Notable Masonic Banquet at the Village of Madoc

Brethren of Madoc Lodge Gave Grand Welcome to D. D. G. M. Chas. J. Symons and Leading Members of the Craft—Ladies Present in Large Numbers.

Last night was a notable one in the history of Madoc Lodge of Ancient Free and Accepted Masons. It was the occasion of the annual of the district deputy grand master, Chas. J. Symons, of Belleville, and the district chaplain, Rev. Dr. C. T. Scott, pastor of Bridge Street Church. Accompanying the district deputy were many leading members of the craft, not only from this city, but also from Trenton, Marmora, Deloro, Tweed, Thomasburg, Ivanhoe, West Huntingdon and other points throughout the district.

For the occasion, the Madoc brethren prepared a splendid banquet, perfect in its arrangement and of high excellence in the post-prandial program. The feast was graced with the presence of the ladies and they gave to the scene an appearance of brightness and vivacity that is often lacking in the sombre dinner functions where mere man fellowship is the order of the day.

The officers of Madoc lodge accompanied the first degree in Masonry in the presence of the district deputy and were strongly complimented by the officials when the work was concluded. The following are the officers of the lodge:—

Master, Alex. W.M. Esq. Smith, I.E.M. Grand Master, S. W. T. H. Hall, J.W. W. H. Brooks, Treas. Alex. S. Cochran, Secretary. W. E. Connor, Asst. Secretary. F. Curry, S. D. F. Vandervoort, D.D. Chas. N. Whytock, D. of C. John Allen, J.S. Field Allen, S.S. A. H. Parnell, I.G. W. J. Hill, Tyler.

It required the full extent of the spacious main floor of the Masonic hall to accommodate the great assemblage of guests. The tables were appropriately decorated with beautiful flowering plants and flags and bunting hung suspended from the ceiling.

After all the good things on the bill-of-fare had been tested in the most practical manner, W. Bro. W. J. Hill assumed the duty of toastmaster and carried forward the extensive program with tact and expedition.

Delightful music, during the dinner and at intervals through the program, was supplied by an excellent three-piece orchestra, consisting of piano, drums and violin. Miss Beesie Cox presided at the piano, her brother, Mr. Clement Cox, handled the drums and Mr. Scrutton, a very capable performer, with the violin.

To the toast "The Grand Lodge and the Craft" appropriately proposed by W. Bro. Geo. Wright, response was made by D.D.G.M. Symons and three past district deputies, Rt. W. Bros. H. F. Ketcheson, John Newton and F. E. O'Flynn, all of Belleville.

R. W. Bro. Symons expressed his appreciation of the cordial welcome he had received and gracefully complimented the ladies for their share in preparing so tempting a repast. He explained, for the benefit of the fair sex, just what Masonry was intended to accomplish, what it was doing and how it should affect a man's life and course of conduct.

The district deputy received at Madoc as he has elsewhere, many strong compliments upon his fine exposition of the principles of Masonry.

Mr. and Mrs. W. White spent Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. O. Cole.

old home and concluded by telling of some experiences during his late tour of Southern California.

To this toast fitting response was made by Bro. Major Frost, Trenton, W. Bro. Green and Riggs of Deloro, Stanley Morton of Belleville, and Bros. Butcher and Baker of Marmora.

Aside from the oration of the district deputy, the speech of the evening was made by Bro. Rev. Dr. Scott, the district chaplain when he proposed the toast to "The Ladies." It is doubtful if the ladies of Madoc ever before had so eloquent and a masterpiece of humor, appreciation and inspiration.

Response was made by another able champion, Bro. Dr. Fraser, senior warden of Madoc lodge.

The toast to "Madoc Lodge" proposed by D.D.G.M. Symons brought forward a grand response of cheers from the large number of visitors and replies, in fitting terms, were made by W. Bro. Hill and Geo. West.

At the conclusion of the speaking program the guests enjoyed another treat in the presentation of a Mack Bennett comedy skit, kindly loaned for the occasion by a local picture house.

A thoroughly enjoyable evening was brought to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

GAY'S DAIRY DESTROYED

Fire Broke Out at 10.30 Last Night Causing Heavy Loss

Mr. G. A. B. Gay's dairy on the second concession of Sidney just west of the city was completely destroyed by fire which broke out last night about 10.30 o'clock. The cause is unknown. The dairy was a large frame structure, one portion of which had been erected only a couple of years ago. It was worth six or seven thousand dollars. The dairy equipment was also entirely lost. The insurance is about $4,000.

The wind was in the proper direction to prevent the fire from spreading to the house and to the stables.
Some months ago Mr. Gay had the misfortune to lose his barns and a large number of cattle by fire.

Single Tax Remedy for House Famine

Mr. Sydenham Thompson of the Single Tax Association in Letter Opinion on Civic Affairs

As the Single Tax Association of Ontario and the Tax Reform League of Eastern Canada, are more actively advancing their propaganda, Mr. Sydenham Thompson, the Assistant Secretary of these affiliated associations, visited Belleville yesterday and was interviewed by The Ontario. This visitor reports a renewal of interest in economic questions on the part of the people since the close of the great war, with the consequent problems of reconstruction.

If a civic spirit in keeping with this motto: "This isn't your town or my town, let's join the Board of Trade" and work together for O.R.T. town," noticed upon the wall of a store visited, was the index of public spirit of Belleville, there is a big future in store for its citizens. The scarcity of houses is apparent, this may easily be remedied by a gradual change in assessment methods where vacant lots now hold idle may be brought into use for building purposes, and thus increase the prosperity of Belleville. During the present tour Mr. Thompson has visited Oshawa, Whitby, Bowmanville, Port Hope, Cobourg with Peterborough and Lindsay yet to be visited.

Heroes' Graves Know No Rank

Headstones for Nation's Dead Will be of Same Design—Their Name Liveth—

LONDON, April 27.—The War Graves Commission has decided unambiguously on absolute uniformity of headstones for the graves of every man and woman who was killed or who died in the war. A plain design in Portland stone has been selected, recording the name, regiment and rank, symbol of religious faith and the inscription which Kipling chose: "Their name liveth forevermore," with room at the foot of the stone for an inscription limited to 66 words, to be personally chosen by those nearest to the dead. The principle of equality whether for Field Marshal or camp follower, has the approval of the Government.

Kipling and Winston Churchill, with other members of the Commission addressed a meeting of the Army Committee in the House of Commons tonight. Kipling, with intensity of feeling, spoke in favor of absolute equality. He said the main object had been to aim at dignity and simplicity and a sense of abidingness.

Mr. Churchill said that the whole spirit of the army was in favor of equality and uniformity.

Talk of the Town And of the Country

Mr. J. E. Benson, formerly of Picton, now of Windsor, had the pleasure of a visit to Jack Miner's bird sanctuary near Kingsville, about 25 miles from Windsor. Mr. Benson writes: "The wild geese were there—3,000 of them—and I was within a rod of them. Mr. Miner has two enclosures with a pond in the centre, and here the geese come on their journey north and remain for a few weeks. They are proud, alert fellows, with their long necks and pretty sombre colors. They had just finished their feed. Jack scatters corn (on the car) all over the enclosure and here they eat to their hunger's content. The illustrations of Jack Miner's premises with the wild geese in possession which appeared in Toronto Saturday Night of April 17 Mr. Benson describes as very accurate. Mr. Miner has spent thousands of dollars in feeding wild birds which avail themselves of the protection of his sanctuary. The Essex County Wild Life Association is asking the Ontario Government to assist Mr. Miner financially in his preservation and study of wild birds in Essex county."

The monthly meeting of the Madoc I.O.D.E. was held on Monday evening in the Anglican Guild room. The attendance was not large, only sixteen members being present. A resolution from the Provincial Chapter was read urging Chapters to send in contributions to the War Memorial Fund before May 1st, and it was decided to forward $100 at once. When the business was concluded, Rev. T. Hall, who had kindly agreed to be present, gave an informal talk on the Boy Scout organization and its work. He explained the character of the training which it seeks to give, making it a link between the church and the school but not taking the place of either one. The whole aim was character-building, to make the boy self-reliant and helpful to the community. Mr. Hall spoke particularly of the work of the local patrol, its hopes and difficulties. A number of questions were asked regarding the work. It is to be regretted that more of the I.O.D.E. members were not present to hear this very instructive address.

The Presbyterian congregation of Trenton have purchased the Cameron Young property on Dundas street for a manse. The deal was put through last week.

The Game and Fisheries Committee passed a recommendation to make licenses necessary for shooting wolves. Too many illegal hunters are caught now and get off on the plea that they are shooting wolves.

An express parcel containing $25 in coppers and weighing about 40 pounds was stolen, as well as a shaving outfit belonging to the telegraph operator. The Cornwall police are investigating.

Fred Yeo, the eleven-year-old son of Mr. S. D. Yeo, on the Hunter farm, Orono, was bruised about the body and head by a farm roller passing over him one day last week. They were moving up farm machinery from the Fisher farm, third line, one machine trailing behind the other, and the boy was guiding the tongue of the roller, when he tripped and fell. The lad was picked up for dead.

The Portsmouth philosopher wants to know if the ladies who boycott potatoes because of the high price are willing to go bareheaded because the new spring hats cost more than many bushels of potatoes. What an ungracious proposal.

Most unfortunate has been the experience of Mrs. Garrison, who went to Almonte from Hawkesbury some time ago to join the public school teaching staff. Immediately upon her arrival she contracted the "flu." She recovered but had only been teaching one day when she fell ill with typhoid fever, and has been very seriously ill. However she is now improving. Her mother and two sisters are with her.

We thought it would develop soon. A Philadelphia clothier is advertising "fancy overalls at $42." The Brockville police on Monday morning were requested by a telephone message from Gordon Smith, Elgin, to be on the watch for his son Gordon, age fifteen years, who ran away from his home Sunday. The boy when leaving home wore a brown suit, knee trousers and either a fawn raincoat or a brown overcoat, both being models. Young Smith has brown hair, is slim in build, and walks very erect.

With potatoes selling at $1.25 a peck, the heads of many households in Gananoque have determined to refrain from buying or consuming the tubers until the price assumes a more reasonable figure. At the Gananoque hotels potatoes are only served at the noonday meal.

On Monday morning Manager Anderson of the Lindsay baseball team was seen in close conversation with Mr. Dan Sinclair, and Lindsay fans are wondering if he was prevailing on the former king of first basemen to sign a contract for the 1920 season.

Mr. Claire Kelcher, of Lindsay, was the victim of a harrow escape from drowning Saturday night at the Lindsay street locks, and it is stated that he probably owes his life to the training he had received from being a member of the Boy Scouts, and because of the assistance of those who witnessed the accident. It appears that the young fellow was assisting an old friend, Mr. Abercrombie, in locking through a tow of logs for the Carey Lumber Company, and was closing the outlet in the western gate when some person opened the eastern lock valve, a gust of water sweeping through with such force that it knocked the gate handle out of Kelcher's hands and hurled him into the deep water of the locks. Fortunately he was able to swim, although it was an effort to keep out of the great suction caused by the rush of water through the valve. Bystanders who had witnessed the accident rushed to his assistance and the valve was finally shut off and the young fellow rescued.

Kingsion's first devotee to the overall habit made his appearance on the street on Saturday morning. It has not yet been determined whether the public most admired the novel suit or the wearer's courage in donning it.

Obituary
MRS. ANN BEAUMONT
Mrs. Ann Beaumont passed peacefully to rest on Thursday night, April 22nd at the home of her son, Chas. Beaumont, who resides on the Deseronto road about five miles from Picton. Her husband, Henry Beaumont, predeceased her several years ago. Mrs. Beaumont was in her eighty-sixth year and was a highly respected lady by all who knew her. She was a faithful member of the Methodist Church and as long as health and strength permitted she would go to her place of worship. Her Christian experience was bright; she had no doubts about her conversion as her life was consecrated to her Master. The funeral service was conducted by the pastor, Rev. J. J. Mellor, at her late residence, thence to Glenwood cemetery, Picton, for interment.

She leaves to mourn her loss three sons and two daughters, namely Charles, on the home farm; Joe, of New Ontario, Sam, of Vancouver and Mrs. Roberts, of Millbridge and Mrs. Reynolds, of Warkworth. The family have the sincere sympathy of the community in this their hour of bereavement. Servant of God well done, The glorious warfare's past, The battle's fought, the victory won, And thou art crowned at last.

WEDDING BELLS

BURLEY—FLINDALL
A pretty wedding took place at high noon today at the home of Mrs. D. W. Adams, 67 Cedar street, when her sister, Miss Alice Mae Flindall, daughter of Mrs. Esther Flindall, of Wellington, was united in marriage to Mr. Alfred Ernest Burley, son of Mr. Benjamin Burley, of Wellington. The bride was given away by her brother, Mr. M. W. Flindall, of Belleville. She wore ivory champagne satin, trimmed with ivory pointed lace and carried a bouquet of ophebia roses. The bridesmaid was Miss Bessie Turnbull, of Trenton, who was dressed in white crepe de chene and carried white and pink carnations. Mr. Jack Chappelle did honors for the groom. Master Albert Adairs played the "Bridal Chorus" from "Lohengrin," while little Miss Jennie Adams made a pretty flower girl carrying a basket of pansies. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. W. O. Boyle of the Anglican Church, Wellington. The house had been decorated with evergreens and potted plants.

After the nuptial knot had been tied the wedding party sat down to a sumptuous repast. Mr. and Mrs. Burley left this afternoon at 4:40 o'clock via Grand Trunk to visit Toronto, Niagara Falls and Buffalo on their honeymoon, the bride's travelling costume being a navy blue serge suit with taupe hat. They will return to take up residence in Belleville. The best wishes of hosts of friends are extended to them for a happy wedded life.

TALK OF THE TOWN AND OF THE COUNTRY

Mr. Wm. F. Seary, of Toronto, a worthy and esteemed returned representative of the African Methodist Episcopal church, tells of the bright future for his race through the constructive program mapped out by his church to lift higher the standard of Christian civilization amongst the members of his race. His plea to the white citizens is to hold the door of opportunities with patient encouragement and generosity, that his race might pass through into that high standard of citizenship fixed by Government. He leaves his heartfelt thanks to the clergy and citizens for their favorable attitude towards his cause.

The clergy of the Church of England forming the Bay of Quinte Clerical Union met at Trenton. Amongst other business transacted was the election of the following officers: Canon W. Armstrong, of Trenton, President; Rev. J. H. Coleman, Sec. Treas. Rural Dean Swayne and Revs. Creggan and Dickerson were elected to the executive.

Bring back the old days of long ago. An old resident of Antigonish recalls the fact that in 1878 he marketed a lamb in the town of Antigonish that weighed one hundred and five pounds. The price he secured was one dollar. In the following year he sold a five-year-old steer in the same town for fourteen dollars. A month ago his son sold a turkey in the local market for sixteen dollars—or two dollars more than the father obtained for the steer.

The Citizens' Band of Napanee was granted by the Council the sum of $250 in consideration of that body giving at least eight concerts during the summer in the Harvey Warner Park.

A belated casualty list issued by the records office at Ottawa contains the name, among those killed in action of 220046, Pte. Albert Denslow, who was taken on the strength of the 80th Overseas Battalion at Brockville and whose next of kin is Edward Denslow, his father, Moor-side Chard, England. Pte. Denslow was previously reported missing.

All things work together in aid of the R.C. of L. The latest is the decision of the U.S. railway companies to demand prepayment in American currency on all goods shipped from the States to Canada. Cobourg will have the same pitchers this year, Skitch and Higinbotham, but it is understood that Higinbotham will be given the bulk of the work.

Carl Henry, a son of Mr. Victor Henry of Peterboro, has been visiting at his grandmother's, Mrs. Robert Henry's, Lindsay, for the past two weeks. On Monday morning he was all ready to return to his home in Peterboro, and it was not until that it was discovered that the young fellow had disappeared. To the excited and anxious grandmother the description walking down St. Patrick street, near Queen street, Master Carl is only three years old, but is a bright young fellow and talks well. He had been dressed and made ready for the trip to the station and, to Peterboro, and was to have been accompanied by Mrs. Henry's son. He was missing hardly five minutes when it was discovered that he was lost. Different people were called up, and the police notified, but he had not yet been found in the afternoon.

