The Authorities Claim to be in Daily Receipt of Important Information.

Pat Quinlan, the Janitor of the Death Trap, Evidently an Accomplice.

Hamilton, Ont., July 26.—Mr. McLean, one of the proprietors of the St. Nicholas, is almost positive that Holmes, Hatch and a woman, possibly Miss Williams, stayed at his hotel last September.

Philadelphia, July 26.—District Attorney Graham has decisively announced that H. H. Holmes will be tried in this city for the murder of Benjamin F. Pictzel in the Callow Hill street house.

Chicago, Ill., July 26.—More proof was found to-day that Julia A. Conner is dead, and that she was made away with by H. H. Holmes. It was determined that she disappeared before June 9th, 1892.

Chicago, July 26.—George W. Harris, alias B. Z. Ziegler, is in custody of the detective agency under suspicion of being a confederate of H. H. Holmes in his insurance swindles.

Chicago, July 26.—William Cappe, of the firm of Cappe & Cantex, of Fort Worth, Texas, is in Chicago in the interests of the heirs of the Williams sisters.

Chicago, July 26.—Thomas Freeman, agent for the Chicago Demonstrators' Association, said last night that in his opinion the "bodies" found in Holmes' castle in Englewood are those of persons made away with on the premises.

Chicago, July 26.—Pat Quinlan, janitor in Holmes' castle, is in serious danger. He carried 37 keys which opened various doors, secret and otherwise, in the chambers of Holmes' castle.

aid the detectives in tracing his career. Little Rock, Ark., July 27.—It was discovered at Fort Worth, Tex., a few days ago that the Arkansas penitentiary holds a formal pad of H. H. Holmes, the alleged murderer of Pictzel and others, and that he is in possession of valuable information.

Philadelphia, Pa., July 26.—Lawyer Wm. A. Shoemaker, who represents H. H. Holmes, made a suggestion yesterday: "Did it ever occur to you," he asked an Associated Press reporter, "that Minnie Williams, who was murdered by Theodore Durrant in San Francisco last April, was about the same age as Minnie Williams of this case, that she was not known in that city and had no relatives?

Regarding the confession it is rumored that Holmes is likely to make, Lawyer Shoemaker said: "The public mind had better be disabused of the idea that Holmes will make a confession. He has told all he has to tell and has nothing more to confess. He feels confident that he cannot be convicted of murder and just as confident that when the time comes it will be proved that the bodies found were used in insurance schemes only.

Chicago, Ill., July 27.—The workmen at Swigler Holmes' morgue yesterday dug up a piece of bone and Dr. Robinson says it is part of human anatomy. The bone is so small that the searchers at first did not attach much significance to it.

Chicago, Ill., July 27.—A mass of human hair, clothed with blood, was found to-day in the search of insurance swindler Holmes' basement. A number of bones were also found to-day.

THE BRITISH ELECTIONS.

Defeat of Thirteen Candidates Who Supported the Anti Gambling Agitation.

Sir George Newnes Falls in Newmarket—Conservatives Are Still Winning.

London, July 27.—The special feature of to-day's polling was the defeat of Sir George Newnes in the Newmarket division of Cambridgeshire, by Hugh McCalmont, Conservative. The victory of Mr. Hugh McCalmont, the well known sportsman and one of the owners of the Yalkyre, and the ousting of Sir George Newnes by such a strong majority, is a great victory for the turfites.

When the general elections began a sporting league was formed against the candidates who supported the anti-gambling agitation with the result that through their efforts they have been able to defeat thirteen anti-gamblers namely: Naoroli, Cony-beare, Aclaren, Dillon, Paull, Macdonald, Barrow, Bayley, Kier Hardie, Morton, Major Jones, Sir John Barran and Sir George Newnes.

At 6:15 this evening the following were the number of members of parliament elected by the different parties: Conservatives, 340; Unionists, 370; Total government, 410; Liberals, 173; McCarthys, 68; Parnellites, 12; Labor, 2.

THE CHURCH MURDERS.

