A PATRIOTIC CONCERT, under the auspices of the Watford Women's Institute, will be held in the armory on Wednesday evening, September 30th. A good program, consisting of speeches, choruses and solos, will make a pleasant evening. Admissiod 25c. and 15c. Everybody come.

THE many friends of Capt. T. L. Swift will be glad to hear that he retains his commission and will go to the front as Lieutenant. Militia rules call for the reduction of officers one grade when on active service and it was thought that on account of the number of junior officers offering themselves many would have to be reduced to the ranks. Lieut. Staple-ford has been attached to the 7th Batt.

THE word "morotorium" which is often seen in print these days, being comparatively a new word, probably some of our readers do not know the meaning of it. Webster's International Dictionary defines it thus:—"A period during which an obligor has a legal right to delay meeting an obligation, especially such a period granted in an emergency such a period granted in an emergency, as to a bank or debtors generally, by a moratory law."

THE East Lambton Teachers' Association will be held in Petrolea on Oct. 8 and 9. A good program has been aranged, ingwhich A. Stevenson, of London Normal School, will take part. A program has also been arranged for the evening of October 8, at which an address evening of October 8. at which an address will be delivered by Mr. Stevenson, while patriotic music will be furnished by a chorus of pupils from the Petrolea public schools. Other local talent will also schools. Other local talent will also assist. To have every teacher present is the aim of the association. Miss L. Cameron, of the Watford staff, will sing a solo at the Thursday session. RURAL MAIL COURIERS have their own troubles, some of them their own making, some of them caused by Government red tape, but the most chronic troubles come from the patrons they serve, who appreciate the delivery service so much they wish to extend it to the point of making regular dray horses of the couriers, by having them deliver all kinds of parcels on the side. This is not only strictly contrary to the law, but is piling it on the already over-burdened courier too thick, and, while they wish to be obliging, are compelled to decline further commissions outside their own duties, as defined by the Department.

REV. W. M. KANNAWIN, B. D., bade farewell to his congregation in St. Andrews' Presbyterian Church, Strathroy last Sunday. He goes to take charge of North Broadview Presbyterian Church in Toronto. Mr. Kannawin has many warm friends and admirers in Watford who, while regretting that he is leaving this district, are pleased to know that he is going to a more extensive field of labor, where his recognized ability as a preacher and lecturer will soon place him in the front rank of the clergy of the Queen City. Especially among the Masonic fraternity will he be missed, as his talks on the tenets of the craft are exceedingly interesting and instructive.

THE milliners had fine weather for their fall and winter opening last week and consequently the number of yisitors was large and the sales quite satisfactory. The windows and parlors were exceedingly attractive to the eye, and the chic patterns shown commanded considerable attention. From a masculine point of view the hats this season are neater and more pleasing to the eye than for many seasons. Owing to the lack of dyestuffs on account of the war, Dame Fashion is showing her adaptability to circum-stances by placing her stamp of approval on black and white, the riot of color so popular for the last few seasons having completely disappeared. Military shapes in plush, felt and velvet, with relieving flower or plume, seem to lead. Nearly all the designs have a smart appearance

Public School Exhibit at the Watford Fall Fair

A special attraction at the Watford Fall Fair last year was the tent in which the children of the Watford Public School held their exhibit. This year the children hope to make a similar exhibit. The best school work of the year in drawing, (water color, crayon and pencil), writing, map drawing, sewing and paper cutting will be shown. Nature Study work will be represented by collections of weeds, leaves, soils, bark, seeds, mounted butterflies and cocoons. Special interest is flies and cocoons. Special interest is being taken in the exhibition of vege-tables and flowers grown by the pupils in their home gardens.

The educational value of this work is very evident and it is to be hoped that the children will feel encouraged by the interest shown in the work by their parents and friends and will make their exhibit an annual affair.

Prizes are being donated by the Women's Institute, the Daughters of the Empire, and the Board of Education. This exhibit will be one of the most interesting features of the Fair and everyone should make a point of thorough-

Banish the "Blues!"

If you have that depressed feeling it's more than likely that your blood is out of order—impoverished or poisoned.

There is only one thing that will alter your present condition—that's to restore your stomach to normal health and strength. For a weak or diseased stomach cannot make good blood. If your digestion is bad your food will not make the good blood which nourishes body, brain, heart and nerve.

Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery

helps the stomach to do its work naturally and properly. Stimulates the liver. The system is freed from poison. The blood is purified. Every organ is rejuvenated. Instead of the "Blues," you feel fit and strong, equal to any task or up to any pleasure.

