"Davis' Perfection," 10c Cigar

When Your Friends Call

you naturally like to offer them cigars. As it is undesirable to keep a great many kinds on hand, it is well to have a box of a brand pleasing to the average smoker.

Such a brand is "Davis' Perfection." This unique cigar has the mellow, rich Havana taste, and yet it is so delightfully mild that you can smoke all day with enjoyment.

Not every good cigar pleases so many smokers as this. It seems to give perfect satisfaction not only to smokers of heavy cigars, but also to those who smoke mild domestics.

Therefore, when your friends call, if you offer them "Davis' Perfection," they will not only enjoy their stay, but will carry away pleasant memories.

Fashion Hint for Times Readers

A GORGEOUS WRAP OF CHIFFON-VEILED GOLD CLOTH

Beautifully simple in its long flowing lines, yet superbly rich in fabric, is this graceful wrap of gold tissue over which falls a softening veil of brown chiffon. Dull gold embroidery forms a deep hem which weights the chiffon, and collar and cuffs are also of this embroidery. The hat is a cream leghorn, faced with brown velvet and bearing a yellow paradise feather. The gloves also accord with the charming restaurant wrap and hat, for they are of cream silk embroidered in flower spray done in pale tan and yellow.

no less than madness. And yet, it seemed as if she would presently go. Searle's silence, coupled to conditions here, was absolutely intolerable.

With placidly lazy—nothing but a wild, bright dream really clear—the questioned Billy Stitts concerning the roads. He was familiar with every road in miles, whether roadway, trail or "course by compass" as he termed trackless cruising in the desert. He gave her directions with the utmost minutage of detail as to every highway to Starlight. He drew her a plan. She was sure that she could almost ride to Starlight in the dark. What branches of the road to shun, which trails to choose, possibly, for gaining time, what places to water a famishing horse—all these and more she learned with feverish interest.

"Now a man would do this," and "a man would do that," said Billy time after time, till a new, fantastic notion came bounding fully-fledged into Beth's anxious brain and almost made her laugh with delight. She could dress as a man and ride as a man and be absolutely safe on the journey. She knew a dozen unusual arts in dyeing the skin and concealing the hair and making the hands look rough and shaggy. In private theatricals, at professional houses, she had learned with exceptional thoroughness. She would have a pair of heavy, iron boots, a soft, big hat, and flannel shirt. They were all to be had at the store. She could order her horse to be saddled for a man. She could readily dress and escape unscathed from the house. In a word, she possessed her utterly. It sent her blood bounding through her veins. Her face was flushed with excitement, she loved adventure—and this would be something to do.

Nevertheless, despite all her plans, she had no real intention of attempting a scheme so mad. Subconsciously she consented to herself it was just the merest idle fancy, not a thing to be actually ventured, or even entertained.

That night, when she was more beset, more worried than before, however, desperation was increasing upon her. The plan she had made no longer seemed the mere caprice of one in pursuit of pleasure—it appeared to be the only possible refuge from conditions no longer to be borne.

When the morning came, after a night of mental torture and bodily fear, she prepared. Beth had told her she meant to take an early morning ride and might not be back in time for breakfast. With this bundle in hand she went out at the door, her courage all but failing at thought of the man with the horse at the fire-hold. She shrank from being seen in such an outfit.

It was too late now to retreat, however, she told herself bravely, and out she went.

"Say, get a move, young feller," said the hostler with pony. "I ain't got time to play horseshoe here all day."

"Thank you for being so prompt," said Beth, in a voice that was faint, despite her efforts to be as masculine, and she gave him a coin.

"I'll tie that three bundle on behind," he volunteered, less gruffly, and Beth was glad of his assistance.

She rode slowly, towards the one of the road peaks of the mountains. The sense of her pony's hoof-beats seemed alarmingly resonant.

But nothing happened. The streets were deserted, save for a few half-drunken wanderers, headed for the nearest saloon.

On the far side of the mountain the road lay flat and bare, as if it had been laid out by a man's hand. A sense of exhilaration pervaded Beth's youthful being. She was glad of what she had done. It was joyous. It was splendid, this absolute freedom in all this stern old world!

The road wound crookedly up a hill, as it left the streets of the town behind. The scattered tents extended for a mile in this direction, the squares of silent canvas, like so many dice, cast on the slopes by a careless fate that had cast man with them in the struggle.

Beth and her pony finally topped the hill, to be met by a sea of mountains out beyond. Up and down these mighty billows of the earth the highway meandered, leading onward and southward through the desert.

The mare was urged to a gallop, down an easy slope, then once more she walked as before. All the mountains in the west were now, till presently the sun was up, a golden coin, struck hot from the very mints of God, giving one more day with its very first rays seemed a comfort, suggesting a welcome warmth. Beth could have called out songs of gladness well nigh uncontainable. She had all the big

As intimated by the contents of this communication, Beth read it again, in no little bewilderment, to make sure she had made no mistake. No letter from herself? No word from Searle? No answer to Glen's request for money? And he had only asked for a "few odd dollars?" There must be something wrong. He had sent the most urgent requirement for sixty thousand dollars. And she herself had planned to send him that amount. He had sent her word by special messenger. Starlight was less than a long day's ride away. Glen had already had time to see that account in the paper and write.

