

Women Take Very Active Part in To-days Voting

IN GREAT MANY PLACES ACT AS SCRUTINEERS FOR FIRST TIME IN THEIR LIVES

Heavy Vote Is Being Polled.

POSSIBILITY THAT LIBERAL LEADER DEWART MAY BE DEFEATED BY GOODERHAM—BECK HAS STRONG OPPOSITION IN LONDON—REFERENDUM WORKERS HAVE SPLENDID ORGANIZATION IN TORONTO WHERE BIG "NO" MAJORITY IS EXPECTED.

TORONTO, Ont., Oct. 20.—Indications early in the day were for a heavy vote in Toronto. At some of the polls, the voters were coming so steadily that they struck a rate of one to every two minutes for the first hour. Experienced campaigners declare that to be quite unusual and if the later hours of the day show a speeding up on that ratio there will be a tremendous vote registered.

The pep and the organization in the campaign is largely supplied by the referendum committee, the "Four No's workers". They have hundreds of women acting as scrutineers both inside and outside. Women who never near a polling booth before, who never touched a ballot paper, went out in the morning darkness to-day and took their places in the booths almost like seasoned veterans guiding the polls in the interests of the cause.

It is asserted that the forces were never so well and thoroughly organized as they are in this campaign, and a big Toronto majority of four No's is predicted. The referendum committee has hundreds of motor cars speeding over the city streets carrying voters to the polls. All these were volunteer workers. Men with business interests took the day off in order to serve the cause, and drove their cars where the women scrutineers directed them to go to get the ballots. The temperance workers had the party workers as well as the Liberty League backed off the map when it came to zeal and energy and enthusiasm.

A canvas of almost the entire city has been made in the last few weeks by women workers. Consequently the outside scrutineers at each poll had a typed list of the voters at his or her poll with certain markings opposite each name. Those marked and they were the voters who had to be routed out.

The referendum committee cars were used to good advantage in bringing out the vote of the old folks and these voters were sure "No." Referendum committee workers also went from poll to poll to see that every polling booth had its scrutineers both inside and out.

Of all ten Toronto seats probably there is more interest evidenced in the battle between H. H. Dewart and G. H. Gooderham. Rumors were rife that the Liberal leader and his followers were very dubious as to the result, and that in some quarters the result of Gooderham was conceded.

There are about 2,000 votes in that riding and the possibilities are many. Ordinarily it is a Conservative constituency and Conservative voters argued that the Tory voters who seeded three years ago had helped elect Dewart will not vote Dewart now when it is a general election and there are bigger issues at stake.

Both the candidates were out early and were active in directing their campaign workers. The contest between Major McBrien and Lieut. Ramsden for seat B is also conceded to be close, but there again the Conservatives are counting on a majority. McDonald, the labor nominee, is not conceded a chance by the workers of either party.

BECK'S MAJORITY MAY BE SMALL

LONDON, Ont., Oct. 20.—All signs point to a heavy vote being polled here to-day and while it is pretty well assured that prohibition will get a majority the result of the political voting will remain in doubt to the last minute. The only cause of the prohibition ballot which is feared at all by temperance forces is the last.

The Liberty League had a great parade on Saturday night which attracted about five or six hundred sympathizers, but many of these will vote "No" in the secrecy of the polling booths.

There is no use disguising the fact that Sir Adam Beck has met marked hostility at his meetings, especially at industrial plants, but it is a question whether this has not been carefully prearranged. How it reflects the voting prospects is doubtful.

The women's vote is the most difficult to estimate on the referendum. "No" certainly will predominate, but when the favored candidate has to be named personal considerations enter. Dr. Stevenson and his brother have done untold medical work for the poor people of the city without recompense for years, and this has its effect. The prevailing belief is that Sir Adam Beck will be returned but with only a small majority.

TOLMIE MAY SUCCEED DEWART

WINDSOR, Oct. 20.—Voting on candidates for the provincial legislature and the referendum on the liquor question in Essex county to-day saw more ballots cast than in any previous election in the history of the three ridings. Figures given out to-day showed a total of 47,384 persons eligible to vote, 24,090 being in the riding of Windsor, 11,634 in North Essex, and 11,146 in South Essex.

The campaign in Windsor was brought to a close Saturday night when Robert

TO RING FIRE BELL AND BLOW WHISTLES
AS PRINCE PASSES THROUGH

When the Prince of Wales and Royal party pass through here on the special train on Tuesday afternoon the citizens will be informed of the coming and passing through of the special train which will be at about 3:30 o'clock in the afternoon. Mayor Gross has requested Fire Chief Guerin to have the fire-bell ring as the train approaches the city, the manufacturers are then to blow their factory whistles. It is hoped to have the train pull through here slowly so that the Royal party will be able to at least have a glimpse of the city and to hear the recognition of their passing through here. The time mentioned is railroad time. This evening at 8:20 the Royal party pass through from Stratford on the G.T.R. to Guelph.

Laurier of Ottawa, nephew of Sir Wilfrid, addressed a large audience in city auditorium in the interests of Major J. C. Tolmie, Liberal candidate.

Reports on the voting during the morning indicated a heavy women ballot being brought out by the referendum. In the border cities located in the riding of Windsor there are 98 polling booths and at nine o'clock when they opened until noon, there was a continuous waiting list. Many Liberals in Essex county are calculating on the defeat of Hartley Dewart in Toronto and a consequence the election of Major J. C. Tolmie, should he be returned, to the leadership of Ontario Liberals.

WELCOME DROWNS ROAR OF CATARACT

PRINCE ADMIRE PEOPLE MORE THAN BEAUTIES

OF NIAGARA
NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Oct. 20.—The Prince of Wales was given an ovation which drowned out the roar of the cataract when he was officially received by this city to-day. His Royal Highness, in replying said he admired the gorgeous scenery and marvellous machinery of the power of the people. He regretted he could not visit Buffalo at this time.

HEAVY VOTE BEING POLLED

WOMEN VOTERS COME OUT AND USE THE BALLOT FOR FIRST TIME

Little To Indicate Result of Vote.
The indications are that a heavy poll will be recorded in the city to-day. The prevailing favorable weather is an impetus to many a voter who otherwise might be remiss with his franchise. The women's vote will be heavy considering the fact that this is the first election in which the franchise has been granted to women generally. The greater number of them it seems made use of the opportunity granted them and many were out at the polling booths early. The recording of their opinions by the women went off smoothly. In some cases the innovation was somewhat embarrassing for the ladies, but with the help of the returning officer they made proper use of both of the ballots which were handed to them. In a few cases the "better" halves wished to accommodate their wives in the way of helping them behind the curtain but there was nothing doing in this way, for the law explicitly prohibits any person from being in the part of the booth where the voting takes place, the ballot being secret.

An innovation at this election is the presence of women workers at the booths. In checking up the names of the voters who came and went they seemed to be as well versed and as competent at this job as hitherto have exclusively enjoyed the duties. To predict the result is a matter of speculation. Voters seemed to be mum, both on the referendum and on the list of candidates. The various candidates' supporters were busy all day long in the efforts to bring out the vote so that no chances would be taken in the final result.

PAINFUL MISHAP WAS MET WITH

A serious accident was met with by Mr. John Wintermayer, College street, as a result of which he is in the hospital suffering from two broken legs.

Mr. Wintermayer was engaged with others in the moving of a big heavy boiler at the Dominion Glue Works. Through a mishap the weight of the boiler got on his legs above the knee. The injured man was removed to the hospital. Although his injuries were very painful Mr. Wintermayer is doing well and his recuperation from the same should be comparatively rapid.

THE REALLY BURNING QUESTION—She: "You said! Can it be true that you made a bet at your club that if you proposed to me I would accept you?" He: "Well, I've proposed. Will you?" She: "How much did you bet?"—London Bystander.

THE CHANGES IN THE NEWS RECORD

Perhaps our readers are curious as to what will follow as a result of the change in the management of this paper.

The new management makes no criticism of the old. The Record has grown in the last twenty-five years into an important business enterprise. To-day it has thousands of subscribers and numerous advertisers whose patronage we value and whose goodwill we hope to retain.

Of course we shall make some changes. Just as men vary according to their nature their training, their point of view, and all that goes to make up the personality of the individual, so will these things be reflected in the newspaper. It is hoped that the Record will merit the approval of its readers of all shades of opinion, without regard to creed, politics or racial origin, if sincerity of purpose on our part is thought deserving of your consideration.

Our first aim will be to give you a real newspaper. That means a paper that will publish the news; that will not color the facts to suit particular interests, nor suppress the things the public ought to know. The news columns will give the truth as we find it—not opinions.

Of course we shall have opinions, but they will be expressed in the editorial columns. The paper will not be rankly partisan in politics. It will be independent in its views, but not neutral.

Its general policy will look to the upbuilding of the Twin City and the advancement of a national sentiment that will be Canadian in its aspirations, first, last and all the time. With that purpose our readers should be in accord, whether or not their forefathers came from Britain, from Germany or from the other distant lands of Europe and Asia. The Record will further consider it a privilege to assist in restoring the unity of purpose and of goodwill that prevailed of old among our people. To attain that there must be some give and take and perhaps some sinking of personal dislike. In all these things, this newspaper has a responsibility which we realize to the full.

From time to time, as may be possible and advisable, we hope to make such improvements in the paper itself as will convince you that the Record is vigorously advancing greater fields of achievement. Moreover, we shall always welcome the practical suggestions of the citizens.