Fishery Inspector James Haggart, Peterboro, issued a warning to the public on Monday that the gaffing of suckers at the locks and elsewhere in the district must be stopped at once or prosecutions will follow. The game fish have started to come up the river now, and Mr. Haggart is determined to protect the lunge and bass, for the "gaffers" are not very particular as to what kind of fish they land. It is hoped that this warning will be sufficient.

President E. D. O'Flynn, of the Ontario Provincial Command, G.W.V.A., visited the Kingston branch on Tuesday evening, 27th inst. President O'Flynn, elected to office of President at the provincial convention in Peterborough last month, held the office of Vice-President in 1919. He is very well known in Kingston, being the original adjutant of the 2nd Battalion, C.E.F. President O'Flynn believes in coming into personal contact with each and every branch of the G.W.V.A.

On Saturday afternoon last Mr. Jos. E. Phillips, of Stirling, met with a serious accident. He was superintending the working of a tractor on the farm of Mr. Conroy, at the west end of Stirling village, and was instructing the young man how to manage it, at the time sitting on the fender, when his coat caught in the wheel and he was dragged down, and one wheel of the tractor passed partly over his side before it was stopped. His side was badly crushed, and had it gone clean over it would probably have caused almost instant death. He was quickly removed to his home, where medical attention was given, and we are pleased to learn he is now progressing rapidly towards recovery.

Five thousand men will be employed on the Provincial Highways construction by the first of June, is the estimate of Mr. W. A. MacLaren, Deputy Minister of Public Works. There are now nearly 1,000 men at work. "When the highways will have been virtually completed," said Mr. MacLaren to a reporter, "it will surpass even the Lincoln Highway in the United States." Tourist traffic will be open on the main Provincial Highway by the end of this year.

Miss Ruth Peacock, who teaches at Canton, met with a serious accident last evening. Miss Peacock spent the week end with her parents, Capt. and Mrs. J. H. Peacock, Brown street, Port Hope. About 9 o'clock she left for Canton with Mr. Gist, and when driving over a small bridge an automobile came through the subway at Canton and before Mr. Gist could turn his horse out the automobile crashed into him. The buggy was split completely in two and both occupants were thrown out. Miss Peacock was hurled a considerable distance and fell on her shoulder and head. She suffered a slight concussion and was unconscious for some time. Mr. Gist was badly shaken up, but his injuries are not serious. The automobile party rendered every assistance, conveying Miss Peacock to Canton, and afterwards came to Port Hope for a doctor. The sharp turn at this subway makes it impossible to see any approaching vehicle and it is remarkable that accidents have not occurred at this point before.

At a meeting in Kingston of the representatives from a number of the various denominations and the Y.M.C.A. for the purpose of planning a summer training school for leaders in boys' work, the Provincial Boys' Work Board Secretary, Alexander McLaren, told of a number of district schools being held throughout Ontario, and proposing that one be established in the vicinity of Kingston to serve a district from Belleville to Brockville inclusively. The meeting decided to go ahead with the project, and the following officers were appointed: Chairman, Rev. G. S. Stafford; Sec.-Treas., Dr. C. C. Nash; Association Secretary, J. F. Wilson; Business Administrator, Capt. Finney; Program Director, F. B. Wilson, of Toronto. A number of other directors will be appointed, and a central committee formed, including representatives from the various towns and villages to be reached by the school. The school will be held at Sydenham Lake for volunteer leaders of boys and prospective leaders.

D. W. McIntosh, of the American Immigration Department, was in Kingston on Friday for the purpose of inspecting all men who sail on vessels calling at American ports. Mr. McIntosh, when speaking to a reporter, stated that inspection was very important. Before sailors can enter they must undergo a medical examination. For some years the examination took place when the vessel arrived at an American port, but the Department is now having the men examined before the boats start out for the season, and by so doing a great deal of time is saved.

A great reception was tendered by the citizens to the O.H.A. Intermediate hockey champions at a concert and presentation in the Collingwood Opera House on Friday night. Torrance Reynolds, formerly of Verona, now travelling for the firm of Fenwick and Hendry, Kingston, and four young ladies had a narrow escape from being burned on Sunday morning about ten o'clock when the automobile in which they were driving took fire. People who live near where the accident took place state that the party, driving in the direction of Harrowsmith, were about one mile from the village when the car took fire. The occupants when they saw the blaze jumped from the car and it ran into a fence. Before the fire could be extinguished the car was almost completely destroyed. The burned car was towed to Harrowsmith. It is thought the accident was caused by some electric wires getting crossed. A portion of the fence at the side of the road where the accident occurred was destroyed by fire. Some of the farmers nearby carried water and extinguished the blaze.

On Saturday afternoon last Mr. Jos. E. Phillips, of Stirling, met with a serious accident. He was superintending the working of a tractor on the farm of Mr. Conroy, at the west end of Stirling village, and was instructing the young man how to

Belleville is not more given to gossip or uncharitableness than other places, but the following admirable advice from The Recorder and Times applies equally as well at Belleville as at Brockville:

Suppose some person does go wrong, the devil and his gossips hammer away with him or her. The dividing line between hypocrisy and reality can well be located by the attitude that people assume toward the erring. There seems to be a something in human nature that delights in publishing the shame of others, while totally ignoring their virtues...

The Ontario Board of Censors which has assumed control of the amusement tax branch, is going to take steps to enforce on theatre proprietors the regulations regarding the making of monthly returns. Some of these have been in the habit of not selling the amusement tax tickets, but merely adding the tax to the admission fee and then keeping it. Some have been reselling the tax tickets by collusion between the ticket seller and doorkeeper. It is the intention to make all theatres, dance halls and race tracks send in monthly returns, and inspectors will see that tax tickets are sold and accounted for. Already prosecutions covering two cases in St. Thomas, three in St. Catharines and one in Hamilton have been made, and fines of from $10 to $100 inflicted.

Fire at half past two on Tuesday afternoon at Twesd destroyed the frame barn in the rear of the Twesd Advocate office, owned by Mr. Fred Wright, of Brighton, which has been used as a stable and storehouse by Mr. James Molyneux. The fire was first discovered on the outside of the west end and buckets were quickly summoned but were of no use owing to the headway gained by the flames. Hose was placed from the fire hall tank to the scene and in record time a good stream of water was playing on the blaze. The fire was playing on a firm grip on the whole upper storey, in which there was a quantity of furniture and a small amount of hay. In a comparatively short time the conflagration was under control, removing any fear of danger to the frame buildings and barns which surround it. A horse and buggy which were in the lower part of the building were removed by the Trull slipped and was struck in the abdomen by the rails. He was treated by Dr. J. L. Hebert, Coteau Junction, and afterwards removed to his home, 2054 Delorimier avenue, Montreal.

Picton Cheese Board opened the season of 1920 here Friday. Owing to the backward season and the feeding of calves no cheese was offered for sale. Information was given by representatives of various factories that the output would be seriously impaired owing to the opening of two large condenseries, and that the high price paid by but-ter factories would curtail the output for this season to 60 per cent. of former years. The only solution for the saving of the cheese industry was for the speedy return of the old conditions, whereby exporters are allowed to export when and where they can successfully compete with present conditions and opposition.

A fire, which at one time threatened to assume very serious proportions, destroyed the barn on the Clara property on the east side of Metcalfe St., Tweed, about two o'clock Tuesday afternoon. The origin of the blaze is a mystery, but it apparently started in the loft, where Mr. F. R. Maitnes, who is now in the West, had a quantity of furniture stored. There were three or four horses and a car in the barn, but they were got out uninjured. Mr. Maitnes' loss is very serious as we understand he had no insurance. The fire brigade was quickly on the scene and did effective work in preventing the fire from spreading to adjoining buildings.

As a break away from the typical red breast variety, a robin, pure white with black markings, is to be seen these days in the vicinity of A. McDonald's ice house, at Lanark, busily engaged in the building of its nest, apparently regardless of the high cost of material and living in general.

The Port Hope Guide thinks travelling in Cobourg is not safe without a guide. A horse belonging to Mr. Victor Boundy, Cobourg Road, stepped into a hole in the road on King street, Cobourg the other day and broke his leg. It is hardly safe to travel in Cobourg without a guide.

Dr. William A. Smith and his sister, Mrs. J. A. Latimer, of New York, learned that Ald. Steacy and Craig have been able to secure an option on the Hotel Frontenac property and also on sixty-five feet of the property on King street backing the Hotel Frontenac. It is understood that the proposal to erect the new hotel on this site, remodeling the Hotel Frontenac and making the new entrance on King street. The site is a very good one and there is much to say in favor of such a proposition.

Among the selections played by the R.C.H.A. band at the Lange-marche ceremonies in the Kingston City Park on Friday afternoon was one entitled "Crossing the Bar," about which there were many favorable comments. It was not generally known that the composer of the selection was Mr. J. B. Walkem, K.C., of Kingston. Mr. Walkem, as well as holding an honored position in the legal profession, is an accomplished musician on the violin and flute and has a large number of meritorious compositions to his credit. For a quarter of a century Mr. Walkem was manager of the choir of St. George's Cathedral, "Crossing the Bar" was also played at the dedication of soldiers' graves at Cataragi and it is said that it will be heard in St. Mary's Cathedral in the near future.

At a special meeting of the Leeds County Council the big subject for discussion was the by-law to raise the sum of $350,000 for the purposes of good roads. At a previous session of the Council a by-law was passed in this connection. The reeve of Merrickville, Mr. Tallman, at the time entered strenuous objection to the measure, holding that it was unfair to his municipality and illegal. Subsequently the matter was carried to Osgoode Hall, Toronto, and quashed. Therefore it was necessary to hold a special meeting of the council to settle the question. After a prolonged discussion and vote the new by-law was finally passed calling for the expenditure by way of an issue of debentures for the amount specified.

Captain Rudd, of the Oxford-Cambridge relay team, at Philadelphia to compete in the University of Pennsylvania carnival next week. He entered in the quarter-mile hurdle event. Rudd, who is the British intercollegiate, quarter-mile champion and also a star hurdler, will meet one of the fastest fields ever entered at the relay in this event. It includes Earl Thompson, of Dartmouth, the Canadian, who has done so well; Watt, of Cornell; Kilby, of Redlands, Cal.; Rodke, of Kansas, and Murray, the junior national quarter-mile hurdler. It was also announced that Jappe, who is on his way to this country to take the place of Tatham in case the latter is not able to run in the collegiate two-mile relay championship, probably also will meet a high-class field. The entries include some of the best hurdlers in this country, and Canadian intercollegiate title holder. In addition to the two-mile championship, the British team is entered in the distance medley relay and will have a representative in the three-mile college championship race.

The annual meeting of the Kingston Military Athletic Association was held on Thursday evening and was reorganized as the Kingston Garrison Athletic Association, which will conduct both outdoor and indoor sports. All of the players must be or have been members of some military unit. Major W. J. McManus presided and there was a good representation from several units. Seven teams will represent the Association in soccer and baseball this season. The election of officers resulted: Hon. Pres., Maj.-Gen. V. A. S. Williams, C.M.G., G.O.C., M.D. No. 3; Vice-Pres., Brig.-Gen. A. E. Ross, C.M.G., M.P.P.; Second Vice-Pres., Lt.-Col. W. H. P. Elkins; Pres., Major Laughlin Hughes; Vice-Pres., Capt. Fairfull; Sec.-Treas., George Young of the Military "Y". A supper was served to the meeting and a very pleasant time was spent. The executive committee will be elected at a meeting to be held in the armories on Tuesday evening next.

Menigitis, that dreaded scourge, has made its appearance in the city of Hamilton. Board of Health authorities reported one case on Saturday, that of a young child who succumbed a few hours after becoming infected. Dr. Roberts believes, however, that the case was just an isolated one, and does not fear an epidemic. Other contagious diseases reported for the week were: mumps, 38; measles, 23; whooping cough, 7; chickenpox, 1; scarlet fever, 11; and smallpox, 1.

The proposed new hotel was on the program for the meeting of the Kingston City Council Monday night, and in this connection it has been learned that Ald. Steacy and Craig have been able to secure an option on the Hotel Frontenac property and also on sixty-five feet of the property on King street backing the Hotel Frontenac. It is understood that the proposal to erect the new hotel on this site, remodeling the Hotel Frontenac and making the new entrance on King street. The site is a very good one and there is much to say in favor of such a proposition.

Principal Campbell, Portmouth public school has been notified that his school is one of the winners in the "Contributions Competition" recently held by the Hospital for Sick Children, Toronto, in the public and separate schools of the province. A cot has been named for Portmouth school and placed in the Lakeside Home for Little Children at Toronto Island.

Despite the fact that a well-known Hamilton firm of clothiers is offering a window full of overalls and denims at a tempting low price, the overall brigade seems to have fallen off in its recruits. The Hamilton Collegiate students have announced their intention of carrying on several hundred strong next week. But otherwise in that city the fact, as it is characterized by a good many, seems to have died a natural death. None have been seen to a noticeable extent on the street.

The meeting of citizens called for last night to discuss the project of The Old Boys' Reunion, 1920, proved to be a most representative and enthusiastic gathering. The unanimous decision reached was to hold the reunion on the dates already selected, July 24, 25, 26 and 27. A change in a number of the officers and chairmen of committees was decided on, as the gentlemen holding these offices, owing to their other activities, felt they could not devote the necessary time to the work of the reunion. A meeting is called for Tuesday night next, May 4th, at eight o'clock in the City Hall, when the chairman of the various committees will place their estimates of cost before the meeting. The officials of the organization trust that the citizens will from now on give them their support by attending the meetings and taking a more active interest in the work of the Belleville Old Boys' Reunion 1920. A full report of last night's meeting will appear in tomorrow's issue of this paper.

The police made an arrest last night on a charge of vagrancy but the girl was liberated this morning.

Thomas David, of Picton, is in Kingston again. Thomas declared that he would come back to Kingston when the police put him on board a train for Nanapanee on Wednesday afternoon, and he made good his promise by turning up on Friday morning. He had a dollar when gathered in for vagrancy, and this dollar was used in paying his railway fare to Nanapanee, as the half-way stop for his home in Picton. Whether or not Thomas walked the ties back to Kingston is not known, but he bobbed up here looking fine and dandy.

To make sure that his presence in that city would be known, Thomas took the trouble to call up the police station and let "the boys" know about it.

So Thomas is in town again, and any minute he is liable to land into the hands of the law again, as he comes under the heading of vagrancy, being "a loose, idle person, with no visible means of support." However, he likes Kingston so well he is ever ready to take the risk of being caught in the police net. It is certainly too bad there is no welcome on the mat for him there, as he dearly loves Kingston.

The Peterboro Knights of Columbus' dance and card party held at their rooms on Friday night was one of the outstanding social events of this season. The music of Miss Ryan of Belleville upheld her enviable reputation for dance music, and every number was thoroughly enjoyed. The card tables were well patronized and Mrs. Merrill won the ladies' prize, an umbrella, while Mr. Kelly carried off the box of cigars.

Walkers over the Grand Trunk Railway crossing, ten-year-old Oliver Tod of Whitby, was instantly killed Sunday afternoon. He is the son of Mr. S. T. Tod, who has his business in Toronto. The accident occurred at Jeffrey's crossing, about a mile from the town. The two sons of Mr. Tod had gone for a walk, and although they had escaped from one train, they had, apparently not observed the Grand Trunk going in the opposite direction. Oliver stayed between the two passing trains, while his older brother ran across to safety. The train crew stopped at the place of accident until Col. Farewell, County Attorney, and Dr. Mc-

Gillivray, County Coroner, arrived at the scene, from where the mangled remains of the boy were removed to the local undertaking parlor.

The annual concert under the auspices of the Church Help Society was held last evening at John St. Presbyterian Church. The program was an excellent one, being furnished by the choir under the direction of the choir leader. Mr. D. M. Clark, assisted by the following artists, Miss Tuttle, Miss S. Walton, Mrs. Singer, Mr. N. J. F. Staples and Mrs. M. P. Duff. There was a large attendance, the church being crowded.

