WOULD PUNISH THOSE DEMONSTRATION FARMERS DESTROYING CITY BOULEVARDS TO BE ESTABLISHED BY LONDON PAPER

William Reader, New Parks Superintendent, Thinks Penalty of 50 Cents is Wholly Sufficient; Would Punish Landlords Drastically

MRS. HAMAR JACKSON WILL BE IN CHARGE

Left for Castor Yesterday to Take Property Over; Tells of the Thousands in Crowded London Who Are Anxious to Come to Canada

When a person wantonly destroys Calgary's extensively developed boulevards is 50 cents and adequate fine? William Reader, the new parks superintendent, thinks not, and draws attention of the commissioners to the possibility of more drastic penalties for such culprits. He is to carry out his plan of improving the appearance of the city by clearing up the untidy boulevards and by bringing those already seeded and planted in order.

Mr. Reader, in his first report to the commissioners, says: "Some drastic action is necessary. It has been kept suggested that the city should devote its attention to the planting of grass and growing flowers, instead of the expensive plans of planting lawns and trees. The plan of planting lawns and trees is a waste of money and the city should devote its attention to the planting of grass and growing flowers, instead of the expensive plans of planting lawns and trees. The plan of planting lawns and trees is a waste of money and the city should devote its attention to the planting of grass and growing flowers, instead of the expensive plans of planting lawns and trees."

Mr. Reader does not refer to the destruction of the boulevards, but to the planting of grass and growing flowers, instead of the expensive plans of planting lawns and trees. He says that the city should devote its attention to the planting of grass and growing flowers, instead of the expensive plans of planting lawns and trees.

CALGARY FOLLOWS STORM QUIET DAY IN THE COMMONS

Members Discuss Closure Rules Which Have Been Introduced in Long Speeches, but There Was No Repetition of the Exciting Scenes of Wednesday

WOULD BRITAIN TAKE SUCH A CONTRIBUTION?

Kyte and Carvell Speak for Liberals and Aikins and Meighen for Conservatives; Suggests Gift Under Closure Might Not Be Acceptable

Ottawa, April 10.—The debate on the closure, as was expected, pursued an uneventful course in the commons today. It is almost the invariable rule of parliament that stirring scenes are followed by days of comparative calm. Although there is a promise of a storm before the vote is taken, it is not unusual for nothing unusual will occur before next week, but that the new rules will be debated with customary decision for a few days at least.

Mr. Meighen, who spoke for the government, said that the government was not prepared to accept the closure of the commons. He said that the government was not prepared to accept the closure of the commons. He said that the government was not prepared to accept the closure of the commons.

Mitchell and Tweedie Hold Big Meetings at Sheep Creek Town and Later Report Opponent's Remarks for Sick Reporter

EACH HELD BIGGEST MEETING EVER KNOWN

Halls Were Close Together and Tweedie, Speaking First, Did All the Leading While Mitchell Laid Back and Countered With Swing Each Time

LONDON, April 11.—Indications of a peaceful Balkan settlement continue favorable. The Belgrade correspondent of The Daily Telegraph asserts that the Servians decided on Russia's advice, to withdraw all the Serbian troops now investing Scutari.

The international blockade of the coast between Antivari and the Drin river began at 8 o'clock Thursday morning. All ships within the blockade were allowed 48 hours in which to depart.

The Russian government issued a long official communication last night, explaining the efforts of the powers to arrange a settlement of the Balkan problem and justifying Russia's consent to the annexation of Scutari to Albania on the grounds that this is necessary in order to preserve peace and because Scutari is purely an Albanian town, the annexation of which by Montenegro would only prove a source of embarrassment and difficulty, weakening instead of strengthening Montenegro.

The communication reminds the Slav peoples that Russia's sympathy with their aspirations and successes excludes any idea of hostility towards other nations and implies consideration and deference towards Russia.

"Efficiency in Business" was the theme of J. A. Valiquette, who was the speaker at the Calgary Credit Men's association monthly dinner, which was held at Crown's Restaurant last night. Vice-president Ledger, presided, and the banquet room was crowded with the members of the association.

Mr. Valiquette made a very telling speech, first putting his hearers in good humor by congratulating them on their successful effort to put the bulk sale act through the legislature.

In the course of his remarks, Mr. Valiquette told of a local dealer who sold shoes which cost in Toronto $2.30 per pair for $1.50. He was of the opinion that a merchant who would resort to such methods would ultimately destroy the confidence of the public in his own business, and injure trade generally.

"Ninety per cent of the children who are attending the public schools of today will ultimately go into business," said the speaker. "As the teachers' convention held in Edmonton a short time ago, and attended by more than 1,000 teachers, not one of the speakers dwelt on commercial education. I speak of this with regard to the way of thinking commercial studies should have a large place in our public schools in order to equip the young men and women of the future for the battle that is before them."

Mr. Valiquette also touched on the future of Calgary as a manufacturing and agricultural centre, and drew a rosy picture of what might come to pass in the years that are coming. His remarks were well received.

Government Measures in The Interest of The Workingman

(By Mark Drumm)

THE ENACTMENT OF LAWS IN THE INTEREST OF THE LABORING classes of the province has been one of the most important, one of the most outstanding features of legislation in Alberta.