She had no suspicions of Botwick. She had seen Glen's letter and read it herself. And Searle had responded immediately with an offer to let her brother have three thousand dollars. There must be some mistake. Glen might be keeping his news and plans from herself, as men often will. Searle might even have overlooked the importance of keeping Glen fully posted, intending to go so soon to Starlight. Her own letter might have miscarried.

She tried to fashion explanations—but they were all so flimsy that she would not have been able to give them to a man in the car had failed.

For a moment she sickened with the reflection that Searle might once more have fallen captive to the convicts, still at large—and with all the money! Then she presently assured herself that news so sinister would have been very prompt to return.

It was too much to understand—and she was ill—or one of her reason. Her two letters, the one to Searle and this one to herself, were so utterly contradictory. It was not to be solved from this distance. Moreover Glen wrote that he was off on a trip, and asked her to write him when she was in New York.

New Collector at Digby—The Press Rates—Fatality on C.P.R. in West—Provincial Notes

Digby, N. S., June 10—August M. Gidney, M. P. for Digby county, has been appointed chief collector of customs at Digby and was sworn into office this afternoon by H. L. Dennison, K. C. This fills the vacancy caused by the death of J. M. Vies, who occurred last March.

Ottawa, June 10—The press representatives and the Canadian Pacific Telegraph Company today reached a satisfactory agreement for press service rates. It will be revealed to the railway commission in a few weeks for confirmation.

The agreement involves complicated schedules which have not yet been finally worked out. The rates for the maritime provinces are only a slight advance over those for the rest of the country.

Moncton, N. B., June 10—The organization of the greater Moncton club was completed tonight, the meeting being attended by a large number of representative citizens. Officers were elected as follows: President, D. Fottenger; secretary, J. E. Wallace; first vice-president, George H. Trueman; second vice, Jas. A. Bourque; treasurer, S. L. T. Harrison; treasurer, W. Montreal, June 10—Hon. Rodolphe Lemieux, postmaster-general, was in the city today and stated that he had made arrangements with the Canadian Northern "Royal" line or the White Star Dominion line for the carrying of the mails, but he had no doubt that in the near future an arrangement would be arrived at by which three mails a week would leave Canada by the fastest boats for Great Britain.

The postmaster-general said he was doing all he could to make such arrangements for Europe marked via New York.

Hon. Mr. Lemieux said that the mail contract with the Allans and the C. P. R. lines would not expire until 1912, but he had no doubt that mails would be sent by all the lines which put on fast boats, and some had already been sent by the White Star-Dominion steamer Laurentic.

With regard to the new railway from Matapedia to Gaspé Basin, Hon. Mr. Lemieux said it would certainly be completed from its junction with the Intercolonial to Gaspé Basin within six or seven months, by which time the new deep water wharf at Gaspé would also be ready.

Winnipeg, June 10—Three C. P. R. trainmen, Engineer Wheatly, Fireman Clark and brakeman McMillan, all of Schreiber (Ont.), lost their lives at 4 o'clock this morning, when a freight train struck a boulder on the track at Port Coldwell (Ont.), 135 miles east of Port Arthur, causing the train to leave the track and plunge into the lake, carrying with it many feet of permanent way and telegraph lines, thus interrupting communication.

Turbo, N. S., June 10—(Special)—William J. Burgess was found guilty of robbing the Canadian Express Company here in May, 1909. The jury was only out half an hour when they brought in a verdict for conviction. His brother William's case has been postponed until Monday.

IN MEMORIAM

Once he sprang for the challenge of May, Once he breasted the hill, Once he loved the wind and the day— His spirit loves them still. God gave him courage and strength of train, And joy in friendly strife; God set in his face like quivering flame Pulsing and bounding life.

Now the glow of his eyes is blind; The ring of his voice is fled, Caught up like the thistle-down on the wind, On the wind caught up and dead. The life that blossomed so full and true Is robbed of its fresh delight, As the leaves of a chestnut avenue Drop dead in a frosty night.

INCORRUPTIBLE. The lady of the house hesitated. "Are you a member of the right?" she asked. "Yes, madam," replied the census man. "Didn't bother you a bit, did it?" "No, madam." "Feel under some obligations to me don't you?" "Yes, madam." "Then, perhaps you won't mind telling me how old the woman next door claims to be?" "Good day, madam," said the census man.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

Keeeper Says:

came into my store lately and said: "I have been using a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove all winter in my kitchen. I want one now for my summer home. I think the stoves are wonderful. They heat so quickly and so evenly. I spoke about my stove to a lot of my friends, and they were astonished. They thought that there was something in it, and that it heated a room just like any other stove. I told them of my experience, and one after another they got one, and now, not one of them would give me up for five times its cost."

The lady who said this had thought an oil stove was all right for quickly heating milk for a baby, or boiling a kettle of water, or to make coffee quickly in the morning, but she never dreamed of using it for difficult or heavy cooking. Now she knows.

Do you really appreciate what a New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove will do for you? Just light a Perfection Stove and immediately the heat from an intense fire rises up to the bottom of pot, kettle or oven. But the room is heated. No smoke, no soot, no smell, no outside heat, no draught in the kitchen where the stove is used.

New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove

It has a Cabinet Top with a shelf for keeping plates and food hot. The black finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet.