SUMMER BEAUTY DON'TS.

Don't let a permanent frown settle upon your brows through going out into the blazing sun without a sunshade. Try to cultivate pleasant thoughts also. It makes all the difference to the expression of your face.

Don't wear a veil that is worn and dirty. You cannot keep the skin of your face clean if you do. Don't forget that plenty of fruit and green vegetables will help to keep you fit.

Don't go out without gloves if your hands are liable to freckle and sunburn. Don't wear short sleeves if your arms get easily scorched. Don't forget that sunshine is very good for the hair and make a point of sitting in your garden without a hat whenever you can.

Beautiful Nursery Furniture. Wedgwood wicker furniture is beau-tiful for the somewhat elaborately furnished nursery. The woman who thinks that simplicity, even to the point of plainness, should be the keydoubtless think Wedgwood furniture too elaborate, too ornate. Made of wicker, it is enameled a dull, lovely shade of blue and decorat-ed with festoons of plaster flowers in white, held in loops here and there with little plaster figures. Sleeping baskets, clothes holders of various sorts, children's chairs, tables and chiffoniers are decked with little plaster figures.

Professor Unna, of Germany, and Dr. Sabouraud, the great French Dermatolrgist, claim that a microbe causes beldness, and their theory has been verified by eminent scientists. This microbe destroys the hair follidels, in time causing the scalp pores to close and the scalp to become shiny. Then, it is believed nothing will revive the growth. If treated before this occurs, baldness may be overcome.

We know of nothing that has given such universal satisfaction in treating the scalp and hair as Rexall "93" Hair Tonic. It has been designed after long study to overcome the cause of falling hair as discovered by Prof. Unna, Dr. Sabouraud and other scalp and hair specialists, and we believe it will do more than anything else can to remove dandruff and stop falling hair; and if any human agency can promote a new growth of hair it will do that, too.

"Lest We Forget"

We need to be reminded quite as much as to be informed. Memory has been jocularly described as "the thing we forget with," Out of sight is apt to be out of mind.

An advertiser who relies on the memory of the public leans on a broken reed. The absence of its advertising from the newspapers has been the beginning of the end for many a firm. "The present suitor hath ever the advantage over the absent lover.

It is poor business vision which fails to see the principal feeder of business, and fatal judgment which cuts it off or interrupts its flow. Economies may be warranted, but they had better be effected in any other department than in the sales department-the department of revenue. Any course which shoves your customer back from you or hides you from your customer is ruinous. The man with the money needs to be constantly sought. War Summary

Sept. 21.-Reports differ as to the prosept. 21.—Reports differ as to the progress of the great battle in the northern part of France between the allied British and French armies and the Germans. Some indicate that there is extremely heavy fighting, while others tell of the great masses of troops lying in flooded trenches, many of them at the stage of exhaustion.

Sides had reached the conclusion that the gaining of a few yards of ground hardly warranted the losses entailed, and that preparations are on the way for a strong offensive moment at some strategic point.

The French also report that they have made progress in the territory between great masses of troops lying in flooded trenches, many of them at the stage of exhaustion.

At some points at least fierce engagements have been fought with the tide flowing first in one direction and then in the other. The Allies have won a position here and the Germans have taken one there. But all reports agree that much fighting is yet to be done before any material advantages can be claimed by either side. The British in the trenches say "we are slowly beating them back."

A statement given out by the Admiralty recounts British successes and disasters in many waters. The British cruiser carmania sunk a German cruiser, supposed to be either the Cap Trafalgar or the Berlin off the coast of Sonth America. But the German cruiser Keenigberg has completely disabled the British cruiser Pegasus, while the latter was overhauling her machinery in Zanzibar harbor, killing twenty-five men and wounding more than three times that number, and the German cruiser Emden has captured six British merchant steamers in the Bay of Bengal and sunk five of them.

In the fighting around Rheims the matter of greatest general interest has been the destruction of the famous Cathedral, one of the most noted structures in the world, dating back to the thirteenth century, reported to have first been pierced by many German shells, and then to have burst into flames.

Sept. 22.—The nature of the struggle between the Germans and the allied forces on the battle front in France, which stretches from Noyon, in the west to Verdun, is indicated by the latest of ficial communication from the French war office, which says that the engagenents have become less violent. From this it would seem as if both sides had reached the conclusion that the gaining of a few yards of ground hardly warranted the losses entailed, and

The allies, since the beginning of the battle of the Aisne, have pushed back the Germans a distance of nearly 12 miles, forcing them to seek a further defensive position on the plateaus and in the rough country.

