The Earl's Son;

TWO HEARTS UNITED.

CHAPTER XXVII.

"No, no, thank you. It was good of you to stay with me." The voice and tone were strangely gentle for the once stern and cynical earl. "You know that I quite appreciate your position, your disappointment. But my son, my son, Talbot! My own son!"

"Yes, yes, sir; very natural," assented Talbot soothingly. "But you must not agitate, excite yourself. Will you not come?"

"No, no. There is something I want to do. Come for me in half an hour. You need not be afraid to leave me. Go, please, Talbot."

There was the old tone of command in the voice, and Talbot could not disobey.

When he had gone the earl rose with difficulty and, steadying himself by the furniture, went to the safe. He noticed the disordered condition of the deeds and frowned thoughtfully, and presently he found one will.

He laid it on the table and searched for the other; but it was not there. Had Bolton taken it? No; he remembered seeing him replace them both. With the other will in his hand he moved back to the fire and stared at it musingly, and suddenly he saw a fluttering ember of parchment.

None of the Denbys were fools. In an instant he had leapt to the right conclusion. The keys had been in the safe, Talbot had been kneeling by the fire—

The old man shrank as if he had been struck. That a Denby, the man who had so nearly become his heir and successor, should be guilty of an act of felony overwhelmed him with grief and shame.

The perspiration stood out in big drops on his forehead and he trembled like a leaf. Then his lips moved.

"Be it so!" he muttered. "He has digged a pit and fallen into it. He, a Denby, a common criminal! He has digged the pit, there let him lie!"

Certainly Mr. Talbot Denby's unlucky star was in the ascendant, for the will the earl held in his hand was that he had made in Veronica's favor. Talbot had destroyed the wrong one!

CHAPTER XXVIII.

Viscount Denby! The son and heir of the earl!

It seemed incredible, and Ralph's friends, as they sat in conference in the old-fashioned room of the Inn—only quite recently raised to the dignity of an "hotel"—held an excited conference.

Veronica sat at the table, her beautiful face flushed, her eyes sparkling with a pardonable pride.

"I noticed the first time I saw him," she said in a low voice, "that he was different to the men of the class to which he was supposed to belong; he looked like a gentleman in disguise, and spoke— The earl's son! Does he know it?"

Mr. Selby shook his head. He had just left Ralph.

"No. He had been removed from the court before the earl spoke," he said, "and I have not told him yet. Why agitate him with this fresh issue? Of course, Mr. Sainsbury, one can rely on your statement, there is the miniature, and the earl has acknowledged him; but I need scarcely point out that if Mr. Talbot Denby chooses to fight—" he shrugged his shoulders. "And, mind you, he has by no means a bad case; at any rate he could keep the law courts employed for a considerable period—"

"When his own father recognizes him!" said Veronica.

Mr. Selby smiled grimly.

"There is a famous case in which the mother 'recognized' an impostor, Miss Gresham," he said. "But isn't there a more important question for us? Mr. Farrington—"

"Lord Denby," murmured Mr. Sainsbury.

"I beg his pardon. Lord Denby, if you prefer it, is remanded on a charge of willful murder!"

Veronica looked up quickly, and with a catch of her breath.

"But you yourself said he ought to be discharged?"

Mr. Selby smiled again.

"So I should have said if the evidence had been twice as strong, Miss Gresham. If I am to speak plainly—"

She was pale now, and her lovely eyes met his bravely.

"Yes, yes; oh, yes, speak plainly, please!" she murmured.

"Well, then, it is absolutely necessary, if we are to clear him of the charge, that we should find the man who committed the crime."

"Some one may have killed him in robbing him," suggested Mr. Sainsbury.

Mr. Selby shook his head.

"The man was too poor for that theory to be of any service. No; he was killed by some person who had a stronger motive for getting rid of him—"

"Ralph had none!" put in Veronica, quickly.

"True; but he was known to have quarrelled with the man—had been heard quarrelling with him on the night that Farrington left Lynne suddenly and without apparent cause."

The blood flew to Veronica's face.

"No; not without cause," she said, and, in faltering accents, and with downcast eyes, she told them something, but not all, of the scene in the armoury.

Mr. Selby listened intently, nodding at intervals.

"Good!" he said; "and you would tell them this in the witness-box?"

She looked up with a proud smile.

"Yes! I—I am proud of it!"

"I should like to have that girl, that Fanny Mason, in the witness-box," he said, musingly.

"The evidence is against us," remarked Mr. Sainsbury.

"I know; but if she were about that night, so near to the time of the murder, she may have seen someone else. What is the matter?" he broke off, for Veronica had started and a faint cry had escaped her.

"No-thing!" she said, but her lips trembled and her hands closed spasmodically.

There had been someone else near the place that night, and she had seen him: it was Talbot!

Mr. Selby's sharp eyes watched her sideways, but he said nothing.

"Who is to tell Ralph that he is the son of Lord Lynborough?" asked Mr. Sainsbury, presently.

"You had better leave that to the earl. He wishes to see him, is anxious to do so the moment his doctor will permit, and I should not be surprised if he refuses to wait for the permission," said Mr. Selby.

His surmise was a correct one, for the next morning the earl came down early, and Welford followed with his lordship's hat and fur coat.

Vigorous Health Restored to Run-Down Women.

Seemed to Have Lost All Ambition, Was Pale and Anaemic.

Made Wonderful Recovery When Dr. Hamilton's Pills Were Used.

"I was never actually sick," writes Mrs. Norman La Pierre, wife of a well known resident of Lableno, "yet I never could get strong like other women. I ate well enough, but somehow rich and red blood I could never make. When I married I took a great pride in my housekeeping, but it kept me tired all the time. Mrs. Lechance, my neighbor, looked well—she told me her health had been made up by Dr. Hamilton's Pills. I only thought of pills as a physic, but now I know that Dr. Hamilton's Pills are more, for they quickened my stomach, liver and bowels—made me stouter and stronger, gave me such color in my cheeks as I never had before. I sincerely believe Dr. Hamilton's Pills should be used by every woman—that's why I write this letter."

No medicine invigorates and renews health and spirits like Dr. Hamilton's Pills. 25c. per box, five for $1.00, at all druggists and storekeepers, or postpaid from the Cattaraugus Co., Buffalo, N.Y., and Kingston, Ont.

"Surely you are not going out, sir?" said Talbot, with grave remonstrance.

"Yes," replied Lord Lynborough, eyeing him sternly. "I am going to the prison—to see my son."

"You will let me go with you, sir—as far as the town?" said Talbot.

It would make a favorable impression if he were seen accompanying the earl.

The earl declined with a gesture.

"Thank you; but I prefer to be alone," he said, and his eyes rested on Talbot's piercingly and with almost open contempt.

The old man's heart was full of bitterness towards the man—the Denby—who had stooped to rifle a safe and destroy a will; but he kept silence. The act had wrought its own punishment, as Talbot would discover later.

As the great barouche was passing the Roebuck, Veronica chanced to be coming out. She stopped and the color rose to her face then left it pale, and she looked sadly at the frail figure lying back in the carriage. He saw her and she started, as if he had forgotten her—indeed, there was little room in his mind for anyone but the son whom he had so strangely found—then he stopped the carriage and signed to her.

She flew to him with outstretched hands, and he took them and gazed at her sadly, remorsefully.

"Will you get in? I am going—"

he said in a low voice.

She entered and sat beside him, and they were both silent for a minute; then he said:

"You were wiser than I, Veronica—and yet they say that blood will speak, that the voice of Nature will make itself heard: but I was deaf and blind! And yet, the first time I saw him there was something in his face, in his manner of speech that struck me."

"I remember, my lord," she said, her heart full of pity and sympathy.

"I remember how keenly you looked at him."

"Yes; and on other occasions something in his face raised haunting memories; every time I saw him I was oppressed by the vague resemblance to—"

"He has your voice, is like you; I see it now," murmured Veronica.

"You think so?" he responded, eagerly. "Yes—yes, he is! And to think that I sent my son away from me! But you were true to him, Veronica! I am grateful to you for that. You—you love him?"

"With all my heart and soul!" she responded, her eyes glowing. "Oh, my lord, you do not know how good, how brave, how noble he is!"

"He saved the child," he murmured.

"At the risk of his life. I was there—I saw it." Her voice was low, but rang with pride and love. "He nearly died—"

"And you nursed him?"

She bowed her head.

"Yes; God was good to me and spared him to me."

"I must see the child," he said.

"She is at the hotel staying with us."

"You must all come to the Court, Veronica!"

She was silent; then shook her head.

"No, my lord, not until—until—" He started.

"You don't think—there cannot be any doubt of his innocence in the minds of anyone. He is my son, my son, Veronica! How could my son be guilty of—of murder?"

"He is not guilty!" she said, very gently, "but—but we must find the one who is."

He began to tremble.

"There cannot be any difficulty! Veronica, no stone must be left unturned, no expense spared—"

"No expense is being spared, my lord," she said.

He winced, though she implied no rebuke.

"Bolton shall see to it," he said.

"I—I—ah, what can I do!"

They had reached the prison by this time, and he looked up at the building. My son is in there!" he muttered.

