HEAL that OBSTINATE SORE!
CUTS and bruises are often very obstinate in refusing to heal. The edges of the wound remain inflamed and sore, and there is a daily danger of disease-germs settling on the raw flesh and giving rise to serious complications. Thus, neglect or improper treatment of an injury, be it a cut, burn, scald, or even a simple scratch, is a menace to life.

In cases where wounds refuse to heal quickly, nothing but Zam-Buk will suffice if the skin is to be healed to grow naturally and be healthy again. Zam-Buk exerts a powerful and remarkable effect, not only of rendering the wound proof against disease-germs, but of growing new skin-tissues.

Thus Zam-Buk heals wounds in a perfectly natural manner, and the possibilities of eczema and other torturing skin-diseases are entirely prevented. Possessing rare medicinal properties, Zam-Buk accomplishes what ordinary ointments and salves never can do, and its ever-ready character, constant reliability, and absolute purity, render it distinct from all other preparations. If you dress your cuts and sores with Zam-Buk you will never be troubled with "the wound that would not heal!"

Open the door.
Open the door of your heart, my lad,
To the angel of love and truth,
When the world is full of unnumbered joys
In the beautiful dawn of youth.
Costing aside all things that mar,
Saying to wrong, "Depart!"
To the voices of hope that are calling you Open the door of your heart.

Open the door of your heart, my lass,
To the things that shall abide,
To the holy thoughts that lift your soul
Like the stars at eventide.
All the fabled flowers that bloom
In the realm of song and art
Are yours if you'll only give them room,
Open the door of your heart.

Open the door of your heart, my friend,
Remember of dawn and noon,
When you bear a cry of a brother's voice,
The wailing of some one in pain,
Who is crying to you that you have You need not say no word!
Only the love of the Master,
Open the door of your heart.

The Playactress.
BY S. R. CROCKETT.
CHAPTER III.—Continued.
So, with just as much heatiness as though he were a lame probation-er or a raw student, William Greig said to a word to Dr. Gilbert Rutherford. He shook the preacher warmly by the hand. It was quite impossible for him to shake hands in any other way. He would even have gripped the hand of an Episcopalian, and that cordially—especially if his own minister had not been looking.

"It's twenty-seven years since we shook in my house—that was my father's then doctor. I'm the young man that ye spoke to in the oak plant-in 'bout hisson-William Greig of the North Larg, who under the Almighty Himself owes to you the spirit that is in him the day."

Thus William Greig.

"That is one of the glorious moments that come occasionally to the fisher of men, who fishes as truly as he can for souls, yet chiefly seems to throw away his endeavors—bait, line, and all. For such moments, though they come but rarely, it is worth while to live.

"I mind you, William; I mind you well. How could I forget!" said the preacher, gripping his hand.

"The years have brought us both to the silver grey, I see; and I doubt not to many another change, William."

The two men looked each other in the eyes, as only men do who meet after many years.

"When is Aunt Bessie coming back?" asked a little reproachful voice, low down near the grass.

"The two men dropped each other's hands and looked at her, half ashamed of their forgetfulness. Little Allie Rutherford was standing there, very still and patient, with her hands crossed before a, quaint and pretty figure.

"I cannot tell when Aunt Bessie will come back," said her grandfather, sadly toasting weary days for the little one.

"But you asked her, and she said that she would come," persisted the small, tender voice.

"Yes, she will come some day," said Dr. Rutherford, but not very brightly.

"Grandfather, she went on, 'I am to call you that, am I not? Aunt Bessie said so. Why did I see you when she went away? Auntie only cries when mamma is not well and speaks fond of her. But you are quite well, and you do not speak angrily.
Aunt Bessie ought not to cry. Will you tell her so?"

"The Great Preacher felt the limitations of a man.

"Once more it was William Greig who relieved the strain.

"Doctor," he said, "will you not come up again to the hills and taste the culler air. A man may sup healthily by the spoonfuls up at the Nether Larg.
Come up and do us good! And bring this dainty wife to get some color into her cheeks. It will bring a blessing like that of the house of Obed edom."

The doctor appeared to consider for a moment.