Give us a little time, and we shall make the Daily Record the newest, brightest and most readable newspaper in western Ontario, bar none.

GETTING READY TO IMPORT LIQUOR IN DRY MANITOBA

(Special to The Record).
Winnipeg, Oct. 20.—Action will be taken by dry forces against the late mail order booze drive which anticipates early lifting of war-time prohibition and resumption of pre-war inter-provincial traffic which is entirely against jurisdiction of Province Government. The question has been raised as to the legality of the mail campaign, which liquor houses have inaugurated, flooding mails with price lists.

18 BANK BUILDINGS

Special To The Record.)
Winnipeg, Oct. 20.—One Winnipeg company is engaged on contracts for 18 branch bank buildings in Winnipeg and west. These are represented as follows:—Canadian Bank of Commerce eight branches, $134,000; Merchants Bank of Canada, three branches, $30,000; Bank of Montreal three branches, $27,000; and Union Bank of Canada, four branches, $66,000.

BRITAIN AND U. S. TO CONTROL GIBRALTAR

London, Oct. 20.—The statement made by Henry Morgenthau, on his return to the United States, suggesting that Great Britain share control of Gibraltar with the United States, was not generally reported here. The Morning Post alone carries something like a full report under the headline: "Gibraltar, a naive suggestion," but does not comment on Mr. Morgenthau's words. The Graphic refers somewhat vaguely to "Gibraltar proposal."

Paper comments in general terms urge the United States to accept mandate for Constantinople, Armenia and Anatolia, but pass by the Gibraltar recommendation as "a little obscure." Other papers do not comment on Morgenthau's statement.

WISH TO TAKE PART IN "RY." MANAGMENT

London, Oct. 20.—Railway employees ask share in management of companies, and it is hoped the companies will consider this proposal, said J. H. Thomas, Secy. of National Union of Railwaymen in a speech at Derby last night. He expressed the belief that railway employees could contribute to the management by reason of their experience and ability, and that in this capacity their services would be valuable to railroads and country.

GOOD WEATHER FOR ELECTION AND REFERENDUM VOTE TODAY

HEAVY VOTE REPORTED ALL OVER ONTARIO

Betting Favors Return of Hearst With Small Majority. Opinion Divided on Referendum, Both Sides Confident.

GOOD WEATHER FOR ELECTION
TORONTO, Oct. 20.—Reports from all corners of the Province of Ontario indicate a bumper crop of votes, in the elections to-day for the fifteenth Ontario Legislature and the balloting on the referendum for the repeal of the O.T.A., and its three kindred questions.

Generally fair and cool weather throughout the Province, harvesting completed, and roads in good shape in country districts, are contributing somewhat to the big vote being brought out to-day. The principal incentives however are the additional interest of the referendum and the general extension of the franchise to women. Polls opened in Toronto and neighborhood ridings at 6 a.m., and at 9 a.m. in all other parts of the province. In Toronto there was a large percentage of polling booths with a line-up of men and women awaiting the advent of the D.R.O. and his staff, to record their votes.

Women are nearly as prompt as the men in the early hours at the polling booths. They were acting as scrutineers as well as voters, and it was no secret that they were more posted and more interested in the referendum than in general elections, and as far as most of them were concerned the four "No's" had it.

Independent opinion here and betting is that the Hearst government will be returned with a large decreased majority, due mostly to incursions of the United Farmers of Ontario.

As to the referendum, opinion is considerably mixed. It is believed that voting all over the province will be generally four "Yes" or four "No's" and that the split ballot voter has been in most cases won over to one side or the other. Both sides of prohibition question express the greatest confidence this morning, and the leaders of all parties in the general elections are likewise in high hopes of success. The polls close all over the province at 5 p.m.

CONFIRM FALL OF KRONSTADT

ANNOUNCEMENT MADE BY BRITISH WAR OFFICE

London, Oct. 20.—White flag was hoisted over Russian fort of Kronstadt on Friday, it was announced by British war office to-day.

WIRE NEWS IN BRIEF From Many Quarters

London, Oct. 20.—Captain J. H. Thorpe, Coalition-Unionist candidate, was elected as member of Parliament for Rushmore division of Manchester in a recent by-election there.

DOMINION GOV'T WILL PRESS MATTER TO CONCLUSION
OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—Sir George Foster, representing the Dominion Government, to-day stated that legislation for the government acquisition of the Grand Trunk would be pressed to a conclusion. This was in reply to a Montreal dispatch which interviewed members of the Cabinet and expressed strong opposition to the proposal.

HOUSE CANNOT FINISH THIS WEEK
OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—There is no prospect that Parliament can conclude its sessions this week. The debate on the Grand Trunk deal is likely to take up several days and the Senate has to tackle it yet.

MILLION DOLLAR DEPOT AT EDMONTON.
Winnipeg, Oct. 20.—A million dollar depot and a heavy program of expansion will be undertaken by Canadian Railway in Edmonton, according to authoritative information. Plans are already under way and the company will commence the new station next year. It would be a big story high. It is also reported that the company will build shops in Edmonton, similar to the Ogden shops at Calgary.

ELECTION RETURNS ON RECORD SCREEN

A rapid and complete bulletin service on the Provincial election results will be given by the News Record this evening. The screen will be suspended on the north side of King Street, above Jaimet's store. The bulletins will begin to appear as soon as results are received in The Record Office.

SHRAPNEL

With women voting the secret ballot loses its force.

Many female voters would prefer the altar to the polling booth.

Voting against your own convictions may land you on the winning side.

Each losing candidate must blame his five opponents for his defeat.

One vote counts more than a thousand if it gives a majority.

Some who live next door to the polling booth were taken there in autos.

Putting four crosses in the wrong column don't spoil the ballot. One consolation!

When you hear a scream behind the curtain you may rest assured she made a little mistake.

Why so much fuss over a spoiled ballot when so many good ones don't count?

The winning candidate will be called the people's choice even if each of his five opponents gets but one vote less than he.

It can't be very much difference to the losing candidate what party he belongs to.

The dry people will give the wet votes. Where do the dry votes come from?

The bank tellers refused to accept the ballot without the customary war stamp.

Many babies kicked vigorously against the temporary change of mothers.

One lady forgot to return home after she had voted and her neighbor, who guarded her child, lost her vote. A real spirit of sacrifice!

RETURNED MEN WERE HONORED

Post Office Staff Held A Social Gathering

In honor of four of the returned men on the Post Office staff the clerks and carriers on Saturday evening assembled in the Trades and Labor hall where they held a social gathering.

The boys who were the recipients of the honor are Messrs. Cuthbertson, Kuennenman, Dingley and Fischer. In addition to the members of the staff there were present their wives and families. Mr. Charles Schipponowski, Jr., presided. During the course of the evening refreshments were served. Among those who spoke were Postmaster E. H. Lindner, and Messrs. Alf. Cuthbertson, Fred Davey and S. Waltheiser. Postmaster Lindner was present and addressed those present. He eulogized those men which went overseas and asked for the cooperation of all employees that the Kitchener Post Office may be made not only one of the best but the best in Canada. A letter from Ex-Postmaster H. F. Boehmer was read who expressed his regret at his inability to be present owing to a death in the family at the same expressing the kindest regards for the men who were overseas and the staff as a whole.

SEVEN SLEEPERS ATTACKED FROM AIR

AIRPLANE SHOWERS LITERATURE ON PARLIAMENT BUILDING

(Special To The Record)
TORONTO, Oct. 20.—The airplane has become a factor in political warfare. Queen's Park, the stronghold of the Hearst Government, this morning underwent an enemy bombardment from the air. Shortly before ten o'clock an aviator, flying comparatively low, circled over the Parliament buildings and proceeded to bestow the landscape with cards inscribed: "The seven sleepers have slept long enough, vote Dewart and a square deal."

The coup of the intrepid birdman created great excitement among the inmates of the building. None of the Cabinet ministers were present to witness the bombardment, but some doubt is expressed whether even a campaign of such novelty would have induced them to cast their ballots for a Liberal candidate.

ACCLAMATION FOR SIR HENRY DRAYTON

KINGSTON, Oct. 20.—R. F. Elliott, ex-mayor of the city, and chairman of the Utilities Commission, who was tendered the Liberal nomination in this city for the Dominion House, will not run. This assures an acclamation for Sir Henry Drayton.

Mike Sheehey, Woodstock, had his skull fractured in a football game between St. Michael's and Western University at London.

BRUNSWICK HOTEL BLOCK HAS CHANGED OWNERSHIP

Mr. C. S. Pritschau, the Purchaser, Will Transform Building Into Stores and Office Compartments. Ideally Located.

Another important real estate transaction has taken place in the city. It is the purchase of the Brunswick Hotel property by Mr. C. G. Pritschau, the well-known real estate man. The owner of the block as known has been Mr. George Moser.

The purpose of the purchaser, Mr. Pritschau, is to transform the block into stores, and office compartments. The desirable property which has a frontage on King street of 66 feet and a depth of 84 feet is very favorably located. Being at the corner of two important streets, it is very satisfactorily situated on this score alone. But besides it is in a district which is being rapidly built up. Business on King street is rapidly moving westward.

OTHER DEVELOPMENTS.
By the way Mr. Pritschau had another prominent business man recently bought the block of Mr. J. Waldschmidt which adjoins the Grand Union hotel property.

In connection with developments on West King street it might be said that the former club-house owned by Mr. Ed. Lippert which is being remodelled and the front part of which is being changed into offices and store is assuming a handsome appearance. The former block is not recognized in the new appearance.

