Better Outlook

For Settling the Miners' Strike in Great Britain.

The Conference of Mayors Has a Good Effect.

Fatal Riot in Hamburg Growing Out of Sanitary Regulations.

Both Bismarck and De Lesseps in a Better Condition.

Both Better.

BERLIN, Oct. 10.—Prince Bismarck is growing stronger daily.

PARIS, Oct. 10.—Count de Lesseps' condition was somewhat improved.

Canadian Cattle Trade Dull.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—No Canadian cattle were offered at Deptford yesterday. There were United States beasts fully sufficient to meet all demands. Trade was slow.

Cholera Cases.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—A dispatch from Rome says that there are an average of 100 cases of cholera reported daily in Palermo, although the Government states that the outbreak is not serious.

Since Oct, 6 there have been reported at Grimsby, Lincolnshire, five cases of choleraic disorders. Two deaths from the same causes have occurred there since the date mentioned.

Simply a Canard.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Baron de Worms says in connection with the story that a syndicate had purchased Lower California from the Mexican Government with the intention of shortly having that country incorporated into the American union (Baron De Worms' name being mentioned as one of the leaders in the movement), that he had never heard of the syndicate and the report that he was in any way connected with it was entirely unfounded.

Fatal Riot at Hamburg.

HAMBURG, Oct. 10.—Another fatal riot occurred last night in St. Pauli, a suburb of Hamburg, growing out of an attempt of the sanitary officers to enforce the regulations for the prevention of the spread of cholera. A sanitary officer and a policeman were killed. The fight was waging desperately with the odds in favor of the mob when a detachment of troops arrived. The officer in command ordered the mob to disperse, but they paid no attention until the order was given the troops to fix boyonets and to charge the mob, when the rioters ran in every direction.

British Collieries Resume.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—Eight firms owning coal pits in the Bolton district, and other owners in various places, each opened their collieries to-day. Other pits will be opened to-morrow. The miners in these pits all go back to work at the rate of wages paid before the strike. The demand for coal is very heavy. The pits now working find it impossible to fill orders even with double shifts of miners at work.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The conference between the mayors of Sheffield, Leeds, Nottingham, Bradford and Derby and the representatives of the Mine Owners' Association and the Miners' Federation is likely to end the great labor dispute. The proposals made yesterday for a settlement of the trouble met with the approval of neither the mine owners nor the miners of the Sheffield district. The latter declare that they will not accept any reduction in wages, while the owners declare that after the pits had been idle ten weeks a 10 per cent. reduction would be absurd. On the other hands, the proposals have been well received in the Manchester district and they are believed to afford a practical basis of settlement. The mine owners in Warwickshire to-day resolved to adopt the proposals and to open their plants forthwith. Delegates from the Miner's Federation will meet in Birmingham on Thursday to further consider the proposals, and it is hoped that their decision will result in the ending of the strike that has now lasted since July 28, though some of the miners did not quit work until after that date.

STILL THEY GO.

METHODIST MISSIONS.

Annual Meeting of the General Mission Board at Hamilton.

HAMILTON, Oct. 10.—The general mission board of the Methodist Church of Canada began its annual session in Centenary Church this morning. This board controls all missionary enterprises in connection with the Methodist Church.

After the opening exercises the annual report was read by the general superintendent, D. Sutherland.

In connection with the report a discussion arose about the inaccuracy of a printed statement of the finances. Rev. J. S. Ross pointed out one mistake of $200,000 and other members criticised the pamphlet. Dr. Sutherland stated that the only way, it seemed to him, to get such things done properly was that he should do them himself.

In reply to a delegate who ventured the opinion that a well-paid staff was employed Dr. Sutherland said that to do the same amount of work any business concern would employ twice the staff that the mission board keeps.

Hon. Mr. Aikins, the treasurer, presented a statement of the assets and liabilities.

A committee was appointed to sell Magill House property, Toronto, which has been in the hands of the board for some time.

Several missionaries for distant fields were introduced by the general secretary.

Dr. Sutherland presented a statement of the amount expended in mission work last year.

Rev. Dr. Carman presented a report of the visit made by him during the past year to the missions in British Columbia and Bermuda. Dr. Carman said the work in Bermuda was at a standstill, but in British Columbia the prospects were very hopeful.

The chairman presented to the members an invitation from Hon. W. E. Sanford to dine at Wesanford to-morrow evening, and it was decided to accept with thanks.

This evening anniversary services were held, Senator Sanford presiding. The speakers were Rev. Geo. Storey, president Newfoundland Conference; Rev. John McDougall, president Manitoba Conference; J. J. McLaren, Q.C., Toronto, and Rev. F. A. Cassidy, missionary from Japan.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR UNION.

Fifth Annual Convention of the Association at St. Catharines.

ST. CATHARINES, Oct. 10.—The fifth annual convention of the Ontario Christian Endeavor Union was opened in St. Paul Street Methodist Church at 2:30 to-day. About 400 delegates are present. The church was very prettily decorated with flowers, bunting, emblems and banners. President T. Morris, jun., of Hamilton, occupied the chair.

Rev. G. A. R. Dickson, of Galt, conducted a conference on "Methods of Work," discussing the work of look out, flower missionary, social, prayer meeting and Sabbath school committees. A large number of the delegates gave their experience on work of these committees.

The evening session took the form of a public meeting, the church being filled to overflowing.

PRESBYTERIAN MISSIONS.

Meeting of the Executive of the Home Mission Committee.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—The executive of the home mission committee of the Presbyterian Church, western section, met here to-day and transacted a large amount of business. Grants were made to the various presbyteries for services during the past half year to the amount of nearly $50,000.

A proposal to hold the meetings of the executive in various large towns and cities so as to diffuse interest in the work was held over till the spring for action.

Dr. Cochrane the convener reported he had received the annual grant of £250 from the Free Church of Scotland.

Interesting reports were received from various parts of the mission field. The committee will meet again to-morrow to appoint missionaries to the several vacancies.

Big Petition for Repeal.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—Senator Hill to-day presented to the Senate a huge petition signed by 15,000 New York business men (not a banker or broker among them) praying for the repeal of the purchase clause of the Sherman Act.

Eleven Men Probably Lost.

GLOUCESTER, Mass., Oct. 10. — The schooner Pioneer, owned by Daniel Allen & Son, engaged in the George's fishery, which sailed from here on Aug. 2, is given up by her owners as lost. She had a crew of eleven men, mostly Scandinavians.

Engineer and Fireman Killed.

WHITING, Ind., Oct. 10.—This afternoon about 4:20 train No. 20 on the Pennsylvania Railroad ran into an open switch, causing the engine, mail car and two Pullmans to leave the track. Henry Warner, engineer, and John Christie, fireman, were killed. Three persons were injured, including the conductor, but not fatally.

Howard Fair.

RIDGETOWN, Ont., Oct. 10.—The Howard Branch Agricultural Society fair opened under the most favorable circumstances. All classes are well-filled, especially the cattle, horses, sheep, poultry, etc. The exhibits in the main building are better and more numerous than ever. Those in fine arts, fancy work, and fruits being very fine, while the exhibit of machinery surpasses that of any previous fair in Ridgetown.

Uncle Sam's Crops.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—The October returns of the Department of Agriculture make the general condition of corn 75.1 against 76.7 for last month. The returns of yield per acre of wheat indicate a production of about 11.3 bushels or 1.7 bushels less than last October estimate; oats 23.5 bushels against 24.3 last year. The last report of condition was 74.9 against 78.9 the same month last year. Barley yield in 21.7 against 23.7 last year.

Slaughter House for Babies.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., Oct. 10.—A shocking scandal has been caused here by the coroner's investigation of the San Francisco Foundling Hospital, where 33 babies have died within the past week. The place was closed Thursday last and 24 foundlings were given into the custody of the Catholic infant shelter. The coroner ascertained that 33 waifs died from lack of nutrition and from malton and pemphigus. The Daughters of the Good Shepherd have publicly branded the asylum as a slaughter house for babies.

Joe's View of It.

SALEM, March 10.—Hon. Joseph Chamberlain in an interview to-day said that he regarded the Home Rule Bill as dead for the present. He would oppose a separate parliament for Ireland, but would favor any kind of local self-government which can be shown to be perfectly safe and not a mere step toward separation, and so would the Conservative party. He said there was no probability of a reconciliation on the home rule question between the Home Rulers and Liberal-Unionists. Mr. Chamberlain also declared that there was no danger that the English people would abolish the House of Lords.

The United States Coast Defenses in Poor Shape.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 10.—Brigadier-General Joseph C. Breckenridge, Inspector-General of the United States, has made a report to the Secretary of War, indicating a condition of affairs prevailing in regard to our coast defenses, which is officially characterized as "disgraceful." It is shown that almost the entire southern coast on the Atlantic seaboard is absolutely unprotected and at the mercy of a foreign foe. Forts have been allowed to crumble away, cannon have rusted and cannon carriages rotted.

HOOPER'S CASE.

Continuation of the Coroner's Inquest—The Suspected Man Taken to Montreal.

PORT HOPE, Oct. 10.—The adjourned coroner's inquest in the alleged wife-poisoning case was resumed this evening and continued until a late hour. Evidence was given by Dr. Clark, superintendent of the Rockwood Asylum, Kingston, where Mrs. Hooper was confined for some time, and by the conductor and trainmen belonging to the train on which the woman was taken suddenly ill.

The principal evidence was that of Conductor Robitaille, who swore he saw Hooper give his wife something to drink out of a tin cup, and the woman almost immediately after pressed her hand to her breast and swooned away.

When Conductor Robitaille made the statement that Hooper had told him his wife died of consumption the prisoner shouted "You're a liar!" but he was immediately silenced by the coroner.

During the inquest the coroner received a telegram from Prof. Ellis, of Toronto, stating that the analysis of Mrs. Hooper's stomach could not be completed for a week at least.

Prosecuting Attorney Corneilean will produce at the next inquest the druggist who sold Hooper poison. The inquest then adjourned until the 20th inst.

Detective Carpenter left to-night for Montreal with Hooper in charge.

MIDDLESEX FALL ASSIZES.

A Verdict of $50 in the Hammill-McClary Case

Against the Defendant—Damages Asked for the Loss of a Hand—Lackey vs. Lawn.

Tuesday Morning.

The assizes opened this morning at the usual hour, the unfinished case of Hammill vs. McClary being first taken up.

Ed. Hinchey, Geo. Martin and Fred Reid, boys about 15 years of age, were examined, and though subjected to a severe cross-examination they would not alter their story, which was chiefly in regard to the language used by Hammill and McClary. This concluded the evidence for the plaintiff, and the defense was then taken up.

Dr. Hutchinson was called to McClary's house on the night in question and saw the injuries, which consisted of a cut on the head about three and a-half inches long.

Maurice Sullivan, a shoemaker, had been told by Hammill that he (plaintiff) had a spite against McClary, but that the latter had too much money for him.

Oliver McClary, on being examined, contradicted the statements of the witnesses for the plaintiff. He was 77 years old, and had never said anything of an improper nature to Mrs. Hammill. As to the assault, plaintiff was entirely to blame, as on returning home on the night of Aug. 1, 1892, he was passing Hammill's back gate, when a voice attracted his attention and, turning, was confronted by Hammill, who wanted to knock McClary's brains out. On going through the gate McClary alleges that he received a blow on the head with a heavy stick, inflicting a cut about three and a half inches in length, which bled profusely and required six stitches by a medical officer. In the first row with Hammill witness stated that it was a case of blackmail, and that he would take action against Hammill, but here the matter dropped. As to whether he had been drinking on the day in question witness said that he may have had two or three horns, but was by no means drunk, and it was on the order of his physician that he took the liquor at all.

