact) that most places having water fronts, give them over to railways, and corporations and docks. This is true of London, England, of New York, of Liverpool, England, and as far as Canada is concerned, of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton, and so on. The truth is that transportation facilities are the keystone of all industrial communities.

How far, then, is Brantford justified in refusing an admittedly important road, to utilize a few yards of river front, if the establishment of the same is done under proper conditions?

That is the question to be faced, not in an extreme way by either side but thoughtfully and carefully. City Engineer Jones has made the suggestion that the road could just as well go on the west side of the river.

To this, the Company make answer: 1. That it is important to locate the line in such a way as to reach all the present large factories, and that this cannot be conveniently done, if the road is placed across the river.

2. That this would mean the construction of the main line entirely outside of the city limits and place Brantford at the end of a mile and three quarter spur, something not at all practicable, when it is remembered that Brantford has in-bound and out-bound freight to the extent of 1,000,000 tons per annum.

3. That the suggestion that the company should secure running rights over existing railways will not be entertained, as the new enterprise cannot afford to be handicapped from the start by securing access to the city, and to Brantford manufacturing establishments over the tracks of competing companies.

4. That the company are not looking for a cheap entrance into the city of Brantford, but for an entrance that will enable them to render the greatest possible service.

The above would seem to be reasonable points advanced with care, and they are certainly worthy of consideration.

SOME BRANTFORD CHURCH HISTORY.

The members of the First Baptist Church are celebrating on Sunday the 79th birthday of that congregation.

This is the second oldest parish in the city. Grace church comes first in point of seniority. In the early days the Episcopalians used to walk out to the old Mohawk church when the land on which it is situated was still within the Six Nations Reservation. It was Chief Brant who offered to set apart a block of ground of about three acres, either as an endowment or for sale or for occupation in the then village of Brantford. His proposal was accepted and in 1832 a frame church was erected which could accommodate four hundred people. The edifice was used until 1856, when the original part of the present building was erected. The first rector was Rev. J. C. Usher afterwards Canon Usher. He was succeeded by Rev. A. Sweetman (afterwards created a Bishop), then by Rev. R. H. Starr, and in 1879, Rev. Archdeacon Mackenzie became the incumbent. For nearly thirty-four years this Nestor among Brantford pastors, has been an outstanding figure in this community and citizens are glad to know that he is still vigorous and can occupy his pulpit with unabated power.

The First Presbyterian church was established in the early forties and is now the Y. W. C. A. building. Zion church congregation started in 1854, and the members first met in the Town Hall—yes the same gothic structure which still abideth with us. A church was later built and opened in 1857 with Mr. Alexander as pastor. In 1860 he resigned and Rev. Dr. Cochran was selected. He was the embodiment of energy; in fact at one congregational meeting one of his admirers dubbed him as "a steam engine in pants." Small in stature, he had a tremendous voice and as he rolled out his powerful sermons—and they were powerful—strangers used to get the impression that his entire internal equipment consisted of lungs. No man ever left a more lasting impression on this community or was more sincerely mourned when he fell asleep.

Brant Avenue church was organized in 1870, St. Jude's in 1872, the Congregational in 1836, St. Basil's gave the charge to the church. Of these early days, Elder Rees afterwards wrote: "For the first year we were under the necessity of meeting in small and uncomfortable buildings, and from house to house. I had the pleasure of baptizing in the Grand River, even in the depth of winter, many willing converts. Some of these seasons were affecting above the mere opening of the chest and keeping it clean." Rev. John Winterbottom was the second pastor, and served the church from 1842 to 1850. Rev. T. L. Davidson succeeded him and was pastor from 1850 to 1860. It was during this period that the present building on West street was erected, of which Mr. Shenstone church built in 1866 and so on. The many new edifices since those periods have been synonymous with the growth of the city. It may be said of the congregations en bloc, that there are no better or more willing givers, and workers in Canada—in fact Brantford enjoys an exceptional reputation in this regard.

Old World Notes A legal action which extended over 42 days and cost £7 a minute came to an end in the London Chancery Court a few days ago. The documents on each side weighed half a ton. The dispute concerning a £1,000,000 contract for the construction of a dock at Singapore, Straits Settlement, for the Tanjong Pagar Dock Board, and the contractors claimed £500,000 damages for alleged misrepresentations with respect to the strata through which the trenches had to be sunk. The opening statement took four days, and twenty-four witnesses were called, some of whom declared that there was no mud in the world to compare with that of Singapore, and that it was "slithery, oily, watery and impossible to handle." The men from the tin mines, got some of a noise like a motor bus in Fleet St. the timber fell in and if a man slipped off he disappeared unless somebody was near to pull him out, and then he left his high boots behind. The Dock Board denied the allegations of misrepresentation, declaring that the contractors were aware of the conditions and said they had suffered the loss of a million through the contractors not carrying out the contract. Five K.C.'s and a galaxy of juniors were briefed, and the fees and expenses ran into five figures. The leader on one side received 2,500 guineas on his brief and the leader on the other 2,000 guineas, each getting a "refresher" of £100 a day. The judge came to the conclusion

THE BIRTHDAY

Of the First Baptist Church Congregation--The Seventy Ninth Anniversary Will be Appropriately Celebrated on Sunday.

When in the year 1833, the First Baptist church in this city was founded, Brantford had a population of not more than 500. At this early date a church of 26 members was formed with Rev. William Rees as the pastor. Elder Crandall preached the recognition sermon, Elder Pickle gave the hand of welcome to the newly-formed church, and Elder Ma-

Rev. Llewellyn Brown, M.A., the Pastor, will conduct all the services in connection with the anniversary to-morrow.

That there had been a blunder through carelessness, but no intention to deceive, and reserved judgment. In the fees paid, the mass of documents, and time occupied, this case beats the famous Wyler vs. Lewis' action in the King's Bench Division, which lasted thirty-five days, and was known as the "ever-lasting case."

WHY SHOULD NOT OLD PEOPLE RETAIN THEIR YOUTHFUL VIGOR

No Reason Why Men And Women Of Sixty, Seventy And Eighty Should Not Be Well—The Secret Of Happy Old Age

"Fruit-a-tives", The Famous Medicine Made Of Fresh Fruit Juices, Again Proves Its Great Value In Curing Kidney Trouble.

Old age pays the cost of living. Few men and women of fifty, sixty and seventy are free of Kidney Trouble. Hard work, mental strain and general debility, tell in the long run. And many men and women show they have Kidney Trouble by suffering with pain in the back, headaches, rheumatism, sciatica, bladder disease. To such people "Fruit-a-tives" has proved one of the wonders of the age—and the most remarkable discovery of the century in modern medical science. This fruit medicine has performed hundreds of cures where the sufferer had been told that the case was incurable.

Take, for instance, Mr. Geo. W. Barkley, a prosperous farmer and one of the leading citizens of Dundas County, Ontario. At seventy-six, he is the picture of health—with the vigorous actions and the sprightly step of a man of fifty. Yet for twenty years, he suffered with Kidney Trouble. He took "Fruit-a-tives" and it cured him.

CHESTERTON, ONT., JAN. 25th, 1911 "For over twenty years I have been troubled with Kidney Disease, and the doctors told me they could do me no good, and said I would be a sufferer all the rest of my life. Nearly a year ago, I tried "Fruit-a-tives". I have been using them all the time since and am glad to say that I am cured. I give "Fruit-a-tives" the credit of doing what the doctors said was impossible."

GEO. W. BARKLEY. "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit, and is the only one that acts directly on the kidneys. It cures. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50 or trial size, 25c. At dealers or sent on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

Coughs and Colds From Improper Dressing

Exposing the neck and chest to the cold blasts of winter—vents serious developments. It kills the germs, soothes the irritation which causes coughing, and protects with a coating the delicate mucous linings of the throat and bronchial tubes.

As a cure for bronchitis, chest colds, sore throat and hacking coughs Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine stands alone. It has a thorough and far-reaching effect, which cannot be obtained from ordinary cough mixtures.

There are so many imitations that it becomes necessary to warn you to look for the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., the famous Receipt Book author, on the bottle you buy. 25 cents a bottle; family size, 60 cents. All dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto.

Used at the critical time when a cold is settling on the throat and chest, this great medicine brings relief in a wonderfully short time, and positively prevents serious developments. It kills the germs, soothes the irritation which causes coughing, and protects with a coating the delicate mucous linings of the throat and bronchial tubes.

The Market.