The foundation work on the new store to be built by Dr. W. J. Schmitt on the property next to the marble works of Mr. Casper Braun is proceeding.

INSTALLATION AT ST. JOHNS CHURCH
There was a large congregation at St. John's Lutheran Church last evening on the occasion of the installation of Revs. A.A. Zinek and Mr. Schaefer D.D. as professors of the Lutheran Seminary and Waterloo College. The installation was performed by Rev. Maurer of the First English Lutheran Church, Kitchener, who also preached a most impressive sermon, taking as his text the 26 letters of the alphabet. The entire service was most impressive.

VOTE WILL BE A HEAVY ONE
Up to today noon indications were that the vote would be a heavy one. At all the polls the Deputy Returning officers were kept fairly busy and during the noon hour there was a big rush of voters, the clerks being kept good and busy. The streets were comparatively quiet there being very little excitement of any kind.

Mr. A. J. Huenergard, B.A. secretary of the Commonwealth Insurance Co. of Omaha, Neb., is spending a few days in town under the parental roof. He will leave on Wednesday for New York City attending a convention of the actual society of America.

HAD FINGER AMPUTATED
The many friends of Mrs. Catharine Zimmerman who had one of her fingers amputated at the K. and W. hospital will be pleased to learn that the operation was successful and she is doing as well as can be expected.

PAINT INDUSTRY IN TASMANIA STARTED
HOBART, Tasmania.—A new industrial enterprise to be established in Tasmania is the paint industry and it promises to become most important.

The government geologist reporting to the State Ministry on the company's property states it is not surprising that attempts have been made to turn the paint deposit to account, for the variety of permanent oxide colors in the material is striking. Yellow, red, green and brown are elements of the color scheme presented by the components of the bed. These metallic oxides, he states, form the basis of the iron pigments of commerce.

Among the chocolate and dark red varieties of this Tasmanian deposit are to be found some of the most stable types of ferric oxide. Native oxides, such as these, unlike manufactured or calcined materials, possess the character of permanency and with suitable blending lend themselves to the preparation of pigments, with any desired degree of opacity and staining power.

The company controls three mines with different raw materials in each, which, states the geologist, enable it to command a market for various types of products. The company makes not only oxide paints, but lead and chromate paints as well, meeting the requirements of the entire paint industry. The absence of grit in the material is highly favorable for easy grinding and ready conversion into paint. Satisfactory tests have been made and the whole process is under the supervision of a trained works chemist of repute. Tasmania, henceforward will therefore not only supply her own requirements in this regard, but will also become an exporter.

London Potatoes
London may, surely, take heart of grace, for she has it on the word of Professor Jenkins of the Royal Horticultural Society that no finer vegetables are to be found anywhere in Great Britain than those that have been grown within, or almost within sound of Bow Bells. It was at a meeting of allotment holders at Finchley that Professor Jenkins made this encouraging statement, and he gave it as his considered judgement "after visiting shows all over the country, and giving prizes following the most careful investigation." In north London today, declared the professor enthusiastically, there existed the highest potato hauls he had ever seen. The height was no less than 8 feet, and so, to the many things for which she is already famous, London must now, it appears, add potatoes.

PRINCE VISITS BRANTFORD TODAY
SPENT SUNDAY AT NIAGARA FALLS
Brantford, Oct. 20.—H.R.H. the Prince of Wales is spending the election day in this city. He was given a royal welcome.

On Sunday the Prince visited Niagara Falls. With his hand he turned the button that set aglow for the first time the lamps on the roof of the Ontario Power House—lamps that will each night forever illuminate the Horseshoe Falls.
On a street car on Sunday he followed the route of the great river. He descended by the Incline Railway, and gazed upon the Whirlpool Rapids. He crossed in the aerial tramway over the awful Whirlpool itself.
Tomorrow the Prince visits Guelph and Stratford.

LAI TO REST IN MOUNT HOPE
Many Citizens at Funeral of Mrs. Arthur Pequegnat
All that was mortal of Mrs. Hortense Pequegnat, wife of Mr. Arthur Pequegnat, was laid away in Mount Hope Cemetery yesterday afternoon in the presence of many sorrowing relatives and friends.

The last rites at the family residence and at the graveside were attended by persons from far and near. Tribute to the deceased lady was shown by the attendance of acquaintances and established. Books which numbered 12,000 volumes were gathered from private and public sources and along with the boxes of food and clothing being sent to the city, these books were gathered up. They arrived in Chicago within a year after the fire. Curiously enough said Mr. Roden, the city had no legal custodian for them, and there was no state law authorizing the city to establish a library. Joseph Medill, at that time mayor of the city, appointed a special committee which canvassed the situation, and decided it would be necessary to have a state law passed. In 1873 the public library was opened with these books and some others, and since that time has made very rapid growth.

Among the books sent to the library was a set of British patent reports since 1617, and, at that time and for a good many years after, with the exception of a set in Washington District of Columbia, the Chicago books were the only ones of the kind in this country. When the books first arrived in Chicago they were placed in an old water tank on the roof of the city hall.

A large number of these books were worn out before the city realized their value as memorials. Mr. Roden said, and now there are few but some very choice books left. Among the books received were the several inscribed first editions of "Tom Brown's School Days," Mr. Hughes, the chairman of the committee in charge of the work of gathering up the books.

MISS BECHER A BRIDE
New York, Oct. 20.—One of the most notable of the October weddings in the metropolis was that of today which made Miss Eunice Anna Beecher, daughter of Col. William C. Beecher and granddaughter of the late Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, in Plymouth Church, Brooklyn, where the bride's grandfather was for many years the distinguished pastor. During the war the bride was an active member of the Motor Corps of the National League for Women's Service.

The bridegroom served for nine months in the North Sea on a mine laying vessel.

The Latin American Invasion
A novel sort of peace-time invasion is in store for the city of New Orleans Louisiana, for a delegation of Latin-American publishers, who aim to secure a better understanding of the ways of their contemporaries in the United States have announced their intention of attending the convention of the Associated Advertising Clubs of the World to be held at that city in the near future. The first to accept the invitation of the association's committee are two leading publishers of Mexico City; and other telegrams of acceptance, from newspaper and magazine owners in the southern continent, are forthcoming. In consideration of the cosmopolitan character to which this convention, the fifteenth in as many years, will attain, special efforts have been made toward giving it a pan-American aspect, and as well as in make up—and the mutual exchange of ideas will do much, it is believed, to solidify public opinion throughout the whole western hemisphere.

The three-year-old son of G. Kirk, London, was badly burned when he fell out of his high chair on a hot cook, stove.

GREATEST POSSIBILITIES SEEN BY ENGLISH GENERAL
London, Oct. 19.—Major-General Sykes, Controller-General of Civil Aviation, in an article in The Observer on the colonies and aviation, dwells on the great opportunity in Canada. He says air craft can be employed to extend the influence of the railways and will give an impetus to every branch of Canadian commerce.
As an instance of their usefulness in developing of virgin land, Major-General Sykes suggests an air route linking up Quebec with the Lake Superior terminus of the Canadian Pacific, from where the services might radiate toward Winnipeg and thence to the great opportunities in Canada. Vancouver and many parts of the North West, from where the services might radiate toward Winnipeg and thence to the great opportunities in Canada.

BOY SHOTS HIMSELF
BULLET REBOUNDS AND ENTERS HIS BODY OVER HEART, LEAVING AT BACK
BRANDON, Man., Oct. 20.—A puzzling case interests the doctors here. Wm. Baker, an eleven-year-old boy of Brandon Hills, was shooting at a pigeon with a .22 rifle when the bullet struck a rock, rebounded and entered the boy's body over the heart and left at the back.

The doctors have the lad at the hospital, and cannot tell whether the bullet penetrated the lungs or went around under the skin, until an X-ray photograph is developed. His condition is serious.

RARITIES IN THE CHICAGO LIBRARY
Chicago, Illinois—Chicago is indebted to England for the beginning of its public library, Carl Roden, Chicago public librarian, revealed recently. Under the impression that the Chicago free public library had been destroyed by the big Chicago fire, Thomas Hughes, author of "Tom Brown's School Days," started a movement, following the fire, to interest British publishers and authors in raising funds for the Chicago library when in fact one had never been

BIG INCREASE IN BUILDING

Nearly Three Times Number of Permits in 1919 Compared to 1918
All over Ontario unusual building activities are in progress despite high cost of material and labor. Comparative figures for 1918 and 1919 in 19 Ontario cities are as follows:

ALL PARTS IN EMPIRE'S NAVY

ADMIRAL JELlicoe SAYS SHIPS AND MEN SHOULD BE PROVIDED BY DOMINIONS
LONDON, Oct. 18.—A correspondent at Wellington, N.Z., says that Admiral Jellicoe's report has been tabled in the House of Representatives.

MAYORALTY CANDIDATE IN WINNIPEG

Winnipeg, Oct. 20.—Dr. N. J. McIvor, surgeon, Flag Officer stationed at Singapore should direct the fleet. For his maintenance Great Britain should contribute 75 per cent., Australia 20 per cent. and New Zealand 5 per cent. New Zealand's ships should comprise three light cruisers, six submarines and a parent ship. The annual cost of maintenance and depreciation is estimated at $4,600 pounds.