Barrett Acknowledges the Crimes and Tells His Story.

Santa Cruz, Cal., July 25.—The man who surrendered himself to the sheriff here and claims to be the murderer of Blanche Lamont and Minnie Williams, gives his name as W. F. Barrett. He tells the following story:

Barrett went to the sheriff's office and said he did not want to see Durrant hanged for crimes of which he is innocent. He said he knew he would be found guilty and that he intended to surrender himself. District Attorney Lindsay was summoned and to him Barrett told a straight story.

MRS. CORBETT'S DIVORCE.

The Weekly Times

Victoria, Friday, August 2. CABINET REPRESENTATION.

The News-Advertiser—faithful organ—takes the government view that British Columbia is not unjustly treated in the matter of cabinet representation, which it supports by arguments that run aside from the facts. It says at one point: "While every resident of British Columbia would, of course, be pleased to see a representative of the province in the Dominion cabinet, there are not a few who would be opposed to the adoption of a rule which required that every province should have at least one representative in the cabinet." Again it argues—or rather lectures—in the following strain: "While British Columbia may seem at the present moment to be prejudiced by the system which has hitherto prevailed, we think any change in the direction suggested would not be found to give satisfactory results. In the selection of men for cabinet positions, the same rule which applies without much variation in professional and commercial pursuits will be found to apply—there is always room on the top rungs of the ladder for those whose capacity marks them out from their fellows. And this is one great reason why we should be sorry to see any system introduced which would interfere in any manner with the country being free to secure the services of her most gifted sons who had a seat in parliament." Then, as a sort of "finisher": "It would, we consider, be a disaster to the country were the territorial distribution of cabinet offices adopted. Of course provinces which have a very large proportion of the members in parliament must necessarily secure large representation in the cabinet if their representatives are on a par—as regards ability—with those from the other provinces. But to require provincial representation would, in the case of the smaller provinces, simply result in a crop of candidates whose wealth or personal ambition would be the chief recommendation for a seat in the cabinet."

One very important fact which the News-Advertiser chooses to ignore is that the system which it deprecates has already been adopted as regards all parts of the country except British Columbia. No impartial man can look at the cabinet and say honestly that the "territorial distribution of offices" is not already in force everywhere to the east of the Rockies. It is a notorious fact that Mr. Daly was taken into the cabinet because he represented a Manitoba district and not because of his personal fitness. Senator Ferguson was made a cabinet minister without portfolio simply and solely to give Prince Edward Island representation. If any one of the four provinces, Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia and New Brunswick, were represented in parliament by a brainless band of noodles, still at least one of those noodles would be found a seat in the cabinet on the "territorial" principle. This "territorial" rule has already been adopted; if it is the wrong one, as the Advertiser contends, our contemporary should demand its abandonment; if, on the other hand, it is right, British Columbia is most unjustly treated in being left out in its operation. We suppose the News-Advertiser is aware of the inference which its arguments imply, that all the British Columbia representatives are inferior in point of ability to all the present cabinet members. That estimate is not very flattering, coming from a professed friend. If it is to be taken as correct, then the sooner British Columbia sets about improving the character of its representation the better.

NOT "GREATLY DISSATISFIED."

The Ottawa correspondent of the organ has discovered that the Liberal press "are greatly dissatisfied" because Archbishop Langevin has denied in an interview the accuracy of a Montreal newspaper's report, which was to the effect that his policy on the Manitoba school question would not permit of any compromise. Like master like man. The correspondent is but imitating the partisan foolishness of the organ itself. The Liberal press would be untrue to its history and to the principles of Liberalism were it to advocate a policy of intolerance and bigotry, or take pleasure in witnessing the division of the people of Canada into two religious factions. Archbishop Langevin's admission, and Mr. Martin's letter, read together, suggest the possibility of a rapprochement which may, possibly, lead to a mutually satisfactory settlement without the interference of the Bowell government. Seeing that the Liberal press have always opposed federal interference in purely provincial affairs, they cannot, as a body, oppose the views or efforts of those who seek to avert another attack on provincial autonomy. The school question at present is the fight of the Dominion government, but it may become the duty of the Liberal party to settle it.

