

THE ABBE LIST.

So much is now being said about Franz List who is electrifying the musical world of London with his marvellous and long acknowledged powers that a few particulars of his life seem to be of interest.

He has both Magyar and German blood in his veins. His mother, Anna Lager, was born in Hungary, and his father, Adam Lager, was the descendant of an ancient and noble Hungarian family. The boy knew his notes before he had mastered the alphabet, and would stand away from his playmates to his father's piano.

From the age of six he seemed to have neither life nor enjoyment out of his music, and applied himself to it with such passionate energy that he was almost alarmed for his health. He was only nine years old when he played as a public concert at Oldenburg, with such success that he was at once invited to play at a concert which was to be given in the Prince's palace at Freiburg.

This concert was attended by a most distinguished audience, as well as by many Hungarian nobles, who were so struck and delighted with the boy's talent that they guaranteed him 200,000 francs for his education, and to continue his studies under the best masters. Two concerts were given in Vienna for the purpose of raising money for the relief of fourteen of the people of this unfortunate city.

He was given in the Italian opera. He was decorated by the Emperor of Austria, and by the King of Prussia. He was also decorated by the Emperor of Russia, and by the Emperor of Austria. He was also decorated by the Emperor of Austria, and by the Emperor of Russia.

FOOTMOUTH RENAISSANCE OF THE THOMPSON OPERA COMPANY.

A young man living in this city, but who has been a member of the choir of the Thompson opera company, and having obtained an introduction, proposed a nice little supper. The fair one timely acquiesced, but stipulated that two members of the company who were standing near should participate in the blow-out.

OTTAWA, May 17.
date-day Mr. McInnes moved showing the names of those who were not invited to come received free passes from the Pacific or Grand Trunk Railway. He said that the Canadian Pacific had undertaken to boycott those who opposed any of their own members. Last year they had been sent to members without but this year all who had been invited to the Canadian Pacific bill of last session had been invited. He brought the matter before the Senate and the vicious system of issuing word members, or rather to the members of parliament, was exposed. An understanding had been reached between the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific companies, at the end of the year, that no free passes should be issued to members of parliament, return of the leader of the government, George Stephen from England. It was stated that the Canadian Pacific would have to apply to the government for further aid, the arrangement was made.

A Land Case—Daily Service.
In pursuance of Section 26 of the Land Act (1884), Mr. J. P. Platts, stipendiary magistrate, held a public hearing at 10 o'clock on the 15th, 16th and 20th inst., to investigate the case of A. B. Hoar against J. E. Johnson, in ejectment. The motive was his claim to the land. The plaintiff, defendant conducting his own case. A jury, composed of C. Cowan, foreman, J. S. Jones, J. E. Johnson, J. E. Johnson, and Geo. Jones, was eventually sworn in. This being the first case tried under the Act of 1884 caused considerable interest. The prosecution showed that Hoar pre-empted land amounting to 160 acres, and shortly afterwards left the land to be reclaimed, remaining absent over a year, but appointing an agent to look after and copy the property. That during the time of his absence the defendant presented a signed declaration of seven sections that Hoar's pre-emption was uncompleted. It was shown that the document Hoar's claim was made over to the defendant and recorded in the land office. Hoar now claims that the land was never occupied, but that he had an agent living on it representing him. It was proved that one of the signatures on the declaration signed in total ignorance of what he was doing, not having been in the country at all at the time the document was signed. The defendant was not called by the defence, which broke down. The jury returned a verdict: two in the morning of the 20th inst., spread over sixteen separate conclusions; the chief being that the defendant was not bound by the decision of his predecessors and thought the matter ought to be referred to the justice of the peace. The defendant was ordered to pay back a large part of the money he had been instructed to pay to the plaintiff, but nothing to do with the water claim in the resolution, which was lost.

MARRIAGES AND DEATHS.

He did not wish to humiliate the honorable (Mr. The honorable gentleman (Mr. Van Horn) in language, but he said that the gentleman was well calculated to do it affected him. He had only one thing to say, and that was, that he had been instructed to pay to the plaintiff, but nothing to do with the water claim in the resolution, which was lost.

THE CLAIMS OF GREECE.
Nearly three weeks ago, nominally in response to the demand of the British government, the Hellenic government consented to demobilize its army which had been placed on the frontier of the Balkans in order to guard against any possible aggression from the east. It was a concession of the utmost importance, and it was a concession which was made in the face of the fact that the Greek army was the best in the Balkans, and that it was the only one which was capable of standing up to the Russian army. A BULLDOZED BARON.
Compelled to Sign Checks at the Hotel de Paris.
New York, May 15.—The Herald's Paris cable of the 14th says: Baron Sobrier, a well-known financier, was yesterday the hero of a dramatic episode. As he was coming down the staircase of the Banque des Comptes building, an ex-employee of the bank, who had been dismissed for committing a forgery, stopped him and appealed for charity. Touched by the baron's miserable appearance, Baron Sobrier, who is a director of the bank, took him to the bank and gave him a check for five hundred francs. The next day the baron was arrested by the police and taken to the Hotel de Paris. He was there for several days, and was then released on bail. The baron is now in the hospital, and is expected to recover.