Mr. Meredith and Mr. Toothe then addressed the jury in behalf of their clients.

The jury in the case of Hammill vs. McClary returned a verdict of $50—$40 up to the laying of the information and $10 thereafter—the defendant to pay all costs.

Tuesday Afternoon.

When the court resumed at 1 o'clock the case of Haight vs. Wortman was commenced. It is an action instituted by Silas S. Haight, of East London, against the Wortman & Ward Manufacturing Company, claiming damages for injuries received while in their employ. The accident occurred through an alleged deficiency in the machinery for the manufacture of churns. Haight ran his hands against a saw, losing two fingers of his right hand, one of the remaining fingers being useless, while of his left hand the knuckle joint was removed.

In the case of Haight vs. Wortman Silas S. Haight, the plaintiff, described the style of the saw and the inproper condition it was in at the time of the accident. Several teeth were broken off and it was also very dull. When a piece of wood was laid against the saw it was very liable to throw the wood off, and it was in so doing that he received his injuries. Notice had been given of the needed improvements, but no action had been taken. The second time Haight was employed he was aware that it was the same work he was to do as had resulted in the loss of his fingers.

Messrs. Thompson, Terry, Peace and Kay gave evidence as to the improper condition of the machine, while Dr. Gardiner described the injuries received by Haight.

This ended the evidence for the plaintiff, and Mr. Hellmuth addressed his lordship, claiming a non-suit on the ground that it was through the negligence of the plaintiff that the accident happened, and that had Haight exercised any care whatever he would not have met with the misfortune. It had also, Mr. Hellmuth said, been proven that after the accident Mr. Haight went back to Wortman's to do the same work.

Mr. E. R. Cameron, for the plaintiff, claimed it had been proven that it was through the negligence of the employers that Haight lost his fingers, and also that the saw was not in a proper condition.

Justice Falconbridge will give judgment in the application for a non-suit this morning. Should the application be refused the case will be sent to the jury.

Thomas Ashton, for the defense, had considerable experience on such saws, and said there was no danger whatever should any care be taken. He had examined the table and saw at Wortman's, and found them in a first-class condition.

Mr. Burns (of Stevens & Burns), Mr. John Shopland, Mr. Street (foreman at Wortman's), Mr. Mackay and Mr. Fisher (employed at the same place), also stated that everything was in the best of condition.

Court adjourned at 6 p.m.

NOTES.

The case of Lackey vs. Lawn has not yet been argued.

The suit of Garratt vs. Barnes, has been settled. It arose out of the erection of the new pork factory at Pottersburg, the company at its completion holding back $4,317, which they claimed as forfeit money through the building not being in readiness at the time agreed upon. The plaintiff (Garratt) claimed that the inclement weather accounted for the delay, and accordingly brought suit for the full amount. The settlement was reached upon the payment of $3,300, each party to pay their own costs. Gibbons, Q.C., for plaintiff; W. R. and T. G. Meredith for defendants.

She Never Returned.

HALIFAX, Oct. 10.—Two months ago the ship Valkyrie, of St. John, N. B., left Sydney bound for New York. The captain and crew have undoubtedly met a watery grave.

Somerset Hall

Witnesses a Gathering of Liberal-Minded, Progressive Women.

Annual Meeting of the London W. C. T. U.

Its Efficient Staff of Officers Re-elected by Acclamation—Delegates Chosen —Encouraging Results of the Year's Doings.

Few branches of the Women's Christian Temperance Union can boast of greater unanimity of sentiment, more liberal views upon current reforms or a larger spirit of progressiveness than that which operates in this city. Its annual meeting was held in Somerset Hall yesterday afternoon and the members turned out in large numbers to grace the occasion. The deft hand of some person with artistic perceptions had evidently been busy prior to the advent of the audience, for the room looked very attractive, even before it was much more attractively occupied. Ferns and shrubs spread their foliage about the platform and circling the chandeliers were leaves of brilliant hue. In the center of the wall directly opposite the entrance hung a picture of Mrs. Gregsten, a woman whose pioneer temperance efforts among those of her own sex find a tangible embodiment in the London Union. On either side of this "counterfeit presentment" were the pictures of Miss Willard, the uncrowned queen of universal womanhood, and Lady Somerset, whose strong and liberal advocacy of woman's enfranchisement has made the discussion of this great principle a vital one among English social questions.

The manner in which the ladies conducted their meeting was indeed enviable. All those who took part in the proceedings spoke with a clearness and terseness of expression which very few men possess. Extreme orderliness was observed, and the business was transacted methodically, Mrs. Thornley, who occupied the chair, was, in a great measure, accountable for this. She makes an ideal presiding official.

OFFICERS AND DELEGATES ELECTED.

The election of officers and delegates was the first business. The former were all re-elected by acclamation. It took some time to appoint the latter. Several vice-presidents will be appointed later. The officers are:

President—Mrs. Thornley.
Corresponding Secretary—Mrs. Carson.
Recording Secretary—Miss Cosford.
Treasurer—Mrs. Darch.

Delegates to Chatham—Mrs. Thornley, Miss Cosford, Mrs. Carson, Mrs. Wright, Mrs. William Henderson, Mrs. Heaman, Mrs. Keenleyside, Mrs. D. H. Williams, Mrs. Campbell, Mrs. John Williams, Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. Douglas, Miss Burgess, Mrs. Jarvis, Mrs. (Dr.) Arnott, Mrs. Ward.

Delegates to Mount Brydges—Mesdames Thornley, Darch, Arnott, Keenleyside, Lawrason, Saunders, J. Williams, Ingram, Ward, Jury, Wyatt, Ashplant, D. H. Williams, William Wyatt, Carson, William Henderson, Hopkins, McClement, Higgins, Childs, Griffith, Campbell, Jones, W. J. Saunby, Tennent, Holmes, Fitzgerald, Burness, Powell, Crawford, J. D. Saunby, Mayell, Brickenden, McDermid, J. G. Jones, Larsh, G. F. Robertson, Misses Ingram, Trebilcock, Burgess, Garnsey,

A YEAR'S HISTORY.

The report of Mrs. Flora Carson, recording secretary, was a general review of the society's work throughout the year. No cause of discouragement was evidenced and many admirable results had been achieved. Many names had been added to the membership, while a number had withdrawn through removal from the city. The total number of members, 305—an increase of five over last year—did not consequently indicate fully the substantial gain made. The list of honorary members comprised 44 at present. Among the losses which the temperance cause had sustained during the year, the death of Rev. George Boyd and Mr. Chas. Hutchinson were specially mentioned. Number of meetings: Regular, 24; special, 2; executive, 6; sub-executive, 1; public, 1. The largest number present at any one meeting was 187; average attendance for the year, 70. The total amount of money raised during the term for all purposes was $2,134.

The important part which the union had taken in attempting to have the bars closed uniformly at 7 o'clock in the evening was referred to as "probably the great feature of the year's work." Although defeated at the polls, discouragement upon its part had not resulted. Elated by their victory, the liquor sellers had approached the council in order to have the number of licenses increased from 40 to 50. In this they were foiled. When the license commissioners decreed that all the screens should be removed from the doors and windows of barrooms, and that the hour of closing in the evening should be 10 instead of 11 o'clock at night, the saloon-keepers did not relish the curtailing of their privileges. Two years ago the hour for discontinuing the nefarious business was 12 o'clock. Quite an advance, it would be seen, had been made in this direction. "Here let me pay a tribute," continued Mrs. Carson, "to the invariable courtesy shown us by the license commissioners when we pay them our annual visit. Very different was the treatment accorded by the board in East Middlesex. The interview with them was extremely unsatisfactory."

During the coming year, continued the report, it was proposed to add a cooking department to the industrial school. Additional accommodation had been secured upon the top flat of Somerset Hall for the purpose, and proper fittings had been procured at considerable expense. The funds for carrying on this work had been obtained by holding an art loan exhibition, which was a gratifying success. A new feature of the union's operations had been the supplying of refreshments to school children during a demonstration in Queen's Park. This privilege had been granted by the Board of Education. The dining hall at the Western Fair had again been carried on successfully. Here, for nine days, meals had been served. The improvements which had been made to the building had all been necessary, and were entirely satisfactory. While this was so, it was desirable that more of the women should be added to the working staff. The severe strain upon those who had thus far carried on the department would thus be lessened. The lecture course had been a very important feature of the year's work. Workers in the cause of reform had sometimes found that there was a place where progress ceased through want of knowledge on the part of the public. To obviate this five excellent lecturers had been secured. The price of admission to the whole series had only been 45 cents. Notwithstanding this fact the lecture course had closed with a good balance of cash in hand. The object had not been to make money, but to educate public sentiment. The report concluded by thanking all those who had extended a generous sympathy and support to the union's operations.

WOMAN'S ENFRANCHISEMENT.

The work of the union is divided into several departments. Prominent among these is that dealing with legislation. Its report spoke of the great advancement which the woman's enfranchisement idea had made throughout the country, and alluded to the work which had been performed in connection with Mr. Waters' bill in the Local Legislature. Mrs. D. Holmes reported in connection with the legislative department that a petition from the "Women of the World," which would be presented to every court in both hemispheres, was being prepared at the World's Fair. The ladies of London had forwarded an addition of 300 signatures.

THE PHILANTHROPIC ACT.

The evangelistic department has been working steadily. It is interested not only in those matters which the name given would indicate, but also in jail and hospital visitation. Mrs. M. E. Robertson reported that two mass meetings had been held during the year. At both about 3,000 were present. One thousand leaflets were distributed.

Mrs. M. Williams, who superintends the hospital visitation, said that 48 visits had been paid to that institution at intervals throughout the year, and that 2,000 religious newspapers (always thankfully received) had been distributed.

The weekly meetings of the union in the jail, Mrs. Lillian Rodger stated, had been continued during the year with great profit. Several of the women inmates had been permanently reclaimed.

REALM OF EDUCATION.

The educational department is probably the most extensive under the union's direction and is ramified more than any other. Mrs. Janet McDermid reported that when the Band of Hope opened for the year sixteen boys were in attendance. Eighty names were on the roll at the conclusion of the term. Fifty-one of these pledged to abstain from the use of alcohol, tobacco and profane language. The death of Miss Bethel, one of the most valued teachers, was referred to feelingly.

Mrs. Jennie D. Jones submitted the report of the industrial school. Last year there were 80 scholars' names on the roll, and those of thirteen teachers. The latter were: Mesdames Arnott, Struthers, Holmes, Weatland, Andrus, and the Misses Fowler, Burgess, Ingram, Trebilcock, Daley, Jeffrey, Guernsey and Tanton. Fifty children had already been enlisted this year. The work of temperance advocacy in the Sunday schools was said to be progressing favorably.

CRIMINALS AND FINANCE.

Mrs. Alice Saunby stated that 621 persons had been charged during the year before Magistrate Parke with being drunk and disorderly. Thirty-seven liquor cases had been prosecuted. The treasurer's report, presented by Mrs. Jane Darch, showed a surplus on hand at the conclusion of the year in September of $200.

SCINTILLATIONS.

—In this age of rapid changes it takes aggregated effort to accomplish great results.