From the beginning of things since Alberta became a province, the government has made a consistent effort to keep abreast of all that is most modern in the way of legislation for the protection of those who work against injury or death by accident, and for the advancement of their best interests, and in most instances Alberta is a step in advance of other countries in that respect.

IN CONSEQUENCE OF THAT POLICY, there is on the statute book of Alberta an amount of legislation that is workable, and which achieves the purpose aimed at, greater, at least, than that of any other province of Canada; if not greater than that of any other country in the world. Notable among acts of this description enacted by the Alberta government are the workmen's compensation act, the eight-hour day law for miners, the mechanics' lien act simplifying the means of enabling workmen to collect wages, the direct legislation act, which, though applicable to all classes, has been especially asked by labor; the co-operative association act, in the same category, the bi-weekly pay act, the act for the protection of men employed on buildings and in excavations, and numerous acts of lesser importance, including amendments to the statute law, all in the special interest of the working classes.

As in every other country where the government has endeavored to ameliorate the conditions of the laboring classes by legislation, the government of Alberta has not been able to put this legislation on the statute book without strong opposition from the employing class. In the case of the workmen's compensation act and the eight-hour law, in particular, there was strenuous opposition to the enactment of the legislation, so strong, in fact, that at the time, it will be recalled, open threats were made by individuals in the employ of the corporations, which considered their interests were adversely affected, that they would endeavor to compass the defeat of the government when next it appeared to the people.

But the government has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people. It has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people. It has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people.

There have been times when the working people have been less than fully satisfied, having failed of securing all they have asked, but in such instances there has, in fact, been a compromise, and there is shown the judicial mind exercised by the government in its determination to deal with exact justice as between the two classes, the employing and the workers. It is as if it has been to go as far as it might in legislating in the interest of the employed without encroaching on the rights of the employer.

But the government has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people. It has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people. It has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people.

But the government has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people. It has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people. It has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people.

But the government has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people. It has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people. It has not been deterred, has not swayed from its determination to deal justly with the working people.

PREFERRED SPEAKERS FOR LABOR CANDIDATE IN ELECTIONS

Refers to Legislation Passed by Government for the Benefit of Workingmen and Farmers from Platform

CHALLENGES BENNETT TO TELL OF WRONG DOING

Jones, Labor Candidate, Says Sifton Government Has Put Through More Legislation of Labor Than Any Other Government in Canada

LETHBRIDGE, Alta., April 10.—Lethbridge today gave to Premier Sifton the warmest and most enthusiastic welcome of his whole career. He arrived early in the afternoon he was met by a throng of enthusiastic followers and headed by the Scottish pipers and a score of automobiles, passed in procession along the spacious streets of the city.

In the evening a crowded meeting was held at the Majestic hotel, the Premier and J. O. Jones, the Labor candidate, were listened to with close interest by over 2,000 people. Every point they made was vigorously applauded, and the meeting was a most unanimous one throughout.

The speech of the premier in support of Mr. Jones, who is the Labor leader, proved most disconcerting to the Conservatives. They had hoped that many liberals would desert from voting, but both the premier and the candidate showed that the interests of the workers and the labor classes were one. Mr. Jones said that the government had passed more legislation in favor of the working classes and the miners than any other government in Canada, and it had treated the farmers in the same way. For this reason the working men should help a government which showed itself to be fully in favor of progressive legislation, which was in the interests of the workers.

Would Not Bribe Lethbridge. A member of the audience asked Mr. Lethbridge would he give a bribe to get into the platform before, and on a great many platforms he had been the premier, and he had yet to make a promise and throw out a bribe to any electors of the province.

General election, he said, had often been made by the electors, but the government resolved to put through a number of laws for the development of the railways and roads of the country and other purposes in the interests of the advance and progress of Alberta.

Endorsed Labor Leader. The people of Lethbridge would make no mistake in trusting the representation of Mr. Jones, the candidate of the Labor party, in the coming election. Dr. Stewart had said no trader could ever represent Lethbridge, and he had employed 200 hands, a number of whom will be women.

NEW BAGGAGE AGENT FOR CALGARY. Toronto, April 10.—Mr. J. J. Anderson, traveling manager agent of the C.P.R. for Ontario, with headquarters in Toronto, has been promoted to the position of district manager agent of the company at Calgary. Mr. Anderson has been in the position for four years.

Gross Earnings Great Northern. Minneapolis, Minn., April 10.—The Great Northern railroad will break all former records for gross earnings in the first nine months of the year 1913. The present rate is maintained. The eight months' earnings of the railroad company at Calgary, Mr. Anderson has been in the position for four years.

STREET CAR HEAD IS PAPER OFF FOR THE EAST TO GET IDEAS FOR SITE. The Author Foundry Co. of Toronto and Winnipeg, has already completed preliminary arrangements for locating a $100,000 building on five acres in Manchester, where they will employ 100 hands. The building will be commenced next year.

