

RULE CHARGES WENIGE MADE LACKED PROOF

Aldermen Dismiss Major Ones
at Stormy Investigation in City Hall.

WANT "LOAFERS" NAMES

Complainant Objects to the Method of Procedure in Probing Allegations.

The special investigating committee of the city council had another go at the Wenige charges on Monday afternoon and made considerable progress on clearing them up. Few of the charges were sustained. The session was marked by a couple of clashes, one between Ald. Wenige and Chairman John Bridge, and another between Mayor E. S. Little and Ald. Wenige. In the first Wenige expressed the opinion that the method of probing the charges was not a proper one, and in the second he told the mayor that he could not expect to succeed with his charges because of the way the probe was being conducted. This was after Mayor Little told him that his evidence was not "worth a hoot," as it was not given under oath.

At the opening of the session Ald. Wenige said that he did not think it was proper that the committee should have proceeded with the investigation while he was absent. He said he had notified the city clerk that he would be absent from the city, and he thought it was out of all propriety or order that the committee should proceed without his being present. "I am vitally interested," he said, "in getting into absolute good faith. There is no bias. I am open and above board. I had a real reason for making those charges. I took an obligation to do my best for the city as an alderman, the same as any other alderman, at least, as he is supposed to do. I think that the proper way to go into these vital charges is by handing them over to a judge or some other outside person. I don't know whether this committee is biased or unbiased, or whether you are saying that Wenige is only talking. If the latter is the case then I haven't a chance in God's great earth. If you want to go into this right it should be before a disinterested person. I have gone to a lot of trouble to gather these facts. I have put them in writing as asked. I want to know from each individual member of the committee what he thinks of the matter."

Says "Not in Order." Chairman Bridge ruled that it would not be in order for the alderman to put his question to the members of the committee. "I don't think that the man who would make such charges should have the nerve to come here and charge the committee with unfairness. Let me tell you that with all your talk all the aldermen here are equally engaged in the handling of the affairs of the city as you are."

Ald. Wenige asked: "Is this the proper way to investigate these charges? I want the committee's opinion." Chairman Bridge replied: "There is no opinion on it. This is not the place to get an opinion. If you want one you'll have to get it at a private hearing."

Ald. Childs asked Ald. Wenige why he did not send a lawyer to represent him at the last session of the committee when he knew he would be away.

Ald. Wenige said he only knew of the session the night before he went away, and so did not have time. Ald. Bridge said that when he called the meeting he did not know that Ald. Wenige was going away. The clerk, he claimed, had not told him. The committee then got down to the charges, going back over the charges that had been taken up before, but on which final decision was left over until Ald. Wenige was present.

The first was the contention that it should not be necessary to call in a consulting engineer. Two specific cases were given, Ridout street bridge and on a question of paving. The cost to the city was $446. The fact that the board of works authorized the engineer on the bridge did not alter Ald. Wenige's stand. "All right, I still contend that it's inefficiency," he remarked.

Says Done for Best. The engineer said that in regard to the pavement he called in an engineer to make sure that the method employed in laying pavements was the best.

The chairman asked if it was the opinion of the committee that the charge was not proven. No one answered, and he said, "Not proven." Ald. Wenige said he would like to have the "Yess" and "Nays." The chairman said that any member of the committee could have them if he asked. No one asked.

The charge of using abusive language to Robert Fraser, Waterloo street north, and Ald. Wenige, was the next matter, and found the committee in rather an embarrassing position, inasmuch as it had to either approve or disapprove of the engineer calling a ratepayer a liar, as the engineer admitted that he had used the term to Mr. Fraser, but said that he did so under great provocation.

"That answer satisfies me," said Ald. Wenige. "That language should not be used."

The chairman queried, "Are you the judge?"

Wenige: "Yes, I am a judge, and so are you. If there was provocation for [Special to The Advertiser.] STAFFORD, Nov. 21.—German men have gone so far as to joke about the late war, and some even talk of revenge towards France, specifying a time limit of from five to ten years, declared Frank Macklin addressing the chamber of commerce today on his recent trip to Germany. General conditions, he said, were much better in that country than many believed. The Germans are not so much of having fought the Allies, but say they fought the world.

Food is cheap in Germany, Mr. Macklin declared, and told of having a meal of soup, three kinds of vegetables, a whole chicken and dessert for 40 cents.

murder that language is not right." The chairman, Ald. Wenige said that it is not a proper term. What is the opinion of the committee?

Ald. Ashton: "The word was justified under provocation."

Several times the chairman asked the committee if that was its stand. No one would make a move, and so the chairman declared that to be the final decision.

Then came the charge of Ald. Wenige, personally, that the engineer had used strong language to him. He presented an affidavit.

The engineer admitted using the term some five years ago. The affidavit said last year, also setting up that the term had been used on two occasions.

Ald. Ashton: "He admits the charge and regrets it. Why lay a charge?"

Chairman: "A great ado about nothing."

Wenige: "There is something to them." Chairman: "The engineer admits the term. He regrets. Next clause."

Offers to Produce. In the clause relating to the engineer making specification tenders impossible for a contractor to accept, Ald. Wenige said that he would produce a copy sent out by the engineer at the next session of the committee. He intimated that his charge was based on a paragraph which called for the contractor on paving to accept responsibility if a pipe broke under the pavement.

When Wenige was asked to give the names of the "loafers and bums" working for the city and whom he said were employed, he replied that he did not have the names. He had only been asked to place his charges in writing and had done so. He said that he could get the names. He also said that the mayor had complained during the year about loafing going on.

Mayor Little said that this work was being done on Regent street, where there were eighteen teams standing in line. The engineer explained, when he complained that though these men were being paid by the day they had to draw a certain number of loads.

Chairman Bridge: "The charge is not proven." Ald. Wenige: "It is admitted that there is no loafing."

The chairman: "The charge is not proven." In his contention that the water on York street bridge floor was a source of danger to pedestrians' clothes, Wenige was supported by the committee, on the evidence submitted at the last meeting.

His charge that there had been a waste of money in fixing the approach to the bridge was held not proven. Wenige was not satisfied with the engineer's record that the cost of doing this work was only $112. He told the chairman that he was not satisfied and the chairman replied: "The committee is satisfied and that is all there is to it."

The charge of bad engineering in the proposal to erect a new bridge at Ridout street was held not proven, as was the charge relating to waste in the laying of the Quebec street pavement.

Was His Evidence. In connection with the latter item, Wenige said that the difference between the cost and the estimate was his evidence. The estimate was $17,132 made in 1917, and the cost $25,451 for work done in 1920. The engineer said that the difference was due to the increase in material, cost and wages.

The charge that there was loafing on this job was also held not proven. Wenige submitted a petition setting forth that there had been loafing. Ald. Childs said he called a number of people and they said there was no loafing.

On Erie avenue, in front of Wenige's house, he says, the pavement is faulty and the water there gets three or four inches deep before it gets to the cesspool, unless brushed away. It was over this hole, Wenige said, he and the engineer had one of their rows. The engineer said that the hole in question was three-tenths of an inch deep. The charge was ruled not proven.

Ald. Wenige said that he stood in an office on Richmond street and saw men who were repairing the pavement there stand from 1 p.m. to 1:50 p.m. without doing a "tap of work."

The engineer produced slips to show that the last load of material was delivered at 12:05. It would be unloaded at 12:15 and the men would start to work again at 1:30 when the next load was shown to have arrived by the slips. The charge was held not sustained.

The engineer produced slips to show that the crew paid for two days and a team two and a half days' work fixing a catch basin on Wharncliffe road, but Wenige declared he was not satisfied. He said that reputable citizens had been watching, and he himself saw four men on this one job on for different days. The engineer said that twelve feet of the wire laid. The charge was thrown out.

Ald. Wenige said that on many occasions he had watched gravel delivered to different jobs. No one was on hand to check the number of loads. The driver dumped them and went away.

Check Deliveries. The engineer said that in nineteen out of twenty cases they had a man checking all gravel deliveries. In some cases a man was working on two jobs and might meet a driver part way. This charge was dismissed.

The admission made at the last session of the committee that the work of fixing Emery street might have been better done was reiterated.

Work on Maitland street pavement, St. James to Cheapside street, brought many complaints of loafing, to Ald. Wenige. He said he could produce the names of several reputable citizens to substantiate his charges. There was a long discussion over this job, and its cost was compared with Bruce street. In the end the charge was thrown out.

There was quite an argument over the charge that five men stood at Hyman and Richmond street from 7 a.m. until 9 a.m. waiting for material to come to fix the pavement. At 7:30 a.m. Ald. Wenige said he arrived at the job and stayed there until 9 o'clock, and the men did no work.

The engineer did not deny that there might have been five men called him from one job to another. He said that there was no evidence of loafing.

Wenige—Is the engineer a judge in this? I am of the opinion that the committee was to rule what was evidenced.

Ald. Ashton: "We must be fair and square. Ald. Wenige saw this."

The chairman: "Despite the fact that it hurts you, eh?"

Ald. Wilson said someone called him and he went over the job, but could not find any loafing.

Asks Why Called. Wenige: "Why were you called?" The chairman: "Is this clause sustained?"

Ashton: "We have got to admit there was some delay."

The chairman: "Was there undue delay?"

Ald. Childs: "Delay is admitted, but we cannot say that it was undue."

The chairman ruled the charge not proven.

Ald. Wenige said he would get names of people who saw a team drawing gravel away for two days after the Quebec street pavement was laid, thus showing poor estimates of the amount of material necessary. It was at this point that Wenige and the mayor had an exchange of words, the alderman asking if his list of Quebec street residents' names was not evidence.

He was told by the mayor that his evidence was "not worth a hoot" unless it was under oath.

Wenige replied that he agreed with him "after learning the way that this thing is being conducted."

In reply to the mayor's request as to what he meant, Wenige said that he explained his position at the start.

Chairman Bridge here explained to the members of the committee who were late starting on the job that he instructed before you came in that our investigation is not fair. I resented that, and said that he was not shouldering the whole burden of the city."

Wenige: "I did not make any insinuation. I am sincere in this thing."

Thought He Had Time. The mayor thought that Ald. Wenige had time to get the names of the men involved.

Wenige said that it took most of his time to gather evidence. He could not afford to give 24 hours a day to city affairs.

The mayor said the Wenige should have obtained the names of men he saw loafing and bums."

"Some mighty big job," came back the alderman.

The charges of loafing were thrown out once more.

As the committee was about to adjourn Ald. Childs said that he strongly objected to Wenige's charge that there were "loafers and bums" working for the city.

Ald. Wenige said that he would give the names later.

The probe may continue on Friday.

ASKS COMMISSION FOR RESIGNATIONS

Ontario Government To Have Department Rule Hamilton Highway.

TORONTO, Nov. 21.—It was learned tonight that the Ontario Government has decided to abolish the Toronto-Hamilton highway commission. An intimation was given at the Parliament buildings that each member of the commission had been sent a letter signed by Premier Durney, stating that the resignation of each member of the commission was being requested by the government. The letters pointed out that the Toronto-Hamilton highway commission was not a part of the duties of the Ontario highways department. It was also made clear that in asking for the resignations of the members no reflection on the administration of the highway was implied. It is understood that the government will make the first step of the new arrangement the transference of the work of the present commission to a commission composed of members of the staff of the highways department, and that this arrangement will hold good until the holding of the next session of the Ontario Legislature. It will, of course, take a few weeks to put this transfer into effect.

Due to the fact that under existing legislation the highway can only be directed by a commission, new legislation providing for the transference of the work to the highways department will be necessary when the legislature meets.

Little Girl of 9 Writes Touching Letter to Children's Aid Society.

HAS MANY TOYS TO SHARE

"I am a little girl 9 years old. I have no brothers or sisters, and have so many toys of all kinds and no one to share them with me. And Daddy and Mamma said I could write to you and ask if you had a nice little girl 3 or 4 years old that I could have for a sister. I would love her and be kind to her if you please let me know, as I get so lonely some.

The above touching appeal reached Inspector Kelly of the Children's Society Tuesday from a Western Ontario city. It was accompanied by a letter from the little girl's mother. It said that little Eva gets so lonesome for someone to play with. There is one in their immediate neighborhood and so they gave her permission to write to Mr. Kelly.

Mr. Kelly has several little girls to take care of. "Perhaps we can make the little girls some little one happy. It is my duty while to try," runs one sentence in mother's letter.

She asks that Mr. Kelly let her know and she and little Eva will come to London and let little Eva pick out her own little sister.