Anything, therefore, that will tend to narrow the breach can not "greatly dissatisfy" the Liberal press, for it is clear that when they are charged after the general election with administering the affairs of the country they will not want the difficulties which have been created by the present government, augmented to such an extent that a settlement on lines acceptable to both sides will be impossible. The Ottawa correspondent in question will more surely preserve a reputation for impartiality and accuracy by leaving to his editor the preparation of partisan political pabulum of this kind. Besides the latter is an adept at this work.

Now that the Victoria members have returned to Victoria, the name of Col. Prior is not likely to appear daily in the Ottawa correspondence of the Colonist. During the session the Col. has been a perennial text for a puff, to the entire exclusion of his colleagues, Mr. Earle, Judging from the Colonist, Col. Prior was the only Victoria member in Ottawa, or at least he was the only one worth mentioning by "our correspondent." There was, we suppose, some reason for booming the Col. and ignoring Mr. Earle, but it may not be the duty of an oppositionist to inquire too closely into the matter. Both gentlemen are now here in the flesh, and the senior member will be able to convince his constituents that he was in Ottawa, the Colonist to the contrary notwithstanding.

A rumor has started from Conservative sources that Chief Justice Meredith of Ontario will leave the bench and re-enter politics as successor to Sir Mackenzie Bowell in the premiership and the Conservative leadership. The most interesting feature of this rumor is the confession it implies, that neither Sir Mackenzie Bowell nor any of the men who now serve under him is fit for the first position in the party and the government. To use a sporting phrase, it is felt that none of them are "up to cup form." No doubt that feeling is very general, but it does not seem at all likely to result in Chief Justice Meredith making the suggested change.

ON THE NORTHERN RIVERS

The Salmon Run Improves on the Skeena and Very Good at Other Places.

W. A. Robertson Discovers an Eighteen Foot Seam of Coal—Other News.

Captain Meyer, of the steamer Danube, which arrived from the north yesterday, reports that the run of salmon in the northern rivers is very good. It has improved since the beginning of the season on the Skeena river, and a long run is expected. At all other places where there are canneries the runs are good. For the following summary of the pack the Times is indebted to Capt. Meyer: July 20th, Naas River catfish, 5,500 cases; Mill Bay, 3,700; Inverness, 6,000; North Pacific, 7,000; July 23rd, Balmoral, 7,000; E. A. P. Company, 9,500; Cunningham, 5,500; July 24th, Carlisle, 6,500; Claxton, 6,500; Standard, 6,000; Lowe's Inlet, 6,000; July 26th, Namu, 2,000; Wannock, 10,000; River's Inlet cannery, 26,000; Good Hope, 16,000, and Alert Bay, 3,500; a total of 126,700. Fishing will continue for some time yet.

The Skidegate Oil Company have put up 25,000 gallons of oil and are still fishing.

W. A. Robertson, who has been prospecting on Queen Charlotte Island, has discovered another seam of coal. It is eighteen feet thick and is said to be of very good quality. Queen Charlotte Island, when developed, promises to equal Vancouver Island as far as coal is concerned. A number of samples taken from the seam were brought down. Four families of Norwegians, belonging to the Bella Coola colony, came down on the Danube and are returning east. Most of them are old people, who did not think it advisable to start in at their time in life to make a new home in the heavy timbered country that they found at Bella Coola.

Mrs. Nash, whose husband fell from the deck of the City of Topeka and was drowned, secured a searching party and is making a search along the coast for his body. As the currents run towards the shores of the island, there is every probability of the body being found.

THIRSTY NEW YORK.

Strong Efforts Made by the Police to Enforce the Law.