Will Swing Around Circle to See What is Latest in Street Car Equipment. Three Applications Have Been Made to the City During the Past Week. The third new industry to apply for a license in the city of Calgary is a paper manufacturing company for two acres in Manchester.

Flood Threatens Memphis
Memphis, Tenn., April 10.—Rains throughout the Mississippi Basin today added to the menace of the flood situation. Heavy downpours accompanied by strong wind threatened stretches of the levees where the fight had been hardest, but today's reports indicated all the dikes are holding. The weather disturbances probably will increase the flood. The gauge here today stood at 44 feet at 7 o'clock this morning, a rise of four-tenths of a foot in 24 hours. At Hickman, Kentucky, the situation today was reported unusually serious. The Redfoot levee has developed several bad spots. The break at Grays Bayou, south of Memphis, was reported to be about 1,000 feet wide today with water pouring through the crevasses at a terrific rate. In Memphis the flooded area, resulting from the backwater, largely was increased by the night's heavy rains. A serious hole developed in the levee protecting the city gas plant and it was stated that the plant probably would be shut down before night.

Serum Which May Cure Cancer
Boston, April 10.—The discovery of a chemical process which develops human cancer in healthy rabbits and guinea pigs, and the resultant production of a serum by which rabbits have been rendered immune, were announced last night by Dr. Edward

W. Nowell, of Boston College of Medicine, in an address at the seventy-third annual meeting of the Massachusetts Homoeopathic Medical Society. Dr. Nowell has been engaged in original research along this line for three years, and his colleagues regard his discovery as an important step in the study of cancer.

While guarding against any impression that a cancer cure has been found, Dr. Nowell told of plans by which six hundred cases of human cancer are to be inoculated with the serum. It will require two years to test the power of antagonizing the toxic action of the tumor substance. This has been demonstrated by injections of the serum, either previous to or simultaneous with that of the tumor poliovirus. In both events no effect was observed, while injected alone it would produce a rapidly fatal toxic result. With the simultaneous injection of poliovirus and antitoxin, it has been shown that one part of the latter will effectually antagonize 99 parts of the former.

R. B. Bennett Cannot Check Onward Sweep of Democracy that is Sure to Win in Alberta

EDMONTON, April 10.—Richard Bonfire Bennett objects to Liberalism in Alberta. He is not a Liberal, he says, and he is not a Conservative. He is a man of his own party, which is the party of the people. He is a man of his own party, which is the party of the people. He is a man of his own party, which is the party of the people.

Must Prove Age of Insured

Toronto, April 10.—A victory was scored by the insurance interests today before the select committee of the legislature, appointed to consider the insurance bill, when the committee refused to accept the amendment proposed by the insurance companies to give the age of the insured as a condition of the policy.

WILSON TARIFF MAY BE IN VIOLATION OF TREATIES

Washington, April 10.—The possible violation of over a score of treaties between the United States and foreign countries, through one provision of the new tariff bill that proposes a concession in tariff on goods brought by American built ships, is giving concern to officials of the state and commerce department. The section under consideration would reduce by five percent the tariff on all goods brought to this country in vessels built in the United States, and which shall be wholly the property of a citizen or citizens thereof.

Has Morgan Gone to Heaven?

Philadelphia, April 10.—Rev. Dr. George Chalmers, Richmond, Va., says: "Has J. P. Morgan gone to heaven? If not, why not?"

Three Dreadnoughts for Italy

Rome, April 10.—The chamber of deputies will resume its session on April 11. The minister of marine will present a project for the construction of three dreadnoughts, three battle ships, four cruisers and a squadron of torpedo boats.

Oldest University Student Dies

Bern, April 10.—The oldest university student in Switzerland, Gottlieb Leuchter, died in Bern this week. He was of fifty-seven, having studied at the University of Bern for 47 1/2 years without having taken his medical degree.

Dynamite Explodes; Man Killed

Black Lake, P. Q., April 10.—One Russian miner, name unknown, was killed instantly and three others, namely, Yavodkin, Russian, Jean Quabert, French Canadian, and Edouard Trudel, seriously injured as the result of the premature explosion of a blast of dynamite in the mines of the Black Lake Asbestos company here last night.

FAMOUS PAINTING OF IVAN THE TERRIBLE IS RESTORED

St. Petersburg, April 10.—The famous painting of Ivan the Terrible and his son, which was slashed by a fanatic, has been completely restored by the artist Riapin himself, and the canvas now hangs in its accustomed place in the Tretyakov gallery in Moscow, eliciting shudders and awe from the thousands who see it weekly.

The Struggles of Alexis Carel

New York, April 10.—This is a true little story about Dr. Alexis Carel, the winner of the Nobel prize. Everyone knows who Carel is. He has overruled so many of the laws of nature lately, that his name has been heard in the streets of Paris.

The California Anti-Alien Law

Sacramento, Cal., April 10.—Fear that the proposed anti-alien law, designed primarily to prevent Japanese farmers acquiring property in this state, will have the effect of frightening away English and French capital, which controls large holdings in California, has introduced a new element in the controversy over the bill.