It is needless to say that those who went to the Market to-day were drenched, as were those outside who offered produce for sale. Eggs opened at 35c. per dozen but dropped to 30c. Butter opened at 30c. but probably owing to the inclemency of the weather, decided to drop to 28c. Potatoes however, were strong at 1.00 per bag. Chickens brought 15c. per pound.

Elected Officers

The Sons of England held a rousing meeting of football enthusiasts in the Borden Club room on Jan. 17th, when the election of officers took place for the ensuing year as follows: Vice-President, H. Quillie; managing committee, J. Stewart, F. Lee, H. Piercy, W. Stewart, H. Elliott, G. Tyler; manager, F. Castell; lineman, H. Sleeth; trainer, J. Clay. The chairman requested that all present would work hard and help to make this year a success in every way.

Notable Work.

Next week will chronicle two events of special interest to the members and adherents of the First Baptist Church, namely the celebration of the 79th Anniversary of the Church on Sunday, and the members Tea and annual business meeting on Wednesday evening. The church is making steady and substantial progress. Numerically she is growing at a very satisfactory rate. Financially the progress has been marked; more than $1,000 was received last year in loose offerings, indicating the large attendance at the evening services. Spiritually, the interest is good. The accessions to the Church have been frequent, the prayer services have been well sustained, the Sunday Mission Circle, B. Y. P. U., Ladies Aid, are all in a healthy condition. So marked has been the increase in the Sunday School department that plans are under consideration for enlarging the present school room to make larger quarters for primary department and increased accommodation for the organized classes. It is with a great deal of hope that the members face the future, as there is every indication of continued prosperity.

SOMEWHAT CRANKY

Is the Chief of Police in Berlin Germany---He Has Prohibited Children Under Fourteen Years of Age Going to Picture Shows.

BERLIN, Jan. 17.— Herr Jagow, the chief of police, in fulfilling his role of moral guardian of all Berliners, has issued an edict forbidding children under 14 years of age to be admitted to moving picture shows on the ground that they are too exciting for them, and are likely to have a bad influence.

German officialdom altogether seems to look coldly on the "movies." This seems to be mainly because many of the films present scenes which are regarded as encouraging disobedience to the established authorities. These are chiefly American, English and

Engineers and Firemen Out on Strike in Maine

(Courier Leased Wire).
BANGOR, Me., Jan. 18.— The engineers and firemen of the Bangor and Aroostook Railroad struck today. The directors yesterday refused to grant an increase in wages, insisting that the earnings of the road would not permit it, and were at once notified that the men would go out in 24 hours.

The road extends through the eastern part of the State from the Canadian border to Penobscot Bay, affording the chief outlet for the product of the great print paper mills of Northwestern Maine. The possible effect of the strike on the shipment of paper gives the movement an importance outside of the State. The road also carries the extensive potato crop from the same territory.

The men demand the standard scale paid by other roads.

Mystery With Regard to This Mans Death

LONDON, Jan. 18.—The mystery of the death of Hugh Eric Trevanian, who is related to various members of the nobility, has not been cleared up. Two years ago he was worth $300,000 which he had inherited from his paternal grandfather, but there is reason to believe that his will does not only about $250,000 and that this is bequeathed, with the exception of small legacies, entirely to his friend Roe, with whom he shared a luxurious flat at Hove, Brighton. Five caveats against the probate of the will have been filed by various relatives.

CONCERNING PRECEDENCE.

Where Would You Walk in the Parade to the Dinner-Table?

A western paper publishes the following table of precedence, in connection with the recent visit of Their Royal Highnesses the Duke and Duchess of Connaught. It will probably interest many who have but a vague idea of what is meant by its regulations:

1. The Governor-General or officer administering the Government.
2. Senior officer commanding His Majesty's troops within the Dominion, if of the rank of a general, and officer commanding His Majesty's naval forces, on the British North American station, if of the rank of an admiral. Their own relative rank to be determined by the King's regulations on this subject.
3. The Lieutenant-Governor of Ontario.
4. The Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec.
5. The Lieutenant-Governor of Nova Scotia.
6. The Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick.
7. Archbishops and bishops according to seniority.
8. Members of the Cabinet, according to seniority.
9. The Speaker of the Senate.
10. The Chief Justice of the Supreme Court of Canada.
11. The chief judges of the courts of law and equity, according to seniority.
12. Members of the Privy Council, not of the Cabinet.
13. General officers of His Majesty's army serving in the Dominion and officers of the rank of admiral in the royal navy, serving on the British North American station not being on the chief command; the relative rank of such officer to be determined by the King's regulations.
14. The officer commanding His Majesty's troops in the Dominion if of the rank of colonel or inferior rank, and the officer commanding His Majesty's naval forces on the British North American station, if of equivalent rank; their relative rank to be ascertained by the King's regulations.
15. Speakers of the House of Commons.
16. Puisne judges of the Supreme Court of Canada according to seniority.
17. Puisne judges of courts of law and equity, according to seniority.
18. Members of the House of Commons.
19. Members of the Executive Council (Provincial) within their provinces.
20. Members of the Legislative Council within their province.
21. Speaker of the Legislative Assembly within his province.
22. Retired judges of whatever courts, to take precedence next after the present judges of their respective courts.

Heroine Died Unrewarded.

Two or three years ago a girl was admitted to one of the Toronto hospitals suffering from an obscure nervous disease which was pronounced hysteria, but no one seemed able to do anything for the sufferer, who was practically disabled the greater part of the time.

Occasionally she rallied, and last summer was able to go to the house of a benevolent woman, who, at the request of the Social Service Department, obtained employment for her. She earned a small amount and returned to the hospital greatly cheered up by the fact that she had been a little use.

Last fall she grew much worse and became possessed of the idea that she would like to do something to prove that her life had not been in vain. Being greatly concerned over the sufferings of a poor woman who had been fearfully burned while saving a child, she begged the surgeons to allow her to furnish the skin that was necessary to save the life of the unhappy mother.

The authorities at the hospital consented, and the operation was a successful one. The heroine was delighted at the progress of the case, but confided in those around her that her mind was steadily failing and although she was happy because of the sacrifice she had made for her friend, she was in fear that she would be impelled to kill two little children in a neighboring ward. Her distress resulted in the development of acute mental excitement and at her request she was taken to an institution, where she died of exhaustion in a short time.

Canada's Railways.

Canada has about 30,000 miles of railways and the most remarkable railway history in the world. One railway company in Canada is the greatest corporation in the world. Its pay-roll amounts to about $45,000,000 a year and includes 75,000 employees. The second transcontinental, which was only authorized by Parliament in 1903, has now 2,350 miles of road in operation west of Winnipeg, and a port on the Pacific and a certainty of being linked up with the interior in 1914. All the railways of Canada employ a grand army of 141,000 Canadians at a wage-bill of $74,000,000 a year. We have the greatest railway miles a in the world compared to population. We have a Government railway which cost $92,000,000 to build. And about half a century ago the building of the Grand Trunk from Montreal to Toronto, now one of the finest roads in the world, was regarded as almost a miracle of engineering.—Canadian Courier.

Fourth in the World.

The Nelson River of northern Canada is the fourth sized river in the world. The current has such a strength and swiftness that the tide runs in only four hours and runs out eight at York Factory. Voyagers can make 135 miles paddling with the stream. The timber is small—teepees poles and Christmas trees. As you get down towards the coast the banks become high clay cuts.

Here is a New Kind of COFFEE
And We Give You A Pot To Make It In—Free

To get to the heart of the coffee question, you must do as we did—get to the heart of the coffee berry. The coffee berry is protected by Nature from the insect world, by a tough inner shell or coat. This shell contains tannin and other bitter substances. It is this shell, roasted and ground up with ordinary coffee, that causes indigestion, headaches and other ill-effects so common with coffee drinkers. Yet there is no other beverage in the world so thoroughly wholesome, healthful and delicious as good Coffee when properly made.

Dalton's French Drip Coffee

is this good, wholesome, delicious coffee. It contains no chicory and by our special process of grinding, every particle of the bitter tannin-bearing shell is removed. We take out all the injurious parts. We leave the meat—the heart—the flavor—the aromatic essences that mean so much to coffee-lovers. The Percolator, or French Drip Process, is the only way to make really good coffee. We have secured sole rights at last for a practical, economical, reliable French Drip Coffee Pot. We will give it to you free so that you can try Dalton's French Drip Coffee as it should be made. Read our offer. We have put up Dalton's French Drip Coffee in two blends

PROFIT BY OTHERS' EXPERIENCE

Gray Hair Restored
My hair was getting quite gray and falling out rapidly and I was troubled with a terrible itching of the scalp. My head was full of dandruff, which fell upon my clothes and kept me continually brushing it off. While on a visit to Rochester I heard of your Sage and Sulphur for the hair. I got a bottle and used it. A few applications relieved the itching, my hair stopped falling out and gradually came back to its natural color. It is now a nice dark brown color, soft, glossy and pliable. Several of my friends want to use it, and I want to know what you will charge me for six bottles of it.