New York, July 29.—The World to-day says: "This great metropolis more nearly resembled the Sahara yesterday than ever before in its history. The police department made a prodigious effort to enforce the excise law. Never before were so many policemen out of uniform employed to watch the side doors of the saloons. An attempt was made to interfere with clubs, but into only one did a policeman gain an entrance. Special Officer Fraser reached the buffet and ordered a cocktail. When it was found that he was not a member he was not served. To the honest, respectable man who goes to the saloon occasionally to drink his beer; to the man who spends a large part of his time in those places, and who calls the keeper by his first name, places were open. For the man who had plenty of money and who is not compelled to consider pennies and dollars, there was all the drink he could swallow. Saloon keepers sold to every man they knew personally. Hard working men, who feel beer a necessity, but who have not the honor of the saloon keeper's acquaintance, were turned away.

GRANITE CREEK MINES.

The Stevenson, Campbell-Johnson and Captain Scott Propositions.

"Wanderer," writing in the Kamloops Sentinel, says: Granite City, barring the presence of several cabins, is a city by virtue of the palmy days of old, and not present attainments. Years ago, when the C. P. R. was about through, the creek was struck and thousands poured in. There were lively times for a year or two, a dozen hotels, and several stores, and log cabins and shanties of all kinds without number, and lots of gold. But the rich placer workings played out and things fell flat; only one or two who had secured specially good claims staying on. Now things bid fair to see a return of the old prosperity, if not on the old lines and of the old magnitude, still of respectable proportion. But that will be in the future—what is being done now is preparing the way. A big outfit is at work, or more correctly a big proposition is owned by a syndicate, which is now getting things into shape. Bob Stevenson, one of the promoters of the company, is the president and also manager of the works. The benches are staked out for a mile or two along the creek, and are said to contain rich pay—not of course rich in ordinary individual handling but rich for hydraulic working. In fact there are big stretches of benches on different creeks that have been taken up, and time doubtless, if all goes well, will see their development. There are a few men working on the Tulamee, two or three miles lower down (Mr. Thomas, manager) in the interests of Mr. Hogg, the secretary of the same loan and trust company which engineered the Stevenson outfit.

Work on the Stevenson claim is progressing. There has been delay in the getting in of piping for the hydraulic and the machinery for the saw mill. But the saw mill, N. Barwick, sawyer, has now started running, and turned out some two thousand feet at the first run, although it has a much larger capacity if there was sufficient water. Water now getting low, but Mr. Stevenson anticipates being able to complete the requirements, getting lumber sawn, flume built, and a wash-up for some weeks before shutting down. This will demonstrate approximately the value of the benches in their present operation. There is a considerable amount of fluming to the place of the intake of the water and a great amount of work in grading and fixing generally. As to the prospects it is only necessary to say that everybody believes there is a good thing in it, if not a big thing, and perhaps it may turn out better and bigger than expected. There are not many men working at present, and probably not many will be required, even when getting full blast, until other sections of land are operated on. Then it is likely Granite camp may look up again and be a thriving little place.

There is another outfit, called the Campbell-Johnson, which is working some seven miles up the creek the fore part of the year, running a tunnel with a view to reaching bedrock. After doing considerable work and running a tunnel some hundreds of feet, the operation was suspended for the present, pending further instructions from the company. Mr. Campbell-Johnson has been away on the company's business to England, and only returned recently, and it is likely work will be resumed either this fall or next spring. There is also work in prospect by the same company on a neighboring creek. Mr. Lambert is the working manager.

On the Similkameen work is well forward, lumber for fluming almost complete, done with whip-saw more of it, but sometimes the unforeseen happens, but if anything in the way of a rustle will do it, it will be done. There is a saw mill now on the ground and it only needs a little patience and we shall hear what is going to be the result of the mining here. Some of the men have been paid off, their services ceased to be required; and at first there were, all told, some 40 men in the camp. This staff will be further reduced when the flume is running, until next year when fresh ground is dealt with. And here it may be said that the benches for miles have been taken up by the company, or by individual members. Prospecting and experimenting have been done, and if everything goes right next year, it seems likely that in this section of country there will be a rather lively hum. But still, do not let it be supposed that it will mean anything big, as ordinarily understood, in the way of crowds of men. Crowds of men are not required in hydraulic mining. But if the yellow stuff is found, that will set things going all round, in Similkameen, in Granite, in Nicola and everywhere, and that is what some people, after their own fashion, are praying for.

