WEDNESDAY EVENING, FEB. 25, 1874

Town and County News

Mrs. ALLEN, of Salem, accidentally fell down on Saturday, and broke the bone of her thigh so badly that her condition is precarious.

MEETING IN NARRAGANSETT.—A public meeting has been called by the Council to be held in the Town Hall on Saturday first to ascertain the views of the ratepayers as to how the Township's share of the surplus from the Provincial Government will be applied.

FIREMEN'S CONCERT IN MORRISTON.—We learn that an excellent programme has been prepared for this concert, to come off in the Town Hall, Morriston, on Friday night. Vale's Quadrille Band has also been engaged for the dance after, which is an additional inducement for parties to attend.

CHILD MURDER.—A coroner's inquest was held at Petrolia on Tuesday on the body of a newly born male infant found in a travelling bag in the residence of Mr. Mann. From the evidence adduced it appears that the child was born alive and died from suffocation. The mother gave her name as Margaret Thomas, and hails from Strathroy.

NOVEL STREALING.—On Sunday afternoon, while service was being held in the Bartonville Wesleyan Methodist Church, the Rev. Mr. Green, was stolen. As soon as the theft was discovered, the whole male portion of the congregation turned out in pursuit. Up to five o'clock no trace could be found.

HALTOS.—At the annual meeting of the County Orange Lodge, held in Campbellville on Tuesday last, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—Bro. Capt. Kearns, County Master; Bro. D. Lindsay, Deputy Master; Bro. R. S. Applebe, Secretary; Bro. W. Gibson, Treasurer; Bro. H. Gane, Chaplain; Bro. J. B. Lindsay, Director of Ceremonies; Bro. W. Smith, Lecturer.

MILTON.—A new Lodge of Odd Fellows was instituted on Friday evening in Kilbride by D. G. M. Matheson, assisted by a number of brethren from Milton. It will be known as Mystic Lodge, No. 128. The following officers were installed:—James S. Kemp, N.G.; Robert Parker, V.G.; S. H. Hannan, R.S.; D. McNeil, Treasurer; W. H. Smith, P.S. At the conclusion of the lodge business, the Kilbride brethren entertained their visitors to a supper.

SCHOOL EXHIBITION.—A public entertainment will be given by the pupils of B. S. No. 11, Paslinch, in the school taught by Mr. Knowles, on the evening of Friday, the 6th of March. A choice programme is being prepared, in dialogues, readings, recitations, and music, vocal and instrumental. As the entertainment given by those pupils last year proved a great success, no pains will be spared to make it even more successful on this occasion. Admission 15c.

ACCIDENT IN ERAMOSA.—About ten days ago a son of Mr. Geo. S. Royce, who was attending school, met with an accident. Having gone to the pump for a drink, some of the other boys came up, and in mere frolic began shoving him. He slipped on the ice, and the others falling on him, his leg got twisted under him, and was broken above the ankle. Dr. McCullough was at once summoned, who set the broken limb, and the lad is now doing well under his care.

ERAMOSA AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—A meeting of the Directors of the Eramosa Agricultural Society was held in the Town Hall Rockwood on Saturday the 23rd inst. An offer made by the Trustees of the Rockwood Agricultural Grounds, to convey the grounds to this Society, was duly laid before the meeting for its consideration. After considerable discussion it was finally decided to accept the offer at the present time. The prize list was revised and enlarged, and Tuesday the 29th of September fixed for holding the annual show.

THE INDIAN LANDS.—A convention of the Councils of the Townships of Keppel, Sarawak, Amabel, Alberman and Eastnor, and of the Village of Southampton, was held at Hepworth, on Friday the 13th inst., to consider the position of the settlers in those townships in relation to the Indian Department. Resolutions were passed recommending that the management of the Indian Lands be transferred to the Crown Lands Department, and that efforts be made to get a reduction made in the price of the lands, after conference is held with the Indian chiefs.