He ordered the coachman to take her back to the hotel, and she was alighting when Talbot drove up in a dog cart. He could not rest at the Court and had driven in on the chance of hearing something further of "the case." He came forward with outstretched hands.

"Veronica! I am so glad to have met you! What a terrible business this is!"

She just touched his hand and stood silent and downcast.

"Terrible to all of us, but more than all to you!" he murmured, significantly. "I need not assure you of my sympathy, Veronica, or that I wish you every happiness. Of course, Mr. Farrington's—Ralph Denby, as we must now call him—his lips twisted with a grave smile—"innocence will soon be proved. Everything is being done, and the truth will soon be discovered."

The Eastern Trust Company!

Pitts Building, Water Street, St. John's.

Dear Sir,
We beg to draw your attention to the advantages offered, both in the way of security and privacy, by our Safety Deposit system which has recently been installed in our vault. The system is the most modern and complete that is known, and is deposited in a vault of exceptional strength and safety. The boxes are individual and can only be opened with the joint aid of the key in the possession of the Company and of that in the custody of the customer. They are of solid metal and are arranged in nests of fifty, so that no box can be removed from the vault separately from the rest.

The boxes are rented at $4.00, $5.00 up to $20.00 a year, according to size. An inspection of the installation is invited.

This Date in History.

AUGUST 3.
Full Moon—6th.
DAYS Past—214 To Come—150
COLUMBUS' FIRST VOYAGE 1492. Amid opposition and ridicule he sailed from Spain convinced that he would reach land. The story of the voyage, the discontent of the crew and, after many days, the landing on a foreign shore are well known.
JEREMY TAYLOR died 1667, aged 54. An English divine of great influence. The most famous of his works was his "Holy Living and Holy Dying." He married a daughter of Charles I.
BUGENE SUB died 1869, aged 55. A famous French novelist whose stories were at one time immensely popular.
LANLEY SAMBOURNE died 1910, aged 65. On the retirement of Sir John Tenniel he became principal cartoonist of "Punch."
He who has good health is a rich man and does not know it.

Miss Alice Clarke

Prima Donna Will Appear at The Crescent To-Day.
The opening bill this week at the Crescent Picture Palace is a particularly good one and will give claim to this popular movie house as being styled The House of Features. A two reel Bison western drama; "Good For Nothing Jack," is a splendid story. "The Asphalt Industry," and the Victor comedy; "Percy Baldwin Trifles," featuring Owen Morris are pictures worth while.

The principal attraction will be the first appearance of the talented prima donna Miss Alice Clarke who has won much fame in the musical comedy world. Since the announcement in the papers last week of her engagement at the Crescent many are awaiting the opportunity to hear the prima donna who won such big successes in "The Isle of Bong Bong," "Piff, Paff, Poul," "Isle of Spice," "The Broken Idol" and "The Fortune Teller." Her stage career is well known in America and Canada. The magnetic lady arrived by to-day's express.

Laughable Sketch.

ROMEO AND JULIET.
To-night Mrs. Rossley will present a very funny burlesque on Romeo and Juliet past and present, with special stage setting. Geo. Scully will appear as the Gallant Romeo who is in love with Juliet, Mrs. Rossley, and the great obstacle is Juliet's father, Scully, who personates both characters. This burlesque is in three distinct parts:—The love making between Romeo and Juliet; the interview between Juliet and her cruel father; the Romeo and Juliet of the present day.—Romeo returning from his club. This act is written and arranged by Mrs. Rossley herself, is original and very funny. The pictures are as usual the very best to be had. The great two reel feature: "Under Suspicion," by the Cines Co., "A Tender Heart," The Biograph Co., "An Indian Summer," Biograph, and the latest Pathe Fashion Plates. Rossley's pictures for beautiful subjects, light, clear, steady, in fact the best to be had as they are the pick of the market.

A Slight Blaze.

At 9.20 p.m. yesterday an alarm of fire from Box 22 summoned the Central and Eastern Companies to the residence of Dr. C. Howlett, on Water Street, where a slight blaze had occurred.
All the occupants had left the house and locked the doors early in the evening, and when the firemen arrived on the scene much difficulty was found in locating the fire. It was found to be in the kitchen, and was caused by lighted soft igniting the floor. It was extinguished before any great damage was done and the "all out" signal sounded at 9.35.

The fair ideal is the square eye deal. You get it at TRAPNELL'S.—July 23, 14.

PROCLAMATION!

GEORGE the FIFTH by the Grace of GOD, of the United Kingdom of Great Britain and Ireland, and of the British Dominions beyond the Seas, King, Defender of the Faith, Emperor of India.

To all to whom these Presents shall come, Greeting;

His Britannic Majesty's Government find themselves under the necessity of availing themselves of the power reserved under Article 8 of the International Telegraph Convention and Article 17 of the International Radio-Telegraph Convention to suspend the transmission of telegrams and radio-telegrams to and from or in transit through the United Kingdom, and to and from or in transit through all British Possessions and all British Protectorates whatsoever, save and except such telegrams and radio-telegrams as are on the service of His Majesty's Government or of the Government of any British Possession or Protectorate.

With a view, however, to minimize inconvenience to the public, His Britannic Majesty's Government will, until further notice, and as an act of grace, permit the transmission of such telegrams and radio-telegrams in plain language as foreign Governments or the public choose to send, provided that such telegrams and radio-telegrams are written in English or French, and on the understanding that they are accepted at the sender's risk and subject to censorship by the British authorities; that is, that they may be stopped, delayed or otherwise dealt with in all respects at the discretion of those authorities and without notice to the senders; and that no claims in respect of them, whether for the reimbursement of the sums paid for transmission or otherwise, will be considered by His Majesty's Government in any circumstances whatever. It is, moreover, essential that such telegrams and radio-telegrams should bear the sender's name at the end of the text, otherwise they are liable to be stopped until the name is notified by paid telegram. Registered, abbreviated addresses will not be accepted, either as addresses or as the names of senders.

Note.—The term "telegram" is applied to radio-telegraph messages sent from shore to shore, as well as to those sent by cable or land line. The term "radio-telegram" is used to denote messages exchanged between ships and the shore.

Given under the Great Seal of Our Island of Newfoundland.
Witness Our trusty and well beloved Sir Walter Edward Davidson, Knight Commander of the Most Distinguished Order of St. Michael and Saint George, Governor and Commander-in-Chief in and over Our said Island of Newfoundland and its Dependencies, at St. John's, in Our said Island, this 3rd day of August, A.D. 1914, and in the Fifth Year of Our Majesty's Command.

Reids' Boats.

The Argyle sails from Placentia for the Westward this afternoon.
The Bruce arrived at Port aux Basques at 6.35 a.m. yesterday.
The Clyde left Lewisporte at 9.05 a.m. yesterday.
The Dundee left Port Blandford at 6 a.m. to-day.
The Ethie left Clarendville at 6.20 a.m. to-day.
The Glencoe left Port aux Basques at 8.35 a.m. to-day.
The Home left Lewisporte at 9.15 a.m. to-day.
The Kyle was due at Battle Harbor at 8 p.m. Saturday.
The Lintrose left Port aux Basques for North Sydney at 9.35 p.m. yesterday, on special trip with Royal Commissioners.
The Mistle left Flower's Cove at 8.30 a.m. Saturday, going north.
The Sagone left Twillinkate at 12.10 p.m. Saturday, going north.

NOTE OF THANKS.—I wish to express my sincere thanks to the Nuns of Littledale Academy, Dr. Duncan and Matron of the Lunatic Asylum; also the foreman section man at Waterford Bridge, Mrs. Smith and Annie Murphy, Mr. Burke and other friends who helped to wash and bandage my wounds at Waterford Bridge Station; also, Head Nurse Redmond, Drs. Knight and Keegan; Miss Scott, Sisters White and Carroll; Nurses Penney, O'Reilly, Bowman, Webber, Casey, Gibbons and Doyle, of the General Hospital, and other nurses whose names I do not know, who were very kind to me during my illness at the institution. Thanking each and every one of you respectfully, FRANK MURPHY.

Our Good Fortune.

McCurdy's intelligence that American bankers are taking steps to preserve financial stability should go far to prevent panic on this side of the water. We in Newfoundland are particularly fortunate in having four very strong Canadian Banks in our midst. The assets of the Bank of Montreal, Bank of Commerce and the other two banks are very large, and will stand them in good stead. We are also particularly fortunate in being close to railway communication which extends over the American continent, and come what may our food supply should be secure. Those in the British Isles are not in such a good position as there is the Atlantic intervening between them and the food supply on this side of the ocean and it will be up to the British Navy to keep the sea clear to prevent starvation in Great Britain.

A Mission of Benevolence.

The Newfoundland Catholic Association at Whitney Pier, familiarly known as the N. C. A. is continuing its mission of benevolence, patriotism and religion amongst our Catholic Newfoundlanders in Whitney Pier. The N. C. A. is deeply indebted to Rev. Fr. McInnis and his rev. assistant for much encouragement in the good work and especially for many urgent appeals on its behalf made to Newfoundlanders in Whitney Pier Parish by the pastor from the pulpit.

Baseball.