Will Hold Three-Cornered Fights in 60 Constituencies

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Today's nominations indicate three-cornered fights at least 60 out of the 105 constituencies in the Province of Ontario. In seven there are four and in some ridings candidates. The Government has candidates in all but two or three of the ridings. The Liberal Party has official standard-bearers in some 67 ridings, and in three or four others candidates running as independents have the endorsement of the Liberal party. The Progressives have about 55 nominees. The indications are that there will be no acclamations. Of the constituencies where there are only two candidates, the contest is usually between the Government and the Progressive is about the same as number in which the Government probably two constituencies Liberal and Progressives alone will fight it. The province elects 82 members to federal house, the Ottawa riding turning two members.

"There's a Reason"

KIWANIAN TO ADOPT ELEVEN BOYS AS 'SONS'

Plan To Increase Number When Scheme Gets Well Under Way.

REV. W. F. GAETZ SPEAKS

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 21.—By a unanimous vote members of the local Kiwanian Club voted during a luncheon at the Parkview Hotel, noon Monday, to adopt and support a number of underprivileged boys, following the plan already successfully carried out by the London club. An outline of the proposed undertaking, drawn up by the executive, and presented by Secretary Walter Edwards, met with instant favor.

The club is already in possession of a list of eleven names of boys ranging in age from 10 to 13 years, who are surrounded by circumstances which deprive them of boyhood privileges. It is proposed that a start will be made with this number.

Under the plan laid down by the secretary, two committees are to be appointed to handle the work. Earl Kivianian was appointed chairman of the first-mentioned committee, while Wallace Charlton will act as chairman of the second. Both chairmen were given power to appoint their own committees.

Each to Have "Daddy."

Under the scheme each boy will have a Kiwanian "daddy" to act as counselor and helper. The "daddies" will see that the boys want for nothing.

Kivianian Hugh Murray, of London, district secretary, who is in charge of boys' work in London, gave a brief outline of how the work was carried on in that city, and gave some valuable suggestions to the local club.

Mr. Murray stated that the average cost for each boy was estimated at $30, but up to the present time the cost had not actually reached that figure. The fund in London, he said, was originally started by a dance, which netted well over $300, but at the present time the work had taken such a hold on the members that little outside help was needed.

He predicted that the same spirit would prevail among the St. Thomas members within a very short time, and that before long the "daddies" will be taking such an interest in the boys that their work will spread to the families, and that the field of activities will, therefore, be greatly widened.

Kivianian said that although he had been dubious at the outset concerning the undertaking, he now was struck with the simplicity of the scheme. Already, he said, help had come in a substantial way, that J. Dowler, of R. H. & J. Dowler Co., had offered to contribute ten suits of clothes towards the boys, and that three other members had offered to subscribe enough money to care for a boy each for three or four years.

The luncheon was one of the best attended and most enthusiastic since the movement was organized here three months ago.

Says St. Thomas Loyal.

Commenting on the splendid turnout, the district secretary asserted that he believed that St. Thomas would have an excellent aid for the loving cup which had been offered as a trophy for the first average attendance among the various clubs in Ontario. He did not know of any other city where the members were so loyal and enthusiastic.

The speaker of the day was Rev. Wilfred P. Gaetz, who made a stirring appeal for a greater development of a Canadian consciousness. He spoke along similar lines as Walter McKaye, who addressed the club two weeks ago, but instead of speaking on "Canada and the World," he spoke on "The Canadian Spirit." He declared: "That land, which is as far as any on God's earth, can claim among its sons and daughters, sons of the greatest men and women the world has produced in the fields of literature, science, politics and all other lines of social endeavor. Not only are those provinces the oldest on the North American continent in point of settlement, but they are also among the most outstanding in the matter of development. The soil is as fertile as can be found anywhere and its people as prosperous."

He related the history of the country from the time of Champlain until Confederation, dwelling on the effect that the beauties of the tidal rivers and the wonderful scenery, had on its inhabitants. He spoke of its many schools, and dwelt for some time on the tragic event at Grand Pré, which had been immortalized by Longfellow.

Among the literary lights who were mentioned as having been born and educated in Nova Scotia, Mr. Gaetz paid special tribute to Judge Charles Chandler Halliburton, the Canadian humorist, who wrote under the pen-name of "Sam Slick," and whom the speaker

Home of Count Tolstol is Slowly Crumbling

YASNAYAPOLYANA, Russia, Nov. 21.—The home of the late Count Tolstol, which is classed by the soviet government as a national museum, is in danger of collapse. Although the government is running free weekly pilgrimages to the house no money has been spent on its upkeep, and the Tolstol family plans to start a world-wide restoration fund of $100,000. The family also plans to found a Tolstol university, for which it is proposed to obtain funds through publication of a memorial edition of 50 volumes of Tolstol's works, the first of which are now being prepared by his daughter, Alexandra.

declared to be greater than Dickens, Mark Twain or any of the other famous English and American humorists. Others mentioned were: James De Mille, a voluminous writer of fiction; Bliss Carman, Canada's poet laureate; Charles G. D. Roberts, Mrs. L. M. Montgomery, Marshall Saunders, James McDonald Oxley, Duncan Campbell, Alice Jones and others.

Nova Scotia can also claim outstanding distinction for the great educationalists that it has furnished. Mr. Gaetz asserted, Sir Robert Falconer, president of the Toronto University, was born in that province; Principal Grant of Queen's University, Sir William Dawson, founder of McGill University, and Simon Newcombe, the noted astronomer of Washington, whom the United States had tried hard to claim.

Last, but not least, Mr. Gaetz referred to Nova Scotia's great statesmen and the name he placed foremost was that of Hon. Joseph Howe, a politician mighty in build and mighty in mental abilities, he declared; the only politician that Canada has produced who could rank with such men as Bright and Gladstone, the British statesmen.

PLAYLET DELIGHTS LARGE AUDIENCE

Drama League Presents Suture's "Marriage Has Been Arranged."

Presentation of Suture's one-act play entitled, "A Marriage Has Been Arranged," by the London Drama League, at the Ryerson School Monday night, was greatly enjoyed by a large gathering. The story of the play centres around two persons, one, Lady Elaine De Vaux, played by Mrs. Lyne Evans, and the other, Harrison Crockett, played by Lt.-Col. Lyne Evans, M.C.

Lady Elaine is a society lady, who although she has been "out" for several years, has not been able to make a suitable marriage, so her people "arrange" for her marriage to Harrison Crockett, who has only just attained considerable wealth through finding gold abroad.

Crockett tells Lady Elaine of the arrangement and she refuses him, but the end of the win her by his frank manner and generous offer to place any other man in comfortable circumstances whom she wish to marry. They both relate their past love affairs and finally decide to get married.

The play is full of good humor, delightfully carried out. Only two characters appear in the play and both play their parts to a fine finish. An instrumental by Bateman-Edwards, a song group by Mrs. W. B. MacLennan and a trio consisting of violin, cello and piano by Mrs. Harry Carson, Rev. Quintin Warner and Miss Hilda Hooke respectively comprised the first part of the program.

Edwards, H. Robbins gave a short address on plays and theatres and encouraged local amateur talent to carry on and win success and endeavor to have their own theatre.

Asks That Lord Chancellor Make Magistrate Apologize

LONDON, Nov. 21.—(Canadian Press Cable.)—Justice Swift, at the Old Bailey, today scheduled the trial of Reuben Bigland on the charge of libelling Horatio Bottomley, M.P., for the January session of the court. The alleged libel was in connection with Bottomley's Victory Bond Club on which Bigland is alleged to have issued a pamphlet characterizing it as a swindle. Bottomley is a member of the British House of Commons, and is publisher of the journal, "John Bull." Reuben Bigland is an agent, who resides at Hansworth, Birmingham. In connection with the charge of criminal libel brought by Bottomley against Bigland, Sir Charles Biron, the Bow street police court magistrate, a few days ago, stated he was unable to believe certain evidence given by Bottomley on oath. The magistrate's statement was made after the preliminary hearing had proceeded for some time in his court.

Bottomley wrote to Lord Birkenhead, the lord chancellor, complaining of this statement and declaring that either the magistrate should be required to apologize or Bottomley should be proceeded against on a charge of perjury. The lord chancellor declined to be drawn into the matter.

ASKS FOR GRANT FROM PROVINCE

Windsor Council Wants Government To Help Pay for Policing.

WINDSOR, Nov. 21.—By unanimous vote the Windsor city council tonight passed a resolution to be forwarded to the provincial government asking that they grant a sum of money to help cover the cost of policing Windsor in a proper manner.

The motion was moved by Ald. Weber and was supported by Ald. Hooper. The former declared that the cost of policing this city averaged $3.65 per capita as compared to that of Ottawa at $1.70 per capita and Kitchener at 75c per capita.

"This high cost is due to the policing of three racetracks that are outside the city," said Ald. Weber. "The majority of the local police must be at these races and Windsor is therefore not getting proper protection."

The alderman asserted that city constables patrolled points around Windsor, where gun-running was carried on and this alone, he said, is sufficient to warrant the Drury government granting a sum.

DIES AT WHEEL OF AUTO GOING HOME

Owen Sound Physician Succumbs While in Business Section.

[Special to The Advertiser.] OWEN SOUND, Nov. 21.—Dr. J. A. Hershey, one of the best known physicians in this district, died very suddenly this afternoon. He was returning from the hospital with two nurses in his auto, and when in the busiest section of the city he turned the car towards the curb. A moment later the car came to a stop, hitting the rear of another car. The car was going very slowly at the time, and it is believed that the doctor was dead before the slightest impact came. He was first aid given immediately, but without result. Dr. Hershey served for many years in the council, was chairman of the relief committee of the Patriotic Association during the war, president of the Y. M. C. A., and an active member of Division Street Presbyterian Church. He leaves a widow, three sons and one daughter. Two sons, Milford and Harold, are attending Toronto University.

As expected, the whole of Monday saw crowds awaiting their turn at the two booths. The three parties did their utmost to induce delinquent supporters to make use of their last opportunity.

ASSERTS ENGLISH PEOPLE RESTLESS

Mrs. Nellie McClung Gives Pictures of Conditions Overseas.

[Special to The Advertiser.] WOODSTOCK, Nov. 21.—Mrs. Nellie McClung, M.L.A. for Alberta, and celebrated authoress, is receiving a most cordial reception in Woodstock. This evening she lectured to a capacity audience at Dundas Street Methodist Church. The keynote of Mrs. McClung's messages was a plea for a return of the old-fashioned fundamentals of true living. She is non-denominational, and believes "that any bridge which is sound enough to take one across the river is a good bridge," consequently any religion which makes a person do what is right is a good religion at heart. Human nature is good, she said, and she believed that one of the surest ways of reaching the hearts of the people is to do things which will benefit the children who, after all, constitute the hope for the future of the nation.

There was a time, she said, when she was a strong advocate of laws, but now, while she still believes in good laws, she has come to realize the fact that first of all the people must be made to realize their individual responsibility.

SUSPEND CHIEF PENDING PROBE

BLENNHEIM, Nov. 21.—Chief of Police H. S. Wilson was suspended this afternoon at a special meeting of the town council, pending an investigation as to his whereabouts between 2 and 4 o'clock on Saturday morning, when burglars were busy entering four business places of town.

Wilson has been acting as night officer and part of his duties as outlined in his appointment is to patrol the streets at night.

It is claimed that between the hours stated, an auto in which it is suspected the burglar came to town stood for a half hour within one block of the town hall with a man on watch in it. All of the places entered are on the main street of the town, and the most distant is but two blocks from the town hall.

Abe Durfy has been put on night duty, while the investigation is proceeding.

TAKE STEPS TO SECURE "TECH" IN ST. THOMAS

Special Committee Appointed by Board of Education To Prepare Bylaw.

VOTE IN JANUARY

ST. THOMAS, Nov. 21.—A bylaw providing for the erection of a technical school in this city will in all probability go before the voters at the municipal election Jan. 1.

The question which for months has lain almost dormant in the hands of a committee, which took little or no action, took a definite turn at a meeting of the board of education Monday night, when a special committee known as an advisory vocational committee composed of six members of the board, three employers and three employees, was appointed to set the proper machinery in motion to bring it before the people.

The committee will consist of Trustees A. P. Conley, R. Kilmer, Dr. F. Bennett, Mrs. E. McCully, G. Sprackman and Rev. J. W. J. Andrews; Major Metcalfe, John Dowler and W. G. Rogers representing the employers, and W. K. Sanderson, Edward Leverton and R. Kidner, the employees.

Get to Work at Once.

