KING RECEIVES GEN. KITCHENER

And From His Couch Extends His Hearty Greeting.

THE CORONATION BAZAR PAYS

Receipts of the First Day Were About $70,000-Meeting of Nicholas and Victor.

London, July 14.-Following is the bulletin on King Edward's condition, posted at 10 o'clock this morning at Buckingham Palace:

"The King continues to progress satisfactorily His general condition is excellent, and the wound is healing well.

KING GREETS KITCHENER.

Lord Kitchener, after the banquet at St. James' Palace, was speedily conducted to the King's sick chamber, and his majesty, from his couch, extended a warm welcome to him, and personally expressed his thanks for the termination of hostilities. The King then presented Lord Kitchener with the decoration of the New Order of Merit. The general next saw the Queen, after which he drove to Chamberlain, and then consulted with Lord Roberts' residence in Portland

Place. Kitchener's prestige has increased because the number of Boers and Cape rebels surrendering under the agreement of Pretoria has proved unex-pectedly large, and the difficulty of suppressing guerilla warfare has been fully demonstrated. He received today full justice for his power as an organizer, and for the bull-dog, British tenacity by which he umphed over almost insuperable ob-stacles. The warmth of the popular however, is attributable to the satisfaction which his achievements as a peacemaker. The Canadian arca, brilliantly illuminated, tells the whole story in a simple inscription: "Kitchener - Hero in War and in Peace." BAZAR A SUCCESS. Great crowds of fashionable people attended the coronation bazar. An amusing feature was a number of smartly dressed young women, who paraded through the grounds, wearing boards like those of the "sandwich men," advertising entertain ments. Lord Salisbury's Resignation Was Tendered to the King on Friday and Accepted the Next Day.

WHO WILL FORM THE CABINET? lows by necessity, Lord Salisbury and Mr. Chamberlain

Speculation as to Mr. Chamberlain's Position-Club Gossip and Press Comment.

London, July 14 .- The Marquis of Salisbury has resigned the premiership of Great Britain, and Right Hon. A. J. Balfour, the First Lord of the Treasury and Government leader in the House of Commons, has been appointed to succeed him. The Marquis' resignation was tendered at an audience which he had with King Edward last Friday. On Saturday Mr. Balfour visited the King and accepted the premiership. The fact of the resignation of the premiership by Lord Salisbury was officially given out last evening. The Prime Minister laid down the responsibility of his office on July 11. Within 24 hours His Majesty elevated Mr. A. J. Balfour, the Government's chief representative in the House of Commons, to the position of leader. CHAMBERLAIN'S POSITION. The liveliest speculation is rife as to the personnel of the new cabinet. The most discussed feature of the pending changes is the position of Mr. Chamberlain (the Colonial Secretary), who in many quarters has been regarded as the most promising candidate for the premiership. A press representative learns that prior to the acceptance of his new office Mr. Balfour first had an interview with Mr. his other cabinet associates. This is relative positions of Messrs. Balfour and Chamberlain will be satisfactory to both. At the political clubs various opinions were expressed regarding Lord Salisbury's retirement and Mr. Balfour's accession. The Liberals and Nationalists generally expressed relief to find that Mr. Balfour, not Mr. Chamberlain, was to be the new premier; but a small section of both Conservatives and Liberals were in no way reconciled to the idea of the "perpetuation of the Hotel Ex-Cecil," the change from Lord Salisbury to Mr. Balfour is called, and only rebeen appointed or a compromise found in the appointment of the Duke of Council.

T. P. O'CONNOR'S VIEW. Thomas Power O'Connor, M. P., in an interview had with him by a press representative, summed up the situa-tion in connection with the resignation of Lord Salisbury and the appointment of Mr. Balfour, as follows: "The resignation of Lord Salisbury was expected with the coronation of King Edward, but when the coronation did not take place, there grew up an men cling to power, and it was not supposed that Lord Salisbury was free from the weakness of so many others. colleagues. Lord Salisbury's health has been notoriously indifferent, especially since the death of his wife. His extreme obesity is, of course, inconsistent with activity, either of mind or body." Mr. Chamberlain.

Failing Health Given as Rea- Mr. O'Connor, "could be more adverse than is Lord Salisbury to supreme power being in the hands of so impulsive, restless and arrogant a politician as the Colonial Secretary. Though they had been made political bedfel-and were secretly hostile to each other. "It is doubtful," the speaker continued, "in any case whether the rank and file of the Tory party would have accepted Mr. Chamberlain willingly. They use him, but they do not like him. There is a certain section of young Tories who do not love Balfour, thinking him slack, decadent and lethargic, but he is still the darling of the straight Conservatives, and his appointment would be even more popular with his political opponents than with his political friends." A POPULAR MAN. Despite his many faults, Mr. Balfour remains the most popular figure in the House of Commons, and his very faults help him in this respect. he be indolent, he is also courteous, tolerant and broad-minded, and will not insult other nations, as Mr. Chamberlain has done. His tongue is well under restraint, and he has all Mr. Balfour, in addressing the first the instincts of a gentleman. I regard the condition as beneficial to Ireland in the long run. Mr. Balfour has had much experience of Ireland, and though he is not yet a Home Ruler, all of his old animosity has disappeared, and he is just the man to propose a solution of the long-outstanding

REMAINED APART,

But Mr. Balfour does not come into office at a very happy moment. The liament gathered in Downing street Education Bill, which he is piloting almost unnoticed. through the House of Commons, arouses tremendous religious passions on both sides, and it is doubtful if he will be able to carry it through without such concessions to his political opponents as will exasperate some of his own political friends. The aftermath of the war has also come, and the majority of the Government, though large, is wanting in cohesion. But it is useless speculating further; the unexpected is always the dominant factor in English politics.'

HOW IT ALL HAPPENED. The Times states that Lord Salisbury's resignation was not caused by leagues in the cabinet, and says: irreparable. We understand that the King was very anxious to mark in some special vice Lord Salisbury has rendered to the state, and expressed a desire to bestow upon the retiring minister some conspicuous promotion or decoration: but Lord Salisbury begged to be allowed to decline the proposed honor. There is reason to believe text the King sought Lord Salisbury's advice as to his successor, and that the retiring Prime Minister suggested Mr. Balfour. A message was gretted that Mr. Chamberlain has not sent from the palace to Mr. Balfour at the House of Commons. Then, feeling that it was impossible to respond to Devonshire, Lord President of the the King's wishes with success with- my colleagues. One of the most importout having secured the concurrence and support of Mr. Chamberlain, Mr. Balfour immediately drove to the Colonial Secretary's house and saw him in his sick room. We are in a position to state that he was met in the most cordial manner, and that Mr. Chamberlain realized that Mr. Balfour was the natural successor to the premier-

THE NEW PREMIER. The Right Hon. Arthur James Balfour, the new Prime Minister of Great Britain, was born in 1848, and first entered the House of Commons in 1874 "For myself," continued Mr. Balas a Conservative, joining the "fourth This prospect did not quite satisfy his party," under the leadership of the late Lord Randolph Churchill. In 1885 he accepted office under Lord Salisbury (his uncle), and in 1887 he assumed the office of Chief Secretary for Ireland. Since the advent of the present Unionist Government, Mr. Balfour has been Mr. O'Connor thinks Salisbury's First Lord of the Treasury and Govresignation is probably most with a ernment leader in the House of Comview to preventing the accession of mons. Amongst his literary works is "No man," says a "Defence of Doubt."

The commissioners had a narrow escape during one of their visits to the crater. They passed over a lava bed on the morning of June 14, in fair weather, and ascended the mountain. On the return journey, made during half a gale of wind and a downfall of rain, jets of steam and mud issued all around them from fissures in the mountain. Walking on a ridge, they saw on either side, to a depth of a thousand feet, masses of boiling mud throwing up jets to a height of three hundred and four hundred feet. reaching the base of the mountain the scientists found themselves in an aw-ful predicament. What was three hours previously a dry ravine over which they walked, was then a stream of hot mud running with tremendous force. In order to cross this stream they constructed a bridge only a few inches wide, laid from bank to bank, acrows the narrowest part of the stream, and eventually got over in Waterbury, Conn., July 12.—Mrs.

Joseph Abramson was literally roasted alive yesterday by a fire which ruined her cottage. Her gasolene stove exploded, and she was struggling to save tae building and some valuable jewelry, when her clothes caught fire.
William Leisard, an loeman, ran to her assistance. Picking up a tin pail which he thought contained water, he dashed the contents over her. It was gasolene, and, of course, it added greatly to the woman's suffering.

S. Mendlebaum and D. Bietman, of Brooklyn ran from the next house and dragged the woman from the burning cottage. They were painfully burned themselves.

Mrs. Abramson lived for a long time in New York. Her husband, a commercial traveler, is away from home.

The L. E. and D. R. R. Gives His Character and That Michigan Road an Outlet.

Will Soon Be in Operation-Some Talk of Selling Out the Canadian Road.

Sarnia, July 14.-Workmen are putting the finishing touches to work on the slipdocks at Sarnia, which will give the Pere Marquette Railway a connect-ing link with the east by way of the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway, says the Detroit Free Press. Officials of both railways have been in Sarnia the past week superintending the completion of the work and preparing the details incidental to the placing of the car ferry International in comin what different lights they stand! mission between Port Huron and Sarnia. It is expected that by the end of this week the docks and switches will be completed, and the ferrying of cars across the river will be commenced immediately after.

