MYTILENE JOINS IN THE REVOLUTION

Local Authorities Take Leading Part in Throwing in Lot with Venizelos.

ITALIANS RAID AN AUSTRIAN POSITION

Those of the Cretan Garrison who Remained Loyal Ask Safe Conduct Back to Athens.

Athens, Wednesday, Sept. 27, via London, Sept. 28.—(Delayed)—The loyal officers and soldiers of the garrison in Crete, who are said to consist of a third of the Greek force on the island, have requested the Entente Allied consuls to provide means for their return to Athens.

The island of Mytilene has joined the Venizelist movement at the local authorities having placed themselves under the "committee of national defence" established in Saloniki.

Navy Demoralized. Athens, Wednesday, Sept. 27, via London, Sept. 28.—The departure from Athens of Admiral Coundouriotis, besides causing a deep impression on the king, has completely upset the navy. The Greek battleships Hydra and two torpedo boats have left their anchorage with the Greek fleet and joined the Allied fleet in Salamis Bay.

The king called a conference of Premier Kallogeropoulos, General Moschopoulos, the chief of staff, Rear Admiral Daskalos, the Minister of Marine, and Nicholas Stratos, as Minister of Marine, at the palace this morning to discuss the action to be taken in view of the silence of the Entente Powers respecting Greece's proposal to join the Allies, made through the Greek ministers at the Entente capitals ten days ago.

Athens, Sept. 27, via London, Sept. 28.—Reports that a general mobilization has been ordered are premature. After the session of the council of ministers at the palace this morning, Premier Kallogeropoulos hastily called a cabinet meeting. He declared the government was giving the fullest consideration to the situation and said there might be sent to Bulgaria a note of such a character that mobilization would logically follow.

London, Sept. 28.—Prince George of Greece, brother of King Constantine, who has been in London for some time representing the views of the Greek court, today received a telegram from the king recalling him to Athens.

On Italian Front. Rome, Sept. 28, via London.—The enemy's artillery directed an active fire against Limone, on Lake Garda, and also against Italian positions between the Avisio and Vanoi Clason valleys," says the official announcement issued here today.

"On the Asiago plateau our infantry raided a strong Austrian entrenchment destroying it with hand-grenades.

"In the Upper Corevalle Valley the enemy again attacked the position we captured recently near the summit of Monte Sief. He was repulsed with heavy losses.

"On the remainder of the front there were only artillery actions. A few shells fell on Gorizia."

Air Raids on Sinai Peninsula. Constantinople, Wednesday, Sept. 27, via London, Sept. 28.—The war office today issued the following statement: "Caucasus front: On our right wing an enemy attack was repulsed with losses for the assailants.

"On Sept. 17 one of our airmen brought down a British seaplane off El Arish (on the Sinai peninsula).

"On August 31 our aeroplanes effectively bombarded the camp and railway at Port Said."

Another Air Raid on Bucharest. Berlin, Sept. 28, via London.—Reporting military operations in Transylvania and the Balkans the German official statement of today says: "Transylvanian theatre: Near Hermannstadt successful, though stubborn fighting is taking place.

"Balkan theatre: There were no incidents of importance on either front. "Our aviators again dropped a great number of bombs on Bucharest, which still was burning at several points as the result of our previous attack."

GERMAN COMMANDER PAYS TRIBUTE TO BRITISH FOE

"Infantry Smart in Attack, Artillery Greatly Superior," Says Report of Commander of German Army Corps Which Took Part in "Tank" Fight

Capture of Redoubt on Crest 500 Yards North of Thiepval Yesterday Gives British Command of Ancre Valley—Advance Lines Around Courcellette.

Except for a fresh attack on the part of the British which gave them the greater part of a German redoubt north of Thiepval and 600 prisoners, the troops of the Entente Allies in the region between the Somme and Ancre rivers in France apparently are taking a breathing spell and consolidating posts captured in the great offensive which began last Monday and has already netted them Comblès, Thiepval and other strong German positions at various points along the twenty-mile front.

HURLING TONS OF STEEL AT GERMANS' NEW POSITIONS. During the work of consolidating, however, the big guns of the British and French are hurling tons of steel against the new positions the Germans have taken up, doubtless preparatory to another fresh attack with Bapaume and Peronne the ultimate objectives.

Meanwhile a big battle is in progress on the eastern front, in the region between Lutsk and Vladimir-Volynski, around Svinitsky and Korynitsa, where the Russians are attempting to advance, but the Teutons are impeding them by heavy counter-attacks. The German war office says these counter-attacks in the region of Korynitsa have resulted in the recapture of positions lost recently by the Teutons, and that the Allied forces have not passed on beyond them. Heavy casualties were inflicted on the Russians, says Berlin, and in addition forty-one officers and 2,800 men were made prisoner and one cannon and seventeen machine guns were captured.

In Galicia the Germans west of Krasnolesle also pushed forward their lines, while in the Carpathians attacks by the Russians were repulsed in hand-to-hand fighting.

Bitter Fighting in Transylvania. Around Petroseny and Heemannstadt, in Transylvania, the Teutonic Allies and the Romanians are engaged in bitter fighting, but with no important result having been attained by either side. The situation in the Deb-rudja region is unchanged.

On the Macedonian front Paris reports the repulse of Bulgarian attacks on both sides of Florina. There have been bombardments by the British of positions of the allies of the Central Powers by land batteries in the vicinity of Dolren and by warships in the Aegean Sea.

Aside from an infantry attack by the Austrians in the Upper Corevalle Valley, which Rome says was repulsed, only artillery duels have taken place in the Austro-Italian theatre.

Greece's entry into the war on the side of the Entente Allies has not yet been announced.

British Guns Sweep Over Valley. Bulletin—London, Sept. 28.—The British forces have captured the greater part of a German redoubt, north of Thiepval, which overlooks the northern valley of the Ancre, taking nearly 600 prisoners, according to the official statement from general headquarters, issued at midnight.

The text reads: "We attacked Schwaben redoubt, most of which is in our hands. In the past 24 hours in this area nearly six hundred prisoners were taken. "The redoubt occupied a crest 500 yards north of Thiepval, and represents the highest ground on the Thiepval spur, with a full view over the northern valley of the Ancre. "Elsewhere on our front we consolidated our ground and advanced our lines north and northeast of Courcellette."

GERMAN TRIBUTE TO BRITISH FOES.

"British aeroplanes, as usual, in the past two days co-operated brilliantly with the infantry. Much damage was done to enemy batteries, and there have been many instances of our aeroplanes attacking troops and transports on the ground with machine gun fire. "A captured report of the fighting on the Somme, issued by the commander of a German corps which participated in the battle, contains a tribute to the quality of our troops, as follows: "The British infantry is smart in attack, has great artillery superiority. One must admit the skill with which they consolidate themselves in a newly gained position. They show great tenacity in defense. Small parties when once established with machine guns in the corner of a wood or a group of houses are very difficult to dislodge. "The following statement shows the effects of our artillery: "Hitherto our instructions, from experience gained in defense and attack, were based on a carefully constructed trench system. The troops on the Somme front found actually no trenches at all."

On Macedonian Front. London, Sept. 28.—The following official account of operations on the Macedonian front was issued here today: "On the Dolren front our artillery was successful in dispersing enemy working parties. The enemy's aircraft have been very active. It is reported one machine was brought down by our fire.

"On the Struma front the Royal Navy shelled an enemy column near Hasovo, and French artillery shelled a column at Jenimah."

"Both columns were dispersed. In a patrol encounter east of Orjak bridge we compelled the enemy to retire, after inflicting some casualties. The railway station at Anzista was bombed by aeroplanes of the Royal Navy Air Service."

LOSSES OF THE BRITISH WERE SMALL

Total Casualties in Big Fight Not More than Twice the number of Prisoners Taken.

London, Sept. 28.—The text of the official statement tonight says: "During the night our line was advanced at various points between Martinpuch and Guedecourt, and posts were established to the west and southwest of Esaucourt L'Abbaye and within 300 yards of that village. "On the left of our front our position was consolidated on the ridge northeast of Thiepval. A battalion of enemy infantry, with transport, was caught on the march by our artillery and successfully shelled. "The fighting in the past few days has been singularly economical. Our losses were small not only relatively to the importance of our gains, but absolutely. Our total casualties were not more than twice the number of enemy prisoners taken. One division which had a specially difficult task allotted to it took as many prisoners as it suffered losses."

German Denial. Berlin, Sept. 28, by wireless to Sayville.—The semi-official Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung today prints a denial of reports from hostile sources, notably Belgium, for military service. During the war Germany has maintained the principle of detaining the nationals of hostile belligerents, the newspaper declares, but not of enlisting them in the army.

WILL RECRUIT IN THIS CITY FOR THE NAVY

Five Thousand Men Wanted from Canada and Offices will be Opened in Big Cities.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Five thousand royal navy recruits are being sought in Canada and it is expected to secure 2,000 of them by the end of the year. Offices will be opened in Toronto, Montreal, Quebec, St. John, Halifax, Winnipeg, Vancouver and Victoria, and every divisional recruiting depot will also receive applications.

NEW METHODS ARE REDUCING CASUALTIES

Allied Losses Smaller Every Fresh Move—London Elated but Counts on Still Another Year of War.

New York, Sept. 28.—A London cable to the World says: London is quietly elated at the news of the capture of Comblès and Thiepval. It is regarded only as the indication to bigger things which must be gained by equally hard fighting.

It is said here that the casualties of both French and the British are being reduced at every fresh move, not merely because of the terrific bombardments that precede all advances, but also owing to other new methods adopted.

The recent successes do not inspire

RUSSIANS CUT GERMAN LINE OF COMMUNICATION

Brussiloff's Men Push Extreme Left Forward to Highway Between Kimpolung and Maramaros Szegat Severing Important Enemy Line.

Czar's Men Take 1,500 More Prisoners on the Upper Sereth Bringing Total Since Drive Began up to 420,000—2,500 Machine Guns and 600 Cannon Among the Booty.

Petrograd, Sept. 28, via London, Sept. 29.—The Russian commander, General Brussiloff, has pushed forward his extreme left during recent days to the highway between Kimpolung and Maramaros Szegat, cutting that important Austro-German line of communication some miles above Kirlibaba.

After a series of desperate battles the Russians succeeded in capturing a mountain overlooking the highway, which gave them an important strategic advantage. At the same time they took a range of mountains overlooking Kirlibaba.

According to the correspondent of the Novoe Vremya that town, for the first time in the campaign, is under the fire of the Russian cannon. Immediately to the north of this district the Russians forged ahead to the upper reaches of the Charny-Cheremoah, where the stream bends southward to Kuty (Bukovina).

The extremely difficult mountainous country is offering every advantage to the defenders, and the advance has been made against tremendous odds.

A noteworthy success has been achieved by General Brussiloff's centre in the neighborhood of Manouva and Kharburzoff, villages on the Upper Sereth, where the Russians have made an advance in the face of strong German reinforcements, capturing 1,500 Austro-German prisoners.

A recapitulation of the prisoners and booty taken by Gen. Brussiloff's army, as sent out by the staff, shows a total, since the offensive began, of 420,000 officers and men made prisoner and the capture of 2,500 machine guns and mine-throwers, and 600 cannon.

As Berlin Tells It. Berlin, Sept. 28, via London, Sept. 29.—The German official statement issued today concerning the eastern front follows:

"Eastern theatre: Army group of Prince Leopold of Bavaria: Weak Russian advances on the River An, west of Riga and between Mladiosl and Narocz lakes were easily repulsed."

"Sections of our positions near Korynitsa which were reported as having been lost in the communication of Sept. 22 were recaptured, after heavy fighting yesterday, by a completely successful counter-attack launched by troops of General Von Der Marwitz, and advantages were obtained even beyond these positions.

"All attempts of the enemy to drive us back failed. According to reports from our troops the fourth Siberian army corps suffered losses which amount nearly to destruction of the corps. Forty-one officers and 2,800 men fell into our hands as prisoners. We also captured one cannon and seventeen machine guns.

"Army group of Archduke Charles: To improve our position we pushed forward our lines to the west of Krasnolesle, between the Zlota Lipa and the Narayuka, and took 130 Russian prisoners and four machine guns. Counter-attacks were without results.

"Carpathians: The enemy attacked at several points and was repulsed, partly after hand-to-hand fighting. Northeast of Kirlibaba counter-attacks are proceeding."

Austrian Report. Vienna, via London, Sept. 28.—The official communication from general headquarters, issued today, reads:

"Eastern theatre: Rumanian front: On the Tilsit mountain ridge, east of Petroseny, bitter fighting has occurred. The situation at Nagy Szoban (Hermannstadt) is favorable. Rumanian counter-attacks were unsuccessful.

"On the Transylvanian eastern front fighting continues between outpost detachments in the region of Udvarhely (Oderhellen) and south of the height of Bistriclora.

"Front of Archduke Charles Francis: Southeast of the three country angle, north of Kirlibaba, in the Ludowa district and north of Arata Pass, the enemy delivered fruitless attacks.

