CANADIAN NAMES LIKELY TO BE CONSPICUOUS BY THEIR ABSENCE FROM KING'S BIRTHDAY HONORS

May Be Few Cases Confined To Military Merit, But No General Distribution, and No Hereditary Titles.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Ottawa, May 28.—There is much speculation at Ottawa as to the King's birthday honors which are due on Monday next, and when the usual course of events would include a number of Canadians.

Since the last list of birthday honors was made public there has been in Canada a very marked and well-defined manifestation of opinion against the conferring of titles in the Dominion at all, especially upon civilians. On the 8th of April last, the House of Commons evidenced a readiness to vote for a motion calling for the abolition of titles of distinction of any kind whatever. A vote was narrowly averted later during the dying days of the session, when there occurred one of the most interesting debates of the year. Only by making the question a matter of public policy, and by threatening to resign if that amendment succeeded in persuading the House to adopt the policy, laid down by the Government and the House of Commons, did the Government succeed in carrying the amendment.

Titles Held Up.
Meanwhile several hundred titles under the new imperial order which had been set aside for distribution in Canada have been held up for the past six months because the minister had other business to attend to than the selection of worthy recipients of such titles.

The general impression here is that King's birthday honors will be conferred on Monday next with practically no Canadians named. It is believed by some that as far as Canada is concerned they will be confined to cases of military merit, though even in that connection it was pointed out in the House that the Government had no right to make a grant of titles in the establishment of a military order.

In any case it is felt that the delay in the Canadian Commonwealth has not been a failure, and that those in England who in past years were wont to recommend King's birthday honors to Canadians, are now silent.

NATIONALISTS ABSENT
Will Not Attend Commons Until After Important Dublin Conference.

London, May 28.—Parliament re-assembled today after a short week-end vacation. Although the business formally set for discussion was not expected to be of great importance, the Irish Nationalists have not returned to the House of Commons until after an important party meeting in Dublin on Thursday, when the question of the date for their return will be discussed, among other things, their absence from the House of Commons has been a matter of considerable interest.

During the week-end the Government issued a call to its supporters, indicating the expectation of a motion for an adjournment of the House of Commons to discuss the entire matter, and it was taken for granted that Edward Shortt, M.P., would make a statement on behalf of the Government.

Interest also was manifested in the question of initiating negotiations for an exchange of British and German prisoners of war. Notices have been given in both Houses of Parliament to ask the Government to amplify their announcement of last Friday, and the bulk of the members are expected to support a demand that an agreement be made on the lines of those concluded by France and Italy.

Foch all the time he needs to place his reserves—those reserves whose whereabouts is an anxious mystery to the Germans—just where he wants them.

Vaudeville Acting Is Rough on Fred Fulton

SEATTLE, Wash., May 27.—Physicians announced today that Fred Fulton, aspirant for the heavyweight title, broke a bone in his right hand during his vaudeville act here last Friday night. Fulton's manager said he would be able to meet Jack Dempsey at Danbury, Conn., July 10, but has cancelled his theatrical engagements.

Cricket is reported to be the most popular game among the French soldiers on the war-front. Its restful qualities have at last been vindicated.

Ray Chapman has joined the United States army. 'Ray' 'Ray' 'Ray'!

When Fulton follows Chapman's example one will be inclined to say: "Pull, pull, pull."

Willard says he does not get sufficient sleep on his farm. This sounds funny. Almost every day the papers have something about Jess retreating.

Some people wonder what would have happened if the bridge between Hoyle? Fans are now trying to figure out what will become of the Giants without Doyle.

Bud Weiser played in St. Louis on Friday. Sounds natural.

One of the best arguments offered in favor of the maxim that brains bring success is the fact that officers' commissions are being handed out on a wholesale scale to professional pugilists of the United States army.

Lewis, the automobile racing expert, says he longs for the crack of the whip and the buzz of the engine. An opportunity to gratify this craving has been open to him since August, 1914. Funny he has not seized it.

Ghee, the sensational quarterback of Dartmouth in 1914, is dying a fighting death on the German line, and is reported to be one of the speediest flyers in France. Ghee Whizz!