Grand Falls Team Coming.
Mr. Havermale received a wire this morning from Grand Falls stating that the Grand Falls Baseball team had left there by yesterday's express and are due in the city to-day. The party consists of 12 with C. H. Hayward as Manager. The first game of the Inter-Town series will take place to-morrow afternoon at 4 p.m., when a lively game is expected. The City Team meets for practice this evening on Stancomb's field.

The First Reservist.

We understand that Mr. William Clance, our local champion swimmer, and instructor at the swimming pool, Quidi Vidi Lake, was signally recognized on board the Calypso yesterday, being the first of the Naval Reservists to report for service. Clance boarded the ship at 6 a.m., and for being first, was awarded a prize of £2.

Here and There.

OCEAN CONCERT.—In the saloon of the Carthaginian, a concert was held on Friday evening last, and the sum of £5 was collected for the Sailors' Orphan Society of Scotland.

HERE FROM LONDON.—The Furness Liner Rappahannock, ten days from London, reached port this forenoon, bringing 1,000 tons of cargo, including a quantity of explosives. The ship was delayed a day by fog during the trip.

BOY RUN DOWN.—A little boy named Dooley, aged 4 years, was accidentally run over by a bicycle, driven by a man named Cantwell. The wheels of the machine passed over the head of the boy who was picked up in an unconscious state and hurried to a physician for treatment. It is thought that the victim of the accident is seriously injured.

POLICE COURT.—An 18-year-old laborer, charged with the larceny of some clothes and a stick pin, valued at $15, was held over and will be dealt with this afternoon. A grocer, for receiving stolen goods was fined $50. Two men for loose and disorderly conduct were fined $2 or 7 days.

There is a certain hotel up in British Columbia that has a reputation for being reasonably cold. It is a frame structure, and the walls are thin and shaky. One morning during a blizzard two guests who had been there the night before came out of their rooms on opposite sides of the hall. The first man said:

"Where! I'm nearly frozen! I never was so cold in my life. I slept with all my clothes on and everything else piled on me, but I'm frost-bitten through!"

"Same here," said the other. "I was on the windward side of this hut. I put on my buffalo coat over my clothes, but I don't think I'll ever get warm."

They went down to the hotel office. There, huddled over the stove, was a stage driver who had lost his way and been out all night. His hair and whiskers were jumping of ice. His fur hat was frozen to his head. He shivered and shook with the cold, though he was practically sitting on the stove. He looked like a human icicle. The two guests looked at him for a minute. Then one of them asked: "Which room did you have, partner?"

Divorced Life

By Helen Hessong Fuenke

The Skeleton in the Closet

The Barkers had returned from their visit, and again Marian saw a good deal of them. The day after Mrs. Walther's dinner, Marian took a stroll with Miss Barker, and gave her a vivid description of her evening with the scribes. "Do you care for that sort of thing?" inquired the Boston woman. "I've seen a little bit of these Bohemian circles, and can't say that I care for it. They lead such a free-and-easy, slipshod, unconventional existence. Not merely occasionally, but all the time. I should hate to see you mix too much with them. Cigarettes, liquor, outlandish hours, and all that sort of thing, don't make women womanly. I may be old fashioned, but it's the way I feel."

Marian instinctively assumed a defensive frame of mind. "The things you speak of are quite as objectionable to me as they are to you," she said hastily. "But I'm going to tell you something you didn't know. I'm divorced. I've nobody but myself to depend upon. I've got to make a living. I've tried vainly to get started in many different lines of work. More by accident than by other way, I seem to have turned toward writing. I'm the merest amateur at writing, and can't help feeling that a certain amount of association with people who write will help me."

"Possibly," replied Miss Barker. Marian divined that her declaration about her divorce, a piece of information she had carefully withheld from the Barkers, had nearly knocked her companion off her feet. Honed to sensitiveness by past experiences, Marian thus far since her arrival in New York had kept her secret to herself. To-day she had blurted it out in defense of conduct which seemed to fret Miss Barker. She regarded Bohemia solely as a means to an end, and had felt called upon to explain the circumstances of her course to this young woman whose regard she valued.

"Do you know," said Miss Barker, after a moment's silence, "I sometimes think that it is better to suffer almost anything rather than to resort to divorce."

"Please let's not discuss it," Marian made haste to reply. The subject had become a nightmare to her, and its discussion odious. Why had she mentioned this skeleton in her closet?

The conversation veered into other channels, but it lacked the spontaneity of former chats with Miss Barker. The unpleasant fact of Marian's domestic misfortune seemed to have reared a wall, unseen but keenly felt, between them. Marian knew with deadly certainty that she had fallen a degree in the other's estimation. The knowledge brooded like a shadow over her. She rebelled against this development. She felt that she did not merit it.

"You're a suffragette, I suppose," remarked Miss Barker abruptly.

"You're a suffragette, I suppose," remarked Miss Barker abruptly, in a tone of kindly curiosity, yet not without a hint of that patronizing attitude which one woman sometimes assumes toward another whom she regards, subconsciously, as a trifle inferior.

"I certainly am," declared Marian impulsively. "Men have made a good deal of a mess of things. Women can't possibly do any worse. Perhaps they can do a little better. I feel a pitying contempt for a woman who doesn't want and demand the ballot."

Wedding Bells.

At the Methodist Church, Clarendville, on Thursday, July 23rd, at 5 p.m., by the Rev. J. C. Winsor, Mr. Philip Stanley and Miss Mary Vardy were united in the holy bonds of matrimony. The bride's trousseau was beautifully arranged. After the ceremony a reception was given at 7 p.m. in their new residence to upward of a hundred of their friends who wish them both an unbroken period of conjugal felicity. Miss Susie Stanley and Mr. W. Wiseman acted as chaperons and made things hum at the reception room. Mr. P. Stanley was formerly a locomotive engineer with the R. N. Co., and while working in that capacity gained a good knowledge of his work and was liked by all. His new home which he prepared for his happy young bride, is evidence enough that he considered the seriousness of that matrimonial contract before entering the field for better or for worse. Next to his young bride, we wish to congratulate him on his nice home and trust he will always enjoy the same. His present to the bride was a handsome gold watch and chain. Both were the recipients of many useful presents, and all their friends here wish them many years of wedded bliss.—M.L.B.

Old Mother Hubbard.

Old Mother Hubbard, she went to the cupboard to get her poor dog a bone, but when she got there the cupboard was a bare, and so the poor dog got none. Then old Mother Hubbard she sat down and blubbered, and roasted the scandalous trusts: "They're surely inhuman, to rob a poor woman of even the bones and the crusts. I'll write to the papers and show up their capers, and prove that we need a reform; I'll skin them completely, and do it up neatly, while I am indignant and warm." The old woman's neighbours, who stuck to their labours, had plenty of grub in their flat, they promptly made payments for bonnets and raiment, their bow wows were rolling in fat. But old Mother Hubbard, she idled and rubbered, at suffragist meetings, and such, and so she was hollow, with nothing to swallow, while sensible beldames got rich. The wise dames are baking the johnnycakes making, they work the old stove till it busts; with ladylike ardor they stock up the larder, and so they can laugh at the trusts.

Visitors' Race.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir.—Seeing that we have so many of our fellow countrymen visiting us for the Regatta, perhaps a race could be gotten up between them. Say, for instance a crew could be found to defend the "Hub" against New York. Many of the returned countrymen are good oarsmen, and may be they would relish a race on Kitty Vitty just for old time sake. It would add considerable interest to the Derby to see some of our visitors take a hand in the game.

MOST TERRIBLE WAR PREDICTED

Since the Fall of the Roman Empire.

Asquith tells Parliament that Britain is under no Formal Obligation to go to the Assistance of France --- Kitchener, however, is being kept at home and Preparations are going on --- German Liner with Thirteen Millions of Gold is being escorted to Southampton to ensure Delivery of Gold to English and French Consignees.

BRITAIN'S PLAIN DUTY.
Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, To-day.
The Times in a special war edition to-day says the plain acknowledged duty and interest of Britain which consists in the support of France against attack by Germany and the preservation of the neutrality of Belgium, Holland and Luxembourg against German invasion must be fulfilled. "There is no room for differences of opinion," The Times continues, "the prospect before the Government is that of having to fight not only for it honour but for self preservation against the attack on the whole foundation on which peace and civilization of Europe is based."

CALLING RESERVES FROM THE STATES.
NEW YORK, To-day.
All the British Army and Navy Reservists in America are to be called out. Instructions to this effect were received here from the British Foreign Office by acting Consul General Noseworthy. Many reservists are expected to sail for England on the steamer Lusitania on Tuesday.
HAMILTON, Mass., To-day.
The general call to the colors was sent to-day to all French Reservists in the States by Ambassador Jusserand. Reservists were instructed to report at once to nearest French Consul. Arrangements will be made to transport them to France.

THE TIMES BLAMES GERMANY.
LONDON, To-day.
The Times Editorial this morning says: "Recent events mean Europe is to be the scene of the most terrible war she has witnessed since the fall of the Roman Empire." The Times proceeds to throw the blame upon Germany, saying "Germany could have stayed the plague had she chosen to speak to Vienna, as she speaks when she is in earnest. But she preferred to make a demand in Petersburg and at Paris which no Government could entertain. She has lived up to her worst principles --- a Frederickian tradition which disregards all obligations, right or wrong, bidding for immediate self interest. She has resolved to crush France, trample upon the rights of those who stand in her way. Yesterday it was Luxembourg. To-morrow it may be England she will assail without declaring war."