"South of Lipnicadolina the German troops advanced successfully. Russian prisoners to the number of 130, together with machine guns, were captured.

"Army group of Gen. Von Teraszansky: The forces under Gen. Von Marwitz recaptured, after bitter fighting, the last portion remaining in the hands of the enemy of positions we lost a week ago. The enemy suffered

ENGLAND AGAIN ATTACKED IN REICHSTAG

Coerced Italy Into War Declaration on Teutons Chancellor Says.

GERMAN PARLIAMENT ASSEMBLED YESTERDAY

Von Bethmann-Hollweg Tries to Justify Teuton Tactics and Throws Burden of the Blame on Great Britain.

Berlin, Sept. 28, by wireless to Sayville.—The Reichstag convened today, and the imperial chancellor, Dr. Von Bethmann-Hollweg, delivered his eagerly awaited speech. He began by outlining the events which led up to the Italian and Rumanian declarations of war. He recalled that the German ambassador had left Rome after Italy's declaration of war against Austria-Hungary, that Germany had announced that the Italians would find Germany's troops fighting with their Austro-Hungarian comrades on Italian frontier. He continued:

"Thus a state of war practically existed, but a formal declaration of war did not come till later. Italy, apparently, was afraid of the fateful consequences which she would suffer after the war in regard to her economic relations with us.

"On the other hand, Rome preferred to lay the blame for the declaration at our door. But for us there was no reason to play Italy's game. Our tactics were justified by the un-interrupted efforts of the Entente Powers to cause Italy to declare war.

Blames England, As Usual.

"For more than a year the Italian government resisted. Finally the measures which England employs with equal ruthlessness against neutrals and her allies were too strong. Italy's warfare depends upon English coal and English money. Finally she had to give in. The decision certainly was brought about by British coercion, although Italian hopes in regard to the Balkans also exercised influence. Italy, as is known, desires Balkan territories which are within the natural sphere of Greek interests.

In order not to be abandoned Italy found it necessary to partake in the expulsion of General Sarrail, and this caused an encounter between Italian and German troops in Macedonia.

extraordinarily heavy losses. They also lost 41 officers and 2,800 men prisoners, one cannon and seventeen machine guns.

"Italian theatre: No special incidents were reported."

On French Front.

Paris, Sept. 28.—The violent cannonade continued on the Somme front, says the official communication issued by the war office tonight.

"Elsewhere there was nothing of importance."

"Southeastern theatre: Albania: Nothing of importance has occurred.

"On the morning of September 26 five enemy aeroplanes dropped numerous bombs on Durz (Durazzo) without damage worth mentioning. Two of our aeroplanes ascended immediately in defense. After an aerial battle an enemy hydroplane was forced to alight on the water where it was saved by an Italian destroyer. They pursued a second machine flying in the direction of Brindisi and shot it down forty miles from the coast, alighting alongside of the destroyed aeroplane. The observer, an Italian naval officer, was dead and the pilot was seriously wounded by a bullet in the head. The latter was transferred from the sinking machine and taken to Durz."

TEN PROVINCE MEN IN THE CASUALTIES

THREE OF THEM ST. JOHN MEN WHO HAVE LAID DOWN LIVES ON FIELD OF HONOR—SIX OTHER NEW BRUNSWICK MEN WOUNDED—193 NAMES IN LIST SENT OUT LAST NIGHT BY MILITIA DEPARTMENT.

The casualty lists sent out last night by the Militia Department at Ottawa contains in all one hundred and ninety-three names. Of these ten are New Brunswick men, who have paid the supreme sacrifice in full by laying down their lives on the field of honor, while others have suffered wounds in defense of justice and right.

Three St. John men are reported among those who have gone to a soldier's grave. They are Thos. C. McGuire, 171 St. James St.; Frank C. Pinney, East St. John, and Robert Stephens, 283 Watson street, West St. John. The list of wounded from New Brunswick numbers six and is representative of nearly all parts of the province.

The list is as follows:

MARVELS OF TRENCH LIFE

German Underground Villages Captured by British are Wonderful Structures.

London, Sept. 23.—Along many miles of the western front, as it was till the end of June, you can now do what seems to trench dwellers almost the utmost reach of impossibility. You can stand at your ease in the middle of No Man's Land and look at a German front trench on your right and a French or British front trench on your left. As soon as you do so, you feel that the outward face of each wears a quite different expression.

Was Really Village.

The whole German idea of trench life is different. The German front in the west is like one huge straggling village, built of wood and strung out along a road 500 miles long. Of course, the houses are all underground. Still, they are houses, of one or two floors, built to certain official designs, drawn out in section and plan. The main entrance from the trench level is, sometimes at any rate, through a steel door, of a pattern apparently standard, so that hundreds may come from the factory on one order and missing parts be easily replaced. The profusely timbered doorway is made to their measure.

Staircases Too.

At the foot of the stairs a tunnelled corridor runs straight forward, for anything up to fifty yards, and out of there open rooms and minor passages on each side. In many dug-outs a second staircase, or two staircases, lead to a lower floor, which may be 30 or 40 feet below the trench level. All these staircases, passages and rooms are, in the best specimens, completely lined with wood and as fully strengthened with it as the entrance staircase already described. In one typical dug-out each section of a platoon had its allotted places for messing and sleeping, its own place for parade in a passage, and its own emergency exit to the trench. In another, used as a dressing station, there are beds for 32 patients and a fair sized operating room. A third, near Mametz, was designed to house a whole company of 300 men, with the usual kitchen, a well, a forge riveted with sheets of cast iron, an engine-room and a motor-room. Many of the captured dug-outs were thus lighted by electricity.

Officers in Comfort.

In the officers' quarters there have been found full-length mirrors, comfortable bedsteads, cushioned arm-chairs and some pictures. One room is lined with glazed "sanitary" wallpaper, and the present English occupant is convinced by circumstantial evidence that his predecessor lived there with his wife and child. Clearly there was no expectation of an early remove.

Other German trench works show the same lavish use of labor as the dug-outs. In the old German front trench south of La Boisselle an entrance like that of a dug-out leads to a flight of 24 stairs, and all well finished. At their foot a landing three feet square opens on its further side upon a nearly vertical shaft.

Tunnels to Crater.

Descending this by a ladder of 23 rungs, you find a second landing like the first, opening on a continuation of the shaft. Down this a ladder of 60 rungs brings you to the starting point of an almost straight level tunnel three feet wide and about five

THE BRITISH SUPERIORITY IN ARTILLERY

Has Been Overshadowing Factor in Somme Advance—Solving Machine Gun Problem.

(Col. F. N. Maude, C. B., in London Times.)

It may be sweet to see the engineer hoist with his own petard, but the pleasure of the cynical spectator is as nothing to the joy of the engineer when, after years of crying in the wilderness, he finds his ideal completely attained, if not excelled, in actual practice against the enemy. From the accounts of all eye-witnesses of the recent fighting on the Somme the ideal of mine, viz. the complete domination of the enemy's artillery fire by our own gunners, seems at last to have been reached.

Step by step we have been creeping towards it, as the output of our aviation and artillery shops allowed, but never until the last offensive has the demonstration of the power of modern weapons in competent hands been so finely achieved. Covered by a rain of shells so dense that the enemy is both blinded and shaken by clouds of dust and smoke, our infantry now go forward with an extraordinary absence of friction or misdirection of units, reaching the enemy's trenches almost without losses. The first step in the process of stepping the earths and bombing out the German survivors from their trenches and dug-outs, a process to which our men can devote themselves without serious interruption behind the curtain of shell fire the gunners interpose between them and the enemy.

SIR CHAS. CAYZER, FATHER-IN-LAW OF JELlicoe IS DEAD

London, Sept. 28.—Sir Charles Cayzer died this morning at Aberfoyle, Scotland. Sir Charles, who was 73 years old, was head of the prominent shipping firm of Cayzer, Irvine & Company, Ltd., owners of the Clan Line of steamers. For many years he sat in parliament for Barrow-in-Furness, being the first Conservative elected for Barrow. His daughter, Florence Gwendoline, married Admiral Sir John Jellicoe, commander-in-chief of the British home fleets, in 1902.

$100,000 PROFITS FROM $1,500 IN GENERAL MOTORS

What was believed generally in Wall St. to be the largest profit ever made on a single transaction in stocks was credited the other day to a speculator in the shares of the General Motors Company. On an original investment of $1,500 the trader placed in bank the sum of $100,000. If he had waited a little longer he could have increased that amount by an additional $5,250.

The profit was not made in a day, but it was acquired in considerably less time than it took to build Home. As an example of unearned increment, it put into the shade the profits derived in any similar period of time by fortunate investors in real estate in Manhattan, including those of the man who bought the island from the Indians for $2.

A little more than a year ago a customer was introduced to Benjamin Block, resident partner of the firm of Finley, Barrett & Company. At that time the common stock of the General Motors Company was starting what subsequently proved to be the most sensational advance any stock had made on the New York Stock Exchange since the introduction of the Pacific copier. In response to the customary inquiry for the "best thing" Mr. Block suggested General Motors for a quick profit. The customer placed an order for 100 shares, depositing the customary 10 per cent margin. Later as the quotation advanced he increased his holdings by fifty additional shares.

From that date he could not be induced to sell a share. When the quotation approached the $600 mark he began to think of "unloading," and he disposed of fifty shares. Next day he sold 100 shares at $715. The next sale was at $750, and then came the usual expressions of regret at not having had a little more patience. It is a better means to its end—the winning of the war.

A London paper, referring to the growing unrest among the British laboring classes caused by the increase in the cost of food and fuel, says: "Regulation by the state of food supplies and transports is the only remedy, in the opinion of labor. This action has been urged several times, and it will be reiterated with still more emphasis at the Trade Union Congress, at Birmingham. Among the working classes the belief is widespread that the rise in prices is due not so much to natural causes arising out of a state of war, as to the action of shipowners and monopolists in availing themselves of the state of war to make enormous profits."

the former had to triumph before the normal methods of strategy could be resumed. Strategy is essentially a combat between mobility and immobility—motion and rest—and the deeper one side is driven into the ground the greater, relatively, becomes the mobility of the other who can afford to remain on the surface.

Superiority of numbers has hitherto been the only known set-off against rapidity of movement, as we learned in the Boer war, but now even superior numbers cannot greatly aid the enemy, even if he still possessed them, for clearly to have crammed more men into his trenches in these last few days would only have improved the target for our gunners; to have used fewer, in order to employ the balance elsewhere, would have made our task even less expensive than it actually proved to be.

Finally the successes of the past seven weeks have definitely established the point that there is no reason in the nature of things why nowadays an attack well conducted should be more costly in human life than the defense. It was so centuries ago, but with every increase in the range and power of weapons, the defense has steadily lost ground until with the coming of the airman, the advantage is altogether on the side of the attack, for the fundamental reason that every increment of range increases the opportunities for concentration of effort against the point of one's own choice.

Without the airman this advantage would have been almost nullified; but for the aid his eyes afford us we could not nowadays see where our shells were falling, so great are the distances to which they can be hurled. It is only failure to succeed that costs, and the cost may be equally high on whichever side the adverse decision falls.

The Pointer in the East.

While we have been striving with every nerve to obtain the decision on the vertical plane it must not be supposed that we have neglected to prepare the field as far as lies in our power for the coming strategy and tactics on the flat and when the whole circumstances of the Grand Alliance recover to these more normal advantages, we can judge by the progress of events in Galicia of the form their employments will assume in the West.

The one essential point to bear in mind is, that with the steady reduction in German numbers relative to those of the Allies the very bedrock foundations of the German strategy was based since the days of Clausewitz have been absolutely destroyed. Since, in the early weeks of the war, with every advantage superior preparation and numbers could give to the German staff, they failed entirely to make good against the system opposed to them by the French, our own gains now small are their chances now when all those conditions are reversed against them.

SEES MILITARY PART OVER IN NOVEMBER

Following is an extract from a letter received by a prominent Frenchman in New York, the source of the communication being inspired by the French Premier, Mr. Briand:—"The long expected entrance of Roumania and probably Greece on the side of the Allies will be the decisive factor in that long struggle which desolates war-torn Europe."

"It is rumored in official circles that military operations will cease in November. The Central Powers, pressed on all sides, short of men, of ammunition, of food and provisions of all sorts, will be unable to continue to campaign for a third winter."

"What and when will be the decisive victory that will bring to the feet of the triumphant Allies their fierce foes? Political parties are already agitating and discussing conditions of peace. When the decisive victory is won Austro-Germany would be divided into as many protectorates as there are allied nations. Poland, Hungary and Bohemia should recover their independence and reconstitute their governments. The total of the populations thus put under tutelage would be reduced from 115,000,000 to perhaps 40,000,000 or 50,000,000. This division into protectorates would bring about the destruction of Prussian militarism for long years to come."

