

FOURTH YEAR.

THE BIG DEAL ALL OFF.

THE C. P. R. INFORMS THE G. T. R. THAT IT IS IMPOSSIBLE.

It is a sign of George Stephen's?—The fact is that the G. T. R. is not in a position to take over the C. P. R. railway, and the arrangement between the two companies on account of objections raised in America.

The above despatch bears out the report in The World yesterday, based on a private cable message, that no amalgamation had taken place, but only a trade declared. It is very likely that George Stephen in his efforts to gain admission to the London Convention, the approaches to which have up to the present been barred by the Grand Trunk, led the heads of the latter to a trap by proposing a combination that has never been carried out, and by this ruse secured a recognition from the Grand Trunk that would admit him in London. By getting the Grand Trunk to admit that his road was rival and that it would be a desirable ally was the plot he played, and appears to have succeeded in. At all events this is the opinion of a gentleman cognizant of his movements and policy.

"Furthermore" said the gentleman in question, "look out for harder fighting than ever."

AMERICAN CATTLE.

WHY THEIR IMPORTATION IS NOT PROHIBITED IN ENGLAND.

LONDON, April 17.—In the house of lords last evening the duke of Richmond (conservative) moved that the papers concerning the foot and mouth disease be presented to the house, and asked why the importation of cattle from the United States and France is not prohibited. He said the disease was more prevalent in the United States than in France. Lord Cardigan denied that the disease was prevailing to any large extent in America. Although it existed, the wholesale prohibition of the importation of American cattle was not justified.

THE CHINA'S CORONATION.

ABSENT POSTPONEMENT SAID TO BE PROBABLE.

BERLIN, April 17.—It is probable that the coronation of the czar will be postponed until June 10th. The nihilists' latest proclamation refers to the czar in a scornful way, and says he is beneath criticism. Will informants of Russia express the opinion that the coronation is to be postponed to the czar at his coronation, with the exception perhaps of an act of isolated fanaticism. Even this is thought unlikely. The workmen of Berlin are preparing for a general strike for an increase of wages.

AGNES AND LILLIE.

A RECONCILIATION BETWEEN MRS. LANGTRY AND HER SISTER-IN-LAW.

From the New York Morning Journal.

Yesterday afternoon was made memorable by a reconciliation between Mrs. Langtry and her sister-in-law, Miss Langtry, at the Nicholas hotel. The dramatic personage upon this interesting occasion were cast as follows:

Mrs. Langtry..... Who wanted to make an explanation to her sister-in-law.
Miss Langtry..... An angry sister-in-law.
Mr. Mackenzie..... A friend to Miss Langtry.
Mr. Mackenzie..... A friend to Miss Langtry.

Previous, however to the denouement, it is essential to explain the plot of the piece, which, unlike most plots, has the merit of being true.

Mrs. Langtry is a young gentleman of engaging manners and apparently about twenty-four years of age. He is a Scotchman by birth and is married. He possesses ample means and has settled in Toronto, where Mrs. Mackenzie still remains. He and his wife made Miss Langtry's acquaintance on board the ocean steamer by which Mrs. Langtry was also a passenger.

"Mrs. Mackenzie and myself," remarked Mr. Mackenzie to a Journal reporter, "formed a strong regard for Miss Langtry. Her engaging manner and simple good nature quite captivated my wife, who when she arrived at Niagara Falls, telegraphed her to come on to Toronto and pay us a visit. She did so and both of us had much pleasure in renewing the acquaintance we had formed on board. It is with the consent of Mrs. Mackenzie I am about to escort Miss Langtry to England. The young lady has been grossly misrepresented."

"The general impression in New York was that Miss Langtry had formed an engagement with Mr. Stone."

"There is not a word of truth in it. It is a pure fabrication. No such man, Miss Langtry tells me, ever existed, so far as she knows. Neither had she any trouble in getting her trunks away from her hotel. The fact is, Miss Langtry thought, and thought rightly, that it was not quite the thing for her to be travelling about with a theatrical company, who were strangers to her, and with whom she had no sympathy. She represented these facts to Mrs. Langtry, and the result was a difference of opinion, and they parted."