Yesterday the British aeroplanes of the naval wing delivered an attack on the Zeppelin shed at Dusseldork. The conditions were rendered very difficult by the misty weather, but Flight Lieutenant C. H. Collet dropped three bombs on the Zeppelin shed, approaching within 400 feet. The extent of the damage is not known.

School Notes

School Notes

All of the public and continuation schools in East Lambton opened on September 1st with a complete staff of teachers. There were 65 changes of teachers in the various schools at midsummer, but all the vacancies were filled with professionally trained teachers. There are 123 teachers, of whom 12 hold first-class certificates, 101 normal school certificates, and 10 model school certificates.

The East Lambton Teachers' Association will be held in Petrolea on October 8 and 9. A good program has been arranged, in which Mr. A. Stevenson, of London Normal School, will take part. An evening program will also be arranged for October 8, at which an address will be delivered by Mr. Stevenson, while patriotic music will be furnished by a chorus of pupils from the Petrolea public schools. Other local talent will also assist. Every teacher present and interested is the aim of the Association.

Rural school fairs will be held in East Lambton inspectorate on the following dates:—South Enniskillen schools at Oil Springs on October 3rd; Euphemia schools at Cairo on October 7th, and North Enniskillen schools at Petrolea on October 9th. In addition to these, there will be local fairs held in certain school sections, commencing with S. S. No. 23, Enniskillen, on Friday, Sept. 18th, and ending with S. S. No. 1, Dawn, on Oct. 21st, These fairs will no doubt prove most interesting events.

The money for rural school grants has not yet been forwarded to the County treasurer by the Education Department. As soon as the money is received by the County Treasurer, orders for payment of the grants will be sent to the various secretary-treasurers.

Government Crop Report

Ottawa, Sept. 15th, 1914.—A bulletin issued by the Census and Statistics Office to-day gives the usual preliminary estimate of the yield of the principal cereal crops in Canada, according to reports of correspondents made at the end of August. Continued drought, especially in the Northwest provinces, has seriously affected the yield per acre, which is lower than that of any year since the season affected the yield per acre, which is lower than that of any year since the season of 1910 and lower than the average of the six years ended 1913. From the areas sown to wheat, oats, barley and flax in the Northwest provinces it has been necessary, ir estimating the yields, to deduct a considerable acreage, which owing to drought, is reported as failing to produce any grain. For the three provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the areas thus deducted amount to 728,100 acres of wheat, 753,000 acres of oats, 102,000 acres of barley and

And Alberta, the areas thus deducted and Alberta, the areas thus deducted amount to 728,100 acres of wheat, 753,000 acres of oars, 102,000 acres of barley and 79,000 acres of barley and 79,000 acres of barley and 79,000 acres of flax, these areas representations, per bag. 70 80 acres of oats, 102,000 acres of barley and 79,000 acres of flax, these areas representing percentages of the areas sown of from 3 to 7½ in Manitoba, 7 to 13 in Saskatchewan, and 7 to 15½ in Alberta. For all Canada the yield per acre for spring wheat is just under 15 bushels, as compared with 19.2 bushels last year and with 19.2 bushels, the average of the four years 1910-13, for oats the yield is 32.5 bushels against 38.7 last year and 36.3 the four year average, for barley 24.7 in 1914 compared with 29.9 and 28.5, for yes 18 against 19.3 and 17.8 and for flax 8.3 against 19.3 and 17.8 and for flax 9.000 bushels, against 19.3 and 17.8 and for flax 8.3 against 19.3 and 17.8 and for flax 8.3 against 19.3 and 17.8 and for flax 9.000 bushels and with 20.4 712.

1000 bushels, the annual average for the four years 1910-13. Of oats the estimate is for 327,732,000 bushels, the annual average for the four year suprement compared with 48,319,000 bushels in I913 and 42,745,000 bushels, the annual average, rve 2,019,000 bushels against 2,300,000 bushels and 2,189,000 bushels, and flaxseed 9,042,000 bushels compared with 17,539,000 bushels last year and 14,497,000 bushels, the annual average for the years 1910-13.

For the three Northwest provinces alone the total estimated yield are as follows: Wheat, including fall wheat, 139,672,000 bushels, rye 515,000 bushels, oats 160,796,000 bushels, barley 20,320,000 bushels, and flaxseed 8,962,000 bushels.