CURIOUS FIRE.—It is not often we hear of a house being burned down in this town and the alarm not sounded; but such was the case on Tuesday night. There is—or was—a small house on Mary Street, the title to which is doubtful, and for some time past it has been in a neglected condition, and has passed from one tenant to another. The last occupants were a dissipated couple named Kilfoyle, with one child. Their total furniture consisted of a stove and an old bed. Both were intoxicated when the house caught fire, at about eight o'clock. With the assistance of some neighbors the happy couple were got out of the house. The stove was then removed, and the place left to burn, as no one seemed to think it worth saving.

The North Riding Election.

GRAND TORY DEMONSTRATION.

To the Editor of the Mercury.

The Tories were so much excited over the North Riding election that on Saturday their leaders engaged the Elora Battalion Band, and proceeded to Arthur to accompany the newly elected representative to Fergus, thence to Elora. We cannot vouch for their conduct in Fergus, but we suppose it was something similar to that of Elora. They arrived in Elora about 5 p.m. The Tories who remained in Elora went to meet them with empty sleighs and an empty 'bus, trying to make the procession look as large as possible. They came into town with an uproarious hubbub, some laughing at their folly, others growling as if in a dying agonization. They arrived in front of one of the leading hotels, and had a jolly good fight among themselves. Constable Brown and others were at hand, trying to keep the peace, which they found it utterly impossible to do.

One of the leaders (a rabid little Tory) rushed through the crowd thoughtless of what he was doing, seized the constables, and tried to scare them, which he found more easily thought of than done. Had there been a lunatic asylum close at hand it would most certainly have had one or more occupants before Sunday morning. After this scuffle they passed through town. The first cutter contained two bright-faced politicians. The second was drawn by a pair of grey horses, and had a good many of the Tories, with Dr. Orton under the left wing, and the worthy representative under the right wing. The others were running horses and trying to pass them, which they succeeded in doing after a brief struggle. Every nerve of the Standard man was strained, and every beat of the pulse quickened on the occasion. The Tories had a good cheer, which showed it was dutiful to steady the driver in order that the two passengers might maintain their position. In a few minutes they had disappeared in the direction of Salem. We hope they passed through this quiet village without calling on medical assistance. The temperance folks declare the show one of the best temperance lectures ever exhibited in Elora. If so, we are glad to say it has done good in one way. Long should the I. O. G. T. return thanks to the Tories for their exhibition on Friday, Feb. 20, 1874.

Yours, &c.,

TRUE REFORMER.

General Engagement Expected

Closing Liquor Saloons.

Luca's Unlucky Chorus.

London, Feb. 25.—Henry Howard, Agent for Great Britain in the American and British Joint Claims Commission, has been made a Companion of the Order of the Bath.

Hon. Robert Burke, brother of the late Earl of Mayo, has been appointed Under Secretary for the Foreign Department.

Madrid, Feb. 24.—The report of the capture of Portuguese by the National forces is confirmed. Moriones with 22,000 men now confronts the main body of the Carlists, and the news of a general engagement is hourly expected.

Chicago, Feb. 25.—David A. Gage, late City Treasurer, has made arrangements to turn over to the city some $220,000 in cash, and give security for the payment of interest already charged against him of $183,000, and for the recovery of city monies deposited in broken banks of about $150,000, which it is supposed will end the criminal prosecution now pending against him for a mass meeting on March 3rd. All the pastors of the city have been invited to participate.

Havana, Feb. 23.—Luca and Murzika and Vessami sailed for New York yesterday, after depositing in Court the amount demanded by the chorus and orchestra of the Opera Company. The latter, meantime, are compelled to remain in the Island until the legal proceedings are terminated. They are in want, and several are ill.

Harriston Correspondence.