—Ignorance and bondage go hand in hand. If a farmer persistently refuses to avail himself of a better knowledge of his business and the conditions by which he is surrounded he must expect to live in a state of semi-bondage which is by no means desirable.

—The Duke of Wellington, being asked whether he found much advantage in being a great man, and having a completely acknowledged position, besides his wealth and political power, said, "Yes, I can afford to do without servants: I always brush my own clothes, and if I were strong enough I would black my own boots."

—A local newspaper, in discussing farmers' organizations, says that if the work of the organization is directed mainly along educational and social lines it is to be commended, but beyond this it can see no use for any organization or co-operation among farmers. In other words, while other classes organize and unite their forces for business and political purposes, the farmers must remain unorganized that they may be the more easily managed and controlled by other classes.

INHUMAN PARENTS.

A Wealthy English Couple Torture Their Babes.

A Child of Twenty Months Beaten With the Buckle End of a Strap and Lifted Into Its Bath Every Morning by the Hair—Strapped Nightly to Its Bed.

LONDON, Oct. 10.—The hearing in the case of Constance Helen Phelan and her husband, charged with extreme cruelty to their two children at their home in Chester, reveals a story that is in many respects worse than that brought out in the celebrated Montague case. The court at Chester was crowded when the hearing was begun. One of the former servants of the Phelans testified that the prisoners were most cruel in their treatment of their children. Five days after the witness had entered the employ of the prisoners she saw Mrs. Phelan put the younger child into a bathtub, holding it by the hair. The cruel act she repeated nearly every morning. In the daytime the child Ernest was generally strapped to a chair and left on the lawn until late in the evening. The witness said that on one occasion she saw Mrs. Phelan strike Ernest repeatedly on the head with an ivory hair brush, and did not desist until the brush broke. On another occasion when Ernest refused to take castor oil his mother took him by the arm and leg and threw him a distance of three yards to the landing. At another time she saw Mrs. Phelan strap up her younger child in a cruel way while he was in bed. She also beat Ernest with a dog-whip and strap with a buckle at the end of it. The older child was beaten by both Mr. and Mrs. Phelan, but not so often as the younger one was punished. The witness then made the remarkable statement that she was promised £1 advance in her wages and a handsome present if she would consent to beat the children during the confinement of her mistress.

Another servant testified that on one occasion she heard terrible screams coming from the bathroom. She listened and heard her mistress yell, "You little devil, hold your head right," "You little devil, hold there is something that wants fetching out of you." Witness then heard a very heavy smack, and this was repeated for a quarter of an hour until the child could only utter a stifling scream as if something was held over its mouth. Witness saw her mistress seize the baby when it was only 19 months old by the throat and forehead with such force that it seemed as if the child's eyes would fall out. Witness thought the mother intended to strangle the child. On one occasion Mrs. Phelan forced a spoon down the elder child's throat and brought up blood. She pushed the spoon down twice, and held him by the throat until he was black in the face. When the younger child was put to bed flannels were wrapped around its body, its legs were tied with a string at the bottom a strap was fastened tightly around its waist, while another strap was attached at one end to this body strap and the other to the bedstead. Much further testimony showing the unnatural manner in which the prisoners treated their children was given.

A Wonderful Cure.—Mr. David Smith, Coe Hill, Ont., writes: "For the benefit of others I wish to say a few words about Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY. About a year ago I took a very severe cough, had a virulent sore on my lips, was bad with dyspepsia, constipation and general debility. I tried almost every conceivable remedy, outwardly and inwardly, to cure the sore but all to no purpose. I had often thought of trying Northrop & Lyman's VEGETABLE DISCOVERY, so I got a bottle and when I had used about one half the sore showed evident signs of healing. By the time the bottle was done it had about disappeared and my general health was improving fast. I was always of a very bilious habit and had used quinine and lemon juice with very little affect. But since using three bottles of the VEGETABLE DISCOVERY the biliousness is entirely gone and my general health is excellent. I am 60 years old. Parties using it should continue it for some time after they think they are cured. It is by far the best health restorer I know." 3

Plebiscite Rally!

Friends of the Forward Movement in Council.

Splendid Meeting of Prohibitionists in Somerset Hall.

Stirring Addresses by Mrs. May Thornley, Rev. Robert Aylward, Rev. W. J. Clark, Rev. Walter Rigsby, Dr. Arnott, James Bowman, S. B. Coon and Deputy Reeve Scarrow.

There was a plebiscite rally in Somerset Hall last night that augurs well for what the temperance people of London will say for themselves, by their votes, when the plebiscite is taken in January. The attendance was large, the enthusiasm larger, and the applause of such a kind that emanates from spontaneous hearts and hands, for when applauding, as when fighting the liquor traffic, W. C. T. U. workers take off their gloves. Mrs. Thornley occupied the chair, and on the platform were Rev. W. J. Clark and Rev. Robt. Aylward, Rev. Walter Rigsby was also present, and the hall was crowded with temperance workers of both sexes. The Y. M. C. A. glee club rendered several selections in excellent style, Mr. W. C. Barron officiating at the piano. Prayers were offered by Rev. Robert Aylward and Rev. Walter Rigsby, and an interesting Bible reading was given by Mrs. Evans. Mrs. Thornley, as president of the W. C. T. U., and as chairman of the meeting, explained the departure from the usual course in holding the meeting. She referred briefly to the work of the society during the past year, stating that the experience gained in fighting for the 7 o'clock movement would now stand them in good stead.

Rev. Robt. Aylward was the first speaker. He was one of the delegates to the late plebiscite convention at Toronto. "The character, dimensions and enthusiasm of the convention" was Mr. Aylward's topic. "In the first place," said the speaker, "I should like to notice that there never was such a convention in the history of temperance work in this country as that which it was my privilege to attend in Toronto last week. There have been important conventions in this country and in connection with temperance work in days gone by, but there never was one so largely attended, distinguished by such unanimity and by such enthusiasm as that which we attended in that city last week. For instance in the matter of numbers. I have read of conventions attended by 300 delegates from different parts of the province, but the convention which assembled in Toronto last week, was attended by more than 1,000 delegates from every part of Ontario. We assembled in the first instance in the Temperance Hall on Temperance street, capable of seating some 700 or 800 people, but it was very soon found inadequate for the people who wanted to attend the meeting and so we adjourned shortly afterwards to the magnificent pavilion of the Horticultural Gardens and that building was well-filled during the morning and afternoon, and crowded at night by 2,000 people. This convention was characterized by the utmost possible diversity and secondly by the utmost possible unanimity, characterized in the first place by the utmost possible diversity. There were people there from every part of this province. They came from the north and from the south, from the east and from the west, and in addition to this there was at least one person present from Halifax, Montreal, Winnipeg and the Province of British Columbia; and they had come with one purpose and heart to make the convention a success, and then to carry home with them some of the enthusiasm that marked the convention. Then it was interesting to notice that while there were people there by hundreds and thousands, yet our friends of the Roman Catholic Church were by no means unrepresented. There were two very interesting speeches delivered by Roman Catholics. They were present to represent the League of the Cross, which is already doing a magnificent work on temperance lines in Toronto among the people of the Roman Catholic Church. There were Methodists, Presbyterians and Episcopalians, and Reformed Episcopalians, and Congregationalists, and Baptists, and Disciples and others. I should not like to be very positive about it, but I think, numerically considered, the Methodists were in the preponderance. It is likely there were more Methodists there than people of any other denomination, but we knew no Methodism in that assembly, nothing of Presbyterianism in that assembly; we had come there to consider the pros and cons of that great campaign which we are about to enter. It was interesting to notice that both political parties were represented. Two important addresses were delivered on the platform by members of the Local Legislature—Hon. G. W. Ross and E. J. Davis, M.P.P. And then we were proud to see and glad to hear that gentleman who has been prominent in his work throughout the country during the last two or three months—Mr. Marter, M.P.P., of Marter Bill fame. There was also a diversity of color. We had at least one black man, and a very black man he was—the Rev. Mr. Hector. The convention was distinguished by the utmost unanimity. In the first place all felt that the duty of the hour was to go forward with this plebiscite. It was felt that we were to know nothing of partyism, at least for the next three months; that we should forget whether we were Grits or Tories, and whatever we may be that we should go forward as one man, united on this point with regard to the plebiscite. Then we should give up all quibbling as to whether this is the best possible way of obtaining the voice of the people. It was the most manifest desire of the convention that our ranks should not be split or our forces destroyed by quibbling of this kind." Mr. Aylward was greeted with applause as he sat down, it being but a repetition of what had greeted him at numerous points in his address.

MR. JAMES BOWMAN.

"The two great thoughts that pervaded the convention" was the subject that Mr. Bowman had chosen to speak on. He had brought his little match with him from Toronto, he said, and he hoped it would be instrumental in kindling a very great flame in London. He also came infected with what he called unanimity smallpox. It was very contagious, and if any of these present did not wish to become affected they would have to leave the building to escape. It was going on spreading the next three months all over Ontario. Some people, Mr. Bowman said, served God with their voice, but gave Satan a little help with their ballot. He warned those present against this and told them all to look forward, unless they could pull better than they could push. The issue was upon them and they must win. To fail would be a terrible calamity, a calamity too great for temperance workers to think of. Those who attended the convention at Toronto all felt like the colored preacher, Rev. Mr. Hector, when he said "I feel that there is going to be a funeral of this liquor party next January and—passing his hands over his sable face—I have gone into mourning for them already." "We have the greatest opportunity," said Mr. Bowman, "that temperance workers ever had, and along with that opportunity we have a great responsibility. We have more than our own vote to look after, and I know that we will do it. I believe that we shall succeed. Now, I hope you have caught fire."

Rev. W. J. Clark was present for two reasons—first, because he ought to be, and secondly, because Mrs. Thornley said she expected him; "and," said Mr. Clark, "I don't know that even if the first had not existed, the second would have had some weight." He congratulated Mrs. Thornley in again occupying the position of president, and hoped for the sake of the work that this association was carrying on that she would long occupy that position. "What the people can do," was Mr. Clark's subject, but when he looked into the faces of those present he saw such a lot of case-hardened opponents of the liquor traffic that he felt that he was at the tail end himself, and did not know what to say. He repudiated at length assertions that the friends of the traffic were putting forth, namely, that the plebiscite was unconstitutional and un-British—("No, no!") and that even if there was a majority for prohibition it never could be enforced. "I have yet to learn," said Mr. Clark, "that in this country the minority could defy, and continue to defy, the wishes of the majority."

MR. S. B. COON.

Mr. Coon was one of the delegates to the Toronto convention. "One of the things we learned there is that union is required to win the day," said the speaker, "and union means prayer, constant prayer, to God. It also teaches us that party must be laid aside when we go to the polls to vote."

Deputy Reeve Scarrow, of London West, made an excellent address, quoting from a journal, the Industrial Banner, where it was stated that during the coming campaign the saloon-keepers would, as they had last year, sell union-made cigars in order to get the union cigar makers' vote. They had done this during the 7 o'clock campaign, but when it was over they did not care whether the cigars they sold had the blue union ribbon attached or not. "They won't fool us again," read the labor article, "and it is to be hoped they wont," said Mr. Scarrow as he took his seat amid applause.

REV. WALTER RIGSBY.

Mr. Rigsby expressed himself as amply repaid by his visit. He was glad, too, that the friends who went to Toronto had returned with an inspiration that was abiding.

DR. ARNOTT.

