Bituminous Miners Are Offered Record High Wage

RECOGNITION OF UNION, HOWEVER, IS DEMANDED BY 10,000 OF THEM

40,000 Men Affected in Counties Known Before Strike as a Non-Union District—Many of Miners Now Organized—Increase Ranges From 36 to 58 per cent.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 23.—Forty thousand bituminous miners in Westmorland and Fayette counties today had before them an offer of increased wages equal to the highest the mining industry has ever paid.

In these two counties, generally known as the non-union field before the call of the miners strike, many of the men are now organized and the public today awaited developments from the heart of the bituminous region.

Union leaders representing seventy-five locals controlling more than 10,000 miners voted unanimously to pass up the average increase of nearly $2.50 a day until recognition of the union was accorded by the independent companies making the offer.

Mine operators today were prepared for a rush of returning miners and extra deputies were on hand to prevent disorders.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 23.—The scale committee of the Pittsburg Coal Producers Association today ordered the 1920-22 scale posted at all mines owned and operated by its members, but declined to yield to the demands of the U. M. W. that the check off provision of the scale be enforced. About 45,000 union miners are affected.

Peace Conference Sits Again This Afternoon—Railway Strikebreakers Leave Area—Solicitor General Arrives—Expect Today Premier's Reply re Withdrawal of Troops.

(Canadian Press Staff Correspondent.) Sydney, N. S., Aug. 23.—The 1921 rates of wages, a two-year contract, and the reinstatement of all employees of the company who may have been discharged for refusing to take the places of strikers in the entry in the workmen and the conference this afternoon will go ahead without him.

Official reports from the coal fields say that all was quiet during the night in Cape Breton South. Four Chased Out. Four railway strike-breakers followed warnings of the miners to leave town.

Twenty-one months ago they were hood men employed by the Cape Breton Steel Company in their railway yards went on strike for standard rates of pay and working conditions. They are still out, and, until recently, non-union men have been running the locomotives in the Scotia yards.

When the present general strike broke out, these non-union railway men went into hiding, and some of them were found lying in swamps and other out-of-the-way refuges.

Last night, four Quebec men who have been running engines in the Scotia yards were located in a hiding place and told to leave town. They took the night train for Quebec.

Hon. D. D. McKendzie, solicitor-general, arrived in North Sydney this morning, and it is reported he will use his utmost influence to effect a settlement of the coal strike.

PROGRESS MADE IN THE WESTERN COAL TROUBLE

Possibility of Settlement at a Meeting Held Today.

Matter of Retroactive Pay is Cleared Away—Miners Agree to 12 1/2 Per Cent Reduction Until U. S. Scale is Fixed.

(By Canadian Press)

Calgary, Aug. 23.—Progress was made yesterday toward a settlement of the strike of coal miners in District No. 18, U. M. W. of America. The miners opened proceedings by offering to accept a twenty per cent reduction pending a settlement across the line, when the United States scale should be adopted.

The retroactive pay should be two months. The difference between this offer and that rejected by the operators on Saturday was the limit placed to the retroactive pay.

The operators without much ceremony decided against it. They objected to the principle of retroactive pay. After some consideration the miners returned offering to accept 12 1/2 per cent reduction which should be superceded by an agreement reached by the miners and operators in the United States without any retroactive pay whatever.

The operators wanted an agreement for two years whereas the miners asked for a contract until March 31 next. However, the operators are considering the latter proposal and a further conference will be held today.

As Hiram Sees It

"Well, sir," said Mr. Hiram Hornbeam to the Times reporter, "Bill Perkins, out to the Settlement, says a boss has more sense than a man — 'an' that he'd rather hev a billy boss than an otombel." "You intrigue me," said the reporter. "What says Bill's horses being doing?" "He only has one," said Hiram, "but money he has plenty of. Bill says he went out to cut a field of grass the other day an' 'an' the mowin' machine round it once when the boss balked. He talked, an' coaxed, an' used the whip, an' 'is Cain gen'ally — but that boss wouldn't budge till he took him off the machine, an' finished the job. That night it rained, an' the next day — an' fer three days hand-runnin' you couldn't dry a thing. Bill says he'd cut all that there hay he'd a been ruined — fer he'd never got it cured. If you ast him to sell that boss an' 'an' the mowin' machine round it once when the boss balked, he'd say that grass — an' he'd use a pitchfork on any man that said it wasn't — 'er, sir."

PARTING WORDS OF CANADIAN STATESMEN

Hon. W. S. Fielding and E. Lapointe Refer to French Treaty—Other Passengers on Empress of Scotland.

(Canadian Press)

Quebec, Aug. 23.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, and Hon. E. Lapointe, minister of marine and fisheries, left yesterday on the Canadian Pacific steamer Empress of Scotland to attend the meeting of the League of Nations at Geneva.

Previous to his departure Mr. Lapointe was entertained by Hon. Philippe Paré.

Before the steamer left Mr. Fielding said: "I am going to Cherbourg, Paris and to Geneva. My business is chiefly commercial, as I intend to negotiate the French treaty."

The two important matters to be looked after by my colleagues and myself will be, with Hon. P. C. Larkin, Canadian high commissioner, first, and then the conference, which will open on the fourth of September at Geneva for the discussion of the French-Canadian treaty. The latter is certainly of great interest to Canada. It is my intention to take time to encourage trade between the two countries and our efforts will be directed in that direction. As far as the Geneva conference is concerned it will likely last till the end of September and the beginning of October.

"After the close of the conference I intend visiting several European countries in the interest of Canada and will likely go to England for some time."

Other passengers who sailed were: Lady Ames, Lady Kennedy, Lady Holt, Montreal; Sir R. Buxton Chadwick, M. P., London, England; Mr. D. and Mrs. E. B. Banks, Vancouver; A. Bort, F. C. Crompton, Mrs. Ida Crompton and Miss Louise Crompton, Toronto; R. Ferguson, Winnipeg; Mrs. G. A. A. King, Hamilton; J. A. Russell, Ottawa; several distinguished people from the Orient and Australia and goodly number of cables from San Francisco, Chicago, Omaha and other points in the Western United States.

TRANSATLANTIC CABLE SERVICE

Lines Touching West Ireland Likely to be Out of Service for Some Time—Service to Canada Not Delayed.