ACCIDENT.—Mrs. Jas. Moswell of Minto, had a narrow escape from being killed on Saturday night last by being run over with a team. She was walking along the road after dark, and Robert Horrocks was on his way home from Harriston with his team. He was driving pretty fast, and there being no bells on, she never noticed him till the team was up to her, and before she had time to get out of the way the sleigh-tongue struck her on the foot, and cut it severely, also knocking her down, causing considerable injuries. Horrocks immediately carried her into the house of Alex. Angus, she being unable to go home. Dr. Cowan was sent for, and rendered the necessary aid. She is yet in a precarious state, but as well as could be expected.

Donald Smith, blacksmith, in the employ of R. G. Lambert, of this place, had his right hand badly wounded on Thursday of last week by coming in contact with the drilling machine. It was severely dressed by Dr. Rutherford, and is now doing well.

CONCERT.—A grand concert in aid of the Mechanical Institute, will take place in the town hall here, on Thursday, 5th of March; to commence at 7.30 p.m. The committee have secured the services of some superior talent, so that a rare musical treat may be expected.

SOCIAL.—A social in connection with the M. N. C. Sabbath School, will be held in John D. McEachern's new building, on Monday, 2nd of March. Tea to be served at 5 o'clock, p.m. A number of good speakers will be present to deliver addresses.

Messrs. Rockwell & Blackwell, the celebrated horse trainers, will give an exhibition of their skill here on Monday, 2nd of March, at 1 o'clock, p.m. It will take place on Elora street, opposite the Royal Hotel. Those who have witnessed their performances say they are very attractive.

A. F. & A. M.—Settlement Between Canada and Quebec.

We condense the following from the Montreal Herald:—

The dispute between the Grand Lodges of Canada and Quebec has created a great amount of interest throughout the Masonic world, and has now been finally settled as follows:—The Grand Lodge of Canada to withdraw altogether from the territory of the Province of Quebec, and to formally cede to Quebec all Masonic jurisdiction within that Province. All the subordinate Lodges of Canada residing in Quebec are to transfer their allegiance to the Grand of the Province, each Lodge taking priority with the Quebec Lodges according to their date of warrant. The Grand Lodge of Quebec undertakes upon its part all the obligations of Canada referring to the Grand Lodges of England and Scotland until a new treaty. The Grand Masters of Quebec and Canada have already declared their intention to issue an edict declaring the resumption of fraternal intercourse.

BRITISH COLUMBIA ELECTIONS.—The elections in this Province are over with the exception of Cariboo. Victoria returns Roscoe and DeCosmos; Vancouver, Bulster; New Westminster, Cunningham; Yale, Dewdney. Mr. Thompson is opposed in Cariboo.

At Neiderplanitz, Saxony, a vast bed of coal has been burning for over 300 years. The ground has become thoroughly warmed by this time, and an ingenious gardener has utilized it by a nursery garden, where he raises tropical plants, with exotic fruits, which flourish with a vigor and luxuriance in the open air that the best forcing-house could not insure.

Botanicians have held a meeting to decide upon the form of a monument to be erected in that city to the memory of Agassiz. The prevailing sentiment was in favor of completing the Zoological Museum commenced by the distinguished naturalist.

The new city library of Paris, to replace that which was destroyed by the Communists, was opened on January 3d. It is in the Rue Sevigne, and contains 25,000 volumes and 15,000 engravings. About 8,000 of the books and 12,000 of the engravings were given.

A Dundas naturalist, in attempting to warm the ears of a wasp over a gas jet, discovered that the fall of the insect thinned out first, and worked with a rapidity that was as astonishing as the hideous profanity of the naturalist, who held the insect by the tail while thus expelling it.

Toronto Correspondence.

And so North Wellington has sent an Opposition to Toronto; much to the surprise of the Opposition themselves, for I am credibly informed that they were far from sanguine of Mr. McGowan's return. If the latter gentleman intends to serve his constituents with as much faithful assiduity as Mr. McKim did, his post will be no sinecure, for if ever there was an M. P. F. that devoted himself to the interests of his constituents, it was the late local member for North Wellington.