CLAIM TO MILLIONS

FROM INVENTION OF HIS LOST FATHER

Herbert L. Todd Disappeared 20 Years Ago—Had Telephone Contrivance

New York, June 11—The claim to a gigantic fortune made out of the telephone business lies behind the efforts of the children of Herbert L. Todd to learn something of the fate of their father, who disappeared twenty years ago. The last known of the missing man was that he was in London, whither he had gone on the invitation of Major Wilbur E. Melbourne, in the summer of 1890.

For a year Mr. Todd's family heard from him regularly. Then, suddenly, his letters ceased. The last letter is dated June 1890. It is in the possession of his son, Charles William Todd, who is forty years old, of Washington street, Newark, N. J. The letter is written on the letter head of the Negotiation Syndicate, Limited, No. 72 and 74 Gracechurch street, London.

Which, the letter states, was organized. "I would give all I possess to get even an inkling of what my father's fate has been," said Mr. Todd. "His disappearance has been a mystery that has baffled our family and cost my grandfather a fortune. All we could ever learn was that a notice of his death appeared in the London Times in 1892. We could never learn how, when, or where he died."

Mr. Todd thinks his father was the victim of foul play, and that his death netted a fortune of millions to those who were associated with him in commercial life. He has been searching for his father, and has used the long-distance telephone. The missing man patented his invention in this country on August 25, 1887. It is on record in Washington to Mr. Todd's credit, with the various transfers of his rights to himself and his associates and to the Todd Transcontinental Telephone Company, in which Mr. Todd was the controlling factor. His family hold certificates for 5,000 shares in the company, which was capitalized at $10,000,000.

Mr. Todd has all his father's patent papers and the certificates of stock. He also showed the patent record in England. He says he will pay a large reward for authentic news of his father's fate.

LOOKING FOR A BIGGER CROP IN CANADIAN WEST

Twenty Per Cent. More Wheat and Flax Area Almost Doubled—Farmers Happy.

Winnipeg, June 10—Only a spell of warm weather is needed to ensure bumper crops in Manitoba and Saskatchewan. The cold spell did not affect the roots, and the recent heavy rains have provided ample moisture for weeks to come. In Alberta even better conditions prevail.

The following estimate of the acreage under crop in Manitoba, Alberta and Saskatchewan has been prepared by the North-west Grain Dealers' Association and is dated June 11—

	Acres	Acres
Wheat	7,100,000	8,435,200
Oats	4,217,400	4,223,800
Barley	955,200	1,022,000

MISSING NEW YORK GIRL DISCOVERED IN NEW HAVEN

New York, June 10—The finding of six-year old Esther Meerson in New Haven ends another New York "kidnaping case." All sorts of theories were advanced to explain her disappearance. She was lured away by an old man; drugged; spirited away in a cab; held for $500 ransom and murdered, as was Ruth Wheeler. All these and more were put forward as explanations of the case, which, because of the recent murder of the Wheeler girl, attracted more than passing notice.

MACHINIST SCALDED TO DEATH IN MINE

New Glasgow, June 10—(Special)—An accident occurred at Stellarton this afternoon when Will Downes, a machinist with the Acadia Coal Company, and employed at the Back Mines, met his death. Downes, who was 28 years of age, was the only support of his widowed mother. He was alone when the accident happened.

The unfortunate man was scalded to death. He was engaged in repairing a steam pipe 3,000 feet below the surface when it burst. The body was terribly scalded and burned. Downes was a skilled mechanic and a member of the Masonic body.

LIFE

The poet's exclamation: "O Life! Life! Life!" is the bounding in my veins. It is a joy one. Persons that can rarely or never make it, in honesty to themselves, among the most unfortunate. They not live, but exist; for to live implies that to be. To live is to be well, strong—to arise feeling able to do any duties of the day, and retire to rest by them—to feel life bounding in the veins. A medicine that has made thousands of people, men and women, well and strong, has accomplished a great work, bestowing the richest blessings, and that medicine is Hood's Sarsaparilla. The weak, run-down, or debilitated, from any cause, should not fail to take it. It builds up the whole system, changes existence into life, and makes life abundant. We are glad to say these words in its favor to the readers of our columns.

If regularly cleaned with sarsaparilla it will keep you clean as cloudy all the time. The easiest and best way to clean windows in the summer is to wring well a clean leather out of warm water, rub the window with this, turning as it gets dirty, and wash with a soft duster again. There is no better method, as any professional window cleaner will admit.

THE PLAYGROUND CONGRESS AT ROCHESTER AND SPEECHES BY EXPERTS IN THE WORK

The following are abstracts of speeches delivered at the annual congress of the Playground Association held in Rochester, N. Y., from June 7th to 11th—

SPEECH BY RICHARD C. CABOT, M.D., Massachusetts General Hospital, Boston, Mass.

Play and playgrounds exist not primarily for health or for fun but for creation and for recreation. The means of originality and of refreshment, playgrounds are prima assets to every community.

Play, seen as recreation or revivification of our warped, jaded and bored lives, is as essential for adults as for children, but it should so interpose itself in daily work as to forestall warping and boredom. The creative, humorous and beautiful spirit can be made to pervade the most sordid surroundings. I have seen it in patients awaiting death.