There is another smaller outfit working on the same stream, two or three miles below, and quite a number of individual prospects in and around the vicinity. But it looks as if whatever was the cost in other days when a man could get gold by the handful out of a shoveful of gravel, with a rocker, now they can not much show for anybody except on hydraulic lines. The workable gravel has been played out—now is the day of the benches and monitors, and piping, and a big head of water, with money to work it, and a moneyed syndicate at the back.

At the annual meeting of the following council was chosen: Victoria—Lieut.-Col. E. G. Prior, M. P., Lieut.-Col. R. W. H. Dorman, Major B. Williams, Major F. B. Gregory, Lieut. J. D. Taylor, Capt. M. G. Blanchard and Dr. Geo. H. Duncan.

Saturday's league baseball game between Vancouver and the Amities was as fine an exhibition of ball as anyone could desire. It was an ideal spectators' game, the play being clean and sharp, and every inning being marked by the kind of work that a crowd likes to see. Donovan was in splendid form, pitching very carefully and keeping his head at critical stages. Holmes, the Vancouver short-stop, made some brilliant stops and catches, and Balkvill, the center-felder, took in a drive from Smith's bat after a long run. The Vancouver infield showed up well in team work and the entire nine gave evidences that they will have to be reckoned with in future games.

Sec'd had lots to do, and did it well. Jackson's one-handed catch of a foul was of the phenomenal order. The ball had been driven high in the air and was apparently beyond reach, as it seemed to be dropping directly over the grand stand. Jackson, however, was sprinting at a break-neck pace. There were shouts from the grand stand of "you can't get it." Jackson kept on though and just as he reached the fence he made a desperate clutch at it, and to every one's wonderment succeeded in holding it. It took the people a few minutes to realize what had been done, and then they cheered long and lustily. Duck's catching in left field was also a feature. The Amities did not hit Donovan safely, though they found the ball every time. Donovan, too, kept the hits well scattered. Partridge played well at first. The Amities say that they were well treated by the Vancouver audience. The Vancouver team is also to be commended for the resolute way in which they suppressed all coaching. The absence of coaching and the quiet, gentlemanly way in which the game was played will do much to revive interest in baseball. The score follows:

Table with 3 columns: Team and Score. Includes Scott, Gowen, Duck, etc.

Struck out by Franklin, 2; struck out by Donovan, 3; 3 base hit, Simpson, home runs, Craig and Scott; wild pitches, Amities, 1; Franklin, 1.

The game played on Saturday between the Clippers and Fernwoods has been protested, and the game will be played on the 17th and play a match with the Tacoma team. The Tacoma team will play on that day, but will postpone if the Amities will go over. The invitation will in all probability be accepted.

Saturday's Post-Intelligencer has the following on the match between Foulkes and Pelly in Olympic tennis tourney: The great match of the day of course, was the one between Pelly and Foulkes, which Pelly won by 6-4, 4-4, 7-5. In the first two sets, while the men were fresh, it was the best tennis ever seen in Seattle. Both men had great speed and showed judgment in going to the net and taking advantage of chances. Foulkes' placing of the balls with his backhand stroke was wonderful. Time and again he put his ball on the line at the back of the court, while Pelly's service and overhead drive were terrific. The most striking feature of his play, however, was his lobbing, which was high and remarkably accurate, generally coming just inside the back line, and which won the match for him. Both players deserve all the praise that was given them. Pelly made a most plucky fight, for he was tired in the fourth set, and Foulkes at one time had only a point to make to win this set, and so have a good chance in the fifth set, as he was comparatively fresh. The fatal point was lost when the ball struck on some loose earth and failed to bound, the score being 5-4 and 30-40 in Foulkes' favor. Foulkes had been laid up for over a month with a sprained ankle, and he was also troubled with a tennis elbow, so that nothing but his sportsmanship brought him down for the tournament. He took his defeat with the best of grace, saying he was particularly fond of the game and was in point of form, unless it was that extra court play was too frequent, and was tremendously exciting. The crowd, which was the largest yet seen at the courts, went wild over some of the plays, wherein the players came close to the net and the ball was driven back the fourth faster than the eye could follow. It is a return, seemingly absolutely inevitable.