The committee will get together immediately and a special meeting of the board of education will be called this week so that the bylaw may be prepared as soon as possible. Rev. Mr. Andrews, chairman of the board, urged that no time be lost, as it is required that the bylaw be advertised at least three weeks before elections.

The board was almost unanimous in its belief that the matter should go before the voters in January, but Trustees A. P. Conley was of the opinion that it should be left over until a later date as he did not want to run the risk of having the project turned down by the ratepayers, who were influenced by the thought of other large expenditures which are to come before the people at the same time. Others on the board, including the chairman, thought that it would cost too much to run a special election and as they did not see that the people could possibly turn it down in face of the fact of St. Thomas' great need, the matter carried.

Oppose Resignation.

The board was of one voice in passing a resolution calling upon J. Leslie McNaughton, physical instructor at the Collegiate Institute, to reconsider his decision to resign. Even members of the board believed that Mr. McNaughton had suffered a wrong concerning the request of the board that he should turn over a certain grant from the government to the college. Mr. McNaughton signed. Each one in turn praised in the highest terms the ability and the splendid character of the instructor.

Secretary Newton gave a report of a convention which he attended recently in Detroit as a delegate from the board. The report contained many valuable suggestions and much information, gleaned from the scores of speeches delivered before the convention by leading educationists of the United States.

A request was received from James P. Carr, physical training supervisor in the public schools, for a balance scales in each school. He stated that a weigh scales was of the utmost importance in the physical work, and especially in keeping a record account of the result of gain by feeding milk to students. If he could not have a scales in every school he said one for use in all of them would be better than nothing. The matter was referred to committee.

A letter was received from the I. O. D. E. in Preston asking for information on the feeding of milk to students.

JAMES CHEATWOOD—OR MAYBE IT'S JOEL.

James and Joel Are 90—and Twins

[Special to The London Advertiser.]

LEAVENWORTH, Kan., Nov. 21.—D'ja ever meet James and Joel Cheatwood, twin-brother farmers of this neck o' the woods? Well, this will introduce them together—because folks simply can't tell them apart.

James is 90 years old, so's Joel. Joel has a flowing white beard, so's James. Both of 'em part their hair on the left side and flash a pair of blue eyes.

You can't get either one of the brothers to admit that they are old. "I am not what you'd call an old man," says James—or maybe it was Joel. "I was born just a little sooner than younger folks—that's all."

"I can do as much work as any of these young sprouts around here," says Joel—or maybe it was James.

It's been nigh on to 50 years since the brothers settled down to farming, on farms a mile apart, near Leavenworth.

When either one of them makes a trip into town, as far as the town-folks are concerned, it might be the other. When neighbors see them in their own backyards—well, even then it isn't safe to make a bet, 'cause James often calls on Joel and Joel often calls on James.

Interviewing the twins is a puzzle in itself. Looking directly at one of them, for instance, you ask:

"How did you come to keep so young, James, in spite of your 90 years?"

And the other one answers: "Hard work! That's all there is to it. If I had retired like several of my friends did, I would have been dead years ago."

"Quitting one's life work to spend time at ease kills quickly. The way to live is to keep your interest in your farm, your business or whatever work you are following."

And then the other one, Joel—or maybe it's James—explains: "Freedom from worry has been my chief aid in reaching a ripe old age. Just eat what you want in moderation. Don't read about and think about symptoms of sickness and you will stay well a lot longer."

Joel—or James—believes he and his brother are the oldest twins on record. And James—or Joel—adds, "I reckon so."

Both the twins are married. Joel—or maybe it's no, it's Joel—has seven children. James hasn't any.

One of the brothers recently celebrated his 60th wedding anniversary. Neighbors aren't just sure which one it was.

Anyway, there isn't any question as to how they feel about how long they are going to live.

For both James and Joel—or Joel and James—reply: "We'll live until we die, anyway."

And, for that long, it seems that the friends of the twin-brother farmers, won't be able to tell whether Joel is James or whether James is Joel.

'BIG INTERESTS' OWE TAXES YET

Furnish Further Evidence of Slap-Dash Policy of Meighen Rule.

INVESTIGATION NOW SURE

OTTAWA, Nov. 21.—A parliamentary investigation into the administration of the Dominion Income and business profits tax act is inevitable, no matter what the result of the present election campaign may be.

The situation with regard to the Riddell Company which has been permitted to give its promissory note for taxes approximating $500,000, and dating back to 1915, would never have been made public in detail had it not been that it was necessary for the company to make a statement to its creditors.

And in the matter of further information the government now shelters itself behind that clause which provides for the divulging of information to any who are not legally entitled to receive it. Parliament apparently is the only body which can demand and get it. And the next parliament is bound to ask for it.

Some Due Since 1917.

Certain information, however, is available through the financial reports of various corporations as published in the annual Financial Review of 1921. Such reports, in many cases, indicate that there has been much dilatoriness and procrastination on the part of the government or on the part of the corporations in the matter of collections.

Very many companies show an apparently clear sheet as far as taxes are concerned. Many include in their liabilities substantial reserves to meet them. Others declare that no provision has been made for certain years, because the amount of taxes due "are not yet ascertainable." Others record in their liabilities taxes for large amounts due from as far back as 1917.

Outstanding instances as recorded in the Annual Review for 1921 are as follows:

In the Algoma Steel Corporation's report appears the following item: "Balance at credit carried forward (subject to income and business profits taxes from June, 1917), $2,792,444.37." The exact amount due is not specified.

The McIntyre Porcupine Mines, Limited, records among its liabilities the sum of $23,233, representing business profits taxes for 1918; and the further sum of $39,820, representing Dominion income taxes for 1919.

The Ironbills Merchandising Company admits its indebtedness to the government to the extent of $5,460 in taxes for 1918 and as being in debt also for 1919 and 1920 taxes.

The Big Steel Merger.

Among its current liabilities the British Empire Steel Corporation includes "government war taxes" to a total of $1,479,173.18 without specifying the years during which the amount is owed. The company forming part of the great merger, which is stipulated as owing the amount is the Dominion Steel Corporation, Limited.

The Canada Car & Foundry Company, Limited, has the following item in its statement: "Surplus as per attached statement subject to government taxes (these are not stated), $6,245,602.32."

The above are instances of the fact that the administration of the act is of a slap-dash, hit-or-miss character at best.

Got No Sleep

But now the neuritis has gone, the pains have ceased, the nervous system is restored and the writer of this letter pays a grateful tribute to the medicine which made him well.

Mr. John Woodward, P.T.O., Lucan, Ont., writes:

"It gives me much pleasure to recommend Dr. Chase's medicines, especially the Nerve Food. I was a sufferer from neuritis for several years, and tried all kinds of remedies, yet never seemed to get any better. At last my nerves and whole system seemed to give way through not being able to get any rest or sleep at night for pain, which mostly used to take me in all parts of the limbs and feet. My nerves would twitch till my whole body would seem to jerk right up as I lay in bed. Almost at the point of despair, I decided I would get Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, which I did, and after taking twenty boxes I believe myself almost normal again. I also keep a box of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills on hand, and for the past year I seem to enjoy my usual health."

A HOME-MADE GRAY HAIR REMEDY

You Can Make a Better Gray Hair Remedy Than You Can Buy.

Gray, streaked or faded hair is not only unbecoming, but unnecessary. Anyone can prepare a simple mixture at home that will darken gray hair, and make it soft and glossy. To a half-pint of water, add 1 ounce of bay rum, to small box of Orlex Compound and 1 ounce of glycerine.

These ingredients can be bought at any drug store at very little cost, or the druggist will put it up for you. Apply to the hair twice a week until the desired shade is obtained. This will make a gray-haired person look twenty years' younger. It is easy to use, does not color the scalp and is not sticky or greasy and does not rub off.

GRAND TRUNK TRAINS MAKE A FINE RECORD.

A summary of the operation of passenger trains during the month of October, 1921, on the Grand Trunk Railway System, east of the St. Clair and Detroit rivers, shows that out of 9,653 trains 91 per cent reached the terminal station on time. This record is a very gratifying one, and such a performance is regarded as evidence of the efficiency with which the passenger service of the Grand Trunk is being operated. The record for September was equally good.

End the dingy film

The chief purpose is to fight film. This viscous coat, which you can feel, causes dingy teeth and also most tooth troubles.

Film clings to teeth, enters crevices and stays. The old ways of brushing did not end it. So film-coats night and day threaten serious damage.

Film is what discolors, not the teeth. Film is the basis of tartar. It holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay.

Millions of germs breed in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea. All these troubles have been constantly increasing. Despite the daily brushing with old methods, very few escaped them.

Now you can fight it

Dental science, after long research, has found ways to fight that film. Able authorities have proved them effective. Now leading dentists everywhere advise their daily use.

The methods are embodied in Pepsodent, the new-day, scientific tooth paste. Millions of people now use it, and the use is fast spreading the world over.

That is the dentifrice we urge you to try. Your druggist has a free tube for you. Enjoy its effects for ten days, then judge them for yourself.

Also starch and acids

Modern diet makes other things essential. And those essentials are embodied in this scientific tooth paste.

Each use of Pepsodent multiplies the salivary flow. That is Nature's great tooth-protecting agent. It multiplies the starch digestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise form acids.

It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is Nature's agent for neutralizing acids which attack the teeth.

ONE KILLED IN BELFAST RIOTS

Rival Factions Again Clash, Despite Prompt Action of Authorities.

17 ON HUNGER STRIKE

BELFAST, Nov. 21.—One man was killed and another wounded in a renewal this afternoon of the rioting which broke out in the Seaford district at East Belfast Sunday, when rival factions clashed.

Four persons were sent to hospitals, and numerous others were slightly injured in the disturbance.

Today's recurrence of the trouble was met promptly by the authorities, and the situation was speedily brought under control.

Seventeen prisoners in the Waterford Jail at Cork have begun a hunger strike, owing to the refusal of the government to grant them increased time for recreation, according to a dispatch received here today.

Another report states that the Cork Corporation, at a special meeting today, adopted a resolution urging the Dail Eireann cabinet to suspend peace negotiations until the question of prisoners is satisfactorily adjusted.

The resolution called on the Dail members in Southern Ireland to make similar representations. The three Dail members present supported the resolution.

According to information received from London a "loyalist" meeting was held today as a demonstration by supporters of Ulster. A resolution was passed calling upon the government to enter into no agreement on the Irish question until the Sinn Fein had sworn allegiance to the throne, but had given effective proof of the reality of such allegiance.

The meeting placed on record its "deep sense of humiliation and regret" that negotiations were taking place between the government and persons "stepped to the lips in an expressed policy of assassination."

The resolution called upon the cabinet to reiterate its pledges in regard to freedom of Ulster and gave its emphatic opinion that any endeavor to persuade Ulster to submit to an all-

Ireland parliament would be a gross breach of faith and a base betrayal of the nation's honor.

Have Facts.

Mr. Meighen's tariff platform anyone really know.

Mr. Meighen is going to tariff if he is returned

Mr. Meighen say in September that there was a revision of the tariff. We said in Massey Hall,

a couple of weeks ago,

duties would be raised.

Bennett said practically the same thing ten days ago.

We would like to know what items or classes of the tariff be raised?

Mr. Meighen be just a little more definite without unduly saying government secrets? If

"needs Meighen" Canada know just what she needs and what he intends to do, it is a proper demand at the time.

Meighen said in Winnipeg

in last year that before the tariff investigation,

the results of this investigation and the government's decision would be placed before the voters in black and white.

It is all black and uninteresting to the uninformed eye. Persons of the big interests know the facts, but it would seem that the Common People also have a little say on the government has its thoroughness as promised by Mr.

Meighen. The evidence is all in the public to the ministry. Mr.

Meighen should have the most detailed information as to all the industrial conditions. The present advertisements should show all of facts and figures, showing why the tariff should be raised.

The voters should know, at least in general way, just what duties are to be raised, and how much additional revenue, if any, will accrue.

Naturally, if Mr. Crerar or Mr.

Meighen should be called to form a cabinet and undertake the task of revision, they would have a further investigation and to amplify the facts now in the possession of Mr. Meighen. They should as the direction they will take, but they cannot do without full knowledge of the situation now in possession of the government. Just what duties they leave alone or remove or they are forced to more general statement of policy.

Mr. Meighen, with all the facts

recently finished investigation in his possession, should take a little into his confidence and he asks for a blanket information of what he proposes to do.

We use a half dozen concrete examples at least indicating the nature of the proposed revision.

The government advertisement which, at great expense, are inserted in every newspaper

Canada, reads: "Canada is at Cross Roads. Pause and Think!"