193,688,000 BUS. WHEAT

After quoting the Admiralty memorandum to the Conference of 1919 favoring a single navy, the report says that this ideal is not obtainable, and adds:
"Experience has shown abundantly that responsibilities in regard to naval defense are far more cheerfully recognized and shouldered if the result of the effort is apparent to those making it—in other words, if the ships provided are self-made by the people paying for them and are manned by their own kind and kin."

Portion of Royal Navy
The general principle of the proposals is that New Zealand should cooperate in the naval defense of the Empire and assist Great Britain financially by paying for, manning and maintaining a certain proportion of the Far Eastern fleet and all vessels required for harbor defense of New Zealand and also providing such portions of the personnel as would thus be in all essential a portion of the navy under the suggested title of the New Zealand division of the Royal Navy.

The waters from the Indian Ocean to Canada are, one and all, parts of the Empire. All situated therein are equally interested in the security of sea communications, therefore the defense of this ought to be entrusted to one fleet composed of units from these countries.

A high Flag Officer stationed at Singapore should direct the fleet. For his maintenance Great Britain should contribute 75 per cent., Australia 20 per cent. and New Zealand 5 per cent. New Zealand's ships should comprise three light cruisers, six submarines and a parent ship. The annual cost of maintenance and depreciation is estimated at $4,600 pounds.

QUEBEC POTATO YIELD ABOVE AVERAGE OF 10 YEARS

Ottawa, Oct. 18.—The Dominion bureau of statistics now places the total yield of wheat in Canada at 193,688,800 bushels including 174,687,000 bushels of spring wheat. Upon the average sown the average yield per acre is 101 bushels for spring wheat, 231 bushels for fall wheat and 111 bushels for all wheat. In 1918 the total yield of wheat was 189,075,350 bushels, or 11 bushels per acre.

For oats the average yield per acre for Canada is 27 bushels, representing a total of 399,308,000 bushels, as compared with last year's average of 281 bushels and total of 426,312,600 bushels. Barley with an average of 22 bushels yields 66,443,500 bushels as against last year's average of 241 bushels and total of 77,287,240 bushels. Rye with an average yield per acre of 14 bushels yields the total of 8,234,100 bushels as compared with 151 bushels and 8,504,400 bushels in 1918.

PRAIRIE PROVINCES

The yields in 1919 for the three Prairie Provinces are estimated at 161,419,000 bushels of wheat, 240,856,000 bushels of oats, 46,112,000 of barley and 5,054,000 bushels of rye.

The quality at harvest time of the principal grain crops for Canada, expressed in percentages of the previous 10 years, is as follows:
Fall wheat, 96 (89); spring wheat, 91 (99); all wheat, 92 (98); Oats, 90 (94); Barley, 80 (97); Mixed grains 94 (98); Flax, 93 (92); Corn, for husking, 94 (89). The figures within brackets represent the quality of the crops in 1918.

ROOTS AND FODDER

The average condition of root and fodder crops in Canada at the end of September, expressed in percentages of the decennial average, was as follows, with last year's figures placed within brackets: Potatoes, 95 (93); Turnips, mangolds, etc., 91 (96); Sugar beets, 85 (97); Fodder corn,

CONGREGATIONALISTS MEET.
Grand Rapids, Mich., Oct. 20:—The National Council of Congregational Churches, coming here tomorrow. Thousands of Congregational ministers and laymen, together with missionaries from all parts of the pagan world, have arrived in the city to participate in the meeting.

EMBARRASING.
Mrs. Swinburne was calling one afternoon and, while waiting for her hostess to appear, was being entertained by a 6-year-old daughter. "Mrs. Swinburne," said little Sarah, "will you take one of your shoes off for just a minute?"
"My shoes?" exclaimed the caller, in amazement. "Why do you want me to do that?"
"Well," explained the child, "I hear mother say you were getting crows-feet awfully."—Buffalo Commercial.

DID YOU EVER
A furrier was selling a coat to a woman customer. "Yes, ma'am," he said, "I guarantee this to be genuine skunk that will wear for years."
"But suppose I get it wet in the rain," asked the woman. "What effect will the water have on it? Won't it spoil?"
"Madam," answered the furrier, "I have only one answer: Did you ever hear of a skunk carrying an umbrella?"

A Reasonable Guess.
"Say, Doc!" saluted Mr. Gap Johnson of Rumpus Ridge, Ark., upon encountering Dr. Hackaway in the highroad, "my least boy, Bearca four years old, is puny around the most of the time. For one thing he didn't eat much, which is a mighty serious sign, or was, when I was a bot. Do you reckon the little cuss ort to stop smoking?"

Nagging Wife.
"Yesterday," said Jabson, "I refused a poor woman a request for a small sum of money, and in consequence of my act I passed a sleepless night. The tones of her voice were ringing in my ears the whole time."
"Your softness of heart does you credit," said Mahson. "Who was the woman?"
"My wife."

No Option, M.
Man From Town: What very changeable weather you get down here!
Old Fisherman: Changeable do ye call it, sir? It it 'ad been changeable we'd 'ave changed it long ago.

HOCKEN AND GERMAN SCHOOLS

Statements made in parliament during last session by H. C. Hocken, M.P., of Toronto, editor of the Orange Sentinel charging that all the text books used in the schools of Saskatchewan have a Germanising tendency are strongly challenged by Premier Martin of that province.

The latter replied to Mr. Hocken by letter, and two months later Mr. Hocken wrote, but evaded the issue. A second letter from Mr. Martin reads as follows: "Dear Mr. Hocken: Your letter does not answer my complaint. In the House of Commons you made use of the following words, according to Hansard: 'All the text books of that province have a strong tendency to teach the children to admire what is German instead of instructing them in Canadian citizenship.'"

In my last letter I forwarded to you a copy of our curriculum and I want to ask you again to point out one textbook included in the curriculum which shows anything else but a desire to instruct in Canadian citizenship.

In your letter to me you make the following statement: "I think surely you must mean that since the PAINFUL situation of last session the German schools have been prohibited by law, because you can hardly be unaware of the fact that notwithstanding the law, schools operated in the German language have been operated in several different parts of the province."

This statement is based on a wrong assumption. The law does not now, and never did, permit of German schools. The only thing that was permitted in the schools was the teaching of a language other than English for the last hour of the day. The law said that English shall be the language of instruction, so that even before the law was changed we had no "German schools" in the province.

You say that since the law has been changed "schools conducted in the German language have been operated in several different parts of the province." If you have any knowledge as to any school in Saskatchewan where this is the condition of affairs, I shall be glad if you will advise me as I will undertake to see that the school in question is conducted according to law.

Again let me ask you to point out to our school curriculum one objectionable text book and tell me of one school in this province which can be called "A German School." If you cannot do this and want to show your fairness, you will take the first opportunity of stating in the House of Commons that the statement you made was absolutely unfounded in fact and that you regret very much having misrepresented one of the provinces of Canada.

Frankly, I cannot understand your attitude nor that of some others in Eastern Canada who lose no opportunity to make statements about Western Canada which are not in accordance with the facts. Our school system, including the buildings, inspectors, teachers and curriculum, is just as good, and I believe in some respects, more advanced than that of the province of Ontario.

The policy which has been pursued by certain of the newspapers and by some of the people in the city of Toronto, has helped to create a feeling of antipathy on the part of the west towards eastern people.

In conclusion, let me say that I intend to give the statement you made in the House of Commons some publicity and also my reply to your statement. Perhaps it is not worth while doing so, perhaps it is not worth while my writing you at such length, as I am gradually coming to the conclusion that you and some of your Ontario friends do not want facts.

The facts interfere with the political propaganda which has been used by certain sections of Ontario against the west for some years. However, as a member of the government of the province and as a citizen of the province, I cannot allow such statements to go unchallenged, and again I appeal to you to be fair in all your statements with respect to the west and to cease misrepresenting conditions before the people of Canada.

Let us cooperate in the building of a united Canada from coast to coast and endeavor to see what is good in each of the provinces of the confederation.
(Signed) W. M. Martin.

Extracts of Exchange

REV. WM. IVENS AS PROHIBITION ADVOCATE

The Ontario Referendum Committee has brought to our gates the Rev. Billy Sunday who professed his prayer for prohibition with the ejaculation, "Say, Jesus!" It has imported numerous carpet-baggers from various parts of the United States, who, eighteen months ago, were loudly demanding an embargo on food shipments to Great Britain. And as we write the announcement is made that Rev. William Ivens is to speak in behalf of prohibition in Toronto.

It is perhaps unnecessary to point out that Ivens is the Bolshevik Methodist divine who was the "soul" of the Winnipeg general strike. He not only seeks to prohibit liquor, but at Winnipeg last spring he sought to prohibit infants from drinking milk, or their parents from eating bread. So ardent a prohibitionist is he that he tried and almost succeeded in cutting off the water supply. If it had not been for the Citizens' Committee he would have succeeded in delivering over Winnipeg to the terrors of famine, thirst and pestilence. Ivens is a logical prohibitionist.—Saturday Night.

WAIT A MINUTE

"IN THE DAY'S NEWS"

Sir William Hearst, whose administration is at stake in the Ontario election today: has been Premier of the Province since 1914. Prior to that time he had been Minister of Lands, Forests and Mines. A native of Canada, he received his education in Toronto. He was trained for the legal profession, and, being called to the bar in 1888, began practice in that year at Saint Ste. Marie. In 1908 he was elected a member of the Provincial legislature.