GERMAN LINER SEIZED WITH BRITISH AND FRENCH GOLD.
LONDON, To-day.
The steamship Kronprinzessin Cecilie, a North German Lloyd Liner, carrying $13,000,000 in gold and silver has been intercepted by four British cruisers. They are said to be escorting her to Southampton. It is understood the Cecilie received orders from her owners to proceed to Hamburg, without calling at any British port. The gold, shipped from New York, was consigned to British and French bankers. It is assumed England is determined to see it is properly delivered to the consignees.

BALCOURT, France, To-day.
The Germans opened fire on French posts at Petit Croix yesterday. Details are not known.

anxiety, specially at Paris and St. Petersburg.

TWO GERMAN CRUISERS OFF ST. PIERRE.

SYDNEY, To-day.
Two German cruisers were sighted to-day off St. Pierre. They are probably from Mexican or West Indian waters. It is surmised that the object of their presence so near Sydney Harbor is to secure coal for a trans-Atlantic voyage or they have been detailed to watch this port and the entrance to the St. Lawrence. A statement to this effect was made last evening by Captain Posten, the officer commanding a detachment, detailed to guard the cable station at Lloyd Cove. He was notified of the presence of warships by a cable from Newfoundland and requested shipping be notified. It is conjectured that St. Pierre itself may be objective of the cruisers which may be awaiting word of a formal declaration of war between France and Germany. The French cruiser's front cannot be far away. Admitting the report about German cruisers being correct, a naval fight seems imminent in these waters.

KAISER'S IMPASSIONED SPEECH.

LONDON, To-day.
The Daily Chronicle publishes a rumor that the Emperor Francis Joseph of Austria has been assassinated. It is not confirmed.

LONDON, To-day.
The London morning papers are giving plentiful counsel to the public to display a self sacrificing spirit and refrain from excitement and avoid selfish actions, such as laying in large stores of provisions which would tend to raise prices and lead to hardships for the poorer classes. BRITAIN IS UNDER NO FORMAL OBLIGATION TO GO TO THE ASSISTANCE OF FRANCE.

LONDON, To-day.
Now the die is cast and Europe is to be plunged into the general war which has been the apprehension of European statesmen for generations past. The first shots in the Russo-German war were exchanged between partisans yesterday afternoon near Proskent, 120 miles south east of Keigsberg. The only redeeming feature in the darkest prospects which Europe has been for half a century is that Italy has declared neutrality, but how long that neutrality can be maintained is exceedingly debatable. The question of Britain's position has already been defined by Asquith to the British Parliament, namely that she is under no formal obligation to go to the assistance of France in the event of European war. The British Government, however, has made full preparations in both services for whatever may happen. The position therefore is that Russia, France and Serbia are arrayed on one side against Austria-Hungary and Germany on the other. How long war-fare will be confined to this plane it is impossible to tell, nor can it be foretold whether Belgium and Holland will be able to maintain neutrality against her powerful neighbors or whether Britain will find herself compelled to send an expeditionary force to attempt to preserve neutrality.

BIG NAVAL BATTLE REPORTED

Between British and German Navy--- Germany Lost Seven Ships; the British Two. Battle between French and Germans---20,000 German Prisoners Taken.

Special to Evening Telegram.

LONDON, To-Day.

In a naval conflict reported to have occurred in the North Sea, Germany is said to have lost seven ships, the British two. It is reported England has declared war.

LONDON, To-Day.

A despatch to the Telegraph from Paris says German troops have taken possession of Belgian town of Arlon.

PARIS, To-Day.

Two defeats of German troops invading France announced here. It is stated in one engagement on the frontier at Twislan, Uhlans, the famous cavalry of the Kaiser's army was routed by French troops. 2,000 prisoners captured, two German officers and 20 soldiers killed.

War Conditions Prevail.

The week-end instead of clearing the international atmosphere has thickened it. When we went to press on Saturday afternoon all the information to hand was that Austria and Serbia were the only powers actually at war and that King George was straining every nerve to keep peace between Russia and Germany. Shortly afterwards, it was learned that Germany had declared war on Russia and the worst was feared, as that tended to bring France and England into the arena. France had issued a proclamation to prevent the export of food stuffs and to facilitate the import of them. She is rapidly putting herself on a war footing, as may be seen not only from the foreign dispatches, but also from the publication here by the French Consul of a call to arms of all French reservists who may be in Newfoundland. Further, we have the report that a German division invaded Luxemburg on Saturday night, a clear violation of international arrangement, and provocative of war with Great Britain. Whether this is an invasion of Belgium or of the Grand Duchy, is not clear, but in any case Germany is under obligation to respect the neutrality of both. It is no wonder that Great Britain has asked Germany her intentions with regard to Belgium and the evasion of the question is a disturbing feature of the situation. In either case it is a menace to the North Eastern France. The German Army is of course very large when on a war footing. It is said to number 2,250,000, while that of France is a million men less. But Germany will also have to reckon with Russia, with about 1,700,000 men, while Austria with 800,000 men can keep a good part of the Russian army busy. Germany, too, has lost the assistance of Italy which has 750,000 men. As for Great Britain we are still in the dark. Great activity prevalis at home and in Canada. Alder-shot is busy. Troop trains are held in readiness. Our own naval reserve have been ordered to report, and to their credit, we find that time-expired reservists are volunteering for service. Most significant of all is the proclamation issued this morning that the cable, wireless and telegraph services are being controlled by the Government. As an act of grace plain language messages, at the sender's risk and subject to censorship, are being allowed to go through, but cypher messages are suspended. In other words, a censorship has been established and the Government is exercising a priority for their own services. Put in another way, these services are now being worked under conditions of war. The neutrality of Italy is a serious blow to the naval strength of the Teutonic allies. It is also good news for Newfoundland because it will tend to keep the Mediterranean market open for our fish. Asquith's statement to Parliament that Britain is under no formal obligation to assist France in the event of a European war also tends towards peace for Britain. Preparations are, however, being pushed rapidly forward, so that Britain may be ready for any event, for it seems almost an impossibility for Britain not to be involved. The news that Field Marshal Kitchener is being kept at home and will not proceed to Egypt, points to the probability that the services of our greatest soldier are being availed of for organization and general preparation. This is at it should be.

Personal.

Mr. Thomas H. Synyard, foreman of the St. John's Nail Mfg. Co., who retires after thirty-two years' services, was presented with an address, and fountain pen by the employees, on Saturday last. Mr. Synyard leaves for Florida, where he has an interest in real estate.

Arthur Douglas Sullivan arrived by the s.s. Rappahannock from London this morning. He has been at school in Essex and is spending his vacation with his parents.

Remember that the Ferry-land Garden Party, in aid of the New Convent, will take place on August 24th. An enjoyable time is assured all who attend.

Reservists Called to the Standard.

Commander MacDermot of H. M. S. Calypso, received instructions from the Admiralty early yesterday morning to summon the Newfoundland Royal Naval Reserve to active duty; and copies of the order were immediately posted at all the principal places in the city, and telegraphed to the Magistrates in the outports, that the Reserve might report themselves as speedily as possible.

The following is a copy of the order issued by the Admiralty:—"Special Admiralty Order. Mobilisation of Royal Naval Reserve men called out for service in the Royal Navy."

His Majesty the King having issued His Proclamation ordering and directing that Royal Naval Volunteers (commonly known as the Royal Naval Reserve) under the Royal Naval Reserve Act, 1859, or so many or such part of them as the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty may direct, be called into active service. Notice is hereby given that men in the Newfoundland Royal Naval Reserve are required to report themselves in person forthwith on board His Majesty's Ship Calypso.

Men at sea, oner Arabian, B.M.Y.-mb cause unable to attend as above, must report themselves as soon as possible on board His Majesty's Ship Calypso. Men are to appear in uniform and bring their certificates R. N. 2, and any necessaries with them. Reasonable expenses incurred in travelling to the rendezvous, will be allowed. Men serving in the Royal Navy for a period of Naval training will continue in active service. Any man failing to report without delay in compliance with this order will be liable to arrest as a deserter. By Command of the Lords Commissioners of the Admiralty."

The total strength of the Newfoundland Naval Reserve is about six hundred, of whom nearly two-thirds are at present engaged at the Labrador fishery. Capt. Parsons, of the S. S. Kyle, has been instructed to pick up the men at the various ports on the way south, and the other coastal captains have been notified to give passage to all Reservists that they may reach headquarters as soon as possible.

Yesterday upwards of forty Reservists residing in the city reported themselves on board H. M. S. Calypso and as many more ex-reservists volunteered for service. Many more are expected to arrive in the city by train within the next few days.

Here and There.

CIRCUIT COURT.—The cruiser Flona will leave Placentia on Monday next with the Supreme Court on Circuit.

SALT CARGO.—The schr. Svalen arrived here to-day from Cadiz, after a passage of 33 days, bringing a cargo of salt to A. Goodridge & Sons.