Everybody knows just where

Canada stands. Meighen stands for the protective principle for reasonable, moderate protection to protect all Canada's industries, all Canada's workmen and Canada's homes."

Now just exactly what does that mean? "We pause and think." We are for a reply from Mr. Meighen.

Mr. Meighen is going to raise duties on some classes of goods and he is going to tell the country that the consuming masses will see those higher duties as a chance for some friends of the government to raise prices higher still?

Is it cement to be on the favored protected list? Are the sugar duties to be enabled to jack up prices a little? Are agricultural imports to be touched, or lumber, fertilizers, or wearing apparel or wear?

Mr. Meighen says the question of tariff is the vital issue of the campaign. If it is surely the election has a right to know just what he intends to do with the tariff. Let him stop this buccombe about the vagueness of the policies of Mr.

King or Mr. Crerar and come out to the open himself.

Mr. Frank White is presumably the confidence of Mr. Meighen.

He must have some definite information as to what is intended, or otherwise, as a businessman, he could not give his unqualified assent to Mr. Meighen's policy. Will Mr.

White elucidate so that the electors can vote intelligently?

Western University.

The ratepayers of London are going to mark their ballots on December 5 for or against a sum of $250,- 000 toward the extension of Western

University, and the making possible of the completed structure that has been on the mental horizon of the people here for some years now.

The voting of that amount of money is not to be passed over

Be It Ever So Humble.

GET HIS -

lightly. The tax rate is high in London, and it needs a strong cause to make the ratepayer sanction the expenditure of more money.

This $250,000 must be regarded as an investment. The plea that the carrying on of this work now will create necessary employment lacks weight.

A man should approach voting on addition to his tax bill in the same way as he would look at any investment he might make. The wise investor looks first of all at the permanency of the concern that he thinks of investing in. If it is liable to peter out in a few years he realizes at once that he is not making an investment at all—he is merely speculating.

The London ratepayer who puts money into Western University is not speculating. He is investing in something that is going to be permanent—something that is going to make the property of the whole city more valuable and more attractive. Some of the finest schools, Oxford, for instance, have seen generations and dynasties come and go, and yet they go on playing their fine part in developing and building a better-equipped nationhood. From the standpoint of permanency the vote for Western University looks like a gilt-edge investment.

London is becoming an industrial centre. It is attracting high-grade mechanics, and if it is going to develop as a centre for worth-while goods it must have worth-while mechanics.

One of the first things a man asks when thinking of changing locations is: "How are the schools?" It is the most natural thing that a father wants to give his boy a good education—better than he had himself. When he finds London is the home of a good university he is going to be attracted and held. That is a strong feature for our manufacturers to consider.

Statistics show that Western University is giving to the boys and girls of London and this district a chance they would not have otherwise. There are many times more children of workmen going there than children of merchants. It is giving to many a family a chance to realize an ambition to give the boy or girl "a chance."

What will it cost? Thirty cents a year on every $1,000 assessment. London must demonstrate its own good faith in the first place by making this vote of $250,000. Once that is done the government's pledge of $800,000 becomes operative, so does Middlesex County's promise of $100,000. There are other gifts from various sources that can be solicited and secured once London citizens state definitely where they stand on the matter.

A decidedly favorable vote on the university bylaw on December 5 will be a good day's business for London and for Western Ontario.

The Cost of Strikes.

The matter of strikes and the amount of money men receive in strike pay is dealt with at some length in a letter to the Montreal Gazette. It is written by a striker, who explains that he is hard up by reason of the big difference between his strike pay and the wages he made formerly.

In part he says: "In 1918, according to the A. F. L. report, the sum of $1,474,380 was paid out for cost of strikes. But the department of labor reported 1,102,418 men on strike that year, for an average of eighteen days in, 3,181 strikes, averaging 347 men per strike, of which 1,811 were called by the union—an unusually small proportion by the way—whose members must, therefore, have lost 347 x 1,811 x 18 = 11,311,506 days' time, worth, say, $4 per day as moderate estimate. That is to say, we lost over $45,000,000 in wages, as against less than $1,500,000 paid back by unions."

"Recall the great steel strike of 1919. It held about 1,000,000 men out of work for over three months, and ute wires he'd simply get hit on the head with the office typewriter. A correspondent wants to know what qualifications are necessary to make a good bank teller. Considering present-day happenings, we'd say primarily an ability to shoot first.

The campaign of Premier Meighen tapers out to a lean finish. Some of his backers are spending their spare time scribbling on the back of biscuit boxes how he can have 60 seats in the House.

One claim is made that a woman politician made nineteen speeches in one day. That's nothing. We know a married woman who said—balance deleted by order of the publisher.

Our idea of a courageous man is the chap that stands a session with one of these stunning lady book agents and not have his desk decorated with shipping instructions at the close of the spell.

Dairymen say there is not much demand for butter just now. Why not have one of these booster weeks. Like this: "Eat More Butter Week." "Put Butter on Thicker Week." It ought to go across great, especially with the boarders.

A meeting was held in London on Sunday night and a number of politicians were there. The stipulation that they should not talk politics went by the boards in the first round. Ask men not to talk politics on Sunday and an election two weeks off? Gentlemen, it simply can't be did.

Down Renfrew way the Editor of the Mercury of that town has found a very good use to make of the free picture postcards of Arthur Meighen that are being pickforked all over the province, paid for by the Meighen campaign fund. Here's the idea:

"One of the jokes of the campaign is the deluge of picture postcards of Arthur Meighen that are being pickforked all over the province, paid for by the Meighen campaign fund. Here's the idea: The farmers, Mr. Meighen. Are tired of being led? Another thing they are tired of is the way they're being bled for the benefit of Cockshutt. And the Massey-Harris, too. Who are shouting, Mr. Meighen. Go ahead and lead us through. We know you've got the money. That your campaign fund is big. When we ask you where it comes from. You wink your other eye. But we've had your style of ruling. And I think we'll sadly rue if we put our trust in Meighen. And let him lead us through."

NEAR POET. A floating company. A city businessman was very keen on having proficient clerks in his employ. Before a clerk could enter his office he was required to pass a written examination on his knowledge of business.

At one examination one of the questions was: "Who formed the first company?" A certain bright youth was a little puzzled at this, but was not to be flustered. He wrote: "Noah successfully floated a company while the rest of the world was in liquidation."

POETRY. MEIGHEN WILL LEAD US THROUGH. Premier Arthur Meighen Comes from out the West. Proclaiming to all people That his platform is the best. Liberals and Conservatives, Quebec Nationalists, too, Are asked to follow Meighen And let him lead them through.

He tells us that all other cliques Are wreckers, he declares. That the farmers are a bunch of dubs Who'll ruin us with their tricks. Mackenzie King don't know his mind. He'll change it every hour, And the grass will grow in Brantford If Crerar gets in power.

But as the time draws nearer When he must join the fray, He looks back to 1917 And wishes that today He could disfranchise his foe-men As 'twas done in days of yore, Making ridings safe for Tories That were never safe before.

And he thinks of all the other schemes, But sad, to his dismay, That the farmers are a bunch of dubs Who'll ruin us with their tricks. Mackenzie King don't know his mind. He'll change it every hour, And the grass will grow in Brantford If Crerar gets in power.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL.

THE THIN PERSON

OST people are just as dissatisfied with their physical proportions as they are with their lot in life. The fat man or woman wishes to be thin, the thin man or woman wishes to be fat.

But when you hear a thin person who is rarely sick, heave a sigh and wish he were fat, don't waste any pity on him. Although underweight is oftentimes unhealthy a condition as overweight, neither of those who have tried every way possible to gain weight may be predisposed by heredity to the condition. Usually such persons are in good bodily health.

To stuff themselves with food in an attempt to gain weight is very likely to destroy that good health which they enjoy and make their condition quite evidently worse.

There are many thin people, however, who are not healthy thin. Such people should make a whole-hearted attempt to gain weight by living as healthily as possible.

Thin people lose heat more readily than stout people, as they have a larger percentage of active tissue and expose more skin surface in proportion to the body weight.

They require therefore, an abundant supply of energy food, or fuel foods, fats, starch and sugar. Butter and olive oil are better than other fats and less likely to disturb the digestion. Sugar is a valuable fuel food, but should not be taken in concentrated form into an empty stomach.

COMMON SENSE WAYS TO KEEP WELL.

THE THIN PERSON

OST people are just as dissatisfied with their physical proportions as they are with their lot in life. The fat man or woman wishes to be thin, the thin man or woman wishes to be fat.

But when you hear a thin person who is rarely sick, heave a sigh and wish he were fat, don't waste any pity on him. Although underweight is oftentimes unhealthy a condition as overweight, neither of those who have tried every way possible to gain weight may be predisposed by heredity to the condition. Usually such persons are in good bodily health.

To stuff themselves with food in an attempt to gain weight is very likely to destroy that good health which they enjoy and make their condition quite evidently worse.

There are many thin people, however, who are not healthy thin. Such people should make a whole-hearted attempt to gain weight by living as healthily as possible.

Thin people lose heat more readily than stout people, as they have a larger percentage of active tissue and expose more skin surface in proportion to the body weight.

They require therefore, an abundant supply of energy food, or fuel foods, fats, starch and sugar. Butter and olive oil are better than other fats and less likely to disturb the digestion. Sugar is a valuable fuel food, but should not be taken in concentrated form into an empty stomach.

examination on his knowledge of business. At one examination one of the questions was: "Who formed the first company?" A certain bright youth was a little puzzled at this, but was not

Real Little Folks' Kingdom
Is Sunny, Cheery Day Nursery

When there is any sunshine at all in the morning these November days, it floods in the south windows of the day nursery on King street, making still more cheerful and happy the scene in the play room, and bringing health to the little folks who are safe and comfortable there, while mothers are away at work.

It is such a wonderful "Little Folks' Kingdom," that play room, with its swings and team-of-wooden-horses rocking chairs, its soldiers on sticks and on springs, kewpies, dolls, Teddy bears, doll-sized tables and chairs, picture books and blocks, and nurses just as understanding and sympathetic as any mother could be, when somebody gets a bumped nose, when Charlie takes away Edna's picture book, or somebody has such an important story to tell.

Omar, the smallest baby of all, just eighteen months old, was monarch in his own domain on Monday morning. He had taken possession of a big pattern board box that had come from the grocer's one fine day, and there he sat in the centre, surrounded by blocks, now making them into piles, now amusing himself by tossing them, now making them into a tower, now making them into a house, now making them into a castle, now making them into a fort, now making them into a city, now making them into a kingdom.

Madeline, the next smallest, was monarch in her own domain on Monday morning. She had taken possession of a big pattern board box that had come from the grocer's one fine day, and there she sat in the centre, surrounded by blocks, now making them into piles, now amusing herself by tossing them, now making them into a tower, now making them into a house, now making them into a castle, now making them into a fort, now making them into a city, now making them into a kingdom.

Charlie, a small liddle, had just reached London from Scotland a few weeks ago, and was getting over his first shyness, and even waxed courageous to the extent of helping himself to a book that Edna was looking at. "No, no," said Nurse, sweetly but very firmly, "Edna had the book first. You can play with the soldiers." And, like a real little gentleman, Charlie gave it up without a murmur.

David was the biggest of all in the play room. He is a big, strong, coming to the nursery for dinner, and the noon play hour the days mother must be away from home. He was just getting over a cold, so mother thought it better for him to have a day off, and there he was, amusing himself in his own way with a building toy.

At twelve o'clock, there is a trooping in from kindergarten of small people for whom the day nursery is the place to go after four home until mother can call for them and take them away. One mother has five little ones to wash and make all neat to leave at the nursery before she can go out in the morning to earn money needed to help keep her beloved brood together.

Eleven o'clock dinner. Long before the arrival of the school age contingent, however, there's a great washing of hands and of faces and eleven o'clock dinner, with a row of high chairs with trays for the "babies," and a little low table with little chairs for those who have reached more dignified age.

There are bibs to keep dresses and suits free from spots, and a proud boy is George when he gets a bib on which the words are embroidered "Good Boy." He doesn't care a bit that day if a stranger does mistake his appealing round face, delicate features, big brown eyes and fair Dutch cut for those of a girl.

Omar has the end high chair, and he rattles with his spoon on his tray, while he waits for his bowl of steaming vegetable soup, with lots of squares of bread like the homesick tot of a few months back when mother first left him. Then he cried almost the whole afternoon, until he arrived back for him.

It is only when he sees somebody visiting out with street clothes on that he thinks about it now, and coaxes fearfully to go along. At that, he forgets his woe in a few moments in the interesting occupation of throwing kisses out of the window like Charlie, Edna, Madeline and the other children.