Describing generally the conditions of the month of August, correspondents state that, owing to the dryness of the season, the grain ripened much earlier than usual, with the straw short and the yield much shrunken. In Northern Saskatchewan the grain was practically all cut and threshing well under way. In Northern Alberta the yield promised to equal the average, but in Southern Alberta the excessive heat and drought had a bad effect upon what in the early part of the season was a promising crop. Whilst in Quebec and Ontario the grain crops have suffered from a dry season, Whilst in Quebec and Ontario the grain crops have suffered from a dry season, the conditions have not been so favourable as in the west. In Ontario the grain yield is not greatly below that of 1913, and in Quebec the yield of oats is even superior. In the Maritime provinces the season is favourable and the preliminary estimates give yields superior to these of lect wear.

The average condition of the principal field crops, as expressed in percentage of the standard representing a full crop, was returned on August 31st as follows:—
Spring wheat 75, oats 76, barley 74, rye

Valcartier Camp, Sept. 21— Canada will send nearly 10,000 more men on the first contingent than was asked by the British war office. This announcement was made by Col. Hughes to-night and the decision was the result of a conference, between Premier Borden, the Minister of Militia Sir George Hoster and interest of Militia Sir George Hoster and ence between Premier Borden, the Minister of Militia, Sir George Foster and Hon. R. Rogers at the camp today.

It means that 31,200 officers and men and 7,500 horses will be transported to England instead, of a division of 22,500 men, which was the original plan of the Government, following the request of the imperial authorities.

It also means that every officer in training here will be taken abroad, which has caused great rejoicing among those who expected to be rejected. Every man in camp who is physically fit for active service will comprise the first contingent.

Clementine's Silent Partner

A Plan That Worked Well

By CLARISSA MACKIE ********

Miss Alvira Pitt's thin nose was poked close to the grating of the postoffice window when Clementine Dilley called for her mail that February

"Letter for you, Clem," shrilled Alvira as she poked the missive through the bars. "Lawyer's letter. 1 guess your rich uncle in Australy has died and left von $1,000,000!" "Never had a rich uncle, and he didn't live in Australia, anyway." was Clementine's tart retort as she took her letter and went away. As the alert little form disappeared from view the postmistress turned to her assistant. "Another lawyer collecting letter."

she explained. "Clem Dilley's business is tottering to ruin." Josie Ricks, the little black eyed assistant, nodded sagely. "If village folks would only trade with Miss Dilley instead of going way over to Bayport she might make a living," she vouchsafed. "Clem Dilley couldn't keep up a stock that would satisfy Long River folks," retorted Alvira. "Mark my words. Josie. there's going to be a change in Clem Dilley's affairs pretty soon. She's looking worried to death."

There was to be a remarkable change in Clementine Dilley's affairs if she read the lawyer's letter aright. It was a wonderful letter and one hardly to be believed, so unexpected was it. The letter read:

was it. The letter read:

Dear Madam—I have a client who is anxious to invest some surplus funds in a small but lucrative business, and after investigation I am authorized to make you the following offer—viz: My client to put $5,000 into a partnership with you, you to manage the dry goods business and the partnership to be a silent one. My client believes there will be a good opening for a profitable business that has financial backing. If you will call upon me some day this week I will go into the details of the matter with you. Very respectfully yours, SIMON DAY.

Three days after Clementine Dilley's

Three days after Clementine Dilley's return from New York there was a sensation in Long River. Wagon after wagon stopped before the door of her little shop and unloaded great boxes of dry goods. Clementine hired several girls to help her, and soon the shop was transformed from its former coziness into the well stocked appearance of a city store. Clementine had a new front put in the store and two large plate glass win

At last Clementine had an opening day. She brought all the flowering plants from her sunny windows, and the store looked very attractive.

From that day Clementine Dilley's business flourished mightily. Dozens of people who had always traded in Bayport, fifteen miles distant, drove up to Clementine's door and made their purchases there.

Clementine was very happy on that day when she went down to New York and presented her books for Mr. Day's inspection. The books proved that Clementine was doing a splendid business, and the lawyer said he was sure that his client would have no cause to regret his investment. Clementine often wondered about the mysterious partner whose money enabled her to prop up a crumbling business. Why, at the end of five years she might be able to buy out her partner, and at the end of ten years she might retire from business altogether and enjoy the quiet domestic life for which she had always yearned. But now she was glad of the business, for it kept her from being lonely. At home there was nothing save a parrot and two black cats, and at forty-five one yearns for human companionship.