SOON he'll be off for the trenches "Somewhere in France." Show intimately the gift of a wrist watch will remind him of those at home, particularly if it is a Waltham Military Wrist Watch. As much as a bull terrier or a boxer pipe, and just as sturdy to withstand rough usage. Has its own armor plate that keeps the crystal from breaking. Or should the crystal meet with mishap the protecting device keeps the Waltham in regular use until such time as a new crystal can be secured. The Waltham Military Wrist Watch possesses the same degree of accuracy that has made the "Waltham" the timepiece of the world. Can be had in seven or fifteen jewels at $12 and $15. Your jeweler will gladly show them to you. Write for the booklet "Concerning a Timepiece."

BOY'S LUNGS PUMP FULL OF AIR; KNIFE SAVES HIM

Many surgeons of New York were interested in an operation performed recently in the Washington Heights Hospital, which it is believed will save the life of Max Fader, thirteen years old, of No. 449 West 163d street. Max was run over by an automobile, and the four ribs that were broken punctured the lungs.

Soon after the boy reached the hospital it was apparent that he was able to inhale normally, but in exhaling the air passed from the lungs into the sub-cutaneous tissues. This air spread and accumulated under the skin all over the body and head. The boy became twice his normal size, his chin and chest touched and his skin was stretched almost as tight as the head of a drum.

The air exhaled from the lungs into the sub-cutaneous tissues began to exert such a pressure on the wind pipe that it was feared the boy would choke to death and Dr. Clarence Siebel, consulting surgeon at the hospital, decided to perform an operation. It was the last resort, and latest reports at the hospital say it probably would save the boy's life. He recovered from the operation quickly and soon was breathing more normally.

MARRIAGES.

Newcastle, Sept. 28.—A very interesting wedding took place at the home of Mrs. Mary McEwen, Chatham, Wednesday night, when in the presence of the immediate friends and relatives of the principals her daughter, Miss Mary Ethel McEwen, was united with Carman A. Nevins, son of Mr. and Mrs. Innis Nevins of Newcastle. Rev. Alex Firth of Douglastown was the officiating clergyman. The bride, who was unattended, was charmingly dressed in cream-colored silk, with bridal veil and orange blossoms and she carried a handsome bouquet. Many gifts showed the popularity of the young couple. They included a cabinet of silverware, gold and platinum watches, a shower of kitchen utensils, etc. A sumptuous wedding supper was served, after which the happy pair left on the Maritime Express for a honeymoon in Montreal and cities further west.

Piles

That Dr. Chase's Ointment actually cures even the worst cases of itching, bleeding and protruding piles we know for a certainty, because of experience with thousands of cases. If Stomach Hurts Drink Hot Water

A Physician's Advice.

"If dyspepsia, sufferers from gas, wind or flatulence, stomach acidity or sourness, gastric catarrh, heartburn, etc., would take a teaspoonful of pure bicarbonate of soda in half a glass of hot water immediately after eating, they would soon forget the name of the doctor who had prescribed it, and doctors would have to look elsewhere for patients." In explanation of these words a well known New York physician stated that most forms of stomach trouble are due to the food contents of the stomach combined with an insufficient blood supply to the stomach. Hot water increases the blood supply and bicarbonate of soda instantly neutralizes the excessive stomach acid and stops food fermentation, the combination of the two, therefore, being marvelously successful and decidedly preferable to the use of artificial digestants, stimulants or medicines for indigestion.

1,000 TROOPS UNDER CALE AS AT SUSSEX NEXT WEEK

SUSSEX TAKES ON MILITARY AIR AGAIN NEXT WEEK WITH ARRIVAL OF 132nd BATTALION

NORTH SHORE BATTALION 1,000 STRONG COMING FROM VALCARTIER—PREVENTED FROM GOING OVERSEAS BY OUTBREAK OF MEASLES.

Pte. Walter Craig, Reported as Killed in Action, Writes that he is Wounded and in Hospital in France.

Sussex, Sept. 28.—The 132nd Battalion, under Col. Mervereau, will be in Sussex on Monday, 1,000 strong. The advance guard will come to on Saturday, instead of today, as first intended. Col. Mervereau arrived this morning and will be here for a day or so to make arrangements for the test bottoms, canvas and oil stoves, as the men will be quartered at the camp grounds for a time at least. The battalion was to have gone overseas but has been held up by an outbreak of measles and will be held here for some days at least. The regiment is almost up to strength. While here they will drill as usual and will be kept right up to the mark, so that when orders come they will be in a position to get under way in first class shape. The 132nd was one of the best drilled battalions at Valcartier. They have a fine band with them and this will be heard at the big recruiting meeting at the armory on next Thursday night. Major Good, who is well known in Sussex, will be here on Saturday with two officers and fifty men to make additional arrangements for the reception of the battalion. The winter quarters were inspected yesterday by Dr. Burnett and a report sent forward to their condition. Capt. Russell, of the A.S.C., who was here last winter will be back again in charge of the Army Service Corps work.

Percy J. Stewart in Hospital. Mrs. Collis Stewart of Pitt street received word on Saturday that her son, Private Percy J. Stewart, had been admitted to No. 3 Stationary Hospital at Wimereux, France, on the 16th inst., suffering from gun shot wounds in the chest that he had received during the recent heavy fighting. Private Stewart enlisted with the 63rd Regiment at Edmonton, Alta., and on going to England was drafted into the 29th Battalion and has seen two months of heavy fighting. Ray Craig Not Killed as Reported. On Wednesday Mr. and Mrs. Walter Craig received a post card from their son, Pte. Ray Craig, bearing the intelligence that he had been wounded and was in a hospital in France doing as well as could be expected. The card was dated the 11th inst. This news was received with much joy by the parents of the wounded lad, as the St. John daily papers of last week had reported him in their casualty lists as killed in action on the 4th inst. Pte. Craig was the first Sussex boy to join the colors, signing on with the 12th Battalion and was afterwards transferred to the 48th Highlanders.

MONDAY WILL BE A BIG DAY AT THE UNIQUE

Introductory Chapter of "The Shielding Shadow" and the Initial Appearance of the Arlington Banjo Orchestra

When the doors of the Unique Theatre are thrown open to the public next Monday afternoon it will mean that a day will go down in history of the Unique as being one that will see two distinct innovations, and the management wish to impress upon patrons the fact that heretofore the Unique will present Moving Picture entertainment on the basis that is characteristic of the programmes given in some of the more pretentious theatres in the larger cities. A step was surely made in the right direction when the Unique secured the rights to present locally the remarkable Pathe serial, "The Shielding Shadow," which is in fifteen episodes, the first of which will be shown at the Unique Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, October 2nd, 3rd and 4th, with a chapter to follow the first three days of every succeeding week. Mystery, spectacularism, sensational scenes and a plausible natural story suggesting some of the more celebrated works of Dumas, Poe or Stevenson are all combined in this serial photo-play par excellence. Miss Grace Darmond and Mr. Leon Barry, two noted stage celebrities, have been entrusted with the leading characters. Critics claim that the "Shielding Shadow" overshadows every serial that has yet come upon the picture market. In interest it is better than "The Iron Claw," in thrilling incidents "The Perils of Pauline," or any of the other serials cannot compare with it for a minute. One of the most notable pictures in the first episode is the burning of a ship in mid-ocean with over one hundred passengers leaping from the decks enveloped in a mass of flame. It is of the utmost importance that the first chapter of "The Shielding Shadow" should be seen and a special effort should be made to attend the Unique Theatre Monday, Tuesday or Wednesday. And this is not the only attraction the management holds out for these days; for at the first show Monday afternoon the Arlington Banjo Orchestra will make their initial bow. The merits of this organization of musicians will be left to the opinion of patrons. Other features scheduled for the same programme will be the Pathe News, and a novel up-to-date comedy farce.

SAYS ALLIED AIRMEN RAIDED LUXEMBURG

Newspaper Protest Against Attacks on Munitions Plants First Intimation of Allied Raid.

Berlin, Sept. 28, by wireless to Sayville.—Attacks by Entente aircraft on the foundries in Luxembourg are declared by the Luxembourg newspaper Obermosel, to be unjustified. Luxembourg, as it declares, stands ready to furnish ammunition to any customer. It cites Switzerland and the United States as in a similar position regarding the furnishing of ammunition supplies to belligerents and as nevertheless exempt, under international law, from attacks upon their munition plants.

No reports have been received of air attacks upon foundries in Luxembourg, the article in the Obermosel being the first intimation that any such attacks have occurred.

NECK BROKEN FOR YEAR, BUT DIDN'T KNOW

Break Between Second and Third Vertebrae and Spinal Column Not Affected, Reason Athlete Didn't Die

Pittsburg, Pa., Sept. 28.—Joe Mas-ton, all-round athlete of the University of Pittsburg, has had his neck broken since last fall, but he did not know it until today when, after vainly trying to play with the football team he con-sulted a physician. An x-ray photograph disclosed that the only reason Maston is not dead is because the fracture is between the second and third vertebrae, and the spinal column is not affected. While the injury pained him since the acci-dent, which occurred in a scrimmage, Maston refused to drop baseball last spring, although his playing was not up to his standard.

HON. MR. HAZEN IS ACTING PREMIER

Sir Robert Borden has Gone to Halifax—General Exodus of Cabinet Ministers from the Capital.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Hon. J. D. Hazen is acting prime minister. Sir Robert Borden is at Halifax. There has been a regular exodus of cabinet ministers during the last few days. Sir Thomas White left today on the first holiday he has had this year. Sir George Foster is with the Dominion Royal Commission. Hon. Robert Rogers is in Montreal; Hon. Frank Cochrane at Sudbury; Hon. T. W. Crothers at St. Thomas, and Hon. Dr. Reid and Hon. Martin Burrell in British Columbia.

A "KILTIES" MEETING AT HARTLAND

No Recruits at Rally, but Prospects Look Bright for the "236th" in that Section

Hartland, N. B., Sept. 28.—A large crowd attended the open-air recruit-ing meeting for the Kilties tonight. The speakers addressed the people from the balcony of the Keith & Plummer building. Rev. N. Fran-chetti acted as chairman and made a few appropriate remarks in opening. Miss Helen Alton gave a Scotch rec-itation. M. L. Hayward spoke some encouraging words, reviewing the his-tory of Scotch regiments in England's wars. Miss Dalling of Woodstock rendered a Scotch recitation in good style, after which Lieut. Wetmore made an appeal for recruits for the 236th.

Mrs. S. S. Miller sang a Scotch song, followed by Sergt. Carter in a ringing address, calling upon the young men to come forward to the help of their New Brunswick brothers who were doing their bit on the bat-tlefields of Europe. The meeting closed by singing the National An-them.

While there were no immediate re-sults, Lieut. Wetmore received some inquiries about enlistment and hopes to sign on four or five men tomorrow. The meeting was enlivened by the music of the pipes.

FOR THE 104TH

Will all those interested in the 104th Battalion, now in Shorncliffe, England, kindly send contributions of small Christmas cakes, tobacco, socks, choo-chie, etc., and money, to Mrs. R. P. MacLachlan, 114 Lennox St. (opp. residence of Mr. R. W. W. Frink), not later than October the 10th.

It is hoped that it will be possible to send every man in the battalion a Christmas parcel.

DETAILS OF CONTRACTS FOR NEW PARLIAMENT BUILDINGS AGREED UPON

Formal Document will be Signed in Few Days—Construction Company to be Paid on Percentage Basis.

Ottawa, Sept. 28.—All the details of the contracts for the erection of the new parliament buildings were agreed upon at a meeting today between the parliamentary building committee and the representative of Peter Lyall and Sons, the contracting company. The formal document will be signed in a day or two. The only changes in the original tentative agreement are that the company will supply the manufacturing plant for the cutting of the stone, etc., the government to keep it in repair and the decision to locate the power plant outside the main building. The contractors, as originally ar-ranged, will be remunerated on a per-centage basis. They will receive 10 per cent on cost up to four million dollars, 7 per cent up to five millions but nothing above five millions.

SEPTEMBER WEDDINGS

McCarthy-Green.

Miss Elizabeth Green, daughter of Alban Green, Millard, was united in marriage to Gerald Gregory McCarthy in Holy Trinity Church yesterday morning by Very Rev. J. T. Walsh, V. G., with nuptial mass. The bride was daintily attired in Alice blue with cream veils, and carried a bouquet of green roses, tied with white silk ribbon. Miss Mary Sweeney of Lakewood was bridesmaid, and was prettily gowned in pale blue silk with black picture hat. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas with maidenhair ferns. The groom was supported by John McLaughlin.

Moore-Connelly.

Apoahqui, Sept. 28.—The Methodist church, on Wednesday evening, 27th, was the scene of a very pretty wedding when Miss Ada Blanche Connelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Connelly, became the wife of William Edgar Moore, of Point Wolfe, Albert Co.

Miss Gretia F. Connelly, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, while the groom was supported by his brother, Frank Moore. Little Miss Marjorie Jones was ring-bearer and preceded the bride carrying the emblematic circle of gold concealed in a Calla Lily. As the strains of the bridal chorus died away, Miss Muriel Jones sang the very appropriate solo, "Because," after which the impressive marriage ceremony was performed by Rev. Leon H. Jewett.