Even the babies mind their manners when it comes to eating, and are very particular about not spilling things. Never were there more fastidious small ladies and gentlemen than the members of the company seated around the long, low table. Kenneth, kinky haired, chocolate complexioned, handsome little pickaninny, sits up like a judge at the corner, a contrast to the pink and white, blue-eyed fairness of Charlie-right next.

After the soup, there is sure to be a wonderful pudding made with milk, and surely it was big, fat raisins the visitor spied in the one that topped off Monday's dinner.

Soon as dinner is over, the next item in the day's program is an hour's nap in clean little cribs, in big, airy dormitories upstairs.

When the tired mothers come along to claim their own after a hard day's work, they are joyously welcomed by the little ones who have been so well-fed, and their hearts are uplifted in prayers of gratitude for such a place as the day nursery.

"I couldn't manage to keep the home together, and the children in what they need if I didn't go to work," says one mother. "I am not much good at sewing for other people, and the one thing I can do well is cleaning and other housework. I couldn't possibly leave the little ones home all day alone, and even if I could keep an older one out of school I wouldn't know a minute's peace of mind. I'd be afraid all the time I was away that something was going wrong."

"Seeing my baby looking so healthy and happy when I come for him heartens me right up, no matter how tired I am," says another mother. "I sometimes think I'd feel like giving up if it wasn't for the day nursery."

Mrs. G. Edwards Heads
Ontario Institutes

THE two hundred Women's Institute branches of Western Ontario, and the thousands of members enrolled in these, have reason to feel that a very nice bouquet has been presented to Western Ontario by the Ontario Federation of Women's Institutes in making Mrs. George Edwards of Komoka, president. On the other hand, the compliment might be considered mutual. Western Ontario has given the provincial organization a president who has had years of experience in the work, and devoted herself heart and soul, talent and strength, to promoting the interests of the movement. She has distinguished herself by her ability as an organizer and genius for making the right things happen when it comes to arranging a Western Ontario convention.

Though conceded the place of leadership, she has never failed to reveal consideration for the opinions and rights of others, and the tact that springs from appreciation of the other person's point of view, genuine kindness and neighborly love for other people.

Some weeks previous to the Ontario convention, which has just closed in Toronto, Mrs. Edwards was asked to consider the presidency of the Ontario Federation of Women's Institutes, which is now president of the Dominion Federation. "Would she accept or not?" she was asked by the Women's Department of the Advertiser.

"There are a great many things to consider," was the answer. "If I took it, I would have to be sure that I could make it go, that I would have the time and ability to insure the president's part in the success of the work throughout the province. I couldn't bear the thought of accepting, then have any failure of the federation to measure up to the standards of the past, or the demands of present and future, owing to fault of mine."

Mrs. Edwards has accepted, and this can be taken as a guarantee that she proposes putting her shoulder to the wheel and helping the institute movement in this province to the extent of her ability.

Mrs. John Wishart was the hostess of a delightful luncheon held at the Kennebec on Monday. Covers were laid for nineteen, the tables being attractively decorated with pink and yellow mums.

Mr. and Mrs. James M. Rowntree, 5 Stanley street, announce the engagement of their daughter Doris May, to Dr. John Garfield Colling of Lambeth, the marriage to take place the latter part of December.

The Trinity Chapter, O.E.S., held a most successful dance on Monday evening in the Masonic Temple, when the men entertained the ladies and their friends. The committee in charge were Mr. Hooper, Mr. McMillen, Mr. Claude White, Mr. B. Chapman and Mr. W. E. Manness.

A delightful affair of last week was the musical and tea held at the home of Mrs. Wm. McPhillips, given by little Marjorie McPhillips, among those taking part in the program were Miss Heloise Coles, Miss Mary Nolan, Miss Marjorie McPhillips, Miss Margaret Cook and Master Ian Coles.

Cynthia Grey's
Mail-Box

[BY CYNTHIA GREY.]

Have you ever thought of the minutes and hours you will have to account for some day? No, because you wasted them yourself, but because you were the cause of others doing so. You have heard people say, perhaps said it yourself, "Yes, I will meet you at 2 o'clock," and yet mean 2:30. Why not say "I can't meet you at 2, but will be there at 2:30," and thus give the other person an opportunity of doing something in the meantime, besides just waiting. An excellent meeting place is in the public library or book department of a store, and when you are kept waiting you do not notice it, once you start perusing the delightful books. But deliver me from standing on a street corner, or in front of a building, or "under the clock." Is there anything more aggravating than to watch the hands, slowly moving, while you wait, and wait? Of course if we were all on time, no one would have to wait, but this is impossible, as there will always be some of us who just can't be on time. Then again, there are cases when it is impossible, no matter how hard one tries. But if we all tried our very best, there would be a great saving of time and temper, wouldn't there?

THINKS TEACHERS TOO YOUNG. Dear Miss Grey,—Has any reader the words of "Friend of Mine"? My wishings are with the parents of children attending country schools, and I think with the teachers, too; such very young girls seem to me to be sent into the loneliest spots, and too much is crammed into the teacher's head to begin with, and then the children get just a smattering of so many subjects often beyond their age and abilities, but the time will change some day, I suppose, and I expect I shall breathe a little hope and I expect there is much in that motto.

MAY BRIDE Thank you, May Bride, for the incense. If the piece you ask for is sent in I shall forward it to you.

WHERE IS JAKALOO? Dear Cynthia,—As it is a nice day, I thought I would steal into your cosy corner and see how everybody is. As we are having a Christmas concert, I would like to get some good recitations. If there are any in, would you please send me "Bill and the Widow" and a few more soon?

Where are all the Boxes gone to? Have they left the country? Come on, Jakaloo, it's your turn to write. But I expect to see you soon, so maybe that will do. Yours through the winter, DELL TRUST.

I have placed your envelope on file, and if any recitations are sent in, I shall forward them to you, Dell Trust.

K. Pistol.—Many thanks for the words, which reached the Mail-Box this morning.

WANTS CORRESPONDENTS. Dear Miss Grey,—This is my first letter to your valuable Mail-Box. I would like to correspond with some girl between the ages of 14 and 15, if she would write first. My name and address is with Miss Grey. Hasn't this been a grand weather?

I have placed your name and address on file, Polar Bear, and if any letters are sent in for you, I shall forward them.

RECEIVES MANY CALLS. Dear Miss Grey,—I am sending three names for the quilt and the inclosed note. Sorry I haven't been able to help more, but we have had a good many extra calls for help this fall. Now they are having a hospital drive in this city, and the collectors are kept busy for a few days, meeting with the usual number of rebuffs. One lady had the door slammed in her face, at other places the women were so good, although it is quite evident they are at home.

MOLLY MAQUIRE. I sent the names on to Tip to be worked on. Sorry I haven't been able to help more, but we have had a good many extra calls for help this fall. Now they are having a hospital drive in this city, and the collectors are kept busy for a few days, meeting with the usual number of rebuffs. One lady had the door slammed in her face, at other places the women were so good, although it is quite evident they are at home.

WANTS DIALOGUES. Dear Miss Grey,—Isn't this grand weather we are having with an occasional flurry of snow? And when we realize the hand that wrought these things we feel that they are special blessings for us. When going through the woods here and there we see the squirrels gathering in their winter's stores, and we realize how nature has provided for her children. Now, Miss Grey, may I trouble you? I would like a few comic dialogues. If the readers would be so good as to supply me with some, I will copy and return them. Inclosed please find a mite.

NATURE'S SON. I have placed your envelope on file, and if any dialogues are sent in I shall forward them to you. Many thanks for remembering our hospital fund with a mite.

A FRIEND IN NEED. Dear Miss Grey,—As a friend in need is a friend indeed, I'm coming again for some help. I would like to know how to make beads with cornstarch. I made some a few years ago from directions in your Mail-Box, but did not know it. Inclosed find dime for S. C. H. SUNSHINE.

Can anyone supply Sunshine with the directions for making these beads? Thank you for remembering our hospital fund with a mite.

SENDS NAMES. Dear Miss Grey,—In my school section saw Tip's appeal for help re names for the quilt, so she had me ask my pupils to help. Inclosed you will find the list of names. They are not all from my school, but some from a near-by school.

I beg to remain an old waiter, CURLY NIG. I have forwarded the names to Tip. It was splendid of you to collect so many. Why don't you write, Curly Nig? It is a long time since we heard from you.

New Coat in Gray and Henna

BY MARIAN HALE.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—In this day and age when fashion has free range for originality, it demands a decidedly fertile mind to create a complete novelty.

The voluminous-sleeved coat for example has the new side-pleated effect in the skirt. The coat, created by Harry Collins, is of henna cloth.

The shawl collar and cuffs which edge the "almost"-sleeves are of gray squirrel.

A big button on the fur holds this wrap coat in place. Gray felt lines the cuffs and collar and shows at the edges of the coat.

The hat is of pearl-gray felt, embroidered about the brim with a band of gray silk buttons of the same shade. The combination of henna and gray is one of the smartest color alliances this season.

DOES YOUR CAKE FALL? PERHAPS YOU'RE NOT MIXING IT RIGHT

HE stirs stirring, beating, cutting and folding so often used in the directions for cake baking have very definite and distinct meanings.

To stir is to mix ingredients. One stir for the purpose of blending the materials.

To beat is to turn the ingredients over and over for the purpose of introducing a large amount of air into the mixture.

To fold and cut is to actually cut one ingredient or mixture into another with a knife or spoon held in a vertical position and to lift and fold one ingredient into a mixture in such a way that air already beaten into the mixture is prevented from escaping.

Very often the success or failure of a cake may be traced directly to the method employed in mixing.

Menu for Tomorrow. BREAKFAST: Uncooked cereal, top milk, buttered toast, orange marmalade, coffee.

LUNCHEON: Corned beef hash, steamed brown bread, cottage cheese, tea.

DINNER: Ragout of lamb with sorrel, steamed rice, asparagus salad, pineapple, cream, coffee.

My Own Recipes. Steamed brown bread should be put in the oven and baked for 15 or 20 minutes to brown the top of the loaf. The oven should be hot but not what is known as a "quick oven."

Ragout of Lamb With Sorrel. Two pounds neck or breast of lamb, 1 cup boiling stock, 2 tablespoons butter, 2 tablespoons flour, 1 onion, 1 small carrot, 1 stalk celery, 1 teaspoon minced parsley, 2 egg yolks, 1 tablespoon cream.

Shredded Cabbage. Three cups shredded cabbage, 1 teaspoon salt, 2 teaspoons sugar, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 4 tablespoons vinegar, 2 tablespoons oil.

Sprinkle cabbage with salt and sugar and bruise with a wooden potato masher. Add vinegar, lifting cabbage with a silver fork to mix thoroughly. Add oil in the same way. Beat with the fork and serve at once.

ADVENTURES OF THE TWINS. A MYSTERY

[By Olive Roberts Barton.]

"Throw it away," said Mr. Nautilus, mysteriously. "What is gone is gone. What is closed is closed."

"But what do you keep in your locked rooms?" persisted the little girl. She was as curious as Blue Beard's last wife.

"It's a secret," whispered the nautilus, mysteriously. Suddenly an idea occurred to both twins at the same instant. Could Mr. Nautilus be hiding wicked Mr. Hermit Crab? Was it possible?

The white pearly door into the old room was not quite shut. Why was Mr. Nautilus hurrying so to close it? "Come, Nancy," whispered Nick, "let's go in and find out what's there."

Before Mr. Nautilus could stop them, in they scampered, for, just as Capt. Pennywinkle had said, their Green Shoes could and did make them as little as pepper-corns.

This is said to be the largest photograph in the world. It advertises Jackie Coogan in "My Boy," and is 40 feet by 29 feet. Yep, that's Jackie Coogan in the foreground.

BY JAMES W. DEAN.

NEW YORK, Nov. 21.—A photograph of Jackie Coogan has been enlarged to a height of 40 feet and a width of 29 feet. It is said to be the largest photograph in the world and is to be used for advertising purposes for Coogan's latest picture, "My Boy."

These enlargements could be used as a background for the figure in the original film re-enacting the scene in the foreground. The movements of the background figure could be synchronized with those of the actor.

This arrangement photographed at a distance would show a giant figure and his miniature counterpart acting in unison. The smaller figure being in the foreground, the film would create the illusion of perspective reversed.

This, of course, would be only a mechanical novelty. It would be of little use in a legitimate film.

"Just Suppose," Ultra Romantic Play, Scores Quiet Hit at Grand

Whimsical Fantasy of Moonlight, Love, Poetry, Philosophy and Supposition Admirably Presented by Graham Vessey and Company of Clever Associates.