Hamilton Pastors in Bitter War

Hamilton, Ont., April 10.—The denunciation of “Pastor” Russell made by Rev. Mr. Ross on Sunday evening in the course of his sermon on “Russell and Russellism” has aroused such feeling among Russell's followers in Hamilton that there is a probability of another “civil action” being started against Rev. Ross.

Japs Rent Restriction

Tokio, April 10.—Widespread irritation has been aroused in Japan by the proposed anti-Japanese legislation in California. It is stated that Viscount Chinda, Japanese ambassador to the United States, has made representation to President Wilson and Secretary Bryan.

Blended to Suit Hard Water

Most teas are lost in hard water: Not so Red Rose Tea. It is distinctive in this respect, being specially selected and blended to suit the hard water of the Prairie Provinces. No matter how hard the water it cannot destroy the rich strength and flavor of Red Rose Tea. This is one of the main reasons, perhaps, why Red Rose is such a favorite.

In 1 lb. and 7 lb. lead packages at 40, 50 and 60c.—also in tins of 3 lbs. and larger.

California oil and mining industries are in Sacramento to study the proposed law. According to their statements to state Senator Thompson, chairman of the sub-committee that drafted the anti-alien bill, the measure in its present form will be equally effective in limiting European as in restricting the Japanese.

Properties owned by aliens at the present time, or when the law goes into effect, would not be affected, but the bill specifically provides that real property acquired hereafter, shall be held for a period not exceeding one year.

Many of the syndicates have heavy investments in mortgages and their representatives are afraid that in case of foreclosure on notes now outstanding, the question as to their right to hold the properties permanently would be raised and the courts would have to decide against them.

It is stated that the information concerning the bill has been cabled abroad and that an organized protest probably will be made before the measure comes to a vote. Washington that President Wilson would not interfere with the plans of the California legislature was received with enthusiasm here. The completed anti-alien bill will be taken up in the senate judiciary committee today and undoubtedly will be recommended for passage.

THE SECOND GREAT J. PIERPONT MORGAN.

A sturdy man of forty-six, with a perfect balance of physical and mental health, John Pierpont Morgan, Jr., has now discarded the junior and has become the second great J. P. Morgan, not only in name, but in the wonderful bulk of the great fortune, estimated at $20,000,000 that his father built up from an inheritance of not more than $10,000.

As for the west and its natural resources, that is turned over to Bob Rogers to deal with in the unsteady way Bob usually does. Bob's annual lead of $400,000 is an insult to Alberta. He must think this is a cheap country, for a good thing that Alberta's government is in Liberal hands, for the day is approaching when Premier Sir John will have to fight Premier Borden for our provincial rights. Just as Sir Donald Stewart fought John McCreary for Ontario's rights, Alberta will never become a branch office of Bob Rogers as Manitoba is at present under the Tory guidance of Sir Ross Ross.

SPANISH MAN MAKE AN ALLIANCE WITH THE FRENCH

Paris, April 10.—The “Paris-Midi” has lately suggested the advisability of transforming the recent Franco-Spanish agreement, which put an end to the long-drawn-out negotiations between the two countries, into an alliance, and that idea seems gradually to be gaining ground. The suggestion is that Spain should seek to emerge from her present isolation, and should feel the danger of remaining without support in the councils of the world. This was borne in upon her when she was asked to put forward a claim to take part in the Franco-German deliberations concerning the future of Morocco.

There is also the money side, which is becoming more and more important in political every day, and Spain knows that a great deal of French capital is already invested in the peninsula, especially in railways, which it would be very inconvenient to see withdrawn. And for future developments there would be a better chance of finding cash in Paris and London than in Rome or Berlin. Russia is an object lesson of how France treats her allies to her purse, and it can scarcely be said that Gibraltar's German money has been so generously placed at the disposal of her friends. Finally, ties with Spain with England, and the Portuguese frontier would sleep more peacefully, and the Atlantic would give an alliance with Italy would give an alliance with France, which is not direct, protection of the mangled list.

But perhaps the strongest would be more immediate benefits to be reaped from a Franco-British alliance, since Gibraltar and Morocco are necessary points of perpetual contact between the three powers. Spain is not only “Mediterranean” but also “Atlantic” and might find greater security with the political group that rules the ocean.

Government Measures in The Interest of The Workman

COMPENSATION ACT; ITS BENEFITS.

The salient features of the workman's compensation act are that a man injured in his employment, whether through his own negligence or otherwise, is entitled to receive from his employer fifteen per cent of his regular wage while incapacitated, provided that such compensation may not exceed $10 a week. In the case of a minor, the full wage is paid up to $150.

The compensation in case of death resulting depends upon whether there be no dependents or persons wholly dependent. In the first instance, no compensation is paid beyond burial expenses not to exceed $100. In the second instance, the compensation is equal to the wages of the wholly dependent person.

Another important aspect of this law is that it has had the effect of causing employers to make their working places conform to conditions of safety in greater measure than ever before.

LONG STANDING REQUEST OF LABOR IS GRANTED. In the passage of the direct legislation of Alberta, a long standing request of the laboring classes of Alberta has been granted. The act in its main interest is all classes of people as to labor, but it has been the laboring classes who have been most persistent in asking for it.