On Monday afternoon a very interesting game of baseball was played between St. Michael's Academy and Queen Mary School, resulting in a victorious win for St. Michael's by a score of 12-5.

Says She Cannot Praise Them Enough

MRS. GAUVIN TELLS OF DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

St. Jeanne d'Arc N.B., April 26. (Special).—Among those in their neighborhood who are enthusiastic in their praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills is Mrs. Joseph Gauvin, a highly respected resident here. "I cannot praise Dodd's Kidney Pills enough," Mrs. Gauvin states. "My back was so weak I could hardly walk, I took six boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills and now I feel a different person."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills have done me a tremendous amount of good." Of the many persons paying their tribute of praise to Dodd's Kidney Pills, it is noticeable that the great majority are women. The reason given for this is that the great majority of women's ills come from the kidneys. Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly on the kidneys. Healing and strengthening them, they enable the kidneys to strain all the impurities out of the blood. Pure blood is the foundation of health. Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not help weak or sick kidneys.

DEATHS

MATRONS — On Sunday, April 25th, Annie L. Furdy, widow of the late John F. Mather, M.D., aged 45 years 2 months. Mr. Mark Dulmage, of the Guelph Herald, a former Belleville newspaper man has been elected a member of the executive of the Ontario Amateur Baseball Association.

FARMERS will do well to consider the talked of European demand, and the sowing of Spring Wheat. Wheat is a good crop to speculate in. The Government promises to discontinue control before next crop, and then good hard Spring Wheat should be much higher than the present Wheat Board price, proportionate with Manitoba Wheat prices. Bearded and soft varieties are not so desirable, but if farmers would raise good Marquis, Fyfe or other hard varieties, it would make us more independent of the West and we would need less Manitoba Wheat. We will be open to buy at all times, at highest prices, more Wheat than this district can produce. We are not anxious to sell our present stock of Wheat, but if any farmer wants some of our No. 1 Manitoba Hard, we will supply him the Wheat all cleaned, the way it goes direct to our mill for Flour making, as we have car loads arriving daily and lots to come. We also have Oats in car loads and less, and FLOUR AND FEEDS OF ALL KINDS.

A DESIRE TO EAT WHAT YOU WANT

How Stomachs Can be Restored to a Vigorous, Healthy Condition.

Not to be limited in diet, but to eat whatever he pleases is the dream of every dyspeptic. No one can honestly promise to restore any stomach to this happy condition, because all people cannot eat the same things with equally satisfactory results. It is literally true that "what is one man's food is another man's poison." But it is possible to so tone up the digestive organs that a pleasing diet may be selected from articles of food that cause no discomfort.

When the stomach lacks tone there is no quicker way to restore it than to build up the blood. Good digestion without rich, red blood is impossible, and Dr. Williams' Pink Pills offer the very best way to build up and enrich the blood. For this reason these pills are especially good in stomach trouble attended by thin blood, and in attacks of nervous dyspepsia. Proof of the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in even the most obstinate cases of stomach trouble is given by Mrs. S. Morrison, Varney, Ont., who says: "I shall always feel indebted to a friend who advised me to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I had been a sufferer for upwards of twelve years with stomach trouble which resulted in a general weakness of the whole system. My meals always caused me great discomfort, and at times I would go hungry rather than undergo the suffering which followed meals. I was constantly taking something or other recommended for the trouble, but without finding a cure, and often the trouble kept me in bed when I should have been about doing my housework. My friend who had had a similar attack came to see me and urged me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which had cured her. I got a supply at once and began taking them, and soon found relief. By the time I had used eight boxes I was again enjoying the best of health, and with a good appetite and a stomach restored to normal. Had I known of this medicine earlier it would have saved me years of suffering, and I urge any who may be in a similar condition to try these pills at once."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Farmers visiting the city today report considerable seeding already accomplished. Mr. Frank Ketcheson of the ninth of Taulrow has sown a field and states that the soil was in better condition for the spring sowing. Much more would have been done, except for the rains that have intervened. These, for a long time, were not heavy enough to break the soil or saturate the low grounds. Fall wheat in his section, while not extensively grown, Mr. Ketcheson states, came through the winter well. Clover was looking somewhat brown but he had hopes that it too would revive with better weather. The Ontario also had a conversation with Mr. Duncan Ketcheson, who has a fine 20-acre farm in the 4th of Sidney. Mr. Ketcheson has 8 acres of fall wheat that came through the winter beautifully. Some other fields in the same vicinity are also looking fine. He had done some seeding himself and several of his neighbors had also made considerable progress in that line. He says present conditions are very favorable for the spring work.

The Peterborough Cereal Company's new flour mill addition was operated Thursday for the first time. Owing to the increased demand for Reindeer Flour of late years it became imperative to increase their capacity, and to do this it was necessary to add three new storeys to the original building and construct ten new concrete elevators. Since last October a large staff of millwrights have been employed installing the new plant, with the result that the Peterborough Cereal Company have one of the most modern and modern flour mill plants in Canada. TALK OF THE TOWN AND OF THE COUNTRY

Belleville is not the only place contemplating the paving of streets, as Ottawa has a large street paving bill of fare for 1920, and it is proposed to do so in 1921.

Not to be outdone by other Canadian military hospitals, which are following the example of American cities, and forming Overall Clubs, Kingston is to have its Overall Club.

What about Belleville, will there be an Overall Club formed here? In a letter, Coach "Nick" Basell, former Queen's hockey coach, states that lacrosse has become very popular at Cornell University.

Furs to the value of $2,000 were stolen Friday night from a barn on the farm of Thomas Flood, of Ennismore. They were the property of S. Pulver, fur buyer, who is touring the district purchasing skins at the present time.

Recently a soldier living in Hamilton, partially blinded, entered a real estate office of that city in search of a home, and was told he could rent one at a reasonable sum. He jumped at the transaction and built up high hopes of living in a half-decent residence after many months of hardship.

Harry Vanderheart, of Toronto, who is visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Vanderheart, Ellen street, Port Hope, had a thrilling experience on Friday evening. In company with Walter Stewart the little fellow was fishing at the end of the east pier, when he lost his balance and toppled in. Young Stewart secured a board and fastened his toes in the cracks between the boards of the pier, and pulled Vanderheart to safety.

Vanderheart was almost exhausted from the cold water and the struggle but is progressing favorably and it is thought will suffer no ill effects from his experience. Walter Stewart, who is about ten years of age, is certainly a young hero, and no doubt will be decorated with the Edmund Society Medal.

Young Stewart will be remembered as doing acrobatic work with his mother and father at the Town Park on July 1st. He is making his home in Port Hope with his grandfather, Mr. John Mercer, Mill street.

Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Creighton and two children, Nordegg, Alta., are visiting the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Creighton, Perth. It is eighteen years since Mr. Creighton left his home, which was then on the farm now owned by James White, near Rosetta. About six years ago he had the misfortune to break his leg, and through lack of proper setting, it has given him much pain all that time. It was thought that he would lose the limb, but by coming east and consulting a specialist he was given the glad news that his leg could be saved. He will undergo an operation in Brockville.

Monday morning, W. R. Bannerman, customs landing water at the C.P.R. wharf at Brockville, reported to the police that during Sunday night someone using a false key had entered his garage at the foot of St. Andrew street and stolen his automobile. The stolen car is a McLaughlin Light Six five-passenger model, carrying 1920 license plate number 135235, and the serial number is 9551. The body is painted maroon, the wheels are yellow and the top is of black "rain-tight" construction. The rear wheels are equipped with Nobby Tread tires and front wheels carry Partridge tires. A spare Partridge tire is carried on rear life is carried on the rear. During Saturday night a Chevrolet car owned by R. E. Elliott, superintendent of the Lalg Produce & Storage Co. plant, Brockville, was stolen from his garage at the foot of St. Andrew street. The car was run practically all night by joy-riders and returned to its garage Sunday morning with the gears stripped. A description of Mr. Bannerman's car was sent to Brockville by Chief Burke, Bryce Foley, Athens, drove to Gagny Sunday in his Chevrolet motor car, which that evening stalled on Water street east. He left the car there and on returning shortly after nine o'clock Monday morning, found that in the meantime someone had stolen it. Later in the day both cars were recovered, neither one having suffered much injury.

The Hamilton Herald says: The time is not far distant when the Ontario Baseball Amateur Association will be called upon to deal with the question of industrial baseball teams. The governing body has taken its first step by stipulating that industrial teams be confined to employees only, but it must do more than that. We believe that even as early as next year, the various manufacturing concerns will have to be placed in leagues of their own, and apart from the city clubs. They could, in that event, play for the championship of their league, and then saw off in the semi-finals with the winners of the city leagues. The trying life all over Ontario at present is that the city clubs can't compete with the industrial concerns. The city club has nothing to offer a ball player while the team representing a large manufacturing company can always provide a first-class player with a position that will bring in a substantial salary. We have evidence of that right here in Hamilton. The Century Club, of the City League, for instance, is having a grim battle to round out a team. The officials say that they can't talk to the players, because they have nothing in the way of positions to give them. And it's the same all over the province. The O.B.A.A. simply has to get moving in the proper direction. We talked the matter over at length last night with Frank Robbins, president of the O.B.A.A., and Secretary George Walker, and both are agreed that something will have to be done.

The influx of commercial men into Peterboro this spring has been phenomenal, according to proprietors of hotels in that city. There are a large number of returned men on the road this year and these, together with the shut down of plants devoted to war work and their return to manufacturing staple commodities, has necessitated the re-establishment of their corps of salesmen.

While the army of commercial men has increased, hotel accommodation has decreased considerably since the licenses were taken away, and the high cost of building has also curtailed any building along this line.

Throughout the entire Dominion the situation seems to be the same, and it is a common occurrence for them to have to spend the night on a cot in the shelter of a screen in a hotel corridor, or in some other available space.

The general good business conditions have increased the number of business men travelling. The high cost of keeping hotels, the solvent problem, have driven families to the refuge of the hotel, adding to the number of guests, and when the tourist trade opens up in the Peterboro district, as it is expected to do in unprecedented numbers soon, the hotels will be taxed to capacity.

Sixty years ago, when the late King Edward was Prince of Wales visited Canada, he was entertained in Whittby by the late John Ham Perry, whose "castle" was for many years one of the landmarks of the town. In order to provide a proper setting within the castle for Royalty, Mr. Perry purchased in New York a set of rosewood furniture, consisting of settee, two large chairs and six smaller ones. The price paid was only $600, but $600 went a great deal farther in those times of currency depreciation and high cost of labor.

Several years later the furniture was sold for $80, and until lately it was in the hands of a Greenwald, Ontario county, storekeeper. A few days ago this storekeeper held an auction sale, and among the offerings was the Royal set of rosewood furniture. The competition was local and F. L. Green, secured the pieces for $450.

"Every piece is still as good as it was sixty years ago," said Mr. Green. "There is not a scratch on it, and every joint is as perfect as when fashioned by the New York mechanics of two generations ago."

Many Green is an enthusiast in many lines. His garden in summer, containing collections from Europe and Asia, is one of the finest to be seen outside of Toronto, and his collection of old books has few rivals in the province.

Once more is the locks at Lindsay dotted with enthusiastic fishermen, or rather "suckerists", as the suckers are beginning to show up plentifully. A number of people were seen Monday making vain attempts to capture a magnificent lunge above the locks, but the finny automaton placidly pursued his way, unmolested and supremely indifferent to the danger.

There is no possibility of daylight saving being adopted in Hamilton this year. That city refused to have anything to do with "fast time" last year, and will follow the same course this summer. Objection on the part of labor now strongly represented in the City Council is the reason.

Guess who is coming back to the Peterboro City League. None other than Gus Rose, one of the most-fear-d pitchers of a few years ago, who did great work for West Ends and Marlboros. He will join the heaving corps of the Veterans. With Allan Wade, Gus Rose and Bobby Ross for battery work, Lou LeBar's team of that city is rounding out well.

A very enjoyable morning was spent at St. Peter's School, Peterboro, on Friday last, when the pupils took the opportunity of thanking His Lordship Bishop O'Brien for his deep interest in them, and their school, and bade him God-speed on his journey to Europe. The Bishop was then given a handsome sum of money, donated by the school, to be presented to the Pope on His Lordship's visit to Rome. The Bishop fittingly replied to this testimonial of goodwill, and thanked the pupils for the sentiments expressed by them in an address read by Charles Begley. Then several songs were rendered by the children in an admirable manner, two noticeable features of the program being a vocal solo credited to Dorothy Gordon, and an appropriate boys' quartette by H. Rudkins, E. Welsh, V. O'Brien and R. McCabe, of which the Bishop made special mention, saying that he was considerably surprised at the real talent displayed. Miss Mary MacPherson presented the purse, which amounted to $122.45.

Two launches have already been arranged for, and more will be added later if required. These boats will be well policed and are instructed to maintain close watch all along the entire river front. Eventually it is hoped to extend the patrol service so as to protect the entire border as far as Sandwich.

Nearly 1,000 blind men are on a hike to London to lay their grievances before Premier Lloyd George. They started from Manchester Easter Monday. They were 60 strong when they left "Cottonopolis," but as they passed city after city their numbers were swelled by hundreds of other sightless unfortunates. They plan a monster demonstration in Trafalgar Square, London, for April 25th.

Children lost! lost! lost! Hark on to the startled cry. Children lost! lost! Oh, men, your cities are full of them, and they are your children, your own tender little ones. Mothers, the babies that lay in smiling innocence upon your bosoms; the dear, brave boys that looked up to you in perfect confidence and warm impulse of love. Your homes are lonely without them, your hearts are hungry for their love. Oh, you miss them now; the darlings of other years; you want the little hands in your own once more; you want the warm kiss upon your aching brow, but life hurried on, and lost! lost! rings through the darkened aisles of time. One by one the drunkards' graves yawn wide and somebody's darling is gone. The mid-night revel and the gambling den covers its ghastly dead, and the homes are in sackcloth and sorrows sits a familiar guest by many a hearthstone. Brave, beloved boys, noble men, fair-browed maidens, and mature womanhood. Oh, how they fall and perish; and the land is full of "Roses" weeping for their children who will not be comforted because they are Kingston.

The ice in Kingston harbor is fast disappearing following the fine weather of the past few days. An immense quantity of ice has been coming down the lake but it is thought that the river will soon be absolutely clear of ice.

This soldier seems to be bound by red tape forever. A London newspaper says that a recently discharged soldier, who had unpleasant memories of his military experience, took the first opportunity after resuming his civilian clothes to write to his former colonel: "Sir—After what I have suffered for the last two years, it gives me much pleasure to tell you and the army to go to—", a place to which only the wicked are consigned. In due course he got this reply: "Sir—Any suggestions or enquiries concerning the movement of troops must be entered on army form 2132, a copy of which I enclose."

In the presence of a large congregation, including the Great War Veterans, officers of the Peterboro Rangers, Machine Gun Corps, His Honor Judge Huycke, Mayor A. A. McIntyre and members of Peterboro City Council, the splendid bronze memorial tablet bearing the names of the nineteen non-returning brave members of St. John's Church, who gave their lives during the Great War, was unveiled in St. John's Church. The memorial, which was given to the church by the congregation, bears the inscription: "1914-1919—To the Glory of God and in Honored Memory of the Following Members of St. John's Who Gave Their Lives in the Great War." It is erected beside the vestry door.

Joseph Chappelle, a returned soldier living near Thomasburg, had the misfortune to have his drive-house with all the machinery and an automobile destroyed by fire. The explosion of a lantern was the cause. Mr. Chappelle had a narrow escape.

What might have been a much more serious accident occurred in the village of Little Britain Sunday. As Mr. J. Connor, Mrs. Connor and E. Rodman's son were driving south near the "Christian" Church, the horse took fright at a racing car that met them, jumped to one side suddenly, upsetting the buggy and throwing the occupants out. Mrs. Connor was the most unfortunate, receiving a broken arm. Mr. Connor received only slight abrasions. The broken arm was attended to by Dr. Hall and Mrs. Connor is doing nicely.