TODAY'S ANNIVERSARIES

1808—Sir Narcisse Belleau, Canadian statesman, first Lieutenant-Governor of Quebec after the confederation, born in Quebec. Died there Sept. 14, 1894.

1820—Spain ratified the treaty ceding Florida to the United States.

1842—Grace Darling, the heroine of Longstone Lighthouse, died at Bamborough, Eng. Born there in 1815.

1869—Gov. Holden issued a proclamation against the disorders and violence of secret societies in counties of North Carolina.

1914—Russians definitely checked the advance of the Germans on Warsaw.

1915—Germans made strong attack on six-mile front east of Rheims and drove French from first line trenches, but soon lost the ground gained.

1916—Roumanians forced back toward Black Sea by new attack of von Mackensen.

1917—Four Zeppelins which had taken part in raid on London were shot down in France.

FROM HERE AND THERE

Carrier-pigeons never take food while travelling. Russia has fewer physicians than any other civilized country.

Ten thousand cubic feet of gas can be produced from one ton of coal.

The earliest English Bible printed in the United States was produced in 1782.

Tea was cultivated in China two thousand seven hundred years before the Christian era.

Neither Brussels sprouts nor Brussels carpets hail from the city whence they take their name.

The natives of the Adaman Islands average three feet eleven inches in height and weigh under seventy pounds.

Twins are more common in cold than in warm countries, and among mothers of between twenty-five and thirty years than at other ages.

Of the alcoholic drinks wine is the most exclusive, having several kings and the tables of the rich from the beginning of civilization.

Ira Cole, ninety years old and an employee of the Government printing office in Washington since 1876, is believed to be the oldest active pressman in the United States.

The Spanish harbor of Corunna boasts it is said, of the oldest lighthouse in the world, it having been built by the Romans in the time of Trajan, between A.D. 98 and 117.

The origin of playing cards is one of the things enshrouded in mystery. There is a pack in the British Museum known to be over a thousand years old, and there were Japanese and Chinese playing cards in the twelfth century.

Hand-made paper is produced in Japan principally by farmers as a secondary occupation which they can pursue in seasons when there is nothing to be done in the fields. There are no fewer than 60,000 families engaged in this industry.

The Shah of Persia, who is expected to visit America next spring, has one of the most valuable collections of precious stones and jewellery in existence. He possesses amongst other precious stones the famous pear-shaped pearl valued at $300,000, which forms part of the Persian crown jewels.

France is making systematic plans to attract the automobile tourist. Under a new order all the villages in the country are to have their names shown in 8-inch letters on post office, police station and the municipal offices. National roads will have red-painted milestones, while the old-fashioned signposts are to be replaced by large blue enamel plates, with the direction of the new town, and its distance, displayed in big white letters, so as to be easily read from passing cars.

Smile or Two

A pretty woman's smile often wrinkles a man's purse.

Most women would rather be envied than educated.

Sometimes a man remains in the bachelor class because he is shy either of coin or courage.

We are inclined to believe that actions do not speak louder than words at the meetings of a sewing society.

Employer (angrily): "Why do you watch the clock so much?"

New Typist (calmly): "Because the works of art in your office are not of sufficient interest to hold my attention."

"I have often marvelled at your brilliancy, your aptness at repartee, your—"

"If it's more than five dollars, old man, I can't do a thing for you; I'm hard up myself."

Ticklish Business

The teacher of the class in physiology put to Tommy this question:

"How many ribs have you?"

"I don't know, ma'am," said Tommy, squirming at the very thought. "I am so awful ticklish I never could count 'em."

Rather Trying

"I suppose your wife is enjoying her summer cottage."

"Not so very much. She has three women visiting her, each on a different kind of diet."

Looked That Way

"No, I haven't sold my story yet," said the young authoress, "but all the editors who sent it back praised its delicacy."

"I'm afraid, my dear," remarked her friend, "that your story is so delicate it has gone into decline."—Exchange.

A Tramp at Bay

Tramp—Please, kind gentleman, could you help a poor blind man?

Gentleman—But how am I to know you are blind?

Tramp—Because I called you a gentleman.

It Didn't Matter Then

The New Curate (horrified): "You wicked person, flying your kite on the Sabbath!"

Naughty Little Urchin: "That's all right, guv'nor. It's made out of a Sunday newspaper."

More Natural

As a birthday present to his wife Trotter decided on a photograph of himself and their only child, Algeron, aged twenty-four.

Father paid, of course.

Behold them at the photographers—Algeron seated stiffly in a bony chair, his father standing behind him at attention.

"I think," smiled the photographer, "it would be more natural if you put your hand on your son's shoulder."

"On the contrary," said Trotter: "to be really natural Algeron should have his hand in my pocket."

ENTIRE FAMILY IS GRATEFUL FOR IT

Friends Say They Never Saw Such a Change in Anyone as Tanlac Made in Mrs. Spruit.

"My friends all declare they never saw such a wonderful change in anybody as they have in me since I began taking Tanlac," said Mrs. Martha Spruit, of 264 Runnymede Road, West Toronto, Ontario.

Two years ago," she continued, "I suffered such a serious breakdown that I had to be taken to the hospital. I was there several weeks under treatment but got no better. They took me home again and I was almost helpless as a child. I had no appetite and my nerves were in such a wretched state that I couldn't stand any kind of noise. My friends said they never expected to see me recover and they even prepared my daughter to look for the worst at any time."

"Nothing I took did me any good, and after hearing so much about Tanlac I decided to try it and it wasn't long before people began talking about my big improvement. I eat most anything now, and my food is doing me good. My nerves have become quiet and I sleep all night like a child. I am getting stronger and better every day and all my family feel so grateful for what Tanlac has done for me that we are praising it all the time."

Tanlac is sold in Kitchener by E. O. Ritz and Co., in Galt by R. W. McKelham, in Hespeler by Jno. R. Phil, in New Hamburg by W. H. Boullie, in Millbank by R. B. Hamilton, in West Montrose by A. E. Richard and Co., in Preston by H. L. Frick, in Waterloo by A. B. Learn, in Doon by L. C. Bullock.

Take Salts to Flush Kidneys and Neutralize Irritating

Kidney and Bladder weakness result from uric acid, says a noted authority. The kidneys filter this acid from the blood and pass it on to the bladder, where it often remains to irritate and inflame, causing a burning, scalding sensation, or setting up an irritation at the neck of the bladder, obliging you to seek relief two or three times during the night. The sufferer is in constant dread, the urine so it no longer is a source of irritation to the bladder and urinary organs which then act normally again.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, harmless, and is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and is used by thousands of folks who are subject to urinary disorders caused by uric acid irritation. Jad Salts is a splendid for kidneys and causes no bad effects whatever.

Here you have a pleasant, effervescent lithia-water drink, which quickly relieves bladder trouble.

UKRAINIAN RED CROSS SOCIETY.

Plan Relief of Desolated Regions of Galicia and Bukovina.

The Ruthenian Greek Catholic Church of St. Joseph the Martyr on Franklin avenue, in West Toronto was the scene of an interesting meeting when the big hall in the basement was filled with men and women, gathered there to form a Ukrainian Red Cross Society for the relief of the desolated regions of Galicia and Bukovina and the aid of the wounded among the troops still fighting on the West against the Poles, for territory they believe to belong rightfully to the Ukraine, and on the east against the Bolsheviks. There are about 3,000 Ukrainians in Toronto and all creeds and classes are included in this movement.

Tobacco Habit Dangerous

Says Doctor Connor, formerly of Johns Hopkins Hospital, thousands of men suffering from fatal diseases would be in perfect health to-day were it not for the deadly drug, Nicotine. Stop the habit now before it's too late. It's a simple process to rid yourself of the tobacco habit in any form. Just go to any up-to-date drug store and get some Nicotol tablets; take them as directed, and in a few days the pernicious habit quickly vanishes. Druggists refund the money if they fail. Be sure to read large and interesting announcement by Doctor Connor soon to appear in this paper. It tells of the danger of nicotine poisoning, and how to avoid it. In the meantime try Nicotol tablets; you will be surprised at the result.

The Widow's Son

By Mrs. E. Southworth

"Certainly," said Willie Spicer jumping up with alertness. When the young man had left the room, Owen lit a gas burner at a distant corner and retired to read the packet directed to him. It was really what he had anticipated to be—the confession of Mrs. Llewellyn, taken down from her lips by the hand of the Rev. Mr. Morley. The paper described the manner of Dr. Wynne's death, at the reading of which Owen became so agitated that he had to leave off the perusal for a while and take a deep draught of cold water.

Lily Gay, who sat there as that there was chiding him with the most intense interest, now begged him to tell her what it was that disturbed him so much.

But he answered her: "My dear you must try and wait patiently until I have got through with the perusal of this paper. Then that I will tell you."

"Tell me one thing now, or I shall lose my breath. Tell me whether this paper proves that Lily May is the child of Mr. and Mrs. Powis and I will ask you I will patiently hear all the particulars," persisted Lily Gay.

Yes, it does prove beyond the shadow of a doubt that Lily May is the child of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Powis. But it seems to exonerate them from the suspicion of having abandoned her. Her birth appears to have been grossly deceived into the belief of her death," said Owen, glancing hurriedly through the document and speaking from that.

Then he read it more carefully. It was a complete narrative of the concealment of Lily May's birth and of the deception that had been practised upon her mother in the false representation of her death and burial.