(Canadian Press)

London, Aug. 23.—(Canadian Press)—There has been no alteration in the cable service since the Irish irregulars delivered a coup and captured the Commercial Cable station at Valentia, and the Western Union station at Valencia, on the southwest coast of Ireland. Apart from the imperial cable service only four cables between the British Isles and America are working, namely, three Western Union wires from Penzance on the Cornwall coast and one commercial line from Weston.

The cables touching West Ireland are still cut and are likely to remain so for some time.

The imperial cable authorities state that owing to the discontinuation of the deferred service to the United States they are able to give service to Canada without delay.

Service has not yet been continued from the Clifden wireless station, which was wrecked by the irregulars last week.

Peking, Aug. 23.—The republican cabinet announced today that President Li Yuan-Hung is willing to resign in favor of Sun Yat Sen, deposed head of the South China government, provided parliament approves such action.

Railway Operators At Variance on Matter Of Shop Strike Settlement

Western Men are Willing to Make Concessions, Easterners Oppose.

Latter Ready to Stand by Pledges to Stand by Men Who Refused to Strike—A Sinister Omen in Steel Men's Raise—Less Trouble on Southern Lines.

New York, Aug. 23.—Efforts of the Big Five brotherhoods, acting as mediators in the shopmen's strike, to succeed where others failed, will be put to the test today when heads of 148 roads, meeting at the Yale Club, will vote whether to accept the brotherhoods' peace proposals, or decline their good offices in favor of a "fight to the finish." Heads of the western lines express a willingness to make any practical concession to reach a settlement. Opposing this attitude, and with forces more completely mastered, were the heads of the powerful eastern lines. Their roads are in excellent condition, their shops are well manned, they are easy to the largest labor markets, and they maintain they are ready to back their pledges to "stand by the loyal men who refused to strike and the new men whom we hired on the seniority list."

THE STEEL INCREASE

The granting of a twenty per cent increase to about 300,000 steel corporation employees was looked upon this morning as a sinister omen for the "die hard" element. It came, twenty-four hours before this session, it was declared, as the ultimate argument of the powerful banking interests, who invest on both steel and railroads, and who for weeks are known to have urged the rail executives to capitulate.

Trouble Clearing

Chicago, Aug. 23.—As railroad executives gathered in New York today to consider peace proposals by the heads of the transportation brotherhoods, acting as mediators, in the shopmen's strike, trouble on the Southern Railway, principal sufferer, soon had a goodly number of strikers during the past few days began to clear away.

Explosive bombs kept the rail strike fever at a high stage in some of the United States rail centres, however. A tremendous explosion early today in the Chicago and Alton roundhouse at Venice, Ill., shook buildings within a radius of three miles, and police were rushed to the scene when further violence was threatened.

Bombs were hurled at the homes of Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe employees at San Bernardino, Calif.

Reward Increased. Michigan Central officials increased their reward for the arrest of plotters accused of causing the Gary, Ind., wreck, Sunday, to $5,000. The original reward was $1,000.

Little Rock, Ark., police failed to locate a Missouri Pacific shop employee who was reported to have been kidnapped and severely beaten Monday night.

Switchmen in the Nashville, Chattanooga and St. Louis yards at Paducah, Ky., refused to go to work because of an alleged attack on one of their number by a railroad guard.

Service Restored. Train service was restored on the Southern Railway following the removal of most of the troops which had been on guard in the Spencer and Salisbury, N. C., and Princeton, Ind., yards.

The guard was reduced in a compromise with trainmen who walked out when soldiers were sent to quell disturbances.

Shoe Factories Enter. New York, Aug. 23.—Four shoe factories entered into the rail strike situation yesterday any one of which may vitally influence the association of railway executives when it meets today to consider peace proposals. Principal among these is the announcement by three big American steel corporations employing nearly 300,000 workmen to grant a 20 per cent wage increase for all day laborers in their manufacturing plants.

PLEADS FOR AN INDEPENDENT BODY

Head of the Quebec Section, However, Would Have Canadian Labor Bodies Cooperate with Those in U. S.—Angus McDonald for a Workers' Party.

Montreal, Aug. 23.—(Canadian Press)—That there exists a wide difference of opinion as to the manner in which labor is to participate in political action was made evident on the occasion of a public meeting of the Quebec section of the Labor Party, here last night, "to consider the present unrest among wage earners."

A. Lanette, president of the Quebec section, pleaded for the development of a thoroughly Canadian organization in labor independent of, but co-operating with, the organizations centered in the United States.

Angus McDonald, M. P., for Temiskaming, spoke of conditions among the miners on Nova Scotia, declaring that living conditions there were deplorable and he characterized the British Empire Steel Corporation as the incarnation of capitalism. He said he was for a workers party.

FAVOR EXCLUSION OF ALL ORIENTALS

Trades and Labor Congress on Immigration Matters.

Land Settlement Scheme for Resident Canadians Urged—Want also Council of Immigration—A. F. L. Delegate Discusses U. S. Labor Troubles.

(By Canadian Press)

Montreal, Aug. 23.—Total exclusion of Oriental immigration to Canada was unanimously endorsed by the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress today in the formulation of its immigration policy.

Repeal of bill 63 and amendments to bill 62 (1919) to restore the right of British citizens, now liable to arbitrary deportation, is also urged.

A Dominion advisory council of immigration formed along the lines of the Employment Service Council of Canada, is also recommended.

The following recommendations were passed: 1. Placing among prohibited classes all labor hired to replace strikers for those hired without the sanction of the Employment Service of Canada.

2. Opposition to all bonuses or grants to private agencies. 3. Request the British government for closer supervision of immigration, advertising and control of booking agencies.

4. In order to relieve congestion in industrial centres, land settlement and colonization schemes should be made available to citizens and others already located in Canada.

5. Medical examination of immigrants to take place so far as possible at port of embarkation.

6. Legislation to prevent hiring of labor outside of Canada by private employers. The last mentioned clause is aimed to prevent the importation of strike breakers to Canada.

The U. S. Strikers. The most brazen conspiracies ever recorded in the United States are levelled against the union movement. W. E. Hulbeck, fraternal delegate from the American Federation of Labor, declared in his fraternal greeting from American labor.

Hulbeck recapitulated the history of the miners' dispute with the operators to show that the operators were guilty of having precipitated the strike by their refusal to negotiate with the unions.

Still another problem was aggravating the strikers plight. German coal was being brought from France to America and further supplies were being received from England.

These supplies weakened the effect of the American strike. This situation emphasized the need of a closer and more effective international labor organization.

