Nominate Dr. Johnston as Their Standard Bearer.

Big Liberal Convention at Sarnia-The Speakers-Hon. Wm. Paterson on the Growing Time-The Liberal Platform.

Sarnia, Aug. 15. - The Liberals of West Lambton today tendered to Dr. T. G. Krugersdorp, Aug. 15 .- Gen. Dewet has crossed the Krugersdorp-Potchefstreom Railway and is making to the north, in order to join Commandant Delarey, who is holding Rustenburg.

Kitchener and the other generals are pursuing him and pressing him hard. His force is reported to be beyond Ventersdorp.

BOERS MUSTER 8,000.

London, Wednesday, Aug. 15 .- A dispatch to the Daily Telegraph, dated Middleburg, describes a visit to the Boer headquarters, where, the correspondent says, he shook hands with Generals Botha and Viljoen. He adds that the main position of the Boers is at Bothasberg, north of Belfast, where there are probably 8,000 men, with a number of cannon. There are about 300 men in Belfast, mainly mounted police and Irishmen, with several guns. They declare they will make things lively when Gen. Dewet joins them. Their avowed intention is to make a stand a little to the east of Belfast, again at Machadodorp, and eventually to resist for a considerable time in the Lydenburg hills. The correspondent declares, however, that if they are defeated at Belfast and Machadodorp many will abandon the war.

DEMORALIZED.

He declares the Boers are demoral-Ized and bitter, and says that they are burning and looting by wholesale. Half the ammunition used by them is soft-nosed. This fact was pointed out to Gen. Viljoen, who made no reply. THE CHASE.

The exciting chase of Gen. Dewet by the British continues, but it cannot be said whether his chances of escape are improving. Generals Hamilton Mahon are moving west with a strong force to assist Generals Kitchener and Methuen in the pursuit.

If the Pretoria correspondent of the Morning Post is well informed, the recent abandonment of certain British positions is part of a new strategic policy aiming to checkmate the strategy of the Boers. The correspondent does not give the grounds for his belief, but expresses the opinion that Gen. Dewet, who is apparently trying to reach the bush veldt, will meet his match very soon. He adds that the Boers have been diverting men from Gen. Botha and raiding pacific districts, mainly near the railway, in order to create a diversion in Gen. Dewet's favor, and that the British have been making a new distribution troops to cope with these tactics.

Two British officers who were cap-

Interesting Figures From Grand Lodge Report.

Proposai to Widen Membership Clause

Windsor, Aug. 16 .- The report of Dr. C. A. Hodgetts, supreme grand president, Sons of England, makes an urgent appeal to the brethren to continue in the good work in which they are united, and to make "fresh resolves as citizens of the greatest and proudest empire earth has ever known, as Englishmen and as Sons of England, that we will do our part to maintain her national supremacy. The society last December entered upon the 26th year of its existence, and the report contains an interesting re-trospect of the efforts and expansion of benefits, changes in the constitution have been made from time to time, and in 1887 funeral benefits were funded in the supreme grand lodge, since which date $108,148 25 has been disbursed under this head alone.

"As an expression of our loyalty and devotion as a society, we have contributed our mite for the care of 'The Absent-Minded Beggar,' transmitting $1,000 to the Mansion House fund, and I am pleased to state the request that collections at the annual church parade should be on behalf of the Canadian Red Cross fund has been

SECRETARY'S REPORT. The report of the supreme grand secretary, Mr. J. W. Carter, is mostly of a statistical character. It says: "The total receipts of the supreme grand lodge for the year ending Dec. 31 last were $56,348 05, and the ex-penditure for the same period aggregated $48,057 79; amount of cash ceived by the subordinate lodges, $85,-823 18; amount paid for sick benefits, $27,565 47, or $4,724 54 more than the year 1898; paid for medical services, $20,381 08, or $4,404 45 more than last year; cash to credit of subordinate lodges, Dec. 31, 1899, in bank and other securities, $59,243 71; in hands of treasurer, $7.956 07. Total funds of the lodges after deducting liabilities due at the end of the year, $63,446 07. It will be observed that payment out of $4,724 more than 1898, and $4,404 more for medical attendance.' The report states that the number of members initiated during the year cities going with a rush that astounds was 1,700, as follows: Two lodges in the continent—they are St. Louis and Newfoundland, 100; 6 lodges in Nova Chicago; a city that takes its wife and Scotia, 54; 4 lodges in New Brunswick, children along with it—that is Brooklyn, 56; 18 lodges in Quebec, 138; 2 lodges

When the grand lodge resumed their regular business yesterday, there were 135 delegates in attendance. The lodge went into committee of the whole, with Mr. Parnell as chairman. The session was taken up in considering the grand officers' reports. Proposed amendments to the constitution were discussed at length. The suggestion to widen the membership clause by admitting all white male British subjects of the Protestant faith was voted down,

THAN COUNTRY Though Vice Seems Contagious to the City

TOWN NO WORSE

Evils Intensified in Villages. Says Dr. Talmage.

From St. Petersburg, the Russian capital, where he was cordially received by the emperor, the empress and the empress dowager, Dr. Talmage sends this discourse, in which he shows the mighty good that may be done by the cities, and also the vast evil they may do by their allurements to the unsuspecting and the unguarded. The text is Zech., 1:17: "My cities through prosperity shall yet be spread

The city is no worse than the country. The vices of the metropolis are evident than the vices of the rural districts, because there are more people to be bad if they wish to be. The merchant is as good as the farmer. There is no more cheating in town than out of town-no worse cheating; it is only on a larger scale. The countryman sometimes prevaria-cates about the age of the horse that he sells, about the size of the bushel with which he measures the grain, about the peaches at the bottom of the baskets as being as large as those at the top, about the quarter of beef as being tender when it is tough; and to as bad an extent as the citizen; the merchant prevaricates about calicoes or silks, or hardware.