The Fine Arts, painting, sculpture and music, have come to seem bodiless and frivolous, or borosome and solemn in this country, because they are unnecessarily divorced from the popular arts, such as drama, athletics, dancing and fireworks. All these arts are beautiful and refreshing—all of them are loved for their own sake. They are impermanent, but no more so than music.

The supreme human value of recreation in any of its forms—as humor, fine arts or popular arts—consists in this: It turns up a fresh surface of the soul where new and precious experiences can take root. It makes the world worth while to us now—not merely in the long run, after dreary wastes are passed over. It recreates the spirit of youth at all ages. It dignifies our work and enriches our affections.

SPEECH BY ANNIE CARROLL MOORE, Supervisor of Work with Children, New York Public Library.

"Story telling," the oldest and the newest of the arts, is rapidly finding a place among the recognized activities of the playground. Special supervisors of story-telling, who tell stories themselves and enlist the work of play-ground directors and assistants, have been appointed in a few cities. There is a growing interest among the men directors in a feature of work which makes quite as strong an appeal to older boys as to little children. On hot summer days it is both impossible and undesirable to keep on the "keen jump" every moment. The story hour under the shade of a big tree, or of a tent roof marks a pause and affords a much appreciated rest period of a half hour or more.

Boys and girls read the books from which stories are told, take them home for their parents to read, or to read to them, and recommend them widely to their friends. The presentation of literature itself, as literature, by an appreciative storyteller has proved the most successful means yet discovered of stimulating a natural love of good literature. This has been notably true of the old folk tales so valuable to the child creature in his age in preserving the traditions of his native land and to the child of American birth in providing food and stimulus for his ideal or morbid imagination.

"Anybody can understand and appreciate a well-selected and well-told story. The mistake is too often made of turning a story intended to give the highest pleasure of an art—art—pleasure—into a mere burden of conveying information."

EVANGELIST KNIGHT ON SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON FOR JUNE 11

The Canaanish Woman. Matt. 15:21,28. Another soul tragically—a child possessed—a distracted mother—a Saviour more—a distracted mother—a Saviour more—a distracted mother—a Saviour more...

"Have mercy upon me... my daughter is grievously vexed with a devil." What sort of a devil is not told. Was it a devil of temper that made her rage like a Bengal tiger and which had often driven the poor mother to frenzy from which side of the house she had inherited such extraordinary possibilities?

Was it the devil of impurity that entered into her at school when she listened to the first immodest conversation she had ever heard and which drove her ultimately to insanity?

Was it the devil of defilement self which drove her to go where she pleased and do as she liked? We know not. We do know however

ECZEMA ON HEAD AND ARM

Four Doctors Failed After Fair Trial—Cure Effected by DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT

The average physician is helpless in the presence of skin diseases such as eczema and salt rheum. Some make the mistake of treating eczema as a blood disease and advise internal treatment. Others think only relief is possible and recommend a lotion to afford relief from the itching.

Whatever the cause may be local treatment is necessary to heal up the sores, which otherwise spread over the body and produce the greatest suffering imaginable. By far the most successful treatment for eczema is the use of Dr. A. W. Chase's Ointment. You can verify this statement by acquiring a few druggists. This letter is a fair sample of what we are receiving about every day:

Mr. Geo. Peterson, South Bay, Ont., writes: "I wish to commend to you the great benefit I receive from using Dr. Chase's Ointment. For years I suffered with eczema on my head, and four doctors, giving each a fair trial, but got no better. I got the disease spread to my left arm."

"I saw Dr. Chase's Ointment advertised and began using it. Persistent use of this treatment has entirely cured me and I give you a statement of my case with pleasure. I hope thereby to induce some other sufferer to try the same Dr. Chase's Ointment."

There is wonderful satisfaction in using Dr. Chase's Ointment for you can see from day to day just what results are being accomplished. 60 cents a box, all dealers, or Edman, Bates & Co., Toronto.

Some time ago the advertising committee of the board of trade subscribed to three clipping bureaus with offices in the principal United States cities. The object was to see just how much and what kind of publicity St. John is receiving in the American papers. From the returns received it is apparent that St. John is keeping well to the front, for each week Secretary Anderson receives clippings from papers all over the continent with reference to St. John.

Among last week's lot was the following from the Boston Morning Herald, headed "St. John's Growth Shown in Exports. Increase in shipments of produce from port 'Truth Love'—I am only a dog a hungry, needy, poor, contemptible, miserable dog but I am a dog."

"Then Jesus answered and said unto her 'Woman great is thy faith; be it unto thee even as thou wilt and thy daughter was healed from that very hour.'"

"I am a poor sinner And nothing at all, I want Thee, Lord, For my all in all."

"Then Jesus answered and said unto her 'Woman great is thy faith; be it unto thee even as thou wilt and thy daughter was healed from that very hour.'"

HANDSOME COLLECTION OF YOUTHFUL CANADIANS

The Times-Star has received from the Borden's Condensed Milk Company a large fifty bound volume containing reproductions of pictures of 2,000 handsome Canadian children who posed for the camera in order to enter the contest conducted by the company in which the features of a child were the means of winning or not winning a prize.

The pictures of the New Brunswick children entered in the contest were published in the Times-Star at the time this paper conducted the contest here. The book is well gotten up, and is worth keeping. It contains photographs of hundreds of children.