Touching briefly on the American railwaymen's strike, he claimed it was evidence of labor's solidarity while organized labor was entirely surrounded with difficulties, it was nevertheless keeping its ranks tight and making good progress.

For Political Body. In an appeal to organized labor to retain its allegiance to the International Trades union movement, Hulbeck said the failure to do so would only mean a further split in the ranks of the workers and a victory for capital.

A promise of the definite entry of American organized labor movement into the political field as a distinct party was embodied in his parting message. Labor is right to decent wages and conditions had been wrested from them by political action. Consequently the only means to regain these conditions was to fight on the political field.

Believed Him Marked Man. The grief over the death of Arthur Griffith was accompanied by a warm expression of admiration and affection for Collins, whose three hour march through the streets of Dublin behind the body of his colleague was one of the most impressive incidents in Irish history, because everybody believed that Collins himself had been marked for death.

This sinister fear seemed to pervade the very atmosphere of the capital. The general terrorism and uncertainty had led to the atmosphere of London, which with dire apprehension for the future of the country. If Collins had any premonition of his fate he showed it, and he walked calmly forward, a handsome, heroic figure, boyish and confident.

WILL BE BURIED ALONGSIDE HIS DEAD COLLEAGUE

"Ireland," the newspaper adds, "will mourn the loss of a dead son and gallant leader, and pray that the calamity may bring the less desperate of those who opposed his policy to a sober realization of the terrible nature of the course into which they have been seduced."

Griffith's Funeral. London, Aug. 22.—The assassination of Michael Collins was preceded in Dublin by a kind of battle of propaganda, both the provisional government and representatives of its regular army postulating which set forth their respective aims and claims.

Travelers reaching London after attending the funeral of Arthur Griffith say they found curious crowds assembled about these posters. One manifesto charged that the provisional government had secretly dispatched an emissary to the south to assassinate Eamon De Valera. Side by side with this was another placard in big letters, an ironical interpretation of a manifesto which the emissary of the Free State imagined as being sent out by Collins and the members of his staff. It was worded something like this:

"Men of Ireland, your king and country call you. You who have fought so bravely for the cause of the empire in Egypt, India and elsewhere are now needed again for the defence of the empire."

Another and longer poster, apparently placed by governmental officers, dealt in detail with the destruction caused by the irregulars throughout Ireland. It argued that the irregular movement was destroying every reasonable hope for Ireland's prosperity and happiness and appealed to the citizens generally to stand solidly behind the provisional government.

Believed Him Marked Man. The grief over the death of Arthur Griffith was accompanied by a warm expression of admiration and affection for Collins, whose three hour march through the streets of Dublin behind the body of his colleague was one of the most impressive incidents in Irish history, because everybody believed that Collins himself had been marked for death.

This sinister fear seemed to pervade the very atmosphere of the capital. The general terrorism and uncertainty had led to the atmosphere of London, which with dire apprehension for the future of the country. If Collins had any premonition of his fate he showed it, and he walked calmly forward, a handsome, heroic figure, boyish and confident.

At the pro-Cathedral, where the funeral for Griffith was held, the commander in chief personally took charge of all arrangements.

His Expected Wages. At the funeral everybody was talking about Collins, now that he was left alone as the great, outstanding figure in the Free State movement.

All the girls of Ireland are in love with Michael Collins, whispered an Irish woman as Collins, following the funeral, walked slowly through O'Connell street by the famous Nelson pillar. "But they are too late, I fear, because I have heard he has a sweetheart down in Ireland, and one of these days when Ireland is more tranquil, Michael Collins will lead her to the altar."

(It was announced last May that Miss Kitty Kierman, member of a leading family in Londonderry, was to have married the Free State leader.)

Lloyd George's Regrets. London, Aug. 22.—Premier Lloyd George today sent the following message to William T. Cosgrave, acting chairman of the Irish provisional government: "I deeply regret to hear of the death of the commander-in-chief of the Free State army. In his death the Free State has lost a fearless soldier, a leader of great energy and devotion, and a man of remarkable personal charm. Please convey to the members of your government my profound sympathy with them in their loss of one of Ireland's brilliant leaders at a moment when Ireland most needed his special qualities of courage and resolution."

GIANTS PLOUGH STEADILY AHEAD

New Four Games Ahead of St. Louis—The Yanks Slip Back to Half Game Lead—Yesterday's Games.

New York, Aug. 22.—Headed pennantward while their St. Louis and Chicago rivals faltered, the Giants today are four games ahead of St. Louis and a half ahead of the Cubs, despite the fact that they have been invading the enemy's own strongholds.

Behind McQuillan's masterly pitching the Giants rode roughshod over Cincinnati and their star pitcher, Johnny Coach, in the first game of the series with the Reds, 7 to 3.

The St. Louis Cardinals were idle, but Chicago dropped a close contest to the Dodgers, 5 to 4, chiefly due to Vance's effective pitching.

Joe Bush's winning streak was stopped and Griffith stood solidly for the treaty, and they leave no outstanding figure behind them. Uster will sympathize with the Free State in its trials and tragedies, which are directly due to Irishmen themselves. FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

Lesson No. 85

METHODS OF COUPLING CIRCUITS.

There are numerous ways in which the antenna circuit may be coupled to the detector circuit in radio receiving systems, each way having advantages peculiar to itself and desirable for a certain purpose.

In figure 1 is shown the popular form of loose coupler circuit which employs "magnetic" coupling in the form of inductive coupling where coil "P" is the primary winding and coil "S" is the secondary winding. The coupling between the two coils is readily adjusted by varying the position of the secondary coil with respect to the primary coil, either by rotating it so as to cause the magnetic fields of the two coils to oppose each other or by sliding the secondary out of the field of the primary.

In figure 2, a form of magnetic coupling known as "conductive" coupling is shown. This type of coupling is employed in most two and three slide tuning coil circuits. It will be observed that only one winding is required for conductive coupling the portion of the turns from "1" to "2" are included in the detector circuit.

Figure 3 represents the very popular single circuit receiver, which, as the name implies, consists of a single circuit and therefore has no coupling system. It is really the equivalent of the usual form of secondary and detector circuit found on most loose couplers, the capacity of the antenna and ground condenser, which is in shunt to the coil.

Figure 4 shows diagrammatically, an entirely different form of coupling from any so far discussed and a type which is seen most with in amateur sets but is still quite common in commercial equipment. The coupling between the antenna circuit and the detector circuit is achieved by means of condensers.