"I have no mistress now, sir ye may

Destroys Hair Germs
Recent discoveries have shown that falling hair is caused by germs at the roots of the hair.
Therefore, to stop falling hair, you must first completely destroy these germs. Ayer's Hair Vigour, new improved formula, will certainly do this. Then leave the rest to nature.
Does not change the color of the hair.

Show it to your

Use it as he says.

Recent discoveries have also proved that dandruff is caused by germs on the scalp.
Therefore, to cure dandruff, the first thing to do is to completely destroy these dandruff germs. Here, the same Ayer's Hair Vigour will give the same splendid results.

ken," said William Greig; "but there's a lass or two o' mine up yonder, that wad be proud to show the bonny woman when the gowans are thickest and the blossom whitest."

It seemed a happy salutation. It would give him time to bethink himself and, with the upland stillness, to form an acquaintance with this child of his late years.

"Of the minister will allow," he said;
"evenly more is under orders in another man's parish."

He looked at Stephen Armstrong as he spoke. That young man seemed so absent minded, for he said—
"Yes, yes, that you have found friends in the neighborhood."

"Yes," said the farmer of Nether Larg. "I have reason to call the doctor my friend. If ever man spoke of another by that name."

And so it was settled. William Greig was to come for them on the following day about the middle of the forenoon. He had to come down to get the pony shod at his own rate," he said.

"Are the gowans flowers, grandfather?" inquired Allie Rutherford the child, gently.

"Yes, my dear," said he.

"Will it be prettier than Richmond Park?" she asked again.

"I think it will," Gilbert Rutherford made answer, smiling.

"The little maid sat down suddenly and unexpectedly and sobbed her heart out.

The minister knelt beside her in great distress, putting his arm about her.

"Why is it that you cry, dearie?" he said tenderly. "Tell me, and I will help if I can."

The child was silent for a while, sobbing irregularly and irresolutely.

"It is because it will be so lovely and Aunt Bessie will not be there to see it," she said.

The Great Preacher took her in his arms and walked down to the manse with her, comforting her. William Greig went with him to the door. As for Stephen Armstrong, he followed in the rear meditating.

As they passed, before separating at the gate, William Greig said—
"What is her name?"

"Allie," said the doctor, looking at her as her cramped and tear-stained hand touched his shoulder—that was my wife's name."

He spoke in a low tone, as if he were in a sick room.

"So it was of mine!" said William Greig, in the same voice, but, if anything, less low.

The two men gripped hands, without looking at one another this time, and turned away.

So Waristown Water and the Kirk on the Hill came very near together—just because a playactor's little wife was named Allie.

6 Yrs. a Victim of Itching Piles
In dreadful agony day and night—
DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT
brought relief and cure.

Mr. G. W. CORSELL, who is with the Shaw Milling Co., St. Catharines, Ont., writes: "In justice to suffering humanity I write to tell you of the world of good I obtained from the use of Dr.
Chase's Ointment. For about six years I was the victim of itching and protruding piles, and in dreadful agony day and night. Doctors were unable to help me, and I could get nothing to relieve the suffering. I was about as miserable a creature as was to be found on the face of the earth.

"One day my druggist advised me to try Dr. Chase's Ointment, which I did, and obtained relief from the first box, and complete cure with the second.
My trouble was caused by heavy lifting, and I consider that Dr. Chase's Ointment was the most satisfactory treatment for itching, bleeding and protruding piles that was ever discovered. 60 cts. a box, all dealers, or Edman-

CHAPTER IV.
THE DECLINE AND FALL OF THE GREAT PREACHER.

BUT the morrow was not yet come.
Stephen Armstrong had a housekeeper, a lady of severe aspect and several rooms, known and feared as "Giblet of the Manse." Of her, little Allie Rutherford the third would have none.

"Aunt Bessie said so how I was to be grandfather's little girl. It's kind of you black lady; but Aunt Bessie knows best."

And this was her reply to all overtures on the subject of bed and undressing. So the Great Preacher, with an odd pain in his bosom, began to brush up his knowledge of buttons and books. There came to him a picture of himself that winter very long ago, when he and Allie were so poor, and when their old servant went home ill and left them alone away back in the little manse in the country.

"There he saw his gentle Allie bending over a little white heap of bed-clothes, and there was he at the fireplace with a hair on his knee—Allie laughing brightly over her shoulder at his awkwardness, which was greater in finding that terrible 'button of juncture at the back than it had ever been in worrying out a knotty point in the 'Original Hebrew.'"