Whimsical, romantic yet philosophical, "Just Suppose," which opened a two-day engagement at the Grand Theatre Monday night, is a play well worth seeing. It is quite a different type of play from what one would expect were one guided wholly by the style of advertising resorted to by its promoters.

It is a serious play, and not at all the jazy farce comedy one would naturally expect from viewing the billboards or reading the "Just Suppose" ads in the newspapers.

Unless some of the opening lines have been omitted from the form as it was presented Monday night, one finds it hard to see the aptness of the title, unless it has been used as a possible safeguard against accusations of lese majeste, just as newspapers frequently use the word "alleged" as an additional precaution against possible actions for libel in handling certain kinds of news.

There are many plays in which princes play an imaginary part, plays of "The Prince and the Pauper" type, and musical comedies and grand operas in which princes and beggar-maids, fairies and Cinderellas hobnob on terms of familiarity.

But "Just Suppose" is a different sort of prince play. It is too recent in its plot and settings to be handled like other plays. Edward, Prince of Wales might escape from his retinue during his tour of the United States and fall in love with a Virginian girl, but it might be construed as a bit too daring to actually suggest in an honest-to-goodness play. So, one presumably is to "Just Suppose" that there might be such a play "Just supposed."

The poetry introduced is of the heavy, highbrow type. Herrick, some ancient Chinese poet and some American poet of the Ella Wheeler Wilcox type, or at least so it sounded.

All the parts are admirably acted. The work of the entire cast is perhaps the evenest in any play presented at the Grand in many weeks. Graham Vessey makes a very supposable prince and he is well supported by Thomas H. McKnight, Walter Ainslie, Mrs. Julia Hurley, Murray Bennett, Norman Cope, Walter Howe and Kathleen Wallace.

Miss Wallace as Linda Lee Stafford, the Virginia girl, is excellent, but so are all the other actors for that matter. Again, don't let the advertising fool you into missing it, because you think it is frivolous. "Just Suppose" is a serious and worthwhile drama.

Screening of East Lynne at Allen Has Dramatic Appeal

There are a few stories that by reason of their inherent dramatic power and sympathy never really grow old, but remain today as popular as they were a half a century ago. One of those that has lived down through the succeeding generations is the Hugo Ballin production, "East Lynne," which attracted a substantial house to the Allen Theatre on Monday and is showing there Tuesday and Wednesday as well.

"East Lynne" has long since been declared a world classic. Although written by an English authoress, Mrs. Henry Wood, the story has been read by so many millions of people, and so many stage representations have been made during the past 60 years with undiminished popularity, that for years it has been readily accepted as an American story and play.

"East Lynne" does not lose by its adaptation for the screen, and when the producer superimposed, at an opportune point, a clever little fairy story with medieval characters, the effect is rather pleasing. With beautiful locations, extremely realistic settings and a superb cast headed by Mabel and Edward Galt, both brilliant and capable screen artists, there results a portrayal of old story that easily equals any production to date.

"Snub" Pollard is seen at Allen's again this week in "Fifteen Minutes," one of his best comedies in many weeks, while a travelogue and Pathe Weekly News rounds out a creditable bill.

WELCOME GREW PLAYERS' RETURN

Londoners Delighted With Original Company in "Nightie Night."

London theatre-goers have a warm spot in their hearts for the original Grew Players, and they showed just how they felt about it by filling every available seat in the Majestic Theatre Monday night, each one of the players receiving an ovation as he or she stepped on the stage. It has been some time since the top boxes at the Majestic have been filled, but the popularity of William A. Grew and his capable company was such that they were needed.

The applause for Miss Gwendolyn Pates was deafening as she made her first entrance. Edna Marshall and Marguerite Weston also got their share of the greeting, while Mr. Grew, George Dill and James Swift all had their following in the audience.

"Nightie Night," the presentation of Monday, is the cleanest and best farce comedy put on at the Majestic for some time. It gives Mr. Grew, Edna Marshall, Gwendolyn Pates and George Dill a chance to make the most of some laughable situations.

Miss Marshall, as the young wife, always ready to suspect her husband, was especially good and her work was outstanding. Miss Pates was also good but did not have her usual scope. Marguerite Weston has vastly improved since her last appearance in London.

Mr. Grew, the male star of the offering, fitted the part of the unfortunate husband who kept getting deeper and deeper into matrimonial entanglements well.

Mr. Dill and James W. Swift did not have much to do, but their work was of the usual finished character.

Mrs. Summers, a newcomer to the company as far as London is concerned, made a hit with the audience in her short character part of an Irish maid.

It was a relief to see a farce comedy that did not bristle with bedroom scenes.

In The MOVIES
AT LOEW'S.

"Salvage," the feature film at Loew's during the first half of the week, provides an excellent vehicle for the display of the versatile talents of the star, Pauline Frederick.

Miss Frederick plays a dual role, that of Mrs. Cyrus Ridgeway, wife of a man of wealth, whose only creed in life is the accumulation of riches, and that of the wit of the audience, a witty woman and heartless mother.

The play is full of pathos and depicts two types of femininity; the one sweet and loving; the other low and repellent.

The cast includes Milton Sills as Fred Martin, and little Helen Stone as his daughter.

It is a well constructed story, and at no time is the plot overworked. The photography is good, and great care has been given to details.

The program includes a Pathe Weekly and a Chester comedy, entitled "Snooky's Wild Oats," with the famous chimpanzee star.

The vaudeville program is good and furnishes much entertainment. Wright and Wilson provide some original features in tumbling in barrels. This act is clever and humorous.

Seymour and Jeanette, two colored performers, delight the audience with songs, dancing and witty dialogue, the male performer being exceptionally agile in his dancing.

Evans, Mero and Evans carry one back to boyhood days with their presentation of Tom Sawyer and Huckleberry Finn. This feature was well received by the audience.

Loew's orchestra furnishes a musical number "The Jolly Robbers."

AT THE PATRICIA.
Earl Williams plays the leading role in "Bring Him In," the feature film at the Patricia Theatre the first half of this week. The plot is woven about the Royal Northwest Mounted Police, and the title is derived from an order given a member of this organization to get a man who is "wanted" on a charge of murder.

John Hood, a prominent Calgary surgeon, Earl Williams enacts the role of the man for whose arrest a warrant is held. The opening scenes depict the residential district of the capital, and the finger of suspicion pointed at Dr. Hood.

He flees north to the Peace River country, where he assumes that he is free from the law. However, the R.N.W.M.P. are after him, and while on his trail, a member of the force is the victim of a serious accident. With professional duties uppermost in his mind, Dr. Hood rescues the constable.

His professional ability proves his downfall and the R.N.W.M.P. sergeant, true to traditions of this force, despite the fact that he has been befriended, follows his duty. The above details furnish a good basis for an entertaining film with the addition of a romance.

While the scenes depicted add greatly to the quality of the offering, members of the audience Monday night with difficulty refrained from chuckling at the uniforms worn by the Calgary police constables and the auto markers shown which abbreviate Alberta to "Alb."

These minor details, however, are relegated to the background by the clever acting of Earl Williams and supporting cast, providing a drama of the Canadian Northwest which is of high order.

"Comedy," Fox Comedy, "The Guide," and a two-reel Western drama complete the above well balanced program.

Anyone who has suffered from boils can sympathize with poor old Job.

There was no Burdock Blood Bitters in those days, so Job had to suffer in silence. Now-a-days no one need endure the misery of boils.

All the poulticing and lancing you may do will not stop more coming. What you have to do is take

SAYS MEIGHEN COURSE VERY AMUSING ONE

A. E. Hookway, Labor-U.F.O. Candidate in West Elgin, Starts Campaign.

IS NOT "FREE TRADER"

CLACHAN, Nov. 21.—A well-attended joint meeting was held by the Progressive party here this evening in the interests of A. E. Hookway of West Elgin, and Mr. Macdermott, U. F. O. candidate in Kent County.

Mr. Hookway in the course of his address claimed that Meighen was only consistent in trying to make the tariff the only issue.

"Meighen's course is amusing," he said, "for he assaulted the Laurier government in 1910 for their policy of protection. And today we find him supporting a policy that he denounced as a burden in 1910."

He charged the government with inducing manufacturing concerns to close down in order that they might secure a snap vote and gain re-election.

"The Progressives believe in the revision of the tariff downwards," he declared. "Also in reduction of the duties on British goods fifteen per cent. Our Some method must be employed to rectify this. I think the reduction of tariff to be the only practical solution."

"The tariff of today is prohibitive and not revenue-producing to any great extent. I agree to assist industries in their infancy, but when they secure a firm footing, leave them to themselves," he concluded.

Mr. Macdermott made an attack upon the attitude of Archie McColg in misrepresenting the procedure of the farm-ers' convention, saying that the McColg had secured the nomination there, but that he was afraid of his Liberal friends.

He emphatically denied his policy was "free trade." However, he said, I am opposed to protecting industries that are financially sound. If some are needful of protection they may submit their books for audit, and if they are deserving, then I say, help them out.

He paid tribute to Mr. McColg's actions in endeavoring to standardize machinery parts which he felt would help the farmers.

William Ferguson, of Mulrirk, said he felt rather awkward in appearing on a Progressive platform for he formerly was a Liberal.

"I think the Liberal party in bygone days performed useful service," he asserted. "At present, however, they are not living up to the idea of reform."

POWERS AGREE TO "OPEN DOOR" POLICY IN EAST

Make First Definite Joint Declaration Since Arms Parley Opened.

WILL AID CHINA DEVELOP

Won't Seek "Special Privileges" Through Influence in Far East.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21.—A joint declaration of policy toward China based on territorial and administrative integrity, economic operation, enforced "open door" and the abolition of "special rights" was agreed upon today by all the nations represented in the arms conference.

The first definite agreement to come out of the conference, the declaration contains the most of the principles for which China asked in her "bill of rights," but does not provide in detail for the settlement of the specific problems with which she is confronted.

Liuh Koot, of the United States delegation, proposed the declaratory resolution and two hours of debate preceded its adoption. During the debate both Japan and China, as the most interested nations, asked many questions as to specific problems, while all the other nations took a less active part in the debate.

"Perfect satisfaction" with the resolution was expressed tonight by Admiral Baron Kato, head of the Japanese delegation, although he declined to suggest what changes the agreement might lead to in the Far East. The Chinese also declared themselves gratified at the development and the delegates of the other nations generally expressed the view that the resolution was a good start toward complete agreement on most of the Far Eastern problems.

The two features of the agreement attracting widest attention tonight were the clauses providing "administrative integrity for China" and those under the powers agreed not to seek "special rights" within Chinese territory. Previous agreements regarding Chinese integrity have stopped with "territorial integrity." The "special rights" agreement was considered generally a direct contravention of the policy of "spheres of influence."

Issues Communique.

The text of the resolution was embodied in an official communique issued by the conference late today. It follows:

"The committee on Pacific and Far Eastern questions met at the Pan-American Building, Nov. 21, at 4 o'clock in the afternoon. All the members were present except Baron Shidehara, the Japanese ambassador, who is ill, and Media of Italy.

"The committee discussed a series of resolutions prepared for their consideration by Senator Root, setting forth the general principles to guide the committee in its further investigation in regard to China, which, after full discussion and amendment, were adopted in the following form:

"It is the firm intention of the powers attending this conference hereinafter mentioned, to wit, the United States of America, Belgium, the British Empire, France, Italy, Japan, The Netherlands and Portugal:

"1. To respect the sovereignty, the independence and the territorial and administrative integrity of China.

"2. To provide the fullest and most unembarrassed opportunity to China to develop and maintain for herself an effective and stable government.

"3. To use their influence for the purpose of effectually establishing and maintaining the principle of equal opportunity for the commerce and industry of all nations throughout the territory of China.

"4. To refrain from taking advantage of the present conditions in order to seek special rights or privileges which would abridge the rights of the subjects of citizens of friendly states and from countenancing action inimical to the security of such states."

"The committee adjourned to meet at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning."

BARES FLAW IN U. S. NAVAL PLAN

The French premier, practically pledged the support of Great Britain to France "in the face of any lust for domination."

In outlining the attitude of the British Government, Mr. Balfour said in part:

"Evidently this is not a fitting moment to deal at length or in detail with the great speech which has just come to its conclusion. It has been your privilege to hear one of the great masters of parliamentary oratory."