The loose coupler or other device employing inductive coupling probably represents the most flexible arrangement of receiving circuits, permitting easy adjustment of the two circuits individually by means of switches or sliders and mutually by means of the coupling between the circuits.

The extent of the rapid growth of radio in Canada may be judged in some degree by figures given out by the Dominion for the month of June. For this period there were issued by the Dominion a total of 9,680 receiving licenses, a fee of one dollar being charged for each receiving license.

The postmaster of Windsor, Ont., issued 468 licenses for the month, thus being the highest, while Toronto held second place with a total of 460.

Some of our cities, like those in Canada, are establishing departments which supervise the installation of receiving sets and collect a fee for this inspection.

DEVIL-DEVIL DANCE
CAUGHT BY CAMERA

Gordon MacCreagh, Back From the Amazon, Describes Indian Torture Ceremony.

New York, Aug. 22.—Returning on the steamship Polycarp from South America, where for eighteen months he has been a member of the Mulford Biological Expedition...

While three young wild cats played about and a macaw, gorgeously bedecked in many hues, shifted lastly from one foot to another, Mr. MacCreagh, in his studio related the story of the Caapi which he witnessed on the Tiqui River among the Indians who were conquered by the Incas on the Waupes...

The Caapi takes its name from the drink which is used in the dance, said Mr. MacCreagh. "The drink is made from a vine which is cut down and boiled. It is a thin drink and tastes like any drink made of green things. The Caapi ceremonial, which we thought was extinct, was found to be in full swing in the sections we visited."

The dance lasts two or three days. The Indians appear in full regalia with many feathers and ornaments and after the first day those men who choose to go through the ceremony remain behind.

Early in the second afternoon, the chief offers the caapi bowl to those who have elected to take part in the dance. The dancers slip from the bowl and this continues until dusk when the women are ordered to the barracks in which forty or fifty families live together. The chimneys of the building are covered and guards are posted to prevent the women from observing the dance, for it means death to the women who see it.

The dancers then settle down to a serious mood and at dusk each dancer takes a reed pipe which makes a sound like an owl. Then they begin the long rhythmic dance. They take three steps up and down and stamp at the last step while each man toots his reed pipe.

Suddenly you hear the Devil-Devil in the distance. The Devil-Devil, as far as we could learn, is the only supernatural belief of the Indians in this region. It is the evil spirit called Jampary. The Jampary blows his horn with a penetrating sound. You cannot place it; all you know is that it comes nearer and nearer until suddenly you notice four or six men you have not seen before. They are the Jampary men and carry long bows. One of these is the devil in disguise. Before coming to the dance the Jampary men have gone through a secret ceremony which I was not able to observe, and during that ceremony the devil is supposed to have entered one of them.

One of the dancers, braver perhaps than the rest, then taps one of the Jampary men on the shoulder. The dancer continues tooting his instrument, raising his arms as high as possible, and the Jampary man utters a long wail which he swings with all the force he can command. The lash whistles through the air and descends on the shoulders and body of the dancer who tapped him on the shoulder. The whip raises terrible wails on the dancer's body. It he flinches or winces, it means that the Devil-Devil will get him some day in the woods and that his life will be worth a head. If he does not flinch it is his turn, and he gets the whip, and the lash is then laid hard on the body of the Devil-Devil man. So it goes and each man must feel the whip on his body, while the Jampary men have to go through the terrible ordeal many times, for there are generally thirty or forty dancers in the ceremony. The dancers are proud of their scars.

The natives indulge in the dance when they feel the need of propitiating the evil spirit, when there is a failure of crops, or when they believe the evil spirit is abroad.

Mr. MacCreagh was taken ill while on the expedition and had to travel five weeks to get a doctor. He lived for three weeks on four cans of condensed milk until he reached a rubber trader who gave him six cans which had been on a shelf for eight years. Despite its antiquity the milk was good, he said. MacCreagh brought back with him some of the caapi, which he sent to Dr. Russell for analysis. He also brought other data and material which will take him some time to prepare in the way of a report.

FIRST PHONE GIRL HAD UP-HILL WORK
Early Test of Bell's Invention at Baltimore Charity Bazaar Not Great Success.

New York, Aug. 22.—The problems of the first Bell telephone girl were just as perplexing as those of the silver-voiced operator today, according to Mrs. W. J. Coyle of Floral Park, Long Island, who had charge of Alexander Graham Bell's invention long before the time that the speaking public had learned to say "hello."

"It was back in the early eighties," said Mrs. Coyle. "My husband and I were living in Baltimore and I was engaged with a number of Baltimore women in devising ways to make money for the benefit of the orphans of the city. Among other things we planned a charity bazaar to be held in the Old Masonic Temple on Charles street."

"A few days before the bazaar opened, while I was busy myself with the arrangement of the booths, Edward Herman, an editor of the Baltimore Evening News, came up to me, bringing with him a square-shouldered, fine-looking gentleman, whom he introduced as Mr. Alexander Graham Bell. Mr. Bell, he said, had invented an instrument which they both thought would be of interest to the public and to the bazaar. It was a means of some one in a distant part of the city could hear what one of us would say in the Masonic Temple. The plan was to place one of the boxes which he showed me, and which closely resembled a coffee grinder, in a booth at the bazaar and another connected to it by a wire in Barnum's Hotel, several blocks away."

"For the sum of ten cents a patron of the bazaar could talk to me through a hotel or a guest of the hotel could ring the Masonic Temple and contribute his dime to the fund. All the proceeds were to go to the orphans. But Mr. Bell was particularly anxious that the public see the possibilities involved in his invention. He took the matter up with other women and after much discussion it was decided that we should make a place in the bazaar for the 'toy' as it was called. There was much opposition to this decision. One of the women condemned it as a proposition to 'hoodwink' the people out of their money and said she did not see how the bazaar could prosper while such things were carried on."

Mr. Bell called often during the two weeks of the bazaar. He was very much worried because the people did not seem to grasp the significance of his idea. In general the telephone did not prove a very attractive lure for the spenders at the bazaar. Our total receipts from its operation for the two weeks were only $10.10. Mr. Bell was quite disappointed, but did not let the failure to arouse public interest by this first introduction dishearten him."