When the Railway Subsidy Bill was lately up for discussion in the House, one fell fairly amazed that the "collective wisdom" of the country could manage to waste so many hours in debate without touching the real objects of the Bill. Baldwin Reformers, Crown Land management and mis-management, the true theory and nature of Responsible Government, Reform past, present, and future, Civil Service salaries in Ontario, in Quebec, and in the Dominion, in fact, almost every imaginable question, was discussed, and not infrequently fiercely so, to the exclusion of the particular subject involved in the Railway Subsidy Bill; until at a late hour of the evening the true question before the House was presented by Mr. McLeod, M. P. for West Durham. The Hon. Stephen Richards, of course, as usual, claimed that he alone was the true representative REFORMER, for which he was twitted by the Hon. Mr. Fraser sarcastically asking where were his followers. The Provincial Secretary rubbed the blistering sting pretty severely into the Hon. Stephen, so much so, indeed that Mr. Boulton felt himself called on to remark so young a man as the Secretary having the "impudence," as he termed it, of speaking so flippantly of the late Commissioner of Crown Lands! And when that gentleman himself replied to the sarcastic strictures of the Provincial Secretary, he said that "it was not the first time he had lent wisdom from babes and sucklings!" You will see that our Legislature do not dislike occasional hard verbal knocks at one another. Bearing in mind that the subject was a Railway Subsidy Bill, Mr. Richards in one of his speeches was so apropos that he treated the House to a long dissertation of his regime in the Crown Lands Office, of how he brought in a chaotic confusion and reduced it into such splendid systematized order, and then indulged the House with a piteous "misere" of the reasons which caused his unpopularity in the administration of the affairs of that Department—prominent among the said reasons being his persistent attempts to reduce the unfortunate demands of the press for advertising patronage! Had he adopted, said he, the policy of his successor, the Hon. R. W. Scott, he (Mr. Richards) would have been one of the most popular Ministers of the day! Mr. Richards appeared to speak with unusual fervor and energy on the energy in question, gesticulating, pounding his desk, shrugging his shoulders, etc., with greater vehemence than ordinarily. The salaries of the Civil Service employees were a subject of most animated and piquant debate on this occasion likewise. Much misapprehension prevails on this subject, both within and without the House, and I believe that if a Commission or a Committee selected from both sides of the House were appointed, an immensity of good would result both to the country and to the employees. I question very much if Ministers themselves know the amount and particular character of the work many of the officials perform, and I firmly persuade myself that a thorough searching investigation would reveal the fact that whilst some officials are under-worked and well paid, other officials are over-worked and miserably paid. Let any one carefully scrutinize the Estimates and they will find that great disparity exists in the Departmental salaries for offices the nature of which require in their discharge as much ability and responsibility in the one position as the other. It is a very false economy to pay small salaries and get in return inefficient men; and where you have efficient men deriving inadequate salaries, the tendency and actual result is that they are perpetually out the look-out for "better terms" somewhere else. Besides it must ever be borne in mind that living in a city like Toronto is a very different thing from residence in the great majority of Canadian towns. With house rents ranging—from $250 to $350 per annum, with domestic help costing from $7 to $8 per month at least, with from $100 to $120 per annum devoted to fuel, with in fact most of the necessities of life at very greatly enhanced prices to the generality of prices in smaller towns, how is it possible for a married man with a family to contrive to make ends meet with a salary of $600, $700, $800 or even $900 a year? After shopping, feeding, and educating his family, how much at the largest of these salaries can a man lay by for a "rainy day"? And yet a Government official must be well educated, respectfully clothed, and a liberal contributor to the many demands of religion and benevolence. It must not be forgotten either that the most ordinary kind of manual labor commands in Toronto from $125 to $150 per day, whilst double that sum has been freely paid to the better kind of artisan. How many of the better class limit their butchers' bill to $1 per week? and yet I know a Government clerk who is compelled so to limit his expenditure in that and other family items in similar proportion to prevent his running into debt. The gentleman in question has $750 per annum—a very fair salary, no doubt, in most country towns, but only affording a miserably bare subsistence and existence in a city like Toronto.