The new doors of the city hall have been put into position and a great improvement it is on the old time iron gates. The city council will now sit in a house with glass panels in the doors instead of being behind the bars. The doors are of oak and are in natural finish. There are three of them, the middle one being hung to one of those at the side. On each plate glass panel is the city coat of arms with the legend "Magnum Est Vectigal Parsimonia." Not only do the doors add a touch of beauty to the old building but they will protect it from winter's storms.

The Life Saving Scouts of the Salvation Army, 35 in number, who were organized last winter in connection with the Station Sunday School last evening held their scout feast at the school, the occasion being the birthday of Scout Leader Mr. Fred W. Churchhill. A fine spread of eats had been provided by the boys and was much enjoyed. The boys of games were played for a while after which Mr. Churchhill was presented by Scout Stanley Lesells with a beautiful teacher's bible. The scout leader made a happy response. The evening was a very happy one. The scouts range in age from ten to fifteen years. The organization has been very successful so far, thanks to the Scout Leader's activity.

O'Brien, of Peterboro, departed Monday evening at 9.45 for Rome, where he will present to His Holiness, Pope Benedict XV., a report of the Diocese of Peterboro. Previous to leaving for the station large representations from the three Catholic churches in Peterboro assembled in the Cathedral, where the priests of the diocese, including Fathers McFadden, of Parry Sound; McCarthy, of Norwood; Ferguson, of Warkworth; John Leonard, of Galway; McGuire, of Sherwood; Harold O'Brien, of Lindsay; of Watour; and Rev. The fine weather Saturday started the ball-tossers about Oshawa, to get going again and the opening practice of the season was held in Alexander Park. The club officers almost suffered a fainting spell, when between sixty and seventy men took the field, all wanting to catch a place on some team. Some were historic "has-beens" but still going strong, others were the old reliable guard of past seasons and will likely be the mainstay for the present year again, and a large number were newcomers, who have in order to show what goods they have in yet to catch a place on the line-up.

Patton, last year's pitcher, will again be signed on, but there are others to contend with him. One of those is Fred Anderson, of Gargill, a well known Western Ontario twirler, who has been a mound artist on Walkerton, Cargill and Southampton teams and played the game in England for the past two seasons. Kelson, also is prominently mentioned as an able pitcher. Among other players recently come to Oshawa are Helling, of Orillia, and Alger from Tweed, both reputed to be fair infielders.

After being absent from her home on Brock street north, Whittby, for nearly a week, during which time her whereabouts were completely shrouded in mystery, Mabel Alice Burk was discovered by the Toronto Police in that city, employed in the ideal "Whitewear" Company, King street west. Her father was notified on Thursday night and he went to Toronto on Friday and brought the missing girl home that same evening.

In the family relation every one should always be at his best. The home ought to be a heaven. It ought to be as nearly heaven as is possible on earth. There should be no purposely withered flowers about the hearthstone and no purposely clouded sunbeams. Selfishness alone ought to be sufficient to make home a pleasant place. Certainly all want smiles instead of frowns.

The boy who looks upon his home as a place for the display of nervous irritation that comes from overwork, where everything is sacrificed to the love of show and no place is left for the angel of rest and peace, will leave it at his first opportunity, and at the same time his training has ill-fitted him to meet the great temptations outside.

Mr. Ed. A. Thomas, Front St., has today a fine window exhibit heralding the opening of the baseball season. Besides the paraphernalia of the diamond—club, balls, deekers and mitts, there are photographs of last year's champions of the Central Ontario League and the O.B.A.A.—the G.T.R.

Maybee, Quinn, Slade and Willan of Northumberland and Durham.

The cricket field at Kingston, while not in perfect shape for baseball as yet, has been the scene of activity in the past few days. Dozens of youngsters have been "warming up" for the coming season and baseball promises to thrive as much as ever.

The movement to bring about a daylight saving law in Brockville is in favor of the scheme. The possibility of a successful baseball season depends on the passing of the law, sport followers say, and they are endeavoring with some success to stir up interest in the matter. The question as far as the Trades and Labor Council is concerned, will be decided at their regular meeting to be held on Friday evening. A referendum is being taken among the different locals comprising the Trades and Labor Council to get the feeling of the members regarding the measure. An official of the council stated Tuesday morning that he understood the majority of the working citizens of the town are in favor of more daylight, but that the railroaders are indifferent to it as they will have to carry on their work under the standard time.

Why not match Jimmy Wilde and Jack Dempsey? A New York boxing fan suggests that such a match might not be so unequal as it sounds, and contends that Wilde is only a few steps out of Dempsey's class after all. Here's the dope to prove it: Jimmy Wilde fought Joe Lynch. Lynch fought Joey Fox. Fox fought Benny Valger. Valger fought Johnny Dundee. Dundee fought Benny Leonard. Leonard fought Jack Britton. Britton fought Mike O'Dowd. O'Dowd fought Jack Dempsey. Turner fought Bat. Levisky. Levisky fought Jack Dempsey. But the poundage is something else again; Jimmy Wilde, 100; Jack Dempsey, 200.

Mrs. Thomas Browning, of Calgary, received a letter the other day from Moscow, Russia, which was mailed in July, 1914, before the war...

Lindsay papers are devoting columns to Cannon Ball Scott these days. Cannon Ball is going to play with Toronto Hillcrests, but the Lindsay Warder is slipping in the slippery slant...

O'Connell, of Cornwall, a few days ago, was in the city. He was in a lumber camp all winter and the Lindsay people want him barred from the O.B.A.A. finals because of the residence rule.

The Warder has to thank the jovial Lou Marsh for the above roast but after considering that Lou was possibly out the night before, Lindsay baseball fans will excuse him.

But we want to say for Lou's special benefit, that Cannon Ball Ed. Scott is the candy kid in Lindsay and the Warder, but voices the sentiments of a host of fans when it says that although Lindsay would like to see Scotty mount the slab here again this season, they are at all times reasonable.

Arnprior Board of Education has granted a bonus of $100 to each of the high school teachers. Salaries range from $2,000, paid the principal, down to $1,200. Each of the five teachers had asked for a salary increase, but the board thought it inadvisable to grant such a request in the middle of the school term.

Mary Pickford, her present husband, Douglas Fairbanks and her former husband, Owen Moore, have no fear that success will meet the Nevada Attorney-General's suit to annul the Moore divorce by which Miss Pickford was left free to marry one of the leading industrial capitalists of the United States.

At a special meeting of the officers, executive and shareholders of the Ottawa Amateur Baseball Association held last Friday night in Welsh's Parlors, the more important matters that were delaying the progress of the local club were cleared up and satisfactory arrangements were made so that they are now practically prepared to go ahead with the baseball season.

These strips are twisted and then treated with a special mixture to preserve them from damp. After this treatment this paper yarn can be woven into almost any kind of material varying from coarse canvas, underlinen, and so on. Every kind of material usually made from cotton or wool has been manufactured by Germany from paper yarn. Blankets, dress materials, water-proofs, even towels and stockings, are made from yarn, which stand sending to the laundry almost as well as ordinary cotton goods.

A curious manner of outwitting the prohibition law has been discovered in New York hotels. The law prohibits the drinking of liquors but says nothing about eating it, and so edible dishes containing quantities of wines have tended to transfer the bar-room to the dining-room. The license officials, however, are jealous of their rights and strict supervision assures that none of the saucers or in other ways in which the implication of drinking might exist. True, some people might be said to sip such, but then a few used to sip wine in days gone by!

Belleville is neither better nor worse than most towns in respect to careless motor driving. The careless ones are not all immature youths by any means. Some of the worst offenders are men old enough to know better. Warnings appear to be of little use. The only effective way, apparently, to deal with such people is to prohibit them from driving for sufficiently long periods to hand out to them the needed warning. Concerning this form of insanity an Ottawa paper has this to say: "A motorist having the other day referred to a certain class of pedestrians as 'jay walkers,' the retort, discursive is being made by pedestrians. It is probable that motorists are just as open to the epithet of 'jay-walk' as are pedestrians. There are not a few men and women driving cars in Ottawa today who, either because of temperament or sheer inability to exercise common sense, never should be permitted to sit at the wheel of an automobile. Every hour and every day lives are endangered on our city streets through reckless and foolish conduct of motor car drivers."

Bowmanville, like Belleville, is forming a Chamber of Commerce and the movement is off to a good start. Mr. John Elliott was up there a short time ago as leading speaker at a banquet and gave them a touch of Belleville enthusiasm. A second banquet was held this week and Mr. Elliott was invited back again. He took with him Lt.-Col. Ponton, who delivered the speech of the evening. Concerning the Belleville speakers The Statesman has this to say: "Mr. John Elliott, of Belleville, gave a short talk in which he threw out many valuable suggestions on making the Chamber of Commerce generally helpful and an influence for progress in the community. Much could be accomplished by the farmers and citizens of the town all acting together. He also advocated the forming of a Board of Trade for Eastern Ontario. "The speaker of the evening was Col. W. N. Ponton, of Belleville, who held his audience almost spellbound while he gave an inspiring address full of information and characterized by eloquence and oratory. It was a literary treat which had not been equalled in this town for several years, if ever. He did not confine himself to any particular subject but referred to the commonwealth of free democracy, Imperialism, community spirit, education and good roads movement. "After the farmers had spoken, Col. Ponton took occasion to remark that it had been proven tonight that the farmer is greater than his farm. Mr. Elliott also remarked on the freedom with which they had expressed their thoughts and declared this meeting to be the best he had yet attended."

Growth in the habit of smoking on the part of women has been among the causes for the unprecedented increase in the consumption of tobacco in Great Britain during the past financial year. This announcement was made Wednesday in the House of Commons by J. Austen Chamberlain, chancellor of the Exchequer, in introducing his new budget. When the International Joint Waterways Commission recently announced its itinerary of meetings in connection with the canalization of the St. Lawrence, there was no provision for any gatherings east of Hamilton. Mayor Lewis of Brockville and officials of the Eastern Ontario Municipal Power Union uttered a vigorous protest with the result that Mr. Lewis was informed that a second series of meetings, for the express purpose of interesting in the fall probably in September. These meetings will be held at Toronto, Kingston and Montreal, as well as at points in the Eastern States.

The master barbers of Cornwall, after raising prices some time ago, have made a further advance without any previous notice being served on their customers. From a charge of 25 cents for a hair cut some months ago an advance was made to 35 cents but now a further addition is made for 50 cents in the prevailing price. Hair cutting for children will remain at 25 cents except on Saturdays when the charge will be 50 cents. Other advances made are whiskers trimmed, 25 cents, an extra 10 cents now being added, razors honed, 60 cents, which is an advance of 15 cents. The price of a shave was left at 25 cents.

The American Inspector, Mr. McIntosh, who is issuing identification papers to marine men in Kingston, reports that about 150 men have been issued with the necessary certificates in Kingston so far. The certificate identifies men employed on boats and permits them to travel between American and Canadian ports upon presentation of the certificate. Mr. McIntosh is stationed at the office of the American Consul and marine men are making sure of getting this certificate as otherwise their admission to American ports will be difficult.

Rumors are always prevalent, and baseball circles are no exception. But the latest rumor is of vital importance to baseball fans in the Central Ontario Baseball League. It has been whispered about that Port Hope is going after the championship of the league this season with all sails set to the breeze, and that "Sandy" Lockington's team will not rely on "Finnington" Hills alone to do the twirling, nor on Moyes or Baxter to do the short-stop work. Dame rumor says that a pitcher from Toronto, Ont., and a shortstop from the Lake Shore town for some time past and that they will strengthen the Port Hoppers at least 101 per cent.

Of course, dame rumor is sometimes wrong, and we hope so in connection with the report that Port Hope ball tossers had a good workout on Sunday. We have been of the opinion that Sunday ball was tabooed in Canada.

It is reported that the Georges Hall Coal and Transportation Company of Ogdensburg has purchased a large steel steamer to be added to its fleet this season in the coal and pulp wood trade. When asked regarding the report representatives of the company stated that the negotiations had not been closed.

It is understood that the Fair Price Commission of Lindsay will shortly meet the milk vendors of Lindsay with a view to having a reduction made in price in Lindsay. Prices are beginning to tumble in other towns and cities, and the assertion has been made that milk sold at 11 cents all winter at Cobourg. There is a possibility that prices in Lindsay will be lowered on May 1st.

Milk dealers in London, Ont., are going to open an offensive against the high cost of living. At present 14 tickets are being sold for $1 and probably beginning May 1 another ticket will be added for the same amount. To do this means the price of milk per 100 pounds to the dealer will be reduced about 40 cents. This will bring the cost in the neighborhood of $2.80. It was promised that any reduction in the price to the dealers will be turned over to the benefit of the public.

One had but to take a trip to the waterfront in Kingston to realize that the winter has been a hard one. Immense floes of ice can be seen in the harbor, the only break being the passage through which the steamer Wolfe Islander is making her trips to and from the island.

This is the dirge the baseball players are singing: Nothing but rain! Lord-it gives me a pain. I've hunted and hunted in vain To find a dry spot—a diamond or not. A landscape, or on it a blot. Or a lot where it doesn't rain.

While in Kilmount on business a few days ago, License Inspector Thornbury accompanied Inland Revenue Officer Buller, of Peterboro, to the wild woods on a still hunt. Nearing a ranch, owned by a Lindsay gentleman, and which is situated on the shores of Salmon Lake, in Cavendish township, Peterboro, they met the rancher, Kilmount resident, on his way to the village. He declined a pressing invitation to accompany them back to the house, on a plea of approaching meal-time, but waited for them to inspect.

On arriving at the ranch house they found, contrary to his advice, that all was locked up. Having gained admittance they proceeded to search the house and soon came across a good sized whiskey still, which was not then, but had recently been in operation. Several large and small barrels were found about the place. Although none of the moonshine was found, according to the Inspector a sniff of the atmosphere was as good as a drink. Later, the man who found in Kilmount denied nothing, evincing a desire to have the affair settled quietly if possible. The accused has a reputation in the district.

The men engaged in building the new condensary for Bowes, Limited, of Toronto, in the village of Sydenham, are rushing the work so that the concern will be able to receive milk very shortly. The company is making it one of the most up-to-date condensaries in the eastern part of the province.

Today is St. George's Day and roses were much in evidence. This is also the Shakespeare anniversary. St. Julien Chapter of the Daughters of the Empire last evening held a cafeteria tea at the Y.M.C.A. in honor of St. Julien's Day. The affair was well patronized.

Miss Annie Warner, Secretary of the Dr. Grenfell Labrador Medical Mission, to which a Turbine Wheel was recently given by a number of Belleville citizens, is in town for the purpose of organizing a branch of the mission in Belleville. She will give an address in the High School assembly room on Saturday evening, April 24, at eight o'clock, illustrated by lantern views of Labrador, taken by herself last summer. The public is cordially invited to attend.

Port Hope had better put a boycott on potatoes. There is practically a potato famine in Port Hope at the present time. A few merchants have a very limited supply and are dealing them out by the half peck lot. A local hotelman offered a farmer four dollars a bag Tuesday but was politely informed that his price was seven. Port Hope should take action similar to other towns and refrain from using potatoes until the price comes down to a reasonable figure.

Quite a large number of pickers are being fished out of the Moira River these days. This week a couple of young fellows scooped in three hundred pounds of mullets in a short time.

By May 1st it is expected that the 120 patients in Cobourg Military Hospital will have been transferred to other hospitals. The psychiatric cases will be transferred to the military hospital at London, Ontario, and the other cases to St. Anne de Bellevue, Quebec. Part of the staff of the Cobourg Military Hospital will remain here for a time until the building is handed back to the provincial government, but what they will do with it is at present undecided. Whether it will be sold or used as an asylum for female patients is at present unknown, though several parties are negotiating for it. The latter course is thought most likely. Transferring the patients from Cobourg hospital will commence next week. Since the hospital was used as a hospital for shell shocked patients it has accomplished much good, and the cures have been little short of marvellous. The hospital is equipped with the very latest appliances for this kind of work, and the staff highly efficient. Major E. H. Young is at present officer in charge, and before taking over this work, was engaged in similar work in other public institutions in Ontario.

Mayor Nickle, of Kingston, received a letter from Sir Henry Drayton, member for Kingston, stating that two German guns have been allotted to the city, one for Macdonald park and a smaller one for the Yacht club house. These are the first war souvenirs to be secured for Kingston, although it was understood that a number of guns captured by units commanded by Kingston officers were to go to Kingston.