"Then, what was it that Allie said?
He remembered it as clearly as the way she bent her arms when she did her hair.

The knot was hard in his throat now—constricted so that it hurt.
Where were the bairnies who that night made the little manse blithe with their merry din?

All gone, lying side by side on the green bowers of Waristown, save only Willie—whose buttons it was so hard to find because the rogue systematically pulled them off—he resting all his love by the wash of warm tonic seas.

But in a little this younger Allie was on the minister's knees, and he said—

"To-night you must be a good girl for you are to sleep in grandfather's bed. He will look after you. But he does not know much about little girls, and so you must help him."

"Haddn't you never no little girls, grandfather?" said the maid.

"Yes, my dear, I had little girls," said Gilbert Rutherford, "an Allie like you, an Isabel!"

There was a pause for a little.

"But why are you sad, grandfather?
Did you have to take them and leave them in some one else's house, like Aunt Bessie left me, as they could undress them and take care of them?"

"Yes," said the Great Preacher, "that is just it. I took them and left them in Some One else's house!"

"You mustn't look cryful, grandfather, for Aunt Bessie says,
'Tis for our good' and 'tis right'— that's what she says!"

Allie stooped, shaking her head, a wistful little whitish, and then went thoughtfully.

"But perhaps he wasn't as good's you?"

"Who?" said Gilbert Rutherford, started.

"Somebody's children's grandfather that you left them with, you know."

"But he is—far kinder and better!" said Gilbert, quickly.

"Did you cry when you took the train tickets, like Aunt Bessie did under the big arch, where the engine go 'Hoo—Hoo!'?"

"I fear I did," said Gilbert to his small inquisitor.

And he felt himself smiling strangely through an envolving mist.

In time the mystery of books and eyes, of ties and buttons, cleared itself a little. But a new terror fixed itself upon his soul—how next morning he would put all these things together. He remembered once that, with the help of the Encyclopedia, he had taken down his watch with great satisfaction to himself, but had entirely failed to put it together on the following morning. For with much natural depravity it had resolved itself into a tangle of wheels and springs laid out on a sheet of grey paper.

The cases were analogous. The maze of ties, strings, bands and buttons before him on the floor looked more hopeless than the watch had done.

"Time for my bath!" said Allie, crip and sharp.

A new danger was here.

The Great Preacher shamelessly prevaricated.

"To-morrow perhaps grandfather will have a bath for his little girl.
To-night we are not in our own house, and you see grandfather did not know that his little girl was coming—"

"Oh, yes, I know," said Allie, brightly. "I am not to worry grandfather if I don't get everything I want."

"She repeated this excellent moral precept like the headlines of a copy-book.

"For some things may not be for little girls' good—as baths, specially when it's cold, lessons, and nasty medicine," she added, nodding her head as she enumerated.

At last, soberly endured upon with trailing white, infinitely overid, forward, and looking more quaint and delightsome than ever, the little fairy figure came and plumped down at his knees. Then she began without a preface or warning—

"Jesus tender separate, hear me.
Miss Fitz little lamb tonight,
In the darkness be Thou near me.
Keep me safe till morning light."

Gilbert Rutherford sat rebuked.
He had been debating how he would begin to teach the rudiments of religion to this child reared among the playactors.

From all the dangers of this night keep little Allie. God bless grandfather that is far away—oh, no, but he isn't now—and mother, and dear father that is coming home to his little girl, and Aunt Bessie, for she is the very goodest aunt, and make Allie a much better girl, for Jesus' sake. Amen."

The little elf was up from her knees in a moment, as soon as the 'Amen' had been despatched.

"Now climb—and hug—and fairy story!" she exclaimed, denting her farms into her grandfather's neck, and muzzling as far under his chin as she could get her head to go.

CAUSE AND CURE OF NEURALGIA
Modern Methods Dispose of the Cause
Instead of Treating the Symptom.
Neuralgia means simply 'nerve pain,' so there may be a great variety in the character and intensity of the pain and any nerve in the body may be affected. There are a number of causes of neuralgia, but the most common is a general run-down condition of the system. The discovery of this fact from reliable statistics led to the new treatment for neuralgia which consists in building up the general health by the tonic treatment and so disposing of the cause of the trouble.