I see you have been favored with some extensive burglarious operations in Guelph, and am glad to find that the "operators" have been so "disturbingly" rewarded for their artistic skill. We, in Toronto, are not without the pleasure of the company of similar "artists." Those of the "baser sort" seem to be as plentiful as "blackberries." "Hall thieves" are very abundant just now in Toronto, and many an excellent great-coat and valuable fur cap, etc., has disappeared from their accustomed place on the hat stand, much to the chagrin and loss of the unfortunate proprietor. They generally choose the hour of 6 to 7 in the evening for their period of enterprise, most families being then engaged in discussing the agreeable properties of a comfortable dinner or cozy tea. That door fasteners are in consequence in great demand just at present.

North Wellington Election.

(From the Hamilton Times.)

This is, so far as we can remember, the first actual loss the Ontario Reformers have suffered since the general elections of 1871. In all the other elections that have since taken place—and there have been a good many of them—the Ministerials have not only held their own, but in several instances won constituencies from the Tories. This process has gone on until the Opposition in the Legislature has been reduced to a weak and insignificant faction—too weak, indeed, to be of any value to the province whatever, for it has commanded respect neither for its numbers nor ability. It was not to be expected that the current of victory would always run in the same direction; that whenever an election took place the Ministerials, as a matter of course, would carry the day. We are not even certain that such a monotony of triumph would be good for either the Ministry or the Opposition for the Province at large. At all events, the monotony is broken in for it, without any doubt whatever, a defeat of the Government, in so far as that particular constituency is concerned. Local causes, probably, had something to do with the verdict rendered by the electors, but hardly enough, we assume, to make the election of Mr. McGowan anything but an Opposition victory. We are by no means inconsolably grieved that the unhappy occupants of the Opposition benches have been blessed with this crumb of comfort. They stood in sore need of some cordial, and if that which North Wellington has administered gives them strength enough to act with more dignity and force than they have yet shown, both sides in the House will be benefitted thereby.

Arthur Correspondence.

The Tories have won another victory in North Wellington, and they seem inclined to make the most of it. They had bonfires and a brass band procession. Well, let them enjoy themselves, for it is not often they get the chance to get the locality or anywhere else in the province. Mr. O'Callaghan ran well, considering the local jealousies that existed about county town matters, and I am sorry to say that the village for whose interests he sacrificed his election did not do what it should. The Tory party is ever ready to charge the Reformers with sacrificing the interests of a place or country for politics; but there were Tories actively engaged in circulating false reports damaging to the interests of this place, for the purpose of defeating O'Callaghan and furthering their own political ends at the expense of the village. The Tories, true to their political antecedents, published and industriously circulated printed sheets, vile and malicious stories about Mr. O'Callaghan. Some of them are going to be printed, in the local papers, to let the public see what sort of gentlemen are those who claim to have a monopoly of honour and loyalty, and are ever ready, like their great leader, Dr. Orton, to desert on "the good old flag which gives equal liberty to all classes and creeds." The public will be able to judge for themselves when they see these fly-sheets published how much honour they possess and what kind of toleration they are in favour of. The Tories have been active in this riding for some time past, and at last two elections they have worked hard, and are more jubilant over their victory than over their man, who is allowed on every hand to be ill fitted for the position, and who, like the old woman's medicine, will do neither good nor harm.

The absence of the Princess Louise and the Marquis of Lorne from the recent marriage ceremonies at St. Petersburg is thus explained:—The Princess would not expose her husband to mortification, as etiquette forbade him a seat at the Emperor's table, and therefore she remained away. A previous experience at Berlin, where the Marquis was excluded from a State banquet because he is not of royal blood, was her motive to a noble and wisely courteous.

The Legislature.