If the example of one landlord in Cobourg—who is described as a gentleman in the voters' list—is followed by other landlords of other towns, you can hardly blame tenants for waiting to buy their homes. This landlord owns six most-houses which are assessed at about $5,000 altogether. Two months ago the tenants were notified that their rents were to be increased to $17 a month from $15 on account of the landlord having to pay more taxes. On an assessment of $5,000 the landlord receives an income of $1,224 or 25 per cent. This 25 per cent, clearly points out that the landlord is woefully lowly assessed. Where he is paying $200 a year taxes he should be paying $500 if his rents are an average basis for his assessment. And this is the kind of a taxpayer who should pay more taxes.

At a meeting of the board of Sydenham street Methodist church, Kingston, on Sunday morning, it was decided to extend an invitation to Rev. R. H. Bell, pastor of High Park avenue Methodist church, Toronto, to become pastor of Sydenham street Methodist church, commencing June 1921.

It is almost certain that he will accept. A member of the board of Sydenham street church was in conference with Mr. Bell, and he states that Mr. Bell was in accord with the invitation. It is expected that the official acceptance will be received in the course of a day or so.

Rev. Mr. Bell was also invited to become pastor of a leading church in Toronto, and to one of the large Winnipeg churches. He is highly spoken of by the people where he has ministered for several years past.

In police court this morning Mr. C. Ellis was fined $20 and costs for being intoxicated.

Donations to the Jewish Relief Campaign which have been made in Belleville this week are all voluntary subscriptions and total over three hundred dollars. No canvass has yet been made although steps may be taken to put one on here.

Last evening at a meeting of the G.T.R. baseball executive, Mr. Thos. Flegg was appointed manager and coach for the G.T.R. team on the Central Ontario League and the O.B.A.A. Mr. Flegg was last year's manager.

A most unusual sight for Peterboro was witnessed Thursday morning when the ten employees of the G.T.R. freight shops officially adopted the costume that is fast becoming popular throughout Canada and the United States—a set of overalls and a smock.

Wednesday the clerks propose to invade the downtown emporiums and exchange from $4 to $6 for an outfit worthy of anyone. Thursday morning for the first time they will grace their figures with the garb and do their share to bring down the high cost of clothing.

The G.T.R. office employees have taken the initiative. It only remains for other offices to follow their example.

There is a stirring of the imagination in a letter that has come to Winnipeg from the battlefields of Belgium. Last September, C. H. Wilson, Winnipeg, inserted an advertisement in the local paper of Roulers, Belgium, asking for information of the grave of his son, Lieut. C. M. Wilson, who met his death while serving with the British Air Force, and whose grave was believed to be located in that district. Mr. Wilson has received a long letter from a Belgian citizen, giving details of the fight in which Lieut. Wilson lost his life. An eye-witness supplied the information that Lieut. Wilson had been killed in an air battle with the Germans on Oct. 7th or 8th, 1918, just before the big German retreat. He was buried where his machine fell on a farm near the little town of Rumbek.

The eye-witness, the letter states, saw the fight open between three British and four German machines. One of the British machines was surrounded by four Germans, yet he kept up the fight. Two of the British continued battle against the other two, the two other British machines for some unknown reason dropped out of the battle. While engaged in a machine-gun fight, the lone British machine must have been damaged, or the aviator wounded, and the aviator commenced to descend. About 1,000 yards from the earth the machine took fire, but the men apparently kept it under control. This was verified by the eye-witness when he came across the machine, which was not badly damaged. The dead aviator was strapped in his seat with his hands on the control wheel. Apparently he had been shot, but had lived long enough to bring the plane to earth.

The parents of many a man who claims to be self-made went hungry in order to save money to help him get a start.

Things we didn't do we regret most.

DR. JAMES S. SPRAGUE.

This sad old earth has far too few of the companionable and warm-hearted men of the type of Dr. James S. Sprague, whose genial spirit yesterday morning took its flight to another world.

The writer recalls one notable contest Dr. Sprague entered into against storm and disease and the physician's skill and determination won out against both. While one of the worst blizzards that ever passed over this section of Ontario was raging he was summoned to attend a three-year-old child, eight miles away from Stirling, among the hills of Huntingdon.

The child had been suddenly stricken with an acute inflammation and was hovering between life and death. The doctor did not hesitate a moment but fought his way through the accumulating drifts and finally reached the bedside of the dying child.

That simple incident is but one of the many in the long and honorable career of a man who regarded the healing art, not as a means of money-grabbing, but as a privilege to serve and relieve.

A MOVE BACKWARDS.

There is general and deep disappointment over the retrograde movement by the city council in its decision to make Pinnacle street a second-rate lane rather than a broad, beautiful business thoroughfare.

The council at its last meeting determined by resolution to go ahead and pave a narrow strip along one side of the street and leave the balance just as it is—railroad, weeds, mud and rubbish.

It is true a petition was presented to the council, signed by several who happen to own or rent property along the lower end of the street asking that the track be left where it is.

Everyone, of course, understands the motive, prompting several of the petitioners, to desire the retention of the railroad in its present position at the side of the street.

But the Ontario desires to inform the petitioners that within a very few months there will be no more loading or unloading of cars along Pinnacle street.

casation a far more frequent use of the Pinnacle street line for the transfer of cars and trains. The blocking of the line by cars in the process of loading or unloading will be no longer permissible.

The standing-car privilege was the true reason back of the petition. The reasons or arguments actually put forward will not bear serious investigation.

This is nonsense. As a matter of fact the diversion to the center could be made in considerable less than one hundred feet.

How? In what way? If the street it to be paved "from curb to curb," as the petitioners very properly ask for, we challenge any one of the petitioners to show that it will cost either the railway or any property-holder one cent more to have the track laid in its proper and natural position in the center of the street than it will to relay it at the side of the street.

In fact the leaving of it at the side will cost considerably more because of the inconvenience to the paving company in making proper arrangements for drainage and to secure the right curve or slope.

There is only one proper place for the track and that is to have it paved in at the center of the street. It then practically disappears from view and affords the minimum of obstruction to traffic.

Pinnacle street would then come into its own as a real highway instead of a lop-sided botch. Property values would speedily mount up and house-holders along the west side would be relieved of an ill-appearing incubus.

But far more important still is the interest of the entire city in having another main thoroughfare to relieve the intolerable congestion along Front street. Pinnacle street affords the shortest and most convenient route between the two stations.

Since the crime was first committed of granting a franchise for the building of this track down Pinnacle street there has never been anything like so favorable an opportunity to get rid of what has always been to our citizens a potent cause of inconvenience and a conspicuous eye-sore.

The Grand Trunk must, in any event reconstruct the Pinnacle street track forthwith pavement or no pavement. The old ties are rotted and in dangerous condition.

Why not combine the two processes and secure a result that will be permanently satisfactory? In all human probability there will never be so favorable an opportunity again.

The council, has, by passing its retrogressive resolution, taken up a position sharply at variance with public opinion. We can scarcely conceive of them persisting in this incredible folly to the obvious injury of the community interest.

The commission of the original municipal crime was bad enough by the council that first granted the charter. To perpetuate the condition created by that crime, in the light of full knowledge and of bitter experience, by our own studied and deliberate action in the year 1920, is unthinkable worse.

But, regardless of what the council may or may not do in reference to this pavement, the council should insist upon a proper response to its communications from the Grand Trunk Railway Company.

The overall crusade is about as foolish and futile a humbug as has hit the North American continent in a long time. It is not merely futile but has already produced several mischievous results.

By millionaires and well-to-do business men suddenly entering the market for overalls, a scarcity has been created in that essential of the mechanic's equipment, for which no adequate provision can be made.

The overall crusade is about as foolish and futile a humbug as has hit the North American continent in a long time. It is not merely futile but has already produced several mischievous results.

centers where the fad has caught on in a strong manner. The real workmen are therefore obliged to pay just about three times as much for overalls as before, because of the millionaire competition.

Many of those who have recently fallen a prey to the blue denim epidemic have a dozen or more expensive suits in their wardrobes. If such men are really anxious to conserve wool supplies and thereby reduce clothing costs let them refrain from buying any new suits for the next four or five years.

It may require more courage to wear a patched garment at work in a city office than to appear in a spick and span outfit of jeans but patches would create no further scarcity in the sadly depleted wool and cotton markets.

But it is to be hoped that the overall campaign will direct attention to the riotous extravagance in clothing as in everything else that has possessed the people of this country for several years past.

In no line has the extravagance of the general public manifested itself more prominently than in clothing. The demand has not been for the reasonably priced but for the best of everything and costs have merely corresponded.

One clothier has expressed the following opinion, "Just as long as folks who work for wages demand fifteen-dollar silk shirts, three-dollar silk neckties, and two-and-a-half-dollar socks, they will get them. And while they are buying that sort of stuff you may lay your heaviest bet on their also buying the best suits of clothing the market affords."

Any Belleville dealer will support the statement that the highest priced lines are those most in demand these days. The cure is in the public's own hands.

NUMBER TWO.

Number Two of The Chamber of Commerce Bulletin has been issued and distributed among the members. The periodical has grown in importance, and is even more interesting and suggestive than its predecessor.

This last number is a sort of antidote for those who are suffering from chronic pessimism and who seek to infect all the neighbors with the germs. We cannot forbear quoting a delicious paragraph or two from the admirable article reproduced in yesterday's issue, "New Spirit of Morale in Civic Affairs."

The men who led our troops will tell you that their greatest enemies, a menace more deadly than the Hun and his diabolical methods of warfare, were the people in our own ranks who were forever saying "It can't be done;" the calamity howlers who deprecated every move or plan.

Every community has its quota of what has been aptly termed "crape hangers." They are full of action but they are walking backwards; they look upon the world through yellow glasses and their perspective would fit in a key-hole with room to spare.

That Belleville has a few of such people is only what might be expected; perhaps they are more to be pitied than censured. As humanity must at times bear its crown of thorns, so must a community bear its crown of "Johns." But let us not be down-hearted.

LIBERAL LEADER BREAKS SILENCE

The Liberal leader, unable to endure longer the lying insults in various quarters as to his work during the war, has broken silence on himself in a speech of remarkable dignity and simple power.

Nothing could be simpler and more unpresentiously effective than Mr. King's "apologia pro vita sua," as Cardinal Newman put it. It smashes down kindly but finally all the viperous twaddle that has been spewed at him from irresponsible and malicious people and papers.

A trained economist and an expert in the relations between labor and capital, Mr. King had at the age of 40 to make his choice with the rest of us as to what he should do in 1914? Should he drop his studies, drill for the trenches, and then perhaps at his age, lie around home or England, posing as a soldier and patriot, "the hero of a hundred fields unfought," drawing pay and wearing feathers, ducking everything but easy glory; or should he turn his studies and skill to soldier account for the Allies? He did the latter.

He did the latter. He worked for the Rockefeller Foundation, which has nothing to do with Standard Oil, but was the first organization in the United States to come to the relief of the Belgians in the matter of food and clothing. It gave millions of dollars to Red Cross and Y.M.C.A. work, aided the Poles, Rumanians and Serbs, fitted out hospitals, etc.

Mr. King read letters from coal and steel companies bearing testimony to the splendid work he had done toward speeding up the production of war materials for the Allies through the accomplishment of better relations between capital and labor, employer and employee, in the establishment of industrial councils.

Here was a work of the utmost importance to the Allied interests. Mr. King seized upon the crucial scene of the war and made himself a power there. He did much to thwart the active exertions of pro-German workers in the United States, who sought to paralyze or retard the industrial output. Mr. King fought on that difficult ground and won!

Not only far-sighted public policy called him to a work near home. Private circumstances of tragic character kept him a resident of Ottawa even while he was carrying on his great and fruitful exertions in the United States. Mr. King completely disposes of the lying charge that at the outbreak of war he deserted his country.

If nations need a league of peace with a tribunal to settle differences, the same is becoming true of the different sections of any modern industrial community. Ill-will is rapidly approaching the point of chaos. All that remains is the formation of a big salaried and professional people's union to buck both profiteers and labor strikes, such as is getting under way in Great Britain.

When the teachers, clerks, and others, are all organized and have forced up their wages about the same percentage of increase as all the other occupations have done, why not then all agree in national convention, or internationally as on, say, daylight saving, to revert to the prices and wages of 1900? If nearly all have advanced about the same, at the expense of a few widows, ministers and retired people, would it not be better to retreat and be "as you were"?

Human nature is making a lamentable exhibition of itself. Each trade and each business in turns boost wages or prices to steal a march for a moment on the others. Then all the others strike back, with interest perhaps. A few cunning of lucky people get decided advantages, all the rest lose in proportion. It is time that not merely capital and labor "got together," but the whole community in a great convention. It ought to be decided, as far as possible by general consent, whether all are to be paid equally for honest service, as Fabians have advised, or according to what scale the various types of work should be paid. Old traditional standards of wages and prices have been cast away. The time is coming for a new adjustment, if possible by general agreement, in an industrial League of Peace.

Whatever the transgressions of her rulers, Russia needs help to get on her feet again.

The Toronto women have banded themselves together to fight the high cost of existence. The price must come down, is their slogan.

They left to mourn their loss five girls and one boy, all grown up, all residing at Baptiste Lake. Four are married and Miss Susie Baptiste is at home. Citizens Honor Memory of Little Girl

Seldom is such whole-hearted tribute paid to the memory of a child as was shown by all classes yesterday afternoon to the late Elizabeth Nelson (Betty) Lewis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Lewis and granddaughter of Mayor Riggs. Her obsequies were attended by those of all ranks and ages. The Rev. Chas. G. Smith, B.A., D.D., of Temple Baptist Church, Montreal, at the request of the parents and grandparents, was in charge of the services, which were held at the home of Mayor Riggs, 118 Bridge street east. Prof. Anglin and Prof. Staples sang a duet, "The Morning Land," and Prof. Staples rendered the solo, "Some Day, Some Time." The Rev. A. S. Kerr, M.A., of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, read the memorial Scripture lesson. The Rev. William Harris Wallace, as pastor of the family, delivered the sermon. He spoke on the three windows: the window of immortality, assured to us in Scripture, for David said on the loss of his child that he would not come back to him, but he (David) would go to the child; the window of hope—the promise of Jesus who said not to despise the little ones; for Heaven is peopled with them; the window of faith, which explains the mystery of pain. The pastor referred to the precociousness of Betty, and her tender heart. The Rev. Mr. Smith gave a very sympathetic address on the subject, "Is it well with the child?" (II Kings 4:25). Six Easterides ago, he said, this little light was sent into their home, and they called her by the sweet pet-name, "Betty." In time that little light shone through the community to a remarkable degree by reason of her winsomeness and precocity. The presence of so many at her obsequies was in itself an expression of that feeling. The many flowers banked about the casket came from all sorts and conditions of men, from the little tow-headed playmates to those whose heads were crowned with the snows of winter. The minister repeated the words of John Greenleaf Whittier as best expressing the feelings of all:

GONE
Another hand is beckoning us.
Another call is given;
And glow's once more with angel-steps
The path which reaches heaven.
Our young and gentle friend, whose smile
Made brighter summer hours,
Amid the frosts of autumn time,
Has left us with the flowers.
The light of her young life went down,
As sinks behind the hill
The glory of the setting star,—
Clear, suddenly, and still.
As pure and sweet, her fair brow seemed
Eternal as the sky;
And, like the brook's low song, her voice,—
A sound which could not die.
And half we deemed she needed not
The changing of her sphere,
To give to heaven a shining one,
Who walked an angel here.
The blessing of her quiet life
Fell on us like the dew;
And good thoughts where her footsteps pressed,
Like fairy blossoms grew.
Sweet promptings unto kindest deeds
Were in her very look;
We read her face as one who reads
A true and holy book.
We miss her in her place of prayer,
And by the hearth-fire's light;
We pause beside her door to hear
Once more her sweet "Good Night!"
There seems a shadow on the day,
Her smile no longer cheers;
A dimness on the stars of night,
Like eyes that look through tears.
Alone unto our Father's will
One thought hath reconciled;
That He whose love exceeded ours
Hath taken home His child.
Fold her, O Father! in thine arms,
And let her henceforth be
A messenger of love between
Our human hearts and thee.
Still let her mild rebuking stand
Between us and the wrong,
And her dear memory serve to make
Our faith in goodness strong.
And grant that she, who trembling here,
Distrusted all her powers,
May welcome to her holier home
The well-beloved of ours.
"Today, after but six short summers, we lay her to rest in the kindly heart of the green mound, Belleville's God's acre; and we say to her, not "good-night" nor "farewell" but only "good-bye and in some brighter clime we will bid you good morning." Is it well with little Betty? If it is not, then I could not stand here and conduct the memorial services. Yes, it is well with her. Her pure redeemed soul released from all pain, has passed into that Paradise of Him who said, "Suffer little children to come to me." This is the silver lining to our dark cloud today, and this is our radiant hope. This earth today seems to us poor and vast with all its life joys overcast, but we say to our hearts—Hush! be every murmur dumb; it is only till He come. Heaven will never seem far away to us again now that this sweet child is there. Heavy on lies about us in our infancy, says the poet, and the joy of Heaven is enhanced as we think of our children there, and where our treasure lies, there will our hearts be also. And in this assurance we find rest and assurance to our souls.