Persons reduced by acute sickness, or by severe mental or physical strain, or by loss of sleep are frequently victims of neuralgia and it is common in the case of those suffering from anaemic or bloodless conditions. This brings us to the actual cause of neuralgia, which is nerve starvation. The blood which is normal health carries to the nerves all of their nourishment, is unable to perform this duty satisfactorily when it is weak or impure. Build up the blood and the neuralgic pain will disappear as the nerves become better nourished. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a blood-making tonic, and for this reason cure even the most obstinate cases of neuralgia. Every dose of this medicine makes new, rich blood, which feeds the starved veins and drives out the sharp, darting, stabbing pains of neuralgia. Mrs. John Tibert, Little River, N. S., says—'"A few years ago I was a great sufferer from neuralgia in my head and face.
At times the attacks were simply excruciating, and I would be forced to remain in bed. I tried doctors' medicines, but did not receive any benefit until I began using Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I am happy to say that the benefit I received from these was wonderful. I may also add that Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured my daughter of anaemic and indigestion, at a time when we began to despair of her getting better. I can highly recommend these Pills to anyone suffering from these troubles.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicines or they will be sent by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The
Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brock-

THE ACADIAN.

WOLFVILLE, N. S., NOV. 19, 1909.

The annual meeting of the N. S. Fruit Growers' Association will be held this year at Kentville. The date has not yet been fixed but it will probably be about Dec. 15th.

One patriotic citizen has offered to be one of ten to bear the expense of paving Main street, the work to be done by a competent commissioner. "Where are the nine?"

The first number of Amherst's new paper, The Standard, made its appearance last Friday. Mr. N. S. Sanford, well known in Wolfville, is the editor, and the new journal is well written, well printed and newsy. THE ACADIAN wishes the new advent in journalism every success.

It appears to be necessary to remind some of our advertisers that to insure insertion in the current issue all copy for changes must be in this office before 12 o'clock on Wednesday. With some of our patrons it seems to be easier to get their copy in any time after rather than any time before 12 o'clock. The busy advertising season is now upon us, when we shall be compelled to observe this rule to the letter. "A word to the wise," etc.

There is a bill before the House of Lords that if it becomes law, will be a sanitary standpoint at least be a great improvement over existing law and practice in the whole Empire. We refer to the matter of "kissing the Book" when taking an oath in a British court of justice. Germs of disease by the thousands adhere to every old Court Bible in the Empire, and yet we are obliged to touch the lips to this "Book" before giving evidence. The new Bill will allow those who are to testify in Courts to simply raise the hand, while the proper officer administers the oath, thus calling God to witness that what they testify will be the truth.

Is it not a fact the world over that the extent and skill of a firm's advertisement is taken as an indication of its importance? None but the best, largest and most successful firms advertise intelligently and continuously. Others may make a show, spasmodically, but their intermittent efforts lose them the benefit to be gained by an unceasing effort in any period. As well might a man expect to accomplish success in any business by striking out with all his force in an unsympathetic effort for a day or two, and then loafing for an equal time, to achieve the best results from advertising shiftlessly or intermittently. If you think it pays to advertise at all, set aside some fixed sum or per cent. for this special purpose, select carefully the mediums to be used, then write your advertisements carefully and truthfully, and have them printed continuously, with frequent change, and if you have anything that anybody wants you cannot fail to secure satisfactory results.

A Reliable Medicine for all Children.

Baby's Own Tablets are absolutely safe. This medicine is as good for the new born babe as the well grown child. It contains no opiate or poisonous stuff. The mother who gives this medicine to her child has the guarantee of a government analyst that these statements are true. This is worth something to every mother. For Baby's Own Tablets is the only medicine that is sold under such a guarantee. The Tablets cure such ailments as indigestion, colic, constipation, diarrhoea, and teething troubles, destroy worms, break up colds and thus prevent deadly croup. Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

'Borden's Fad.'

The New Glasgow Chronicle, Liberal, is not very favorably impressed with the government's scheme of military training in the public schools. Here is what the Chronicle has to say about it:

"Germany is accounted the most military nation on earth; yet military training is not used in public schools. In Nova Scotia the people are so forebearing as to permit Sir Fred Borden's led being taught in the common schools. At a convention of the W. C. T. U. lately such teaching in the schools was vigorously condemned, as it should be. The idea of introducing the teaching of military drill in any common school is one of the absurdities created by faddists and should be abandoned. If the state wants soldiers let it take them and teach them; such is its work—the work of the common schools is something entirely different."