The doctor referred to an error that was at the basis of the terrible traffic, namely, that liquor was essential in cases of sickness. That idea was completely defunct among the English fraternity, who had recognized the fact that alcohol was not strengthening but debilitating, "and," said the doctor, concluding, "in another twenty years there will not be $20 worth of liquor administered in the London General Hospital." (Applause.)

MRS. THORNLEY.

The president referred to the significant fact that two men were present to every woman at the recent convention, a significant fact because the men had votes—the women had not. She was also pleased to announce that Rev. M. E. Hector, the colored worker, would be present in the city during the coming campaign.

The benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Walter Rigsby, and the doxology brought the rally to a close.

Played Indian and One Boy Was Killed.

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Oct. 10.—Saturday afternoon, in East Providence, Frank Nelson, a colored boy 16 years old, Edward Volker and other lads were playing Indians. Nelson and Volker had rifles and snapped them at each other. The one held by Volker was loaded, and the ball struck Nelson in the forehead, death resulting in ten minutes. The Volker boy was locked up.

West Elgin Liberals.

DUTTON, Oct. 10.—The West Elgin Liberal convention was held here to-day, when Donald McNeish was nominated for the Legislature on the second ballot. The other names proposed were D. Turner, A. A. McKillop, T. Montague and Dr. McLarty. On motion Mr. McNeish was declared to be the unanimous choice of the convention, and on being brought into the room he was enthusiastically cheered.

Quietness being restored, Mr. McNeish delivered a very appropriate speech. The utmost harmony prevailed, and the meeting broke up with cheers for the Queen, Sir Oliver Mowat and the candidate.

One Way to fill a barrel with water, is to use a sieve. You can do it—but it takes time, patience and hard work.

So you can wash clothes with soap and a wash-board—but it isn't the best way. It's slow work, hard work, costly work. It wears out the things you're trying to get clean.

The best and easiest way is to use Pearline. That does the washing while you're doing something else—does it without any of the clumsy rubbing that takes so much time and makes so much wear and tear.

Send it Back Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE—Pearline is never peddled, and if your grocer sends you something in place of Pearline, be honest—send it back. 250 JAMES PYLE, N. Y.

—[BROWNING.

If you trust in God and yourself you can surmount every obstacle. Do not yield to restless anxiety. One must not always be asking what may happen to one in life, but one must advance fearlessly and bravely.
—[PRINCE BISMARCK.

London, Wednesday Oct. 11.

—The early canvasser gets the office.

—It is announced that D'Alton McCarty, M.P., will visit British Columbia and address public meetings.

—"Needless to say," remarks the Toronto Telegram, "that the McGreevy now in jail at Ottawa is merely a witness. Were he accused of anything himself he would be in Parliament or the civil service along with the other evil-doers."

—Toronto building trades are reported stagnant. Inflation, whether caused by "clapping on all sail," in response to a "protectionist" leader, or by a boom in vacant lot property, has to be paid for dearly in the end. Toronto is now on the penitent stool.

—Minister Foster is reported by telegram to be conducting his Winnipeg interviews on the tariff with the utmost secrecy. The press was prevented from attending the meeting. After a closed-door investigation, it is always easy for the apologists for class legislation to assert that "there was the utmost harmony," and that the views of the "protectionists" are those of the community!

—The Canadian Pacific Railway has vindicated the line of policy pursued by the Mackenzie Government with regard to establishing the port for the line at Fort William. It used to be argued against Mr. Mackenzie that his selection of that point was a mistake. But the shrewd managers of the Canadian Pacific Railway, given free choice, adopted the Kaministiquia River harbor for the head of their lake navigation and the establishment of their great elevators, and the Fort William Journal informs us that almost the entire nortd shore shipping interest is now concentrated at that point. Mr. Mackenzie could not have better indorsation for the wisdom of his choice than that of the shrewd C. P. R. managers.

—Lord and Lady Aberdeen have 42 attendants, and on examining Rideau Hall, their official residence at Ottawa, they find it too small. Considering what it has cost the taxpayers of Canada, it should be large enough to house 400 or 500 persons. Originally the structure cost $82,000, and since it was purchased the sum alleged to have been spent in additions and repairs has been $550,000. It has been proved, of course, that a large portion of this money has been wasted on political favorites, but that is no consolation to the taxpayer, who is now asked to spend $20,000 or $30,000 more. It is not generally known that Rideau Hall has something like 500 furnaces, stoves and grates, and that the annual bill for fuel and lighting alone is $8,000.

A MUSICAL EXPERIMENT.

Musical Londoners will be interested in an experiment which the choirmasters of the four leading Presbyterian churches in Hamilton are about to try. They have procured the consent of their choirs to establish a new musical organization on this basis: Each choir will utilize part of the time of its regular practice night in studying a chosen work; and when it is fairly well prepared a few union practices will be held before the final public performance. As the work does not entail devoting another evening weekly to practice, it will not interfere in the slightest with any existing organization, and the increased interest in practice cannot fail to have a beneficial influence on all the choirs engaged in the work. Gaul's cantata "The Holy City" has been chosen as the first work to be given. This will be an interesting experiment, but we doubt if it is possible for any first-class choir to keep up with its church music, and practice other work in the hour and a half a week usually devoted to rehearsal. To undertake both duties, there should be two nights a week of practice. The idea of co-operation with this understanding is good. We see no reason why a co-operative movement of this kind should not prove beneficial to the choirs of this city. There is plenty of available material. If all the choirs got together, how much more effective would an annual recital of a first-class oratorio be!

SPEAK UP, MR. FOSTER.

The Toronto News says that if Finance Minister Foster were to have the courage of his former convictions, and were to aid in the Ontario plebiscite campaign, as requested by the ADVERTISER, this journal would quickly tell him this was a Provincial affair. Nonsense! The ADVERTISER welcomed Mr. Foster into the Ontario temperance arena when he was a simple New Brunswicker, notwithstanding the fact that it could not always indorse his tactics, and in the fight for the plebiscite we will gladly take the aid of Mr. Foster or of any other Canadian public man. If it were to be a question of Province, however, how could anyone object to Mr. Foster maintaining in Ontario in 1893 the sentiments favoring the plebiscite he expressed in 1885? Mr. Foster is a resident of Ottawa; Ottawa is in the Province of Ontario. Every Ontario man is interested in the coming popular vote. Why should not Mr. Foster lend a hand? He will not do it, however. The reactionary that sits by his side has decreed that the popular vote, which the municipalities have been indorsing all these years in matters pertaining to civic government, is un-British, and, of course, Mr. Foster has to confess that when he thought and argued differently he did so in "a moment of weakness." Can any other explanation be offered for his silence on this subject while touring in Ontario recently, when everyone else was talking on it?

THE RECORD BROKEN.

Tuesday was Chicago Day at the World's Fair, and it was to be expected that the boastful city would beat the record in point of attendance, but the guessers have never suggested that the attendance could be greater than from 500,000 to 600,000. The crowd, however, surpassed all expectations, upwards of 700,000 persons having entered the gates. This is nearly double the biggest attendance at the Paris Exposition of 1889, when 397,150 persons were counted, and over three times as many as attended the Philadelphia Exhibition on its "greatest day," when 217,526 persons passed the turnstiles.

It is to be regretted that the crushing crowd became so unmanageable that lives have been lost. The grounds and buildings at Jackson Park are commodious, but it must have been a very difficult thing to control a crowd equaling one-third of the population of the Province of Ontario. The wonder is that the casualties were not more numerous.

HEATING BY ELECTRICITY.

When will the electricians give us cheap heating? With fuel at its present cost, and likely to increase if there is no competition with coal and wood, the heating bill of the average worker's family swallows up a large proportion of his income. If we could have heating by electricity, at a moderate price, it would be infinitely better than either coal or wood, for it would be cleanly and easily turned on or off, and therefore a great labor-saver. In some of the hotels in the west they already have a system of novel heat regulation. A guest in, say room 156, asks for heat, the order is transmitted to a particular person, the typewriter of the hotel generally. She goes to a switchboard and connection is given electrically with that room, allowing heat to pass into it. The occupant of the room is, perhaps, particular. A hot-blooded person wishes merely to keep from freezing; another wants a high temperature. Each can have his wish, for a thermostat with a pointer is on the wall, and the room will keep itself automatically as desired. The regulation is 70 degrees, but it can be departed from as stated. This is all right, so far as it goes, but when will the happy day come when we shall turn on and off our fires for cooking and heating purposes in the same way, the whole being supplied from a central station? Gas is used for cooking now, but it cannot be sold at a cheap enough rate to compete with wood and coal as a heater.

CHATTEL MORTGAGES.

A good deal has been said about the prosperity of Canadians under the high tariff policy now sustained at Ottawa, and we have been told that it is little short of treason to point out that many people are unduly pinched in money matters, because of the outrageous exactions possible under the so-called "protective policy." The following comparative statement of chattel mortgages registered with the court officers in Ontario during the years named supplies light on the subject:

	No.	Amount.
1892	19,382	$10,045,477
1891	19,418	9,504,388
1890	17,903	8,978,808
1889	16,214	7,491,908

The table giving the occupations of mortgagors is also instructive. Chattel mortgages were held against no fewer than 10,774 Ontario farmers at Dec. 31, 1892, the sum represented being $3,117,977. The mortgagors that come next in point of numbers are the merchants. Six hundred and eleven of these gave chattel mortgages to the extent of a little over $800,000. From those returns it is seen the chattel mortgages have very considerably increased, and it is demonstrated that many farmers, instead of getting better off have really had to resort to the pledging of their farm stock to make ends meet. This, too, while the Government at Ottawa boasts that it has taken millions of dollars from them in the shape of surplus taxation. No surplus taxes should be collected. The money should be left in the pockets of the people.

THE BROWBEATING COMMISSION.

The so-called Government tariff investigations are nothing more than organized efforts to browbeat honest farmers into supplying material for a defense of the iniquities perpetrated by the agency of a "protectionist" tariff. The Government pretends that it does not know what the people want. The Ministers read the declarations of the Trades and Labor Congress, of the Farmers' Institutes, of the Patrons of Industry, all in favor of the utmost possible freedom of trade and consequent reduction or abolition of taxes on necessaries of life, and they remain unconvinced! Why? Because their masters, the members of the cotton, iron, rubber and other rings, who supply the election funds, insist that they must remain skeptical.

CHICAGO'S DAY.

Seven Hundred Thousand People at the World's Fair.

The Largest Crowd Ever Congregated—Indian Chiefs Honored—Grand Electrical Display—Fatalities and Accidents.

WORLD'S FAIR GROUNDS, CHICAGO, Oct. 10.—Seven hundred thousand people, the greatest crowd that ever congregated, visited the World's Fair yesterday, breaking the greatest one-day record at Paris by an overwhelming majority. The first event took place at 9 o'clock. The old Pottawattomie chief, whose father deeded the land upon which Chicago is built, had been induced to come from his home in Hartford, Mich., for Chicago day, and stood beside the Columbia bell with uncovered head in the dress of the white man, and received the homage of thousands. He was born 63 years ago, Sept. 27 last, on the day that the transfer deed was delivered to the agents of the United States Government, and by his side stood Chief John Young, 60 years of age, who came from the Pottawattomie reservation in Michigan to tell the people of all nations that his father, who bore the same name, christened the World's Fair city "Chicago," which literally interpreted means "where the skunk dwells."