The battalion team was badly beaten on Saturday by the Albions. The soldiers went to bat first and scored but six runs, while the Albions made an even hundred. In the second innings the battalion team made but 54, to which R. C. Trimen contributed 15.

gatta at Molesey-on-Thames on Saturday. H. T. Blackstaff of the Vestas Rowing Club defeated E. A. Thompson of the Argonaut Rowing Club of Toronto by two feet after an exciting and splendid race. At the start Thompson caught the water first and secured a slight lead over his adversary. He maintained the advantage until entering the last furlong, when he had steering on the Canadian's part enabled Blackstaff to pull even and eventually pass to the front. The finish at Molesey was a severe one, and but for Thompson's erratic steering his chances of winning were excellent. The distance of two feet which measured Thompson's defeat is exactly the same by which the Argonauts lost the senior fours at Henley.

Aldermen Refuse to Fix the Rock Crusher Up Before the Contractors Get It.

Some of Them Criticise Contractors - Special Meeting to Settle the Matter.

The council refused last night to repair the rock crusher or furnish an engine with it before handing it over to the water works contractors.

The council refused last night to repair the rock crusher or furnish an engine with it before handing it over to the water works contractors.

Ald. Humphrey believed that if the contractors got the rock crusher at all they should get it just as it was.

Ald. Macmillan characterized the letter as a piece of brass conch in polite language.

Ald. Cameron believed that the contractors could force the city to put the crusher in workable shape.

Ald. MacLellan wanted to know who placed the clause in the specifications.

Ald. Macmillan moved, seconded by Ald. Wilson, that the crusher be turned over to the contractors just as it was.

Ald. Cameron believed the contractors took a little risk as to the condition of the crusher when they tendered, and that the council could not be expected to fix it up.

Ald. Partridge advised going very slowly. He believed they were legally required to furnish the contractors with a complete machine.

Ald. Macmillan seconded the amendment. Ald. Macmillan opposed that idea.

The amendment was lost. Ald. Brasz, Partridge and MacLellan alone supported it in division.

A GREAT PROJECT RECALLED

The Telegraph Line Through British Columbia, Alaska and Siberia.

Enormous Cost of the Work Done - Abandoned When Cable Was Laid.

A dispatch was published several weeks ago to the effect that the Canadian Pacific Telegraph Company contemplated reoccupying the old telegraph line running through the Cariboo country, and under construction thirty years ago.

More recently another dispatch stated that the Western Union proposed rebuilding the abandoned line to connect with Sitka, Juneau and the Yukon.

There were several ships and schooners in the fleet, employed, and all were engaged in the same business.

It will be recalled that the telegraph line was extended over 900 miles north-east of Westminster into the heart of an unexplored country.

The company made just as extensive preparations on Behring sea, in northern Alaska and in Siberia.

The history of the building of these lines and the commencement of a work that would encircle the world by wire will always be read with interest.

As an illustration of the great loss suffered, it is sufficient to mention that on this extension of this old time telegraph line the cost of transportation of materials and supplies of all kinds equalled $1 a pound.

It was this great venture that afforded George Kennan, the noted lecturer and magazine writer, information and material which have since made him wealthy and famous.

Among the other prominent men on this expedition were Ed. Conway, Geo. Frost, George W. Maynard, Henry W. Elliot, H. M. Bannister, Stephen D. Field, Dr. Rothrock, Dr. Dall, Ralph W. Faba, Franklin L. Pope, John I. Sabin, Richard J. Bush and Randolph Yates.