The House of Assembly on Tuesday was engaged for some time in discussing the Assessment Amendment Act. A motion was made by Mr. Gibson to expunge the sub-section of the Assessment Act which has been held to allow a reduction of forty per cent. on the assessment of towns and incorporated villages, after the equalization of the assessment by the County Council.

When the House went into Committee on Supply, Mr. Lauder repeated his old charge of extravagance, and was ably answered by Mr. McKellar. An acrimonious discussion followed, after which some items were passed.

The Manufacturers in Council.

A very large and influential meeting of the manufacturers of the Province was held on Tuesday in Toronto, to take steps for securing an increase of the tariff on articles manufactured in Canada, and for the promotion of the manufacturing interests of the Dominion generally.

The Dominion Board of Trade met at Ottawa on Tuesday—Mr. Howland in the chair. The Secretary read the annual report of the Executive Committee, after which various Committees were appointed.

Fergus Correspondence. On Saturday morning the Fergus Brass Band went up to Arthur, and met Dr. Orton and McGowan. During the afternoon quite a procession passed through our village, headed by the band with Dr. Orton and McGowan, each team having a broom.

Palmerston. The office of Deputy Reeve of Wallace, having been declared vacant by the Judge of the County Court, a new election was held on the 19th inst. The candidates were Messrs. Thomas E. Hay and Geo. Follis. Mr. Follis was elected by a majority of 55.

Forward. The contract for the erection of the new School House here is awarded to Mr. McLoughlin, of Gorme, for the sum of $725. It is to be completed by the 1st of June, 1874. There are a number of other improvements spoken of heretofore as yet unaccomplished.

Eramosa Township Council.

Council met here this day pursuant to adjournment. All the members present. The Reeve in the chair. The minutes of last meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. D. Rea reported the result of his examination, with Messrs. Broadfoot and McDonald, of Nichol, of the town line between Nichol and Eramosa, and the County Clerk copy of the Provincial Surveyor's report relative to the said town line, an application being made to the Council to open and improve the same.

GENTLEMEN,—We have audited your Treasurer's accounts, and found them correct—receipts, $14,853.24; and expenditure, $14,422.49, leaving a balance due the Treasurer of $69.25.

Moved by Mr. Dunbar, seconded by Mr. Duffield, and resolved, whereas it has been represented to this Council that certain parties are removing the timber off the west half of lot No. 8, in the 6th con., (non-resident land, and the owner thereof unknown) and further, if the timber thereon is all removed, the land will in such case not be worth the taxes, that the Reeve be instructed to confer with the County Attorney if anything can be done for the protection of the said timber.

CURLING.—A match was played on the Guelph rink on Tuesday afternoon for an oyster supper between the two rinks led by Messrs. A. Congalton and T. Dobbie respectively. The match was played in consequence of a standing challenge of the latter rink, which was taken up by the former. The game was a very closely contested one; during the whole of it the players were nearly neck for neck, until near the finish, when Mr. Dobbie made five shots, and his rink came in victorious by a majority of six.

The Rival Clansmen

A Scottish Vendetta.

CHAPTER XIX.

On, on! Continue the wild, mad pursuit. Ay, Donald Cameron and Ian M'Kenzie, ye had better fly quickly, for Hector M'Leod follows swiftly, nor has he ever been fully aroused until now. But he is now burning to retrieve the honour of his clan and to avenge the death of his father. Hector M'Leod follows—he who has sworn to protect Flora Macgregor against you, and who will make every effort in the power of an honourable high-souled, brave man to keep his word sacred. Ay, fly, for Hector M'Leod will now lose no opportunity of taking the life of those who openly sought his. Forbearance now is at end.