"But she corresponded with her sister, did she not?"

"Yes, and received very cordial letters in exchange. Notwithstanding the separation, Miss Langtry has a strong affection for her sister-in-law."

"When does the City of Richmond sail?"

"On Wednesday, I believe. We only arrived last night."

Miss Langtry is a pleasant, bright looking young lady, about the medium height. Her hair is a light brown, and her figure is full and graceful. She speaks with a thorough English lilt and accent, and her complexion is as ruddy as a rose. But she has also an intense horror of reporters, and declines to see any newspaper representatives yesterday.

At 5:30 Mr. Freddie Gebhard entered the St. Nicholas hotel. He was attired in a broad overcoat, with a white scarf in the button hole, a high derby hat, and carried a walking cane.

Mr. Mackenzie was standing a few feet from the office door talking with the writer. Mr. Gebhard looked about and abstracted. Having striven in vain to get in, it was taken up with Miss Langtry's room, No. 120. An ac-

CURLEY AND HIS ALIBI.

A NUMBER OF WITNESSES AWAKE IN HIS BEHALF.

The Evidence All in—The Summing Up to Take Place Today—A Warning to the Young Men of Ireland.

DUBLIN, April 17.—At the trial of Curley, Joseph Smith, the prisoner who turned in London, repeated the testimony he gave at the trial of Brady. Peter Carey testified that after Lord Cavendish and Mr. Burke had been murdered he was detailed to watch the movements of Kavanagh, the car-driver, who it was feared would give information to the authorities and whom Carey wanted to have murdered. The servant girl and James Carey identified Curley as the man who frequently visited her employer's house in conspiracy with other witnesses. Another girl swore she saw Curley in the park on May 6. James Carey's son swore he saw his father and Curley in the vicinity of the castle on the day the murder was committed.

James Carey, recalled, testified that it was originally intended to kill Curley by a card bearing the words: "Erected by order of the inviolables." Carey wrote out the card, but the idea was not carried out, and the card was placed in the mail box of the Dublin Express. Two constables who testified they saw Curley climbing over the park fence, swore Curley was down on cross-examination. Being asked to indicate the spot on the map where the prisoner went over, they pointed to places 380 yards apart. The statements of Smith and Kavanagh were also conflicting. Kavanagh alleged Smith told him that the life of innocent men in similar circumstances by a similar system of lavish rewards. This was a plot with one conspirator, James Carey. The young men of Ireland should take warning from the fact that nearly all the prisoners who have appeared at this bloody trial were mere boys. It would clearly establish the innocence of Curley by proving an alibi.

Peter Hanlon, father-in-law of Curley, and uncle of Joseph and Lawrence Hanlon, the conspiracy prisoners, swore Curley was in his company from 6 to 11 o'clock on the evening of May 6. Hoppin, a plumber, who testified Curley standing outside a saloon at 6 o'clock on the evening of May 6. The barkeeper of a saloon swore he served Curley at 6 o'clock that evening.

Mr. Webb will sum up for the defence to-morrow.

STRANGE DOINGS OF SENIANS.

A Postal-Telegraph Clerk Blindedfolded and Made to Reveal Official Secrets.

LONDON, April 17.—The Telegraph publishes an affidavit of a clerk in the postal telegraph service, to the effect that he had been seduced by a woman who had been supposed to be a foreign agent, and had been seduced by her to reveal official secrets. The woman, who was named Senians, was a French girl who had been employed in the telegraph office. She had been seduced by her to reveal official secrets, and had been made to reveal them to her.

THE IDENTIFICATION OF NO. 1.

A Persistent Question in the House of Commons.

LONDON, April 17.—In the house of commons Sir H. E. Maxwell (conservative) asked whether it was true that a man who had been identified as No. 1, was in New York, and whether his extradition would be demanded. The under secretary of foreign affairs replied that Maxwell must give formal notice of his question before a reply could be given.