Grew Hair on a Bald Head
For two or three years my hair had been falling out and getting quite thin until the top of my head was entirely bald. About four months ago I commenced using Sage and Sulphur. The first bottle seemed to do some good, and I kept using it regularly until now I have used four bottles. The whole top of my head is fairly covered and keeps on coming in thicker. I shall keep on using it a while longer, as I notice a constant improvement.

QUITE --- THE MOST INTERESTING MERCHANDISING EVENT IN THE HISTORY OF THIS STORE --- QUITE

WE, THE MANAGERS OF DEPARTMENTS AT CROMPTONS

Have banded together to accomplish a great and complete clearance of all top-heavy, overloaded stocks. Once a year our good firm gives us un-hamp-ered opportunity to show what we can do in this direction, giving us full say and sway. It means that we are empowered to do as we see fit to accom-plish the desired end. Well, we realize the importance of the occasion to ourselves and you. We can, and will, demonstrate our ability to carry ou a big merchandising event successfully. We well know, that in order to make any sale a success, you must first have the goods—seasonable, reliab goods, and lots of them; after that down with the prices. Get the prices down and you'll get a crowd. Get them away way down and you will attract an immense throng—So that's what we'll do.

MONDAY, TUESDAY, WEDNESDAY, THURSDAY, FRIDAY AND SATURDAY At 9:30 Each Day Sale Commences

There's going to be a commotion here in Brantford as a result of this distribution of our $30,000.00 worth of surplus stocks. It's no picayune affair this sale of OURS. It will be marked by a generosity on our part far exceeding your greatest expectations. The writer made a canvass of the various managers and found enthusiasm unbounded.

Manager of Dress Goods Dept. Said:

"Going through my stock I find I am decidedly overloaded. I cannot allow this condition to exist. Therefore you can be assured of extraordinary bargains. I am preparing on a big scale. I am closing my eyes to present prices. Things are going to move vigorously. Such values as I am arranging have never here-to-fore been equalled."

Manager of Staple Dept. Said:

"I have more goods than I need. I am in the mood to give my hosts of customers a real opportunity to replenish their household supplies at prices never obtainable here before. I am glad of this chance too; because, besides trimming my overloaded stocks, I shall at the same time make many new customers for my department."

Manager of Small-wares Said:

"I have been waiting for this opportunity. Last year it was a tremendous success, we certainly disposed of a lot of sundry things I handle, and I'll do it again this year, only more so. I have more goods than I ought to have, and I will give big bargains, and I will do the business—HELP."

Manager of Fur Dept. Said:

"Too many furs in stock I can see that. Well, during this sale of ours I certainly will bring this stock to its right level. Low prices will accomplish that end, and they will be low. I strongly recommend everyone who is at all interested in Fine Furs at the most unusual prices to be present."

Manager of Golf Coat Dept. Said:

"My stock is not overly heavy, but, in order that I may enjoy a share of the great rush, I am going to offer one real big bargain. I am going to place on sale 60 of my best Golf Coats for women, all new splendid lines, worth $2.50 to $5.00, all at one price $1.59. This ought to create a stir."

SEVEN MINUTE SERMON ON THE GOLDEN TEXT

Everyone that committeth sin is the bondservant of sin.—John 8:34.

THE SLAVERY OF SIN

I. Sin is Slavery. When I state that sin is slavery it is not in any figurative sense. Sin is actual bondage. The sinner is not master of himself, but is driven to do things, being led captive by the Devil at his will. Shakespeare says, "Vice is imprisonment," and Paul says, "Whom ye yield yourselves servants to obey, his servants ye are to whom ye obey." In another place Paul compares a sinner to a living man bound to a corpse, and he cries out, "Oh wretched man that I am who shall deliver me from the body of this death." Sinners do what they would not do, and leave undone what they would do. They see clearly that it is better to be good, but the followers of God, but notwithstanding this, they are impelled to be bad; to continue to be followers of that which is evil. The longer they continue in sin the more wedded they become to it, and the less power they have to abandon it. There is nothing more evident than the fact stated in the text that sinners are the bondservants of sin; on no other principle can you account for men doing what they know is hurtful, and in refusing to do that which is helpful. No man would serve an enemy, and forsake a friend if he was not under some form of compulsion.

II. Sinner's Will Becomes Inoperative. Notwithstanding that sin is slavery, the average sinner has more or less desire to be good. Most of them form good resolutions, and many do so more times than they can count, and everyone of them is broken. The practice of sin, and the continual breaking of good resolutions, make the will inoperative and compel the man to do wrong, and prevent him from doing right. Sin makes a man an unwilling suicide. He sees the destruction to which he is heading, and notwithstanding his desire to retrace his steps and save himself from the impending doom, he is not able to do so with his eyes wide open to his danger and a strong desire to escape he is impotent to carry out his good resolutions and goes on to his destruction. One of the saddest things in a sinner's condition is that his will is so weakened he is unable to carry out his good resolutions. This weakness of will is also one of the most potent means by which the Devil binds men to do his bidding. Every good resolution, without the will to carry it out, is itself an inducement to continue in sin. There is something soothing about a good resolution; it eases the sinner's conscience and deludes him with the thought that he is on the road to the better life; hence when he commences the next sin, he generally states to himself, "It is only for this once, anyhow, and then I will lead a new life"; but alas, he gets deeper and deeper, in the mire, and soon sinks to utter destruction.

III. A Sinner's Thoughts Are Uncontrollable. If it were not that the thoughts of wicked men are impure, or if sinners could banish evil thoughts, and think good ones, there would be some hope of their throwing off the fetters which bind them to their sinful habits. Thought is the spring from whence all human actions flow; from that source our purposes come which determine our conduct. Solomon says, referring to sinners, "As he thinketh in his heart so is he." If the source of the stream issues poisonous water, then the river will be contaminated. The nature of a sinner is so corrupted that whatever his judgment may dictate it, to the contrary, he indulges in evil thoughts, and plans for wrong actions. He muses upon his bed of evil deeds, and thinks of his past sins with delight; the memory of them but incites him to plan for the future gratification of his evil desires. According to the bent of his evil actions so he plans; the burglar for new crimes, the thief works out schemes to obtain from others what he does not propose to earn. The worldly man thinks of new pleasures the sensual man how to increase the opportunities and the sinful delight of his evil passions.

IV. A Sinner's Habits Become Automatic. Habit is a momentum which grows in impetuosity with time. The longer a man pursues a course of conduct the more wedded he becomes to it, and the less power he has to abandon it. An evil action when only a few times repeated is a strain upon the sinner, but twisted into this cord, and as the evil actions are repeated it gets stronger and stronger, until it is a cable around him which no man can break. At first sinners plan for their wrong-doing, but after a while they do the wrong unconsciously or automatically. A sinful habit is at first like a spring of water which a child can easily divert with his toy spade, but which when it has formed its course, gradually increases to a creek, then to a river, which deepens and widens as it flows and becomes an irresistible power.

Difference in Bones

A wealthy man, well known for his extreme stinginess, drove up hurriedly in his carriage to the door of a celebrated doctor. He was in a state of acute discomfort and fear, from the simple fact that at the moment a piece of fish bone was sticking somewhere in the region of his throat. The doctor speedily removed the dangerous obstacle, and the gentleman breathed freely.

"Thank you, doctor," he exclaimed much relieved. "I'll never eat salmon again—never! And with what ease you removed it! A mere 'minute's operation, was it not? How much—a what is your fee?"

"Half a guinea," replied the doctor. "Half a guinea," exclaimed the man. "For half a minute's work? Impossible!"

"But consider for a moment," said the doctor. "It's a salmon bone."

"What has that to do with it?"

"Oh, a great deal," replied the doctor. "Had it been halibut, or fresh halibut, I should have charged less, perhaps 5 shillings. For codfish or eels, 2-and-6 would have been ample payment. Mackerel, 2 shillings. While a red herring bone I might even have removed free of charge. But salmon! Well, really, sir, one has to pay for these luxuries."