LONGEVITY GROWING IN GREAT BRITAIN
London, Aug. 23.—People are living longer today than in the past, said Sir Kingsley Wood, M. P., of the health ministry, at a recent meeting of the Faculty of Insurance at Leeds. There are at the present time in England and Wales 600,000 persons over seventy years of age, and 60,000 persons over eighty-five years of age. In 1920, 265,000 deaths occurred in the case of persons under the age of forty-five, or forty-four per cent. of the total number of deaths. The chief causes of the present high mortality rate are bronchitis, pneumonia, tuberculosis and diseases of the nervous system. Cancer also stands high in the list.

LLOYD GEORGE SHOWS SIGNS OF IMMENSE STRAIN

Looking Forward Eagerly to Parliamentary Vacation.

Control of Air Force Subject of Debate in Lords—Voyage of Quest a Failure—Gossipy Notes From World's Biggest City.

(From Our Own Correspondent.) London, Aug. 23.—People who watch him closely in the House of Commons are remarking on the note of weariness which distinguishes both the speeches and the movements of the prime minister on the rather rare occasions when he comes down to the Treasury bench for a debate. His friends, however, make no secret of the fact that in these days Mr. Lloyd George is a very tired man. Physically he has never been very strong, and he is one of those men who depend almost entirely on their nervous energy to keep them going. Certainly there is no man in the House of Commons who is looking forward so greedily to Mr. Lloyd George's coming parliamentary vacation. For a long time his labors have been enormous, and few men could have withstood them as he has done. It is sheer will power which enables him to carry on, coupled with a happy faculty of being able to snatch an hour or two's sleep at almost any odd moment. On a long motoring run out into the country he will talk with amazing vivacity to his friends or to his private secretary. Then, almost without warning, his head drops forward, and he slumbers soundly for perhaps a couple of hours. Mr. Lloyd George lacks Mr. Asquith's gift of putting worries behind him, and he lacks something of his old chief's powers of intense concentration. But what he loses in this respect he gains by this happy power of seeking recuperation in a sound sleep sometimes in the middle of the day.

Big Politics. Heaven preserve me from venturing very far upon the thorny controversial fields of the Canadian cattle embargo. The rights and wrongs of that very complicated question are affairs best left to the experts. But for the grand emergency of the war, when so many pledges were given that have since come home to roost embarrassingly, probably the embargo would never have been removed in our time. And the fight over it is even now not concluded. There remains an amount of opportunity for obstruction by those hostile to the project. One fact, however, may be noted. Never before have such strenuous and organized efforts been exerted to secure parliamentary action in a purely business matter. Some remarkable stories are told in London of the extent to which the successful agitation has been financed and the large sums which have been handed over at various stages of the campaign, which started, of course, with the famous bye-election at which the present minister for agriculture was defeated, to everybody's amazement, on what seemed an absurd side issue. This invasion by big commercial trusts of our domestic political arena is a thing and a matter that will certainly require attentive watching. In the recent instance it may be an excellent thing; in others it might be quite the reverse.

Trouble in The Air. The recent debate in the House of Lords on the Air has by no means simplified the situation. The Admiralty seems to be more determined than ever to secure the return of the control of such air forces as may be used in conjunction with the navy, and the talk is now too prevalent to be ignored, so that it may be stated Lord Beatty is prepared to resign if necessary to enforce the Admiralty view. The sympathetic but unprejudiced observer cannot help thinking that in the excitement of the controversy both sides are losing their perspective. One appreciates the alarm of the Admiralty over its powerlessness as regards air defence or offence. But one appreciates also the deliberate and actual policy which, as the result of actual war experience, set up a separate air ministry. But is a compromise not possible? I think you will find that the views of both Admiralty and air ministry may, and will be, met by economy in the navy, so that the navy's auxiliary air force will be under the control of the Admiralty but officered by the Air Ministry.

The Expedition of The Quest. Members of the ship's company of the Quest are beginning to dribble back to England. The story they have to tell of this, the last of Sir Ernest Shackleton's expeditions, must be somewhat depressing to the promoters. In a sentence the voyage of the Quest may be put down as a failure from the point of view of scientific or commercial results. For this, of course, Frank Wild, the present commander, who took it over after the tragic death of Sir Ernest, is in no way responsible. Now that his great chief has gone, Wild is the greatest among our living explorers of the cold regions, a man of resource and indomitable courage. The fault dates from the very beginning. The vessel was unsuited, and the ship's company may not have fitted, and, above all, the purpose of the cruise seems to have been too vague for others than Sir Ernest himself to follow. It is now betraying no secret to say that when the expedition started last year official circles regarded it more or less as a joy ride, but Sir Ernest Shackleton had done so much for exploration that this excursion, which was to carry him to his death, could not be withstood, and official facilities were granted in all ways possible, although the hopes of tangible results were practically nonexistent.

Cruise of The Hood. Having agreed, after pressure, to send the battle-cruiser Hood and Repulse to represent this country at the centenary of Brazilian independence in September, the government will now allow these vessels to visit Trinidad, Grenada, Barbados, Dominica, and other British possessions in the West Indies. Their appearance will be welcome to the local authorities, the more so as the Hood reductions in the seagoing fleet rarely allow of such visits nowadays. At the Rio Assembly, Great Britain will, as on former occasions of a similar kind, have the distinction of being represented by the largest vessel, for the "Hood," with a displacement of 41,200 tons, has no rival in any navy, and probably never will have one that the West Coast Conference has fixed a tonnage limit of 36,000. The largest of the three American battleships present will be the "Maryland," of 36,000 tons. Japan is, however, sending three armored cruisers of old types, the "Idzumi," "Iwate" and "Asama."

PRINCESS MARY WELCOMED TO HER YORKSHIRE HOME

When Princess Mary and Lord Lascelles arrived at Harwood, recently, they were welcomed by villagers and tenants. Some of the younger villagers dragged their motor from the gates of Harwood Park to the house. The photo shows an employee of Harwood House reading an address of welcome to the Princess and Lord Lascelles.