In addition to this confession there was a private letter from Mr. Morley to Owen. It was marked "strictly confidential." And it advised the recipient that James Stukely knew nothing of the blood-guiltiness of his mother. And it implored Owen Wynne, in as much as the criminal was dead and gone to answer for the crime before a higher tribunal than any on earth, and as therefore, no end of justice could possibly be served by exposing her guilt to the unhappy son, that he, Owen Wynne, would forbear to do so, at least for the present.

Owen folded up this letter, concealed it in the breast-pocket of his coat, fell into deep thought, then into prayer, and then came to his decision: "Yes, for the present, I will forbear to wound the feelings of the guiltless son with the story of his mother's guilt. He may hear it, but not from me."

Then he tore from the confession of Mrs. Llewellyn all that related to the history of Lily May which he then put into the hands of his assistant, saying: "Here, my dear, is the whole story of our darling. Put it in your pocket and reach it in the retirement of your own room."

Lily Gay took it eagerly and thrust it into her pocket. "And now another thing I have to speak of, which will surprise you, my love."

"What is that, Owen?" "Let us see—this is Saturday, October first, is it not?" "Certainly, I should think you would remember this day as long as you live."

"The next steamer for Europe sails from Boston on Wednesday."

"Yes, but what of that?" "You and I go by her, that is all!" "Oh, Owen?"

"It is sudden, my dear, I know, outfit at Liverpool."

"Oh, Owen, there will be no difficulty in that. Why, I could fit us both out for a voyage to the East Indies in twenty-four hours, for that matter, and here we have three days to get ready in."

"If it wasn't that, what was it?" "Why, I was so astonished! The idea of going to Europe so suddenly!" "Don't you like it?" "Like it? Why, of course I do! I like the voyage for itself, independent of the prospect of seeing foreign countries, and, above all, of meeting again with our darling Lily May, for I suppose it is after her and parents you are going?"

"Yes." "And I am perfectly delighted. Oh, Owen, how good of you to take me with you!" "Why, you never imagined that I would leave you here unprotected or with no wiser protector than old Nancy? No, that did very well while you were a little child, but it would not do now when you are a young woman my sister," said Owen, gravely.

"But what will you do with the cottage?" anxiously inquired Lily Gay. "Leave it in the charge of Willie Spicer, who will make to retain his room here, and of old Nancy, who will keep the house and wait on him."

"That will be a very good plan. And how long shall we be gone, do you think, Owen?" "That depends upon circumstances. If we should reach Liverpool before our friends should have left that city, we shall be able to return six weeks from the day if sailing from these shores. But if we do not find our friends at Liverpool, we may have some trouble in tracing them and that may keep us away a little longer than the specified time."

"And the firm?" "Oh, that will find some business for me to do while I stop over on the other side, of that you may be sure."

CHAPTER XXXIII.
ON THE OCEAN STEAMER.

Before Lily Gay could ask another question, Mr. Stukely and Willie Spicer re-entered the room, and Nancy being summoned by the bell, brought in the supper.

"Owen, the voyage is not a secret, is it?" inquired Lily Gay, as she sat down at the head of the table, and motioned her friends to take their seats.

"Oh, no! it is no secret," replied her brother.

"Then let me have the pleasure of announcing it, will you?" "Certainly, if you desire it."

"Of course I do, Oh, Willie, what do you think?" And Mr. Stukely, what do you think?" "What?" questioned the young man in a breath.

"Such a surprise!" "What is it?" inquired Willie Spicer.

"Oh, I hope it is nothing bad! All the surprises I have had lately have been such very bad ones!" sighed Mr. Stukely.

To look and feel and always be at your best use DR. HAMILTON'S PILLS regularly, 25c per box.

"Oh, no, this is not bad at all! It is good, Mr. Stukely! We are going to sail for Europe in the Wednesday steamer. What do you think of that, Willie?"

Apparently Willie did not think well of it at all. But to make sure, in case there should be any doubt as to the facts, he inquired: "Who is going to Europe?"

"We, I tell you! Owen and myself."

"Is this so, Wynne?" inquired Willie, in a lugubrious voice.

"Yes, it is so, Spicer," answered Owen.

"It is very sudden."

"Yes, but there is importance of the step justifies its suddenness."

"And, oh, extraordinary! You can take over the packet to Cousin Gladys and her husband, can't you?" exclaimed Mr. Stukely, with an eye to business.

"Yes, I intend to do so, Stukely. And have you read yours?"

"My packet? Yes," answered Owen.

"It proves, as I supposed it would, that Lily May is really the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Powis."

"Well, I really never would have believed unless you had told me, Owen, that Cousin Gladys would have been so wicked as to desert her own child!"

exclaimed Mr. Stukely, with more of righteousness than Owen thought him capable of feeling.

"Mrs. Powis never deserted her child. There was a cruel deception practised on her," said Owen, but then, suddenly recollecting that he could not proceed without deeply wounding the feelings of this well-meaning young man, desisted, merely adding: "This is no time for explanation."

"Willie, don't look so heart-broken. We are not going to expatriate our selves forever and ever," said Lily Gay, smiling.

"No, certainly not," added Owen cheerfully, "and we are not going to you out of your lodgings. On the contrary, we are going to beg you to stay here, and keep the house warm for us until our return. Nancy of course, is a fixture and will wait upon you. Come, what do you say?"

"How long will you be gone?" inquired Willie Spicer. "Perhaps not more than six weeks."

"When? that is long time," said the poor fellow.

"Extraordinary! No, it isn't. Wynne couldn't do it sooner. It will take two weeks to go, two to come and leave only two to do the business that takes him over there. Extraordinary! What are you thinking about?"

"Any how it seems a very long time to me," complained Lily Gay.

"Too long for you to stop here alone?" inquired Owen. "Oh, it is not that! If you two go to Europe and I have to remain in America, I had rather stay in this cottage than in any other place, of course. I shall not feel so hopelessly separated from you while I am staying in your home and waiting for your return," said Willie Spicer with a disposition to make the best of things.

"Stukely," said Owen "you never gave me more than two days of your company here, but if you will consent to stay away from Miss Nelly long enough to see us off, and if then you remain a little while with Spicer to cheer his loneliness I shall consider it a great favor."

HALLOWEEN

THE PUMPKIN MAN! THE PUMPKIN MAN!
GIVE HIM A SMILE, BROAD AS YOU CAN,
GIVE HIM A NOSE AND EYES
ROUND AS MINE,
AND HERE'S A CANDLE TO MAKE HIM SHINE!

MR. RABBIT came a rapping and a tapping when the moon shone round and full into Weenty's window. Weenty rubbed her eyes and sat up. Mr. Rabbit rolled his eyes and blinked, then he hopped from the window to Weenty's chair, from the chair to the table and landed finally on Weenty's crib. "I thought you might like to go to Pumpkin land tonight and fetch a Pumpkin man," he said. "You might enjoy the trip."

"I should, of course," Weenty answered. "and it's so nice of you to think of getting one for me." She always remembered to be polite and that is why, I haven't the slightest doubt, she was so fortunate as to visit so many interesting and strange places.

"Then, I fancy, you might just as well be on your way," Mr. Rabbit observed. "You had better put on your warm, woolly little wrapper for the nights are quite chilly. I feel the frost myself as my fur for winter is a bit slow this fall in coming out."

"Perhaps I can find you a sweater," Weenty said thoughtfully. "My very biggest doll has a nice one that Auntie Kate knitted for her and I'm sure it would be all right for you to borrow it."

"Very kind of you," Mr. Rabbit replied. "I shall be glad to have it." Weenty found the sweater which was a gay pink slip-over one. She helped Mr. Rabbit into it and insisted on trying bits of worsted about her wrists and ankles for extra warmth. "I borrowed one of the Halloween Witches' brooms," Mr. Rabbit remarked as he hopped up on the window sill. "I've tied it here on the shutter."

Weenty climbed up on the window, too, and after Mr. Rabbit had pronounced the magic words that made her smaller, he whisked to broom. The broom came to the window sill and while it did not look so comfortable Weenty found it quite nice when once she was on. She sat in its wide end and Mr. Rabbit bestrode the stick in front. "I directed Mr. Rabbit, 'to Pumpkin Land.'"

It was very breezy 'way up in the sky and the clouds hurried past them as if they were on 'very important business. Indeed, soon they began to fly lower down and presently Weenty saw a patch of light. As they came nearer she saw it was a green leaf all lighted up with rays thrown from funny round Jack-o'-Lantern faces.

"Oh, Pumpkin men!" Weenty cried clapping her hands. "How many they are!"

They landed in the middle of the field and all the Pumpkins bowed. Mr. Rabbit spoke up then.

"We've come to take one of you with us," he got no further because all the pumpkins began to press forward. "Me-me-me!" they all cried together. "Take me-me-me-me!"

Weenty and Mr. Rabbit were quite overwhelmed for a moment until Mr. Rabbit sprang on the broom stick dragsy Weenty with him and up they flew high enough to be out of reach of the Pumpkin men.

"What shall we do?" Weenty asked. "We can't take them all, and even if we could it wouldn't be nice because other people might want some."

"Quite true," Mr. Rabbit shouted. He had to shout for the pumpkins were making such a hubbub. "Let's count out," Weenty said.

"Do you know a verse long enough to count out all these folk?" asked Mr. Rabbit.

"Indeed I don't," Weenty had to admit. "Then that isn't a good idea," Mr. Rabbit said. "I think we'd better ride down the field and let them follow us. And we can take the first one that gets to us."

little arms stretched out and just as the broom came low enough she caught up a big pumpkin.