The Pere Marquette will have running powers over the Erie and Huron branch of the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway, and at Rondeau, the cars will be ferried across Lake Erie by the transfer Shenango, which connects at Conneaut, Ohio, with the Bessemer and Lake Erie Railway, controlled by the Carnegie interests. By this means freight from the upper peninsula can be carried into the Eastern States over the Pere Marquette Railway as speedily as over any other lines now doing business between the west and east.

The distance between Sarnia and Conneaut, Ohio, is about 1750 miles, half by land and half by water. The Shen-ango is capable of carrying from 26 to 28 loaded cars at a trip, and can make 12 round trips in a week, so that she will carry an immense amount of freight across the lake in a season, She is also supplied with cabins and staterooms for the accommodation of passengers, whose transportation reached large proportions during the past year. It is estimated that a train of freight cars leaving Sarnia at 7 o'clock in the morning will be in Conneaut 24 hours later and ready to be sent on to the sea coast. In all probability other transfers will be added as soon as the business demands it.

The completion of the line has again revived the story that the Pere Mar-quette intends purchasing the inter-ests of the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway in order to secure a permanent outlet to the east. At the last session of the Dominion Parliament the Lake Erie and Detroit River Railway was granted an ex-

Kitchener, the triumphant organizer, a stern, unbending, silent man of iron deeds; Buller, domineering, bluff, hail fellow well met, boastful, headstrong, a wilfully blind man, now shown to have been devoid of every qualification to command men or himself. To one the Empire extends the heartiest welcome; the other she endeavors to forget.

In view of London's enthusiasm over Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, the man of Egypt and South Africa, the British Empire's foremost soldier, it is interesting to recall the fact that the first uniform worn by him was blouse and red trousers of the French army.

TUTORED BY DEFEAT. To the lessons taught by the French defeat of 1870-71 can be traced the dominant characteristics of Lord Kitchener's method. His belief in and in-sistence upon absolute discipline and perfect organization have given him success where others have failed. Lord Kitchener was not quite 20 years old and was living in picturesque Dinan when the dark days spread over France. Fired by an impulse, which he said at the time he was unable to resist, the future first soldier of the British Empire enlisted as a private in the 6th Battalion of the Mobile Guard, attached to the second army Loire, under Gen. Chanz. He did not take part in any actual fighting, but participated in the horrors of that winter retreat in January, 1871, when, after three days' fighting, the second army was badly defeated at Lemans. With the French army he saw none of the pageantry of war, only its grimness and suffering and the awful effects of incompetency, and mismanagement. Gen. Chanzy's great herd of men, retreating in desperate confusion tension of time in which to com-mence and complete its line from St. through snow and miniature retreat from Moscow-was Thomas to Niagara Falls, and that this will be the ultimate terminus in a most battered and deplorable and pitiable condition, and Kitchener then learned, by practical demonstration, what lack of organization really

He saw the highways blocked with all the broken down impediments of a defeated army, famishing horses, perishing by the wayside; exhausted, barefooted soldiers often falling on the snow to die there; whole companies, occasionally entire battalions going rationless, because supplies could not be brought up. He beheld the fatal effects of lack of discipline and learned how hopeless was the chance of an army, however brave, that would not submit to proper con-

THE OTHER PICTURE. Quite different is the other picture. The saddest and most pathetic picture figure in England today is undoubt-edly Gen. Sir Redvers Buller. Fallen from his pedestal, the laurel wreaths lucked from his brow, this hero of a hundred fights who when little more than a boy, won the Victoria Cross at the sword's point, is now denounced in most unmistakable terms by both press and public.

One of the most pitiful phases of the story is that Gen. Buller, with a blind stubbornness that is quite inexplicable, brought all the trouble upon himself When the discussion began about the serious British defeats incurred in attempting the relief of Ladysmith, when Gen. Buller was criticised for his message to Sir George White, and the ter-

DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS.

Mr. R. J. McBain, Niagara Falls, Ont., a man of 80 years, and well known throughout the Niagara district, writes: "I believe that if it had not been for Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills I would be in my grave before this. I was very bad with kidney disease and suffered with dreadful pains in the kidneys. Being disappointed in the use of many medicines, I had almost given up hopes of ever getting better.

"One morning, after a night of especially severe suffering, a friend called to see me, and asked why I did not try Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I get a box at once, and took two pills. which was a rather heavy dose; one pill is plenty at a dose. I used them regularly for a month, and at the end of that time was a changed men.
"It is now about five years since I began using this pill, and since that time I have felt as good as I did forty years ago. I am almost 80 years old, and am free from all disease, except rheumatism, and this is much better than it used to be before I used this medicine. I recommend Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills with all my heart to any person, man or woman. This is my opinion of these valuable pills, and you may use it for the benefit of others."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are especially appreciated by people of advanced age. The kidneys are frequently the first organs of the body to break down, and there are few old people but suffer from kidney disorders, and resulting pains and aches.

WOULD NOT BE ADVISED. Still criticism raged throughout the country. Gen. Buller insisted on the truth being known. Ministers advised him to let the matter pass; that certain documents had been suppressed for the sake of his feelings. But no. Buller, bullheaded as ever, insisted on a vindication of his character. He has done it with a vengeance.

The publication of such dispatches as Gen. Buller insisted on the public's knowing, caused an outbreak of indignation and horror in Clubland and in the street. People talked of him with a blush of shame that any British general could have behaved in the way he did. DAMAGING ADMISSIONS.

He admits himself that he wanted to abandon Ladysmith, leave the gallant garrison to its fate and retire to some place where he could take the defensive against the Boers. The newspapers express regret, not so much for Gen. Buller's sake as for the prestige of the British army, that dispatches should have been allowed to see the light.

The Times says: "He brought even greater condemnation upon himself." The Standard says: "His condemnation stands written by his own hand. His words are strangely humiliating."
The Daily Mail says: "His message The Daily Mail says: was even worse than supposed. It is a craven missive."

The Daily Telegraph asks it readers which of the two generals they would be-Buller, who sickened and despaired and who was unable to grasp the situation, or White, who, despite the alarming increase of enteric fever, still refused the very idea of surrender. A SAD COLLAPSE.

Yet, Buller was a general who was sent out to South Africa with a great flourish of trumpets; who said he would take the Boer capital, Pretoria, before Christmas, that was, in two months from landing; who condemned the tactics of his fellow-officers; who tried to throw the bame of Spion Kop on others when Lord Roberts said he ought to have been there himself. ALFONSO NOT

But a Young Man of Force and Decision.

HE KNOWS WHAT IS GOING ON

Has No Disposition to Give Away Decorations Where They Are Not Merited.

Paris, July 14 .- According to the Figaro's Madrid correspondent, Madrid is very well satisfied with the "debut" of the young King as ruling sovereign. He shows a firmness of character and an amount of decision which has surprised his ministers and has already led to some lively discussions at the cabinet councils,

A fortnight ago the King, who is a very early riser, left the palace on horseback at 8 o'clock in the morning, accompanied by the Prince de Austurias, and arrived unexpectedly at the artillery barracks. He ordered the trumpets to sound the assembly, had the guns horsed and led the regiment through the streets to the royal palace, where the Queen mother was awaiting his arrival.

This surprise, it appears, was not an agreeable one to the colonel of the regiment, and the matter was referred to the Minister of War.

"Has the King," is was asked, "the right to order out a regiment without warning the Captain-General of Ma-drid or the Minister of War?" The military party says no, but the pub-Mc, which cares nothing for military hierarchy, finds the affair very smart.
At the cabinet councils the King speaks very well, tries to impress his opinions on his advisers on various questions, and especially when it is a question of conferring decorations, reflects much. "You have no idea," said Conde de Romanoult, Minister of Public Instruction, to the Figaro corre-spondent, "how difficult it is to get the King to confer a distinction of any kind. It was quite unexpected, and the ministers, instead of a boy, found they had to do with a man."

At 6 o'clock on Sunday morning all Madrid was awakened by a tremendout explosion. The shock was such that in the Royal Palace doors and windows were blown in. Everybody thought that an anarchist outrage had taken place. The reason, of course, was the explosion of the Carabanchel powder magazine.

At 9 o'clock there was a cabinet council. One of the ministers began by stating: "Your Majesty, a great disaster has just taken place near Madrid." "Yes, yes," interrupted the King; "I know all about it; I have just been there."

"In a word," adds the Figaro correspondent, "Alfonso XIII. has inaugurated his reign by a display of character which has gained him general sympathy. His activity is really as-He wants to know everything, ne interests himself in everything, and he never loses an opportunity, either by word on Acod PLANS OF A DARING GIRL A RECORD-BREAKING RUN tunity, either by word or deed,

The merchants of Porto Rico are alarmed at advices from France foreshadowing the possible imposition of a prohibitive tariff on Porto Rican coffee. The Chamber of Commerce has action be taken in the matter, as France is the only foreign market open to Porto Rican coffee growers.