Another measure of the government which shall not come into effect for ninety days after its passage. In the meantime, if ten per cent of the electors of the province petition the government for the referendum of the act, the act shall be put to a referendum.

CANADIAN PACIFIC WILL EXPEND FIFTY MILLION DOLLARS IN WEST THIS YEAR

Build Tunnel Through Rogers' Pass, Double Track the Road, and Complete Work of Terminals at Calgary and Other Western Points.

WINNIPEG, April 10.—The Canadian Pacific Railway will expend $46,000,000 in Western Canada this year. This sum is more than twice the amount of $19,000,000 spent here by the company last year, and it is the record amount ever devoted to construction work by any one road on the continent in any one year.

The natural resources department of the road also has some huge irrigation and industrial schemes on hand which will easily raise the amount to $50,000,000.

The main works include: Tunnel through Rogers Pass, which it is estimated, will cost six or eight millions. Continuation of work of double-tracking.

Continuation of work on terminals and yards at Transcona, Winnipeg, Ogdon, Calgary and Coquitlam, Vancouver. Building of many large bridges such as that over the Red River at Winnipeg, the South Saskatchewan at Medicine Hat, the Bow at Calgary and the Pitt in British Columbia.

Additions to depots and hotels at Winnipeg and Vancouver, works which together will cost over $2,500,000.

The Canadian Pacific Railway has a tremendous amount of work ahead of it this year, and it is uncertain whether or not the Mildred-Empress line, Central Alberta, will be constructed. If material, men and time avail the line will be built, but if not it will be postponed till next year.

Grant Hall, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway western lines, has just returned to the city from Eastern Canada, where he has been presenting supplementary estimates to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, president of the road.

It is officially announced this morning that a stretch of road comprising 105 miles of track, will be in operation for the handling of grain this fall. The Red River bridge will be likewise in shape for the opening of the fall grain rush.

Double tracking of the main line is proceeding apace and it will be rushed through to completion.

Village of Bobeyden Flooded

Lindsay, Ont., April 10.—The village of Bobeyden is flooded. Several of the dwelling houses are out of commission, the owners being forced to house themselves in the top flats, using canoes to paddle their way to and from work.

Durbar in Kinematocolor Coming

In viewing the Kinematocolor pictures of the Durbar, one is impressed with not only the fidelity of motion and action, but chiefly by the perfect fidelity with which the colors are reproduced. The climate of India lends itself in marked degree to photography.

The entire series of the Durbar in the Kinematocolor, exactly as shown in New York, will be the attraction at the Sherman Grand Theatre Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, April 14, 15, 16. The scale of prices for the engagements has been fixed at 25c and 50c for matinees, and 25c and 50c for evening shows, with a few choice seats at 75c.

Among the subjects to be shown in the Kinematocolor will be the arrival of the king and queen at Bombay, the coronation Durbar, the royal arrival at Delhi, the state entry into Delhi, the coronation Durbar, the coronation Durbar ceremony, the camp of the king at Delhi, the state garden party, horse races, etc.

Tennessee Statesmen Armed. Nashville, Tenn., April 10.—The reported presence of firearms in the pockets of persons attending the hall of the state senate here, prompted Senator Fisher to introduce a resolution providing that the sergeant-at-arms search everyone entering the chamber. Should firearms be discovered, owners would not be allowed to enter. The resolution, under the rules, has every chance of passing.

Thirty-four members of the house are remaining out of the hall, as a result of a bitter factional fight.

SEASON'S BEST BILL IS VERDICT ON THE ORPHEUM PLAYERS

THE Orpheum opened at the Sherman Grand last evening before a crowded house. There was not a single weak act, and several of the numbers were of special excellence.

While music is naturally expected of the headliners, the Five Melody Maids, with Will J. Ward, put on one of the most original and pleasing acts that has been presented at the Orpheum this season, and shared honors with the two headliners.

Jessie Busley, a well known star, who created the role of Nance Olden in "The Bishop's Carriage," has a clever sketch called "Miss 21," which deals with department store-life, and is most enthusiastically received by the large audience.

Charles and Adelaide Wilson, who created the role of Nance Olden in "The Bishop's Carriage," has a clever sketch called "Miss 21," which deals with department store-life, and is most enthusiastically received by the large audience.

Laddie Cliff, sharing with Miss Busley the leading position on the bill, is a star of the fact that he is still in his teens, he has been several years on the stage, as he commenced his professional career at the age of six. His cleverness is convincing evidence that he has a great future before him. He is not only very good in his patter, but as an eccentric dancer is the equal of any artist who has previously appeared in Calgary. His songs were new to the audience, and his act in every respect a hit.

The Five Melody Maids, plus Will J. Ward, gave a most enjoyable act which received the hearty applause it deserved. Five pianos on the stage played at one time by the six artists was a novelty, and a very acceptable one, inasmuch as the results obtained were splendid. The music played had apparently been specially arranged, as attention to the base, while another would care for the treble runs and so forth. In addition to being clever pianists, the young ladies had good voices, and one of the company, who took care of the solo parts, exhibited ability as a dancer. Will J. Ward, well on the piano, sang with perfect enunciation, and was happy in all classes of music, from ragtime up. The numbers in which the orchestra joined produced a fullness of melody which created much enthusiasm on the part of the audience. The young women, unlike many appearing in musical acts of this nature, were all very comely and most attractively gowned.