A Word From Samoa. Anyone who turns up the remarkable dedication to "The Dynamiter," the New Arabian Nights sequel, in which R. L. Stevenson and Fanny Vann de Graft Stevenson collaborated, and to the dedication of which both set their names, must be struck by a note of modern application. "Horror is due to ourselves, in that we have so long coquetted with political crime; not seriously weighing, not acutely following it from cause to consequence; but with a generous unbounded heat of sentiment, like the schoolboy with the penny tale, applauding what was spacious. When it touched ourselves (truly in a vile shape) we proved false to these imaginations; discovered in play that crime was no less cruel and no less ugly under sounding names; and recoiled from our false deities. Whoever be in the right in this great and confused war of politics; whatever elements of greed, whatever traits of the bully, dishonor both parties in this inhuman contest, your side, your part, is at least pure of doubt." This last reference is to the police, to whose courage and devotion, "so common in their ranks, so little recognized, and so meagrely rewarded," R. L. S. and his wife, writing in the heat of events about April of 1885, bear high tribute. Reading that dedication today, when so many of the echoes of thirty-two years ago seem alive with modern reality, one judges that the Die Harids would have had a staunch recruit in the exile of Samoa.

Using the Courts. Mr. Justice Astbury has done good service in calling attention to the growing practice of using the law courts as a vehicle for advertisement. The manner in which the courts are exploited for publicity purposes by theatrical managers, actors and actresses, and even by bookishness of the enterprising kind, becoming something of a public scandal. The method generally employed is that of seeking an injunction against somebody or something, though occasionally the more cumbersome machinery of the laws of libel or contract is set in motion. This sort of thing is apt to bring the courts into disrepute if it is not checked. The actress who loses her jewels nowadays finds it increasingly difficult to persuade the cynical editors of newspapers to give very much prominence to her tragic troubles, but if it is necessary to cast about for some more ingenious method of attracting public attention and getting oneself talked about, it is eminently desirable, in the public interest, that the courts of justice, at least, should not be utilized for that purpose.

The Votes. It makes not the slightest difference, either to the artist or the public, whether a film star drops his aspirates or has a Cockney accent. But the person who announces the broadcast telephone items for wireless circulation, though he may be as hideous as Nero, must possess a voice like Orpheus, and if possible the best Oxford accent. The other night I spent an hour listening-in to the Marconi House broadcast concert. The vocal and instrumental items were excellent enough in their way, and sufficiently audible and articulate. But what captured my admiration was the rich, resonant, haunting voice of the unknown, invisible operator at Marconi House, ten miles away from my aerial, who acted as chairman to an immense circle of invisible, unknown audience. He fascinated the senses with his mellow, easy "Hello! hello! Marconi House speaking! The next item," etc. I felt that it would be nice to know him, to have him sitting next one at dinner, talking in that beautiful rich voice, so deep, so surely modulated, so cultured. Thousands of Londoners who have gone in for a wireless set would recognize him though they have never set eyes on him, and know not what manner of man he really is, if they merely chanced to overhear him ordering a cup of coffee in an A. B. C. "Hello! hello! Marconi House speaking!" I feel that I know him quite well.

The Admirable Crichton. I observe from notices of forthcoming books that the butler of a certain member of parliament has turned author in his spare time. That is nothing, have in mind a footman in one of the royal palaces whose duty it is occasionally to attend on the king, and who, in his spare time, is a cinema actor. The producer casts him for roles of gentlemen of refined comportment and savori fare!

"Come Unto These Yellow Sands." Every summer towards the end of the London season the fashionable Smart Set plays its little roguish game of hide-and-seek. Between the last West End dance and the first shooting party on the moors, Society likes to slip across to some quiet little French seaside place, which speedily becomes recognized as extremely chic, and the proper place to go. But the clever and frivolous folks who compose Society's Smart Set are always dodging from one place to another, so as to frustrate the bores, frumps and climbers, and keep themselves and their revels strictly to themselves—and a few enterprising press photographers. There must be some bitter tragedies when aspiring social forces, anxious to keep ever in the swim, turn up at the wrong bathing place, regardless of expense and inconvenience, only to discover they are behind the tide of genuine fashion.

This year the really "dinky" spot is understood to be Pourville-Sur-Mer, a little bathing place not far from Dieppe, and quite without any special attractions of its own, apart from the brilliant London batteries who have made it their temporary headquarters. Next year Mr. and Mrs. Nevich and family will faithfully make the pilgrimage to Pourville-Sur-Mer, and find it as void of interest from the social point of view as any nice English beach. The word will have passed round amongst the Smart Set that some other undiscovered cove is 'it.' Amongst the present holiday-makers Pourville is not very famous, but London Society beauties—Lady Diana Manners and Miss Gladys Cooper—both of whom may be seen any morning scurrying around in bathing suits.

A Co-operative Theatre. A new short lease of the Aldwych Theatre has occasioned the postponement of an interesting experiment which was to have been managed there. The big wave of unemployment in theatrical circles, coupled, no doubt, with the success of the "Co-optimists" at the Palace, suggested to Mr. Donald Cathrop a "co-operative" theatre, where drama would be produced. The scheme immediately "caught" the attention of several well-known stage personalities warmly took it up; scenic artists and others with experience joined in and it was hoped to be opened at the Aldwych at the end of July. The experiment, it was understood, is being undertaken mainly for economic reasons. Nevertheless the active participation of some of the most distinguished members of the profession must react upon it from the artistic point of view. Judging by their plans, the promoters of the scheme are determined that in helping themselves they will benefit the English stage artistically. They propose to devote themselves to old English comedies and Shakespeare. I hear that five such plays are in the running for the honor of opening the experiment, among them "Twelfth Night" and "The Shoos to Conquer." The postponement is not likely to be long.

FAIR YOUNG HIKERS ARE HELD BY POLICE

Belleville, Ont., Aug. 23.—Hiking, which has been quite a fad this summer, received a rude jolt on Saturday, when two young girls from Toronto, who were hiking through, were arrested by the Belleville police for selling raffle tickets for a piano in Toronto. The fair ones were allowed out on bail. It is alleged that the girls had canvassed factories and on the streets for buyers of tickets.

CURFEW IS RINGING FOR WINDSOR CHILDREN

Windsor, Ont., Aug. 23.—Chief of Police Thompson on Saturday gave orders to enforce the old curfew law which prohibits children sixteen years and under being on the streets after nine o'clock at night. Police officials were instructed to stop all offenders, take their names and summon them before a magistrate if seen on the streets after that hour. The old law was invoked following an appeal by the Children's Aid Society.