And as to the villages, I think that in some respects they are worse than the cities, because they copy the vices the principles of Christ's religion domof the cities in the meanest shape; the principles of Christ's religion domond as to gossip, it's heaven in a In half of them? No. In one-tenth country village! Everybody knows of them? No. Decide for yourself. country village! Everybody knows of them? No. Decide for yourself. everybody's business better than he that charity can consecrate iniquitous. the blacksmith shop by day and night gains, and that if a man give to God is the grand depot for masculine tittle a portion of an unrighteous bargain tattle; and there are always in the village a half dozen women who have their sun-bonnets hanging near, so that at the first item of derogates. that at the first item of derogatory news they can fly out and cackle it all over the town. Countrymen must not be too hard in their criticism of the citizen, nor must the plow run too sharply against the yardstick. CAIN FOUNDER OF THE CITY.

Cain was the founder of the first city, and I suppose it took after him in morals. It takes a city a long while to escape from the character of a founder. Where the founders of a city are criminal exiles, the filth, the vice, the prisons, are the shadows of those founders. It will take centuries for New York to get over the good influence of the pious founders of that city in the streets where now banks discount and brokers bargain, and coma quarter of a century.

"Beginning in 1874 with subordinate lodges paying sick benefits and funeral panies declare dividends, and smugglers swear Custom House lies; and above the roar of the wheels and the above the roar of the wheels and the crack of the auctioneer's mallet ascends the ascription, "We worship thee, o thou almighty dollar!" The old church to some of the best of families of the community; and boys read them while that used to stand on Wall street is to this day throwing its blessing on the scene of traffic, and on all the ships folding their white wings in the harbor. In other days people gathered in In other days people gathered in cities for defense-none but the poor who had nothing to be stolen, lived in the country; but in these times, when through civilization and Christianity it is safe to live anywhere, people gather in the cities for purposes of rapid gain.

Cities are not evil necessarily, as some have argued. They have been the birthplace of civilization. In them popular liberty has lifted its voice. Witness Genoa and Pisa and Venice. After the death of Alexander the Great among his papers were found extensive plans of cities, some to be built in Europe, some to be built in Asia. The cities in Europe were to be occupied by Asiatics; the cities in Asia were to be occupied, according to his plans, by Europeans, and so there should be a commingling and a fraternity and there always ought to be. The strangest thing in my comprehension is that there should be bickerings and rivalries among our American cities. York must stop caricaturing Philadelphia, and Philadelphia must stop picking at New York; and certainly the continent is large enough for St Paul and Minneapolis. What is good for one city is good for all the cities. Here is the great highway of our national prosperity. On that highway of national prosperity walk the cities.

CHARACTERS OF CHIES. A city with large forehead and great the general funds for sick benefits is brain—that is Boston; a city with deliberate step and calm manner-that is Philadelphia; a city with its pocket full of change-that is New York: two in Prince Edward Island, 44: 10 lodges in Manitoba, 178; 3 lodges in Assimbola, 25; 2 lodges in Alberta, 32; 8 lodges in British Columbia, 86; 143 fessional ability, another for affluence, another for fashion, but not one to be What advantages one advant-Cincinnati, Louisville, Pittsburg, all ages all.

But while there are great difference in some respects I have to tell you that all cities impress upon me, and ought to impress upon you, three or four very important lessons, all of them agreeing in the same thing. It does not make any difference in what part of the country we walk the streets of a city, there is one lesson I think which ought to strike every intelligent Christian man, and that is that the world is a scene of toil and struggle. Here and there you find a man in the street who has his arms folded and who seems to have no particular errand; but if you will stand at the corner of the street and watch the countenances of those 11,500,000 acres of vacant government Lodge took the delegates to Stag Island who go by you will see in most instances there is an intimation that they are on an errand which must be executed at the earliest moment possible; so you are jostled hither and thither by business men, up this ladder with a hod of bricks, out of this bank with a roll of bills, digging a cellar, shingling a roof, binding a book, mending a watch. Work, with its thousand eyes and thousand feet and thousand arms goes on singing its song: 'Work! work! work!" while the drums of the mill beat it and the steam whistles fife it. In the carpeted aisles of the forest, in the woods from which the eternal shadow is never lifted, on the shore of the sea over whose iron coast tosses the tangled foam, sprinkling the cracked cliffs with a baptism of whirlstudy God; but in the rushing, swarming, raving street is the best place to study man. THE REPORT OF THE PROPERTY OF commercial life in all cities today is in the fact that many professional Christian men are not square in their bargains. Such men are in Baptist Methodist and Congregational churches, and our own denomination is as largely represented as any of them. Our good merchants are foremost in Christian enterprises; they are patriotic. God will attend to them in the day of his coronation. I am not speaking of them, but of those the in commercial life who are setting a ruinous example to our young mer-chants. Go through all the stores and offices in our cities, and tell me in how many of those stores and offices are the principles of Christ's religion dom-So-and-So has given a large amount of money to the missionary cause," mentioning the sum. I said: "I can't believe it." He said: "It is so." Well, I went home, staggered and confound-I never knew the man to give anything. But after a while I found out that he had been engaged in the most infamous kind of a swindle, and then he proposed to compromise the matter with the Lord, Juying: "Now, here is so much for thee, Lord. Please to let me off." I want to tell you that the church of God is not a shop for receiving stolen goods, and that, if you have taken anything from your fellows, you -the founders whose prayers went up had better return it to the men to

Bad books, unknown to father and mother, vile Satan finds them a smooth plank on which he can slide down into perdition some of your sons and daughters. Reading bad books-one never gets over it. The books may be burned, but there is not enough power in all the apothecary's preparations to wash out the stain from the soul. Fathers' hands, mothers' hands, sisters' hands will not wash it out; none but the hand of the Lord can wash it out. Young men, while you have time to reflect upon these things, and before the duties of the office and the store and the shop come upon you again. look over this whole subject, and after the day has passed, and you hear in the nightfall the voices and footsteps of the city dying from your ear, and it gets so silent that you can hear diskindness and a good-will between the tinctly your watch under your pillow continents and between the cities. So going "tick, tick," then open your eyes and look out upon the darkness and see two pillars of light, one horizontal, the other perpendicular, but changing their direction until they come together, and your enraptured vision beholds it-the Cross.