POLISH DILEMMA. Austria is being dragged against its will into the conflict between the Germans and the Prussian Poles. It was expected that the Austrian Poles would show some preference for their brethren under Prussian rule. The Czechs are now rising up against the Kaiser and the Germans. The Czechs are the Slavic family of nations, and number about 6,000,000 in Bohemia, Moravia and other parts of Austria. There is much bitterness between the Czechs and the Germans, and former are therefore taking a rabid part in attacking in newspapers and public addresses the Germanizing policy of Prussia. The description of Kaiser William as an escaped lunatic in a Bohemian official paper is but an illustration of the intense animosity on the part of the Czechs toward Ger-The Austrian Government may see fit to rebuke this reviling of the Berlin Kaiser, but will probably not notice it, for fear of inflaming Czechs still more, and Kaiser William, who understands the situation thoroughly, will doubtless take no offence at the inaction of his imperial friend, Francis Joseph. It is possible, however, that the Czechs may force Francis Joseph to act, for the anti-German agitation is becoming more violent

Woman Who Fell 60 Feet From Made by 20th Century Limited a Parachute

Will Recover and Ultimately Marry Covered 481 Miles in 460 Minutesthe Aeronaut.

Woonsocket, R. I., July 12. - Mabel Ward, the 17-year-old mill girl of Milford, Mass., who fell 60 feet from a parachute at Hoag's Lake Park on July 4, will live. When entirely recovered she will marry Prof. Andrew Charles Hillman, the aeronaut, for love of whom she made the balloon ascension. As evidence of the sincere character of his affection, Aeronaut Hillman has cabled to Washington urging that taken up his abode at the home of Mabel Ward's parents in Milford. On Thursday, 8,000 persons saw Hillman make an ascension at Hoag's Lake Park. When 500 feet in the air he was caught in a whirlwind, and he dared not make the attempt to drop in the parachute. He stuck to his balloon and landed only after a thrilling experience.

Louis Ward, Mabel's brother, also is determined to make some more as-censions. Louis was caught by the and the Germans. The Czechs are the leg in a dangling rope of the balloon most westerly branch of the great and carried skyward, head down, until caught in a tree a week ago, but that experience has not discouraged

Mabel Ward's right leg has been amputated five inches above the knee. Her fractured jaw has been tied in silk bandages. A cut entirely across the chin, laying the gums bare and pushing her lower teeth against her tongue, has been stitched, yet through it all she has not only been conscious, but able to make known her wants. Hillman met with a serious accident last year at Palmer, Mass., where he fell from his parachute, breaking several ribs.

TO WIPE OUT THE WHITES Intent of Head Hunters in Solomon Islands-Many Massacres.

Vancouver, B. C., July 14. - Mail advices from Australia by the steamer Moana say the labor vessel Rio Loge (recruiting for labor in the Solomon Islands) has arrived in Brisbane, with startling news contained in a letter from Mr. Swanson, the government agent, dated Maran, Guadalcanar, Solomon Islands.

Mr. Swanson said that he was among murderous band of natives who were intent upon massacring all the white settlers. The captain of the recruiting labor vessel, Roderich Dhu, had been murdered at Ura; the missionary and his wife at Ura were also killed and their heads carried away. A number of blacks friendly to the whites were also deprived of their heads.

Friendly natives say that the head-hunters are bent on murdering the hunters are bent on murdering the whites on the island, and all blacks in

New Road From Toledo.

Chicago, Ill., July 14.—Reeling off 481 miles in 480 minutes, the "Twentieth Century Limited," on the Lake Shore and Michigan Southern road Saturday smashed records for fast running on that system and verified assertions made by officials that a sixteen-hour schedule could, if necessary, be main-tained between Chicago and New York. Forty-five miles west of Buffalo the train was two hours and twenty-eight minutes behind its schedule, and then it was that the engineers were given a clear track and ordered to make their best time over the various divisions. The train covered the 134 miles between Brockton and Cleveland in 131 minutes. From Cleveland to Toledo the engineer pushed along at speed reaching ninety miles an hour, cover-ing the distance in 103 minutes. The run to Elkhart, Ind., 133 miles, was covered in 115 minutes.

The run into Chicago from Elkhart was slower on account of the necessity of slowing down while passing through three towns, where the speed of trains is limited by ordinance. Slowdowns were also necessary for the fourteen grade railroad crossings in Chicago. Despite these delays the 101 miles was covered in 111 minutes and the train, which was due in the city at 9:45 a.m., arrived at the Grand Central passenger station only twentyeight minutes late.

It is believed that the road is to be connected with the Toledo and Chicago transfer railroad, which is now in course of con-struction across the state of Indiana.

The Change of Premiers.

The retirement of Lord Salisbury is no surprise. It has been freely predicted for two or three years, and has evidently been long contemplated by himself. As a preliminary, he relinquished the Foreign Office to Lord Lansdowne a year ago. Lord Salisbury is not old as British statesmen go -he is in his 73rd year-but his health is indifferent, and the recent death of his wife must have sadly crushed his spirits, and tended to confirm him in his habits of seclusion and his desire to escape the burdens of state. In the illustrious roll of British statesmen, Lord Salisbury's name will stand high. His special talents lay in the direction of foreign affairs. For domestic affairs he had no instinctive liking. Indeed, it may be fairly charged against him that his attitude toward domestic questions has been reactionary. He has opposed the extension of the suffrage; he has been openly distrustful of democracy, and totally out of sympathy with the progressive tendencies of the age which find increasing expression in social legislation. He had none of the magnetism of Gladstone, the same power of swaying masses of men, and of inspiring an intense personal devotion among his followers. Yet few British premiers have enjoyed to a greater degree the confidence of greatly strengthens the position from the people. He has commanded their respect and admiration, if not their enthusiasm, largely because of his quality of political courage. He has been absolutely fearless in expressing his convictions, and has never temporized with public opinion, for which he had an almost cynical disregard. Lord Salisbury has been a great foreign minister, and the British Empire owes much to his wise outlook on world affairs, and his firm and sagaclous administration of the Foreign Office. He imparted a sense of security to the British nation, which will be weakened by his withdrawal, even though he has been only nominally at the head of the state for some time past. Lord Salisbury's successor, Mr. Balfour, is yastly popular with the House of Commons, and it will be an advantage to public business to have the Premier in the Lower Chamber. A man of lofty character, of the finest culture, and of eminent talents, Mr. Balfour's chief failing is a lack of practical grasp, and of that driving Torce which Mr. Chamberlain possesses, and which is sadly needed to move the inertia of British officialdom. Mr. Balfour will be entirely acceptable to the aristocratic element of the country, but not to the progressive wing of the Unionist party.

The Gaynor-Greene Case,

The Washington correspondent of the New York Sun says that the publication of Mr. Erwin's report on the Gaynor-Greene case has displeased the state department at Washington, "where the settled policy is to avoid doing anything that might prove offensive to a friendly power." This statement can readily be believed. The attitude of the state department under Secretary Hay has been scrupulously correct and even friendly toward British interests. It is gratifying to see that Mr. Hay refuses to be hurried out of diplomatic decorum by the hysterics of an obscure district attorney.

"From what was said at the department," says the Sun, "it is evident that the officials are not all inclined to accept Mr. Erwin's statements without a careful investigation, and there will be no haste in reaching a decision as to the course to be pursued. It is regarded as a very serious matter by the state department to tell a foreign government, and particularly the British Government, that part of its judiciary is given to crooked dealings to assist men who are accused of crime. While Secretary Hay did not say so to the Sun reporter, it is known that he does not intend to bring the complaints of Mr. Erwin to the attention of Great Britain, if at all, until he is satisfied that there is conclusive evidence to support all that Mr. Erwin alleges about collusion between officers of the Dominion Government and counsel for Greene and Gaynor to defeat the ends of justice. In fact, the state department has not become excited over Mr. Erwin's disclosures, and will handle the case as calmly and diplomatically as it would any other incident."

The responsibility for making public Erwin's letter rests with the depart- ties she bought him to match the carment of justice at Washington. Mr. Hay realizes that the publication of these unsupported charges against the Canadian judiciary is an affront on this country and will only embarrass him if he makes it a diplomatic issue. The shirt-sieeves diplomacy of Mr. Hay's predecessor would have made the present incident a dangerous one, guaranteed it to be a real imitation but fortunately the American management of foreign affairs is now in the hands of a statesman.

Canada and the Combine.

The probable sale to America of the busines of Messrs. Fowler Bros. and Messrs. G. Fowler, Sons & Co., Liverpool, created naturally much interest in commercial circles in the old coun-

"If the sales go through," said a prominent merchant, when interviewed by the Liverpool Journal of Commerce, "the outlook bespeaks increasing attention to Canada's provision products, and, if the quality is kept up-and that is not to be doubted-to its present standard, in a few years it will take the leading position on this

"We shall look to Canada," remarked the gentleman, "for bacon, and it is freely predicted that Chicago and Western packers will have to take second rank ere long. The same remark applies to all Canadian products, which are becoming increasingly and favorably known amongst consumers, For memory dwelling on each proud and command their attention from the point of quality alone."

"I want nothing better than Canadian side meats, and in the future we shall look to Canada for supplies in this and other directions. As a matter of fact, Canadian hams are largely taking the place of Irish and homecured in the continental markets.