Then away they flew followed by the shouts of the other pumpkins for though they were inclined to be rude and pushy as Mr. Rabbit said, they were good natured enough not to sulk when they were left behind.

Weenty waved her hand to them. Her other hand was on the pumpkin which sat blinking in her lap.

"I'm so glad it was me you took," he said. "I liked you the minute I saw you. Miss Weenty, and I'm just crazy to go into a house and see what it looks like inside. Your Auntie Kate will scream when I peep into her window and pretend she's in a great fright. O-o-o, won't it be a great time! Don't I look like the moon Miss seeds before I call time." My, how those girls laughed as the wet seeds went slipping and sliding all over the floor. The task was not as easy as it looked and by the time Mrs. Browne gave the signal to stop, the winner had succeeded in placing only fifteen seeds on her string.

Then the girls bobbed for apples, and tried to spear peanuts with a hat pin and they were all laughing over their efforts when supper was announced. A very witchy supper it was, too. Candle lights added to the witchery of the scene, and the spiced cakes and cat mounds of ice cream finished a very Halloweeny repast.

The girls gathered about the big open grate to pop corn and play games. Mrs. Browne brought in a big dish of wet pumpkin seeds which she had saved from the pumpkin lanterns, and giving each witch a threaded needle, she said, "Now let us see who can thread the most of these wet cards-board witches, on the back of which were the words:

Which witch with her hickory switch will betwixt the witches at my Witch Party? The witchiest witch will receive a prize. Time Halloween, eight o'clock. Place Witcher Hall, in the home of Dorothy Browne.

Black masks must be worn. The night of the witches' ball arrived at last, and amid many giggles twelve very witchy witches hurried into the witch's hall, which was really Dorothy's playroom decorated with black cats and card board witches, crescent moons and orange crepe paper streamers floating from the chandeliers and walls. The room was lighted by pumpkin lanterns and in the centre was a large cauldron on a tripod, and beneath it, covered with red crepe paper, to look like fire, were a number of logs. You surely would have been frightened "most to death" had you wandered by mistake into that witch's den. Finally, after much laughter and many muttered witchlike spells and incantations the procession was formed and the Grand Witch March began. Dorothy's father was the judge and he presented the prize to a very ugly witch who wore a strangely gray wig, under a tall peaked cap, and a long flowing robe of black on which were pasted red paper witches, switches, cats and moons.

"If they weren't such a happy, good-natured lot I'd be really angry with them. Good nature excuses a whole lot, doesn't it?" Mr. Rabbit headed his broom away up the field and pell mell the pumpkins followed quite the same way little boys follow a fire balloon or a kite. They all rolled and tumbled at a great rate. "Now I'm going to go down low," Mr. Rabbit said, "get ready to take one of the pumpkins."

OLD WOMAN, OLD WOMAN

OLD woman, old woman, will you do my mending? Speak a little louder, sir, I do not hear the ending. Old woman, old woman, here's a Thrift Stamp for your card. Thank you, kind sir, my hearing is not hard.

A Small Beginning

WHEN you write a letter today you place upon the envelope a two-cent stamp and know that Uncle Sam will take care of the letter for you and see that it is delivered to the person to whom it is addressed, whether that person lives in your own home town or in a city at the opposite side of the continent. Now it wasn't so very many years ago that in America and England as well, the sending of a letter was an expensive operation. The custom in England used to be to pay for a letter upon its receipt instead of, as we do now, having the sender pay for and affix the stamp.

There lived in England a man named Hill, who tried at every turn to make the world a better and a happier place for men and women and little children to live in. One day Mr. Hill had gone to the post office to collect and pay for his mail—that was before the days of letter-carriers—when before the high window behind which the postmaster sat, he saw a little girl crying.

"What is the matter, my child," asked the kind gentleman. "Sure, she wants the letter I have for her," said the postmaster, but she has not the money to pay for it. "It's from my brother," cried the child. "I can see his writing on the envelope. We haven't heard from him since he left home, and my mother is almost sick from worry over him. I want to take my brother's letter to my mother, sir."

"But you cannot have it without you pay the postage," repeated the postmaster, who was only performing his duty.

"I have no money to pay that much for postage," said the child. "I guess we'll have to do without seeing the letter. At any rate I can tell mother that the letter is here and then she will know that brother is alive and stop worrying."

For a long time after this Mr. Hill thought about the little girl who could not pay for the letter sent her by her absent brother, and the thought came to him that some law should be made providing that all letters should have the postage paid on them by the sender, and that the price of sending a letter should be low enough to enable the poor people to communicate with each other through the mails. But such changes in customs and institutions in a country do not come about overnight, and for a long time Mr. Hill had to keep putting his ideas before the Legislative body of the country. And he did not work in vain. Through his efforts the "Penny Post" was established in England.

HALLOWEEN

While playing a Halloween prank, Bobbie fell and broke something he was carrying. See if you can put the pieces together and find what it was.

FUN FOR HALLOWE'ENERS

DOROTHY was planning to give a Halloween party and she wanted this party to be different from any that she had ever given. "Can't you think of something new, Mother," she said, "I want this to be the nicest party I ever had." "There is really nothing new under the sun," answered mother, "but we might turn an old idea about and make it seem original. Do you remember the 'Spirit Party' you had last year when all the girls and boys came dressed as fairy spirits and goblins and elves? Well, this year instead of having the young folks represent pretty spirits, why not give a 'Witch Party' and see who can be the witchiest witch. We can give the prize, not as before to the most attractive, but to the very most terrible and terrifying witch, for witches you know should be really frightful if they are good witches at all." Dorothy thought this would be lots of fun. Of course, she wondered how her pretty little friends would like the idea of making themselves ugly and witchlike, but she decided to work out her mother's suggestion and have an original party. Two weeks before Halloween each of twelve girls received little black card-board witches, on the back of which were the words:

Which witch with her hickory switch will betwixt the witches at my Witch Party? The witchiest witch will receive a prize. Time Halloween, eight o'clock. Place Witcher Hall, in the home of Dorothy Browne.

Black masks must be worn. The night of the witches' ball arrived at last, and amid many giggles twelve very witchy witches hurried into the witch's hall, which was really Dorothy's playroom decorated with black cats and card board witches, crescent moons and orange crepe paper streamers floating from the chandeliers and walls. The room was lighted by pumpkin lanterns and in the centre was a large cauldron on a tripod, and beneath it, covered with red crepe paper, to look like fire, were a number of logs. You surely would have been frightened "most to death" had you wandered by mistake into that witch's den. Finally, after much laughter and many muttered witchlike spells and incantations the procession was formed and the Grand Witch March began. Dorothy's father was the judge and he presented the prize to a very ugly witch who wore a strangely gray wig, under a tall peaked cap, and a long flowing robe of black on which were pasted red paper witches, switches, cats and moons.

Then the girls gathered about the big open grate to pop corn and play games. Mrs. Browne brought in a big dish of wet pumpkin seeds which she had saved from the pumpkin lanterns, and giving each witch a threaded needle, she said, "Now let us see who can thread the most of these wet

TOYS AND USEFUL ARTICLES THAT A BOY CAN MAKE.

BY FRANK I. SOLAR
INSTRUCTOR, DEPT. OF MANUAL TRAINING, PUBLIC SCHOOLS OF DETROIT

MATCH HOLDER

It is often quite convenient to have some kind of a match container that does not hang on the wall. Also now that school has started Christmas will soon be here and it is not too soon to begin making a selection of gifts for our friends. If well finished the match holder described will make a very nice looking article.

It is suggested that this model be made of gum, oak or black walnut wood as they will take an attractive finish.

The first part to be made is the base, which is three-eighths inches thick, three and one-half inches wide and seven inches long. The ends must be planed, and to do so without splitting the corners plane to the center from each corner. After squaring the base to the dimensions just mentioned lay out the chamfer, but remember do not use a marking gauge for the layout; a pencil should be used as it does not cut into the wood leaving a scratch on the finished chamfer.

Locate the place for the sandpaper and holes for screws to fasten block

(A). This can also be done with light pencil lines.

Now we are ready to plane off the edges making the chamfer. If the piece is held naturally in the vise the plane will have to be held at an angle while removing the stock, but if you have a wooden hand screw the piece can be fastened in the handscrew and adjusted in the vise at such an angle that the plane can be held in the natural position while doing the work which is with the bottom of the plane parallel to the top of the bench.

Make the blocks (A) these can be then cut and bored in one piece and then cut as this will allow a larger piece for clamping in the vise. This method will be found easier to work. Begin work on parts (A) by planing up a piece square and to the proper length just allowing enough for sawing the two pieces apart. Draw diagonal lines from corner to corner and at the point of intersection bore the holes. As the hole is to be bored into the end grain it will be found necessary to clean the worm of the bit often to make it work easy. Next layout and plane the bevel on the sides of the blocks and then cut as directed before.

Sandpaper all sides and be sure the bottom is square so the piece will fit the base without a crack on any side. Also sand the base and assemble the parts as directed on the drawing with screws for which holes must be bored. Finish with stain and shellac or varnish or natural by rubbing with linseed oil. Glue the sandpaper in place.

One hole is intended for good matches and the other for those that have been used.

BABY OPOSSUMS.