DISASTERS FUND MEETING.—This afternoon at 4 o'clock the general committee of the Marine Disasters Fund will meet. His Excellency the Governor will be present, as will also the Boston committee members.

EXPRESS ARRIVES.—The express and local combined arrived in the city at 12.30 p.m. to-day with about 120 passengers including the Newfoundland Highlanders, and the Baseball Team from Grand Falls.

AN AVERAGE CATCH.—So far the fishery at the North Battery is about fair and there is an average catch ashore. Messrs. J. Peckford and G. Lowe are high liners with 600 qtls. of fish ashore.

BACK FROM CAMP.—The members of the Nfld. Highlanders, numbering fifty, who were camping at Harbor Grace for the past week, returned to town by this morning's train, having spent a most enjoyable time under canvas. The battalion, in charge of Lieut. Montgomery, marched from the railway station to their hall to the music of the pipers and drummers.

All Should Be Treated Alike.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—I am an importer, to some, little extent, of goods from U. S. of America and Canada. When my goods arrive, whether by ship or train, before I can take delivery of them I have to produce to the Collector of the port a properly certified invoice of the value of the goods from which I have to make out in duplicate a bill of entry and subscribe to the following form of oath.

"I, John Jones, do solemnly and truly swear that I am the importer of the goods mentioned in the invoice now produced by me and hereunto annexed and signed by me, and that the said invoice is the true and only invoice received by me or which I expect to receive of all the goods imported as therein stated for account of myself, that the said goods are properly described in the said invoice and in this entry thereof, and that nothing has been on my part, or to my knowledge on the part of any other person done, concealed or suppressed, whereby His Majesty, the King, may be defrauded of any part of the duty lawfully due on the said goods; and I do further solemnly and truly swear that the prices of the goods as shown in said invoice and as aggregated in this Bill of Entry now presented by me, exhibit the fair market value of the said goods at the time and place of their exportation to this Colony, and without any deduction or discount for cash or because of the exportation thereof, or for any other special consideration whatever; and that to the best of my knowledge and belief the prices so exhibited were the prices of said goods for consumption at such time and place. So help me God."

On the completion of this Bill of Entry and the payment of the amount of duties shown thereon I receive from the Collector a permit directed to his Tideswaiter authorizing him to deliver to me the goods on which I have paid duties.

Now, Mr. Editor, I want to make it clear that I am not raising any objections to this method of procedure. I know it is the right and legal way of doing Customs business the world over and no one but an ignoramus or a crank or a chronic disturber of the peace would resist or incite resistance to the law, but I think that in this respect every one should be treated alike. The law is no respecter of persons, neither is the man who pays $5,000 duties in a given period justified in expecting any favour or exemption from the law any more than the man who pays only $5.00 in the same time. "Let justice be done though the heavens fall!"

Where the taking of an oath is contrary to a person's religious belief, he is permitted in the Courts of Law to make a solemn affirmation or declaration, which is of the same force and effect as if the oath had been taken in the usual form by such person. The same I presume applies in subscribing to the form of Certificate on the back of a Bill of Entry.

Yours truly,
July 20th, 1914.
FAIR PLAY.

As We Forgive Those That Trespass Against Us

At The Nickel Theatre.

The greatest story of human interest ever presented at the Nickel Theatre will be seen this evening when the celebrated drama written by Mrs. Otis Skinner, "The Ne'er to Return Road" will be given. It is a wonderful display of self sacrifice, fearless and powerful. As we forgive those who trespass against us plays as prominent a part in the world to-day as it did two thousand years ago. The picture shows the good side of the world, and is certain to leave an impression that will never be effaced. "Curious Sea Creatures" is a scientific film, especially interesting to Newfoundlanders. "The Transition" is a powerful melo-drama, splendidly acted, with tense situations. "In Old Dutch Times" is a celebrated drama by the Edison actors in which Richard Ridgley is seen to advantage. "A Keystone Comedy" is the comic film.

De Witt C. Cairns, the popular vocalist, who has made such a great hit during his brief stay, will sing the charming love song, "Thora" at tonight's performance. No one should miss this grand entertainment. A great big holiday is being arranged for Regatta Day.

GREAT POWERS AT WAR!

Germany Declares War on Russia.

German Troops Invade France --- Violate Neutrality of Belgium --- England Supports France --- German Baltic Fleet Makes for North Sea --- Italy Declares Neutrality.

Special to Evening Telegram.
HALIFAX, Aug. 1.
A cable to F. B. McCurdy & Co. bankers, at 4.30 this afternoon, from Paris, reported that diplomatic relations between Germany and Russia have been severed.

HALIFAX, Aug. 1.
Germany has declared war against France and Russia. England supports France.

LONDON, Aug. 1.
Britain's tentative war plans are complete. The Cabinet perfected them at a sitting to-day. It was admitted that the situation was serious, and plans to meet every possible contingency have now been perfected.

BERLIN, Aug. 1.
It was officially announced to-day that the time limit of the German ultimatum to Russia expired at noon to-day.

LONDON, Aug. 1.
The news of King George's intervention with the Russian Emperor was conveyed to the German Embassy here. It elicited the remark that it tended to revive hope.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
Russia and Germany are at war to-day, although actual fighting is not yet reported. France and Germany are not officially broken as yet, but both are swiftly mobilizing, and a formal declaration of war is expected at any moment. Europe, to-day is under martial law, and no communications are coming through.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
The French Embassy at 8.30 this morning, was without confirmation of the report that Germany had declared war against France.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
An official message was received here this morning stating that fighting had commenced between Russian and German forces on the frontier.

LISBON, Aug. 2.
All foreign vessels which are lying in Portuguese ports, were notified to-day to remain until further instructions were issued.

BRUSSELS, Aug. 2.
A division of the German Army invaded Luxembourg during the night.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
King George is reported to be suffering from a nervous breakdown. Great Britain still holds aloof, watching and waiting. A meeting of the Cabinet is being held to-day. Lord Kitchener is slated for the head of the British Army.

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.
The summoning of the Dominion Parliament to deal with the emergency arising out of Britain's participation, seems within the bounds of probability. To send forward volunteer contingents, requires constitutionally the sanction of Parliament, but the crisis may be so grave and the consequences so far-reaching that it might be advisable to take action in any event all preparations are ready if this step is decided upon. The Government had sittings from eleven o'clock till one o'clock this afternoon, and held an after sitting at five o'clock. The Prime Minister issued no statement to-night, but intimated he might have something to-morrow. That on the outbreak of war the export of petroleum and nickel will be prohibited, and steps taken to preserve Britain wheat supply, seems a wholly probable development.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
London is taking the march of events with calm gravity. When two or three men gather together the question, "When will it be?" is invariably asked, and the answer is, "Within twenty-four hours."

WASHINGTON, Aug. 2.
No action has been taken by the United States Government as to the proposal of Ambassador Herrick to represent Germany in France. Officials expect that such duties will devolve upon American diplomats generally in Europe, and will be assumed by them.

KINGSLYNN, England, Aug. 2.
The British steamer Saxon, which sailed from here on Thursday, with a cargo of coal, has been captured by the German fleet and taken to Cuxhaven.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
The prospect of food shortage is being discussed everywhere, and it is estimated that present supplies in Great Britain will last for six weeks.

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.
His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught, is speeding back to the capital from his Western trip, on a special train. He is expected to reach Ottawa on Monday, and will confer with the cabinet regarding the war situation.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
Searchlights are ablaze over Aldershot camp to-night, and great activity prevails at Grimsby, where heavy forces of troops are held in readiness.

Sixty thousand territorials went under canvas to-day for their annual fortnight's training. Another development is the guarding of all water works by electric light from power houses supplying the principal towns. A significant order was issued by the War Office to-day to the effect that sentries shall not be posted singly, but in couples.

LUXEMBURG, Aug. 2.
The twenty-ninth infantry of the German Army which entered this city, are moving towards France by way of Metz. A number of German soldiers have been left in charge of this station, and all bridges are guarded to insure the regular passage of military trains across the Grand Duchy. All telephone and telegraph stations here have been seized by the Germans.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
England has asked Germany if the Kaiser's armies will respect the treaty guaranteeing the neutrality of Belgium in the event of war with France. The German ambassador to-day presented a tentative reply from the Kaiser, which is that Germany is unable to answer the interrogation at this time. German reservists in England to-day received notice to rejoin their regiments immediately.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
A despatch from a Reuter agency says it is reported that Germany has declared war upon France, and that the French Ambassador has been handed his passports.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
An evening paper publishes the story that twenty thousand German troops crossed the French frontier this morning near Nancy. They encountered the French forces, and were repulsed with heavy losses.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
King George sent an urgent personal appeal for peace to the Czar, but apparently without avail.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
Italy, by her proclamation of neutrality, has virtually separated from Germany and Austria, her partners in the Triple Alliance. Although she has put five hundred thousand of her two million troops under arms, she will fight only if attacked.

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.
The Canadian Government will urge no objections to the Canadian Pacific, Allan and other steamship lines, subsidized by it, being converted into cruisers and troop ships.

LONDON, Aug. 2.
Britain's war preparations continue night and day. At Aldershot a large number of troop trains are waiting on sidings with steam up. The service corps are working day and night loading baggage and war material.