Meehan's Canines gave a novel dog act, the best we have ever seen in Calgary. The animals were well trained, and seemed to enjoy their work. Of special interest were several leaping hounds, who made remarkable jumps, and are said to hold the world's record in this line.

The bill was opened by Delmar and Delmar, who gave an acrobatic turn containing more novelty than some that have preceded it in previous weeks' bills. Acrobatic turns undoubtedly please a large portion of the usual Orpheum audience, and to supply this demand the management must naturally find it difficult to obtain much that is new. The usual program announcement of a weather act, "exhibiting feats of strength and daring," has forfeited a rather tiresome performance with the usual balancing and the lifting of one by the other, which, although it may have been well done, is not sufficiently attractive to make frequent repetitions enjoyable.

CONNAUGHT TO HEAD BOY SCOUTS OF THE EMPIRE

Canada's Governor General, Who Is Enthusiastic Over the Great Boy Scout Movement, May Be Named as Commander of the Organization

WHO WILL SUCCEED THE POPULAR CONNAUGHT?

Earl Beauchamp Seems to Be Most Favored; Cabinet Said to Be at Variance Over the Marconi Investigation; Duke de Montpensier

LONDON, April 5.—It is expected that King George will sign shortly a commission making the Duke of Connaught, chief of the Boy Scouts. It is understood that this is in accordance with the Duke's own wishes, as he returned to Canada enthusiastic over the work of the boy scouts in the Dominion.

The boy scouts in England are organized under a royal charter and they are necessary to have a king's commission so far as the members of the organization are concerned, although they are all loyal to the founder, Gen. Baden-Powell. The appointment of the Duke of Connaught will be very popular.

The tactfulness of the Duke of Connaught in regard to the smallest details which was illustrated in his treatment of the boy scouts in Canada, may seem a trifle, but there have been considerable heart-burnings among the English boy scouts, since the Duke's departure from the Dominion. He has signed every boy scout's commission in Canada in spite of the labor it cost him. For this reason, his appointment is very popular.

There seems to be some difficulty in finding a suitable successor to the Duke of Connaught. The name of Earl Beauchamp seems to be the one favored.

There is much gossip in political circles of the cabinet in connection with the inquiry of the special parliamentary committee into the speculation in the shares of certain members of the ministry at the time the government signed the contract for a chain of wireless stations. It has been openly suggested through the columns of the press that Mr. Harcourt, the secretary of the colonies, and Sir Edward Grey, the foreign minister, were threatened to resign if Sir Rufus Isaacs, the attorney-general, and David Lloyd George, the prime minister, were not appointed.

Whether there is any truth in this or not, it is probably going too far to say that Mr. Harcourt and Sir Edward Grey actually threatened to resign, the effect of the scandal has undoubtedly been to cause a general estimate of the public.

Last year the regular visitors to the Royal Academy were disappointed because the Hon. John Collier, the painter, had been elected as president of the annual exhibition of his famous popular puzzle pictures, the "man-of-war" which "Sally" had painted, and "The Chest".

Mr. Collier sends another picture this year, and it is a golden haired woman beautifully dressed kneeling on the floor with her hands clasped in prayer, and her face in her hands. The husband has one hand on her head and the other on her breast, as if he were kissing her.

In connection with the approaching American agricultural mission to Europe, the Field discusses the matter where the investigators are most likely to get the best assistance. It has been suggested that the best idea is to send them to the United States, to the United States, to the United States.

NEW AND STRIKING PORTRAIT OF A FAMOUS WOMAN, MRS. GEORGE CORNWALLIS-WEST

Accompanying the portrait is one of her first husband and also one of her second, against whom the distinguished American woman has just obtained an order for the restoration of her conjugal rights.

When Another Albert Edward Visited His People in Canada and His American Cousins

When I was 16 I saw a royal prince, a prince of Wales, and he was a very handsome young man, and he was very kind to me, and he was very kind to me, and he was very kind to me.

"Grandma," said Arthur, half scornful and entirely interested. "The prince who was the Prince of Wales may come over to America to visit next summer. What do you reckon? I mean, you look like a king, anyhow? I'll bet he can't play baseball."

"No, son, I guess you're right—the chances are the prince doesn't know how to play baseball. But I'll be willing to wager that he's no sissy, and that he knows some other kind of athletic. The royal house of England generally speaking is 'pretty good' you know. How do I know? Well, now I'll tell you."

"The Present Prince's Grandfather," "When I was about your age—well, see, you're 18, aren't you? I saw five Prince of Wales myself. That was Albert Edward, grandfather of this boy coming over—the same Albert Edward that afterward became King Edward VII. I saw him when he was a boy, and that was Albert Edward and this new Prince of Wales is Albert Edward."

"But for all he acted so knowing, I know that Tommy Dodd was just as disappointed as I was. A prince without a crown!"