The bearers were P. C. MacLaurin, Albert Blackburn, Chas. Treverton, E. I. Mooney, Victor Lewis and John Lloyd.
At the graveside in Belleville cemetery the Rev. Chas. G. Smith officiated and the Rev. D. C. Ramsay of John Street Presbyterian Church pronounced the committal rites.
The little grave was covered with a wealth of flowers of all designs and from all classes of people.

A Springtime Sermon

Delivered Recently By Rev. W. Harris Wallace, of Victoria Avenue Baptist Church.

"GROW IN GRACE"
"Grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ." H. Peter 3:18.

These are days of Spring, and day unto day uttereth speech. Nature speaks to us, even in the city, of growth. Through wood and stream and field and hill and ocean, A quickening life from the earth's heart has burst. As it has ever done, with change and motion, From the great morning of the world when first God dawned on chaos.

Growth is spread before our eyes in the world of nature. We see on every side the evidences of new life springing with promise of ripening. But do we see it in our inner life? Here co-operation with God's purpose is required from us, a conscious identification of ourselves with His moving life. In the soul we do not grow because it is the season of growth, our increase of vitality depends upon the exercise of our wills and minds, as we keep in touch with the divine purpose which is going forward in the world. But how do we grow? What are the factors that make us vital and progressive, keeping the mind and spirit fresh and bringing to maturity the purpose of God in man?

First, we must resolve to apprehend that for which we have been apprehended of God. We have capacity for the divine nature and that is acquired by the energy of God's grace working in us to will and to do of God's good pleasure. Grace is the New Testament word for power that works in us. We have saving grace, for we are "saved by grace." The grace of salvation hath appeared to all men. That is the revelation of God's love in Jesus Christ. That grace is the power of God to save us. It overcomes the power of sin in us. So we read, "Where sin hath abounded grace does much more abound." Then we receive grace for services, "saved to serve." God gives to all his people, no exception—may be only one talent—gifts of grace to serve one another, for the perfecting of the body of Christ. "And ye shall receive power after that the Holy Spirit hath come upon you"—That is the grace we all need today to be efficient for service. Grace for growing, is what we have to consider today. The grace of giving we can take up another day.

When we are saved by grace we have power to appropriate the things of the spirit of God—the love of God, which is shed abroad in our hearts by the Holy Spirit. We must grow in the grace of love—"The greatest thing in the world." "Without faith it is impossible to please God, for he that cometh to God must believe that He is a rewarder of them that diligently seek Him." "Grow in art." But we must have the love of art and capacity for art in the soul. So it is with growth in grace. Growth is a duty, because we are not plants but men. God commands the will and we must, like Paul, ask our Lord, "What wilt Thou have me to do?" Then we will resolve to be and do all that our Master commands. Life is a warfare and that means effort—"Fight the good fight of faith." Life is a race, there is a goal set before us and we must run with patience and means, according to New Testament teaching, a process toward perfection—"First the blade, then the ear and then the full corn in the ear." "The surfeit of the fittest."

We have capacity to perceive the Divine character—"Grow in grace and in the knowledge of our Lord and Saviour Jesus Christ" by union and communion with Christ. This is also a duty of the mind and of the will, to sit at the feet of Jesus, like Mary of Bethany, and learn of Him. We have so many babes in Christ, who have need of milk and not meat, who can never teach others because they never taught themselves. After ten, twenty, thirty or forty years, what progress have they made in the knowledge of Christ? A good man who had worked and walked with his Lord for many years and he was speaking to a few familiar friends, said, "I feel as if I have only investigated a small garden-bed and there is a continent still before me!" He speaks for many of us, in view of our knowledge of the Bible and of Christ Jesus as Saviour and Lord. We are like children by the way for greater glories.—Seneca.

Corns are caused by the pressure of tight boots, but no one need be troubled with them long when so simple a remedy as Holloway's Corn Cure is available.
Often times calamity turns to our advantage; and great ruins make way for greater glories.—Seneca.

Dr. Clarence Salisbury, superintendent of the College and Hospital at Nodas on the island of Hainan, China, speaking at the Tabernacle Methodist Church last evening gave to the large congregation a remarkable insight into conditions as he found them in China. Dr. Salisbury is a native of Moira, Ont., and a son of Mrs. and Mrs. Esley Salisbury, of Oakland, California. He is a graduate of Boston College of Physicians and Surgeons and Medicine, while Mrs. Salisbury is a graduate of the Philadelphia School of Nurses. Dr. and Mrs. Salisbury were sent to China six years ago by the American Presbyterian Missions.

Dr. Salisbury's message was the straightforward story of conditions as they appear to a medical man in the Orient. He opened his address with a short survey of the vast resources of China with its teeming millions and its undeveloped wealth in minerals and timber. The country is, however, backward, following old customs. Merchandise is carried by men, who bear a load of one hundred and fifty pounds for thirty or forty miles. The government is very unsettled. The only sign of it is the heavy tax for which little returns are given to the people by the officials. A petty official will pay $2,000 or $3,000 for a job of $300 per annum, although he knows he will not hold it for more than five or six months. They do not succeed by graft. Oftentimes a large city is turned over to the soldiers for looting and they strip everything. There is absolutely no redress.

Labor is cheap in the Celestial Kingdom. The laborer receives seven or eight cents per day and the skilled carpenter six or seven dollars per month. China has four hundred dialects making communication difficult to the Chinese as well as foreigners. On the island of Hainan where Dr. Salisbury has been laboring there are seven or eight dialects. The hospital nurses and attendants require a knowledge of five or six of these in order to be able to get along with the patients. The religions of China are numerous. All worship ancestors and spirits. The people are just as sincere in their idol, spirit and ancestor worship as we are in the love of Christ. Christianity brings the gospel of love. In the Chinese religions there is no love, all is fear and cruelty. The people fear to go out after dark, being afraid of spirits.

Work at the hospital and college is organized along three lines—evangelistic, educational and medical. The early years in Hainan were very discouraging but now there are large colonies of Christians on the island. It means suffering to these people to be Christians. It means the loss of ancestral property and often banishment from their towns. There are cases where these people have been beaten to death for no recanting. Chinese missions are growing more and more self-supporting. There has been an outbreak of Christianity among an aboriginal tribe, not Chinese, but similar to our Indians. They have twenty chapels of their own. The women of this tribe can many of them read and write.

Schools were established as soon as the mission was opened. It is from these that workers are obtained. The medical work is very important. Christ was the first medical missionary. Sickness was often the means of opening a province or a city in the early days. Many people become interested in Christianity while they are in the hospital. Instances of the cruelty of the Chinese physicians were given. Medical missionary work is a practical demonstration of Christian love. This is what leads so many to turn to Christian care and then religion. The kindness shown in a Christian hospital as compared with the cruelty and neglect under Chinese treatment is a proof to them of Christian sympathy.

Today is the day of opportunity for Christianity in China. But no one knows how long the doors will remain open. The majority of the people in Hainan are kindly disposed towards the Christians. There is a real yellow peril if we do not seize the opportunity. If we do it will be a golden blessing. Both men and money are required for Chinese missions. Each one should have a part in the salvation of China. The Rev. Wesley Elliott was in charge of the service.

Tribute to Dr. J. S. Sprague

Physician Buried with Masonic Honors at Stirling

All that was mortal of the late Dr. James Sylvanus Sprague was laid to rest on Saturday afternoon with full Masonic honors in Stirling cemetery in the vicinity in which he had spent so many years as a physician. At his home at 187 George street, all classes met on Saturday afternoon to pay their last tribute. The service was conducted by Rev. A. S. Kerr, M.A., pastor of St. Andrew's Presbyterian church, who delivered a short address on the text Psalm 23-4. "Yes though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death I will fear no evil for Thou art with me, Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me."

These are words which speak of a great confidence. The prophecy has been fulfilled and death has become for true Christians what the Psalmist imagined here—only a shadow. True it is dark and terrible but it is only a shadow. Christ has made the valley certain qualities of soul are required. Courage is one of the qualities most needed. The Psalmist rejoiced in its possession for he says "I will fear no evil." Even when men know that it is love that leads them into the valley it is natural for the human heart to shrink and fear in the entering. It is even said of the disciples that they feared as they entered the cloud—bright though it was. Imagination people the valley with shapes of terror. But it is possible for all—even little children, to possess a fearless courage for the experience. On what does it rest? Not on the thought that there is no evil there. Nor does it rest on the idea that we are sufficient of ourselves to cope with the evil. But rather in the faith that the God who has led us, the Good Shepherd who has guided us through so many perils will not desert His sheep in the hour of danger. Companionship is another thing needed for a safe journey through the valley. Most people will agree that it is the loneliness of death which constitutes its chief dread. If we could die in families, if hand in hand we would move down the dark valley death would lose much of its horror and gloom. But each must die for himself even though he may die with others. The Psalmist rejoiced in the consciousness of a strong and gracious presence—"for Thou art with me" is his affirmation. Then it is clear now is the time to make that companionship firm and real. To live day by day in conscious enjoyment of His strong presence so that when we enter the shadow it will still be "with God onwards". "Who shall separate us from the love of God?" Yes there is a strong companionship which is able to match the loneliness of the valley of the shadow of death. Comfort also is needed and this too the Psalmist rejoiced in "Thy rod and Thy staff they comfort me." Now comfort in the Bible sense does not mean to smooth, to quiet, to burst down but it means to give strength. It means to gird with strength, to stimulate. That is Bible comfort. "Thy comfort me," that is they make me so strong that I take up death and in the great struggle I fling him in the dust.

Death! I know not what room you are adding in But I will go my way, Rejoicing day by day, Nor will I flee or stay, For fear I tread the pathway you may be hiding in.
Death! I know not if my small barque be nearing you, But if you are at sea, Still there my sail floats free, What is to be will be Nor will I mar the happy voyage by fearing you.
Death! I know not what hour or spot you wait for me, My days untroubled flow, Just trusting as I go, For oh, I know, I know Death is but life that holds some glad new fate for me.

In this spirit we believe our departed friend lived and died. His was an unostentatious spirit. His was a quiet and untroubled life. He bore physical weakness in an uncomplaining, cheerful spirit. A man of versatile gifts, who found life intensely interesting—a man of great kindness of heart, a man who lived a useful life in his chosen profession as well as in the community in which he lived by filling many public offices—a doctor, a scholar, a writer, a friend of man has gone to his reward. During the service the hymn—

Rock of Ages" was sung. The bearers were Dr. Geo. Faulkner, Dr. J. J. Farley, J. A. Campion, S. Russell, B. Mallory and Sheriff M. B. Morrison. The funeral cortege was formed and proceeded to Stirling. At the outskirts of the village the Masonic brethren of Stirling lodge met the remains and escorted them to the grave, where the interment took place with Masonic honors.

CHILD DIED OF HER INJURIES

Keitha Kathleen Garbutt Was Burned While Playing with Matches.

The death occurred this morning of Keitha Kathleen Garbutt, aged 4 years and 2 months, daughter of Mr. J. R. Garbutt, Front of Thurlow. A week ago Saturday the child and another were playing with matches upstairs at home and the clothing of Keitha caught fire. Her burns were very extensive.

H. C. of L. Cause of Horrible Tragedy

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Apr. 26—During a discussion regarding the high cost of living, Dr. Charles E. Nary, Dentist, seized a paring knife at his home here today, cut his wife's throat, inflicted superficial wounds on his sister-in-law and cut his own throat. Mrs. Nary died a few minutes later. Mrs. Nary, the physicians say, cannot survive. The police reports were that Nary flew into a rage when his wife pleaded for an increased household allowance.

Force, if Necessary, to Handle Germany

SAN REMO, April 26—The Supreme Council today adopted the Franco-British declaration with regard to Germany after inserting a clause declaring its readiness to take all measures, even occupation of additional German territory if necessary, to assure the carrying out of the Versailles Treaty. The adoption of this clause gave rise to some discussion, Premier Nitti of Italy opposing military measures. The British, French, Belgian and Japanese representatives pointed out the necessity of considering such an event.

Talk of the Town And of the Country

The Belleville Industrial Corporation has done great good to the city since its inception a few months ago, in interesting new manufacturing enterprises in our city and in the promotion of business ventures worthy of support. Stock has been subscribed by many with the utmost generosity but there is still need for much further in the way of stock subscriptions and active work along that line. Many who could easily give a lift to this laudable movement have not yet done so. It is to be hoped these too will respond in the near future and assist in achieving the goal of a bigger and busier Belleville.

Two bicycles were reported to the police as having been taken by mistake or stolen last evening from Campbell street.

Two children, Jack Clark and Douglas Carr wandered away from home yesterday and were found near the Belleville Hospital.

Last night about eleven o'clock as Mr. Harford Reid, who lives in Thurlow about two miles east of the city on the Kingston road, was driving south along Front street near the Oak Hall, his buggy was struck by an automobile driven by Rev. Rural Dean Swayne, the wheel and axle of the buggy being broken. Rain on the windshield obscured the driver's view. A satisfactory arrangement was made as to the damage.

At the indoor baseball match here a few days ago, a Peterborough youth of seventeen left an overcoat, brown in color, with small check, fitting at the waist-line with belt and buckle. Should it be found Chief Newton will forward it to the boy's mother, who has written inquiring for it.

Owners of automobiles in Kingston must toe the mark. If they do not live up to the rules of the road, there is sure to be trouble coming their way. In police court, Tuesday, one driver was fined $5 and costs for allowing his car to stand too close to the curb, while another was fined a similar amount for leaving his car too near a crossing.

Two years ago a cow belonging to Mr. T. J. Southworth, of Campbellford, gave birth to twin heifer calves—grade Holstein and Ayrshire. They were nicely marked, one being white with black ears and the other white with black rings around the eyes. They grew to be very fond of each other and would always help one another if attacked by other cattle or by dogs.

This spring, Black Ears, one of the heifers, died, although everything that veterinary skill could do was done to save her. Mr. Southworth became very much attached to the twins and estimates his loss at $200. He is very grateful for the assistance rendered by his neighbors. Citizens of Kingston who are the owners of automobiles are delighted that the hands of the law have been placed on some of the boys who have been stealing cars. Last year a number of citizens had their cars stolen. In nearly every case, the cars were left on some road after injury had been done to them.

A prominent down-town citizen of Kingston is mourning the loss of nine cases of gin and six cases of whiskey.

The liquor was in the citizen's cellar, and the party or parties who made the haul evidently had a tip as to it being there. The liquor was stolen one night when no person was home. While the man of the house was enjoying himself at a moving picture show the theft was pulled off.

An American bishop, writing in the London Times, devotes nearly three columns of valuable space to a denunciation of Professor Leacock's recent attack on prohibition. Probably nobody will derive so much enjoyment from the denunciation as Professor Leacock himself, who is one of the most persistent of living humorists.

The men engaged in tearing down the buildings to make ready for the Allen theatre on Princess street, Kingston, are proceeding rapidly with the work. It will only be a few days until the work on the foundation will be commenced.