"The salmon market is now practically controlled in the finest grades of tinned fish from the British Columbia rivers, and easily takes precedence of Alaska and Columbia River packing. Canadian cereals and canned fruits have also found a foremost place on this market; whilst the dairy products. of that colony are now seriously competing with the Danish importers, on whom we have been so dependent, especially for butter, eggs, and bacon; in fact, it looks as if we shall in the near future be altogether independent of Danish supplies. Cheese from the Dominion has cut United States cheese out badly, owing to its superior quality, and this, with the dairy products now obtainable from Australasia. a mutual trading standpoint,"

The Bells of Shandon.

[Francis Mahony.] Francis Sylvester Mahony, better known as Father Prout, was born in Cork in 1804. He is the author of the famous "Reliques of Father Prout," which he wrote for Fraser's Magazine. Later he was the Rome correspondent for the Daily News and the Paris correspondent of the Globe. He died in Paris in 1866.

With deep affection and recollection
I often think of those Shandon bells, Whose sounds so wild would in the days of childhood,
Fling round my cradle their magic on this I ponder, where'er I wander, And thus grow fonder, sweet Cork, of thee; With thy bells of Shandon, That sound so grand on The pleasant waters of the River Lee. I have heard bells chiming full many a clime in, Tolling sublime in cathedral shrine; While at a glib rate brass tongues would

But all their music spoke naught like of thy beliry knelling its bold notes free, Made the bells of Shandon

But thy sounds were sweeter than the dome of Peter Flings o'er the Tiber, pealing solemnly.
O! the bells of Shandon Sound far more grand on The pleasant waters of the River Lee.

'Tis the bells of Shandon, That sound so grand on The pleasant waters of the River Lee.

The Day Celebrated With Teamsters Go Out in Support Plenty of Enthusiasm.

Windsor, July 14. - Windsor and Detroit Orangemen to the number of about 300, entrained Saturday morning for Bothwell, where they joined with the Orangemen' from the counties of Essex, Kent and Lambton in the celebration of the 212th anniversary of the battle of the Boyne. Marshal Thompson, of Windsor, county master, was marshal of the day. Prizes were given for the best showing made in point of numbers, the best uniformed corps, and the best fife and drum band. Addresses were delivered by E. T. Essery, London; Caleb Simpson, Mount Brydges; James returning from Bothwell on the Orangemen's excursion.

TILSONBURG. The anniversary of the battle of the Boyne was right loyally celebrated here Saturday, the attendance of visiting lodges being very large. Among those from London and vicinity were: Ahoghill, Forest City and Hackett, Londows and the few teams today as they don; and the lodges of Dorchester, Popand Lady Stanley, No. 3, were well represented. The weather was perfect and the demonstration passed off most successfully.

AT VASSAR, MICH. The annual meeting of the Loyal Orange Lodges of Michigan was held at Vassar. Lodges represented: Eden, Spring Hill, Reese, Flint, Clio, Cass City, Silverwood, Yale, Marlette, Unionville, Quanicssee, Bay City, Peck, Owendale and Port Huron. Five thousand men were in the line of march. The estimated number of people pre sent was 15,000. The Flint Martial Band took the prize in the afternoon.

AT PETROLIA. Petrolia celebrated the glorious 12th in good style. The weather was all that could be wished for, and the carly trains brought in hundreds of visitors. Petrolia has not seen such a crowd in years. The streets were decorated with suitable banners, etc., and private and business places were in the same line. Chief of Police Ferguson and his staff were on duty, but they found nothing to do.

THE STARS AND STRIPES. A lodge from Port Huron, consisting of some forty members, marched from the station to their hotel, headed by the fife and drum band. Following were two ladies, who each carried a large United States flag. They were heartily cheered by all. At 1:40 a procession started from the market square and proceeded to the park, where suitable addresses were made by the Orange officers. The procession consisted of Marshals Bradley and Richmond, the Petrolia brass band, four ledges from Port Huron and lodges from the following places: Point Edward, Oil Springs, Walpole Island, Adelaide, Springs, Brigden. Sarnia township, Oakdale, Wilkesport, Watford, stead and other places, several lodges True Blues from different points, and at the rear was Petroliv's excellent fife and drum band. The Oakdale Lodge and the Indian Lodge, with their brass band, also the Sarnia fife and and drum band were much admired. The day closed with the concert given by the Pringle Company in the opera house. It is estimated over one thousand Orangemen were in procession. Everything passed off without a hitch, and the committee deserve thanks.

THE REMARKS OF SIR WILFRID

Earl of Onslow Said Freer Trade Would Follow Conference of the Colonial Premiers.

London, July 14 .- The Empire Coronation banquet, held at the Guildhall Friday, lost much of its interest, ow-ing to the absence of Colonial Secre-These specials in Muslins are very opportune — just when they're needed—and besides for the most part are in great demand and are very scarce goods. If you want them, act at once or they'll be gone. isters, Indian chiefs and King Le-wanika, of Barotse Land.

The Earl of Onslow, in proposing a toast to "The United Empire," spoke of the object of the imperial conference. He denied the suggestion that the conference was the precursor of protection. The very opposite would be the result, he declared, namely, the strengthening of free trade. Greater freedom of trade would greatly advance the interests of the colonies. He believed in the free interchange of commodities between all parts of the empire would result in filling up the open spaces, allowing the British to stand or fall without outside assist-

Sir Wilfrid Laurier said the granting of representative institutions, had brought prosperity, contentment and unity of the Empire. It would be tatal to try to force events in the British Empire. Any preconceived plan along the lines of general or individual efforts should proceed slowly. "His-toric experience," said Sir Wilfrid 'has clearly shown that political changes, unless prompted by actual necessity, generally fail. There is no finality to human affairs." The time might come, the Premier suggested, OF THE FEET when a Parliament of the Empire should assemble at London. It would than the present galaxy of free nations owing allegiance to the same flag. Sir Edmund Barton, Premier of Australia, said any selected plan of representation for the Empire, any scheme for Imperial defence, any common fiscal system, seemed unobtainable at present, but nothing should be regarded as out of reach of the Empire without an earnest effort. He agreed with In Rusticating Thirty Sand-Sir Wilfrid Laurier that rapid processes had not infrequently been the cause of dawnfalls. Caution meant success in any attempt to establish an Imperial zollverein at the present time. It was surely impossible to take away the revenues of the colonies. Canada' one-third trade with Britain would throw the burden of the other twothirds on Australian trade. The trade with Great Britain is so great, he argued, that free trade would mean the surrender of revenues, making it impossible to administer the country without direct taxation.

Concerning imperial defense, cal relations of the various portions of the empire and particularly trade rethat possible discussion of these subat the conference would bear results. He admitted that the good results. contributions of the self-governing col-onies towards naval defences were not proportionate to the burden borne by

Will Sell No Soft Coal.

New York, July 14, - At the meeting of soft coal operators held here on Saturday, an agreement was reached, which was not made public at the time. This decision was that until the decision of the meeting of bituminous coal miners, to be held on July 17, became know, the coal operators in the agreement would hold their present stock of coal, and that which they will receive this week, and not sell any in the open market. The operators say they are impelled to protect themselves and the interests of their customers with whom they have contracts, because of the scarcity of soft coal in or near New York, which the consultation disclosed yesterday.

PROVISIONAL DIRECTORS:

S. T. WILLETT, Woolen and Shovel Manufacturer, Chambly J. E. SHOEMAKER, Manager Aluminum Works, HENRY C. DODDS, Secretary-Treasurer, JOHN W. BLAIR, Solicitor,

This Company is incorporated for the purpose of acquiring the business hitherto carried on by Messrs. Shoemaker & Dodds, as Manufacturers of Spun and Cast Aluminum goods.

The business was commenced a year ago, on a site acquired at Chambly Canton with cheap Electrical power, where factories have been erected and manufacturing commenced. The success which has attended their efforts has been so greatly beyond their expectations, that their only resource is to form a Joint-Stock Company, and increase the working Capital. Aluminum Ingots are purchased and such articles as Cooking utensils, Spoons, House fittings, Coat hooks, Door and letter plates, Pew numbers, Letters and figures for Signs, made therefrom. Castings are also made to order for Machinists and Manufacturers, according to patterns supplied. These articles can be cast in Aluminum, Copper, Brass or Composition. From Aluminum sheets a very large line of Cooking utensils, Funnels, Measures, Reflectors and Shades, Combs, Milk, Bread and Pool checks, Advertising novelties, Fancy goods, Notions, etc., are spun or stamped. The Company will be prepared to manufacture a large variety of Lamps, for use where there is no Gas or Electric Light, the patterns for these

The sales are increasing very fast, so that in May the amount more than doubled that of March, and it is this rapid extension of the business which necessitates the increase of the working capital.

The following considerations are submitted to prospective shareholders:

This is the only Company of the kind in Canada. It is needless to point out the advantage this gives it, for while at present it has the field to itself, it will in the future should other Manufacturers start business, always be the established house with which the trade is accustomed to deal.

2. A bonus of $20,000 was granted by the Town of Chambly Canton, which is repayable $2,000 on 1st. June 1904, and the same amount in each of the nine following years, without interest. This amounts to less than the rent such premises would bring in the City, so that by paying a small rental for ten years from 1904, the works wil be free of debt.

3. Electrical power and Taxes cost much less at Chambly than in the City of Montreal, while Railway freight is only a small item. 4. Articles made from Aluminum are entirely free from any tendencs to rust or corrode, unless treated with strong Alkalis. There is therefor no danger of Verdigris, as in a Copper or Brass preserving Pan, or of the metal being eaten through by rust, as in Tin. The lightness of the metal makes it particularly easy to handle, and it can be alloyed so as to become as hard as Brass, and thus completely take the place, at a cheaper rate, of Nickelplated Brass.