During the afternoon there was a reunion of the States, in which thousands of girls took part; but the crowning glory of the day was the procession of floats, which entered the grounds at dark. The last float in the procession was "Electra, the Genius of Electricity," drawn by eight horses. It was represented by enormous dragoons, changing color from green to red, and lighted by 2,000 electric lights. The display of fireworks on the lake front, adjoining the perestyle, exceeded in magnificence anything heretofore given in the United States, if not in the world. Long before the last bomb of fireworks had been exploded on the lake front there was a dangerous jam of people on the highway leading to the elevated railroad station and the Forty-eighth street gates. The precautions taken by the police and officers of the guards to resist the human tidal wave which swept toward the street and the stairway leading to the elevated road were inefficient and many men and women were injured in the crush. It was nearly morning when the grounds were cleared of the great crowd. Thomas Fremont, while returning from the grounds, was struck by a cable car and died of his injuries. James Malcomb, a prominent rancher of California, died in the emergency hospital during the afternoon of apoplexy.

THE DEAD.

Several accidents occurred in which many persons were injured and others died. The following is a list of the dead: John Dryde, an employe of Haines' fireworks, killed in an explosion; Thomas Robertson, Fremont, Minn., struck by a cable car; Chas. A. Clark, Buffalo, N. Y., struck by a Madison street grip car; James Malcomb, East Oakland, Cal, fell on the steps of the Intramural station.

THE OFFICIAL FIGURES.

The paid admissions at the World's Fair Monday were 713,646.

Persian Missionaries in Danger.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—A special from Cincinnati says that alarming reports concerning their missionaries in Persia have come to the Presbyterians there. Letters just received declare that the Mohammedans have petitioned their high priest for an old time holy war. An old time murdering has been started, one Christian merchant having been hecked to pieces after nails had been driven into his body. Christians have petitioned the Shah to allow them to surrender their property and leave for America. A general massacre is feared. Much anxiety is felt by the relatives of Joseph Potter and F. G. Coan, who are stationed at Oroomiah, the center of the trouble.

ALERTS CHALLENGE COBOURG.

The Alerts, of this city, have issued a challenge, with a deposit of $25 as a guarantee of good faith, to the Cobourg Baseball Club, offering to play the latter in Toronto on Wednesday or Thursday, Oct. 18 or 19, for $200 or $500 a side. If the challenge is accepted the Alerts' representative will meet Cobourg at the Globe office on Saturday next at 2:30 p.m. to attend to preliminaries and put up the stakes. The challenge remains open until Friday.

FOOTBALL.

LONDON VS. PETROLEA.

The first game of the intermediate championship matches between the above teams was played at Greenwood Park, Petrolea, yesterday afternoon and resulted in a hard fought victory for London. The game started at 3:30. Petrolea winning the toss elected to defend the western goal, thereby having the sun at their backs and a strong wind in their favor. The ball was set in motion by Beltz, who kicked well into Petrolea's 25 yards. Here a series of scrimmages followed and after twenty minutes hard play Crawford heeled the ball out to Hobbs, who passed to Beltz, who made a very pretty drop kick on goal. First points scored five for London. The oval was immediately set in motion by Anderson, who kicked the ball well down the field in touch. On the throw out Petrolea had a decided advantage, and after five minutes' hard play near London's goal line secured a touch in goal—one point for Petrolea. The ball was again brought into play at the 25-yard line, and Petrolea passing the London back compelled him to rouge—one more point for Petrolea. Beltz, for London, set the sphere in motion once more by a fine kick well down the field, which was promptly returned by Petrolea. A series of scrimmages followed in London's 25. The pig skin being heeled out, Petrolea's quarter passed to the half, who kicked over London's goal line, and the forwards following well up secured a try, which was converted to a goal by Anderson—six points more for Petrolea. After this, the ball remained pretty well in the centre of the field, and stayed there until the referee's whistle sounded for half-time. Score: London 5, Petrolea 8. After a rest of ten minutes the game was started, London defending the western goal, which thus gave them the advantages that Petrolea had had in the first half, and they were not slow to take advantage of this "snap," as the following will show: Coulter kicked off for Petrolea and the ball was returned by Walker, who ran well up the field and then kicked into touch. The ball being thrown out, a series of dribbling rushes on the part of Petrolea followed, and it was during one of these that Beltz made a successful flying kick for goal—four points for London. On the kick-off by Petrolea, Walker, for London, secured the ball and made one of the most beautiful runs of the day, but was suddenly checked by Petrolea's halves. Here some more scrimmage work followed, the ball finding its way out to London's halves. Beltz made another risky flying kick on goal, which fortunately turned out successful—four points more for London. The game started again and Petrolea worked with a determination to win, but the only "Doc" Sippi intervened by getting possession of the ball and, making a magnificent run up the field, propelled it into touch in goal—I point more.

London, as will be seen, was having much the best of this half, but the boys could not let up until they had compelled Petrolea to rouge twice in rapid succession —2 more points.

This ended the scoring for both teams, and although London tried hard to get a touchdown towards the last they were prevented from doing so by the sharp and hard play of the Petrolea team. Thus the game ended in favor of London by a score of 16 to 8 points. To particularize the plays of either team is unnecessary, as every man played a hard and unselfish game. Mr. H. C. Pope, of Osgoode Hall fame, umpired the match to the satisfaction of both teams. Below will be found the teams:

LONDON.		PETROLEA.
Crawford, Screaton, Minhinnick, Jeffrey	Forwards	McQuinn, J. McDonald, Barker, Clein
Lynd, G. Sippi, A. Sippi, Skey, captain, Wade, Brown	Wings	McGibbon, Hosey, Graham, Leckie, McMillan, A. McDonald
Hobbs	Quarter backs	Tabister
Lee, Beltz, Walker	Half backs	Anderson, Coiter, Harley
Carmichael	Backs	James

All the members of the football club are urgently requested to turn out for practice every day this week, and all others who are desirous of joining in this manly sport, as Petrolea plays the return match here on Saturday, and will, no doubt, strive hard to turn the tables on the home team. Practice on the Alert grounds every afternoon at 4:30 sharp.

ATHLETICS.

SLUSHER SLUGGED.

PARKERSBURG, W. Va., Oct. 10.—The glove contest last night at Blennerhasset Island between Jack Burke, of Texas, and Charles H. Slusher, of Kentucky, resulted in a victory for Burke after ten rounds. A purse of $500 was given. Burke and Slusher arranged for a fight for a purse of $7,000. Slusher was badly punished.

BLOWS.

If Corbett defeats Mitchell in December the National Sporting Club, of London, will offer a big purse for Corbett and Jackson.

There is no such club in Vicksburg as the Metropolitan, which was reported to have offered $50,000 for the Mitchell-Corbett fight.

At the Metropolitan Association's championship meeting on the New Jersey Club grounds on Saturday J. S. Mitchell, of the New York Athletic Club, made a new world's record of 35 feet 9¼ inches for throwing the 56-pound weight. Conneff won the five-mile race easily from E. C. Carter, Willie Day giving up.

YACHTING.

WILL TRY AGAIN.

NEW YORK, Oct. 10.—The Mail and Express to-day says: "If the Valkyrie loses another race and the eighth match for the America's cup, as it is now conceded she will, another challenge for the trophy will be offered, the race to be sailed next season. It will come from an English yachtsman whose name Earl Dunraven now has in his possession.

Fire in Toronto—Occupants of a Dwelling House Have a Narrow Escape.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—Fire broke out in the dwelling house of W. A. Clarke, of Wilton avenue, early this morning, and when the family was aroused by the smoke escape by the stairs was cut off. The eldest boy jumped from an upstairs window to the rear yard and threw his father a clothes line, by which two young children were lowered, after which the father followed himself. The fire was caused by a lamp exploding on the ground floor.

TUNHANNOCK, Pa., Oct. 10.—Fourteen buildings at Meshoppen, embracing the opera house, two hardware, two general stores and a jewelry store and several dwellings were burned last night. Loss, $100,000.

Trouble in the Tory Camp.

TORONTO, Oct. 10.—John A. Ferguson, the McCarthy candidate for the presidency of the Young Conservative Club, and several of his prominent supporters, have sworn out affidavits setting forth that the list of club members is being shamefully stuffed by their opponents. They declare the priests are canvassing against Ferguson and that the Church in Toronto has arrayed itself against his ticket. The feeling is running very high and bitter.

Drowned in Sugar.

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 10.—Frederick Frick, 43 years old, was smothered in sugar in the Spreckles refinery at Reed street wharf. He was alone at the time of his death. He had gone to work in the evening in his usual good health and about 4 o'clock was found in the melting room in an unconscious condition by Foreman Quittemeyer. Frick's duties consisted in shoveling raw sugar from a large box as it came from an upper floor through a chute into a car that carries it to the vats. The foreman observed that the cars had been running empty and went to where Frick was supposed to be at work to learn the cause. He found Frick partly buried beneath a pile of sugar that had kept on running from the floor above and had fallen upon the prostrate man, who is supposed to have fallen to the floor in a faint or from heart disease, or apoplexy. At least two feet of sugar covered his head and shoulders.

Among the pains and aches cured with marvelous rapidity with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is earache. The young are especially subject to it, and the desirability of this Oil as a family remedy is enhanced by the fact that it is admirably adapted not only to the above ailment, but also to the hurts, disorders of the bowels, and affections of the throat, to which the young are specially subject.

The Wabash Line—Wabash Motive Power—Eighty Miles an Hour.

The monster locomotives used in the Detroit, St. Louis and Chicago service of the banner route were built entirely by Wabash employes at the Wabash shops, Springfield, Ill., and are, without question, the most perfect, fastest and most powerful engines in the country. They weigh, including tender, 89 tons each, and have proved themselves, by repeated tests, capable of making and sustaining a speed of 80 miles an hour. This rate of more than a mile a minute was repeatedly made recently between Detroit and Chicago. When one considers the high class of the Wabash motive power, the unsurpassed record of the line for always being on time is not to be wondered at. b

HERE, THERE AND EVERYWHERE.

AN ELECTRIC funeral car is a California innovation. About nine miles distant from San Francisco are four large cemeteries and a crematory, and it was to bring them near the city that an electric railroad company introduced the new hearse.

A YOUNG man from the country went to the fair at Chicago last week and before he could escape he had married a wife. Unless directors of the exposition take more effective means of protecting visitors they cannot hope for an increase of attendance during the remaining days of the month.

HENRY LABOUCHERE'S unknown tormentor, who caused wagon loads of goods to be sent to the editor of Truth, who had never ordered them, has now turned his attention to Mr. Caine, another member of Parliament, for whom he has obligingly placed large orders with carpet manufacturers, furniture dealers and jewelers. The joker has thus far eluded the police, although his operations have extended over a period of nearly a year.

ST. HELENA is again the prison of royalty. Dinizul, the son and heir of Cetywayo, the Zulu king, and Undabuko, brother of the same monarch, are kept in captivity there by the British. Owing to the climate, which is much more severe than that of South Africa, the two Zulus have to wear blankets or some other heavy covering all the time. Their health is bad and it is not believed that they will ever leave their island prison alive. The English Government probably does not intend that they shall.

BORNEO MUSKEGO, who occasionally changed his name to Tippoo Tib, is a red-headed Zulu who has been doing a rushing business down New England as a professional convert to Christianity. He has been in great demand at revival meetings and other church gatherings, where he related his experiences and took up large collections for the benefit of other Zulus yet unconverted. It was found, however, that Borneo was the only heathen the funds ever reached. It was also discovered that he was not a Zulu at all, but a plain, ordinary American drunkard. Thereupon the police took him in charge as an imposter and he now languishes in prison.