It is hoped that the new play will be ready in time for production as Mr. Mantell's opening bill during his next New York engagement which will be early in November at one of the Broadway theatres controlled by the Shuberts.

Only twenty-two rooms were killed by motor cars in the streets of London last year.

THE WRESTLING MATCH

It is reported that the wrestling match between the two who said "I will not let thee go except thou bless me?"

The next step down was the opposition of Christ as David's greater Son—just as Christ had left the room to close the controversy for he appeals to the disciples who, worn out with her entreaties or wearing to avoid further sensation which her eyes created, "thought Him saying send her away."

"Then comes the third fearful step down 'I am not sent but unto the lost sheep of the house of Israel.' Was it sarcasm? Did he mean that this was the generally accepted theory as to His mission? As a matter of fact He had come to seek and to save the world's lost which He meant to do through the lost sheep of the house of Israel."

Moral suasion was empty, meaningless, worse than useless. Her life was a hell upon earth. Remorse was eating like a cancer at her very vitals. Why? because it was her own fault. Had she been over indulgent and hastened to grant every whim and notion that her child could conceive of? Was her child like—

"The hopeful young horse Who brought up on love without force, He had his own way, they sagged his bay, And so he was mostly of course."

Or had she erred on the side of over-severity and compelled obedience at the point of the bayonet and the sacrifice of love? Whatever her form of government, failure had led her to the end of all her resources and to cast herself in utter helplessness on the One who alone can save her wayward child.

She "cried saying have mercy on me O Lord, why hast thou forsaken me?" He was the truth forcing itself on her that her own soul needed to get right with God as a very first step.

"He answered her not a word." He saw to quote Ian MacLaren, "that her cause for faith was immense since love was feeding the fire and He would fan it into a flame that the world might know how a sinner should believe."

His heart was full of tenderness for her as He led her down step by step to utter nothingness that He might lead her to heights in the life of faith beyond what even the disciples had experienced.

The first ray of light which had come to lighten the Gentiles dawned upon a woman whose faith led her to see Jesus as Christ as David's greater Son—just as the first ray of light to lighten the Gentiles of Europe dawned upon a woman—Lydia.

In the crown of Christ the glory, Towering her form of wreath of time, All that's bright in woman's story Radiates from its firm sublime.

DESTRUCTION OF LIFE BY EXPLOSIVES
(Commission of Conservation, Ottawa)

In three Canadian provinces within the past month, magazines containing explosives have accidentally blown up, killing almost a score of people and injuring many others. Hardly a day passes but what the press contains reports of the deaths of workmen engaged in mining or in railway construction from the careless use of explosives. These scattered cases, however, attract but little attention; it is only when a catastrophe occurs in which many lives are lost that the public is aroused to the need of adopting more effective measures for the protection of human life from this danger.

It is interesting to note that other countries have done in dealing with the problem. In all European coal-mining countries regulations have been made against the use of coal mines of such explosives as are known to be dangerous. The United States have an Explosive Testing Plant under the direction of the Geological Survey, where explosives are tested as to their fitness for particular use. The names of all explosives that have successfully stood these tests are published in a permissible explosives list which is available to the public. An explosives primer outlining the action and uses of the various explosives is also published.

RALLYING AGAINST THE WHITE PLAGUE

Proceedings of Canadian Anti-Tuberculosis Convention in Montreal—Prof. Adam's Tribute to the Work of the Sisters

(Montreal Gazette)

The twelfth annual convention of the Canadian Association for the Prevention of Tuberculosis opened at the Royal Edward Institute Montreal, on Tuesday, with a large attendance. The feature of the proceedings was the first time the high tribute paid by Professor Adam to the work being done in Quebec province by the Roman Catholic Sisters, and he emphasized the urgency of Protestant workers giving their services in the battle with the white plague.

In welcoming the delegates to Montreal, Dr. Adam said that he was sorry that Leonard Barland, the donor of the building fund, was not present with them. He had received a telegram from Dublin from Colonel Barland saying that he had accepted the association a welcome and his congratulations on their work during the past year.

"Meeting in this place," said Dr. Adam, "there is one thought that is uppermost in our thoughts at this time. But a few months ago we were gathered here awaiting the touch of the King of England, which would open our building fund. We received his message that he would always take a lively interest in the institute. Twenty years ago was my privilege at the International Congress of Hygiene in London to hear the King, then the Prince of Wales, speak on the matter of tuberculosis. He then uttered those memorable words of his 'If done for the cause of humanity.'"

"But if we have to commemorate these notable losses, here in Canada the last twelve months have been memorable as no previous year for enthusiastic and active advance all along the line from the Atlantic to the Pacific. It is being borne home to us, that this movement is not merely a campaign against tuberculosis, but is tending towards the social betterment of the community at large. The provision of clean and healthy milk, the removal of slums and overcrowding, the movement for fresh air, and the schemes for better housing are part of the whole system of social reform."

"The work which our secretary has done during the year, in every part of the Dominion, is sufficient proof that the interest of the people is being aroused in this important movement."

"The main question which comes before us is the matter of the care of the indigent and incurable patients. So long as these are allowed to remain in their homes, they are a menace to the good health of the others who are living with them. Fuller provision is made for these cases in the western provinces, but in the east nothing is done for those who cannot pay for their treatment in the hospital. This brings us back to the question of those cases where the patient cannot pay for himself. A large number of them are those who, if treated, would regard their treatment as an opportunity offered."