"Number One" whose photograph has been identified on Brady's trial, is the name of Tynan, is about 45 years of age, above the average height, of powerful build, and wears a jet-black beard reaching down to the middle of his chest. The various descriptions given of him are explained by his rarely meeting the same persons twice in his long and varied career, speaking sometimes with a Scotch accent, and sometimes with a brogue. He was at Cannes in February, where he remained until the arrival, and actually witnessed the procession at Nice from the balcony on which Mr. Gladstone stood. The arrest of Byrne and Wylsh gave him some anxiety, and he started for Mexico via New York.

A discussion as to the merits of Buffalo Bill led to a prize-fight for $50 in Buffalo, between John O'Brien and E. R. Coventry, each 18. The former punched the latter so seriously that he is not expected to live.

FRANCE AND GERMANY.

TROUBLE BREWING BETWEEN THE TWO COUNTRIES.

Two Divisions of German Cavalry and Four Army Corps Ready to Cross the French Frontier.

PARIS, April 17.—The London despatch says the message of Emperor William to the Reichstag calling for legislation in the interest of the working classes has excited as much uneasiness in Paris in official circles as at Berlin. It is believed to have been inspired by distrust of the existing government in France and to cover the military program which will probably be carried out upon the first symptom of serious political disturbances in France.

The German government has issued an order, six divisions of German cavalry and four army corps have been sent on their march from Berlin to the French frontier in three days' time. Some socialist leaders in Germany appear inclined to entertain the possibility of a revolution by provoking disturbances among the German working classes, but as such an attempt would be disastrous to the people, it is not likely to be made.

The danger to Europe at this moment is at Paris, where the men in authority seem to be very anxious to prevent any outbreak of danger to which they are exposing not only the peace of the continent, but the existence of their own country.

Parsons and the Philadelphia Convention.

BUFFALO, April 17.—Mooney, president of the American League, has called the Philadelphia convention cancelled, and that they were not to be held. Parsons cannot be with us, but everything indicates that the convention will be the largest and most important ever held by Irish-Americans.

MONTGOMERY, Ala., April 17.—William Dorsey slept with a pistol under his pillow, in order to be ready to meet burglars. His hand should have been under the pillow, for he was burglarized and his wife was killed. Dorsey was overpowered with grief.

THE THEATRICAL WORLD.

Adelina Patti will sail for England on April 19th.

Mary Anderson will appear at the London Lyceum on September 1st.

Salvini and Clara Morris are acting together at Philadelphia and creating a sensation.

Mr. Webb will sum up for the defence to-morrow.

Signor Salvini says he has no intention of ever returning to America, and that all reports to the contrary are untrue.

The Russian Honeycomb is said to be one of the most popular plays on the stage. It is much nicer than an English one.

The New York Society of Music is giving a memorial concert as a grand affair. It was the last concert of their second season.

Mme. Gerster is engaged by Mr. Merelli for his season in Vienna, which opened on the 1st of April. She has been secured by Messrs. Gye and Mapleson for next season.

The George Edgar syndicate has engaged Miss Laura Jewett, Henrietta Yoda and the other girls in the chorus of the new opera, which is to be given at the Lyceum Theatre.

What a failure the actors' fund benefit was! The thirty-five cents at the total box office receipts in this city has set the management of the fund to thinking.

Colonel Mapleson is again negotiating with the committee of Music Hall, Boston, to produce Italian opera there next season, instead of at the Boston theatre. The col. has secured the services of Signor Pergolini for next season.

What nonsense it was for Barnum to give a benefit for the actors' fund at 10 o'clock in the morning. It is said that his total receipts were only $118. But who could have expected more? New York people will not get out of their beds even on an engagement at the fifth avenue theatre, New York, last night. Miss Legrand assumed her character during her illness. The latter will not play next season. She will reside in France, for which country she leaves next month.

Daisy Miller, the new play written by Henry James and acted on his novel of that name, has been rejected by the Madison Square theatre management on account of the author's refusal to cut it down. The play will not be produced.

The play is said to be utterly devoid of dramatic action, possibly quite as much as the novel.