5. The net position of May would have sufficed to pay a six per cent. dividend on the whole Capital of the Company for that month. As the net profit on the goods averages 20%, it is hardly boasting to say that the present principals have every confidence in their ability to pay a regular dividend at the rate of ten per cent. per annum.

6. It has been arranged that Messrs. Shoemaker and Dodds, who commenced and have built up the business, shall continue and devote their whole time to the service of the Company, as Manager and Secretary-Truasurer respectively.

7. The purchase money of the business has been fixed at $50,000 the whole of which will be taken in paid up stock.

The above price includes, Land, Buildings, Machinery, Stock manufactured and unmanufactured, Book debts, and Cash in Bank; the business being handed over as a going concern. For further information and forms for subscription for stock, apply to Questions in the House of Commons to Mr. Brodrock, secretary for war, having failed to produce any satisfactory reply, the natural course would have been to move the adjournment of the house, but this step was not taken soon enough. A Conservative member -one of the new baronets-intervened with a notice of motion which, though it will never come on, prevents the adjournment being moved. There has, however, been a very interesting correspondence on the subject in the Times, including able letters from Winston Churchill, Lord Hugh Cecil and Lord Alwynne Compton, who is a soldier, and on Thursday Lord Carrington brought the matter before

Splitting Headaches

CAN BE STOPPED AND THE CONDITIONS WHICH CAUSE THEM CURED BY FERRO-

Poisons accumulate in the blood and spread with it every moment to all parts of the body. The brain becomes congested, the nerves irritated, and the result is that awful headache so well known to the female sex.

Most of these poisons are absorbed into the blood from the waste matter that has accumulated in the intestines resulting from indigestion. Matter which should be promptly passed from the system through natural channels. Ferrozone cleanses the entire intestinal tract, and the liver and kidneys as well. It cures constipation, and its many attendant evils. It makes the body strong and the blood pure, induces natural sleep, and enables to eat and drink anything at any time without risk or headache, nervousness or skin eruptions.

Ferrozone is nature's own remedy for headaches. It is a lasting potent tonic and the greatest health maker the world has ever seen. It masters all female derangements, and restores weak, sickly women to a healthy, vigorous condition of mind and body. No other remedy so effectually meets the requirements of a health-giving tonic and regulator as Ferrozone. Every woman and growing girl can derive marvelous benefit from its regular use, and if you suffer from Chlorosis, Anaemia, Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Poor Appetite, Nervousness, or Female Disorders of any kind, you can make no mistake in selecting Ferrozone for a cure. Every reliable druggists recommends UNJUST AND CRUEL. Then the war office decreed that given up within two days all the cadets of C Company who could not prove an alibi would be rusticated and the servants dismissed. It was in the quarters of C Company that the fire broke out. There was some excuse for dismissing the orderlies, on the ground that they ought to have been on the spot, but as regards the cadets the consequences were unjust and cruel, even grotesque. Those who were playing cricket escaped, while those who were workwere most severely punished though they cannot all be guilty and may all be innocent. General punishments are always open to grave objections, but at the they should only be influenced by mutiny. As a mere method of extorting confession they are barbarous, iniquitous and almost always futile.

These unfortunate cadets are threatened with professional ruin because Sir Edward Markham, the governor Sandhurst, cannot find out who lighted the fires.

No doubt, as Lord Roberts says. arson is a helnous crime, because it not only damages property, but endangers life, and for that reason he is visiting those who perpetrate it with exemplary penalties, not for counfounding the innocent with the guilty. REFORM NEEDED.

Another cablegram says: To the dismay of the government, the agitation on the subject of the "rustication" of the Sandhurst cadets, who were suspected by their inferior officers of being concerned in the recent incendiary fires at the military college, daily ga thers more influential supporters. Winston Spencer Churchill and Lord Hugh Cecil have now enlisted Lord Rose-bery, the Duke of Northumberland and hundreds of other prominent men, regardless of party, in their endeavors to see that justice is done to twenty-nine "rusticated" cadets. What at first seemed to be a trifling matter is now a grave source of annoyance to the government, in spite of the endeavor of the entire ministry, as the Saturday Review puts it, to shelter themselves behind Lord Roberts, the commander-in-chief. They are still in a dilemma, and Lord Roberts has lost more of his waning popularity. This week the question is likely to be the subject of a heated debate in the House of Commons. The underlying motive, in the movement in behalf o the cadets, is the universal desire to probe the war office inefficiency and Sandhurst a fit place to train British officers.

the immediate cause of the suicide of Sebastian Gassiot, a retired captain of the royal navy. A brother of Capt. He therefore became depressed by the weight of his responsibility and imbued with the delusion that he was exceedingly poor. Finally the captain shot himself July 8. Oak Hall's Midsummer Sale

Today Oak Hall commenced their midsummer sale of clothing and gents' furnishings, which is bound to be one of the most successful in the history of this well-known firm. Oak Hall never does things by halves and the announcement made of this special sale is the determination to dispose of a heavy stock, due to the cold, wet weather in June, when the sales gen-erally amount to big figures, but fell away below this year. Manager Wm. Gibson, in his advertisement, has issued a statement that clearly outlines this sale. -John Graham, a former county constable, was arrested by the local police today on a charge of stealing a watch from Robert Taylor, a hostler at the Boswell House. -The Army Medical Corps of the Seventh Regiment will run a moonlight excursion to Port Stanley on Tuesday evening, the 15th. By kind permission of Col. Little and officers, the Seventh band will be in attendance. -The following Londoners are attending the summer school for teachers held at Toronto under the auspices of the Education Department of Ontario: Misses Violet Dunn, Florence Nichol (Wilton Grove), Mabel A. Smith and Lily Teskey. Mr. John Dearness, of London, is principal and teacher of nature study.

-A pleasant event took place in the workmen with a handsome umbrella of regret at the cause which compelled a nicely-worded address. Mr. Jesse White made the presentation on behalf of the men. Mr. Cooke made a suitable reply.

MCARTHUR REMANDED. John McArthur was today further remanded for one week, awaiting the conclusion of the coroner's inquest.

CAUGHT A BIG CARP. Mr. B. C. McCann, while fishing in the river below Byron with a hook and line Saturday, caught a 16-pound carp. This is said to be the largest fish caught with a hook and line in this vicinity for many years.

TO RESIDE IN ENGLAND

Mrs. Boomer Will Leave London Shortly for Old Country.

Londoners will be somewhat surprised to learn that Mrs. Boomer, of this city, leaves Canada shortly to reside in England.

Mrs. Boomer has long been a force among the women of this city who have directed their energies toward the betterment of social conditions in London and the country as a whole. Her work in this connection has been done actively and enthusiastically, and has met with a large measure of success. Mrs. Boomer is president of the Local Council of Women, and is the retiring vice-president of the council in Onta-She has been a very active worker in the Anglican Women's Auxiliary Missions. Mrs. Boomer was the only woman who was ever a member of the school board, and to her directly belongs the credit of having introduced domestic science into the schools, which now appears so near to accomplishment. At the recent National Council convention, Lady Taylor, retiring president, regretted that Mrs. Boomer was leaving Canada, as she had enough enthusiasm to fire all the members. Her departure from London will be regretted exceedingly.

MR. SIFTON PROTESTS

Syringes. Ald. Jolly's Resolution Is Grossly Unfair to Him.

> An Underhand Way of Preventing Any Competition.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: In my position as manager of The Electrical Construction Company, of London, Limited, I have seen so much arbitrary action and unreasonableness on the part of The London Electric Company, and have heard so many complaints from our customers as to unfair and exorbitant charges that at the first opportunity, I determined to give competition, knowing that it would be a paying investment, as well as a means of redress to ill-treated customers of electric energy.

My application for privileges of crossing city streets was favorably considered by last year's council, but has been this year obstructed to date by every possible conceivable argument, no matter how fickle. Their hobby, however, was, as first stated by them, that a new concern should not be allowed the cream of business in the city's center, while they were forced to supply the outhere, that it is all cream with a slight possible thickening near the center of the city.

The London Electric Company has the contract of lighting the city streets by electricity and received last year under that contract $24,688 from the city treasury. In order to earn this large sum of is, nevertheless, most profitable to the London Electric Company, as is shown by the fact that in 1898 Mr. Hunt made a slight reduction in the rates charged to the city in order to get the city contract renewed for ten (10)

I ask the privilege merely of crossing the streets of the city with electric wires in order to supply private consumers and have not any municipal contract, yet Ald. Jolly and some of the aldermen seem to think it fair to propose that I shall not be allowed to cross a single street to supply a customer in the block next to my electric light plant, unless I be bound to extend my wires and poles through-out practically the whole city.

In other words, Mr. Hunt's com-pany extended their poles and wires throughout the city in order thereby to earn $24,000 a year from the city. Therefore, says Jolly, Sifton must also extend his wires throughout the same area, though he has not at present a single customer there. And this is what some aldermen call securing competition in the supply of electricity.

To show plainly the difference between the London Electric Company's contract and that proposed by Ald.