His Rising Hopes

Mrs. Jenkins was talking with a young man whom he hoped might become his son-in-law. Wishing to encourage the young man, who had made a fortune in this world's goods, the old gentleman said:

"I am proud of my girls, sir, and there is nothing I would like better than to see them married to bright, smart young men. I have made considerable money and the girls won't very little of their husbands' penniless, by any means. Now, there's Belle, twenty-five years old, one of the best girls in the world. I shall give her ten thousand dollars when she marries. Then next comes Caroline, who won't see thirty-five again, and I shall give her twenty thousand. And the man who marries Delia, who is forty, will have thirty thousand."

The young man reflected for a moment and then remarked:

"You haven't got a daughter about fifty, have you?"—Harper's Bazar.

The "Angry Tree."

In Idaho there exists a species of the acacia tree which is entitled to be classed as one of the wonders of plant life. This tree attains a height of about eight feet. When full grown its leaves close together in coils each day at sunset and curls its twigs to the shape of pig-tails. When the tree is thus settled itself for its night's sleep, it is said that if touched it will flutter as if agitated or impatient at the disturbance. The oftener, it is averred, the foliage is molested, the more violent will become the shaking of the branches. Finally it is further alleged, if the shaking be continued, the tree will at length emit a nauseating odor quite sufficient to induce a headache in the case of the person disturbing the tree.

In Idaho it is called the "angry tree," and it is said that it was discovered by men who, on making camp for the night, placed one end of a canvas covering over one of the sensitive bushes, using it for a support. Immediately the tree began to jerk its branches sharply. The motion continued with increasing nervousness, until at last came a sickening odor—that drove the tired campers to a more friendly location.

Curiosity prompted an investigation. One of the "angry trees" was dug up and thrown to one side. Immediately upon being removed from the ground, it is said that the tree opened its leaves, its twigs lost their pig-tails, and for something over an hour and a half the outraged branches showed their indignation by a series of quakings, which grew weaker and weaker and ceased when the foliage had become limp and withered.—Toronto Saturday Night

Strange Breton Bridal Custom

One of the most interesting features of Brittany, France, is the number of shrines dedicated to marriage. Of these one of the most notable is to be found at Ploumanach, a village on the Northern coast. This shrine is most picturesquely situated amid the rocks round which the sea washes every day. Only at low tide can one clamber over to the canopied figure of St. Guerin, in whose honor the shrine has been erected. When a Breton girl desires to marry, she sticks a pin in the nose of this Saint; should it drop out within the year she believes her desire will be fulfilled.

Music and Drama

"The Fatal Wedding."

"The Fatal Wedding" the best and most pleasing of all plays will be seen at the Grand, Tuesday, Jan. 21. It will be presented by that successful manager, Dave Marion. He has spared neither pains nor expense in making it one of the most elaborate productions of the season, and has dressed the play in elaborate scenic effects. The play deals with a young wife who is deeply wronged by a scoundrel. Her sufferings as the mu-

Much Money is to be Devoted in a Campaign Against Hookworms

WASHINGTON, Jan. 17.—A world campaign against hookworm is to be one of the first uses to which the $100,000,000 endowment of the proposed Rockefeller Foundation will be put as soon as it receives its charter from Congress. This statement was made to-night by Jerome D. Greene, of New York, a trustee in several of John D. Rockefeller's philanthropies, who is now in Washington urging the passage of the enabling act. The House will vote next Monday on the proposed measure, calling into existence the organization which, under control of Congress will be authorized to spend millions for the advancement of civilization by every humanitarian means. Mr. Greene added that while he was unable to commit the officers of the foundation prior to its incorporation, at the same time he was acquainted with those who are to form the nucleus of the board, and knew that they regarded the work he mentioned as being of pressing importance.

"To wipe out the hookworm," said Dr. Greene, "it will be necessary not only to cure present sufferers, but to inoculate and diffuse such knowledge of the laws of hygiene and sanitation as will gradually make reinfestation impossible, but when that is done in this country the work will be only partly accomplished; for unless the hookworm can be eradicated from those points in foreign lands which now through commerce are constantly distributing infection over the world, the hookworm is bound to reappear again and again. The campaign for its eradication must therefore be made a world campaign—not for altruistic motives merely, but because no one country can be safe until all have been cleared of this pest."

Hitherto this work has been carried on in this country only by the sanitary commission for the eradication of hookworm, operating on a fund of $100,000 given by Mr. Rockefeller.

Standards of Value.

A rich American wanted to buy valuable pictures by the square foot, but he found that they were not sold that way. He was in the same position as a person who bought yeast cakes by size or weight, instead of considering the bread-making qualities. Reduced by Asthma.—The constant strain of asthma brings the patient to a dreadful state of hopeless exhaustion. Early use should by all means be made of the famous Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy, which more than any other acts quickly and surely on the air passages and brings blessed help and comfort. No home where asthma is present in the least degree should be without this great remedy.

chinations of the plot proceed and the final unmasking of the villain, fighting of the wrongs which have been done. There is a refreshing absence of the cheap thrill and the improbable is absolutely eliminated. Clever comedy relieves the more serious situations.

"A Girl of the Mountains," the four act society drama by Lem B. Parker is something new, something worth seeing, at the Grand, Thursday, January 23. It develops a strong plot with very dramatic situations in such a delicate and picturesque style that one must at once place it far above the ordinary drama. An especially strong scene, one that will grip its hearers, is brought about when Nellie, the Mountain Girl, discovers that she has been betrayed by Richard Thurston, a wealthy New Yorker. The scene is most graphic and telling and bound to command unflagging attention. The critics of the country have praised "The Girl of the Mountains," until its fame is second to none. The public, which says its good money to be entertained at the theatre has seen, marvelled and commended in pleasing terms. There is nothing more to be said, but go and see it.

(From our own Correspondent.)

PARIS, Jan. 18.—J. Folseter sold his farm in Kex Lane to John Cochran. The farm is a good one, in first class condition, and we understand brought a handsome figure.

Basket ball is still thriving in spite of the hockey fever. The town league is well under way and weekly games are pulled off. Paris is now scheduled to play the Galt, London, Stratford and Woodstock Associations.

The Ladies' Aid business meeting at the Mohawk Cross Road was a great success despite the fact that the weather was nasty. There were twenty-six ladies present, each one of which were made of the style a century ago. The meeting opened with instrumental music. A solo and quintette were given, also a trio by Mrs. Smith and Miss Clement. A bouquet was presented to Mrs. Apps, the number of shrines dedicated to marriage. Of these one of the most notable is to be found at Ploumanach, a village on the Northern coast. This shrine is most picturesquely situated amid the rocks round which the sea washes every day. Only at low tide can one clamber over to the canopied figure of St. Guerin, in whose honor the shrine has been erected. On Sunday evening Rev. J. R. Heyworth will conduct services in the Congregational church, taking for his subject "Christianity and Amusements and a verdict on the Star Theatre at Toronto."

The fourth Tuesday of this month is the date set for the curling match for the district cup, between Paris, Brantford, Drumbo, Bright and possibly Ingersoll.

Rev. J. E. Hawkins, an old town boy, has accepted a call to the Maitland street Baptist church, London.

M. BOWSER HADN'T SAID ANYTHING RIGHT ON, BUT HE HAD COME HOME A BIT IRRITATED AND READY TO FIND FAULT.

"There had been no opening offered, and he was wondering if he shouldn't begin on the stock subject of the gas bill when the cat entered the room and began rolling about on the rug. There was his chance, and he exclaimed: "Now, then, what in thunder ails that old cat?" "He acted like that this afternoon when Mrs. White was in here, and she said he wanted catnip," replied Mrs. Bowser. "Want catnip?" "Yes, you know what catnip is, don't you?" "I've heard of a plant called catnip, but what has it to do with cats?" "A good deal. At certain seasons of the year, particularly in the fall, cats are crazy for it. I've heard it said that they would eat it if they didn't get it." "Bosh! What our old cat wants is a blamed good thumping with a club, and he'll get it if he tries any funny business around this house." "I meant to have got some catnip of the old man who comes along here every week selling it," said Mrs. Bowser.

By Some Person or Persons Unknown

Joan read it with avidity; she laid the paper on the table.

"Cynthia, I am going to hear the case."

"What? Mrs. Trewhistle stared at her in deep disgust. 'How can you Joan? You arranged to be at Celine's to have your gowns fitted this morning.'"

"They will have to wait." It was evident that Joan was in no mood to trouble about her dresses now. "It is no use, Cynthia, I must go. I must hear."