A theatrical manager of St. Louis has received a letter from Mrs. M. A. Crabtree announcing that her daughter, Lotia Mignon Crabtree, known the world over as "Lotia," will not play for two years, but will spend that time in Europe, and seek medical treatment for the restoration of her voice. If the old tones can be brought back then Lotia will appear once more, but if they cannot, she will retire permanently from the stage.

In the days when orchestra stalls were unknown, and when the floor of her Majesty's opera house was called the pit, there existed a gangway or promenade down the centre of the pit, and round between the pit seats and the boxes, which was known as "Foy's Alley." Here the masters of that day went to stroll between the acts, exchanging criticisms on the music, the singing, and the belles of the boxes. Mr. Foy, it is said, is about to revive "Foy's Alley."

ONCE MORE AT OTTAWA.

ARRIVAL OF THE PRINCESS LOUISE AT SIBRAU HALL.

No Demonstration Attempted—Fifteen Toronto Police Constables with the Crowd—The Men Sworn in at the Dominion House.

OTTAWA, April 17.—After a prolonged absence the Princess Louise returned to the capital to-day. There was nothing remarkable in the reception given her royal highness, unless it was the absence of any demonstration. The viceregal train arrived at the Canada Atlantic station at 1:15 p.m. Among the prominent citizens who had congregated to welcome the princess were the ministers of the crown, the judges of the supreme court, a large number of senators and members of parliament and General Leard commanding the militia.

A detachment of the governor-general's Foot Guards formed a guard of honor. The appearance of a large number of Toronto police constables, however, was a noteworthy feature of the occasion. They were unfortunately known.

Fifteen members of the Toronto force were sworn in to-day as temporarily attached to the dominion government force. They will immediately go on duty between Rideau hall, the residence of the princess and also parliament building.

AN OUTRAGE AT OTTAWA.

A DOMINION POLICEMAN SHOT AT WHILE ON DUTY.

Unsuccessful Attempts to Arrest the Assailant—The Grand Juror Struck and Killed at Rideau Hall.

OTTAWA, April 18.—About 1:30 o'clock this (Wednesday) morning considerable excitement was occasioned in the house of commons by the announcement that news had just been received from the government house to the effect that some murderous wreck had attacked a policeman on duty there and fired four shots at him. The officer gave the alarm and made an effort to capture his assailant, but was manacled by an extra guard who was on duty at the time and it is understood it has since been strengthened. It is impossible at this late hour to get fuller particulars.

BIG BLAZE AT OAKVILLE.

Our Local Firemen Called Out.

The whole of the business portion of Oakville was in flames last night. The local firemen could do nothing to check the advances of the destroying king. The reverend telegraphed to the mayor for assistance. W. W. Farley, chairman of the fire and alarm committee, ordered Assistant-Chief Graham to proceed by special train with a tank engine, and to take with him the Young street engine and three firemen.

POLITICAL FABLES.

L. WILLIAM AND HIS BROTHER.

William was an Irishman who owned a large house, painted orange, which he admired as the apple of his eye. So one fine day he said to himself: "I will embellish my mansion which I love, and will put a sign in front thereof, so that all the world may mark and see my Orange House." And he went straightway and asked Oliver's permission to put up the sign. But Oliver said: "Lo, I do this thing, will not Patrick and all the dwellers in the Green House rise up and curse me, that I be no longer ruler in the land? There is no green in my eye, but justice must be done though the heavens fall." Then said William: "I will go over in a body to my friend John and see my Orange House." And he went straightway and asked Oliver's permission to put up the sign. But Oliver said: "Lo, I do this thing, will not Patrick and all the dwellers in the Green House rise up and curse me, that I be no longer ruler in the land? DEFEAT OF THE ORANGE INCORPORATION

We quoted not long ago from a Nova Scotia paper a paragraph telling very briefly how a bill incorporating the Orange Order became law in that province.

Referring to the extradition of Major Phipps, the Philadelphia Record says: "We have got Major Phipps again within the jurisdiction of the Pennsylvania courts, but he does not come back to us in the same standing as when he took his unceremonious leave. His return is based upon an adjudication in Canada as to the nature of his offence committed in Philadelphia, and he is delivered up to us as a forger and to stand his trial for forgery."