Mr. Driscoll Addresses the Interna tional Typographical Union.

Frederick Driscoll, commissioner of the American Newspaper Publishers' Association, addressed the International Typographical Union convention, in session at Milwaukee, as a representative of the special standing committee of the American Newspaper Publishing Association, making several suggestions in the interests of harmony between the publishers and the International Typographical Union. He read the resolutions which were passed at a meeting of the publishers in New York in February last, setting forth the views of the publishers in relation to various subjects of interest to employ-ers and employes. The committee, he troversies, nor to antagonize labor, but, on the contrary to promote a better understanding between members and their employes, and the services of the committee and its commissioners will be at the disposal of any member of the association, and the good offices of the committee will gladly be extended to any member on request.

Mr. Driscoll quoted a resolution adopted by the special committee early have the right to be heard on all proposed amendments to the constitution, general laws and rules of the International Typographical Union affecting publishers' interests. Mr. Driscoll then noted the vast aggregate of interests embodied in the Publishers' Association, and stated that considerable bitterness of feeling had been engender-Has been used for ever FIFTY YEARS by MILLIONS of MOTHERS for their OHILD. JAPANESE EMIGRATION STOPPED [Chicago Tribune.]

The Japanese government has issued an order prohibiting the emigration of laborers to the United States and Canada. This comes on the heels of one nually from cholera and kindred sum-mer complaints, who might have been bly. This action will be a great relief wind and tempest, is the best place to saved if proper remedies had been to the Canadian and British authoriused. If attacked do not delay in gettles, and also to those of this country, ting a bottle of Dr. J. D. Kellogg's About a year ago the Japanese began Dysentery Cordial, the medicine that coming to British Columbia in such never fails to effect a cure. Those numbers as to alarm the people, who who have used it say it acts promptly, called on the Dominion authorities to and thoroughly subdues the pain and take steps, by the imposing of a head tax or in some other way, to stop this inflow. This could not be done without the assent of the British government, which neither wished to disoblige the Canadians nor to agree to a violation of the treaties with Japan. The arrival of so many Japanese in the Pacific coast states was beginning to work on the feelings of their people. There was danger of a demand on congress for a Japanese exclusion law. Naturally the enactment of such a measure would make it hard to keep on friendly terms with Japan, whose government would not relish the putting of Japanese on the same level with Chinese. That government has been considerate in its action. It has shown a desire that the present friendly relations with the United States and Canada shall suffer no change. It is possible, also, that at this uncertain moment, when it is impossible to tell what fighting Japan may have to do with China with Russia, it is deemed best not to let too many able-bodied Japanese go so far away from home that they will be unavailable for military duty. But when there is no such special demand for men some outlet will have to be found for the surplus population of Japan. That is one reason why the Japanese government is so anxious to get Corea. The island empire is over-crowded with people. If they cannot come to America they must settle in Asia or the islands of the Pacific.

Hitherto the lish business of paying the bill. We shod methods. The idea is a good one, seriousness of the situation. and we understand that Hon. Mr. Mulock has promptly acknowledged the value of the improvement, and will immediately make arrangements for providing these boxes at various points in every center of population. Thus deal of attention in the United States, does the Postmaster-General demonstrate once more his keen interest in the public welfare. The postoffice, indeed, has been managed by him as a business interest, and no hint or suggestion for the improvement of its efficiency has come amiss to its energetic head. It is true that some of his all historical authorities to good purpolitical opponents, anxious to belittle pose; and his lucid style of summing the Government of the Dominion, be- up matters of controversy adds force cause their friends were not at the to his presentment of the colonial point head of affairs, have sneered at the of view. He has kept arguing in its favor for many to give American publicists a clear years. But it was the Postmaster-General in the present Dominion Cabinet who forced the issue into practical politics. It was the Dominion Government which successfully established ocean penny postage, and by its patriotic example made imperial penny postage an accomplished fact. So, too, England, July 14, 1900. many politicians argued in bygone years in favor of granting preferential treatment in Canada for the products of the mother land. For eighteen long years members of the present Opposition in the Dominion Parliament kept talking in favor of the principle. Here, again, the present Government of the Dominion talked little, but in action spoke with trumpet tongues, for it established a tariff that gives a preferential treatment to British goods in the Canadian market. This was done as a contribution to the effort to promote unity of the empire, and as calculated to benefit the people of Canada as well as of Great Britain.

Those who lacked neither the courage nor the constructive statesmanship to move forward, may cavil and object when intelligence and energy are applied to public affairs, but the mass of the people will heed them not. Sufficient for them that progress, efficiency and reasonable economy characterize the conduct of the country's business whether in great reforms or minor details.