"But you can't," Cynthia said blankly. "I don't believe women ever go to those places alone. And you don't even know where it is. It only says, 'Before the magistrate.' Now I am sure I haven't the least idea."

"The chauffeur will find that out," Joan returned obstinately. "It is no use, Cynthia, I must go. Uncle Septimus is sure to be there. He will look after me."

"Well if you go I suppose I must," Cynthia said unwillingly. "And to think I have been looking forward to a delightful morning's shopping. This is another result of that idiotic will of granny's."

Joan made no reply, she waited with tragic eyes until the car was at the door.

The chauffeur fully justified her confidence. He found his way without difficulty to the dingy city court where Cecile de Lavelle was again brought up on a charge of murder.

It was fairly early but the case was already proceeding. They arrived, and a great crowd around the entrance testified to public interest in the charge. Joan and Cynthia left their car and with difficulty made their way to the door. A message to Septimus Lockyer brought him out, radiant with the success of his negotiations, but inclined to be angry with Joan for coming before she was summoned.

"You might have known that you would get a subpoena," he grumbled. "But there—in such things women never have any sense."

In spite of his vexation, however, he successfully piloted them to seats near his own, where it was possible to see and hear everything. Cecile de Lavelle was in the dock alone. All her mannerisms, her recklessness had deserted her now—she looked hunched, smaller, Joan fancied. She was seated with her head down, a long shiver shaking her every now and then.

In the witness box opposite Basil Wilton was giving his evidence.

Joan stared and bubbled her eyes when she recognized the man who had missed the earlier sensation that had stirred her when he had stated that he was the Wingrove for whom such long and unavailing search had been made, but a few whispered words from her uncle enlightened her as to the matter.

"Yes," Basil however, had little to relate that bore upon the actual tragedy. He looked wan and haggard as he described how he had asked his wife to be at his studio at 4 o'clock on that afternoon of the eleventh of May, and identified the man who had written the letter produced by the police as that of her reply. Questioned as to his reason for making the appointment, he stated that it was in order that his cousin, upon whose judgment his wife was wont to place reliance, might explain to her the reasons for the marriage should remain a secret for a while. He added that it had of course been his intention to be present himself, but that very afternoon and had thus accounted for his supposed mysterious absence.

Counsel for the prisoner put no questions to this witness, who left the box amidst a sympathetic murmur from the court. Then there was a pause of expectation as Viscount Warchester was called.

Joan started, regardless of the spectators, she craned forward. It could not be that Paul was here—that they were going to question him. She caught her breath in an agony as she saw him making his way through the crowd. He did not look towards his wife, apparently he did not see the appealing eyes, the pallid anguished face. Having taken the oath, he stood quietly waiting for his examination to begin. Harvey Wilberforce, a man well known to Warchester by name as one of the greatest criminal lawyers of the day as well as a great friend of Septimus Lockyer's, was for the crown. He was a tall, spare man, with a luxuriant growth of red hair and a particularly bland and benevolent smile. He rose now, hitching up his gown over his left arm.

"Can you carry your memory back to the afternoon of the eleventh of May, 1897, Lord Warchester? Will you tell us whether you kept the appointment which Mr. Wilton has told us he made, with your consent, to meet his wife in the studio at Grove Street on that afternoon?"

Warchester bowed gravely. "I did."

Mr. Harvey Wilberforce smiled ingratiatingly. "Will you tell us precisely what took place," he said very quietly. "The appointment was made for four, five or ten minutes or a quarter past when I arrived at my cousin's rooms. I went up without meeting anyone, and found, to my surprise, that the door of the flat was ajar. As no one answered my knock I pushed it open and entered. There, to my horror, I saw on the floor the body of my cousin's wife. I knew at once as I bent over her that she was dead—had been dead for some minutes. I saw on the floor, near the door my cousin's pistol, one of a pair I myself had given him, having the initial 'W' upon them in silver. Then I—"

"Yes?" Harvey Wilberforce prompted quietly. "What did you do next, Lord Warchester?"

Warchester braced himself for the telling of his tale with a manifest effort.

"My first instinct of course was to call for assistance, to send for the police. I was already turning to the door for this purpose when I stumbled over the pistol I have mentioned. Then—then I think I must have lost my head. I knew that of late Mrs. Basil Wilton had been demanding the public recognition of her marriage, that she had quarrelled with my cousin, and I thought—I feared that in a fit of passion he—in short he must have used the pistol. I—"

He paused and glanced involuntarily across at his cousin. Basil's eyes flashed and his smile flashed sympathy and comprehension.

Warchester seemed to gather his strength visibly. "The only thing for me to do I thought, was to try to avert suspicion from him. I placed the pistol in the dead girl's hand. I tore up and burned any photographs or letters I saw about that might prove that Wingrove was in reality Basil Wilton. The case found in the corner of the room was mine."

He stopped.

"That night I went away—to Paris first, afterwards to Southern Nigeria. Until my cousin's memory was restored the other day I had no idea that his accident occurred before and not after his wife's death. That is all I think."

"Thank you, Lord Warchester," Harvey Wilberforce said blandly and sat down.

Counsel for the defence arose. "Though I am reserving my cross-examination of the witness until I have had an opportunity of conferring with my client, I wish to ask Lord Warchester two questions—first, whether the idea that the murdered woman had really committed suicide entered his mind at first."

"No," Warchester replied without hesitation. "Why not?"

"I did for one moment think that Mrs. Basil Wilton was a person likely to take her own life," Warchester replied slowly.

"You did not think Mrs. Basil Wilton was a person likely to take her own life?" repeated counsel, Mr. Roy Denman. "But it is not an established fact that people who commit suicide are usually the last persons one would have expected to do so." Warchester paused.

"You may be so—I do not know." "You do not know. Very well," Mr. Roy Denman commented. "But now I must ask you Lord Warchester—you were aware that there were two rooms communicating with your cousin's studio?"

"Yes, I knew that."

'Had you any idea that any person whatever was concealed in either of these rooms?' "Not the least." This time Warchester's answer was prompt. "I am quite clear that when I entered there was no one in either, as my first impulse was to look round to see if I could find any traces of my cousin's presence. And you heard nothing to lead you to think that any one came in afterwards?" "Nothing at all."

"You neither heard or saw anything at all to make you imagine an unseen witness was lurking in either of these rooms?"

"That is what I wanted to ascertain. Thank you, Lord Warchester,"—and Mr. Roy Denman sat down.

There was a pause in the proceedings. Counsel engaged, Cecile de Lavelle sat still, motionless; not once had she looked around the court. Her head had bent lower and lower while Basil Wilton was giving his evidence; more than once the wardresses on either hand had stooped as if to assure themselves that she was not fainting.

The prosecuting counsel leaned towards an official of the court. "Call James Gregory."

"James Gregory!" A stir rang through the crowded court. It was a confirmation of the rumor, which had been gaining ground in the last hour, that James Gregory had turned informer. All heads turned to the side door, through which two wardresses presently conducted Gregory. The unhappy prisoner in the dock looked up once then, with a gesture of utter despair, she covered down on her chair lower than ever.

Gregory was not an attractive looking person as he stood in the box. He was unshaven; his ill-fitting black coat and grey trousers that had been destined for his wedding looked creased and dirty. His small ferret eyes were strained and bloodshot; they wandered uneasily around the court from the hostile countenances of the crowd behind to the magistrate sitting impassively on the bench and then rested for a few seconds on the downcast head of the woman in the dock.

PEOPLE'S

OLD PROPHECY BEING FULFILLED

Sermon by CHARLES T. RUSSELL, Pastor Brooklyn Tabernacle.

Modern Irrigation Achieving Bible Prediction—The Desert Shall Blossom.

Washington, D.C., Jan. 12.—Pastor Russell preached this afternoon at the Temple, corner Thirteenth Street and New York Avenue, to a large congregation. He made the rather startling declaration that the Millennium is already here; that chronology proves that we have been living under some of its blessings for the past thirty-eight years; and that our modern conveniences and progress are attributable to the beginning of the rolling away of the curse, and the substitution of the living blessing.

The reign of Messiah for a thousand years will not only bind Satan and hinder his further deceitful work, but will also bring light, knowledge, illumination, to every corner of the earth. The speaker pointed out the beginning of these blessings already with us; but they are only the faint dawnings of the greater light which will flood the world when the great Sun of Righteousness, Emmanuel's Kingdom, shall be manifested above the horizon.