Clementine's friends were delighted at her good fortune, although she was not able to impart the details to any one. When he heard that Clementine Dilley was making money "hand over fist" Deacon Marberry stumped thoughtfully home to his bachelor fireside and stared at the almanac all the evening—and never read a word.

The next day he dropped into Clementine's store and asked for collar buttons. It happened to be the noon hour, and Clementine was all alone.

"Ten cents, Mr. Marberry," said Clementine briskly as she gave him the small parcel. The deacon fished out a wash leather bag from his pocket, untied the string that confined it, counted out the money in coppers and then replaced the bag. "Clem," he said harriedly, "the Scrip-ture says 'tain't good for man to be

"I expect that's why dogs were created-and cats-and parrots," returned Clem tartly. "Dogs and cats are good

"Yes-yes-yes!" returned the deacon impatiently, and then warily he added. "I don't reckon you can guess who your silent partner is, Clementine, Clementine was startled for a moment. There could be no mistaking the deacon's meaning. He wanted her ner whose name she did not know. But she stiffened her neck coldly. "I might guess, Deacon Marberry," she said.

"He ain't a thousand miles away from where I be standing this minnte," went on the deacon craftily. "I don't see him," said Clementine curtly. And she was glad when a customer came in and the deacon was compelled to take his departure. Still the deacon's mysterious tone rankled in her mind. What if it were Deacon Marberry who had been backing her business? If it were Clementine vowed that she would close the doors the very next day. But on fur-ther thought where would Deacon Marberry get $5,000 that was not needed in his grain and hay business? The answer was forthcoming—Deacon Mar-berry's uncle, Jehoshaphat Bean, had died six months ago, and it was rumored that the deacon had come in for the money.

It was after 6 o'clock that same evening, when Clementine was about to lock the door after the last clerk, when there came heavy footsteps on the porch and the great form of Captain Tommy Lisk loomed into view.

"Howdy, Clem?" he said cheerily as he leaned against a pile of pasteboard boxes on the counter. "I ain't seen you in a dog's age, and I reckon we used to see each other pretty oftenwhat say?"

Clementine remembered, with some amusement, that Tommy Lisk used to call upon her once a week in the long, long ago. That was just before David Marsh had come to town. After that Clementine had not had eyes for any one save the handsome David. "How's business?" pursued the captain genially. "Very good," replied Clementine. "What can I do for you, captain? It's after hours, you know, and I want to go to the lecture tonight."

"Ding it all, Clem, that's what I stopped in for!" cried Captain Lisk, slapping his huge hand on the counter. "I want to take you to the lecture tonight."

"I'm sorry, but I've arranged to go with some one else," returned Clemen-tine, hiding her surprise at this belated attention on the part of Captain "Thank you just the same."

"Well, better luck next time," mur-mured the captain. "What you say to entine?" "I'll let you know later," said Clem hastily. And she breathed easier when he opened the door. At that moment he turned back again. "I say, Clementine Dilley, I'll bet you can't guess who your silent partner is," he said jokingly.

"I might," said Clementine dryly.
"He ain't a thousand miles from where I'm standing," said the captain significantly, and, with a mysterious wink of his blue eye, he disappeared.
"The old sinners!" laughed Glementine as she put out the lights in the store. "They must have heard that I am doing a good business. Imagine my marrying Hen Marberry-or Tom-She grew very thoughtful as she walked home under the winter stars.

Her house was at the top of the hill under a group of tall locust trees. Since she had enlarged her business she had hired a capable housekeeper, and now she felt a glow of pleasure when she saw that the windows were lighted.

There was a sad thought back of it all-a brief romance of a few months, the hurried departure of David Marsh to assume his father's responsibilities in caring for a mother and several young children and then the gradual drifting of romance out of her life. David Marsh and romance were a dream to Clementine.
So when she opened the door and found David Marsh waiting for her in the cozy sitting room Clementine Dilley discovered in a splendid rush of joy that romance was not dead after all. David Marsh was a little changed, a little gray and worn, but still the fine, upstanding lover of her youth.

No one save Clementine heard all of his story, but we may know that after David had helped to educate his brothers and sisters he had met with great financial success and that in a round-about way he had learned of Clementine Dilley's business troubles. So David, always true to the love of his youth, had become Clementine's un-known silent partner.

It was 9 o'clock, and the little group around the stove in Pinney's grocery, still lingered, loath to go out into the Deacon Hen Marberry was winding a red muffler around his stringy neck and barking sharp retorts at Captain Tommy Lisk. "What if I did stop in to buy some collar buttons of Clementine Dilley?"

he cried angrily. "If you knew who Clem Dilley's silent partner was you'd say he had some right to buy there!" Captain Lisk stared incredulously.