China Against the World. It is a strange spectacle to see the chief civilized powers of the world arrayed against an ancient oriental empire, and to note that the world powers seem to have been just as much caught napping in this case as Britain was in the case of the Boers. The Chinaman has learned the use of modern weapons, and knows how to place obstacles in the way of an advancing army. They differ from the Boers, we are told, in not being so stubborn, and not knowing so well how to shoot; but in the relations of the Dominion to the they differ also in this that they are reckless as to their own lives, and ulation. The prosperous condition of there are so many of them that a few hundred thousand will never be missed. If the Boers had fought recklessly they would have settled the problem against themselves even if they had won victories. They could not afford to pay a high price for victories for the loss of a few thousand Boers would in itself have handed the country | Times. over to the English. It is difficult to say what the Chinese are fighting for; It is probable that they have no clear ideas themselves, but are thrown into a panic by fear and prejudice. Two elements in the situation are the efforts of the Dowager Empress to maintain San Franscisco, late in June, he learnherself in power, and the fear of the people that the foreigners are coming to take their country from them. These two run into one, as the strength of title of "The Influence of the Westthe Dowager Empress rests upon the appeal to a fierce conservatism and anti-foreign prejudice. As we pointed strongly against the dismemberment out before, this exclusiveness has been of the Middle Kingdom. Equally timemaintained for several centuries in the ly will be a paper by R. One cannot help sympathizing with the Chinese, and feeling sorry that they were not able to the stepped up to the piano, ran a sunderstand the signs of the times and scale, stopped, lifted his trunk, and understand the signs of the times and make better arrangements. who desire to be so philanthropic in their politics, place such high tariffs against European goods that they create irritation in various European countries, and if America was not stronger than China she might have to give "an open door." And this is true of Russia and other countries; in fact, there is no nation that is so fair and consistent in the matter of "the open door" as Britain. Well, China has not much chance Some time ago the Hamilton Times at present against the world, but on suggested to the Postmaster-General the other hand, to conquer and rule China is probably too big a thing even for all the powers. Hence the problem is to bring back a state of order and might be placed, as letters now are, to establish a stable government as soon practice has been to place papers on trust that soon the legationers will be the top of the letter boxes, the senders quite safe and that those who lead running all the risks from such slip- the Chinese will show some sense of the Canada is well satisfied with Laurier.

Though not forgetting Sir John Macdonald's remark that there is nothing in this world so uncertain as a horse race, except an election, the Liberals will go into the coming fight with wellgrounded expectation of success in every Province of the Dominion. The Ministers have not succeeded, in four short years, in undoing all the mischief that had accumulated in the long Tory term of office, but they have made a good beginning, and even moderate Tories recognize that Canada is the better off for the change which was effected in June, 1896. The reductions of taxation are appreciated. The change mother country is a subject of congratthe country is proof to all that if Liberals do not make prosperity they do not hinder it. Therefore Premier Laurier, his Ministers and his supporters are confident that the electors will give them the extended term of office, which they have earned by good behavior and strict attention to business .- Hamilton

French Scientists Have Found Out a Drug to Conquer Death From Gases and Smoke.

London, Aug. 16 .- The sultan is taking advantage of the fact that the attention of the great powers is occupied by the trouble in China to allow his Mohammedan lieges to indulge in one of their periodical onslaughts on the Christians. In the early part of last week 200 Armenians near Van were massacred without any interference by the authorities, and the British viceconsul at Van, delegated by his government to investigate the complicity of the Ottoman officials in the affair was set on and fired at by the Kurds in the neighborhood of Elk, who robbed him of his baggage, wounded his interpreter, and subjected other memers of his party to maltreatment. Sir Nicholas O'Connor, the British ambassador in Constantinople, has lodged a protest with the sublime porte, which has received it with even more than its customary indifference.

BALLOON RACE. Paris, Aug. 16.—A long-distance bal-loon race which started from the Parc d'Aerostation at Vincennes could not be brought to a successful conclusion. as the leading balloons were stopped by the ocean. The first prize may go to Comte de la Vaulx, whose balloon, the Horizon, of 3,300 cubic meters capacity, the largest in the competition, descended at Guerande, in the department of Loire Inferieur. M. Emmanuel Aire, secretary of the Club, was interviewed on his aerial trip in the Orient, of 1,043 cubic meters. He said: "We shot up to a height of 1,000 meters. The wind carried us toward the south. Then we drifted westward until we arrived at La Fleche and anchored, as we had no more ballast. During the trip our balloon passed several other balloons, and we even conversed with M. Faure in his bal-

MARVELOUS DRUG.

Paris, Aug. 16.-Highly interesting emonstrations of the properties of bioxide of sodium are being given before the French Academy of Science. Bioxide of sodium is found to possess the property of renewing the oxygen in air that has been breathed, and in absorbing carbonic acid gas given off. Thus, with an appartus containing the sodium, shown by Desgrey and Balthouard at the academy, a diver can remain under water, and walk about without having the air renewed by the pumping apparatus at present employed. Moreover, by means of the new apparatus miners will be able to pene trate into poisonous gases and fou air, and firemen into smoke without render practicable submarine boats. Ample proofs of all that is claimed for it were given at the academy. Two men put on diving dresses from which all air was excluded, and remained inclosed two hours. Afterward the same men remained under water in the Seine during half an hour The experiments are creating the greatest interests in scientific circles.

RELATIONS STRAINED. The present strain between Roumania and Bulgaria exists because the Bulgarian revolutionary committee plotted to kill King Charles of Roumania. The police got wind of the plot, and warned King Charles, who did not attend the service. Two women well known in Roumanian society and a number of Bulgarians have been arrested in Bucharest.

MOVEMENTS OF ROYALTY. Truth says that Queen is seriously contemplating a trip to Germany to visit her eldest daughter, the Empress Frederick, who is seriously ill.

The Prince and Princess of Wales left London last evening for Homburg. Immense throngs awaited their arrival at Liverpool street station, and cheered them along the thoroughfares through which they passed. They are expected to return on Sept. 1.

A GENEROUS BARON. London, Aug. 16.-Baron Iveagh, according to the Daily Mail, has decided to supplement his generosity to the poor of Dublin, by demolishing the congested tenement district around St. Patrick's Cathedral, and substituting modern artisan dwellings, the rents of which will be devoted to the maintenance of the premises. It is estimated that the cost of the undertaking will WESTMINSTER .- Your answer Bicyclist as to rubbish, etc., on the streets, only applies to the city of London. How about the unincorporated villages in our townships, where the same nuisance to wheel men or women is a daily occurrence, and there is no bylaw similar to that of the city? Ans.-Offenders, or parents of offenders when they are children, can be charged before a magistrate and sent for trial for the offense of common nuisance in obstructing the free use of the highways. Either the county or the township council have authority to pass a bylaw similar to that of the providing a summary penalty for obstructions on the highways.

A NATURAL REFRIGERATOR IN SUMMER. [From the Philadelphia Press.]