Pure and Elevating.

Any family who misses securing a copy of the beautiful picture, "The Soul's Awakening," will surely be sorry after they are all gone, and it is seen in some friend's house. The best people in the Dominion are publically recommending it to every home. Every lover of that which is pure and inspiring cannot fail to appreciate such a beautiful work. The picture is given absolutely free to all who subscribe to that great weekly paper, "The Family Herald and Weekly Star," Montreal, the price of which is only one dollar a year. It is not the usual cheap chromo but is in a place ready for framing and fit for a place in any home in the Dominion. It is 10 1/2 inches long and 8 inches wide. For a year's subscription to that great paper and the picture will be sent at once neatly packed in a strong cardboard box. Do not wait until the crowd ahead of you is too big.

The Reviewer.

MR. MONK.

The Liberal papers of Canada seem to attach very much more importance to the navy views of F. D. Monk, of Montreal, than do the Conservative party. The latter have a spirit of independent thought within their ranks and are not disposed to crucify one of their own party who happens to honestly disagree with some one else of the same stripe. We do not suspect that a gentleman like, say Mr. Monk, who wakes up six months after a policy has been agreed upon by the leaders of the party of Conservatives in parliament, of which he is a member, shall be rotten-egged because he is willing to sit still and let Canada remain blood-sucking the British tax payer who provides protection year in and out. We would say he might be a good man, an honest one, but we put him down as a mighty poor politician.

Mr. Monk is a respectable, clean, honest, member of Parliament from the Province of Quebec. He is a lecturer in a university, a good "looking man of irreproachable manners of the ultra-Catholic form of religious belief, and the proper place for him so far as the writer can see in order to produce and keep the world in peace is for him to retire to some well protected stone monastery.

At the outset we would say that he is down as the Conservative leader for the province of Quebec. He has at this late hour stated his opinions upon the subject of naval defence for Canada. He also enlarges and gives his views as to the Dominion's participating in the scheme for Empire defence which is now being formulated by the imperial authorities. His position leads to the importance of his views as would not otherwise be if he spoke from a private view point. This is unfortunate for the gentleman himself and for that particular locality of political opinion which he claims leadership.

There are many who believe that a cash contribution to the cause of Empire defence would be the proper thing for Canada to offer, and many more are of the same opinion that in any event before Canada makes its initial expenditure of some twenty millions of dollars and an annual maintenance expense of millions more for all future time it should give the electors an opportunity to express their views on the subject. This is fairly reasonable but inexpedient and unnecessary, though we cannot see why a man should be considered disloyal to Great Britain if he believed in both or believed in neither of these views.

Mr. Monk believes in neither. Not only does he hold that a Canadian navy is unnecessary for the purpose of home defence but he asserts that Canada is under no obligation to assist in the strengthening of the imperial navy of Great Britain. In his opinion the claim that the navy of Great Britain is safeguarded Canadian trade is without foundation for the reason that the nature of our products is such that all the nations of the world want them and will come for them in any event.

In order to contradict this conclusion of Mr. Monk's we have only to quote from the records. In the fiscal years from 1868 to 1906, the total exports of Canada figure to $3,973,195,924. Of this total Britain took $2,103,983,163, the United States $403,202,893. Take a shorter period from 1900 to 1906 the total value of our exports to the British Empire was $120,914,000, while to all other nations we exported products to the value of $75,105,754 the United States taking $66,267,784 of this which shows conclusively that if we were forced to depend on Mr. Monk's "all nations" with Great Britain and the United States excluded our export trade would be decidedly poor.

If let us suppose Great Britain were engaged in a war which for months threatened the existence of the empire by land and sea. The first business of the opposing forces would be to prevent the regular flow of ocean-borne trade to Great Britain and if the British navy to which Mr. Monk declares Canada is under no obligation happened to be too weak to protect fully the ocean highways from Canada to its own shores what would happen to the export trade of the Dominion? No doubt Mr. Monk would say that we could do our exporting through the United States and this would just suit that other dreamer, who is always wrong, Mr. Goldwin Smith. If we did we would pay dearly not only in cash but in self respect as well. The Empire is our best, by far, export trader and customer and if we are situated by no higher motives than those of trade expediency we would be doing well to in some way subscribe to ensure that profitable trade.