French soldiers have gone crazy over croquet, ping-pong, pitching horseshoes, playing old-maid and other games of a similar sort. What would d'Artagnan say if he lived up to the A. A. U. rules regarding women?

Jack Ford of the W. O. A. R. is the largest man in this city. Again, what is in a name?

Caddock is the youngest aspirant for the wrestling title, declares an American newspaper. The record is wrong. In our own neighborhood there are a dozen youngsters who crave the crown.

LOST A BIG DEAL. A well-known London citizen lost a big deal on account of losing his train. He did not call a taxi from the Blue Bird. He was never late. Blue Bonnet Service, Phone 6282.

NEW YORK, May 27.—Trompe La Mort, a 2-year-old, 11.5 lb. chestnut, owned by J. E. Widener of Philadelphia, won the Metropolitan Handicap today in 1:23.25. Old Koenig ran second and Priscilla Mullens third. Omar Khayyam, the favorite, was beaten off.

The winner was bred by Edward Blane and as a yearling was purchased by Trainer Thomas Welsh for Mr. Widener. As a 2-year-old he won several times, but secured his one winning bracket. Today he carried the lightest impost, 99 pounds, of the eight-year-old horses.

Priscilla Mullens, a half sister of the Beverwyck stable's Old Koenig, which was a full brother to the winner, J. K. L. Ross' Priscilla Mullens, Hendry was drawn from the race, was going to start, but was scratched.

The result was unlooked for, as it was believed that Omar Khayyam, valued at $200,000, by his owner a few days ago, with Roamer and Old Koenig would divide the honors and money between them. The stake had a guaranteed value of $50,000.

The winner was bred by Edward Blane and as a yearling was purchased by Trainer Thomas Welsh for Mr. Widener. As a 2-year-old he won several times, but secured his one winning bracket. Today he carried the lightest impost, 99 pounds, of the eight-year-old horses.

Priscilla Mullens, a half sister of the Beverwyck stable's Old Koenig, which was a full brother to the winner, J. K. L. Ross' Priscilla Mullens, Hendry was drawn from the race, was going to start, but was scratched.

The result was unlooked for, as it was believed that Omar Khayyam, valued at $200,000, by his owner a few days ago, with Roamer and Old Koenig would divide the honors and money between them. The stake had a guaranteed value of $50,000.

Roamer cut out a very fast early pace, but he was out of sync, and he held the lead until heading for the Belmont Park racetrack today in 1:23.25. Old Koenig ran second and Priscilla Mullens third. Omar Khayyam, the favorite, was beaten off.

BILLINGTON—In loving memory of the late Samuel James Billington, who passed away in action, May 28, 1917,

One precious from our home has gone.
The voice we loved is still heard.
The place made vacant in our home
Can nevermore be filled.
—Mother, Father, Sisters and Brother, 688 William street.

RICE—In memory of Manley Grant
Rice, who died of wounds received at
Mild and gentle, as he was brave—
When the sweetest love of his life he lost.
To simple things. When the violets
tremble,
Pure in the eyes they were likened to,
The touches of his hand were stayed,
As reverently as his lips have prayed,
When the little hand known thrust that has harshly chirped,
And dear to him as the mockingbird,
And he pined as much as a man in pain.
A faithful money-bag was with him,
He was not the same, I say,
He is not dead; he is just away.
—Pat, Mother, Sisters and Brothers.

TIE KITTEN TO DOOR OF CATS' NEMESIS

Practical (?) Jokers Try to Pester Man Who Would Rid City of Wild Cats.

W. L. Saunders recently declared war on "wild domestic cats" in London and asked the city council to aid and abet him in his task. It now comes to light that a day or so after Mr. Saunders made his proposal his family was rudely disturbed by a terrible racket on the front porch. They waited until Mr. Saunders returned home and sent him to ferret out the cause of the trouble. He opened the front door and a terrible bedlam greeted him. It turned out to be nothing more than a little kitten tied to his doorknob with a piece of string.