WORLD MEETING ON INTERNATIONAL LAW AT BUENOS AIRES

Buenos Aires, Aug. 22.—The international law conference will open here on Thursday, and all the leading countries of the world will participate. The British professor, Hugh H. Bellot, will head the British delegation. Dr. Walter Simon, former foreign minister, heads the German delegation, and the United States is represented by Arthur K. Kahn. Many topics of prime importance will be discussed, including the League of Nations. Some of the delegates deplored the action of the United States in not joining the league and advocated the sending of invitations to Germany and Russia to become members, as the league would be of no service without all countries in it. The conference will endeavor to secure prohibition of poison gas and the bombing of civilians by aircraft in time of war, and establish an international criminal court to try offenders. It will also consider the question of stolen Russian national securities, the national status of women and maritime law.

MAINE CENTRAL TRYING GASOLINE DRIVEN CAR

Portland, Aug. 23.—The Maine Central Railroad Company is conducting a series of experiments with a new type of gasoline driven combination passenger and baggage car such as has been successfully used on several western roads.

BAKER'S COCOA is a most satisfying drink. Delicious flavor and aroma, beautifully attractive color, purity high quality;—the distinguishing characteristics of high-grade cocoa,—"Baker's." The heads of the naval and military medical departments in England have been so impressed with the wholesomeness and superior nutriment of cocoa, that they have judiciously directed that it shall be served out twice or thrice a week to regiments of the line, and daily to the seamen on board H. M. ships. Medical men unquestionably admit that cocoa is nutritious. "Commercial products of the vegetable kingdom." MADE IN CANADA BY WALTER BAKER & CO. LIMITED CANADIAN MILLS AT MONTREAL

Dominion Tires cost less per tire and less per mile. When it comes to mileage, that's where DOMINION TIRES excel. When you can have their established reputation, their supreme quality, the easy riding, the extra comfort—AND the lowest mileage cost, it does seem poor economy to buy tires of no reputation, whose only recommendation is a cheap price. You can buy DOMINION TIRES—the GOOD tires—at these prices: Dominion U-Tread $12.00, Dominion Grooved Tread $13.50, Dominion Nobby Tread $15.00 $27.70 $39.50 $50.00, Dominion Royal Cord $18.50 $37.30 $50.50 $63.00. DOMINION TIRES are the Canadian standard for mileage, service and economy. They have proved their quality and workmanship on every road. They stand up under every condition of climate and weather, from coast to coast. They give the most miles per dollar and the most comfort per mile. Leading dealers, from coast to coast, sell Dominion Tires at above prices.

U. S. EXPORT TRADE LESS FAVORABLE

Surplus of Exports Over Imports own $80,000,000 from June.

Washington, Aug. 23—A reduction of more than $9,000,000 in the nation's favorable trade balance during July as compared with a year ago will help the international exchange situation, the Commerce Department declared in a statement making public the results of the country's foreign trade for the month.

Substantially increased gold imports, but slightly decreased commodity exports, the department stated, characterized the foreign trade of the country for July as compared with June.

The decided reduction in the favorable trade balance from $147,000,000 a year ago to $84,000,000 for July, the department declared to be a "healthy sign, pointing to a gradual return to more normal relations between our exports and imports, which is bound to have a beneficial effect on the international exchange situation."

Commodity exports for July aggregated $306,000,000 against $384,000,000 in June and $325,000,000 in July, 1921, while imports totalled $220,000,000 against $260,000,000 in June and $178,000,000 for July a year ago.

(Montreal Gazette.) The United States foreign trade figures for July show one influence that is at work on the foreign exchange market. A decline of $10,000,000 in exports as compared with the preceding month, while imports decreased only $9,000,000, left the export surplus at the lowest figure, excepting only last February of any month since the early autumn of 1914. The decrease in exports is more readily understood than the decrease of imports. During a congressional debate on a bill for drastic increase of the tariff, import of merchandise traditionally increased.

WHITE WAY FOR THE EXHIBITION IS AGREED TO

The suggestion from the Retail Merchants' Association in regard to a "white way" to the exhibition grounds during Exhibition Week was favorably acted on at yesterday afternoon's session of the common council, when Commissioner Thornton's motion that he be granted authority to proceed with this work was carried unanimously.

Commissioner Frink brought up the matter of the reconstruction of the C. P. R. overhead bridge in Chesley street, and it was decided to petition the board of railway commissioners to have the railway company delay commencement of the work until a hearing was held.

Mayor McLellan's motion that all civic employees who had been paid on August 20 and had not paid their taxes before August 10 be granted a rebate equal to the discount rate, was carried after little discussion and explanation by the city chamberlain.

Committee Report
The report of the committee of the whole was adopted without discussion. The report related to payment of county tax bills; to the offer regarding a lot in King street west; and to the petition regarding placing of a light near Box 118.

Discount Rebate

Mayor McLellan then brought up the matter of a rebate for those civic employees paid on August 20. No allowance for the discount rate had been made for them and it seemed only fair to him that they should be allowed this privilege in view of the uncertainty in the matter. He moved that a rebate of 5 per cent interest be granted to all civic employees who had paid their taxes since August 10.

Commissioner Thornton remarked that there was a considerable stir in the various departments in regard to the matter and a great many were blaming the mayor for the order.

The city chamberlain, Duncan G. Lingley, was called in and explained matters satisfactorily. The mayor, he contended, had nothing whatever to do with the mixup. The mayor's motion then carried.

Wood Cutting Report

The mayor then read a brief report in regard to the wood cutting operations at Musquash. He read from a report dated May 25 last and this set out the following information: taken, 45 1/2 cords; now at the siding, 47 cords; at Musquash, 388 1/2 cords; shipped, 138 cords; used, 88 cords; total cut, 500 cords. He felt the council should secure some description of the quantity and quality down there now, and said he would have a report ready by the first of next week.

A request for hearing in regard to 1922 assessment was received from Geo. E. Holder, Jr. He will be notified when to appear.

The Engineering Institute of Canada wrote in regard to a new journal on municipal affairs that the company will be getting out soon. The letter contained extracts of the first issue dealing with Welsh anthracite coal. It said that the coal was used extensively by the British navy during the war and had given satisfactory service. The mayor remarked that his information was that fifty per cent of this kind of coal arriving here was slag. The letter was received and placed on the table for further consideration at a later date.

Overhead in Chesley Street

Reporting on the matter of the overhead in Chesley street, Commissioner Frink said that the C. P. R. were not contemplating any lengthening of the spans of the overhead and consequently there could be no widening of the street. He felt that some effort should be made toward this end and moved that a petition be sent the board of railway commissioners for a hearing in this matter before the work was commenced by the C. P. R. This carried. Mayor McLellan remarked that as it was not now work, the commission would be powerless to order any widening.