Mr. Monk says we can't be crushed out. Who said we could? He boasts of what we have done in the past to secure our freedom, and so we suggest that the noble efforts of our own people should be overlooked. Yet a child who gives the question a moment's serious thought must see how apparent it is that without the aid of British ships and fighting men the history of Canada would never have been what it is to-day. And we cannot forget the fact that in conflict success usually follows the banner of the leader with superior forces. If the day should come when by some chance Canada should be left with-

250 Good Stories.

The Youth's Companion abounds in stirring stories of adventure and heroism. One may describe an escape from accidental peril, another a strange encounter with wild creatures—man or beast.

Many of these stories are true as to facts, and only disguised as to names and places. A score or more of such stories will be published during 1910 in addition to nearly 200 others—250 good stories in all, and no two alike. And this is not counting the serial stories, which it is believed will be considered by old Companion readers as the best The Companion has ever published.

Every new Canadian subscriber will find it of special advantage to send at once the $2.00 for the new 1910 Volume. Not only does he get the beautiful "Venetian" Calendar for 1910, lithographed in thirteen colors and gold, but all the issues of The Companion during the remaining weeks of 1909 from the time the subscription is received.

In view of the approaching visit of the Belcher String Quartette to our town, the following notice in the Boston Herald of a recent performance by them will be of interest.

The members of the Carolyn Belcher Quartette, as we are told in Berlin, it is plain by their performance last night that they studied diligently and seriously; and, what is more to the purpose, they have studied carefully together as quartette players. Their performance last night was characterized by many excellent qualities. The ensemble was not only good in its accuracy, precision, sense of proportion, unanimity of expression, it had the appearance of spontaneity. There was a freedom, a dash to the interpretation that some quartettes composed of more experienced musicians might well envy. The performance was musically intelligent and refreshing by reason of its well-controlled enthusiasm.

The Providence Journal speaks of the leader, Miss Belcher, in this wise: "Miss Belcher is a soloist rare in merit, and was also heard to perform in the ensemble work. She has spent four years abroad studying under Joachim in Berlin."

Ratepayers are requested to attend to the notice of the town clerk in another column. By vote of the town council all rates and taxes for the current year should be paid by November 25th. After that date warranters will issue for the summary levy collection of these overdue amounts.

A Much Appreciated Gift.

As a mark of their high appreciation of the services of Miss Margaret V. West, of Moncton, N. B., the Record Foundry and Machine Co., of Moncton, have, at Miss West's request, generously donated to Acadia Seminary a fine Pent. Esther Range with complete furnishings and accessories. Coming at a time when the Domestic Science Department of the Seminary is seeking to meet, by providing a better equipped, the large demand being made upon it, the gift valuable in itself is the more appreciated, meeting as it does a real need of the Seminary. Miss West, who has recently entered the Gordon Training School, is a graduate of the Seminary in the year 1908 and is an enthusiastic Alumna. In her desire to aid her Alma Mater in some tangible way she has thus been concretely seconded by the generosity of the Record Company. The thanks of the Seminary are extended to both parties concerned, for the wish conceived and the will which carried it into execution.

On Thursday evening of last week the members of the Wolfville W. C. T. U., on the invitation of Mrs. C. M. Murray, met at her pretty home on Linden avenue to hear the report of the president, Mrs. Walter Mitchell, who represented the Wolfville union at the Provincial Convention recently held at Sydney. The Vice-president, Mrs. B. O. Davison, presided, and about forty ladies were present. Mrs. Mitchell presented a comprehensive and very interesting report on the proceedings of the Provincial Convention, which was much appreciated by those present. A short paper, which included vocal solos by Mrs. (D.) Moore, and Mrs. J. William Smith, of Halifax; a reading by Mrs. (Dr.) DeWitt, and a piano solo by Miss Myra Chambers were rendered. Dainty refreshments were served and the ladies spent a social hour which was much enjoyed.

THOMAS REED ORGANS.