Petitions, we understand, are being extensively signed in the western part of the city praying that a market be established at the foot of Brock street. It is estimated that the necessary work could be done for comparatively small outlay and when once done it would be permanent.

Never then twelve great exhibitions are in contemplation for the present year. Only two of these will be strictly universal, namely, those to be held at Amsterdam and Calcutta. The majority will be exhibitions of special arts and industries.

Mr. John and most of his supporters (Roman Catholics of course excepted) voted for the bill; Mr. Blake and most of his supporters against it. Protestant members of the government and Protestant opposition leaders also voted in silence.

hard, apparently, will be the task of the Mail should it vote against Mr. Blake. But, over and above the question as to voting for the bill, the fact that Sir John voted for the bill and Mr. Blake against it is something that there is no getting over.

It is now nearly two years since the younger journalists of this city took to playing lacrosse. Although for beginners they made a very creditable essay in 1881, outsiders, and, for that matter, some insiders, regarded the idea of pressmen doing anything besides sitting pencils as rather a good joke.

George Augustus Sala is about right when he describes the American Sunday as peculiarly a lady's day. He says women "are extremely fond of going to church, of wearing their finest clothing, and of listening to emotional music and to preachers who are either emotional or comic, or sometimes both."

Very few of the prisons of Canada or of the United States are managed in a humane manner so as to benefit the criminal. I believe the one at Kingston tries to do this; the one at Albany I know was managed in the most humane manner while the older Mr. Pitblay lived. What it is under the management of his son of late years I have had no means of knowing.

There was one feature of the prison arrangements which commended itself to me as most perfect. The offenders were trained especially for their positions, just as nurses are trained to do their work, and the military machinery effected anything by way of officiating during the trial of a criminal.

The champion of the anti-prohibitionist cause in Upper Canada, Mr. Dross, is an expert of much ability, and deserves some commendation in the matter of jewelry. Upon one memorable occasion, when he was engaged in a joint debate in a rural constituency, it occurred to his antagonist, Mr. McK., that it would be an excellent idea to hold the young man up to the scorn of an economic public by exhibiting his display of finger rings and watch chains.

The Globe is an out and out Grand Trunk organ. Even the Esplanade commission project is opposed because the Grand Trunk masters of the Globe do not wish to see other roads get a fair show along the city front. There have been a good many strange things in Canadian history, but the Globe turned into a Grand Trunk apologist, and two Grand Trunk agents put on a directions of the police among the streets. Hickey gives his orders to Edgar and Jeffrey, and these two worthies see that the impressionable editor is fully impressed. What do the farmers think of it?

The Messrs. MacIver, who did so much to give the Canada line of ocean steamers their admirable reputation, have retired from the management thereof, owing to differences as to policy with the directors of the company. The Messrs. MacIver, it is understood, favored the building of ships like those of the White Star line, while the directors wanted still larger ships, but on different models. The Messrs. MacIver considered that their differences were essential, and decided on withdrawing from the business.

Oranmenon ought to be provincial right men. They have seen the bliss of Quebec trying to keep us out of our territory, and now the bliss and rouses are trying to keep Oranmenon from getting incorporation through after it is true, the local legislature would not grant it. But, we would not be surprised to see the orange bill incorporated by the Ontario legislature. This should have been done long ago.

Sir John Macdonald has stolen a march on the Liberals in the matter of the franchise. The latter have been too cautious for a progressive party. A true reforming party will force reform; our reformers always calculate whether a proposal reform will help them to gain or lose office.

PRISON REFORM

To the Editor of The World. Sir: No thoughtful mind can fail to fully appreciate the very practical letter by your correspondent, J. L. F., on legal and prison reform. Both phases call loudly for redress. For more than a quarter of a century I have taken deep interest in the prison question.