IN ENGLAND the period of mourning for a father-in-law is twelve months—ten months black, two months half-mourning. Crape is seldom worn, although the crape period was formerly six months. For a parent the period is the same as above. The longest period for a brother is six months—five months black, one month half-mourning. The crape period was formerly three months. It is now almost discarded. The shortest period is four months black, no half-mourning. The period of mourning for a father-in-law is often shortened to six months when relatives reside at a considerable distance from each other.

Flannels Shrink

In the wash. An authority says: "Boiling water, or washing powder, or poor soap spoils the color and ruins the fibre of the wool, and rubbing causes the fibres of the wool to cling closer and closer together, hence shrinking."

Stop It!

Don't rub your flannels so hard and don't boil or scald them. SURPRISE Soap does away with boiling or scalding, and does not require hard rubbing. Flannels are made softer by its use, sweet and clean. SURPRISE saves flannels from shrinking and injury. Wash, then, the "Surprise way."

SURPRISE Soap is pure Soap. READ the directions on the wrapper.

Sales were: 1,430 boxes at 10⅞c; 4,012 boxes at 11c; 240 boxes at 11⅛c; 535 boxes at 11¼c; 85 boxes on private terms, and 560 boxes on commission. Total, 6,863 boxes. Butter active; 80 packages of dairy butter at 23c to 24½c, and 57 packages of creamery butter at 25 to 27c; bulk at 26c.

U. S. Barley Markets.

BUFFALO, Oct. 9.—The quantity of barley in store here has risen from 51,000 bushels last week to 113,785 bushels, and the receipts of to-day of 50,600 bushels, with shipments of but 12,051 bushels, still further increases the stock in store, but this does not represent sale barley, a good proportion having been sold to arrive. Trade to-day was fairly good, but there will be less demand for lots to arrive hereafter, as most of the local maltsters have pretty well filled up. Quoted: No. 1 western, 67c; No. 2 straight, 61c. to 62c.; No. 3 straight, 56c. to 58c.; sample, 48c. to 50c.; state, 68c. to 70c. There are no reports to-day from Chicago.

At New York—Exports, 8,489 bushels; trading limited to a few lots of Milwaukee. Stocks are only 24,997 bushels.

At Milwaukee—Stocks, 257,241 bushels. Receipts to-day, 94,000 bushels. Shipments, 51,600 bu; market steady and unchanged.

At St. Louis—No spot offering and no business in lots to arrive.

Live Stock Markets.

EAST BUFFALO.

EAST BUFFALO, N. Y., Oct. 10.—Cattle—Twenty cars on sale; market dull and lower; Canada steers, sold at $3 80; the bulk was unsold.

Sheep and Lambs—Twenty cars held over and seven received, including one car of Canadas. The market ruled slow to a shade lower for common to fair lambs, with good sheep and choice lambs about steady. The best sheep on sale brought $3 75 to $4; common to fair lots, $3 to $3 50; good to choice 75 to 82 lb lambs, $4 75 to $5; common to fair lots, $3 75 to $4 50; Canadas, $4 75 to $5 10.

Hogs—There were 42 cars on sale. The market was very slow, and it was late before anything was sold, prices ranging at full weak 5c to 10c lower all round for what were sold. Packers' grades went at $6 80 to $6 90—a few at $7 for nearly all corn-fed to strictly so; $6 90 to $7 bought the selected Yorkers. Pigs sold at $6 50 to $6 60 for a few, and roughs sold at $5 50 to $6 25; stags, $4 10 to $4 25; green stock quotable from $6 25 to $6 95, as to quality, the latter price for culled stock.

British Cattle Markets.

John Swan & Sons, Edinburgh, in their weekly report of Sept. 29, say: The number of fat cattle on offer this week has been rather smaller. There has been a better feeling in the trade, and prices advanced 10s to 15s a head. Fat sheep have been more plentiful, and, for these, trade, if anything, was just the turn in favor of the buyers. Fat lambs have been scarcer, and, for the best qualities, full prices have been obtained. Calves and pigs have been a moderate show, and they maintained last week's prices. For the best descriptions of store sheep and cattle a good demand has been experienced, but secondary qualities are difficult to quote, as part of this class has been left unsold. Milk cows have been a small show, and they met a slow trade at about last week's prices. About 650 Canadian cattle were sold at Shieldhall, and these met a quieter trade at less money. Best beef, 8s to 8s 3d; secondary, 7s 6d per stone. Best mutton, 7½d to 7¾d; secondary, 5½d to 6½d per lb.

AS IT HAS BEEN PRONOUNCED.

He left the fair, and, reaching Plimsey's Center,
Told all about the wicked dans du ventre.

And the man whom Midway couldn't daunt,
Went home and spoke about the dans du ventre.

A third one, as he left the eddying throng,
Spoke sadly of the horrid dans du ventre.

But, it is said, one of the rural gentry
Assured his folks he'd seen the dans du ventre.

Official Visit.

Monday night R. Wor. Bro. P. W. D. Broderick, D. D. G. M. for the London district, paid an official visit to Union Lodge, city, and was cordially welcomed by the W. M., Wor. Bro. Geo. Hampton, his officers and members. There was a large attendance of leading members of the craft, including R. Wor. Bros. Barker and Munson, V. Wor. Bros. O. J. Bridle, A. G. Smyth, E. Burke and J. D. Clarke, Wor. Bros. W. G. McMillan, D. C. Kennedy, W. Thomson, Edwin Paull, E. T. Essery and John Smith. Among the visitors were Bro. Smyth, from California, and Bro. Matthews, of Acacia Lodge, Hamilton. The D. D. G. M. addressed a few words of kindly counsel to the brethren, after witnessing an exemplification of the work. Thereafter the visitors were entertained in a hospitable manner. There was song and sentiment in plenty.

The Magistrate's Melange.

Another of those differences between neighbors, in which one side makes positive assertions and the other parties make sweeping denials, occupied the attention of Magistrate Parke in the Police Court yesterday. Mrs. Mary Doucett was charged with assaulting Mrs. Susannah Watson. The latter was sure that her alleged assailant wanted to kill her—the blows were rained upon her face, she said, so thick and fast—but Mrs. Doucette, who possesses a well cultivated Dutch accent, said that she had never raised a finger to the complainant. The witnesses were present to approve what had been put forward on either side, and the case was adjourned for a week. John R. Gosling keeps a bar in which only temperance drinks are supposed to be sold. During Fair week Inspector Henderson found a two-gallon jar of whisky behind the counter. A glass partially filled with the same liquid stood near. Mr. Gosling explained that he had been on a prolonged spree, and that the whisky had been procured entirely for his own use. Judgment was reserved. The magistrate seemed inclined to impose the statutory fine. The charge against Thomas J. Cook of selling hard cider on the Fair grounds was dismissed. Joseph Jones and James Fitzgerald, who were accused of having made themselves generally disagreeable at the corner of William and Dundas streets, were charged with being drunk and disorderly. They were remanded for three days. Both belong to the Military School.

Enforcement of the Scott Act.

The more pertinent question, therefore, to ask the Ontario Premier, is not, whether he has the power to pass a prohibition law, or if he has the will, granting that he has the power; but, "why, sir, did you not see to it that the Scott Act, as passed and ratified by many municipalities in Ontario, was duly enforced?" It was as much the duty of the Ontario authorities to enforce the Scott Act as it was to make effective any other Parliamentary statute. Yet the Mowat Government set their faces against it, and urged a return to the license law as the more certain and proper form of liquor restriction.—[London Free Press.

On page 107 of the Statutes of Canada for 1878, otherwise known as 41 Vict., chap. 16, sec. 101 and 102, the Free Press will find the following:

Any prosecution for any such penalty or punishment may be brought by or in the name of the collector of inland revenue, within whose official division the offense was commited—or by or in the name of any person.

It shall be the duty of such collector of inland revenue to bring such prosecution, whenever he shall have reason to believe that any such offense has been committed, and that a prosecution, therefore, can be sustained, and would not subject him to any undue measure of responsibility in the premises.

Collectors of inland revenue are Dominion officials. The Dominion statute defines their duty under the Scott Act. Why didn't the Dominion Government see to it that these collectors performed their duty, instead of throwing the responsibility upon Mr. Mowat? Did any one of the inland revenue collectors ever seriously attempt to secure a conviction for violation of the Scott Act? Did the Minister of Inland Revenue ever spur up his subordinates to do their duty in the premises?—[Hamilton Times.

A statement of the patients received and discharged during the year, the nationalities and religious denominations will be of interest, and will be found below:

AFTER THE TRIAL.

George Freeman Becomes Excited at a Religious Service—Notes from a Chathamite's Pencil.

The Freeman brothers, now in jail here awaiting removal to Kingston, from what can be learned were prominent members of the church in Raleigh township, George Freeman being a class leader for many years. Since their removal to this city the brothers have spent a large portion of their time in reading the Bible and praying—in fact, they were almost continually thus engaged excepting when out for exercise. On Sunday, as is always the case, religious services were held in the jail, and Mr. Fred Matthews was conversing and reading with George and William Henry. Both prisoners felt their position keenly, sobbing and moaning all the time so loud that they could be heard up stairs. George became excited, and jumping from his seat, ran around the corridor, saying "I'm going to glory, I'm going to glory!" The jailers heard him, and going below thought there would be some trouble in removing him to the cell, but on being importuned he quietly granted their request. In course of conversation afterward the unfortunate George said that he knew perfectly well what he had done, but said he could not restrain himself as it was due to the excitement brought on by the service.

The Chatham Planet, which was represented at the trial by Editor Torrance, has the following notes on it:

"The costs of the trial will be charged to the county of Kent.

"Great interest was taken in the trial by the Londoners and the whole countryside. Day after day the court room was packed with eager listeners, and hundreds were turned away disappointed from the door.

"Celia Freeman has one married daughter, and she and her husband will likely live with the old woman. The farm belongs to the widow and she is determined to hold it.

"The London press handled the case with all enterprise. The ADVERTISER and Free Press had two representatives present at the reporters' table, whose work was a credit both to themselves and their respective journals.

"The city police were most hospitable in their treatment of their brother officers, Skirving and Dezelia. They were also courteous and obliging to all who visited the central station. While there a Planet reporter had the pleasure of inspecting the patrol wagon and learning all about this excellent system in the Forest City. Sergeant Crawford explained all about it in lucid and justly prideful way. The patrol is an institution of immense service to the police of any city."

Remember the auction sale of pianos at Jones' auction rooms on Thursday next at 2:30 p.m. 94u

IMPORTANT!

"Win a Crown and wear it," is a very good motto. HEINTZMAN & CO. having worked for and obtained a reputation as first-class piano manufacturers, do not feel that they are called upon to share it with any other firm, who by fallacious argument try to make the public believe that the Piano they make or sell is "just like THE HEINTZMAN," or that it is THE "Heintzman." The public and intending purchasers especially, are asked to bear in mind that there is only one HEINTZMAN & CO. Piano. Our trade mark is registered, therefore do not be induced to buy a piano unless it bears the good old name of "Heintzman & Co." It is a safe guarantee that the piano bearing it is reliable in every particular. We have some new and beautiful designs in stock at our London Warerooms, "C. P. M. H." 189 Dundas street. Also some excellent bargains in second-hand Pianos and Organs by other makers. Inspection invited, terms easy. H. W. BURNETT, Manager for London and vicinity. 95tf

LUCK, OR PLUCK?