Hundreds of people are visiting a hole dersport, in Potter county, which must be a delightful place in hot weather. The hole was dug by a man in search of mineral weath. The farther he dug the colder became the atmosphere At the farther he did part of city. the colder became the atmosphere. At the depth of twenty feet he was compelled to quit. The peculiarity of this mine is that about May ice began to form in it and continues to freeze until October. There is no ice in the hole in the winter. The warmer the day, the more ice there is in the mine. On approaching the opening on a hot day a strong current of cold air is felt. This air becomes more frigid the closer one goes to the cavern. There is no water at the bottom of the shaft, but the water dripping down from its sides freezes. The ice begins to form less than a foot from the top, and coats the sides of the shaft several inches thick. What causes the intense cold and where the air comes from are questions that have not been satisfactorily answered.

Local Market.

London, Thursday, Aug. 16. Trade on the market was dull this morning. The day of the small fruit is nearly over, and the interim between it and the time of home-grown peaches and other larger fruits has not yet passed. As a result the midweek markets are not attracting much at-They are being patronized mostly by retail grocers, and a few of the hucksters. Vegetables were sold more largely than any other staple. The supply in this line is always abuntoday was no exception to the rule. The sales were made at the prices quoted. For a Thursday market the trade in butter was fairly good. The price still remains at the pinnacle it reached some weeks ago. Supplies of other commodities were quite sufficient for the demand, and were offered at unchanged prices.

AUGUST WEATHER

Unofficial Forecaster Foster Predicts Another Scorcher for This Month.

The predictions of W. T. Foster, the unofficial weather forecaster, of St. Joseph, Mo., for August, were made July 28, as follows:

August will bring two storm waves of unusual energy, accompanied by great heat and severe drouth. The first of these will reach Pacific coast about Aug. 8, cross west of Rockies by close of Aug. 9, great central valleys Aug. 10 to 12, eastern states Aug. 13. The month of August will average ture average will continue to rise, while fluctuating from first to last of the month. Indications are that from Aug. 9 to 18 an excessively hot term will hover over east of Rockies countries, bring higher temperatures than were experienced during the first week in July. A dangerous drouth will probably prevail during the heated term along and north of the Missouri and Ohio valleys, extending into the northeastern states from about and north of Washington city. ANOTHER HOT SPELL.

From Aug. 18 to 26 temperature will average high and rainfall below normal east of the rockies. A very high temperature will be reached Aug. 28. Indications are that August will be one of the hottest on record in the Northern States, east of the Rockies. West of the Rockies will be much cooler, with rain above normal. ## HIGHER WAGES

President Maskensie Defers a Definite Answer-The C. P. Strike-Labor Notes.

Teronto, Aug. 16 -The committee of twelve appointed at the meeting of the street railway employes on Tuesday night to wait upon Mr. Mackenzie, president of the company, and advocate their claims for an increase of wages, from 16% to 20 cents an hour, were granted an interview yesterday morning with Mr. Mackenzie, and were received very courteously. It was ex-plained to Mr. Mackenzie that the re-quest for an increase of wages came from the men universally, irrespective of the union, as had been proved by the proceedings at the meeting. Mr. Mackenzie, in reply, gave the committee to understand that he could make no promise that their request would be complied with, but said that he intended to look into the matter, and would make inquiries as to the wages paid street railway men in other town and cities in Canada. When he had obtained this information he would be ready to meet the committee again. It is claimed that the increase asked for would mean $80,000 yearly.

R. W. Garner, an Adelaide street grocer, appeared in the police court this morning charged with a breach of the liquor license act by keeping for sale cider which contained a high percentage of alcohol. Government Analyst Harrison, who analyzed the cider, reported that it contained alcohol to the amount of 5.09 per cent weight, equivalent to 6.44 per cent volume, or 11.28 per cent proof. This is a higher percentage of alcohol than the average of ale, porter or lager beer. The per-centage of alcohol in cider should not exceed 2 per cent. tory was working full time; every man met; and this in the face of the direct predictions by the Conservative party. The Conservatives claimed that the Liberals were simply following out the Conservative policy. If that was so, surely, if the Liberals could carry out that policy so much better than the Conservatives had done, the administration should be left in the hands of the Liberals. (Laughter and cheers.)
Mr. John Fraser, M. P. for East
Lambton, declared that Dr. Johnston was one of the most warm-hearted men he had ever met, and that in the whole riding they could not find a man who would more faithfully, unselfishly and ably represent the riding in parter than they ever did the Conserva-tives. The Conservative party was politically naked. Mr. Fraser explained to the delegates the conditions of fected for the people of the west by the reduction in freight rates secured through that contract.

Mr. H. J. Pettypiece, M.P.P., stated that the Liberals in West and East Lambton were well prepared for the The next election would not be a fair contest of the politics of the country. It would be a personal contest, in which, as we had already seen, the ministers would be attacked and abused. The man who got his political information only from the trash published in such papers as the Mail and the Hamilton Spectator was not fit to cast a vote. These papers, even in their reports of the proceedings of the House of Commons, did not give correct political news.

Mr. F. F. Pardee declared that the riding could send no better representative than Dr. Johnston. HON. WILLIAM PATERSON. Hon. William Paterson, who was re- H. J. Pettypiece, M. Burnham, Sarnia; F. F. Pardee, who we unremitting attention to his duties in the House of Commons; while Mr. Fraser, the member for East Lambton, was an equally good representative. He pointed out that the policy of the Liberal government was not the indication of one man's brain; that in 1893 Sir Wilfrid Laurier, recognizing, as the Liberal party always did, that power lay in the people, called a meeting of the Liberal party at Ottawa, where a platform was adopted, and every plank in that platform had been carried out, except the reform of the senate, and this could only be done by an imperial der evils, and it was not reasonable to thwarted by a body of men elected for life by the government of a former day. The Conservatives said that the Liberals had promised free trade as they had it in England. They made no such promise in the platform of 1893. They promised freer trade, to reduce taxation, to lower the tariff, and to do it in such a way as to promote trade with the whole world, particularly with Great Britain and the United States. In the eighteen years of Conservative rule our foreign trade increased $66,000,000. The Liberals came into power, and at the end of three years, from June 30, 1896, the foreign trade of Canada had increased $82,-

000,000, and when all the returns were in he was satisfied they would show that for the years since then there had been a further increase of $50,000,000 on top of that $82,000,000. (Cheers). Trade had been freer, and somehow there had been more trade done; no one would deny that.