"If you knew who Clem Dilley's partner was you'd never speak up like that to me, Hen Marberry. I'll venture to say that Clem Dilley's going to marry her silent partner, and he's standing not a thousand miles from where I be this minute!"

"Ding bust it. Tommy Lisk, "'tain't no such thing!" snarled the deacon. "When I say he's standing not a thousand miles from where I be this minute I'm speaking the truth!" reiterated the captain.

"Right, you are!" said a deep voice from the doorway, where a tall, dark man was observing the scene with visible amusement. "Miss Dilley's part-ner is standing right here, Captain Lisk, and when you say she's going to marry her partner you're right again. ought to know, because I'm David Marsh, and I'm the man!"

Five minutes later the deacon and the captain went out into the bitter night, and their hurts were not salved by the muffled laughter that followed their departure

"Wimmen are vipers?" muttered Deacon Marberry from the gloom that encompassed his soul. "Some wimmen are serpents-sea serpents," amended Captain Tommy Lisk

German Milk Rice. The Germans eat a good deal of milk rice (milchreis), which is cooked partly in water and finished in milk-if wanted richer, with a little creamthen served with butter and flavorings the latter of which may be cooked in.

Cinnamon with sugar is the commonest thing to eat with it. Nearly all German recipes for this dish advise bringing the rice to a boil in cold water with a pinch of sods. since they believe the milk will other wise be curdled. They pour off the first water as soon as it boils, then cook the rice in an open kettle for a little, in order to get rid of the proper but not agreeable odor which much rice gets in cooking.

Grapes With Grapefruit A dainty fruit salad calls for Malaga grapes. Blanch them by throwing them into hot water for a second or so. Then cut them in two and take arate it into sections, removing all the tough ligaments and the seeds. Mix the grapes and the grapefruit, which should both be chilled through. Serve on lettuce leaves with mayonnaise dressing.

Adding a little salt to water for cut flowers keeps them fresh longer. To drive away crickets on the hearth put ordinary snuff into the chinks of a fireplace.

If a piece of waxed paper is placed under the centerpiece on a polished table it will prevent the linen from adhering to the table in hot weather as well as prevent an overfilled vase or rose bowl from making a mark.

The Board of Supervisors of Los Angeles county, Cal., are getting ready for the crowds that will visit that state next year—exposition year. They have just started to spend the sum of $400,000 in beautifying the roadways of that county. The first thing they will undertake is the planting of the seventy-five miles of roadway in the county with climbing roses. On either side of the road climbing roses will be planted, and to realize what this means one must have seen roses in bloom in California. They will also create at Exposition Park a wild flower show on a grand scale.

The smoke or vapor, reaching the most remote passage of the affected tubes, brushes aside the trouble and opens a way for fresh air to enter. It is sold by dealers throughout the land.

A Wonderful Lamp

The St. Mary's Argus thus refers to a lamp that was displayed at a recent Hydro exhibition in that town. "This lamp," it says, "is known as the nitrogen electric lamp. It is different from the ordinary electric lamp in that its bulb contains nitrogen which seems to have the effect of giving a greater amount of light at a less expense and use of power. An ordinary Tungsten lamp uses 14 watts per candle. A 100 watt nitrogen lamp gives 200 candle power and a 100 watt Tungsten lamp gives 80 candle power. Peculiar Experience With a Deadly Mexican Tarantula.

PENNED IN A DARK BEDROOM.

The Trying Ordeal Through Which a Woman Tourist Passed In a Hotel at Vera Cruz-Awaiting the Bite That Meant Madness and Then Death.

The tarantula is much larger in Mexico than in Italy. His four pairs of fuzzy legs, his speckled bulging belly, his abnormally fat head, armed with vicious nippers and equipped with eight eyes arranged in transverse rows, suffice to fill you with a wholesome desire to give him the right of way without

Owing to the fact that he has an unwelcome habit of leaving his own realm in the tropical vines to make sociable little visitations to the corners of your bedroom it had always been my custom to search every nook and crevice of my sleeping room before retiring for the night. Twice had I seen native laborers, peons, in the agony of death due to a tarantula bite So it was not surprising that this creeping thing headed my list of the many dangers to be shunned in Mex-

I had just reached Vera Cruz from Mexico City, very tired, and decided to seek my room early in the evening, which, indeed, is the only safe and proper thing for an unaccompanied woman in Mexico to do. That part of the diligencias in which my room was located was evidently undergoing repairs, for a pile of timbers was included in the furnishing of my apartments.