"We have heard him with admiration, we have heard him with a full measure of sympathy; but we have done much more, I think, than merely be the auditors of the great, artistic performance; we have heard something more than a great speech; we have heard a perfectly candid, perfectly frank, perfectly unmistakable exposition of the innermost thoughts of the prime minister of our great ally."

"He has told us, I believe, without reserve, what are the anxieties, what are the preoccupations of the country over whose destinies he presides. He has told us what they fear and why they fear it. And nothing can be more useful, nothing can be more instructive to us of other nations than to have this full revelation of the inner thoughts of one of our allied and associated statesmen."

No Terrors Exist.

"We live under very different conditions from the French citizen, for whom M. Briand has so eloquently spoken. In the secure homes of America no terrors exist or can exist comparable to those which inevitably haunt the thoughts, waking and sleeping, of the leaders of French politics; for they have what neither you in the United States have, nor we in England have. I do not venture to speak for the other nations represented around the table. They have at their very doors the great country, great in spite of defeat, powerful in spite of losses, and of its policy, of the course which it means to pursue in the future, they necessarily remain in anxious doubt."

"It is good for us all, I venture to say, from whatever nation we may be drawn, from whatever part of this great continent we come, that we should be initiated, as we have been initiated this morning, into the inner sanctuary of French policy."

"It must be acknowledged, sorrowfully acknowledged, that the speech to which we have just listened is not hopeful for any immediate solution of the great problem of land armaments. And why is it? Why is it that there is this great difference between land armaments and sea armaments?

"Why is it that we all here look forward with a confidence, which I think is not over-rated, as a result of our deliberations some great measure, and under the guidance of the program laid before you by the United States Government—why is it we are hopeful of coming to some solution of this great naval problem?"

Lauds Naval Holiday.

"It is because, in the language of maritime, a moral disarmament, and it is on the basis of the moral disarmament that the physical and material disarmament is going to be built. And that is why we are hopeful about the naval question. And why are we less hopeful about at least any immediate settlement of the military question? It is because, as M. Briand has explained to you, in that case there has not been moral disarmament, because we have no assurance, or because the French government who watch these things closely, have no assurance that in Russia or in Germany, that moral disarmament has made the degree of progress which would make material disarmament an immediate possibility."

"I do not venture to offer an opinion of my own upon this question. I leave you to judge of the facts as they have been expounded by one who has profoundly studied them, and whose gifts of exposition cannot be excelled."

"Only this I would say, for I need hardly tell you that I am not going to have some fears of the United States feel herself in moral isolation. That would be a tragedy indeed."

"That the liberties of Europe and the world in general, and of France in particular, should be maintained and guarded against the dominating policy of her eastern neighbor, is the cause for which the British empire fought, and in which the British empire still believes."

"Killed on the field of battle we lost nearly a million men. I am talking of the British empire sympathy, once so warm, should become refrigerated, should become cold and that we who had done so much for the great cause of international liberty should see that cause perish before our eyes rather than make further sacrifices in its defense."

Grieves Over Sacrifices.

"We grieve over the sacrifices; we do not regret it. And if the cause of international liberty was worthy of this immense sacrifice from one of the allied powers—speak not of others—it is not my right to speak for them—if it deserved and required this sacrifice from one of the allied and associated powers, and if we at all events have not changed our view, either as to the righteousness of the war or as to its necessity, how can it be otherwise than if a similar necessity should again arise, if again the lust of domination, which has been the curse of Europe for so many generations, should again threaten the peace, the independence, the self-development of our neighbors and allies, how should it be possible that the sympathies, once so warm, should become refrigerated, should become cold and that we who had done so much for the great cause of international liberty should see that cause perish before our eyes rather than make further sacrifices in its defense."

"Those are the thoughts which arise in my mind after hearing the great speech of M. Briand. I should only be interfering, I should only be weakening its effect were I to dwell further upon them and I will content myself therefore, with thanking M. Briand for the admirable and candid account which he has given of the policy of his country and wishing him and his country every success and every prosperity in that path of unaggressive prosperity which I hope and believe they are now entering."

Briand Bares Views.

The proposals for land disarmament made by Premier Briand in his address are contained in the following excerpt from the official translation of his speech:

"The thought of reducing armaments, which was the noble purpose of this conference, is not one from which we would feel, isolated from the point of view of land armaments. We have shown it already. Immediately after the armistice demobilization began, and as demobilization began so rapidly and as completely as it has, it was needed for France there are to be three classes of men, that is, three generations of young men under the flag."

"That law is still extant; and the government has taken the responsibility of reducing to two years the time spent under the colors and instead of three classes—three generations of young men—we have only two undergoing military service."

"It is therefore an immediate reduction of one-third that has taken place in the effective—and I am speaking of the normal effective of the metropolitan leaving aside the need for colonial occupation or obligation imposed by the treaty in the Rhineland or countries under plebiscite."

Restricts Army Might.

"We do not think that endeavor was sufficient, and in the future we have plans further to restrict the extent of our armies. In a few days it is certain that the proposals of the government will be passed in the chamber further to reduce the military services by half. That is to say, there will be only class and a half actually serving."

"The metropolitan French army would be, therefore, reduced to half, but if anybody asks us to go further, to consent to other reductions, I should have to answer and definitely that it would be impossible for us to do it without exposing ourselves to a most serious danger."

"You might come and tell us: 'This danger, that you are exposed to, we see it, we realize it, and we are going to share it with you. We are going to offer you all means, put all means at your disposal in order to secure your safety.' Immediately, if we heard these words, of course, we would strike upon another plan. We should be only too pleased to demonstrate the sincerity of our purpose."

Understands Obstacles.

"We understand the position of other peoples who have also to face troubles and difficult situations. We are not selfish enough to ask other people to give a part of their sovereign national independence in order to turn it to our benefit and come to our help. We do not expect it; but here I am appealing to your conscience: Is there a real man alone, facing the situation such as I have described and without any exaggeration you must not deny her what she wants in order to insure her security."

Time Is Not Yet.

"We do not enjoy the proper conditions. We should be ready to do it, but the time has not come yet to give up our defence for the sake of final peace in Europe. We have to know, however, that France is not morally isolated; that she still has with her men of good will and the heart of all people who have fought with her on the same battlefield."

"The true condition of a moral disarmament in Germany—I mean to say I am referring to noxious elements of which I have already spoken—the true condition at this time of disarmament in Germany lies in the fact that it should be known over there that France is not alone and then I feel quite sure that the poisonous propaganda of which I have spoken will simply run up dead against the wall."

"If, after listening to this argument, after weighing the reasons which you have just heard, you consider it then as valid, then, gentlemen, you will still be with us and you will agree with us in saying that France possibly cannot do anything but what she has actually done."

Fears Reichswehr.

"Since the war, since the moment peace was signed," continued M. Briand, "Germany has constituted a force, a so-called police force, which was intended for the maintenance of public order. That force is called the Reichswehr. It was to include 100,000 men, and it fact does include 100,000 men. But what men? They are nearly all officers or non-commissioned officers belonging to the old army. Therefore the cadres are ready there; the officers and non-commissioned officers are ready to marshal the army of tomorrow."

"And what is that army? Is it in conformity with the requirements of the peace treaty? Is it only for purposes of public order? According to secret instructions issued by the military authorities the Reichswehr is to prepare not only for police purposes, but for war and is to remain in training for war with the necessary manoeuvres. Germany has another danger—there is another group called Pinchewer Verein. This group includes almost all the men who are ready to serve their country in time of need, and instead of using it only to preserve internal order, it might be used for other purposes."

Italy Backs Briand.

Senator Schanzer, who championed France's cause at the conclusion of Mr. Balfour's speech, began by assuring Premier Briand of Italy's friendship for France.

"We are united to France," he said, "not only by the bonds of affinity and common race, but also by the brotherhood in art, by the fraternity of a long and glorious war which has received a new and unforgettable consecration when the two peoples fought together on the same battlefields for the sacred defence of national liberty and for the cause of justice."

"It is far from my mind to discuss what France considers indispensable for her national safety. That safety is as dear to us as it may be to them, and we are morally by the side of our allies of yesterday and our friends of today."

"I wanted to say this only: may I be allowed to express the wish and the hope that the general limitation of land armaments may become a reality within the shortest possible space of time. Italy has fought the war of the highest aims which a country can seek, but Italy is in her soul a peace-loving nation. Italy has pursued toward the successor countries to her former enemies a policy not only of pacification but of assistance."

"However, although we have all reduced our armaments to the greatest possible extent we consider it necessary for a complete solution of the problem of limitation of armaments in Europe to take into consideration the armaments of the countries either created or transformed as a result of the war. The problem is not a simple one. It must be considered as a whole. It is a serious and urgent problem for which a solution at no far distant date is necessary."

Wants World Peace.

"In conclusion, may I express the desire and the hope that the conference, while taking into account the present difficulties, should give attention also to the problem of the limitation of land armaments, the solution of which is an essential condition for promoting throughout the world that atmosphere of peace which M. Briand has so clearly explained and without which it would be hopeless to anticipate that the economic and social reconstruction of the nations which have suffered most severely during and after the war may be fulfilled."

Baron Kato of Japan then spoke as follows:

"It is needless for me to assure M. Briand that Japan has nothing but a most profound sympathy for her peculiarly difficult position, which has been so clearly and so eloquently presented to us this morning. May I venture also to add Japan's appreciation of, and sympathies for the great sacrifice in men and wealth made by France, the British Empire, Italy and the United States in the great war for the cause of peace, justice and harmony."

"I would like to say just a few words on land armament limitation. Japan is quite ready to announce her hearty approval of the principle which aims to relieve a people of heavy burdens by limiting land armaments to those which are necessary for national security and the maintenance of order within the territory."

"The size of the land armaments of each state should be determined by its peculiar geographical situation and other circumstances, and these basic factors are so divergent and complicated that an effort to draw final comparisons is hardly possible. If I venture to say it is not an easy task to lay down a general scheme for the limitation of land armaments, as the case of limitation of naval armaments. Nevertheless, Japan has the slightest intention of maintaining land armaments which are in excess of those which are absolutely necessary for peculiarly defensive purposes necessitated by the Far Eastern situation."

"Big Four" Taking a Stroll Between Arms Parley Sessions

Balmey weather in Washington. Here are the "Big Four" of the arms conference taking a stroll between sessions. Notice they're hatless. Left to right are Prince Takagawa of Japan, Arthur J. Balfour of Britain, Charles E. Hughes, United States, and Aristide Briand, France. Balfour looks like he's finding it easy to understand a Japanese joke, while Briand seems to understand Hughes' point.

HEARST PARTY TO STUDY SALES TAX

U. S. Representatives Will Visit Montreal and Ottawa.

New York, Nov. 22.—(Canadian Press).—Seventy-four members of the United States House of Representatives and two senators have accepted the invitation of William Randolph Hearst to visit Canada as his guests to study the operation of the Canadian sales tax.

This number may be added to before the guest list for representatives desiring to make the trip closes tonight. Senators may get their names entered as late as Friday night.

A final announcement as to the arrangements is contained in today's Hearst publications.

The party will leave New York, Sunday, Nov. 27, and arrive in Montreal at 4:45 a.m. Monday, Nov. 28. The members will be accommodated at the Ritz Carlton Hotel, and will remain in Montreal until Wednesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, when they will leave for Ottawa, where they will arrive that night and stay until Friday, Dec. 2. Friday night they are scheduled to commence their return journey to New York and Washington.

Some controversy has arisen over the purpose which animates the Hearst party in shouldering the expenses of such a junket. The avowed purpose is to enable the United States lawmakers to become familiar with the sales tax as a method of raising revenue. The Hearst papers have been conducting a campaign favoring its adoption in the United States.

Despite the announced intention, the New York Tribune carries a story today, stating that Tammany men are suspicious of the affair and suspect that Mr. Hearst is preparing to enter the field as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for senator next fall against Senator Calder, New York, and that the junket is a spectacular play for popularity.

It has been announced that Canadian authorities both Dominion and civic in each city to be visited, have made extensive arrangements to welcome and entertain the party.

Ottawa, Nov. 22.—A talk in favor of Dominion registration for veterinarians and a discussion of hog cholera, its prevention and treatment, featured the sessions here yesterday of a conference of veterinarians from various parts of the Dominion called by Dr. F. Torrence, veterinary director-general, to discuss matters pertaining to the profession and generally.

Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy-minister of agriculture, occupied the chair at the morning and afternoon sessions.

Heavy Idaho Snowfalls Delaying Trains

BOISE, Idaho, Nov. 22.—Snowfall of the last 48 hours has already caused considerable inconvenience in the way of delayed trains and swollen streams, railroad and forest service officials report, but the value to the dry farming and grazing interests next spring will be great.