"Well, sir, the prince stayed three days at Mr. Spencer's. The next day was Sunday and he and his folks were at the Presbyterian church in the morning. You can believe that there was a pretty good congregation there too, when the news got around he was going to be there. There was a lot of talk among us boys as to how much the prince put in the collection plate—some said $5 and others as much as $50, but the deacon that passed the plate never would tell."

"Next day he 'lightness as my youngsters called him, went prairie chicken shooting. And it was the last of his visit. That was the first time he shot. Our respect for him went up when we heard stories of how many birds he had brought down, though Tommy Dodd, boy like, said 'I'll bet the rest of 'em let him have all the easy shots.'"

"Wandered Around the Streets," "Thursday he hunted quail, and that was the last day of his visit. But in the meantime the village had seen a lot of the Prince of Wales. He and his gentleman went wandering around the village streets, smoking pipes and dressed in old clothes; and together he seemed to be having a fine time."

"What did he look like? Why, as I told you, he looked like any other good healthy boy of 19. He was a good natured looking fellow, rather short, with bright blue eyes and a mouth that was smiling a good deal of the time, and his hands and feet were as big in proportion as his Newfoundlander puppy's paws are to his body. And everybody that really got acquainted with him said he was as pleasant and friendly as could be."

"Of course, after seeing the prince at those ranges that way, we took care to keep good track of him the rest of the week. He went to the station at Dwight down to St. Louis, and there he sat, stopping at various cities. In Washington, he was President Buchanan's guest, and the president put him up at the White House. In New York they had a grand ball for him, and another one in Boston, and wherever he went people fairly flew over themselves to make him welcome. In Boston an old fellow named Ralph Farnham, the last survivor of Bunker Hill, was introduced to Albert Edward, and they talked pleasantly for some time. He said he had seen the prince in his farm work and managed to get him in town when the train brought him out in that evening. And I saw him climb down the car steps with all his muffs, and Arthur, I was never so disappointed in my life. Why? Because he looked just like any nice boy of 19—no fuss or feathers or any abstractions. The royal house of England generally speaking is 'pretty good' you know. How do I know? Well, now I'll tell you."

"The naval blockade of Antwerp having provoked nothing but derision, his attention to an Albanian port, probably San Giovanni Di Medua, is expected. Here lies the danger of Russian sympathy for the Serbians, who have used that port to land troops to assist the Montenegrins in the investment of Scutari."

"The seriousness of the situation is apparently on the consideration of two facts—first, that the blockade of Antwerp was unwillingly regarded to be the powers of the triple alliance and only as a means of avoiding interference with the commissariat of Montenegrins in the investment of Scutari."

THE RED COAT OF THE BRITISH INFANTRY TO DISAPPEAR

Khaki Is to Replace Famous Color in the Uniform of Tommy Atkins

LONDON, April 8.—The red coat of the British infantryman which, for two hundred years has been one of the most striking features of the world, is to disappear, and soon the world will know no more "the thin red line of heroes." According to well-authenticated reports of the plans of the British war department, it is expected that the secretary of war will disclose in his forthcoming army estimates one of the principal measures of economy a proposal to abolish the famous scarlet full-dress uniform of the infantry of the line, the royal marines and the light infantry.

Khaki Preferred

The khaki service dress is to be the uniform of the future. That prospect particularly for the recruiting sergeant, and the nursemaid in the park, is not all pleasant, but as an economic departure the scheme has much to recommend it. If the proposal comes before parliament it is sure to meet a strenuous opposition from those who would have the army something more ornamental than necessary, and a worthy parliamentary war-between-sectarianism and utilitarianism is promised.

Like the Kilt

The sentimental feeling of the English people for the historic uniforms of their soldiers has been only recently displayed in the opposition aroused against the proposed abolition of the Highland troops. When this position was put forward there was a general protest from the whole country, and it has resulted, so far as any rate, in hardly possible that the red coat will be discarded without a struggle.

Dashing Guardsmen

For the moment it is not suggested that the dashing guardsmen shall have the beauty of their apparel interfered with. Neither is there any proposal to strip the cavalry, royal artillery or royal engineers of their respective traditions, although this probably would follow as a matter of course. When the change is made khaki tunics are to be kept for parade purposes only.

Suggestions already are forthcoming from the opponents of such a drastic change to khaki. They argue that it has nothing to recommend it from an aesthetic point of view. Grey is considerably favored as the most suitable shade, and those who advocate this are hardly possible that the red coat will be discarded without a struggle.

For the moment it is not suggested that the dashing guardsmen shall have the beauty of their apparel interfered with. Neither is there any proposal to strip the cavalry, royal artillery or royal engineers of their respective traditions, although this probably would follow as a matter of course. When the change is made khaki tunics are to be kept for parade purposes only.

When Another Albert Edward Visited His People in Canada and His American Cousins

When I was 16 I saw a royal prince, a prince of Wales, and he was a very handsome young man, and he was very kind to me, and he was very kind to me, and he was very kind to me.

"Grandma," said Arthur, half scornful and entirely interested. "The prince who was the Prince of Wales may come over to America to visit next summer. What do you reckon? I mean, you look like a king, anyhow? I'll bet he can't play baseball."