On, on—alone he rushes after them. A look over his shoulder has shown him this; but his heart quails not; the knowledge only nerves him the more—the more satisfaction will he have if he do the work himself. Heavens! is he nearing them yet? If he could but know that. But, ha! the wind is again lulling, and he will be enabled to follow more swiftly. Oh, Flora, are you despairing; or is your courage braced with the hope that your own Hector will not desert you, but will tear you from those who seek to injure you? Do you shrink and tremble as you feel the grasp of Ian M'Kenzie about you, and fear that you will be made a sacrifice to his evil lusts before the day on which your bridal should have been come to a close? Trust in Heaven! minister to her grief, ye guardian angels, and tell her that Heaven will strengthen Hector M'Leod to struggle in her behalf!

On, on—angrily, desperately. But there is a limit to human physical endurance, and the strength of Hector M'Leod had been too suddenly and too powerfully exerted. With him there had been no reserving of strength, and he cannot much longer rush onward through the deep sweltering snow so swiftly as he does at present. He is bathed with perspiration, and his heart beats wildly, while his breathing becomes oppressive. Surely he is following them truly, and not wasting his strength in vain! The moor at the back of Skerryvach which they are traversing is nearly crossed, and the paths are divided—one leading south, another north, which shall he take? O for a sign to guide him! Hark! again the wild cry for help. Heaven has heard and answered his prayer. On, on, the cry is nearer now; distance has been diminished, and hope again obtains the ascendant in the breast of the young man. He has crossed the moor, and dashes on—panting, almost breathless, but still determined. He strikes to the left, in the direction of Loch Maree. Surely he will be upon them ere they reach it, else he may yet be baffled. Oh, how eager he is to send back an answering shout of encouragement to the object of his love! but while it would cheer her heart, it would cause her companions to increase their speed. Hark! the cry again—

"Help, help!" Nearer still; close at hand. Can he be gaining on them so quickly? He peers through the gloom; dark objects move before him. It is they whom he seeks. On, on—faster, faster. Nearer, still nearer.

"Help, help!" What a world of despair in the tones of the voice. "Come back, you infernal jade. Do you hear, you minx?" the voice is Donald Cameron's.

What a thrill of joy shoots through the young man's breast. Flora has escaped from the hands of her captors, and is flying towards him. He is filled with new vigour and strength. On, on—brace ye up now, Hector M'Leod, for a hard struggle is before you. More agonising still the cry—

"Help, help! Ah, is there no help; has Heaven deserted me?"

"Heaven may be Ishant. Now, will you come quietly?"

"No, no. Oh, what an I do to?"

There is the sound of a struggle, and the girl's cries are muffled and stilled.

"There is help, darling. Hector M'Leod comes to the rescue."

And, grasping his weapon firmer, and setting his teeth more closely together, the young man presses on. Nearly a hundred yards yet separate him from his darling—the sound had appeared to be nearer in the stillness of the night. Hector sees before him Flora struggling with a man he takes to be her uncle, and on before them he sees other moving figures. He feels no fatigue now. He is under the dominion of a powerful impulse—a stern resolution. A few more paces and he would measure weapons with Donald Cameron.

"Damnation!" shouted the gruff voice of Cameron in startled tones. Then he raises his voice—"Hey, Angus, Roy, here quickly: M'Leod is upon us—he comes alone. Death to the M'Leods."

An answering cry from the front, and some of the dark objects move nearer.

But on speeds Hector. He knows that Flora has heard him, and he can see her struggling with Cameron who is dragging her forward.

"Stay, Donald Cameron, and measure swords with one whom you have insulted."

There is no reply. Ha! there is—a flash, a report, and a bullet whizzes past the young man's ear.

"Aim truer, Donald Cameron. Vile dastard, onward, you cannot; your hand shakes with guilt and fear."

Another shot; but Hector speaks on through the snow untouched. He is awfully eager now.

"Curse that luck!" he hears Cameron yell, and then the Caterah grasps Flora in his arms and staggers forward.

Hector is close now, but two men just in front of Cameron are running to meet him. A few paces more and they are between Cameron and the young Chief, and now he is on the eve of the preliminary struggle.