At the sending of pens in a Chicago church, the other evening, there was heavy competition for pen No. 75, and the bids ran up to a large sum. It was finally knocked down to Brother B. "Why were you so anxious to get that particular pen?" he was asked by Bro. C. "Why because it's just next to Bro. M's," he replied. "What was that of that?" returned the other. "Why he joined Bro. M's as he had a jug, and he drops the pen from every body around him when I'm listening to a good sermon. Li Qu Tea is the leading article.

GRATEFUL-COMFORTING EPPS' COCOA BREAKFAST. "By a thorough knowledge of the nature of the stomach and a judicious application of the fine properties of this food, Mr. Epps has provided for the human system a most delicate and nourishing breakfast with a delicious flavor. It is by the judicious use of this food that a constitution may be gradually built up until it is able to resist every disease. Hundreds of subtle poisons are floating around us ready to attack every weakness. We may escape many a fatal ailment by keeping ourselves supplied with this food. It is a most valuable food for the young, the old, the infirm, and the debilitated. It is sold in all the principal cities of the world. JAMES EPPS & Co., Homoeopathic Chemists, London, England."

THE TORONTO WORLD

WEDNESDAY MORNING, APRIL 18, 1923

THE QUARANTINE ON THE C. P. R.

No case of diphtheria for two months. The outbreak of smallpox on the Prince Arthur landing and Nepean division of the Canada Pacific railway, which occurred on the 4th of January, was duly reported in The World. The progress of the disease, the number of the unfortunate victims, and the measures taken to stamp it out received due attention in these columns. The first case, it will be remembered, was that of a man who had come from Winnipeg, where it was believed he had contracted the disease, sickening almost immediately after leaving the landing on his way east. New cases occurred from time to time until about the middle of February, since which no case has been reported. According to Dr. Smith's official report to the Prince Arthur landing, April 9, from the provincial board of health, the spread of the disease from the flight from the original camp of those first infected and prior to the establishment of quarantine. In all nineteen cases occurred on the C. P. R. and at the landing, of whom five died. Five of the six who sickened at the latter place were refugees, the sixth Dr. Smith's men case. The disease was proceeded by an epidemic of chicken-pox. Quarantine was raised on the 2nd instant.

A Big Day's Work. It has been reported in an evening paper for the last two days that the medical health officer was behind time on Monday morning without assigning any reason for the tardiness on the part of the public official. A World reporter called on the officer yesterday afternoon and found him engaged in attending to an applicant for the hospital. After the officer had concluded with this person the reporter asked him how much work he was supposed to do in a day. He stated that on Monday, the day on which he happened to be a few minutes late, he left his home on Church street at 9 o'clock for the Neapolis to register the mortuary statistics. From here he went to the hospital to visit the city patients and then went down to his office in the city hall, where he examined during the day six applicants for admission to the hospital. After his office hours he visited Mr. Inglehart, superintendent of Mount Pleasant cemetery, to complete the arrangements for registering the mortuary statistics. In addition to this he visited two premises, one on Reid street and the other on Front street east, which were found to be in a sanitary condition. So that though the office be a new one there is abundance of work connected with it.

LOCAL NEWS PARAPHRASED. The public school board meets to-night. No railway passes were granted by the mayor yesterday. There were four applications for admission to the general hospital yesterday. Alderman Allen is acting mayor during Mayor Esauw's absence at Ottawa. The civil service court will resume its sitting before Hon. Justice Morrison to-day at 10 a. m. Mr. Christopher Robinson, Q. C., says that the free library by law cannot be argued by appeal to any court. The markets and health committee, which did not meet yesterday for want of a quorum, will meet this afternoon. An attempt is being made by a Toronto lawyer to compromise the claims against the bankrupt shop Fleming in the city. A boy named Wm. McInerney was a prisoner at the western police station night charged with breaking into a Grand trunk cart.