Jolly I may say: 1st. That the London Electric Company are not bound to supply electricity to any private consumer in the city and if they refuse to renew a plys for electricity.
2nd. The agreement between

London Electric Company and the city and a $5 goldpiece. A few remarks does not attempt to fix the rates to be were made by Mr. G. Powe expressive charged. Mr. Hunt may charge whatever he can get or lower his rate to Mr. Cooke having to leave the works. meet competition in any block as he Mr. Conner was called upon, and read has already done. Ald. Jolly proposes that I shall be compelled to charge a uniform rate all over the city. 3rd. The London Electric Company's agreement with the city does not mention electricity for power. Mr. Hunt, therefore, supplies it only where and at what prices he chooses. Ald. Jolly proposes that I shall be bound to supply power to all applicants all over the city, and at the same rates for all consumers, near or far, big or little.

ious to benefit the citizens? There is no fair comparison between the London Electric Company and my electric plant. The former have extended their poles and wires over the city in order to get $24,000 per annum for street lighting from the city. It would be most unfair to ask any other supplier of electricity to extend his poles and wires except as he obtained customers to warrant their extension. customers to warrant their extension. To insist that any new electric com-pany shall immediately extend their wires all over the city is an underhand way of refusing any franchise to a new company, and so securing Mr. Hunt in his present monopoly, therefore profiting not London and its citizens but mainly Toronto capitalists.

Father Connelly then drew an interesting comparison between the bell which was being consecrated and Gospel to all the word, accompanying the command with the promise that he would be with his apostles to the end of the world. Father Connolly pointed out that as the sound of the bell rang out over the city and was heard in the homes and the streets, and on the hills and in the valleys of the surrounding country, so the apostolic preaching of the Gospel rang out and found its way into the hearts and consciences and souls of the people.

As the tones of the bell reverberated through the air, so for 2,000 years the teaching of Christ's apostles and their successors had reverberated in the lives of the faithful. The only differ-

The sponsors for the bell were Mr. Frank Murphy and Miss Rogie Murphy, children of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Murphy, the donors. The bell was anointed by the bishop with holy oil, while the psalms and prayers appointed by the church's ritual were rendered. PROTESTED ELECTIONS

Serious Charges Against Mr Lennox in North York.

Disreputable American Political Methods and Agencies Used.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, July 14. - "Americans skilled in Yankee political methods were employed by the Conservatives to assist in the election of Conservative candidates, and distributed money to that end." That is the substance of a charge laid by the Liberals today in a crosspetition filed by North York Liberals against Mr. Lennox, whom the court is asked to disqualify. This is in the event of the success of the present Tory petition against Hon. E. J. Davis. This. cross-petition contains charges of bribery and corruption by the Tories. It also declares that the respondent, Mr. Lennox, by himself and his agents, were guilty of voting, and inducing others to vote, who had no legal right to do so. The petition then says: "The Onta-rio Conservative Association entered into a corrupt and illegal bargain with certain citizens of Buffalo and other cities of the United States, being persons skilled in American political methods, and in the conduct of American elections to procure in various corrupt and illegal ways the election of the candidates of the Conservative party. including the election at which the respondent was a candidate."

The petition adds that two persons were brought from Buffalo, whose expenses and remuneration were paid by the association, with the knowledge of Mr. Lennox, to distribute money, and for the purpose of committing other corrupt practices, acting apparently independent of the association, but in reality in conjunction with them and the respondent. The petition concludes: "A number of corrupt practices were committed by them pursuant to this ar-

McGiee Served Nine Months for Girl He Married.

Romance of Runaway Couple Arrested Here Last Year.

There is a touch of local interest in a marriage which took place on Saturday last at Niagara Falls, N. Y., the parties to it being Lillie McIntyre, a 17-year-old Toronto girl, and A. G. McGee, of 509 West Queen street, Toronto, a distant relative of the McIntyre family. McGee, who is over 30 years of age, and Miss McIntyre have been ardent lovers for about two years. Although the girl was warned repeatedly by her parents she continued to meet and correspond with McGee. Mr. McIntyre's objections to the match were based principally on the marked difference in the ages of the two, and the fact that McGee had none too good a reputation. The courting was carried along until one day last August, when McGee went to the Eaton store, in Toronto, where the girl was employed, and induced her to go away with him. The couple went first to Richmond Hill, and then, by a roundabout route, to this city. Their description had preceded them, ever, and Detective Tommy Nickle's keen eyes spotted them as they alighted from a train at the G. T. R. station. They were on their way to Port Huron to be married, they said. They were detained until officers arrived to take them back to Toronto. On arrival there the girl was released, but McGee was held on a charge of abduction. The case was tried at the September sessions, Miss McIntyre being a very unwilling witness. Mc-Gee was convicted, and Judge Mc-Dougall sentenced him to nine months' imprisonment in the Central Prison. All the time McGee was a prisoner the girl kept up her correspondence, and on his release last month she was one of the first to greet him. Unknown to her parents, Miss McIntyre planned the trip to Niagara Falls on Saturday, where she was married to McGee. Trouble is expected between the two families, as the girl's parents and her brother are incensed at her action.

As for Charley Wing's boots, tiny and astonishing as are those unequaled specimen's they are but a pair of easy slippers compared with the mental chaussure into which his inner man has put its foot. Like the shirt of Nessus, the latter has raised one continuous blister over his whole epidermis. Charley's debts and difficulties have reached a climax at which, as he himself says, "man ceases to be a free agent, and is absolved from all responsibility in the great scheme." Not only is the coat he wears unpaid for but the most long-suffering of tailors has declined to present him with another. Not only is he in debt to everybody whom he honors with his acquaintance, but the shillings and half-crowns are beginning to run short, and he has more than once of late expressed a wish that the noble system of credit could be extended to our cab-stands. He is engaged today to dine with a duke (not Duke H.), but he thinks it extremely probable that he may be arrested in his progress across the pavement between the marquis' brougham that drops him, and the arms of the parti-colored giant who will relieve him of his overcoat. Already he is shoulder, which is never practiced save by him who expects an admonitory tap thereon. Already he accepts invitations and makes engagements with a devout air, as of one who is conscious of the uncertainty of human affairs, and jests somewhat plaintively on his probable incarceration, as a mortal may who is pre-As for Charley Wing's boots, tiny and uncertainty of human affairs, and jests somewhat plaintively on his probable incarceration, as a mortal may who is prepared to submit resignedly to the common lot. These young men of pleasure lavish a good many valuable qualities on a sadly unworthy object. I cannot but admire constancy, endurance and a stoical goodhumor equal to either fortune, even though they be wasted on so foolish and objectless a career as a round of London dissipation, and these Charley Wing must have possessed, or he never could must have possessed, or he never could have borne his reverses so composedly. There was a Spartan's pluck under all that "Persian apparatus" outside, and had his boots been as tight as Cinderhad his boots been as tight as Cinderella's slippers, he would have scorned

the Ride, nodding to a dandy here, and bowing to an equestrian beauty there, with considerably more energy than is habitual to him. Whatever twinges may be in store for Gilbert, today he is treading upon air. He is in the first stage of a malady which is fatal to some constia malady which is fatal to some consti-tutions, and a general light-headedness is the result. He sees the world through rese-colored glasses, if, indeed, such are rese-colored glasses, if, indeed, such are to be procured at any real optician's. The motley of the kaleidoscope is to him invested with a magic glamor, and Pelides towers above him in a halo of artificial glory. Why is the grass so fresh today as it waves in the summer wind? Why are the leaves such a golden green as they flicker against the summer sky? Why is that vista of forest glade toward Kensington no longer a mere lobe, or breathing-place of the great metropolis; but a glimpse into Fairyland? Because he has crossed the tiny stream that scarcely wets the wayfarer's feet, and taken his first step into the enchanted taken his first step into the enchanted region. The breeze is heavy with perfumes, and his tread is upon crushed roses, innocent, it would seem, of thorns! We shall see. Steeper and steeper slopes the hill. By-and-bye, flints cut the tender soles, and there are no flowers in the brake through which he must force his way, but plenty of thorns here that pierce him to the cuick. Faster and faster he must on: very nature of the spell forbids him etrace his steps, and he cannot turn aside, for the enchanted country spreads wider and wider around, though it is lone and dreary now, and he shudders to think that if he leave the path he must be lost in the cheerless desert. He cannot stop, for the descent is steeper yet, and he must plunge on ankle-deep in sand and shingle, faint, weary, and athirst,

Mrs. Montpellier had found him out directly. Women are so sharp! Be sure Bessie remembered, and her mamma didn't forget, for the latter had "always heard Mr. Orme must have ten thousand a year." By-the-way, are there no fortunes in England between "Nothing," "Comfortably off." "Then thousand a year," and a "Millionaire"? Perhaps the income tax commissioners could tell. For my part I have never heard of one. If I wanted to impress a foreigner with the merits of English society. I would take him up this very walk on such a crowded sunshiny afternoon. Our compatriots show to the greatest advantage out of doors; and no woman alive looks so well in a riding-habit as the Anglo-Saxon. There is no such lounge anywhere else in Europe. The Prater at Vienna is a deserted solitude in comparison; and the concourse in the Bois de Boulogne reminds me of a pantomime, without the the concourse in the Bois de Boulogne re-minds me of a pantomime, without the music, that gives life to that fanciful representation. But Rotten Row, which derived from the Route du Roi, is an institution per se, and challenges atten-tion accordingly.