"I have no objection to killing cats in a decent way, but to take advantage of a kitten is a different thing," said Mr. Saunders. He stated that he cut the string and liberated the pest. He has had no further visitors.

PTE. CLIFFORD CHADWICK

KILLED IN AIR RAID

Raid on British hospitals by hostile aircraft has been thought to have been responsible for the death of Pte. Clifford Chadwick of this city.

Word received by his wife, Mrs. Effie Chadwick, daughter of Utilities Commission E. P. Mitchell, simply informed her of his death, but owing to the fact that the date of his death corresponded exactly with that on which one of the Hun air raids took place, it is thought that he met his death in that way.

Casey Chadwick, as he was known to his friends, went overseas last August with a draft from the Army Medical Corps. Training Depot here, and after a short stay in England went to France to serve with No. 1 General Hospital.

His friends in this city were many, and he was well and favorably known to a large circle of acquaintances, having come in contact with many Londoners in his position as treasurer of the Majestic Theatre.

He is survived by his father, at one time a member of McClary's shipping department, and now of Detroit, two sisters, also of Detroit, and one brother in the employ of the London Shoe Company here.

MARGUERITE CLARK

SCORES GREAT HIT

AT THE MAJESTIC

The Sweetest Girl in Pictures

in Her Latest Success.

"RICH MAN, POOR MAN"

Noted Screen Star at Popular Playhouse Again Today.

Conveying in no uncertain language the message that riches without love is a mockery, "Rich Man, Poor Man," the latest Paramount picture, starring that charming screen star, Marguerite Clark, was received with marked manifestations of approval by an audience that tested the capacity of the Majestic Theatre Monday. Both the star and picture sustained themselves with the dignity that attaches to superiority, and the interest of the audience frequently manifested itself in hearty applause.

Here is a photoplay that, because of its powerful theme, capable direction and the individual efforts of an exceptional fine cast of players, is well worth anyone's while to see, not once, but several times. Aside from the excellent characterization of Bob Wynne by Miss Clark, who is justly termed "the sweetest girl in motion pictures," that of Frederick Ward, who essayed the role of Beeston, a crusty, crabbed and heartless multi-millionaire, was distinctly a work of art eminently worthy of the last of the old school of tragedians whose practice is fading with time, but whose influence for good in the cinema world never will diminish.

Based upon the novel by Maximilian Foster, the story of "Rich Man, Poor Man," is a dramatic and the various scenes held the interest as by a spell.

The story of this admirable picture deals with the fortunes of Betty Wynne, a charming girl, who after many years spent in a boarding house, enters the home of John K. Beeston, a cold-hearted and selfish millionaire, who is her grandchild. Although a rich man, Beeston is a poor man in everything else, for he loves no one, and everyone who spises him for his eccentricities and erratic temper.

Betty brings love and sunshine into his life, and he refuses to permit her to leave him, even after he discovers that she has been fished upon himself through the forgery of a man whose sole desire was to make Betty happy.

Betty is the central figure in numerous thrilling scenes, and finally finds happiness in the arms of a young man who really is the grandson of Beeston.

A Lee-Moran comedy and a news weekly are shown in conjunction with the feature photoplay. The Majestic concert orchestra renders a special overture. This program will be repeated again today.

PATRICIA

Alma Hanlon, regarded as one of the most beautiful young women in the film world, is featured in the Patricia Theatre again today and Wednesday in a comedy-drama, "When You and I Were Young." The story is laid down on the farm and the scenes are characteristic of rural life. A pretty romance runs through the play that is as enthralling as a screen presentation as seen here in some time.

In this picture a Canadian Scenic completes the film program. The fishing industry in New Brunswick is shown in a beautiful scenic film.

In vaudeville Bill, Hazart and Girl present a comedy acrobatic and dancing act. This act is one of the best of its character seen here in months.

The Patricia bill for today and Wednesday is deserving of a high rating. It is in keeping with the high standard being maintained at this theatre.

Foley and Ryan were the returned soldiers who died at Windsor as a result of drinking a mixture of wood alcohol and near beer. Three others, civilians, died also.