There is a pool of foul water in close proximity to the infant's home, which must affect the sanitary condition of the institution. The closing party for this season of the Chic club was given last night in Albert hall in the shape of a fancy dress masquerade ball. The anniversary social of West Presbyterian church was held last night. Addresses were delivered by Revs. Milligan, Cassels and Biddell. What has become of the proposal to hold a military review in Toronto on the 24th prox. A gentleman at the meeting at Montreal has now decided to hold one. Mr. Venables will submit his report on the result of his inspection of pumping engines at Cleveland at the meeting of the waterworks committee this afternoon. John Goodall, alias McKimken, was sentenced to one year and 360 days yesterday morning by Judge Boyd, for bringing into Huron's nannery in Riverside. A printed petition for signatures has been placed in the boxes for the construction of a sub-way of 4 1/2 substantial character and ample dimensions at the railway crossing on King street west. A domestic brawl occurred last night at 107 Toronto street between a man and his wife living there. Both were badly cut by the act. A policeman settled the difficulty between them. The medical health officer has made arrangements with the superintendent of the Neapolis and Mount Pleasant cemeteries to prepare the mortuary statistics from January 1st to April 1st. A Grand trunk cart with a heavy load sunk in the King street canal yesterday afternoon below the bridge. The load had to be transferred to another cart ere the mud-stuck vehicle could be got out. The city engineer has notified the Street railway company that the work of repairing the Yonge street pavement between the street rails will be commenced by the city on Thursday at the expense of the street railway company.

John Conter, Patrick Fallon and Frederick Davis were up in the police court yesterday morning on the charge of breaking into Wm. Burgess' house in Argle street. Conter and Fallon got penitentiary for three years, Davis for two years. The chairman of the fire and gas committee has sent a notice to the members of the council requesting them to be present at an exhibition of the electric light tonight, to be given at the corner of Frederick and Prince streets.

The Saskatchewan valley train, which left this city on Thursday of last week, arrived in Winnipeg in three and one-half days. This is the quickest time ever made by a Manitoba train. It was via the Credit Valley and Canada routes. The "Gaiety" club will give a necktie party to their numerous friends in the city on Friday evening. Extensive preparations have been made by the committee of management, and everything is being done to ensure the success of the party. For the past two years a colony of blackbirds have passed the summer in the pine woods along Murray Place. About six days ago they arrived for this season and now they are clustering and chirping incessantly. It is not often that a wild bird locates so near the centre of a city. Another colony of them has lived for years in the clump of trees in the park near Prof. Kingston's home.

THE TORONTO BOLT WORKS

WORK! WORK! WORK! THE ORDER OF THE DAY.

Lively Doings on the Banks of the Humber. Lots of Improvements—A Splendid Prospect and Reason for It. In and around this splendid factory near the mouth of the Humber everything has the most life-like appearance, dozens of teams are continually walking back and forth hauling away the dirt from the hill behind the works in their grading of the long siding which will be used by the Grand Trunk railway freight cars. Roads are being constructed, and grading, staking and laying out work seems to be the order of the day. As the passer by stops to look at the many industrious men employed in their various capacities, (like the busy bee improving each shining hour), it is not very hard to see that a large town will soon spring up upon the banks of Toronto, and that all the workmen must be provided with homes to live in. Driving along the beach of the noble lake one realizes how pleasant a residence in such a locality as this must be. The further back one walks on the bolt works property the more the beauty of the location is enhanced by the splendid view of the surrounding country. Stretching out to the right as one looks at the lake can be seen the beautiful Humber winding its way into the back country, edged in by the forest of pines and oaks, a delightful resort in summer time, whilst to the left can be seen Parkdale in all its beauty, and that part of Toronto showing the noble skyline, the extensive business buildings, the new cultural works looming up bright and cheerfully, and upon which work is soon to be resumed. The Grand trunk railway winding its way east and west with its pulsing line train to Mimico which plays past this property many times during the day, and the Grandier pond which many a Toronto man and boy has sweetly remembered. Beyond the pond the eye settles upon High Park, the home of contentment as a park, and as to who should take care of it. Not long will this dispute last, the men who will soon be located near it are not the persons to fool away their time in long discussions, the public wants this property in good order. In addition to the Bolt and Iron works want to see it in good repair and they will see it very soon if there are any reasonable proposals for vigorous pushing of this matter, one in hand. This noble park is the pleasure ground of the great building enterprise and will surely be added to add immensely to the value of the lots now selling by the Bolt and Iron company. The licking company will remove their present premises to a short distance from the bolt works, or at any rate it will not be their fault if they cannot make the proper arrangement. Then who shall say land will not sell like hot cakes, even as far back as Parkdale, at any rate the system of selling now about to go up will surely establish a town of the first order upon the property of our enterprising company. The old saying "work early and often" should now be changed in this instance to "buy early and often." One of the great improvements in this section is the widening and cutting of King street, commencing near the turnpike and running back of the railroad past the bolt works to the Humber. This will effectively kill the turnpike system, relics of bygone days. When this is once finished, the road will become only a pleasure road, for farmers will not pay toll on the lower road of the turnpike, but will prefer to travel from many standpoints. To enjoy a view of the bolt works, walk down King street to the shore and look across the works; then make up your minds to invest and make money.