ST. MARYS WON. Those who expected that the London lacrosse team would have a walk-over Saturday because they were playing with an intermediate bunch were sadly mistaken. The St. Marvs team's defense was worthy of senior lacrosse, and their home players, although not as fast as the rest of the team, were able to pierce London's defense five times—which is saying a good deal. St. Marys' weak point was in getting away with the ball after a pass.

There was no scoring done during the first quarter. Both did a lot of pretty combination work, but could not get inside the defense. In the second quarter, after ten minutes' play, Graham scored for London on a long combination down the field. Three minutes after that Taylor passed to O'Brien and O'Brien to Graham, who repeated the trick. This concluded London's scoring. In the third quarter the visitors scored three games and in the last quarter they netted two more, winning out by a score of 5 to 2. A small crowd

BRANTFORDS 6, DUFFERINS 3. Orangeville, Ont., July 14.-The championship lacrosse match in the senior series, C. L. A., played here Saturday afternoon, was stubbornly contested at all stages. Brantford won out by six goals to three through superior team work on the home. Twenty-five hundred people witnessed the game and excitement was at fever heat in the early stages, when the wearers of the green looked all-over winners. The Dufferins set out at a tremendous pace, and soon had two goals together. Brantford then steadied down, and the game became very exciting, with lots of close, hard checking. A little lose play gave them their first goal, and before the quarter ended they got another, making the score two all. The second quarter was hard fought from start to finish, and ended with the score 3 to 2 in favor of Brantford. In the third the visitors got two and the and a de—vil of a temper besides!"

"I don't believe that," interrupted Holyhead, who never would let anyone be run down. "I don't believe there's a better woman in London."

ATHLETICS 9, TECUMSEHS 2. St. Catharines, Ont., July 14.—An immense crowd of people witnessed the Tecumseh-Athletic lacrosse match here Saturday afternoon. The weather was superb and the playing of both teams was clean, not a man being ruled off throughout. The game opened with a rush, both teams showing up well, tut the visitors' defense being drawn out allowed St. Catharines to score the first two games in nine and two minutes respectively. The visitors took the third game in three minutes and a half. In the second quarter the Athletics added three goals to their credit. Each team scored a goal in the third quarter. Already there are a great many horses stabled at the track. At the close of the Fort Erie meeting almost 700 horses will be shipped by special train to Highland Park, and as Washington Park, Chicago, will close its gates about the same time, and there will be a letup of a month at the tracks around New York city, while Saratoga is in operation, there will be more horses here to take part in the Highland Park meeting than ever before. ARGREGOR'S VICTORY. Chicago, July 12.-Argregor dissipated the idea that a horse cannot ome from the East a few days before a long-distance race and win, by capturing the Young handicap Washington Park Saturday, beating the best field of horses of all ages that have started in any race at the present neeting. Argregor has been in town meeting. Argregor has been in town but three days, hardly time, according to all tradition, to become acclimated Six Shooter, winner of the Great Western, and, as in that event, the favorite, loaded with 120 pounds, was prominent twice during the journey. prominent twice during the journey. Scarlet Lily, the rank outsider, with Hegelson up, went to the front at the start and reached the stand a length and a half to the good. Rounding the clubhouse turn Ransch spurred Argregor up from seventh to second position, and never dropped back.

Swinging for home, Scarlet Lily still showed a margin of a half length over Argregor, and by dint of hard work on the part of Helgeson maintained the lead until within 20 yards of the wire, when Argregor caught her and in the final strides moved away from her easily, winning by a length. Hunter Raine, who hung a bit at the last turn, came again and raced the Lily mare to a nose. The race was truly run and the best horse won.

Buffalo, N. Y., July 13 .- One of the largest Saturday crowds of the meeting turned out at Fort Erie to witness the racing Saturday. The large number of spectators enjoyed one of the best days' sport of the meeting, as the events on the whole were well contested. A good thing was pulled off in the first race, when Fessy F., liberally backed, won the event. Fessy F. was quoted at 20 to 1, and she beat out the hot favorite, Clorita.

An owners' handicap for 2-year-olds attracted a great deal of attention. All of the four starters were well played, but the race was practically settled in the first furlong, when F. G. Good and Special Tax outbroke their company and opened up a gap of four lengths. Good took the pace from and led Spe-cial Tax by a short margin all of the way to the stretch, where he came away and won by a length and a half. Special Tax finished an easy second and All Souls dropped into third place. The latter came fast in the stretch, and with a better start would have been a keen contender. The other events were keenly contested. Sum-

FAVORITES NOT IN IT. St. Louis, July 12.—Favorites were bowled over in the seven races run at Delmar Saturday, three second choices and four horses at long odds reaping first honors. The Gasconade, a selling sweepstakes for 3-year-olds, was won handily by Helen Print, the favorite, after getting off badly and meeting with considerable interference, besides being compelled to go around her horses. Rounding the turn for home, there was a big bumping match between the leading horses, in which the favorite apparently took no part. Helen Print was pounds the better horse, and she won by a length from Jordan, who was half a length before Father Kentker. The judges decided that Father Kentker and Helen Print were guilty of foul riding, and disqualified them, placing Jordan first, Sambo second and Buccleuth third. Helen Print had been heavily played to win, and her backers were much disappointed at the action of the judges. Weather clear; track fast. Summaries:

THE WEINIG-CARTER BOUT. Sunday Buffalo Courier: Tomorrow night's boxing contest between Al Leicestershire ... 8 Yorkshire11 Weinig, the Buffalo cyclist-fighter, and Kid Carter, the Brooklyn "whirlwind," should prove an interesting affair, in-Surrey dependent of the result. These sturdy young gladiators clashed in Chicago Lancashire12 Somerset Derbyshire for six rounds a few months ago and, according to the newspaper reports of the encounter it was one of the live-liest seen in the Windy City for a long time. Weinig stoutly declared that he had been Carter until the present match was the Canadian version of the rules, however. Al's friends do not appear to have so much confidence in him, and as a result Carter is being made the favorite. However, if Weinig boxes half so well in the ring tomorrow night as he does in his daily workouts with his trainers, he may give the supporters of the Brooklyn boy a big surprise. Weinig has been displaying rare cleverness and a shiftiness that is admirable in his practice work. He uses both hands with a snappy, quick jolt and, all in all, shows a vast improvement over the form shown in his contest with Creedon at Fort Erie. We have never seen this Brooklyn chap do battle, but judging by his

Respiring

Lungs in your shoes—yes! At every step fresh air inhaled and expelled.

The insole of the RESILIA shoe expands from the outsole each time the foot is lifted.

In doing this it draws in fresh air through a hidden valve in the heel, which locks it in.

When the foot bears down upon the insole, this air, contained in the cross channels, is then forced up into the shoe by the wearer's weight, through insole perforations under the foot.

As the air cannot go out where it came in, it is then compelled to circulate up around the stocking and out at the boot top, keeping the foot dry, clean, hardy, and healthy.

And the dry shoe in winter is the warm shoe, the safe shoe.

The damp shoe, from causes within or without, is the winter death-dealer.

The Year's Derbies.

Some fatality appears to have attached to several of the Derby favorites this year. Including the Epsom event, the father of them all, twelve Derbies have been run so far. Following is a resume of this season's pans, Lever's Dry Soap (a powder) will races that are dignified by the name: Sombrero was the favorite for the California Derby, and was clearly the best of the field. He took the lead in the stretch and won by three lengths. Corrigan was second, Water Scratch third and Jingler fourth. Lord Quex was the favorite for the Crescent City Derby. He took the lead at the half, but had to be hustled along at the end to stall off Vassal Dance, second, a length and a half back.

Prowl was third, and the others, in order named, were St. Tammany, Kaffir, Duke of Connaught, Cast Iron and Merry-Maker. The favorite for the Arkansas Derby was the Bennett colt, Herodiade, at 7 to 10. Prowl took the lead at the threequarters and won by two lengths from Flora Pomona, Huntress third, Hain-ault fourth, Lingo fifth and Herodiade In the Tennessee Derby, Abe Frank was the favorite over Lou Woods, Buccleuth and Red Hook, which finished behind him in the order named. Abe took the lead in the last furlong, but he had all he could do to stall off Lou

Woods, winning by a neck. Tom Hayes' pair, Buccleuth and Crimean, were coupled as the first choice, at 9 to 10, in the Cumberland Derby. The Canadian horse, Red Robe, was the first to show at flagfall but Beauchamp took him in hand and laid A. WESTMAN third with him until the last sixteenth, when he sent him out in a drive with

Circus and Buccleuth. He won by half a length, with Circus taking the place by a neck from Aladdin. Crimean was