Yet we must not expect all sunshine. A great cloud is immediately before us, with a terrific storm, which will convulse the present order of things—social, financial, political and religious. The momentary chaos will yield to the Prince of Peace, who will then take to Himself His great power and reign. He will say to the raging winds of strife and the billowy waves of trouble, "Peace, be still," and there will be a great calm, even as was illustrated on the Sea of Galilee.

The storm, the Pastor stated, is sometimes spoken of as a manifestation of Divine wrath and indignation; but he explained that the great Jehovah, is the synonym for Justice, and Messiah is the synonym for Mercy. Justice operates along the lines of cause and effect. Whosoever sins shall suffer. From this viewpoint, he explained, the trouble which will precede the establishment of Messiah's Kingdom will be the natural, logical result of the operation of the laws of Justice.

Humanity is not using the blessings of this Millennial Morning in that noble and generous manner in which they should be used. Selfishness pervades the present order of things, and the earth's present abundant supply for men's needs should bring contentment to high and low, rich and poor; but it is bringing the reverse, because the natural heart is full of selfishness, depravity. The noble image of the Creator has been considerably lost, though no one is totally depraved.

God will allow this ferment of selfishness to lead on to its natural result, in order to demonstrate to mankind the fallacy of that principle—in order to prepare men to appreciate the reign of righteousness, equity, mercy and love, about to be inaugurated. The lesson, he said, will be a terribly severe one—but not too severe, if it teaches mankind the purpose of the sinfulness of sin, selfishness, meanness and the beauty of holiness, righteousness, harmony with God.

Pastor Russell took as his text Isaiah 58:1, which declares, "The desert shall rejoice and blossom as the rose." This prophecy is having a literal fulfillment now in our Western States. He told of what he has seen in Oregon and Washington—beautiful groves bearing delicious fruits growing where once nothing but sage brush grew—on land supposed as one time to be practically valueless. The application of water has wrought a marvelous transformation, or miracle, might be described just as the Prophet portrays. Streams break forth under the guidance of human intellect, operating the marvelous machinery and implements of our day. He witnessed further transformations in Colorado and California.

Our Government is co-operating with our intelligent fellow-citizens of the West in the fulfillment of the Divine prophecy. Although the work is only in its infancy, the results are already marvelous. Some of the fruits are so beautiful, so luscious, that we may well wonder if there was anything superior in the Eden of old, or if the Paradise promised to be established in all the earth will be able to bring these fruits to a fuller perfection.

A similar work of reclamation of the desert is going on in old Arabia. Shortly the land of the "Arabian Nights" will realize in a natural way far greater wealth and far more wonderful changes than those of the fairy tales which entranced our childish imagination.

The great Sahara Desert, too, has been examined by engineers. They ascertain that a considerable portion of its vast area is below sea level. At a comparatively small cost it can be inundated and made to rejoice with the remainder of the world, by sharing in the Millennial blessing. The Scriptures prophesy also that the Dead Sea will be connected with the ocean, and that region become once more prosperous.

Pastor Russell, dealing with the context, pointed out that it tells the whole story. He applied Verse 3 to the present time, declaring that he was seeking to carry out his command, "Strengthen ye the weak hands and confirm the feeble knees. Say to them that are of a fearful heart, Be strong, fear not; behold your God will come with vengeance even God with a recompense. He will come and save you."—Verses 3, 4.

The Church is here addressed—not the world. True, Messiah's coming is to bless the world, but before the blessing can come to the world, the Elect Church must first be gathered.

All mothers can put away anxiety regarding their suffering children when they have Moine's Graves' Worm Exterminator to give relief. Its effects are sure and lasting.

By the "changes" of the First Resurrection, the Elect will cease to be of the human nature and will become spirit beings, "like unto the angels," but higher—"partakers of the Divine Nature."

This Elect class, the Pastor declared, is Scripturally called "The Bride, the Lamb's Wife." In all of God's dealings with humanity, this class is to have the pre-eminence, as Spiritual Israel. They are not all children of Abraham by nature, he said, but are his children by faith; for Abraham typically was the Father of the Faithful. Abraham represented Jehovah, as Isaac typified the Son, Jesus, and Rebecca, Leah, typified the Church. The first of this company was gathered from the natural seed of Abraham, but the company as a whole has been completed out of every nation, people, kindred and tongue.

Non-elect, however, but saintly, holy ones can be members of the Elect class. After its completion, the Divine blessing will extend through it to natural Israel, and through them to all nations against the blessing that to be bestowed, however, will not be of the same character. They will all be earthly blessings—the life and health in Paradise will all be earthly. Only the Church of the First-born, beotten of the Holy Spirit, know; and only such can go on to make their calling and election sure, and attain the birth of the Spirit in the resurrection. All others remaining of the human nature will get the blessings which God has provided for humanity. These, the Pastor said, will surpass anything of which the human mind has ever yet conceived. The miracles which Jesus did at His First Advent were merely little illustrations of the much greater work which He will accomplish at His Second Advent. He explained this to the Apostles, saying, "Greater works than these shall ye do." (See John 14:12.) It is a greater work now to open the eyes of human understanding to appreciate the Divine Character and Plan than to open the natural eyes, as Jesus did. So in the future Jesus and His Church, during the thousand years of Messiah's Kingdom, will open blinded eyes of understanding, unstopped ears that have long been deaf to the Truth; loose to sing praises to God; tongues that have never yet experienced the blessing of holiness; as our context declares, the lame will be strong and leap for joy.

We are not disputing that all the lameness, deafness, dumbness of the present time, will quite disappear during Messiah's reign of a thousand years. We are merely laying emphasis on the fact that the greater blessings will come also; the lameness, for instance, of human weakness and frailty incident to the fall from the Eden, will be done away with gradually.

What a new aspect earth will wear when Paradise shall bloom, when righteousness shall prevail, when sickness and sin, sorrow and pain, and dying shall gradually fade away before the touches of the glorious sunlight of that Dispensation!

The context declares that then a Highway of Holiness shall be established. The Hebrew word signifies a public thoroughfare. It will be distinctly different from the road of the present, which is a downward one. The Highway will be an upward walk. It will be distinctly different also from the narrow way and rugged path of the Church of the present time. Instead of being a rough, thorny way, beset by trials and difficulties, liable to attacks of the world, the flesh and the Adversary, it will be the reverse of this.

No lion and ravenous beast will be there. The beastly propensities and appetites will no longer have power to entrap, ensnare and devour the poor human family. All stumbling-stones of error will be cleared out of the way, whereas now the Christian's pathway is full of them. Indeed, all of our six hundred creeds are more or less stones of stumbling, more or less indicate the doubt, perplexity and uncertainty in which God's people have been traveling.

We thank the Lord for the prospective change to be brought in by Messiah's Kingdom. Satan will then be bound and no longer allowed to plant the seeds of discord, strife, error, misunderstanding of God, nor be permitted to water these seeds. On the contrary, every influence then will be favorable, as now every influence is unfavorable, to those who would walk in the path of justice, equity, righteousness.

Whither will that Highway lead the traveler, do you ask? Will it lead him to the same glory, honor and immortality to which the narrow path of sacrifice and self-denial now leads the consecrated people of God who walk in the footsteps of Jesus? Oh, no! the narrow path of sacrifice will then be at an end, having accomplished the purpose for which it was designed, or permitted—the selection of the Bride class, Messiah's joint-heirs, or Cabinet, in His Kingdom.

The Highway which Messiah's Kingdom will open up to all the children of Adam—to the non-elect—will lead them back to perfection. When God made Father Adam, He made him a man, not an angel—an earthly being, not a heavenly being. God crowned Adam with earthly glory and honor, and set him as king over the earth, its fish, fowl, beasts. God changes not. His purpose is the same to-day as in the beginning. For six thousand years God has allowed humanity to propagate and go down into the sleep of death, there to await a better time future. Meaning God sent forth His Son and redeemed mankind, and then glorified the obedient Saviour. Since then, God has been setting a saintly few to be His joint-heirs. The next time in order is the blessing of all the remainder of Adam's race by Resurrection, raising them to the earthly glory and honor originally intended, but lost by sin and redemption at Calvary.

Let the thought come to our hearts and minds as to the future, we look at the Union Debt and read the prophetic words, "The desert shall blossom as the rose." For there, so doing, our hearts will be drawn nearer to the Lord. Our increasing faith will make increasing obedience more nearly possible. And love for our Creator will come in to sanctify our hearts and to assist us in showing forth the praises of Him who hath raised us out of darkness into His marvelous light.