An honest effort had been made to secure freer trade with the United States, but it had not been successful, because the Canadian commissioners would not sacrifice one iota of Canada's dignity or Canada's honor.

It was never promised that reciprocity would be purchased at the expense of Canada's honor or the national interests. TRADE WITH GREAT BRITAIN. When the Liberals came into power the Americans were raising their tariff against Canada. The Liberals did not sit down and mourn; they looked to England to increase our trade. The Conservatives said the government had stolen their policy. When did the Conservatives have the policy that gave British products an advantage of 25 per cent over the American and every other nation? The Liberals gave a reduction in the general tariff, and off that general tariff, which applied to all nations, they gave to Britain a preferential tariff of one-eighth the first year, one-quarter the second year and one-third at the last session of parliament. There had been no announcement of Conservative policy on this point, but the logical consequences of their charges, that the preferential tariff was a fraud on England, was that they would wipe out the preference if returned to power. The Conservatives asked why it was that there was an increase in the volume of taxation. The Liberals had promised to reduce the rate of taxation. No government could regulate the price at which goods are sold in foreign countries; all it could do was to regulate the amount of taxation to be levied on goods imported. Under the Conservative government the average rate of taxation on imports was 18.28 per cent; it was now less than 16 aging about $3,000 each. per cent, a reduction of 2 in 18, or from 12 1-2 to 4 per cent. Had the rate of taxation in force in 1896 been applied to last year's trade, $4,000,000 more would have been taken in customs taxation. The Conservatives complained that the Liberals had increased the expenditure when they had called for economy in their platform. The Liberals had called for revenue of $34,000,000 and an ordinary expenditure of $38,000,000. Should the same rule apply when there was such an increase in revenue that all expenditure was being met out of revenue, and money was left for the reduction of our debt? The people had a right to ask, this money being in the treasury, whether the money had been legitimately, wisely and properly expended. He pointed out that much of the additional expenditure, such as that on the Yukon and the Intercolonial, cost the people nothing, owing to the increased revenue from such sour, es.

WHAT HAS THE GOVERNMENT

DONE ? Among another things, the Crow's Nest Railway had been opened at a cost of $3,-750, 000, and by that contract concessions were secured for the people of Western Canada that in five years would repay the amount of the subsidy; and the St Lawrence canals had been enlarged, until now a fourteen-foot boat could convey our grain direct from the lakes to Liverpool. He asked for the closest scrutiny of the policy and administration of the Liberal government. They claimed no credit for the benefits which had accrued to Canada from the bountiful harvests, but our progress was not all luck. It was not by luck that the Hon. Sydney Fisher went liament. Sir Charles Tupper had said to Washington and secured the removal of that the Liberals had stolen the Conservatives' clothes. If that was so, they luck that Mr. Mulock inaugurated the imshould be allowed to continue to wear perial penny postage. It was not luck that them, for they fitted the Liberais bet- led to the establishment of the preferential tariff or to the cheapening of transportation. Over and above the bounty of providence there has been something done in the past Mr. Abraham Creamer, a Port Hope the construction of the Crow's Nest carpenter, fell on his head and was Pass Railway and the great saving effected for the people of the west of prosperity in which the country now is. The Conservative papers appealed to the old Liberals to support them. Speaking as an old Liberal, as a colleague of Mackenzie, he knew of no departure from Liberal principles, and believed that Mackenzie and Blake would indorse every expenditure

The most determined and desperate hand-to-hand fight which occurred during the riot, so far as reported, was that between Detective John Kennedy and the negro Lloyd Lee. Lee acted like a madman. Kennedy ordered him to move on. Refusing to do so, he said "I know you; you are to Kenn'edy: Thorpe's partner. I have been laying for you," and at the same time he slashed Kennedy in the shoulder, inflicting a deep wound. Kennedy pulled his revolver and

Masons Meet and Discuss the Question of Taking Quarters in the New Temple Building-Satisfactory Arrangements Within a Week Almost

A representative meeting of the city Masons was held last night in the city hall to consider the question of permanent quarters for the fraternity. The plans submitted for the proposed quarters in the new Temple building were discussed, and the consensus of opinion was that they would be admirably suited to the needs of the fraternity. Nothing definite was decided upon, and it will be for the different lodges of the city to discuss and ratify any agreement with the Temple Company. Some of the members of the order consider the figure asked by the company too high, but other prominent members have expressed a contrary opinion, believing that the price is not too great for the excellent accommodation that would be secured. The matter will be definitely settled inside of a week, and it is almost certain that an agreement will be reached between the members of the order and the company, as no other quarters could be secured that would prove so suitable or satisfactory as those in the new building.

"Look into my eyes, my darling, read my whole soul, if you can," he said, in low, intense tones; "let it tell you where I received my first inspiration to become something better and nobler than the poor, ignorant waif who wandered aimlessly about the streets of Boston, and who bade fair to grow up like the other vagabonds about him; ask how I first came to say to myself, 'I mean to be a good man; I will be a good man; see there what pure image I have treasured to help me onward and upward, and never again that you have led a selfish lifeatways receiving and absorbing, and never giving anything in return.' My darling, it was your kind words, your generous sympathy, your charity and pity for me that touched a chord in my heart that had never vibrated before, and it is to your sweet and gentle in-fluence that I owe my present prosperity and whatever of good and truth there may be in me."