The Rose Maidens. The long expected production of The Rose Maidens, a cantata by F. H. Cowan, was given last night at the Gardens, a large and almost too-appreciative audience. The argument is that the queen of flowers, fairies, spring of a calm life, prays returning, spring to bestow upon her the gift of roses created to man. He snarls her of the risk, not finally yields to entreaty and changes her while she sleeps into a beautiful girl. Under the name of Roseblossom, in her wedding she meets a lovely, the ruined girl, but afterward becomes the wife of a forester with whom she lives in such perfect happiness that she forgets her own death. The elves build a palace in many places in grand indeed, its force being more joyful than in the male chorus, the Slew of the Dead, and the last verse of the cantata. The requirements of the solo are many; the tenor solo, being about, should especially be firm, sweet, and in places powerful. This was not only the same fault being noticeable in the chorus. Miss McInerney, as soprano soloist, sang very sweetly, but the baritone soloist, though a little shaky, was far more firm than any other soloist. The second part introduced some very fine instrumental music, especially the violin solo from Mendelssohn by Mr. Jacobsen. Mr. Schuch's solo entirely filled the house and contrasted strongly with previous singers. As a contralto singer Miss Ryan proved her claims to a rich, powerful and sweet voice, one that any young singer might be proud to possess. She was loudly applauded. The chorus, orchestra and soloists number about 350 persons. The same program will be repeated to-night.

Police Court Prisoners. The police court session lasted five hours yesterday, there being 52 cases on the roll. Wm. Murphy and Thomas Downs for being disorderly, were each fined $5 and costs or thirty days. George Mills, assaulting a policeman, was sent to the Central for three months. Henry McKee, charged with assaulting Mary Farrell, was remanded till the 29th inst.

This estate extends from Bloor street, opposite High Park, to Dundas street, where the Ontario and Quebec and Credit Valley railways, Canada Pacific and Vanderbilt syndicate, have purchased 40 acres, for which they state 200 or more men are to be employed this year, also near stations of Grand Trunk, Toronto, Grey and Bruce, Northern, and Great Western railways, and proposed Midland and Northern extensions. Owing to closings at this point all trains must soon stop, and it is only a question of a little time until suburban trains are put on the street car line extended to the junction, as in Detroit, Calumet, etc. Arrangements are on foot to put a line of omnibuses on Dundas street at once, and to build a sidewalk to connect from Dundas to Bloor street through the centre of these lands, forming a section of the proposed city drive and boulevard around the city. The best of water is reached by sinking 18 feet. Good natural drainages and pure air. Situation is high and dry, and commands a view of Lake Ontario, across High Park, containing nearly 400 acres. Within 20 minutes' walk of Toronto Bolt and Iron Co.'s Works and proposed Wall Paper Factory. Other large works are proposed within easy distance, but no hour thought to be any advantage. All the surroundings point to this locality as the most desirable in which to secure a PERMANENT HOME, or to invest your savings with a certainty of large profits. If you refuse to buy West Toronto Junction lots or ten years ago that have since paid from 500 to 1000 per cent., don't miss the present opportunity of laying at bottom prices in Toronto, destined to be one of the most important points on the Canada Pacific and Grand Trunk systems between the Canadian and American Northwest.