"Quebec there is an economic condition which does not allow of the treatment of a patient at a half of the cost that it takes in the hospitals. An ordinary nurse requires about $20 a month for her upkeep while we are told that in the west a man can be supported on $25 a year. It is a well known fact that there is a large female class who grow up to mature years, than of the male, and I think the Roman Catholic system of the convent solves one of the great dangers of our society. We have a large number of women who feel themselves to be a burden on others and who have little in the world to live for. They pass their time gnawing out their hearts. Could we not put their efforts to a good purpose they might serve society in the most valuable way. I would urge that some good strong woman come forward and devote her life to the noble work of establishing a sisterhood for the care of the incurable tuberculous in general community of the work that is being accomplished by her Catholic sisters."

THE DREXEL-MAIDSTONE MARRIAGE

Bride a Beauty and Accomplished—The Drexel Millions—An Unique Marriage Settlement—Groom is of Ancient Family

Some facts about the families of Viscount Maidstone, elder son of the earl of Winchelsea and Nottingham, and Miss Margaretta Armstrong, Drexel, daughter of Anthony J. Drexel, married in London, the other day, first of three Anglo-American weddings to take place in London this month will be found of much interest, especially to the Times' many readers of the gentler sex.

Miss Drexel's marriage disposes of a beautiful girl whose supposed affairs of the heart have been the despair of her friends and a trial to bachelors all over Europe. She is credited with having had twenty proposals of marriage, all from among the bluest blooded families of the continent.

Ever since she left a French convent where she was educated, she has been a center of attraction and for three years she has been a veritable star of the London social galaxy. Princes and peers have succumbed to her beauty, charm of manner, accomplishments and not unimpaired perhaps of the fact that she is the heiress of a multi-millionaire.

Soon after her debut it was said that she cared nothing for the money and triumphs; that the thought of leading the life of a fashionable beauty appalled her; that she had given her heart to her religion.

In this connection it will be recalled that her cousin, Katherine A. Drexel, the daughter of her father's brother, dedicated the whole of her fortune, $7,000,000 to church work, took the veil and became mother superior of the Order of the Blessed Sacrament, which she founded.

Miss Margaretta's most interesting coup, from a matchmaker's point of view, was the refusal of Prince Christopher, the youngest son of the king of Greece.

Had she consented to an alliance with this young prince it would have put the marriage of her cousin, Anita Stewart, completely in the shade, for among other things she would have become niece of the king and queen of England by marriage.

Her strong leaning toward a religious life was well known to her father, and she was known to be most deferential to the wishes of her parents, who were averse to their daughter marrying a man of such a high position.

Miss Drexel's beauty is of the patrician type. She has great limpid eyes of gray-blue, with long curling lashes, and a complexion of ivory white, just touched with the roses of youth. Two little dimples make their homes in her cheeks and there is a tiny red mouth like Cupid's bow. She has the broad, low brow that artists depict in their ideal of beauty, and her chestnut hair. She is tall and slender; her perfect figure makes her the admiration of everybody wherever she goes.

Miss Drexel is not of the butterfly type. She is devoted to music; she plays the cello with distinct feeling. She sings with a voice that has been well trained, though she has only the strength for the drawing room.

She has been taught by her brothers to talk a host of languages, and to swim. Were it not for her mother's wise interference she would have taken an aerial expedition with them. They made a balloon ascent some months ago, but Mrs. Drexel would not permit it.

Unique Marriage Settlement

Her father, Anthony J. Drexel, is said to have made a unique marriage settlement on his daughter. Sleeping with a million dollars in the hands of trustees for ten years, an arrangement which Viscount Maidstone is understood to have gladly accepted.

During the first year of her marriage to Viscount Maidstone her father will allow them an income of $10,000, and he will increase the annual allowance by $5,000 each succeeding year until it reaches $50,000.

But it is provided that Viscount Maidstone must prove to the satisfaction of the trustees that he is a man of good character and of high social position.

The conditions stand if the viscount's father, the earl of Winchelsea and Nottingham, survives 10 years. Should the viscount succeed to the earldom within that period Mr. Drexel will immediately largely increase his daughter's income to sustain the dignity of her position as countess of Winchelsea and Nottingham.

WINDSOR TABLET SALT

There is one man in the United States who has perhaps heard more women's secrets than any other man or woman in the country. These secrets are not secrets of guilt or shame, but the secrets of suffering, and they have been confided to Dr. V. Pierce in the hope and expectation of advice and help. That few of these women have been disappointed in their expectations is proved by the fact that ninety-eight per cent. of all women treated by Dr. Pierce have been absolutely and altogether cured. Such a record would be remarkable if the cases treated were numbered by hundreds only. But when that record applies to the treatment of more than half a million women, in a practice of over twenty years, just phenomenal, and entitles Dr. Pierce to the title of 'The Great Healer of Women,' as the first of specialists in the treatment of women's ailments.