"Louis, you attach altogether to much importance to those simple acts of long ago," Margaret began, while tears sprang into her eyes and flashed upon her golden lashes.
"No, dear, I do not," he answered,

"I tell you they were seed dropped just at the right time; they were the little words spoken in season; without them there is no knowing what I might have become. I did not realize until then what possibilities there were in I never should have realized then if that sweet, blue-eyed little girl had turned away coldly from me that day, taunting me with my poverty, as others did, instead of stamping her image indelibly upon my heart by her piticul looks and kindness, and thus giving me an object in life-that of becoming worthy to become your friend in the future, if we both should live." The beautiful girl lifted her face and softly touched her lips to his.

"How glad I am that I was kind!" she said. "I might have been thoughtlessly indifferent, or even cruel; but, without a good soil the 'seed' could not have taken root and borne such abundant fruit; without a tender conscience the 'little word spoken in season' could not have been so effective; there was a natural ability within you, Louis; nothing that I could do could have given you that. Truth and honor beamed in the eyes of beautiful Louise de Brienze as she looked down upon us from the canvas the other day; truth and honor are your heritage from her, my noble descendant of a sweet and royal lady; I feel more and more sure of it the more I think of it," Margaret concluded, earnestly

"It is not late yet," Margaret pleaded, as she too arose, while she clasped her white hands around his arm as if very loth to let him go.

"I know it is not, Margie; but," dropping his voict, "there is a large sum of money in my office-I did not receive it in time to deposit it in the bank; and I feel as if I must go and take a look about the premises, to see that all is safe, before I go to my

Louis Dunbar's face grew luminous. He clasped her close to his strong, manly heart, kissed once again those red lips that had spoken such loving words to him, then opened the door and stepped forth into the night.

CHAPTER XX.

Morning dawned, a clear, beautiful day. Margaret Houghton awoke with smiles upon her lips, a deeper lovelight in her eyes, and her heart thrilling with the glory of loving and being loved.

She had dreamed such tender, beautiful dreams of her beloved, and the bright future awaiting them, and today Louis was to speak to her father regarding their wedding day-today it was to be decided when she would become his wife.

Suddenly a vigorous peal of the bell broke in upon her tender musirgs-a peal that seemed to have an on mous and threatening sound to her. It was not answered promptly, and was followed by another more imperative and startling than before.

Then she heard the door open, and some one speaking in quick, stern tones. Next there were sounds of hurried footsteps on the stairs, then a rap upon her father's door, a few words spoken in low, rapid tones; after that silence.

Five minutes later she heard her father come forth from his cnamber and hasten below.

What, did these unusual proceedings mean? and why need she experience that sudden sensation of impending evil, that creeping horror, as if she feared some dreadful blow was about to fall and crush out all the light of

She threw on a white wrapper, thrust her small feet into a pair of slippers, and hurried down to the lower hall, where she found her father and another man talking together in low, excited tones.

"You are sure he has not been here?" she heard the stranger say. "No, he has not been here since last evening. He left, I believe, a little be-fore ten," Mr. Houghton replied. "But what is the trouble? You have not told me-you only hinted at something wrong?

Margaret never forgot the cold chilis that ran over her frame, nor the agony that was crowded into that brief instant while she waited for the man's reply. Neither he nor her father knew that she was there, for their faces were turned from her, and she had come upon them so noiselessly that they had not heard a sound. "He has not been at the office this morning, and he is usually there before, or as soon as any one, and-the safe was found unlocked and robbed of its contents.

Mr. Houghton grew pale. 'Was there much money in it?" he

A small white hand was at this moment laid upon Mr. Houghton's arm. He turned. His daughter stood beside him, her face as colorless as her dress, while she looked like some fair spirit that had just floated down from "It is Louis of whom you are speaking?" she questioned, and her white lips seemed to move mechanically, her eyes were filled with a look of anguish such as her father hoped he might never see in them again. "Yes," he answered, while he held her hand in his own and began to stroke it tenderly, for it was so icy cold, and almost chilled him.

"He was here, you know, last even-ing, Margaret explained; "he left about fifteen minutes to ten-the clock struck the quarter just as we left the parlor. I urged him to stay, as it was not late; but he said he was anxious-there was a large amount of money in his office, and he could not rest until he had been there and seen that everything was made right for the night."

"Ah!" exclaimed the man, who was listening breathlessly to what she said. "Ah!" echoed Mr. Houghton; but a different thought flashed through each

"He has been followed, robbed, and, perhaps murdered," was Mr. Houghton's inward reflection, with a sinking

"He has robbed the safe, and fled with the money," commented the other "You have not seen him since last evening at a quarter to ten, mademoi-

Some Interesting Exerimental Tests-Comparative Value of the Dawson's Golden Chaff and the Turkey Red Varities for Ontario.

Mr. C. A. Zavitz, of the Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, writes the following to the Advertiser:

In 1893 the Ontario Agricultural College imported eleven varieties of winter wheat from Kansas, four from Indiana, one from Iowa, six from Ohio, etc. The Turkish or Turkey Red, regarding which we are hearing so much at the present time, was one of the varieties imported that year, and has, therefore, grown at the college in of the past seven years, again imported fresh seed of the Turkey Red variety in 1896 and sowed both the Canadian and the western grown seed in the autumn of that year. The results from the two crops in 1897 were slightly in favor of the Canadian grown seed, but were almost identical, there being a difference of less than one peck in the yield of grain The annual report of the Ontario Agricultural College for 1898 gives the average of five years' results of tests with each of forty-eight varieties in strength of straw, weight of grain per measured bushel, and yield of grain per acre. It also gives the compara-tive hardness of the grain of each var-ie'y as determined with an apparatus similar to one invented by Prof. N. A. Cobb, of Australia. The tabulated results on page 134 are followed by report of about 1,000 words specially dealing with the relative hardness of the grain of the varieties there given. including the Turkey Red, the Daw-son's Golden Chaff, and the Early Red Clawson. Rather than recommend any one variety of winter wheat for Ontario, the college publishes from time to time the exact results of practical experiments and then allows those interested to make their own selection. The report closes with the following remarks: "The varieties which the farmers are likely to grow are those which they can usually harvest with the least amount of labor, and that will produce the greatest financial returns for the time and labor in growing the crop. The requirements of the market, however, should be closely watched, and the aim should be to grow those varieties which will give the best results, and at the same time furnish that quality of grain for which there is the greatest demand. A careful study of the results of our experiments with winter wheat will greatly aid in this selection. Work is now being done in the experimental department with the object of improving the best varieties of winter wheat by means of careful selection and by cross fertilization."