The Prophet declares respecting the hosts that will pass over the Highway of Holiness, that they are all the ransomed of the Lord—the redeemed world of mankind. He says, "The ransomed of the Lord shall be restored and come to Zion. For there shall everlastingly be upon their heads; they shall obtain joy and gladness, and sorrow and sighing will flee away." And Jesus adds that there shall be no more sighing, crying and dying, because all the former things of sin and death shall have passed away. He that sitteth upon the Throne shall make all things new.—Revelation 21:4, 5.

Once in our ignorance we supposed that Jesus did only for the Church—that only the Bride class, the Little Flock, were to be ransomed by the precious blood. Now we see differently—that God's Love and the provision He has made in His plan is world-wide. We know that the Scriptures stated the matter broadly, but we looked through the narrow spectacles of the creeds of the Dark Ages. Thus we disregarded the words of the Apostle, "God . . . will have all men to be saved, and to come to the knowledge of the Truth. For there is one God, and one Mediator between God and man (mankind), the Man Christ Jesus, who gave Himself a ransom for all, to be testified in due time." (1 Timothy 2:4-6.) How strange that we could have read these precious words over and over again without seeing their real import!

How doubly strange when we so well know that few of our friends, relatives or neighbors belonged in any sense or degree to the saintly Little Flock, the Elect!

How glad we are that in this Morning-time when the light is shining upon all subjects, and when all mankind are learning to think more correctly, we may enjoy the clearer light of God's Word! It is so very broad in one sense of the Word, and yet so very narrow, in another, that will open blinded eyes of understanding.

None but the saintly followers in the footsteps of Jesus can enter the Kingdom class. Then the witness of God's Mercy will operate, through the Kingdom class on the spirit plane, to give all humanity a blessed opportunity to come to a knowledge of God. As they shall experience the blessings provided for them through the "Bansoon for all," they will have the privilege of going up, up, up the Highway of Holiness, during the thousand years, to its end.

The reward will be human perfection and a world-wide Eden, gradually attained under the assistance of the Church in glory, the Kingdom. Ultimately, God's blessing and everlasting life will be given to all the willing and obedient. Even the wilfully wicked will not be tortured eternally, but will be destroyed, with an everlasting destruction, from which there will be no recovery. Ah! now we see the glorious prize before the Church and the necessity for her narrow way of trial, testing! Now do we see that the witness of God's Mercy is as the witness of the sea, in the provision that, as all came under the reign of sin and death, through Father Adam, all may come under the blessed reign of righteousness and life everlasting through the Redeemer, the Second Adam.

It is from that destruction toward which all are tending that Christ has redeemed all. And His Kingdom will be for the very purpose of destroying the broad way and rescuing the poor degenerate born in sin and shapen in iniquity, who were heedlessly going the downward way. In the Highway there will be no lions and ravenous beasts of licensed saloons and other evils to tempt, to entrap, and Satan, the great Adversary, will be bound during that thousand years.

What a glorious change from the present time! Everything then will be helpful. Instead of evil spirits to attempt to mislead and deceive, will be the glorified ones on the spirit plane to assist and direct. Nevertheless, we see, according to the Scriptures, the importance of the various trials and difficulties of the present time. God is now seeking a very special class, and in order to be fitted and prepared for His service, they must be able to stand these various tests.

For this successful achievement Admiralty immediately promoted him to the rank of lieutenant, and through a chief warrant grade, he was promoted to the rank of lieutenant on June 26, 1902. In the King's regulations permit a promotion was that which promoted "warrant officers of exemplary who may distinguish themselves of gallantry and daring in the field." Mr. Chas. was promoted to the rank of lieutenant. Other warrant officers had been advanced to the lieutenant's rank, but none ever received promotion higher rank of commander while the active list.

Lieutenant Chas. however, 12 years' service in that grade, was commander on September 25 last, not only served as a lieutenant, keeping duty in a large cruise, Donagel, but had had independent commands like those of the "Traveller" and "The Sloop" in the China Sea. When in China in various occasions received the commendation of the Admiralty for surviving his conduct on occasions when called upon to afford protection to British subjects, and to maintain the peace of the Sloop and the Kinsha, near the coast of China. FROM BLUEJACKET TO BATTLE SHIP CAPTAIN—THE CAREER OF COMMANDER LYNE, OF BRITISH NAVY

FOR the first time in the history of the British navy a man entered as a bluejacket on the lower deck has risen by meritorious service to the command of an armored battle ship of the first class. The British navy often has been described as a democratic service, and its officers certainly never have been drawn as a rule from either the aristocratic or plutocratic families to any large extent. It has been the lot of Mr. Churchill to make this characteristic still more marked, first by promoting to the rank of commander his way up to the lieutenants' list entirely by his own exertions, and secondly, by transferring this officer from the command of a small 86 ton gunboat to the command of a 12,950 ton battle ship. It is nearly thirty years since Commander Thomas J. Lyne, as he now is, entered the navy. He followed the usual routine of men on the lower deck who turn over which is to be so constructed as to contain the ashes, for falling this, then in the open ground close to his dog's body as may be. He further charged his estates in Southorpe with $2,500 in addition to whatever he had already bequeathed to the Stamford Infirmary. If these intentions are disturbed or removed, both as regards the dog's body and his own, from their present position within a hundred years. That fine sprinter Whisk Broom, whose two victories last year included the Marlborough Cup at Newmarket, and the Victoria Cup at Hurst Park, is to be kept in training for another year to have a further chance of distinguishing himself in handicap races, and Borow, which ran in the first three in nearly all its races last year, two of which, the Wokingham Stakes and the Windsor Castle Stakes, it won, has also been retained in the stable. Flanders, the four-year-old Burgomaster colt, which was running at its best toward the end of last season, is likely to be found a much improved animal next year, as it has been given a good rest. It is expected, however, that the three-year-olds and two-year-olds will make the best showing. Prominent among the rising three-year-olds are Harmonicon, Miramichi, Meeting House, Cabaret and Double Six. These are a highly promising lot of colts that will be in the public eye and greatly disappointed if they fail to win certain of their three-year-old engagements provided all continue to go on well in their training. Harmonicon is without exception one of the most commanding and shapely of his age and sex in training. The Guinness Stakes and the Two Thousand Guinea Stakes are in and is just the stamp of animal to act well over the straight Rowley mile course. He is not at all unlikely to be brought into prominent notice for that race before it is decided. Miramichi is also a colt of promise, but according to his public displays is better endowed with speed than stamina. However, this chestnut colt by Volt can safely be depended on to win races. Meeting House, which is among the nominations for both the "Guinea" and the Derby, is also a very improved colt, which though not likely to carry off "classic" honors, should certainly win some of its three-year-old engagements. Carabet, Cherokee Rose and the Water Cross-Hamburg Belle filly, the latter of which won its only race last season, are also going on splendidly. The rising two-year-olds under Mr. Joyner's charge are a more level, even lot than any he has had previously, these being of a nice average size, possessing plenty of quality, and are all in very good form, and the experts anticipate that in most cases they will be found useful class colts and fillies.

intended to keep to a naval career, but that he was not deficient in smartness and ability is evidenced by his selection as a captain's coxswain after a few years' service. In February, 1888, he was advanced to the warrant rank of gunner, and about four years later during the South African war he got his great chance of distinction. Having qualified for the duties, he was placed in charge of No. 60 torpedo boat, which was employed patrolling and despatching mail for the west coast on Cape Colony. The vessel was at sea on one occasion when she broke down completely, her main shaft breaking and leaving her practically helpless some thirty miles from a dangerous coast. Her commander, however, proved equal to the emergency by dragging up a sail for the boat out of deck cloths and similar articles, and with great skill he navigated her back to a safe anchorage in Saldanha Bay. For this resourceful achievement the Admiralty immediately promoted him to the rank of lieutenant, and without passing through a chief warrant grade, he became a lieutenant on June 26, 1902. The clause in the King's regulations permitting such a promotion was that which provided that "warrant officers of exemplary conduct who may distinguish themselves by acts of gallantry and during the service shall be eligible for promotion to the rank of lieutenant." Other warrant officers had been advanced to lieutenants in similar circumstances, the first being on the occasion of Queen Victoria's Jubilee, in 1887, but none ever received promotion to the higher rank of commander while still on the active list. Lieutenant Lyne, however, after ten years' service in that grade, was made a commander on September 28 last. He has not only served as a lieutenant for watch keeping duty in a large cruiser like the Donegal, but has held independent command of the gunboat "Traveller" and the Ringdove, small craft in home waters, and the Snipe and the Kinsha, river gunboats in China. When in China he on several occasions received the commendation of the Admiralty for services rendered for his conduct on occasions when he was called upon to afford protection to foreigners during native risings. As one who has served with him writes, he has proved himself "a jolly good chap, popular with the officers and popular with the lower deck," though it is perhaps not surprising to find that he has the reputation of being a strict disciplinarian. For some months he had been in command of the gunboat Ringdove, a vessel under the orders of the admiral commanding coast guard and reserves. He is now appointed to command the battle ship "Colinet," of the third fleet, at Chatham, a vessel which, being in reserve, has a commander instead of a captain for her commanding officer. He is the first seaman to reach the commanders' list before retirement, and will now be the first to take command of a battle ship, but the Admiralty, by the recent regulations on the subject, have provided the way for others to follow if they give evidence of similar capabilities.