Lighting to Exhibition

Commissioner Thornton submitted a report from the city electrician in regard to lighting to the exhibition grounds, as suggested by the Retail Merchants' Association. The report showed that it could be done at a cost of $438.58. Commissioner Thornton declared that the exhibition authorities were willing to cooperate to the extent of setting aside $200 for the work. The route planned will be along Charlotte street, commencing at Princess; thence to the Queen square and across the square diagonally to Sydney street; down Sydney street to the exhibition entrance.

WAS INSTRUCTOR IN WIRELESS

ST. ROSE'S PICNIC WAS BIG SUCCESS

Fine weather favored the annual Sunday school picnic of St. Rose's church, Fairville, which was held yesterday afternoon on the church grounds in Fairville. Mrs. F. X. Morris and Mrs. Charles Dalton were the general convenors and they were assisted by about twenty-five young women of the parish. The grounds and St. Rose's hall, in which supper was served were tastefully decorated and nothing was left undone to make the affair a success. The different games were handled in an efficient way by the young men of Fairville and they were well patronized by the picnickers.

It's Wonderful for Bread

Maybe that hill is not there, after all—

VERY often the hill we seem to be climbing, after the middle years, is made out of the common mistakes of diet which starve tissues and nerves and slow down energies with faulty nutrition and stored up food poisons.

How smooth and level the path seemed to be when we were young.

Simple, natural food may level that hill to a smooth path again.

Suppose you try it!

Begin today with a dish of Grape-Nuts with cream or milk (fresh or preserved fruit, too, if you like) for breakfast or lunch. Keep up this crisp, delicious, strengthening food in place of heavy, ill-assorted, starchy breakfasts and lunches—and see if the old-time zest and speed on the old-time level path doesn't come back again.

St. Peter's Defeat Travellers.

The receipts go to the aid of the new health centre, and it is estimated that there will be about $1,000 for the fund. St. Mary's band was there, and rendered a fine programme of music. A radio broadcasting station added several airs to the programme. St. Peter's had their regular line-up, and played well. Scott's sterling held down left garden for the visitors, and brought in their only run. The game was played in the fast time of one hour and twelve minutes.

POUR 1,000 GALLONS OF RYE INTO GUTTER

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 23.—Thirty hundreds stood about the streets at North Carolina and Mediterranean avenues and watched detectives pour 1,400 gallons of rye whiskey into the gutter.

The contraband liquor, together with an elaborate and expensive still capable of producing 10 gallons of whiskey a day, was seized in a raid at 1206 Mediterranean avenue, where Charles Phillips, a negro, the alleged proprietor, was arrested. He was held under $1,000 bail and will be arraigned before judge William H. Smathers.

The seizure is said to be the largest of its kind in the State, made either by federal or local officials. According to the detectives, saloons and other places in the city have been supplied with whiskey from this source for months past.

The handsome trophies which are to be competed for in the Renforth regatta on Saturday have been arranged in a striking window display in the store of Manchester Robertson Allison, Limited, in King street and were attracting much attention yesterday. The window is commemorative of the fifty-first anniversary of the victory of the Paris crew over the English crew captained by Renforth, which anniversary is observed today.

In the place of honor on an easel is a large color portrait of Wallace Ross, of St. John, singles champion. In the front is a panoramic view of the Renforth regatta last year when the fiftieth anniversary was celebrated, and at one side a particularly interesting exhibit is a print of the photograph of Renforth which was published in England after his tragic death in the race against the Paris crew, copies of which were extensively distributed as a memorial in England.

The trophies which are shown in the window include the splendid Ross Memorial Cup, given by L. R. Ross, the brother of Wallace Ross, which is valued at $1,600 and is the largest, most costly and artistic trophy of its kind in the Dominion.

The Ross trophy is for the best single sculler, under twenty-one years of age and the winner each year receives a small silver copy of the large trophy, but the large trophy remains in the care of the city officials.

The Fulton Memorial Cup, commemorative of the captain of the Paris crew is in the centre of the window. This is a beautiful silver cup with graceful lines and having a host and scull in front. It is for the four-oared seniors race

He pleaded not guilty. Policeman Corner, who made the report, said that yesterday afternoon the accused, driving car 8248, came up Prince Edward street and turned into Union at between twelve and fifteen miles an hour. A fine of $10 was imposed and allowed to stand.

The following letter, which requires no explanation, has been forwarded to Dr. F. R. Taylor, K. C., solicitor for the New Brunswick Power Co. by the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission: August 22, 1922. F. R. Taylor, K. C., St. John, N. B.: Dear Sir,—I am informed by the premier that, owing to the possible shortage of fuel due to the acute condition that has arisen, the New Brunswick Electric Power Commission may be requested to give consideration to a proposal for the supplying of electrical energy from the Musquash development to the New Brunswick Power Company. I have to inform you that the commission is already in receipt of an application from the council of the City of St. John requesting that the commission reserve and supply for the use of the City of St. John electrical power and energy a minimum of ten million and a maximum of fifteen million kilowatt hours per annum, and that a contract is already in the hands of the council awaiting completion. Any proposal, therefore, that you have to make to meet the situation I would suggest you submit to the common council.

Yours truly, THE NEW BRUNSWICK ELECTRIC POWER COMPANY. Per E. A. Smith, Chairman. The city council has still more to move to close the contract for the Musquash current.

HEARING BEGUN IN ARSON CASE

Witness Tells of Fire Which Destroyed House in Black River Road—Defence Denies Charge.

Hearing was begun in the county court this morning in the matter of the charge of arson against Mrs. Alice F. Fitzpatrick whose house in the Black River road was destroyed by fire last December. She was yesterday in a sense the complainant in a case in which she charged a man with shooting at her with intent to do grievous bodily harm today she was the occupant of the dock. The defence began about noon and adjournment was made until 2:30 p.m. One of the witnesses said that when the blaze was discovered before the house was destroyed. The defendant had been seen during the day making frequent trips from the house to the neighboring woods, apparently carrying something each time covered by her person. The building was insured for $1,500, but owing to what appeared as suspicious circumstances no settlement of the loss was made. An investigation was held by H. H. McAdian, fire marshal. W. M. Ryan appeared for the prosecuting and H. S. Keith for the defendant. The defence is a denial of the charge and a plea that the origin of the fire was unknown and accidental.