"No, son, I guess you're right—the chances are the prince doesn't know how to play baseball. But I'll be willing to wager that he's no sissy, and that he knows some other kind of athletic. The royal house of England generally speaking is 'pretty good' you know. How do I know? Well, now I'll tell you."

"The Present Prince's Grandfather," "When I was about your age—well, see, you're 18, aren't you? I saw five Prince of Wales myself. That was Albert Edward, grandfather of this boy coming over—the same Albert Edward that afterward became King Edward VII. I saw him when he was a boy, and that was Albert Edward and this new Prince of Wales is Albert Edward."

"But for all he acted so knowing, I know that Tommy Dodd was just as disappointed as I was. A prince without a crown!"

"Well, sir, the prince stayed three days at Mr. Spencer's. The next day was Sunday and he and his folks were at the Presbyterian church in the morning. You can believe that there was a pretty good congregation there too, when the news got around he was going to be there. There was a lot of talk among us boys as to how much the prince put in the collection plate—some said $5 and others as much as $50, but the deacon that passed the plate never would tell."

"Next day he 'lightness as my youngsters called him, went prairie chicken shooting. And it was the last of his visit. That was the first time he shot. Our respect for him went up when we heard stories of how many birds he had brought down, though Tommy Dodd, boy like, said 'I'll bet the rest of 'em let him have all the easy shots.'"

"Wandered Around the Streets," "Thursday he hunted quail, and that was the last day of his visit. But in the meantime the village had seen a lot of the Prince of Wales. He and his gentleman went wandering around the village streets, smoking pipes and dressed in old clothes; and together he seemed to be having a fine time."

"What did he look like? Why, as I told you, he looked like any other good healthy boy of 19. He was a good natured looking fellow, rather short, with bright blue eyes and a mouth that was smiling a good deal of the time, and his hands and feet were as big in proportion as his Newfoundlander puppy's paws are to his body. And everybody that really got acquainted with him said he was as pleasant and friendly as could be."

"Of course, after seeing the prince at those ranges that way, we took care to keep good track of him the rest of the week. He went to the station at Dwight down to St. Louis, and there he sat, stopping at various cities. In Washington, he was President Buchanan's guest, and the president put him up at the White House. In New York they had a grand ball for him, and another one in Boston, and wherever he went people fairly flew over themselves to make him welcome. In Boston an old fellow named Ralph Farnham, the last survivor of Bunker Hill, was introduced to Albert Edward, and they talked pleasantly for some time. He said he had seen the prince in his farm work and managed to get him in town when the train brought him out in that evening. And I saw him climb down the car steps with all his muffs, and Arthur, I was never so disappointed in my life. Why? Because he looked just like any nice boy of 19—no fuss or feathers or any abstractions. The royal house of England generally speaking is 'pretty good' you know. How do I know? Well, now I'll tell you."

"The naval blockade of Antwerp having provoked nothing but derision, his attention to an Albanian port, probably San Giovanni Di Medua, is expected. Here lies the danger of Russian sympathy for the Serbians, who have used that port to land troops to assist the Montenegrins in the investment of Scutari."

"The seriousness of the situation is apparently on the consideration of two facts—first, that the blockade of Antwerp was unwillingly regarded to be the powers of the triple alliance and only as a means of avoiding interference with the commissariat of Montenegrins in the investment of Scutari."

FURTHER EXPLORATION SOUTH POLAR REGION OF NO CONSEQUENCE

London, April 10.—Further exploration within 1000 miles of the South Pole of no scientific value, according to Sir Ray Lankester.

"There is no living thing on the Antarctic continent," says, "excepting the seals and the penguins. A few other birds found on the coast line and a minute insect like the so-called glacier flea, 40-50 microns in length, living in pools formed by the melting of ice in the brief summer, and species of mice, mosses, lichens and fungi."

Sir Ray, as director of the Natural History Museum, had charge of the expedition, which brought back from the South Polar continent by Professor Lankester. Many discoveries, and he has had official first-hand information as to the results of the expedition in that part of the globe.

"Flowers would grow at the South Pole in the summer if it were not for the mountains there," according to Professor Lankester. "If these mountains that make the South Pole so cold. The South Polar area is an elevated mountainous land reaching 12,000 feet in parts, covered with perpetual ice in consequence of the elevation, the Antarctic continent is surrounded by the sea and is lifeless.

"There is a vast area of land around the north polar sea," said Dr. Lankester. "It is covered with snow and dotted with brilliantly colored flowers in summer, and yet, is only a few miles from the North Pole. The mountains in the interior of Greenland are of high elevation, and covered with perpetual ice and devoid of life.

"The North Pole is, in fact, a fair weather zone, while, on the other hand, the Antarctic land is swept at heavy snows by the anticyclonic of exceptional force and duration."

From the very beginning of life on earth, the North Pole has been an uninhabited region. "There is no life on the North Pole," says the report, "and the only digging will disclose no bones of extinct creatures. The Antarctic continent is a vast, empty, and lifeless region. The only life on the North Pole is a few insects and plants. The mountains in the interior of Greenland are of high elevation, and covered with perpetual ice and devoid of life.