OTTAWA, Aug. 2.
When war is declared, the Canadian Government will keep a close watch on the Austrians and Hungarians within her borders. Altogether it is estimated that there are about sixty thousand males from these countries many of them being reservists. They will not be interfered with if they remain quiet, but if there is any attempt to go home to rejoin their army and fight against Britain, they will be stopped. They must stay in Canada. This is the custom in such cases in time of war, and it would be followed by Canada if emergency calls for it.

LONDON, this a.m.
That England is on the verge of war, was emphasized when King George, last night, signed a moratorium proclamation, which suspends payment of obligations for the present. The War Office has recalled 150,000 of her territorial troops, and general mobilization is foreshadowed.

COPENHAGEN, this a.m.
It is reported that the German Baltic Fleet is on its way to the North Sea from Kiel roadstead.

PARIS, this a.m.
The text of a despatch from Rome, says: "It is authoritatively announced that Marquis San Giuliano, Italian Foreign Minister, informed the German Ambassador at Rome, that Italy would remain neutral. Her obligations under the Triple Alliance treaty applies only to defensive war. Italy, therefore, considers herself released from engagements, the war waged by Austria and supported by Germany, being essentially an offensive war."

HAMILTON, Mass., this a.m.
A general call to the colors was sent yesterday to all French reservists in the United States by Ambassador Jusser, and the reservists are instructed to report to the nearest French port. Arrangements will be made to transport them to France.

NEW YORK, this a.m.
All British Army and Navy reservists are to be called out. Instructions to this effect were received here yesterday from the British Foreign Office by Acting-Consul General Noseworthy. Many of the reservists are expected to leave by the steamer Lusitania, on Tuesday.

HALIFAX, this a.m.
Halifax is in a state of arms to-night. Her fortifications are being strengthened in every way possible. Since the announcement that war has been declared, the military authorities are strengthening all fortifications in and around the city and coast line. There is great excitement, and the dailies were issued yesterday the first time in the history of the city, on Sunday. The military authorities are working night and day, and it is believed that when the time comes, Halifax will be fully prepared to take her part in the world's greatest conflict.

PARIS, this a.m.
The War Office has been advised that a German column has attacked the Customs House at Delle, near the Switzerland border.

LONDON, this a.m.
The British Cabinet was in session for one hour and a half last night. No statement was issued as to what action had been taken.

BRADBURY—CHAFE.

Petty Harbor was the scene of a pretty wedding yesterday afternoon, when William Harvey Bradbury, son of Capt. Samuel Bradbury, of Bay Roberts, took for a partner Harriet Maria Chafe, daughter of Edward and Harriet Chafe, of that place. The bride looked charming in a dress of white satin, with crystal trimming, and overdress of white net, with hat to match; she was attended by Miss Jessie Bradbury, sister of the groom, who also looked charming in a suit of white, the groom being supported by the bride's brother, Edgar. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Mr. Hewitt, after which the party repaired to the residence of the bride, where a sumptuous supper was served, and which was attended by about twenty couple. The presents were many and costly. Mr. and Mrs. Bradbury are leaving in a day or two for Bay Roberts where the honeymoon will be spent, after which they will proceed to Grand Falls, their future home. We wish the young couple a long and prosperous life.—Cor.

DAINTY DESKS

"My Lady's Room."

NEVER was furniture of any kind, or at any period, more beautiful, comfortable, thoroughly attractive and well-made, or more eminently adapted to its own special use, than is the furniture of to-day. This is remarkably noticeable in some of the elegant articles that are made for the refined woman's use. We are showing examples in the handsome Writing Desks for Ladies we have on view this week.

These Desks are specially designed for daintiness and comfort, they are of Bird's-eye Maple, Mahogany, Circassian Walnut, Quartered, Fumed and Weathered Oak, also in early English finish; all have chairs en suite.

These Desks are suitable for drawing-room, boudoir, or sitting-room, in fact, used in any room they make writing a pleasure.

The Call of the Marseillaise.

The call of the Marseillaise echoes on the ears of every Frenchman throughout the world to-day, as a general mobilization of the French Army and Navy commenced yesterday. Though the number of French residents and fishermen in Newfoundland is very small every available man is required in the service of the Republic. Instructions concerning the summoning of the French Reserves have been sent to St. Pierre, and from there orders will be issued to the French fishing fleet now on the Grand Banks. The fishery will have to be abandoned and the fishermen, who according to this year's statistics number over ten thousand, will hasten to headquarters and report themselves for service. Practically every man in the fleet belongs to the naval reserve of the Republic, and carries with him all necessary instructions which come into effect the moment he is called upon.

French Consul Suzer wishes us to inform French residents or fishermen in Newfoundland that general mobilization of the French Army and Navy has been decreed for to-day, 2nd August, and that every available must report himself to his home quarters according to the instructions of his military papers. Moreover, full information, as well as passage money will be, if required, provided at once by the French Consulate in St. John's.

Big Masonic Ceremony at Grand Falls.

The fourth installation of officers of Lodge Northcliffe, No. 1086, at Grand Falls, was held on Tuesday, July 28th, and carried off with special eclat.

Messrs. N. Pike, P.M., Geo. E. White, I.P.M., and M. Davis, R.W.M., awaited the arrival of the morning express by which the following gentlemen came to attend the ceremonies: Messrs. C. R. Duder, D.G.M.; R. G. Ash, D.G. Treas.; W. J. Edgar, D.G.S., E.C.; and Bros. Duff (Carbonear), Taylor, McLean, McKean, Spence, Johnson and MacFarlane. The day was spent in visiting the Paper Mills and town, and those who had been here before were delighted with the great strides that had been made in all directions since their last visit, while those who were seeing the town for the first time were very much surprised at the thoroughly modern mill and equipment, and the excellent arrangements in the town.

At 8 p.m. the Lodge was opened in due form by Bro. G. E. White, R.W.M., and Bro. W. J. Edgar, D.G.S., E.C., was received with grand honors, after which the other District Grand Officers were accorded the same reception. Bro. Edgar apologized for the unavoidable absence of Bro. J. A. Clift, who was detained by business. The installation ceremony was then performed by Messrs. C. R. Duder, D.G.M.; J. Duff, as S.W.; G. E. White, as J.W.; R. G. Ash, as D.G. Secy., and Director of Ceremonies; E. W. Taylor, as I.G., and N. Pike as Chaplain. The following are the officers for the ensuing year:

- Bro. M. Davis, R.W.M.
  - " D. Arkle, D.M.
  - " J. Bethune, W.S.W.
  - " A. Hay, W.J.M.
  - " N. Pike, P.M., Secretary.
  - " F. E. Ireland, Treasurer.
  - " C. McD. Mews, S.D.
  - " J. B. Simpson, J.D.
  - " E. Sheppard, B.B.
  - " I. Morgan, I.G.
  - " J. Knight, Tyler.
  - " W. Brain, W. Morrow, Stewd'rs.
- On behalf of the Lodge, Bro. C. R. Duder, D.G.M., then presented to Bro.

G. E. White, a Past Master's Jewel as a mark of appreciation of the capable and enthusiastic manner in which he filled his office during the past year. Bro. White, in a few well chosen words, thanked the Lodge for their gift and assured them of his continued interest in the future as in the past.

At 10 p.m. the assembly retired from the Lodge room to the Banquet Hall of the Grand Falls Club, where a most excellent dinner had been prepared by Mrs. MacPherson. In this she seems to have surpassed even her former successes and served a repast that could hardly be excelled in the country.

After full justice had been done to this item of the programme, the Toast List was discussed and some excellent speeches were delivered, principally those of Bros. Duder and Edgar. Bros. P. Deckers, J. P. Nelson, C. Mews and D. Arkle furnished some vocal selections which were very well received and contributed in no small measure to the general enjoyment. The following is the Toast List:

"The King and The Craft."—Proposed by Bro. Mark Davis, R.W.M.; God Save the King.

"The Grand Master Mason of Scotland."—Prop. Bro. Mark Davis, R.W.M.

"The Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of England, H.R.H. the Duke of Connaught."—Prop. Bro. Mark Davis, R.W.M.

"Officers of District Grand Lodge."—Prop. Bro. G. E. White, I.P.M.; Resp. Bro. C. R. Duder, P.M., D.G.M. "District Grand Lodge of England."—Prop. Bro. R. G. Ash, B.M., Acting D.G.S.; Resp. Bro. W. J. Edgar, P.M., D.G.S., E.C.

"Sister Lodges and Visiting Brethren."—Prop. Bro. J. G. Bethune, W.S.W.; Resp. Bro. W. J. Edgar, D.G. S., E.C. of St. John's Lodge, No. 579; E. McLean, of Tasker Lodge; J. Duff, of Carbonear Lodge, No. 1043; Dr. Chamberlain, of Avalon Lodge, and J. P. Nelson, of British Lodge, No. 334, South Africa.

"Lodge Northcliffe and newly installed officers."—Prop. Bro. W. J. Edgar, P.M., D.G.S., E.C.; Resp. Bro. Mark Davis, R.W.M.

"Absent Brethren."—Prop. Bro. C. R. Duder, P.M., D.G.M.