The wonderful popularity of Thomas organs is due to their purity and sweetness of tone, neat and attractive cases, and is the result of the most particular attention to every detail in their manufacture. It is universally conceded that the "Thomas" is one of the most desirable reed organs on the market which is evident from the fact that for several years more Thomas organs have been sold in Nova Scotia than all others.

We regularly carry in stock nearly one hundred of the choicest designs of Thomas organs and have just placed an order for several carloads for immediate shipment. These will be sold on easy terms if desired and at the usual close prices.

We have a few organs in stock, some of which have only been used a short time, which we will dispose of at very low prices. Write quickly for the list.

Personal Mention.

On Sunday last the pulpit of St. Andrew's church was occupied by Rev. John McMillan, D. D., of Halifax, who preached two excellent and able sermons. In the morning his subject was "Mordcau," from whose life story he drew many practical and useful lessons. In the evening he gave a very helpful and impressive address on "Building a Character."

At midnight on Wednesday there passed away at her home on Acadia street a most highly respected lady—Mrs. Sophia Heckman, relict of the late J. W. Heckman, of Halifax. Upon her husband's death, ten years ago, Mrs. Heckman came with her family to live in Wolfville and during her residence in our town has won the esteem of all. For some time she has been in very feeble health and for several weeks back it has been seen that the end was near. She leaves a son and two daughters, who have the sincere sympathy of the whole community. The funeral takes place this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, and the remains will be taken to Halifax for interment.

Have you tried our Flann Haddle, if not you should do so, you will then see no other. SMITH & BISHOP.

The Baptist parsonage, Kentville, was the scene of a quiet wedding on Monday evening, when Mr. Frank Regan, of this town, and Miss Edith, daughter of Mr. Theodore Caldwell, of Greenwich, were united in marriage by Rev. J. D. Spilldell. A number of the relatives and friends of the young couple were present. The bride, who is a very popular young lady, looked very charming in a travelling costume of green cloth with hat to match. Mr. and Mrs. Regan are now enjoying a short tour visiting different parts of the province, after which they will reside on Prospect street. The ACADIAN tender the young couple best wishes.

The Evening Mail of Halifax has kindly offered to donate to the Western Nova Hockey League a cup valued $75, to be held by the team winning it for three consecutive years. Messrs. Craig, of Halifax, who donated the cup for this league last year have kindly offered to donate such to the members of this year's winning team. The Wolfville Hockey Club are anxious to put in the League strong team and hope to have the support of the citizens of Wolfville as they had last year.

The Gadfly.

With a University town going to extremes over science, one naturally begins to wonder where it will end and if the utility schemes of education is all. If arts and culture are to be secondary and sacrificed in education and science to predominate then why not apply it to all this. Why not apply science to government, laws, daily living, marriage and churches. If science is to overlap and overcome the ordinary intuitive common sense of people of other days then why not make it the foundation and structure of all life.

We know of no other town quite so well situated for applying the scientific as in Wolfville, situation, climate, scenery. Now for instance apply the science idea to civic law, there would be no need for it. Court would be abolished, laws would be so simple and easy of interpretation as the rules and procedure of a W. C. T. U. meeting or a social club. The government would be only a committee from the whole society. There would be no churches, as usually spoken, every house would be a church as consecrated by all the associations of science. There would be fine lecture halls, where science would be made the subject of discussion. Policemen would be unnecessary in such a state of government. Every man would be understood to discharge the duties of a policeman. In such a community it can be well expected that those duties would be of the simplest character. Infringement of the law of science meant expulsion from the town.

Then the scientific facts would be most widely recognized as applying to the cook and the table as the most important subject in the community. The government would be wise enough to be able to read aright the history of all countries and learn that it has been claimed, if not proven, times without number, that crime is completely controlled by cookery just as a ship is by the helm. Graduation in a college of cookery would be more difficult than the taking of a medical degree, and any one female found practising cookery or marrying before such graduation and diploma would be treated as a criminal and expelled from the community. By the exercise of great care and vigilance in this particular would depend largely the happiness of all classes. For example when a man found himself with an inclination towards the killing or knocking down of anyone against whom he came in contact he would know that he had been eating or drinking what disagreed with him and he would at once apply the scientific formula and counteracting diet with the result that in a brief space of time his disposition became normal and ready to tolerate the least acceptable of his fellow-beings, say the W. C. T. U. or the person anxious to give him advice before being asked.