No particular reason occurred to me why I should investigate this lumber, and, little realizing that it might shelter lurking danger, I flung my weary head on the dirty pillow. But as I lay quietly dozing off to sleep I suddenly heard a soft little noise, which one might describe as a cross between a hum and a hiss.

As a precaution against the many venomous things that creep and crawl even in the well beaten paths of Mexico I had made a careful study of the arachnids, to which class the tarantulas belong. I recognized that soft un-ostentatious warning that announced a roommate as undesirable as one could well wish.

Cautiously I stretched out my hand to see if by chance there were some matches on the little stand near my bed, with the result that I knocked the unlighted candle upon the floor. That was enough for my mettlesome roommate; he had been personally insulted by the noise, and suddenly in the utter darkness, that black stillness which one feels in a strange room, I detected a sickening odor, the warning of the angry tarantula.

I strained my ears to detect the soft, characteristic click that the male, the deadliest of the species, employs as a fancy frill to his malicious song. My blood chilled as I heard his muffled hum-click, hum-elick, hum-apparently not three feet away. I held my breath, incidentally my nose, and lay wondering how long it would be ere I should feel his big fuzzy feet sneaking up the side of my neck or before his soft woolly body would light upon my face. It was not at all comforting to remember that one of a tarantula's eccentricities is to find his way to a point on the ceiling directly over the object of his anger and then to drop uncere-moniously upon his victim.

It was the only time in my life when I longed for the bliss of ignorance. Would to heaven I had not studied this hideous horror of the tropics! But I had. Moreover, I had seen the awful effects of his worse than fatal bite, whose work of destruction was mercilessly long drawn out.

If the bite of a male tarantula infects a large artery it throws the victim into a dreadful state of crazed nerves. The incipient stages of the poisoning are accompanied by accentuated melancholia, followed by a shattering of the mental-lty. On gradually absorbing the venom the unfortunate subject reels and raves in a mad whirl until he swoons from pure exhaustion. The tarantella, the graceful Italian dance so often described in musical literature, derives its name from this hideous poisoning.

All this and more darted through my mind as I lay there in the darkness wondering if I, too, were doomed to die like a dervish. As the night wore on the buzzing grew less sedulous. I on the buzzing grew less sections. I lay motionless during the thousand years till dawn, which came at last, a divinely soft, blue, shimmering shaft of light, which made things faintly visible. Cautiously I drew myself up to a sitting posture and craned my neck in a searching survey about my chamber of horrors. There, in torture worse than mine, bung my roommate, four of his legs pinioned beneath the timbers. There he sprawled, a maimed but angry pris-oner. His eight eyes winked me a mil-tant "Good mo" and I forthwith returned the compliment with the slender shaft of my hatpin.—New York

No matter how much you earn or save, You must leave it all when you go to the grave.

It is better to buy a cheap bouquet,
For a living soul this very day
Than a bushel of roses, white and red,
To place on his casket when he is dead.

Patriotic Concert at Warwick his part be that tarrieth by the stuff

The spirit of loyalty which animates the members of the Women's Institute prompted them to hold a patriotic concert in the Orange hall on Friday evening. A very appreciative audience helped to make the evening a success financially, the proceeds being $44.00. After expenses were paid, the balance, $40.00, was sent to Mr. Noel Marshall, chairman of the Red Cross Society. Mr. John Farrell occupied the chair, and, although apparently overwhelmed by his duties, still performed them in an acceptable manner. The opening chorus, "The Maple Leaf Forevet," was sung by the audience, followed by prayer by Rev. W. M. Shore, asking God's blessing on all the efforts that are being put forth for the help of those in need, and that peace may soon be restored.

Mr. Frank Elliot delighted the audience with the rendering of "The Gray Ships," the dreadnoughts which make Britain "the mistress of the seas."

Mr. H. J. Pettypiece gave an interesting and instructive address, speaking of the tremendous crisis through which the country is passing. "There must be only one issue of the war," he said. "The military despotism of Germany must be crushed." Mr. Pettypiece also read as poem, entitled "The Mother," the pathos of which brought tears to the eyes of many of the mothers present."

A choir, under the able leadership of Mr. Robert McFarlane (an old Warwick boy, in spite of Mr. Farrell's assertion that "all good things come from Forest") gave "O Canada" in splendid style, followed by an address by Colonei Kelly, "the man of the hour" (in Lambton). The Colonel looked very soldierly in his handsome uniform of khaki, and spoke of this recent trip to Valcartier, He also made a strong plea for the young men to show their patriotism by enlisting.