But, alas! it was too late. He must go back to the farm—go away from Lucia. How should he say farewell to her? Could he ask her to accept an occasional letter from him and to reply? Would the Tramlays want to spend the next summer at Hayn farm? he wondered. Should they come and Lucia see him carrying a pail of pea pods to the pig sty, or starting off with oil skins and a big black basket for a day's fishing off shore, would not her pretty lip curl in disdain? Or if the family wanted to go to the beach for a bath, would he come in from the fields in faded cotton shirt and trousers and bandless old straw hat to drive them down?

No; none of these things should occur. The Tramlays should not again board at Hayn farm, unless he could manage in some way to be away from home at the time. He would oppose it with all his might. And yet, what could he say by way of explanation to his parents? There are some things that one cannot explain—not if one is a young man who has suddenly had his head turned by change of scene.

How he should say farewell to Lucia troubled him a great deal, particularly as the time was approaching rapidly. To tell her of his love would be unmanly, while he was unable to carry love forward to its natural fruition; but, on the other hand, would it be right for him to take mere friendly leave after having betrayed himself over her hand at the carriage window? And if her manifestations of jealousy at the Dixon party meant anything more than a mere desire to monopolize his attention, would she not hate him if he went away without some expression of tenderness?

The longer he cudgeled his wits the more inactive they became. He resolved to call at once and trust to chance, and perhaps a merciful Providence, to help him to a proper line taking. He wondered if she would be at home; he had heard her recapitulate a succession of engagements which seemed to him to dispose of a week of afternoons and evenings. He would seek her father and ask him when Lucia could be found at home.

He acted at once upon the impulse, but Tramlay was not at his office. As the time was about noon, Phil strolled to the restaurant to which the iron merchant had taken him. Tramlay was not there, so the young man took a seat and ordered luncheon. Just as it was served, Marge passed him, without seeing him, and a young man at a table behind Phil said to his companion:

"That Marge is a lucky dog. Have you heard that he's going to marry Tramlay's daughter? She'll be rich; iron is looking up."

"Is that so," asked the other. "When did it come out?"

"I don't know whether it's announced yet," was the reply; "but one of the fellows at the bank told me, and I suppose he got it from Marge; he knows him very well."

Phil's appetite departed at once; it seemed to him his life would accompany it. His mind was in a daze; his heart was like lead. His feelings reached his face, and, distracted and stupid though he felt, he could not help seeing that he was attracting attention, so he paid his bill, went out, and hurried along the street. The first distinct impression of which he was conscious was that there need no longer be any doubt about how to say good-by to Lucia; a formal courteous note would suffice; he would not trust himself to meet her. Could he blame her? No; he certainly had no claim upon her heart, nor any reason to really believe that she had regarded him as more than a pleasant acquaintance. She had let him kiss her hand; but had not she herself taught him that this was merely an old time form of salutation? She had the right to marry whom she would; yet Marge—the thought of that man—that lazy, soulless, cold, dry stick—being bound for life to a merry, sensitive soul like Lucia drove him almost mad.

Well, the blow was a blessing in one way; now he could go back to the farm without any fears or hesitation. Go back?—yes, he would hasten back; he could not too soon get behind him the city and all its memories. After all, it was not the city he had dreaded to leave; it was Lucia, and whatever through her seemed necessary. Now that she must be forgotten, all else might go. He would go back to the hotel, pack his clothes—how he longed for the money they had cost him!—write a line to Lucia, and take the first train for home. Home! How shamefully he had forgotten it in the past fortnight! Perhaps this disappointment was his punishment; if so, although severe, it was no more than just. Home! Why, he would rejoice to be once more inside his dirty oilskin fishing clothes—to obliterate the city man he had been aping for a fortnight. Heaven had evidently intended him to be a drudge; well, Heaven's will should be done.

Thus reasoned the spirit; but the flesh did not rapidly conform to its leader's will. Phil's teeth and lips were twitching; he felt it was so; he noticed that people stared at him, just as they did while he was in the restaurant. This at least he could escape, and he would; so he turned into the first side street, to avoid the throng. Within a moment he feared he was losing his reason, for it seemed to him that people were pursuing him. There certainly was an unusual clatter of hurrying feet behind him, but—pshaw!—it was probably a crowd running to a fire or a fight. The noise increased; several wild yells arose, and some one shouted, "Stop thief!" Then Phil's heart stopped beating, for a heavy hand fell on his shoulder. He started violently aside, but there was no shaking off the grasp of that heavy hand; he looked wildly around, and into the eyes of his father.

"Bless you, old boy, how—how fast you do walk!" panted the old man. "I was 'way up—on the other side of the road when—when I saw you turnin' down here. Sol Mantring said I wouldn't know you—if I saw you. Why—I knowed you at first sight."

"Wot's he done?" bleated a small boy in front, for the crowd had already surrounded the couple.

"What's who done?" asked the old man, angrily, after he had looked around and seen the crowd. "Why, you tarnal loafers, can't a man run down the road to catch up with his own son without you thinkin' there's somethin' wrong? I've heerd that in New York ev'ry man suspects ev'ry other man of bein' a thief. Git out! go about your business, if you've got any."

The crowd, looking sadly disappointed and disgusted, slowly dispersed, one very red-faced man remarking that the entire proceeding had been "a durned skin."

The father and son walked along until comparatively alone; then the father said:

"S'mething's wrong old boy. What is it?"

Phil did not reply.

"Out of money an' afraid to send me word?"

"No," Phil replied.

"Then it's her, eh?"

Phil nodded. His father squeezed his hand and after a moment continued:

"Proposed to her an' been refused?"

"No," said Phil; "another man has proposed and been accepted."

"Dear! dear!" sighed the old man. "An' she's dead in love with him, I s'pose?"

"I never saw any sign of it," said Phil, his face wrinkling. "I don't see how she can; he's a dry old stick."

"Rich?"

"Um-m—I don't know," said Phil.

"Know him?"

"Yes, a little. Mr. Tramlay says he lives on his income."

"Easy enough for a bachelor to do that in New York," said the old man, "an' still not have much."

They walked in silence a few minutes; then the old man continued:

"Sure you weren't mistaken, bub?"

"About what?"

"Sure you really fell in love? Sure you warn't only in a fit of powerful admiration? Lots of young fellers get took in that way an' spend a lifetime bein' sorry for it."

Phil shook his head.

"She's mighty good lookin'; I know it. I can take in the p'ints of a gal as good as if she was a colt. Good stock in her, too; that father of hern is full of grit an' go, an her mother's a lady. Still, you might have been kind o' upset, an' not knowed your own mind as well as you might.

"Father," said Phil, "you remember what you've often said about your horse Black Billy?—'There's only one horse in the world, and that's Billy.' Well, for me there's only one girl in the world—Lucia."

"That's the Hayn blood, all over," said the old man, with a laugh that grated harshly on Phil's ear.

"And I've lost her," Phil continued. "Don't let's talk about her any more. Don't remind me of her."

"Don't remind you?" shouted the old man, stopping short on the sidewalk. "See here, young man," the father continued, shaking his forefinger impressively, "if I was you, an' felt like you, do you know what I'd do?"

"No," said Phil, amazed at this demonstration by a man whom he scarcely ever had seen excited.

"Well, sir, I'd stay right on the ground, an' I'd cut that other feller out, or I'd die atryin'. You'll never be good for anythin' if you don't do one thing or t'other."

Phil smiled feebly and replied: "You don't understand; there are a great many obstacles that I can't explain."

"'There's a lion in the way, says the slothful man; I shall be slain,'" quoted the old man from the Book which he had accepted as an all-sufficient guide to faith and practice.

"I've made a fool of myself," said Phil sullenly, "and I want to go home and take my punishment. I want to go by the first train I can get. I've a long list of things I've promised to buy for different people, but I can't endure New York another day."

The old man studied his son's face keenly for a while, as they resumed their walk; then he said, gently:

"Perhaps it's best that way. Go ahead. Give me your list an' I'll tend to it. I'll take a day or two in New York myself; it's a long time since I had one. Give us the list and get out."

Phil fumbled in his pocket for the memoranda that he had neglected so long. Then a new fear came to him, and he said:

"Father, you know about everything, and can do almost anything you attempt, but don't go to trying to mend this wretched affair of mine; if I——"

"What?" interrupted the old man. "Meddle in a love scrape? Have I got to be this old to be suspected by my son of bein' an old fool? No sir; I never did any love makin' except for myself, an' I'm not goin' to begin now. You go home an' brace up; I reckon you need a mouthful of country air to set your head right."

The family of W. S. Ferguson, of Dereham, has been visited by the grim reaper for the second time in a fortnight. Monday night Charles, the 16-year-old son, died very suddenly of diphtheria and only about ten days ago a daughter of 20 was taken away.

ESSEX.

For some time people living near Sandwich have been missing all kinds of produce from their barns. Frank Hunt found that the contents of his barn were going in a mysterious manner, and last night hid behind a tree near the barn. He almost fell over with surprise when he saw two respectable citizens enter the place. He went for Constable Masters, and when the two returned they met James Benson and James Letheridge coming away with two bags of oats. After taking them to the Windsor lock-up Constable Masters made a search of their premises and found their sheds and barns filled with produce which is supposed to have been secured by them after dark. They were remanded for trial.

The Provincial Health Board has been notified that the trouble between Windsor and Walkerville, on account of Walkerville sewage contaminating the Windsor drinking water, has been amicably settled. Each town has agreed to pay a proportionate share of the cost of a new water main to enter the St. Clair above Walkerville.

LAMBTON.

Joseph Holmes, of the G. T. R., Forest, died last week after a short illness, at the age of 65 years, 8 months and 5 days, on Jan. 29, 1823. He came to Canada when about the age of 20 years, and entered the service of the Grand Trunk Railway, by which company he has been employed for 36 years. He was injured by falling off his engine near Georgetown, and ever since that time was deprived of the use of his lower limbs.

At Osgoode Hall Monday in the case of Broner vs. Garbutt an interpleader order was settled directing that an issue be tried in a county court, in which the claimant shall be plaintiff. D. The police are looking for James McCrae, 18 years of age, slight build, 5 feet 5 inches high, who escaped from an officer at Alvinston on Saturday evening.

MIDDLESEX.

Iral Forshee, a druggist of Florence, Ont., dropped dead in a sleeper attached to a Wabash train at the Polk street depot at 10:20 o'clock on Thursday night, Oct. 5. Mr. Forshee left his home in Canada one week previously to visit the fair, and stopped while in the city with friends at No. 6,715 Prairie avenue. He was accompanied to the car by a number of friends, who bade him good-bye as the train was about to start. Suddenly, as his friends were preparing to leave him, he turned pale and fell over in the car. When lifted into an upright position it was found that life was extinct. Death is supposed to have been due to heart disease.—[Chicago Canadian-American.

A very enjoyable concert, under the auspices of the Patrons of Industry, was given in Pond Mills school house, Westminster, on the evening of Oct. 6. Rev. E. H. Sawers occupied the chair with many well-placed remarks. The programme was excellent. It comprised bagpipe selections by R. Murray, dancing by Susie McGill, of London, recitations by Mr. Abbott and Miss Boon, of London, violin selections by Messrs. Topkins and Nixon and singing by Miss Murry and Messrs. O'Connor and Grieve. The room was filled.