The favorite for the Kentucky Derby was Abe Frank, at 3 to 5. Alan-a-Dale was coupled in the betting with The Rival. Alan went to the front after a dozen strides, and remained there throughout, showing most speed, but tiring in the last quarter. He won by a neck from Inventor, half a length better than The Rival, a neck in front of Abe Frank, last. The choice for the Latonia Derby was the Baker & Gentry entry, South Trimble and Martin Burke, at 3 to 5. Harry New was first away, but Otis took him back, until he was well in the stretch, where he sent him to the front and won by five lengths. South Trimble was three lengths in front of same distance Martin Burke, the ahead of Abe Frank, last. Red Robe was the favorite for the Canadian Derby. He got away front, but was collared by Dubious in the first few strides. He ran second, within a length of the leader to the last furlong, when the pair drove it out to the limit, Red Robe winning by a length, Dubious three lengths in front of Mattie Spencer, third and last. For the Brooklyn Derby, Major Daingerfield was the favorite, and was much the best. He took the lead at the half and won by ten lengths from Homestead, twelve lengths in front of King Hanover, fifteen lengths better than Emshe, last. The favorite for the St. Louis Derby was Abe Cahn's Terra Firma, at 9 to 10. Otis took the lead as they straightened away and ran in front to the three-quarters, where Glenwater showed first by a neck, but he was the speediest in the lot, and in the stretch came away from the field, and won by a length from Little Scout, a nose in front of Terra Firma, a neck better than Aladdin. Flora Pomona was fifth, Corrigan sixth, Leflare seventh, Glen-water eighth and Sambo last. At 5 to 2, the Mackay colt, Heno, was the public choice for the American Derby. Wyeth ran in the bunch until they reached the stretch. There he took the lead from Otis, had clear sailing and won easily by two lengths from Lucien Appleby, three lengths better than Aladdin. Otis was fourth, two lengths back, and the same distance in front of Heno, half a length better than Prowl, two lengths to the good on Belle's Commoner. Pentecost was eighth, half a length back and a neck in front of Corrigan, likewise a neck better than Lord Quex. Arsenal was eleventh, and Hermis last, pulled

Thus it will be seen that five favorites and five outsiders were victorious in ten of the eleven Derbies, and that the other went to the second choice. -"Pop" in Toronto World.

-Mr. Robert F. Laidlaw, of Westminster, a young divinity student who recently returned to Canada after a two years' course of study in Glasgow, preached yesterday at St. Andrew's Church and the congregation was much impressed by his sermons. Mr. Laidlaw has preached in this city before and his sermons yesterday showed the improvement that has come from earnest study. -Dr. A. J. Grant, a graduate of the Western Medical School, and winner of the silver medal, left today for Thedford to practice his profession.

Dr. Grant was one of the Western University's most successful students and won an excellent reputation among the medical men of this city by his work, as one of the house surgeons of Victoria Hospital. His friends here wish him every success. -Among the Londoners registered at the Fraser House, Port Stanley, on Sunday, were the following: Hellmuth Clucas, Fred Tessant, M. J. Kent, Mrs. M. J. Kent, V. G. WATER RATES. Water rates are now due and payments may be made up to July 20, but citizens would do well not to delay until the last moment. A rush of payers towards the last means inconvenience to themselves and extra work in the secretary's office. BIG EXCURSION BUSINESS. The Grand Trunk Railway report that its Twelfth of July excursion business on Saturday last was the largest reported in several years. Excursions were run from London and the Western Ontario district to Tilson-burg, Bothwell, Petrolia, Goderich and other points where Orange demonstra-tions were being held. So large was the crowd that the G. T. R. was obliged to borrow passenger cars from another railroad. Over 7 con passengers were carried.

Complexion and Food.

Many Grain Foods Have a Tendency to Disfigure the Face.

Promotes Healthy Circulation, Perfect Digestion and a Clear Complexion.

Complexion—a good complexion—very largely depends upon the character of food used from day to day. Some grain foods used at the morning meal produce roughness and redness of the skin, as well as unsightly eruptions. Some foods act upon the blood in such a way that sallowness becomes very pronounced, and the eyes ose their luster and brightness.
The use of Malt Breakfast Food guarantees a clear, clean and healthful complexion, with sparkling eyes, perfect digestion and circulation. Thousands have given up the use of blood-heating oatmeal, and by using Malt Breakfast Food, have secured pure, life-giving blood and a good complexion. Prove it for yourself. Grovers everywhere.

LITTLE ADDITIONAL LIGHT THROWN ON NINHAM'S DEATH

Uneventful Session of Inquest on Saturday Night

Men Named Brown and Cummings Seen at Hotel

One Witness Admitted He Was "Pretty Drunk," and That He Lied to Constables.

The seventh session of the Ninham inquest, held on Saturday evening, failed to bring the inquiry to the conclusion which it was thought would have been reached in two or three

Eight witnesses were called, all of them failed to throw any bright light on the mystery which surrounds the death of Gus Ninham. Four of the witnesses were members of the party of seven which visited Sharkey's hotel at a late hour on the night of June 21. Their stories in the main coincided with that which Wm. Worrall, one of their companions, told on Friday night. All seemed hazy on the question of time, some thinking they arrived at Sharkey's shortly after 11.30, while others fixed the time as nearer midnight. One of them corroborated Worrail's statement as to there being three men in the sitting room, into which the party went at members of the coronation contingent Sharkey's, and recognized one of the three as a man named Cummings. Two others of these four witnesses could not remember seeing any men in the room with them, while a fourth said he saw Cummings and a man named Brown in an adjoining sitting-room. All agreed that Sharkey gave them no liquor. No less than three of the party swore that they slept during a large part of the drive, and one of them confessed that he could not recollect being assisted from the rig at the G. T. R. station by his companions, but said he knew nothing of his surroundings from the time he went to sleep in the rig till he woke in the morning in the draymen's shelter on York street. One of the party amused the spectators and jury by his frank confession that he "pretty drunk," not only on the night of Ninham's death, but also on the subsequent occasion when interrogated by the constables, to whom he told untruths because he thought "it none of their business." Two witnesses were called to testify as to Ninham's fight with another Indian at the Grand Central Hotel, but as one of them was absent from the hotel at the time at which the The employes of Lawson & Jones held their annual picnic at Port Stanley on Saturday afternoon. Nearly every employe was present, together lawson and that he was supposed to have larger that he was detail hight. Fox said he was at Sharkey's hotel on the night of Saturday, June 21. The bartender at the Boswell House had driven him out of the back sitting-room at 11:15 p.m., he being drunk at the time. Outside he met six roung men, and with them he entered a gladstone and drove to Sharkey's, They left the city immediately after Witness was positive he had told no one that it was after 12 o'clock when the party left for Sharkey's.

LIED TO THE CONSTABLE. If witness had told .High Constable McLoud that it was after 12 o'clock when the party left the city, it was a lie. He was drunk at the time, and so was liable to say anything. He was always liable to lie to the police. He was telling the truth to the coroner and jury, he said, because he was on

When the party arrived at Sharkey's they all went into a room, and after a little Hugh Sharkey, jun., came in and told them there was nothing doing, and to get out. Witness did not know what room they were in, as he from brain work. Bacon, meat, potahad only been at Sharkey's once before, and besides he was too drunk to will not keep a hard brain worker know. "I was pretty drunk that even-well. A food expert perfected a perknow. "I was pretty drunk that even- | well. ing," he admitted cheerfully.

"Are you sober now?" asked Coroner "Yes, I'm sober now. I've had three or four drinks," answered the witness.

TRIED TO PUMP HIM. Asked further about his statements to the constables, witness said: "I never told the high constable any lie. I was drinking when he came over to a hotel and bought me a drink to try and pump me."

High Constable McLoud bought him a drink on Tuesday last, said witness, and on leaving him gave him 15 cents to get more drink. Constable Ward gave witness 10 cents on Monday to get a drink. When the constable served witness with his subpoena on Saturday he bought him another Stanley streets to the Wharncliffe road, and thence to the Pipe Line road. Witness drove the horse.

SAW CUMMINGS AT HOTEL. On arriving at Sharkey's the horse and rig were put in the shed. There were no other rigs in the shed, said witness, because he looked to make sure that there were no horses which would interfere with their own horse. The party went into the hotel, and went into a sitting room. There were three men there sitting down. Witness knew one of them to see him, and thought his name was Cummings. None of witness's party sat down in the room save Fox. Sharkey was in the room, and told the party that they would have to get out. Stone went and brought the rig out of the shed.

Fox was brought with the party because he asked to be taken, and some of the party said he might.

MCARTHUR NOT THERE. Witness was positive that he did not see anyone coming toward the city on the Pipe Line road. John McArthur was not at the hotel when witness arrived there. On leaving Sharkey's the party drove south along the sideroad. Witness saw a party of men standing on a road running west from the sideroad, some distance from Sharkey's. There were more than 4 persons in the group and less than nine. There was a rig standing near them, but witness could not tell if a horse was hitched to it of not. After trying unsuccessfully to get into London View Hotel, the party drove to the city. The different members of the party were driven to their despective homes. Witness then took the horse to the livery stable, arriving about 2:15 a.m. He then walked home reaching there at 3 o'clock. To Mr. Faulds, witness said that no rig passed the party on the Pipe Line road, but pedestrians might have passed without being noticed.

White said that he and George McLean had gone to Hueston's for the livery rig and when they were leaving with it the liveryman said it was 11:30 p.m. Witness did not know the two men whom he saw employed at the livery. Witness told the liveryman that they wanted the rig for about 11/2 hours. Witness drove along Dundas, Richmond and King streets to where his companions were waiting. On the way McLean and witness stopped at the Metropolitan Hotel for about 2 minutes to get a package of cigarettes. The party drove at a good pace to Sharkey's. There were no other rigs in the shed at Sharkey's Witness saw no one at the hotel, save Hugh Shar-key himself. The party sat down in the sitting room. They got no drink