TWO YEARS OF TORTURE FROM STOMACH TROUBLE

Cured by the Use of Dr. Williams Pink Pills for Pale People.

There are two ways usually adopted in trying to cure indigestion or stomach trouble—one the wrong way by using purgatives and the other drugs which only act locally and which in the long purgatives and the other drags which only act locally and which in the long run causes more distress by weakening the whole system. The other way and the right way is the Dr. Williams' manner of treatment—that is to nourish and build up the stomach by supplying plenty of new, rich, red blood. Give the stomach this much needed supply of new blood and distress will disappear and stay banished forever. The new blood strengthens the nerves of the stomach and gives it the necessary power to digest food. Thousands bear witness to the value of the Dr. Williams treatment through the blood. Among them is the Rev. P. D. Nowlan, of Summerville, N. S., who says: "I certainly have great reason to recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, as they were the means of saving my life. Till I reached the age of thirty I never knew what pain or sickness my life. Till I reached the age of thirty I never knew what pain or sickness meant, but after that my stomach failed me and food of any kind caused untold distress. I became constipated and was forced to use injections daily. This went on for about two years; I grew weaker and weaker; my weight fell off from 185 to 125 pounds; I had a hacking cough and appeared to be going into a decline. All this time I was being treated by the best of doctors but without the least benefit. Night after night I could get no sleep the pain and agony was so severe. sleep the pain and agony was so severe. On consultation the doctors decided I was suffering from cancer of the stomach was suffering from cancer of the stomach and advised an operation as a means of saving my life. This I refused to undergo and began to look forward to an early death. Just then a triend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had no faith in any medicine and at first refused, but my friend was so persistent that finally I gave in and purchased half a dozen boxes. By the time these were gone I felt much stronger and the distress was not so severe. I continued their use and each succeeding box wrought a marked improvement in my condition marked improvement in my condition till by the time I had taken a dozen boxes every pain and ache had left me; my strength increased; my weight was back where it was before I was ill; I had a good appetite and was completely cured. In the years that have elapsed since I used the Pills not a twinge of the trouble has returned. To me Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are the greatest medicine on earth and I never lose an opportunity in recommending them to other sufferers, for I feel that were it not for their use I would have been in my grave

What Dr. Williams' Pink Pills did for What Dr. Williams Fink Fills and for Rev. Mr. Nowlan they have done for thousands of others and will do for you if ailing. They not only cure cases of stomach trouble, but rheumatism, partial paralysis, heart palpitation, St. Vitus dance and all other troubles that have their origin in a bad condition of the blood and nerves. The Fills are sold by blood and nerves. The Pills are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Ocean," the audience joining in the chorus.

Miss Sadie Barnes recited in a manner which would have done credit to a much older elocutionist, "No Foe Besets Our Gates."

Mr. Shore found the evening and the occasion most inspiring.

We were pleased to have with us some of our friends, the early inhabitants of this country, Mr. and Mrs. Elm, and Mr. George sang in the beautiful Indian language a hymn and encore.

ent to his family that the end was not far distant.

In the community in which he lived so long his death will be keenly felt. His kindly ministrations to those in sickness or distress, his loyal devotion to the church and Sunday School, his inspiring exhortations from the pulpits throughout the circuit, which he delivered so often and so acceptably had won for him a warm place in the hearts of the people.

Of him it can be truly said: "Dilligent in business, fervent in prayer, serving the Lord."

The funeral, one of the largest ever witnessed in the county, was held on Monday to the Watford cemetery, and the casket bearing within the wasted form, and without the beautiful flowers arranged in forms of wreaths, pillows and boquets, was borne to its last resting-place by six lifelong friends and neighbors, Messrs. Jas. and Robt. Wynne, J.

E. Collier, S. W. Edwards, E. Robin son and T. Fuller.

The funeral service, held at the Zion Methodist church, of which deceased was a devoted member, was conducted by the pastor, Rev. F. G. Robinson, assisted by Rev. J. C. Forster, Presbyterian minister from Watford, and Rev. S. Y. R. Pentland, of Brooke.

Strathroy Fair

Strathroy, Sept. 22 -The Strat hroy fair was a great success, one of the largest crowds ever attending being present. It is estimated that 10,000 people were on the grounds.

The exhibit in ladies' work and art was the largest ever, and the display of fruit, flowers, roots, vegetables and grain was the most notable exhibit.

The racing was unfinished, as a shower sprang up at 5.30.