Then again supposing a member of this scientific community should feel himself or herself becoming abnormally or unnecessarily benevolent. He would at once know that he had fallen under the influence of too generous a diet, and he would have no trouble in finding a cuisine that would restore him to a condition of scientific selfishness. Uneavened bread, hard and crisp, fried potatoes with beefsteak would cure any man of generosity. By thus reducing him to the perfect poise which is the result of a perfect and scientific bill of fare there would be no criminals, no poets, no prophets and no cranks.

Children would in this scientific community be regarded as the chief care of the place. Parents would not be allowed to ruin their children's chance in life by giving to them any common-place first name. Such names are congenial with the common place. Almost always men of distinction have distinctive names.

The education of the child should cause the greatest care. As generally conducted it is most ridiculously haphazard. A boy sees something he wants, he sees a tree loaded with nice apples, pears or cherries, he climbs over the fence and fills his pockets. The owner lays the whip on if he catches the young chap. Then the parent to whom he goes for consolation gives him a second licking, as we say, "he deserved it."

Nothing could be more unjust. Science has made it certain that man possesses still the instincts of remote ancestors whose habits were largely animal. The child seeing the fruit hanging from the boughs cannot resist the instinct to do as his forefathers did, if yet for this he is punished.

To let him see that he cannot have anything that he wants' is not the scientific principle. That form of education has ruined many a child, our scientific community just the opposite course will be pursued. They will recognize the truth, namely, that man and woman who succeeds in the world is the one who knows what he or she wants and does and rest satisfied until it is in his grasp. That what our boys are told when being sent out in the world. How is he to believe his father when from his earliest years exactly the opposite course has been forced upon him. The scientific course is to allow the child to yell his loudest for whatever it wants. Don't be in a hurry to let them have it until the face swelled with passion and its body curled like an irritated caterpillar. This is a purely scientific solution of the problem of learning children the art of success.

Against Military Drill in School.

The following resolution in regard to military instruction in public schools was passed at the Convention of the Dominion Women's Christian Temperance Union held at St. John, Oct. 29th to Nov. 2nd, and also at the Provincial W. C. T. U. Convention held at Sydney, Oct. 24th to 26th.

Resolved:—That the members of this Union of the Dominion W. C. T. U., consider that the introduction of advanced military drill into the schools of this Dominion is calculated to foster a warlike spirit in our school boys, a spirit that is in direct opposition to the spirit and teaching of Christ and his apostles, and that is also opposed to the world wide tendency in favor of peaceful, rational and Christian methods of settling national disputes.

Therefore resolved:—That as an organization of Christian women we place ourselves on record as distinctly opposed to the instruction of the boys of this Dominion in military tactics and to the organization of rifle cadet corps in connection with the public schools.

The Uses of Bile in Digestion

Bile is quite as important as are the gastric juices in the process of digestion. Without bile human life is short; for bile hastens the passage of the food along the alimentary canal. Bile prevents the fermentation of food in the intestines, which in turn causes gas, wind, flatulency and so forth. Bile, in short, is Nature's cathartic and maintains a regular and healthful process of digestion and of elimination of waste matter by way of the bowels. But to have a regular flow of bile the liver must be kept healthy and active and just here is where Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills come in, for they are specially adapted to direct their action on the liver.

It is only by setting the liver right that constipation can ever be cured. It is only by making the liver healthy that biliousness and bilious, sick headaches can be thoroughly overcome. It is only by making the liver active that the most difficult cases of indigestion and dyspepsia will ever vanish.

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose 3 or 4 times a day, at all druggists, or Robinson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

MANY ARE CALLED

"But few Get Up."

Don't waste time calling them; get a 'PARKER ROTARY Alarm Clock, and you can depend on that clock to awaken the soundest sleeper. Here are a few points about 'THE PARKER': The case is solid rust proof nickel entirely closed to keep out the dust, etc. The movement or works are the best that modern methods and skilled workmen can produce.

The bell, winding and setting gear, etc., is all on the back of clock which gives it a very neat appearance. Every clock is fully guaranteed by the makers as well as ourselves. The price is $1.50, no more than you would pay for an inferior article.

Ask to see the 'Parker.'