In telling of the life of baby opossums, Dr. E. S. Bigelow, in Boys Life describes how they, as well as you kangaroos, travel about in their mother's pouch. It is several weeks, he says, before they venture very far away from their mother, and, as a rule, the little ones prefer to view the world from the mother's back. For this position, the mother has a "safety first" device. She simply swings her tail over her back and each young opossum gives its tail a couple of twists around the larger tail, and so they ride all in a row with their feet buried in their mother's fur.

City and Farm Equally Benefit

The man in the city and the man on the farm is each concerned with the other's prosperity, and each has equally strong personal reasons for supporting the Victory Loan 1919.

Last year Canada shipped to Great Britain and our European Allies $496,932,191 worth of the products of our farms.

The future of Canadian Agriculture depends upon holding and extending its export trade in farm products, and the future of city and town prosperity is interwoven with agricultural prosperity.

Great Britain and our European Allies provide a ready market. But as a result of the strain of war, they are short of cash. They must buy on credit for a time.

The British market, particularly, we must not—dare not—lose, because we have spent many long years in cultivating it; and establishing a prestige there for Canadian products.

Great Britain asks for a credit to buy our surplus food stuffs, and Britain always pays her debts. Our ability to extend this credit depends upon the success of the Victory Loan 1919.

Just think what it means to all of us to keep Canadian agriculture prosperous.

Canadian farmers form a large porportion of the buyers of Canada's manufactured products, resulting in trade for the manufacturer and retailer, and employment for the man in city and town.

With the money from the sale of his products the farmer buys agricultural implements, gasoline engines, tractors, wagons, seed, wire fences, fertilizers, milk cans, building material, roofing, furniture, carpets, furnishings, stoves, clothing, boots and shoes, groceries, drugs, pianos, talking machines, automobiles, papers, and scores of other things.

The city and town man makes these goods, and his wages are spent in his local stores, so that starting with the farmer the chain of trade travels through every class of the community.

The city again furnishes a home market for the farmers. Our cities have been built by our farmers—by those farm boys who have developed genius in organization, business and finance, and who do not have to leave Canada to find a field for their activities. The farm and city are interdependent the one upon the other. Canada requires both, and both prosper.

Then upon both the man in the city and the man on the farm there rests a direct responsibility. Both must shoulder it and unite in making an overwhelming success of the

ON THE BACK END OF A CAR.

Could Not Resist.

An auto had run over a dog. The poor animal howled loudly with pain. The motorist stopped a passing car. Most of those seated on the south side of the car turned their heads to see. Some of those who were seated on the north side of the car left their palaces to rubber. Among the latter was a delicate looking woman. She saw, turned pale and nearly collapsed on the floor.

"O, I wish I hadn't looked," she gasped, covering her eyes with her hands as she staggered to her seat.

"Well, what on earth did you do it for?" asked the woman with her.

"I just couldn't help it," she said with a shudder.

Improved her looks.

"The face she wore was the subject of comment. 'I wonder does she realize how homely she is?' asked one of them.

"I think she does," replied the other. "For when the 'flu' epidemic

CITY AND DISTRICT

ALL THE LATEST LOCAL AND DISTRICT NEWS

Confirmation Classes Begun

Confirmation classes have again begun for the year in a number of the local churches.

Jacky-North
Wedded—In Kitchener, on Oct. 17th, Mr. William H. Jacky and Miss Sarah E. North by the Rev. H. M. Lang-Ford.

Sunday Traffic Still Heavy
Despite the close of the season of warm weather, the traffic on the Sunday Grand River cars is still comparatively heavy. There are many passengers both coming and going.

Council Meeting Adjourned
Owing to the holding of the elections there will be no meeting of the city council this evening. The statutes do not provide for the postponing of a regular meeting before the date of the same. There is nothing, however, to prevent a number of aldermen when there is no quorum to adjourn the meeting to another date. Mayor Gross will, therefore, be at the City Hall and adjourn the meeting until to-morrow evening.

The night classes are again being held at the Collegiate. A large number registered on the opening night. A time table of the classes is published in another column.

Another Ideal Sunday
Sunday the weather again was ideal. Many people were out either on foot or in autos. The country roads and the woods were popular among many persons.

Services Well Attended
The usual services were held in the majority of the city churches yesterday. The attendants at both morning and evening services were large.

Frosts Becoming Heavier
The frost during the last few days are becoming heavier. Soon the furnace will be fulfilling its winter mission. The smoke from the chimneys indicate that many people are "firing up."

Guelph's Housing Shortage
Guelph is handicapped in securing enough employees for its industries and also new industries owing to a lack of ample housing accommodation. Housing for 500 more people is needed.

Five of Family Drowned
Louis Powell, his wife and their three sons, natives of Melksham, are reported to have been drowned off the mouth of the Naas River in British Columbia.

Liquor Fines Total $1,400.
The Quebec Provincial Government got richer by $1,400 at Preservic, Que., when six dealers from Riviere du Loup, county of Temiscouata, paid this aggregate sum in fines for having illegally had in their possession alcoholic liquors.

Centenarian Voted.
One hundred years old today, John Chick, ex., Bruce avenue, Windsor's oldest resident, cast his ballot on the same day he joins the centenarian class. Mr. Chick was born in 1818, the same year as Queen Victoria.

Although an advocate of temperance his great fear is that if the prohibitionists win they will start a campaign against the use of tobacco.

Arrangements are being made to have him presented to the Prince of Wales when the latter visits Windsor.

In Memoriam.
In loving memory of our dear daughter, Eileen Krieger, who died Oct. 20th, 1918.

Sadly missed by father and mother sister and Brothers.
Sleep on, dear on and take your rest. God called our darling when he thought best.

Great is the loss that we sustain. In heaven we hope to meet again. Father, mother, brothers and sisters.

CONCEDED BY ALL
that have ridden in the new Overland Light Four that its riding qualities, power and finish are second to no car selling within four or five hundred dollars more. See it and get demonstration at Lockhart's.

IN LOVING MEMORY.
In loving memory of my dear brother, Walter A. Saugel, who died Oct. 20th, 1918.

One year has passed dear brother. Since you have passed away. But you are still in our memory.

As if it were to-day.
Many a dark and dreary hour we spent And we suffered a lot of grief and pain.

But we trust in our Father in Heaven. That we shall meet again.
Your sister,
MRS. HARRY BOEHMER.

Notice
The 18th Western Ontario Batt., C.E.F., will hold a reunion on the 23rd of this month in London on the occasion of the visit of H.K.H.I., the Prince of Wales. Members of the Batt. are requested to turn out in uniform if possible.

The 18th Boys will meet for organization on the morning of the 23rd at 10 o'clock in the Y.M.C.A. building, London. 10-15-1t.

Don't miss St. Peter's bazaar at the market building next Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 22 and 23. Everybody welcome. Admission free. 10-18-3t.

St. Peter's Bazaar offers you an opportunity of buying home-made baking of A1 quality. 10-18-3t.

Leaves With Stranger.
One day last June Louis Miller, 16, Toronto, told his mother that he was going to see a man at some hotel in answer to an advertisement for a boy to work on a farm. Later in the day he returned to his home, accompanied by a man, packed some clothes and left the house against the wishes of his mother and without stating where he was going. The man, while waiting for the boy to get his clothes, did not volunteer any information. He hasn't been heard from since, and the boy's parents are more than anxious now concerning the lad's welfare and whereabouts, particularly with the cold weather coming on and the improbability that he would still be on a farm.

The supper served at St. Peter's bazaar have gained a city-wide reputation. Remember the date Oct. 22 and 23. 10-18-3t.

For Model Town.
Purchase of 600 acres in Sandwich East on Saturday by the General Motors Corporation was announced by officials of the company. The plan of the corporation is building on the Walker road, Walkerville, will be used as the site of a model town for employees. In the meantime temporary quarters will be erected by the corporation. More than $10,000,000 will be spent in building workmen's houses, the officials said.

Kum-C-Club will hold a dance every Monday evening, commencing October 20th. Bernhard's Hall, Preston, Burdett's Marimba Orchestra of Bradford. Everybody come. Admission $1.00. Extra lady 25c. 10-18-2t.

A.O.U.W. Notice.
The A.O.U.W. Lodge No. 154 will hold its regular meeting on Tuesday evening, Oct. 21st, at their hall. At the close of the meeting a Box Social and dance will be held, all members and friends are cordially invited. Ladies provide boxes. The Committee. 10-17-3t.

The "Old Curiosity Shop" at St. Peter's bazaar is a feature of special interest. 10-18-3t.

Station Broke 'nto.
The Canadian National Railway station at Beaverton was broken into at night. The safe was blown open and partially damaged. The burglars got away with a small amount of war savings and thrift stamps and one workman's pay cheque. The work appears to be that of an expert safe cracker.

Much Flax is Burned.
A fire which burned all night destroyed a large quantity of flax and badly damaged the factory of the stratford Flax Co. Fire Chief Kapelle is of the opinion that the fire had been smouldering for several days amongst the tightly packed flax, judging by the extent of the damage.

MAC'S MEGAPHONE

General Manager of Mail and Empire Succumbs to Illness.
One of Canada's outstanding newspaper men passed away Sunday, with the death of Mr. William J. Douglas, General Manager of The Toronto Mail and Empire. For 42 years the late Mr. Douglas had been associated with this paper, and in those years played a very important part in the development of Canadian journalism. He had reached his 73rd year.

In 1877 Mr. Douglas came to Toronto from Milwaukee at the behest of the late Mr. John R. Gordon, who had purchased The Mail in that year, and at once took active part in the development of the Toronto daily. Until the amalgamation of The Mail and The Empire, which