Every sick woman may find relief by letter, absolutely without charge. All replies are mailed in plain envelopes, without any printing or advertising matter. Write without fear as usual, out free, to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

THE DREXEL-MAIDSTONE MARRIAGE

There is really more of romance about the wedding. The late Anthony J. Drexel was supposed to have left about $40,000,000, all in his absolute control. When Mr. Drexel died the fortune was divided among his six children. His will left each child in the neighborhood of $7,000,000, and every penny of this was left in trust. There was no way, there is still no way, for any one of the beneficiaries to touch the principal of their money. It does not seem much reasoning to show that it is impossible for Miss Margaretta Drexel to come from something over $1,000,000, as Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, who married Miss Bradley of Pittsburg, and Craig-Biddle, who married Miss Laura Whelan, sister of Mrs. Robert Goetz of New York. It is therefore a probability that the bride who stands exactly in the same relation to the trust money left by her grandfather as all these other young Drexel granddaughters, will have the same marriage settlement made on her that they have had.

The family entered the ranks of the peerage when William Finch was knighted by King Henry VII for distinguished services in more than one of the French wars. In 1828 the earldom of

At a meeting held in the Y. M. C. A. parlors yesterday afternoon a base ball league to be known as the St. John Public Schools Base Ball League was formed. It was decided that the first game of the league should be played on July 4, and that games should be played on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of each week. It is altogether likely that two games will be played on each of the above days. The games will all be played on the Weldon lot. The Y. M. C. St. Peter's and St. Joseph's.
This afternoon, on the Shamrock grounds, the St. Peter's and St. Joseph's will clash for the second time this season. The rivalry between these two teams is very keen and a good game is expected. There is a rumor afloat that the St. Peter's have secured a new twirler for the game. This, coupled with the fact that both teams present very strong line ups, should draw a large crowd. The last game between these two teams ended 1-0, in favor of St. Joseph's. The game will be called at 3 p. m. The line up presented is as follows:

Table with 2 columns: St. Peter's and St. Joseph's. Lists players and their positions: Catcher, Pitcher, Infielders, Outfielders, Batters.

Today's Game on Every Day Club Grounds
If the weather is fine, the Clippers and All-St. Johns will meet in battle royal on the Every Day Club grounds this afternoon, beginning at 3 o'clock. The teams will likely line up as follows:

15 VASSAR GIRLS SHOW FIANCES HIDDEN RINGS
Poughkeepsie, June 11.—Fifteen shy confessions were made by fifteen blushing Vassar seniors at the senior supper Thursday night, when, in accordance with Vassar's annual homage to Cupid, the graduates of the day produced their engagement rings and admit that they have concealed them almost—during the year. But one confession wasn't made—at least the name of Miss Hazel G. Hyman, of Denver, Colo., isn't down in the list of those who owned up. And Miss Hyman's story would have been the best of all, for she was married today in New York. And further, she is going away on a yacht called the Honey-moon, by her sentimental husband, Sigmond L. Adler, of New York.

During the early part of the evening members of the faculty and the honored members of the alumnae sat at the seniors' board. Upon their faces were smiles that had been masculine, would have been grins, for they knew what was coming. Promptly at 9 there was an end to guessing and all not members of the graduating class left North Hall. What followed in secret, but unless senior customs have changed since the banished alumnae were girls, there was a roll call, and each girl answered to the indictment and showed her telltale gold circles, if she had one.

Among the wearers of engagement rings were Miss Edith Traft, Miss Harriet Hanley, Miss Helen Landon, Miss Anna Kling, Miss Marguerite Jamieson, Miss Constance Ernest, Miss Josephine Gray, and Miss Helen Smith.
Miss Hyman, the girl who did not confess, was married by the Rev. Stephen S. Wise, at the home of the bridegroom's sister, Mrs. Edward D. Brown, No. 241 West One Hundred and Second street.

MORGANS DAUGHTER SAILS FOR EUROPE

New York, June 10.—Miss Anne Morgan, daughter of J. Pierpont Morgan, was among the passengers sailing on the North German Lloyd liner George Washington for England.
Miss Morgan is on her way to join Miss Elizabeth Moberly and Miss Ethel De Wolfe at their chateau near Versailles, as she does each summer. She will remain until September. The Moberly De Wolfe home is usually the centre of a group of artists and playwrights.

During these vacation stays Miss Moberly, who is a play broker, makes many contracts with French authors.
Every berth and cabin on the George Washington of the first and second class was taken. Miss Morgan's quarters were on the boat deck in a cabin that had been given up for the voyage by the first of tiers.

Others who sailed on the liner were E. H. Sothorn, John G. O'Keefe, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Putnam and Leopold Wormer. Mr. Sothorn said he would be abroad on theatrical business until fall. Next year, with Miss Moberly, he would produce "Macbeth." Last year Shakespearean plays were very successful.

REV. ARTHUR J. BROWN
Rev. Arthur J. Brown, S. H. L. Carroll and William Henry Grant, all of New Jersey, are now on their way to Edinburgh, Scotland, as delegates to the World's Missionary Conference. It is expected that missionaries from all over the world will attend the conference.

STERILIZED MILK WITHOUT HEAT
In France milk is now being sterilized with the use of violet rays, thus avoiding the use of heat or treatment by chemical antiseptics. It is taken several years to perfect this method, but now an apparatus has been made by which ultra violet rays, through quartz, sterilize one hundred and thirty-two gallons per hour. After much trouble the sterilizing of milk has been successfully accomplished, although its toughness was at first quite a difficulty.

A girl isn't necessarily an angel because she's shy.