"Tylers' Toast."—Prop. Bro. J. Knight; Auld Lang Syne. The local visitors comprised Bros. P. Deckers and P. H. D. Ross, of Lodge St. John's; R. Allen, of Thistle and Rose, No. 169; Dr. H. B. Chamberlain, Avalon Lodge and J. P. Nelson, of British Lodge, No. 334, South Africa.

During the evening the following telegram was read from Bro. A. E. Wright, R.W.M. Tasker Lodge: "Lodge Tasker sends fraternal greetings Master elected officers and Brethren and wishes them every success coming year."

Wednesday, the 29th, was spent by some of the visitors at salmon fishing and by others at photographing various points of interest; Mr. R. G. Ash caught a fine salmon, and all enjoyed themselves heartily. They speak very highly of their reception and the welcome accorded; one and all assure us that they will be here again next year, God willing, and weather permitting.

In the afternoon most of them departed on the A.N.D. Co.'s train for Botwood from which they will proceed to Norris Arm and take the night's express for St. John's. The whole affair was a red letter day for all concerned and was carried through with the greatest success, showing that the followers of the ancient Craft in Grand Falls can do their share of the honors in entertaining their guests in a whole-souled and generous manner.

Efficient Eating.

By RUTH CAMERON.

"Men dig their graves with their teeth," said Seneca some hundreds of years ago, and if anything it is truer now than it was in his day. We sit at tables loaded with too much food, and while we eat far more than we need to support life, far more than our digestion can possibly take care of, we talk about the high cost of living and the next to impossibility of supporting life under present conditions.

Now be it emphatically understood that I am not one of those who say that being more economical is the way to solve the problem which the vastly increased cost of the necessities of life, and stationary or but slightly increased wages have forced upon a large number of people. If we simply contented ourselves with living more economically and did not try to have things set right, that would mean that the buying power of wages would be pushed down still further, and we should be no better off than now.

My feeling about the matter is this. If we common folks can live more economically and at the same time more healthily, let's do it for our own sakes, and yet keep right on trying to have evils corrected and to get everything that belongs to us. Then if we ever do get things straightened out, our habit of economical eating will mean that we will have just so much later a margin for other purposes.

Of course you realize that by economical eating I do not mean scrimping or eating bad food. I mean efficient eating. "Efficiency" according to the dictionary means, "the ratio of useful work to energy expended." Efficiency in eating is the ratio of energy produced to the cost of food eaten.

Different conditions and different kinds of work demand different foods. In a family where there is plenty of money and to spare the noon lunch is always a simple soup, thin cut bread and a light dessert. The man of the house does mental work and although he could easily afford rich and elaborate food, he feels that he can work much better on what his wife calls "his genius lunch."

A gentleman farmer's wife had to plan the meals for half a dozen hired men. The work was new to her and she gave them dainty salads and fancy and expensive foods from a high class grocer's. As she looks back over the career that ended in financial ruin, she says, "I thought I was doing them a favor, but I see now that what they needed and wanted was corned beef and cabbage. If I had realized that in the first place they would have done better work and I would have saved money."

Foods must be selected not only with reference to their nutritive value, but with reference to those who are going to eat them. Many foods such as baked beans, corned beef and cabbage, etc., which the stomach of the manual worker can digest and convert into nutriment, the stomach of the brain worker cannot digest at all, and hence they poison rather than nourish him.

It is a big subject and one that every woman ought to study. Any librarian will help you find books dealing with this matter. In my home I have a simple chart which gives a list of the food elements contained by the various foods, tells what these elements do for the body and suggests efficient menus. I should be glad to tell anyone who is interested where to get duplicates.

A visitor saw that chart on my table the other day. "All nonsense," she said, turning up her nose. That's one point of view. Here's hoping that my reader friends are too intelligent and too progressive to take it.

Ruth Cameron

LONDON GOSSIP.

LONDON, July 15th, 1914.

THE PRINCESS'S FIRST BALL.

The ball Lady Salisbury gave at her town house in Arlington Street was apart from two small dinner dances, the first dance the Princess of Wales has been to in general society. It had all along been hoped that the Princess would be present, for he and Lord Cranbourne, Lord Salisbury's eldest son, are close friends at Oxford. The Princess, however, is no dancer—he does not inherit the Queen's talent for waltzing. At Lady Salisbury's dance he did not wait at all, but confined himself to one-step three of which he danced with Lady Mary Cecil, the daughter of the house. It was something of an ordeal for so young a boy and of so retiring a disposition as the Prince of Wales, for no one was allowed to dance until he began, and for a Prince who describes himself as a bad dancer this must have been a trial indeed. The Princess, however, is so natural and unaffected that he had the respectful sympathy of everyone. The Salisbury town house is magnificent in an austere and elevated style, with a grand staircase, a fine corridor leading to the ballroom, and a general air of being a palace rather than a house in a row of other houses. Both Lord and Lady Salisbury are personal friends of the King and Queen and rumors of a dukedom are constantly in the air.

AND THE PRINCESS'S.

The State Ball is now fixed for this week, but there is considerable disappointment amongst the boy and girl element of society that so far the rather informal dance at Buckingham Palace which had been predicted has not taken place. Princess Mary it is well known is anxious for the dance to be given, and the Queen has had to be firm in keeping to the rule laid down that the Princess is not to appear in society before the time appointed. Princess Mary, however, it is said, is using her very considerable powers of persuasion upon the subject of a small surprise dance to be given some time before her formal entry into society.

THE QUEEN OF SPAIN.

The Queen of Spain hopes to arrive in this country shortly in order to stay some weeks with her mother, who is leaving Kensington Palace in a few days for a cruise in the Channel. The first portion of this visit will be passed at Carrisbrooke Castle, the official residence of Princess Henry, as Governor of the Isle of Wight. A special suite of apartments was provided there for Her Majesty last year. This will be utilized for the coming visit. Subsequently the Queen of Spain and Princess Henry will come to London, staying some little time at Kensington Palace. It is understood that King Alfonso will not be able to accompany his Consort on this occasion, and he is not expected to be seen in England this year, while, now that he has sold his yacht "Hispania," it is doubtful if he will be represented at Cowes Regatta next month. It was arranged when Her Majesty was married eight years ago, that the Queen should pay an annual visit to this country and that custom has been followed ever since. Her Majesty has her own suite of rooms at Kensington Palace these having been granted to her by the late King Edward, with whom she was always a favorite.

ANOTHER WIRELESS WONDER.

I hear that an extremely satisfactory report has been received in London regarding exhaustive tests made on the Canadian Northern Liner Royal George with a wireless direction finder known as the Marconi-Bellini-Tosi apparatus. This enables a vessel, even in thick weather and without the aid of compass or sextant, to find her position when she is within a radius of about fifty miles of a fixed wireless station, or of one on board a ship whose position is known. Moreover, should a wireless distress signal be picked up on this "finder" the receiving vessel will be able to set her course towards its source, even although the ship in danger has not been able to give her position. Wireless telegraphy has been the means of saving life and property, but this new idea is believed to be capable of still greater service in the cause of humanity. When a steamer in distress fitted with ordinary wireless telegraphy is summing up aid it is necessary for her to give another ship her position in degrees of latitude and longitude, while the navigating officer of the succouring vessel must know his exact whereabouts, before he can set out towards the calling boat. Equipped with this new direction finder the officer on the bridge, even although the position of neither ship is known, can steer his vessel directly to the rescue, and thus arrive on the scene much sooner than he would if his steamer had been equipped with the ordinary apparatus only.

THE AFRICAN POMPEII.

The treasures unparalled in the buried city of Moero, in the Sudan, by the archeologists of Liverpool University, during the past five seasons, are on view just now in the rooms of the Society of Antiquaries. They give you the story of the civilization of what Professor Sayce has called the African Pompeii through a thousand years, as it can be pieced together from scraps and shards turned out of the mounds where there were once Kings' palaces, and quays and lordly avenues. It is in its way an achievement almost as complete as Sir Arthur Evans's wonderful recreation of the Minoan civilization. Perhaps the most pathetic thing here is the barbarous vase belonging to the last phase of all when Moero had returned to the savagery in which it began. The chief finds of the past season are relics of the brilliant Greek period—beautiful drums of columns in blue faience with dancing figures of a swift gracefulness. Of the Roman period that followed there is a noble relic found, previously—a strong head of Augustus. Two enormous inscribed stones full of undeciphered history and carved with figures of a king and queen were also dug up last season. The learned men were justly excited by the uncovering of sketches on a wall which suggest that in the second century before Christ there was a school of astronomers at work in this forgotten centre of science and art and adventurously colored life. A hundred and sixty thousand tons of soil and refuse were removed last season alone for the reward of these fascinating remains.

LONDON AND THE OPEN AIR.