There are still the hayricks close to the chamber windows, as when Mr. Pickwick looked out of his; still the little flower meadows undulating pleasantly around. The sheet of water known as Manor Farm Pond, into which Mr. Pickwick fell while on the ice, also remains.

MR. HENRY PAYNE WHITNEY'S RACES SHOW MUCH PROMISE.

MR. HENRY PAYNE WHITNEY'S RACES show promise of providing their popular owner with a more successful season during 1913 than was the case last year. That fine sprinter Whisk Broom, whose two victories last year included the Marlborough Cup at Newmarket, and the Victoria Cup at Hurst Park, is to be kept in training for another year to have a further chance of distinguishing himself in handicap races, and Borow, which ran in the first three in nearly all its races last year, two of which, the Wokingham Stakes and the Windsor Castle Stakes, it won, has also been retained in the stable. WILL RESUME THEIR OCCUPANCY OF DORCHESTER HOUSE.

SIR GEORGE and Lady Holford will, it is understood, resume occupancy of Dorchester House early in the new year. The death of the American Ambassador has only accelerated the severance of the American interest in the house, as the late Mr. Whitehall had intimated that he would return in March, and Sir George and Lady Holford are expected to entertain largely during the next season, and among the first of their guests probably will be the King and Queen, the former having a very great regard for his quarry-in-ordinary.

HOME OF OLD MR. WARDLE AND THE FAT BOY NOW A MENAGERIE.

OVERS of Charles Dickens will be interested to learn that Cobtree Manor, Maidstone, Kent (Dingles Dell), the home of old Mr. Wardle and the Fat Boy, has been turned into a club open to all amateurs who keep wild animals. A remarkable menagerie consisting of nearly one hundred animals is now within the confines of this small farm in Kent, and peaceful Kent, and any of its inmates met suddenly in one of the deep lanes of that countryside would have caused the Fat Boy's flesh to creep. Many of the most interesting animals are in the open cages ranged around the yard. The list includes a Malayan bear, two wolf-dog hybrids, a Siberian wolf, two monkeys, two fine lion cubs, a sloth bear, a brown bear, a striped hyena, two splendid leopards and a cub, four lions, a zebra, a royal cream Hanoverian pony and some Soay and Haussa sheep. There are also a griffon vulture and a golden eagle. Mr. G. Tyrwhit Drake, who owns most of the inmates of this zoo, has it on the authority of Charles Dickens's son, Mr. H. P. Dickens, K. C., who sometimes visits the minor when on circuit, that this is the original of the famous farm—the novelist definitely told him so. The house has been a good deal added to, but the appearance and character of it has not been greatly altered since

BRITAIN AND GERMANY HAND IN HAND TO MAKE SEA SAFER.

THE international conference to be held here respecting the question of security of life at sea is the result of a suggestion made some time ago by the German Emperor, to which a sympathetic reply was returned by the British government. In view of the discussion which will then take place the Marine Department of the Board of Trade has been in communication with the responsible authorities in the different maritime countries, the intention being to procure as far as possible uniformity of agreement on the subject. The president of the Board and his advisers have also been closely in touch with British shipping interests regarding the proposed new regulations, and it is stated that the attitude of the former has been modified very considerably. It is now believed, indeed, that when the rules are promulgated there will be little room for

THE numerous antiquarians who have had occasion to consult Lord Dillon, the curator of the armories at the Tower of London, will regret his retirement after fifteen years' service. One of the leading living authorities on historical costumes and armor, his advice was freely sought and as freely given, while his own private collection of antiquities was ever at the service of inquirers. The cultured viscount's wide and varied knowledge of costumes was particularly valued when the vogue for pageants was at its height. Lord Dillon's personal collection of arms and armor at his Oxfordshire home, Ditchley Park, is almost equal to that at Windsor Castle or Herford House. At Ditchley, too, are preserved

INTERESTING STATISTICS OF THE LONDON SCHOOLBOY.

OFFICERS who were sole duty it is to gather up from the gutters of London all children between the ages of five and fourteen who, by law, must attend school, found in 1912, according to a report just issued by the London County Council, 7,681 such children in the streets. Five thousand three hundred and twenty-seven were playing or loitering, and they were promptly ordered to school. Forty-seven were selling matches. Of the two thousand were going on errands, and in such cases they were urged to make haste and to proceed to school. More than a hundred were sleeping crossings, picking up wood, rags, &c., and eighty-five were begging and wandering, "having no home."

Toronto, Jan. 18—A harder blow was dealt the O. H. A. last night than any other time this season. The mercury flirted around the forty mark all day throughout Ontario and Quebec. Games were postponed in all parts of this province. The Ontario association had fifteen games postponed for lack of ice, including senior fixtures at Peterboro and Preston. The only artificial playing surfaces in Ontario are those here and in Hamilton.

Open air rinks have gone out of business completely and will have to build entirely new foundations. In most of the closed rinks there is more or less ice, but it is covered with slush and water. Unless there is a decided change to colder weather the N.H.A. games at Ottawa and Montreal may have to be called off to-night. Among the towns and cities at which O.H.A. games were postponed last night are Lindsay, Goderich, Alvinston, Bradford, Warton, Niagara Falls, Picton, St. Marys, Meaford, Oshawa, Ingersoll and others.

It is years since the big association experienced as disastrous a season. The Weather Bureau promises colder weather to-night. The meteorological officials late last night predicted as follows for the Lower Lakes and Georgian Bay—Fresh to strong winds, shifting to northwest and turning considerably colder, more especially by night, with some light local snow falls or furies.

Yesterday's Results
O. H. A. Senior
St. Michael's at Peterboro; no ice. Parkdale at Preston; no ice.

DEAFNESS CANNOT BE CURED by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portions of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh), that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free.

Are You Blue and Worried?

Nervous? Some of the time really ill? Catch cold easily and frequently suffer from biliousness or headache? The reason is that your system does not rid itself of the poisons in the blood; just as impossible as it is for the grate of a stove to rid itself of the smoke. The waste does to us exactly what the clinkers do to the stove; it burns at all. Your liver is sluggish—you are dull and heavy—sleep does not rest, nor is food appetizing. In this condition illness develops. Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery eradicates the poisons from the body—a glyceric alterative extract made from bloodroot, golden seal and mandrake root, stone and queen's root, without the use of alcohol. No matter how strong the constitution the stomach is apt to be "out of kilter" at times; in consequence the blood is disordered, for the stomach is the laboratory for the constant manufacture of blood.

Mrs. BLAKE, of Fort Dover, Ont., Box 98, writes: "I have been a great sufferer for years from throat trouble, nervousness, indigestion, constipation, headache, and general debility. I was under many different doctors, but would get better for a while, then I would go down with chronic inflammation all through me. For thirteen years I had this poison in my blood. After trying nearly everything I got worse. I read in 'The People's Common Sense Medical Adviser' of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and Dr. Sayer's Catarrh Remedy. I have taken the 'Golden Medical Discovery' and 'Pleasant Pills', and have used five bottles of Dr. Sayer's Catarrh Remedy. I am now able to do my work and walk with pleasure. I feel like a new woman. I enjoy everything around me and thank God for letting me live long enough to find something that made me well again. Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets regulate liver and bowels."

NEW YORK, Jan. 20.—Absolutely unwarranted and uncalled for, characterizations which William Truesdale, president of the Lackawanna railroad, is quoted to-day placing upon the Government's surety of the Lackawanna pier at Buffalo on Saturday.

The pier in question, extending about 1,000 feet along the mouth of the Buffalo river, carries one of the railroads coal trestles. In seizing property by a force of infantry from Fort Porter, the war department claims that it has no right to the pier as it was acquired by the United States in 1826.