News of Rexton

Rexton, N. B., June 10.—An interesting event took place in St. Louis on Tuesday morning in the Catholic church when Dr. Fred A. Richard of Moncton was married to Miss Elsie Richard, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Belonie Richard of St. Louis village. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Father Madan in the presence of a large number of friends. The bride looked pretty in a travelling suit of grey with hat to match. She was united with her groom by Rev. Father Madan. After the ceremony the bride and groom went to the home of the bride's parents where breakfast was partaken of. They then left for Richibucto, where they took the train en route to Moncton, and other cities. On their return they will reside in Moncton, where the doctor has a large practice.

On Monday morning an interesting wedding took place in Richibucto when Miss Eugenia Lezer, second daughter of Dr. Ernest Lezer, became the wife of John J. Patre of Bathurst. The ceremony took place in St. Aloysius church in the presence of a large number of friends and was performed by Rev. Father McLaughlin. The bride looked pretty in a travelling suit of blue broad cloth with hat to match. She was unattended. As the party entered the church, the wedding march was played by Mrs. J. B. Lezer. After the ceremony the young couple and a number of friends breakfasted at the home of the bride's father, after which they left on their wedding trip, before taking up their residence in Bathurst, where the groom is engaged in business. A merry party accompanied the couple to the station to wish them bon voyage.

In Laurinville on Tuesday morning Edward Richard died at the age of twenty-two years, after a few months' illness of consumption. He was the youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Palade Damas Richard and is survived by his parents, two sisters and a brother. The funeral was held on Thursday morning in Richibucto village, where Rev. Fr. Martineau celebrated requiem high mass.

Large quantities of gasometers are being caught up river and are being bought for Halifax market. The first lot of the season were brought in on Tuesday.

Samuel A. Johnson of New York and New London, a long-distance runner, completed a round-trip from New London to Hartford one day this week, his actual running time being 21 hours 44 minutes. Johnson finished in good condition, but tired. He figures that he covered 129 miles.

After Corkery.
The C. A. A. U. has asked the I. C. A. C. for an explanation of Jim Corkery's trip to Nova Scotia and his race with Fred Cameron. The I. C. A. C. secretary wrote saying that Corkery and Tim O'Rourke were paid their bare expenses from Toronto to Halifax for the first race, and that Corkery got a gold watch for second prize. The Bluesoes asked Corkery to stay over and run another race in view of the heavy expenses that had been incurred, and the Bluesoes agreed. For the second race Corkery got no prize at all. For the third race Corkery was paid his expenses, and his prize was a pair of gold cuff links. Corkery is willing to take an affidavit that he did not get a cent beyond legitimate expenses.

POLICE COURT TODAY

Three prisoners faced Judge Ritchie this morning in the police court on charges of drunkenness. The proceedings in connection with the charge being put were a little out of the ordinary for court sessions. This was due to the fact that there was no sheet sent upstairs, nor any book, containing the names of the prisoners.

His honor overcame this deficiency, however, by calling on each prisoner to step forward, give his name and state the prison for his arrest, which was vouched for by the court sergeant. Two were remanded until the police arrived to give evidence, and the third was also remanded for a time.

Hazen Campbell, remanded some days ago, was fined $4 on a charge of drunkenness, and $20 on a charge of assaulting a conductor of the street railway company. His Honor said that even though Campbell for the past seven years had a good record as remaining sober, the conductors and motormen must be protected, and his being in liquor did not excuse him. H. H. Fickett appeared for Campbell.

NO BILL FOUND AGAINST THE SARDINE MEN

Charged With Operating a Trust But After Hearing 25 Witnesses the Jury Throw the Case Out

Bangor, June 11—The June term of the United States district court is over and the grand jury failed to find any indictment in the sardine packing case, which commanded its attention for the greater part of the time. The sardine packing interests and the weir owners have been greatly interested in the charges preferred by the independent packers against the combine, that the latter was working in violation of the Sherman law, and this ending of the case, after the examination of a large number of witnesses came as a surprise to many, while perhaps the majority of those interested expected that no indictment would be found.

The grand jury examined more than twenty-five witnesses from the lower St. Croix river, chiefly weir owners of Lakes, Eastport, Campobello and Deer Isle, N. B., and Robbinston. This ends for the present at least the attempt of the independent packers to prove charges that the packing combine operates in restraint of trade.

FIRST WILD STRAWBERRIES; 30 CENTS ASKED

JUVENILE COURT HELD THIS MORNING

Boys Deny Damaging Christy McDade's Wagon—A Queen Square Report

A juvenile session was held in the police court before Judge Ritchie this morning, opening at 8.30 o'clock. The following young lads were before the court and pleaded not guilty to a charge of damaging a wagon owned by Christy McDade in Marsh road: Harold Nottell, George and Harry Mitchell, Leo Jones, Stanley Madge, Roy Peacock and James Gassey. Some of the boys admitted having been in the shipyard where the offence is alleged to have taken place, on Sunday last, but denied having destroyed the wagon.

His honor told them that they must observe the Sabbath, and spoke firmly but kindly to them regarding their conduct at all times. He then let them go.

George Haines, an older boy, reported by Policeman Lucas for walking on the grass and destroying trees in Queen Square, was also allowed to go, with a fine standing against him. His honor advised him to have as much respect for the squares and the city's property as he would for his own.