The warm weather has come back and once more one is convinced that London has never learned to prepare for sunshine. According to an American tourist in a curly brimmed Panama hat who was trudging the hot pavement of the Strand, London is a fine place, but there is nowhere to sit down. There is only one sitting-out-place for meals between Charing Cross and St. Paul's and that is known to very few. London seems to take on trust the ancient foreign liels on our weather, such as Talne's amusing generalisations based on the idea that we are forever steeped in fog. Nothing is ever set aside, as it were, for a sunny day. The hot spell which comes nearly every year always takes us by surprise, and sets the newspapers excitedly ranging the headlines as for a portent and correspondents exploring London for the coolest place as if the heat was some mysterious visitation. Then we realize almost with tears that there is not a single open air cafe in Central London, and think with bitter envy of Paris, where there sometimes seem to be hardly anything else than open air cafes. And Paris weather is on the whole worse than London's. The distrust of the open air life is as strange as the Londoner's contemptuous neglect of his splendid waterway. The open tea places in Hyde Park always seem a freakish exception to the general rule. There ought, of course, to be dozens of such, and the prejudice of the governing authorities of London against restaurants on the Continental plan should be broken down.

Drowned in Saving Horse.

Young Farmer Became Entangled in the Harness.
Bracebridge, July 22. — William Kingzett, aged 18, was drowned near Corrigan's old mill in Draper township, twelve miles from here, last evening while attempting to water a horse he was driving, attached to a breezy. The animal started to plunge and got into deep water. Kingzett was a good swimmer, and reaching the animal's head tried to bring it back to shore but became entangled in the harness. A seven-year-old brother was on the bank and gave the alarm. His mother, a sister and two brothers reside nearby, while his father is working in Toronto.

State Capitals.

SACRAMENTO.

By GEORGE FITCH.

Author of "At Good Old Swash."

Sacramento, the capital of California, is located on the extreme northern edge of the belt in which the tourist may be properly cultivated, about 100 miles northeast of San Francisco.

At one time most of Sacramento was watered by the Sacramento river which flows by the city on the west and used to ramble through it without warning during the spring freshets. But the uplift movement got into Sacramento early and it has now been elevated above flood level. It is connected with the tining east by two transcontinental railroads and with the magnificent fruit and vegetable fields of the Sacramento Valley by steamboats, trolleys and good roads. Because of this latter fact Sacramento is now a prosperous city of 50,000 people and takes a loud tenor part in the California chorus of prosperity even if the tourist does not give down as generously there as he does farther south.

Sacramento began existence as a fort in 1839 and was founded by a Swiss officer named Sutter. Ten years later when the city was composed of Sutter a few snuffers and some parietic Indians gold was discovered. In six months Sacramento had 10,000 people and had offered $1,000,000 for the state capital—not to the legislators but to the state. It got the capital in 1854 and the present building is a handsome building, which was large enough to accommodate both the legislature and the Southern Pacific railroad until Governor Johnson delivered his famous kick three years ago.

Sacramento ships 15,000 carloads of fruit each year, prints the text books for the entire state school system, repairs the locomotives for the Southern and Western Pacific railroads and grinds the wheat of the Sacramento Valley into flour. Most of the men who dug millions out of the Sacramento Valley moved out afterwards, but some of them stuck and the city is full of fine old families who began existence with a pick and shovel but lost their brogue shortly afterward.

Sacramento suffered intensely from floods, fires and politics in its earlier years, but has prospered greatly of late. It built the first section of the Central Pacific railroad in California in 1863 and succeeded in taming it a few years ago after a long struggle. It was once the toughest city in the world, but now takes pride in its fine art gallery and its libraries of over 300,000 volumes.

Where Responsibility Lies.

No matter how large, or how small, a business may be, nobody can deny that its Office is the nerve centre of the firm. Every transaction, important or trivial, must be recorded at the Office. An order is received at the Office—its history is recorded at the Office, and finally payment is received at the Office. If the Office makes an error the firm stands the loss. That's why you must be sure that your office is modern and dependably equipped for the care of all important papers. To do this effectively you need the up-to-date equipment of the "GLOBE-WERNICKE CO." When sixty offices in St. John's have found this necessity this equipment can surely be of use to you. Mr. Gerda Johnson represents this world famous firm in Newfoundland.

Household Notes.

Old velvet should be saved for polishing cloths.

Beef immersed in sour milk will keep for months.

Silver should never be allowed to stand overnight without washing.

A cloth dipped in ammonia will often remove stains from clothing.

French-fried potatoes dipped in cornmeal before frying are excellent. For freezing ice cream and sherbets use three portions of ice to one of salt.

A pinch of salt in the whites of eggs will make beat much more quickly.

Scraped raw potatoes put into de-canters will clean them if left for two or three days.

A daily bath, into which a little bicarbonate of soda is put, will ally the burning of the feet.

When selecting poultry see that the feet are soft and moist, the eyes clear and the flesh plump.

When watering a garden remember that a thorough soaking is better than frequent sprinklings.

Tomatoes filled with minced pineapple, celery and chopped nuts mixed with mayonnaise are delicious.

Add a little curry powder to warmed-over soups or stews. It will make a new dish out of them.

Apples cored and filled with chopped dates or figs, then baked, make an excellent breakfast dish.

Pack glass and china in hay that is slightly damp. This will prevent the articles from slipping about.

When you put your tennis racket away, rub vasoline over the strings. This will prevent their breaking.

When washing neckwear the addition of ammonia or borax to the water will make the articles white.

A diet of oranges will clear muddy complexions and reduce fat. Eat half a dozen a day, if you like them.

When transplanting seedlings they should be lifted carefully with as much soil as possible adhering to the roots.

Choose the summer meals with a deliberate view to economizing in fuel and thus avoiding the overheating of the house.

When making tea the quality of the tea will be improved if the tea pot is rinsed out with hot water just before using.

Never paint the flower pots for house plants. It closes the pores of the pot, which are essential to free passage of air.

Lamb's liver, which is very delicate and not as much used as it deserves to be, is delicious minced and served on toast.

If white potatoes are inclined to turn black when being boiled, add a few drops of vinegar to the water they are boiled in.

Always use ammonia water instead of soap when cleaning white paint. It has the advantage of not dulling the surface.

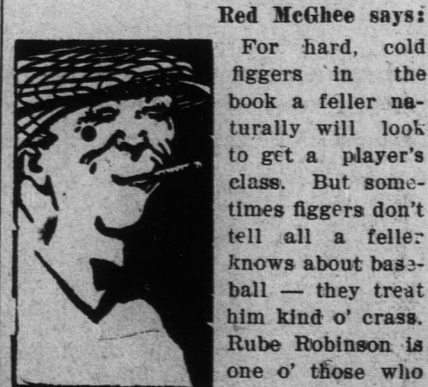

An orange or grape fruit that has been cut in halves and left can be kept from drying if fastened together with a skewer.

Fish will be crisp and brown if it is thoroughly dried on both sides, then dipped in fine cornmeal and plunged into boiling fat.

Cheese may be kept soft and good for a long time if wrapped in a cloth, wrung out of vinegar and then wrapped again in a dry cloth.

A frying basket should be warmed in the oven before being put into hot fat. It will thus not reduce the temperature of the fat.

Rube Robinson.

Red McGhee

Red McGhee says: For hard, cold fingers in the book a feller naturally will look to get a player's class. But sometimes fingers don't tell all a feller knows about baseball — they treat him kind o' crass. Rube Robinson is one o' those who sn't tinted like a rose in that ol' average book. To size him up the proper way go out an' see the Cards some day an' give the Rube a look. When Rube's left wing is workin' loose the big boy surely can produce the steam an' bendin' shoots. He ain't got southpaw tem'prament — he goes an' pitches when he's sent an' WORKS, ya betcher boots. He pitched the Pirates' winnin' ball an' when they switched him in the Fall it didn't change his stride. He lost a few in early Spring for Higgins. But he got in swing 'fore long an' turned the tide. On strike-outs he ain't overstrung an' yet he ain't exactly long on hand-in' passes free. His hits all year don't count a pile. At fieldin' though, he's got the style a feller likes to see. Rube ain't no howler after fame, he goes out there in every game an' does the best he can. He'll do all right, without no crown. Jus' give him one good up an' down — he's just a darn good man.

Dear Sirs:—

In acknowledging receipt of cheque in payment of my endowment policy now maturing, I wish to thank you for the prompt way in which you have put my claim through. I did not have to wait a single day for my money as the papers were all in order beforehand.

I am pleased, too, with the way my investment has turned out. Besides having my insurance protection for $1,000; I have got all my money back and $400 besides. The Canada Life has my best good wishes for its continued success.

Yours truly,
 R. H. KNIGHT.

A TREATISE ON TEA!

When you buy our Teas in lead packages you are sure of getting Tea fresh, fragrant, strong, clean and, last but not least, airtight. It is impossible for tea not to get stale in packages not airtight, such as paper bags. In other countries for years past tea is sold by retailers only in lead or tin cartons.

If you have not been buying Tea that way, start in to-day.

It is necessary, however, to buy the right teas. They are as follows:

ARMADA: Packed in the most attractive package in the market. A pure Ceylon Tea, at 50c. per lb.
 OLD HOME BLUE: In lead packets. A blend of Indian and Ceylon Teas, at 50c. per lb.
 SERENDIB: An old favourite, price 40c. per lb.
 OLD HOME RED: A blend of Ceylon and Indian, at 35c.
 TIGER: Another old favourite, at 35c.
 LION: At 30c.

FOR SALE EVERYWHERE.