The college reports are printed by the Ontario Department of Agriculture, Toronto, Ont., and are distributed from there to all who apply for them. In the winter of 1898-9, from 85 to 90 per cent of both the Dawson's Golden Chaff and the Turkey Red varieties half down, total yield of grain 80 were winter killed. Both varieties, how- bushels. ever, came through the following winter in good condition.

Not only will it be tested in the co-operative experiments throughout the province, but as several millers are importing seed from Kansas, an opportunity will be afforded the farmers of Western Ontario to grow it in large quantities, and the millers can then grind the variety by itself, and thus be better enabled to determine its value for both the home Northwest and the foreign trade. The results will be watched with interest by both the 1900. millers and the farmers.

PORT STANLEY RAILWAY LEASE

Proposals for Its Extension Again Discussed.

Advantages to Be Gained by Both Parties Set Forth-Offer of the L. E. and D. R. R. Management.

The negotiations pending between the London and Port Stanley Railway board and the management of the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway lines, were advanced a stage at a meeting held in the city hall yesterday afternoon. The members of the local board were all present, and the Walkerville company was represented by its president, Mr. F. H. Walker, and General Manager Woollatt. The former reviewed the causes that impelled his company to seek action in this matter of extending the lease at the present time. Their reasons have already been detailed. He advanced arguments, also, to show the natural benefit that would result through the granting of their request. Any arrangements that would be made, he said, would be on strictly business principles. The L. and P. S. board should not consider that it was simply in the position of sellers to them, each had something that the other wanted. The lease was valuable, apart from the general rental, for while the city owned the rails and bridges, that in itself was of little value if the line was not being operated properly. The L. E. and D. R. R. Company, by their connections of rail and water, have certain facilities for carrying passengers and freight that the citizens of London want, and experience had shown that its endeavors to give satisfaction have been as successful as those from any other source. To this statement Ald. Pritchard

On behalf of his company he would offer for the fourteen years of the unexpired lease $14,000, this sum to include the interest on the bridge debentures and the percentage of the Chinese lanterns. A most enjoyable programme was rendered, including segross earnings; for the additional twenty years he would offer $15,000. This he considered to be the equal of $18,360, looking at it from the standpoint of unrequested bonus. He was Miss D. Rumball; solo, "We Are Proud of the Irish Name," Mr. M. MAYOR RUMBALL'S REPLY.

Mayor Rumball assured Messrs. Walker and Woollatt that the matter would be duly considered and a reply forwarded to them. The board ap-preciated the fact that they had secured the road at a snap at the time the lease was granted.

EARNINGS OF THE ROAD.

The Walker Company have controlled the road since 1894-when they had it eight months. In that time the gross earnings were $42,260. In 1895 were $54,275; in 1896, $57,138; in 1897, $59,841; in 1898, $73,565; in 1899, $82,385. The freight increase was from $11,123 in 1895, to $31,252 in 1899; and the passenger increase was from $34,-045 to $40,115 in the same time.

The construction engineer of the L. E. and D. R. R. Company will come to this city and look over the ground of Mayor Rumball's proposed new belt line before a final settlement is made.

Engineer Graydon reported that he had no means of keep a record of the work done by the street watering inspectors, but he thought they did not exert themselves properly and their beats as they should, and he recommended that they should be made to devote more energy to their work. It was moved and carried that their retention be made contingent on their giving a more efficient service for the future. Street Watering Inspector Regan reported that Contractors Baldwin & Baldwin and McNeill had been remiss in the fulfillment or their contracts, and that when he complained to the former he met with abuse. The engineer reported that both contractors had been fined $5, and on motion his action was upheld.

The committee's recommendation that Thos. Inwood's tender of $345 for repairs to the east market veranda be accepted, having been referred back from council, it was decided that no action be taken owing to lack of funds. Engineer Graydon reported that F. S. Onn, a tenant of the fish market, had been in the habit of choking up the drain by emptying into it fish refuse, and he recommended that a new ten-ant be secured. Ald. Ross moved that the tenant be charged cost of repairs, and if they are not paid with his next month's rent his lease be cancelled. The engineer reported that the cost of laying a cement floor in the fish market would be $90. The matter will have to be left over for lack of funds. A statement was presented showing that of the committee's appropriation of $59,285 there has already been used $39,388 34. The estimated amount required for the balance of the year is $19,831 90, making with what has already been paid out a total of $59,220 24, which will pretty well expanst the committee's appropriation. Ald. Plant reported that he had several times seen Manager Canick, of the Queen City Oil Company, and had received from him the assurance that the company would not increase the capacity of their premises. As a prevention of danger by fire to surrounding property, old tanks were being bricked in and other precautions were being taken.

NEW LETTER-BOXES

Being Tried at Ottawa-Safer and More Convenient Than Old Ones.

An Ottawa dispatch says: A few new drop-letter boxes, after an American pattern, with a slot across the top, are being tried in this city. It is claimed that they are more convenient for re-ceiving letters and for the collectors to empty, and at the same time afford better protection. The lock used on the box is composed of two parts, adapted to co-act, one part attaching to the box and the other to the bag. This does away with the usual key and padlock. The collector receives his bag at the postoffice locked. He adjusts it to the hooks at the bottom and front of the box and makes the connection between that part of the lock which is on the bag and that part which is on the box. The bag and lock being in position, he turns the knob on the bag lock, which operates the combination, opening both the bag and the box.

The latter, by dropping the bottom, allows the mail matter to find its way into the bag unseen and untouched. The bag cannot then be removed until the knob is again turned, locking the bag and at the same time closing and locking the bottom of the box.