On Tuesday Campbellford had a large and unusual party of visitors. The Northumberland Paper and Electric Co. invited the members of the Canadian Paper Box Manufacturers Association to come and visit the plant and see how the product of which the members of the Association are the principal users, is made.

They left Toronto on Monday night and came right through by special Pullman car, which was brought up on the morning train on Tuesday, and returning, was taken back on the afternoon train.

After having breakfast the party, which numbered about 35, went down to the paper mill and spent the morning in going through the plant; and also through the courtesy of Mr. Brunelle they were shown over the pulp mill.

After the very excellent dinner which was provided at Long's, and Mayor Hay had extended a word of welcome, a few speeches were made and those who spoke all mentioned their appreciation and interest in their visit.

Prof. Morrison, Queen's University, Kingston, is an ardent lover of walking. One afternoon, while a student at Oxford, as he was reading an essay on the subject, he found the statement that the best walking test for an Englishman was that from Oxford to Cambridge, a distance of eighty miles. Only one man had done it, in twenty-four hours. "Tomorrow there will be another!" said Morrison. He took a good night's rest, made an early start and the next day was seen walking down the main street of Cambridge, watch in hand, exclaiming "four miles an hour and thirty seconds to the good."

Ross Dennis, aged 19, who was let go on suspended sentence on April 9 by Judge Roger at Cobourg on two charges of shop breaking at Warkworth and Cobourg, was brought back to goal last Thursday on a theft charge. When Dennis left court on April 9, a farmer named Zufelt, living near Warkworth, gave him a job. Last Thursday morning Dennis got up early, complaining of not being able to sleep. He disappeared from the house, and with him $76 belonging to Zufelt. Constable Phillips, of Warkworth, located Dennis near Rosenbath the same day, and committed for trial, being brought to Cobourg goal in the afternoon. This was Dennis' fourth conviction, he having been a prisoner in Mimico industrial school before his last two shop-breaking episodes in Cobourg and Warkworth. On Saturday Dennis came up before Judge Roger in the county judge's criminal court, and, pleading guilty, was given not less than six months or more than one year on the former as well as the last charge, the sentences to run concurrently.

W. R. Spence, organist in St. James' church, Perth, is the winner of the first prize offered by the Lorenzo Music Publishing Co., of Dayton, Ohio, for the best church anthem. The anthem, which is for the Easter festival, is entitled "Wake to Greet the Day of Gladness," words by Mrs. Spence and music by Mr. Spence. Mr. and Mrs. Spence are receiving the congratulations of their friends.

The Canadian Jewish War Relief campaign to raise $1,000,000, of which $10,000 is asked for Kingston for the relief of suffering in Central and Eastern Europe, has made an encouraging start. There are hundreds of thousands of children in Poland, Czechoslovakia and Roumania left helpless and homeless by the war, and it is especially on their behalf that this humanitarian work has been undertaken.

On May 29th, Arrnprior is, says the Chronicle, to witness a most interesting and impressive ceremony, when in the church of St. John Chrysostom two young men of the diocese, in the persons of Rev. Cornelius J. Sullivan, Arrnprior, son of the late John Sullivan, and Rev. Jas. Shruder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Shruder, Egansville, will be ordained to the priesthood by Bishop Ryan, Pembroke. It will be the first time the ceremony has been performed in Arrnprior.

The chairman of the Kingston branch of the Navy League of Canada which met Tuesday afternoon, reported to the meeting that Sergt. Leary, through the courtesy of Lt. Col. Etkins, would take charge of the band of the Naval Brigade. The band will be composed of eighteen boys, twelve of whom will play flutes and six bugles with three drums.

The training and organizing of the band will commence on Tuesday evening next. The meeting endorsed the selection. The committee appointed to arrange for the exhibition of the Naval Brigade during the fair week under Mr. Bushell reported, and the meeting instructed the members to make a contract with Mr. Bushell at once. The boys will camp on the fair grounds in tents, a cook will be hired and the brigade fed on the grounds. This it was thought would give the boys a delightful touch of camp life. It was decided to have the Kingston Mayor and City Council officially open the Training Depot of the Boys' Naval Brigade on the 24th of May, having the brigade give an exhibition of drill, signalling, physical drill, etc. on the market square.

While moving household goods at Newboro, James Wright met with a painful accident. He was standing behind the loaded wagon when the horses backed up, pinning him against the end of the house. Three ribs were broken. Mr. Wright has not been in very good health lately and this added misfortune will keep him confined to his home for some time.

Canadians may think they have a complicated method of arriving at the amount of their income tax, but one look at the United States form would convince them that our system, by comparison, is simplicity itself. The Boston Record has evidently become discouraged and hands out this advice: "First, take your income. "Add wife's income. "Divide by your eldest son's age. "Add your telephone number. "Subtract your auto license number. "Add electric light bill. "Divide by number of kilowatts. "Multiply by your father's age. "Add number of gold fillings in your teeth. "Add your house number. "Subtract wife's age (approximately). "Divide by the number of aunts you have. "Subtract the number of daughters. "Multiply by the number of times you have gone up in an airplane. "Subtract your best golf score. "Add a pinch of salt. "And then go out and "Borrow the money and pay the tax."

The beautiful furniture in the Chamber of Commerce offices has been the gift of a few generous members of the Chamber who have given liberal contributions to a fund for that purpose. There is still room for a few further donations in order to complete the good work.

LATE SYDNEY EDWIN STORK The funeral of the late Sydney Edwin ("Lad") Stork who died in Winnipeg on Sunday, was held yesterday from the residence of his parents, William St. to St. Thomas' church, Ven. Archdeacon Beamish officiating at the service which was very largely attended. Interment was made in the family plot in Belleville cemetery. The bearers were Col. E. D. O'Flynn, L. Carr, J. Sargent, E. A. Geen, Fred Chamberlain and Arthur Johnson.

MUSKOKA THIS YEAR Prospects are gratifying this year for a successful summer season in Muskoka and those who were disappointed last season in securing accommodation should apply early and make their reservations at one of the many hotels available. Dr. James V. Gallivan, Peterboro, a Queen's graduate, has left for a three months' post-graduate course in Edinburgh and London hospitals. He will be accompanied as far as London by Bishop O'Brien, and expects to return to Peterboro in August.

Lieut. Col. F. L. Vaux, of the Canadian Permanent Army Medical Corps, a native of Brockville, a graduate of the Brockville Collegiate Institute and a son of Dr. H. E. Vaux—now of Toronto, has been appointed chief medical adviser to the British Red Cross Society at Constantinople, and has already entered upon his duties, having sailed on a British battleship by way of Rome and Malta. Lt. Col. Vaux served overseas during the Great War.

Three Queen's students, who have been eating their meals in company with three lady students at the university, found out to their sorrow last week that they were violating the rules of the student body. Without any warning, a number of the students "rushed" the dining room where they found the three students enjoying their meal. In less time than it takes to tell the tale, the three students were rushed to the gymnasium and thrown into the bath. Two of the students went into the water with their clothes on, while the third removed his clothes, but after he had been in the water a few seconds his clothes were thrown in after him. The three students did not take the warning, but went back to the dining room that same evening. This time a crowd of students made a rush, which resulted in many dishes being broken.

The housing proposition—it is appealing to all. The suggestion made in Kingston that exemption of all general taxes for five years to all builders of houses in 1920 and 1921 is worth the consideration of the Council.

At the end of a war to abolish all war one of the big New York papers proposed that the United States should straightway establish eight or ten more West points for the training of officers, and two or three more naval schools like Annapolis. Such proposals are, no doubt, the natural result of the refusal of the United States, so far, to take its place in the League of Nations and assume its fair share of responsibility for the maintenance of the world's peace.

Thanks to the efforts of the Cobourg Milk Producers' Association and Board of Health more stringent rules as to the sale of milk in Cobourg are to be enacted. Dairies that have been supplying milk that is dirty, low in butter fat or watered will be debarred from selling in Cobourg. And it is about time. Why Cobourg should allow milk to be sold that is refused in Toronto is a mystery. The Cobourg City Dairy has been agitating for such a by-law for some time.

Col. O'Flynn, of Belleville, president of the G.W.V.A., and Capt. (Rev.) Jenkins, of Woodstock, will address a meeting in Victoria opera house, Cobourg, on May 4, under the auspices of the G.W.V.A., on "The Problems of Re-Establishing Returned Soldiers."

Many public school examinations are unnecessary and even harmful, is the opinion of Dean Coleman, of Queen's University. There will be many to agree with him.

JAMES S. SPRAGUE, M.D., DIES OF PNEUMONIA

Well-Known Physician Succumbs to Illness Following Slight Cold—Enjoyed Wide Practice in Humboldt, Iowa, Stirling and Perth, Ontario.

James Sylvanus Sprague, M.D., one of Belleville's best known citizens passed away about two o'clock this morning from pneumonia and pleurisy following a slight cold which he contracted a few days ago. Dr. Sprague was down town on Saturday afternoon last. On Monday he was able to be around, but in the evening he took to his bed. His health had not been the most robust for several years and he did not possess sufficient vitality to combat the pneumonia. The news of his death came as a great shock to his many friends.

Dr. James Sylvanus Sprague was the oldest son of the late Nostrand Sprague, Demorestville, Prince Edward County being born in that village Nov. 27th, 1844. He received his early education in the village grammar school, one of his teachers being Wm. McCabe, late president of the North American Life Insurance Company. At 16 years of age he taught the Benson school near Picton. Then for three years (1861-64) he was a student at Albert College, Belleville. The next year he spent at Victoria University, Cobourg. In 1865-6 he attended Toronto University as a medical student and graduated M.D. at Victoria University in 1869. During the vacation of the college and university course, he taught school at Northport, Demorestville, Montzomery (Ill.) Ottumwa (Iowa) and Millersville (Pa.). He commenced his medical studies with Dr. James F. Curlett.

In 1890 he obtained the honorary degree, M.D., from Trinity University, I. 1869, after graduation he went to Chicago, where for a few months, he was in practice, but preferring a rural practice he went to Humboldt, Iowa, where he remained for more than five years, leaving there in 1874, for Stirling, Ont. where until 1909 he was engaged in active practice, until he then with his family, moved to Perth, Ont. living there and in practice for 187 years, he settled in this city, 187 George street in 1913, preferring life near the scenes familiar to his youth, but his health, although always vigorous, was much impaired since he came to this city, and his leisure moments were devoted to contribution to many medical journals, which for more than fifty years had won for him much provincial recognition, and equally so for his papers to Medical World, Philadelphia; Med. Summary, Philadelphia; Therapeutic Record, Louisville, Ky., etc.

From 1893 to 1897 he was appointed examiner in Medical Jurisprudence, Trinity University, and from 1903 until 1907 he was an examiner in medicine for the College of Physicians and Surgeons of this Iowa Medical Board of Examiners, and in 1909 was given an Honorary Membership of Humboldt Co., Iowa Medical Society, of which in 1870 he was its second president. In 1909 the Doctor made a visit to Humboldt—the locality of his early practice—after an absence of nearly thirty-five years, and the honored reception given to him was duly recorded in The Ontario. Such a kindly greeting, the Doctor much cherished, as the most pleasing of memories.

To medical literature, the Doctor, as stated, contributed very valuable copy, and his publication in 1903 of the work Medical Ethics and Cognate Subjects established his merits, for the work not only in Canada, but in the U.S. had much honor. Manuscripts for his two medical publications, viz: Ideals in Medicine and Religio Medici and the Medical Student and Institutions Medicæ et Aphorismi Medicorum, having been carefully reviewed and arranged, the work of many years and of scholarly consideration and study—were completed very recently and may be published (and with permission) to Sir Wm. Osler—the last named to Sir Clifford Allbutt, Cambridge University. The Doctor was prominently connected with the Masonic order, of which he was an honorary member not only of Stirling Lodge but of Ameliasburg Lodge. He was a member of the Royal Arch Chapter and a member of the Knights Templar Commandery of this city, and for many years was a regular contributor to Canadian Craftsman and U. S. Masonic Journals, with the I.O.O.F., the I.O.F., the A.O.U., W. Chosen Friends, and several other fraternal societies, for which he was medical examiner, when residing in Stirling. He was connected with municipal, especially school interests of Stirling, and was one of the few who earnestly worked for the re-establishment of the Stirling High School.

For twenty-five years he was a license commissioner for North Hastings. At the time of his death he had in preparation another volume of his "Medical Ethics and Cognate Subjects." As one well versed in the Latin and Greek classics, and also in English literature he was well known among his friends and to the columns of "The Ontario" he gave frequently many highly appreciated articles for he had a thorough understanding of the public's likes and dislikes of reading matter.

Not least among the doctor's many gifts was his artistic endowment. He excelled as an artist and left many proofs of this ability in paintings from the great masters. He married the eldest daughter of the late James Haggerty, of West Huntingdon, ex-M.P.P. of North Hastings. She survives with two daughters, Mrs. Fred Girdwood, of Perth and Miss Annie Sprague at home.

Mr. Albro Sprague of Trenton is a brother and Mrs. (Rev.) R. Duke of Toronto is a sister of the deceased. Mr. J. A. Kerr of this city is a brother-in-law.

The funeral takes place tomorrow and interment will be at Stirling.

Dr. Faulkner's Tribute Dr. G. W. Faulkner, of this city was Dr. Sprague's oldest and most intimate friend. Seen by The Ontario this morning, Dr. Faulkner expressed his deep regret at the loss of his co-worker and fellow practitioner. For years, said Dr. Faulkner, we were associated in the most intimate social and professional way. He was about those rare and genial spirits whom we seldom hear adverse criticism. He was always ready to do what he could to advance the community interest but never sought personal preference or selfish promotion. He cared little for public office for office sake but as a member of Stirling High School Board he took a deep interest in affairs, educational and his judgment was highly valued by his colleagues. He maintained a high standard of professional ethics and viewed with aversion any form of quackery or irregular schools of medicine. At Stirling where he made his home for so many years, he had no enemies, but was held in the highest esteem and respect.

To Dr. Faulkner's tribute, The Ontario must add its own word of appreciation of the kind and warm-hearted physician who has now answered his last call.

Our readers will recall the many able articles from his pen that have been appearing in our columns from time to time during the period of his residence in the city. His contributions usually appeared under the initials "J.S.S." or "S.P.Q.R." or the pen-name, "Civis." He had a graceful literary style and a fine appreciation of the best in English and classical authorship. One of the finest examples of the healing art, a true gentleman and a kindly and useful citizen has gone to his reward.

Lightning Dangers of Early Spring

Though electric storms reach their highest frequency during the heat of summer, they often occur in the spring, and fire losses caused by lightning are by no means unknown in April and May.

Lightning rods have proved an almost absolute protection. Only in very rare instances have they been known to fail, and even in these cases, the failure was probably due to defect in installation or to deterioration.

Examine your lightning rod installations for broken insulators, for bends in the cable which allow contact with the framework, or for corrosion where it enters the earth. The latter is an important point. The electricity is carried into the ground by means of the cable but, if it corrodes, and the ground connection is thereby broken, a fire is very liable to result. See to it that the cable is sound and is deep enough in the ground to always be in damp earth.

When building wire fences it is advisable to use ground wires about every five rods. Lightning is attracted by wire fencing and as, during a storm, animals will congregate near fences, many of them are killed by contact with the wire. These ground wires may be of about No. 8 gauge wire, given one turn around each strand of the fence, and carried into the earth beside the fencepost.

Work of the Children's Aid

Superintendent Ruston, Writes Regarding Its Activities.

Editor Ontario.— I am often asked questions in regard to the work of the "Children's Aid Society" and with your permission, I will endeavour to give in this letter a clear idea of our work and to rouse a great interest in the welfare of the children.

It is over 25 years ago that an act was passed by the Ontario legislature for the protection of neglected and dependent children and it is in this act that the work of the "Children's Aid Society" has been undertaken to rescue neglected children from evil environment, from ignorance and vice and to give them the opportunity to become good citizens and so tend to render needless our jails and penitentiaries.

The aims and labors of the society are of two kinds, preventive and corrective. The first includes the study of the general conditions of modern society as they affect the character and welfare of all such children. Such agitation as that, for the better censorship of moving pictures and for the enforcement of the existing age limit regarding juvenile patrons.