The attractive young bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was gowned in white silk crepe de chene, with shadow lace corsage caught with a sunburst of pearls, the gift of the groom. She also wore the convention al wedding veil with coronet of orange blossoms and carried a shower bouquet of bride's roses. The bridesmaid wore a becoming costume of maize silk crepe de chene, with large black velvet hat, and carried a beautiful bouquet of cream chrysanthemums.

The little ring-bearer was very winning, in cream lace over pale blue silk, with rose-bud trimming. The soloist was very attractive in Alice blue silk combined with Georgie crepe of the same shade and wore a becoming hat of rose velvet and carried pink sweet peas. The organist, Miss Nellie Veysie, looked exceedingly well in a gown of black silk, with corsage of white Georgette crepe and touches of cerise and wore a large black picture hat with ostrich plumes.

Coby H. Jones and Herbert J. Johnson acted as ushers. At the conclusion of the ceremony the bridal party and guests entered motor cars and were driven to the home of the bride, where a reception followed after which supper was served in the dining room. A number of the girl friends of the bride—all prettily gowned—served as waitresses, of whom there were the Misses Grace

Murray-Boston; Vida Reid; Annie Greig; Nina Parlee; Nora Davis; Annie Parlee and Alice Chambers.

After supper an informal social hour followed, until the bride left the guests to make ready for her departure, appearing later in her travelling costume which was a tailored suit of navy blue, purple hat with wings, and white fur. Mr. and Mrs. Moore left by motor car on a trip through Nova Scotia, having Halifax as their objective point. The decorations in the church were very tastefully arranged, having as a background quantities of autumn foliage. In the foreground and extending on either side were many cut flowers and potted plants, softened by a matting of moss, vines and ferns. Asters and sweet peas were in abundance, with a great variety of blooming indoor plants.

The groom's presents to the bridesmaid and ring-bearer were pearl rings, to the organist a gold bar pin with a floral design in pearls, to the soloist a crescent of pearls, and to the groomsmen and ushers scarf pins. The bride received very many beautiful gifts, among them being a substantial cheque from her brother, G. E. Connelly, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Spanish Town, Jamaica, a silver tea service and silver from C. T. White and Son, Sussex, also a great variety of cut glass, silver, china and a considerable amount of money in gold. The guests from other places included Mrs. Agnes Connelly, grandmother of the bride, who is 88 years of age, the bride being one of 79 grand-children; Mr. and Mrs. Garfield White, Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Reid, Mrs. J. J. Haslam, Mrs. James Moore, Misses Margaret and Annie Moore, Susann, Stanley Moore, Truro; Grace Murray, Boston; Mr. and Mrs. Everett Moore, Roston; Alcorn, Wallace Moore, Point Wolfe; Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly, Miss Etta Moore, I. Moore, Frank Moore, Mechanic, and Mr. and Mrs. John Kelly, Sussex.

Mrs. Moore will be much missed by her many friends, having been the principal teacher of the Apoahqui superior school, and one of the leading members of the Methodist church choir and by her pleasing personality won and retained the esteem and love of the community.

Henderson-Seely.

Hampton, N. B., Sept. 28.—A pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday af-

McDonald-Hanlon.

Miss Marcella Hanlon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Hanlon, 151 Erin street, and Douglas McDonald were united in marriage yesterday morning in the Cathedral by Rev. Harold Old Coughlan. The bride, who was attended by Mrs. M. King, wore a blue travelling suit with hat to match. Timothy Coyne acted as groomsmen. Following the ceremony breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents. Mr. and Mrs. McDonald left last night for Halifax on a trip and on their return will take up their residence in the city.

Ganong-Provan.

A pretty wedding took place on Wednesday evening at Bloomfield, Kings county, when Miss Ada Beatrice, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Medley Provan, became the bride of Thomas Samuel Ganong. The ceremony was performed by Rev. F. P. Denison under an arch of bells of green and gold, and the house was prettily decorated with orange and maidenhair fern. The bride looked charming in a dress of white crepe de chene and carried a shower bouquet of sweet peas. After the ceremony about fifty sat down to supper. The popularity of bride and groom was testified in the number of presents received.

Reicker-Lamb.

On Wednesday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lamb, Lakewood, their daughter, Ethel Maude, was married to Frederick B. Reicker of St. John. The ceremony was performed by Rev. G. N. Somers. The groom was supported by Wesley A. Lamb, a brother of the bride, and the bride was attended by Miss Lena Lamb, a cousin. The bride was becomingly gowned in blue satin with shadow lace veil and orange blossoms, and carried a bouquet of roses and maidenhair fern. The bridesmaid was dressed in blue voile. The groom's gift to the bride was a pearl necklace and to the bridesmaid a crescent pin with pearls. After the ceremony the guests were served with a dainty luncheon. There were many gifts from friends and relatives. After a trip to New England cities they will reside at 68 Portland street.

Richards-Fleming.

At the residence of Mrs. T. Harding Kierstead, Fredericton, on Wednesday, her sister, Miss Pearl Fleming, daughter of Moses Fleming, Scotch Lake, was married to Lloyd W. Richards, by Rev. Mr. Thompson, of Keswick Ridge. The happy couple left for St. John and will later go to Halifax on their honeymoon.

Herrington-McHarg.

On Wednesday at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McHarg, Prince of Wales, their daughter, Lulu Ida Myrtle, was married to Eldon Everett Herrington of River Glade. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. H. A. Cody, rector of St. James' church, St. John, supper was served after which Mr. and Mrs. Herrington motored to St. John and left for a wedding tour through the province. Among the many presents was a reading lamp from the employees of the Canadian Oil Company, with whom the groom is employed.

Sutherland-Blackmore.

A very pretty wedding took place at the bride's home in Cassilis, on Wednesday afternoon, when Rev. J. H. McCurdy of Redbank tied the nuptial knot between Miss Katie J. daughter of Jeremiah Blackmore, and George Everett Sutherland of the same place. The bride, who was unattended, looked very charming in white silk with bridal veil, and carried a bouquet of flowers. The groom's gift to her was a gold watch and chain. The bride's going-away dress was a brown suit with hat to match. The happy couple left for a honeymoon to Montreal.

Tompkins-Shorey.

A very pretty wedding took place at the cottage of the officiating clergyman at Beulah Camp, Brown's Flat, N. B., on Wednesday at eight o'clock, when Melvin W. Tompkins and Miss Grace M. Shorey, both of Port Fairfield, Me., were united in marriage in the presence of a few friends of the contracting parties. The ceremony was performed by Rev. H. C. Archer, a former pastor of the young couple. The cottage was prettily decorated for the occasion with autumn leaves and cut flowers. The bride was dressed in white silk, and carried a bouquet of white flowers. Mr. and Mrs. Tompkins will visit St. John, Fredericton and other New Brunswick cities before returning to their

RECRUITING COMMITTEE IN SESSION

Members Favor Distinguishing Badge for Parents and Wives of Soldiers—Conscription Discussed.

The monthly meeting of the Provincial Recruiting Association was held yesterday afternoon in the Board of Trade rooms. Those present were: Richard O'Leary, Richibucto, president; Dr. H. I. Taylor, M. L. A., St. George; Irving H. Todd, St. Stephen; J. J. McCaffery, Fredericton; Major Tilley, Capt. F. F. May, H. P. Robinson and E. A. Schofield, St. John.

A letter which had been sent to Lieut. Col. Guthrie by Mrs. Kuhring, was read by the secretary in regard to the issuing to the parents and wives of soldiers at the front a special button to be worn in the lapel denoting that fact.

Mrs. Kuhring had taken up the idea with Col. MacInnes and he had been very much in favor of some such scheme as it was felt that such a badge would create a bond of interest between those wearing it.

It was proposed to have the button made of cloth with a red, white and blue centre, surrounded by circles of khaki, one circle for each relative at the front. The buttons for those who had sons or husbands who had sons or husbands who had paid the supreme sacrifice would have a black circle.

The association was heartily in favor of having some such distinguishing badge issued and was of the opinion that the matter should be undertaken by the federal military authorities and distributed in the same manner as the A-R buttons by the recruiting officers at the different centres.

Mr. O'Leary said that he was of the opinion that the association had about come to the end of its usefulness as a recruiting force, and he thought that they should now get back of a movement for conscription. An instance of the way public opinion was changing he said that six months ago he was talking to Premier Murray of Nova Scotia on the subject and at that time the premier was opposed to conscription, a few days ago he was again talking to him on the same subject and he was now a convert to the idea. He believed that ninety-five per cent. of the people of Canada were in favor of conscription.

Dr. Taylor did not think it was of any use talking conscription as long as the government was opposed to it. It was suggested that a referendum ought to be taken on the matter.

Mr. Schofield brought up the matter of sending a representation to Quebec to operate with the National Service League, who intend to hold a number of meetings in that province beginning October 9 in the interests of recruiting.

It was decided to send six men from New Brunswick, the president to name those who would go.

It was also decided that the delegation should take with them a resolution in favor of a Dominion-wide referendum on the question of conscription and present it to the National Service League and ask them to take up the matter with the government.

Mr. O'Leary spoke of employing returned soldiers as recruiting officers and said that in his opinion they were the best men who could be obtained for the work and he referred particularly to the splendid work which had been done by Corp. Bond in Kent county.

H. P. Robinson thought that the representatives to the National Service League should point out that as far as New Brunswick was concerned the larger number of recruits were native born, as there had been considerable criticism offered that most of the Canadian soldiers were not native born.

Before we go, we'll peep in at the men's canteen. You observe it actually is a canteen, with an array of gas stoves, and not a mere field kitchen. You also observe that, quite indifferent to your presence, these khaki cooks carry on with their singing and pudden-wallowing, as we who have to assimilate the stuff vulgarly call it. That is just typical of the army grub monopolists; a more imperturbable, nonchalant lot you won't find anywhere under a khaki tunic. Only three people on earth have been known to excite them. One is the buxom Boadicea who drives in with the milk, and out again pursued by amorous invitations, wistful yearnings, blushing, and persistent forearms. The second is the orderly officer, whose daily advent acts like an elixir, stimulating the whole staff to startling en-

ENGINEERS' PARADISE

A Walk Round the Home Camp.

By Trevor Allen.

Our casual peep at Headquarters should have given you a notion of the mental makeup of the business. We now pass on to the muscle, and sinew, and handicraft of it. Our way, first of all, is over the lawn, past greenhouses fragrant with the exhalations of motor-bikes, and so into the kitchen garden. So high the red-bricked walls are, it might almost be a monastery garden. Certainly the seclusion of it is monastic, and the khaki of that lucky sapper there, whistling at his smocks of lay brothers. And what war-time work it is! Behold one sun-browned warrior of our day. . . . wheeling manure, and another . . . pulling lettuce. Reflect, if you have an eye for the incongruous, what this haven of horticulture means to him. There is little doubt he had read those ghastly accounts of Notre Chapelle—perhaps of Ypres, Hooge, and Loos; too; and, after much cogitation, decided that his place also was in the deepest hell of it. Be sure there were wistful glances round the little London home, a stoical reckoning of the sacrifice. Then, one day, a clumsy bundle of khaki, dingy kisses for the kiddies, a reckless smile and quiet words for the missus, and so out to the Great Unknown.

And now—well, now he sings at his work in an old garden not many miles from that self-same home. He is concerned more about blight than Blighty, about a fork with a broken prong instead of a shattered bayonet, about the certainty of his next weekend pass rather than the possibility of a journey west. Observe what congenial labor makes of him—a face all sunlight blown about by the breeze of a genial humor. Chat with him, if you will, but not about the Big Push, please. Talk about his pumpe-crested artichokes, there, his flourishing peas and beans, cabbages, beets and potatoes. And at the end, if you are inclined, murmur to yourself a word of thanksgiving that while the soil of Europe is being strewn with wreckage and blood, these homely English rods respond with beauty to the nurture of his skilled hands; that while human flesh and blood is being sacrificed in the mass, these innocent vegetables thrive under his careful labors. Over there today, perhaps, there will be a further advance. Here, the troops will have crisp, fresh-pulled lettuce for tea. In the autumn there will be stewed apples and pears from our worthy gardener's trees.

Adjoining are the camp meadows where, last season, our tents were pitched. What a scene of varied activity it is; what a curious blend of the military and the pastoral in the shade of those magnificent oaks vibrates a mowing machine drawn by army mules, piloted by a khaki warrior. Here and there about the field are lusty fighters, with faces browner than their khaki, swinging scythes and flourishing forks with amateur dexterity. Hard by some old stable buildings the new ricks glow a healthy gold in the sunlight, creating an illusion of a farmstead. The heat of the morning is laden with the musical drone of the mower and the jovial talk of khaki chaps at a novel task, laden with the odor of hay in windrows—sounds and scenes far removed from the crashes and poison gases of war.

"Hey, man! What it is to be a farmer's boy, eh?" you shout to a chap working a scythe tentatively, a little painfully.

"Oh, ay!" grins the mock yokel. "This is my Big Push, you know. This rate, we'll be fending pigs when the boys come home. . . . 'Ave a go at this darned scythe for ten minutes, and see if you'll ever sing 'I want to go back' again."