Pearl Butler, the Ailsa Craig girl who has been missing for the past ten days in Detroit, was found on Monday night in company with her enticer, Louis Arno. Pearl was dressed as a boy, and said she would never go back to her aunt's to live, as they used to beat her. Arno, when arrested, said he wished somebody would shoot him through the head. He is evidently a villain of the deepest dye, and endeavored to cover up his crime by dressing the girl up as a boy and getting her hair cut short.

Neil B. Harris, a promising young native of Glencoe, aged 21, and a student at McGill College, died at his home in Glencoe Saturday, much regretted. He was preparing for the ministry.

WELLAND.

Andrew Banner, who purchased the old homestead of the late Arthur Johnston, Bertie, has, we hear, discovered a rich gold deposit lately. In tearing down the old house that had done service for scores of years he found a nest of gold which, it is said, amounted to $7,000. Mr. Benner, we are informed, deposited the money in a Buffalo savings bank. The discovery is a valuable one, for which no doubt Mr. Benner is heartily grateful to Dame Fortune.—[Welland Tribune.

THIS DAY IN HISTORY.

October 11.

1347—Louis V, emperor of Germany, died.

1511—Erasmus Reinhold, German astronomer, born in Saefeldt, Germany.

1531—The Catholics defeated the insurgents of Zurich at Kappel, and Ulric Zwingli, reformer, was killed and body burned, aged 47.

1571—Don John of Austria, HENRY ROWE. commanding united fleets of Spain, Venice and the pope, destroyed the Turkish fleet at Lepante, ending the growth of Moslem power.

1742—Philip Astley, founder of Astley's amphitheater, was born at Newcastle-under-Lyme.

1753—Anne, countess of Macclesfield, whose illegitimate son was the poet Savage, died in London.

1800—The eccentric and wily Harry Rowe, soldier, peddler and long believed to be the author of "No cure, no pay," died in the poorhouse at York, England.

1865—On President Johnson's order, all the officials of the late Confederacy were released from prison except Jefferson Davis

THE GOOD OLD TIMES.

I would that I in ancient Rome
My early days had spent,
Though others prize these later days
And new environment,

I'd rather have the lack of care
That sturdy Romans knew,
Than all the great advantages
Of bright inventions new.

Though somewhat in advancement, true,
These olden people lagged,
You must admit, beyond debate,
Their trousers never bagged.

—Detroit Free Press.

LONDON AND ENVIRONS.

—This world is but a paradox.
And plainly does this show
In the fact that the surest "coming man,"
Is the man with lots of go.

—J. E. Adkins, jeweler, of East London, has returned from Chicago.

—W. Rogers and H. B. White, city, were registered in Winnipeg on Saturday.

—Mr. Ward Sutherland, of London, is in the city visiting friends.—[Guelph Herald.

—Rev. Joseph Philp has left to attend the Christian Endeavor Convention in St. Catharines.

—Ald. John Harmon is to be married in London, Ont., to-day to Miss Crissie McLeod, says a Windsor dispatch.

—Rev. T. L. Fowler has left to deliver a series of three lectures to the students of the Christian Church in Toronto University.

—Mr. B. W. Webb, of the Canada Packing Company, arrived yesterday from England, and brought Mrs. Webb and daughter with him.

—Mr. E. S. Winnett shot a magnificent specimen of fish hawk on Adelaide street yesterday. It measured nearly six feet from tip to tip of wings.

—Fire did $200 worth of damage last night to a barn on the corner of Pall Mall and Waterloo streets owned by Police Sergeant Crawford. Cause unknown.

—St. Matthew's Church, London East, is to have its harvest home thanksgiving services on Sunday next. Rev. Principal Miller, of Huron College, is to preach at the evening service.

—The sitting of the Ninth Division Court was held to-day, Judge Robinson presiding. About 30 cases were disposed of. This was one of the largest courts held by this division for some time.

—Miss Tillie O'Cannon left this morning for a visit to the east. After visiting the World's Fair she will visit friends in London, Ont., returning to Winnipeg in about six weeks.—[Winnipeg Tribune.

—W. F. Henderson, manager for Mr. Walter Whiteside, who is to appear at the Grand Opera House Monday and Tuesday of next week, is in the city. Mr. Whiteside will present "Richelieu" and "Hamlet." This is his first appearance in London.

—The worst storm that visited this part of Lake Erie for many years was that of last Friday and Saturday. Capt. Elliton and Brown Bros., of Port Stanley, lost many hundred dollars through damage to their nets, every net they had being torn to pieces and the large stakes broken off. They will have to take the nets all out and mend them, and as the close season begins Nov. 1, it is also a serious loss in losing the fishing just now.

—Elder R. C. Evans, of the Latter Day Saints, recently returned to the city after a successful two weeks' revival in Grand Valley, Ont. During that time there were baptized 23 persons, including the magistrate of the town and the former organist of the Presbyterian Church there. In opposition to the work four lectures were delivered, two by Rev. Mr. Keffer, of Detroit, which were replied to by Elder Evans each evening, assisted by Mr. Fred Gregory, formerly of Toronto.

—The Canadian exhibit of poultry for the World's Fair leaves here Thursday night at 9 o'clock by the C. P. R. All birds from Canada will be shipped on this train. It is expected that over 1,000 will be sent to the fair. The exhibit is under the personal supervision of Mr. Allan Bogue, of this city. Those who will assist in taking charge at Chicago are Messrs. L. G. Jarvis, John Saunders, Richard Oak, Wm. McNeil, David Bogue and Eli Griffith. It is expected that Canadian birds will carry off many prizes.

—Herrmann, aided by his pretty wife, no strangers to London, will be seen at the Grand to-morrow night. Herrmann holds a unique position on the boards of the American stage. He has created a new departure in amusements. His business is a pleasant relief from the ordinary dramatic or operatic attraction. It is as entirely different from the commonplace work of the magician as the electric light outshines its coal oil predecessors. His entertainments are unique, amusing and full of delightfully unexpected surprises. The man himself is a marvel. He has traveled every part of the uncivilized as well as the civilized globe. He has grown up in his business from a boy. He speaks with ease all the modern languages, and half a dozen besides of Asiatic and African dialects.

—The new Methodist Church at Littlewood on the Westminster circuit, a handsome brick structure costing $5,000 was opened on Sunday. Rev. J. R. Gundy, of London, preached in the morning. Rev. W. W. Shepherd, of Muncey, in the afternoon, and Rev. R. Millyard in the evening to large congregations, the collections amounting to about $100. Last night a grand teameeting was held. The attendance was very large. After tea the pastor, Rev. R. J. Garratt, took the chair and addresses were delivered by Revs. W. Rigsby and T. Cullen, of London; E. B. Lancsley, of Ridgetown, and R. Millyard, of St. Thomas. Music was furnished by the North Street male quartet. The receipts were about $200.

—A very pretty wedding took place at the residence of Mr. James Brown, York street, Hamilton, yesterday afternoon, when his second daughter, Miss Cora Brown, became the wife of Mr. Elinor J. Reed, of the firm of A. E. Walling & Co., Erie, Pa. About 30 guests witnessed the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. J. G. Shearer, assisted by Rev. Dr. Booth, of Erie. The bride was attended by Miss Marguerite Ross, daughter of Hon. G. W. Ross, and little Beatrice Booth, her niece. The groomsman was Mr. Cameron Brown, of the Globe, formerly city editor of the London ADVERTISER. Among those at the tables were Mr. John Cameron and Miss Cameron, Mrs. Blount, Miss Pearl Rougvie, Mrs. Wm. Cameron, of London; Mr. and Mrs. Blackett Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Cameron, of Toronto; Mr. Wilbur Reed, Dr. and Mrs. Booth, of Erie, Pa. Many and handsome were the presents received by the young couple.

The Great Modjeska To-Night.

To-night the peerless Modjeska, a woman who is no less revered in private than in public life, will present for the first time in London Schiller's great tragedy, "Mary Queen of Scots." Mary Stuart is one of Modjeska's most famous impersonations, and ranks with her Shakespearean roles. The renowned Polish actress has a warm spot in her heart for Canadian audiences, and never passes the Dominion by for larger and more remunerative centers over the border. Last season she opened her American tour in this city, and was greeted by a splendid audience. Without doubt her reception will be equally warm to-night. She is supported by the celebrated Otis Skinner, one of America's best actors, and brings with her her New York company in full. The scenic mountings will be superb.

The Crust of Society.

Only a moderate-sized audience greeted "The Crust of Society" company at the Grand last evening. The play is a "society drama" with scenes of human nature so strongly depicted that they are always interesting. The company comprises a number of clever people who are well-known in theatrical life and have been in some of the strongest plays on the road. The principal character is that of an adventuress who endeavors to introduce herself into the so-called upper class of society and eventually fails. The numerous incidents in connection with her endeavors to attain her end are strongly brought out and in these efforts she enlists the sympathies of the spectators. Miss Zeffie Tilbury, who assumes the leading character, acts and also dresses her part to perfection. Miss Etta Proctor Otis is an exceptionally clever artist, equally at home in the humorous as well as the emotional lines. Arthur Lewis took the leading male character. His diction is easy and he possesses a fine stage presence. The remainder of the company are able assistants.

New Mains Wanted.

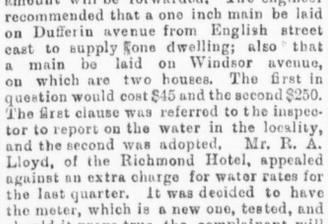

The water commissioners held their regular meeting last night, when it was expected that the report of Engineer Keefer, of Hamilton, on the London waterworks system would be discussed, but the members did not seem inclined to go into such a lengthy discussion, and it was left over till a future meeting. Engineer Moore presented a report of the water pumped at Springbank from Sept. 26 to Oct. 9. During that time the hydraulic pumps have added 19,726,024 gallons, and the steam pumps 27,869,930 gallons. The number of hours each day which the hydraulic pumps were working was from 18 to 24, while the steam pumps ran about the same length of time. Inspector Platt reported that he had made an inspection of the places where leakages were suppose to exist, but had found all the pipes in good condition. The trouble must have been caused by closets and hoists. A communication was read from the Canadian office of the London Guarantee Company in reference to the unpaid premium on Treasurer Pope's guarantee for the year ending Nov. 1, 1891. The amount will be forwarded. The engineer recommended that a one inch main be laid on Dufferin avenue from English street east to supply one dwelling; also that a main be laid on Windsor avenue, on which are two houses. The first in question would cost $45 and the second $250. The first clause was referred to the inspector to report on the water in the locality, and the second was adopted. Mr. R. A. Lloyd, of the Richmond Hotel, appealed against an extra charge for water rates for the last quarter. It was decided to have the meter, which is a new one, tested, and should it prove true the complainant will pay the full amount charged—nearly double what it had previously been. The Canadian General Electric Light Company applied for a four-inch main at their new power house on York street. Referred to the engineer. Mrs. Bernstein, of Clarence street south, appealed against water rates to the amount of $5 on a bath-house. Reduced to $3. Present: Chairman Jones, Commissioner Cowan, Engineer Moore, Mayor Essery, Inspector Platt and Secretary Ellwood.

The Wabash Railway is still the favorite route from Canada to the World's Fair. With its superb and magnificent coaches, the finest in America, their trains are literally moving palaces. The utmost resources of the car builder's art have been exhausted in constructing the cars now in use on the Wabash. All World's Fair passengers can get on or off at Englewood, close to the fair ground. Ask railroad agents for tickets via the Detroit and Englewood route. J. A.