The better condition of the home life of the child to create public interest for play grounds, rinks, gymnasiums, bath houses, etc. The tendency is to establish play grounds in the suburbs where land is cheap and they should be just as numerous where congestion and population breeds moral and physical degeneracy. Let children get a same mind in a clean body. Seeing we are going to have a new school, may I say an up-to-date school should have an assembly hall, a gymnasium and swimming tanks, manual and domestic training, special classes for backward children, choral classes for working children, classes for entertainments for parents, boys' clubs, literary societies, a social leader and a social spirit. Cicero recognized the dependence of the mind upon the body, and the relation of exercise to both, when he said: "It is exercise alone which supports the spirits and keeps the mind in vigor." Happy children at play saves a city from falling into the abyss of sordid selfishness and pessimism.

A man becomes a citizen when he is born, not when he is twenty-one. He grows in citizenship, but not into citizenship. Whether he wants to or not, he functions as a citizen when he draws his first breath and whether he wants to or not, he continues to be a citizen, good, bad, or indifferent, until the doors of the other world open to him and close behind him. And it is up to us to try and help him to become a good citizen.

If preventive work could be carried out to a logical and ultimate conclusion it would do away with the need of corrective work. Meanwhile it is under the latter that our work mainly falls. It consists in rescuing helpless children from the cruelty, whether moral or physical, of their environment, or in improving that environment. A very important branch of our work is the warning and admonition and advice given to parents whose children, while not grossly neglected, are still not being given the salutary supervision to which they are entitled. This form of carelessness is often manifested in the failure of the children to attend school. In my own experience with this work every boy charged with a petty crime has proved to be a truant.

We hear much today about conservation of national resources and it is indeed well that Canada be roused to preserve, for the benefit of all, the abounding wealth which Providence has so bountifully bestowed upon us and not permit as in the past, a few grasping individuals to exploit it for their own personal aggrandizement. But there are other things besides the natural wealth of the country without which we cannot become a great nation and fulfill our high destiny which seems to be in store for us. Besides the conservation of natural wealth, important as this is, of a far greater importance it is to conserve human beings. If we permit decadence to go here the hope we entertain for our great Dominion will be blasted. It was Cain, the slayer, who asked: "Am I my brother's keeper?" The Children's Aid Society replies: "I am the keeper of my weak brother's child." The poor you have with you always we are told. Leaving to others the problem of adult failure it is our business not to permit the handicap of poverty to crush the kiddies, but to see that they get their chance in life. We read of a woman born in 1740 who lived a dissolute life and died a drunkard. Her descendants numbered 709. Among them were born 100 out of wedlock, 181 women of immoral life, 142 beggars, 48 House of Refuge inmates and 79 criminals, costing the country, it is estimated, $1,300,000. "Bad blood," say you. "Bad environment," say we. If there had been Children's Aid Societies to take away to places of moral safety that woman's children and her children's children before they emerged from oblivious babyhood, what a different tale would have attached to her issue! We must guard these children from inheriting such tendencies by removing them from the murk of the submerged world into the sunlight of good home conditions and these tendencies would have vanished in a few generations like a fog before the sun. They tell me that the beautiful English rose was once a common brat, but that it was removed from the hedge row and cultivated and it has now become the pride of the English flowers. Not heredity that tells so much as environment.

There is a very mistaken notion with some that the society's shelter is a public institution for the training of neglected children. It is not that it is much better than that, a more charitable and a farm more enlightened method is adopted than herding these poor innocents in the public institution with legal restraints under the control of cold officials where all their associates are of their own class and where they are without the kindly personal attention of a home. The children are not detained in the shelter any longer than it is necessary to prepare them for and to secure foster homes for them. And it is most imperative for the welfare of the work and the child that we obtain for the child a good Christian foster home and not keep them in the shelter. The object of the society is to avoid the institutionalizing of children. No temporary shelter or refuge established under the Children's Protection Act should contain at any one time such a number of children as would give it the character of a juvenile asylum. But finding homes for these children is not the only work undertaken, there is another more onerous but equally important task assumed. The main object of the society is not to remove the children from those who ought to be its natural guardian, but to seek by every possible means to make the parents train their children and treat them kindly, for this object wherever neglect and cruelty is reported the agent of the society visits the parents with them, urges them to do better and if, after repeated visits no improvement is shown, they are summoned before the magistrate who will warn them that unless they reform their children will be taken from them, but if the case seems hopeless, he will commit the children as wards of the society.

There is nothing spectacular in all this as there would be in housing a multitude in a public institute but there is much truer philanthropy resulting in a far deeper and more abiding good.

Two hundred and twenty-nine children have been visited in foster homes during the year. This is a very important part of the work for it enables us to keep in touch with the progress of the children and to maintain legal supervision in the way of school attendance, amount and quality of clothing, sleeping quarters, Christian and moral training, etc. Now you can, no doubt, gather from the preceding part of this letter to a great extent that which we are up against.

We have in the shelter at the present time several fine little boys and girls for adoption, ranging from five months old to ten years. One is a beautiful healthy baby girl, ten months, a perfect picture and another little girl, three years of age, the darling of the flock. What a blessing one of these dear little ones would bring into a home and not only so but the possibilities wrapped up in that young life cannot be estimated. Here is an offer for the truest missionary work without going outside one's own door. We send to others at the end of the earth and our own languish for want of love and care. Take a little boy and train him, then you will be more fit for the foreign field and your sympathy will be broader.

Don't complain when you receive a child and all its "habits" are not good. It is, doubtless, to be pitied because it has had a poor chance. Do remember that it is one of our human kind, that its Heavenly Father is your Heavenly Father and He says that He is a Father of the fatherless.

WEBSTER KELLEY

The funeral services of the late Mr. Webster Kelley were conducted at White's Church, Bayside on Tuesday afternoon, April 20th by Rev. Mr. Mutton the pastor. Deceased was 89 years of age and was only ill about five days, his death being the result of an acute attack of pneumonia.

With the passing away of Mr. Kelley the last of the early pioneers is removed and the oldest resident of our neighborhood, he having spent his life-time here. He was a man most highly respected by every one, a devout Christian, loving father, kind neighbor and friend with all ways a smile and kind word for everybody. He had been in his earlier days a steward of White's Church for over forty years. The Kelley family has been workers in White's Church for over a century and Mr. Webster Kelley's name will be last upon the roll, as his son is moving to other parts. The bearers were Messrs. Chas. Moon, Wm. Hamilton, H. Bonsteel, Geo. Hadrell, B. Hogle and S. Ketcheson. The remains were interred at White's cemetery where just two weeks ago his only brother, Mr. Warren Kelley had been laid to rest. He leaves to mourn his loss one son, Mr. Judson Kelley, of Sidney.

New Spirit of Morale In Civic Affairs

While the great world conflict was raging we were told that food would win the war; that ships would win the war; that coal and guns and airplanes would win the war. Since hostilities ceased we are learning that, while all these things played their important part, it was leadership, organization and morale that gave us the victory. What was true in winning the war is true in winning out in the great task of civic development and city betterment that is just now confronting us.

To a great extent we need the material things that go to make the bone and sinew of the community—factories, industrial development of all kinds and the maintenance of healthy business activity. To a great extent we need that degree of morale without which no great movement, involving the efforts of the community as a whole rather than the individual, can make substantial progress.

When we speak of "morale" we mean more than the bald definition that is given in the dictionary. Who, for example, can fittingly describe the mental readjustment, the impelling force and the inspiring determination that led our gallant troops to sweep to victory at Passchendaele? Writers have called it "morale," which a literal translation might define as a sort of bucking up; a renewed courage. Verily, it was all of that and more. It was as if some miraculous influence had swept over the wearying and disheartened troops and endowed them with another personality bringing with it a new outlook upon the work in hand. That which had appeared impossible yesterday became certain of attainment today; the obstacles that loomed large a while before, faded away before the new spirit that came to those men. Where formerly they had hesitated they now pushed on with irresistible force; the almost beaten line, that had threatened to waver and break, became a stone wall, while the regiments that had been on the point of falling back became at once an aggressive force that none could withstand. "Morale" they called it, but it calls for a finer and more descriptive term. Whatever it was it carried with it the determination and the ability to carry on against seemingly overwhelming odds. It was the higher development of the "go to it" spirit; a practical demonstration that "what man has done, man may do." In the peaceful pursuits that have happily replaced the grim business of war we can well apply the new force that made for success in the dark days when our fighting men were sorely tried. If we have failed to learn the value of this mighty force called "morale" then, indeed, have we failed to learn one of the great lessons of the war. If we have grasped the full import of this term, with its newer definition, then let us apply it to the tasks that now confronts us.

The men who led our troops will tell you that their greatest enemies, a menace more deadly than the Hun and his diabolical methods of warfare, were the people in our own ranks who were forever saying "It can't be done," the calamity howlers who deprecated every move or plan. One may be pardoned for slightly disturbing an old adage and saying that peace has its pests no less renowned than war.

Every community has its quota of what has been aptly termed "crane hangers." They are full of action but they are walking backwards; they look upon the world through yellow glasses and their perspective would fit in a key-hole with room to spare. To them, ambition is wasted energy and progress means little more than dissipated effort. They park their one-cylinder ideas in a bone garage and have two speeds—Slow and Stop.

That Belleville has a few of such people is only what might be expected; perhaps they are more to be pitied than censured. As humanity must at times bear its crown of thorns, so must a community bear its crown of "Johns." But let us not be down-hearted. Belleville is booked for bigger things and the way looks fair and bright. The Hoos Been Club is paging the "Hoos" while the city's spirit, re-awakened and reflected in the slogan "I Will" shall draw out the swan-song of the small chorus that is piping "It Can't be Done"—the "Little Band" with a great future behind them.—From The Belleville Chamber of Commerce Bulletin.

Overalls The Fashion Now at Bayside

The overall movement has reached Bayside. The mayor and chief officials of the town have already set the example by donning the blue denim and are determined as far as in them lies to prevent the price of clothing from going higher and to abstain from wearing trousers any longer. Judging from the number who have already fallen in with the movement, it is not too much to expect that the entire population will be massgearing in this very modest garb. Whether the ladies will appear as graceful in overalls as in their usual finery is a mere speculation, but according to reports from other localities the ladies have thrown discretion to the winds and are taking a chance on any disgraceful appearance that overalls might carry with them. That overalls sometimes cover a multitude of sins is, of course, one feature in their favor and should go far in convincing many of our citizens of their need and of the advisability of obtaining a pair before the price begins to soar.

This overall contagion excites me not at all. Although the war they're waging may make the prices fall. But this I am confessing, it pleases me a lot— Blue denim is a blessing when the sun is boiling hot.

And overalls are healthy, especially when they're clean; Confined not to the wealthy, the corpulent, or lean. The editor may wear them with dignity and pride. The minister may share them and with his flock abide. They take the curves like rockets and let the sunshine in. With large and roomy pockets to carry all your tin. I wish that old King Midas would touch a pair for me. The gold, I think, would tide us through all eternity. If clothes are all discarded for overalls, 'tis plain. We're going to need some water, and water means some rain. If weather dry and droughty for us should be in store, Then let me leave the country and I won't come back no more. The people of the tropics don't worry over clothes. They find more timely topics, at least, so I suppose. But fashion must be followed, and overalls are here, So let your pride be swallowed and dry the scalding tear. You may not have to wear them, the fad will soon be past. A pair of overalls at least were never made to last. Don't spend your hard-earned money unless you're nearly bare. For overalls look funny and they're liable to tear.

THE LATIN AMERICAN LEAGUE

Written for The Ontario by Chas. M. Rice, Lawyer, Denver, Colorado.

Salvador, the smallest republic of Central America, has inaugurated a movement for a league of Latin American nations on the plan of the Versailles League.

The proposal is for all the republics of Central and South America to come together for offensive and defensive purposes, to arbitrate their disputes and compel recalcitrant nations to accept the decision of the court by boycott and armed force when necessary.

"Shaun Rhue" Well Received

Big House Greeted St. Michael's Dramatic Club's Presentation Last Night

"Shaun Rhue," the romantic Irish drama was produced at Griffin's theatre last evening by St. Michael's Dramatic Club before a very large house. The play was first put on in St. Michael's Academy on St. Patrick's Day and was so well received that it was felt it should play before the largest audience possible.

Never were local players given a better reception and rarely do amateurs merit such praise as was accorded these artists. Mr. Harold Barrett in the dual role of Shaun Rhue and Larry Donovan had excellent scope for his vocal powers in four songs "Dear Little Shamrock," "Handful of Earth," "How the Fairies Came to Ireland" and "Girl of My Dreams."

G. W. V. A. Notes

The regular meeting of the Belleville branch of the Great War Veterans' Association was held in the Conservative Club Rooms, 224 Front street, on Wednesday evening, April 21st, with the president, Comrade C. F. Wallbridge in the chair.

tion with headquarters at Washington shall cease to function. This movement it is explained, is the result of the agitation in this country, in the Senate and in the press and among the politicians, of the Monroe Doctrine, and a certain amount of jingoism included therein.

Already South and Central American republics are joining the greater union, the League of Nations provided in the major peace treaty of Versailles. That covenant gives recognition to the Monroe Doctrine, but if the United States remains but of the League the other republics to the south are likely to ask a revision of the clause dealing with the Monroe Doctrine, which would place Washington in a peculiar position.

The world war and that which has come in its train have given a new definition of the Monroe Doctrine to those nations which were believed to be the principal beneficiaries of it and under it.

gold badge was made. Comrade R. D. Ponton, our 1919 President was called to the front and was addressed by the President, Comrade C. F. Wallbridge. After the presentation was made, Comrade Ponton replied to the address, thanking the association for the recognition. Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting.

Wants Scenes of Belleville

Col. Ponton has received a request from the committee of arrangements for the great Chambers of Commerce convention of the empire, to be held at Toronto during the week beginning Sept. 14, for a copy of photos taken here six weeks ago by Mr. W. J. Topley of the Ontario government office at London, England. These photos are of scenes about Belleville and will be inserted in the year book issued by the Empire Chamber of Commerce each year at the time of the annual convention. The insertion of these photos will be a fine advertisement for the Belleville district.

St. Julien Night Dance

The St. Julien Night Dance held under the auspices of the G.W.V.A. in Bennett's Academy on April 22nd was a decided success and it was with marked disappointment when the Stills orchestra played the last dance. From the start to the finish the large and well-decorated hall was a sight for gaily and sociable festivity. About 125 couples were on the floor and the Stills orchestra deserve special mention for the fine program which was so well executed.

The hall was daintily decorated for the occasion by the Iroquois Club of Belleville. The patronesses of the St. Julien night dance capably assisted the committee with lunch and in making the affair a success. Dancing commenced at 9.30 and at midnight refreshments were served, followed by a special piano and drum selection, delightfully given by Miss Blain and Harry Weese.

After lunch dancing was resumed and continued until the wee small hours. One of the special features of the dance was the Moon Waltzes, there were and are possibly one of the best features of the present day in dance circles. The committee deserved great credit for so capably arranging such a splendid affair. Their success has been so encouraging that it is the intention to hold one of these dances every month.

Mrs. O'Rourke, wife of P. J. O'Rourke, late editor of The Advocate, passed away at her home here on Wednesday morning after several months illness. Mrs. O'Rourke was born in Brighton, but she has been a resident of Trenton the greater part of her life.

OLD FOLKS CONCERT

Splendid Concert Given by the Tabernacle Augmented Choir Last Night in the Tabernacle Church Parlor.

Last night the people of Belleville who listened to the "Old Folks Concert," put on by the Tabernacle augmented choir, were delighted with the programme. The ladies who took part were dressed in the fashions of our grandmothers and looked very charming in their costumes. The choir was also assisted by the Belleville male quartet.

The Old Folks' Concert was gotten up under the able direction of Mrs. Grant and the work done reflects much credit on herself. The voices blended beautifully in the choruses of the old time songs, "The Old Oaken Bucket" and "Sweet and Low." Mr. W. H. Wrightmeyer in his able manner sang the well known song, "The Skipper of St. Ives."