But that, of course, is just the khaki manner of grousing humorously about everything so that there won't be much time left for grumbling seriously about anything.

Up and down the further field—a fresh, pale green after the mowing—clatter R. E. tool wagons at wagon drill, wheeling and manoeuvring. Cantering round a circular track in a corner of the meadow is the recruits' ride—bare-backed and without stirrups, tripping like death with the muscles of the thighs. Unless you want your morals drenched in a torrent of unsavory adjectives, don't mention bare backs and cross stirrups to a recruit driver. . . . Yes, there's a chap down, as you say. But don't concern yourself. He wasn't thrown; he's fallen. These chaps are quite adroit at that when they feel fed up with it. Some are becoming so efficient at this particular trick that they'll be showing in a circus after the war. Think you the sergeant is bawling for the medical, with a stretcher? Not a bit of it. Hear for yourself!

"Get up there, you (asterisk) slack'er. Is it lights out' you're (asterisk) well after, eh? Gor' lumme, you 'av'n't the guts to stick on a (asterisk) guinea pig! Get up, man."

However, in case you find this mounted vocabulary a little cloying, ergies and grave expressions.

COMBLES AND THIEFVAL.

The glorious success that has attended the British operation at Combles has caused military observers to wonder and take a new view of the might of what was once termed by Wilhelm The Butcher "Britain's contemptible little army." That a fortress so carefully prepared as Combles should fall after but a comparatively brief attack was a distinct surprise to those gentlemen who have been carefully and closely following war events as they transpire. The Boston Transcript compared the task of the British to shooting Niagara Falls upward, or, in other words, said it was impossible. Yet it has been successfully performed.

It is known that the attack on Combles was not unexpected by the Germans. They had well prepared for it with the thoroughness that has characterized all their military operations, and the fact that their preparations and defenses proved unequal to the task of withstanding the British demonstrates better than anything else the mighty force that must have been concentrated in that final and successful onslaught.

The defenses of Verdun were not stronger than those confronting the British army when it launched its long expected offensive on Dominion Day. After the defeat at the Marne the Germans knew they could not hold the territory they occupied in France, and they also knew the path the eventual attack would take. Consequently they prepared for it and constructed fortifications comparable with those at Verdun and Metz, with this difference—the defenses of Combles and surrounding territory were underground instead of rising above the surface. These fortresses, or specially prepared trenches, were, in some places, forty feet deep, lined, so men who have seen them tell us, with concrete and steel, hard as armor plate, lighted by electricity, traversed by and connected with a system of underground roads, equipped with the latest and most terrible engines of slaughter and manned by the finest soldiers in the German empire.

In the light of such preparations it is quite conceivable that the German generals believed their positions impregnable and that against them it would be impossible for the British army to advance. Two years ago they might have been right, one year ago their opinion might not have been far astray. But in the past twelve months there has been a wondrous change on the western battle front, a change which became apparent only when the British started their long delayed drive, and which the triumph of Combles and Thiefval has demonstrated anew.

The British army today is the mightiest fighting machine in the world, in physical strength, equipment and all the essentials of successful war-making comparable with the armies Germany had in the field six months after the outbreak of war. When it strikes the blow has behind it a power that cannot be denied or evaded, a power that will eventually lead the followers of the Union Jack as conquerors in the Kaiser's capital and will bring the haughty Hun to his knees a suppliant.

The whole battle of the Somme has been an illustration of the effectiveness of the Allied forces. Guns greater than ever known and in such volume that their fire constituted an unceasing rain of death were concentrated upon the supposedly impregnable German defenses and battered them to pieces as the enemy battered Liege and Antwerp and Namur in the early days of this struggle. Against such a steady death dealing attack the most ingenious productions of German engineers could not stand and when the walls of steel and concrete had been smashed to atoms the British infantry—the finest foot soldiers history has known—completed the work of destruction. Despatches relate that the British found Combles a fortress and left it a charnel house, and judging by previous achievements the most roscate descriptions can well be believed.

More important than the positions captured by the British in their recent success is the effect that success must have upon the morale of the German soldiers. They have seen fortresses which, they were told, would stand to the end of the war crumbled into dust and positions they had successfully defended for months wrested from them by a foe they once held in contempt.

It can easily be imagined that the victory at Combles will have a material effect upon the duration of the war. Germany by this time must know the fate that will be hers, and it is not to be supposed that diabolical knowledge will tend to strengthen her arm or add to the determination of her resistance. One writer, enthusiastic over Roumania's decision to cast in her lot with the Allies, declared the action of Bucharest would shorten the war by six months. Who will attempt to estimate the effect the victories of the past few days may have in the same direction? The capture of Combles and the defeat of the German armies defending it looks like the most important achievement of the past year of conflict.

A TOUCHING TRIBUTE.

Since the outbreak of war the French government and people have done many things to win for them the esteem and honor of the world. The splendid gallantry of the French troops, the noble devotion of the French women and the great-hearted sincerity with which all classes of the people have entered into this war has had few parallels in history. Every act of the French nation since the war began has been worthy of the most glorious traditions of that nation, whose history for deeds of valor and sacrifice is not eclipsed in richness even by that of Britain. Quite recently the French government has given evidence of the grace and chivalry so characteristic of France. Official France has honored the British soldiers buried there by giving to the British title deeds forever of the land occupied by British dust. This fine act has aroused much emotion in Britain and London papers refer to it with deep feeling. One of the finest tributes of any paid by the British press is contained in the London Daily Telegraph. It is as follows:

"Without display and without sentimentality the government of the republic has simply consecrated and set apart for ever in special honor the cemeteries where the dead rest. Truly the grace of France falls never. They could have done nothing to give deeper or more serious pleasure to England; nothing that was more truly in accord with her own national tradition; nothing that better went hand-in-hand with our own ingrained habit of respect for the acres of God wherever they may be found. We have in our minds a fairly good idea of where those graves lie and what they look like. Here the cross that means so much to one may be clustered among a group within and beneath the shadow of a church or the interior of the pier and battered interior tell their own tale; or it may be set up there, within a peaceful enclosure under the poplars of the Year or the Canal. Here it may be inside a tidy and orderly court, surrounded by walls not so high as to prevent the sea wind playing with the ribands of a few wreaths; or there, by itself, in rear of a wrecked cottage with a crudely made fence around it. But wherever the grave may lie, there will be comfort in the thought that long after our own day it will still be spared and kindly thought upon. Yet this is not all that the French proposal will effect. Each of these countless little enclosures will be working in silence for the continued goodwill of two nations. From the little patch of ex-territorialized ground the dead will speak for generations. For we have given the best of England to France, volunteers every one, and the French will not fail to understand the meaning of Rupert Brooke's lines:

If I should die, think only this of me: That there's some corner of a foreign field That is for ever England. It is a gift of English earth that we are making, the best earth we have, earth that France has shown her anxiety to honor; and in the belief that in some way the loyalty of each man to a common cause will still be speaking to us that understand, we may leave our dead in all gratitude and in full understanding to the loving care of France."

Exit Kyte and Carvell

(Quebec Chronicle.)

It can be taken for granted that there are two men in the federal parliament who do not desire an election "until the war is over" and as long as it is possible. Messrs. Carvell and Kyte see the "handwriting on the wall." They see in the returns from Carleton and Richmond the end of their political careers. For Carvell and Kyte were the two men who took their own political lives in their hands, who staked their political existence on their own activity as scandal mongers and their constituencies have given them their answer in language not to be misunderstood.

And while the result in Richmond, in the local election of June last was a stinging rebuke for Geo. W. Kyte and his attempt to throw discredit on the Borden administration in connection with the purchase of munitions to carry on the great struggle in which this country is at present engaged, the great majority rolled up in Carleton for the Conservative candidates, equally emphatic and equally ominous to the whole grist machine which plied its hopes of again coming into power on a campaign of slander and vituperation.

Kyte went to Richmond county fresh from his charges on the floors of parliament. The Halifax machine organ, in order to impress upon the voters of Richmond the nature of the "service" Kyte was rendering and to further impress upon them the fact that Kyte, in taking charge of the campaign in that county was thus seeking an endorsement of his unpatriotic course in parliament, printed his famous "speech" in full. The question in that campaign was therefore "Do the electors of Richmond vindicate Mr. Kyte and his policy of slander?" And the electors answered "We do not."

And so with Carleton, Mr. Carvell, who, by the way, is reported to be the man who supplied the ammunition for Mr. Kyte's "speech," and who led the forces of slander in the federal house, took the issue to his constituents and on Thursday they gave him their answer.

In the two contests the issue was plain. Federal issues were not introduced by the Liberals as a side issue. The two contests were fought out on the scandal part of the British Conservative and the results are splendid, every one an emphatic endorsement of the loyal and sound policy of the Borden administration, and a crushing condemnation of the unpatriotic policy of the opposition.

One thing is morally certain and that is that the electors of Richmond and Carleton will retire Messrs. Kyte and Carvell into the cool shades of opposition at the first opportunity.

A WORTHY CAUSE.

To the Editor of The Standard: Dear Sir,—On Tuesday, the 26th inst., as the daily papers have recorded, an entertainment was tendered by the mayor and commissioners of this city, by the children of the Good Shepherd convent. The entertainment clearly showed the care, attention and untiring devotedness of the good sisters, and Commissioner McLellan in expressing his appreciation voiced not only the feelings of the audience but placed himself on record as being willing to do all in his power to fight for the recognition that this institution should receive either from the government or the city.

Those who heard Mr. McLellan could not but be impressed with his earnestness, and furthermore with the fact that he intends showing his appreciation in a practical manner. This institution has wrought untold good in this city, quietly but thoroughly doing its work for all classes irrespective of creed, and the friends of the institution have good reason to be pleased that a man of Mr. McLellan's energy and perseverance will take up the work of giving these good sisters some financial support.

Thanking you for the space in your valuable paper, "ONE PRESENT." St. John, Sept. 28.

The Chamber of Deputies recently discussed a bill, introduced by M. Brunson, relating to the duration of the war the whole French merchant fleet. M. Nall, Under-Secretary for the Merchant Marine, expressed the opinion that partial requisitions were preferable affecting alternatively all shipping companies. A reduction in freights, indicated M. Nall, was impossible until there was an understanding between all the maritime nations, without exception. M. Nall considered that an understanding between the Allies regarding a reduction of freights was a sufficient

I was looking throo the fotograf album up in the setting room, and the door bell rang, and I went down to answer it, taking the album with me, and it was Mr. Parkins to see my sister Gladis, and I called up stairs to Gladis and went in the parlor after Mr. Parkins and keep looking throo the album in there, and I turned over a page and what was on the other side but picture of a baby smiling with no clothes on saying under it, Gladis at the age of 4 months.

G, Mr. Parkins, wat you think? I sed. And I took the picture out of the album, and Mr. Parkins sed, O I dont know, wat do you think? Heere a picture of Gladis I bet you never saw before, I sed.

Realy, well, lets have a peek at it, sed Mr. Parkins. I dont know if Gladis wood want me to, I sed. Wy not, isent it a pritty picture? sed Mr. Parkins.

Yes, shes smiling and all, I sed, and Mr. Parkins sed, come across with it then, and I sed, I dont know if Gladis wood want me to and Mr. Parkins said, O, come now, whats on the picture she woodent want me to see?

Its not wats on it that Im thinking of, I sed. Meening I was thinking of wat wasent on it, and jest then Mr. Parkins ran over and grabbed it out of my hand and looked at it, saying, O, hevins. And jest then Gladis wawked in and Mr. Parkins quick stuck the picture in his cote pocket, and Gladis sed, wats that your hiding from me, Mr. Parkins, come on, now, I demand to see.

O, its nothing, realy, its foolish, its nothing at all as a matter of fact, sed Mr. Parkins. And Gladis ran over and put her hand in his pocket and pulled the picture out and looked at it, saying, Benny Potts. And I ran out of the room with her after me, and she cawt me at the top of the 3rd story stairs and pulled my hair and shook me like anything, saying, Now you go down stairs and tell him I have a headache and cant see him tonite. And she went in her room and shut the door, and I went down and told Mr. Parkins, and he got his hat and cane and went, saying, Your a little kid, thats wat you are. And I got my cap and went out, thinking Gladis must be pritty consented to think she looked any different from uther babies wen she was one.

measure. Moreover, the Bill which had been passed relating to war profits would render useless the total requisition of the merchant marine.

M. Chaumet urged the establishment of a central fund by shipowners pooling their profits with the object of assisting shipbuilding after the war.

Admiral Laeaze, Minister of Marine, said he feared that a bill to requisition all ships would meet with great difficulties in application, and he considered it wise to allow shipowners the opportunity of realizing profits which would permit them to replace their vessels on the conclusion of peace.

The Chamber defeated by 250 votes to 209 the motion to refer M. Brunson's bill to a committee, and adopted M. Brunson's resolution on the bill after a slight amendment.