At Idaho City there was a snowfall of 22 inches Saturday, but heavy rain has been falling ever since, leaving about ten inches of snow.

The forest rangers report that only a few hunters are in the field and that all are able to get out.

FLINGS HIMSELF BENEATH TRAIN

New York, Nov. 22.—Only a few matches and a bar of soap were found in the pockets of an unknown man who late last night plunged beneath the wheels of a subway train at the Times Square station, and was instantly killed. Sluggishly dressed in a worn black suit and a grey woolen sweater, the man was apparently one of the city's workless thousands. Theatre crowds on their way home thronged the long platform at Times Square when the tragedy occurred.

KING WILL COMMENCE FINAL TOUR OF ONTARIO

Toronto, Nov. 22.—Canadian Press.—Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King left Toronto this morning for Newmarket, where he is to speak at the North York nomination meeting this afternoon.

An attempt was being made to have all three candidates in the constituency of North York to address this afternoon's meeting at Newmarket, but it is not certain yet whether all three will be in attendance.

This evening Mr. King will speak at another meeting in Schomberg, also in North York constituency, and will then begin his final tour of the province, returning to speak in North York during the last few days of the campaign.

The Liberal leader is planning to present to return to Ottawa on the morning of election day, Dec. 6, and will probably receive the returns at his office in the parliament buildings.

RIOTING DISTURBS VISITS OF PRINCE

Hindu Malcontents Burn Two Parsee Temples in Bombay.

London, England, Nov. 22.—Owing to the difference in time and telegraphic delays, the dates of happenings in connection with the Prince of Wales' tour of India are somewhat muddled in the advice reaching here.

Official messages and some press dispatches represent everything as quiet in Bombay on Monday. A Reuters' item from Bombay, however, says that rioting was renewed there on Monday, two Parsee temples being burned and others attacked. Some shooting is said to have occurred, but no casualties were reported. Quiet was restored by night, the dispatch adds, an appeal by Mahatma Gandhi, leader of the "non-co-operationists," apparently having a pacifying effect.

It seems from these dispatches that the Prince of Wales visited Poona, in Bombay province, on Sunday, returning on Monday to Bombay, where he attended a number of public functions as guest of honor and was received with enthusiasm.

The prince is scheduled to leave Bombay today for Baroda, which he is expected to visit on Monday. He is expected to arrive in Baroda on Monday.

Reports of two previous disturbances in Bombay in connection with the Prince of Wales' tour have been received in the United States. The first outbreak was on Nov. 17, the date of his arrival on board the warship Renown. It was caused by a mob of unemployed mill hands, and was put down only after a number of casualties among the police and the rioters.

The date of the second disturbance was given in cabled dispatches as Friday, Nov. 18. In this the police fired on a mob which attacked a police station. The next day Gandhi was reported to have issued a statement denouncing the disturbances and scoring the participants. He blamed himself for having indirectly caused the outbreaks, and said that he would refuse to eat or drink anything but water until peace was restored.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 22.—Further testimony by Jesse Norgard, former motion picture studio watchman, was given today in Judge Leach's court in efforts to prove that Norgard was the man who shot and killed actress Virginia Rappe in connection with the death of Virginia Rappe, film actress.

Norgard worked at the Culver City studios where Miss Rappe and Arbutnot were employed. In August, 1919, he said, Arbutnot offered him $50 for a key to Miss Rappe's room. He declined the offer, he said.

Zey Froward and Alice Blake, on the stand yesterday, described the Hotel St. Francis party, which they attended, and at which Arbutnot is alleged to have fatally hurt the actress. Both said Miss Rappe moaned: "I am dying! He hurt me!"

Neither would say, however, that she mentioned Arbutnot's name.

FARMING IN MANITOBA GREATLY INCREASED

Winnipeg, Man., Nov. 22.—Marking an increase of more than 18 per cent in the last five years, the 1921 census of crop acreage and numbers of live stock in Manitoba taken by the Manitoba department of agriculture shows 55,184 farms in the province. The figures announced by the department are made on the basis of 15,271 farmers during the month of June. The total acreage was 7,463,735, of which 3,501,217 was in wheat, and 2,226,576 in oats. The number of live stock and poultry kept this year totals 3,246,227. Of these more than 3,000,000 were hens.

WESTERN CANADA TO HONOR DEAD HEROES

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 22.—Decisive action has been completed for the honoring of dead soldiers and sailors with appropriate headstones in British Columbia and Alberta. These two provinces are said to be the first to receive action in a Dominion-wide movement, and the other provinces will receive attention later.

Under official authority from the department of militia and defence, and the Imperial war graves commission, Ottawa, orders have been placed here for an immediate minimum of 400 headstones with the understanding that more than five hundred others grave memorials will be placed when the first order is completed.

The stones will come from quarries at Granite Island, near Vancouver. Many of the stones will be laid out this year. The design is of simple beauty. Two feet, six inches high and one foot, three inches wide, each stone will have at the top a circled Maple Leaf and the name of the deceased, with a brief record of his services and death.

DECIDE TO ATTEND FUNERAL IN BODY

Middlesex Lawyers Mourn
Loss of Edmund Meredith, K.C.

A meeting of the Middlesex Law Association was held in the courthouse Monday in consequence of the death of Mr. Edmund Meredith, K.C., a member and former trustee of the association. Mr. C. C. Jarvis, the president, was in the chair, and there was a large attendance of members, including the following: Messrs. A. G. Chisholm, K.C., R. G. Fisher, Edmund Weir, J. C. Elliott, K.C., P. H. Bartlett, N. Farquhar, E. W. Scatcherd, T. J. Murphy, Isaac Hodgins, J. P. Moore, K.C., U. A. Buchner, P. P. Betts, K.C., Albert M. Judd, H. T. Tennant, J. W. J. Winnett, Judge Macpherson, J. M. Evers, K.C., E. H. Johnston, E. T. E. Braden, W. B. Henderson, F. McAllister, J. R. McKenna, A. R. Douglas, H. R. Clark, and Miss Harrison. Addresses were made by the president and by Messrs. P. P. Betts, K.C., J. B. McKillop, K.C., J. C. Elliott, K.C., dealing especially with the high standing attained at the bar by the late Mr. Meredith, and the loss to the profession and public by his death.

It was arranged that the members of the association attend the funeral in a body and that a floral tribute be sent. The following resolution was adopted and directed to be engrossed and forwarded to the family:

Moved by P. P. Betts, K.C., seconded by J. C. Elliott, K.C., that the members of the Middlesex Law Association, have learned with profound regret of the death this morning of Edmund Meredith, K.C., a fellow member, and a former trustee of this association.

"By his death the city of London has lost a prominent citizen and the profession a distinguished member.

"In his younger days Mr. Meredith took an active interest in municipal affairs, became mayor in 1882, was re-elected in 1883, and filled the office of chief magistrate of this city with distinction. He also took a keen interest in politics, both provincial and dominion.

"But it is as a lawyer, and more particularly as an advocate, that he will be more greatly missed by the members of this association and the bar generally. He was one of its leaders, and his legal career was to be regarded as counsel of great strength and outstanding ability. His wonderfully able and vigorous conduct of jury cases, both civil and criminal, will long be remembered by his legal brethren and the public generally.

"We extend to his family our deepest sympathy in this their great bereavement and sorrow."

CANADIAN AUTHORS PICK SLOGAN FOR CAMPAIGN
TORONTO, Nov. 21.—"Canadian books in Canadian homes" is the prize-winning slogan for Canadian authors' week being selected by the special committee from among hundreds of suggestions.

The prize of fifty dollars goes to Charles C. Parker, book-seller, Manitoba.

The committee, comprised of Hugh Appleton, Hugh S. Eaves and F. I. Weaver, were guided in their selection of this slogan by the fact that it is so strongly in keeping with the object of this whole campaign which is to promote wider reading of books by the Canadian people; to get more books into the hands of this people; to encourage people to study home libraries of books by Canadian writers and about Canada.

MONTREAL, Nov. 21.—Two hundred and ninety-seven McGill students invaded the Liberal headquarters in St. Lawrence-St. George division of this city today, as an aftermath of the notice sent broadcast last week-end to registrars, informing them that the party had been lodged against their right to exercise the franchise in the coming general elections.

So much time was taken up with other cases that the protests against the McGill men could not be heard, and they will vote on December 6.

STATES TO AMEND SMUGGLERS' LAW
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21.—Prohibition Director David S. Morris, in reporting to Commissioner Haynes, took up the question of liquor reaching the United States from Canada via Mexico.

"Whiskey is shipped from Canada to Mexico as medicine," he said, "and is smuggled into this country for bootlegging purposes." Rum-runners travel in high-powered cars with women companions, make perhaps several trips before being caught, and then go free by paying maximum fines. "This may be stopped by amending the federal smugglers' law."

Mr. Morris recommended federal legislation governing smuggling across the Mexican border, which would put rum-running on the same basis with merchandise smuggling, which is subject to a two years' prison sentence.

Membership of St. Andrew's Church Pledges To Budget of $31,000 for 1922.
HOLD ANNUAL TEA
The membership of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church pledged itself to a budget of $20,000 for local church activities and $11,000 for missionary purposes for 1922 at a largely-attended and enthusiastic congregational meeting held on Monday evening at the close of the annual congregational tea. The men's brotherhood acted as hosts of the occasion, serving a bountiful supper at 6 o'clock in the gymnasium, gaily decorated with flags and chrysanthemums, adding a festive touch to the tables. Courses were interspersed with the singing of well-known songs, led with whoop and dash by the master of ceremonies, Mr. Frank Ashplant, with Mr. Charles E. Wheeler at the piano. Immediately at the close of the tea, while everyone was still seated around the tables, and in a happy mood, the budget was presented by Mr. A. E. Silverwood, chairman of the finance committee, backed by Mr. J. S. Brown, chairman of the board of managers; Mr. J. C. Middleton and Mr. George Hare of the religious education board.

With reference to the announcement that canvassers are starting out this week-end to pledge contributions to the individual members of the congregation, Mr. Middleton declared the ideal situation will be reached when subscription lists are opened and the givers all become voluntary subscribers.

Business disposed of, Mr. Ashplant again took charge of proceedings, introducing in a humorous manner a proposal of special and songs. On the occasion, in addition to being a congregational meeting calling for such grave responsibility as adopting a budget, was also the celebration of the seventh anniversary of the ministry of Rev. D. C. MacGregor.

The latter, in the closing speech of the evening, briefly touched upon developments in the congregation in that time, thanking the membership on behalf of himself and Mrs. MacGregor for the support given their efforts, and for making them so happy.

"I don't covet any other man in the world his job," said the speaker, "and I wouldn't exchange my job as minister of Jesus Christ for any other on this earth, even if I had the most obscure church in Canada. There isn't any man in the world who has the power to do so much for humanity as the man who stands in the pulpit of the living God."

Commends Organization.
Mr. C. R. Somerville referred to the fine ministers St. Andrew's Church has known, and periods of fine organization and progress. "But I do not think that at any time prior to the present we have had such good organization, such work, such efficiency and good results as at the present time," he declared.

An idea of the extent of organization was given by the director of religious education, Rev. F. W. K. Harris, in his statement: "We have twenty organizations in this department. We had just 25 meetings in the church last week, and I have attended eight meetings each Sunday for the past two Sundays. The aim of religious education work is to have every boy, girl and adult in some place or other in church life."

An appeal was also made by Mr. Harris for the organization in the congregation of a "Tenth Legion," an army of thousands.

Dr. H. A. Stevenson, M.P.P., expressed his hearty appreciation of the manner in which St. Andrew's Church, the one he has been identified with all his life, has caught the new community spirit and the new idea of the church translated them into vital, effective service through the many organizations that have been brought.

Solos, each of which brought an enthusiastic response, were sung by Miss Utah Kennedy, Miss Norworthy, "Bibi" Young, Messrs. A. Hammond and L. Christlan.

STATES TO AMEND SMUGGLERS' LAW
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 21.—Prohibition Director David S. Morris, in reporting to Commissioner Haynes, took up the question of liquor reaching the United States from Canada via Mexico.

"Whiskey is shipped from Canada to Mexico as medicine," he said, "and is smuggled into this country for bootlegging purposes." Rum-runners travel in high-powered cars with women companions, make perhaps several trips before being caught, and then go free by paying maximum fines. "This may be stopped by amending the federal smugglers' law."

Mr. Morris recommended federal legislation governing smuggling across the Mexican border, which would put rum-running on the same basis with merchandise smuggling, which is subject to a two years' prison sentence.