The following is an interesting extract from a report of the British Committee on Public Accounts: "On the outbreak of war the peace system was modified as being too slow to meet the requirements of the army, and the War Office at once resorted to direct negotiation, appointing expert agents to go round and buy from stock, or negotiate direct deals with manufacturers. The whole procedure, however, was soon found to be unsatisfactory, as the government was taking nearly as much as some industries could produce, and in some cases wanted far more, so that all the goods offered had to be accepted irrespective of price. . . . In June, 1915, the War Office began to require manufacturers, in submitting their prices on tenders, to justify those prices by giving a statement of the costs of manufacture; and in cases where these were clearly exorbitant, negotiations were entered into to reduce the prices asked. Further developments took place from time to time, and culminated at length on February 15, 1916, in an amendment to the Defense of the Realm Regulations, by which power is given, in the last resort, to requisition the output of any factory in the country and to pay for that output at a fair agreed price, which the contractor has to show to be reasonable by producing his costs of manufacture

DO YOU NEED A MATTRESS?

If so, don't buy until you have seen the "Dixie No Tuft," the mattress which has revolutionized the bedding business. The absence of tufts does away with the hard spots which tufting inevitably produces, and with the depressions at every tuft which are gathering places for dust, dirt and germs.

Our space is too limited to describe in detail why the Dixie has twenty-five per cent. more elasticity than the tufted type; why it presents a better appearance at first, and why it keeps that appearance after other mattresses have spread and sagged out of shape.

But if you will write or phone us for a circular which fully describes all these points, or, better still, call and let us show you samples, we feel sure that you will agree with us that it is the BEST ON EARTH.

In a letter written from Mesopotamia about ten days before his death, Sir Victor Horsley communicated to the British Medical Journal facts and opinions relating to the army medical arrangements in Mesopotamia. In the latest issue of that journal it is stated that the three main points of the letter are: "First, that it was written in order that the case of the responsible medical officers in Mesopotamia should not be prejudiced, as he feared

PRESBYTERIAN W.M.S. ENDS ITS SESSIONS

Many Matters of Interest in Missionary Work Brought Forward—Election of Officers—A Record of Valuable Work.

The sixth and concluding session of the fourth annual meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church, eastern division, was attended by a large number last night in St. David's church. The two other sessions, one in the morning and one in the afternoon, were also well attended and many matters of interest were brought forward.

In the afternoon the principal matter brought up was the presentation of the report of the nominating committee for election of officers for the ensuing year. Subsequently the following officers were declared duly elected: President, Mrs. A. W. Thompson, Picot; honorary presidents, Mrs. Jos. Annand, Hantsport; Mrs. Robertson, New Hebrides; Mrs. Isaac Murray, New Glasgow, and Miss Blackadar, Trinidad; vice-presidents, Miss Carmichael, New Glasgow; Mrs. Baxter, Halifax; Mrs. J. H. Thomson, St. John; Mrs. Bruce, Campbellton; Mrs. William McLeod, Sydney; Mrs. D. McD. Clarke, Wallace; Mrs. Dawson, Bridgewater; Mrs. O. M. Hill, Yarmouth; Mrs. Bayne, Mabou, C. B.; Mrs. Millan, Alberton, (P.E.I.); corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. E. Forbes, New Glasgow; recording secretary, Miss Bessie Wallace; secretary international congregations, Miss Annie Murray, New Glasgow; secretary mission band, Miss Millicent Chase; educational committee, Mrs. A. W. Thompson, Miss Carmichael, Mrs. William McNab, Mrs. McCollough, Miss Chase; message committee, Mrs. McNab, Miss Chase.

The report of the junior mission band was most encouraging. There was a round table talk having for its subject mission band activities, and it was shown that a great amount of good had been accomplished through this agency. The reports read by Mrs. McLean, North Sydney, Miss Sinclair, St. John, and Miss Murray, New Glasgow, all proved that in social service work good results had been achieved.

In the evening, Rev. Robert Johnstone, Halifax, convener of the home mission board, gave a helpful address on the subject of home missions. The home mission secretary's report was read by Mrs. L. A. Moore. A solo by Mrs. Crockett was much appreciated, as also a duet by Mrs. Crockett and A. T. Smith.

There was an interesting discussion on matters left over for consideration at previous sessions, followed by Bible reading and a good address by Mrs. Owen Campbell, on "Giving," members from Inverness and Sydney presbyterial taking part, afterwards, in a general review of the subject. Various resolutions of thanks and appreciation in connection with the work done by individuals and bodies connected with the W. M. S. were passed unanimously. It was reported that the number of delegates present at the sessions was 153. An invitation was presented from St. Andrew's church, Picot, expressing the wish that the next annual meeting may be held there. A vote of $1,000 was made to the Maritime Home for Girls at Truro and a like amount to the Rescue Home at Sydney.

At the morning session a comprehensive report on branches was read by Miss Muirhead. It was agreed to endeavor to raise $5,000 to erect a dormitory for a proposed girls' school in San Fernando, with the understanding that Mrs. John Morton's name should be associated with the undertaking, this lady having been a pioneer in missionary work in Trinidad.

Rev. R. P. McKay, secretary of the board of foreign missions, gave an address, telling of missionary efforts in Trinidad. Funds were allocated as follows:

Trinidad—Home support and dormitories, $1,000; salary of Miss Ford, $650.
 San Fernando—Girls' high school, $218.
 British Guiana—Teacher training, $600.
 Korea—Three girls' secondary schools, $1,200; Bible institute, $100; Miss Kirk and helper, $788; Miss MacKinnon, $760; Dr. Kate MacMillan's expenses, $591.75; medical expenses, $460.

Throughout the six sessions the greatest interest was taken in the work of the W.M.S., and it was clearly shown that in a large number of ways the past year of activity was one of great interest and value.

"MILITARY MOLLY" MADE HER BOW TO ST. JOHN LAST NIGHT

Patriotic Fair in St. Andrew's Rink Under Auspices of Rotary Club Drew Large Crowd Last Evening—Booths Well Patronised.

Military Molly came to town last night and held a reception at the St. Andrew's Rink, which was attended by a large number of her friends and well wishers. The members of the Rotary Club have worked hard the last few days, and last night when the time came to throw open the doors at eight o'clock everything was in apple pie order, and each and every person was on hand to see that no person who entered the rink got away again with any loose change on his or her person, and they labored to such good purpose that over $1,000 was obtained from those who attended the fair. The door prizes were drawn by Dr. J. H. Frink and the lucky numbers were: 1st, Scotch lap rug, $21; 2nd, hand embroidered sofa cushion, $13; 3rd, ladies' hand bag, $31; none of these were claimed last night but they can be obtained at the rink any time up to Saturday night. Over 2,000 persons passed through the doors last night and the club are naturally gratified with the reception accorded the fair and are looking forward to an even larger attendance tonight. There will be three good door prizes again tonight.

The first thing which struck one on entering the building was the way the bare walls and ceiling had been converted into a veritable bower of beauty by the use of myriads of flags of the various nations of the Entente.

The booths were trimmed in the national colors and they certainly looked well. The band stand was located at the western end of the building and from it the City Cornet band discoursed sweet music all the evening. The Rotary Club appreciate very much the splendid offer of the band to provide music for the three nights of the fair and last night their programme was thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowd present.

One booth which did a thriving business all evening was the "Baby Killers." In this a large board had been set up with emblems of the members of the German royal family inset. The game was to knock these down with a baseball and those in charge were kept busy handing out balls to those who wanted to get a crack at the Kaiser.

Another booth which seemed to be a great favorite was where if you were lucky you got a pooodle dog with electric eyes.

Tickets for the good things to be had in the grocery booth were also very much in demand for everybody wanted a dollar's worth of groceries for ten cents.

The book store did a very good business and those in charge would appreciate the following statement of expenditures in his department:

Expenditures for the year include $4,800 for asphalt macadam pavement on Charlotte street extension; $2,000 for permanent paving on Main street; about $13,000 for broken stone paving and repairs on various streets, including a considerable amount in Carleton; $14,000 for street cleaning and watering; $2,500 for public grounds; $38,440 for items beyond control of the commissioner and including $20,590 for interest and sinking fund; $8,600 for salaries; $1,900 for insurance; $700 for rent; $6,738 for part payment of overdraft of 1914, $88 for overdraft of 1915.

Expenditure from Jan. 1st to May 1st, 1916:

Material	$ 8,881.63
Salaries and wages	19,279.83
Total	$28,161.46

This does not include interest. The total appropriation for the current year was $111,560; of this there was an uncontrollable amount of $38,000. The controllable amount was $73,560, less the expenditure to May 1st of $28,161.46, leaving a total to the disposal of the new commissioner of $45,398.54.

The total expenditure to September 12th, including unpaid bills, labor, material, etc., is $108,047. The balance on hand is $3,502.48. This does not include income from retaining walls, etc.

NEW CITY HALL NOW TALKED OF

Mayor Hayes' Request for Anteroom Brings Up Whole Question of New Building—No Action Taken.

At the committee-meeting of the Common Council held yesterday afternoon several matters were considered. All the commissioners were present.

Commissioner McLellan referred to the letter of Hiram Webb & Son, in the globe of Wednesday, and claimed that Mr. Webb was only employed on the installation of the fire alarm system in a subordinate capacity, and defended the action of the council in giving the work on the West Side to F. P. Vaughan without tender.

Commissioner Fisher asked that an early date be fixed for the consideration of the request of residents on Union street that they be refunded money paid under the local improvement act. It was decided to take up the matter on Monday.

A communication was read from the road engineer advising against calling for tenders for the work on Clarendon street and advising that the rock be taken out by the employees of the public works department. In this connection the commissioner of public works said that it might be possible that the work would interfere with entrances to houses already built there.

Commissioner McLellan thought that the work should be gone on with.

Commissioner Fisher reported that he would have to close Mill street from Union to North to traffic for two weeks.

This was strongly opposed by Commissioner McLellan who claimed that such a proposal was ridiculous.

Commissioner Fisher reported that he had had an application for permission to cut the flowers on the squares and sell them for patriotic purposes and it was decided to grant the request.

The commissioner of public works

DENTAL EXAMINATIONS.

The provincial dental examinations were held Tuesday and Wednesday of this week in Dr. Bonnell's office, 22 Germain street. The dental examiners were Dr. H. S. Thompson, Moncton, and Dr. Bonnell, St. John. The following took the examinations: Dr. Y. E. Gaudet, St. Josephs, a graduate of the Baltimore Dental College; Dr. Walter J. Kennedy, Boston, a graduate of Tufts College; Dr. George R. Smith, Hampton, graduate of Harvard College; Dr. J. E. Sewell, Fredericton, a graduate of Tufts College; Dr. R. E. Brennan, Montreal, graduate of Laval University.

The want in Lille is very serious and people have even died of starvation. Potatoes cost about 16 cents a pound. The task of the municipal authorities is very difficult, for on the one hand, they have to meet the unceasing claims of the German military authorities and on the other side, they are faced by their thousands of hungry inhabitants. The huge wheels of the mine-shafts, which have been standing idle for nearly two years and are mostly damaged, form melancholy landmarks of a once industrious area. Outside Lille soar the sack-shaped captive observation balloons. Motor cars, ammunition carriages and transport columns rush to and fro, but that is now the only trace of what was once one of the busiest industrial centres of France.

The old myth that the big guns are responsible for rainy weather dies hard in France. M. Angot, chief of the French weather department, recently tried to bring home to a prying reporter what a tremendous thing are the forces of nature, and what a very little thing is man, even when he is blasting half the world to pieces with the roar of his artillery across a dozen continents.

"Our most wonderful act," he says, "are so infinitesimal in comparison with the complex phenomena of the atmosphere that we might just as well attempt to bridge the ocean as to try and bring about rain."

The executive who had charge of preparing for the big event was: H. G. Marr, G. L. Warwick, F. W. Roach, H. W. Rising, R. D. Paterson, R. S. Ritchie, F. G. Spencer, E. A. Schofield, H. L. Ganter, John Bond and F. A. Dykeman.

Capl. A. L. Mulcahey had charge of the decorating, and he did his work to the king's taste.

A. K. Mudge looked after the stock as it came in, and he was kept busy all the time.

Miss Bella Tufts made a very efficient Military Molly, and disposed of a large supply of flags, in fact she was so successful that early in the evening she ran out of stock, but she will be there tonight and have enough for everybody.

BASEBALL IN THE BIG LEAGUES

NATIONAL LEAGUE.
Philadelphia 8, Brooklyn 4.
Brooklyn, Sept. 28—Philadelphia overwhelmed Brooklyn today by a score of 8 to 4 in the first game of their final series, the result of which may prove a decisive factor in the National League pennant race. By winning, Philadelphia reduced Brooklyn's lead to less than half a game. The contest, which was witnessed by a big crowd, was an erratic exhibition. Both teams made costly errors and brilliant plays. The score: Philadelphia..... 03040010—8 3 3 Brooklyn..... 00102010—4 9 1 Batteries—Alexander and Killifer; Cheney, Coombs and Miller.

Boston Out of the Race.
New York, Sept. 28—Boston was practically eliminated from the National League pennant race today, when New York twice defeated the Braves, 2 to 0 and 6 to 0. The victories boosted the New York's winning streak to twenty-five straight games. Schupp gave another finished performance in the second game. Not a man reached base against him until the sixth inning, when Blackburn walked. Konechky got the only hit, a single in the seventh. Kauff hit a home run in the third inning of the second game with the bases full. The score:

(First game)
Boston..... 00000000—0 6 0
New York..... 00010100—2 6 1 Batteries—Rudolph and Gowdy; Tesreau and McCarty.

(Second game)
Boston..... 00000000—0 1 3
New York..... 01000000—6 11 1 Batteries—Ragan, Nehf and Gowdy; Blackburn; Schupp and McCarty, Koehler.

AMERICAN LEAGUE.
Washington 4, Philadelphia 1.
Philadelphia, Sept. 28—Washington today won the second game of the series from Philadelphia, 4 to 1. Galia pitched effectively. The score: Washington..... 00000110—4 11 1 Philadelphia..... 00100000—1 6 1 Batteries—Gallis and Henry; Nabors, Bressler and Schaeg.

New York 4, Boston 2.
Boston, Sept. 28—New York came from behind today and won a ten-inning game from Boston, 4 to 2. In the tenth Walter, led off with a two-bagger, went to third when Walker fumbled the drive, and scored on McGrigg's single to left, which got by Lewis. The score: New York..... 0000100102—4 11 0 Boston..... 1010000000—2 6 1 Batteries—McGrigg and Walters; Mays and Cady.

GIANTS BREAK WORLD'S RECORD

Twenty-three Straight Wins for McGraw's New York Nationals a Wonderful Big League Performance.

New York, Sept. 28.—Winning two games here today from the Boston Braves, the Giants scored 25 straight victories, smashing the world's major league record for consecutive games won in one season. The former mark—20 games—was made by the famous Providence Grays in 1884.

In the 32 years since Providence set the 20-game record, the figure has been threatened several times by big league clubs but never equalled or surpassed before. In 1904 the Chicago American League club won 19 in a stretch. The New York Giants ran 18 straight in 1904 and 17 games earlier this season.

Several minor league clubs have exceeded these figures, the best records being 27 games by the Corsicana club of the Texas League in 1902; 25 games by the Charlotte club of the Carolina League in the same year, and 24 games by the Jersey City club of the Eastern League in 1903.

In winning 25 games straight the Giants actually figure in 26 games, since one contest ended in a tie and was eliminated from consideration in computing the winning streak. In one respect, however, the record does not compare with that of the Providence club, as pitcher Charley Rootbourne twirled the Grays to victory in 18 out of the 20 games won by his club in the 1884 stretch of conquests.

The complete list of Providence games won was as follows:

ONLY HALF GAME BETWEEN NATIONAL LEADERS

Philadelphia Defeats Brooklyn and Noses Up to Within Half Game of the Top.

New York, Sept. 28.—Less than half a game separates the league leaders, the Brooklyn team and Philadelphia, in the National pennant race as a result of today's victory of the latter over the former. Brooklyn must get an even break in the two remaining contests with the champions to remain in first place, when its important four-game series starts with New York. Philadelphia has a hard series in front too, a six-game set-to with Boston. The standing:

Won. Lost. P.C.

Brooklyn	90	58	.60811
Philadelphia	88	57	.60689
Boston	84	60	.58333

Boston lost half a game in the American League race today, and leaves Chicago and Detroit still in the hunt. Chicago is two and a half games behind, and Detroit four. The standing:

Chicago	86	64	.57333
Detroit	85	65	.56558

ANOTHER TRACK RECORD SMASHED

Charlottetown, Sept. 28.—Seven thousand people saw the exhibition races today. Conditions were ideal for fast time, the weather being unusually hot and track excellent. The track record of 2:16 for pacing was broken in the free-for-all by Lacopia, who did the first and third heats in 2:13½, the second heat 2:15 and won the race in three straight heats. In the third heat he paced the half in 1:04 the fastest half in Maritime Provinces since Francis broke the record. Bob Mack pressed him hard in every heat and in the third heat was only a neck behind. Little Smoke won the 2:30 pace in three straight heats by fair margins. Brage won the 2:27 trot, taking three heats of four, losing to Keltie in the second by a head.

This closes the races, today's being the best of the series. Each day's record was smashed. Hammon Kelly drove Biona, a mare owned in River John, N. S., to beat her record of 2:25, and did an exhibition mile in 2:24½.

Craven "A" Virginia Cigarettes

Cigarette Superiority

Paying more for cigarettes with fancy flavors and pungent aromas doesn't buy better tobacco or superior cigarettes. You're only paying the freight on long distance shipments and valueless handling.

Virginia—the home of Tobacco—supplies the world with the finest and mildest cigarette leaf grown.

Craven "A" cigarettes are all pure, sun cured Virginia—lively and mellow—specially blended from selected first quality leaf of different strengths. The result is a superior cigarette that will instantly earn your preference, for it leaves no dry, ciggerty after-taste and no dullness.

Craven "A" Virginia is a particularly likeable cigarette and the biggest value on the market—the distinctive "flavor personality" with the first pack will evidence its superiority.

FREDERIGTON HORSE BREAKS A LEG

James K. Newbro, Famous Indiana Importation, Falls During Workout and Breaks Right Foreleg.

Special to The Standard.
Fredericton, Sept. 28.—James K. Newbro (2:13 1-2), one of the best known race horses in the maritime provinces, broke his leg at Fredericton trotting part this afternoon while on the second half of a workout mile. The horse is owned by H. G. Kiteben, this city, having been imported from Indiana, and has been one of the most successful campaigners to race in the maritime provinces in the last five years.

James K. Newbro had worked two miles, the first one in 2:12, the second in 2:13, and had gone the half in 1:05 on the third mile, but while on the second half made a misstep and fell on the track breaking his right foreleg. He was being put in shape by his trainer Tommy Raymond for the races at Chatham next week.

DID YOU EVER THINK

why that skin trouble, from which you are suffering, will not heal? It is because it is so deeply rooted that ordinary ointments are incapable of penetrating to the seat of the disease.

Zam-Buk, on the contrary, is so refined that it is capable of reaching the underlying tissues, and that is why so many cases of skin trouble, which have defied all other treatments, have yielded to Zam-Buk.

Don't delay! Get a box of Zam-Buk and prove it for yourself. Not only is it best for eczema and all skin troubles, but also for ringworm, ulcers, old sores, blood-poisoning, boils, piles, burns, cuts and all skin injuries. All druggists or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box, $3 for $1.25.

TODAY'S LITTLE JOKE. Slightly Ambiguous.

The grammar school principal went from room to room explaining what to do in case of fire.

"Above all things," he said, "if your clothing catches fire, remain cool."

THE COMPETITION. (Concluded today.) "The famous old trout, I think, sir," he began.

"No, sir," he replied. "This is a specimen of Gadus aeglefinus."

"Then possibly you know the specimen by the more homely name of haddock," said Mr. Beaumont.

"This is an ordinary haddock, Ramsay and it is a salt water fish!"

Young Ramsay opened his mouth and omitted to shut it again. He didn't know very much about angling, but he knew enough to realize that there was something wrong in a haddock being caught in a fresh water stream.

"Yes, sir, at a quarter to eight—I did really, sir."

"But it is utterly impossible, Ramsay."

"No, sir, it isn't—because I did catch it. You ask Saxby, sir, for I believe he saw me. At least, I ran past him when I went to get my tackle from the bridge."

"I think I can explain, sir," he said. "Ramsay did catch a big fish, and—put it into his basket. Then he rushed off, and from where I stood I could see the fish struggling in the basket."

"I couldn't stand that, sir, so I put the fish back in the river."

"Good gracious, Saxby—"

"I couldn't help it, sir; but it didn't seem fair that Ramsay should lose the prize; so I bought him another fish at the shop across the road and chose one just about the same size, sir, though I can't be certain of the weights. Ramsay's fish was just as thick round as—that," added Saxby, spreading his fingers into a circle.

"I—I'm awfully sorry, sir," went on Saxby. "There was nothing unfair about the scheme. If I hadn't made the mistake of buying a haddock instead of a trout—I don't know much about fish, and they looked very much alike to me sir."

"What is to be done about the prize, boys?" he asked. "Nicholls, you have the best catch brought to me—what do you suggest?"

Who's Who and What's What in the Picture World and on the Stage—Favorites and What They Say and Do.

OPERA HOUSE.

The Dupe. A Social Secretary is the latest role in which we in St. John can see on the screen, the acting of Blanche Sweet. She is the unsophisticated secretary, and just privately and between ourselves, we know she was sweet and good, but we thought a social secretary had to have a little training.

There is a fine fox hunt incorporated in the picture, but I'd like to teach the actors how to drink afternoon tea. When they got their cups they did not seem to know what to do with them.

A funny Bobby Bumps and his irrepressible dog cartoon and some Dime pictures of wild animals at home (including the domestic cat, whom we never knew was so wicked), were the introduction to "The Dupe" at the Opera House.

And then came "Liberty" the second chapter, and after seeing Marie Walcamp's wild ride, dragged by an infuriated horse, you will simply have to see next week's chapter. It is impossible to describe this serial as the action follows on so swiftly, but there is interest and excitement enough in each episode to suit everyone.

UNIQUE. The Sand Lark. The location of this picture, a three reel Knickerbocker Star Play, is most picturesque, and the breaking waves dashing high on a stern and rock-bound coast form a fine background for the events which take place.

Mr. Beaumont was looking at the catch in such a funny way, in fact, the master went very near gasping aloud. "Ramsay, what in the world does this mean?" he said at last.

"Is it, sir?" "Do you know what Gadus aeglefinus means?" "No, sir."

"Then possibly you know the specimen by the more homely name of haddock," said Mr. Beaumont.

"This is an ordinary haddock, Ramsay and it is a salt water fish!"

Young Ramsay opened his mouth and omitted to shut it again. He didn't know very much about angling, but he knew enough to realize that there was something wrong in a haddock being caught in a fresh water stream.

BAPTIST MINISTERS IN SESSION

Ministers' Institute of Baptist Association Held at Woodstock Tuesday and Wednesday - Praise for New Prohibition Act.

Woodstock, Sept. 26.—The Ministers' Institute in connection with the Baptist Association was opened at 2:30 p. m. Rev. Mr. Wentworth, vice-chairman, called the session to order and led the devotional exercises. Officers for ensuing year were elected: President, Rev. T. D. Bell; vice, Rev. A. A. Hovey; sec., Rev. J. G. A. Belyea.

During the session three papers were presented. One was on "The Second Coming of Christ," by Mr. Manzer. The second paper was prepared by Dr. Hutchinson on "What a Pastor Thinks Pastor Should Be." The last hour of the session was spent in discussing "The present attitude of the temperance question," by Rev. W. D. Wilson. This proved to be a discussion of temperance legislation recently passed in which the advantages of the bill over the Scotch Act were pointed out in several respects, also the several parts of the bill which might also be misunderstood and misinterpreted.

The speaker showed how useful it was for all to get busy that act may be operative over the whole province by May 1st, 1917. The institute on motion endorsed the work which Rev. W. D. Wilson was doing and pledged his support. The exercises of the evening were directed by Rev. J. B. Ganon in the absence of Rev. G. A. Lawson, who is at Valcartier. Scripture was read by Rev. A. A. Alaby; prayer offered by Rev. Mr. Kinley. The sermon was preached by Rev. P. R. Hayward from John 9, 4. The after service led by Rev. C. P. Wilson was a session of much good.

Wednesday's Session. On Wednesday, in the absence of the president of the association, Rev. G. A. Lawson, who has answered the call of his country, the ex-moderator, Rev. J. E. Wilson, was called to the chair. After devotional exercises the following committees were appointed: Enrollment, nomination and arrangements, whose chairmen respectively were Revs. A. A. Alaby, W. Camp and F. L. Orchard.

BOND ISSUE BY TOWN OF CHATHAM

$40,000 to Pay for New Lighting Plant—Two of Town's Young Men Among Killed in Action.

Chatham, Sept. 27.—A meeting of qualified ratepayers on Tuesday evening voted to issue bonds to the amount of $40,000 for a new lighting plant. The meeting was presided over by Mayor Hickey.

Miss Effie Irving, daughter of Mr. John A. Irving, was married in Berlin, N. H., on Sept. 18, word of which has just reached her friends.

Two of Chatham's bright young men, Lieut. Cecil Smith and Pte. Charles Flegler, are among the recently killed heroes. Very genuine sympathy is felt for their families here, especially the widowed mother of Lieut. Smith. "Snook" thieves, probably the same gang that has been operating in Newcastle and Douglastown, entered no less than four farm houses at Perryville last night and helped themselves to money and eatables. A gold watch is reported missing from one of the places visited. They seem to be a hungry lot, as they make food a strong point in their raids.

The marriage of Miss Alice Muriel Baldwin, daughter of W. H. Baldwin, of Douglastown, to Prof. W. J. Estey of Saskatoon, took place at high noon today in St. Paul's church, Chatham Head, Rev. Archdeacon Forsyth officiating in the presence of a large number of friends. After a luncheon served at the home of the bride, the newly married couple left for a short trip to the principal New Brunswick towns. The bride received a large number of presents.

HOPEWELL HILL

Hopewell Hill, September 28.—Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Jonah of Dawson, who have been visiting for the past week their daughter, Mrs. J. C. Stevens, returned on Monday.

Mrs. David Mann of Pettitodiac, has also been the guest of Mrs. Stevens, returning yesterday to her home.

A very enjoyable birthday surprise party was held on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Mariner Tingley for their son Henry. A large number of young people were present and after a pleasant evening of games, etc., a delicious lunch was served, including a large birthday cake.

Mrs. Killam who has been visiting Mr. Howard Stevens for six weeks, left on Monday to spend some time in Curryville.

SIR JAMES WATSON'S OPINION CONSIDERED MOST VALUABLE.

He says that the commonest of all diseases, and one from which few escape is Catarrh. Sir James firmly believes in local treatment, which is best supplied by "Catarrozone." No case of Catarrh can exist where Catarrhozone is used; it is a miracle worker, relieves almost instantly and cures after other remedies fail. Other treatments can't reach the diseased parts like Catarrhozone because it goes to the source of the trouble along with the air you breathe. Catarrhozone is free from Cocaine, it leaves no bad after effects, it is simply nature's own cure.

Beware of dangerous substitutes offered under misleading names and meant to deceive you for genuine Catarrhozone which is sold everywhere; large size containing two months' treatment costs $1.00; small size 50c; trial size 25c.

THE POLICE COURT.

In the Police Court yesterday Dr. L. M. Curran and W. T. Gunn were fined $25 each for speeding on Douglas Avenue.

The case against J. S. Gibbon & Co. reported for having a horse on Brussels street without a foot strap, was again postponed, after Mr. Gibbon had stated to the court that he had received permission from the commissioner to dispense with the foot strap, as his tram was used to carry bags of charcoal, and made frequent stops, principally at grocery stores, and it is never out of the view of the driver.

Two drunks were remanded. Fines of $50 each were allowed to stand against Mrs. Crewe and Mary Jones on a disorderly house charge, providing they leave the city.

FOR MAJOR MAGEE'S BATTERY.

Will you help send Christmas boxes to the members of the 1st Heavy Battery, commanded by Major Frank C. Magee, D. S. C.? There are 218 members. What the men would like most are candy, tobacco, cigarettes, cakes, gum, etc. Those willing to assist may send donations to Magee Limited, 50 Charlotte street, up to Wednesday next. Money will be accepted instead of gifts, and the ladies will convert it into gifts for the soldier boys. Further information may be had from Mrs. F. C. Magee, 24 Queen street, phone Main 779, or Mrs. William Vassie, 213 Germain street, phone Main 49.

Will Condemn Service.

Rev. R. P. MacKay of Toronto, and ex-Moderator of the Presbyterian General Assembly, who is spending a few days in the city, will conduct the communion service in St. Andrew's church tonight at eight o'clock.

GOT DIARRHOEA FROM DRINKING BAD WATER.

Had To Give Up Work.

Mr. H. M. Ryckman, Port Rowan, Ont., writes: "Last year I was out in Saskatchewan. The water was very bad and I was taken with diarrhoea. In a few days I was in such bad shape I had to stop work. I got a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and had only taken a few doses when it was stopped, and I was soon able to go back to work again."

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry has been on the market for the past seventy years, and has had such great success in curing all bowel complaints that many firms have undertaken to provide a substitute for it, even going so far as to use a similar name.

Do not be led into taking a substitute for "Dr. Fowler's" but insist on getting what you ask for.

"Dr. Fowler's" is safe and sure, but by taking some of these rank substitutes you may endanger your life.

Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry is manufactured only by The T. Millburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price 25c.

ANOTHER GOOD MEETING FOR THE "KILTIES"

Stirring Addresses at the Imperial Last Night on Behalf of Col. Guthrie's Battalion.

"May God call me to my last long sleep ere the time come when that British flag is hauled down from that pinnacle where our ancestors have placed it." The stirring words of H. A. Powell at last night's meeting.

The fourth recruiting meeting in St. John county for the purpose of filling the ranks of the 236th Kiltie Battalion was held last night in the Imperial theatre.

The results of the meeting were indeed encouraging, several young men offering their services to the appeal of Major Morgan. There is no doubt that others were inspired by the eloquent speeches made last night and they will probably make application at the recruiting office within the next few days.

The delightful programme to which Mrs. Blake Ferris, Miss McHarg, the Gibb children and Piper Stevens contributed was greatly enjoyed by the audience.

John Keefe, father of Captain George Keefe, recently wounded with the 26th Battalion, made an admirable chairman. After calling the meeting to order, the chairman made a few remarks in which he stated that the purpose of the gathering was to secure men to fill up the ranks of the 236th Battalion.

Sergeant Whitenet was the first speaker. He referred to the work awaiting the men who enlist now. He alluded to the gallant part played by New Brunswick units and concluded his remarks by asking the young men of the city to do the khaki.

He was followed by Captain F. P. May of the 26th Battalion. Captain May spoke of the young men who can be seen day and night strolling up and down the streets of the city and frequenting places of recreation and amusement.

These men have just as much right to enlist as any of the boys who are now fighting upon the battle fields of Europe, said the speaker. He impressed upon the audience the necessity of co-operating with the recruiting officers in securing the men who can be best spared from civil life.

"There are many men looking over the sights on King street tonight who should be looking over the sight of a rifle," declared Captain May.

He said that he thought the voluntary system the best system in the world, providing that the young men did not abuse it.

"Many men are looking over the fall and winter styles 'in clothing,' clapping the speaker, 'when they can obtain the best and latest style of clothing, viz., a khaki suit, by signing the honor roll. About 3,000 men in the city are eligible to do the khaki and they should be made to do so.'"

Colonel J. L. McAvity followed Captain May. He said that the 236th Battalion would be recruited up to full strength within thirty days with every individual in the province doing his part.

The Scotch and Scotch-Irish should rally to the support of their own people, and enlist in one of the finest battalions to be raised in Canada. This is New Brunswick's fight as well as any other part of the Empire, and it is up to the people of New Brunswick to fill up the ranks of Lieut.-Colonel Guthrie's battalion.

BIG INDUSTRY ON THE COAST TO RUN AGAIN

O'Leary and Lee Have Purchased the Sutton Clark Fish Curing and Canning Plant at L'Etang and Will Operate It.

It is understood that O'Leary and Lee, of which firm Richard O'Leary, of Richibucto, is the head, has purchased the J. Sutton Clark fish curing and canning plant at L'Etang from the liquidators, the Bank of Nova Scotia and will immediately start operating there on a large scale.

O'Leary and Lee are among the largest firms in the fish business in the maritime provinces, and have branches at several points. It is understood that they will start canning lobsters and sardines just as soon as the plant can be gotten ready for use.

The news that this plant is to be run at full capacity again will be heard with pleasure by the residents of the lower part of the Bay. It will provide employment for a large number of hands, and will be another market for the lobster and sardine catch in that portion of the Bay.

CONGRATULATED ON HIS APPOINTMENT

Chief Justice McKeown Receives Address—Bar and Jury Join in Expressions of Good Will.

At the sitting of the Circuit Court yesterday morning, presided over by His Honor Chief Justice McKeown, a congratulatory address was presented by the grand jury on his appointment as successor to the late Chief Justice Landry.

Prof. R. Taylor, president of the Barristers' Society, on behalf of that organization, extended hearty congratulations. Hon. J. B. M. Baxter endorsed the remarks of Mr. Taylor. The address was presented by F. W. Daniel, foreman of the jury, and was in the following terms:

"We, the members of the Grand Jury at present attendant on your court, wish to convey to you our hearty congratulations on your appointment as chief justice of this province. As citizens also we feel that in the present stirring times the world over, there is need, more than ever before, of exalting the honor of our courts and the laws of our land, and it is our belief that in you we may look for strict and wise justice.

"It is our wish that your term of office may be a long and happy one with the satisfaction of duty well done."

A. H. Hanington also expressed his congratulations. Chief Justice McKeown thanked the grand jury and the bar for the kind feelings they had expressed. He referred to his appointment to the bench seven years ago, mentioning that on that occasion he had striven hard to obtain the appointment to which he felt he was entitled.

On this occasion, however, he never sought the honor, and coming as it did through no efforts of his own, and particularly from a party upon which he had no claims, he considered the honor even greater than his first appointment.

The address of the grand jury was to him a mark of satisfaction of his efforts from the business community. He hoped that this same feeling would always exist, that he would continue to hold the respect of the bar, and that his fulfillment of the duties of his new position would meet with their entire satisfaction.

The court adjourned until October 6th.

CANADA PAYING ABOUT $2,000,000 A MONTH IN SEPARATION GRANTS

Special to The Standard. Ottawa, Sept. 28.—Canada is now paying in separation allowances about two million dollars per month. In addition to this amount paid monthly by the Dominion treasury the Canadian Patriotic Fund is paying out about one million dollars per month. This is distributed amongst 75,000 families.

DIED. SUTHERLAND—In this city, on Thursday, Sept. 28th, Mrs. Euphemia Sutherland, in her eighty-seventh year, leaving three daughters and one son.

ONE MORE MAN ADDS NAME TO ROLL OF HONOR

Advance Party of 165th Has About Completed Arrangements for Arrival of Main Body—Military Notes.

Frederick Currie, of Everett, Mass., enlisted in the 236th Battalion in the city yesterday. The young man was born in Toronto but has been living in the United States for some time.

The advance party of the 165th Battalion have about completed arrangements for the arrival of the main body of the battalion, which is due to arrive here on Monday. Pending their presence in the city several families who have relatives in the battalion have removed to the city.

On Wednesday night several French-speaking families came to the city and have engaged rooms in order to be near their loved ones. It was learned last night from a fairly authentic source that in place of half a battalion the 165th Battalion has nearly 900 men on the muster roll. It is expected, with the men so near their own homes and friends, to complete the establishment of the unit in a very short time.

Meeting at Westfield. A recruiting meeting in the interest of the 26th Battalion will be held at Westfield, N. B., on Sunday afternoon. Several prominent speakers will deliver addresses.

Sergt. Major Chas. E. Delafield of the 145th Battalion, wanted in Moncton on two charges of desertion from the 145th and in Halifax on a charge of theft of $135, was arrested yesterday morning at Moncton and will be taken to Halifax.

Mr. and Mrs. John Pinney, East St. John, have received word that their oldest son, Gordon, aged 23 years, was wounded and admitted to general hospital at Etaples, Sept. 20. He had been previously wounded in November and went back to the trenches June 10.

The news also came that their son, Frank C., aged 19 years, died of wounds at the clearing station, Sept. 18th.

Lieut. Frank H. Tingley, Moncton, was discharged from hospital in Brighton, England, on Tuesday. It is said he is coming home soon to take an important command in connection with troops now being raised.

Angeo De Poies, Fedie Minghim and George Ferrite, Italian reservists, have been in the employ of John DeAngelis for the last three years, have been called home. They left on Wednesday for New York to sail on the first steamer for Naples.

Mrs. Alfred Leahy, 171 St. James street, Carleton, has received word that her brother, Pte. Thomas Christopher McGuire, infantry, had been officially reported killed on Sept. 15. He was a son of Mr. Thomas G. McGuire, of Allamette Island, Quebec, and was 22 years of age.

Word has reached Mrs. Jeremiah Kelly, 45 Magazine street, that her son, Driver Frederick J. Kelly, has been admitted to Hospital Guilford being accidentally wounded in the left thigh on September 26th. Driver Kelly enlisted in January, 1915, in the 5th A.S.C., and has been in the trenches for about a year. He is 22 years old and was employed in the C. R. roundhouse. His brother, Wilfred, is with him in the 5th A.S.C.

Announcement of the death of Rqbt. Stevens at No. 2 Field Ambulance, on Sept. 16th, was received in official advice to his mother, Mrs. Mary Stevens, Albert St. He died from wounds received about four months ago while fighting with the 26th Battalion. The deceased soldier has three brothers at the front. John is at the firing line with the 26th; James is at the front with the 55th, and Andrew went across with the 26th and was discharged as medically unfit after having suffered injury to his legs in England.

Pte. Stevens is survived by five children. He was in his 47th year and a short time before his enlistment for active service received a medal for having served 25 years in the artillery. His wife and father died while he was at the front.

DRESS ACCESSORIES. Very often a stylish attractive button is the making of the whole suit or coat. F. A. Dykeman & Co. are showing a very excellent range of imported buttons in all the newest colorings and shades. They are buttons such as you will find on high priced imported suits and coats, buttons that have a class in the trade. Their trimming department is very complete with all the new braids, etc. Silks and Velvets will be used largely for trimming purposes this fall, and in these you can find almost anything that you want at their store.
